Friday Night Wreck

Apparently only one person was injured as the result of a two-car collision shortly after 6 p.m. Friday. The vehicles collided at East Park Avenue and Fifth streets, with one man being ticketed for failure to yield the right of way. It was one of three injury accidents that happened Friday and early Saturday morning. (See wreck story.)

One man critical after three wrecks

One man is in critical condition and another seriously injured as the result of traffic accidents Friday and early Saturday morning.

Jose Vasquez, 49, was listed in critical condition with several fractures Saturday morning at Deaf Smith General Hospital.

Vasquez was the driver of a car that hit a guard rail, went off a bridge and overturned Friday shortly after noon. He was thrown from the car and pinned underneath before being freed by the Hereford Volunteer Fire Department Rescue Squad.

That wreck happened on Farm to Market Road 2943, about two miles south of Highway 60.

Fricardo Olivo, 24, was in serious condition Saturday at DSGH after being injured in a two-car collision at 12:32 a.m. on West Park avenue. Olivo is being treated for internal injuries.

The driver of the other car was listed by police as Johnny Burns, 29, of 124 Ave. G. Neither Burns nor a passenger in his car were injured. Olivo reportedly had a passenger in his vehicle who also escaped injury.

A third wreck Friday resulted in only minor injuries, after two vehicles collided at East Park Avenue and Fifth Streets. Involved in that mishap were Francisco and Mary Mendez of Dawn, and Jesus Espinoza of Hereford.

Mrs. Mendez was treated and released at DSGH, according to police. There was heavy damage to both cars.

Many Post Offices busy as stamp price jumps

By The Associated Press

Postal carriers reported bulging bags in Boston, Little Rock and Los Angeles this week, and sales of two-cent stamps were booming as the days of the 20-cent letter dwindled to one. But some Post Offices reported barely a ripple of anticipation.

First class postage goes up to 22 cents on Sunday.

In Los Angeles, mail volume increased this week by more than 100 percent, and postal workers were working four hours of overtime on Saturday to keep up with the anticipated load.

"We're noting a big increase since Wednesday, mostly in business mail, what you would refer to as junk mail," said Larry Dozier, public relations specialist for the U.S. Postal Service in Los Angeles.

"The letter carriers going out have been delivering a lot of mail, so it seems like a lot of businesses are trying to capitalize on the current rate," said Lisa DeVincenzo, a U.S. Post Office spokeswoman in Boston.

One downtown Boston post office sold 80,000 two-cent stamps this week, she said, compared to 5,000 in a normal week.

"But we can handle it," she said. "There are a lot of stamps in Boston."

"We almost have more mail than we can handle," Don Jones, postmaster in Little Rock, Ark., said by telephone Friday. "I think our mail volume this week is a good 60 percent above the same week last year."

Jones theorized that the imminent increase in rates prompted more sweethearts to exchange Valentine's Day cards. "We don't count Valentines, but the mail looked redder this year," he said.

Darrow Andrews, public affairs officer for the Chicago Post Office, said: "In the last two or three months, people are doing a lot of mailing. There are some people who have decided to get things mailed a little earlier to save."

Prosecution says Mattox tried to bribe firm with power of office

AUSTIN (AP) — Attorney General Jim Mattox abused the power of his office by threatening to block the bond business of a Houston law firm that sought to question his sister, the prosecutor said in an opening statement in Mattox's commercial bribery trial said.

"What he used to bribe them was the power of his office," Travis County District Attorney Ronnie Earle told the jury Friday.

Earle said Mattox, in a 1983 phone call to a lawyer of the Fulbright & Jaworski firm, threatened to delay or block the firm's bond business unless it dropped efforts to question Janice Mattox in another case.

But Earle said Mattox indicated he would OK the bonds if Fulbright & Jaworski lawyer Thomas McDade quit seeking a deposition from Miss Mattox in a case involving South Texas rancher Clinton Manges, the state and Mobil Oil Corp., which Fulbright & Jaworski represented.

"That is an offer coupled with a threat, and that's what makes it an offer you can't refuse," Earle said.

In a slow, deliberate opening presentation, Earle guided the jurors through the history of the Manges-Mobil lawsuit.

To start, he noted that state law requires the attorney general's approval of public bond issues.

One branch of the Fulbright & Jaworski firm handled bonds for several county and municipal units, while other lawyers in the firm represented Mobil Oil in its case. But all the firm's lawyers had an obligation to Mobil as their client, he said.

Earle explained that the Manges-Mobil lawsuit involved Manges' contention that the oil company failed to live up to obligations it made when leasing 65,000 acres of his land and the demand that Manges and the

Yearbook personality titles revealed at high school

Sammy Suarez and Stacy Sanders were presented as "Mr. and Miss HHS" during the annual Koobraey assembly program Thursday night in the Hereford High School Auditorium.

All personalities featured in the yearbook were announced at the Koobraey (Yearbook, spelled backwards) assembly. Candidates for the Most Beautiful and Most Handsome were announced and winners will be known when the yearbook is published.

Darla Alford and Sandra Saldana were co-winners of the Annual Queen crown. Class favorites were: Seniors—Jesse Andrade and Belinda Warren; Juniors—Rodney Torres and Natalie Sims; Sophomores—Brad Allred and Anita Rodriguez.

Other personality titles presented: Personality King & Queen—Randy Villareal and Brenda Ball; Most Versatile—Amy Mason and Lee Brockman; Most Intellectual—Matt Albracht and Connie Zinser; Twerp King—Doug Owen; and Most Flirtatious—Ralph Gallegos and Christy Burford.

Named to Who's Who were Carla Alford, Belinda Warren, Amy Mason, Robin Hopper and Molly Keating; boys were Randy Villareal, Clay Stribling, Don Flood, Matt Albracht and Lee Brockman.

Nominees for the Most Beautiful title were Sandra Saldana, Stacy Sanders and Amy Mason. Most Handsome candidates are Jesse Andrade, Mike Scott and Noel Gonzales.

DWI arrests here rise sharply

By KIM THOGMARTIN
Staff Reporter

Deaf Smith County Assistant District Attorney Dino Barela is gearing up for a full load of driving-while-intoxicated (DWI) trials this year.

DWI arrests have increased steadily the past three years, and so have the number of trials presided over by Deaf Smith County Judge Glen Nelson. Barela said persons accused of DWI have more to lose from a conviction now, so they're more likely to plead not guilty and take their chances before a jury.

Because of the revised state law that went into effect in January 1984, anyone convicted of DWI loses his driver's license. Only in cases where the judge or jury awards probation is that stipulation lifted. First-time conviction mean the person's license is taken away for 90 days to a year, while subsequent offenses carry a penalty of 180 days to two years.

In 1982, 143 DWI cases were filed in county court. In 1983 the number rose to 157, almost doubling the next year to 311. According to Barela, 39 percent of all cases heard in county court last year were DWI's.

In 222nd District Court, 15 persons were indicted on felony DWI charges. The figure rose to 29 the next year, and last year there were 23.

Barela is hesitant to point to the fact that the county went "wet" in 1984 as a reason for the increase in alcohol-related traffic offenses.

Rather, he points out that since the new DWI laws have gone in to effect, law enforcement officers have stepped up their enforcement of those laws.

More vigorous enforcement of other traffic laws has caused an increase as well; persons stopped for speeding or failure to stop for a stop sign may be found to be intoxicated as well.

Of the 311 cases filed in county court last year, 260 were "disposed of," or handled in some way.

Assistant DA notes vigorous enforcement

Of those that went to jury trial, three resulted in a verdict of not guilty. Fourteen cases were dismissed, with four being dropped because the defendant went to jail on another charge.

Twenty-two persons pleaded guilty to reduced charges, Barela said, and 49 were convicted of DWI and went to jail. A total of 169 received probated sentences, with 19 of those later revoking their probation.

The average cost per misdemeanor DWI conviction adds up to $891.31 for fine, court costs and bond costs. Hiring a defense attorney usually doubles that amount, Barela claimed, and the defendant can count on missing at least three days of work.

The fact that DWI arrests have in-

Cheese and butter will be given out from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Wednesday, with the usual income verification required.

Watson to sing here Sunday

Johnny Ray Watson is scheduled to sing today in the worship service of the First Church of the Nazarene at 10:45 a.m.

The public is invited to come and share in his music. Everyone is welcome.

Hagar on Realtor program

Texas Surveys will be explained during the February meeting of the Hereford Board of Realtors. Deaf Smith County Surveyor Kenny Hagar will present the program during the 11:30 a.m. meeting Tuesday at the Hereford Country Club.

Also during Tuesday's meeting, Marn Tyler will officially install all members who joined the board during the past year.

City, hospital, school boards convene

Hereford City Commission will hold a regular meeting Monday at 7:30 p.m., and the Deaf Smith Hospital District board will have a regular monthly meeting Tuesday at noon. A special meeting of the Hereford School Board is also scheduled Tuesday at 7 p.m.

The city agenda includes approval of bid notices on overhead water tower work, appointment of a Planning & Zoning Commission member, selecting an auditor for the city audit, authorizing bids on a packed unit for a city truck, hearing a request from Kids, Inc., the order and notice of the annual commission election, and matters pertaining to employing a new city manager.

Only one item is on the school board agenda, and it is listed as "revision of instructional program."

The hospital board agenda includes a medical staff report, operating report and an executive session on personnel.

County Bingo check is $1,241

State Comptroller Bob Bullock recently sent checks totaling $822,800 to the 68 counties and 96 cities who have legalized charitable bingo and levied the local gross receipts tax on the game.

Deaf Smith County's check for the period of Nov. 8, 1984 to Jan. 28 of this year was $1,241.67.

Bullock said nearly $6 million has been returned to local governments in the three years bingo has been legal.

PUC delays AT&T rate case

AUSTIN (AP) — The Public Utility Commission has delayed AT&T Communications' request for an interim rate hike the company says it desperately needs.

The commission decided Friday that AT&T filed an incomplete rate hike case and postponed a scheduled Feb. 25 hearing until at least April 8.

AT&T's $84 million interim hike request is part of an overall $123.4 million package that includes hikes in the cost of business services, but a 3.2 percent cut in basic long-distance rates.

"We are disappointed we didn't get the interim relief we desperately need," said company spokesman Phil Bode. "Based on the commission's decision today, there's a strong likelihood AT&T will continue to lose money through 1985."

The $84 million interim increase does not include any changes in basic long distance rates. Commissioners ruled the case could not begin until AT&T files all required financial data.

Also Friday, the commission denied several requests to dismiss the AT&T request.

Phillip Holder, a PUC administrative judge, ruled last week that the case should not proceed until the company completes its rate filing package — which he said is now "materially deficient."

Holder also had denied several motions to dismiss the case, including those filed by the state attorney general and Public Utility Counsel Jim Boyle.

Indictments named in seizure

CORPUS CHRISTI, Texas (AP) — A federal grand jury has indicted three men, including one with alleged ties to a Salvadoran right-wing leader, on charges of conspiring and attempting to take six suitcases stuffed with $5.8 million in cash out of the country.

Jurors on Friday charged that Gus Maestrales, Francisco Rodrigo Guirola-Beeche and Oscar A. Rodriguez-Peo were going to transport more than $10,000 out of the United States between Jan. 20 and Feb. 6.

Police arrested the men at the Kleberg County Airport near Kingsville on Feb. 6 and confiscated the $5.8 million in cash and a Sabreliner jet worth $3 million.

All three men were named in a second count Friday that alleged they attempted to transport the money out of the United States without filing a report to the U.S. Treasury as required by law.

In addition, Maestrales, the pilot and owner of the jet in which the men were traveling, was named in a separate count for allegedly attempting to transport $14,000 out of the country.

Hunt family, IRS fight tax battle

DALLAS (AP) — In the latest round of one of the biggest individual tax disputes in U.S. history, the Internal Revenue Service has ordered the super-wealthy Hunt family and their businesses to cough up more than $200 million, officials say.

In the past four years, the Hunts have filed 22 lawsuits contesting IRS attempts to collect more than $283 million in back taxes, according to court records.

The IRS has challenged the personal income tax returns of the three Hunt brothers — Nelson Bunker Hunt, W. Herbert Hunt and Lamar Hunt — every year from 1974 through 1980. The agency also has challenged taxes paid by family-owned oil companies for 1972 through 1980.

Only four of the 22 suits have been settled, the Dallas Times Herald reported Friday. The government got $281,067 of the $16.6 million it was seeking in the four cases — or about 1.7 cents for every dollar.

Still pending are claims against the Hunts and their companies of more than $267 million in taxes.

US will urge Moscow to recognize Israel

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Reagan administration is prepared to tell the Soviet Union in Vienna next week that if Moscow resumes recognition of Israel and improves treatment of Soviet Jews, it could — the emphasis is on could — open the way to Moscow's participation in future Middle East peace talks.

A senior State Department official outlined for reporters Friday the American position in advance of discussions on the Middle East that will be held with the Soviets in Vienna on Tuesday and Wednesday.

The official, who spoke only on condition he not be identified, said the talks with Moscow should not in any way be considered negotiations that could lead to a joint U.S.-Soviet position on a Middle East peace. Richard W. Murphy, the assistant secretary of state for Middle East affairs, will represent the United States.

The official who briefed reporters said the Soviets are expected to raise anew their proposal for an international Middle East peace conference that would include the Soviets as well as the United States. Both Israel and the Reagan administration have opposed such a conference.

The official said the U.S. response to Moscow would be that the United States would look for "steps the Soviets could take to show their sincerity about being involved in the (peace) process." One of these, he said "obviously is returning diplomatic representation to Israel."

Vietnam caps month-long drive

NONG PRU, Thailand (AP) — Vietnamese forces routed the tough Khmer Rouge guerrillas from their mountain strongholds in western Cambodia on Friday in their biggest victory since Vietnam invaded six years ago and toppled the Khmer Rouge government.

Vietnam threw major armor and artillery forces into its month-long drive against the Communist rebels, capping the campaign with a relentless armored pincer movement.

The Vietnamese troops slashed through a complex of hilltop strongholds, civilian camps and logistics bases south of the Thai border town of Aranyaprathet to overrun Phnom Malai and the Khmer Rouge "capital" of Phum Thmei.

The victory was seen as a turning point in the war, which began with the December 1978 Vietnamese invasion that ousted the cruel Khmer Rouge regime of Pol Pot. The Khmer Rouge slaughtered hundreds of thousands of Cambodians after the U.S.-backed Lon Nol regime fell in April 1975.

No reliable casualty figures have emerged from the battle. They were believed to be high because of the Vietnamese firepower, the initially stubborn Khmer Rouge resistance and widespread use of mines.

Israelis pull back from line

SIDON, Lebanon (AP) — Israeli soldiers today took down their blue-and-white flags that had marked the main Awali River crossing into south Lebanon for more than two years and pulled back from their front line.

The Israelis at the crossing took two minutes, shortly after 11 a.m., to leave the bridge that they had held since their invasion in June 1982.

The pullback marked the first phase of Israel's three-stage withdrawal plan to gradually move its occupation soldiers out of south Lebanon.

Although the Lebanese army had announced that the coastal highway leading to the Awali River was closed, civilian vehicles immediately streamed through the crossing from the north with horns blaring.

From the south, a white Mercedes appeared flying Lebanese flags from each fender. The driver jumped out and climbed to the top of the car and shouted, "Allah Akbar," meaning greatest God, and "Amal the right, Amal the faith," an apparent reference to the Shiite Moslem Amal militia that has resisted the Israeli occupation.

As news of the pullback spread, residents of Sidon ran out into the streets, many carrying signs praising the Lebanese army.

Most people had been staying indoors in the past week because of fear that violence could be triggered by the withdrawal, and because clashes between pro- and anti-Israeli gunmen became more frequent.

Sidon, the provincial capital of South Lebanon, is 25 miles south of Beirut and the largest city in Israel's occupation zone with about 100,000 residents.

The first sign that the Israelis would be leaving came at about 9 a.m., when a large Israeli flag was taken down from the Israeli camp on Sharbeil Hill overlooking the Awali crossing.

Smoke was seen coming from the four-story building on the hill as the Israelis apparently burned things they were not taking.

At about 9:47 a.m., the Israelis began putting the unit flags on their armored personnel carriers in preparation for the departure. One Israeli soldier fired two shots over the heads of people trying to approach the camp, most of them reporters and photographers.

The convoy that left was led by a Merkava tank followed by four armored personnel carriers, a jeep and a tank. Two of the personnel carriers flew green and yellow unit flags.

The Lebanese army, which was poised north of the Awali to take up security in the area vacated by the Israelis, did not immediately move in.

OIL

are included, that single dollar costs state coffers $70 million a year in Texas.

"Oil has a profound effect on the fortunes of Texas," tax information director John Moore said.

"Throughout the '70s, we depended on oil because the price was going up. Warnings that we ought to diversify our tax structure fell on deaf ears.

"We were in the money," Moore explained.

Now legislators are juggling funds to try and cover the budget shortfall without resorting to a tax hike.

Only sales tax dollars exceed oil and natural gas taxes as a source of revenue in Texas. The three together make up 60 percent of money collected.

As recently as 1983, the energy industry was also responsible for 30 percent of the sales tax collected. Today, it provides 19 percent.

The state could lose more than $600 million over the next three years as severance tax revenues decline from as much as $1.3 billion in 1982 to $802 million by 1987, according to Legislative Budget Board figures.

Although many economists and industry insiders say the gradual decline in oil prices will not shut down companies and lay off thousands of Texas workers as low prices did in 1982-1983, wariness about the future has already hurt the industry and the government.

Lawmakers may double college tuition in Texas to help make up the difference, but the state would still be among the nation's lowest in tuition.

And in oil-rich areas of the state, producers say drilling, investment and morale are all down.

The rig count in the Permian Basin of West Texas dropped from 400 in November to 332 this week, said Ed Thompson of the Permian Basin Petroleum Association.

Although some drop in numbers of rigs is common at the beginning of the year, the budget board predicts a three-year decline in active rigs and 100 million less barrels coming out of Texas in 1987.

The association has lost about 100 members over the last year, Thompson said.

"They've gone out of business, or couldn't afford the $100 membership fee — they were using it just to stay alive," he said.

The spot price for West Texas crude dropped from $29.80 per barrel in September to as low as $25.20 a barrel in early January, analysts said. The current selling price is about $27.50.

A Midland independent looking for investors on his drilling projects calls that "demoralizing."

"You have to work real hard to keep producing. We've been in this business all our lives," said John Wilson, who inherited the trade from his father.

"We take it as another kick in the head and go on."

In Oklahoma, Gov. George Nigh's budget was put together in December based on a late November estimate of a $28 average price for oil in fiscal 1986. State budget officials conceded last month that the estimate isn't realistic in light of new forecasts that the average price may be as low as $25 per barrel — a potential shortfall of $33 million.

Although Texas has diversified its economy with more banking, medicine, computer, high-tech manufacturing and other industries, the effort is not far enough along to counteract oil's slump, Plaut said.

"The economy on the (Interstate 35) corridor — Austin, San Antonio, Dallas, Fort Worth — looks all right, but everywhere else in the state is almost totally dependent on oil," he said.

Many still downplay talk of a watershed decade for Texas oil.

Other problems in the national economy — reflected in Texas by the first-ever drop in sales tax revenue in 1983 — are impacting the state as much as oil prices, analysts say.

The peso devaluation, not oil, has been hard on South Texas.

And after losing almost 200,000 jobs at refineries and other energy firms in Houston, Beaumont, Orange and Port Arthur over the last three years, employment figures there are inching back up, economists and business leaders said.

A more reasonable concern is that declining oil prices could "abort the recovery" of Texas' oil-dependent towns, said Bernard Weinstein of Lamar University's John Gray Institute in Beaumont.

"If oil drops to the $24-$26 range, we'll be OK," Weinstein said. "I'm kind of scared of $20 oil. If we get to a freefall, it will be much worse."

Midland's Wilson wishes everyone

DWI

creased is just one cause for alarm at the district attorney's office.

"I'm concerned that the juries don't seem to be too excited about a DWI," Barela said. "Of the last four cases we tried, two resulted in guilty verdicts with the minimum fine and the other two juries found verdicts of not guilty."

Barela pointed to one case back in November where a man was acquitted by a jury while being tried for a subsequent DWI offense. "I already have him back on a DWI charge."

Barela admitted that most of the cases where juries go easy are the non-injury, no property damage variety.

"If a man has a good job, with a family to support, juries will look for a reason to let a guy off."

It eliminates the prosecution's would quit saying bad years are inevitable.

"They're already calling 1985 a disaster," Wilson said.

"What we need is some optimism."

MATTOX

state should get more money from Mobil.

The prosecutor reminded jurors that Manges "is a big contributor to various politicians, including Mr. Mattox."

During several June 1983 phone calls between Mattox, his aides and Fulbright & Jaworski lawyers, the threat was made, Earle said. He said the prosecution had tape recordings of some calls.

"The evidence will show that in that conversation, Attorney General Jim Mattox told (Fulbright & Jaworski lawyer) Wiley Caldwell he had to put a muzzle on Tom McDade," Earle said.

Mattox also told an assistant, Robert "Buddy" Lewis, to "hold up on all the Fulbright & Jaworski bond issues," Earle said.

McDade testified briefly as the bargaining power, Barela said, when juries get the reputation for letting DWI offenders off the hook. "I plea bargain a lot, but more and more attorneys are wanting to try the cases."

Barela said he does not believe the last few jury verdicts are a true indication of how the county's residents feel about drunk driving.

"I don't think the public wants to let people off for DWI. I think the majority of folks in town are anti-DWI."

In the meantime, Barela expects to serve as prosecutor during at least 24 trials this year.

"We're going to be aggressive in this office. I just hope someone doesn't get killed before people wake up to the seriousness of drunk driving."

prosecution's first witness. He discussed the history of the Manges-Mobil case and was asked by prosecutors what Manges wanted in bringing the suit against Mobil.

"Money," McDade replied. "Two billion dollars."

The trial began with the indictment being read to the eight-woman, four-man jury. Then Mattox stood, faced state District Judge Mace Thurman and said, "Your honor, I plead not guilty."

In a brief session with news reporters outside the Travis County Courthouse, Mattox offered his view of what the prosecution would seek to do. He repeated his insistence that the conversations between himself and Fulbright & Jaworski officials were nothing more than lawyers negotiating.

Ash Robinson dies in Florida hospital

HOUSTON (AP) — Ash Robinson, a Texas oilman and the father of a Houston socialite whose mysterious death in 1969 was the basis for the best-selling book "Blood and Money," has died at a Florida hospital of natural causes.

Robinson, 87, died Thursday afternoon at Sacred Heart Hospital in Pensacola, Fla., said hospital spokeswoman Mary Ellen Kelchner. He had been hospitalized for about two weeks, Ms. Kelchner said.

Funeral services were scheduled today at 2 p.m. CST, said an unidentified official at Harper-Morris Memorial Chapel in Pensacola.

Robinson is survived by his wife, Rhea, 84, and a grandson, Robert Hill, 24.

Robinson's death closes another chapter in the bizarre story that began with the mysterious death of his daughter, Joan Robinson Hill. Robinson was accused, but never indicted, of hiring the 1972 killing of his son-in-law, Dr. John Hill, a Houston plastic surgeon.

The Hill-Robinson case was the subject of Tommy Thompson's book "Blood and Money" and a television movie, "Murder in Texas."

The tangled drama began unfolding in mid-March 1969, when Mrs. Hill, 38, suddenly became ill.

Her father thought she had a case of the flu. But, after treatment at home by her husband, her condition worsened and she was rushed to a hospital. She died 15 hours later.

Mrs. Hill was embalmed before an autopsy could be done, complicating efforts to find the cause of death. Repeated examinations, including exhumation of her body five months after her death, left her fatal illness unexplained beyond a finding of "massive infection" from an undiscovered source.

Realtor's workshop Wednesday

A beginning realtor's workshop will be conducted Wednesday by the Hereford Board of Realtors, Vice President Henry Reid has announced.

The sessions will be held from 9 to 11:30 a.m. and from 1 to 3 p.m. in the Energas Company Flame Room.

Don Tardy will present a program on the code of ethics and professional standards, while Betty Gilbert will discuss the by-laws of the Board of Realtors.

Reid will talk about the multiple listing service rules and regulations and listing agreements.

All Realtors who have joined the board since 1982 are encouraged to attend, since the course is a requirement for Board of Realtors membership. Other local Realtors are invited as well, Reid said.

Plans for illegal alien detention center proceed

EDEN, Texas (AP) — A local farmer-rancher continues to solicit opposition to proposed construction here of a detention center for illegal aliens despite a commitment by both the Eden City Council and the Concho County Commissioners Court to proceed with negotiations.

City and county officials said after meeting earlier in the week on the matter that most of the concern of citizens regarding the project were that the facility be built outside the city limits.

Glenn Weatherman, former sheriff of adjacent McCulloch County, and Roy Burnes, a private investor, are behind the proposed project. Both said they have no objections to locating the detention center outside Eden.

However, one resident, Robert Stansberry, hasn't given up his opposition to the detention center. He is only one of hundreds who are actively fighting the proposal, he said Friday.

"Location is not the only problem. People not only want to sign petitions (against the construction), but they're asking for copies to pass around," Stansberry, a farmer and rancher in Concho County, told the San Angelo Standard-Times.

A petition containing 175 signatures was presented during a public forum last week by former Mayor Marilyn Siler.

But current Mayor Jim Schumann said several residents told him they had reconsidered and would withdraw their signatures from the petition.

Schumann said approval of the facility would benefit the community economically.

Stansberry called comments that the city is dying and that the county hospital is facing closure "scare tactics" used by city leaders to "get the deal through. A few people stand to make money."

"They have no studies, no projections, nothing with any backbone as to how much money this will bring in to the community," Stansberry said.

SIPCO earnings down

CHICAGO — Swift Independent Corporation first quarter earnings were down sharply from results in the year ago quarter, it was announced recently by John A. Copeland, chairman and chief executive officer of the Chicago based meat packer.

Net earnings in the first quarter of fiscal 1985, ended January 26, were $1,206,000, equal to 24 cents a share, compared with the $6,636,000 or $1.33 a share earned in the first quarter a year ago.

Copeland said revenues in the first quarter reached $787,210,000, compared with $793,113,000 in the year earlier period. The increase was attributed to additional pork capacity.

"Our industry is still going through considerable turmoil, and the disappointing first quarter results reflect this atmosphere," Copeland said, and added:

"Swift Independent results in both beef and pork were unsatisfactory."

The 6.1 percent fewer marketings of hogs in the first quarter of 1985 partially explain the poor pork results. Beef margins were less than satisfactory despite continued high levels of cattle marketings, which were equal to year earlier levels.

Beef and pork margins were adversely affected by the continued industry overcapacity situation, which has had a depressing effect on margins.

"However, while we expect the low margins in the industry to continue for a few more quarters, in the intermediate term we believe that the company will give a good account of itself," Copeland said.

Swift Independent is the nation's largest full-line fresh meats business, with interests in beef, pork and lamb, and a sales and distribution center network serving the retail and foodservice markets.

Reagan sees parallel with Nicaragua and Revolution

By TERENCE HUNT Associated Press Writer

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (AP) — President Reagan, in a new argument for helping Nicaraguan rebels, feels that such U.S. aid is comparable to assistance American colonists got from France in the Revolutionary War, a senior administration official says.

The official, who spoke on condition he not be identified, said the president was likely to try out the new theme today in his radio address.

"We have given them financial aid last year, and he wants to give them financial aid this year," the official said.

The administration also plans to urge Congress to approve the aid as a way to prod the leftist Nicaraguan regime to negotiate a settlement with its neighbors, according to a senior State Department official, who also spoke on condition of anonymity.

Congress last year turned down undercover help for the rebels and approved a requirement that Reagan come back to Capitol Hill with a request if he wants to restore aid.

The State Department official said the White House probably would wait until Congress resolved another controversial issue, the MX missile, before seeking help for the Nicaraguan rebels.

Discussing Reagan's plan to request new aid for the rebels, the administration official said, "This is similar to our own history, if you remember that Lafayette not only came over and worked with us as revolutionaries but went back to his own country and got a promise of financial help and later troops and it was French troops and French financial aid that finally ended up in the battle of Yorktown against Cornwallis. So we have a parallel here in our history."

The official said the U.S. has supported "freedom fighters" in Latin American, Afghanistan and elsewhere.

Gorbachev best bet to succeed Chernenko

By R. GREGORY NOKES AP Diplomatic Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — With evidence mounting that Soviet leader Konstantin Chernenko probably will not recover from his illness, U.S. officials are focusing on Mikhail S. Gorbachev as his most likely successor.

Gorbachev, the youngest member of the Politburo at age 53, would be the fourth leader in three years if such a transition took place this year.

The 73-year-old Chernenko missed another opportunity to appear publicly this week. A scheduled meeting in Moscow Tuesday with Greek Premier Andreas Papandreu was cancelled, and Greek officials said they were told Chernenko was ill.

Chernenko, who was given the mantle of Kremlin power only a year ago, made his last public appearance on Dec. 27, although the Soviet news agency Tass said he addressed a meeting of the ruling Politburo on Feb. 7.

But U.S. Soviet analysts say it is known that Chernenko, once a heavy smoker, suffers from emphysema and that the illness, which cannot be cured, has apparently worsened.

Senior American officials are said to be privately speculating that Chernenko cannot live longer than another six months. "It may not be a bad guess," said one informed analyst Friday. "But it can only be a guess." He spoke on condition he not be identified.

Chernenko's two predecessors, Yuri Andropov and Leonid Brezhnev, both died after lingering illnesses which prevented them from appearing in public for long periods of time. Andropov died on Feb. 9, 1984, and Brezhnev, who was in office for 18 years, died Nov. 10, 1982.

A U.S. expert on Soviet affairs, who also spoke on condition of anonymity, said Gorbachev is the most likely successor. "Certainly in this building (the State Department), we think Gorbachev is the favored son," he added.

But he said there are officials who believe the next leader could be Grigory V. Romanov, 61, or Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko, 75.

Gorbachev had been considered close to Andropov, but not to Chernenko, however. In addition to his Politburo membership, Gorbachev also serves on the Communist Party Secretariat. Romanov also serves in both roles.

The U.S. analyst cautioned against expecting a major move to improve U.S.-Soviet relations under Gorbachev, even if he wanted an improvement, which is not now known.

Another day off?

Employers might want to use the following calculations the next time an employee asks for a day off:

So, you want the day off?

Let's take a look at what you are asking for.

There are 365 days per year available for work. There are 52 weeks per year in which you already have two days off per week, thus leaving only 261 days available for work.

Since you spent 16 hours each day away from work, you have used up 170 days, leaving only 91 days available. You spent 30 minutes each day on coffee break and that accounts for 23 days each year, leaving only 68 days available for work.

With a one hour lunch period per day, you have used up another 46 days, leaving only 22 days available for work. We are off for five holidays per year, so you're available working time is down to 15 days. We give you 14 days vacation per year, which leaves only one day available for work and there's no way I'm going to let you take that day off!!

Another chiller?

If President Reagan's state of union address sent chills through you as far as the proposed cuts in federal spending, we've got another chill for you.

With the call for freezing in revenue sharing, medicare, farm benefits, a five percent reduction in salaries for federal employees, and freezes and slashes in other domestic programs, the overall results will affect all of us.

And it should.

If you tally up all the debt, federal obligations, and federal liabilities, Uncle Sam is on the hook for something like $12 trillion - and your share is $152,967.

Your wife owes the same amount and if you have two children in your family, it means that your family, has its share of the national debt and obligations, owes something like $611,868.00.

That oughta chill you!!

In the last five years, federal spending has risen from $576 billion a year to $925 billion. That's an increase of $349 billion or a little more than 60 percent.

Put another way, the federal government is now spending almost $1 billion per day more than it was spending in 1980.

Although the government is now collecting $625 million more per day than it did in 1980, our annual deficits have tripled from $59 billion to $80 billion, because spending has increased a lot faster than tax receipts.

In other words, Uncle Sam is so close to being bankrupt that he's in no shape to lend help to any of us.

In every instance, a program by Uncle Sam costs much more than a similar program carried out by private concerns.

For example, social security, as practiced by the federal government, is the biggest ripoff in history.

In Fort Worth a couple of weekends ago, we listened to a national consultant to retailers explain some of the laws of economics.

He said that if you gave a six-year-old child $1,000 and placed it in the bank at interest compounded, the amount would double every six years.

That original $1,000, if left alone, would soar to an amazing $1,024,000 by the time the child left the work force at age 66—with an income totaling more than $100,000 a year.

Social security, as currently practiced, cannot come within a country mile of matching that kind of an income.

It would save the government countless billions, if every child was given $1,000 by Uncle Sam on his 6th birthday and the sum placed on savings until that child retired.

Or a still better program would be for Uncle Sam to encourage every family to put aside a $1,000 for each child by offering tax incentives.

New, novel, and fresh programs ought to be designed for many of our current federal programs that cost an arm and leg but can't deliver what the free enterprise system can deliver.

Overloaded with 'experts' on parenting

Society is overloaded with so-called experts pointing out theoretical ways to deal with a host of 'new' children's problems.

If you watch and listen to the experts on TV, you find yourself so thoroughly confused on how mothers should react, you wonder how they reacted in past generations when all the current foo-foo wasn't available to guide them.

Not that parents shouldn't be thankful for solid medical advice, the marvelous advent of Pampers, pacifiers, and many other modern techniques which help in raising children.

But let's be practical and sensible.

What's most needed today in rearing children is the same thing that has been needed for centuries: Parents who live a Christian life, who spend time with their children, live with them in the family tradition of games and family meals and study - and who supervise them. That means a close watch over them and their activities, diet and discipline.

It likely includes a limit on some of the TV garbage they watch, films and parties they attend, who is there,

Bootleg Philosopher

Editor's note: The Bootleg Philosopher on his Deaf Smith County grass farm wrestles with a new ruling by the IRS.

Dear editor:

The IRS has a new rule that a merchant or a farmer or a rancher using a car or pickup in his business must keep a daily log showing exactly how much mileage is used for business purposes only. You can't count driving to the cafe for coffee or picking up the kids after school. And you can't guess. Got to be accurate.

I put a notebook on the seat of my pickup and tried this out for a day. My log for the day reads:

6 a.m. Backed out of my garage. Since the odometer doesn't register mileage when you're going backward but backing is deductible if it's for business purposes, got out and measured the distance I backed. 102 feet.

Drove down to the pasture and stopped. Thought I spotted a newborn calf. Logged the mileage. 2,119 1/2 feet. Got out and walked over to the new calf. Wasn't a calf. Was a newspaper caught on a weed. From a distance, hard to tell the Amarillo Globe from a calf. Watched the sun come up. No charge.

Drove back to the house. 2,119 1/2 feet. Couldn't decide whether driving back was deductible. Split the difference. 1,059 1/4 feet.

Drove into town for breakfast at the cafe. 5 miles. Wait a minute. Erase that. Not for business purposes. The IRS won't stand for it. Thought a while. Grinned. After breakfast drove to the hardware store. Bought a screwdriver. Need one for my tractor. This is a business trip. Entered 5 miles going to town for screwdriver, 5 miles getting it back home. Total, 10 miles. Screwdriver cost $4. Store didn't have the $600 kind the Pentagon buys.

Drove back down in the pasture. Looking for new-born calf. Newspaper didn't fool me this time. Picked it up. 2,119 1/2 feet entered. Drove back to house. 1,059 1/4 feet. Being fair to the IRS. Will have to get a ruling on this. May be losing money. Read newspaper.

Drove down to the mail box. Found letter from IRS containing forms for Estimated Tax for 1985. If that ain't business, what is? Entered 4,216 feet going and same returning.

Total for day so far: 12 miles, 4,331 1/4 feet.

After lunch heard cow bawling. Woke me up from my nap. Jumped in pickup to check on new-born calf. Forgot to check mileage. Found calf. Don't know how far I drove. Can't estimate. Against IRS ruling.

Some ruling. Wrote Congressman. Yours faithfully,
J.A.

The Penultimate Word

I CAN'T REMEMBER

I sat in a hotel in Lubbock last Saturday night feeling very old and senile. I had once again pulled a remarkably dumb boo-boo.

It is remarkable how forgetful I can be. Maybe it goes beyond forgetful. I sometimes think I am totally unconscious. When I wake up after one of my "spells" I try to tell myself that I am just preoccupied with great thoughts and do not have time for the mundane. The problem is I can't remember any of the great thoughts I was thinking while I was too busy for the mundane.

I drove 300 miles to speak at a retreat in Oklahoma. The retreat was a week later. Anyone could make that mistake. Anyone, that is, who forgets to look at the calendar.

I caught a plane to Houston to speak at a college convocation. When I got on the plane I noticed my shoes did not match. One had a hard sole and the other a soft sole. Anyone who could walk to the car, drive to Amarillo, and clunk-squish down the concourse to the plane and not notice is more than forgetful. He might be dangerous.

The one thing I seem to forget most often is my underwear. I have bought the things in every J.C. Penney's in the country. I have drawers full of drawers as the result. Last week I was in Santa Fe with no shorts. I gave it some deep thought and came up with a great solution.

I bought three pairs of shorts that were unlike any other shorts I own. I enlisted my wife's help. She agreed to put these shorts in the drawer with my shaving kit which remains packed at all times. When I reach for my shaving kit, the shorts will be there and will no longer be forgotten.

This took place on Friday. On Saturday I went to Lubbock to speak to the West Texas Press Association. I was well pleased. I was in complete comfort. I could travel with confidence. No more forgotten shorts. When the time came to dress for the banquet I reached for my clothes with assurance.

I had my shorts. What I didn't have were my pants. I spoke to the banquet dressed in a grey suit coat, vest, pink shirt, tie, and bluejeans. I made a joke out of the deal and some of the people thought it was part of my act.

I sat in the room that night wondering if I had reached the age of senility. I decided it could not be old age, I have been like this for as long as I can remember. I don't know how long that has been, since I can't remember very far back. To tell the truth, I have a great memory. I can't remember ever forgetting anything.

Warm Fuzzies,
Doug Manning

What is the minimum wage law?

By MARTIN LEFKOWITZ
What is the federal minimum wage?

Most people would answer "$3.35 per hour" and would usually be right - but not always.

Would you believe $18.91 per hour, or $39,332.80 a year for a standard 40-hour week? That is the federal minimum wage for bricklayers working on certain federal construction projects in and around the nation's capital.

The justification for minimum wages has been to protect low-wage earners from exploitation, even though most reputable economists now agree that these minimum wage laws do nothing more than reduce the number of jobs available to the least skilled workers.

But why is the federal government setting a minimum wage that is more than double the average hourly rate in manufacturing and about 125 percent more than the average paid for all non-supervisory private sector workers? It is ostensibly to protect local workers from unfair competition from workers coming in from outside the Washington area and working for less money than is customary for bricklayers in Washington.

Does the $18.91 per hour minimum wage reflect the wages in the Washington area?

A recent review of the Washington Post classified section found 11 ads for bricklayers. Ten of those offered wages ranging from $13 to $14.50 per hour. The other was for a job that paid $18.91 per hour, including a $2.85 per hour set-aside in a savings plan that goes to the worker when he leaves. What was the difference between the $13 to $14.50 per hour jobs and the one paying $18.91 per hour? Just one thing. The job paying $18.91 per hour was a Davis-Bacon job.

What is a Davis-Bacon job? Davis-Bacon refers to a wage-setting bill passed in 1931 that regulates the wages contractors on federal construction projects must pay their employees.

The wages are supposed to reflect average local prevailing wage rates - the wages paid by employers in that area. But in reality, the wages end up reflecting the highest, rather than the average, local wages because there is a built-in bias that tends to give greater weight to union wage scales. That is known as the "30 percent rule." Under that rule, if 30 percent of the workers in a community work at a certain wage, such as a union wage scale, that wage becomes the prevailing rate, even if 70 percent of the workers in that community work at non-union jobs that pay substantially lower pay scales.

Who pays for the higher wages?

The contractor?

Guess again. It's you, the taxpayer. A study by the General Accounting Office in 1978 showed that the Davis-Bacon wage-setting mechanism increased public construction costs by an average of 3.3 percent. This means that this year the cost of public construction projects will be more than $1.5 billion above what it would have been in a free market environment. In addition, the added records that had to be kept by federal contractors resulted in an estimated cost of $189.1 million in 1977, suggesting that the current paperwork cost would exceed $300 million.

The relevant question is: Do workers who can earn $29,000 per year in the free market need, or should they get, the added support of the federal government to help them earn $39,000 per year? Or is this a taxpayer rip-off?

The answer has to be that this is a typical taxpayer rip-off. It is a result of unions using their political clout to set unreasonable and unnatural wage rates. In addition, it is likely that such mechanisms as Davis-Bacon which set minimum wages above prevailing wage rates also tend to inflate construction costs for other sectors of the economy, including housing.

All in all, the Davis-Bacon Act is a good example of unnecessary and expensive government regulation.

If it gets you nothing else, looking on the bright side gives you an opportunity to see how quickly tarnish develops.

Moritz goes from home plate to dinner plate

EDITOR'S NOTE — After a fling at flying, firefighting and umpiring minor league baseball, ex-jock Eldon Moritz says he's now found happiness as an after-dinner speaker. "I like the food," says he. "When I was in the army, I sent recipes home."

By MIKE COCHRAN Associated Press Writer

DALLAS (AP) — It was during a minor league baseball game in Amarillo that Umpire Eldon Moritz says he began to doubt the wisdom of his latest choice of professions.

The precise circumstances, he says now, are vague, but he does remember that the Little Rock manager seemed more than mildly distressed with his ruling of the moment.

"He questioned my judgment, my eyesight, my honesty, my integrity, my ancestry and my sexual habits and acknowledged the existence of a savior, all in one sentence," recalled Moritz with a broad grin.

Moritz grins a lot these days. But his new job is making others grin.

A onetime charter pilot, firefighter, computer programmer and stockbroker, Moritz, at 48, is also an ex-jock and an ex-umpire who is using his diverse background as fodder for his latest career: A toastmaster and professional speaker.

"I'm a good knife and fork man," deadpans Moritz. "I like the food. When I was in the army, I sent recipes home."

Home is Stamford, a West Texas hamlet north of Abilene, but Moritz now lives in Dallas, where, among other things, he serves as a community relations representative for the First National Bank of DeSoto.

"Now that I'm a banker, I can tell bank jokes," quips Moritz, a big, burly former football player with a quick grin and a dry wit and a good start on a bald spot.

"Ethnic jokes are in, but you can't talk about other people's ethnics. I've got a little German ancestry, but most of the Hitler stories are not too funny."

Moritz played high school football at Stamford under the nation's winningest high school coach, Gordon Wood, now at Brownwood, and much later played for Darrell Royal at the University of Texas at Austin.

But Ed Price was the UT coach in 1954 when Moritz arrived on campus and it was the leanest of times for the Longhorns.

"My first year as a regular was in 1956 and we were 5-4-1," said Moritz. "We lost five at home, four on the road and beat Tulane 7-6."

Price quit and Royal came on board with great fan support: "We're behind you, win or tie."

Scholastics not being his strongest suit, Moritz left school for a hitch in the Army, but returned in 1961 to resume his football career under Royal.

He was the oldest player on the team and specialized in kickoffs, extra points and missed field goal attempts.

"Darrell said I had a lot of potential," Moritz recalled. "Actually, he didn't say it quite that way. What he said was I had a lot of room for improvement."

The Longhorns were unbeaten and ranked No. 1 in the nation that year until a lowly Texas Christian team upset them 6-0 in Austin. Moritz missed two field goal attempts that day but blames one on a bad snap.

"I was vindicated by the instant replay," he insists even now.

When not playing football, Moritz ran with a band whose hit song, he said, was "My Girl Lives South of the Border, But Last Night She Came Across."

But it was baseball, not football or firefighting or flying, that later provided Moritz the heart of his after-dinner commentary.

"There is no reason why a grown man would want to be an umpire except you can't beat the hours," he said. "We worked three hours a day and had the rest of the time just to pray for rainouts."

There was lots of time to sleep, watch television, play golf, read and wonder what he'd be when he grew up.

"Umpiring was fun," said Moritz. "Everything but the games."

Despite a running bad rap, he says he does not hate baseball.

"I still like baseball," he said. "It's a great game. It is the players, managers and fans I don't like."

Moritz spent four years in baseball umpiring in the Class A Midwest League and the AA Texas League. That could mean five consecutive nights in such hot spots as Waterloo, Iowa; Quincy, Ill.; Appleton, Wis.; Midland, Texas; Shreveport La.; Memphis, Tenn., or Little Rock, Ark.

That's lots of dollars and a world apart from New York, Los Angeles, Boston or San Francisco.

"It's the only job I ever had that when people asked me what I made, I lied up," smiled Moritz.

Not long after his arrival on the minor league scene, Moritz was officiating a spring training game in Sarasota, Fla., when he got into his first serious argument over a close call.

"Are you going to stay in the bush leagues all your life?" cried the team manager in a voice pregnant with sarcasm.

"Hell," snapped Moritz, "I just got here."

Moritz tells about the lady in Waterloo who was louder than the noon whistle and nearly as shrill, and she'd been on his back all night.

"I was scared of her," he said with a laugh. "She was sitting right beside the water fountain, and I waited until she was hollering at one the players and I sneaked over to get a drink."

The woman spotted him. "Young man, you've got a lot of nerve coming over here and getting a drink of water," she barked.

"You're right, Madam," Moritz replied, "but I knew better than to ask you to bring me one."

Moritz says baseball umpiring is relatively simple, explaining:

"You separate the outs from the safes and the balls from the strikes and try to look somewhat professional when you break the news."

Umpires as well as ballplayers work their way through the minor leagues and, says Moritz, the cream normally rises to the top.

"The better umpires go to the major leagues," he said. "The rest wind up out here making the speeches."

Are You Ready For Retirement?

Our early settlers had one common denominator -- they all worked, and they worked hard! Everyone from grandma right down to the kids worked -- and worked -- and worked.

For all it's worth, the word "retirement" couldn't have been in the vocabulary of many of our forefathers.

Today, that word, "retirement", holds a very special and deep meaning to a lot of folks.

At our bank, we offer the new Individual Retirement Account. It's a plan that helps make your retirement years all you've worked for and more. You can deposit $2,000 a year as an individual to this program, without paying any federal income taxes on the principal or the interest, until you retire. Married couples who are both working may deposit $4,000, and one-paycheck couples may deposit $2,250.

The I.R.A. program from the Bank that's pioneering new ways of service and security for you, your family and your retirement.

Miss Liberty came to America by boat...in 214 crates. She arrived in New York Harbor on June 17, 1886 and was reconstructed on Bedloe's Island (now Liberty Island) over the following year. Dedication was Oct. 28, 1886. On that date in 1986, the rededication of the completely restored Statue of Liberty will take place. LIBERTY LOVE DAY contributions, made today (February 14, 1985-Valentine's Day) by the Daughters of the American Revolution and their friends, will provide a significant part of the cost of that restoration.

Your Money Counts

by Rick Roberts, C.P.A.

EXTENSIONS

Are you missing some of the records needed to prepare your tax returns? Do you simply not have time to complete it? Ask your local IRS office for a copy of Form 4868, the Application for Automatic Extension of Time to File. Complete the form and mail it to the IRS. You will be granted a four month filing, not paying. If you owe the government money, you will have to pay four month's interest on that amount. In addition, if the tax paid during the year turns out to be less than 90 percent of what is owed when filing, you could also be subject to penalties.

Whitefaces lose season finale

Herd never gets going

By DENNIS BALL
Sports Editor

Like an automobile's engine on a cold day, the Hereford Whitefaces had a hard time getting started Friday night.

And once the Herd did get going, it sputtered at times when it had the chance to demonstrate its horsepower, or rather manpower. Meanwhile, the Lubbock Westerners never gave Hereford the time to warm up.

Fueled by a 57.6 percentage in field goals for the first half, Lubbock assumed a 43-28 advantage at intermission and went on the defeat the Whitefaces 81-57 in a District 3-5A boys basketball game played in the HHS gym. The contest was the season finale for both teams, Hereford finishing with a loop record of 3-13 and Lubbock with one of 8-8. Overall, the Whitefaces wound up at 9-18 while the Westerners were even at 14-14.

"I was hoping we could get off to a fast start and get an early lead," Hereford coach Mike Fields said after the game. "I wanted it for our seniors so they could have a good last game. But it was just one of those nights — we had a few chances but couldn't take advantage of them."

No, the good start and early lead belonged to the Westerners. Toby Christian hit a shot from inside, and Tommy Gonzales bombed one in from outside within the first minute and a half to give Lubbock a lead it would never relinquish.

"It was good to get ahead early tonight," said Lubbock coach David McKinnis, recalling the teams' last meeting when Hereford had the halftime advantage. "We needed to get ahead early because Hereford's a scrappy team. They're not afraid to get on the boards with you."

The Whitefaces didn't have an overabundance of opportunities at rebounds Friday. The Westerners made 31 of 63 shots from the floor (49.2 percent) and had several opportunities at second shots. The Whitefaces made good on 40 percent of their field-goal attempts, 22 of 55.

Although Lubbock had the lead from the beginning, Hereford presented itself with opportunities to perhaps change that. Lubbock scored off the second-half tip to go up by 17 points, but the Whitefaces then went to a full-court zone trap.

The Westerners turned the ball over numerous times in the first five minutes or so of the second half, but Hereford could score only four points in that span.

Bobby Baker led the Whitefaces with 16 points. Daniel King also scored in double digits for Hereford with 10 points.

"Our defense played poorly," Fields said. "You can't afford to give up 80 points in a game."

"They (the Westerners) have some good players. Christian is probably one of the best sophomores in the district. They all did a good job."

Christian and Alvin Hargers paced Lubbock with 18 points apiece. Gonzales scored 16 and Troy Schiermeyer 11.

Mike Scott got Hereford on the scoreboard with a 20-footer at the 6:15 mark of the initial period. The Whitefaces stayed within two points of the lead on a free throw by King and a bank shot by Redus with 3:52 to play.

Then, however, Lubbock began to pull away. Hargers scored on two jumpers to make the score 11-5. After King scored on a layup, Bingo Rivera and Forrest Rashada each got a bucket for the Westerners. Redus and Blair Rogers scored for the Whitefaces, but Christian got the last six points of the quarter for Lubbock.

"They were getting a lot of layups off the press in the first half," Fields said. "We didn't go where we're supposed to go against their press, and we made too many turnovers."

Hereford's Baker scored 10 of his team-high points in the second quarter. First, he hit two free throws to make the score 23-13, Lubbock. The next Hereford score again came on two free shots by Baker.

Then Blair Rogers nailed a shot from outside to pull Hereford to within eight, 25-17. Lubbock scored the next nine points, however, and maintained pretty much the same margin throughout the game.

Both Fields and McKinnis played every person on their active rosters.

Lubbock's final position in league standings is fifth. Hereford finishes in eighth place.

In junior varsity action Friday in the HHS gym, Hereford's boys J.V. team downed Lubbock 61-44.

The Whitefaces hit 15 free throws in the game, outscoring the Westerners in every period. Phillip Webster led the Herd with 17 points, including going seven of seven from the line.

Jerry Brown added 13 points, and Vincent Brown scored 10.

Can't Get In There

Hereford sophomore Bobby Baker stops his drive against Lubbock's Bingo Rivera during Friday night basketball action in the HHS gym. A pressing defense by the Westerners caused too many turnovers by the Whitefaces, Hereford coach Mike Fields said, and Lubbock recorded an 81-57 District 3-5A win. The game was the season finale for both squads.

Back nine lifts Hallberg to tie in San Diego golf

LA JOLLA, Calif. (AP) — Gary Hallberg covered his final nine holes in 31 strokes Friday for a round of 67, a two-day total of 131 and a share of the lead at the $400,000 Isuzu-Andy Williams San Diego Open golf tournament.

Hallberg, who won here in 1983 and was a playoff loser to Gary Koch last year, was 13 under par after two trips around the twin Torrey Pines courses, as golfers continued their assault on par in the chase for the $72,000 winner's purse.

Tied with Hallberg at 131 was Peter Oosterhuis, who fired a 64 Friday, including a 30 on the back nine — the lowest nine-hole total on the PGA tour this year.

One stroke back, at 12 under, was steady Craig Stadler, who fired a no-bogey, 7-under-par 65 Friday.

Stadler, twice a runner-up on the first five weeks of the 1985 tour, counted two 20-foot putts and a 15-footer among his seven birdies.

Joining him were Dan Pohl, who also shot a 65 Friday, and Woody Blackburn, who scored his second consecutive 66. The group at 133 included Ron Streck, Johnny Miller, Tim Norris, Loren Roberts and Don Pooley. In all, 20 players were within five strokes of the leaders.

A two round total of 139, 5 under par, was needed to make the cut. It was the lowest cut number in the history of the tournament, eclipsing by two strokes last year's figure — the lowest on the PGA tour in 1984.

Among those who did not survive the cut were Mark O'Meara, who

One more upset at Lipton tourney

DELRAY BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Scott Davis pulled off the final upset of the inaugural $1.8 million Lipton International Players Championships tennis tournament, downing 11th-seeded Tomas Smid of Czechoslovakia 7-6, 6-4, 4-6, 6-3 Friday night to advance to the Sunday's title match where he will face former Stanford University teammate Tim Mayotte.

Mayotte eliminated Sweden's Jan Gunnarsson 7-6, 6-2, 4-6, 6-1 earlier in the day.

It will be the biggest payday for both men as the winner of Sunday's final will collect $112,500 and the runner-up gets $56,250. Mayotte's biggest payday as a professional was $20,000 for reaching the semifinals in the 1983 Australian Open, while Davis won $37,500 when he was runner-up in the Tokyo Seiko in 1983.

The women's final, which will be held Saturday on the hardcourts at Laver's International Tennis Resort,

Sowers reviews year

1984-85 tabbed good season by girls coach

By DENNIS BALL
Sports Editor

The Hereford girls basketball team finished the season on Feb. 8 with a win over Palo Duro, victory No. 10 in District 3-5A competition.

And while they may not have had a superb season in 1984-85, coach Larry Sowers said his Whitefaces did attain some goals during the year.

"I don't think we had a great season, but we had a good season," he said last week. "I had said at the first of the year that if we learned to play together, we had a real chance of making the playoffs. And we did. We lost a couple of close games near the end of the year that could have made the difference.

"It makes you feel a little down to come that close, but at the same time, the kids played pretty much like I thought they could."

Hereford lost a two-point game to Plainview on Jan. 22 and a one-point decision to Amarillo a week later. Amarillo is representing the league in the playoffs, and Plainview took third place just one game back of the Sandies.

The Herd wound up in fourth place with a loop mark of 10-6. Overall, the girls were 11-11.

"The biggest disappointment to me, I guess, is that we came so close and didn't make it (to the playoffs)," Sowers said. "The Plainview game was the biggest single disappointment because we had it in our grasp. The call at the end of the game that ruled we didn't get back inbounds before we caught a pass really hurt. If we had won that game, we'd have been in pretty good shape."

With the score knotted at 47, an official ruled that a Whiteface was still out of bounds when she took a return pass off an inbounds play. The Bulldogs capitalized on the turnover and scored the winning bucket.

The Whitefaces played well in most games during the season, Sowers said, especially in eight of their last nine games. In that span, Hereford had a record of 6-3. But two of the three losses were by a total of three points.

"It was disappointing we didn't win the Amarillo game (a 31-30 setback), but we played the way we wanted to play," Sowers said. "I'm happy with the players. It's just too bad things couldn't have been a little better or we couldn't have been a little luckier."

For the season, Hereford shot 41.8 percent from the field (468 of 1,119). The Whitefaces were led by the player of 5-6 junior Natalie Sims. Sims paced all Hereford's scorers with 271 points. In culminating those points, she made 52.9 percent of her field-goal attempts and canned 19 free throws.

Sims was 19 of 27 from the line and the majority of her field goals were from outside.

"She just didn't go to the line enough," Sowers said. "Hopefully, next year she will improve her scoring average (12.9 points per game) even more. She realized, I think, at the end of the year that she needed to score for us to win."

Sowers couldn't seem to say enough good about Sims.

"Without a doubt, Natalie is the best shooter we've ever had to come through here," he said.

Stacie High and Darla Alford also broke the 200-point barrier for the season. High scored 228 points and Alford 212. Post player Shelly Edwards scored 175 points.

Lori Niblett led the team in rebounds with 160 boards. Sowers lauded her offensive play, also.

"Lori really did a good job for us," he said of the 5-8 senior. "She's come a long way since her sophomore year and after playing on junior varsity last year. She threw the ball inbounds against the press and did a good job there. It makes a difference when you have somebody who can get the ball in."

Niblett committed only 28 turnovers, an excellent statistic for an inbounds person, according to Sowers.

But unfortunately for the Hereford coach, Niblett won't be returning in 1985-86. Neither will the Alford (Darla and Carla). Neither will High, nor Kim Williams nor Kelly Mumau.

Coming back along with Sims will be Edwards, Adelia Rodriguez, Emma Gonzales, Sarah Fish, Susie Kalka and Monica Devers just to name a few.

"Hopefully, we can build on some of the things that happened to us this year," Sowers said. "We've got some good people coming back that will give us some potential to work with.

"Shelly and Natalie will give us a good nucleus, and about half a dozen players should be competing for the guard position. We've always been competitive, and we will be again next year.

"We've got some people that will get the job done."

An all-district team will be announced at a later date.

Arkansas runs away with title

By DENNE H. FREEMAN AP Sports Writer
 FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) — As expected, the Arkansas Razorbacks made the 12th annual Southwest Conference Men's Indoor Track and Field Championships in Tarrant County Convention center a "Whoowie-soo-Pig" romp.

With Mike Conley and Paul Donovan turning in double victories, the Razorbacks, who are also the defending NCAA champion indoor kings, rolled to their fifth consecutive SWC title on Friday night.

"This one was just as good as the time we won the first one," said Arkansas Coach John McDonnell. "This was special because it was a total team effort."

He said "Conley and Donovan really paced us. You just take Conley granted for 20 points. It's like setting your alarm clock. He always comes through."

In the women's division, the Tara Arnold-led Texas Longhorns won. Arnold established meet records in the 1,000 and 800-yard runs to carry the Lady Longhorns to the women's championship. She won the 1,000 run in 2:29.8 and took the 800 in 2:11.13. Texas finished with 159 points to 149 for the Lady Cougars.

Arkansas lapped the field with 156 points to 60 for second place Baylor in the men's division.

Conley, the Olympic silver medalist in the triple jump, turned in a best effort of 26-feet, 1 and 34th inches in the long jump and then he won his triple jump specialty in 54-feet, 1-inch.

In the mile, Donovan and David Swain went 1-2 for Arkansas in times of 4:02.23 and 4:02.87, respectively. Both bettered the old SWC record by Baylor's Todd Harbour of 4:04.0.

Donovan came right back in meet record style by winning the two-mile run in 8:43.79 with Swain again was second.

Roddie Haley of Arkansas took the first-place medal in the 440 run in 47.38 seconds. The clocking surpassed the old SWC record of 47.58 by Baylor's Zeke Jefferson.

"This is the first time since I was a sophomore that I had to win with my last jump," said Conley. "There was a lot of pressure on me. Usually, I'm ahead going into my last jump."

Bill Jasinski of the Razorbacks established a new SWC indoor standard in the high jump with a winning effort of 7-feet, 5 1/2 inches.

McDonnell said the Razorback sights are set on the NCAA indoor at Syracuse, New York.

"Our main goal now is to work toward defending our national championship," said McDonnell. "We're looking a lot better now than we did early. We still have room to improve."

Basketball Royalty

A Hereford High School Basketball King and Queen were chosen earlier in the season by members of the HHS girls and boys teams. Seniors Stacie High (left) and Doug Owens were so named.

Practice Helps

Whitney Drake, a member of the Hereford High School golf team, drives from the first tee Friday at John Pitman Municipal Golf Course. Drake and teammate Andrea Wall, along with members of the Hereford Ladies Golf Association, got in a practice round of nine holes. The HLGGA plans to practice with the HHS team every week, later giving an award to the most-improved player on the high-school squad.

WTSU offers another chance

CANYON — Once spring becomes firmly established, the weather will be too nice for such indoor sports as racquetball, basketball and volleyball.

So how about once more — with feeling — to cap off the season?

West Texas State University's Recreation Club is sponsoring a racquetball tournament, a basketball tournament and a volleyball tournament, all within the first nine days of March.

The racquetball tourney, USRA endorsed, is set for March 1 and 2. Seven men's divisions and five women's divisions (including novice and doubles) will play for trophies and cash prizes. T-shirts, free sandwiches and Gatorade will be given during the competition.

All matches are to be played in the Henson Activities Center on the WT campus. Deadline to enter is Feb. 25.

At the same time those little blue rubber balls are being chased around the courts, 48 teams will be trying to push a much larger ball through some hoops in the double-elimination basketball tournament. The basketball tourney is to last from March 1 through March 3. Games will be played in the Field House and in the Activities Center.

Shirts and shorts for all team members will be prizes for champs in a women's league and men's A and B leagues. Participants must register by Feb. 26.

The next week, March 7 through March 9, the game is volleyball. There will be women's A and B leagues, a men's league and mixed A and B leagues playing for T-shirts as prizes.

Games will be in the Field House and the Activities Center. March 4 is deadline.

Complete details, rules and entry forms are available from Mary Hill, HPER Dept. WTSU, Canyon 79016. Phone 656-2661 or 352-3901.

The greatest combined weight of two fighters in a professional bout was 601 pounds. Ewart Potgeiter of South Africa weighed 335 when he stopped 266-pound Bruce Olson of Seattle in six rounds in 1957.

Camps

SPC slates basketball

LEVELLAND, Texas — The 1985 South Plains College girls basketball camp has been scheduled for July 28-Aug. 2 in the Texan Dome on the SPC campus.

The camp is open to girls in fifth grade through high school.

Lyndon Hardin, SPC women's varsity basketball coach, is to direct the camp, stressing individual instruction, ball-handling drills, offensive drills, shooting and passing. Other areas covered will be dribbling drills, station drills, mass defense, team offense, relays, scrimmage games and a session titled "Let's Talk Basketball." The latter is to emphasize attitude, desire, leadership and enthusiasm.

Two all-star games are planned for the final day of camp. In addition, campers should have time for swimming, racquetball, tennis, movies and awards the final night of camp.

Cost is $140 for overnight campers, $110 for day campers who eat in Texan Hall and $85 for day campers who do not eat in the cafeteria. The fee includes insurance, a personalized camp T-shirt, awards, certificates for each camp participant, entertainment and instruction.

"We look forward to having as many girls interested in basketball attend the camp as possible," said Hardin. "We want to develop their basketball potential and interest in the sport so they can take those skills back to their own basketball programs, enjoy the sport and do the best job possible."

Hardin has coached girls basketball camps for Texas Tech University, West Texas State University, Wayland Baptist University, Texas Women's University, Canyon High School and Tulsa High School in addition to his duties at South Plains College.

Hardin has led a Canyon team to the state championship, several district championships and a regional finalist trophy. He is in his second year at SPC.

Softball announced

HUNTSVILLE, Texas — Sam Houston State University has announced a girls fast-pitch softball camp to be held July 21-25 on campus.

Cost of the five-day camp is $190, and deadline to register is June 11. Participants must be between the ages of 10 and 17.

For more information, contact Sam Houston State softball coach Brenda Marshall, Box 2268-SHSU, Huntsville, Texas 77341. Phone (409) 294-1742 or 294-1737.

was seeking his third consecutive tour victory, Tom Watson, Gil Morgan, Ray Floyd and Jerry Pate.

Hallberg made the turn at even par, then used his deadly accurate short game on the back side to regain a share of the lead. As he had Thursday, Hallberg chipped to within short putting distance four times for birdies, and sank a 30-foot birdie putt on a fifth hole.

Oosterhuis reeled off seven birdies in an eight-hole span en route to his 64.

Football's Jim Killingsworth

TCU coach kills bad habit, game delays

By MIKE COCHRAN Associated Press Writer

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) — Texas Christian basketball coach Jim "Killer" Killingsworth says his quitting smoking last year was no big deal, but his pals and players suggest otherwise.

They laughingly insist he spent more time smoking and coughing than talking and that without his cigarette hack, he's now cut his speaking time in half.

"He used to talk awhile and hack awhile," quipped Steve Marshall of the Horned Frogs publicity office, suggesting there was hardly time for his halftime strategy sessions.

Chuckled junior forward Tom Mortimer: "It got to the point that 60-second timeouts weren't long enough to do us any good."

Student manager Alan Umholtz contends Killingsworth's post-game speeches during his smoking days often ran on for more than an hour.

"Without the cough," says Umholtz with a grin, "he gives the same speech in 20 minutes."

Assistant coach Charlie Fenske, accustomed to watching game films through a haze of cigarette smoke, says he didn't realize the high quality of the films until he watched one this year in a room free of smoke.

Killingsworth fields the running jokes with a hearty laugh and a popular barnyard expletive and pops in another piece of chewing gum, which he attacks with the finesse of a runaway cement mixer.

"He's got the jaws of an alligator," marveled one sports scribe after watching Killer's histrionics during TCU's overtime victory last weekend against Arkansas.

TCU Athletic Director Frank Windeger agrees. Says he:

"Killer's got the strongest jaws in America. The man's chewed enough gum to stretch to Mt. Everest and back."

To break his two-pack-a-day habit, Killingsworth substituted gum for cigarettes nine months ago and while he doesn't keep track of how much he chews, he admits "it's a bunch."

Killer said he launched his non-smoking campaign almost casually last May with the help of nicotine-laced gum recommended by a doctor.

"I was chewing a helluva lot of that gum," he smiled. "To tell the truth, you get a pretty good fix if you chew a lot of it pretty fast."

Finally weaned off nicotine, and 20 pounds heavier, Killer says he still likes the smell of cigarette smoke and feels an occasional urge to steal a puff or two.

"Yeah, I do, but not now like I used to," he said.

And though the sixth-year TCU coach is not quite as extroverted as his football counterpart, Jim Wacker, he remains every bit as frenetic on the sidelines.

He drew technical fouls in three straight games, including one in the first 47 seconds of the Arkansas upset last Saturday.

"That's his quickest technical of the year and the fastest in the league so far," deadpanned Sports Information Director Glen Stone. "He's riding a three-game streak now."

By DIANNE PIERSON
Library Director

It's that time of year again...income tax time!!! If you need help in preparing your 1984 Income Tax Return, you may find some of the information you need at the Deaf Smith County Library. If you need a specific IRS tax form, ask to see the IRS Publication 1132, Reproducible Federal Tax Forms for Use in Libraries. You may use this reference volume and our copy machine (at $.15 a copy) to reproduce forms which are acceptable for submission of your tax return information.

Also available is a four-volume set of the IRS' most frequently requested publications. These publications are presented this way so that you can find answers to your questions without having to order and wait for your own copy. You may photocopy any pages you wish. There are no copyright restrictions on any of these publications. These volumes are for reference use only.

Other tax guides we have include the "Farmer's Tax Guide" and the "Tax Guide For Small Business." Another service which is available is Pre-recorded Tax Information by Telephone - Tele-Tax. This service provides recorded tax information tapes 140 topics. Brochures which list all the available topics and describe how to use this service are available in many libraries.

NEW PUBLICATION:
The National Business Employment Weekly, the most sought-after career advancement publication in the nation, specifically designed to keep you abreast of the national job market, is now available at the Deaf Smith County Library in the Newspaper Section of the Library. Every weekly issue includes authoritative articles written by personnel experts which provide you with a comprehensive overview of all aspects of career advancement...plus hundreds of executive, managerial and technical positions from the four regional editions of THE WALL STREET JOURNAL.

Remember, don't overlook your library as a source of valuable information!!! The library staff is here to aid you with questions you may have, please don't hesitate to ask us if you can't quite locate what you need on the shelves.

LIBRARY EVENTS:
10:00 a.m. - Pre-school public story hour - Thursday morning...
7:00 p.m. - Family film - "TWO-CATCH-TWO" starring Sam DiBello, Steven Anderson, Aln Hansell and Darrell Marshall. Two comical amateur detectives are testing a new laser gun which enables them to pick up a private conversation some distance away. When they overhear a plot to kidnap a 12 year old boy they go into action, using all sorts of silly disguises in trying to trap the crooks. Unaware of danger, a private plane is to take the young lad and companion to a summer camp. The controls are accidentally kicked and the plane is airborne. After a crash the boys are rescued by a helicopter now knowing they are in the hands of the kidnapers. "Two-Catch-Two" is a fun-filled adventure for everyone. Come see how the amateur detectives save the day.

Friends Of The Library Annual Business Meeting

Friends Of The Library Annual Business Meeting will be held Feb. 24, 2:00 - 4:00 p.m. at the Deaf Smith County Library. The featured speaker will be D.R. Meredith, author of the book, "The Sheriff And The Panhandle Murders."

tant. It is important that D.R. Meredith is a split personality.

During the day and early evening she is a bookseller, wife and mother. At night she pulls on a pair of ragged jeans and an old blue workshirt, sits down at her computer, and commits murder. During those writing sessions and on weekends, D.R. Meredith has created Sheriff Matthews and the mythical Crawford County.

"My husband is really responsible for the sheriff. He kept telling me to write a mystery instead of reading so many. I finally wrote "The Sheriff and The Panhandle Murders" just to shut him up. No one was more surprised than I when Walker and Company bought my manuscript."

Described by the publisher as a western mystery, "The Sheriff And

The Panhandle Murders" introduces the reading public to a relatively unknown area of the country. "Most people don't realize how vast the Texas Panhandle really is. We speak of farming sections rather than acres. I have tried to describe that vastness and isolation," said Meredith.

Writing with the familiarity of a long-time resident, D.R. Meredith explores the complexity of the Panhandle with humor and compassion. Her book is available for checkout at the Deaf Smith County Library.

Meredith is a delightful speaker and will have copies of her book available for the public. Please come support this annual project provided to the public by the Friends of the Deaf Smith County Library.

Adult Sitter Clinic set Feb. 28, March 7

The Deaf Smith County Extension Family Living Committee will sponsor an Adult Sitter Clinic Feb. 28 and March 7 at the Heritage Room of Deaf Smith County Library from 8:30 a.m. until 4 p.m.

The sitter clinic will provide free training in the physical care of ill and disabled people, information of the practical psychology of working with ill or disabled people and their families, skills for coping with job stress, and discussion on the role and responsibility of an adult sitter in various job environments.

The two day clinic will feature over a dozen speakers on such topics as:

- + Role and responsibility of an adult sitter
  - The aging process
  - Understanding grief and loss
  - Coping with stress
  - Diet and meal planning
  - Using medication wisely
  - Body mechanics
  - Dealing with emergency situations
  - Emergency response system
  - Ideas for activity
  - Elder abuse
- Enrollment is limited for this free clinic so call now and reserve a spot. Call Louise Walker, county extension agent, at 364-3573 for further information.

University Day at Tech scheduled for Friday

LUBBOCK - About 2,000 members of the Class of '89 will be considering the role Texas Tech University will play in their college plans when they participate in University Day Feb. 22.

The day of activities on campus is an annual event which draws high school seniors and junior college students from across the nation to campus for a sample of the university's academic and extracurricular activities.

Academic counseling, campus tours, discussions with professors and Texas Tech students, and a swim and dance party are among activities scheduled to begin with registration at 8 a.m. in the University Center Courtyard. All activities are free.

Barbara P. White, coordinator of University Day activities for the Office of New Student Relations, said the annual program helps Texas Tech attract students for an initial visit to campus and becomes a significant factor in many decisions to enroll.

A general assembly at 9 a.m. in the University Center Theater will include a welcome by Texas Tech

President Lauro F. Cavazos.

Two 45-minute college advisement sessions are scheduled at 9:45 a.m. and 10:45 a.m. to acquaint students with possible majors, academic prerequisites and career choices in each of the university's six undergraduate colleges: Agricultural Sciences, Arts and Sciences, Business Administration, Education, Engineering and Home Economics.

Campus bus tours are scheduled every 15 minutes from 11:30 a.m. until 2 p.m. with buses departing from in front of the University Center.

Tours of various college and departmental facilities will be available 1:30-2:45 p.m.

Colleges, academic departments and departmental clubs will have booths in the University Center Ballroom from 11:30 a.m. to 3 p.m.

The day's activities will conclude with a two-hour swimming and dance party starting at 8:30 p.m. in the Texas Tech Aquatic Center.

For information on University Day, contact the Office of New Student Relations, P.O. Box 4049, Texas Tech, Lubbock, Texas 79409 (806)742-1480.

The Statue of Liberty was built with voluntary contributions from thousands of individuals in France and America. The mammoth project now underway to restore the deteriorating statue is also being done through individual effort and initiative. For example, the Daughters of the American Revolution are sponsoring LIBERTY LOVE DAY on February 14, 1985 (Valentine's Day) to raise funds. The Los Ciboleros Chapter of the DAR in Hereford tells us that, while the original project was underway, a Congressman suggested that the female figure be replaced with one of "Good Old Uncle Sam". Businessmen of that era wanted product advertising placed on the statue in return for their donations.

Couple celebrate anniversary with reaffirmation of vows

George and Reba Crafton reaffirmed their wedding vows in celebration of their 14th anniversary Saturday at Westway Baptist Church with the Rev. Charles Vick, pastor, officiating.

Kenneth Varner began the ceremony with the song "Friends." Lois and Vicki Varner then sang "The Wedding Song." As the wedding party started down the aisle, Mary Varner sang "The Rose."

Mrs. Crafton's mother, Belle Rose, was escorted by her grandson, Christopher Crafton. Mrs. Crafton's mother, Vera Watson of Altus, Okla., was escorted down the aisle by her grandson, Billy Ray Norton of Altus.

The altar was decorated with a white candelabra accented with a burgundy and white rose centerpiece. During the ceremony, the Craftons presented their mother-in-laws with a corsage of white roses and their son with a long-stemmed white rose bud.

Mrs. Crafton chose a floor-length gown of white crinkle cut material with a Victorian neckline and three-quarter length sleeves. A tier of lace edging the hemline completed the dress. She also wore a headpiece of pearls and white roses. She carried a lace fan adorned with pink small roses.

After the vows were exchanged, a reception was held in the back of the church.

A white cloth with pink roses and silver bells covered the serving table which was accented with a crystal punch bowl, a silver, three-tiered dish of mints and Mrs. Crafton's fan. A candelabra decorated with white and pink roses with greenery also accented the table.

Two local women complete course

Barbara Cockrum and Norma Reyes have successfully completed the Allsup's Manager Training Course held at the company's home office in Clovis.

The three-day course includes instruction in customer relations, company policies, operational procedures and management skills. Both women return to their store at 529 Ave. H.

Edouard de Laboulaye, a Frenchman, believed the United States represented a new idea in the world...a nation based on liberal principles determined to make its ideals a reality through its Constitution. America inspired the French who were trying to free themselves from the tyranny of Napoleon III and establish a republican government.

De Laboulaye and a group of friends proposed giving a monument to the people of the United States...to remind them of ties stemming from the American Revolution, and to rebuke the French Government. They would name the statue "Liberty Enlightening the World."

This project died, but one of that group—a sculptor named Frederic Auguste Bartholdi—kept the idea and developed the design in 1869 in anticipation of America's centennial in 1876. One of its first plans was to build the Statue as a lighthouse with the light coming from the crown. A lookout standing on the balcony surrounding the torch would provide navigational aid.

GEORGE AND REBA CRAFTON

Refreshments were served by Betty Hammock and Shirley Norton. The bride's cake consisted of a three-tiered white wedding cake with burgundy and pink roses spiraling to the top. Fourteen candles were entwined with the roses.

Stacie Hammock registered the guests. Betty Self made the pineapple punch which was served in the crystal punch bowl. The guests' tables were all decorated with white candles which stood on two sides of an arrangement of white bells and silver ribbons. Photographer for the ceremony was Jan McElhaney.

Red Cross Update

By BETTY HENSON
Executive Director

Special thanks to Kee Ruland for presenting a very informative program on Cancer of the Breast to the Uniformed Volunteers.

Nell Culpepper, Chairman, presided over the business meeting. The Chili Supper scheduled for March 2 at the Community Center was discussed and plans were made to have a bazaar table with handmade items for sale. The birthday party for Westgate residents was planned for Thursday, March 14 and will take the place of the regular luncheon. Those present for Thursday's meeting were: Audine Dettman, Anna Wilson, Janet Moody, Nell Culpepper, Mary Iruegas, Hope Torres, Gayle Carter, Carol Walker, Bertha Dettmann, Susie Bainum, Margaret Gamez, Elaine Taylor, Alice Gilleland, Clydene Scott, Betty Henson and a visitor, Louise Walker.

Special thanks to Ruth Romero for teaching a CPR class this past week. Congratulations to the students that completed the class.

The Board of Directors will meet Tuesday, Feb. 19, noon, at the Red Cross office.

The Deaf Smith County Chapter of the American Red Cross is a United Way Agency.

Directors announce promotions

Three promotions at the Hereford office of Security Federal Savings & Loan Association were announced recently by the board of directors.

Carla Sargent has been promoted to assistant secretary. She joined Security Federal in February 1982 as a teller and became a new accounts counselor in January 1983. Mrs.

Sargent graduated from Hereford High School and is a member of the Church of the Nazarene.

Tony Calkins was promoted to assistant secretary at the Hereford office. He joined Security Federal in 1983 as a loan officer. Calkins is a graduate of West Texas State University and is a member of the First United Methodist Church and the Hereford Noon Kiwanis Club.

Bernadette Wright has been promoted to consumer loan officer. She has been with Security Federal since January 1983. Mrs. Wright attended Hereford High School and is a member of Saint Anthony's Catholic Church.

Couple celebrate anniversary

Irvin and Clea Reeves of 401 Ave. K will celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary with a reception today from 2 to 4 p.m. in the fellowship hall of the Central Church of Christ. The event will be hosted by the couple's children.

The two married Feb. 6, 1935, in Hereford. They have lived in Deaf Smith County all of their lives. Mr. Reeves is a retired farmer and is presently employed in seasonal work with Farmers Gin.

Children of the couple are Glenn and Tommy Reeves of Denton, and Kay Reeves of Irving. Mr. and Mrs. Reeves also have five grandchildren.

On November 5, 1781, the Continental Congress elected John Hanson as the first "President of the United States in Congress assembled" under the Articles of Confederation. George Washington, later the first President elected under the Constitution, wrote to congratulate Hanson on his "appointment to fill the most important seat in the United States." The Daughters of the American Revolution urge you to study and enjoy reading about our American History.

How can you tell a legitimate weight-loss plan from a fad diet? Here are several phrases commonly used to promote fad diets. When you see them on books, diet foods or other weight-loss products, beware!

"Fast and Easy Weight Loss." It may be fast and easy, but it won't be permanent. This usually means that water and muscle mass are the initial losses instead of fat. These sudden losses can harm your health and the pounds will eventually return.

"Magic Diet Food." There is no magic diet food. Going on a one or two-food diet simply starves your body of the nutrients it needs. After your body uses up stored nutrients, your health begins to decline. If you lose weight it's because you cut calories, not because of a special food.

"Secret Formula Revealed." The secret is that it's unresearched and untested by nutritionists and medical experts.

"You Don't Have to Move a Muscle." Exercise is absolutely necessary for sustained weight loss. It helps you preserve your lean body mass, lose fat, and keep your metabolic rate up so you'll burn more calories.

"Melt Fat Without Hunger." If you eat because you're hungry, this is just avoiding the problem. Dieters need to understand hunger and cravings and make some changes in lifestyle habits to deal with them.

"Eat All You Want." Follow this advice and you'll gain weight. Eating all you wanted was what led to the original weight gain. A legitimate weight loss program will help you learn to eat in moderation.

"Lose Without Effort." You have probably worked hard to accomplish many things in life. Why should losing weight be any different?

A fad diet makes promises like these, but it won't deliver. You may lose a few pounds and feel like you've gotten something out of it, but in the long run, a fad diet will only disappoint. A legitimate weight-loss plan includes a nutritious, balanced diet, regular exercise, and help in making lifestyle and behavior changes.

Adult Sitter Clinic

Plan to attend an adult sitter clinic on Thursday, Feb. 28, and March 7, in the Heritage Room, Library, Hereford. The free clinic is sponsored by the Deaf Smith County Family Living Committee and County Extension Service. Louise Walker, County Extension Agent, says the clinic will provide training in the physical care of ill and disabled people. Those attending will also receive 1.2 continuing education units from Amarillo College.

The two-day clinic has over a dozen speakers. On February 28, Gayle Carter, chairman of the family living committee will discuss "The Role and Responsibility of an Adult Sitter." Judy Warren, Extension Aging Specialist, College Station, Texas, will address the topic, "Human Relationships and Practical Psychology in Working with Older Adults." "Communication Skills" will be reviewed by Mike Moon, Director, Hereford Family Services. "The Aging Process" is the subject of Barbara Serres, Panhandle Agency on Aging, speech. Following on the afternoon program is John Thames, local pharmacist, speaking on "Using Medication Wisely." "Diet and Meal Planning" will be reviewed by Charlotte Clark, Dietitian, Deaf Smith General Hospital. The program on Feb. 28 will conclude with Bea Noland, Kings Manor Methodist Home, Inc. with "Ideas for Activity."

The March 7 all day program will begin with Louise Walker, County Extension Agent on the subject, "Coping with Stress." "Dealing with Emergency Situations" will be addressed by Betty Henson, the American Red Cross. The morning will be concluded by Doris Morgan, Director, Deaf Smith Home Care Service on "Emergency Response System."

The afternoon program will begin with Don Chrysler, National Home

Health Care, on the topic, "Body Mechanics." Hereford's own Doug Manning will tell us how to understand grief and loss. Suzan Schriber, Department of Human Resources will address "Elder Abuse."

Enroll now by calling 364-3573. The clinic is free of charge.

Both days programs begin at 8:30 a.m. with the program beginning at 9 a.m. and concluding at 4 p.m. The lunch hour will be from 12-1 p.m.

A salad luncheon will be provided by the Extension Homemakers Council for a $3.00 charge.

Daniel Defoe, the English writer who penned Robinson Crusoe, has been called the father of the English novel.

Friona Industries to merge

Friona Industries, Inc. announced today that it has entered into a definitive agreement to be acquired by CHS Holding, Inc. in a merger, or at CHS's election, a tender offer, in which holders of Friona Common Stock will receive $19 cash per share. The merger is subject to approval of the Friona shareholders and CHS's securing acceptable financing, among other conditions. CHS is owned primarily by Edwin L. Cox, Jr., Chairman of Valley View Holdings, Inc. of Dallas, Texas.

Friona also announced that it has acquired all of the outstanding capital stock of Littlefield Feedyard, Inc. from CHS in exchange for 2,000,000 shares of Friona's newly-issued Cumulative Convertible Preferred Stock valued at $4,500,000. The Preferred Stock may be converted into Friona Common Stock at $19 per share and is entitled to one vote for each share of Common Stock into which it is convertible on all matters presented to shareholders and to vote as a class on certain extraordinary corporate transactions such as mergers. Littlefield Feedyard, Inc. owns a 35,000 head capacity cattle feed lot and related assets in Littlefield, Texas.

In connection with the execution of the merger agreement, Friona granted CHS an option to purchase up to 2,700,000 shares of its Common Stock at $19 cash per share, and agreed to use its best efforts to obtain agreements from certain of its principal shareholders granting CHS the right to vote and an option to purchase their shares of Friona Common Stock at $19 cash per share. Friona has presently approximately 2,200,000 shares of Common Stock outstanding. Friona also granted CHS separate options to purchase certain of its assets including its Hi-Pro Feed facility, its Black Grain facilities, and its Friona Transport division. Friona may terminate all the options granted to CHS and rescind the Littlefield acquisition if CHS has not secured financing before April 14, 1985.

Friona has previously announced that Eller Enterprises, Inc. has made a cash tender offer for all outstanding shares of Friona's Common Stock at $17.25 cash per share. At a meeting on Tuesday, February 12, the Board determined to recommend to its shareholders that they reject the Eller offer. The Board determined that the Eller offer of $17.25 per share is inadequate based on the proposed merger with CHS at a price of $19 cash per share.

According to Ron Davenport, President and Chief Executive Officer of Friona, "we are enthusiastic about this proposal and Ed Cox's future role within Friona Industries. He is an individual with demonstrated experience and substantial commitment to our industry." "Friona has a strong and unique position in the industry and we look forward to continuing to build that position," stated Cox.

Friona is engaged in seven industry segments: meat processing and distribution; the manufacture and sale of commercial cattle feeds; the retail marketing of animal health supplies; the custom feeding of customer-owned cattle; the purchase, fattening and sale of cattle owned by the Company; the operation of grain facilities; and the transportation of grain and feed. Friona Industries' common stock is traded on the American Stock Exchange under the symbol FI.

Cultural museum has different focus

By CAM ROSSIE Associated Press Writer

MONTERREY, Mexico (AP) — A 12-year-old boy pumps a stationary bicycle and watches the electricity he produces light multi-colored lamps.

Teen-agers clap their hands and shout at a tree decorated with Christmas lights, laughing as their sound waves illuminate the tiny bulbs. A 5-year-old swings a "Star Wars" type baton and giggles as it glows an iridescent green.

In another room an elderly woman guesses at familiar scents that waft from atomizers while a young couple, using note charts, creates a melody by pressing a selection of black buttons.

This is the Alfa Cultural Center, "a museum with a different focus," says director Guillermo Schmidhuber de la Mora.

Unlike somber, silent traditional museums, the Alfa center urges visitors to touch, listen, smell as well as see. To exercise their fifth sense, taste, guests can visit the museum cafeteria.

A Latin American pioneer in the "participative museum" concept, the center aims to "bring culture to the masses" by uniting art and science in a manner less educated people can understand, says Schmidhuber.

"Most museums are intended for very cultured people. Uneducated people are afraid to go," he says. "This museum shows that culture is a part of us and that everyone can enjoy and understand it."

Some salons resemble huge playrooms, with brightly carpeted walls, tunnels and large seating blocks. In one narrow passageway, opaque floor tiles light to red, yellow and blue as visitors pass through.

Under the cosmic glow of ultraviolet lights in the astronomy salon, visitors learn in simple Spanish and from basic designs about planets, constellations and the galaxies.

Located in one of the most picturesque neighborhoods in this northern industrial city against a backdrop of the Sierra Madre mountains, the five-story center is a magnificent gleaming cylinder planted in the earth at a precarious angle.

Designed by Monterrey architect Fernando Garza Trevino, it is considered one of the most beautiful buildings of modern Mexico.

About 400,000 people visited the center last year — the majority from Monterrey's poor and middle classes — making it the fourth most visited museum in the country and the most popular museum outside Mexico City, Schmidhuber said.

The 65,000-square-foot center also offers a so-called "Omnimax" theater and planetarium. In the 300-seat auditorium, guests viewing specially made movies on a giant convex screen get a sensation of flying over the scenery. For special functions such as concerts or theatrical presentations, the screen becomes a night sky with 11,000 glittering stars.

Only the top floor resembles a traditional museum. Here, northern Mexico's finest collection of prehispanic objects is arranged in glass cases and accompanied by easily understood descriptions.

One of the museum's goals, according to Schmidhuber, is to teach Monterrey residents about their country's cultural heritage.

"Monterrey doesn't have a story like the south," he says. "We don't have prehispanic roots. The (Spanish) conquerors didn't come here."

The permanent collection, along with a series of temporary exhibits in another salon provide the link Monterrey residents need with their own country, Schmidhuber says.

Among last year's visitors were 100,000 school children transported in the center's private buses. The kids pay the equivalent of a quarter for the ride and are admitted free to the center under a morning groups-only program.

When the center opens to the public in the afternoon, visitors pay an entrance fee of 200 pesos or about 92 cents, 350 pesos or about $1.60 if they wish to see the movie, too. Many arrive in free Alfa buses that collect passengers in the central, poorer area of the city.

The $10 million center, inaugurated in October 1978, was built by the huge industrial conglomerate Grupo Alfa during Mexico's economic heyday of the 1970s.

Alfa, based here, is Mexico's largest industrial group.

In 1983, due to Alfa's severe financial crisis caused by the peso devaluation and rising interest rates, the center was turned over to a non-profit association.

Schmidhuber says the center is the only self-supporting museum in Mexico. Funds to pay last year's $500,000 in operating costs were raised through entrance fees, sales in the center's two gift shops and cafeteria, special programs, and through the sale to other museums of specially designed equipment.

The economic crisis, however, has hindered the center's advancement. The former staff of 120 people was cut to 41 and the center has been unable to acquire more collections, Schmidhuber says.

"We hope Mexico's economic problems diminish so we can have more resources to grow."

Yugoslavia won the 1984 Water Polo Olympic championship. The United States was second, and West Germany third.

Cotton harvest more than 95 percent complete in state

COLLEGE STATION, Texas (AP) — Many producers in the Rio Grande Valley are gearing up to begin planting operations for corn, grain sorghum and cotton within two to three weeks, as cotton growers in the opposite end of the state hasten to complete harvest of their 1984 cotton. Planting time also is close at hand in the Coastal Bend area, where many fields are "too wet to plow." Wet fields are continuing to delay farmers in fertilizer application work and land preparation, said Dr. Zerle L. Carpenter, director of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System. The sugarcane harvest in the Rio Grande Valley also has been delayed by wet field conditions, Carpenter said. Some harvesting of carrots, cabbage and celery continues as weather permits, and some Valley citrus trees are showing additional freeze damage.

Cotton harvesting south of Lubbock in the South Plains is more than 95 percent completed, and the harvest is from 90-95 percent finished in the Rolling Plains, except in Throckmorton County where half the crop remains in fields.

Throughout the state, recent cold wet weather has delayed land preparation for spring vegetable planting. The bitterly cold temperatures also have further damaged current vegetable crops.

Hay feeding schedules for livestock, along with supplemental feeding, have accelerated during and following recent extreme temperatures. Despite the heavy feeding, many herds have continued to lose weight and some newborn calves have perished. Some pneumonia deaths also have been reported in stocker cattle. Hay supplies are getting short in many areas due to lighter production resulting from last year's drought and increased feeding pressures.

Small grain crops have sustained varying amounts of damage from the bitterly cold temperatures, with top growth burned in many fields and virtually all growth being halted temporarily by the cold. Some wheat has been severely damaged and some oat fields lost as a result of continued sub-freezing temperatures. These conditions were reported at mid-week:

PANHANDLE: Cold temperatures have delayed wheat growth and caused some deterioration in top growth. Grazing potential has been reduced and cattle feeding has been prevalent on wheat and range areas. All farming activities have been delayed due to cold and wet field conditions.

SOUTH PLAINS: Although wheat is making little growth due to extreme cold temperatures, wheat pastures and native ranges continue in fair to good condition. Land preparation for spring planting is beginning, with soil moisture adequate. In the area south of Lubbock, cotton harvesting is more than 95 percent complete.

Casey Cobb finishes third in Phoenix judging

LUBBOCK — The Texas Tech University livestock judging team has won two overall first place awards during competition the first five weeks of this year.

The team took first place at the Fort Worth Livestock Judging Contest and at the Arizona National Collegiate Livestock Judging Contest.

At Fort Worth the team earned 4,436 of a possible 5,000 points to win the overall title. At the Phoenix contest they finished first with 3,504 out of a possible 3,750 points.

Texas Tech won first place in the oral reasons; horses; beef cattle; swine and sheep events at Phoenix. At Fort Worth the team finished first in swine; second in horses; second in beef cattle judging; and fourth in sheep.

Casey Cobb, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Cobb, Star Route, Hereford, finished fifth overall and third in horse judging at Phoenix.

Dave Cleavinger, son of Mr. and

Kevin Kelley ON TSU team

FORT WORTH Tx. — The Dairy Judging teams from Tarleton State University took home some top honors after the Southwest Collegiate Dairy Judging competition held in conjunction with the Southwest Exposition and Fat Stock Show. The two TSU teams competed against teams from Texas, Oklahoma and Kansas.

Roger Putman of Stephenville placed second in the overall individual rankings and was a member of the Tarleton team that took top honors in the jersey division. Danni Leake of Burleson, another member of that team, was the high scoring individual in the jersey division.

The first place finishing jersey judging team from Tarleton included Putman, Leake and Judy Johnson of Stephenville. The same trio placed second in the overall rankings behind a team from Kansas State. Oklahoma State University was third and another Tarleton team placed fourth in overall standings. Texas A&M placed fifth.

Members of the fourth place team were Sharon Daughety of Burleson, Kevin Kelley of Hereford and Doug Love of Athens.

The Tarleton dairy teams were sponsored by the TSU Dairy Club and their coach is Joel Hillin, Assistant Professor of Agriculture.

Mrs. Ronald Cleavinger, Route 1, Earth, finished eighth overall and fourth in horse judging at Phoenix.

Steve Graham, son of Mr. and Mrs. James C. Graham, Route 1, Olton, finished 15th overall and second in horse judging at Phoenix. He finished ninth overall and fifth in swine judging at Fort Worth.

The livestock judging team is coached by Mark McCann, animal science instructor, and Dr. B. Frank Craddock of the animal science faculty.

Grain sorghum conference set Feb. 17-20 in Lubbock

A grain sorghum research and utilization conference is planned for Feb. 17 through 20 at Holiday Inn Civic Center in Lubbock. The conference is jointly sponsored by Sorghum Improvement Conference of North America (SICNA) and the Grain Sorghum Producers Association (GSPA) Sorghum Promotion Committee.

Registration is to begin at 4 p.m. Sunday, Feb. 17 for early arrivals. The general session begins at 8:15 Monday morning, and will deal with grain sorghum utilization.

Session chairman, Elbert Harp of the GSPA will present the organization's program of worldwide sorghum promotion and describe current market opportunities. Other session topics are to include sorghum physiology, entomology, cultural and management practices, grain sorghum breeding and genetics, led by internationally-acclaimed scientists who are working with sorghum breeding and development throughout the world.

An awards banquet on Tuesday night will honor two men for their outstanding contribution to the grain sorghum industry. Dr. Lloyd Rooney, professor of Soil and Crop Sciences at Texas A&M University, will be cited for his chemical studies of sorghum grain and for the application of those findings to livestock and human nutrition.

Dr. A. Bruce Maunder of Lubbock will be honored for his leadership in sorghum plant breeding and development. Maunder is vice president for agronomic research for DeKalb-Pfizer Genetics.

The Grain Sorghum Research and Utilization Conference has been held biennially since 1959. The conference is known worldwide and considered one of the most important in the sorghum industry.

A $65 registration fee will be charged for the entire conference. The fee includes the cost of two luncheons, the awards banquet and a printed copy of the conference proceedings. Registration for the conference alone is $34 and separate tickets can be purchased for the luncheons, awards banquet and general session.

Registration forms and more information are available from the Grain Sorghum Producers Association, Box R, Abernathy, Tx 79311. Telephone (806)298-2543.

45 local students entered in Houston Livestock Show

Nineteen 4-H members and 26 Future Farmers of America from Deaf Smith County will participate in the 1985 Houston Livestock Show Feb. 16-March 3.

According to a press release from the show, 16,313 junior show entries are expected for this year's competition. More than 10,000 open show and horse show entries are also expected for exhibition.

Considered the world's largest, the Houston show holds competition on

FFA goals are changed

In 1928, when the FFA and the Vo-Ag programs were organized, the overall objective of each program was to train future farmers.

In these days of inflation and extreme high cost of operation, it just is not feasible to expect that the average FFA member will actually go into farming after graduation from high school or college.

Therefore, the program goals have been changed. The goal of the program is now to involve students in agriculture, which is more than farming. It's farming and ranching and all the agribusinesses which support and service the farmer and who distribute ag products.

agrifacts

Presented By
WHITEFACE AVIATION CORP.

THE 1985 COTTON PROGRAM: MANY ECONOMISTS THINK SIGN-UP IS BEST. Some agriculture economists point out that the 1985 cotton program offers a few guarantees that the market doesn't. For example, the '85 program includes a 57.5 percent per pound loan rate. This may not be too far away from the season's average price. Further, the 81-cent per pound target price holds the promise of a maximum deficiency payment of 23.7 cents. And, the 36-cent per pound diversion payment does guarantee a return with modest costs on one acre out of ten signed up. In order to qualify, you'll have to plan on idling 10% of your cotton base for the paid diversion. In addition, you'll have to idle another 20%. This leaves a maximum of 70% of your base for planting. The 30% idled must be in an approved conservation usage program.

FOR WINTER BUYERS!

Now is the time to buy. We're giving cash dividends, low financing rates and special clearance allowances. Here's your chance to save big on the equipment you'll need next season.

HOT DEAL #1

WINTER BUYER'S DIVIDEND—You can earn a cash dividend for the initial purchase of any new, eligible hay or forage machine purchased by March 31, 1985. You can earn an even larger dividend on subsequent purchases—from $900 to $4,500, depending on the machine. This dividend is earned regardless of the financing method used.

HOT DEAL #3

FREE FINANCE—Eligible equipment includes new and used hay and forage products, grain windrowers, tub grinders, grinder-mixers and manure spreaders. Use dates vary according to products and geographic area.

HOT DEAL #2

NEW, LOW FINANCING RATES—Buy equipment with big dividends and get super-low financing! We're making it easy to purchase the equipment you need. The rates listed below are in effect through March 31, 1985. Eligible equipment is new and used hay and forage products, grain windrowers, tub grinders, grinder-mixers and manure spreaders.

HOT DEAL #4

DIVIDENDS FOR CASH—If you like doing business the old-fashioned way—with cash—we've got a hot deal for you. Until March 31, 1985, you can earn a cash dividend when you buy new, eligible hay or forage equipment or a grain windrower. This dividend is in addition to the Winter Buyer's Dividend for these products. Until February 28, 1985, you can earn a dividend on new grinder-mixers, manure spreaders and tub grinders. But hurry, because the sooner you buy, the bigger the dividend.

National FFA WEEK!

THE NATIONWIDE CELEBRATION BY FUTURE FARMERS OF AMERICA FEBRUARY 16-23, 1985

Hereford FFA chapter celebrates its 50th year

Hereford FFA chapter celebrates its 50th year of chartered organization this year. The chapter has had a long list of achievements during those years. Details of some of the highlights for the earlier years are a bit sketchy; however, there are reminders around the department of the achievements of some of its members over the years.

There have been approximately 240 State Farmers from the local chapter. This degree is the highest degree which can be awarded by the State Association.

In 1970, Jimmy Christie was honored as the Star State Farmer of the State of Texas. In 1976, Doug Reinart was Runnerup Star State Farmer.

The highest degree possible in the FFA is the American Farmer Degree. In order to be eligible for this degree, one of the requirements is that the applicant be out of high school at least 12 months and have a farming or agri-business program in operation. There are several other stringent requirements and the area quota is only 5 per year in the entire area.

Over the years, Hereford FFA has had nine American Farmers and will have one applicant this year.

Those members who have obtained this high degree are: Layton Sawyer-1960, Charles Vasek-1963; Bill Fowler-1969; Jim Fowler-1972; David Hutchins-1975; Ray Schlabs-1976; Tom Schlabs-1976; Jerry Johnson-1978, and Kevin Urbanczyk-1979.

The Chapter has had numerous winners of other awards & contests over the years. Some of these achievements were: 1961-State winner, Sr. Chapter Conducting; 1966-2nd in State, Sr. Chapter Conducting; 1969-10th Place State, Meats

Judging; 1973-Winner of Houston Livestock Show Livestock Judging Contest;

Also 1974-2nd Texas Tech Livestock Judging Contest; 1974-State winners, Crops Production, David Hutchins; 1975-Winner Texas Tech Livestock Judging; 1978-Gary Vogel, Runnerup, Star Chapter Farmer; 1981-State Winner, Proficiency award, Lisa Phillips; 1983-2nd High Ind., State Livestock Judging, Melvin Kalka; 1984 - State winner, Proficiency Award - Robbie Phillips; and many others too numerous to mention on district and area levels.

Hereford FFA has also been recognized with its members achievements in Livestock Shows. Some of the most notable are: 1969-Jimmy Christie, Grand

Ted Eicke, Tom Schlabs, Wayne Boren, Tony Reinart, Lisa Phillips, David Walterscheid, Rodney Miller, Brian Urbanczyk; and Robbie Phillips, have all exhibited Grand Champions in other state and national Shows over the last 14 years, and Hereford FFA has been synonymous with success in the show ring.

"We know that we have omitted some big winners inadvertently and apologize for these in advance, said Marcus Phillips, FFA instructor at HHS.

Technology reaches vo-ag classroom at high school

"The old gray mare ain't what she used to be." Computer technology has reached the vo-ag classroom and members of the local FFA chapter are reaping the benefits.

The vo-ag curriculum has changed to include computers; however, FFA members at Hereford High School are going beyond the curriculum demands in using computers in agriculture.

For three years, the vo-ag department at H.H.S. has been using computers for instruction and office management. Each member of the Vo-Ag III and IV class have considerable "hands on" experience with these computers.

According to Marcus Phillips, vo-ag instructor, "The Computer Age in Agriculture" is here. Software is being rapidly developed which will make an agriculturists' decision making and record keeping much easier." The department is "On line" with a National Agridata Network which is being used to help the FFA members in classroom instruction in the marketing and management phases of their curriculum.

Phillips stated "The vo-ag program has been accused of being outdated, but in reality, we are constantly trying to update our program. There are only a very few FFA chapters in the state who are giving their members the actual "hands on" experience and usage with computers that our members are receiving."

Vocational Ag provides vital link with economy of state

"Learning to Do, Doing to Learn, Earning to Live, Living to Serve" has been the motto for the Texas Future Farmers of America since the state received its first charter in 1929. From the very beginning vocational agriculture and the FFA have been looked upon as essential education maintaining a link with the important agriculture economy of the state.

According to Chris Kountz, past president of the Texas Vocational Agriculture Teachers Association, "The very existence of these programs is being threatened by Texas Education Agency administrative actions and reformulation of vocational education funding to schools."

"Based on the new funding formula provided by House Bill No. 72 this past summer, a vocational agriculture program will have to maintain an average of 65 students in order to receive adequate funding, and in many schools, depending on the experience of the teacher and local economic factors, the number of students will need to be greater to maintain funding levels. In the rural areas of the Panhandle and South Plains the schools will not be able to pick up the slack caused by the loss of funding. At the best the quality of the programs will severely deteriorate."

"Another devastating blow to vocational agriculture has been the proposal to close the area vocational education offices. The offices which are located in Plainview, Big Spring, Houston, Stephenville, Denton, Sulphur Springs, Austin, Waco, Crockett and Corpus Christi provide the necessary coordination and quality control for the vocational programs in the high schools," says Kountz. "The Occupational Education Specialist (Supervisors) located in the area offices are the important link between local and state activities."

State Rep. Jerry Clark of Buna, a former state FFA president, says the Texas Future Farmers of America program will be severely crippled if the structure of the area occupational specialist is done away with.

FFA members in Texas currently number more than 60,000 in 949 FFA chapters. The area specialists coordinate leadership events, judging contests, workshops, and conventions involving more than three-fourths of the Texas FFA students.

In addition, the area staff conducts inservice meetings for vocational agriculture teachers and provides technical assistance to schools in developing curriculums and maintaining program standards.

Ronnie Teichelman, Occupational Education Specialist for Texas Education Agency's Area I office in Plainview which serves Hereford High School says there are three essentials that must be met if vocational agriculture education is to survive in many Texas schools.

"We've got to get vocational funding channeled back to the small schools. Secondly, the area offices have to be saved. And finally the teacher training supplement has to be funded to the colleges and universities."

"Without the teacher training supplement the universities such as Texas Tech would not be able to sponsor judging contests and teacher improvement workshops."

For poor, oppressed

Controversial bishop keeps fighting

BROWNSVILLE, Texas (AP) — He's called the champion of the poor by some, a criminal by others.

For the last 14 years, Bishop John Fitzpatrick of Brownsville has been the spiritual leader of half a million Catholics, mostly Hispanics, in the Rio Grande Valley.

His commitment to help poor farm workers has collided with others who say the church is mixing in politics. The trials of two diocese employees charged with transporting illegal aliens and the indictment of a priest on weapons smuggling charges have not helped, either.

But the 66-year-old bishop has no plans of backing down.

"It's a little late to be transferred. I could resign or retire — for health reasons or whatever reasons, maybe I've done all I could and somebody else could do better — but I'm not thinking about that," he said.

Fitzpatrick directs the efforts of more than 110 priests and 165 sisters in the 62 parishes of the diocese, which covers Starr, Hidalgo, Willacy and Cameron counties.

He says his is the 15th largest diocese in the country, composed mostly of poor farm workers who speak little English. But he says his biggest job in the coming years will be to find more clergy to serve the increasing number of people flocking to the region from the North.

"Right now we have one priest for every 4,500 Catholics. We'll have one priest for every 12 to 15,000 Catholics in the year 2,000," he said.

The diocese's problem, as Fitzpatrick sees it, is getting more priests. But the diocese's problem, as others see it, is mixing church and social issues.

"There's a small minority opposed to me," the bishop said. "They're vociferous, but despite that, we keep going on."

Fitzpatrick has been an advocate of the poor since he came to the Valley from Miami 14 years ago.

"I succeeded a very fine bishop... He alienated a lot of people by opting to help farm workers to get better working conditions, better salaries," Fitzpatrick said. "When I came, people were hoping I would be different, but I turned out to be the same."

Fitzpatrick has sought to fight not only for the farm workers, but also for Salvadorans who are fleeing their war-torn homeland.

"I've made statements people have not liked — for the sake of people who should get better," he said.

In March 1983, the diocese opened Casa Oscar Romero, a shelter for Central Americans in San Benito. It was named in memory of archbishop of San Salvador who was assassinated while celebrating Mass in 1980.

In August 1983, Jack Elder left his teaching job in San Antonio to direct the shelter.

He and another volunteer at the shelter, Stacey Lynn Merkt, are scheduled to go on trial this week in Houston on charges of conspiring to smuggle and transport two Salvadorans last November.

Elder was acquitted on a similar charge in Corpus Christi last month and Ms. Merkt was convicted last May.

The trial was moved from Brownsville to Houston after the federal judge, Filemon Vela, ruled that an impartial jury could not be seated in Brownsville.

Elder and Ms. Merkt are part of the sanctuary movement, which argues that the Salvadorans are political, not economic, refugees who should be allowed to stay in the United States.

The church-supported shelter is not a declared sanctuary, but has stirred a controversy. During pretrial hearings in Brownsville, anti-sanctuary movement protesters picketed outside the courthouse.

Mike Rodriguez, president of Concerned Citizens for Church and Country, criticized the bishop's stance.

"He admits Elder and Merkt are diocese employees, which means he is no different from an illegal operator, which makes him no better than a coyote," Rodriguez said.

A coyote is the Spanish slang for a smuggler of illegal aliens.

"We don't smuggle people in. Our intention is to take care of them when they're here," Fitzpatrick said. "I do not advocate my people doing that because they'll go to jail."

Fitzpatrick testified in Elder's pretrial hearing in Corpus Christi. He said Christians are taught to help the poor and oppressed and that Elder was doing that. He now says his own critics should do the same.

"They forget that as Christians they have an obligation to feed the poor, no matter who they are," he said.

Rodriguez said his group is has about 200 members from across the Valley who are opposed to the church mixing in politics.

The organization placed an advertisement in the three Valley newspapers during Elder's and Ms.

Merkt's pretrial hearing. The ad asked for Valley citizens to sign a petition calling for the Vatican to investigate Fitzpatrick and Archbishop Patrick Flores of San Antonio.

The quarter-page advertisement said it was opposed to the "church involvement in politics through social welfare, high pressure, special interest groups that do not represent the total membership as they claim."

Fitzpatrick responded: "I'd be delighted if representatives from Rome came here and investigated our work. We'd be delighted."

He said the Vatican would find nothing wrong.

"The Holy Father in his present trip (through South America) told the priests they have to be concerned with the rights of the poor," Fitzpatrick said of Pope John Paul II. "Our number one job is to take care of the poor."

He said Christians have to follow their consciences, and believes that some immigration laws are "unAmerican."

"It's possible for governments to make unjust laws," he said. "The Germans had laws against Jews. They killed six million of them. That's a bad law."

Another controversy surrounding the diocese is the indictment of a priest in a weapons smuggling case.

Federal prosecutors contend that the Rev. Salomon Sandoval, pastor of San Martin de Porras Catholic Church in Alton, acted as a middleman for two Mexican nationals seeking to buy weapons in the United States.

The weapons, four 9 mm Uzi semiautomatic rifles, were confiscated when they were being shipped to Mexico as "helicopter parts" last year, federal prosecutors say.

Sandoval and four others face trial in April.

The bishop declined to comment on that case.

A Letter From Wing to Buck;

Dear Buck,

How do you like the new me? I'll give the Larrymore Studio credit - after I started in their exercise program I began to feel better, and I guess when one feels better they just naturally look better.

Say, that couples dance class is a real blast - and they have a choice, of 3 nights a week to meet. It's not too late to get into one of the classes. Tell your friend to call 364-4638 to start.

It's so exciting in the Larrymore Studios this time of the year. The students are learning so many new dances, and selecting their costumes for the recital and the Larrymore Studio is so advanced in their method of teaching. With all the experience, the low low tuition rate, it makes me proud to be able to take instruction from them!

Ann Landers

Responses still coming in

DEAR READERS: The Ann Landers sex survey is over. But not really. At this moment, well over 100,000 postcards and letters have been received and they are still pouring in.

Now I am hearing from the men. Most of them are sure their wives are among the 72 percent who would just as soon forget about the act.

A husband from Covina, Calif., wrote, "My wife is a cold tomato. She never cared for sex. If you met her mother you'd understand. She is straight out of a mid-Victorian novel."

A man from Cleveland wrote, "Most women get just about as much out of it as they put into it. If I didn't hear my wife breath, I'd think she was dead."

The aspect of the survey that I found most surprising was the vehemence with which many women described their lack of fulfillment. I asked only for a yes or a no—and "are you over 40 years of age or under?" Yet thousands of females felt compelled to express anger, disappointment and a sense of hopelessness about a situation they felt could not be changed.

The columns and editorials sparked by the poll have been hilarious, ridiculous, stupid, destructive and supportive. I have been vilified, crucified, glorified and canonized.

I knew when I asked my readers to participate in the poll that they would respond in large numbers, but I did not expect 100,000 women to come forward, nor did I expect to attract the attention of People, Time and Newsweek magazines. I have declined all invitations to discuss the poll after appearing on the "Today" show. It was especially difficult to say no to my longtime pal Phil Donahue, but I felt enough had been said and written on the subject and I had no interest in setting myself up as a sex expert.

For that matter, I am not an expert on any subject. I write a column that deals with human problems. The validity of my work is based on access to a stellar array of consultants in every conceivable field. I am a sounding-board, an escape valve, a shoulder to cry on, a human wailing wall, and according to Dr. Robert Ebert, former dean of Harvard Medical School, I run the largest and most effective social service referral agency in the world. And it is free.

How do I feel about all this? Just fine, thank you. I believe I have raised the consciousness of both men and women on a vital subject. There is evidence that the survey has sparked some meaningful conversations in bedrooms, boardrooms, barrooms and classrooms. This is good. For too long there has been a conspiracy of silence.

Comments by Erica Jong, Andrew Greeley, Helen Gurley Brown, Gay Talese and Gloria Steinem showed insight and understanding. A few so-called sex experts who called the survey "dangerous" demonstrated incredible ignorance and missed the point completely.

My thanks to all who participated in the survey. Together we have performed a useful service. It is apparent that millions of intimate relationships leave much to be desired. Women must tell their men what they want — and men need to listen and do their best to deliver.

Do you feel awkward, self-conscious — lonely? Welcome to the club. There's help for you in Ann Landers' booklet, "The Key to Popularity." Send 50 cents with your request and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 11995, Chicago, Illinois 60611.

Mexican-Americans to sponsor fund-raiser

A series of fund-raising events to be sponsored by the Mexican-American seniors of Hereford High School will climax during the Cinco de Mayo celebration, it was announced this week by Ester de la Cruz.

Five queen candidates, ranging in age from 5 to 9, have been announced and the winner will be determined on a 10-cents-a-vote contest. The winner will be crowned at a dance in the Latino Ballroom on May 3.

Queen candidates include: Sharon Saucedo, 9, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Francisco Saucedo; Mary Ann Padilla, 8, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Adolfo Padilla; Lorene Sierra, 8, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Sierra and sponsored by grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Juan Sustaita; Presella Castillo, 5, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Castillo and sponsored by grandparents Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Galan; and Carlota Ruiz, 6, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carlos Ruiz and sponsored by grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Carlos Trevino.

Another fund-raiser is coming up soon when a Jamica is scheduled

March 3 at San Jose Hall. The benefit carnival will feature games and food from 8:30 in the morning to 4 p.m. An enchilada dinner is also being planned for the near future.

A dance has also been scheduled for April 6 at San Jose Hall. Music will be provided at the event and Cinco de Mayo by The Sunshiners.

The Cinco de Mayo observance will include the dance and queen coronation on May 3, a parade on May 4, and a talent show on May 5. The talent show will be sponsored by The Guadalupeños at San Jose Hall.

Anniversary celebration scheduled for Feb. 24

Mr. and Mrs. John Spinhirne, of 207 Douglas, will celebrate their 40th wedding anniversary on Feb. 24 with a reception from 3 to 5 p.m. at the Immaculate Conception Parish Hall in Vega.

John and Mary Louise Clare, formerly of Grand Forks, N.D., were married Feb. 24, 1945 in Marfa, Texas where the groom was stationed.

Following his discharge from the military service in 1945, the couple moved to Vega where they lived and farmed until 1959, when John bought a farm in Deaf Smith County, six miles south of Vega on Highway 385. The couple has two adopted sons Andrew of Amarillo, and Timothy of Vega.

In June, 1982, the Spinhirnes moved to Hereford. He continues to farm and she is involved in church and civic activities.

The anniversary reception is being hosted by Andrew and Beth Spinhirne of Amarillo. Tim and Lori Spinhirne, and Calvin and Jackie Groneman of Vega.

Friends and relatives are invited to join in the celebration.

Capping ceremony marks half of year

The Hereford-Dimmitt Extension of Amarillo College School of Vocational Nursing held capping ceremonies for eight students Thursday at St. Thomas Episcopal Church.

The capping ceremony marks the half-way point of the one year course.

Students from Dimmitt are Meri Killingsworth, Ronda Wise, Janet Young, and Lupina Fry. Hereford students are Carolyn Christie, Lynda Hill, Sherry Hall, and Gayla Buckner. The combined program is taught by registered nurses, Mitze Brockmon, Allan Bradley, and Rose Ann Smith. Rev. Charles Threewit, pastor of St. Thomas Church, gave the invocation.

The guest speaker was John Gilliland, a member of the board of directors of Deaf Smith General Hospital. Special music was performed by Dr. Duffy McBrayer and a small group from the Hereford Chamber singers including Bill Devers as soloist, Katy Claypool, Amy Gilliland, Smith, Linda Gilbert and McBrayer. Organ and piano accompaniment was presented by Gilbert.

DAR meeting set Thursday

Dr. Ron Cook, pastor of the First Baptist church, will be the featured speaker when the Los Ciboleros chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution meet Thursday at 3:30 p.m. at the Deaf Smith County Museum.

Cook will speak on Thomas Jefferson and Democracy. The DAR is recognizing February as American History month.

The Daughters of the American Revolution stress the importance of visiting historic sites to remind its citizens that our Country has many points of interest. The Statue of Liberty in New York Harbor was a gift to America from the people of France to celebrate a common evolution to freedom. The statue is now under a $29,000,000 refurbishment to preserve it for future generations of freedom-loving Americans.

White bibles were presented to the class by the Gideon Society. Following the ceremony a reception was held in the fellowship hall of the church. Hostesses for the reception were Betty Hammock, LVN, Anna Dupnik, LVN, Elvira Jimenez, LVN, and the Hospital Auxiliary.

Following completion of the school year, the students will be qualified to take state board examinations and become licensed vocational nurses.

Local hospital to sponsor cardiovascular workshop

A workshop entitled "Cardiovascular Update" will be presented Feb. 25 at Deaf Smith General Hospital, sponsored by West Texas State University in cooperation with the hospital.

Flo Jemes, a critical care instructor at Northwest Texas Hospital School of Nursing in Amarillo, will present the workshop from 6 to 9 p.m. in the DSGH classroom.

The program is expected to focus on new strategies and procedures for diagnosing and treating cardiovascular disease.

The session is open to registered nurses, licensed vocational nurses students and assistants, allied health personnel and all levels of emergency medical services workers.

The cost is $20 for health care workers and $10 for students. Registration will begin at 5:30 the evening of the workshop.

Rhode Island

There are two theories of how the little state of Rhode Island got its name. One is that Giovanni de Verrazano in 1524 recorded it as an island about the size of Rhodes in the Mediterranean. The other is the state was named Roode Eylandt by Adriaen Block, a Dutch explorer, because of the land's red clay.

preceding Ash Wednesday, the first day of the season of Lent. During this period, the English, and so Episcopalian, custom has been to rid the household of fats and meats, and to confess one's sins and receive forgiveness through the Sacraments of the Church. After doing this, the individual is considered shriven or cleansed.

Also in England, the custom has been to use the greenery of Epiphany to cook pancakes made with the fat cleaned from the pantry, and to feast on the meat on Shrove Tuesday. All of this was done to prepare for the 40 days of Lent when no fat or meat would be allowed in the diet because of the abstinence and discipline of the season.

Lent is the period of preparation for Easter. Lent is 40 days long, after the length of time Christ spent in the wilderness after His baptism and the descent of the Holy Spirit upon Him.

University Day at Tech set Friday

LUBBOCK — About 2,000 members of the Class of '88 will be considering the role Texas Tech University will play in their college plans when they participate in University Day Feb. 22.

The day of activities on campus is an annual event which draws high school seniors and junior college students from across the nation to campus for a sample of the university's academic and extracurricular activities.

Academic counseling, campus tours, discussions with professors and Texas Tech students, and a swim and dance party are among activities scheduled to begin with registration at 8 a.m. in the University Center Courtyard. All activities are free.

Barbara P. White, coordinator of University Day activities for the Office of New Student Relations, said the annual program helps Texas Tech attract students for an initial visit to campus and becomes a significant factor in many decisions to enroll.

A general assembly at 9 a.m. in the University Center Theater will include a welcome by Texas Tech President Lauro F. Cavazos.

Two 45-minute college advisement sessions are scheduled at 9:45 a.m. and 10:45 a.m. to acquaint students with possible majors, academic prerequisites and career choices in each of the university's six undergraduate colleges: Agricultural Sciences, Arts and Sciences, Business Administration, Education, Engineering and Home Economics.

Campus bus tours are scheduled every 15 minutes from 11:30 a.m. until 2 p.m. with buses departing from in front of the University Center.

Tours of various college and departmental facilities will be available 1:30-2:45 p.m.

Colleges, academic departments and departmental clubs will have booths in the University Center Ballroom from 11:30 a.m. to 3 p.m.

The day's activities will conclude with a two-hour swimming and dance party starting at 8:30 p.m. in the Texas Tech Aquatic Center.

For information on University Day, contact the Office of New Student Relations, P.O. Box 4049, Texas Tech, Lubbock, Texas 79409 (806)742-1480.

Trolinder, Bunch exchange nuptials

The Church of the Nazarene was the site of Thursday evening's wedding between Cathy Trolinder and Kevin Bunch. The Rev. Bob Hufaker, pastor, officiated.

The bride is the daughter of Jim and Frankie Evans, and the bridegroom is the son of John and Joy Bunch.

The pews of the church were decorated with white, mauve and navy pew bows with streamers. A candelabra was placed behind where the pastor stood, and was adorned with navy and mauve flowers and greenery.

Given in marriage by her stepfather, the bride chose a gown with touches of venice lace tracing the simple lines of the satin beroganza organza gown with a motif. Appliques adorned the empire bodice around the high neckline and on the bishop sleeves. A narrow edging of lace at the front hemline of the skirt continued around the skirt, gradually extending in graceful folds to form a chapel-length train.

Her hat was laced with pearl drops with mid-length lace falling behind. Her bouquet was an arrangement of mauve and navy flowers with baby's breath enhanced with mauve and navy lace made by the bridegroom's grandmother.

For something old, the bride wore a penny in her shoe; for new, her hat; something borrowed was her dress; and blue was her mother's sapphire ring.

Felinda Trolinder served her sister as maid of honor. John Sientz was best man. The maid of honor wore a tea-length, lamb's wool dress in mauve with a high neck and long sleeves. She complemented her outfit with bone accessories.

Candle lighters for the occasion were Jason Trolinder, the bride's brother, and Chet Bunch, the groom's brother. Melanie Davis, accompanied by Linda Davis, sang "Sunrise, Sunset," "God, A Woman And A Man," "The Lord's Prayer," and "The Wedding Song."

A reception followed at the fellowship hall of the church. Poppy Richardson and Rachel Trolinder, the bride's sister-in-law, served the cake. Holly Bunch and Sygale Walden served punch and coffee. The bride's table was covered with a mauve tablecloth and an arrangement of flowers. The groom's table was covered with a navy tablecloth with a brass spittoon holding flowers.

Jeanie Trolinder, the bride's sister-in-law, registered guests. Others assisting were Gail Richardson, Gayle Birmingham and Theresa Ritueck.

After a wedding trip to Las Vegas, Nev., the couple will make their home at 114A South Centre.

The bride is a 1981 graduate of Hereford High School. She will graduate from West Texas State University in May, and is presently employed with Central Plains Regional Hospital.

The bridegroom was graduated from Hereford High School in 1979 and is employed with Bar G Feedyard.

Out of town guests came from Amarillo, Lubbock, Houston and Dumas.

A rehearsal dinner was given Feb. 10 at the Nazarene Church by the groom's parents, John and Joy Bunch.

Nobel laureate to lecture

LUBBOCK — Nobel Laureate Dr. J. Robert Schrieffer, director of the Institute for Theoretical Physics at the University of California, Santa Barbara, will lecture at Texas Tech University March 4-6 as the Texas Tech Dads Association's Distinguished Visiting Professor.

"The Making and Breaking of Symmetry" is the topic for Schrieffer's public lecture at 7:30 p.m. March 5 in the Chemistry Building, Room 38.

Schrieffer will also lecture on "Physics and the Chemical Bond" to two undergraduate chemistry classes and on "The Never-ending Spring of Physics" to undergraduate physics classes. He will also present faculty and graduate student seminars in electrical engineering and physics.

Schrieffer received the Nobel Prize for physics in 1972. He was a Guggenheim Fellow in 1967. He holds honorary doctorates from the universities of Pennsylvania, Illinois and Cincinnati as well as the Technische Hochschule in Munich and the University of Geneva. For six years he was the Andrew D. White Professor-at-large at Cornell University.

In 1980, Schrieffer gave the Halliburton Distinguished Lecture at Texas Tech.

The Dads Association Distinguished Visiting Professor program began in 1982 and is funded by an endowment by the Houston Endowment Foundation Inc. and Hand and Associates, Pension Consultants and Actuaries, Houston. The program introduces the university and West Texas to international scholars who have contributed to the needs of man.

Schrieffer is the fourth Nobel Laureate to visit Texas Tech through the program. The first was Dr. Melvin Calvin, who won the Nobel Prize in chemistry in 1961; Dr. Norman Borlaug, plant geneticist who won the prize in 1970; and Dr. Herbert Simon, 1978 Nobel Prize recipient in economic sciences.

Burn workshop set at WTSU

The West Texas State University School of Nursing Department of Continuing Education will present a continuing education workshop, "Emergency Care of the Burn Patient", in Room 102 of the Science Building on the W.T. campus in Canyon on Thursday from 6-9 p.m.

The workshop is aimed at RNs, LVNs, nursing students, allied health professionals, and all levels of EMS personnel working in rural areas.

This workshop will focus on emergency assessment and care of the burn patient. Pathophysiology of the body responses to burns will be discussed as a basis for emergency care, management, and rehabilitation.

Debbie Davenport, RN, CCRN, MSN, is currently an instructor in critical care at West Texas State University in Canyon. She is a graduate of W.T.S.U. (MSN) and Texas Women's University in Denton (BSN). In addition to holding current CCRN certification, she also teaches Advanced Cardiac Life Support classes in Amarillo. She is presently a consultant for continuing education in burns for the Regional Emergency Medical Service and the Amarillo Hospital District. She was an instructor for the Regional Burn Demonstration Program for the Panhandle and has served as assistant head nurse in the Burn Unit at Parkland Memorial Hospital in Dallas.

The Texas Nurses Association has approved this offering for three contact hours for RNs enrolled in their CEARP program. The Texas Department of Health has approved this offering for three contact hours in Category 1 for all levels of EMS training.

The registration fee is $20 for health care workers and $10 for students. Preregistration is required by Monday and may be made by calling (806)656-2441 or mailing the registration fee with name, address, and phone number to: Continuing Education, School of Nursing, W.T. Box 532, Canyon, Tx. 79016. Enrollment is limited.

GAIL FARRELL
...touring with the Stars of Lawrence Welk

Community Concert scheduled Thursday

Hereford Community Concert will present the Stars of the Lawrence Welk Show Thursday, Feb. 21, at 8 p.m. in the high school auditorium.

The show will include dancers Bobby Burgess and Elaine Niverson, the vocal trio of Gail Farrell, Ron Anderson and Michael Redman, Farrell playing ragtime music on the piano, singer Ken DeLo and clarinet virtuoso Henry Cuesta.

Burgess has been a member of Welk's musical family for over twenty years. He began dancing at the age of three, and by the time he was 13 he had appeared in over 75 Los Angeles television shows. He had been an original Walt Disney Mousketeer for four years.

Niverson began dancing when she was eight years old, studying ballet, tap, jazz, acrobatics and ballroom dancing, as well as piano and voice. While a music major at the University of Houston, she was invited to become a dance teacher at Dallas Arthur Murray Dance Studio. She soon teamed up with another instructor and the pair performed and won competitions all over the country. Her first television appearance was on the Lawrence Welk Show's season premiere in 1979.

DeLo has been an entertainer all his life, producing and performing in music, variety and magic shows throughout his junior high, high school and college years. He performed at the Hollywood Bowl and all over Southern California, then traveled to Alaska and on to Australia where he remained for eight weeks of touring, six months of night club appearances, and over eighty television appearances as well as starring roles in three one-hour television specials of his own.

He won Australia's highest television award for a weekly show he produced, wrote and starred in.

Gail Farrell has been a regularly featured performer on the Welk show for several seasons as a soloist, in duos, small groups and as a pianist. She has also appeared on the Mike Douglas show and Dinah! show, and was a guest celebrity on Match Game.

Anderson, Farrell's husband, sings baritone in the group. He has traveled the "gospel circuit" throughout North America and has been director of music at several churches and for television.

Redman, a tenor, has been a regular on the television shows of Merv Griffin, Carol Burnett, Perry Como, Bob Hope, Red Skelton, Donny and Marie Osmond and Johnny Mann. In addition, he is a leading Hollywood studio singer and his voice may be heard on many nationwide commercials, including 7-Up, Chevrolet, Honda and M&M's.

Finally, Cuesta is the son of Miguel Cuesta, a classical violinist and music teacher who introduced his son to music through seven years of violin lessons. He soon switched from violin to saxophone and clarinet. He has played in the U.S. Army and with the Toronto Symphony. Since his 1972 debut on Welk's show, he has become a leading favorite with audiences.

After this tour, Community Concert has only one more scheduled performance this spring until the fall slate of shows begins. Performances are open to members only. For membership information, contact Mr. or Mrs. Ernest Langley at 364-3486, or Mr. or Mrs. Ted Panciera at 364-0311.

Reception scheduled today for Leta Kaul

Students, teachers, administrators, friends and neighbors are invited to attend a reception honoring the 80th birthday of Leta Kaul from 2-4:30 p.m. today at the E.B. Black House.

Her sons Larry and Walter L. (Bussy) Kaul and their families will act as hosts and hostesses for the occasion. They will be assisted by Mrs. Henry Solomon and Mrs. T.B. Thomas who will receive guests and Diedra Drake who will preside at the registry table.

Mrs. Joe Edd Andrews will serve cake, Judith Morrison will ladle punch and Oma Lee Parson will serve coffee.

The table will be covered with a pink cloth overlaid with a crocheted cloth which was made for the honoree by Hereford pioneers Mrs. A.B. Schulz and Ida Schulz Clay. The table will be centered with an arrangement of spring flowers placed in a silver epergne and appointments are in silver and crystal.

Sandy and Amanda Almazon and Toni Campbell will provide piano music during the calling hours.

Mrs. Kaul will have scrapbooks on display where former student, Ann Caraway Cummings, will be in charge of Central school books; Deborah Thomas Noland, Aikman books; and Sandy and Sheri Blevins and Lisa Duggan Huffacker, Walcott books.

The first day Leta Stoner Kaul went to school she returned home to announce that when she grew up she was "going to be a teacher." Immediately upon graduation from Sabetha High School in Sabetha Kan., she began teaching.

She taught six years in a one-room country school and five years in the sixth grade at Sabetha Public Schools. She married Merline Kaul in 1934 and they went to the Kaul ranch in Texas.

In 1935 they went to West Portal, Colo. and the next year she taught at the East Portal of the Moffat Tunnel. They came back to Texas in 1937 and she began teaching music, part-time at Westway School, and writing Westway News for the Hereford Brand which continued for 19 years; for several years she had her own column.

In 1946 she began to teach first grade students in Hereford and in 1966 she started teaching remedial reading. She retired from Hereford in 1970. She later taught at Walcott for three years and St. Anthony's School for a year. Since she has taught piano, substituted in the school system and tutored. Presently she has five students.

Her husband died in 1974.

Mrs. Kaul received her education at Emporia State Teachers Collect in Kansas, Kansas University, University of Southern California in Los Angeles and West Texas State University where she received her B.A. and M.A. and reading specialist certificate.

She has been active in professional organizations during her teaching years and in many social and civic activities through the years. Presently she is a charter member of Hereford Study Club, active in Delta Kappa Gamma Teachers Society, Daughters of the American Revolution, Westway Extension Club and Church Women United. She also leads an ecumenical ladies Bible Study and attends Community Church.

FIRM SPOTS BANK FAILURES

NEW YORK (AP) — Well in advance of the banks' failures, Cates Consulting Analysts Inc. says it identified as highest risk 97 percent of the banks that failed in 1982 and 1983.

It says that while it is nearly impossible to predict the failure of a specific bank, it is possible to see the risks far enough in advance to avert them.

The Newspaper BIBLE

HAVE YOU EVER BEEN WRONGED?

How is it that when you have something against another Christian, you "go to law" and ask a heathen court to decide the matter instead of taking it to other Christians to decide which of you is right? Don't you know that some day we Christians are going to judge and govern the world? So why can't you decide even these little things among yourselves? Don't you realize that we Christians will judge and reward the very angels in heaven? So you should be able to decide your problems down here on earth easily enough. Why then go to outside judges who are not even Christians? I am trying to make you ashamed. Isn't there anyone in all the church who is wise enough to decide these arguments? But, instead, one Christian sues another and accuse his Christian brother in front of unbelievers.

To have such lawsuits at all is a real defeat for you as Christians. Why not just accept mistreatment and leave it at that? It would be far more honoring to the Lord to let yourselves be cheated. But, instead, you yourselves are the ones who do wrong, cheating others, even your own brothers. (1 Cor. 6:1-8)

"When you are reviled and persecuted and lied about because you are my followers - wonderful! Be happy about it! Be very glad! For a tremendous reward awaits you up in heaven. And remember, the ancient prophets were persecuted." (Matthew 5:11-12)
