Vernon, Texas has voted a bond issue of $1,500,000.00 for Jr. College. Their assessed valuation is $38,000,000.00 Their rate requirement had to be set at $1.00

Our proposed Hereford Independent School District area Jr. College has an assessed valuation of $75,777,000.00 which is twice as large as Vernon. Our proposed expenditures is $3,250,000:00 which is twice that of Vernon.

Why would our rate not have to be $1.00 and not a maximum of 65c as proposed. The tax on a $20,000.00 home with a $1.00 rate would be $80.00 per year and not $52.80 as proposed plus an increase on utilities rates.

The tax on 1/4 section of land with no improvements or no tax on the irrigation wells would be $112.00 and not $72.80 as proposed.

Our present Hereford School District now has $4,159,000.00 of bonds outstanding, the county $1,588,000.00 and the city approx. $2,000,000.00. No doubt in the very near future we will have to build some more school buildings.

At present the economy of the farming industry is not too good, and the prospect for the future does not look promising. We may not get a new agriculture program in the future that will be suitable for this area, also our water has declined 32' from 1962-70 in Deaf Smith County.

The interest on financing is about the highest in history and should be less at a later date. Once these bonds are voted at a high rate we will be stuck with them for 20 years.

Most junior colleges spend about twice as much for administration as for bond retirement and interest.

Many students from this area are commuting from Hereford to West Texas State University which is not as far as some now riding the school bus.

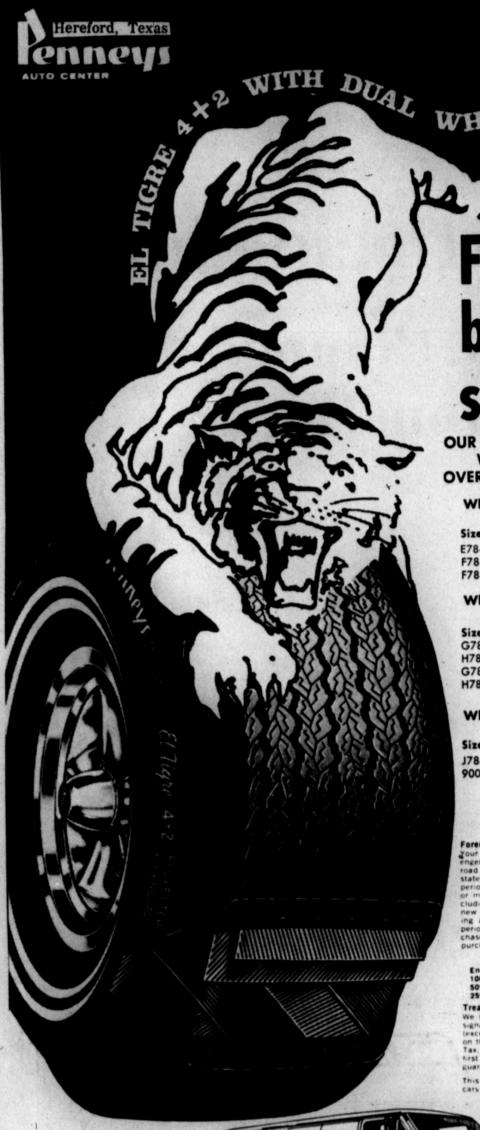

There are now loans & work programs available at our colleges for all students whose parents are not earning over $8,000.00 net per year. The work program is 15 hours per week at $1.60 per hour.

Let us keep our present school system in good financial condition for additional facilities when needed, and get three or four counties to join us and build a first class college that we can afford to operate. After all we do not have oil to pay up to 89% of the cost of operation & building a junior college. 30 of the 34 junior colleges in the state of Texas are supported by oil or large cities.

Dear Editor:

The proposed junior college district in the Hereford area will have a tax base of the Hereford Independent S ch o o l D istrict only. Having recent ly heard a report over KGNC that water depletion in the high plains will cut the maize production down 50 percent in 15 years, I doubt that this is a broad enough base to pay for a good junior college. In Deaf Smith County, the average depth to water has dropped from 137.66 to 170.36 feet in eight years. These figures are from the monthly publication of of Levelland do have a bargain the High Plains Underground in the South Plains Junior No. 1.

Dear Editor:

I am a farmer and I am behind the proposal to establish a junior college in Hereford. I far too small a district, I feel think it would be good for the whole community and an excellent chance for students who couldn't afford to go to college otherwise. It will let our young people live at home while going to school, and not have to pay room and board.

New Method Of Hanging Carcass Aids Tenderness

Changing the method of hanging a beef carcass may be the answer to consumers' demands for tenderness in high quality cuts of meat.

Meat scientists at Texas A&M University are currently investigating a method of hanging sides of beef by the Aitch bone, a bone in the hip, in an effort to reduce variations in the palatability of the same cuts from different animals.

"Essentially what we are trying to do is to get the carcass into a more normal position, with the legs perpendicular to the backbone, while it is be in a chilled and going into rigor," R. L. Hostetler, assistant professor in the Animal Science Department, said,

"This can be done by suspending the carcass from a hook placed through the Aitch bone instead of suspending it in the normal manner by placing the hook through the Achilles' ten-

When rigor sets in, the sarcomeres, or what might be considered the building blocks of the muscles, tend to short en, Hostetler said.

"It has been observed that some of the more tender muscles have fibers with longer sarcomeres," he explained. "When we hang an animal by the experimental method, the muscles in the higher quality areas of the hing leg, or round, are not allowed to decrease in tenderness by shortening.'

The spine is also kept straight when the carcass is hung by the Aitch bone, Hostetler said, explaining that this also tended to stretch the large muscle in the loin area instead of allowing it to contract.

Cuts such as the T-bone steak, Porterhouse steak and filet mignón are all from the loin area.

"Hanging carcasses by the Aitch bone tends to reduce the variation in tenderness of like cuts from different animals," Hostetler said, "The increase in tenderness is more marked in carcasses which would be tough when hung by the conventional method than in carcasses which would be tender no matter how they were suspended."

As much as 20 to 30 per cent increase in tenderness of the ribeye has been found in s om e carcasses ssspended by the Aitch bone when compared to cuts from sides hung in the conventional manner, he said,

"When each test animal is killed, half the carcass is hung in the conventional manner and the other half is hung by the Aitch bone," Hostetler explained. "The two halves are then tested and compared for increased tenderness.'

There are problems to be solved in fabricating the hind quarter to make cuts which are acceptable in appearance, howevoffers a great opportunity for developing new cuts and better cutting methods which may ulimately be superior to conventional methods, Hostetler said, have done it with books. New spapers, traditionally, have waited for young people to grow into adulthood before claiming them as readers of anything more serious than sports and comic strips. But times have changed, and many Texas teachers now are using newspapers in their classrooms as "living textbooks."

Newspapers, used in the lower grades through senior high, are bringing a new relevance to teaching, a new enthusiasm for learning, and a new response marked with "I think" rath e r than "the book says" answers from students.

A growing number of Texas teachers using newspapers as supplementary teaching material in language arts, social stu-dies, mathematics, science, health and safety, art, music history, home economics, public speaking. Whatever the course, somewhere in Texas there's a teacher who can tell you how she made it more meaningful through use of newspapers in the classroom,

Patsy Jean Leftage, a Houston teacher whose perceptive report of the use of newspapers in teaching was published by the Houston Chronicle, wrote:

"Educators saw that the newspaper was an incomparable tool for making learning relevant and encouraging student involvement, for the newspaper is a product of the adult world which the child seeks to enter. .
The newspaper offered a way of motivating students to read. . . . and a life-long education."

A group of leading education and journalistic associations initiated the "Newspaper in the Classroom" program on a national basis in 1959,

Even before that, surveys showed that about 40 per cent of the nation's schools were already using commercial newspapers for instructional purposes.

Texas schools and Texas newspapers have made the most of the program. A number of Texas newspapers, schools, and colleges will be working together this spring and summer to sponsor teacher workshops re-lated to the "living textbook" i-

TSTA President Jewell Harris of Abilene will be on the opening program for the Sixth Annual Living Textbook Conference of the Fort Worth Star-Telegram June 10-12 at the University of Texas at Arlington.

The Austin American-Statesman, which will hold a similar workshop for an expected 225 teachers on June 22, has deve-loped a 25-minute color film slide show of its "Newspaper in the Classroom" program and a "Living Textbook" notebook

Other workshops (and sponsoring newspapers) will be at Canyon, July 26-29, Amari 11 o Globe-Times; Abilene, June 22-23, Abilene Reporter-News; and with dates still to be set, at Wa-co, Waco Tribune-Herald; Lufkin, Lufkin News; and Port Ar-thur, Port Arthur News.

WOULD YOU BELIEVE?

The citizen's committee for creation of a Junior College District feel that without a junior college here, many of our youngsters will be denied the opportunity to continue their education due to the crowding conditions of the 4-year schools.

In Fact--Dr. Floyd B. Bose, Dean of Admissions at Texas Technological University in Lubbock, has said in the March 23, 1970 issue of U. S. News and World Report.

"Everyone in Texas, even elderly people, can go to college if they want to. There is room for them in Texas. We have about 50 State - supported schools and there are a lot of private schools. There is no limitation except State appropriations. There is no limit on out-of-state enrollments at Texas Tech."

The citizen's committee for creation of a Junior College District believe the junior college will greatly benefit adults of the area who wish to take night courses and vocational educational courses.

In Fact--Facilities are here, opportunities have been offered for adult education in the present high school--Our adults are not responding.

The citizen's committee for creation of a Junior College District feel the junior college will encourage industrial expansion in our community.

In Fact--Industry would more likely be discouraged because of higher taxes.

The steering committee have estimated the cost per student would be approximately $800.

In Fact-This $800 does not include the approximately $370 it would cost to build the college. This would make a total of approximately $1100 per student per year. This figure does not include additional costs of expensive vocational and technical facilities.

The steering committee has said tuition for in-district students would be $100. Out-of- district students tuition is proposed to be $300.

In Fact--The tuition of $300 per out-of-district students exceeds tuition required for area 4-year colleges. Most out-of-district students would prefer to attend nearby 4-year colleges on this tuition basis. Therefore we question the ability of the proposed junior college to attract out of district students.

The steering committee has stated on a fact sheet concerning the proposed junior college that the high school is now over-crowded.

In Fact--We agree. It is likely that we will be required to furnish new tax money to provide additional high school facilities in the near future.

Dr. James Cornette, President of West Texas State University, has said. "In my judgment, the development of a junior college within the region which comprises Oldham, Deaf Smith, Castro and Parmer Counties, with a curriculum appropriate to the needs of the young people of that area, would be an excellent addition to all of our collective efforts to supply the needs for higher education in the Panhandle area."

In Fact-Again we agree. However, should not these 4 counties help pay for this junior college, rather than a single district the size of the Hereford Independent School District?

It has been stated in a recent editorial that with tuition at $100. each, and by living at home, residents of this community could immediately chalk up a savings of $2900. per student.

In Fact -- This is highly misleading. What intelligent person would assume that their student attending a local junior college would not need clothing, food, transportation, school supplies, entertainment, etc. -- All of which cost money.

In the same editorial it was stated that approximately 65 per cent of the taxes in this district are paid by business, industry and city home

In Fact--Agri-Business and the Merchants who derive their income from Agri-Business support almost 100 per cent of the local school taxes.

The citizens committee for a junior college have stated that they feel if the proposition fails, we will not have the opportunity again to gain a junior college for our area.

In Fact-Manuel DeBusk, Chairman of the Coordinating Board, Texas College and University System has stated in a telephone conversation with local citizens that if the proposed junior college district is turned down by the voters, a new application based on a new junior college district encompassing a larger area could be submitted and considered immediately.

EARNA LIVING?

Let's be realistic. Handbills have been circulated this week indicating that if the Junior College Issue passes, we will have only $77,822 with which to run the Junior College.

To begin with, this figure in itself is absurd, and obviously in error. Secondly, the people who are opposed to this school district are overlooking $575,000 (based on 1,000 students) which will be funneled into this school district by the state plus $100,000 tuition (based on 1,000 in-district students--more if out of district).

Third, the $77,822 that our opponents speak of should actually be $150,000. That adds up to $825,000. Quite a difference isn't it?

Who Says ---

FARMERS ARE AGAINST THE JUNIOR COLLEGE!

Farmers are NOT against the establishment of a Junior College District!

As farmers, we feel that the future of our children is more important than dollars and whole heartedly endorse the establishment of a JUNIOR COLLEGE DISTRICT contingent with the boundaries of the HEREFORD INDEPENDENT SCHOOL DISTRICT.

Let's Look at The Issues---

To begin with, the vote Saturday, April 4th, is for the creation of a district only and has nothing whatsoever to do with tax dollars. This district must be established now. We will not have another opportunity. Certainly, the tax base and bond issues will have to come . . . at a later date . . . but we have at least 2 years to get this done. Things will look better later, but if your vote kills the creation of a district, we will not have another opportunity. DON'T VOTE AGAINST PROGRESS.

We believe that two years in a local junior college, with our children living at home, could well mean the difference between a stable, tax paying, church going, community leader and the other altenative . . . the irresponsible hippie-type that will eventually become a tax burden on every community in the nation if the trend continues. Let's keep our kids at home during these important formative years.

We believe the taxes spent on a local junior college is the greatest investment we'll ever have to make in the welfare of our children. Don't barter off your children's future to save tax dollars today.

FARMERS PAY MORE

The index of prices paid by farmers rose 1.5% in the month ended Jan. 15. This is the largest increase in 19 years, according to the United States Department of Agriculture. The index, which covers prices paid for commodities and services as well as interest, taxes, farm-wage rates is 5% higher than a year ago. The department said the major part of the latest month's increase was due to higher taxes, interest rates and wages.

Antique Show Starts Friday

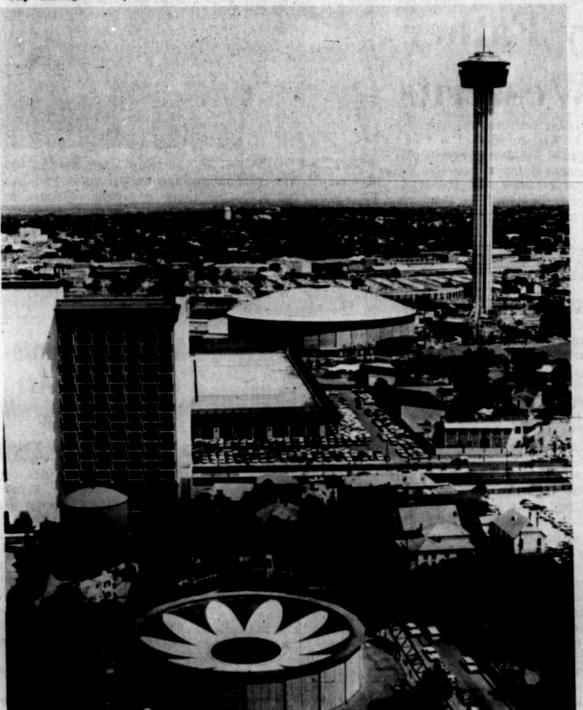

The 8th Annual Antique Show and Sale will begin in Pampa Friday and continue through Sunday, Proceeds from the show will go to a program that provides loan aid to Panhandle high school students wishing to attend West Texas State.

This year's show will feature antique items from primit i v e and cut glass to dolls and furniture. The shww, at the Starlight Room of the Coronado Inn in Pampa, show, will be open Friday and Saturday from 10:30 a. m. to 9 p. m. and Sunday from 1 p. m.

The first seven shows have brought in $6,650 for Opportunity Plan, Inc., at West Texas State University. Because of the rotating nature of funds in the plan, the money has quadrup-led in value to a worth of more than $20,000. More than 2,500 students from virtually every town in the Panhandle have benefited from the loan fund.

State Reports 249,000 Sheep, Lambs On Feed

Almost a quarter of a million sheep and lambs were on feed in the state at the start of last month, the U.S. Department of Agriculture said this

The total of 249,000 was 28 per cent higher than at the same time in 1969, although it was 17 per cent below the total on Jan. 1 of this year.

Sheep and lambs on feed are those intended for slaughter being fed a ration of grain or other concentrates or on succulent pastures and expected within the next three months to produce a carcass that will grade good or better.

Sheep and lambs placed on feed during January and February totaled 89,000 head, the same as a year earlier. Mar-ketings of fed sheep during this period at 140,000 head were per cent above the same period

Zane Grey Father Of Great Westerns

ZANE GREY by Frank Gruber

When Pearl Gray's father found, his sen's first story hidden in a cave, he tore it up, whipped his boy, and declared he would never have a writer for a son. He was wrong. Pearl Gray became Zane Grey, the author of the most famous Western ever published, Riders of the Purple Sage. He wrote 83 books that sold 100 million copies. More than a hundred movies stemmed from them and fifty were serialized in national magazines. Not only was ? a n e Grey a writer, he was a publishing phenomenon.

Zane Grey was the father of the Western. He had a rare gift - the ability to see the romance in frontier America and put it down for all America to read. To learn more about nature, the uncompromising force that shaped the characters he devised, he became an explorer, a hunter, and a champion fisher-

Frank Gruber, author of 22 Westerns of his own, tells Grey's story with both unique understanding and exacting detail. He had access to the incomplete manuscript of Grey's own autobiography, his private diaries and letters, and the family's memories and records. The full chronicle is here: the Ohio boyhood in the 1880's, college days as a University of Pennsylvania băseball star. the frustrating years as a practicing dentist in New York, marriage, and the daring plunge into full-time writing.

Woven into Zane Grey's fabulous success story are reminiscences and ancedotes about the early days of the motion picture industry, the first attempts to introduce paperbacks to the world of publishing, and the growth of the slick magazines. All these media contributed substantially to Zane Grey's fame layed a significant role in the rise to the realm of big busi-

READ THE CLASSIFIED AD

SOME THOUGHTS AND FACTS ON THE PROPOSED

JUNIOR COLLEGE DISTRICT

Most reasonable people are in favor of all the education their children and the children of their fellow citizens can obtain. Any student from this area desiring further education, academic or vocational, can obtain this by use of student agencies and the school facilities now in operation within the area of one hundred miles.

However, it follows that areas of priority and responsibility do exist. The primary responsibility and first area of priority is to the existing primary and secondary schools now in operation plus those anticipated as necessary and needed in the future. Any action taken by a community which would tend to weaken the financial strength of these schools is very wrong.

The present Hereford Independent School District is a fine one and well financed. The teachers and administrative personnel are well paid. The community is proud of its school system and the ability to accomplish this.

Considering these items and the fact that the district has a bonded indebtedness of four million dollars and the fact that this might have to be increased in the future, careful thought should be given to the idea of putting another tremendous Junior College indebtedness and oprating budget on this same small area, which covers in total only slightly over 50% of the size of Deaf Smith County.

This is a very progressive area, populated by people who are aggressive and on the "go and grow." However, all this is based on an agriculturally oriented economy, and this economy is based on one basic: "Water," which underlies the area, and is rapidly being used and not replenished. The U.S.D.A estimates that in fifteen years the production of this water will be less than half of what it is today. When this takes place, these people with the aggressiveness and drive that has made this area what it is, will by these same forces move elsewhere to find better opportunities for their efforts.

All this brings to mind the advice of people experienced and knowledgeable in these Junior College matters. Their advice without exception is to establish the Junior College on an area large enough to support it properly. The Junior College Division of Co-ordinating Board of Texas Colleges says that the needed area should cover at least the four county area: Oldham, Deaf Smith, Castro, and Parmer Counties.

Maybe some consideration should be given to their advice. It just might keep an unbearable burden off the Hereford Independent School District someday, and it also might prevent us from being the sad sponsors of a second or third rate Junior College.

In our area we have had the wilt, which has affected the petunias very much. Some of this is due to poor selection of plant materials, but good plants also have become infected by the soil and nearby plants.

If the purchased plants are already blooming, I advise pinching the plant back. This aids in shaping the plant, and also gives more strength to the root system.

??A College for Hereford??

Please do not vote against your best interests!

Paying taxes for public improvements for the benefit of all is the only way to build a better town and a better community. It pays off in the long run!

This community is what it is because the people are progressive.

THIS IS YOUR OPPORTUNITY TO BUILD

You have always been for progress — don't stop — don't hurt your town and yourself.

- 1. A growing, bigger, progressive town means more property improve ments and businesses added to the tax rolls to carry the additional tax burden (this has been true in the past and as we have grown, we have seen other towns become smaller and the taxes have been greater in proportion in the dwindling towns and counties as compared to our growing town and county).
- 2. The values of your property and farms could not be lowered but would surely be increased. Many people want to live in or near a college town. Ask yourself, if you were searching for a location, whether you would prefer a dying town where people are not progressive. Your answer would be "No". The highest selling priced lands are found in counties with progressive cities and farm areas.
- 3. Initial building will boost employment and put more money in the community. When finished, the operation of the college will offer opportunity for carpenters, plumbers, janitors, repairmen, servicemen and supply services from here on.
- 4. The college will bring in people to Hereford and more businesses to serve more people just as has happened with Wilson Packing Holly Sugar Corporation and the feed yards of the area.

The growth improvements add valuations and carry their part of the tax burden.

THE BENEFITS WILL BE GREATER THAN THE COST

- 1. The college will bring a better cultural climate to your town and county for your family, children and friends and will attract new people, new citizens, new neighbors, new customers as well as new investors.
- 2. The college will compliment help and upgrade the whole educational system of our area and will create more incentive, more cooperation, more examples and more opportunity. There will be more selectivity and improvement in education in its broadest sense.
- 3. Students attending other schools but working here or at home can have the opportunity for summer school enrollment—day or night study.
- 4. A college will assist in attracting our young people back to Hereford and interest those in high school in staying in Hereford instead of leaving. A college environment and the opportunity for vocational training and the cultural opportunities which accompany it, will appeal to the youth as well as to the adults of our area.
- 5. The grade and high school children and interested adults will have a wider range in winter and summer events, plays and all activities, to enjoy which a college will bring about.
- 6. Other people from other towns will come to see and enjoy the benefits that we will have and will leave some money.
- 7. The college will afford opportunity for adult education and adult improvements to qualify adults for jobs they could not now do.
- 8. The college will make it possible for our youth and young married men and women, through vocational training such as IBM operators and many such courses not offered in a four year liberal arts university. to enable themselves to have better employment opportunities in the
- 9. Our own college at home will give opportunity for an education to many who might not otherwise be able to attend a university or college and also to those who might not be interested in a liberal arts education.

Let's Join Hands In Building For The Future . . . In Building Hereford! And Better

Build FOR THE Future Now! Make Hereford Continue To Grow!

We have always prospered in cooperation — let's unite and continue on the path forward— it is our only course—we cannot afford to go backward. Your valuations will depreciate more and more. Don't let some other town take our college. So often opportunity does not knock the second time-let's take advantage of what the State is offering us now. If we do not, we will be paying the tax bill for the same thing for some other town. Let's vote for the opportunity given us for the first time in the history of our district.

SPEAKING TO THE ADULTS at a one-night Sunday School clinic April 13 at the First Bap tist Church of Hereford, will be Richard Sims, adult work consultant, Sunday School Department of the Baptist General Convention of Texas.

Sunday School Clinic Scheduled

The First Baptist Church of Hereford will host a one-n i g h t Sunday School clinic April 13, during which up-to-date Christian education by age group divisions will be discussed.

Members of Baptist churches throughout the Amarillo association, as well as persons from other denominations, are expected to attend the clinic. which will run from 7 to 9:15 p.

This workshop is an effort to prepare Bible teachers for the many changes scheduled for the coming year regarding Baptist Bible teaching methods and curriculum.

Leaders for the training session will be Mrs. W. R. Bumpas, pre-school director, First Baptist Church, Midland; Nelda Williams, elementary director, First Baptist Church, Midland; Dan Yeary, college minister, First Baptist Church, Lubbo ck, discussing youth departments; Richard Sims, adult work consultant, Sunday School Department of the Baptist General Convention of Texas; and Cecil Roenfeldt, associate in the Sunday School department of BGCT, who will instruct the general Sunday School officers.

Services Held In Levelland For Plane Victim

Funeral rites for Joyce Matthews, 23, sister of Mrs. Joe Tubbs of Hereford, were conducted Monday in St. Michael's Catholic Church in Level-

The Rev. Lawrence Bobsien officiated. Burial was in Me m. orial Gardens Cemetery in Levelland.

Mrs. Matthews, editor of the Levelland Sun News, and the publisher of the paper, Allen E. Gardner, 65, were occupants of a light plane which crashed and burned Triday night shortly after it took off from an Austin airport.

The two were returning to Levelland after accompanying Lieutenant Gov. Ben Barnes and other officials and newsmen on a tour of drug rehabilitation and treatment facilities in several Texas cities.

Mrs. Matthews was born Nov. 6, 1945, in Naples, Italy,

Her husband, Clyde Matthews Jr., was killed in Vietnam in March of 1967.

Survivors include her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Reeves of Levelland; a brother, Clyde Jr. of Levelland; five sisters, Mrs. Joe Tubb of Hereford, Mrs. Elmer Hinson of Houston, Sue Ann Reeves, Mary Janet Reeves and Linda Sue Reeves, all of Levelland; and grandparents Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Reeves of Levelland and Mrs. Concetta Cantalupo of Naples.
