

With Court Ruling

Prison Officials Happy

By KEN HERMAN
 Associated Press Writer
 AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — State officials, weary for a victory in the 10-year-old prison lawsuit, are happy with an appeals court ruling that a federal judge went too far when he ordered major reforms in Texas prisons. Incarceration in the Texas Department of Corrections is "cruel and unusual punishment," the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals said Wednesday.

But the three-judge panel in New Orleans also said, "The duty to protect inmates' constitutional rights, however, does not confer the power to manage prisons, for which courts are ill-equipped, or the capacity to second-guess prison administrators."

The court threw out many reforms ordered by U.S. District Judge William Wayne Justice, including his requirement of private cells for inmates in the 33,000-inmate system, the nation's largest.

Gov. Bill Clements, a longtime Justice critic, said, "Briefly stated, Judge William Wayne Justice was wrong and the state's position was right on key issues such as single-celling of inmates."

"Single cells for inmates was an extreme edict, and, happily, that is no longer an issue in this case," he said.

Attorney General Mark White, whose handling of the case drew criticism from Clements, said the appeals court decision was a major victory for the state.

"The impact of it apparently fairly well gives the state of Texas a sweep on the issues that were before the court," he said in a telephone interview from Cuernavaca, Mexico, where he was vacationing Wednesday.

Rick Gray, White's executive assistant, called it a "clean win for the state."

The appeals court affirmed Justice's order that the state reduce the prison population by Nov. 1 to a figure equal to twice the number of cells, plus the number of inmates who can be housed in dormitories. The dorms can hold one inmate per 40 square feet, the appeals court said. Justice had ordered 60 feet per inmate.

William Turner, lawyer for the inmates who filed the civil rights suit, said the ruling was not the clear victory

A very surprised Jan Walser was presented with the Bull Chip award at this morning's Fun Breakfast as the zanies of Hereford and the area converged on the community center to kick off Crazy Days.

Mrs. Walser, organist at First Baptist Church, was presented with her chip award by breakfast co-emcee Doug Manning. She was recognized for her efforts with the church, and as a member of the Chamber Singers, and for providing "dining music" for fun breakfasts for the past couple of years.

While there were several winners at the event, a pregnant lady and her less-than-attractive mate won the prize for the best costumes and won their choice of a trip for one to Las Vegas, a trip for two to Dallas, or a trip for a family to Six Flags Over Texas.

Mother-to-be Pat Lawson and her companion Chris Shaddle took the top prize in the contest over six other finalists, including a

Hinckley Jurors Summoned

By MIKE SHANAHAN
 Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Senate panel, hoping to get quick congressional action changing federal law on insanity pleas, is summoning three members of the jury which found presidential assailant John W. Hinckley Jr. innocent by reason of insanity.

"They want to find out exactly what led members of the jury to accept the insanity plea," said a spokesman for Sen. Arlen Specter, R-Pa., the acting chairman of the Senate Judiciary subcommittee on criminal law.

In a highly unusual step, the subcommittee announced Wednesday that jurors Maryland Copelin, 50, Nathalia Brown, 30, and Lawrence Coffey, 22, all of Washington had been asked to testify today.

Testimony was also expected from legal specialists on the issue.

Miss Brown and Mrs. Copelin have said they believed Hinckley, 27, was legally sane when he shot President Reagan and three other men on March 30, 1981, but they said they were pressured by other jurors to go along with the majority and provide a unanimous verdict as required.

"I violated my conscience," Mrs. Copelin said.

Hinckley, she said, "is a shrewd manipulator ... He isn't crazy, he's a genius. He manipulated his family, his father, and now us."

After 3½ days of intensive deliberation, Mrs. Copelin and Miss Brown said they gave in to the will of the majority to provide a unanimous verdict on Monday evening.

Specter, a former prosecutor in Pennsylvania, has introduced legislation which would put the burden of proving insanity on the defendant.

The defendant would have to produce "clear and convincing" evidence that he or she was insane.

In a Senate speech, Specter said he believes the Hinckley jury was "in a state of confusion and unable to draw a

Americans Evacuating War-Torn Lebanon

By MICHAEL GOLDSMITH
 Associated Press Writer

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Israeli jets downed two Syrian MiGs over central Lebanon today and pounded Palestinian strongholds in the slums near Beirut airport as Americans prepared to evacuate the war-torn country.

Intense Israeli-Syrian tank and artillery battles blazed along the Beirut-Damascus highway and Israeli warplanes hit Syrian and Palestinian positions in the mountains southeast of the capital.

The Tel Aviv command said its jets downed the Syrian planes when the MiGs tried to intercept Israeli planes attacking Syrian targets during an artillery battle. Lebanon's state radio also reported the downing of the MiGs.

The dogfight, the first reported by Israel since a short-lived cease-fire two weeks ago, appeared to intensify the Israeli-Syrian ground fighting that flared two days ago.

Today's kills raised to 87 the number of Syrian warplanes Israel claims to have downed since it invaded Lebanon June 6. Despite Syrian claims to the contrary, Israel says it has lost no planes in air combat, but has acknowledged losing only one jet to Palestinian ground-fire. The Israelis and their Syrian and Palestinian foes accused each other for the third day running of breaking a U.S.-sponsored cease-fire that has virtually ceased to exist.

The Israeli armored forces in the mountains appeared to be trying to consolidate their grip on a 20-mile stretch of the highway linking the Lebanese and Syrian capitals in an effort to bar the Syrians from bringing up supplies and reinforcements for a possible battle for Beirut.

The Christian Phalangist-run Voice of Lebanon radio station said the artillery battle resumed soon after dawn along the Bhamdoun-Mdeirej sector of the highway east of Beirut.

The Syrians fired Katyusha rockets into Israeli lines and the Israelis replied with an air strike, destroying the rocket launchers, the radio said.

Argentines Fed Up With Military Rule

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP) — Civilian political leaders agreed to sit down and talk today with the army's president-designate, Reynaldo Bignone, but warned that Argentines are fed up with military governments.

"The people have again been mere spectators at the designation of the president of the nation," said a statement issued Wednesday by a coalition of the nation's five largest political parties.

It said Argentina's six-year-old military regime had "severely degraded (the country's) standard of living and put Argentina in the worst crisis of its history" — the disastrous Falkland Islands war. The statement called on the military to set a date for a return to civilian rule and said, "The promises of future consultations with the political forces can't hide these frustrating and recurring developments."

"The people have reached the limit of their tolerance," the statement said, hinting of possible street violence if civilian rule is not restored.

Just a few days before Argentina invaded the Falklands on April 2, police used force against thousands of demonstrators protesting the worsening state of the

Livestock Theft Not Affected By Recession

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — Unbranded animals are easy prey for urban cow and horse rustlers in Texas, and livestock stealing is one enterprise not suffering from economic recession, a cattleman's association says.

Thieves have been taking increasing numbers of horses and cattle, especially around big cities, said Cullen Ribson, special assistant for the Texas and Southwest Cattle Raiser's Association in Fort Worth.

Rustlers prey particularly on unbranded animals because "a brand is a cow's return address," Ribson said in a telephone interview.

"Livestock producers in the metroplex areas such as Dallas-Fort Worth and even San Antonio are losing more to rustlers than those in the wide-open spaces," he said.

Ribson said one reason for increased urban livestock thievery is that the animals are more concentrated and often are not branded. Many owners consider it too time-consuming or expensive to get a few hands together to brand the animals, he said.

In rural areas, residents become suspicious if they see strange people and vehicles moving across the rangeland, and ranchers are more apt to heed the axiom: "Trust everybody but brand your cows," Ribson said.

"But in a metroplex area they can pull right up and load them up and nobody pays any attention."

The TSCRA has 32 field inspectors and 87 brand inspectors that attend every livestock auction in Texas. They have been investigating a series of 11 cattle thefts along IH-35 between Austin and Oklahoma City.

One narcotics addict also is suspected of stealing five unbranded cattle and selling them at an auction, Ribson said.

Rustling has increased in trailer-load lots along with freezer rustling, in which a thief takes only one head for meat to put in his freezer, Ribson said.

Thieves have to sell stolen jewelry and electronic items at large discount to a fence, Ribson said, but unbranded stolen livestock can be sold at market value.

"Livestock is the only thing they can sell at market prices, and it's all profit," he said.

With modern transportation, rustlers can reach markets and sell the cattle or horses before TSCRA bulletins on thefts can be circulated, Ribson said.

"They can load at midnight and have them sold by 10 or 11 the next morning at a market far away."

The most potent weapons against rustling are branding and ear tagging.

"Those items are 75 percent of the battle. We find a lot of stolen cattle that have been branded, but the others are hard to trace. Branding is by far the most effective," Ribson said.

The TSCRA, which has 15,000 rancher members in Texas and Oklahoma, keeps a computerized-microfilm record of registered brands which can quickly reveal when, where, to whom and by whom an animal was sold. But first the animals have to be branded, Ribson said.

"We've always had a lot of rustling. You have people who say, 'do they really steal cattle?' Yes they do, and it's bad."

Texans Want Major Voting Modifications

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Texans want to go to the polls less frequently, according to Secretary of State David Dean, who is trying to figure out how to attract more voters.

"The voters of today are, in a sense, suffering from voter fatigue — too many elections, too close together in time, in too many places and on too many ballots," Dean said in his conclusion to a voter survey released Wednesday.

The study was initiated after the May primaries — which included over 8,200 candidates across the state — drew only 24 percent of the 6.6 million registered voters.

Texans are ready for "major modifications" in the elections process, Dean said the study found.

"Registered voters in 1982 are clearly less than satisfied with the electoral process in Texas," he said.

The 1,441 Texans surveyed, including 440 registered voters who didn't cast ballots, voiced support for various changes.

— A majority of the voters favored moving the primaries closer to the November general election.

— About two-thirds said state judges should be elected on a nonpartisan basis.

— Fifty-two percent favored a state law that would force current state office-holders with more than a year to go on their terms to resign in order to run for another office.

— Almost 75 percent said state, local and school board elections should be on the same day at a single polling place.

— Fifty-three percent favored a "unitary" primary system with both parties holding primaries at the same polling place.

— Almost 80 percent backed a proposal to impose legal penalties for candidates who lie or make misrepresentations during a campaign.

Dean recommended the 1983 Legislature "take serious note of the low voter turnout trend evident in recent elections."

Police on Horseback Capture Escaper In Arkansas

BENTON, Ark. (AP) — Police on horseback have recaptured a prisoner who got away from sheriff's deputies while in transit from Texas to Tennessee.

A tip from a couple who spotted Texas inmate James Smith, 25, Wednesday led police to a brushpile near a creek where he was hiding. Sgt. Jim Berry of the Benton Police Department said dogs cornered Smith and officers on horseback flushed him out about 5:40 p.m. Nobody was injured.

Bedford County, Tenn., sheriff's deputies were taking Smith from the Texas Department of Corrections in Huntsville, Texas, to Bedford County when he escaped in Benton late Tuesday. Benton is in central Arkansas, about 20 miles southwest of Little Rock.

Berry said Smith was en route to Tennessee to face charges of armed robbery, burglary and jail escape. Deputies stopped about 8:30 p.m. Tuesday at a gas station and Smith fled.

Officials Begin Investigation of Two Fort Hood Crashes

LAMPASAS, Texas (AP) — U.S. Army officials have begun trying to piece together the causes of two unrelated accidents near Fort Hood that killed one soldier, injured eight others and left one man missing.

A 1st Cavalry UH-1 Huey helicopter crashed into remote hill country near the Colorado River Wednesday afternoon, killing one and injuring the eight others on board.

Later that afternoon, an M113 armored personnel carrier overturned on the base and fell into Cowhouse Creek. Divers planned to resume their search of the rain-swollen river Thursday morning for one soldier believed to have drowned in that accident, said Fort Hood spokesman Maj. Tony Geishauser.

Geishauser said two soldiers were operated on Wednesday night for injuries they suffered when the helicopter carrying nine men crashed at about 4 p.m. six miles from Lemons Fishing Camp on the Colorado River in San Saba County.

"All I can tell you right now is that some are in pretty bad shape," he said. A team of investigators from Fort Hood began combing the wreckage for clues to the cause of the crash within one hour after the accident, Geishauser said.

The Army said the name of the soldier killed is being withheld until his family is notified. Four soldiers, three of them in critical condition, were transferred to the army hospital after being taken to the Rollingbrook Memorial Hospital in Lampasas, a spokesman said.

The other injured soldiers were taken directly to the army hospital, which is near Killeen, Texas, officials said.

The crash was the second this year of a helicopter from Fort Hood, the largest military post in the country. Geishauser said two soldiers died this spring in a helicopter crash while returning from a training exercise in California.

Police, Firemen Approve Compromise

HOUSTON (AP) — Firefighters and police officers, who had been at odds with the mayor over her desire to scrap the city's old civil service system, have given overwhelming approval to a compromise plan.

Members of two police employees groups and the firefighters association approved the plan in three days of voting, officials said Wednesday night.

The compromise worked out between Mayor Kathy Whitmire and representatives of the employees' groups was ratified by a vote of 1,709 to 687.

The compromise ended a petition drive by a citizens group seeking to replace the state civil service system with a locally controlled system.

Ms. Whitmire favored scrapping the old plan, which prevented the chiefs of the police and fire departments from appointing their own choices to assistant and deputy chief posts.

claimed by the state.

"I really think the court came down somewhere in the middle," he said in a telephone interview from his San Francisco office. "But (the judges) vacated the order on single-celling, which was the most important issue before them."

Turner said it was important that the appeals court threw out the single-celling order "without prejudice."

"That obviously means this isn't over," he said, adding no decision had been made on whether to appeal.

LL. Gov. Bill Hobby also called the Wednesday ruling a victory for the state.

The appeals court threw out a long list of reforms ordered by Justice, including a requirement that the overall inmate population be reduced to prescribed maximum figures by a certain deadline and that the TDC devise a plan to train new guards and retrain existing guards.

Also cancelled were the requirements that the TDC:

- Take certain steps relating to good time, parole, work furlough and inmate furlough programs, and to community corrections programs and facilities

- Take various steps to improve Huntsville Unit Hospital.

- Prohibit double-celling in administrative (punishment) segregation cells that contain 60 square feet or less.

- Permit inmates to help other inmates in preparing legal pleas.

- Take various steps to improve fire safety and to comply with various Texas health and safety laws.

- Comply with various specifications and procedures before building new units for housing inmates or new facilities at existing prisons.

- Reorganize the management of its prisons.

clear-cut inference from the evidence."

"There has already been a public outcry noting that the acquittal of the defendant Hinckley was occasioned by the fact that he was wealthy and had high-priced legal talent," Specter said.

In the Hinckley trial, U.S. District Judge Barrington Parker ruled that it was up to the prosecutor to prove beyond a reasonable doubt that Hinckley was not insane and that he knew right from wrong when he opened fire on Reagan and the others outside a Washington hotel.

Since the verdict, a number of other changes in federal insanity law have been proposed, including one sponsored by Sen. Orrin Hatch, R-Utah. It would do away with insanity pleas except in cases where the defendant was so mentally ill, there was no awareness of committing a criminal act.

Had that law been on the books during the Hinckley case, for example, specialists say he would probably have been convicted because he knew he was attacking the president.

economy. Critics of ex-President and army chief Leopoldo Galtieri claim he ordered the invasion to divert attention from the economy.

Galtieri's military colleagues forced him out as president and army commander last week, following Britain's recapture of the Falklands on June 14.

The fact that the coalition agreed to a meeting at all augured well for Bignone, a retired army major general designated Tuesday to become the country's seventh military president since the 1976 right-wing coup that toppled President Isabel Peron.

Bignone, 54, who has promised to restore civilian rule in 1984, sought the meeting as a first step in preparation for his July 1 takeover as president.

The navy and air force, angered at the army's refusal to install a civilian president, Tuesday quit the three-member ruling junta and withdrew from the military government. The army said it would run the nation alone.

Navy and air force officers resigned in droves from government positions Wednesday, despite pleas that they stay on until the new government can find replacements.

Vandal Opens Freezer

A criminal trespassing complaint was filed by Charles Short, 922 Irving, who told police someone entered his home and opened his freezer door. About $650 in damages to food was reported.

Delores Cramer, 806 North Lee, reported someone removed a screen from a west window and broke the glass. Some clothes just inside the window were moved, however no entry was gained. Police are still investigating.

Officers issued seven citations and made six police calls.

Hereford firemen went 14 miles north of town to hose down a wheat field fire caused by lightning shortly after 8 p.m. Wednesday.

What Good Are Protests?

Americans have been mobilizing demonstrations "against nuclear war."

God knows nobody wants nuclear war; what in the world is the purpose of demonstrations against it.

Yet, the largest mass protest in New York history was mounted by ban-the-bomb marchers.

And there have been similar protests in Europe and efforts to protest even in the U.S.S.R.

The latter is evidenced by the fact that Soviet President Brezhnev proclaimed his willingness unilaterally and immediately to renounce first-strike use of nuclear weapons.

Through his foreign minister he said the Soviet would "never be first to use the A-bomb."

Trick or treat?

Can Soviet President Brezhnev be trusted?

In 1920, the Soviets solemnly signed a treaty with the then independent Georgian Republic pledging non-interference. Less than a year later the Soviets invaded and took over that country.

Similarly, the Soviets have completed and then ignored treaties with Czechoslovakia, Lithuania, Estonia, Latvia, Romania — and more recently Poland and Afghanistan.

The Soviets have already violated in 1973 Limited Test Ban Treaty for nuclear weapons and the 1974 Threshold Test Ban Treaty.

Despite a 1962 agreement with our country, the Soviets have stationed offensive forces in Cuba.

They have violated the Anti-Ballistic Missile Treaty six times and the SALT I Interim Agreement 11 times.

They have ignored the 1925 Geneva Protocol and the 1972 Biological Weapons Convention.

With chemical warfare, the Soviets have killed thousands in Afghanistan, Laos, Kampuchea.

No treaty is worth any more than the honor of its signatories.

And a further consideration, apparently ignored by the anti-nuke, ban-the-bomb protestors is that even if the Soviets could be trusted ...

Obviously, they cannot be ...

But even if they could be trusted to destroy all nuclear weaponry, then our nation's tiny six percent of the planet's population would be bear meat.

There is no way American mothers can produce enough boy babies to match the limitless hordes of Asia in bayonet war.

Judging from Soviet conduct elsewhere, it might logically be assumed that the Red Army by now would have intimidated us into submission — were it not for the Sword of Damocles which hangs as heavily over their nation as over ours.

Nobody wants nuclear war. That's good.

This awesome weapon may keep the bear tread until he learns some table manners. Nothing less would.

Mitsubishi Admits Buying Info

TOKYO (AP) — A Mitsubishi Electric Corp. official admitted today that one of the firm's employees in California paid an undercover FBI agent $20,000 for "sample information" about IBM computers.

The acknowledgement came a day after Hitachi Ltd., another major Japanese electronics company, admitted paying a total of $548,000 for computer information to a consulting firm that turned out to be an FBI front.

The FBI claims Hitachi paid $622,000 and Mitsubishi paid $26,000 for stolen IBM computer design secrets.

Mitsubishi on Wednesday denied any attempt to steal computer secrets from IBM or make any illicit payments. But Mitsubishi spokesman Hideo Ohta said today he had just learned of a $20,000 transaction in long distance telephone conversations with Takaya Ishida, who was arrested by the FBI in San Francisco and later released on bail.

Hitachi denied any wrongdoing, but confirmed authorizing payments of $548,000 in May and June to secure information on "technology trends" in computer-memory subsystems.

Japanese sentiment in the United States, and questioned "the real intentions of U.S. authorities."

The daily Mainichi Shimbun also implied the U.S. investigation was politically motivated.

"We hope this incident will not accelerate the protectionist move in the United States and damage U.S.-Japan relations," it said.

Congress has been discussing possible trade restrictions against Japan to help counter a massive imbalance in Tokyo's favor in trade with the United States.

Storms Flood Wichita Falls

By The Associated Press A flood warning was in effect in Wichita County early today after very heavy thunderstorms dumped flood producing rainfall on the Wichita Falls area during the night.

Several streets, including Midwestern Parkway, were closed by high water and travel in southern portions of Wichita Falls was being discouraged, authorities said.

A line of heavy thunderstorms moved through the Dallas-Fort Worth area early today, dumping heavy rainfall as it moved slowly southeastward. Forecasters warned of possible flooding of streets and low lying areas.

The thunderstorms were triggered by the combination of a low pressure trough and several minor upper level disturbances. At least two tornadoes were sighted in Lynn County in Northwest Texas late Wednesday, but there were no reports of injuries.

One was reported about two miles northeast of Tahoka and another was reported near McCoy.

Lynn County sheriff's officers said some power poles, barns and silos were damaged near McCoy. They said they had no reports of substantial damage from the tornado near Tahoka.

While the thunderstorms moved across northwestern and northern sections of the state, the rest of the state had clear to partly cloudy skies early today.

Early morning temperatures were in the 60s in the Panhandle and portions of West Texas and in the 70s elsewhere. Extremes ranged from 61 at Lubbock to 80 at Brownsville.

Some early morning readings around the state included 62 at Amarillo, 66 at Wichita Falls, 70 at Dallas-Fort Worth and Lufkin, 74 at Houston, 77 at Corpus Christi and San Antonio and 67 at Midland and El Paso.

Forecasts called for scattered thunderstorms over all but South Texas today.

Highs were to be mostly in the 90s, ranging from the upper 80s along the upper coast to near 105 in the Big Bend area of Southwest Texas.

Lows tonight will be mostly in the 70s except in the mountains of Southwest Texas where the mercury is expected to dip into the upper 50s.

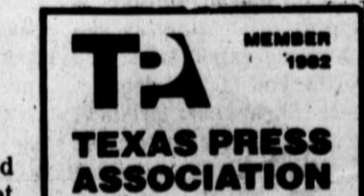

Highs Friday will again be mostly in the 90s.

Music is very much a part of life for Susan Shaw, homemaker and mother of one son. She is involved in the Hereford Music Study Club, Hereford Chamber Singers, church choir, and children's choirs, as well as teaching private lessons.

A resident of Hereford since she was about five years old, Susan attended Texas Tech University, where she majored in music education and belonged to a sorority and music honorary.

Her husband, Sid, who is employed at White Implement Co., also grew up in Hereford and went on to attend West Texas State University.

Before their son, Scott, was born five years ago, Susan taught music at Tierra Blanca Elementary School. She taught there five years, working with students from Kindergarten through the sixth grade.

Susan joined the Music Study Club when she quit teaching and has enjoyed her involvement with the other club members. She has been in charge of the yearbook and programs, in the capacity of first vice-president, in the past, and served as reporter-historian this last year.

She has been a member of the Chamber Singers since the group's inception in 1974 and has participated in several tours, such as one to Austin, where the choir sang in the state capitol.

Susan is a member of Alpha Iota Mu chapter of Beta Sigma Phi sorority, having been president in the past.

Panhellenic Association, which works to encourage local high school seniors to go through rush and join sororities in college.

"We write recommendations," comments Susan, "and give advice on what to wear for rush and other pertinent information." The organization recently had two rush planning parties featuring comments by local girls who are currently in sororities at college.

"I spend most of my spare time doing things in the church," says Susan, speaking of First Baptist Church, which her family belongs to. Susan and Sid are both in the adult choir and she leads the fourth through sixth grade choir.

Two weeks ago she helped with Vacation Bible School, working with music. She teaches a third grade Sunday school class, and she and Sid are chairmen of children's church.

Susan is also involved in a ladies sextet. "I enjoy going through music and I often arrange it into three parts for the group," she says.

Susan teaches piano and voice in her home three afternoons a week during the school year and usually has a recital in June.

Scott has just started taking Suzuki violin lessons, says Susan. He went to the four-year-old kindergarten at First Baptist Church this year and will attend five-year-old kindergarten beginning in the fall.

Susan is involved in a number of recitals with her interest in music, and sometimes is asked to prepare refreshments. The Coconut Tartlets printed below are very fancy for teas or recitals, says Susan, and are like little coconut pies. She uses the small muffin tins, but says that regular muffin tins or even a pie shell could be used for variety.

The Strawberry Dessert and Pear Pecan Salad are two cool summer recipes which are easy to make and don't require a lot of time.

The history, romance and legends that surround the diamond have intrigued men for centuries. The more practical aspects of purchasing and owning a diamond have, likewise, mystified men and women for years.

During this month, which is traditionally associated with love, marriages and diamond rings, the following quiz may prove useful in answering some of the more practical questions people ask about diamonds.

All diamonds are colorless. False. Diamonds occur in all colors and vary in shade from yellow to pink, red, green, blue, brown, and even black. The clear, or colorless, variety are the most valuable.

The diamond mines of South Africa are the world's primary source of diamonds. True. Diamond deposits have also been discovered in many other locations, including Russia, Australia, Brazil, and India.

The Hope diamond, perhaps the most notorious gem in history, is the world's largest diamond. False. The Cullinan I, weighing 530.20 carats and set in the British Royal Scepter, is the world's largest cut diamond. The Hope diamond weighs 45.52 carats.

Diamond substitutes are as hard as diamonds. False. While cubics, yags, and GGG's may look like the real thing, they don't compare in hardness and tend to scratch.

A diamond cannot be broken. False. A diamond cannot be scratched, but a severe blow or fall on a marble floor can cause the gem to chip, fracture, or break.

Diamonds can be safely cleaned with household ammonia. True. Ammonia is a good cleanser for diamonds, rubies, sapphires, and emeralds. Alcohol is extremely flammable and should be used with care.

The average cost of a one-carat solitaire is $2,500. False. Comparably sized diamonds range tremendously in price, depending upon their cut, clarity, and color.

The marvelous Tiffany diamond is renowned for its fiery, blue color. False. The Tiffany diamond, on display at Tiffany's in New York, is yellow. The Hope diamond is blue.

Synthetic and authentic diamonds can easily be detected by the untrained eye. False. Synthetics can be deceiving. Diamonds should always be purchased from a reputable dealer with a permanent address.

The diamond is the traditional symbol of romance. True. According to mythology, the diamond is the "gem of reconciliation" as it enhances the love of a husband for a wife.

At Wits End

BY ERMA BOMBECK

There is probably no TV show that has captured the imagination of romantics more than "The Love Boat."

It has certainly brought new meaning to the word "cruise," which now translates to "(noun) Floating bedroom for thin people and old movie stars with an Ark wish to exit two by two."

A friend of mine confided to me that she and her husband were going on a cruise this summer to put excitement back into their marriage. She said it worked for June Allyson and Van Johnson and it should work for them. If a cruise didn't do it, then they were going to hang it up.

"Don't be a fool," I told her. "You can't have your entire future hinging on a cruise."

Her enthusiasm made me wish I had spoken out before. My husband and I have been on a cruise ... several of them ... and believe me, they're no love boats.

To begin with, forget wispy little bottoms in bikinis. We're talking 18 meals a day aboard a cruise ship. At the end of the first week, I'd outgrown my life preserver; by the end of the second week, they were having a practice drill on how to launch me in the event of a disaster, and by week three, Julie, the recreation director, was showing the movie "Nicholas and Alexandra" on my backside.

There are other discrepancies worth mentioning. On real cruises, they paint the boat every minute of the day and night, so scratch the love scenes at the ship's railings. The winds that whip around the deck may not do anything to Ann Miller's hair, but one day mine blew right off. When my husband said, "Don't carry on, it's only a wig," I informed him I wasn't wearing one.

No matter what you said to our captain, he answered, "I am Norwegian" and "There is no immediate danger."

I'd like to have been able to tell my friends that lovemaking burns 125 calories and that by the end of the trip we were both anorexic. But the truth is my husband and I only went to bed in the afternoon once. It was on a Tuesday, in open seas, and both of us were so motion sick we prayed to die.

Personally, we loved the cruises, but if you really want romance, stay at home and paint the kitchen.

Some of the easiest to prepare convenience foods can be found in the meat case, says the National Live Stock and Meat Board. Ground beef patties, beef and pork cubed steaks, ham slices, pork and lamb chops, pork steaks and naturally tender beef steaks can be ready for the table in minutes when broiled, panbroiled or panfried.

The National Live Stock and Meat Board reminds those wanting to shed excess pounds that the best diet is made up of a variety of foods that are high in nutrients and relatively low in calories. Lean cuts of beef, pork and ham, as well as lamb and veal, are excellent diet foods and should be included often in a well-balanced weight reduction diet.

Shook To Serve As
'Wrangler' At Retreat

WTSU - Karol Shook, a West Texas State University freshman from Hereford, will be among the 50 "wranglers" for Buffalo Branding '82, a fall retreat for beginning freshman students.

Shook, a business education major, will be among the counselors for the retreat scheduled for Sunday through Tuesday, Aug. 22-24. She has been active in Fellowship of Christian Athletes, Recreation Club, and as vice-president of the class of '85.

A student life committee received 80 applications for the "Wrangler" positions.

"They will serve as information persons for the freshmen to identify with," said Cindy Pearce, coordinator of residence hall programming.

Beginning freshman students are eligible to participate in the unique retreat, but must make reservations by Sunday, Aug. 1. A fee of $25 for each freshman student will include the Sunday evening meal, workshops and seminars, entertainment and a T-Shirt.

"We usually bring the freshmen in and the information we tell them is basic, but we don't tell them how to adjust to college life or how to cash a check and build pride," said Pearce.

"If we teach them from the very beginning, they'll be better students in our organization and better alumni later."

The fall retreat will be hosted in conjunction with an orientation session on Monday, Aug. 23, for beginning freshman students who did not attend any of five summer orientation sessions hosted by the University Counseling and Testing Center to pre-register for fall courses.

The students do not have to be pre-registered to participate, said Pearce.

The new students will learn about WTSU history and traditions, student organizations and activities, church centers, university operation and participate in campus tours, meet members of the administration, faculty and staff and organize the Class of 1986.

Workshop topics will include discussion on campus and community resources, career decisions, study skills, money management, "how to make your room like home," time management, library usage and adjusting to college life.

Activities will be devoted to dances, mixers, outdoor movies, picnics and an "Almost Anything Goes" competition.

Ann Landers

Try Volunteer Work

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am married to a workaholic. He is in his early 60s and has never taken a trip for sheer pleasure. He has no hobbies. Everything we do is related to making money. He would make business appointments for midnight or 5 a.m., if he could find anyone crazy enough to meet with him.

This man consistently puts in 12-hour days. The telephone is on the dining room table during supper. He phones all over the world, wheeling and dealing, and doesn't have one word to say to me.

Many women think I'm lucky. From all outward appearances we have everything. We live in a beautiful home, but very few people have ever been inside. We travel so much we can't plan a party or accept social invitations because if an important deal comes up at the last minute we must cancel.

Nothing "unimportant" has ever come up in our 40 years of marriage.

I agreed to go everywhere with my husband when we married. That was my way of proving I wanted to be a supportive wife. I have sat in so many hotel rooms all over the globe, I am cockeyed from doing needlepoint.

I am not feeling sorry for myself, Ann. I chose this life and am sticking to my bargain, but I want the world to know that wives of financial powerhouses pay dearly for their social position, designer clothes and jewelry.

My husband and I are polite to each other, but there is no real love between us. His business is his love and I've known it for a long time. If I had it to do over again, I would have married a man who wanted to be a professor. Being one of the Fortune 500 isn't all it's cracked up to be. It's awfully lonely at the top.

Sign Me - Unfulfilled Behind The Facade On Fifth Avenue
DEAR FIFTH: Most people are just about as unhappy as they want to be. If you are content to vegetate in hotel rooms while you travel all over the world, that's up to you. There are hundreds of things you could do with all that time and money.

Don't blame your husband because you are content to live like a house cat. I know many executives' wives who are effective volunteers and community leaders. What's more, they have a wonderful time. You are attempting to blame your husband's workaholicism for your failure to accomplish something on your own. Sorry, dear, it won't wash. If it's sympathy you want, you rattled the wrong cage.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I'm a new bride who came to Louisiana from Arizona. Last night when I turned on the kitchen light, I was horrified to see several bugs scurrying across the floor. They are very speedy, but I managed to catch one. Here it is in the envelope, wrapped in a piece of toilet tissue. Can you check with your bug experts and tell me what it is and how I can get rid of them? Are they dangerous? Could they hurt a new baby? I am pregnant and expecting in a few months. Thank you so much for your help (P.S. I hope you didn't open my letter during lunch.)

 - Suzie Q.

DEAR Q.: Having lived in New Orleans, I didn't need to take the bug to an "expert." I know a cockroach when I see one.

Call an exterminator. Cockroaches do carry diseases and they can cause small flesh wounds when they bite.

The 'Other' Geneva Arms Control Talks

GENEVA, Switzerland (AP) — Once a week, a black Mercedes and three beige Fords bearing Russian diplomats, Red Army officers and faceless bureaucrats ease through the opened iron gates at the Soviet diplomatic mission and proceed in single-file formation down the Avenue de la Paix.

Three minutes later, at the end of the Avenue of Peace, the Soviets emerge with decided haste from their cars for a perfunctory reception. They are met by a handful of Americans waiting at the door of a building that houses U.S. Arms Control and Disarmament Agency offices.

The routine, almost-ritual exchange of handshakes and nodded greetings is the only real public moment in the talks on intermediate-range nuclear weapons in Europe, talks that Secretary of State Alexander M. Haig Jr. once said "constitute a special category of East-West relations."

Since they were convened Nov. 30, the negotiations — the harbinger of parallel Strategic Arms Reduction Talks due to open in Geneva June 29 — have been veiled in secrecy. And given the worldwide attention that is certain to be devoted to the opening of START, the talks on intermediate-range forces or INF are likely to recede further into the background.

At the outset of the INF deliberations, the two sides said a news blackout was a prerequisite for progress.

Never have they departed from that agreement to remain tight-lipped in Geneva about the results of their twice-weekly meetings. The sessions alternate between the Arms Control Agency offices and the Soviet mission compound where there is seldom occasion even to glimpse the negotiating teams.

Chief U.S. negotiator Paul H. Nitze, who has crafted and criticized American arms control policy since World War II, is known literally to turn his back on reporters asking about the course of the talks.

While staying well within the prescribed limits, Nitze's Soviet counterpart, Yuli Alexandrovich Kvitsinsky, delights in dropping cryptic, one-line hints. Asked once how the negotiation was proceeding, Kvitsinsky smiled and said, "As it should be."

Questioned on another occasion about what he was looking for from the talks, the 45-year-old Soviet, Nitze's junior by 30 years, replied with a smirk: "Success."

Success, however, has proved elusive after more than 30 rounds of arcane bargaining, which is to continue apart from the START negotiation.

Eugene V. Rostow, director of the U.S. Arms Control and Disarmament Agency, said in London in early June that the INF talks "have not succeeded in overcoming, in any respect, the gaps between the two positions."

The differences seem staggering. The Soviets, for example, argue approximate parity prevails in intermediate-range weapons strength; the Reagan administration, however, says the Kremlin holds a 6-to-1 advantage, and possesses weapons for which the West has no match.

The basic U.S. position is essentially to swap its paper missiles for the Soviets' deployed missiles. The offer, commonly called the "zero option," proposes cancelling NATO plans to deploy a new generation of 108 Pershing 2 and 464 ground-launched cruise missiles in western Europe, beginning next year.

The Soviets, in return, would dismantle their imposing arsenal of about 600 SS-series weapons, most fear-some of which are 300 mobile SS-20 systems, each bearing three warheads with a range of 3,100 miles. They can strike targets anywhere in western Europe, as well as points in the middle East.

NATO has no weapon comparable to the SS-20.

The Kremlin has belittled the offer as "absurd," "ill-famed;" and tantamount to unilateral disarmament. It insists that the U.S. medium-range bombers and missile-launching submarines assigned to Europe, as well as British and French nuclear strength, must be incorporated before there can be any genuine "zero option" negotiation.

SEWING TENTS AND SOWING TRUTH

Paul left Athens and went to Corinth. There he became acquainted with a Jew named Aquila, born in Pontus, who had recently arrived from Italy with his wife, Priscilla. They had been expelled from Italy as a result of Claudius Caesar's order to deport all Jews from Rome. Paul lived and worked with them, for they were tentmakers just as he was.

Each Sabbath found Paul at the synagogue, trying to convince the Jews and Greeks alike. And after the arrival of Silas and Timothy from Macedonia, Paul spent his full time preaching and testifying to the Jews that Jesus is the Messiah.

But when the Jews opposed him and blasphemed, hurling abuse at Jesus, Paul shook off the dust from his robe and said, "Your blood be upon your own heads -- I am innocent -- from now on I will preach to the Gentiles."

After that he stayed with Titus Justus, a Gentile who worshiped God and lived next to the synagogue.

Crispus, the leader of the synagogue, and all his household believed in the Lord and were baptized -- as were many others in Corinth.
Acts 18:1-8

Walters Interviews Put ABC At Top

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A Barbara Walters special in which she interviewed Willie Nelson, Clint Eastwood and Carol Burnett placed first in the television ratings for the past week, according to figures by the A.C. Nielsen Co.

The ABC special was one of the few original shows of the week — although Miss Walters had previously interviewed Eastwood — as the rerun season entered the summer doldrums.

ABC was first with a 13 in the Nielsen ratings for the week ending June 22. CBS was second with 12.5 and NBC was third with 11.8. The networks say this means in an average prime time minute, 13 percent of the nation's homes with TV were tuned to ABC.

ABC placed four shows in the Top 10. The others were

"Too Close for Comfort," "Three's Company," and "The Love Boat."

NBC's "Hill Street Blues," this year's Cinderella series, was third. The show began its remarkable climb after winning eight Emmys last September. NBC also placed two other shows, "Gimme a Break" and the NBC Sunday Movie "Five Days from Home," in the Top 10.

Movie Nostalgia

By Marie Landlori

The Rogers and Hammerstein musical, "Oklahoma," was a Broadway smash and broke new ground in the field of musical comedy. This highly innovative production was the first musical to use the music itself as part of the storytelling process.

The transition from the Broadway stage to the silver screen was also highly successful, and launched two young singers on the road to stardom (Shirley Jones and Gordon MacRae, pictured). However, the most memorable aspect of the movie was the choreography, particularly the ballet dream sequence.

The movie's choreography was directed by the same woman responsible for the Broadway production. She has been called an American treasure, and was recently honored by the Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts with the lifetime achievement award.

Question: Can you name the choreographer of "Oklahoma"?

Answer: Agnes DeMille

Congress Predicts Record Deficit For '83

WASHINGTON (AP) — The record $104-billion deficit Congress is forecasting for 1983 may seem like loose change compared with the shortfall the government could actually run up.

In each of the past three years, the initial budget plan approved by Congress was wildly optimistic when it came to forecasting the deficit for the following fiscal year. In fact, congressional estimates — abetted by White House budget experts — have grown progressively worse.

In mid-1979, Congress approved a 1980 budget plan calling for a $23 billion deficit. The actual red-ink total for the budget year was $60 billion, the second largest deficit ever.

In 1980, after rejecting Jimmy Carter's red-ink budget for 1981, Congress wrote a whole new plan that promised the first balanced budget in a dozen years. The actual deficit: $58 billion, third largest ever.

Last year, Congress bought Ronald Reagan's budget-cutting, tax-cutting plan and predicted a $38 billion deficit for the current fiscal year, which began Oct. 1, 1981. Now, the Reagan administration is predicting an actual deficit of $100 billion, which would be the largest on record. Other forecasts put the total red ink as high as $114 billion.

As for the 1983 budget, many forecasters think the real deficit will be in the neighborhood of $150 billion, assuming interest rates come down, the economy returns to health and Congress enacts some of its planned savings. But if the economy remains weak or grows sicker, the deficit could swell above $175 billion, possibly beyond $200 billion.

One reason for the poor deficit estimates seems to be that politicians can't help but put on rosy glasses when it comes to predicting the economy's future course and their own ability to hold down government spending.

Another reason, some budget observers suspect, is that when the November elections are near, the White House and Congress handle an economic dilemma with a political solution: if they don't like the real deficit numbers, they cook up more appealing ones.

"If you were going into an election facing a 150-to-160 billion dollar deficit (for 1983), wouldn't you try to get it down anyway you could?" asked Carter's budget director, James T. McIntyre, whose own estimates were called into question when he was running the budget office.

An official in Reagan's budget office said the accuracy of the latest budget estimate depends on whether the economic forecast comes true and whether Congress follows through on the spending cuts and tax increases on which the $104 billion deficit is based.

"I admit that in both of these cases, the economic assumptions and the follow-through in Congress, the dangers are toward a higher deficit," said the official, who did not want his name used. "But we don't regard the estimate as being wildly unrealistic."

Nevertheless, there is skepticism in the financial markets about the government's ability to stay within the deficit figure for next year.

Even before the Senate gave its final approval to the budget plan Wednesday, the non-partisan Congressional Budget Office re-estimated the likely deficit at $116.4 billion. Moreover, the budget assumes Congress will raise $21 billion in new taxes and cut some $19 billion from non-defense spending, no easy feat just before an election. It counts on the administration coming up with an ambitious $13.6 billion in "management savings." It depends on falling interest rates to lower debt payments by $14.5 billion.

"Chances are the real deficit will be higher than the first budget resolution," said former Rep. Robert N. Giaimo, D-Conn., who chaired the House Budget Committee until his retirement in 1980.

"It's one terrific job that has to be done," Giaimo said of the battle still to be fought over tax increases and spending cuts.

Giaimo's successor as Budget Committee chairman, Jim Jones, D-Okla., would not return telephone calls to comment on the deficit outlook. Neither would Jones' Senate counterpart, Pete Domenici, R-N.M.

The assumptions the budget makes about economic growth, inflation, unemployment and interest rates are critical to the actual size of the deficit. Slower-than-expected growth means lower revenues; the same is true if inflation is lower than expected. Higher unemployment and interest rates mean increased spending for social benefits such as jobless insurance and for interest payments on the national debt.

Budget experts attribute the overestimates in part to the fact that economic growth was stronger and inflation higher than anticipated, and thus, more revenue was raised.

Congress' budget projections have not always been so off base.

Elephant Depressed

By Companion's Demise

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — A zoo elephant who sank into loneliness after the death of her companion is being sent away for a cure because now she does nothing but pace in her cage, perhaps troubled by elephantine memories.

Wally, the Toledo Zoo's only female elephant, "has got some real problems," zoo Director William Dennler said Wednesday. "I'd say it will take a good elephant trainer a couple of months to bring her around."

Zoo officials hope that sending her to an animal farm in Texas will soothe her psyche and end the lonely blues that set in after the 1980 death of her companion, Amber.

Wally, an 11-year-old Asian elephant, probably was traumatized when she watched 31-year-old Amber die two years ago, Dennler said. Wally hasn't been the same since.

"I know it sounds strange, but she really has become neurotic," Dennler said. "All she does is pace back and forth in her cage. Elephants are very social animals, and two females will develop closer bonds than a male and a female."

"When Amber died, Wally was in the next cage area and stuck her trunk through the bars to sniff, trying to find out what was going on," Dennler said. "She has never been without another elephant. Who knows what ran through her mind?"

The zoo checked initially to find out whether there were any Asian elephants available in the United States. There weren't, and having one shipped from overseas could cost $40,000 or more.

So in a two-for-one deal, Wally is being traded for two female African elephants, each about 3 years old, Dennler said.

The deal is a good one for the Toledo Zoo and for the International Animal Exchange of Ferndale, Mich., Dennler said.

Wally is an untrained elephant, making her care more difficult, Dennler said, and animal trainers will begin working with her at the Safari.

Expos Move Into First Place As The Experts Predicted

By DENNIS D'AGOSTINO
Associated Press Writer

It took some time, but after a sluggish start — one which had them six games behind as late as May 21 — the Montreal Expos have finally done what many experts thought they would do. That is, move into first place in the National League East.

Now your guys start to pull away; right, Jim Fanning? "I like to be cautious when talking about something like that," said the Expo manager.

The Expos were anything but cautious Wednesday night. Warren Cromartie belted a pair of home runs and Steve Rogers scattered eight hits as Montreal shut out the New York Mets, 5-0, enabling the Expos to move to the top in the East spot by .005 over St. Louis.

In other National League games Wednesday, Philadelphia beat St. Louis 7-1, Atlanta topped Los Angeles 7-2, Chicago nipped Pittsburgh 6-5 in 10 innings, San Francisco outlasted Houston 9-8 and Cincinnati beat San Diego 5-4.

"First place in June is not the same as first place in September or October," said Rogers, who raised his record to 9-3 as the Expos won their sixth straight game. "We've worked hard to get here. I'm not surprised we're playing this well. The talent is there and it's producing now that we've gotten over the rough spots and all the player changes have been made."

"We felt in training camp that our pitching was very, very good," said Fanning, who piloted the Expos to the NL East title last season. "There are a lot of strong young arms. Our staff is as good as any in the league, and pitching is going to be the key."

"The National League East has a history of being a dogfight in recent years, and I expect the same thing again."

Phillies 7, Cardinals 1
Mike Krukow, 6-5, fired a seven-inning and singled home a run and Manny Trillo had three RBIs to lead the Phillies, who snapped a three-game losing streak.

"It was a very important game tonight," said Phillies first baseman Pete Rose. "We haven't been playing with very much intensity."

"Sometimes you don't play with intensity because of the opposition," said Rose, who singled in the third inning for one of nine Philadelphia hits.
Steve Mura, 5-6, lost for the Cards, who fell out of first place in the NL East for the first time since April 15.

McEnroe Swallowing His Anger At Wimbledon

WIMBLEDON, England (AP) — It is somehow fitting that just minutes from where the goodly Dr. Jekyll downed the potion that made him the beastly Mr. Hyde, John McEnroe rails against his own darker side.

But fight it he does, swallowing what anger he

Braves 7, Dodgers 2
Braves pitcher Rick Mahler, 7-5, belted his first career home run and hurled a complete-game seven-hitter as Atlanta downed the Dodgers and Fernando Valenzuela.

"It's one of the big thrills of my career," Mahler said. "I can't hit one in batting practice. It's like a dream."

Mahler's two-run homer off reliever Alejandro Pena capped a four-run outburst in the sixth inning as the Braves chased Valenzuela, 9-6, with four consecutive singles.

It was only the third loss in 12 games for the third-place Dodgers.
Cubs 6, Pirates 5
Chicago's Junior Kennedy stroked a 10th-inning RBI double off Randy Niemann to give the Cubs the victory after the Pirates had tied the score in the bottom of the ninth.

Cub reliever Bill Campbell, 1-3, picked up the victory, although he gave up Dave Parker's RBI grounder in the ninth which tied the game at 5-5. It was Campbell's first NL triumph.

Giants 9, Astros 8
Max Venable's pinch-hit RBI single in the eighth inning led San Francisco to the victory after the Giants had squandered a 6-1 lead.

"It would have hurt a lot if we had lost tonight," said the Giants' Joe Morgan, who made his first career start at third base. "We got shut down by a good pitcher yesterday (Vern Ruhle), but today our guys scored some runs. This is one we should have won."

The Giants had taken a five-run lead midway through the game but still had to come from behind to topple the Astros, who regained the lead with a six-run explosion in the sixth inning.
Giants reliever Fred Breining, 4-1, was the winner. Greg Minton worked the last two innings to record his 12th save.

can on the neatly manicured lawns of the All-England Lawn Tennis and Croquet Club. It is like shadow-boxing in front of a mirror, except here some 8,000 people are looking on.

Jimmy Connors, who long ago tempered somewhat the demons that continue to haunt McEnroe, highlighted today's card when he put his No. 2 seeding on the line against Australian John Alexander.

In other men's matches, third-seeded Vitas Gerulaitis took on New Zealander Bruce Delrin, No. 4 Sandy Mayer met Colin Dowdeswell of Britain and No. 11 Brian Teacher of the United States got his tournament bid underway against Israeli Shlomo Glickstein.

The ranked women, all of whom received byes in the opening round, also made their debut today as top-seeded Martina Navratilova, No. 3 Tracy Austin, No. 4 Andrea Jaeger and fifth-seeded Hana Mandlikova of Czechoslovakia took the court.
Second-seeded Chris Evert Lloyd, in keeping with Wimbledon tradition of having the defending champion open play, defeated Barbara Sue Gerken on Tuesday.

McEnroe, who opened on Center Court Monday in an impressive victory, moments after wiping out Eddie Edwards of South Africa 6-3, 6-3, 7-5 in a second-round match Wednesday showed that the feathers of the reigning champion still ruffle.

A reporter asked the New Yorker if he "is purposely backing off the throttle a bit?"

"You might put it that way," McEnroe said. "I hope to enjoy my tennis career. This way, as time goes on, it will be easier."

Yet, it didn't go that way Tuesday. With his strokes erratic from the outset, his temperament joined in.

After cruising through the first two sets with nothing more than minor disruptions, McEnroe missed an easy volley in the third game of the final set. He lifted the ball with his racket and then slammed it into the net. An umpire issued him a warning.

For the third straight day, rain curtailed the card Wednesday and left tournament officials facing a backlog of dozens of matches.

Two other seeded men players reached the second round as No. 12 Mark Edmondson of Australia outlasted American Marty Davis 7-6, 7-5, 7-5 and 15th-seeded Buster Mottram of Britain overcame a tiebreaker loss to overtake 20-year-old Anders Jarryd of Sweden 6-7, 6-1, 6-3, 6-2.

He became annoyed at the moving crowd. Noises distracted him. He made his displeasure known by stalling, gesturing and even approached the umpire's stand.

Another Punchless Lineup A's Defeated By Royals, 1-0

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
AP Sports Writer

The Oakland A's tried to pull some rabbits out of a hat, but all that came out was another punchless lineup.
Having lost seven of their last eight games, during which they were shut out twice and held to one run on two other occasions, the A's decided to try a little black magic and have center fielder Dwayne Murphy pull the batting order out of a hat.

Rickey Henderson, normally the sensational leadoff man, hit eighth, while cleanup slugger Tony Aarnas was in the second spot. Nothing helped. The A's managed four mealy singles and dropped a 1-0 decision to Larry Gura and the Kansas City Royals.

"This is the fourth time I've done this in my managing career," said Billy Martin. "It's the first time it didn't work. We'll go back to our regular lineup the next time. It was just something to try and snap the team out of it."

In other American League games, California shaded Texas 5-3, Boston handed Detroit its 10th consecutive setback 10-4, New York edged Milwaukee 3-2, Minnesota erupted for six runs in the ninth inning and beat Chicago 6-3, Baltimore defeated Cleveland 3-1 and Toronto downed Seattle 5-3 in 11 innings.

The Royals scored in the ninth after Brian Kingman walked Hal McRae to open the inning. Bob Ovwchinko relieved, walked Willie Aikens and was replaced by Dave Beard, who retired the next two batters before U.L. Washington singled to score pinch runner Dennis Werth.

"We're going to take batting practice in the hotel lobby tomorrow," said Martin. "We won't have to worry. We won't break any lamps, I guarantee it."

Martin even had some nice words to say about Gura — whom he traded away from the Yankees in 1976 and had disparaged ever since — and vice versa.
"He did a heck of a job out there," Martin said. "I know Gura doesn't like me, but he's a great pitcher. You've got to congratulate a guy for that."

"You can tell Billy I like him," Gura replied. "I don't hold any grudges. I just didn't like the way he used me back then, that's all. But, heck, he's a great manager. He's proved that everywhere he's gone."

Angels 5, Rangers 3
Reggie Jackson slammed a two-run homer and Rob Wilfong had three hits and scored twice as California maintained its half-game lead over Kansas City in the AL West. Winner Ken Forsch was tagged for solo home runs by Dave Hostetler and Buddy Bell, while Hostetler hit another off reliever Andy Hassler. Jackson hit his 14th homer in the seventh to chase loser Doc Medich.

Red Sox 10, Tigers 4
Glenn Hoffman drove in four runs with a tie-breaking, two-run homer and a single. Hoffman's fifth home run of the season came with two out in the sixth inning following a single by Dave Stapleton and a wild pitch by loser Jack Morris to snap a 3-3 tie. Hoffman's single capped a four-run seventh inning. Dwight Evans had a homer and two doubles for Boston and drove in three runs.

Yankees 3, Brewers 2
Roy Smalley slammed a three-run homer in the fifth inning and Mike Morgan and Rich Gossage combined on a seven-hitter as the Yankees snapped the Brewers' seven-game winning streak. Gossage relieved with two on and one out in the seventh and retired Robin Yount and Cecil Cooper. The Brewers had runners at first and third with none out in the eighth, but Gossage struck out Gorman Thomas and Roy Howell and retired pinch hitter Don Money on a fly ball.

Milwaukee took a 2-0 lead, including Ben Oglivie's 17th homer, but the Yankees rallied in the fifth on a walk, John Mayberry's single and Smalley's two-out homer, his seventh.

Twins 6, White Sox 3
Tim Lardner's tie-breaking, three-run homer capped Minnesota's six-run ninth. Tom Brunansky started the rally with a walk and Chicago starter Dennis Lamp was lifted in favor of Kevin Hickey. Kent Hrbek singled Brunansky to third and he scored on pinch hitter Jesus Vega's infield hit off White Sox relief ace Salome Barojas. Gary Ward tried to sacrifice and Barojas threw late to third. Gary Gaetti then singled up the middle for two runs and one out later, Lardner homered.

Orioles 3, Indians 1
Jim Palmer pitched seven strong innings to gain his 253rd lifetime victory — tying Carl Hubbell for 30th place on the all-time major league list — Eddie Murray drove home the winning run with an eighth-inning double and Cal Ripken Jr. homered and singled for a pair of RBIs.

Blue Jays 5, Mariners 3
Rookie shortstop Vance McHenry's throwing error as he attempted to complete an inning-ending double play allowed two Toronto runs to score in the 11th inning. McHenry was appearing in his first game since being recalled from the minors. The Blue Jays, who were blanked on four hits over the first eight innings by Floyd Bannister, took a 3-2 lead in the top of the ninth on solo homehit. The Mariners tied it in the bottom of the inning.

Turner's Contract With NCAA Trouble

By LARRY SIDONS AP
Sports Writer

College football's first two-network season has run into trouble, 2½ months before the opening kickoff. The problem involves Ted Turner and his cable-television contract with the NCAA.

ABC and its Atlanta affiliate, WSB, are angry over Turner's plans to broadcast NCAA football on WTBS, his Atlanta-based "super station," according to knowledgeable sources.

It is unclear what effect the matter might have on this fall's TV football slate. ABC and CBS, which share the four-year, $283.5 million network contract for college football, and Turner have announced the backbone of their respective schedules, and the sources stressed that this skirmish could not scuttle the multimillion-dollar deal.

But, the case underscores the growing competition between the television networks, which have controlled home sports viewing for decades, and the cable industry, which is taking an increasingly large bite of the TV sports pie.
WTBS is the anchor of the network Turner put together when he paid an estimated $17 million for the cable rights earlier this year. It will bounce its signal off a satellite for distribution to cable systems nationwide.
At the same time, however, the games will be going through the air — free — to all Atlanta households. WTBS is a UHF station, broadcasting on Channel 17.

That's what has WSB and ABC upset. They feel that such over-the-air telecasts violate the network's exclusivity contract with the NCAA.

There's another part to the Turner-ABC battle.
Both ABC and CBS have priority to any game on the NCAA schedule, with right of first refusal alternating under a system of "control dates."

WTBS says it plans to carry the Boston College-Texas A&M game, the first contest for the Aggies under Coach Jackie Sherrill, as its first telecast Sept. 4.
But, the game is scheduled for Sept. 11, an ABC control date, and there's a possibility the network will chose the BC-A&M game for its national telecast.

The sources said ABC plans to formally notify the NCAA of its displeasure with the situation and ask that a solution be found.
Officials at the NCAA and WTBS were out of their offices when telephone calls soliciting comment were made.
ABC spokesmen declined to comment.

Editor Says 'Excellence' Is The Key To Survival

DALLAS (AP) — The printed word still has power — and money — in America, but that could change if newspapers don't improve the services they give advertisers and readers, an editor tells publishers.

Robert J. Haiman, executive editor of the St. Petersburg (Fla.) Times, told the American Newspaper Publishers Association convention Wednesday that the new electronic media — "videotext" and "teletext" news and information systems — need not kill daily print journalism.

"Newspapers are going to survive; you can bet on it," Haiman said. Then he added, "Some newspapers are going to survive."

"Some of us are not going to be winners," he said. "Some of us are going to be losers" in the war with the video "press."

"Newspapers are the No. 1 advertising medium in the United States," Haiman said. "There's plenty of money and we're getting our share. But if we blow it, we deserve to lose."

Haiman urged the publishers to "keep electronic newspapers rather small and insignificant" by improving newspapers' quality and by controlling the new industry as much as possible.

"For example, if classified ads go electronic, make sure they're OUR classifieds," he said.

"There's no easy way out," he said. "What we're talking about is quality... But trends and innovations give heart. Editors have never been more alert to their responsibilities (than now) in the aftermath of Vietnam and Watergate."

Newspapers are in danger if standards fall, but "excellence is invulnerable," Haiman said.

The speakers at the American Newspaper Publishers Association meeting here discussed "The Wiring of America: Should We Be Holding a Wake For Printing?"

Ben B. Smylie, who said he grew up in a newspaper family and "loves" the business, was pessimistic about the fate of the press. He urged publishers to switch to the teletext "newspaper."

"There seems to be a growing public and advertiser feeling that newspapers are dying," said Smylie, vice president of KEYCOM Electronic Publishing of Chicago. "It's only a question of when, not if."

Publishers should begin thinking electronically because in the new industry, "anyone can play — anyone, including the phone company, can set up the new machinery" for teletext or videotext systems, he said.

"Watch out, because the competition will be coming at you," Smylie said.

Leo Bogart of New York, executive vice president and general manager of the Newspaper Advertising Bureau, said some form of printed newspapers will survive, but they might not be mass publications, which is unfortunate because newspapers are "not just a vehicle for advertising, but (help) maintain a free society."

Many papers already are stopping delivery in areas — like inner city minority neighborhoods — advertisers see as "less desirable," he said.

"Neither the advertiser nor the newspapers want them," Bogart said.

Hotel Fire Investigation Ends In Accident Ruling

HOUSTON (AP) — Arson investigators have ended a 15-week inquiry into a hotel fire that killed 12 people by deciding no charges will be filed because of the blaze they said was started by a dropped cigarette.

"We can't prove neglect and can't prove intent," Leonard Mikeska, chief arson investigator, said Wednesday. "There is no reason to believe the fire was anything other than accidental."

Mikeska said the March 6 fire at the Westchase Hilton Hotel apparently began when a cigarette was dropped into an overstuffed chair in room 404.

The chair smoldered for about an hour, then exploded into flames when one of the guests returned early in the morning and threw open the door to rescue another man who was nearly overcome by smoke.

Guests above the fourth floor told investigators they smelled smoke about an hour before the blaze was reported at 2:28 a.m., Mikeska said. He said investigators took that as evidence the fire was accidental.

"This is not indicative of an accelerant, but is indicative of a smoldering-type fire," Mikeska said.

Mikeska said two misdemeanor fire code violation charges, one against a hotel employee and the other against its management, were dropped in the course of the investigation in an effort to keep the hotel management's good will.

"We felt the cooperation and communication that we had with the hotel would be hampered if the charges were proceeded with," he said.

One count had named a desk clerk who repeatedly turned off a preliminary signal on the hotel's fire alarm system. He was charged with failure to report a fire immediately. The clerk said later he did not realize he was disarming the entire alarm system.

Mikeska said fire department officials based their ruling on a series of tests conducted in the last three months. He said similar chairs burst into flames after 105 minutes of smoldering set off by a burning cigarette.

Room 404 had been occupied by two couples earlier in the evening, Mikeska said. One couple left before midnight. The remaining woman left at 12:45 a.m., Mikeska said. The first couple discovered smoke when they returned about 2:30 a.m., Mikeska said.

DEAR READER - Hay fever is an allergy and it is that time of year again for those who are allergic to certain trees and grass. The ragweed season comes in the fall.

DEAR READER - That is a half, distorted truth. There is a mold that produces aflatoxins. These molds are widespread in the air and soil. And in sufficient quantities over a period of time aflatoxins can cause cancer. This has been demonstrated in many animals, including monkeys. The peanut butter does not cause the mold (fungus). The mold is in the ground. It can affect other ground nuts as well.

Kenalog has essentially the same actions as corticosterone. Two shots a year are not going to shorten your life if you do not have some underlying medical problem that these medicines would aggravate. Your story suggests that you do not and your doctor has no reason to think that you do. They are very effective against allergies, and for persistent problems they can be used temporarily as an approach in many cases it to determine exactly what a person is allergic to and then desensitize him to that substance. This must be done well in advance of the season for the allergy if it is to be effective.
Of course, if the cause of the allergy is known and can be avoided, that is the most effective method of treatment.
