State Capital News

By VERN SANFORD
Texas Press Association
AUSTIN, Tex. — U. S. Sen. Ralph Yarborough and State Land Commissioner Jerry Sadler were upset victims in the May 2 Democratic primary to Lloyd Bentsen and State Rep. Robert L. (Bob) Armstrong.

The scene of political action now shifts to the general election where Bentsen faces Republican Senate candidate George Bush, Gov. Preston Smith, unopposed in the Democratic primary, is confronted with GOP Paul Eggers. Bush and Eggers won nominations easily over Robert Morris and Roger Martin in the Republican primary.

Atty. Gen. Crawford C. Martin won third term nomination handily over Judge David H. Brown and faces Edward M. Yturri, GOP, in November. Democrat Ben Ramsey had no difficulty with Connie Lawson and is unopposed in November. Truman Roberts defeated Earl W. Smith for Court of Criminal Appeals. James G. Denton appeared to be the Supreme Court contest winner over Matt Davis and Hawthorne Phillips. Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes, unopposed in the Democratic primary, is challenged by Byron Fullerton, GOP, in November. Four other GOP candidates will wage token campaigns for statewide office against Democrats.

CAPITOL PRECAUTIONS — Tighter security measures may be ordered for the historic state capitol — always wide open to visitors — in the wake of a violent anti-war demonstration there last week.

Three 82-year-old etched glass door panels were smashed when a mob of 200 obscenity-shouting youths stormed through the rotunda. A tear gas grenade was tossed into the north corridor as police chased the demonstrators back through the building and onto the University of Texas campus.

Twice within the next two days, the capitol was evacuated due to telephone bomb threats. Riot-equipped Department of Public Safety officers took up stations inside or patrolled the grounds as demonstrations continued on the UT campus.

Gov. Preston Smith said damage and disrespect may force tougher security, though the capitol has been the scene of many undisturbed peaceful demonstrations in the past.

COURTS SPEAK — State Supreme Court agreed with lower courts that 6,972 acres of Victoria County oil land belong to private owners, not the state, in a prolonged land vacancy dispute. Had plaintiff in the vacancy action been right, Texas might have recovered up to $100 million in mineral rights.

Dallas grocery chain stores were rejected by the High Court in their effort to obtain a sales tax break due to trading stamps given their customers. Chain wanted to deduct the cost of stamps before figuring the sales tax owed the state.

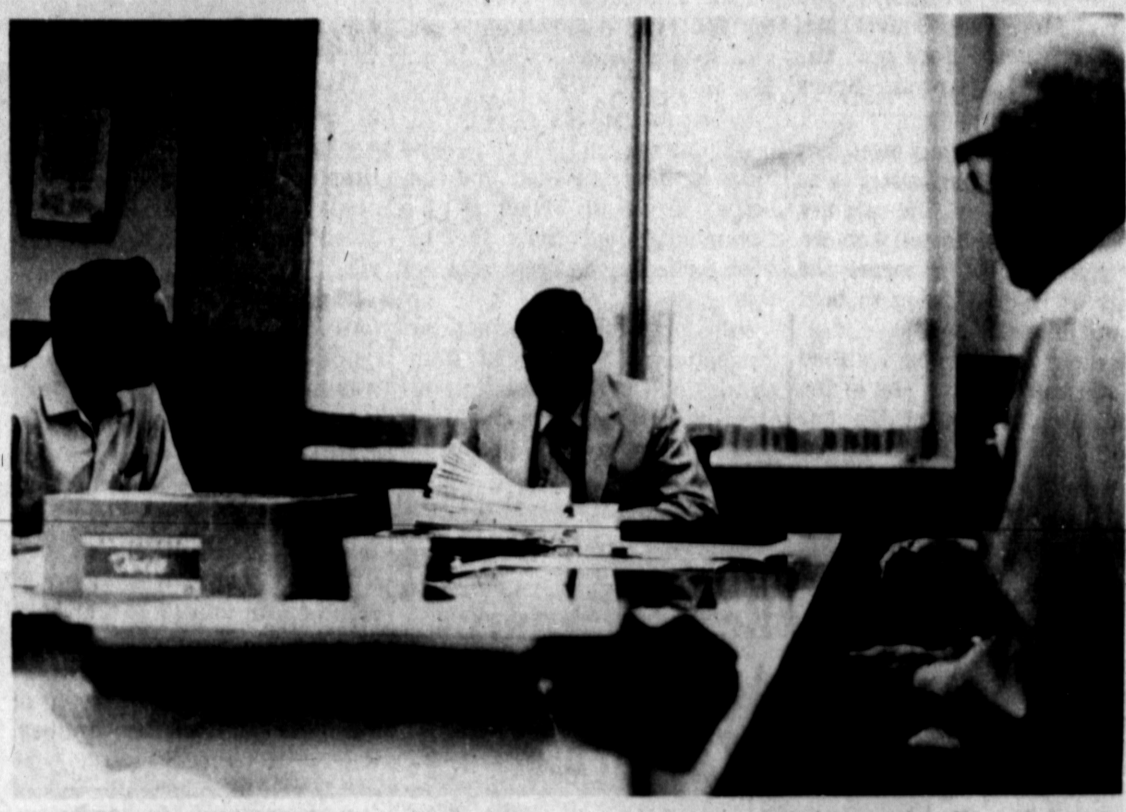

The 3rd Court of Civil Appeals affirmed $40,813 in damages to a Temple brakeman injured in Atcheson, Topeka and Santa Fe Railroad braking accident, but cut the award $38,650 below the trial court verdict.

EDUCATION POLICY APPROVED — State Board of Education adopted the policy that contributions of ethnic and racial groups should be taught.

The board also proclaimed that literature books must be free of offensive language and that life science texts will present evolution as a theory rather than a fact.

Per capita state aid to local districts was increased from $114.40 to $117.45 per student for the current school year. Board authorized application for $1.8 million in federal anti-poverty

Commissioners Study New District Setup

The Deaf Smith County Commissioners Court was asked Monday to seek special legislation in Austin that would either set the county up in a new district to establish the new position of county criminal district attorney.

District Attorney Jerry Tucker made the request. He said Deaf Smith County has twice as many criminal cases as any of the other counties in the six-county district.

"Something is going to have to be done to reduce the caseload in this district," Tucker said, pointing out he has to handle cases in Oldham, Hartley, Dallam, Sherman and Moore counties also.

Because Deaf Smith County has so many criminal cases, he is forced to spend much of his time here, and yet there are a number of complex cases that he should be spending time with in other counties, also, Tucker said.

"Gentlemen, it's nearly impossible for one man," Tucker said. He proposed that Deaf Smith County try to win approval in Austin for a new district embracing Deaf Smith County and Castro County and either Oldham County or Packer County. There have been complaints in Castro County that their district attorney and district judge spend most of their time in Plainview, so the situation would be good for both counties, Tucker said.

The same problem that affects him applies to McDonald also, the district attorney said. "He spends so much of his time on the road from one place to another when he could be briefing himself on the various cases and getting a good understanding about what is going to come before him," Tucker added.

As a second alternative, Tucker proposed the new position of criminal district attorney, who would work full time on the investigation and prosecution of crime in Deaf Smith County. With the establishment of that job, the current position of county attorney would be abolished, Tucker said.

This action also would take special enabling legislation by the Texas Legislature. This proposal would not affect the workload of the district judge.

The establishment of a new district was proposed once previously. —See STUDY, Page 2

Support Increases For Juvenile Officer Idea

The strong indication is that Deaf Smith County soon will have a fulltime juvenile officer, with the county, school and city chipping in equally to pay his salary and operating expenses.

The county commissioners, although they have taken no vote on the matter, have made it clear in their conversations that they are in favor of hiring a man who would work seven days a week visiting through the community, counseling with juveniles and working with them directly on their problems.

The Hereford School Board voted unanimously, 5-0, in its regular monthly meeting Tuesday night "to go on record as generally favoring the idea."

The City Commission is to discuss the matter in its next meeting, Monday night. Although City Manager Dudley Bayne told county commissioners Monday he likes the way the juvenile problem is now being handled in the county and sees no need for a change, a majority of the five-member commission appear in favor of the proposal.

After Monday's City Commission meeting, the county commissioners intend to call an informal meeting of all three groups, perhaps over dinner, to advance the proposition further.

The appearance Monday of Moore County Juvenile Officer Sandy Rollins of Dumas before the County Commissioners' Court — and several members of the other two groups who were hastily summoned as guests — provided the impetus to the drive for establishment of a juvenile officer.

Rollins explained his duties and how the job is set up in Moore County and said he feels the juvenile problem is diminishing as a result, although the office was started only Jan. 1. He appeared to win several converts.

Supt. Roy Hartman, in recommending the office to school trustees, said he called the Dumas superintendent after hearing Rollins talk, and was told the Dumas school personnel were extremely pleased with the way the new job was functioning.

"It sounds like a real fine way to handle the juvenile problem," said Dr. A. T. Mims, president of the Hereford School Board.

All the individuals, in supporting the job, have talked generally of the benefits they see in a man who could circulate among the community, visit extensively with both the juveniles and their parents, and win the support of both.

The office, if established here, supposedly would be along similar lines. —See OFFICER, Page 2

Deadline Nears To Sign For Pitch, Hit, Throw

Saturday is the deadline for area boys to register in the national Pitch, Hit and Throw.

Registration is open to all boys 9 through 12. Registration may be done at West Park 66, East Side 66 or Hereford Truck Terminal.

The competition will be divided into individual age groups where boys will be competing in three basic baseball skills — pitching, hitting and throwing. Registration for the competition, which is sponsored by organized baseball, ends Saturday, so in order for a boy to participate, he must go to one of the participating stations. He must be accompanied by their mom, dad or legal guardian.

Everything is free and each boy gets a copy of the Pitch, Hit and Throw Tips.

Local competition is scheduled at the Little League baseball field on North Ave. H, May 23.

Local first place winners will be eligible to compete in the District and Division contests and the eight national finalists will compete at the Major League All-Star Game. After competition at the All-Star game, they will go with their parents to the Baseball Hall of Fame at Cooperstown, New York.

Local Church Collecting Relief Needs

Members of the Seventh Day Adventist Church, West Park and Centre St. are collecting needed items to be sent to the disaster area at Lubbock. All area persons wishing to contribute to this relief stock are asked to take it to the church.

Charles O'Dell, minister of the church said that clothing of all sizes is needed as well as food supplies in tin cans.

The Adventist mobile unit for disaster relief was in Lubbock being restocked at the time the tornado hit and is operating there at this time. All collected supplies will be sorted by workers at the church here and then taken to the distribution point in Amarillo where it will be transported on to Lubbock.

Mrs. Genevieve Miller, executive director of the local Red Cross unit, said items such as bedding, sheets, towels, etc. were needed by the Red Cross but she said clothing was not requested. Also all kinds of canned goods, but no home-canned food.

Bond Issue Is Likely At Central

Supt. Roy Hartman told the Hereford School Board Tuesday night that "within the next year or two" it may be necessary to ask for a bond election to finance needed improvements at Central Elementary School.

"The wiring needs to be redone, some windows are about to fall out, and we may have to knock down some petitions, but we can't afford to spend a lot of local maintenance work on this now," Hartman said.

In other business at its regular meeting, the board: —unanimously indicated its "general support" of hiring a juvenile officer for the county, to be financed equally by the city, county and school.

—heard a "very commendable" report on the school's cosmology program, including word that 11 students went last week to Austin to take their state examinations and all 11 girls passed and now are licensed beauty operators.

—decided to maintain the policy of keeping cosmology open only to girls since more students apply than can be accommodated, with the understanding that at some future date when expansion is viewed, a change may be made.

—delayed action until the next meeting on a request by various individuals that a policy against employment of relatives of board members or the superintendent be relaxed to allow the hiring of Mrs. Roy Hartman as a library media specialist in the new Tierra Blanca school.

—heard a report from Mrs. Jerry Hodges on her methods of teaching reading to junior high students. She appeared by special request of administrative officials, who called her work in the reading program the best of any they'd ever seen.

—signed the contract for a five-year $325-a-month lease on a new school tax office, to be opened Friday in a building in the 300 block of Sampson, owned by the First National Bank and formerly occupied by Hereford Insurance Agency.

—accepted resignations and announced employment of several teachers, after which Hartman said, "We're in real good shape, teaching-wise. We'll probably have some unexpected resignations, as we always do, but we have a number of applications, so we're in good shape."

Hartman pointed out to the board that there has been talk in past years of abandoning Central School entirely, "but I doubt we'll ever see that, if we continue to grow."

Indications are that it can be renovated into a valuable part of the system, especially since the structure is considered to be in good shape.

"The windows are practically falling out at the school now, but we hesitate to do anything about it now because if we do decide to step in in a big way we may decide we don't want any windows at all," Hartman added.

"The restrooms are in pretty bad shape. There are holes in the wall. We can do some patchwork and get by for another year, but we surely will be looking at the need to go in and do something differently within the next year or so, or maybe sooner."

Lightning in the school is only one-fourth what it is in most other schools in the city.

On the attempt to get a spot in the teaching system for his wife, Hartman said he wants the board to understand his agreement with the policy against hiring relatives of the superintendent or board.

"The board's policy also reads that no one over 65 will be

Carroll McDonald Is New Manager For Local Utility

Carroll McDonald, who has been district manager of Slaton for Southwestern Public Service Company since 1965, will become Hereford district manager on Saturday, it has been announced by Cliff Milnar, Panhandle Division manager for the electric company.

McDonald will replace Larry Fuller, who took over as the company's Borger district manager April 16.

McDonald, a native of Temple, Okla., began his electric utility career with Southwestern at Clovis, in 1952. He worked in service, construction and line department activities at Clovis, Plainview and throughout the system on construction until he was named manager at Earth in 1958, a position he held until he was made Slaton district manager.

McDonald earned his first "Man of the Year" award in Clovis at the age of 22. He went on to receive the same honor at both Earth and Slaton. In both cities he was very active in civic affairs, having served as chamber of commerce president and also president of the Lions Club. He has twice been honored with the "Outstanding Manager's" award from his company.

He and his wife, Romona, are the parents of three children, Robert, 17, Brenda Kaye 13, and Roxanne 9.

NFO Buys Spuds By The Carload

A boxcar load of potatoes arrived in Hereford Tuesday morning as a part of National Farmers' Organization (NFO) direct producer-to-consumer program.

Members of the Deaf Smith County NFO started this plan to help growers in each potato-growing area moving enough of their production to influence the price upward in that area.

These potatoes were grown in Maine, stored there through the winter in cellars, and shipped by the growers to individual counties in the nation. Hereford's shipment of 500 sacks of russet potatoes was the first carload shipped.

"Since every NFO member is an ultimate consumer of potatoes, it seems reasonable to assume that millions of pounds of potatoes can be sold by this method, if every member participates," says Gerald McCathern, president of the local organization.

The price for these potatoes, suitable for baking, is $6.00 per hundred pounds (6 cents per pound).

McCathern, president of the local organization.

"Members feel that since we are a potato producing county, anything we do to help the price in other areas will reflect a better price when our potatoes are harvested in July," McCathern continued.

L. B. Worthan, delivered a pickup load of these potatoes to Girlstown Wednesday, as a donation from the Deaf Smith County NFO members.

"Anyone wishing to purchase potatoes for home use or for a contribution to Girlstown, may call the NFO office 364-4941 364-5482, or come by the office at 205 S. 25-Mile Avenue to place an order, minimum 100 pounds," McCathern said.

The price for these potatoes, suitable for baking, is $6.00 per hundred pounds (6 cents per pound).

Jury Deadlocks On Murder Trial

BY MARSHALL DAY
Staff Writer

A 10-man, 2-woman jury deliberated three and one-half hours Tuesday night before returning deadlocked in the case of Janie Flores De Los Santos, charged with the murder of her brother-in-law in September of last year.

Miss de Los Santos, 21, was indicted by the grand jury on charges of assault with intent to murder, but when Fortunato Martinez, her brother-in-law died Sunday night, she was re-indicted on charges of murder.

Martinez was shot last Sept. 14 as he sat in front of the De Los Santos house on Avenue A. He remained unconscious for nine months before dying Sunday night. Amarillo doctors said he died of pneumonia as a result of low resistance from gunshot wounds in the head.

The jury retired to deliberate a verdict at 8:30 p. m., but was unable to come up with a verdict.

The jury had a choice of verdicts from innocent to guilty of crimes ranging from simple assault to murder.

The shooting incident occurred at 318 Ave. A. and witnesses told investigating officers at the time of the incident that Miss de Los Santos fired several shots from the house, three of which struck Martinez in the head.

The accused admitted she shot Martinez but said it was accidental. She said she saw him reach toward a glove compartment where she knew there was a gun and that she was just trying to hit the car to scare him away. She did not intend to hit him, she said.

Teresa de Los Santos, sister of the defendant, testified in Tuesday's trial that she was in the bedroom at the time the shooting occurred. She said she was in the bedroom reading when she heard two shots and then heard "Manuela tell Janie she killed Fortunato."

"I went running into the living room and Janie was standing by the door holding a rifle," she testified.

Teresa said as she ran into the living room, "Jesse (Martinez's wife) ran after the station wagon and I ran after her."

Jesse de Los Santos Martinez, widow of the victim, testified her husband was "acting kind of funny on the day of the shooting."

"Fortunato said he wanted to talk to me and I told him I had nothing to say to him," she said. "He got in his car and followed us to my father's house."

She said when they arrived at her father's house they went inside and the next thing she heard was Manuela Perez scream, then say "You shot him." Mrs. Martinez said she then started running after the station wagon.

"I turned off the ignition," she said, "then went around to the other side of the car where Fortunato was bleeding and had

One never realizes how much he depends on the telephone until he's without. Monday night's storm in the Lubbock area took out thousands of lines and of course any calls that have to go through Lubbock are just not going. So, we depend on the mail. And in spite of the fact that we usually get overnight service to Lubbock and surrounding area, it still seems like using the Pony Express.

HB

It will be a long time before the people of Lubbock dig-out and assess the loss but many are now saying that property damages will exceed the $200 million mark. Not only that, but 26 lives have been lost, and perhaps more when an accurate count has been made. It's hard to believe the destructive force of a tornado until you have seen the results. Almost unbelievable.

Many local people have relatives in Lubbock. Of course there are a number of college students from Hereford attending classes at Texas Tech and you can imagine the concern of the parents who could not get word from their youngsters. Some drove to Lubbock Tuesday. Others took advantage of ham radio operators in town to get word from their children. We understand that Bill Thompson, local Chamber of Commerce manager, was particularly busy.

We have not heard of any serious injuries to Hereford people, students are otherwise, in the Lubbock area, but when communication lines have been repaired, we may find there have been some. A lot of people were injured, but we're sure that many did not require hospitalization and due to the crowded conditions at the Lubbock medical centers, many may have been treated and sent home that normally would have been admitted.

HB

It's rather ironic that this tornado hit on the same day (May 11) as the tornado that did so much damage to downtown Waco 17 years ago. Fortunately however, the Lubbock disaster happened at night rather than during the afternoon when the downtown area would have been filled with people. Had it hit in the middle of the afternoon, the death toll might have been in the hundreds. Certainly it's bad enough as it is.

HB

We would like to comment, and compliment, Raymond Bean, custodian over at the courthouse, for the beautiful lawn and flowers around the county facility. It's really a showplace for Hereford.

Raymond says it's all being done for the benefit of the taxpayers, and here's one that appreciates it. We think he and his helpers have done a marvelous job.

Our youngest daughter, who will be 16 in July, has been taking driver's education at school and will be taking the test for a driver's license soon. Which reminds us of a little item we read recently concerning automobiles.

It seems that a sign on the wall of the Montana Motor Vehicle Bureau says: "By 1975 there will be more than 200 million automobiles. If you want to cross the street, you'd better do it now."

And we might add, if you want to cross Park Avenue, you're already too late.

ilar lines to the one in Dumas. Rollins draws a salary of $575 a month, which will soon rise to $600. The three groups paid $4,500 each to establish a fund from which his salary, operating expenses and office expenses come. It didn't take that much to operate, however, and the three are planning to give only $3,700 each next year — a decrease of $2,400 in total operating funds.

Prior to Monday, several persons had indicated support for a juvenile officer but opposed a juvenile board. Rollins said he appreciated the board in Moore County and appeared to have persuaded the various groups that a board — with two members each from the city, county and school and the county judge being the seventh member — would be good in Deaf Smith County also.

The juvenile board, he said, meets once a month with him in viously when Deaf Smith County was involved. One of the other counties in the new district, however, would have been Randall County, which would have still left a caseload problem, because of the rising population of both Randall and Deaf Smith counties.

It probably would be hardest to get state legislative approval for the new district, Tucker said, since it would involve new money, in the two new salaried employees that would be needed, in a district attorney and district judge.

The district attorney said, however, he felt the legislature would approve a new district if the new census count showed a population of 50,000 or more for the counties involved.

He suggested the county commissioners offer both proposals to the State Legislature, in the likelihood of getting one.

"I'm not trying to get rid of you, but in the interest of efficiency, it would be better," Tucker said. "I get frustrated sometimes because I don't have the time to sit down and work with officers on cases. I try most of my criminal cases here, and that's what I like best, but the numbers are so large here I end up spending so much of my time here and I feel like we're splitting ourselves up."

The commissioners asked Tucker to check for reaction elsewhere to the suggestion and said they would try to talk with commissioners of Castro County, in particular, and perhaps elsewhere about the suggestion.

employed yet we have several. I don't think the policy should be changed; I think it is a good policy and was initiated for a purpose. At the same time, we are going to be in need of a library media specialist at the new school, and these people are just hard to find. My wife is well qualified in the field of library science and media specialist," Hartman said.

Robert Holman, assistant superintendent, said there is no one he knows of in the entire Panhandle — except for Mrs. Hartman — who is qualified for the position.

"I don't know how much problem this would cause. Maybe more than it's worth," Hartman said. "I'm convinced this would not be bad for a short period of time."

Dr. A. T. Mims, board president, said easing the policy could create problems both for Hartman and for the principal whose wife would be working with.

"The principal would have no way of handling a situation involving her without getting into a hassle with the superintendent and endangering his job," Mims said, speaking along theoretical lines.

He recalled that the policy was changed once previously to allow a superintendent's wife to handle a program for a short period of time, in an emergency situation, because no one else was available, "then we found a replacement, either she didn't want to quit or her husband didn't want her to."

Raymond White said he has no objection "as long as it works all right, but it might be an uncomfortable position for a principal. I just don't want to for a previously-scheduled diagnosis of his throat condition.

"No one has asked me how I feel about it, but whatever the people of this county want I'll go along with it," Williams said Wednesday.

"I don't think much of the idea, but if that's what the people want, then I won't buck it. Perhaps the time has come when we need something like this," the judge added.

Hartman, in talking with the school board about its share of the cost if the new job is created, reminded the trustees that "in the past, we've paid $1,200 a year to the county, so we're talking about an increase of $2,700 to $3,000." The $1,200 — or $100 a month — has gone to the sheriff's department, which has supplied an officer whenever the school had a truancy problem that required an officer's assistance.

A county juvenile officer, if set up along the same lines as the one in Dumas, would also be a licensed law officer with the authority to arrest.

blood all over his head." When questioned by defense attorney Andy Shuval, Mrs. Martinez said she had spent the night before the shooting with her husband and they had an argument.

On the day of the shooting, she said, he was acting funny as he had many times after "smoking marijuana and taking LSD."

"He told me to go to our house and get all the things," she said, "because he told me he was leaving."

"We were going back to my father's house and we had to go down Main Street," she testified. "We had to stop at several lights and Fortunato, who was following us, kept bumping our car with his."

Mrs. Martinez and Janie testified that Martinez tried to run them off the road when they reached Avenue A.

Ed Owsley, city police officer who was in charge of the investigation, identified state's exhibit No. 1 as the rifle he took from the house on the day of the shooting. He said he removed 10 live rounds of ammunition from the gun and found three spent .22-caliber shells under the front door and near the flower bed.

Because of the type of rifle and shells used, Owsley testified, he was unable to get a ballistics test made.

Shuval produced a .38-caliber revolver as defendant's exhibit No. 1. The pistol was found in the glove compartment of Martinez's car when officers searched the vehicle immediately following the shooting.

Mrs. Martinez was again called to the witness stand and testified that Miss de Los Santos knew the revolver was in the glove compartment of the car. She said she and Miss de Los Santos were in the car the night before the shooting and she had shown the revolver to Miss de Los Santos.

Mrs. Martinez also testified get in a storm."

The board decided to think on the matter and resolve the proposal at its next session.

"I'd personally like to see the policy kept, but I think we could go along with perhaps relaxing it," Mims said.

County Democrats Conduct Meeting

In the recent county convention, the Deaf Smith County Democratic Executive Committee adopted five resolutions and certified eight delegates and two alternates to the state Democratic Convention to be held in Dallas, Sept. 15.

Certified as delegates were Mr. and Mrs. Andy Shuval, Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Jackson, Mr. and Mrs. Leo Witkowski, Bruce Miller and Robert Strain. Alternates will be Mr. and Mrs. James Hall and Mr. and Mrs. Dick Montgomery.

The committee passed a resolution "officially and publicly" commending Robert S. Strauss, Treasurer of the National Democratic Committee, for his "dedicated public service to our Party, State, and Nation."

Other resolutions were:

—Commending the Grand Jury for their devoted and unselfish service in behalf of the Community concerning the recent testimony on problems of this area.

—Recommended precinct organization to identify all Democrats, a county newsletter, attractive programs for the Democratic Club, coordination of all Democratic campaigns, one party headquarters and that the campaign manager of each candidate be a loyal Democrat who has a record of supporting Democratic nominees.

List Of Players For All-Star Game Grows To 32

LUBBOCK-Jim O'Brien, the University of Cincinnati's star split end and place kicker, has agreed to perform in the Coaches All-America Football Game June 27 in Texas Tech's Jones Stadium.

Also signing along with O'Brien were Tom Banks, a 6-2, 227-pound center from Auburn and Eric Harris, a 6-0, 183-pound defensive cornerback from Colorado. O'Brien and Banks will play for the East team, and Harris will join the West squad.

Sixteen players have now accepted offers to play for the East squad and 16 for the West. O'Brien, the third round draft choice of the Baltimore Colts, holds the NCAA major college career record of 22.0 yards averaged per catch. He was first in the nation in scoring in 1968 with 142 points, the fifth highest single season total in NCAA history.

During his career at Cincinnati, he caught 104 passes for 2,285 yards and scored 21 touchdowns. He also kicked 20 field goals and 61 extra points. O'Brien set 15 and tied two University of Cincinnati records for scoring, receiving and place kicking. He is a business administration major.

Banks, rated by Coach Ralph Jordan as one of the best blocking centers he has ever coached, helped the Tigers to an 8-2 record in 1969 and a trip to the Bluebonnet Bowl.

Harris, considered one of the finest defensive backs ever to play at Colorado or in the Big 8, had three interceptions in 1969 for 66 yards. He made 24 tackles and had five punt returns for 24 yards. He is a marketing major.

Already announced are Jim Reilly, Notre Dame; Buddy McClinton, Auburn; Jim McFarland, Nebraska; Terry McMillan, Missouri; Ken Geddes, Nebraska; Mel Easley, Oregon State; Billy Bridges, Houston; John Ward, Oklahoma State; Butch Davis, Missouri; John Small, The Citadel; Ron Gardin, University of Arizona; Godfrey Zaunbrecher, Eddie Ray, and George Bevan, all of LSU.

Also, Warren Muir, University of South Carolina; Steve Tannen, University of Florida; Walker Gillette, University of Richmond; John Isenbarger, Indiana; Robert Asher, Vanderbilt; Bob Reinhard, Stanford; Ron McBride, Missouri; Rod

Fuller Finishes 7th In State

George Fuller, Hereford's broad jumper, leaped 21 feet 10 1/2 inches Friday in the State Track Meet at Austin to take seventh place.

In qualifying at regional two weeks ago, Fuller broad jumped 21-0.

He was the only Hereford athlete to advance to the state meet.

Wartes Seeks Line Depth

After the first week of spring grid drills, "everything's going fine" according to head coach Larry Wartes.

"We've still got to find some depth in our offensive line but things are looking up," he said. "All our boys are sharpening up, especially Rudy Gonzales at quarterback. In another few days when our timing gets a little better, we're going to find out a few things," Wartes added.

One of the coach's problems so far is keeping his basebatters on tap with the spring training program and their baseball practice at the same time. "They're missing a little because they've been practicing for their final game Saturday with Dumas," he added.

Because of Saturday's baseball game, the footballers will hold their second scrimmage session Friday to end this week's action.

One of many defenders Wartes will be eyeing is linebacker Ike Graves who, the coach says "looks good."

Although Wartes will have to strengthen the offensive line, several of the older boys are good-moving prospects.

"We do have several linemen with good speed like Pat Betzen Gary Lemons and John Sparks. Then there is Ralph Waits who runs well, Monty Smith, and Donny McDermitt," he said.

In the way of injuries, Hereford only has two.

"Gary Collins got an injured elbow in the scrimmage Saturday," Wartes said, "and also we have Steve Clark out with a groin injury. He's a fine-looking kid. He plays either defensive end or offensive line end and he's a good one, but he's not ready yet to start hitting," he said.

Classroom Teachers Honor Retired Teachers At Tea

Seven Hereford teachers whose combined teaching experience totals 245 years were honored Thursday afternoon at a tea in the Hereford Community Center. The tea was given by the Deaf Smith County Classroom Teachers Association.

Each honored teacher was presented a corsage of chrysanthemums tied with pastel ribbon or boutonniere as they were greeted by the executive committee. Many teachers and administrators attended and visiting was the highlight of the afternoon prior to the presentation of certificates for the honored guests.

Teachers presented certificates of honor by classroom teacher president, Mrs. M. H. Richie, were Mrs. Bessie Squires, special education teacher at Northwest, 16 years; Mrs. Opal mamteacher at Northwest, 30 years; Mrs. Merlin Kaul, 1st grade, Aikman, 37 years; Miss Della Stagner, principal at Blucobnet, 37 years; Ray E. Clay, 5th grade teacher at Northwest, 40 years; Mrs. Tandy Legg, math teacher at La Plata, 40 years; and Miss Ethel Womble, 5th grade at Northwest, 45 years.

Refreshments were served from a trio of tables covered with pastel clothes and centered with an arrangement of butterfly daisies accented with tufts of pastel ribbon.

Presiding at the serving table were misses Dianne Ragland and Jamie Anthony.

Refreshments were prepared by La Plata and Stanton Junior High homemaking students. Other members of the committee were Mrs. Buster Miller and Ms. M. T. Burelsmith with FHA girls from La Plata assisting.

Tables were decorated by

Table Setting In Club Topic

"The Beauty of Table Setting" was the program topic presented by Mrs. A. L. Manjeot to members of Hereford Garden Club at a luncheon meeting Friday at the Community Center. Hostesses for the occasion were Mrs. A. O. Thompson and Mrs. Jeff Roberson.

Mrs. Manjeot said there's no place in the home where you can create beauty, simplicity, teachers of Aikman, Mrs. Don Shipley, Ms. Virgil Dodson, and Mrs. Ted Swindle.

The Classroom Teachers Association will have their final meeting of the year Monday evening at 7 in the Aikman Music Room. Mrs. Merlin Kaul will install the officers for the coming year.

good taste and true hospitality than at a correctly appointed table. In quotes from Berrall and Herst, authorities on table setting, she said "The enrichment of the total personality around a meal cannot be found elsewhere. The primary purpose is not just to fill the stomach. Setting the table calls for ingenuity, imagination, and resourcefulness and an eye to see the simple things that can be used to create beauty at the table." For example a lighted candle at the evening meal in an attractive holder with the correct placement of one flower or bit of greenery makes a good conversational piece as well as showing interest in your family.

Table settings which she arranged included a breakfast table with a provincial theme using red tulips, and an oriental tea table using bittersweet in an oriental arrangement.

She also demonstrated an informal luncheon table using twin arrangements for a setting for four; a luncheon table for Mother's Day in yellow and white with table mats from Switzerland; and a tray in blue and white featuring Dutch iris in an arrangement.

During a business session, Mrs. O. G. Hill Sr. and A. L. Manjeot were presented Honorary Life memberships for their contributions to the welfare of the club.

Progress reports were given by committee chairmen on projects including King's Manor, Camp Fire Lodge, therapy with exceptional children, the Junior Club and Garden Center.

The club was asked to furnish flower arrangements for open house at King's Manor on Sunday.

Free Concert 8 p.m. Tonight At High School

A free concert this evening, by the music departments of high school, will demonstrate to interested parents and friends what each group has accomplished throughout the year.

Ben Gollehon, supervisor of music for the entire school system, stresses that this presentation is not to be confused with the Music Festival to be presented May 21 by the various schools music groups at La Plata Junior High Gymnasium.

Tonight's performance, beginning at 8 p. m. in the high school auditorium, will feature the high school concert band, with ensembles, and the mixed, boys' and girls' choirs.

Avalanches rank with landslides, volcanic eruptions, earthquakes and floods as the most destructive forces of nature. One avalanche that plunged from a glacier on Peru's Nevado Huascaran on Jan. 10, 1962, swallowed eight villages and killed an estimated 3,500 persons.

RETIRED TEACHERS HONORED — Honored at a tea given Thursday afternoon by the Deaf Smith County Classroom Teachers were seven Hereford teachers whose teaching experience totals 245 years. They are, from the left, Mrs. Opal Bookout,

30 years experience in teaching; Mrs. Gladys Legg, 40 years; Mrs. Bessie Squires, 16 years; Mrs. Merlin Kaul, 37 years; Ethel Womble, 45 years; Della Stagner, 37 years; and Ray E. Clay, 40 years. —Staff Photo

"FROM HERE"

...it appears our world needs a lot of 'fixin up.' Too often, too many of us do our day-to-day job in a half-hearted way. We lose our perspective... our relationship to the world. We get to feeling our importance. Right there is our un-doing. When a man loses humility, he is on the way out. This man, with his wrench, looks at the world from way up. He wonders if he did his best on the foundation underneath him... if the high walls will support the structure he is atop. Both are basic to good building. The church, too, is necessary in the building of character, in the transforming of souls. It will help us greatly in the training of people to help fix our world. It will make good stewards of us who will be more anxious to share the fruit of the vine. So let us attend church or Synagogue every week. Let us, in earnest, help this man 'fix up' our world.

CREAMY CORNUCOPIAS — Cookie cones, given a vanilla filling, make a superb dessert.

LET'S COOK SOMETHING

Elegant Party Dessert

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

Want an elegant party dessert to please your most epicurean friends?

Then bake crisp thin cookie-wafers, shape them into cones and let them hold a creamy vanilla filling.

This dessert takes a bit of doing but it makes fare fit for the gods!

CREAMY CORNUCOPIAS
1/4 cup (1/2 stick) butter
1/2 cup dark corn syrup
One-third cup unsifted flour
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup finely chopped pecans
Creamy Vanilla Filling, see recipe

Grease large cookie sheets with solid white shortening; sprinkle with flour; shake from side to side to flour evenly; shake out excess flour.

In a 1-quart saucepan over low heat melt the butter; remove from heat. Stir in corn syrup; stir in flour and salt until smooth. Stir in pecans. Drop level tablespoons of the batter, 4 inches apart, onto prepared cookie sheets — no more than 4 to a sheet. Bake in a preheated 350-degree oven until lightly browned — 6 to 8 minutes. Let stand 15 to 30 seconds — just until firm enough to remove; with a wide spatula quickly remove a cookie, and using fingers and a wooden spoon handle, form into cone shape. Work quickly or have someone help you so cookies can be removed rapidly and shaped quickly.

Store in a tightly covered tin box — cones will stay crisp for several weeks.

Just before serving, spoon Creamy Vanilla Filling into each cone.

Makes 16 to 18 cones — 8 or 9 servings.

CREAMY VANILLA FILLING
1/2 cup heavy cream
1 cup milk
1 tablespoon sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 package (3 1/2 ounces) instant vanilla-flavor pudding

In a small bowl whip cream until stiff; refrigerate.

In a medium mixing bowl stir together the milk, sugar, vanila and pudding; without washing beater, slowly beat until blended — about 2 minutes. Fold in cream; refrigerate.

Use as directed in Creamy Cornucopias recipe. The cones are not filled until just before serving because the filling will soften them.

Filling may be refrigerated overnight. If not all the cones are to be filled and served, remaining filling may be stored in the freezer for one week.

Lemmings, small, tailless cousins of the mouse, usually live in the desolate Arctic highland plateaus with sparse forests and short grass. Suddenly in the spring they may start to move, persistently marching downhill toward the sea. Reaching the coast, they plunge straight into the sea in what appears to be wholesale suicide.

Girlstown Project Needs Assistance

Would you like to help with a "whopping big gift" for Girlstown, U.S.A.? Wings For Girlstown is a project to collect 4000 books of trading stamps to purchase a Cessna 172 Skyhawk.

City Council of Beta Sigma Phi is undertaking this as a project in Hereford and each member has given a book of stamps to get the ball rolling.

Mr. Marshall Cooper, director of Girlstown, is a licensed pilot and the plane will enable him to save much needed time in reaching girls who need Girlstown, and also to conduct necessary business.

He recently rented a plane for a trip and had this to say — "Had we owned the plane I flew the cost would have been about half the cost of renting, a savings of about $2,000. That money would have provided care for an additional girl."

This idea was originated by some Beta Sigma Phi members in Austin and is now a full-fledged state endeavor, with not only BSP Chapters contributing, but other organizations, both men's and women's.

You may help by giving any kind of trading stamps (books or loose stamps), Betty Crocker coupons or Gold Star Coupons. They may be given to any BSP members or deposited in containers on display in First National Bank, Hereford State Bank, Piggly Wiggly Grocery, Furr Food Store, Taylor & Sons

The Greatest Guy On Earth is the Man Who Takes His Family Out to Dinner

★ ★ ★ Feedlot Waste-- Good Or Bad As Fertilizer For Crops? ★ ★ ★

The place for feedlot waste is on cropland where soil can be enriched and nutrients used.

This is a common view held by agricultural, water resources and conservation experts, and they're working together on the problem which involves too much of a good thing.

The Texas Water Quality Board has granted a team of Texas Tech University researchers a contract extension for $5,028 to continue their study of feedlot waste treatment and utilization.

The primary research is in agronomy studies where investigations to date have established that livestock feedlot runoff can — under some conditions — be used to irrigate bermuda grass, and in heavy doses it harms row crops and small grains.

Agronomy Prof. Eugene A. Coleman is the principal investigator on the project. Working with him are Animal Science Prof. Robert C. Albin, Agricultural Engineering Prof. Walter Grub, Chairman George F. Meenaghan of the Department of Chemical Engineering and Director Dan M. Wells of the Water Resources Center.

Experiments to date have been concerned primarily with feedlot runoff — the wash off feedlots after a rain or by flushing.

"Bermuda grass thrives on one to two surface inches of runoff," Dr. Coleman said. "Runoff from concrete lots, however, is much more detrimental to plant growth than that from dirt lots."

"Experiments showed that feedlot runoff liquid used directly or diluted at a one to one ratio with water is very detrimental to germination and growth of cotton, grain sorghum, wheat and rye, even at application rates of only one surface inch," he said.

In the new study, the number of plots and experimental plant growth facilities will be increased, according to Coleman, and varying dilutions of feedlot runoff from both concrete and dirt lots will be used to irrigate typical field crops.

One of the aims is to find dilution rates at which the runoff is beneficial instead of detrimental to crops.

A second goal is to find application techniques, including timing and placement, that will be more beneficial.

The problem is particularly important, according to Dr. Wells, because of the high concentration of feedlots in the West Texas area and the accompanying problem of what to do with wastes.

Cattle population in commercial feedlots average about 200 to 250 head per acre, he said, and determining the proper treatment of the waste for its utilization is an increasingly important factor for feedlot operators concerned with the problem.

Furniture now comes in mini, midi and maxi styles, a size to fit middle-sized, large-sized or tiny living quarters.

Bonny Olsen, Extension housing and home furnishings specialist at Texas A&M University says the Mini-scaled furniture is suited especially to young single persons who live in mini-sized apartments. This is one answer for the young single's furniture problems.

Another answer is to buy furniture with more than one use. Let one piece do the work of two interchangeable furniture permits more flexibility, promotes the uncluttered look and saves the young person money. Here are some furniture ideas from Mrs. Olsen.

A commode with drawers and drop-lid compartment can be used in the living or bedroom. It is interchangeable as a wall chest or bedside stand and can hold books, magazines, records, or shirts and sweaters.

A little table with a gallery on three sides could hold the hall telephone, a living room lamp or items used at bedside.

A wall unit which is finished on all sides can stand free as a room divider and serve as a stronger unit to hold books and art objects.

A very unusual piece which is a bachelor's special is an ottoman that can be made into a single bed. It has a rattan base in two sections which telescope together so the two cushions stack for use as an ottoman. It converts from seat to bed by means of two locking hooks.

The last item for young single persons is a chest-dress with spacious drawers and a top which opens to disclose a desk with pigeon holes and slide-out writing surface.

Researchers Study Fire As Brush Control Weapon

LUBBOCK — Burning brush for control benefits is a precise operation, and electrical engineers now are joining brush control experts to make it even more so.

Range and wildlife researchers at Texas Tech University have been working for three years on fire as a brush control tool and have developed an equation to define the effect ranchers will get with the fuel, air temperature, wind and relative humidity at the time of burn.

Their equation work swell when fuel — the amount of grass available to carry the fire — amounts to 3,000 pounds or more per acre.

The problem now is to refine that equation for fuel supplies of less than 3,000 pounds. This is where the electrical engineers are helping.

They are developing a mathematical model which will simulate natural burning conditions. With this, additional factors can be qualified to give ranchers a more precise "burn time" to get maximum control and benefits.

Working together as principal researchers on the project are Prof. Henry A. Wright of the Department of Range and Wildlife Management and Prof. William M. Portnoy of the Department of Electrical Engineering. A graduate student, Charles E. Burton of Colorado Springs, Colo., is working with them as a part of his doctoral degree program.

One factor which will go into the mathematical model is the amount of borer activity in dead wood.

"Some mesquite has a lot of borer activity," Wright explained. "This is like having a pile of kindling, because it gives us more air space per unit volume of wood. The mesquite is easier to ignite, and the burndown is greater."

Borer activity is heavy where mesquite trees were partially killed by drought during the early '50s. In research burns it was in these area activity appears to have greatly aided the burndown of sprayed mesquite. Dr. Wright said that heavy borer activity also occurs in burned areas, and investigation might show that land will benefit from burning it twice.

"After the first burn, borers can attack the top-killed mesquite, adding fuel other than grass to the second burn," he said.

Tours Increase At High Plains Research Offices

Minimum tillage studies at the High Plains Research Foundation near Halfway are creating more attention on the High Plains as witnessed recently by a field trip made to the Foundation by Dr. Harold Dregne, agronomy professor, Texas Tech University, and eleven students.

The students were from the soil conservation and land use management class at the Lubbock university.

Dr. Tom Longnecker, Foundation director, said the trip was made primarily to review minimum tillage studies undertaken by the Foundation during 1969 and test programs planned for 1970.

Dr. Longnecker said the trip also allowed the group to become better acquainted with the studies conducted by the Foundation.

The group received a briefing on livestock, water conservation practices, crop variety studies, and cultural practices undergoing testing at the Foundation.

Participating in the briefing sessions were Dr. Longnecker; Dr. Douglas Owen, oilseed scientist; Jim Valliant, soil scientist; and Dennis Mooney, associate agronomist.

Climaxing the field trip was a tour of the research farm and facilities.

Another factor he cited is the quantity of juniper versus the quantity of mesquite involved. Mesquite burns best during March, he explained, while juniper has to be burned in late fall or winter for effective control.

These factors like them will go into the mathematical model which should yield more precise information on all the conditions which contribute to an effective burn.

As for the value of fire as a brush control tool, Wright is convinced that the Texas Tech studies already have shown proven benefits.

Although control of mesquite and juniper was a primary target of the fire program when it started, the fire also has shown good control for broomweed and prickly pear, partial control of some harmful insects and — particularly important — it has added forage for livestock.

In addition to clearing out dead brush, the fire makes it easier to handle animals. "For one thing," Wright said, "you can see them."

Although the researchers have found some grasses intolerant to fire, advantages are particularly important where there are large stands of tobacco grass, which grows over large areas in Texas, southern New Mexico and Arizona.

The grass is nutritious and cattle like it when it is young and tender. With age it becomes coarse and distasteful.

A burn takes off the old grass, and it comes back as tender, succulent shoots attractive both to cattle and wildlife.

One rancher estimated that he gained about $1 per acre from increased utilization, Wright reported.

"With the mathematical model," Dr. Portnoy said, "we think we can increase that dollar value, and we can give the rancher the information he needs to make a good decision on when to burn."

ratio with water is very detrimental to germination and growth of cotton, grain sorghum, wheat and rye, even at application rates of only one surface inch," he said.

The sky grows dark and threatening, and off in the distance a dull roar can be heard as a funnel cloud dips from the sky.

A tornado has formed and threatens damage to life and property.

That sort of scene, according to the Texas Safety Association, occurred 127 times in Texas during 1969. The statewide safety group points out that the tornado continues to be Texas' top weather worry.

According to the safety association, tornadoes can occur at anytime of the year, but they occur most frequently in Texas between March and October. During May of last year 65 tornadoes were reported in the state.

The damage from the 1969 storms amounted to $2,341,750 and there were three deaths in Texas.

The Texas Safety Association says the U. S. Weather Bureau, State Civil Defense and Disaster Relief, and the Texas Department of Public Safety have prepared a list of rules to follow in case of a tornado disaster.

The safety association points out that to know these rules may mean the difference between life and death.

Here are the tornado safety rules:

1. The safest place to be during a tornado is in a cave or a storm cellar. When time permits, go to a tornado cellar, cave, or underground excavation which should be kept fit for use, meaning free from water, gas or debris, and preferably equipped with a pick and shovel.

2. If you are in open country, move at right angles to the tornado's path. Remember that tornadoes move ahead at about 25 to 40 miles per hour as a general rule. If there is no time to escape, lie flat in the nearest ravine to avoid injury from objects being hurled through the air.

3. If you are in a city or town, seek inside shelter, preferably along the inside walls on the low floors of a steel reinforced building. Stay away from windows.

If you are at home in a frame-house, the southwest corner of the lowest floor (Preferably a basement) offers greater safety. People living in brick or stone houses should find other shelter, such as a storm cellar or the southwest basement corner of a frame house.

If time permits before a storm strikes, turn off the gas and electricity. Windows and doors on the north and east sides of the house may be opened to help reduce damage to the building from outdoor pressure differences.

4. If you are in a school and the building is of reinforced steel construction, stay inside, keep the children away from windows and remain near inside walls on a lower floor when possible.

Avoid auditoriums and gymnasiums under all circumstances. In any rural schools that do not have reinforced construction, children should seek shelter in a ravine or a ditch when storm cellars are not available and a tornado has been reported or seen.

5. In factories or industrial plants, a lookout should be posted immediately upon receiving a tornado warning, and he should keep safety officials advised of the tornado's approach.

Advance preparation should be made for shutting off electrical circuits and fuel lines if the tornado approaches the plant.

Workers should be moved to sections of the plant offering the greatest protection.

6. Above all, keep calm. Persons have been killed by running out into streets and by turning back into the path of a tornado.

Even though a warning is issued, the chances of a tornado striking one's home or location are slight. As a rule, tornadoes cover such a small area that relatively a few places in a warned area are directly affected. You should be familiar with the safety precautions, however, in case a tornado does approach.

7. Keep tuned to your radio or television station for the latest information when tornado warnings have been issued. Do not call the Weather Bureau, except to report a tornado, as your call may tie up telephone lines urgently needed to receive special reports, or to relay messages to radio stations for broadcast to thousands in the critical area.

The Texas Safety Association also says there is sometimes confusion over terms used in the reporting of tornadoes by the weather bureau.

The bureau, says the association, issues Tornado Forecasts for a relatively large area in which weather conditions will be favorable for one or more tornadoes to develop.

A tornado alert occurs when one or more weather stations locate an area of turbulence or cloud formations which indicate the probability of a tornado.

Tornado warnings are announcements that a tornado has been sighted and reported. The warnings tell where and when the tornado has been reported and lists the names of communities toward which the tornado is moving. These warnings cover a short period of time, usually less than an hour, and are for the purpose of advising persons in the path of the storm to take immediate safety precautions.

Tractor Driver Has Only Moment To Prevent Wreck

Seven-tenths of a second isn't very long.

But seven-tenths of a second is all the time available to a farm tractor operator whose unit has started to rear backwards under full throttle.

Within that time, he can still de-throttle the engine to stop the rearing, he explains. Beyond that fraction of time, there is no stopping the rearing and ultimate upset. And unless the operator is thrown clear, he is pinned or crushed to suffer serious injury or death.

Or maybe he was one of the lucky ones whose tractor was equipped with a roll bar.

"Of a national annual toll of about 1000 lives due to tractor accidents, some 600 are credited to tractor overturns," a safety expert said recently. "Many could be prevented through the exercise of sensible driving practices."

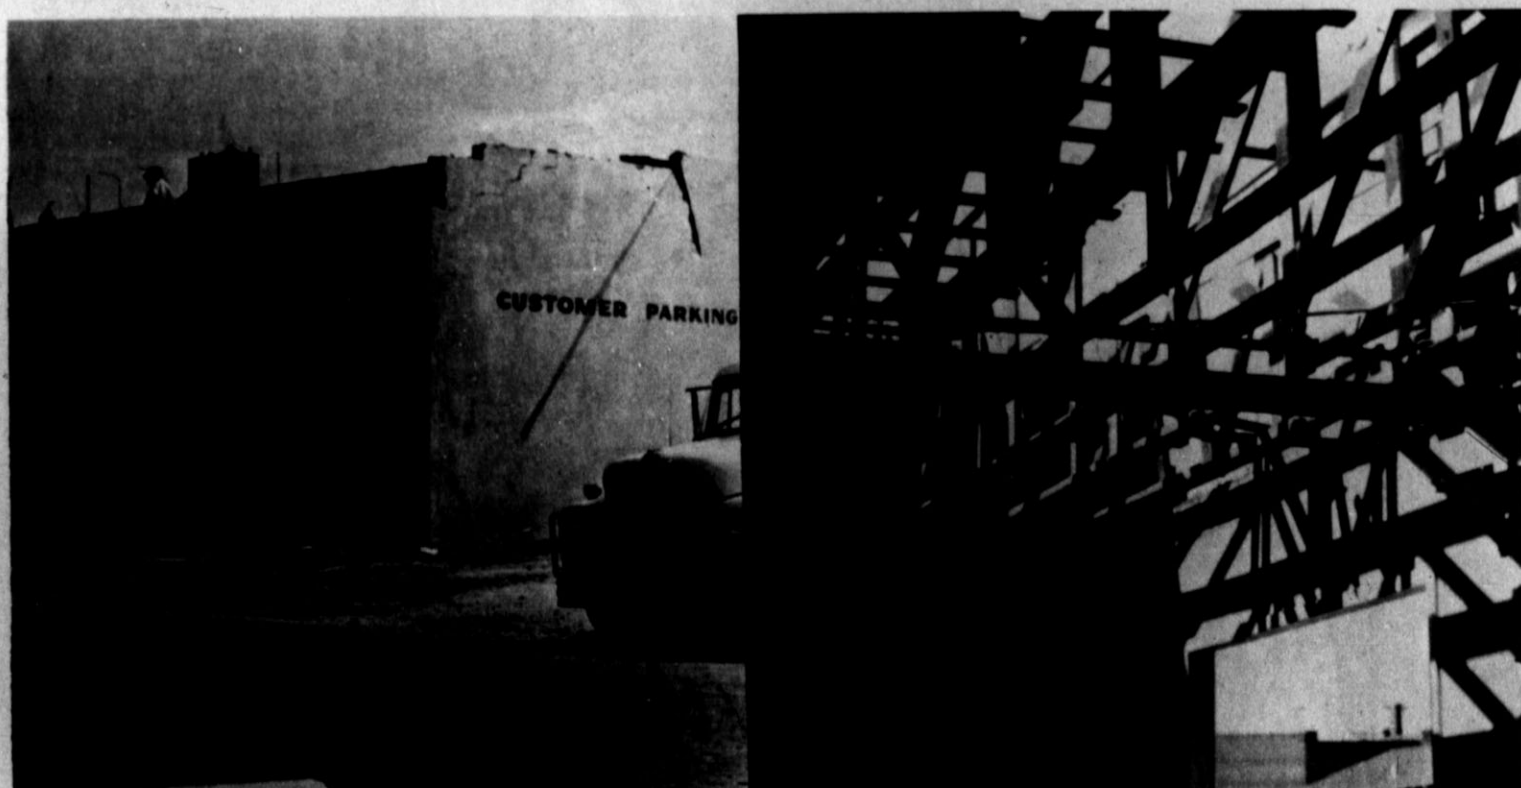

Sidewise upsets occur when tractors are driven too close to ditches, holes or embankments. Backward flips occur when tractor-implement hitches are set at a point higher than the center of the rear axle, or when the load exceeds the tractor's power to move it. At such times, the tractor employs its own power to create the rearing and backward flipping motion.

A roll-over bar, sometimes called a protective frame, can be designed to serve as a crush-resistant cab to provide operator comfort. But its primary purpose is to protect the operator from serious injury in the event the tractor tips.

Many capsize tractors have been prevented from tipping more than 90 degrees because a roll bar was there to stop them and many tractor operators have been spared serious injury because they were strapped into the tractor seat when a roll bar bore the weight and bulk of a tractor that reared and fell over backwards.

Safety specialists estimate the yearly toll of 600 lives lost to tractor overturns could be reduced by some 400 just through the use of roll bars.

A NEW FIRE HALL for Hereford's volunteer firemen will be located in the building south of the City Hall. Renovation began last week, as is shown in the above photographs. The front of the building

Work Begins On New Fire Hall

Hereford's 35 volunteer firemen soon will have a new fire hall.

The City of Hereford recently purchased the building south of City Hall, and renovation began last week. The building was owned by Jack Wright.

The first 12 feet of the building is being removed, and a new brick front will be constructed with three large doors and one service door. A sloping drive will be built to accommodate the trucks when exiting.

The building will contain parking space for nine trucks, a hose washing and drying room, a kitchen and lounge, a games room, two offices and a meeting room.

The fire department will continue to use the present fire station, but will no longer need the storage facilities across the street from the City Hall on Miles Street.

The two buildings between the new fire building and Second Street will be removed and replaced with a parking area for the firemen's use.

The present parking area between the fire hall and City Hall will be paved at the same time, according to City Manager Dudley Bayne.

Bayne said that the firemen and Fire Marshall Terry Hale are enthusiastic about their new quarters and are doing some of the construction work themselves.

Has Been A Good Move

Mrs. Wilma Taylor

The 40 mile move from Earth to Hereford has been a good one according to Mrs. Wilma Taylor, who says "we love Hereford more each day."

The C. O. "Doodle" Taylors came here in January after living at Earth for 22 years. "We had been encouraged by friends to move here when we were looking for a location for our furniture and appliance store, because Hereford has such friendly people, and they were right," she said. Doodle and Wilma own and operate Taylor Furniture and Appliance Center on Park Avenue which recently held its grand opening.

The Taylors' hobby is traveling which they enjoy when they find the time. They have won several trips from General Electric including a trip to Germany to visit their son Billy and his family who reside at Zweibrücken.

They also have a married daughter living in San Diego, Mrs. June Barker and four grandchildren.

The Taylors still operate a farm at Earth which is a sort of hobby for Mr. Taylor. It gives him the chance to get away from business and relax.

Engraved plaques line the walls of their office which they received for participation in the Junior Livestock shows at Earth. They also worked with the junior rodeo and hope to find time to participate in these activities here.

They have also been busy getting their yard in shape at their new home at 214 Hickory.

Wilma has visited the Newcomers Club a few times since they moved here and is a member of Order of Eastern Star at Earth. She plans to move her membership here. They are members of the First United Church and are meeting many new friends.

Mr. Taylor is a member of the noon Lion's Club.

FBI Chase Prime Murder Suspect

Are mysteries, suspense thrillers, rousing and timely novels your favorite type of reading material? Now available at the Deaf Smith County Library are two such books you are sure to enjoy. Check into them today.

GREEN GROW THE GRAVES
By M. E. Chaber

A United States Congressman who is assassinated midway through an important political speech, an escaped convict who is suspected of the murder, a supposed international conspiracy, and Milo March, the resilient and resilient insurance investigator, whom the New Yorker calls "solitary, hard-drinking and spendingly male," are all combined in this rousing and timely thriller by M. E. Chaber.

After the sudden and violent death of Congressman Randolph, the FBI and the police in a dozen different cities are unable to locate the prime suspect—a bad-luck hold-up artist with an unforgettable face. Intercontinental Insurance, Milo's usual employer, sends their man into the fray, feeling that the public service (and the resulting publicity) rendered by the indefatigable March would be well worth his exorbitant expense reports. The chase sends Milo from Cleveland to the West Coast (and an interview with a shady plastic surgeon), to Lisbon, and then to Cape Town and the final confrontation. Skillfully drawn and convincing as always, this latest thriller from M. E. Chaber will not fail to please his many fans and will win many new ones.

MOURNING RAGA
By Ellis Peters

It was typical of Dorette Lester, darling of the film world on two continents, that her 14-year-old daughter, Anjali Kumar, should arrive from America just as Dorette was handed one of the leading roles in an English film. It was equally typical that her reaction would be to send the child to New Delhi to visit her father (whom neither had seen since the divorce years ago) without checking to see if he were alive or dead. As it turned out, no one was quite sure.

When Anjali arrived, carefully shepherded by Dominic Felse, son of the famous C.I.C. detective-inspector, and his girl friend, Tossa Barber, she learned that her father had been missing for over a year.

In a matter of hours, Anjali herself was missing, her disappearance coinciding with a vicious, apparently senseless murder...

Fans of Ellis Peters expect a knowledge of music to underscore her novels and here she utilizes the haunting notes of an Indian raga as oblique to a series of ominous events.

WTSU Will Offer Feed Additive Shows Well Advanced Driving Course This Fall In Lamb, Beef Cattle Rations

CANYON — An advanced driver training course will be available next year at West Texas State University as a result of a $50,000 grant from the Texas Education Agency.

The grant will provide funds for elaborate equipment in teaching West Texas State students to become qualified driver training instructors or supervisors, said Dr. Myron Dees, head of the Department of Health and Physical Education.

It will be the only such course offered in the Panhandle-Plains, he said, and will be started in the 1971 summer school.

"Students completing the course will be qualified to use virtually any equipment on the driver training market today," he said.

Equipment will include 12 driver training simulators, a 30-place multi-media response system and a driving range with simulated road and traffic conditions.

The simulator cars are equipped with standard automobile controls and are designed to give the operator the feel of driving a full-size car. Each simulator is electrically connected to a scoring device so the instructor has an instant printed record of students' reaction evaluated with no risk to drivers, pedestrians or property, Dees said.

Wide screen, full color motion picture roadways recreate all the essential elements in each traffic situation, including traffic sounds.

Dees said the driving range will include simulated highway intersections, one-way streets, freeway exits and entrances and various parking situations. A possible site for the range is the south side of Buffalo Bowl, he added.

He said members of the present driver training class will receive gradual exposure to the new equipment as it arrives. The equipment will be permanently installed, although the classroom area has not yet been determined, he said.

The university now offers Driver and Traffic Education I and II.

Pioneer Roundup Slated Saturday In Plainview

The theme, "That Old Time Magic" has been chosen for the 42nd Pioneer Round-Up set for Plainview.

Mrs. Helen Pemberton, president of the Plainview Business and Professional Women's Club, said all plans have been completed for the event.

The reception beginning at 10 a. m. at the Hale County Agriculture Center at the Y of Highway 87 in Plainview will allow "old timers" to reminisce and exchange stories of the past.

Mrs. Era Cox, chairman of this committee and her assistants are expecting many pioneers from near and far.

One of the few remaining parades in Plainview will be staged at 3 p. m., originating near the Santa Fe Depot on north Broadway. The parade will move south on Broadway to 5th Street, east to Ash and north on Ash to the point of origin, where it will end.

O. B. Jackson will be parade marshal. The color guard will also head the parade and the Plainview School bands will march. Some floats have already been entered and Fay Newell, chairman of the parade committee, said additional floats are welcome. An antique car section will be in the parade.

Riding clubs and miscellaneous riders will give the western flavor to the event. Winners in the parade will be announced Sulfamethazine added to high two drugs.

Concentrate lamb rations along with chlortetracycline resulted in marked improvement in feeder lamb performance in trials at the Texas A&M University Research Center near McGregor, Tex.

Low levels of an antibiotic, such as chlortetracycline, are generally included in feeder lamb rations to improve growth and reduce losses from enterotoxemia.

Chlortetracycline is cleared for use in feeder lamb rations by the Federal Drug Administration. However, sulfamethazine has not yet been cleared nor has the combination of the Combination of the two drugs has been approved as an additive to beef cattle rations during the first 28 days of the feeding period. Used together the drugs demonstrated increased weight gains and reduced losses from respiratory problems.

Success of such a combination in beef cattle feeding led to this investigation for use of sulfamethazine and chlortetracycline in feeder lamb rations.

Under two different feeding periods of 28 days and 56 days, there appeared to be a beneficial response from including either chlortetracycline or a combination of it with sulfamethazine in high concentrate rations for lambs. In at least two trials of four, addition of sulfamethazine gave a marked response over that obtained using chlortetracycline alone.

Average daily gain increased by .14 pounds with the combination of the drugs. The two used together gave .72 pounds average daily gain as compared to .58 for chlortetracycline alone. Sulfamethazine used with chlortetracycline also gave an increase in feed efficiency from 6.7 to 5.8 pounds of feed per pound of gain.

For Women Courageous With Color

By JOY STILLEY
AP Newsfeatures Writer
NEW YORK — Color, texture, simplicity, comfort — with a bit of boldness thrown in. These are the guidelines for successful decorating offered by Peg White, interior designer and design consultant.

"There are very few rules in decorating, thank goodness, remarked the tall slim brunette as she sat on the tomato-red velvet sofa in the East Side Manhattan apartment she calls her "Laboratory." She has not only furnished and accessorized it but has also changed it architecturally by subtracting an archway, building a built-in storage space, paneling one wall and designing a floor-to-ceiling shelf arrangement across another.

"I do wish, though, I could encourage more women to be adventuresome with color. Let's say you paint a room red. It doesn't have to be forever. You can live with it six months, then repaint it with about $20 worth of paint," said Miss White, who currently serves as special consultant on interior design for the American Wood Council, in addition to maintaining her own private decorating practice.

"When I talk about painting a room, I speak from experience," said the designer. She whitewashed the walls of her apartment herself, including the exterior siding that she put on a long wall in her living room.

"I wanted the texture," she explained of the unusual use of the wood. "We are surrounded by flat, smooth walls, buildings and concrete. There is joy in texture as well as color."

People in the East and West tend to use brighter colors than those in the center of the country, she has concluded from extensive travels.

HER OWN THING — Interior designer and design consultant Peg White surveys the living room of her Manhattan apartment, predominantly white, on which she often experiments with decorating ideas.

"On the coasts are so many creative people; they are sort of trend setters," she pointed out. "In other places there's more timidity and if you're not sure of yourself, the easiest way out, for instance, is to do carpeting in beige. There's nothing wrong with beige. But I just wish they'd have more fun."

Her own living room has a white vinyl floor, a white wool area rug and white walls. The cotton print on chairs combines white, blue and lime with an orangey-red that picks up the color of the sofa.

The broad windowsill is filled with plants in containers ranging from an old butter crock to a soup tureen. On the white-lacquered table beneath the white-framed mirror is an old French footbath — whitewashed and filled with ferns.

"Everything that isn't white when it comes in here gets that way," the enthusiastic paintbrush wielder said with a smile. "In summer I cover my upholstered pieces with white cotton slipcovers. I love it when the room is in white — besides being a change it's very simple and cool. And I adore slipcovers. But they should be something you can throw in the washing machine or take to a do-it-yourself cleaning place."

Outstanding feature of the room is a ceiling-scraper tropical schefflera tree growing in an enormous container. The leaves at the top ordinarily turn down but right now they're threatening to go through the roof. "But I'm a firm believer in talking to your plants and trees and I'm having little chats with this one every morning," she said.

The lived-in look her own home achieves is one which Miss White seeks in decorating for clients. "Before I take on a job I want to actually walk into that house and stand there. And I have to talk to the residents to find out what they really need, how they live. It's their house and it has to reflect their personality."

Miss White, a native of Grand Rapids, Mich., began her professional career with a leading furniture company there. Then she moved to New York, where she worked on design projects for House and Garden. She later went to the Ladies Home Journal as decorating editor, designing and decorating room settings.

"In preparing a room for photographing I try to make it one that I myself would move into," she said. "I avoid that stiff, sterile magazine look." When she recently decorated a model home in Charlotte, N. C., for the Wood Council, to show the uses of fine woods and wood paneling, she "invented" a family.

"Otherwise it would look like a furniture showroom," she declared. "The father and mother I made up were in their late 30s. I really began to believe in them. When I was picking out pictures for his study I said of one, 'Oh, he'd never have that.'"

"The two girls, 10 and 12, shared a room," she continued, "and I decided the boy, 9, would be a rock collector. I had shelves built on the window wall to house my fictitious boy's collection. The mother was interested in weaving and needlework so there were pillows she had 'made' around. It all helped to make the house a more personal place."

"One wood floor in the boy's room was stained bright red. The men working on it thought I had lost my mind but when it was finished they said, 'My, that's pretty.'"

For those who tackle a decorating job without professional help Miss White has some suggestions. She advocates acquiring pieces of furniture in a junk shop and painting them. "Some people are snooty about things that don't cost much, but a humble $13.95 director's chair with a more interesting piece of fabric covering the canvas can do wonders for a room."

"Study the magazines," she advises. "They will help you learn proportion and color and will show you the availability of new fabrics and fantastic products. Visit model rooms in stores to get ideas. Don't buy everything at once. I'm a firm believer in waiting until you see the right piece for the right place, even if you have to wait five years."

"And be courageous, for heaven's sake!"

USDA Food Programs Add $75 Million To Economy

About $75,462,000 in "new income" is estimated for Texas during the 1969-70 fiscal year, as a result of food programs administered jointly by the U. S. Department of Agriculture, the State Department of Public Welfare and the Texas Education Agency.

In March, 404,924 low-income persons in Texas — 3.6 percent of the state's population — received food assistance through either the Food Stamp or the Commodity Distribution program.

Of the March total, 298,321 persons in 150 counties received donated foods and 106,603 in 10 counties participated in the Food Stamp Program.

"Both of these programs contribute substantially to the state's economy," points out John J. Slaughter, Southwest regional director of USDA's Food and Nutrition Service, Dallas, Texas.

The Food Stamp Program contributes directly to the amount of money in circulation in the state, as "bonus" coupons are provided by the federal government.

An estimated $12,866,000 in "new money" will be brought into the state this fiscal year through the Food Stamp Program alone. This figure is based on present participation, the increased rate of bonus coupons provided after Feb. 1, and plans for at least one county to start the Food Stamp Program before July 1.

From July through March, a total of $11,323,400 in food coupons was issued. Participating families received $7,115,000 of these coupons without cost. Based on new rates of issuance and increased participation, it is projected that total value of food coupons issued this fiscal year will exceed $19 million.

USDA has appointed $19,790,700 to the Texas Education Agency for child nutrition in Texas for this fiscal year. Of this amount, $8,716,200 was paid to public school districts from July through March. In addition, $1,802,380 has been apportioned for use by private schools. These funds help support school lunch and breakfast programs, special milk programs, special food service programs for children, and administrative costs.

From July, 1969, through March, 1970, needy families, schools, child care centers and institutions received 130,431,600 pounds of a wide variety of donated foods. Projected figures indicate the value of these foods for the entire 1970 fiscal year — 174,000,000 pounds — will exceed $40 million.

In addition, from July, 1969, through March, 1970, USDA reimbursed the State Department of Public Welfare to the extent of $122,200 for certifying non-public assistance families as eligible to use the food coupons. With more families using the program now, the amount of reimbursement to the state is estimated at $175,000 for the fiscal year.

An additional $840,000 has been allocated to Texas for expanding and improving the commodity distribution program within the state. These funds will be used by the state to help start a food program in all Texas counties presently without a program.

Second Marriages By Older Couples Usually Work

COLLEGE STATION, — A second marriage by an older couple can make retirement more successful. This is the conclusion of a university sociologist after a study of 100 marriages by older couples.

All of them had been in the present marriage at least five years. The women were past 60 years of age and the men past 65 when they married.

Usually these marriage partners had known each other for a long time, had been friends or were related by a previous marriage. In some cases they had mutual friends who gave them moral support to face the frowns of their families and society, reports Minnie Bell, Extension Specialist for aging at Texas A&M University.

Since older parents no longer live in the home of their offsprings, marriage is one solution to having a home of their own. Miss Bell says the intelligent older woman becomes more interesting with years, especially with wisdom, wit and the understanding of men so

Oglesby Attends Industrial Meet

Cecil Oglesby, International Industrial equipment dealer in Hereford, has just returned from Louisville, Ky., where he attended a special industrial equipment presentation of new International crawler tractors, loaders, PAY loggers, fork lifts and a special compact loader.

This was the first showing of International Harvester Company's complete line, believed to be the worlds most extensive array of industrial tractors and equipment.

Featured among the new machines Oglesby saw were six new crawler tractor models, three series of fork lifts with lift capacities from 4,000 to 6,000 pounds and heights from 14 to 28 feet, a new compact loader premiered at the show, plus a host of industrial tractors and machines comprising the International line.

Many millions of dollars were invested in research and development by the company to develop these new products.

Oglesby and some 800 International industrial equipment dealers and salesmen were among the total number visiting the Louisville Fairgrounds to witness the new product introductions.

International Harvester manufactures its industrial tractors and equipment at works located in Louisville, Ky., Hamilton, Ont., Canada; Melrose Park, Canton and Libertyville, Ill.

Area School Personnel Plan For Workshops

LUBOCK — Approximately 360 special and vocational education personnel will visit Texas Tech this summer to participate in two one-week workshops sponsored by the Department of Special Education.

The first workshop will be held June 8-12 followed by a second session from July 0-24. "It is hoped," said Dr. Bruce D. Mattson, chairman of special education, "the chief outcome will be better informed vocational educators with greater interest in handicapped students and increased skill in working with them in the context of vocational education."

Mattson also stated, "it is anticipated that special educators will have greater understanding of vocational education programs."

Among the approximately 240 vocational education personnel designated to participate will be vocational guidance counselors, vocational teachers for handicapped children, vocational orientation teachers and vocational teacher aides.

Special education personnel will be selected by the Director

Dickie Fellers, Route 1.

ENMU Names Buddy Ball As Basketball Coach

PORTALES — A Kansas junior college basketball coach, who has won 10 championships in 13 years of college coaching, has been named head basketball coach at Eastern New Mexico University.

Buddy Ball, 39-year old head coach at Coffeyville Community Junior College in Coffeyville, Kansas, will assume duties as head coach and associate professor of physical education at Eastern within a few weeks. Ball, with 13 years of college coaching experience, has an overall record of 260 wins and 111 losses. During his eight years at Coffeyville his teams won seven championships, five of them in a row. They have averaged 20 wins and eight losses each season during the eight years.

While head coach at Joplin Junior College, he compiled an of Special Education of the Texas Education Agency and will include teachers of various disability categories at the pre-vocational and vocational levels, as well as coordinators or supervisors of special education programs.

The program format will include general sessions, seminar groups, and individual conferences with resource personnel. "Personnel from relevant state, regional, and federal agencies," said Mattson, "as well as those from private facilities will be integrated into the format during each of the one-week workshops."

According to National Geographic, scientists believe 75 million meteors slam into Earth's atmosphere every day. However, all but a relative few — weighing about one ton altogether — burn up before reaching the ground.

80-44 record in five years and was conference champion three years.

The new Eastern coach received his B. S. and M. S. degrees from Kansas State College and has completed work towards a doctorate degree. He is married and is the father of two sons and two daughters.

Coach Ball employs the same type of ball control that has led Eastern teams to several District 7 titles including the NAIA championship in 1969 and a third place finish in 1970. "We play a deliberate brand of ball at Coffeyville," Ball explains, "and I imagine this will carry over to Eastern quite well."

Holly Reports 1969 Deficit In Operations

Holly Sugar Corporation has reported a fiscal year net loss of $2,465,000 or $1.59 a share as a result of adverse weather affecting the 1969 Texas and Rocky Mountain sugar beet crops.

Holly previously had indicated it could have a loss for the period. The loss for fiscal 1970 reflects an income tax credit of $3,069,000.

The loss was in contrast with a profit of $3,674,000 or $2.38 a share for last year, President John B. Bunker said. The provision for income taxes in fiscal 1969 was $2,094,000.

Sales for the fiscal year which ended March 31, 1970 were $84,734,000 compared with the record $102,248,000 in the similar period last year.

The decline in sales for the sugar processor and food distributor was largely attributed to the discontinuance of Holly's cattle-feeding operation and reduced marketing of sugar in fiscal 1970.

"The full impact of last year's adverse weather and its effect on the sugarbeet crops is reflected in fiscal 1970 operating results since Holly utilizes the last-in, first-out (LIFO) method of valuing its sugar inventories," Bunker said.

"This will enable Holly to begin the current year without having to carry over high cost sugar to charge against fiscal 1971's sales," he said.

Bunker reported that April was profitable as the corporation returned to normal conditions in processing a good California crop.

Studies show that the igneous moon rocks returned from Tranquility Base crystallized between three and four billion years ago.

7,900 Acres Of Cotton Expected

It's cotton planting time on the High Plains, and officials figure farmers in Deaf Smith County will seed something like 7,900 acres of the original 1970 allotment of 9,422 acres.

Acres in the county available for planting to cotton, as indicated by the "Sign-up" with Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Services office prior to March 20, total 8,793 acres.

Cotton industry people generally are agreed that at least 90 per cent of this total actually will be planted to cotton. However, acreage that remains for harvest naturally will be reduced by hail and other adverse weather during the growing season.

In the past, abandonment of about 10 or 11 per cent of planted acreage has been considered normal on the Plains, which would leave about 7,100 acres of cotton in the area.

Throughout the 25 cotton-growing counties of the Plains, there are 2,522,890 available acres for planting, as indicated by the sign-up. About 2,270,000 acres is expected to actually be seeded to cotton.

Last year the 25 counties planted about 2,150,000 acres of cotton, only to have hailstorms and other weather violence cut that figure almost 28 per cent to an estimated 1,550,000 acres by Nov. 1.

Assuming that harvested acreage in 1970 will total 2,050,000, and assuming a yield equal to the 478 pounds of lint per acre averaged from 1963 through 1968, production potential this year comes out to 2,045,720 bales, including 21 pounds each for bagging and ties. Cotton from the high plains traditionally has averaged out to about three cents per pound below the base loan value for Middling-up cotton. At this price, 17.25 cents per pound, the 1970 crop would be sold for $176,443,350.

The "domestic" part of allotments signed up with ASCS on the Plains (65 per cent), comes to 1,639,878 acres. This is the acreage on which farmers qualify for price support payments of 16.8 cents per pound times an area average projected yield of 499 pounds. So price support payments on the Plains will total some $137,474,250, bringing producer income from lint production up to almost $311 million. Value of seed from the crop should add another $32 million or so to the area economy.

Acreage originally allotted to the High Plains for 1970, including the area's portion of a one million acre increase in the national allotment, was only 2,461,914 acres. But considerable acreage was moved into the area through purchases and leases of unwanted cotton allotments from other parts of the State.

Just how many acres moved in by this means has not been officially tabulated. But it is obvious that in such counties as Dawson, Gaines, Lubbock, Lynn and Martin, where the sign-up came to well over 100 per cent of original allotments, several thousands acres were bought or leased.

A total of 60,976 more acres were recorded in the sign-up for the 25 counties than were first allotted, so it is safe to say that at least that many acres were transferred to the Plains for 1970. In fact this figure is almost certainly too low, since there are always some acres of original allotments in every county that aren't signed up.

Twister Unleashes Fury On Lubbock

Homes, Businesses

A towering wreck . . . another office building in downtown Lubbock.

Fields and Company household store on Ave Q . . . now only a pile of rubble.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Jerry Odom, staff writer for the Hereford Brand, toured the tornado-stricken areas of Lubbock Tuesday. His account of the damage he saw and how it affected Lubbock residents follows.

BY JERRY ODOM
Staff Writer

"I still can't believe it happened. It's so unreal," a Lubbock resident said Tuesday and that is about the feeling of all who were affected by the devastating tornado which hit the "Hub City" Monday night, killing at least 20 persons and injuring hundreds.

In downtown Lubbock Tuesday where three tornadoes ripped an eight-mile track, some people walked around trying to laugh, some were in a daze and others just wondered, "what's the use?"

Signs of the damage were quickly evident for anyone entering Lubbock from the west on U. S. 84. Motel signs were bent or torn down; older houses were smashed in by the raging 150 mile an hour winds.

All streets east of University Avenue were blocked by National Guard units called to duty the night before. Only property owners, residents and newsmen were allowed beyond this point.

Some Texas Tech buildings suffered only light damage, but many trees on campus were uprooted or broken in half.

Immediately east of Tech, people were still trying to clear branches and tree trunks from the streets and yards.

Telephone lines and traffic lights were on the ground or hanging useless in this area. Light standards at Tech's Jones Stadium were bent.

Things got worse from University to Avenue Q. Apartment houses, homes and automobiles were destroyed. One fellow along Ninth Street looked like he didn't know what to think. He was a young guy and was carrying anything he could salvage out of his former home.

This was about the case for everybody. Across the street some college students were still trying to find anything of value in their apartment. Adding to everyone's misery was the hot, humid atmosphere.

At the corner of Avenue Q and sixth was one of the worst sights. Hardly anything at all was left of the modern Fields and Company household store—only the frame. Chairs, lamps, chandeliers, paintings, etc. were scattered among the dust and debris.

A young National Guardsman was patrolling the building. He worked there before the storm. "Man this is bad," he said, "but I guess we will get a new town out of it at least."

That's about the only hope of anyone who lost their building or home. Maybe it can be replaced.

Right next to Fields and Company was Newsom's Building Supply which was in the same shape. In fact, the whole block actually looked like a junk pile. Nothing was left that could be repaired except possibly the electrical lines.

Several churches along Avenue Q were also destroyed. One pastor, looking at the remains of his church, didn't have much to say except, "we'll build a new one."

But how soon can Lubbock rebuild appeared a big question. Will it be a matter of weeks, months or years? No one can tell.

Right now the personnel of the Lubbock Avalanche Journal are wondering when they'll get back into full swing to report on the city's biggest news story in history. Part of the newspaper was unroofed. The plant received extensive water damage. But the building is still standing which is more than most cases nearby.

Quite a few persons looked like they were getting ready to get out of Lubbock. They were rumbling through their homes loading their valuables onto pickups, cars and trailers.

Some were still scared stiff. The Red Cross has reached some but not the majority. It looked as if some of these people just wanted to find a clean place to sit or lie down.

Store owners along Broadway were trying to solve their portion of the looting problem. They had emptied their show windows and boarded them.

One man along Broadway was yelling at everyone nearby trying to get them out of the area. He was one who thought the towering Great Plains office building was about to fall.

One radio station reported the building was leaning, with the angle increasing at the rate of six inches an hour. "When it does fall," someone said, "it'll take a block or more of Lubbock with it."

After seeing a small portion of the damage, it was easy to see why city officials estimated the loss to rise to $200 million. This could prove to be a conservative estimate.

An electrical technician for the city of Lubbock said: "It's no telling how long it will take to repair the traffic lights. To get them back like they were, it might take as long as two years."

People reading and hearing about the tornado damage in Lubbock can't imagine how bad it is till they've seen it. U.S. Sen. John Tower called it "the worst damage I've ever seen created by a natural disaster, including several hurricanes."

President Richard Nixon declared Lubbock a national disaster area Tuesday night but only a few weeks before one thought came to Lubbock residents when Whiteface, Wharrel, Cotton Center, Silverton and Plainview were hit by a tornado. And that was, "will Lubbock ever get hit? We've been missed time and again when a tornado was close by."

They know now.
