A Week's Camping Trip In The Mountains--For $23

Would you be interested in a trip to the mountains in Northeastern New Mexico, 265 miles away, and all food and lodging for a week—all for $23?

Unfortunately, the offer isn't open to everyone. But the Hereford Council of Camp Fire Girls is looking for about 60 girls to take such a trip.

Any girls—who will be in grades 5 through 12 this fall—are eligible. If they're interested they may sign up tonight at a pre-camp orientation session scheduled for the Camp Fire Lodge at 7 p. m.

This evening's session is specifically designed for girls who have never attended a camp such as this one, planned for Aug. 2-8 in the beautiful Sangre de Cristo Mountain Range of Northeastern New Mexico.

Slides and films made on previous years' camps will be shown.

The camp, 18 miles southeast of Taos, N. M., is the highlight of the year for the local Camp Fire organization. It has facilities for 200 persons—175 girls and 25 adult women counselors. So far, 112 of the 300 Camp Fire girls old enough to make the trip have signed up.

Girls not presently in Camp Fire Girls, Inc., will have the opportunity to attend tonight and sign up also, sponsors emphasized. Any girls who do decide to go on the trip will be asked to join Camp Fire Girls as a prerequisite, and pay the annual $3 national membership fee.

"Our camp is officially known as Camp Makuwa (the Indian name for Camp in the Enchanted Mountains)," a Camp Fire Lodge leader said. "It offers a beautiful mountain climb, complete modern cabins, rigid safety standards, good food and easy access to the camp itself. There are no poisonous reptiles. There will be a registered nurse in camp and a doctor on call."

Only the Hereford Camp Fire Girls will occupy the camp during the week.

During the week, the girls will create their own outdoor camp, setting up tents and outdoor eating and sleeping facilities. They will participate in archery, riflery, horseback riding, volleyball, hiking, swimming and creative arts and crafts programs.

"The girls also will learn basic skills in canoeing and riding rafts," said Mrs. Earnest Langley, one of the Camp Fire leaders. The canoes and rafts will go down streams that are only about knee deep. In a departure from past years, the camp swimming pool will be made available to the girls this year.

Arrangements also have been made for the girls to go to Taos to go through the highly-rated Indian and Spanish museum there.

The girls and counselors will leave Hereford by bus at 8:30 a. m. Sunday, Aug. 2 and will leave the New Mexico camp the following Saturday after clean-up chores have been completed and the buses are loaded.

Rides Already Operating Booths For Carnival Open Soon

Lions Club members are working at a hectic pace this week as they prepare for the opening Friday of the game booths for the annual Lions Club-sponsored Carnival.

Rides for the carnival began operating Wednesday. Both the rides and the game booths will remain open through Aug. 1 at the Bull Barn grounds on Dairy Road.

Rides will begin operating each evening at 7 p. m. and the game booths will open shortly after that time each day.

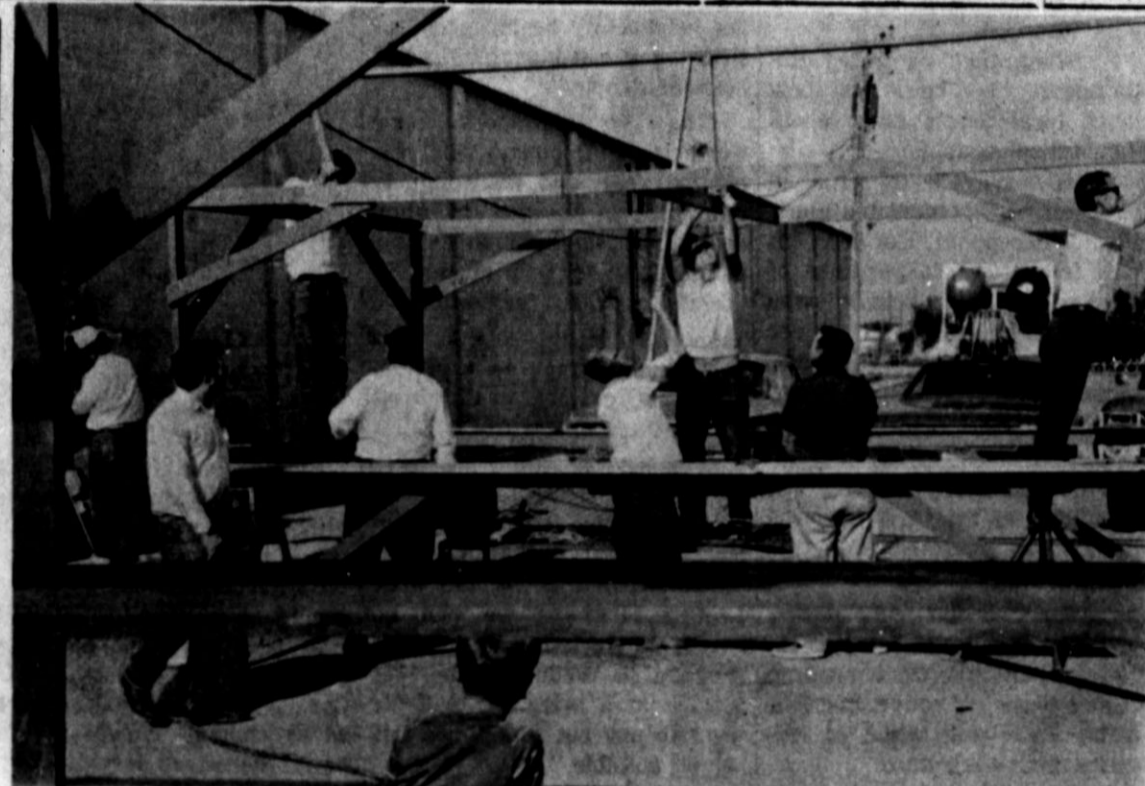

The Amarillo Gunfighters, a special attraction during the carnival, will stage their performance Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday evenings at 9 p. m. instead of the originally scheduled 7:30 p. m.

The Gunfighters will perform their own western shootouts during the three-night stand, inside the Bull Barn. There will be no admission charge to the performances, which will feature the use of real Colt .45 revolvers and authentic western clothing.

The carnival rides this year include the octopus, tilt-a-whirl, hammer, merry-go-round, kiddie rides and others.

The game booths will include bingo, bear pitch, golf ball roll, dart balloon, glass pitch, number darts, doll rack, cigarette board, coke bottle pitch, basketball pitch, keg pitch and concession stands.

The concession stand normally handled by the Future Homemakers of America, will be given to the newly formed Leo Club so it may raise money for projects during the coming year.

The club's booths will open Friday while the rides began operating Wednesday. The carnival will run through Aug. 1.

Officials Urged To Prepare For Any Emergency

The needs and problems caused when a tornado hits a city or community were discussed Tuesday during a meeting of the Civil Emergency Planning Committee of the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce.

About 20 persons representing the school, county, city and chamber heard Bill Payne, Lubbock Civil Defense Director, discuss the problems caused by the May 7 tornado that caused millions of dollars worth of damage to the Hub City.

He told the group of the experiences the Lubbock Civil Defense had when the tornado hit Lubbock and the ways the city officials were able to handle the situation because of preparedness on their part.

Payne discussed the need for support from other organizations when such an emergency occurs and said the use of communications and back-up crews were also a great necessity.

He suggested that the city of Hereford make plans for such an emergency. He said the key city and county officials should be gathered in a central location during such emergencies so they could make a unified decision.

Chamber manager Bill Thompson said the meeting was "not to show pictures of wrecked buildings as such, but to discuss the planning and organization related to a 'real' situation."

Police Look Into Two Burglaries At Local Motel

Two separate break-ins during the past two days at a local motel netted burglars approximately $400 in cash and other items.

Carson Belt of McKinney, who was staying at the Elm Courts motel, reported to police that sometime between 10:30 p. m. Monday and 7 a. m. Tuesday, someone entered his room and took approximately $310 in valuables.

Police said there were no signs of forceable entry into Belt's room.

Taken was a billfold containing five $20-bills, and a check for $129.20, a gold watch valued at $95 and a cigarette lighter.

Edward Mears reported that sometimes during the night Tuesday, someone entered his apartment at the Elm Courts and took $80 in cash from his room.

Entry was gained through a window after a screen was cut, police said.

Both burglaries are still under investigation by city police.

Last Of A Series:

Board May Ask County To Okay Hospital District

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the last of a five-part series on the Deaf Smith County Hospital and changes that are being viewed to put the facility back on a sound financial footing.)

By CHARLES RICHARDS
News Editor

The Hospital Board, in its joint meeting with the Deaf Smith County Commissioners Court Monday, will seek support for establishing a county hospital district.

The hospital, because of declining numbers of patients, rising costs and increasing charity loss, has said it must cut its costs to the bone in order to survive. It also feels additional revenue must come "both from our patients and from others in the way of helping with our charity loss."

The hospital board will ask the county for immediate help in the way of additional money from county tax revenues. For the long term, it wants a hospital district, which would draw its own tax monies for financial needs.

The formation of a hospital district would cause county taxes to drop to such an extent that the total of taxes paid to the county and to the hospital district would be less than to the county alone, the board feels.

"Creating a hospital district is not a perfect solution," hospital administrator T. E. Seigler said. "We have waited in proposing this until we could see the experiences of other counties who changed to a hospital district."

Seigler and other members of the board looked in particular at Moore, Bailey, Garza and Hansford counties—all of which have hospital districts now.

"They like it very much," Seigler said. "The chief difference is that while it does set up another taxing agency, the overall county tax is lowered."

This is because of any county taxes levied, a large percentage off the top goes immediately to the state. Thus if the county needs to get $80,000 in money for the hospital, it must assess $100,000 in taxes so that $80,000 will still be left after the state gets its share. With a hospital district, only $80,000 would need to be assessed in taxes, since the state gets none of it.

And, of course, with the formation of a hospital district, any money that previously had been going for the hospital would be freed for other purposes or would not be collected.

All-Stars Fall 6-3, In LL Area Tourney

The 1970 baseball season has ended for the Hereford Little League All-Stars.

They went down at the hands of the Dimmitt All-Stars, 6-3, Tuesday night here before a crowd that overflowed the stands on the first night of the area Little League Tournament.

Hereford's first three batters got on base and scored, but Dimmitt wiped out the 3-4 deficit quickly with four runs of its own in the bottom of the first. The visitors then added single runs in the second and fourth innings to wrap up the contest.

Terry Hill, the Dimmitt pitcher, started and went all the way in picking up the victory. He yielded only four hits, struck out 10 and walked only one.

David Charest pitched the first 1 2-3 innings for Hereford and absorbed the loss. Albert Gonzales, who started at third base, switched places with Charest with the bases loaded and two out in the second inning, with Dimmitt holding a 5-3 lead.

Charest gave up only one hit but walked nine batters. Gonzales gave up two hits and walked three in his 4 1-3 innings.

Hereford jumped into the first-inning lead on a walk, a double and two errors. Right-fielder Kelly Kitchens hit a grounder that Dimmitt third baseman Jim Birdwell couldn't handle and advanced to second on a passed ball before center-fielder Kirk Spain walked.

Charest then rapped a double to right field to score Kitchens and send Spain to third. Gonzales' grounder to Hill let Spain score and when the Dimmitt pitcher threw high to first base Charest came across with the third run. Hill then quelled the rally by successively striking out shortstop Frank Mancillas, leftfielder Roy Martinez and first baseman Vance Hennington.

For Dimmitt, centerfielder Larry Robb and shortstop Brad Dulaney walked to put runners on first and second.

With one out, first baseman Ronnie Lawson hit a grounder to the pitcher, and when Charest's throw to third base was late, the bases were loaded. Rightfielder Thompson Mayberry singled in Robb, a passed ball by Hereford catcher Archie Crim let Dulaney score and Charest then walked three Dimmitt batters to force in two runs and give the visitors their 4-3 margin.

Dimmitt got another run in the second inning on four walks and an error and another in the fourth on a single, a stolen base

Search Begins For Director Of Day Care Center

The search is on for a director of the new Day Care Center that will open in Hereford soon.

Tom Burdett, chairman of a fund-raising drive for the center, said the board of directors will accept applications for the position through Aug. 1.

Anyone interested in applying may write Day Care Center, Inc., at Box 806, Hereford, or call the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce office at 364-3333 and tell where they can be reached for an interview.

As soon as a director is hired work will begin on the building to make such changes and repairs as are necessary to make the facilities useable.

The drive for the $20,000 needed to establish a Day Care Center here was extended through this week because numerous corporation inquiries had been made and replies were not received and others had not been contacted.

All individuals and businesses that have not been contacted are urged to send their contributions to Day Care Center, Inc., at Box 806 or call the chamber office and leave their name.

Contributions from church groups or civic organizations are welcome, supporters of the

UF Chairman, Drive Date Set

The newly elected United Fund Drive chairman for 1970 says "This is the year we've got to get back on top!"

Melvin Jayroe was elected Wednesday morning by the board of directors to lead this year's campaign, for which $39,500 is the goal to be met. Recent drives have failed to reach the proposed goals.

A brisk "head-on" two-week campaign will be held October 12 to 24, during the midst of the Amarillo area United Good Neighbors campaign. It was felt by the board that in this manner, Hereford's campaign could utilize the broad advertising put out by Amarillo.

Jayroe led the campaign as chairman some three years ago, and chaired the board the following year.

Formerly, Jayroe served as manager of Southwestern Public Service Company, and is now a partner in the Lone Star Agency, working primarily with real estate sales.

City Commission Gives Insurance To Lone Star

By MARSHALL DAY
Staff Writer

The city commission, following the same steps as the county commission, named Lone Star Insurance Agency Monday as the servicing agency for the city's insurance policies.

Dr. H. A. "Hap" Cavness, sworn in Monday night, participated in the meeting. Cavness took the post vacated by the resignation of Don Baugous.

In the past, the city insurance policies have been handled by Robinson and Associates, but the city council decided to award the lions share of the policies to Lone Star.

The county commissioners, in a meeting in June, also awarded their policies to Lone Star as the servicing agent.

The city commissioners decided to include all four other insurance agencies — La Plata, Hereford Insurance, Robinson and Associates, and Southwestern Life — as participating agencies in the policies.

"Several other agencies indicated they would like to participate in the premium," commissioner Roland Barton said, "so there will be a meeting held where all insurance companies will be able to discuss whether they will become involved in the policies."

The city's insurance policies were first handled by Plains Insurance Agency, which got 50 per cent of the profit because it was the servicing agency. Plains then sold out to Robinson and Associates and the insurance policies were then continued with that company.

Robinson and Associates became affiliated with an Amarillo-based firm recently, and the policies of both the city and county have been turned over to Lone Star to handle the servicing.

The commissioners discussed whether to have a minimum "in business" time limit set for participating agencies, and voted to set the time at three years.

"Non-writing participants will be required to have the three-year limitation before they can become involved in the policies and the pro-status premium must be paid by the writing company the week the policy is taken out," city manager Dudley Bayne said.

Under the minimum "in business" time limit, any company that goes into business after the city commission meeting Monday must wait at least three years before they can become participating agencies in the city's insurance policies.

The commissioners voted to give the writing agency 50 per cent of the profits of the policy with the remaining 50 per cent to be divided between the other participating agencies.

Mexicans Wanted CC Spot

A spokesman for Mexican-American residents of Hereford expressed strong disappointment this week that a member of his race was not given adequate consideration by the city commission for the office of city commissioner vacated by the recent resignation of Don Baugous.

Noe Salinas said Tuesday the city commission did not have a public notice on the bulletin board at city hall at 12:30 Monday afternoon, saying the vacant post would be filled that night during the council's regularly scheduled meeting.

Under the Texas Open Meeting law, governing bodies must post an agenda of its meeting three days in advance.

"I do know for a fact," Salinas said, "that at 12:30 yesterday there was not a notice of the meeting, but there was at 1:30. I have witnesses that will back this up."

City Manager Dudley Bayne said the reason the notice was not on the board at that time was that it was taken down so mimeograph copies could be made for the Monday night meeting.

"Our copying machine was broken and we just stuck the original agenda on the bulletin board. We took it down Monday afternoon to make some copies for the meeting that night. It was only down for about two hours and had been posted since last Thursday," Bayne said.

Salinas said a number of interested Mexican-Americans had written letters to the city manager requesting "equal consideration for a Mexican-American" for the vacant commissioner's post. He said about 35 letters had been sent to the manager which contained approximately 60 names.

Bayne said he had received a number of post cards and letters concerning the consideration of a Mexican-American for the post, but it appeared they had been written and signed by the same person.

"All the letters were asking for equal representation on the commission," Bayne said.

Salinas came to the City Commission meeting Monday

Schools Get More Students Each Year

Roy Hartman, superintendent of the Hereford School District, told Rotarians Monday of a steadily rising enrollment in the local schools over the past 10 years.

Hartman showed graphs demonstrating the turn-over of students in general and the growth of the Latin American and Negro students and the growth of the Latin American and Negro students as compared to 1958 figures.

In 1959, there were 2,947 students in the Hereford schools at the start of the year, and that figure increased to 5,960 for 1969.

Total enrollment for 1969 was 3,473, withdrawal of students during the school year was 1,023, and the system ended the year with 2,450 students, which is a 34.8 per cent turn-over.

"This hasn't changed over the years," said Hartman. "The figures have grown but the percentage is the same. In 1969 we had a total of 7,011 students, 2,159 that withdrew, ending up with 4,852, which is still 34.8 per cent turn-over."

Hartman pulled down another chart which indicated that in the past school year of 1970, the system dropped off to 4,730 students, a difference of almost 600.

Hartman said that in September of 1958 there were 2,092

Hereford mounted a three at in the fifth inning but was unable to convert it into runs. Kitchens got on by an error on Dulaney at shortstop for Dimmitt and advanced to second on a passed ball. After Dimmitt first baseman Lawson leaped high to snare Spain's line drive, Charest hit a grounder to second and was safe when Lawson couldn't hold onto the throw.

Charest stole second to put two men in scoring position, and the tying run at the plate but Gonzales and Mancillas both went down swinging.

Crim led the Hereford hitting attack with a single and double in three trips to the plate. Besides Charest's run-scoring double in the first inning, the local

In the other game in the first night doubleheader, Canyon ousted the Castro County All-Stars, 11-4, after falling behind early. "We were not in disagreement with the appointment of Dr. Cavness to the office," Salinas said, "just disappointed because we were hoping to get someone on the commission to represent us."

"I guess Hap (Cavness) is supposed to be our representative," he said.

A group of Mexican-Americans, known as the United Mexican-American Organization, was in the process of naming a person for consideration to the commission port, when the announcement of Cavness was made, he added.

The group was to name the person, give him their support and present him in the form of a petition to the city commission, Salinas said. Since Cav-

Anglo students, 551 Mexican Americans, and 41 Negro. The increase in 1969 was mostly with Spanish and Negro students. There were 2,571, Anglos, 2,495 Mexican Americans and 102 Negroes.

"In high school alone," he said, "there was an increase of 721 Latins from grades 7-12. This means that we are keeping these people in school longer and giving them an increase of education than what we had to offer over 11 years ago."

The cost on the local school level was set at $522.03 per student in 1968. In 1969, it rose to $550.32 and in 1970, it reached a height of $590.14 per student.

Hartman also showed slides concerning what various people think of superintendents. Teachers, he said, seem to think he's a Salinas Marner; a miser of the worst type, hoarding all the money. The public has a different image. They see the head of their schools as a little man joyfully flinging money from one end to another. They can't figure out where it goes.

"And what does the superintendent see himself as?" asked ness was appointed before the petition could be drawn up, the idea was killed.

Salinas said a meeting was scheduled Tuesday night at St. Anthony's Church to decide on a candidate to the commission.

"We were trying to do it legally because that is the way we think it should be done," Salinas said.

He said there was no political ambition involved in trying to get a Mexican-American on the city commission, just an effort to get someone on the board that would let the commission know the needs of the Mexican-Americans of the community.

Hospital

State law requires enabling legislation before a hospital district can be formed. Since the state legislature does not meet until next Jan. 1, the matter will have to wait until then, if the county commissioners do give their approval for the proposal. Then county residents would have to okay it after the legislature set it up.

"The way I see it, the people would have a right to tell us, that the money raised by taxes would go only for a bond issue, or only for charity," Seigler said. "We do feel right now that if we went to a hospital district it would not cost taxpayers any more and we might save some."

"If it's going to raise taxes any, the hospital board has taken the position that we would not want it."

The hospital can last it out for another few months even if the records continue in the red, but Seigler would like to get help before he is in the position of not being able to pay hospital debts.

"The commissioners are working on a budget for the coming year, and we would be interested in knowing if they could find, somewhere in their budget, something to allocate to hospital charity," Seigler said.

Another thing is whether the hospital will want to continue admitting charity cases from out of county.

"For several years we have taken pride in the fact that we have been able to provide quality service at a charge to our patients much below the area average. Perhaps we can no longer do so. It is a fine desire to want to render the best of service at a price our patients want to pay but sometimes this is not possible."

A new member, Bud Snyder, an officer at the First National Bank, was initiated into the club Monday.

Snyder and his wife Marcia and two children came to Hereford in 1964. He came into the club as an active member under the classification of Finance and Agriculture.

Pioneer Club Hosts Mid-Summer Coffee

A mid-summer coffee held Tuesday in the home of Mrs. Ted Panciera, broke the vacation lull for members of Pioneer Study Club. Assisting hostesses were Mrs. Ralph McCullough and Mrs. Delmar Sigle.

During a brief business meeting the club voted to change the budget, adding donations for the Day Care Center to the continued practice of donations to the United Fund.

The deadline for bulb orders was set for Aug. 1, according to Mrs. McCullough, chairman.

A historical marker for Mother's Park is to be ordered from the Texas Historical Marker Society. The deed to the park was presented to Mrs. Panciera, club president, by Mrs. L. H. Lookingbill, Sr., past president.

Mrs. J. V. Pickens was elected to serve as vice-president to replace Mrs. Bonnie Brumley, who resigned.

Others attending were Mmes. Frank Ball, Fred Barrett, Allan Bell, Herman Ford, Henry Hastings, O. G. Hill Sr., Ray Johnson, H. E. Miller, Mary Sigler, M. L. Simpson, Bess Werner and William Wimberley.

The 'micro buggy'... when you're too young for a driver's license and too old for a bicycle.

It just had to happen! First the mini bike... and now the 'micro buggy'. Powerful, beautiful, super-exciting! The closest thing to a motorized set of wheels a youngster can own. The metal flake fiber glass body isn't all show. Underneath there's a 4 HP Tecumseh engine that's just rarin' to go, a 2-wheel drive utilizing a true rear end differential, scrub brakes and the fattest rear tires you ever saw... would you believe 8 inches fat? The 'micro buggy' is limited to off-the-road driving, but that shouldn't cut down on the fun. There are still plenty of places where you can sharpen your driving skills. Come into Penneys and see 'micro buggy' for yourself. It's about time you had your own set of wheels.

By MELVIN YOUNG

One local housewife we know watches both the Johnny Carson show and the Merv Griffin show each night, using her remote tv control to switch from station-to-station during commercials. Occasionally she gets to view parts of the movie on the third channel when the commercials coincide.

The local Camp Fire Council's camping committee is having problems this year. To make a long story short, there have not been enough girls register for the camp. The committee signed a contract with the folks who operate Camp Summer Life, N.M., for 150 girls and are obligated to pay the fee for that many. To date, only 112 girls have registered for the camp and officials are in a quandry as to what to do.

In past years, the problem has been just the opposite. We've had more girls than space and consequently the committee thought they were on safe ground when they signed the contract for 150. Anyhow, we're short. So if some of you girls have changed your mind and wish to attend, contact Nita Lea at the Camp Fire Lodge immediately. You can still make it.

And parents, if you have a 5th grader or above in the Camp Fire program, encourage them to make the trip. It's a great experience for the girls. And it's an opportunity for you to get a few days vacation with the girls away.

As the old saying goes, when you get to the end of your rope, tie a knot in it and hang on.

Our youngest has taken her first jet-plane ride this week, flying to Dallas along with several other Hereford High School girls where they are attending a Drill Team seminar on the Campus of SMU. They will return Sunday.

Apparently, air and water pollution will be the big issues of the coming decade, and although we think of ourselves up on these high plains as being isolated from all that, it seems that we're not. Amarillo has been having problems lately with the smelter plant and air pollution, and of course you've read about the court battle to prevent the ranchers of Eastern New Mexico from using Toxaphene to kill range caterpillars. The courts have decided that the amount of toxaphene used would not pollute Lake Meredith. We hope they're right, since the economy of Eastern New Mexico is at stake on the one hand and the future of a very beautiful, and useful lake on the other. Lake Meredith supplies water for many area cities, including Amarillo and Lubbock.

Out in California, the courts have ruled against industry however is a case concerning construction of a new fossil-fuel generating plant slated for Playa del Rey, a suburb of Los Angeles.

The Los Angeles Superior Court sided with the city's Air Pollution Control District and denied a permit for construction of the plant. It was the fourth power facility to be canceled in the last two years because of claims of environmental hazards. "The public interest in preventing a g any increase in levels of air pollution is an overriding interest...when contrasted with the public interest in obtaining all electrical power", the Judge said.

Closer to home, the operators of two carbon black plants in the Seagraves area have been given an additional year to curb the flow of pollutants coming from plant smokestacks.

It is understandable that the people (and the courts) would want to do everything within their power to curb pollution of both the air and water, and we hope that this aim can be accomplished reasonably, and that in the process we do not drive out the industry that we need to keep our economy healthy and progressive. There is that danger, always.

Incidentally, work at Aerojet-General Corp. may rescue DDT, now under attack as a pollutant. Backed by a newly announced $150,000 Interior Dept. research contract, the El Monte (Calif.) company is looking for chemical ways to prevent the insecticide from persisting in the tissues of living creatures, sometimes poisoning them. The company has found that zinc and aluminum additives will make DDT less toxic and less persistent. Now it is trying to coat the additives to stop them from breaking down DDT too quickly. However, commercial availability of the additives is still several years away, the company says.

Other research is going on within the chemical industry as well, and we would hope that the time will come when all chemicals used in farming will be completely safe. After all, who wants to go back to "choppin' cotton", or having to depend on "Lady Bugs" for insect control. Chemicals do have their place if they can be used safely.

A smile, we're told, is the same in all languages.

People Play Strangest Games

By PENNY YOUNG
Staff Writer

Sit in your favorite drugstore for a couple of hours and watch the people walk in. There are the cowboys, businessmen, loafers, merchants, shy people, aggressive people, funny-dressin' people.

There are the classy dressers, mannerly people, rude people, I-don't-care people, I-care-very-much people, or fake-smile people who turn their back and grit their teeth because they saw you.

Now that you're here, just relax and watch "the games people play."

Take a sip of coffee and notice that a cowboy is walking through the doors. Not just the drug-sittin' tobacco-chewin' cowboy, but the down-to-earth hard worker who has to sweat for a livin' and knows what the meaning of work is. He's a pretty straight-forward guy.

"Howdy," he says, then he sits down and swings one dirt-sodden boot over his faced jeans, smiles at the girl behind the fountain and says, "a cup of coffee please, black." He stirs it quietly with half a smile on his face, leans on his elbows and takes a sip. You can't help but envy him. He has a way of life that takes him away from noises, ulcers and crowded buses.

The doors swing open again and a short red-faced man comes marching through, coat-tails flyin' in the quick breeze he creates. He looks at his watch, then notices a business acquaintance sitting in one of the booths. He shouts, "hey," and runs over to join him. The girl asks him what he wants, "Coffee," he says without even a moment's pause in his constant chatter. "And make it with lots of cream, I have a bad stomach," he finished to his friend.

If you listen closely, you might hear a few broken phrases of their conversation. How's business goin'? Have you got that new stock in yet?"

This type of person could make you tired just watching him. But be patient and you'll see that someone else is walking through the doors. A sales-lady. Composed, manneerly, barely smiling, but a smug sort of half-smile that makes her look pleasant. And she knows it. She is a well-dressed lady. That's part of her game.

As she quietly slides into one of the booths you notice an expression of puzzlement on her face. She can't decide if she should just have coffee or splurge this time and have some toast, with just a little bit of jam. Coffee it is, she decides. Another lady walks up. Her face brightens as she recognizes a good friend and immediately she asks, "How are you?"

Let's have a doughnut while we watch, and another cup of coffee please.

Two kids walk in and plop down on the stool, order a coke and sip it—all the time twisting around and around on the stool, looking for interesting things.

Have you ever watched a banker walk in a drugstore? Here comes one now.

The doors open slowly and a tall sophisticated looking man struts through straightening his lapels. He catches a glimpse of himself in the reflection of a shelf ornament and smooths his hair. He just has a minute for coffee, if that much, but he's not really in a hurry. He sits down casually and nods to you. You nod back. Bankers don't talk. They're too busy rollin' figures through their heads. This ones figuring out how much it will cost him if he drinks coffee over here for a month and skip every Wednesday and Sunday.

Lets take a little break before the next person walks in. The rude type of people are the ones who push through the door whether you're trying to come out the other side or not. They are the ones who brusquely brush past you and make their way to the fountain. If a chair is not in sight, they scowl and either stand and pout or turn and walk back out. Which is what you're secretly hoping they will do. This type of person hates everyone just because they are people. No one likes his little game and he plays it alone.

A shrill laughter comes pouncing through the doors and falls sharply on your already sensitive ears.

A lady of around 40 walks in.

She's a little on the chubby side and appears to be hysterical over some minor meaningless joke that her companion, a thinner lady of about 35, has told.

These ladies work as sales-ladies or secretaries. . . no one knows for sure. They seem the versatile type and quite friendly.

They get along with everyone, as is quite plain from the way they greet every Tom, Dick and Harry sitting at a table or browsing around the store.

Our drugstore seems to be getting a little full. Guess we'd better get back to work and leave the various types of people to their chatter.

As I walk out of the drugstore, you hear a little old lady with a big mouth say, "Newspaper people. They play such funny games."

CWU Holds Bible School Next Week

Students of the Church Women United sponsored Bible school will view filmstrips on sex education, dental and medical health, hear lectures by public safety officials and take a field trip to an amusement park.

The ecumenical endeavor by the members of the six churches will take place at St. Joseph's School next week, Monday through Friday from 1 to 3 p. m.

Mrs. Paul Zinser of St. Anthony's Catholic Church is coordinator of the group's pilot bible school project. Directing the five classroom activities will be Mrs. Jim Arney of First United Methodist Church, preschool; Mrs. Johnny Johnson of St. Thomas Episcopal, first and second grades; Mrs. Bob Spangler of the Presbyterian Church, third and fourth grades; Mrs. Buryl Fish of the First Christian Church, fifth and sixth grades. Wesley Methodist Church, under the direction of Mrs. Boyd Collins, will furnish refreshments each day for the students.

Volunteer workers from each of the participating churches will cooperate with the classroom directors in teaching the expected 200 students. A nursery will be available for these workers' children at the First Christian Church. Mrs. Walter London governs this portion of the project.

The bible school is cooperating with Community Action Corporation director, Lorenzo Granada, for Thursday's free trip to Thompson Park in Amarillo.

Others presentations to the students will include Sgt. Jim Freeman, of the Department of Public Safety in Amarillo, speaking to the older youngsters about the dangers of experimenting with glue sniffing and narcotics, Dr. Hap Cavness showing films on dental care, Red Cross nurses speaking about nutrition and cleanliness, and a showing of the Concordia series of sex education films.

CWU directors expect to make this common effort of the member churches an annual affair, reaching those youngsters who missed earlier bible school sessions during family moves with the vegetable harvest.

CAMPFIRE SWIM MEET — Competition in various swim strokes, water games and diving compiled the categories of last week's swim meet. All-State Fullback Holds Down Guard For WTSU Buffs EDITORS NOTE: This is part of a series of articles on a position-by-position analysis of West Texas State University's 1970 football squad.

When Dale Donoho completes his eligibility at West Texas State University this fall he will be qualified to coach about any position one would care to name.

The Salem, Ill., senior will be at his fourth position this fall since he enrolled as a freshman. He's set to be the starting right offensive guard this fall for coach Joe Kerbel's Buffaloes.

Donoho, who plans a coaching career after graduation, came to West Texas as an all-state fullback out of Salem High School. He rushed for 1,076 yards his senior season. He played at that post as a freshman, but was switched to tight end.

Kerbel and his Buffalo coaching staff decided to make full use of Donoho's strong blocking, so they moved him to offensive tackle. He started there and the final half of last season and was moved to offensive guard during spring drills.

The 6-1½, 230-pounder will help fill gaps left in the Buff line by graduation. The two regular guards and the center from last fall were seniors.

Reginald Bassett, 235-pound junior from Fort Worth, will enter fall drills as the number one left guard, but both Bassett and Donoho will have strong competition from two sophomores.

Gary Rusten, 205-pounder from San Antonio, and Seminole's Steve Jones will be in strong competition for the guard posts, as will junior college transfer Greg McCoy. Both Rusten and Jones played defense last fall, Jones missed most of spring drills with an injured shoulder. That shoulder was operated on after spring training and he is expected to be at full strength this fall.

Joe Fiola, another converted defender, and big Wayne Adams finished spring practice at the starting tackle berths. Fiola was squadman last fall as a defensive guard, after transferring from Citrus Junior College in California. Adams, 6-4 and 270, is a junior from Houston. He started at tackle most of last fall.

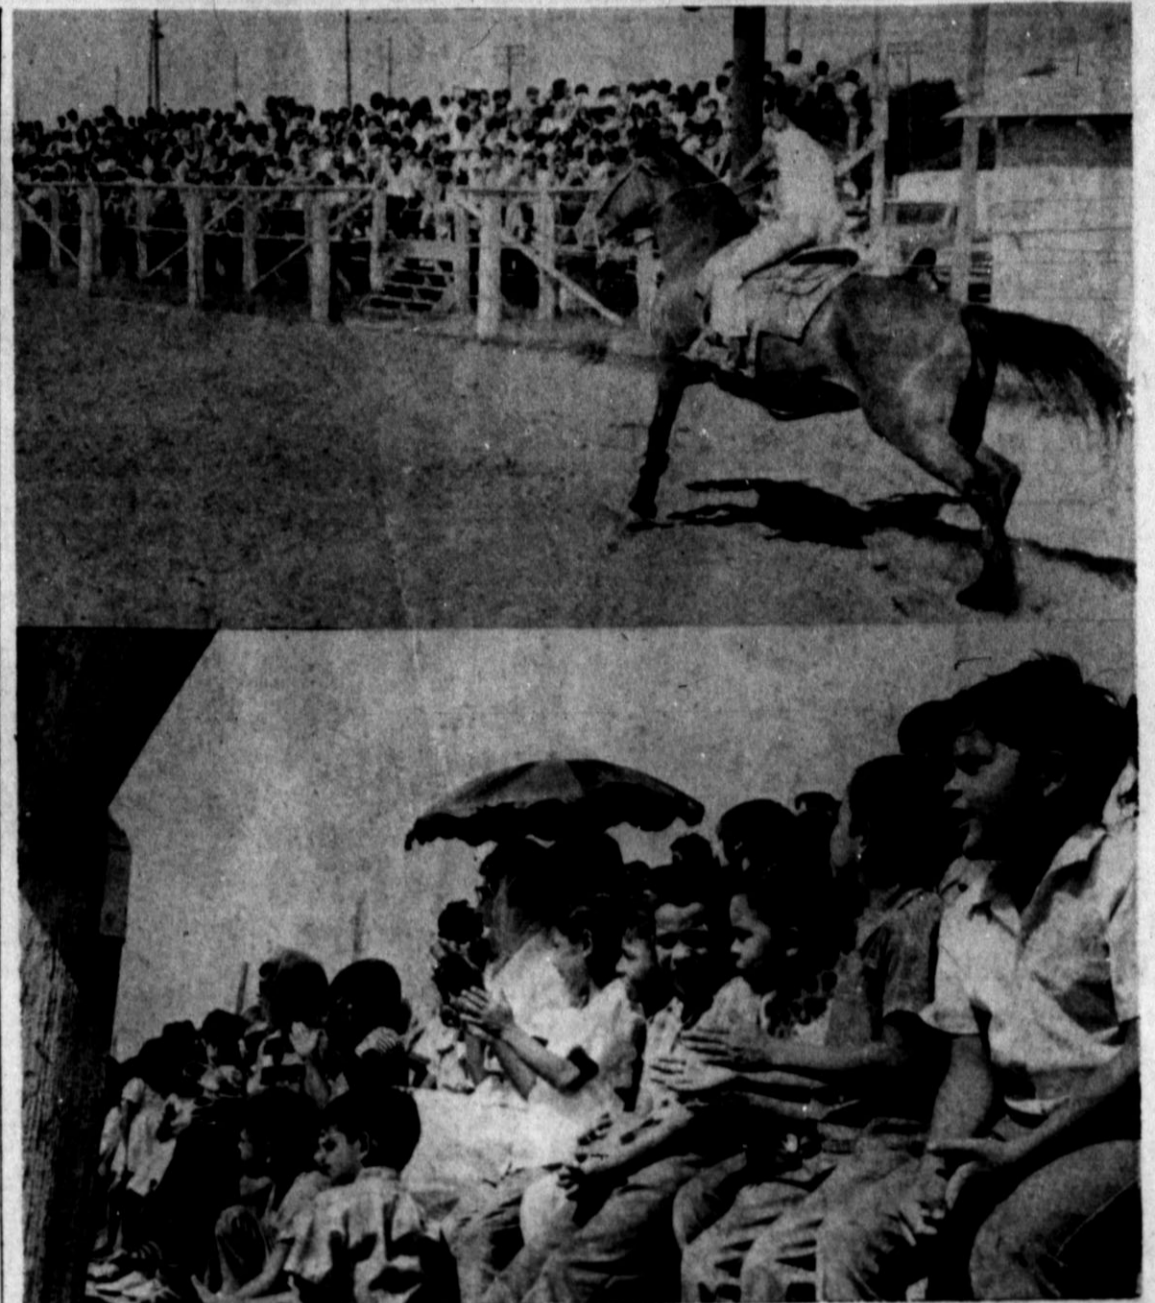

Sophomores Frank Catalina, Jim Hankins and Billy Taylor backup Adams and Fiola at the tackle berths.

Offensive line coach Jack "Sleepy" Harris was impressed with Fiola's play in the spring, considering he was switching from defense to offense.

Two-year letterman Jerry Cryer is listed at the number one center post. He started several games last fall and the 6-1, 197-pound senior is considered a "solid ball player."

Cryer is the fourth player from Travis High School of Austin who has been a starter at West Texas State. Others have been Bobby Duncum, Doug Kriewald and Earl Clardy.

Sophomore Don Coker, a 6-3, 225-pounder from Dallas, is a bright prospect at center. He finished spring drills as the second center. Milton Young, a squadman, is also in the running for the center slot.

Limitation Hits This Area Most, TGSPB Says

One of every six farmers across the country to be affected by the crops payment limitation recently passed in the U. S. Senate lives in the Texas High Plains, the Texas Grain Sorghum Producers Board said this week.

The limitation puts a ceiling of $20,000 on the amount any farmer can receive from the government for compliance with farm programs.

Throughout the nation, 11,733 farmers would be affected. About one-third (3,783) of these are in Texas and about one-half of those in Texas (approximately 2,000) are located in the 29-county TGSPB area, the board said.

Old Hubbers Play Exhibition Game Saturday

Many fond old memories for area baseball fans will be revived Saturday night in Lubbock when a reunion game will be played between former members of the Lubbock City Council along with ex-pro players living in the Lubbock area.

The game is slated for 7:30 p. m. at Lubbock's Lowery Field with pre-game activities to begin at 7. The contest will be followed by a game between the current Hubbers, a semi-pro outfit sponsored by "Rip" Griffin, and the Amarillo Plowboys.

Carl "Jackie" Sullivan, who managed the 1947 Hubbers to the championship of the old West Texas New Mexico League and went on to beat Kilgore in the "Little Dixie Series," will be in charge of the old Hubbers. Some considered the team to be the finest young minor league club ever assembled.

Such former standouts as Jackie Wilcox, Wilcy L., Jim Prince, Mike Dooley, I.B. Palmer, Frank McAlexander, Don Moore, and Ellum Rosson have indicated that they will be here.

Others include Jackie Cook, Benny Day, Bob Ramsey, Charles Galley, Bill Metzig, Floyd Walker, Bob Galley, E. C. Leslie, Frank Benites, and Boyd Watkins.

The pitching staff, other than Rosson, will feature such names as Mel Kramer, "Rooster" Mills, Chris Haskins, Bob Clodfelter, Ray Faust, "Cotton" Russell, George McDuff, Jesse Priest, Milt Audrey and Mel Ussery.

The City Council team, managed by Park and Recreation administrator Dick Walker, will include all members of the council and city staff. It will be supplemented by former pros Bobby Brown, Stan Grzywacz, Roy Parker, Buddy Manner, and Tech Coach Kal Se-grist.

It is hoped that a number of others will attend. Five members of the 1947 Hubbers who live in Alameda, Calif., have been contacted and may be present. These include Bill Serena, Clem Cola, Bill McDonald, Jerry Ahrens, and Al Smith. Both Serena and McDonald went on to play big league baseball. Serena established a minor league home run record in '47 hitting 57 in the regular season and 15 more in the play-offs.

Plans also call for a dinner following the game. Included in the activities will be former umpires living in the area, as well as close friends and base-

Santa Fe Announces New Freight Service

A new freight service spanning the continent from Richmond, Va., to Richmond, Calif., a total of 3,494 miles, has been inaugurated jointly by the Santa Fe Railway, St. Louis — San Francisco (Frisco) and Seaboard Coast Line, the three companies announced this week.

The new service, which runs daily in each direction, was made possible by extending a "run-through" freight operation recently begun by SCL and Frisco between Hamlet, N.C. and Memphis, Tenn., to provide a direct connection with the Santa Fe freight service at Floydada, Tex. The new schedule provides transcontinental service from Richmond, Va., with only four days transit time to Richmond, Calif., three days to Los Angeles, and two days to Texas.

"This cooperative effort on the part of the three railroads is another innovation which enables us to provide better freight transportation for our shippers and receivers," presidents of the three railroads said, "and is another example of cooperation between railroads to improve services to shippers."

They said this service assures that connections will be made and cars will not be delayed in terminals due to missing connections, which represents a real benefit for freight shippers and receivers.

The "run-through" freight operation is so-called because it bypasses most classification yards along the route and stops only for inspections and crew changes. This new operating technique, combined with the pooling of locomotives over a portion of the route, means a saving of eight hours on the westward trip, between Hamlet and Birmingham, for example, and corresponding time savings on other portions of the journey, they said.

Westward, the transcontinental run receives connections at Hamlet from major cities in Virginia, the Carolinas and Georgia destined to major cities on the West Coast, as well as to other major cities along the route of the train.

Eastward, it moves freight from major cities in the Far West to points in Georgia, the Carolinas and Virginia, as well as key cities along the route.

Miss Brook Is Shower Honoree

Miss Barbara Brook, whose marriage to Lonnie Coker is planned for Aug. 7, was honored with a bridal shower Saturday afternoon in the home of Mrs. A. R. Dillard, 217 Texas.

Co-hosting the event with Mrs. Dillard were Meses, Stewart Roland, Austin Rose Jr., Preston Hagans, Edgar Vinson, Henry Kindsfather, John Jacobsen Jr., Bob Word, John Dameron, S. T. Thornton, Mac Noland, C. E. Leasure Jr., Rex Lee, Joe Rogers, Joel A. Hodges, John Seiver, Freelin Suttle and Eugene Sparks.

Guests were greeted at the door by Mrs. Hagans and received by Mrs. Dillard and the honoree with her mother, Mrs. D. K. Brook of Ballinger; her grandmother, Mrs. Reece Meador of Midland; her fiancé's mother, Mrs. Floyd Coker, and his grandmothers, Mrs. W. E. Upton of Hereford and Mrs. J. R. Coker of Friona; and Miss Sherry Roberts of Farewell, who will be maid of honor.

The bridegroom-elect's sister, Miss Donna Coker registered the guests.

White taffeta with a net overlay trimmed with yellow satin ribbon draped the serving table. An epergne arrangement of peace roses and tapers centered the table. Refreshments were served from crystal and silver appointments by Misses Shari Dameron and Sharon Hagans.

For the afternoon, Miss Brook wore a yellow 3-piece linen dress with gold button trim and a corsage of white tea roses and pompon mums.

Out-of-town guests were Mrs. B. W. Turner and Mrs. C. A. Turner of Friona; Mrs. Steve Byrne and Miss Mary Griffith, both of Canyon; Miss Darlene Blackman of Amarillo and Mrs. Ron Dunaway of Portales.

Along with the timeless appeal of Carlsbad Caverns, there's a new musical review for the whole family. Housed in its own attractive, 2,000 seat theatre on the southern edge of town, the show features a cast of 50, including a 15-piece orchestra, with thousands of dollars in elaborate costumes and sets.

The technical crew and performers, many of them professionals, represent 16 states and 23 U. S. colleges and universities, the 15 Texans outnumbering those from any other state.

Other major sets include an old-time Western saloon, with cowboys and can-can chorus line, and the patriotic finale at a Fourth of July picnic, which features barbershop quartet harmony, banjo plucking and other nostalgic entertainment.

In between, there are front-of-the-curtain solos and Western vignettes performed on a side stage to maintain the show's unusually fast pace. Highlights include the ventriloquist act of Texan Jay Johnson and his "close personal friend," "Squeaky"; a stunning adagio ballet by Catherine Miller and John Paul of Michigan, and a medley by singing star David Wylie of Louisiana.

Shows are presented at 7 and 9:30 p. m. nightly, except Wednesday, with 3 p. m. matinees on Saturday and Sunday. Tickets are available at the theatre box office daily or from Desert Fiesta, Box 1133, Carlsbad, N. M. 88220 (505-867-2811) and are priced for adults at $2.00 and, under age 18, at $1.00.

EYES OPENED
MUFULIRA, Zambia — Members of the Watchtower sect are supposed to keep their eyes tightly closed when co-religionists undergo their baptismal rites. Fortunately, someone had his eyes open when Davison Kapysa was dipped in the Kafue River in the presence of 200 Watchtower members. A crocodile grabbed Kapysa's leg but the solitary peeper gave the alarm before the reptile could drag its victim off. Kapysa was saved and underwent herbal treatment.
IDIOTS CAN'T VOTE
WYNBERG, South Africa — The female candidate for parliament was irritated by hecklers at a political rally when she snapped: "I don't mind interjections. Idiots can't vote." A masculine voice retorted: "But they can stand for parliament!"

FRITILLARY WILTSHIRE, England (AP)
— Fritillary will be saved from extinction in England.
Fritillary, if you aren't a fritillary enthusiast, is a wild plant seven inches tall when full grown with purple bell-shaped flowers. For centuries fritillary have flowered in English meadows — that is, until modern early hay-cutting became a common practice.
The mowers cut down fritillary before it could seed.
Now the Wiltshire Trust for Nature Conservation plans to pay 3,000 pounds (7200 dollars) for a seven-acre field full and bar everyone except fritillary lovers and fritillary experts from entering.

LOW SALARIES
VIENNA — The Hungarian trade union paper, "Nepszava," recently disclosed that a 30-year-old doctor hardly received more than the equivalent of $78 a month. Starting salaries of doctors were as low as $56.50. The paper pointed out that an industrial worker had an average wage of $92.00.

Letter To The Editor

Dear Editor:
I read with interest the article in the Sunday paper about trial lawyers and their opinions in regards to court procedure in criminal trials. Amarillo attorney Seldon Hale gave forth good testimony.

As a person with a past criminal record, one of which I am not proud, but one of which I must live with, I feel that I am qualified to an opinion also.

I have had two previous criminal trials, one in California and the other in Amarillo. The defense and the prosecution were about as fair as one could expect. The members of the jury were average citizens without any, or very little knowledge of the law.

They automatically assumed that I was guilty, or I would not be in court in the first place. The age old saying that, "A man is innocent until proven guilty," no longer applies. What does apply in the courts today, with the jury, is, a man is guilty until proven innocent. I have placed myself on both sides of the fence, that is, with the police and honest members of society. I have found that honesty is by far the best policy.

I am an alert person, one who stays well informed on what is happening in the world today as well as in the immediate community. With the moral breakdown in our society today, riots and chaos across the nation, I sympathize with the police officials, even though there are a very small amount of times I do not believe they are right.

They must be here, in that innocent people may be protected. Without the police, even the criminals would be stealing from one another. The trial lawyers, and the judges are doing a pretty fair job concerning what they have to deal with, such as, recent Supreme Court Rulings which seem to be for the criminal.

All in all, the greatest fault I find with the American Judicial System, is the people who are permitted to serve on the jury panel. Most of them have no understanding of the law, or court room tactics used by the defense and prosecution.

Very few members of the jury are well versed in psychology. Once again they assume the defendant is guilty or he would not be there. Of course I do not mean to imply that all jurors have a mind to this effect. I only say that it has been my experience to find that the greatest majority think this way. As a result there are innocent people who are convicted, and guilty people who go free.

In Amarillo last year, a man convicted of shooting his wife's lover 9 times received 5 years for murder without malice. Also last year in Amarillo a man was convicted by a jury for burglary after he was arrested crossing a vacant lot in the same community at the time the burglary was discovered. He contended in court that he was on his way home from visiting his girl friend, the reason for crossing the vacant lot at that time.

A likely story no doubt, but none-the-less no proof to the contrary except one's own suspicions. Some who should be more severely punished go free or with light sentences and others who should not be convicted are sent to jail and prison. I do not in any way criticize the police system or the trial lawyers and prosecution, because I know what each and everyone of them have to contend with.

But my oh my how I deplore an ignorant juror. No person should be permitted to serve on a jury unless they have some knowledge of the law and at least a little knowledge of general psychology. They should have a mind open to truth and a heart eager for understanding. We must remember that "The high minded man is more interested in the truth, than in what people believe."

Of course no system is perfect. There have been and always will be mistakes made by all people, I like to think that I will never again see another day in court, but by some strange fate, should I have to be tried by a jury, I pray that each and everyone on the jury panel are well versed on the law and psychology.

As for the penal system, I agree with attorney Seldon Hale. The entire penal system is a failure as for rehabilitation, A first offender should never be sent to prison. It is pointless for me at this time, to state the faults of the penal system, because I have done so in the past and no one listens anyway.

I am a staunch believer in psychological rehabilitation, coupled together with Christian guidance for the convicted criminals who have a mind for such. Juvenile delinquents that show the slightest signs of being able to be rehabilitated should not be sent to reform school.

No penal system whatever, regardless of what one may have been informed, offers true help to a man who has gone astray of the law. If I would not have made a shambles of my life in the past, I think I would have enjoyed a career as a missionary working with underprivileged youngsters from the slums.

All of my experience on the wrong side of the law now goes wasted. The article of which I read in the Sunday paper was very informative and beneficial to the community minded per-

Mountain Climbers Face Death-Disaster

The life of a mountain climber is a dangerous one, and so goes the story of one mountain climber with the dream of climbing the Himalayan peak Dera Zor. Read and learn of one man's attempts, failures, and accomplishments — now available at the Deaf Smith County Library.

AND NOT TO YIELD
by James Ramsey Ullman
In the beginning there was the mountain. In the end there was the mountain. Between were the miles and the years.

Between is the life of a mountain climber. Between is his conflict with the conventional world, his passion for a woman he cannot possess, his dream of conquering the Himalayan peak.

Dera Zor.
This sweeping novel is the story of Eric Venn, a man haunted by other times and other faces: Death and disaster have too often followed him up the belying lines. He seeks to silence the voices of the dead with alcohol and drugs and the comforts of a woman's body. But he can never erase the dream.

Dera Zor is there — waiting for him.

HELGA'S WEB
by Job Cleary
Scobie Malone, the rough-hewn young detective-sergeant of Job Cleary's greatly successful, The High Commissioner, reappears in this superb new novel.

Upon the discovery of the body of strangled Helga Brand deep in the sub-basements of the unfinished Sydney Opera House, it became clear that blonde Helga had been mortally caught in a web of her own devising. A fabric of sex and extortion, its threads entangled an ambitious government minister, a down-at-the-heels T. V. Producer, a brawling trawler captain, an aging tycoon—and their wives.

In the disclosure of these separate lives at a point of common crisis, Cleary provides action, suspense, romance—and much, much more. For his ultimate concern is the complete revelation of his people; and as the primary story of a crime and its investigation moves grippingly forward in his skilled craftsman's hands, one is also treated as if by multiple exposure to a full portrayal of the characters—their varied pasts, their desperate present; their inmost secrets, their capacities for good or ill.

By no means incidentally, there is also here a vivid portrait of Sydney herself, that lusty, boisterous city of three million people on the oldest continents. Yet, in final contemplation of Helga's Web, one returns to the effectiveness of the characterization. Who, for instance, having once encountered it, can soon forget the sight of the imperious Mrs. Helidon, wife of the government minister, scrabbling about on all fours to retrieve the pearls that have been torn so violently from her neck?

The late trainer Hirsch Jacobs tried to win the Belmont Stakes four times without success since 1949. This year his son John saddles High Echelon to win the one mile and a 22nd classic.

Our School— One Of The Best

Hereford's school system is considered one of the best in the entire Panhandle, if not the entire state, and for good reason, we feel.

One important factor is the assistant superintendent in charge of curricula, Robert Holman. Under his guidance, the school has moved into new areas of learning that are based on having youngsters move forward at their own pace, whether it be faster or slower than the average.

As educational researchers come forth with new innovations that have shown valuable to the child in random test cases, the local school has moved quickly to give local students the opportunity to take advantage of the new methods.

Many of these have already been put into use. In particular, the non-graded system will be put into thorough use at the new Tierra Blanca Elementary School, which is a departure from the norm in itself, with its no-window construction and massive colorful rooms.

Under Supt. Roy Hartman, the school also has added a vast number of special education classes to this community. It is almost a fulltime job in itself to know the many programs that are available to schools in Texas, at little or no cost to the local system.

The difference between an average school and the one we have which rates far above the norm is the quality of our extra programs. The Hereford school system has come up with programs that reach out to the needs of the students, whether they be mentally retarded, especially endowed in handiwork, or far enough ahead of other students that

A Park

A park, like happiness, is different things to different people. To a drowsy man, it's a Sunday afternoon nap on a shaded picnic bench. To small boys it is a lineup at the diving board for a plunge into the pool. For others, it's the rose garden.

The park is the little train, clanging and tooting around its track, passenger cars so well filled they are the envy of real railroads. For a family, it's a picnic; for the elderly ladies it's a quiet chat at their table after the outdoor meal.

A park is trees, grass, tennis courts, a small conservatory, a rock garden, and band concerts. If you haven't visited one recently, do so.—Topeka State Journal

Lighting Up Washington

Back in 1964, it was, that then President Johnson started posing as the champion of economy, even parsimony, by tipping around the White House to turn off every unnecessary light to save American taxpayers money.

How long he kept it up, how long various departments of the government followed suit, we never knew. Nor did we ever learn how much money was saved by having the President himself take over that White House duty. It was not reflected in federal expenditures, which jumped from $97 billion in the fiscal year LBJ first turned off the lights to $172 billion during his last year in office.

Consequently, we aren't surprised by the announcement of the General Services Administration, the caretaker of federal property, that it is going "to bathe the outside of the federal buildings in lights" in the downtown area to assist President Nixon in an effort to make the city safer and more beautiful at night.

We never did think that Mr. Johnson's idiosyncrasy reflected the wishes or temperament of the American people. During World War II, light became a symbol of civilization. When the lights went out in Europe, darkness spread over that part of the earth, and later we got a taste of it. And when the lights were turned on after it was over, nothing gave the people of European capitals a greater psychological life.

If, after all these hundreds of years, the Greeks can afford to light their Acropolis and the Romans their ancient Forum, surely Americans can't afford not to light their White House and the other magnificent buildings in the nation's capital.—Toledo Blade they need to be challenged with new, advanced theories to keep them from standing still or regressing.

According to enrollment figures, the number of Mexican-American students in the upper grades at Hereford has increased by 800 per cent in the past 10 years. An increase in new families accounts for part of that, but most of it can be credited to new programs that meet the needs of the students and keep them in school longer and discourage them from dropping out.

With the caliber of persons in the Hereford schools today, the future looks even brighter.

Neighborly Practice

A casualty of the sophistication of our age has been the little item which used to appear in the columns of the small town newspaper and which announced the arrival of the first robin, the blooming of the first mayflower, or the ripening of the first wild strawberry. The practice is not altogether dead, of course, for even now one may find tucked away in a corner of a column the intelligence that a certain person "last Monday brought to our office the first dandelion that we have seen this season."

It was a neighborly custom which, at least briefly focused attention on the individual who made the discovery. Excitement prevailed in the old farmhouse when one of the smaller children came home with the spring's first violets clutched in her fist. Even after the blooms had withered, it was sustained when the weekly paper arrived with the proud announcement.—
Halifax (N.S.) Chronicle Herald

The Hudkins Report

In a sense, the timing of that report by a government analyst with the incredibly novel name of Phon E. Hudkins cataloging all the ills which women have brought to mankind was superb. Coming as it does just as militant females are unfurling their banners for the so-called feminine liberation movement, Mr. Hudkins' study will obviously provide a quick and easy target for their dudgeon.

Frankly, we are inclined to believe that Mr. Hudkins overstated the case a bit. He would have us believe that women have saddled men with just about every disease, illness, and ailment in the book, not to mention crime and delinquency. His 200-page report abounds in evidence which he claims to have uncovered in the works of myriad experts that supports his thesis.

Well, no doubt Mr. Hudkins has struck a responsive chord within that narrow colony of misogynists who would keep women in their place, whatever that turns out to be. There is, too, another side of the coin which the Hudkins Report ignores—those tender interludes of bliss, understanding, tranquility, compassion, and profound pleasure which the female of the species brings into the world now and then.—Toledo Blade

Time To Retire?

Retired Supreme Court Justice Tom Clark, interviewed on TV recently, said he didn't like the idea of mandatory retirement too much, but if he had to draw the line, he'd set it around 75 years. The late Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes, he pointed out, was still a sharp intellect at the age of 93.

Whoever the fellow was who drew that arbitrary line at age 65 and said, in effect, that this is quitting time for working men—that fellow has a lot of enemies, mostly 65 or older. Well, they say you've got to draw the line somewhere. Do you? Why?—Atlanta Constitution

Highlights and Sidelights FROM YOUR STATE CAPITOL BY VIN SANIARD

AUSTIN, Tex. — Eighteen-year-olds will be registered to vote in Texas this year unless the U. S. Supreme Court, in the meantime, invalidates the new federal voting rights act.

State officials plan to give federal authorities this assurance in reply to an inquiry of U. S. Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell asking all governors to report on steps they will take to comply with the new provision and other sections of the federal bill effective January 1.

Texas, reportedly, already is in compliance with the act, except for the lowered voting age. This state has no literacy test and "good character" requirements for election participation such as those outlawed by a bill signed into law by President Nixon on June 22.

When the Texans voter-registration period opens on October 1, 18-year-olds will be signed up if the expected court test is not settled by then. Local registration officials will be advised by state election authorities to register them pending a court decision.

According to election division director Randall Wood, the Secretary of State's office proposes to suggest that teen-age registrations by kept separately from those of voters 21 and above. This would simplify subsequent invalidation in the event the Supreme Court should rule the federal act unconstitutional after state registration already is under way.

Test case probably will be in Washington State. There the 18-year-old vote-referendum already is set for the November ballot. Washington officials are in a better political position to state that they will not comply with the federal law until their voters voice approval of the lowered age proposition.

Secretary of State Martin Dies Jr. figures the federal act would add about 395,000 under-21 voters to Texas' registration rolls—if it survives the court test.

COURTS SPEAK — Federal court suit has been filed against the City of Tyler by the U. S. government seeking to end school segregation by this fall.

Court of Criminal Appeals held that a driving while intoxicated conviction is invalid if the defendant was on private property at the time of arrest.

State Supreme Court refused to upset a lower court denial of damages to the widow of a man killed in an auto-train crash near Edna. Jury found negligence on the part of both the man and Southern Pacific Railway employees.

High Court also held that a Potter County couple was not entitled to damages from a doctor because the woman could no longer have children after an operation.

Harris County district court granted an injunction against Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company, prohibiting it from discharging industrial wastes into Sims Bayou in greater amounts than that permitted by the Water Quality Board. Court ordered a $20,000 fine, the largest civil penalty in Texas pollution case history.

ATTORNEY GENERAL RULES — Wichita Falls school board is without authority to adopt a resolution or policy providing for recall elections of its members, says Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin.

Martin ruled in other recent opinions that:

—A county treasurer is the proper official to make delivery of county warrants to payees.

—County attorney who resigns as a future date may not withdraw his resignation after it is duly accepted by the commissioners court even though the effective date has not arrived. However, until a successor is appointed, it is his duty to serve.

Martin said a Spring Branch real estate developer (Cypress Lake Gardens) gave assurance of voluntary compliance with directives to discontinue misleading advertising and sales practices.

DRAFT QUOTA DROPS — August draft call for Texas is 560. That's 257 less than the 817 in July. No man will be inducted with random sequence number higher than 195.

State quota for pre-induction physical and mental examinations in August is 1,490, down from 1,601 in July. Those called for these examinations will have random sequence numbers one to 215.

Deferred or exempt men may be forwarded for examinations if they are likely to lose deferred or exempt status within the next six months. No men with random sequences higher than 215 will be forwarded for examination until further notice. All volunteers at draft boards must be inducted ahead of the non-volunteers selected and ordered to report for draft by r. s. n. National call is for 10,000 men, all for the army.

APPOINTMENTS ANNOUNCED — Barney McCoy Davis was named by Gov. Preston Smith to the Board of Regents of Pan American College at Edinburg.

Jerry Brock and Lynn Scott were appointed assistant state consumer credit commissioners. Allo B. Crow Jr. is the new general counsel to Commissioner Sam Kelley.

Members of the John F. Kennedy Memorial Commission are the most Reverend Francis J. Furney of San Antonio, George Ozuna of San Antonio, William D. Cox Jr. of Dallas, Dr. Edward W. Guinn of Fort Worth, Thomas J. Murphy of Dallas, Lee A. Lewis of Houston, Wilford H. Green of Temple, Raymond D. Nasher of Dallas and Bernard Rapport of Waco.

R. L. (Bud) Reed, formerly of Paris, will be the East Texas regional consultant for Texas Industrial Commission.

BUDGET REQUESTS SOARING — Major state agency budget requests continued to prompt speculation of a huge tax need next year—perhaps as high as $700 million.

Board of Public Welfare finally officially approved a $2.1 billion biennial spending plan which is $347.6 million above present levels. Mental Health and Mental Retardation request of $314 million is $139.7 million above the current level, and college and universities want an increase of $258.9 million. Combined with public schools biennial operating proposals of $377.1 million, major agencies of education, mental hospitals, retardation schools and welfare want more than $1 billion more than they now are getting.

What Other Papers Say:

From the MORTON TRIBUNE:

A new industry for Morton, which should substantially boost the local economy, has been announced by the Morton Industrial Foundation. Prairie and Packer Corporation will build a meat processing plant on a 65-acre plot seven miles southeast of Morton. Initial capacity calls for production of 150 head per day of cattle with eventual rising to 1,500 cattle and 30 hogs per week. The target date for completion has been set for Dec. 1. The slaughtering and processing facility will draw heavily on the local Owens Brothers Custom Feeding Company for its beef needs but will, in addition, draw cattle from other feed lots within a radius of 75-100 miles of Morton.

From the CANYON NEWS:

Marvin Paul "Wheels" Metcalf Jr., 38, of Vega left the courtroom Tuesday with wife No. 2 after being given a five-year probation sentence on bigamy charges for marrying wife No. 3. Metcalf was charged with having married Eula Alene Brock (No. 3) Jan. 29, 1969, in Amarillo while still married to Lois Marie Moore Metcalf (No. 2), whom he is alleged to have married Dec. 15, 1958. Court records show Metcalf was divorced from Rose Marie Metcalf (No. 1) in November of 1950. They were married Feb. 16, 1953, according to records. Randall County Commissioners have agreed to increase support of county children being aided by the Child Welfare Department from $500 to $5,000.

From the FRIONA STAR: Thanks to one of the largest single permits ever issued, the construction totals for the City of Friona for the first six months of 1970 set a new all-time mid-year record of $1,423,775. Just about all of the increase of $56,675 over the previous mark came in one permit—$721,000 for a 60-unit apartment complex under construction in northeast Friona.

From the OLTON ENTERPRISE:

The City Council, in an effort to keep down water well problems, has restricted the number of days that city residents may water their lawns. Persons east of Main Street are to water only on even numbered days, while those on the west side of Main will water on odd days. The watering restrictions will be in effect until further notice or "until it rains."

From the FLOYD COUNTY HESPERIAN:

The Floydada City Council has called a city sales tax election for Aug. 15. A similar election was voted down in February of 1969, 375 to 241. Since then, several area towns have voted to collect the city sales tax. The following amounts were collected in the first quarter of this year: Abernathy $15,772, Lockney, $5,268, Crosbyton, $8,593, Petersburg $3,044, Plainview $75,190, Hale Center $3,875 and Olton $4,540.

From the QUANAH TRIBUNE—CHIEF:

The City Council Tuesday night approved a 12 per cent increase in taxes for the coming year. The Council set the rate at $1.50 per $100 evaluation based on 60 per cent of market value, an increase of 18 cents over the $1.02 of last year. The city can expect to collect around $120,000 in taxes for the coming year, around $14,000 more than was collected the past year. The Council tabled a request from the Nortex Regional Planning Commission for Quanah to join a teletype service for law enforcement officers.

From the BROWNFIELD NEWS:

The Terry County Citizens Band Radio Club is in the process of compiling a directory of the call signs of Terry County residents who hold a Citizens Band radio license. . . W. T. Gibbs, owner of the Holiday House Restaurant, has taken out building permit for a 26-unit motel in Brownfield. The permit totaled $85,000 and construction is scheduled to begin immediately.

From the SLATONITE:

The Slaton City Commission has approved installation of new street markers for traffic in school zone areas and approved a teletype installation at the police station. The commissioners also instructed the police chief to enforce city laws which prohibit vehicles from following the emergency ambulance and the fire trucks. The council action came after several complaints of traffic interfering with emergency vehicles. . . Slaton School trustees gave tentative approval to a $1 million budget and adopted policies for a new kindergarten school in 1970. The proposed budget is up $124,011 over the current budget.

THE INQUIRING PHOTOGRAPHER:

Residents Support New Health Clinic

How do you feel about the public health clinic that will soon open in Hereford?

Mrs. Joe Henry—"I think it's just fine; I have signed up to volunteer my services. I think it will be better for the doctors to donate certain hours to this shame when some can't afford to help themselves. "I think the people of Hereford do more for the underprivileged persons than anywhere I've lived. I don't want to see anyone discriminated against, but I don't want to see the community overdo this free-of-charge service."

Mrs. Corkey Paetzold—"I think it would be a very good thing for the community. My children had all their immunization shots from a public health clinic in New Mexico, and it was a great help."

"It can, however, be misused very easily. People who could afford medical care might take advantage of the free aid. But properly conducted, I can see clinic. Then, maybe they won't accumulate so many bad debts. "If a person is really needing medical care, they will probably be willing to swallow their pride and ask for help. This should make it harder for someone to take advantage of the free service."

Mrs. Consuela Arman—"As a worker in the processing sheds here each summer, before returning to my home in Edinburg for the remainder of the year, I have seen a lot of people needing this medical help. I think it will be a very good service for migrant workers of the area."

Mrs. Glenn Rusk Sr., of Simms Community—"I think it's good from what I've heard. Something needs to be done to give everyone the opportunity to take care of their health. It's a that it might eliminate some of the hospital's financial problems."

Harold Close—"It ought to be all right. It should take some of the load off the doctors' private practices, and maybe refinance the hospital for some of its services that now have to be "written off" because they cannot collect these debts."

Miss Kay Griffin Of Bartlett Is Bride Of Fred Martin

Mrs. Fred David Martin
nee Kay Griffin

Wedding vows of Miss Sarah Kay Griffin of Bartlett, Tex. and Fred David Martin of Belton were spoken in a double-ring ceremony at the First Baptist Church in Bartlett at 4 p. m. Sunday with the Rev. Doyle Darwin, pastor, conducting the service.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Marvin L. Griffin of Bartlett and Mr. and Mrs. Don T. Martin of 204 Northwest Drive, Hereford.

Spring baskets of daisies at the altar formed a background for the nuptial service.

Mrs. Wesley Lum of Cleveland attended the bride as matron of honor and Mrs. T. E. Sanderford Jr. of Belton was bridesmaid.

Mr. Martin served his son as best man and groomsman was Bill Bravitt of Denver City. Ushers were Thomas George Martin of Dallas and Victor Salazar of Belton.

David Pryor, organist, cousin of the bride from Houston and Robert Malsbary, vocalist, presented a program of wedding music.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal gown of peau de soie design with empire bodice and A-line skirt. Bands of imported French lace complimented the long bell sleeves and the formal hemline of the gown.

Her floor-length veil of illusion was caught by a satin bow and she carried a cascade of majestic and marguerite daisies.

Yellow peau de soie and imported French lace made the empire styled gowns of the feminine attendants. The bodice featured an overlay of lace and brief lace sleeves. They wore short white gloves and carried nosegays of yellow and white marguerite daisies.

A reception honoring the bride and groom was held in the Education Building of the church where guests were registered by Miss Susan Griffin.

The bride's table was laid with a white cut-work cloth and held an arrangement of daisies. The 4-tiered wedding cake was topped with satin bells. White linen draped the groom's table which held a double-ring chocolate cake and coffee.

Presiding at the tables were Miss Nancy Griffin, of Bartlett, Miss Nancy Martin of Hereford, Mrs. Jimmie D. Thompson of Gatesville and Mrs. R. G. Yates of Bartlett. Assisting in the houseparty were Mrs. William Henry, Miss Diane Kropp and Mrs. Jesse Cocke, Bartlett.

For a wedding trip to points of interest in South Texas, the bride's traveling ensemble was a gray dotted swiss empire styled dress and white accessories.

They will be at home Aug. 1 at Belton.

The bride received a BS degree in business education and English from Mary Hardin-Baylor College at Belton where she was a member of Sigma Tau Delta and recipient of Pi Omega Pi Business Award.

The bridegroom was graduated from Southwestern State College, Weatherford, and is a graduate student at Texas A & M University.

Mr. and Mrs. Martin, parents of the bridegroom, hosted the rehearsal dinner Saturday evening at the Holiday Inn in Temple. Yellow and white daisies decorated the tables.

Letter To The Editor

Dear Editor,

It seems to me like it has been so long since I have left Hereford. My past year in Hereford is a very impressive one. I wish I could stay longer in Hereford even though right now I am getting anxious to get home.

I am leaving for Thailand tonight at 12 p. m. and I will get to Bangkok at 1 a. m. of July 30.

I would like to thank you very much for your contribution to me during my year in Hereford. I will always remember everything of Hereford with your papers that I have been collecting.

Hope to come back again. Thanks very much.

Yours sincerely,

ing of the School of Teacher Education. A $248, 570 renovation of the Education Building is to be finished this fall.

Laycock said, "The new structure will position the faculty for pursuit of new ways of training teachers—new curricula in teacher education that are performance-based rather than on completion of a certain number of semester hours."

Earlier this month the university received $125,010 for the first year of a four-year project to instruct teacher trainers in training teachers on a performance basis.

The money was provided by the federal government through the Texas Education Agency. Four other Texas universities are involved in the unique program.

West Texas State Renames Teacher Education School

West Texas State University broke with tradition Monday, effecting a name change and reorganization of its School of Teacher Education.

The Coordinating Board, Texas College and University System, meeting in Austin, authorized West Texas State to rename its education school the College of Education and to restructure it into six departments.

The proposal, made by Dr. Kenneth M. Laycock, dean, was approved by the university Board of Regents last May 1. "We will begin to phase into it this fall with completion by next fall," said Dr. Walter Juniper, academic vice president.

"The present organizational structure of the School of Teacher Education at West Texas State University is a product of history," Laycock said.

"The structure is a collection of departments existing when the School of Teacher Education was created in 1966 rather than a grouping of departments with purposeful functions and goals."

Under the reorganization, the present Department of Educational Psychology will become three departments—elementary education, psychology and secondary and higher education; the Department of Educational Administration will become the Department of School Services; and the Departments of Health and Physical Education and Industrial Education will remain the same.

The existing Department of Student Teaching will be eliminated and its functions placed in the proposed Departments of Elementary and Secondary Education.

Laycock said names of heads of the six departments will be announced later.

He said the administrative designation College of Education "is the most consistently used name for like organizations by most universities."

"The present structure allows little flexibility in staff utilization for effectuating change," Laycock said.

"What I am trying to do is to get a basic structure to allow faculty members to become more closely identified to a specialty area," he added.

The proposed changes, he said, also opens the way for more research in education as well as strengthening present graduate programs and developing new ones as they become needed.

The Coordinating Board's approval of the restructuring completes an over-all face-lift

Tech Coeds Win Later Dorm Hours

Texas Tech University announced Monday that a new, graduated policy for women's residence hall hours will go into effect the second week of the 1970 fall semester.

Under specified conditions of the new closing hour policy, all but freshmen may determine their own hours. Freshmen will observe regular closing hours: Monday through Thursday, 11:30 p. m.; Friday and Saturday, 1 a. m.; Sunday, midnight. Parental permission will be required for sophomores and juniors. This policy will apply to students who have completed 30 hours' credit or have lived in a university residence hall two semesters.

Senior (students with 96 credit hours) and graduate students, married women and those who are 21 years old or older may determine their own hours. This is permitted by the university with no other permission necessary.

The new policy will be the result of a year's study and discussion on the part of the university administration and the Women's Residence Council (WRC) which represented approximately 4,000 women who lived in residence halls during the 1969-70 academic year.

regular closing hour until 6 a.m. During these hours students will be admitted to residence halls by presenting their student identification cards.

The new policy was the result of a year's study and discussion on the part of the university administration and the Women's Residence Council (WRC) which represented approximately 4,000 women who lived in residence halls during the 1969-70 academic year.

Last Rites For Everett Fenton Held Monday

Funeral services for Everett Bruce Fenton, 56, who died Friday afternoon in Deaf Smith County Hospital, were conducted at 10 a. m. Monday in the Assembly of God Church.

Mr. Fenton was born in Ponca City, Okla. and married Dorothy Campa on May 3, 1967, in Wilcox, Ariz. He came in 1968 to Hereford, where he was a maintenance man for Omega Industries.

Fenton of Fort Worth and Miss Beverlee Fenton of Dalhart; one brother, L. L. of Abilene; two sisters, Mrs. Emma Temple of Cushing, Okla. and Mrs. Lois Crain of Santa Rosa, Calif.

The graduated policy, Mrs. Garner explained, allows for a growth period before women students are asked to assume new responsibilities.

As academic progress demonstrates maturity of judgement, students can assume additional personal responsibility. Women students who determine their own hours will pay a $5 fee at the start of each semester to pay for the services of a watchman at each hall, and he will be on duty from the regular closing hour until 6 a.m. During these hours students will be admitted to residence halls by presenting their student identification cards. The new policy was the result of a year's study and discussion on the part of the university administration and the Women's Residence Council (WRC) which represented approximately 4,000 women who lived in residence halls during the 1969-70 academic year.

Study Begins On Underground Feedlot Picture

A Texas Tech scientist—in cooperation with feedlot owners and water quality experts—hopes this summer to gather evidence for a comprehensive underground "picture" of the Texas High Plains feedlot industry.

The cost, Miller said, will total from $75,000 to $80,000. "We are determining all the nitrogen family chemistry and other ions as well as permeabilities on the cores, and groundwater chemistry below the feedlots and adjacent lands," he explained.

All this information will be integrated for a comprehensive view of the subsurface environment. Both old and new feedlots are being used in the study which stretches from the South Plains area to the Oklahoma border. Working in the field with Miller are: students John Buchanan of Lubbock; James Sansom, geologist with the TWDB; James Rodgers, TWDB civil engineer; Louis Barnes, chief core driller, TWDB; and Barnes' drilling crew.

With a team of eight, Dr. William D. Miller, groundwater geologist on the geosciences faculty, expects to determine the significance of any subsurface distribution of nitrates from feedlots to the groundwater zone of the High Plains and to learn what type of subsurface materials best guard against infiltration of nitrates to the groundwater zone.

Miller is directing test hole drilling and coring in a program involving 80 feedlots in the Texas Panhandle and the South Plains area. He said this work should be completed in October and data gathered will be studied in the fall.

Supporting the project are the Federal Water Pollution Control Administration, the Texas Water Development Board (TWDB), the Texas Cattle Feeders Association, the North Plains Water District and the university's Department of Geo-

This Witch Would Be Wrong For 'Macbeth'

By JOY STILLEY
AP Newsfeatures Writer
NEW YORK — So you think a witch is a cackling old crone with stringy hair and a long nose who stirs up a cauldron of mysterious brew on a dark night.

Well, meet Louise Huebner, who proudly admits she is a witch. She is a soft-voiced trim brunette with glossy hair flowing halfway down her back, a pair of fetching dimples and all-seeing brown eyes.

Stirring nothing more lethal than coffee, she talked in her hotel room here about her psychic gift and her book, "Power Through Witchcraft." In it she shares such secrets as her Sexual Seduction Spell and recipe for True Love Tea.

"I think the majority of people have witchcraft confused with the satanic religion. That's not my bag," remarked Mrs. Huebner, the official witch of Los Angeles County who in that capacity cast a spell at the Hollywood Bowl to increase sexual vitality in the county.

"I don't ever feel that I have to prove I'm psychic. I know I am," she continued, crossing her slim black-stockinged legs and dangling a black shoe with a silver buckle. "I don't tell people specific things — I tune into their emotional climate and tell them how I feel they feel." The willowy witch, who says she doesn't believe in reincarnation, claims she is supernatural but not 'supernatural' and that the power witches tap is an energy within themselves. She finds a definite tie-in between witchcraft and sex, both of which, she points out, thrive on high-voltage energy.

"I don't have any inclination to participate in orgies but I know witches who do in order to generate their energy," says the author, who does believe in casting spells for romance. "Witchcraft is rich in ritual, especially when it comes to love," she explained, smoothing the skirt of her short and shiny black dress with plunging neckline. "Besides receiving thoughts, you can send out thoughts. If you perform a ritual, often you affect another's feeling about you."

Even nonwitches can practice spells with good effect, gaining through witchcraft a better control of their life situations, she claims. It bolsters a person's self-confidence to place the responsibility on an outside force rather than oneself.

"By lighting a candle and writing things on a piece of paper the person reinforces his inner strength. You say 'I'm going to accomplish such and such because I've performed this ritual' and then you've got much more going for you in the way of positive thinking."

Her book was written in response to a demand from listeners to her Los Angeles radio program on which she "reads" people who call in.

"They say 'Hello, Louise,' and sometimes tell me their birth date to trigger me off," she relates. "If I feel an empathy for them I establish a connective link and suddenly know what their emotions are at that instant. I don't direct the callers to act. I say 'You feel this way and I think feeling this way you will want to do so and so.'"

Mrs. Huebner, who remembers she always has had a compulsion to "tune in" on people, wasn't aware of what she calls her psychic power until she reached school age. "In the beginning I didn't feel different—I thought that was the way people were," she says.

Witches are born, not made, she claims. "You're born with the feeling you can change your destiny and disturb your environment." A sixth generation witch and third generation astrologer, she things the powers are inherited. Her grandmother, who taught her astrology, palmistry and how to read cards, tea leaves, and spilled ashes, at 80, is still "happily telling fortunes to anyone who drops by."

Her own three children, a 14-year-old boy and 8-year-old twin boy and girl, have already shown unusual awareness and sensitivity, she reports.

Her meeting with her husband, Mentor Huebner, a renowned artist and production designer for movies, had the unusual aspects befitting the romance of a witch. "It wasn't love at first sight; it was destiny at first sight," she recalls.

"I saw in a gallery his self-portrait, a brooding-looking fellow, and there was such an impact. I said 'I'm going to marry that man.' It wasn't a calculating thing—this was just a bit of information that struck me."

Shortly thereafter, she met Huebner at an art school for which she modeled and where he was an instructor. Three months later they were married. The family lives in an appropriately haunted old house high in Los Angeles' Mount Washington area.

Mrs. Huebner, in addition to her weekly radio show, writes a syndicated column on psychic phenomenon, lecture, and recently made a record, "Seduction Through Witchcraft."

The current explosion of interest in the occult she attributes to the fact that the natural interest of people is being strongly reinforced by the communications media; that this is the only time in history that we have such a high number of under-30's, the age that looks for answers and tries to solve problems by means other than those they've been taught; and the strong need at present for knowledge that you can be powerfully in control of your life situation.

Although both wizards and warlocks are considered male witches of a sort, Mrs. Huebner doesn't think there is a male counterpart. "It's really a woman's work," she remarks. "It's not a man's way to use this devious subtle approach."

In the course of her radio shows and writing she had predicted such events as the Watts riot, President Johnson's retirement by choice, Russia's space walk, President Nixon's victory and Robert Kennedy's assassination.

What does she see in the future?

"A new kind of politician, still under 43, with an idealistic point of view is coming on the scene," she forecasts.

"He has the seeds within him of becoming president when Nixon's turn is finished. I predict that Nixon will be reelected in 1972."

Not all of her predictions come true. "I predicted very spectacularly on radio once that stocks would be going up on a certain date. They went way down," she admits ruefully.

MIRROR, MIRROR, ON THE WALL — Who's the most psychic witch of all? One witch, Louise Huebner, official witch of Los Angeles and author of "Power Through Witchcraft," gazes at her reflection as she ponders the unseen.

Mrs. Hooper's Sister Buried At Halfway

Final rites for Mrs. Josie Wright, 83, of Plainview, sister of Mrs. Ella Hooper of Hereford, who died Thursday morning in Plainview Hospital, were conducted at 10 a. m. Saturday in the First Baptist Church of Plainview.

The Rev. Carlos McLeod officiated, assisted by the Rev. Robert Field, pastor of the Halfway Baptist Church. Burial was in Halfway Cemetery.

Other survivors include four daughters, Mrs. Foster James of Plainview, Mrs. L. E. Dalton of Santa Barbara, Calif., Mrs. Doc Bennett of Itasca and Mrs. Anthony Latta of Crosbyton; one brother, A. M. Hogue of Ventura, Calif.; 13 grandchildren; 25 great-grandchildren and one great-great-grandchild.

There's one advantage in the news that Washington's streets aren't safe at night. You're not apt to meet a politician.

Mrs. Wright was born in Basin Springs and moved to Plainview in 1900 from Grayson County.

A big old-fashioned water wheel! Round and round it turns and oh, how slowly! Sure, water below the wheel has gone but water above the wheel still possesses potential power that may influence the lives of millions. It is that way with human life, too. The gigantic wheel keeps turning while life keeps passing. "The wheels of the gods grind slowly but they grind exceedingly well." One generation comes while another goes... 3,600 souls go over the wheel every hour... 86,000 every day. Stop right where you are! Think of your opportunity! Act immediately! You have only a little moment to make your contribution to the sum total of human goodness. Just what are you going to do about it, sir? Perhaps you should join the increasing millions who are finding solution to their problems through regular church attendance. You may also find a better way to expend your potential for good.

LET'S COOK SOMETHING

Pleasant Combination

By Cecily Brownstone
Associated Press Food Editor

Some of the most interesting cooked dishes in Chinese cuisine use iceberg lettuce. Sometimes the whole lettuce leaves are used as crisp "wrappers" for cooked combinations of meat and vegetables in a small amount of savory sauce or for fried rice. The lettuce leaves are brought to the table and eaters pile the cooked ingredients into the leaves and wrap the lettuce around the filling. As each portion is wrapped, it is eaten.

PINEAPPLE SHRIMP — It features a slightly sweet-and-sour sauce and, for texture contrast, crisp shredded iceberg lettuce.

Sometimes coarsely shredded lettuce is added to cooked ingredients; sometimes the ingredients are served on a bed of shredded lettuce. And sometimes both additions are used in one dish.

Today we're offering you just such a Chinese dish featuring iceberg lettuce. For the dish shrimp, pineapple, greenpepper, mushrooms and shredded lettuce go into a slightly sweet-and-sour sauce; then the whole thing is served on a bed of the crisp lettuce. A pleasant combination.

As a preface to the Pineapple Shrimp you might serve won-ton soup. As an accompaniment to the dish itself, fried rice. And as dessert, almond cookies.

PINEAPPLE SHRIMP
1 head iceberg lettuce
1/2 of a large green pepper, cut in small squares

1 can (13 1/4 ounces) pineapple chunks in heavy syrup
1 can (2 ounces) button mushrooms
1 1/2 tablespoons cornstarch
2 tablespoons salad (not olive) oil
2 tablespoons catchup
2 teaspoons cider vinegar
1/4 teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon Japanese-type soy sauce
1/4 cup cold water
1/2 pound medium-sized shrimp (cooked, shelled and deveined)

Core, rinse and thoroughly drain lettuce. Cut off 1 cup small pieces of thick-veined lettuce near core area; set aside. Cut remaining lettuce head in half lengthwise; with a long sharp knife, finely shred enough lettuce across heart to make 3 cups. Spread shredded lettuce over the bottom of a small serving platter.

Drain pineapple and mushrooms, mixing, and saving liquids.

In a 1 1/2-quart saucepan stir together until smooth the cornstarch, salad oil, catchup, vinegar, salt and soy sauce; gradually stir in saved pineapple-mushroom liquid and water. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, until clear, thickened and boiling. Add thick-veined lettuce, green pepper, pineapple chunks, mushrooms and shrimp. Heat through, stirring gently. Spoon over shredded lettuce on plat-

Bridal Shower Compliments Cheryl Solomon

Refreshments of pink punch and decorated cake squares were served from silver appointments by Misses Mary Ellen Marnell and Sherri Marsh.

Guests were registered by Miss Jan Dean.

Mrs. Mike Solomon and Miss Sylvia Betzen assisted at the gift table.

Music was played at the party.

no during calling hours by Miss Suzanne Solomon and Miss Karen Standford.

For the afternoon the honoree wore a pale pink silk frock in A-line silhouette, complimented by white braid trim and white accessories. Her corsage was pink gladiolas.

Co-hostesses with Mrs. Kaul were Mmes. Homer Rudd, Joe Reinauer, Emmett Johnson, F. A. Marnell, Gene Brownlow, Don Shipley, Alfred Smith, Robert Boyd, Boyd Collins, M. D. Dean, Robert Nelson, Claude McDougal and Herschel Burrus.

STATUE — There is a man atop Rhode Island's State House — "the independent man" The 14-foot man originally was to have been Roger Williams, founder of Providence, but the architect vetoed the idea on the grounds that no one knew what he had looked like. But they did know Williams stood for independence.

Tom Porter, Ex-Editor, Dies Sunday

Funeral services for Tommy Ray Porter, 29, former news editor of the Hereford Brand, were conducted at 3 p. m. Monday in Higginbotham Funeral Home Chapel in Cross Plains. The Rev. Audy Moore officiated and burial was in Burkett Cemetery in Coleman County. Porter was dead on arrival at 2 a. m. Sunday at West Texas Medical Center in Abilene. He had just recently been released from an Abilene hospital but an apparent relapse with pneumonia occurred.

He was serving as state editor of the Abilene Reporter News at the time of his death. He had been with the Abilene paper for more than one year as state editor after moving from Hereford in February of 1969.

Porter came to Hereford from the Amarillo Globe News in 1967 as a reporter and assumed the position of news editor in October of the same year. He served in that capacity until he resigned in 1969 to accept a job with the Abilene Reporter News. He was graduate of Cross Plains High School and attended Cisco Junior College. He graduated from East Texas State University in Commerce. While a resident of Hereford, Porter was an active member of the noon Lions Club. He was an ardent fisherman and traveler and spent much of his time at nearby lakes indulging in his favorite sport.

It was under his editorship that the Hereford Brand was the recipient of numerous awards. He brought the Brand the general excellence award twice during the two years he was editor and also accumulated a number of awards in news photography, news stories, sports stories and other areas.

Survivors include his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Porter of Cross Plains; two brothers, W. B. Porter of Odessa and Billy Porter of Cross Plains and two sisters, Mrs. Bob Illingsworth of Iowa Park and Mrs. Harold Baxter of Abilene.

DOG SAVES
KLERKSDORP, South Africa—An African housebreak suspect lived to bless the police dog that chased him. He jumped into a brook to escape the dog's sharp fangs, but got into trouble when he waded in deeper. He went under twice and came up again to find the dog at his side, "He took my arm in his teeth and kept me above the surface until the policeman arrived to help me out," the man said.

TRAVEL INCENTIVE
NEW DELHI — To boost passenger traffic on Air India, the nation's international airline, the government has raised the amount of foreign exchange an Indian can take out of the country with him to $108—if he travels with Air India. Under the old rule Indians could not take more than $8.00 in foreign exchange. That rule still applies to travel with airlines other than Air India.
