JITTER NOLEN

Jitter Nolen is president at NTSU

C. C. "Jitter" Nolen, 46, who is married to the former June Dameron of Hereford, was named Friday as president of North Texas State University, effective this summer.

Nolen has been at Texas Christian University since 1968 as vice chancellor for development.

He was announced at a university-wide assembly by A.M. Willis of Longview, chairman of the WTSU Board of Regents, who called Nolen "a man who listens well and can make a decision."

Nolen's appointment ends almost a year-long search for NTSU's 10th president beginning when Dr. John J. Kamerick accepted the presidency of the University of Northern Iowa last May 26, after two years as NTSU head. John L. Carter, vice-president for fiscal affairs, has served as acting president since Dr. Kamerick's departure.

The new president, Willis said, was one of a dozen persons interviewed from approximately 300 candidates from all parts of the country.

Nolen is in his third year as vice-chancellor of development at TCU, directing a fund-raising campaign that has reached some $19 million in gifts and pledges since a January 1970 kickoff toward a $43 million goal in 1973.

"I regret leaving TCU and the campaign effort before it is concluded, but fund-raising campaigns for the private colleges will ever be concluded," See NOLEN Page Two

The High Plains Association of County Sheriffs and Cattlemen took aim at the state's highest offices Thursday in its campaign for a better and more uniform state livestock branding system.

Jim Wilson of Hartley County, who was elected president of the association, said Friday that immediate action will be taken by the officers and steering committee to get legislation passed in this session of the legislature that will help the cattlemen's branding problems.

Deaf Smith County Sheriff Travis McPherson was elected vice president of the association. Members of the steering committee are R. C. Johnson of Dalhart, John Nunn of Carson County, and John Ralney of Collingsworth County, all sheriffs, and Harold Edwards of Briscoe County, Rudy Tate of Collingworth County and Phil Smith of Carson County, all cattlemen.

"Primarily, our initial efforts will be to get immediate steps taken to pass Senate Concurrent Resolution No. 87 in Austin," Wilson said. "This is pending legislation pertaining to the establishment of a branding study committee that will be composed of three men named by the speaker of the House, three by the Lieutenant Governor and three by the Governor who will study the present branding system."

Senators Murray Watson Jr. of Mart, and Jack Hightower of Vernon are co-sponsors for the bill.

There are three pieces of legislation before the state bodies now that could, if passed before the present session let out, have a tremendous effect on the branding system, Wilson said. Besides SCR No. 87 there is SB See BRAND Page Two

Drug seminar (for adults only) is set for cafeteria Friday night

The Kiwanis Clubs of Hereford have set their drug seminar-aimed at the city's adults-for Friday night in the high school cafeteria.

It originally was set for April 23, but was postponed because of the tornado that hit Hereford four days earlier.

Members of both clubs issued a challenge for all the adults in the city to attend. It will begin at 8 p.m. and last for about 90 minutes. The crux of the meeting is a panel of several men, each familiar with a phase of the drug problem.

Mayor urges support for Day Care Center

Mayor Jim Sears has proclaimed this week as "National Week of the Young Child" in Hereford and urged local citizens to support the local Day Care Center.

He made a special appeal for everyone to find out this week what the Day Care Center has to offer for the young children of working mothers. Sears is asking local residents to find time within the next week to go by the Day Care Center any morning from 9:30 to 11 o'clock or any afternoon from 3 to 4:30 o'clock.

"I further encourage all citizens, organizations and other interested groups to help and assist the Hereford Day Care Center by giving your full support, because the children we help today are our national, state and local insurance for tomorrow," Sears said in his proclamation.

Funds to meet needs at the Center will be raised by a community garage sale next Friday and Saturday at Community Center, with Mrs. Dennis Lomas as chairman of the committee in charge. Contributions of items for sale are being solicited.

Residents are asked to give used clothing, household furnishings, tools and other items in salable condition and merchants are reminded that donated merchandise is tax exempt. Delivery of donations will be arranged if needed, by a telephone call to Mrs. Lomas.

This National Week is sponsored in the United States by the National Association for the Education of Young Children, and is being observed for the first time. It calls attention to the need for care of working mothers' children and the importance of proper training for children under the age of 6.

The local Day Care Center, in its first year of operation, now has 34 children enrolled. It opened as the result of a community campaign for funds and facilities, and has qualified for state and federal funds. Anna Jo Wilson is the director.

Parents pay for the care of their children, with fees adjusted to ability to pay. Scholarships for some who cannot pay the full fees are provided by contributions from various sources, including civic and church groups and clubs.

The special week is being set aside, Sears said, to emphasize the needs of the young child today; to encourage home-school-community interaction and working for the well-being of young children; and to acquaint the public with the services available at the Day Care Center.

The Day Care Center opened its doors seven months ago, at 215 Norton St., two blocks east of K-Bobs Restaurant.

Civic clubs clash in volleyball tilts

Civic club will go against civic club here Monday, Tuesday and Thursday in the first annual Hereford Civic Club Volleyball Tournament to be played at the high school.

At 7:15 p.m. the Jaycees will meet the No. 1 Lions Club team, followed at 8 p.m. with a game between the No. 2 Lions team and the No. 2 Kiwanis team. The Breakfast Kiwanis Club drew a bye in the first round of the tournament.

The losers will go into the losers bracket and the winners of these games will advance toward the championship bracket. On Tuesday games will be played on the same time schedule, but on Thursday only two games will be played.

Thursday the top two teams will meet for the championship in the winners bracket, and the two top teams in the losers bracket will vie for the consolation trophy. The consolation game will start at 7 p.m. and the championship game at 8 p.m.

Trophies will be awarded to the first, second and consolation teams.

Admission to the tournament will be 25 cents per person with proceeds from the event going to local charity.

A band of thundershowers moved in from the west Saturday and dropped welcome rain on Deaf Smith County, although a report of a twister near Summerfield sent many tornado-jittery residents scurrying to their storm shelters.

The report of a tornado sighting two miles south of Summerfield came at 11:10 a. m. Saturday, just a few minutes after a roll of thunder ushered in a slow, steady rain over downtown Hereford.

Firemen, police, sheriff's officers and other persons spread out over the surrounding area looking for any funnel cloud headed this way. All of them said about the same thing it looked like just a good rain cloud, just like everybody had been wishing for.

At least a few persons recalled the report of the past several days that Jeane Dixon had predicted a major disaster to Hereford before May 31. According to the report, she said the tornado of 20 days ago was just a warning.

The rain lasted about 30 minutes and then resumed about 12:30 p. m. for several more minutes. By the time it had stopped, Hereford had received 30-hundredths of an inch, raising the 1971 total to 3.02 inches. Water quickly was running over the curbs throughout town.

The county was under a severe thunderstorm warning for a couple of hours, but it was lifted at 1 p. m. with only rain, and no hail or high wind, having come to Hereford. Just two or three miles south of Hereford, light hail fell about 12:45 p. m. Farther south, however, west of Dimmitt, golf-ball sized hail pounded the crops.

The National Weather Bureau predicted a 70 per cent chance of additional rain later in the afternoon and a 40 per cent chance of rain today.

The scheduled last day of the two-day Civic Club Golf Tournament was interrupted by the rain and tornado report. Numerous golfers were on the course when it began, but didn't stay out there long.

"When they said something about a tornado close to Summerfield, they cleared out and got to the clubhouse in no more than a minute and a half," course superintendent Donald Bridges said. The players were to resume play later where they had stopped. Course officials decided then to continue play on Sunday or Monday if the weather later Saturday prevented all players from getting in their 18 holes.

The first scrimmage of the Hereford Whitefaces under game conditions of this spring training also was a victim to the storm. Coach Larry Wartes got to run his boys through about 20 minutes of action before he sent them running through the rain to the clubhouse, through for the week.

The report of the tornado came to a telephone operator, who relayed it to the police.

The operator said a man identifying himself as Ray Lubban called at 11:10 a. m. wanting Radio Station KPAN. The man told her a tornado was two miles south of Summerfield. The line to KPAN was busy, so he asked for the police, the operator recalled. She asked him to wait "just a minute," and he answered, "You report it, I'm leaving." Pre-Feeders, Inc., is about two miles south of Summerfield, and accountant Leeman Norman said they knew nothing about a tornado.

"It just looked like a real good rain here," he said. "It wasn't threatening or anything, that we knew of. We had thunder and lightning, but no hail and no high wind. If there was one (a tornado), it must have been in the clouds where we couldn't see it."

Several employees were outside until the rain began falling hard, and none of them reported seeing a funnel cloud either.

"And if there had been something, I'm sure they would have seen it. One of them (Bill Shipp) lives on Star Street, where the tornado hit." Shipp's house suffered window and roof damage during the April 19 tornado.

Glady's Garden

By Gladys Howton Manjeot

The Month of May, when Spring Flowers are at Their Best. In this month many of the characteristics flowers of spring attain the height of their glory; indeed, May sees the last of them, for when June flowers blossom it is summer time.

One authority expressed the gardening at this time, as the beginning of the rush of work starts subsiding and the more steady pull of summer chores takes its place. Kenneth Hyink, of Kohler Wis., expressed it in this way "A flower GARDEN is a thing of BEAUTY, and a JOB forever." Yes there are many things for the gardener to do in the busy month of May.

If there has been good earlier planning and planting one can begin to see the fruits of their endeavor. Also there will be mistakes made. Let me again urge all to keep a notebook of gardening the year 'round. Now is a good time to enter in it when the first crocus bloomed, also when the tulips were at their height of beauty, as well as the flowering shrubs, and other spring flowering bulbs and other flowers.

When was the first iris picked and taken into the house to enjoy its beauty and fragrance? A garden friend of mine, kept a garden calendar, and on this she would enter any and all items pertaining to gardening that would be helpful for the next season. We often asked her when was the best time to schedule flower shows, or when was the first freeze, or when was the first snow fall. She always had the information for us, as well as being able to call to our attention some of the errors made in our gardens, both flowers and vegetables. So such a notebook will not only be of value to you, but to those that you work with.

It is also recommended that the notebook be tucked into the purse or totebag when traveling or visiting in other gardens.

Notes can be made of new plants, combination of plants, as to color, texture, and growth, and any other of item that you can profit by in your gardening. Am planning on going on a little trip, and you can just know that Glad will have a notebook, and it will be used.

GARDEN TIPS FOR MAY.

1. Enjoy your gardening. Make a trip into the garden in the early morning. Look into the heart of a beautiful tulip, or stop and enjoy the fragrance and sheer beauty of the bearded iris.

2. Be patient with the maturity of the foliage of the spring flowering bulbs, it is very necessary that it mature well, before it is removed from the bulbs. As it matures it is storing up the beauty for the next spring blossoms.

3. It is necessary to remove Tulips or other bulbs from the flower beds to make room for the summer flowers, before the leaves have thoroughly died. Dig them carefully with as much soil as possible attached to them. Heal out (plant them temporarily closely together) in a trench where they are shaded from the strong sunshine and water well. Let them remain there until they have fully matured (ripened) then clean and store, or if you so wish they can be planted permanently in another area of the garden.

4. Early flowering plants that are fast forming bloom buds, and making their full growth should be watered thoroughly at least once a week. If the dry weather continues.

5. Now is the time to disbud the peonies, leave one good bud to the stem if you wish to have well developed blossoms. If however you are more interested in abundance of bloom, then thin the buds, so that the flowers will not overlap, and become disfigured. Do not be concerned about the ants that are found on the syrup on the Peony buds, they do no harm, they are just enjoying a bit of sweets, as the buds secrete the syrup.

6. May is an ideal time to plant water lilies and other hardy aquatic plants. A pool well built, and filled with water lilies adds an attraction to any garden. The water lily was one of Art's favorite plants, and he was always delighted when they began to make buds and blooms. We have had a lily pool at most of our homes, but this one and it is missed.

7. Provide a side dressing of a well balanced fertilizer for the sweet peas, and English peas, then they should never want for water, as they do much of their growing this month.

8. Pinch tips out of Chrysanthemums when the plants are 6 inches high and again when the side branches are about 6 inches long. If they need dividing and transplanting, then thin and plant. A good thing to remember is, that when the Darwin and Cottage tulips are blooming it is then time to plant Chrysanthemums.

9. Finish up the planting of the vegetables. A neighbor told me the other day that a right time to plant green beans was on the hundredth day of the year.

10. For those who plant according to the moon, remember, the things which are to make above the ground (such as beans, gladiol etc.), plant when the moon is in the light of moon, for those which make under ground, such as potatoes, carrots, radishes, etc., then plant in the dark of the moon. Check your almanac, for dates for moon planting.

BEAUTY SPOTS: There have been many pretty Red Bud trees in bloom in the city, and they are lovely. For a good contrast note the White Bud trees, in bloom. They are dainty and very appealing. The well kept lawn and shrubs at The First Methodist Church have been very attractive. Especially pretty when the evening sun shines across the expanse of lawn, after it has had a good watering.

The red, purple, and pink tulips at The First Baptist church have been unusually lovely this spring, as to color, texture, and quality. If you are interested in the names, they are, "Red Ma-tador," Violet or purple, "Bishop" and The Lily type, which is pink "Marianne." Another very pretty tulip, which is a two tone, is "Dutch Princess," it has been in bloom on The Hereford State Bank grounds.

The white large 'loaded' snow ball shrub at the J. R. Allison home on Texas Ave.

The color harmony of the lovely yellow iris, and the sweet pansies in heir multicolors at the Roy Botkin home, Elm St.

The 'snow-bank' of pretty white spiraea at Mrs. Jewell's home, on N. Lawton St.

The dainty true blue 'flax' at the home on E. 4th street. It is pretty in the early morning when the sky is blue, with the white clouds drifting by.

A very lovely sight is the beauty created by the flowering wisteria at the home of the Cowsters on Grand Avenue. The magnificent fronds or grape like purple flowers are unusually large and the length is extra fine.

Contrast is seen

New role in support of husband learned

By SUE COLEMAN
Women's Editor

A COMPLETELY different role is being played by Mrs. John English as wife of the executive director of Kings Manor retirement home, she says, to the one she filled for a number of years as a Methodist pastor's wife.

"And I'm still learning this new part," she adds. "The past year I've largely spent in just getting acquainted."

Dr. and Mrs. English came to Hereford a year ago last month, when he assumed duties at the retirement home owned by the United Methodist Church. The appointment followed a series of pastorates in churches over Northwest Texas and service as a district superintendent with headquarters in Childress.

FERN ENGLISH considers her part in support of her husband as an important one, worth study and effort. Present service at a home for retired persons is quite a contrast to her major work in the past, she laughs.

Then, she centered her training and service in the field of Christian education with emphasis on the youngest children, working in conference and jurisdictional posts as well as in local churches.

But there has always been greater variety in tasks which fall to a pastor's wife, she observes, and she felt that she needed to "be ready for whatever was left to be done."

One phase of her life in Hereford is a treat to Mrs. English after years of living in parsonages furnished by other women. Although she enjoyed attractive homes and appreciated the thought that had gone into their furnishing, it is a special pleasure to choose for herself and arrange every stick of furniture and item of decoration in her home here, she says. SINCE TRADITION in the Methodist Church calls for a move every few years for its ministers, Mrs. English has cheerfully packed up and gone to a new home often during her married life.

She calls herself an "adept mover" and says, "Just give me a day and I can have the new house looking homelike — but don't look in the closets because the unpacked boxes will be there!"

The Englishes have had a home of their own though in addition to whatever parsonage they happened to be inhabiting. They own a cabin on Lake Sweetwater in the Blackwell community where Fern English grew up and enjoy using it on holidays and weekends.

She was born in Bell County, in Central Texas, but Mrs. English's parents moved the family to Nolan County when she was a baby and she went through school at Blackwell.

COLLEGE came a good deal later, though; she enrolled as a freshman in Clarendon Junior College the year her son was graduated from high school, while her husband was pastor at Clarendon. She also had instruction in voice at McMurray College, during a pastorage at Abilene.

Not only voice, but piano and organ lessons have made her proficient enough to help with church music often, as well as to enjoy playing and singing as a relaxing pastime.

She studied piano as a child, but almost taught herself to play the organ, with some brief instruction from a church organist who was leaving that duty to the pastor's wife.

She is interested in her husband's hobby of painting but says her own painting is not to be considered in a class with his. She is more expert at china painting, though, and at needlepoint. Both arts have provided beautiful accessories for her home and numerous gifts.

HOMEMAKING is named promptly as one of her favorite pursuits; she even likes to clean house, she says. Cooking and collecting recipes provide another interest, linked to her enjoyment of entertaining guests, an accomplishment which is another valuable asset for a minister's wife.

Dr. and Mrs. English have a son, Jerry, and two teenage grandchildren. Mr. and Mrs. Jerry English both teach at Jayton.

Dr. English entered the ministry after farming for a time, and his first church was at Barton. The couple moved successively to Welnert, Big Spring, Wheeler, Vega, Baird, Clarendon, Phillips, Lubbock, Abilene, Childress and Snyder before they came here.

Miss Sharon Kay Cash marries Bovina man

Mrs. Donald L. Dyer nee Sharon Kay Cash

Miss Sharon Kay Cash became the bride of Donald Lynn Dyer of Bovina in Saturday evening wedding ceremonies at First Baptist Church; the Rev. GERALD MANN, pastor, officiating.

Mr. and Mrs. James E. Cash, 205 Grand, are parents of the bride and Mr. and Mrs. Travis Dyer, of Bovina, parents of the bridegroom. The bride was given in marriage by her father.

The lace-edged illusion veil which was a part of her costume, held by a tiara of seed pearls and sequins, was one worn by her older sister as a bride.

Her white satin, empire style gown with lace appliques on bodice and skirt, featured a wide chapel-length train. The rounded stand-up collar and end of sleeves were accented by scalloped lace and sequins.

She carried a cluster of roses surrounded by daisies and lily of the valley.

The church was beautifully decorated with four 14-branched candelabra twined with English ivy and arrangements of purple and white flowers.

Mrs. Larry Kuper, matron of honor, and bridesmaids Miss Brenda Weddel and Miss Margaret Phipps, wore floor-length amethyst satin dresses.

A white lace band laced with purple velvet ribbon marked the empire waistline, matched by choker necklaces. Satin headpieces were worn to match the gowns and the attendants carried purple and white stock.

Celia and Amy Cash, neices of the bride, served as flower-girls and carried small nosegays of stock blossoms. They are the daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Jess Cash of Amarillo. Best man was Ronny Dyer, brother of the groom, and Craig Wilson and Wayne Davies, both of Bovina, were groomsmen. Gail Cash, brother of the bride, and Billy J. Charles, of Bovina, ushered.

Linda Dyer, sister of the groom, and Jackie Manning, nephew of the bride, were candle lighters. Mrs. Allen Evers, organist, accompanied Larry Kuper as he sang Twelfth of Never More and One Hand One Heart.

Fellowship Hall of the First Baptist Church was the scene of the reception immediately following the wedding ceremony. Miss Brena Dyer, sister of the groom, registered guests.

Cake and punch were served by Mrs. Jessie Cash and Mrs. Glen Cash, the bride's sisters-in-law, and Miss Nita Cash and Mrs. Harold Manning, her sisters.

A violet cloth overlaid with lace covered the serving table which was centered with the bouquets of the bride and her attendants. Two purple candles in crystal holders flanked the flowers.

For the occasion the bride's mother wore a blue and white floral knit dress accented at waist and neckline with pearl buttons. She wore white accessories.

Mrs. Dyer wore a floral crepe frock in shades of pink under a sleeveless pink coat with white accessories. Corsages of both mothers were orchids.

For a wedding trip to New Mexico the bride wore a purple and white knit dress with white accessories and orchid corsage. The couple will make their home in Farwell.

The bride, employed by Southwestern Bell Telephone Company, is a 1969 graduate of Hereford High School and at West Texas State University.

Her husband is engaged in farming. He graduated from Bovina High School with the class of 1965, and attended WTSU and Texas Tech Universities.

Other out-of-town guests present for their wedding were Mr. and Mrs. H.H. Snow of Muleshoe; Mr. and Mrs. Edward Crume and daughters, Mr. and Mrs. H.A. Vick and Mrs. Ellen Dyer, all of Littlefield; Mr. and Mrs. Walter Layton of Morton; Mr. and Mrs. Fred Keck and sons of Iowa Park; and Miss Judy Gunnels of Tulia.

CARD OF THANKS
We wish to take this means of expressing our gratitude and appreciation to the ones who risked their lives to come to our assistance following the tornado. Within minutes the victims were being loaded into pickups and taken to the hospital and the rest of us to places of safety. Then the next morning the clean up job started. Neighbors, friends and kin folks, came with trucks, rakes and shovels. Some helped all week, but still the job goes on. Mere words cannot express our deep felt thanks to each and every one of you. Some we knew by name and others we did not know. But our Heavenly Father who sees and knows everything does, and may he richly reward you and bless you is our fervent prayer.
Thanks again,

BIG RANCH
VERNON, Tex. — The mailman recently delivered to the Vernon headquarters of the W. T. Waggoner Ranch a letter from Stockholm, Sweden, addressed simply: "A Big Ranch in Texas, U. S. A." The Waggoner Ranch covers more than 500,000 acres in six counties. It is believed to be Texas' largest spread operated as a single ranching unit. The letter was from two 18-year-old girls who wanted to correspond with cowboys.

Letter to the editor

Dear Editor:

Please permit me a quick bit of explanation. My office issues all tornado watch bulletins for the United States. An ex-National Weather Service employee (Mrs. A. B. Jacob of your city) kindly sent me your paper of April 22, 1971.

First, we in the NWS (formerly Weather Bureau) are delighted that no one in Hereford was killed by the early morning storm. The death toll in the U. S. has already reached 120 this year, well above the average for the past 10 years, in spite of excellent forecasts before the disasters.

In your front page article the comment is made "The Hereford area was under a severe weather alert Sunday night but it was cancelled about 11:00 P. M."

In actuality this office issued a tornado watch bulletin, number 115, at 11:20 pm for portions of northwest Texas, including Hereford. The tornado watch was valid from 11:20 PM Sunday night until 2 AM Monday morning. The bulletin was transmitted via teletype to members of AP and UPI and around Texas via the NOAA Weather Wire. Various law enforcement agencies and the DPI were notified by phone. The nighttime tornado watch and tornado warning is a very difficult situation for meteorologists. Ideally we would issue the watch well before the time most persons retire for the night, but in this case the indications did not become apparent until much later. This holds true for warnings as well but fortunately for Hereford (and I congratulate the city officials for doing so) your city has an effective siren system and can alert people in that manner.

May I also applaud Mr. Esqueda for his timely report to the local authorities, to Sheriff McPherson for checking it out and to Mr. Thompson for his part in organizing the local Civil Defense.

Sincerely yours,
ALLEN D. PEARSON

Ministers tour cattle operations

Members of the Hereford Ministerial Association took a two-hour tour of local cattle feeding operations and farms Thursday as a prelude to the May 16-23 annual Soil Stewardship Week.

The ministers, representing almost every church in Hereford, took the tour under the sponsorship of the Tierra Blanca Soil and Water Conservation District. J.C. Brown of the Soil Conservation Service, acted as guide on the tour that took the men to Southwest Feed Yards and the Gerald McCathern farm west of the city.

The group toured the mill at Southwest Feed Yards and took a look at the pollution abatement practices carried on at the feed yard.

At the McCathern farm, the men observed McCathern's irrigation system and tailwater recovery systems being used there.

Soil Stewardship Week is observed each year through local churches to make people more aware what resources are and to help them have a better understanding of those available to them.

Population here is higher than norm, it seems

With a new baby boom beginning in the United States, reflecting the rising torrent of young folks reaching marriageable age, the question of population and family size is being widely discussed.

In Deaf Smith County, how big is the average family? How does it compare with families in other parts of the country?

Now that there are nearly 25 million more people in the nation than there were 10 years ago and an even larger increase forecast for the next 10 years, there is concern in many quarters regarding housing, air pollution, jobs and the various other problems of a more concentrated society.

That concern has been recognized in Washington, where President Nixon has set up the "Commission on Population and the American Future," headed by John D. Rockefeller 3rd, to find out what we can expect in the way of population growth and how we can deal with its impact on living conditions.

In Deaf Smith County, on the basis of the 1970 census figures, which show a total of 18,999 people in the area and 5,171 households, the average locally is 367 persons per 100 households.

Compared with most other communities, this is somewhat high. The average throughout the United States as a whole is 320 per 100 households. In the West South Central States it is 325.

As seen by Dr. Philip M. Hauser, University of Chicago sociologist, the growing concentration of population, especially in urban areas, poses a threat to the quality of daily life.

It creates health problems due to air and water pollution, difficulties with the disposal of waste products, traffic congestion, housing shortages and the like.

The commission appointed by the President will examine the effect of population changes on the environment and will even go into the heated subject of uncontrolled population growth.

To keep the population at its present level — no increase and no decrease — the average number of children born would need to be no more than 2.13 per couple, according to the Census Bureau. Currently the average is 3.18.

A skilled Canadian Eskimo couple can build an igloo in less than an hour.

Luncheon ends Bay View year

Committees for the 1971-72 club year were named as officers headed by Mrs. R.W. Eades as president were installed in Bay View Study Club Thursday. Members were entertained at a luncheon in Hereford Country Club, the final meeting of the season.

Taking office were Mrs. E.J. McMillan as vice president, Mrs. Herman Ford secretary, Mrs. Wilson Humphrey correspondent, Mrs. H. L. Benefield treasurer. Mrs. Eades gave the installation program, with a theme of colors signifying the duties of each office.

Appointed officers for the year are Mrs. Colby Conkright, retiring president, parliamentarian; Mrs. Justin McBride, historian, and Mrs. W.J. Gilliland reporter.

Chairmen of special committees are Mrs. McBride museum tours; Mrs. Jimmie Gillentine, public relations. Mrs. Conkright, bylaws. Mrs. Earnest Langley will continue as the club's Campfire Girl representative.

Assigned to standing committees were Mmes. McMillan, Si Darling and Bruce Burney.

membership; Mmes. Jack Wilcox, J.R. Allison and Darling, program; Mmes. W.S. Kerr, Howard Gault and Tom Sawyer, social. Also Mmes. Langley and Homer Powell, cheer; Mmes. Ansel McDowell, J.E. Shirkey and R.B. Miller, telephone; Mrs. Homer Garrison, welfare.

Mrs. Gillentine read a letter of appreciation from Gristown, USA, for contributions made by the club to that residence for girls. Mrs. Conkright presided for business including final committee reports.

Announcement was made of the garage sale at Community Center Friday and Saturday to benefit Hereford Day Care Center and members were asked to contribute items for sale.

Eighteen members lunched at a table centered with red-brown and pink iris, columbine and beauty bush, arranged by Mrs. Kerr.

Jaycees map busy Election Day plans

The Hereford Jaycees probably will be much in evidence on Election Day, May 18.

They laid plans Thursday night to take an active part in getting people to the polls for the vote on the proposed constitutional amendments, hospital district and criminal district attorney race.

That will include picking up voters and driving them to and from their voting boxes; making and displaying at least two banners to go over streets in the city urging persons to go vote; walking up and down the business sections on Election Day, with sandwich-type signs urging people to vote; and finally operating a big blackboard on the courthouse square on election night, keeping track of the returns as they come in.

Jaycee-ettes, the wives' organization, will be telephoning registered voters the day before the election reminding them of ballot and asking if they need transportation to the polls.

The state Jaycee convention starts in Amarillo Thursday and continues through Saturday. Several local officers and members will attend, and those who are unable to will have a work meeting at the Community Center Thursday night in place of the usual weekly meeting. They will put things in final shape for their Election Day activities.

Two additional officers and a Jaycee of the Month for April were selected. Dale Lawrence was named as external vice president and Harvey Milton as a director. Terry Hill, who headed the Little Dribblers Basketball, Inc., program recently, won the Jaycee of the Month recognition.

Boy's essay wins cleanup award

Need for Trash Roundup Month in this community is emphasized by a sixth-grade boy at Central Elementary School. Larry Don Landers, in his essay which took first place in a contest which was a part of the cleanup campaign.

Essays were written and posters made by elementary school pupils of the city, and certificates presented the winners by the Women's Division of Deaf Smith Chamber of Commerce, sponsors of Trash Roundup Month in Hereford.

The winning essay follows: POLLUTION IN OUR NATURAL SURROUNDINGS

I made a tour of Veterans Park and the Boy Scout grounds and it was sickening. There was trash everywhere. On the Boy Scout grounds I found scrap metal, old barrels, a tin lid. There were tree stumps, limbs, two by fours, and electric spools in the creek. And the vegetable drainage which is supposed to be clear stunk like garbage. The smell almost made me sick.

I found paper and plastic all over the creek in Veterans Park. There were strips of black polyethylene sheets, egg cartons, plastic bottles, paper cups and boxes. There wasn't a place where there wasn't some kind of can. There were beer cans and beverage cans everywhere.

L'ALLEGRA OFFICERS — Elected at a Thursday afternoon meeting, officers for next season in L'Allegra Study Club will be installed at a May 20 luncheon. Mrs. Danny Martin, left in top photo, will be the president succeeding Mrs. Buddy Bloomer, standing. Mrs. Bill Warrick is vice president. From left in lower photo are Mrs. Rudy Metz, secretary; Mrs. Dennis Farley, reporter; Mrs. Jerry Weldon, correspondent, and Mrs. J. H. McCrary, historian. Mrs. Hazen Wood, seated, is treasurer and will have Mrs. Jim Carnahan as assistant.

Mrs. Martin is named president

A new member was welcomed and officers for next year elected at a business meeting of L'Allegra Study Club Thursday afternoon in the Flame Room of Pioneer Gas Company.

Mrs. Danny Martin will serve as president next term, beginning May 20 when an installation luncheon is scheduled at Hereford Country Club.

The L'Allegran of the Year will be presented at the luncheon also, and identity of secret pals will be revealed.

To take office with Mrs. Martin are Mrs. Bill Warrick as vice president, Mrs. Rudy Metz treasurer, Mrs. Jerry Weldon correspondent, Mrs. Hazen Woods treasurer with Mrs. Jim Carnahan as assistant, Mrs. J.H. McCrary historian and Mrs. Dennis Farley reporter.

Mrs. Buddy Bloomer, whose term as president ends, will become club parliamentarian.

Mrs. Steve Coneway is the new club member. Special guests at the meeting were Mrs. Floyd Coleman and Mrs. Mark Banner of the Hereford Brand women's staff, to whom appreciation was expressed for news coverage of club activities.

Other members present were Mmes. Jim Conkwright, Alex Schroeter, John E. Smith, J.D. Hamblen, Calvin Garrett and Bobby Veigel.

Close coverage

Harry Truman, as usual, put it most succinctly: "If you can not stand the heat, get out of the kitchen."

Since Truman's presidency, however, the heat of the public spotlight on the White House has intensified painfully. I wouldn't have it any other way, but we should feel some sympathy for the man in the kitchen."

Some of the things that the ordinary guy does, a newspaper would not think of reporting. But if it has something to do with the President, you'll probably read about it, no matter how trivial.

Suppose the news media covered your life the way it blankets the President's. Think about that.

Dawn — David Seely, a Hereford High School sophomore, plagiarized his recent term paper entitled, "The Complexities of a Gyroscope."

Witnesses said they observed David in study hall several days ago, copying off the report, which was written by an upper classman, Billy Joe Seymour.

David was given a "B-plus" for his "effort." This mark is expected to be withdrawn after published reports reach the instructor who assigned the term paper.

Hereford — Harley Straitlace, 51-year-old operator of a local pharmacy, has been receiving pornographic mail. It was learned today.

An employee of his store, who asked to remain anonymous, became suspicious after Straitlace came to the front of the store every day and sifted through the mail until he found an unmarked envelope. Straitlace, married and the father of six children, then would go outside to his car, look through the mail for a half hour or more and then come back into the store with a leer on his face. He is a deacon in his church.

She opened his mail about three weeks ago and discovered what the unmarked envelopes contained. "I was shocked," she said. Since then, she has been keeping a running tally.

Miss Daniels, a 27-year-old telephone operator, tried to cover the wound by wearing bell-bottom slacks today, but newsmen spotted a piece of tissue paper stuck to her leg as she stepped into her car.

She flatly denied that she nicked herself with a razor. Miss Daniels, refusing photographers' entreaties for a close-up of the ankle, drove off fretting. Her younger sister confirmed that Miss Daniels had cut herself, adding: "You should have heard the obscenity she used."

Hereford — Real Estate Salesman Homer K. Dinsmore was unsuccessful today in his attempts to unload a five-bedroom, split-level home he has had on the books for more than a year. Dinsmore worked on a prominent banker and his wife for more than two hours this morning, but he couldn't get the wife to commit herself. Dinsmore has shown the house to more than four dozen potential customers since the property was put up for sale.

According to informed sources, Dinsmore's employer, Bumpass, Kehart & Davison, Inc., is considering bumping the salesman from the staff if he cannot push the home by next week.

Easter — Raborn Davis chewed out his caddy yesterday. Davis, who has been playing golf every afternoon, tuning his game for the countywide tournament next weekend, stalked off the course after chalking up a triple-bogey 8 on the final hole at the Hereford Golf Course.

"Every time I was ready to hit, he was over talking to the other caddy. The money I pay him, I expect him to have any club ready each time," said Davis, who is one of the favorites for the tournament.

Everything came to a hilt on the final hole. He wanted a 9-iron but grabbed a 6-iron by mistake when he finally reached for a club himself, "because my caddy was off lolly-gagging." His shot went far over the green, over a road and into some trees, out of bounds. Instead of a possible birdie, he wound up with penalty strokes and finally a three-putt green.

Summerfield — Mrs. Sylvia Beaumark is responsible for the rumor that Mr. and Mrs. Garvin Lartrup are planning a divorce.

Mrs. Beaumark, who covets Mrs. Lartrup's reputation as a stylish dresser, began biting her victim's back about a month ago, it was learned today.

Mrs. Lartrup, according to knowledgeable friends, is happily married. She had attempted vainly to track down the divorce story herself since she heard it at a coffee shop a week ago. Friona — Mrs. Olivia Kale, a 79-year-old widow of a Baptist minister, drinks a pint of Chateauf-neuf-deu-Pape every day.

Mrs. Kale has been imbibing wine religiously since her husband passed away in 1966. Garbagemen on her route first learned of her private indulgence when they heard an empty bag of gingersnaps tinkle as it dropped into their truck. They opened the bag and found a broken pint bottle.

The scavengers searched the remainder of her disposables and uncovered two more drained decanters. They have made a point to check her garbage every day since, and have never been disappointed.

MORE CRIME
BERLIN — More than 178,000 crimes were reported in West Berlin in 1970, 10.7 per cent more than in 1969, according to a city government official.

Thefts made up 64.5 per cent of the crimes as compared with 58.9 per cent in 1969.

Narcotics offenses also showed an alarming increase over the year, with 838 arrests for drug peddling, almost twice as many as in 1969, the official added.

HILL TO HOLE
KANSAS CITY, Mo. — How do you turn a hill upside down? First, you cut it down to street level and haul away the unneeded dirt and rock, to be dumped into a depression where landfill is required. Then, you continue digging until you have a hole 30 feet deep.
That's what is happening to a section of Signboard Hill, a Kansas City landmark that is being eliminated to make way for a 750-room hotel in Crown Center, an urban redevelopment project in the midtown area. The hotel project alone required the removal of 375,000 cubic yards of earth.

Small talk

By SUE COLEMAN
Women's Editor

A NOTE that brightened up the week came from the Herschel Thurstons, who have been living the last few years in Ute Park, N. M. after his retirement from the ministry in United Methodist churches — a work that kept them in Hereford about eight years.

teach our children to swim in its summer programs, and to help families of men in military service—although not many except those who receive that help actually know how much it can mean.

The friends we have in Hereford are very dear to us," the note said, adding that "the Thurstons like to read in the Brand about people they know and about new people who have come here since they left.

Peace officers elect Neese new president

Norman Neese of the Hereford Police Department was elected president of the Peace Officers Association of Hereford in a meeting Thursday.

Best part of the note was the paragraph that said, "One of these days we will be back in 'good old Hereford' after our extended vacation up here in this beautiful mountain valley."

Neese replaces Chuck Cosper as head of the local organization.

That reinforces the promise to come back to Hereford, made by Brother T. and Hazel when they bought the former Methodist parsonage, the one they occupied when they were here. It's nice to know they still plan to return, and the house is a sort of tangible evidence that we will have them here again "one of these days."

Ronnie Mitchell of the Bovina police department was named vice president, Johnny Moya of the Deaf Smith County Sheriff's office as secretary-treasurer, Mable Williams and Harold Wheeler directors and Glenn Nelson reporter.

Plans were made for the June 3 meeting of the association which will be Ladies Night. The meeting will be held at the Knights of Columbus Hall and the meal will be catered by the Rotary Club.

The program for the Thursday meeting was a panel of eight high school students who presented questions to the various agency representatives attending the meeting.

A LOT OF Hereford people have a new conception of Red Cross service since they were helped through its disaster relief program after the tornado here last month. So they may be more interested in the fact that yesterday was World Red Cross Day.

The students represented the high school government class taught by Phil Tucker.

Most of the time we are inclined to take the Red Cross for granted, and maybe sort of complain that we are asked to contribute to it. Of course we know in a general way that it helps in times of disaster, but that means some other place's disaster, and only another call for money for us.

Penguins in zoos, who were previously accustomed to the nearly germ-free air of Antarctica, must be fed fish scrupulously cleansed of bacteria.

Only when the disaster is ours do we realize what its services can mean. At other times we count on the Red Cross to

That's where the action is, and you are surrounded by great minds."

H.D. CHATTER project on! Candy sales By Mrs. Argen Draper Home Demonstration Agent

4-H CLUBS have a fund and fun project moving along. Thursday we "kicked off" our chocolate sales campaign. This is state wide for 4-H members and friends of 4-H.

Club members will be calling on local citizens to purchase a bar of Worlds Finest Chocolate; that's the trade name and it really is very tasty chocolate.

THE PROPOSED center is being developed by the Texas 4-H Foundation, and will cost approximately 1 million dollars. It will accommodate about 175 people.

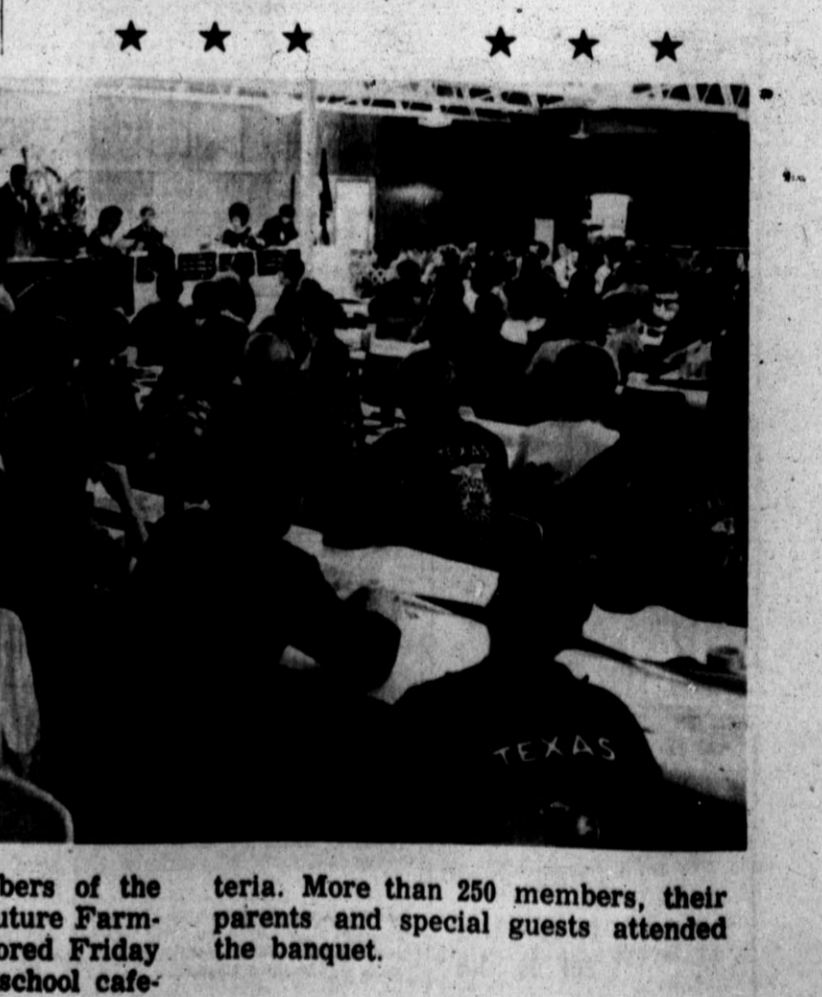

THESE 4-H leaders will serve as team captains; Mrs. Floyd Cole, Mrs. F. A. Marnell, Mrs. Bob Ginn, Mrs. Austin Rose and Mrs. B. G. Cotten.

THE STATE center will be at Lake Brownwood. In fact, the Texas 4-H Foundation has obtained a 99 year lease on a 78.76 acre site. The tract of land is a long peninsula and the terrain varies from flat plateaus to steep shorelines.

Being a product of the plains, one of the things that impressed me is the way the cabin units will be situated on the terrain where the floor of one becomes the roof of the next in stair-step fashion.

National figures who sent congratulations included Vice President Spiro Agnew, former presidents Harry Truman and Lyndon B. Johnson, with Mrs. Johnson, and Mrs. Dwight Eisenhower, widow of the former president.

We're not trying to minimize our problems, but the next time you get overly concerned about "pollution," stop and reminisce. We've come a long way from the outdoor toilet . . . the flies and the mosquitos and the epidemics brought about by cash . . . the open drainage ditches and stagnant pools . . . the rats and even the bed bugs.

We do have problems connected with the use of DDT and other insecticides, but we had more problems with the mosquitos. And the next time you see or hear about air pollution, go back to your reference books and read about New York City in the middle 1800's. Remember, they burned coal for heating? And how many years has it been since you've seen an open garbage dump?

What about the food you eat today? It's processed, packaged and sold under the best sanitary conditions, and there's a federal inspector standing guard to make sure these sanitary conditions prevail and that the produce is top quality.

And the next time you hear some long-hair talk about the pollution problem, ask him when was the last time he washed his hair . . . or had it inspected for lice?

We're not saying that we do not have problems, nor that we shouldn't be taking positive action to solve them, but we don't believe in working ourselves into a frenzy about conditions that have made us the healthiest nation on earth.

The local clean-up campaign started a couple of weeks ago, and abruptly interrupted by the tornado, is back in full swing. Certainly the problems connected with the tornado had to come first, but now that things are about back to normal, it's time to get back to the original problems . . . those messy alleys, the dead trees, and particularly the old cars parked on the streets. With a concerted effort, we can make a lot of progress towards beautifying our city in the next two or three weeks.

By the way, we're a little disturbed. We had gone to a great deal of trouble to clean up our alley, only to have it messed up again by the "big blow." We didn't get a lot of debris from the houses that were hit, but an awful lot of paper and other trash. So that job has to be done again.

—HB—

The Rotarians, Kiwanians and Lions were battling it out down on the links this weekend, and we'll carry the results of the big match in Thursday's paper. Realizing how slow Joe Kerr — and a couple of others — play, we know that the golf tournament will not be over by the time we go to press. There have been a lot of entries however, and it has been an excellent tournament.

Incidentally, the newly organized Jaycees entered a team and we're anxious to see how these fellows fare against the "old men" of the Rotary Club.

We also want to remind you of the big volleyball tournament coming up this week. This is a civic club venture too, so you ought to get a barrel of laughs out of it. The tournament will be going on Monday, Tuesday and Thursday nights, starting at 7 p. m. each night at the High School gym. Admission price is 25 cents.

It should be worth that just to watch A. J. "Major" Schroeter, J. W. Robinson and Virgil Hennen play!

J. K. Baker, the potato man, tells us that he has recently joined the Sons of Union Veterans of the Civil War organization, and has become quite interested in the group. Baker recently read an advertisement in a magazine telling about the organization and decided to investigate it. His father was a Civil War veteran on the Union side. He thinks there is probably a counterpart for Confederate veterans, but doesn't know for sure. The organization is an historical type group similar to the DAR. If you're interested, you might give Mr. Baker a call. He has all the information.

Most of the major colleges will be letting out this coming week and we suspect a lot of youngsters will be coming home for the summer.

Our eldest has decided to stay in San Marcos and attend summer school, with the idea of trying to graduate in January. That, of course, appeals to her father — who has managed to keep her in school only because of an understanding banker.

Mothers and daughters

MOTHERS DAY brings loving recognition to all mothers from all their children, boys or girls. But there is a special relation, on this day as on other days, between mothers and daughters. Sometimes sunny, perhaps sometimes stormy, that relationship is based on the universal understanding among women and is typified by these photographs of Hereford mothers and their daughters of varying ages.

Carolyn Boynton feted at pre-wedding parties

A June 5 bride-to-be, Miss Carolyn Boynton was honored at two pretty parties while visiting this weekend from Dallas, where she is employed. She and Fred Campbell of Dallas are to be married in Irving.

Gifts for a bride's home were presented by hometown friends of Miss Boynton at a shower Saturday afternoon in the home of Mrs. C. B. Womble, where sprig flowers added bright color to the rooms.

Mrs. Womble greeted callers with Miss Boynton and her mother, Mrs. J.T. Boynton. Mrs. Tommy Saul was at the registry table.

From a table covered with cutwork linen and centered with garden flowers a cousin of the honoree, Miss Suzy Adrian of Earth, served cake while Mrs. Gil Sims and Miss Patty Roach, both of Lubbock, alternated at the silver punch bowl.

In the hostess party were Mmes. Homer Goodwin, Curtis Roach, Gaylord Newell, Pat Robinson, Jimmy Mercer, A.T. Frye, Claude Ragan, Bill Cargo, Louis Fanning, Jack Wederbrook, Walter Pierson, Leon McCutchen, Baxter London, Orville Galley, Nathan Stowers, Ron Crist, and Irene Boman.

A less formal party, with high school classmates of Miss Boynton as guests, was a brunch Saturday morning in the home of Mrs. Mercer, with Mrs. Gil Sims as hostess.

Miss Adrian and the bride-elect's mother were special guests.

Brunch was served from the bar where a basket of pert daisies and a daisy design on the napkins carried out the spring theme.

A hostess gift was presented to Miss Boynton.

Conversation centered around plans for Miss Boynton's wedding, which is to be solemnized in the Irving Bible Church, and around events of the past five years since the members of the group graduated from Here-

Jan Miller wins pageant honors

Miss Janet Miller, a former Hereford resident now living at Greeley, Colo., placed third in the finals of the 1971 Junior Miss Pageant held at Mobile, Ala., Wednesday evening. She had previously won the title of Colorado Junior Miss to become eligible for the national pageant. Relatives in Hereford including Miss Miller's grandmothers, Ford High School.

The honoree has spent the time as a student first at Southwestern College at Wзахachie, then at Baylor University Dental School where she received her BS degree last spring; and since in employment as a dental technician.

Her fiancé holds a BS degree from Philadelphia College of Bible and the master of theology degree from Dallas Theological Seminary.

Mrs. H. E. Miller and Mrs. Charles Hood, eagerly watched the broadcast of the pageant on television and were pleased at the announcement that she had won a $400 college scholarship by placing third among the 50 girls from all the states.

She had been declared winner of the poise and appearance contest in pageant preliminaries, which gave her another scholarship. She is a member of this year's graduating class in Greeley High School.

Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herschel Miller Jr., she was born in this county and attended Hereford schools until the family moved to Colorado a few years ago.

Like all the pageant entrants, she had to meet rigid requirements concerning character, scholarship and health before she could compete for the Jun-

Girlstown visit is chapter plan

A trip to Girlstown, U.S.A., June 6, when each member will take a gift of cosmetics and lingerie for a resident, was planned by Kappa Iota Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi, at this week's meeting in the REC Building, when officers for next year were installed.

This personal contact with girls at the residence home near Whiteface will add interest to the chapter's special service project of aid to Girlstown.

Since its founding, Girlstown has been sponsored by Beta Sigma Phi, first as a state project and then a national project. Kappa Iota Chapter's assistance is aid in addition to that given through contributions to the national sorority.

Another event planned for coming weeks is an ice cream social May 18 to entertain members and their husbands. At that time, a letter will be signed and mailed to North Vietnam officials, urging treatment of war prisoners in accord with international conventions.

Announcement was made of a fund-raising project to end June 1, when a vacuum cleaner donated by Merle Goff will be awarded to a contest winner.

Mrs. Joe Frank Huckert, retiring president, installed Mrs.

Tom Buchanan as her successor and Mrs. Gary Gore as vice president, Mrs. Tom LeGate secretary, Mrs. Kirk Owley correspondent, Mrs. Gary Tyler treasurer, Mrs. Arvell Williams extension officer and Mrs. Bob Jones as civil defense officer.

Each retiring officer presented a symbol of the office to her successor.

Mrs. Huckert and Mrs. Tyler were hostesses at the meeting. Mrs. Kenneth Ruland, Mrs. Gary Gore and Mrs. LeGate gave the program titled The Good, The True, The Beautiful.

Charles Allison, a junior, was elected Wednesday to serve as the 1971-72 Student Council president at Hereford High School. Vice President for next year is Debbie Hoover and the new parliamentarian is Carolyn Langley.

Elected to serve as the Junior Class president was Ricky Locke and Jay West was elected by his class for Senior class president.
Named as Scat, the athletic mascot, was Rojean Block.
After a week of hanging signs and campaigning for offices, the elections were held during the regular home room period in the gym. The Scat election was also held Wednesday with a runoff election Thursday.

Running against Charles Allison for president was David Thomas. Allison will take over the post of Mike Wartes, current council president. He will work closely with the administration and will be in charge of all assemblies and other school functions.

Nancy Brink opposed Debbie Hoover for the office of Vice President. Debbie will fill the office held by David Thomas.

Carolyn Langley ran against Larry Driver and she will fill the office of parliamentarian currently held by Angela Grubbs.

In the class officers bracket, Randy Clements and Wallace Hill ran opposite Jay West and Ricky Locke, respectively. West and Locke will fill the shoes of Donny McDermitt, current senior president and Eugene Suttle, current Junior president.

Nine junior girls competed in the Scat competition. They were Alessia Ragdale, Janet Baker, Rojean Block, Amanda Garcia, Deann Dickson, Pam Adams, Wanelia Smith, Lynne Inmon and Nancy Graves. Rojean was selected on a run-off ballot with Amanda Garcia and Janet Baker.

She will take the place of Sammie Vinson and will work with the cheerleaders.

COUNCIL OFFICERS — Elected in Wednesday's high school Student Council voting were, from left, Carolyn Langley as parliamentarian, Charles Allison as president, and Debbie Hoover as vice president. The new officers, all junior, will assume office for the next school year.

WTSU adds new sign-up deadline

A new admission requirement, effective with the 1971 fall semester, has been added at West Texas State University, Dr. Donald Cates, dean of admissions and registrar, said.

A deadline for submitting applications for admission and other documents necessary to admission is set by the new requirement.

Deadlines of Aug. 1 for the fall semester and Dec. 15 for the spring semester are stated in the requirement, which is printed in the 1971-72 university catalog.

Summer school deadlines are May 1 for the first term and June 30 for the second session.

Formerly, students were allowed to register without submitting any of the necessary documents.

"A student admitted in this manner is disadvantaged in several ways," Cates said.

"We are simply not able to render the services necessary to help a freshman begin his college career without proper records and a little time to process this information prior to the student's arrival on campus."

Cates said one major disadvantage is the student's campus housing reservation is often severely jeopardized.

Many times the student has little opportunity to become familiar with the campus or to obtain academic counseling prior to registration, he added.

The possibility for financial aid or student employment is almost eliminated due to late admission, Cates said.

Cates recently sent a letter to high school counselors explaining as possible with the receipt requirement and listing the disadvantages of the old policy.

"We will be as understanding as possible with the receipt of late information, and will be as cooperative as possible in processing late applicants who have emergency or hard ship reasons for making late application," Cates said.

Outstanding students who maintain high grade averages are honored each semester through the publication of the President's Honor Roll, and the distinction is made part of the student's permanent record.

Dziuk was named to the honor roll for the fall semester of the 1970-71 academic year, as revealed by Dr. Norman Hackerman, president.

Stephen Wayne Dziuk, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Dziuk Jr., Route 4, was among the largest group of outstanding Rice University students named to the President's Honor Roll.

Petty party politics

Redistricting throughout the state is causing a lot of concern not only for legislators, but citizens alike. Many state legislative and senatorial districts will have to be enlarged while others will become smaller and area to equalize the population figures. State legislative districts should be near 75,000 in population and state senatorial districts should have at least 361,000 persons in each. Naturally, it's a tough job and a lot of people aren't going to be happy with the outcome.

The most ridiculous plan we have seen however, involves the national congressional districts, and primarily, the present 18th Congressional District of the Texas Panhandle represented by Bob Price of Pampa. This district, if the present plan is approved, will be stretched-out to include not only Wichita County (Wichita Falls), but goes far beyond to include Clay and Montague Counties to the East. At the same time, it splits the City of Amarillo along the Potter-Randall County line and very effectively kills whatever influence the Panhandle of Texas now has in Congress.

Obviously, the lines have been drawn for one purpose and one purpose only — the ultimate defeat of Republican Congressman Bob Price. It is all too obvious when looking at the proposed changes on the map.

It is also rather obvious that just a few changes in counties could leave the City of Amarillo unified in one congressional district, and it could be done by making changes in only two of the proposed districts. For instance, Randall County, with its current population of 53,885 could be left with the upper Panhandle (the present 18th District), and Hale (34,137), Floyd (11,044), Motley (2,178) and Briscoe (2,794) could remain in the district represented by George Mahon of Lubbock. This particular plan would still leave Wichita, Clay and Montague Counties in the new combined district now represented by Bob Price of Pampa and Graham Purcell of Wichita Falls and would mean that the two congressmen would be running for the same post in the next election. Since the rural areas are going to lose representation and the cities are going to gain, there will be a few representatives forced to "retire" following the next general election.

But by making changes in three of the proposed new districts, all three could be more evenly distributed according to "area" as well as population, and no congressman would be required to travel half way across the state to visit his constituents. But in so doing, two Democratic congressmen would have to battle it out for the representative post — automatically eliminating one Democratic congressman in Washington.

As usual however, it appears that our fine, and faithful (to the party) public servants had rather play petty party politics than to honestly represent the people. Unless the folks back home get up in arms over the situation, it will remain as the politicians have outlined and the Panhandle will no longer be a political unit as it has been in the past years, but will be stretched half way across North Texas to the East, and will have lost many of its Western tier of counties to the present 19th Congressional District to the South.

Orgy of mindless

Some years ago it was the civilrights demonstrators strewing garbage on New York's Triborough Bridge and otherwise trying to disrupt traffic. This week it is the end-the-war-now demonstrators hurling animal excrement on the Pentagon steps and otherwise trying to stop the government in Washington.

The premise is the same: an attempt to achieve a goal, any goal, by violating the rights of others. It is disgusting; it is childish; it is ominous portent for a society whose orderly functioning depends on mutual respect and tolerance, whose whole idea of liberty is that the individual enjoys a high degree of freedom so long as his conduct does not impinge on the rights and freedom of others.

But these ugly citizens are still relatively few, thank God. What is hardly less disturbing is the emergence of somewhat similar views of the Vietnam war on the part of far more reasonable and responsible men.

In Congress and elsewhere the nation is gaining strength that the U. S. should end its participation in the war immediately or almost immediately. The main source of the attitude appears to be emotional — it's just getting too distressing to keep looking at all those TV and newspaper pictures, to read and hear all the time about the suffering the prosecution of the war is causing in Indochina on the enemy, on helpless civilians, on America's own men.

For our part, we guess we are quite as sick of the sight and sound of the suffering as anyone else. Yet we cannot so conveniently forget, or rationalize as some are doing, the consequences of immediate withdrawal.

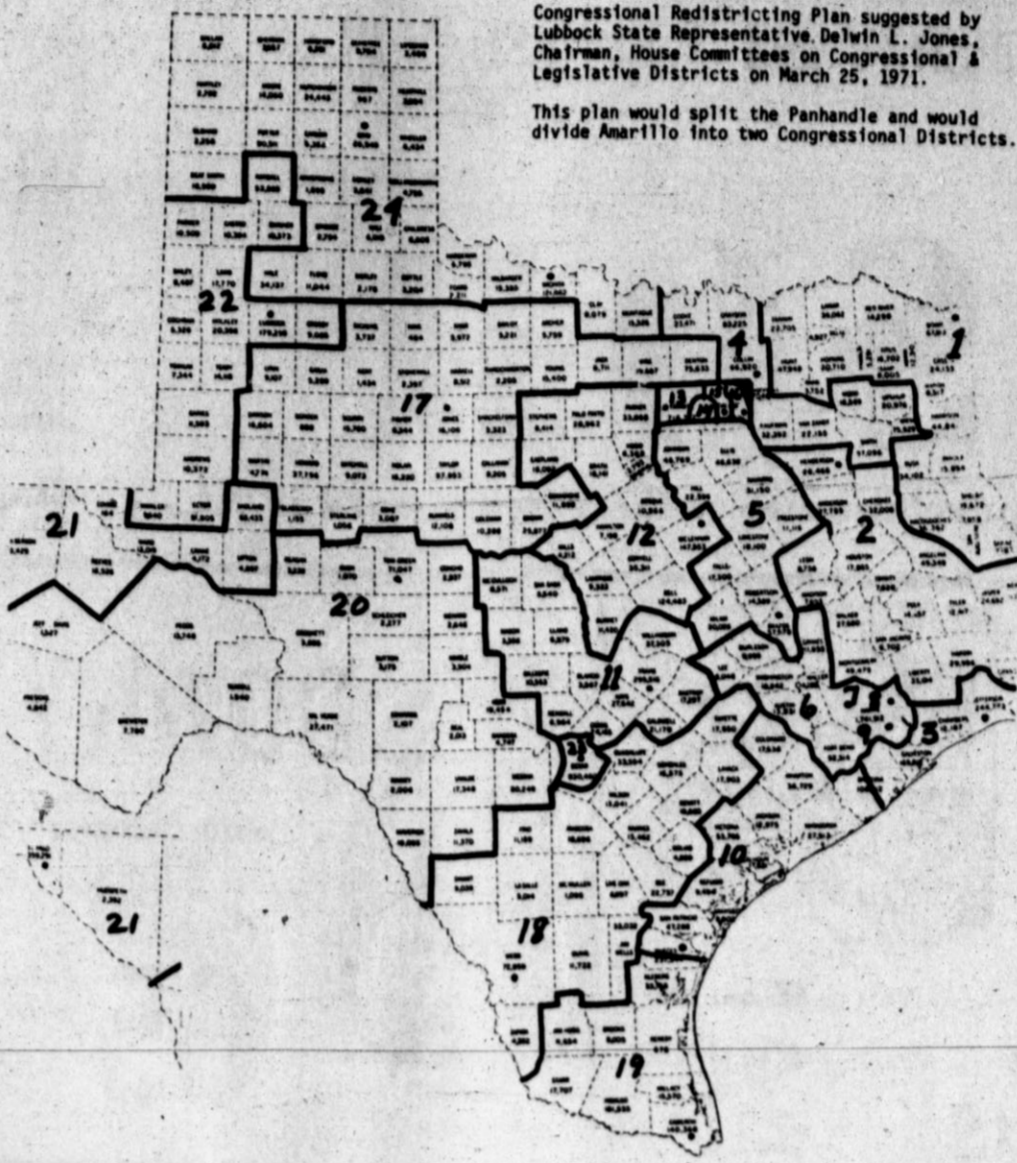

One argument being heard is that it doesn't matter whether the U. S. leaves now or later because Vietnam is going to go down the Communist drain anyhow. That possibility unquestionably exists, but to take it as gospel at this juncture is a counsel of despair. Surely, and in part because of all the suffering and sacrifice, the U. S. should endeavor by gradual withdrawal to give South Vietnam a chance to escape a Communist takeover.

A further argument for getting out as soon as possible is that there is so much unfinished business (or choose some other cliché) at home and the war is keeping the country from dealing with it adequately. One thing this reasoning overlooks is that one of the domestic problems is at least a partial loss of national self-confidence. If the U. S. were to leave South Vietnam in a way that seemed like an invitation to communism, the recriminations and guilt-feelings at home could be unpleasant indeed.

And the almost incredibly naive corollary of such a rationale for immediate departure is that once America is out of Vietnam, its domestic problems will largely disappear or be greatly alleviated. We think the evidence is practically nonexistent.

It is far from clear that withdrawal will save the taxpayer much or any money. Defense Secretary Laird is once again warning of Soviet missile advances; if the U. S. is caught up in a new acceleration of the nuclear arms race, that alone, could take all the savings from Vietnam and then some.

In addition, it is not exactly a secret that big government has a built-in proclivity for growth. Apart from the military, that is, all kinds of pressures for new or expanded spending will emerge, and on that account as well the Vietnam savings could easily turn out to be a mirage.

Congressional Redistricting Plan suggested by Lubbock State Representative Delwin L. Jones, Chairman, House Committee on Congressional & Legislative Districts on March 25, 1971. This plan would split the Panhandle and would divide Amarillo into two Congressional Districts.

Talk of Texas

By JACK MAGUIRE

IT TAKES ALL KINDS — In the mid-1890's, the Grayson County town of Collinsville decided to honor its most famous son, William H. (Alfalfa Bill) Murray, then governor of Oklahoma. They put up a 30-foot-high granite pile in the town square and invited Murray down to dedicate it.

Murray, author of the Oklahoma state constitution and a brilliant legislator, also was an unpredictable eccentric. He claimed (correctly) that he was not born in Collinsville, but in Toadsuck, a settlement that antedated the present town. He apparently resented the efforts of Collinsville to claim him as a native.

At any rate, he drove down from Oklahoma City in his black limousine for the dedication of the monument. When he arrived, however, he refused to make a speech and finally drove off in a huff. Collinsville citizens, irate at Alfalfa Bill's response, eventually removed the monument.

TEXAS BRAG — Shiro, Grimes County, proudly claims to have the smallest bank in Texas. The Farmers State Bank of Shiro (pop. 205) has been in business since 1907 and still lists total deposits of less than $300,000.

THE CHANGING TIMES — In the early years of the Supreme Court of Texas, there were no funds with which to employ a court reporter. As a result, lawyers had to find out about court opinions by reading them in the newspapers.

WHAT'S IN A NAME? — Corsicana is named for the island of Corsica, but for a strange reason.

The town is the seat of Navarro County, named for Joe Antonio Navarro, one of the two native-born signers of the Texas Declaration of Independence. He also helped to draft the Constitution of the Republic of Texas, helped to win annexation to the United States and is remembered as one of the great patriots.

After a Texas county was named for him, it was decided to name the county seat for his father. To avoid having both the town and the county bear the name Navarro, the town was named Corsicana because the older Navarro was born on the isle of Corsica.

TRAVELING TEXAS — Castolon, in the lower reaches of the Big Bend National Park, is a restoration designed to preserve a page out of border history between 1914-1920 when Mexican bandits were raiding in the U. S. The restored village is open to visitors without charge.

Castolon was established by the U. S. Army as a border outpost to protect American property from Pancho Villa. It included barracks, officers' quarters, a granary and tack room and corrals. The cavalry is long since gone, but the historic old compound remains as a memento of the recent past.

SENSING THE NEWS

By Anthony Harrigan

EXECUTIVE VICE PRESIDENT

Southern States Industrial Council

For a long time there has been need for a congressional inquiry into unfair and biased reporting of the news on television. Some network officials apparently regard a broadcast license as a license to engage in politics and general warfare against American institutions.

At last, preliminary action has been taken. The House Commerce, Investigations Subcommittee, of which U. S. Rep. Harley O. Staggers of West Virginia is chairman, has issued a subpoena for the film, sound tapes and scripts used by the Columbia Broadcasting System in producing the anti-defense documentary "The Selling of the Pentagon."

The subpoena is in order inasmuch as television networks operate under license from the federal government. The networks are supposed to abide by standards of fairness. Congress has a right and a duty to inquire into whether the networks are respecting such standards.

Many Americans believe that the networks have abused their vast power and are using the airwaves to shape opinion for political ends. "On the CBS television network," Barron's Financial Weekly recently charged, "which includes five wholly-owned stations and 188 affiliates — slanted journalism has long been the name of the game. As in the 'Selling of the Pentagon,' moreover, the thrust has tended to be violently against what most of the country would regard as its basic interests, institutions and values."

The author of a recent letter to the editor of the Wall Street Journal undoubtedly expressed the opinion of many viewers when he charged that the networks have engaged in obfuscation, distortion and mishandling of interpretation in treatment of news about the Vietnam War. He said that if a man from Mars "had been watching the major news programs on television, he would have had to conclude that the United States started the war in Vietnam on purpose for imperialistic purposes, that the North Vietnamese are the victims of this aggression, and that the Pentagon and the FBI are being run by Hitler-type monsters."

Viewers throughout the country could supply well-documented indictments. This viewer noted the networks' slanted coverage of public indignation over the verdict in the Calley case. The three major networks used a carbon copy approach in reporting the unprecedented public indignation the evening after it burst forth. Each network gave a capsule summary of the outpouring of feeling. None of the networks used film of public protests or interviews with congressmen or governors who objected to the verdict.

As soon as the bare bones story was reported, each network switched to a long interview with the Calley jurors who, understandably, upheld the verdict. One network even used a big block of time to present a defense of its coverage of the Laos operation.

Slanted TV journalism is nothing new. Shortly after Fidel Castro came to power, the networks were busy selling Castro as the Robin Hood of the Caribbean. When conservative Barry Goldwater ran for president, the networks did their best to describe him as a far-right extremist. Almost every night during the Vietnam war, TV commentators have poured out messages of defeatism. Every type of New Left kook has received friendly treatment and ample coverage on television. In Chicago in 1968, the television news teams did their best to present New Left rioters as persecuted idealists.

MAIN STREET, U. S. A.

A most misunderstood political organization

by BERT MILLS

Washington, D. C. — Congress is in the news almost daily but its present and past members believe the public neither understands how it operates nor appreciates its work. So a new organization has been formed with the sole purpose of educating the public about Congress.

The organization is called the National Foundation to Increase Public Understanding of Congress. Its president is former Representative Richard E. Lankford, a Democrat from Maryland who served 10 years in the House. Chairman of the Board is another ex-house member, Frank N. Ikard, a Democrat from Texas who is now a leading lobbyist for the oil industry.

The foundation describes itself as "a non-profit, non-governmental, tax-exempt, educational organization." Congressional leaders of both parties have given the organization their blessing. Speaker of the House Carl Albert (D., Okla.)

attended the launching ceremonies and called the foundation "a most worthwhile and needed public service."

Operating funds will be solicited from business firms, labor unions, trade associations, and the general public. Internal Revenue Service has ruled that contributions to the foundation are tax deductible, which should make it easier to collect a kiddy.

How much will be collected and spent remains to be seen but it will take a considerable sum if the projected plans are to be carried out.

Weekly Broadcasts Planned
The foundation claims the support of "the nation's mass communications media" and President Lankford said that 51 television stations and 183 radio stations have already agreed to carry a weekly program about Congress which the foundation plans to produce.

Also projected is a movie about Congress, explaining how it functions and how laws are made. This film would be shown in a theatre car on a "Congressional Special" train which would tour the country. A trailer truck would reach communities off rail lines, offering an exhibit and film.

In Washington, there would be a "Hall of Congress" in the projected National Visitors' Center to be established at Union Station near the Capitol. This would be a museum-type exhibit, and would include a theatre to show the film about Congress. Tourists without the time to see the legislators in action could learn what law-making is all about without setting foot on Capitol Hill.

The prospectus of the National Foundation to Increase Public Understanding of Congress also calls for an annual "Know Your Congress" week, with civic clubs, schools, and other organizations provided with materials and speakers to explain Congress. During the summer, there would be seminars in Washington for high school and college students.

Respect of Public Sought

Mr. Lankford said his service in Congress convinced him that Congress is the "least understood" of our public institutions. His goal is to develop "a wholesome interest" on the part of the public which would give Congress "the solid respect of the people which it must have."

By coincidence, launching of the foundation came during the same week that a few hundred anti-war protesters invaded Congress, causing minor disruptions in some Senate offices. Senator Barry Goldwater (D., Ariz.) was so annoyed by the invaders that he closed his office, after ascertaining that not one of the demonstrators in his office was from Arizona.

No foundation is going to succeed in educating the public if fringe to have "solid respect" for Congress. But for every demonstrator that disrupts a Senator's office there are thousands of Americans that could profit by learning more about Congress.

Mr. Lankford and his associates could indeed perform a public service by increasing understanding of Congress. But he had better take pains to be objective and not paint his picture with a whitewash brush. If the foundation overlooks the faults of Congress, the public will never buy its programs. Respect has to be earned, not just sold.

THE BOOTLEG — Philosopher

Editor's note: The Bootleg Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm looks at the telephone tapping controversy this week.

Dear editor:

Reports on tapping telephones, bugging offices, and other forms of eavesdropping have been showing up in every newspaper that turns up out here and I have given some thought to the situation.

As I understand it, some Congressmen are up in arms claiming their phones have been tapped and they want it stopped.

I have not listened in on any Congressional phone conversations but I have heard lots of Congressmen on television and sometimes it seems to me tapping their phones would be going to a lot of trouble for the returns you'd get.

While it is not considered phone-tapping, I have listened in on an 8-family party line and I can tell you right now there are far more interesting ways to spend your time. Unless you're interested in cake recipes and your neighbors' in-laws, it's hardly worth the trouble of lifting the hook off the receiver. I guess the worst job you could give an F.B.I. agent would be listening in on a party line eight hours at a stretch.

As for bugs, I understand you can stick one of those on a wall in a room and it'll pick up everything said and broadcast it to a receiver in a car a block away. I know a man who lives in an apartment building in a city and he says what he's looking for is a bug that'll blot out everything yelled in the adjoining apartments, and that goes for rock-playing phonographs and violin pupils.

Almost on the same subject, I knew a combination station agent and telegraph operator in a small town once who called up a woman and told her she had a telegram and since it was raining would it be all right for him just to read it to her.

"Don't you dare open my telegram!" she shouted. I don't know whether the F. B. I. looked into this or not. Yours faithfully, J. A.

At the library Immortality won by one great artist

Known for his myths and allegories, religious painting and portrayals of the female form, have gained for Pieter Paul Rubens the title of success and greatness as an artist. The story is available at Deaf Smith County Library this week.

AN EPIC JOY

by Donald Brader

Today Pieter Paul Rubens is remembered as one of the most successful and greatest artists who ever lived. His religious painting, his allegories and myths, and his exuberant portrayals of the female form have rightly earned him immortality.

What many people have forgotten, however, is that Rubens was also one of the most important diplomats in Europe during the first half of the seventeenth century, representing the court of the embattled Spanish Netherlands during the Thirty Years' War when the political and religious conflicts of Europe caused an ever-shifting realignment of friends and enemies.

In an Epic Joy, his third novel to be based on the life of a famous painter, Donald Brader recaptures the splendors of Rubens' own triumphs and at the same time interweaves the history and drama of a war torn continent.

Rubens himself is that rarity among great artists, a happy man whose personal life offered genuine satisfaction and whose career was a spiraling series of tributes and acclamations. The inner peace he found for himself he wished to see reflected in the world around him, and his desire to end bloodshed, his honesty, his intelligence, and his adaptability made him the ideal ambassador to plead his country's cause before the thrones of Spain, France and England.

Seldom has any artist been so swept up in the events of his time or been so intricately involved in the power plays of dynasties.

The wily Cardinal Richelieu, the half mad Hapsburgs of Spain, the ill-fated Charles I of England are but a few of the many historical personalities with whom Rubens came into vital contact, and when national diplomacy failed, his charm and his talent opened doors that would have been closed to a lesser man.

Here is the story of a creative genius repeatedly forced to forsake his private happiness and professional career on behalf of his country's needs. Palace intrigues, ministerial duplicities, and marching armies form the background, while the unforgettable figure of Rubens himself dominates the book.

In telling of the fascinating life of Rubens — the man, the artist, and the international emolument — the author lays bare the thoughts and actions of a Europe embroiled in the death in the brutal aftermaths of the Reformation and Counter-Reformation.

Former Hereford man will head Heritage Foundation

Russell Carver, formerly of Hereford, and now vice-president of the Amarillo National Bank, was elected president of the Texas Panhandle Heritage Foundation for 1971-1973 at a meeting of the board of directors held recently at the Amarillo College student center. Carver succeeds Eddie Mellin who has guided the organization for the past two years.

Other officers elected were: Joe Gidden of Canyon, first vice president, Avent Lair of Canyon and Dalhart, third vice president, Mrs. Ralph Randel of Panhandle, secretary, L.P. Gilvin, director at large, and Mrs. Emil Olson, director at large. Members of the executive board entering their second year of service are F.V. Wallace of Amarillo, second vice-president, Jerry LaGrone of Canyon, treasurer, and Wales Madden Jr. of Amarillo, director at large.

During the meeting, Bill Adams of Canyon, chairman of the committee on raising underwriting for the new show, 'They Came From Spain', reported that the people of the Panhandle had subscribed $66,000, 10 per cent more than the amount asked. The Board members approved the schedule for 'They Came From Spain' (Thursdays, Fridays and Saturdays in September and October, 1971) and expenses of some tests which are to be run before the final shape of the production is determined.

Raymond Raillard, executive vice-president of the Heritage Foundation and manager of the 'Texas' production reported that after several years of attempts to make a satisfactory recording of the music of 'Texas', a good one is ready and the music will soon be available on records.

He also called attention to a stunning color picture of the stage and cast in the new Sunday supplement being distributed in Texas, The Texas Star and to a glowing story about the show in the Valley Times in Pennsylvania. He also mentioned the full page color advertisement in the March National Geographic which features the Palo Duro Canyon and the show, and told that this same ad will appear in the April Southern Living.

NON-GERMAN PARENTS
WIESBADEN, Germany — Almost 36,000 infants born in West Germany during 1969 had non-German parents, the Federal Statistics Office reports. In 1969 only 4,000 children were born to foreigners. Since then there has been a marked increase in the foreign-labor force.

Dear Mr. Farmer:

WE HAVE SOMETHING SPECIAL TO OFFER YOU THIS YEAR ON YOUR MILO INSURANCE

NOW IN EFFECT A

20% DISCOUNT

We are writing milo insurance at a 20% discount from the regular normal rates. This makes our price 20% less than most other companies can write this same coverage. In most cases, it will save your hundreds of dollars on your hail insurance premium.

NOW IS THE TIME TO INSURE when you plant your crop. By doing so, it will assure you coverage when your milo comes up, and you will not have a forty eight hour waiting period to be covered. Also, it will give you a 6% re-plant clause; which would pay you to re-plant your crop; if it is hailed out. Your cost will be no more now; than if you wait until May, June or July.

In the past, we have not been able to provide adequate coverage in various townships, and consequently some of our hail insurance customers were unable to purchase their milo insurance at a discount. Therefore, we suggest that you act now in order for us to provide you with maximum coverage for a minimum cost.

Prince Valiant
IN THE DAYS OF KING ARTHUR
BY HAL FOSTER

Our Story: THE THREE COMPANIONS SPEED ON THEIR WAY, EACH SEEKING HIS OWN GOAL; ZIRARA THE DESERT CITY HE CALLS HOME, ARN TO REUNITE HIS PARENTS, AND PRINCE VALIANT TO ONCE MORE WIN BACK THE ONE HE WILL ALWAYS LOVE, ALETA. THEY FOLLOW THE COAST WHERE LONG SANDY BEACHES PERMIT THEM A FAST GALLOP. FIVE HUNDRED MILES HAVE THEY COME, A THOUSAND MORE LIE AHEAD.

A RIVER BARS THEIR WAY AND THEY RIDE INLAND TO FIND A CROSSING. ZIRARA SPEAKS: "WE MUST BE EVER ON GUARD FOR WE ARE APPROACHING THE PATH OF THE MIGRATING GOths."

THEIR FIRST ENCOUNTER COMES SUDDENLY. MOUNTED ON SWIFT HORSES THEY MIGHT HAVE AVOIDED CONFLICT, BUT EACH IS DRIVEN BY A SINGLE PURPOSE AND THEY HACK THEIR WAY THROUGH. THE GOths FEAR OF MOUNTED WARRIORS HELPS AS MUCH AS THE SLASHING SWORDS.

BUT NOT WITHOUT COST. A BATTLE-AXE HAS CUT THROUGH ARN'S SHIELD AND WOUNDED HIM ON THE LEG. ARVAK HAS A KNIFE WOUND ON THE SHOULDER. "FROM NOW ON WE WILL HAVE TO CARRY SPEARS," ADVISES VAL. "THEY WILL KEEP OUR ENEMIES AT A DISTANCE."

THE LANCE IS EASILY CARRIED AT A STATELY WALK, BUT TO THOSE IN A HURRY IT SPOILS THE RHYTHM OF TROT AND GALLOP AND IS A NUISANCE IN THE FOREST. HOWEVER, THEY ARE NOW A NECESSITY.

AS THEY RIDE SOUTHWARD AN OMINOUS CHANGE IS SEEN. SMALL VILLAGES ARE PROTECTED BY DITCHES AND PALISADES AND ALL MEN GO ARMED....

..... AND CITIES ARE ENCLOSED BY CURTAIN WALLS AND DOMINATED BY STRONG CASTLES. VIOLENCE IS ABROAD IN THIS LAND AND THEY HAVE NOT AS YET REACHED THE MOST DANGEROUS PART.

hints from Heloise

DEAR HELOISE:
Now that my children are past the swing-set age, I was getting ready to discard the old set when an exciting idea came to mind. Why not convert it to a small greenhouse—something I've wanted for years?

I removed the swings and went to a lumberyard to get some clear plastic sheeting and thin strips of wood molding. The plastic comes in several widths and the wood strips need only be thick enough to hold tacks or staples.

I then taped these strips to the framework of the swing-set—across the top and around the bottom too—and proceeded to staple (or tack) the sheeting to the wood, leaving a flap on each end.

With a heat lamp inside (or heater), it makes the snugest little greenhouse ever. Just remember to leave the flaps open when possible so that the air will circulate.

I'm just tickled pink to have that old rusty swing-set out of sight in such a useful way.

Jane Smith

A garland of roses to you, Jane. You've hit on a real winner!

Getting rid of those swing-sets is always a problem, and you've found a truly unique solution.

PIN-UP OR PEN-UP
DEAR HELOISE:
I pin a large safety pin inside my handbag parallel to the pocket in the bag. Then I clip my pens and pencils through the safety pin and I never have to dig for them. They are always handy.
Mrs. L. P. Torney

QUEST TIRE BOND
DEAR HELOISE:
Now that we have an automatic ice maker in our new refrigerator, my mother put our old ice-cube trays in our kitchen "catch-all" drawer. She stores small odds and ends in the little blocks of the trays, such as rubber bands, erasers, tacks, bolts, paper clips and what have you.
Great way to keep a messy drawer clean.

BOLLY'S HOUSE
DEAR HELOISE:
If little Mary has a dollhouse and likes to make furniture for it, here is an idea:
Some of the cereals come in small boxes which, if opened down the center front and covered with adhesive-backed plastic, make great refrigerators and cupboards!
Ann Landis

BURGER SPECIAL
DEAR HELOISE:
Our family loves cheeseburgers. We usually do them in the oven on a broiler pan, but when we put the cheese on the hamburgers, the ends overlapped and made a sticky mess for the person on clean-up duty.
Mom heard us complaining and suggested that BEFORE putting the cheese on the burgers we put the roll "bottoms" under them so they would catch the cheese.
Worked! No sticky cheese, and the rolls soak up the juice from the cooking burgers.
Cheryl Spear

GROUNDS FOR ACTION
DEAR HELOISE:
I left the door open all night and the next morning there was no trace of odor whatsoever.
Mrs. Arthur Martin

CROCHET TIP
DEAR HELOISE:
You know the safety pins you buy on rings that fasten like pins? You also know how crochet hooks slip out of the stitches when you lay the item down?
Well, I had one of those rings in my purse and found it just dandy to put in my sweater stitches when I planned on leaving it awhile.
Sylvia Freeman

IT'S A BAGGY!
DEAR HELOISE:
My shopping bag storage problem was solved with the aid of a wire magazine rack that attaches with three screws to any flat surface.
By folding the bags in their original creases and inserting them top down, the rack holds more than two dozen with ease.
A second such rack holds my vacuum cleaner hose by making one loop and leaving the two ends to stand upward on either side.
Mrs. D. Rubincam

HANDY HOLDER
DEAR HELOISE:
I have a 15-month-old son who loved to get hold of the paper napkins, so I got my trusty coat hanger (a gold-colored one), removed the hook and bent it in half. Then hung the bent hanger on the wall with an artificial flower at the top, and used it as a napkin holder.
Sure keeps little hands out of trouble... and makes a gay arrangement on a bare wall.
Dot Young

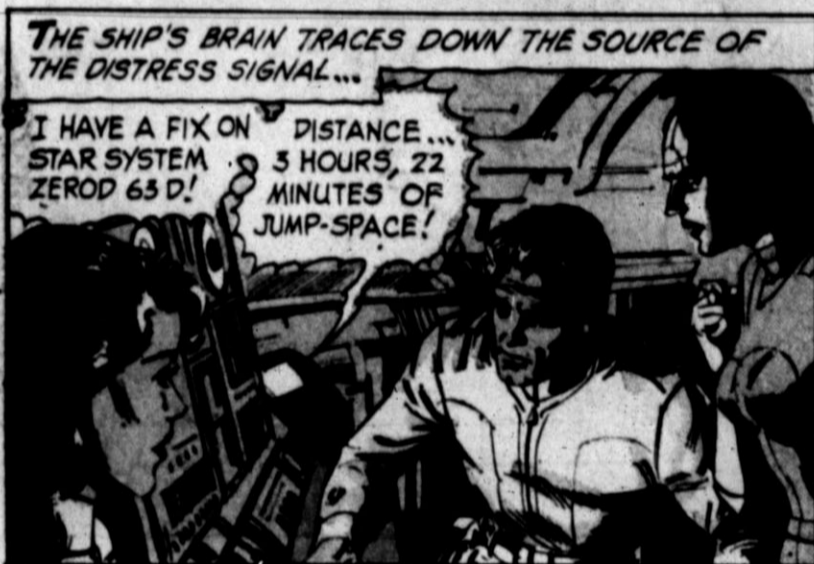

LETTER OF LAUGHTER
DEAR HELOISE:
One of your readers stated that he and his wife, while shopping with several tired children and an equal number of heavy coats, deposited their coats in a rented locker.
Well, I have a better idea. Deposit the kids instead! Shop in Peace

Then, to remove or cross out two more lines and two squares, leaving but two squares. Which lines must be eliminated to achieve the results stipulated? Try working this out with toothpicks or paper clips.

- TODAY'S MAGIC NUMBER is 100. There are five consecutive numbers whose total is exactly 100. Quickly, what five numbers? Numbers eighteen through twenty-two.
- How is it possible to pick up a small coin from the top of a table and drop it into a glass on another table nearby without touching the coin or the table? One way is to use a drinking straw, drawing the coin up with a deep breath.
- Think you're smart? To what number can you add a letter to make it three less? Nine. Add 8 to IX and get six.
