

Public Health Clinic Receives $89,818 Grant From HEW

Jo Solomon Monday was named president of the board of directors of the Deaf Smith County Public Health Clinic, Inc., and at the same time, official announcement was made of a $89,818 grant to the clinic.

Dr. Clyde Rush was elected vice president of the board and Jesse Diaz secretary-treasurer. Dr. Gerald Payne was elected medical director for the clinic.

The public health clinic had asked for a $250,000 operating budget for the first year, but only $89,818 was available through the Department of Health, Education and Welfare. "Though this grant is really a tremendous start, we will still be looking for other sources to aid the program," Mrs. Solomon said.

A site for the clinic has been selected, but official announcement will be made later, Mrs. Solomon said.

"The first step will be to get a nurse administrator who will be in charge of the entire clinic. She will be working very close with the clinic's board and with the medical director," Mrs. Solomon said.

The board of directors will screen and interview applicants for the nurse administrator's position, and when she is selected, she will screen and interview and select four employees who will work under her.

The administrator must qualify as Public Health Nurse II to the Texas Merit System. The four employees, which will include another registered nurse, two aides and a clerk-typist, must also qualify under the Texas Merit System.

"The purpose of the public health clinic is preventive disease through education," Mrs. Solomon said. "And through proper education, we will be able to diagnose symptoms early, thus serving as preventive medicine."

Mrs. Solomon said the clinic's board has set a target date of August 1 for seeing patients in the clinic.

Board Seeks Hearing On 'Problems'

The board for the Deaf Smith County Hospital has asked to meet with the County Commissioners Court concerning "some problems" that have arisen concerning out-of-county patients.

The commissioners put the matter on their agenda.

Hospital Board officials refused to go into detail on the problems, which were discussed at their meeting this week.

Ed Line, president of the board, said the governing board "just asked for a meeting (with the commissioners) concerning the operation of the hospital." Pressed for elaboration, Line said it has to do with "a policy on out-of-county patients."

"It's something the Commissioners' Court will decide. We as a board just brought it up as a suggestion, and they act on our suggestion. You attend the commissioners' meetings, and you can pick it up at that time if you're interested," Line said.

At the hospital, Beverly Shipley, a receptionist, said the minutes for the meeting were locked up in the office of T. E. Seigler, hospital administrator, who was out of town.

Regarding other action at the Hospital Board meeting, Line said approval was given the appointment of Dr. K. E. Hunt, employed at Hereford Clinic, to the medical staff of Deaf Smith County Hospital.

"On the other, just be at the meeting (of the commissioners)," Line said.

Hereford Men Suffer Injuries In Altercation

One Hereford man received a flesh wound in a shooting and another man suffered cuts about the head in a beating about midnight Tuesday.

Sheriff's officers filed no charges in the incident, however. Deputy Cliff Baldwin said neither of the injured men would talk about the matter.

Augustine Costello was shot in the stomach but the bullet just grazed him. Albert Arriaga "had four cuts in the head. Somebody worked him over with some instrument," Baldwin said.

Both were treated at the hospital.

Police arrested two other men present during the incident and booked them on charges of drunkenness.

Regarding other action at the Hospital Board meeting, Line said approval was given the appointment of Dr. K. E. Hunt, employed at Hereford Clinic, to the medical staff of Deaf Smith County Hospital.

"On the other, just be at the meeting (of the commissioners)," Line said.

Gay 90s Drama Is Set Here This Summer

An old fashioned "Meller-drammer" West of East Lynne, will be a summer production of Hereford Community Players, the board of directors decided Monday evening in a meeting at the home of Mrs. John Gilliland, chairman of the play selection committee.

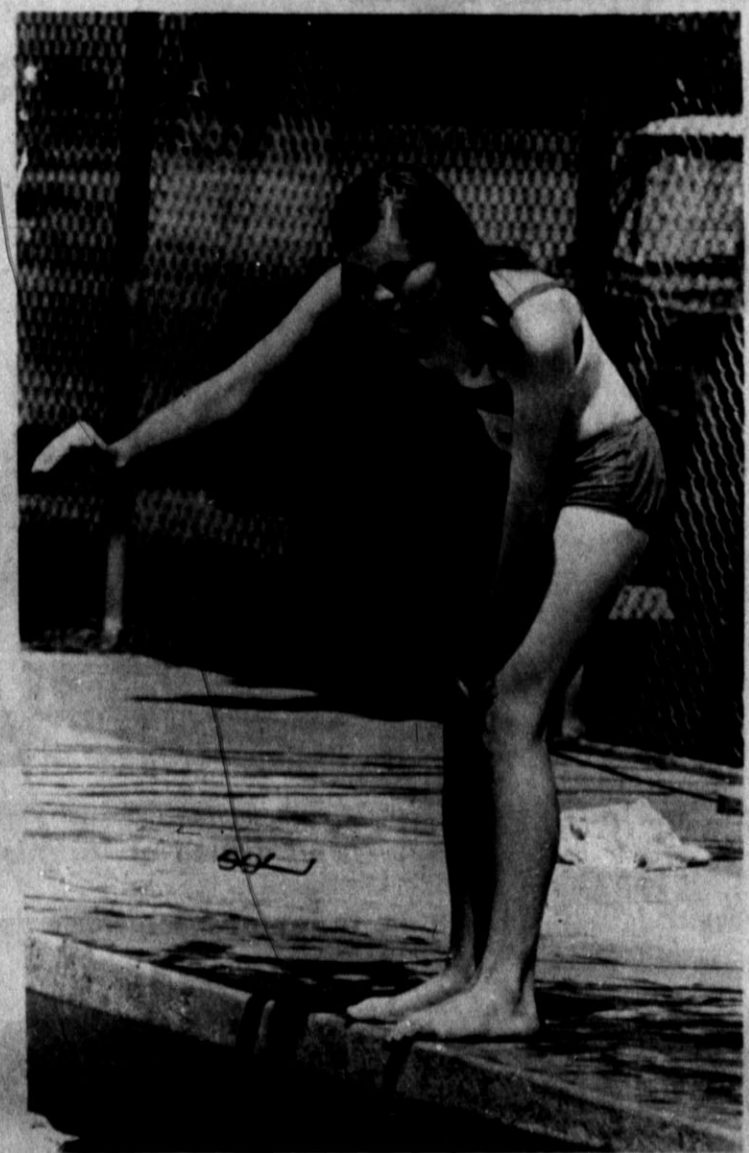

A music hall-type staging is planned for the burlesque on Gay Nineties drama, with the audience seated at tables where they can sip root beer and munch popcorn while they cheer the hero and hiss the villain of the piece.

Tentatively, the summer show is scheduled for three succeeding weekends, probably beginning the last Friday in July.

Directors have also assured the cooperation of Community Players in a Fine Arts Festival to be sponsored by the Women's Division of Deaf Smith Chamber of Commerce in October. The community drama group will present its fall production during the week of the festival. It will be a comedy directed by Bessie Lee Wood.

To complete the schedule of plays for the coming season, Meredith Wilcox will direct an in-the-round presentation of The Glass Menagerie for the winter offering, and a comedy will be given in the spring with Juanita Owen as director.

The staging of Glass Menagerie in the round will be an innovation for Hereford, Mrs. Wilcox has been associated with a similar presentation of this drama at Oklahoma City, her former home where she was a member of a civic theater company.

Dog Pack Hits Pen, Kills Hog

A pack of dogs, believed to number about six, invaded a hog pen belonging to W. L. Roberts Tuesday night and killed one of his hogs.

Roberts said he noticed a pack of dogs near his place last week, and "two or three days ago heard them howling." He was unable to locate them, he said.

Several hogs were in the pen Tuesday night, but only one was attacked. Roberts said the dogs chewed off one ear and part of another on the animal and the hog "had teeth marks all over his body."

Roberts said he did not know if the dogs which attacked his hogs Tuesday night were the same ones he saw the week before, "but if it was, there were about five or six dogs in that bunch."

Roberts left the carcass of the hog in the pen Wednesday night to see if the dogs would return.

In late February, two packs of dogs reportedly killed about 100 chickens at two different locations here.

Edward Patzold, who lives on Progressive Road, reported about 50 chickens killed by a pack of dogs, and Charlie Vasek, who lives on Highway 385, reported about 43 chickens killed by dogs.

Chamber Sets Orientation Meet For Members

The Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce decided Wednesday to undertake a series of monthly breakfast meetings that will allow new members to get a better understanding of what the chamber is doing for the community.

Each member of the Hereford Hustlers and each director of the Chamber of Commerce will be asked to bring to the breakfast meeting a new Chamber member. The meeting will be each fourth Wednesday at the Civic Club Center.

Mrs. Genevieve Summers, chairman of the Hereford Hustlers, said the meetings are being started because "some of the members feel that whenever you contact them all you're interested in is the membership."

"We want them to know how active the chamber is and what it's doing—how it's using their money, and how they can help," Mrs. Summers said.

The monthly programs will review past accomplishments of the chamber, discuss the challenges of the 1970s and review chamber organization and operation.

The Chamber of Commerce Board of Directors approved an allocation of up to $75 per month, on a trial basis, to pay for the meals.

Earnest Langley and Jeff Carille reported to the directors on their progress toward improving area relations with the Amarillo news media.

They have contacted the manager of the Amarillo Chamber of Commerce, who has indicated a desire to work with the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce, they said.

Bill Thompson, manager of the local Chamber of Commerce, discussed with the board his responsibilities as Civil Defense director and urged a clear definition of his duties, responsibility and authority to prevent his being held responsible for not doing something which no authority had been given him to do.

The board also heard reports on progress of the July 4 Bell-Ringing program and parade plans and a progress report on the New Teacher Welcoming Banquet to be held Sept. 3.

City Rejects Proposal For 'No Curb' Paving

By MARSHALL DAY
Staff Writer

The city commission Monday night offered to buy about five acres of land east of Tierra Blanca School to provide the owner money he needs to pave Columbia Drive from the school to U. S. 385 in South Hereford.

N. A. Hopson, who owns the land, told the school board in their meeting last week he is now unable to meet the terms he agreed to several years ago for paving Columbia Drive when the new school is finished.

Records of a previous meeting of the school board show Hopson told the board he would pay for curb and paving of the street. He and Ray Cowsert, his attorney, appeared before the school board June 9 to ask permission to strip pave the street instead of curb and paving it.

Under city law passed when Cowsert was mayor, the city agreed not to allow strip paving in the city. Hopson said he could pay for street, curb and gutter along the street adjacent to the new school, but is financially unable to do this with the remaining 800 feet.

He said he would be able to pay for "strip paving" on the remaining 800 feet, provided the city commission would lift its restriction on that type of paving.

The school board agreed to accept strip paving along the street provided the city commission would allow it, but the city council could see no reason in its Monday meeting to allow this type of paving.

As an alternative solution, the commission came up with its proposal to buy approximately five acres of land immediately east and adjacent to the school property "to serve as a city park for south Hereford."

This would provide a park for that section of the city and at the same time give additional money to Hopson to go toward paving the street.

Cowsert said no decision has been reached as to whether Hopson would sell the land.

"This is something we would have to work out because there are a lot of details," he said.

Under the proposal by the commissioners, the paving contractor would buy two lots and the school would buy one or two lots along with the city's five acres. All the money from the sale of the property would then be put in escrow to pay for curb and paving of Columbia Drive.

"This is the only way I know of that we can get Columbia Drive paved, unless we could assess all of Mr. Hopson's property and make him pay for the paving," city manager Dudley Bayne said.

"We are over a barrel and every time this type of thing comes up, the city gets the blame if a street is not paved," Bayne said.

Roy Hartman, superintendent of schools, said the school board will probably meet in the very near future to discuss the city commission proposal.

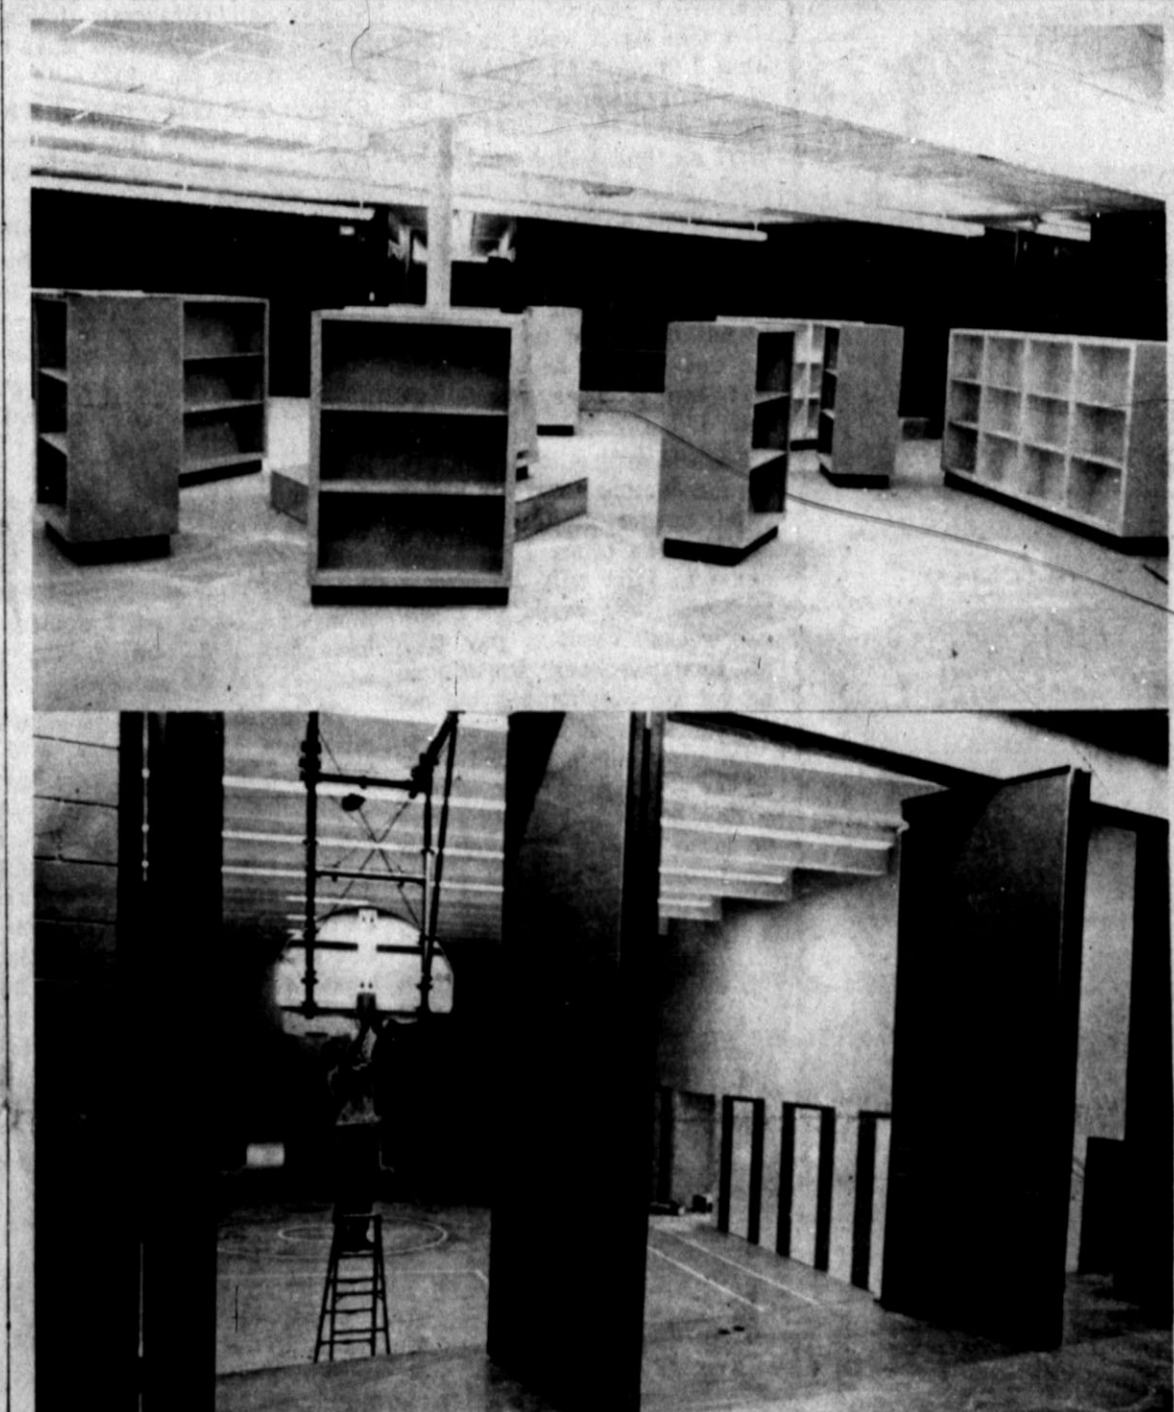

The city commission also announced the city will begin issuing courtesy tickets for all semi trucks parked on city streets.

"We will give the courtesy tickets for a while then if the driver continues to park the trucks on the street, we will give traffic tickets," Bayne said.

During its last meeting, the commission discussed the many complaints the city has been receiving concerning the parking of large trucks on city streets. Bayne said he had received several from people who said trucks were blocking the streets or causing obstruction of vision.

Earnest Langley told the commissioners Monday that a city ordinance drawn up in 1955 prohibits the parking of semis on city streets, but this ordinance has been overlooked for many years.

"We might also warn that butane trucks are not permitted to park on city streets," Bayne said, "because of Railroad Commission laws concerning liquid petroleum gas. The city will begin enforcing this law also."

Sweltering Heat Hurts Area Crops

Temperatures in the county soared above the 100-degree mark Sunday and remained there the past three days, and as a result, the dryland wheat crop is fast maturing and being cut.

Gene King reported Tuesday's temperature hit 105 degrees and Monday's reached 103 at Community Grain south of Hereford.

"We are just getting started with our wheat crops here and what loads we have received have been a little dry," King said.

King said the high temperatures would have little effect on the wheat crop because the "wheat is already mature and what it has made was made before the hot weather."

"Dryland wheat is coming in pretty good," said Walter Seed, with Pitman Grain, "and the recent hot weather helped mature it by drying it out more."

He said the dryland wheat is in better shape than what was at first expected and what has been brought in is in real good shape. He said the wheat had done all it was going to do before the heat wave hit the area.

Reports from farmers in western Deaf Smith County, however, indicate their wheat crop is suffering from the recent heat.

Phillip Miller said the temperature got as high Monday and Tuesday as 102 at his farm 24 miles northwest of Hereford and the wheat crop is yielding only "about 12 1/2 bushels per acre" with the moisture content way down and "everything bone dry."

"The ground is so dry here it has cracks in it you could put your hand in up to your knuckles without touching the bottom of the crack," Miller said.

"It's so hard a man can't plow because he would tear up more plow tools than he could afford."

Northeast of Hereford the wind is showing some effect on the wheat, according to H. L. Hershey. He said the hot wind "has been hard on the wheat that is trying to mature, making it shrivel and mature in advance."

Hershey said very little wheat has been harvested in that area, but the yields are expected to be lower because of the heat.

PAINT STIRRERS — HHS Cheerleaders, Sally Bayne and Cheryl Cole, temporarily become "paint-stirrers" Monday and Tuesday instead of "spirit-stirrers." All of the cheerleaders were painting Palmer Norton's fence at Dawn as one of the many fund-raising projects they've done in order to make their trip to the cheerleading school at SMU in August.

Deputy Wins Week's Check In Dispute

By CHARLES RICHARDS
News Editor
County Commissioners refused Tuesday to step into a dispute in the sheriff's department involving the complaint of former Deputy Kirven Roper that his final paycheck was short one week's pay.

ma Hodges to pay Roper for the week in question. Roper resigned June 1, effective June 15, but later decided to work only through June 5. In his appeal to the commissioners, he said he quit early so he wouldn't get involved in court cases that might necessitate a later appearance by him in court. But he stressed to McPherson when he resigned, he said, that he needed the money too badly to quit early. The sheriff told him it would be all right, Roper said, so long as he just showed up two or three times the next week.

"I told him I would try to do what I could," McPherson told the commissioners. "But he didn't work the second week, after all, and Velma said if we made an exception in his case we'd have to do it with everybody, which is right I guess."

With Roper in the room, McPherson said if the deputy really felt he should be paid for the week even if he didn't work it, "then I guess maybe we should."

Roper's resignation came after the commissioners-in action taken during a "meeting" in the sheriff's office June 1 that came to light only Tuesday -- told him they would give him two weeks' vacation pay with his final paycheck, Roper said he got the vacation pay but not for the week of June 7-12. "After all, not long ago I worked for six days a week without a day off, and I didn't figure an extra three or four days now would make that much difference," Roper said.

TO BE PRESENT HERE MONDAY — The Charpil Singers from Oklahoma will appear at the Avenue Baptist Church.

Oklahoma Choir Will Sing Here

The Charpil Singers from Oklahoma will present a concert at the Avenue Baptist Church Monday evening.

"What Now?" is the title of the presentation by the 55 voice youth choir of the First Baptist Church of Clinton. Music from "Tell It Like It Is" and other numbers will be presented. The Charpils (Sharpells) are touring Texas, Colorado, Kansas and Oklahoma, telling in song that "Christians Have a Real Purpose In Life."

From this motto they derive their name, using the first letter of each word to create the word Charpil.

"If there's one thing the youth of today are really searching for, it is a real purpose in life," says Chuck Flowers, director of the group. The public is invited to the program, which is free of charge.

County Hires Nell Miller For Food Program

Nell Miller, a recent unsuccessful candidate for county treasurer, was hired by the County Commissioners Court Tuesday to assist Mrs. Tom Robinson in the handling of the county Commodity Food Program.

The commissioners named Mrs. Robinson last week as supervisor for the program. Mrs. Miller will do clerical work, handle some interviewing and also distribute food to those who are eligible for the free food.

Mrs. Miller's past experience in the migrant program was considered a primary asset by commissioners, who also interviewed one other applicant for the job.

Messenger Club Plans Trip To Girlstown

Members of Messenger Home Demonstration Club made plans for a trip to Girlstown scheduled June 30 at a meeting Friday in the home of Mrs. Bill Page, club president.

The club will go as a group and will take gifts of bedspreads and curtains for the residents.

The program on gloves was presented by Argen Draper, County H. D. Agent. She said English and Bolton thumb gloves give a better fit and each button is a French inch about 1-12th of an inch larger than a standard inch.

Mrs. Page displayed furniture which she had antiqued and Mrs. S. N. Thweatt gave the council report. She reported that Mrs. Tom Deshazo was elected as state delegate to attend the THDA convention scheduled in September at Galveston. Other delegates are Mrs. Paul Corbett and Mrs. Joe Gonzales.

The club voted to purchase a birthday gift for their senior citizen, Spin Thweatt. Refreshments of cake and coffee were served by the hostess to Mmes. Gene Brady, Thweatt, Draper, N. A. Brown, Elmer Northcutt and guests, Mrs. James Lewis of Carlsbad, N. M., Mrs. Jerry Northcutt and Mrs. Elton Sorrells.

Following the trip to Girlstown, the club will be adjourn-in. We promised you we'd pay you for two weeks and then two weeks' vacation. He knew that," Commissioner Earl Holt said.

"If Travis had just told me I couldn't do it, I'd understand," Roper said, "but he said it would be all right. I need the money too much that I wouldn't have quit if I had known I wouldn't get the money."

"We'll take care of it," Commissioner Donald Hicks said. "That's what we promised you."

After hearing McPherson, the commissioners back off completely, pointing out they had already acted in the case by allowing Roper two weeks' vacation pay in the decision in the sheriff's office, but added the decision was made with the understanding that Roper was to work for two weeks.

Once out of the commissioners' meeting, McPherson then approved the pay for the week in question.

Screening Board Will Name Its Chairman Tuesday

The seven-man screening board that will select a juvenile officer for Deaf Smith County is to meet Tuesday night to elect a chairman.

The meeting was set up Tuesday during a meeting of the County Commissioners' Court. Earl Holt, one of the two men picked by the county by the board, called other members of the board to determine when they could be free to meet.

Holt said Lowell Sharp, a representative from the School Board, had indicated several persons had contacted him about their interest in the job. The applicants will be discussed during the Tuesday meeting, Holt said.

The meeting is for 8 p.m. Tuesday at the Calsen House Restaurant. The business meeting of the group will follow supper.

Other members of the screening board are County Judge Hank Williams, County Commissioner Donald Hicks, City Manager Dudley Bayne, Mayor Jim Sears, and School Board member Hugh Clearman.

For Women

Beautiful White House Brides

When a pretty young lady like Patricia Nixon resides at 1600 Pennsylvania Ave., Washington, D. C., chances are excellent for another White House wedding. That she's not yet engaged does not deter the nations romantics from anticipating the vicarious pleasures of a wedding in their very own first family.

If it comes to pass and if Miss Nixon has a home wedding, she will be the eighth daughter of a President to be married in the executive mansion.

Tricia's younger sister Julie chose to marry shortly before her parents took up residence in the White House, feeling confident, she said, that she and her prospective bridegroom, David Eisenhower, were "historical enough" without exchanging vows in the first home in the land.

The East Room of the White House was last used as a nuptial setting on December 9, 1967 when Lynda Bird Johnson, elder daughter of President and Mrs. Lyndon Johnson, became the bride of Capt. Charles Spittal Robb of the United States Marines.

The splendor of that room, the White House's largest and favorite for weddings, with its gilt framed pictures, glittering chandeliers and glistening woods, tends to obscure the homey historical fact that it was used between 1796 and 1893 by the spirited and practical, Abigail Adams, wife of President John Adams, to hang the family wash.

The reception following the wedding on August 6, 1966, of Luci Baines Johnson and Patrick John Nugent, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald P. Nugent of Waukegan, Ill., spilled out of the Blue Room into the gardens of the executive mansion. But the wedding ceremony itself, a high noon nuptial mass, was performed in the great Shrine of the Cathedral of the Immaculate Catholic Church in the United States.

Much of the pomp and pageantry surrounding the wedding of the President's younger daughter were missing when his first born said her "I Do's."

However, wedding watchers everywhere agreed that the Luci and Pat marriage extravaganza was the country's due. It had been such a long time between White House weddings. And for the first time everyone had been invited through the magic of television.

More than half a century had passed into history without a first daughter being married in the White House. That had been back in May 1914 when Eleanor Randolph Wilson, 24, youngest of President Woodrow Wilson's three daughters, was married to secretary of the treasury, William McAdoo, 50, a widower with three children.

The ceremony performed in the Blue Room was kept simple, and the pre and post-nuptial functions were limited and subdued in deference to the bride's mother who was recovering from a fall. Ellen Wilson, the first lady, died three months later.

The tone had been different when Jessie, another of the Wilson daughters, married in the White House less than a year before. The wedding on Nov. 25, 1913, uniting Jessie Wilson, age 26, with Frank B. Sayre, a 38-year-old lawyer-teacher, was described as an elegant affair. The marine band played in the foyer as the procession marched to the East Room where government dignitaries, diplomats, Army and Navy officers in dress regalia, and many friends were assembled.

A famous first family bride was the gay-spirited, unpredictable Alice Roosevelt of "Alice Blue Gown" song fame. Reports of her pique behavior were widespread, and she was known affectionately to the world as "Princess Alice."

In the aura of excitement and enchantment, the 21-year-old Alice promised to love, honor and cherish 36-year-old Nicholas Longworth, the much sought after bachelor congressman from Ohio.

The formal noon ceremony was held February 17, 1906, in the East Room and was attended by a thousand American and European dignitaries.

Escorted by her father, President Theodore Roosevelt, the bride gracefully maneuvered a sweeping gown with a train, 18 feet long, of silver brocade.

Another memorable wedding was held in the East Room of the White House in 1874. The principals were pretty 18-year-old Nellie Grant and Algernon (Algy) Sartoris, 23, who was attached to the British legation in Washington.

It is recorded that Papa Ulysses S. was against having for a son-in-law the handsome foreigner with the bushy side-whiskers. In time he did relent and gave the couple his blessing and a wedding with all the trimmings. Eight bridesmaids followed the bride to and from the altar, and woodcock and snipe on toast and pudding a la nesselrole were served at the wedding breakfast.

Fair-haired Elizabeth Tyler, daughter of President John Tyler, was 19 going on 20 when she became Mrs. William N. Waller in the East Room on January 21, 1842. Bill Waller was the little boy next door in Williamsburg, Va., who grew up to be a lawyer.

The second daughter of a president to be married in the White House, Lizzie wore a long lace veil, and her pretty face, a sister-in-law recorded, was "literally covered with blushes and dimples." Her mother, Letitia Tyler, an invalid, made her only appearance as White House hostess at her daughter's wedding reception.

The first and the youngest in the line-up of White House brides was petite Maria Hester Monroe. She was 17 when she was married in 1820 to 21-year-old Samuel Lawrence Gouverneur, her first cousin and her father's private secretary.

Only relatives and a few close friends were invited to the East Room to witness the ceremony. One of them left a memo for the country's memorabilia saying that it went rather well and that "Maria looked charming in a light blue dress of stiff silk with intricate embroidery of real wheat stalks."

Washington society allegedly was offended by the snub, having hoped that the first White House wedding of a first daughter would be the gala event of the season. Washington society should have known better with Eliza Hays, the bride elect's sister, in charge of arrangements. The capitol city's prominent had been slighted before by Eliza who was mistress of the White House because of her mother's illness.

In the plans for her sister's wedding, cabinet members and their wives were ignored. To members of the diplomatic corps Mrs. Hays sent word they were to take no notice of the event. The communications media of the time took practically no notice. The only mention by the press was a brief item in the Washington Intelligencer of Saturday, March 11, 1820, which read: "Married. On Thursday evening last in this city by the Rev. Mr. Hawley, Samuel Lawrence Gouverneur, Esq. of New York, to Miss Maria Hester Monroe, youngest daughter of James Monroe, President of the United States."

Of course, that all happened 150 years ago, when it was unthinkable that the time would come when the East Room of the White House could be brought into living rooms of all the world.

Members of the Hereford Elks Lodge have planned a game night Saturday at 9 p. m. at the Lodge. All Elks and their families are urged to attend.

Games of cards and dominoes will be played. Refreshments will be served.

White Suggests Guar As Good Cash Crop

AUSTIN — For Texas farmers wanting another cash crop, Texas Agriculture Commissioner John C. White has the suggestion they investigate the possibilities of growing guar.

And now is the time to investigate, for the two processing plants in Texas, at Vernon and Kenedy, are now contracting guar crops, and word from them is that they need about 250,000 more Texas acres planted to guar, White said.

He also points out the fact that about 40 million pounds of guar gum were used in the U.S. last year, but only about 10 million pounds were produced in this country.

Guar is that stalky plant introduced to this country from India and Pakistan which rotates well with cotton, sorghum, corn, and vegetables.

"It has been described," Commissioner explains, because it without peer as a soil-improving summer legume and its influence on succeeding crops as truly amazing."

Growing guar does not require buying new types of machinery, the agricultural commissioner explains, because it can be planted and cultivated about like cotton, and the guar beans can be harvested with an ordinary grain combine with little adjustment.

And it can be planted on diverted acres (except cotton acres), another factor that makes it more desirable as a Texas money crop, White said.

Guar makes a good cattle feed (contains about 35 per cent protein, only slightly less than cottonseed meal), and guar gum usages are legion, including use in explosives, adhesives, paper products, batteries, bakery products, cosmetic lotions, to name a few.

Tubb Captains Winning Team In Dimmitt Golf

A four-player team captained by Dick Tubb of Hereford, shot an 11-under-par 61 Monday to take first place in the semi-annual Castro County Country Club Pro-Am tournament.

Tubb, Richard Walker and Bob Myers of Dimmitt and Mrs. Chuck Allen of Canyon combined for the 61 score, beating the second-place team by two strokes.

The winning score was only one shot off the course team record.

Hereford golf pro Cal Garrett captured low pro honors with an even par 72 and he also combined with John Austin of Tascosa Country Club for the pro-pro title with three-under-par 69.

Pat Robbins of Hereford was a member of the team that shot a 64 for a third-place tie.

AUSTIN—Former State Rep. Bill Hollowell of Grand Saline is the new director of hearings and permits for the Texas Water Quality Board, Jim Showen, who served as acting director, will continue to serve as senior hearing examiner.

In other recent appointments by Gov. Preston Smith: Houston Mayor Louis Welch was named to a vacancy (succeeding Al Henry, also of Houston) on the Texas Criminal Justice Council.

San Antonio public relations man Jim Battersby was named executive vice-president of Discover Texas Association to replace James M. Gaines, who became director of HemisFair Plaza in San Antonio.

Headquarters of the privately-supported tourist-promotion group also moved with Battersby from Austin to San Antonio.

All members and those working on their applications are urged to attend.

Fossil — rich Olduvai Gorge, Tanzania, has yielded the most complete skull yet found of Homohabilis, the manlike creature who roamed East Africa 2,000,000 years ago. The nearly complete skull lacks only the lower jaw, some fragments of the brain case, and some of the upper teeth.

Highlights and Sidelights FROM YOUR STATE CAPITOL BY VERN SANFORD

AUSTIN, Tex. — Pressure from the courts may move the Legislature to massive election law reforms next year.

At least two major Texas cases which could have far-reaching consequences for the state election processes and political system are pending in three-judge federal courts.

In one, Corpus Christi, San Antonio and San Marcos plaintiffs challenge the constitutionality of the annual voter registration requirement and the January 31 registration deadline. They ask reopening of registration after the June runoff primaries to allow voters until October to qualify for the November general election. More than 30 states already have a general election sign-up extension, and no state requires as early a close-off of registrations as Texas.

A second case tests validity of the candidates' filing fee system. An El Paso candidate for county commissioner and a Tarrant County candidate for county judge won places on the May primary ballot through court action when they pleaded they could not afford to pay the stiff filing fee.

A third case attacks the constitutionality of the statute denying aid to illiterate voters in marking ballots.

Secretary of State Martin Dies Jr. acknowledges a great many changes are needed in the state election code. He is compiling a list of needs with an eye on court decisions and plans to contact legislators about them soon.

Dies indicates he is inclined to favor the recommendation that May-June primary dates be shoved back until August and September (as some 14 states now provide).

He also tentatively likes the idea of making voter registrations good for four years.

And the state, believes Dies, "is going to have to reach the conclusion candidates cannot continue to completely finance primaries."

EYED — A House committee studying ways to improve the legislature's decorum and public image indicated it wants curbs on the familiar practice of lawmakers' voting for absentees on an electronic machine.

Committee members couldn't bring themselves to condemn "proxy" voting for members absent from the floor for a few minutes to take telephone calls from constituents. But they frowned on votes cast for legislators who are truants from the capitol.

Committee, headed by Rep. John E. (Ned) Blain of El Paso, discussed a variety of proposals to make the House of Representatives look and act better.

Among other major suggestions: a glassed-in spectators' gallery, desk-to-desk floor telephone communications and overhead projectors to display hasty floor amendments to legislation.

DRUG MEMO SIGNED — High-ranking state officials signed a "memorandum of understanding" with the U. S. Department of Justice Bureau of Narcotics and Dangerous Drugs.

Memorandum formalizes the present working agreement and outlines areas of responsibility for state agencies and the federal bureau in which mutual efforts and cooperation will be necessary or desirable.

Overall purpose of the memorandum is to establish and maintain effective working arrangements between the state and the federal bureau to hold to a minimum diversion of narcotics and dangerous drugs from legal channels to illicit traffic. Most of the stimulants and depressants sold illegally originated from legitimate foreign or domestic channels.

APPOINTMENTS AND HONORS — Sen. Criss Cole of Houston, a war-blinded Marine Corps veteran, has been nominated for the "outstanding rehabilitant in the nation."

Former Lake Jackson Mayor William D. Colegrove is the new president of the Beauty Texas Council.

Ralph D. Spencer of Lubbock now is secretary of the Texas Board of Architectural Examiners.

Dr. Robert Skinner was named acting director of the state Health Department tubercular control program.

Gov. Preston Smith announced these appointments: *Southern Regional Education Board — Rep. Russel Cummings of Houston.

*Commission for Indian Affairs — Barney Joseph Wieland of El Paso.

*Lavaca-Navidad River Authority Board — Hans R. Wittenburg of Edna.

COURTS SPEAK — Texas Supreme Court heard arguments as to whether it should uphold a district court decision that the Texas obscenity control law is unconstitutional. By a six to three decision, High Court held that a man could not recover damages although an Arlington hospital nurse fed him solid food soon after a colon operation.

A suit for $45,000, against a life insurance company that issued a policy on a quarter-horse, was refused by the Supreme Court because the company was not notified immediately when the animal became ill.

High Court ruled for Grand Prairie in a 3,000-acre annexation dispute with Arlington.

Court refused to hear the appeal of an Austin teenager dismissed from school after he was caught with marijuana in his pockets.

ATTORNEY GENERAL RULES — Raza Unida Party in Hidalgo County cannot get its local candidates on the November ballot unless it gathers new petitions from non-participants in other party primaries, Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin has held.

In other recent opinions, Martin concluded that:

*Teacher Retirement System Board of Trustees has authority to invest its trust funds in home office facilities and equipment used for administering the system, to manage and control facilities and pay expenses for operating, maintaining, repairing, and improving them.

*Election officers named to hold district school trustee elections must hold a regular election for county school trustees and are to be compensated by the school district which also pays for election supplies out of the maintenance fund.

HOSPITAL FUNDS DISTRIBUTED — State Board of Health allocated $1,477,800 to 12 applicants for federal Hill-Burton health facilities construction funds. Projects and amounts allocated are:

*Southwest Texas Methodist Hospital, San Antonio, $400,000; McAllen General Hospital, $315,000; Spohn Hospital, Corpus Christi, $225,000; Torbett-Hutchings-Smith Hospital, Marlin, $150,000; Fort Worth Radiation Center, $60,000; Teague Hospital Authority, $50,715;

*West Coke County Hospital, Robert Lee, $3,295; Overhill-Morris Memorial Hospital, Coleman, $19,010; Sterling County Hospital, $38,900; Morningside Manor, San Antonio, $41,000; Space Center Memorial Hospital, Nassau Bay, $50,000; and St. Mary's-Gates Memorial Hospital, Fort Arthur, $46,000.

Hill-Burton program pays up to 50 per cent of cost of construction or modernization of hospitals and other health facilities in areas of critical need.

THREE CITIES HONORED — Three Cities Honored — Governor Smith presented the Governor's Community Achievement Awards to Lockhart, Atlanta, and Graham.

Awards were for cities of up to 12,000 population in tribute to progress made toward improving the quality of living.

Smith cited Atlanta for such improvements as a new high school, a 65-bed hospital, city-wide beautification and a new sewage treatment plant.

Lockhart was honored for improved housing, health services and general beautification projects.

PRESIDENT OF YALE SEEKS PEACE AGAIN

BREWSTER MADE PITCH IN LAST WORLD WAR

By HENRY CATHCART
Central Press Washington Correspondent
WASHINGTON—The visit of Yale President Kingman Brewster to Washington recently to persuade Congress to get the United States out of the war in Vietnam prompted a veteran journalist to recall the last time Brewster came to Washington to lobby for peace.

J. R. Wiggins, the retired editor of the Washington Post, noted that in testimony before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee in 1941, Brewster warned against U.S. involvement in the war against Nazi Germany. Brewster at that time was a student at Yale and chairman of the Yale chapter of the America First Committee.

"One thing in common to the great majority if not all people of my age," Brewster told the committee then. "We are resentful of the deceit and subterfuge which have characterized the politics of U.S. foreign policy..."

"If a transatlantic war is to be waged, we would rather make the enemy cross the water to try to land... We believe that the peace of this hemisphere has more to offer the world of tomorrow than any possible outcome of a devastating transoceanic war (with Germany)."

PROMINENT Senate doves are finding their position on the Vietnam war pays good financial dividends in terms of checks for speeches on university campuses.

Sen. Edmund Muskie, D-Maine, earned $31,000 in honorariums from speeches at 20 colleges and universities. The fees ranged from $250 to $3,000. (A senator's annual salary is $42,500.)

Another Senate dove, Mark Hatfield, R-Ore., received $18,500 from campus speeches, Seps. Abraham Ribicoff, D-Conn., and George McGovern, D-S.D., received $13,000 and $10,000 respectively for university appearances.

Senators who support American policy in Southeast Asia enjoyed far less income from campus speeches. Sen. Strom Thurmond, D-S.C., led the hawk list with $8,900 in income from universities. Sen. Gale McGee, D-Wyo., earned $6,489. Three other Senate doves received honorariums higher than McGee.

REPUBLICAN and Democratic fund-raisers in Washington took careful note of the recent defeat of space pioneer John Glenn in an Ohio Democratic primary.

At the beginning of Glenn's campaign for the U.S. Senate polls showed 90 per cent of Ohio's voters recognized the name John Glenn. The name of his opponent, Howard Metzenbaum, was recognized by a mere 5 per cent. Name identification has long been viewed as a key element in political success.

But Metzenbaum, a politically savvy Cleveland millionaire, was able to gather more than one million dollars to spend on his campaign. He hired a corps of 55 young professionals to coordinate a network of 13 campaign posts across the state and invested heavily in television advertising.

Glenn, however, had far less money to spend, some say as little as $125,000. Metzenbaum is known to have sent that amount alone to Washington image-maker Charles Guggenheim, whose film advertising techniques nearly made Metzenbaum a household word in Ohio before election day.

Chile Visitor Looks Over Hereford Way

By MARSHALL DAY
Staff Writer

Juan Ribes, manager of Cooperativa Rural Electrica Parralada, in Chile, is spending a few days in the Hereford area gathering information for a possible formation of a Pan-American Union Cooperative involving countries in South America, Central America and North America.

Ribes is staying with the Leo Forrests at Lake Tanglewood and will visit various industries in the area and look over the crops grown here.

He is visiting three days here as a part of a 15-day tour of the United States. Ribes and Forrest met when Forrest went to Chile earlier this year to assist in the electric cooperative development in that country. Ribes came to the United States "to visit Leo and get advice in regard to the formation of the union and also to see Hereford" because he had heard so much about it.

Ribes and his wife, Tona, visited Southwest Feed Yards Inc., Friday morning and Ribes said the operations there "are very good." He said Chile has nothing comparable to the feedlots or the way wheat is used here. Grain in Chile is used to feed chickens, and beef that is served is fattened off grass.

Besides being manager of the cooperative in Parral, Ribes owns about 1,150 acres of land he farms. His principal crops are grapes, corn, wheat and sugar beets. There are more sugar beet factories in the area he lives in "than you can shake a stick at."

"There is one sugar beet plant 30 miles north of my farm and they are building another 30 miles south of me," he said. The plants are not as large as the ones in the United States, he said.

Ribes will leave here for Tacos, N. M., and from there will go to Washington, D. C. to meet with the president of the Inter-American Bank and visit the headquarters of the National Rural Electric Cooperative, the organization sponsoring the trip.

During the 15-day tour, Ribes has discussed the formation of the Pan-American Union Cooperative with heads of cooperatives in Peru, Ecuador, Columbia, Panama and Costa Rica. "The actual purpose of his

Brenda Burk Of Raton Weds James A. Campbell

In a ceremony at twilight bell exchanged wedding vows Friday, Miss Brenda Karen Burk and James Alton Campbell in the Crosby Street Church of Christ at Tulia. Kinan Burk of Springfield, Colo., brother of the bride, conducted the double ring service.

Mrs. James Alton Campbell nee Brenda Burk

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Roy L. Campbell, Star Route, Hereford, and Mr. and Mrs. N. L. Burk of Raton New Mexico, formerly of Tulia.

Cathedral tapers burning in spiral candelabrum entwined with greenery formed a background for the nuptial ceremony. Her father gave Miss Burk in marriage.

She was attended by Miss Stephanie Perkins as maid of honor and bridesmaids were Miss Pam Campbell, sister of the bridegroom and Miss Lynette Lyde, cousin of the bride.

Roy Carlson was best man and groomsmen were Larry Nop and Terry Campbell, the bridegroom's brother.

Guests were ushered by brothers of the bride and groom, Norman Lynn Burk and Roy Dean Campbell.

Little Miss Debbie Love, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Love, was flower girl and rings were carried to the altar by Master Michael House, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elven House.

Candlelighters were Mark Burk and Monty Campbell.

Wedding music was furnished by a choir from Memphis Avenue Church of Christ in Lubbock and Mrs. Joella Cansler, soloist. Selections included Walk Hand In Hand, Come Share My Life, Faithful and True and Wedding March.

Organ over taffeta with Venice lace made the formal empire gown of the Bride. The A-line skirt was multi-ruffled from a bow at the back waistline and extended to chapel length train. Her bouffant veil of tulle was caught to a headpiece of Lilies of the Valley and roses and she carried a bridal bouquet of pink and white roses.

Her only jewelry was a lock of her paternal grandmother's.

The bride's attendants wore formal gowns of pink silk organza enhanced by Venice lace at the empire waistline. They carried bouquets of pink roses.

A reception honoring the bride and groom was held in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ted Sprague where guests were registered by the bridegroom's sister, Mrs. Don Akin.

An arrangement of roses flanked by candelabra centered the serving table which was laid with a floor-length cloth of net over satin.

The 3-tiered wedding cake was decorated in pink with white roses. Cake was served by Mrs. Kinan Burk and punch was ladeled from a silver punch bowl by Mrs. Norman Lynn Burk.

Following a wedding trip to Dallas, the couple will be at home at 406 W. 6th, Hereford, Hereford.

Salt Lake Group Will Perform Here Today

The Wesley Bell Ringers from Christ United Methodist Church in Salt Lake City will play their 88 hand bells in a concert at the First United Methodist Church at 8 p.m. today.

This group of senior high school students, directed by E. J. Duncan, is making its fifth annual concert tour.

The group began six years ago with 25 bells. The members gradually purchased additional bells from money earned through the sale of "Hoagies," a kind of giant sandwich. Today, there are 22 Ringers devoting many hours toward achieving musical perfection and earning money for new equipment and for tour expenses.

The Wesley Bell Ringers in their 1970 tour will include five states: Utah, Arizona, Texas, Louisiana, and Colorado. On their four previous tours, they have carried their evangelism of bells through 18 states. They have been featured in newspapers and magazines, have played on radio and television and have produced a LP record album. Over 50 concerts a year are rung in and around Utah.

The concert program contains both sacred and secular music and is designed to show the versatility of handbells.

Agricultural Agency Seeks Ban On DDT

AUSTIN — The State Department of Agriculture has requested power to outlaw chemical compounds harmful to public health.

Commissioner John C. White has also proposed in a meeting of the Interim Legislative Study Committee on Land Use and Environmental Control that the legislature regulate disposing of pesticides and chemical compounds that are no longer needed, no longer used or banned from use.

The committee called the meeting following a report on cumulative effects of the pesticide DDT on animals. White repeated his previous statement that he knows of no case in which humans have been harmed as a result of the use of DDT in agriculture.

The same committee was told by a Florida biologist that oysters taken from the Arroyo Colorado area of Laguna Madre had the highest DDT concentrations of any in the nation. This, the biologist said, is a reflection of intense agricultural activity in the Rio Grande Valley. Oysters, according to the same authority, are not killed by DDT, but fish that eat them are.

A Texas Parks and Wildlife Department spokesman said hydrocarbons (such as DDT) cannot continue to be used without serious degradation of the world ecological system.

It is Father's Day! May we honor the guy whose heart is as tender as a woman's... the fellow whose respect is as genuine as that of a mother. This nationally celebrated day for Father didn't come too soon. For Dad is the guy who dared the wiles of the forest and the death-dealing miseries of the prairie, to insure added comforts for Mom, and Sue, and Dan. The taming of the west is actually the story of gruff ole 'Pop' in his triumph over difficulty and danger to make a finer future for those he loved. He was the hardy pathmaker for our feet. Gifts for Father? Yes, but much better would be a gracious, kind word of thanks for all his sacrifices through the year. On this celebrated day, say a prayer to the great Father God, for happiness and comradeship that will soften the burdens of the remaining years, and make the last ones truly his most Golden Years.

You In The Church
The Church In You — form a combination for good. Every man, woman and child needs the influence of the church. So, come let us go into the house of the Lord. Let us support her program of service to humanity, be a faithful worker, a daily bible reader and attend services regularly.

Tech Begins New, Broader Program In Journalism

LUBBOCK — Texas Tech University will initiate Phase I of a new approach to communications education in August when students pursuing careers in journalism, advertising and telecommunications will enroll for the first time in a new Department of Mass Communications. The department replaces a former Department of Journalism in the College of Arts and Sciences and will bring together faculty with specializations in journalism, advertising and speech. In addition to the present faculty at Texas Tech, new faculty will join the department at the start of the fall semester, Aug. 25. The new department was approved by action of the Board of Regents June 5. President Grover E. Murry said that the new organization, combining curricula from two of the university's colleges, is expected to serve better the needs of both the print and electronic communications industry. The American Council on Journalism Education gave accreditation to the news editorial sequence in journalism at Texas Tech University in 1966. The Department of Journalism was established in 1937, and the building which houses it was completed in 1941. Facilities used by the Department of Mass Communications will be expanded and will include KTXI-FM and KTXI-TV (VHF) which has an audience potential of million persons. Students of the department will continue to work with the "University Daily" and "La Ventana," the university yearbook. The advertising major will move with modifications from the Department of Marketing in the College of Business Administration.

GIANT SNAILS

PORT MORESBY, New Guinea — In 1942 Japanese troops brought giant snails into New Guinea for food, and they continue to be a problem. The snails originally were brought into only three areas, but they have spread to other districts. Moving in scores of thousands, they eat out New Guinea food gardens. The only control is to pick the snails from plants and kill them. In an effort to eradicate the giants, the administration is now releasing small snails that eat the big ones.

Laxton-Woodward Wed In Andrews Ceremony

The home of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Thomas of Andrews was the setting for the recent wedding of their daughter, Miss Sue Laxton, to Jacob L. Woodward, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Woodward of Summerfield. The Rev. E. R. Holder, pastor of the Calvary Baptist Church, officiated for the double ring ceremony. Presented in marriage by her father, the bride wore a street-length gown of silk organza and peau de soie. Venice lace formed the high-rise neckline of the modified empire bodice and was repeated on the petite puffed sleeves and bouffant skirt. A cluster of silk organza Doir bows, encrusted with seed pearls, formed the headpiece which held her tiered shoulder-length veil of illusion and she carried a nosegay of yellow roses and stephanotis. Mrs. Kenneth Albritton of Odessa was matron of honor. She wore a dress of yellow sheer over silk, fashioned with an empire waistline accented with yellow satin ribbon. She carried a nosegay of yellow daisies with mint green trim. J. E. Woodward served his son as best man.

A reception honoring the bride and groom was held immediately following the ceremony. Yellow linen overlaid with white lace draped the bride's table which held the bouquet of her bridal attendant. The traditional three-tiered cake and golden punch was served by Mrs. Albritton and Mrs. Bobby Johnson of Amarillo.

For a wedding trip to Russia, N. M., the bride traveled in a 2-piece yellow linen ensemble with matching accessories. The couple will be at home at 2103 2nd Ave. in Canyon where they are students at West Texas State University. The bride is a 1966 graduate of Andrews High School and is a senior business education major at WT. The bridegroom was graduated from South Mountain High School in Phoenix, Ariz. He is an agricultural major and a member of Block and Bridle. Out-of-town wedding guests were Mr. and Mrs. John Roach of Peoria, Ariz., Mrs. Barbara McReynolds and Kim of Phoenix, Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Johnson and Lisa of Amarillo and Mrs. Laura Pamplin of Konawa, Okla.

CHANGES AFFILIATION CHANDIGARRH, India - During a recent political crisis in northern Punjab state, one member of the State Assembly changed his affiliation three times in one day. Basant Singh, the only member of the conservative Swatantra party in the assembly, voted to support Chief Minister Gurnam Singh. Later said he was neutral and in the afternoon told newsmen he had gone over to the opposition.

Curator Urges Help In Cutting Wildlife Loss

BY PENNY YOUNG
Staff Writer

Dr. Antonio L. Gennaro, curator of the Natural History Museum at Eastern New Mexico University, spoke Thursday to approximately 30 Bluebirds and Campfire Girls during their annual day camp.

Dr. Gennaro developed his talk on the conservation of wildlife in the form of three questions.

Why are we losing many kinds of wildlife, why should we be concerned about it, and what can we do to preserve wildlife? "Many people feel that animals are in the way; therefore, they kill them off. Such as a rancher who almost eliminates the wolf and fox because he thinks that is the reason his livestock wind up dead," he said.

Gennaro attributes most of the livestock killing to packs of dogs.

He also tied it in with this part of the county, saying the mountain lion and bobcat population is almost extinct because of farmers and ranchers.

We should be concerned about loss of wildlife "because they are living things and they exist. It's totally unhuman to kill off a species like that," Gennaro said.

"We see animals on the side of the road all of the time. Some of them die agonizing deaths because people don't bother to help them. Also, most humans make a special effort to run over a snake or small animals. Besides, can you imagine how much that must upset the natural balance?"

To conserve wildlife, more protective laws should be passed, he feels.

"Every bird except the sparrow is protected. So are many other species such as the buffalo and alligators."

Gennaro also suggests the elimination of pesticides and polluting of the water and air. Don't pick up young animals and to keep dogs and cats under control are two of his other rules.

During the last part of his speech, Gennaro and his assistant Herman James of the Portales School District, displayed several different species of harmless snakes.

The clincher came when Gennaro, who has had much experience in handling animals removed a small gila monster from his cage, holding him carefully by the jaws and displaying him to the girls.

The ecologist explained about

each creature mentioning that the gila monster is very poisonous.

Gennaro, a graduate of the University of New Mexico in Albuquerque and a major in ecology, is also interested in land conservation. Seventy-five acres of land east of Portales has been set aside for the doctor under the ENMU Natural History Preserve as a field branch of his museum.

No killing of animals or destruction of natural vegetation will be permitted in the area. All studies are restricted to living organisms and the factors that influence their lives.

Attorney General Sees Crackdown On Obscenity

AUSTIN — Attorney General Crawford Martin has predicted that a crackdown on distribution of obscene material will result from the finding by a federal court in Dallas that almost all of the new state obscenity control law is constitutional.

The only section of the law invalidated was one allowing seizure of material without a hearing.

The ruling rejected requests for injunction by book stores and movie houses in Dallas, Amarillo and Lubbock.

LET'S COOK SOMETHING

Cooking With Wine

There are few meat or fish dishes that are not enhanced by a few dollops from your favorite wine bottle while they are simmering on the stove.

It isn't a question of spiking the food, since alcohol evaporates as soon as it reaches the boiling point. Like thyme or any other seasoning wine is used to round out the flavor.

This does not mean that you should buy the cheapest wine available in the mistaken belief that, since it is boiled, it doesn't matter. Bear in mind the fact that a wine that is too sweet or too sour for your drinking taste, will hardly improve the entree. As a matter of fact, once it cooks down, the taste of wine becomes considerably more pronounced.

In short, never pour into the pot a wine you wouldn't pour into your glass.

The old adage of white wine with white meat and red with red is pretty silly whether you are going to drink it with your meal or cook with it. With the exception of fish which is generally better cooked with white wine, both red and white, or rose for that matter, go equally well with chicken, veal or beef.

Generally speaking, it is preferable to use a full-bodied wine that is on the dry side but not too tart, whether it be red or white. Reasonably priced red wines obtainable in this country include Pinot Noir and many of the Chiantis. White wines are a little more tricky, if you're looking for bargains, and it is often safer to cook with a dry white vermouth.

If the meat you are cooking tends to toughness, it is wise to marinate it over night in wine, keeping it in the refrigerator.

Sherry is popular in seafood dishes, but the sherry should be dry. Since sherry has a pronounced flavor, use it sparingly.

Sweet dessert wines like Marsala give a lift to fruit compots or custards like Zabaglione, that toothsome Italian concoction of sugar and egg yolks.

Wine cookery became popular in America during the 18th and 19th centuries with the influx of thousands of emigrants from the countries of Europe. Many of the finest dishes were developed in the kitchens of Louisiana's Creoles, those descendants of French and Spanish settlers. The Creoles combined a Spanish love for spice with the robust peasant cookery of France, plus a few refinements added by wealthy refugees from the French revolution who fled to this country with their personal chefs.

Who but the Creoles could have conceived such a delectable dish as Ham Pontalba with its tongue-tingling stuffing of onion and truffles bathed in Madeira Wine.

- Baked Ham Pontalba
- 14-pound ham baked
 - 4 cups shelled pecans ground
 - 3 onions chopped fine
 - 1 small can truffles cut in pieces
 - 6 bay leaves
 - 2 sprigs (1/2 teaspoon dried) thyme
 - 3 teaspoons dried sage
 - 3 teaspoons ground cloves
 - 1/4 teaspoon cayenne
 - 1/2 cup Madeira wine
 - 1 apple
 - 1 cup cane syrup
 - Brown sugar
 - Fine dry bread crumbs

Ask your butcher to bone the ham. If a dry, smoked ham is used, the ham must be soaked in cold water for 12 hours. When a modern, cured ham is used, soaking is unnecessary.

To make the stuffing: cut out about 1/4 lb. ham to make a cavity and work the ham through Vacation Bible School at Frio Baptist Church was finished on Friday morning with a picnic for the children. An enrollment of 126 and an average attendance of 109 were reported. Mrs. Weldon Stephan was a food grinder.

Blend thoroughly with pecans, 1 chopped onion, truffles, 2 bay leaves (crumbled), thyme, 1 teaspoon sage, 1 teaspoon cloves. Sew a cloth securely around ham and place it in a large kettle. Add enough water to cover. Add the remaining chopped onion, bay leaves, sage, cloves, the whole unpared apple, and the syrup. Bring to a boil, cover, reduce heat and simmer for about six hours or until tender. Allow ham to cool in the liquid. When cool, remove rind, pat ham with a mixture of brown sugar and crumbs, and bake in a preheated 375 degree oven until surface is well-browned and ham is hot.

Hereford Blasts Dimmitt In Legion Contest, 27-8

Vaulter Signs With Raiders

LUBBOCK—Lane Ayers, the state AA pole vault champion from Carrizo Springs, has signed a letter of intent to attend Texas Tech, Coach Vernon Hilliard announced.

Ayers, a 6-2, 155-pounder jumped 14 feet to capture the state title. He makes the ninth trackster to sign with the Red Raiders.

Other signees include Gary Keim, the 1969 state AA quarter-mile champion from Perryton; Jackie Lawson, a top sprinter from Phillips; Ken McCabe, a quartermiler from Levelland who placed third in the national junior college meet; Terry Cummins from Dumas, another quartermiler who anchored the third place AAA mile relay team; Mike Davis, a 6-6 high jumper from Lubbock Monterey who was third in class AAAA in 1969; and Ed Barclay, a discus thrower from Monterey, who finished fifth in the state this season.

Two other signees from the junior college ranks are Rod Bowman and John Baldwin. Bowman, a javelin thrower from Hutchinson, Kan. Junior College, finished third in the national JC meet this season. He consistently throws the javelin better than 220 feet.

Baldwin is the national junior college champion in the mile run. He set the junior college national meet record of 4:10.5 this past season, and is ranked as one of the top collegiate milers in the country. Baldwin is from St. Louis, Mo.

The American Legion baseball team carried a perfect record into their game against Caprock Wednesday, after shellacking the Dimmitt team Saturday, 27-8.

In Saturday's game in Dimmitt, the Redbirds were held scoreless in only one inning of the game. They collected eight runs in the first frame, seven in the second, six in the third and six in the fifth. The game was called after the top of the sixth.

The Redbirds got 11 hits, including home runs by Alan Wagner and Santry Rush. Wagner and Rush, along with Rick Lee, picked up doubles in the slugfest.

Wagner started the game with a double and scored after two Redbirds were walked and a third hit by a pitch. Rick Lee drove in two runs with a single and the locals led 4-0 with only one out. Paul Loerwald reached first on a fielder's choice and advanced to third on two walks to two Hereford players, then scored on a single by Wagner. John Sparks and Santry Rush scored on a single by shortstop Gary Lemons.

Trailing 8-0 at the bottom of the first frame, the Dimmitt team managed one run in the first when the lead-off batter walked, advanced on a wild pitch and scored on a single.

Hereford led off the second added two more. Wagner high added two more. Wagner high lighted the seven-run outburst with a grand-slam home run.

Hereford held Dimmitt scoreless in the second and third innings, while they collected six more runs in the third. In that inning, the Redbirds drew four base-on-balls and collected two singles and two doubles.

Dimmitt got four runs in the fourth frame, one in the fifth

Tennis Camp Starts Sunday At West Texas

CANYON—The first session of the West Texas State Tennis Camp was completed Saturday and the second session is slated to start Sunday afternoon and run through Saturday, June 27.

The final session will be July 26 through Aug. 1.

"We had 7 youngsters for the first session and I would consider it a success," said clinic director David Kent, who is the tennis coach at West Texas State University.

Kent says there are still a few openings for both the second and third sessions.

Kent, who is assisted by Amarillo High School tennis coach Roland Ingram and 15 camp counselors, said parents reporting in Sunday should go to the new Activities Center, just south of the tennis courts, after 1 p.m.

The campers will be given instruction on West Texas State University's tennis complex, which consists of 10 Uni-Turf and four laykold courts. Each camper will be given individual attention, plus sessions on strategy, drills and training methods.

Expenses are $15, which includes room, board, instruction and all activities. A $25 deposit is due with each application.

The camp will be available for buying equipment. Camp insurance is included. There will be no dating and campers can't leave the camp.

Double Homicide
And Jigsaw Puzzle
Lead To Fortune

Available at the Deaf Smith County Library this week is the mystery story of how a double homicide and a homemade jigsaw puzzle lead to the uncovering of a $750,000 fortune. Another novel telling of a major literary event which puts the reader on the scene is also available. Check into them today.

JIGSAW

"Nothing can confuse a person (cops included) more than a lot of names and a lot of pieces and a lot of corpses..."

The cops of the 87th precinct are really confused this time. When Detective Arthur Brown finds two dead men, it looks like a nice simple double homicide—except for the piece of photograph clutched in one dead hand. The confusion doesn't start until Irving Krutch, an insurance investigator, turns up at the squad room with another piece of the photograph.

Part of a homemade jigsaw puzzle, according to Krutch. The handiwork of the late Carmine Bonamico. When all the pieces, which had been passed around to friends and relatives of Bonamico's gang, were assembled, they would reveal the hiding place of the $750,000 the gang had stolen from a savings and loan association six years ago. Find the missing pieces, find the missing money. The search is on, and it involves Detectives Brown and Carella with people like an art gallery owner, a cheap hoodlum, a middle-aged floozy, a hot dog vendor and an old Sicilian woman. Detective Meyer gets lucky. He visits a boutique where all the salesgirls wear see-through blouses.

Some of the people have another caller. It turns out that owning a piece of the photograph can be deadly, and it looks like a toss-up as to who will get the puzzle completed first—the police or a very determined murderer.

LOSING BATTLES
By Eudora Welty

Publication of this long-awaited novel, the author's first in fifteen years and her finest, is a major literary event. It is a story of rural Mississippi in the 1930's that will immediately be recognized as a classic in the seriocomic tradition in American fiction.

On the hot, dry first Sunday of August, three generations of Granny Vaughn's descendants gather at her home in Banner for a family reunion in celebration of her ninetieth birthday. The action covers two days, but since many members of this enormous family are great tale-tellers, the reader experiences much of the past as well. Dialogue and action are often marvellously funny, wildly so at times, but underneath are serious, even somber tones.

From a neighboring town, word comes to the reunion of the death of Miss Julia Mortimer, for years the local school-teacher, and the teacher of practically everyone present over the age of twenty. One of the many lost battles related here was Miss Julia's crusade to educate the inhabitants of Banner. Though she never appears on the scene, she is nevertheless one of the dominant figures, and her own story is a deeply touching one.

Miss Welty's artistry at presenting her scene and characters has never been more evident than here. The reader is in the scene and sees and feels with the characters, who, in spite of their great number, all come vibrantly and individually to life.

'Guts' Is Needed
To Put Perk
In Communities

CRANE, Tex. — Gov. Preston Smith, taking note of preliminary census figures that have proved discouraging to many communities, said revitalizing the small towns of Texas may be tougher than starting them.

"Right now," Smith said in a speech at Crane, "the people of Texas—whether they live in the largest city or the smallest rural community—have solved problems as tough for them as were those confronted by the frontier busters."

In many respects, he said, "our challenge and our task are more demanding and much more complex. The preliminary reports on the census of so many of our smaller cities spell out in box-car size letters that as much tenacity — just plain guts — is required to tackle that job as the old-timers needed."

Insurance Case

AUSTIN—The Texas Supreme court has set arguments for next month on the issue of whether an insurance company, Allstate in this instance, which issues uninsured motorist coverage should be allowed to enter court against its own policy holder on the side of uninsured drivers to prove its client was partly at fault or his injuries less than claimed.

Exercise, Reduce, Relax--All At The Hereford Spa

By PENNY YOUNG
Staff Writer

I walked in the little parlor... like room and stood on the red plush rug sort of digging my toes in the carpet.

Bonnie Provence, manager and women's exercise therapist for Hereford Spa in Sugarland Mall, met me at the door.

"Are you ready?" she asked. I was ready.

Bonnie put me on the bicycle. For 30 seconds I peddle vigorously without going anywhere.

"This is to get your blood circulation going and get you ready for everything else," she said.

"After you get started on the bicycle, you come to the belt. Now, not everyone needs this. It shakes you up a little, but just lean into it and keep it straight. The belt basically breaks down fatty tissue and you never use it on the stomach, inner thighs or waistline." Using the belt in those areas might damage the inner organs.

It shook all right. So much that I thought I had lost part of me in the process. But surprisingly enough, it felt good.

Next we came to the rollers. I put my leg on the machine and let the wood roll across my foot.

"This little machine does basically the same thing that the belt does; however, it can be used or longer periods because it's not as vigorous. People with bad feet use this a lot because it circulates the blood and takes out the soreness. A lot of business women like this."

Up to now, it had all been easy, but the exercising was next.

You don't have to be in good condition to survive. The different sizes of weights, ranging from a small amount for the beginner to a lot for the advanced. Bonnie picked up a pair from the middle and pointed me toward the low butterfly bench.

She had me lie down on a padded bench and rotate my arms with the weights in each hand. It gets a little hard trying to pull them back to your sides.

"Now, if you want to build, you should do no more than nine or ten but if you want to reduce, you should do from 15 to 20."

Next was a plank elevated at one end. She told me to lie on my back and, keeping my arms off the board, lift up and down. Then you lie on your stomach and swing the arms up, which is supposed to help the thighs. Next, you cross your arms in back and raise up, bending your back as far as you can.

After this was the ease-up board, where you lift weights with your legs. It stretches tight muscles in the calves and thighs.

Sit-ups are best for the woman who wants to lose around her middle, she said. This takes off the weight fast, especially how Bonnie works you.

If you're not very good, she will start you off at the bottom rung. I lay on my back on the padded board with my feet elevated and the higher she took the end of the plank, and my feet, the harder it was. With the board on the second from the top, as she put it for me, it was a little difficult to sit up and touch my head to my knees.

The Dorsi bar was next. She said it would be good for my upper body and especially for my posture. She put me a small stool under what appears to be bike handle bars. Weights are attached to the other end, and if you have enough strength, you may be able to lift three or four weights at a time. If you're just beginning, Bonnie said, two would be fine.

"This is good for your back and shoulders and under part of arms," explained Bonnie. "It's also for posture."

Louise Vogler, the massager, went through the next part with Bonnie and me. It was Yoga, in all its glory.

We stooped, bent, rolled and turned all the time trying to keep our concentration on what we were doing. Yoga requires a lot of deep concentration, and it helps more if you can think the word 'push' or 'stretch' while you're working out, she advised.

By this time I was getting extremely tired and worn to a frazzle—I thought. But Bonnie wasn't finished with me yet. The barbells were next.

I lay down on my back and put my feet to the wall. Then she handed me twenty pounds of weights and it almost crushed me, as far as I was concerned.

ut, I soon got the hang of it, pushing my arms up, over my head, touching the floor and then back up. At first I didn't have enough strength to lift the weights back up but I soon got to where I could do it every time.

Keeping the barbells on my shoulders, I went through another routine. This was for the waistline and bones," she said.

One exercise, familiar to most women, and considered in the Yoga family, is good for reducing thighs. This is where you lie on your back with your feet together, raise your legs slowly and put them down slowly, stopping about two inches from the floor and hold your position.

Hard? Yes, it is. While doing this exercise, I followed my college gymnastics teachers' advice of looking graceful by pointing my toes.

"No," Bonnie exclaimed. "Don't point your toes. Hold your feet like you walk on them. This pulls the muscles so much better."

The recommended time for rest after each exercise, Bonnie told me, was just a minute and then it was straight to the showers.

The warm water felt good after the workout. My whole body felt relaxed. Tired but relaxed. I had never been in a sauna bath before and I always thought

I wouldn't like it, but I was wrong. The dry heat sauna was first, in a small room built out of pine and fir wood. It stays from 200 to 220 degrees.

"Now, stay there as long as you can. Try to stay at least five minutes. If it gets too hot just come out."

I think I stayed more than five minutes because Bonnie had to come get me.

From the dry heat we went to the steam room which felt better because of the humidity but actually it was cooler. This stays from around 120 to 140 degrees.

"What the sauna does," said Bonnie, "is pull out all the poisons in your body. It's good for arthritis, back pains, pulled muscles and headaches. It's also good for your complexion, hair and nails."

The best part is saved for last. This is the whirlpool bath. Chemically treated water (heated) streams from jets on the sides of the pool and circulates around and around.

It's not deep. You can stand on your knees and the water will just come to your shoulders.

With this bath, the last thing you want to do is get out but Bonnie emphasized it is important to get out in time because it can drain all or your strength. It makes you very sleepy. Tension was completely gone and I wanted to just lie down on a soft pillow and sleep.

I was weak when I stepped out of the bath but feeling good. From there it was a warm shower and then a cold rinse-off, "if you can take it," she said. I could take it. In fact, if they had had a cold pool anywhere around, it would have been the first place I would have headed.

If you want a massage, members and non-members alike have to pay extra but for me it was worth it.

Louise Vogler rubbed her hands with body lotion, then began the process of relaxing even more all the muscles in my back, legs and arms. She used different strokes to knead, pull and loosen the thighs and neck muscles.

By this time, I was almost asleep. I was very disappointed when she shook me and said, "That's it."

I was ready to go through the whole process again, mainly because I felt no tension, just complete relaxation.

Even if a doctor advises a person to skip the exercise, the person can still enjoy the whirlpool and steam baths.

Some women come for the exercise only. For one month, it's $30 and for three months it's $60 and for six months it's $90. For those who come only for the bath area the prices are for one month, $35 for women and $25 for men. For three months, it is $65 for the women and $45 for the men, and for six months, it's $90 for the women and $60 for the men.

"The reason that the men's is cheaper," said Bonnie, "is because they don't have as many days as the women do."

Whirlpool prices are, for 10 visits, $25, and for 20 visits, $40. All facilities for one month are $45 for the women and $35 for the men. For three months, it's $75 for the women, and $65 for the men, and for one year, it's $180 for the women and $120 for the men.

Massage prices are for 10 visits, $25 for members and $35 for non-members. For 20 visits, $40 for members and $50 for non-members. For one day, it's $3 for members and $5 for non-members.

For using all the facilities of Spa for one day (with the exception of the massage the price is $3).

"A lot of women prefer this to the membership prices." On the way out, Jim Boone, owner, confronted me. "How did you like it?" he asked. "I'd recommend it for sure," I answered.

WRITES HIS CRIME

CALCUTTA — A professional thief with a flair for writing about his own exploits wrote himself into a corner of a cell. Bishnu Mandal, police said, burgled the house of a Calcutta policeman and stole some jewelry. A few months later a short story in a magazine described the crime almost as it happened. Police arrested Mandal, the author of the story, who confessed to police to have carried out the crime.
