PICKET LEADER — Manuel Gallegos, 20-year-old former WTSU student from Hereford led pickets at the Public Health Clinic Friday. He is an officer in Hereford's El Chicano Habla organization but said no specific group organized the pickets.

GOING ROUND — These were among about 50 persons who kept a picket line going in front of the Health Clinic. The number of signs, accusing project director Pat Barber of discrimination in the firing of two Mexican-Americans grow as the march continued. The pickets were mostly women; the men generally stood a short distance away by parked cars that overfilled the Clinic's parking lot.

ANSWER QUESTIONS — Mrs. Barber, a registered nurse, interrupts her work to meet with local members of the news media and contend that the firings were not discriminatory but for repeated insubordination, uncooperativeness and failure to do assigned duties.

Science Fair is Tuesday

The annual Hereford Science Fair will get underway at the Bull Barn Tuesday with some 446 entries competing for top prizes in seven categories. Students will bring their exhibits to the Bull Barn Tuesday and Wednesday and the entries will be judged Wednesday evening. The public will be invited to view the exhibits Thursday. Sidney Laubhan, coordinator of this year's fair, said there are some 446 entries in the best this year, but a change in scheduling has limited the number that will be shown at the Bull Barn. In the past, all entries were displayed at the Bull Barn during the fair. But this year, all elementary schools had eliminated within the schools with first place winners in each of the seven categories qualify for display space at the Bull Barn. The best exhibits of each school will be allowed to compete in the Panhandle Science Fair in Amarillo later in the month. The elementary school winners in the elementary school categories are:

Beets

Banner year faces growers; Holly may expand its plant

Sugarbeets grown in the Texas Panhandle should yield their highest return in history, officials of Holly Sugar Corporation and the Texas-New Mexico Beet Growers Association announced this week.

The president of Holly, John B. Bunker of Colorado Springs, Colo., told area bankers and the growers' board in a Thursday luncheon at Hereford Country Club that the price may be as much as one-third higher in 1971.

"There is a real possibility that total cash returns to growers for the 1971 crop could exceed $18.50 per ton of beets with improved sugar content, based on current sugar prices and recent market trends," Bunker and James W. Witherspoon of Hereford said in a joint statement.

Witherspoon is executive secretary of the growers' association. The average Texas price plus Sugar Act payments was about $14 per ton in 1970. Witherspoon, principal spokesman for the growers, said the new Holly agreement, "all factors considered, is one of the best for growers of any in the United States."

Bunker pointed out that High Plains growers will be free to grow as many beets as the Hereford factory can handle this year, since no acreage restrictions have been imposed.

"With sugarbeets returning to profitability, Holly is studying the feasibility of expanding its Hereford factory to handle any increases in local acreage," Bunker said.

Bankers from Clovis, Bovina, Friona, Dimmitt and Hereford were at the meeting and heard Bunker report that banks in California have been urging farmers to switch to sugarbeets from other crops because of the assured high returns enjoyed by beet growers.

Bunker said the Holly agricultural staff is launching an all-out campaign this year to seek improvement in sugar content of beets by working with growers to hold down excessive nitrogen levels in the soil.

"Too much nitrogen," Bunker said, "has been proven to lower — not raise — sugar content in beets."

To aid in the best quality improvement program, Bunker said that Dr. Donald D. Dickenson, director of agricultural research, had been transferred from California to the corporate offices in Colorado Springs to be more readily available for consultations with Texas-New Mexico growers.

Both Witherspoon and Bunker were high in their praises for the Sugar Act and the benefits it has brought to processors, growers and consumers.

The Sugar Act regulates sugar consumed in the United States. The current act is due to expire December 31, 1971, unless renewed by Congress.

However, according to Bunker, there is reason to hope that See BEETS Page Two

Water experts say: 'People problems' face us

By MARSHALL DAY
Staff Writer

Three noted specialists in water research and development said Friday that "people-oriented problems" are the major problem in making the Texas Water Plan a reality.

Among other things, about 200 persons at the annual meeting here of Water, Inc., were told, people must be convinced West Texas will use the water efficiently before they will be willing to let their surplus water be exported to the High Plains.

Further, they said, other people will have to be compensated for the canals, storage facilities and plants on their land as water is imported across the state.

And finally, once water is imported into this area, townspeople will have to be persuaded to tax themselves sufficiently to provide water for agricultural use, that the farmers will be unable to pay for by themselves.

"Basically, this is the challenge," said Warren Fairchild, assistant commissioner of resource planning for the Bureau of Reclamation. "You've got to get organized to meet the people problems and be ready to give them direct answers about what is going on with the Texas Water Plan."

The people whose land will be crossed by canals are a crucial part of the Water Plan, added Fairchild, who delivered the keynote address at the meeting, held in the Bull Barn.

"These are the ones you are going to have to compensate adequately before the plan is to continue."

Brig. Gen. Harold R. Parfitt, a Southwestern Division engineer for the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers, and Calvin Watts, executive director of the Red River Valley Association, also addressed the annual water meet.

Parfitt painted a somewhat bleak picture for the water plan. He told the gathering there will be some problems in availability of water from the lower Mississippi.

Parfitt told the gathering that preliminary investigation into the proposed Texas Water Plan has indicated there may not be enough water in the Mississippi River to meet the demands through the year 2020 of the fastly drying areas of West Texas, New Mexico and Oklahoma.

"In the report, which is a quick but thorough analysis, there are two points that are evident. One is the minimum flows in the Mississippi do not meet all demands of the lower Mississippi area at all times and thus would not meet the demands here," he said.

"Secondly, even in the high flow months, demands of the Mississippi states cannot be met."

Parfitt said these statements were made at the last meeting of the water association, but before anyone should draw the conclusion that nothing has been done since the meeting last year, they should consider the extra work that has been put into the projects that there is See WATER Page Two

Claim discrimination

Pickets protest firings

By CHARLES RICHARDS
News Editor

Mexican-Americans crowded around the Public Health Clinic Friday carrying signs protesting the firing of two aides of their nationality.

Some of the signs called for the ouster of the health clinic's project director, Mrs. Pat Barber, who personally dismissed Modesta Rodriguez, a licensed vocational nurse and Olga de los Santos, a nurse's aide.

Manuel Gallegos, 20, who is an official in El Chicano Habla in Hereford, said picketing will continue "as long as necessary to get some action."

By "action," Gallegos said, he means the rehiring of the two women.

Mrs. Barber denied the pickets' contentions that her action constituted discrimination. She said she fired the two women because of insubordination, lack of cooperation and failure to carry out assigned duties.

Mrs. de los Santos said she will appeal to the health clinic's board of directors. The board, however, indicated Friday it is standing solidly behind the actions of its project director.

"Mrs. Barber is in full and complete charge of personnel at the clinic and we feel she is doing a tremendous job. As far as the board of directors is concerned, the firing is a closed matter," said the board chairman, Mrs. Jo Solomon, a nurse in the Hereford school system.

Services at the clinic are provided free of charge to migrants under funds provided by the U. S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare; Health Services; and the Mental Health Administration.

The pickets made no effort to keep anyone from entering the clinic. About 30 women, some carrying children, walked in a large circle in front of the clinic. About 40 more women and about 15 men stood close by or leaned against cars parked in front. Gallegos kept the pickets moving.

The pickets turned their signs so they could be photographed by an Amarillo television but refused to give their names. "If we're going to help you with publicity, we're going to have your names," the TV man said.

"I think it's best that names be left out of it," Gallegos said, although he did identify himself. He said he has attended West Texas State but now is not going. He is not working, he said. He is reporter for El Chicano Habla, but the picketing Friday was not the work of any special organization, he contended.

"This is just a group that felt it was wrong to fire people for no reason. They, Olga and Modesta were trying to help the people around here, and our gist of it is the others in the clinic didn't like that," he said. "They were fired simply because they don't get along with Pat Barber, but as far as I know she doesn't pay their pay checks or own the clinic. It's supposed to be someone on the board that does that."

Mrs. Barber said, however, that she does sign the paychecks. See PICKETS Page Two

Hereford woman will donate kidney

By SUE COLEMAN
Staff Writer

The role of donor in a kidney transplant at Phoenix, Ariz., next week will be assumed by a young Hereford woman, Mrs. Pat Maupin, wife of a city water department employee and mother of a three-month-old son. Mrs. Maupin has volunteered to give one of her kidneys for transplanting to her nephew, David Murphy, 12, of Phoenix. The surgery is tentatively scheduled for next Wednesday in a Phoenix hospital.

Already the subject of exhaustive tests to determine her general good health, absence of kidney diseases and matching of tissue and blood components, Mrs. Maupin says the final test remains, and it is possible only when the surgeon can actually examine her kidneys.

"If any evidence of weakness in either of the kidneys is found, to indicate that the transplant might not be successful or that I would be left with a kidney that would not function, the incision would simply be closed without removal of a kidney," she explains.

Of the boy's relatives who volunteered as a donor, Mrs. Maupin was shown in the tests to be best suited. She is told that she will spend from 10 to 14 days in the hospital after the surgery.

Young Murphy, her sister's son, has suffered a kidney ailment all his life, she says, with one kidney not functioning and the other in poor condition. Some time ago the condition worsened, and for the last six months a kidney machine has been used to maintain kidney functions until the transplant could be arranged.

The Hereford woman is hopeful that her kidney will give her nephew the chance for a normal life. She is optimistic about her quick recovery from the surgery, since the series of tests have confirmed her belief that her health is excellent.

A resident of this city two years after a move from Santa Rosa, N.M., Mrs. Maupin is an employee of Deaf Smith County Abstract Co. as well as a homemaker. The Maupins live at 902-18th Street.

Most of her family lives at Phoenix now, and formerly resided in Amarillo. Her husband is a member of an Adrian family.

Cagers close season with 'Dogs here

The Hereford Whitefaces, who were predicted to be the whipping boy for everyone in basketball play this year but refused to play that role, seek to end their season on a high note here Tuesday against high-flying Plainview.

Plainview's Bulldogs already have the District 4-AAAA title in their jowls and will be looking to make Coach Ron Mayberry's ninth their 32nd victim in 34 starts.

Hereford, on the other hand, will be trying to finish with a .667 mark of 22 wins against 11 losses. But more significantly, it wants the pleasure of knocking off the team that has rolled undefeated so far through competition in a district that has four teams with 20 or more triumphs.

An 8 p. m. tipoff in La Plata Gym is scheduled, and Plainview will bring a frantic fan following with it. The Plainview game between the two schools in the first half of the conference race was contested before a full house.

It will be the final high school basketball game for eight of Hereford's 10 varsity players. All but 6-4 junior Larry Roberts and 6-0 sophomore Keith Kitchens are seniors.

They include the team's captains, 5-10 Mike Wartes and 6-3 John McNeely, and 6-2 David Myers, 6-0 Blake Arnwine, 6-1 Harold Schmucker, 6-1 Dana Rush, 6-2 John Sparks and 5-10 Lester Mays. Jeff Loerwald, a 6-0 senior, spent most of the season on the varsity until the first of February took him away.

Plainview beat Lubbock High twice this season by a total of three points and beat Monterey last Tuesday by one point. The Bulldogs fell behind Hereford by seven points in the second quarter at Plainview earlier this month but exploded in the last half and pulled out a 63-46 victory.

The Bulldogs field good men at every position. They look to 6-8 center Charlie Bassett and 6-5 junior Leroy Buckner for their scoring punch. Bassett hit 18 and Buckner 13 against the Herd in the other game.

Quarterback of the club is 6-0 senior David McAllister. The Bulldogs have two other top players in 6-2 junior Willie Carreathers and 6-2 junior Curtis Thompson.

Plainview was idle Friday night while Hereford was dropping a 69-66 decision to the Monterey Plainsmen in Lubbock.

Hereford took a 22-15 lead in the second quarter, but then Monterey outscored the Herd 16 to 4 over a four-minute period to jump out into a 31-26 advantage and held a 34-32 half-time lead.

Monterey then stretched the lead to eight points in the third period and led by seven points (39-32) with as little as 5:23 remaining in the ball game. They managed to cut short a Hereford rally and come from one point down in the final two minutes to claim the victory.

Wartes scored 25 points — 24 of them in the first three quarters — to lead Hereford, and Kitchens added 19 — with 10 of his coming in the final stanza. McNeely scored 8 points, Myers 5, Sparks 4, Rush 2, Roberts and Arnwine 1.

Kitchens and McNeely each converted a pair of free throws to cut Monterey's 59-52 lead to 61-56, and McNeely scored with a tip-in after a teammate's missed charity shot to make it 61-58.

Kitchens came up with a clutch steal at mid-court and, when he was fouled, threw in both halves of a 1-and-1 situation to close the gap to 61-60, Monterey, with 2:15 to play. McNeely rebounded after the Plainsmen's next shot to put Hereford in business again and Kitchens responded with a six-footer at 1:42 that gave the Whitefaces the lead for the first time of the second half, 62-61.

That was the cue for Monterey to come in with two easy under-the-basket goals and a pair of free throws, sandwiched around Myers' short jumper, that put the Plainsmen back in command, 67-64, with just 30 seconds to play. Kitchens drew a foul, but his shot bounded off the goal.

The Plainsmen's Greg Gilkerson canned a pair of free throws with 19 seconds left to raise the margin to five points, at 69-64, and Kitchens hit a quick jumper to make it 69-66. Monterey's Kip Bass missed his free throw with two seconds to play and Kitchens fired a 30-footer that went through the hoop, but was no good because the buzzer sounded before he got rid of the ball.

Hereford hit 52 per cent (23 of 42) from the floor for the night and Monterey hit 51 per cent (22 of 43). The Plainsmen held a 37-17 rebounding edge.

The Whitefaces committed six turnovers and forced Monterey into 12.

The difference was at the free throw line, just as at Hereford last month, when Monterey made 33 of 42 to provide a winning edge over the Whitefaces. In Lubbock Friday, Monterey hit 25 of 32 free throws (78 per cent) and Hereford hit 20 of 36 (56 per cent).

Water ...

"Many things had to be determined such as the standard of living, industrial growth and population increases in the Mississippi area by the year 2020," he said. "We further had to recognize the seasonability of demands and a number of other things."

"Out of all this, I don't see any decision on all these recommendations at least until the end of fiscal year 1973."

Watts explained the immense size of the proposed project and said it "would take its place with the Seven Wonders of the World."

"I am sure the engineers can solve the problem of construction, but what will the cost be and will the taxpayers back it?" he said.

"The rising cost of construction is facing us in the attempt to make the project a reality, and federal budgeting will be hard because money is tight right now."

All four of the speakers, including Dr. Tinco van Hylckama, agreed on the feasibility of the project, but said the funding and backing by other people will be major obstacle.

"I emphasize this matter of project scope. Its size, its probable cost and the nature of its potential impact on the regions it will serve and on the whole nation will force national scrutiny of it that will be intense, painstaking and probably prolonged," Fairchild said.

"The nation as a whole will wish to scrutinize the project with great care, for it is axiomatic that a tremendous investment of national tax dollars will be required. It therefore follows that those concerned with national budgetary matters will carefully examine the project report to determine in their own view if the project is truly in the interest of the nation as a whole."

He said the planners must also take into consideration the effect the plan will have on the area from which the water will come. The area, in this case the lower Mississippi River area, will have to study the plan to make certain there are no adverse effects to its own interests by the shipping of large quantities of water to Texas.

The Mississippi River is also subject to periods of low flow, Fairchild said, and this must also be considered, for the people in that area would surely not let go of their water if they needed it.

"This means the project must include a large amount of regulatory reservoir capacity, much of which will have to be located in east Texas. Such capacity, if created, will in turn deprive the people of that area of part of their land resources. If they are to surrender these lands in favor of others, hun-

One of the Mexican-American women, declining to identify herself, said Mrs. Barber "was always yelling at them instead of telling them privately about anything they were doing wrong. Yesterday, she yelled at them and told them to get out, that she couldn't stand the sight of them anymore. She fired them because they were trying to help the Mexican-Americans."

Mrs. Barber didn't go along with that during a session with members of the local news media in her office Friday morning.

"That wasn't quite how it happened," she said. "I fired them for acts of insubordination, lack of cooperation and failure to carry out assigned duties. They would not follow rules and they were always questioning my authority."

"You would really have had to have been here to understand. They didn't actually refuse to do anything but we have a list of duties for everyone to do, and when it came up time and time again that they hadn't done them, we had to do something. When their attitude became so poor that I and others noticed it, I had conferences with them both. Whenever I would correct them about anything they would complain I was discriminating against them, but that just isn't so. I correct the other girls too."

"Then yesterday (Thursday) they came and demanded certain things and I just couldn't take it any more."

She noticed a change in their attitudes "about two months ago" and it got progressively worse, she added.

Mrs. Barber said two other bilingual women will be hired for the positions formerly held by the two who were fired.

Gallego said outside that that won't do.

"No, we want Olga and Mildreds of miles distant, it must be proved that it will profit them to do so," he said.

"I guess it's never easy but I think we're going to get it," Bunker said.

Both Witherspoon and Bunker pointed out that a Texan — Congressman William Poage of Waco, who heads the House Committee on Agriculture — will have a great deal to say about whether the Sugar Act is renewed this year. His committee has jurisdiction over sugar legislation. Bunker is to appear before the committee in Washington Thursday.

Poage has gone on record as liking the Sugar Act in its present form and sees no reason for basic changes in the Act. "I think we have a basically good Sugar Act. I think that our idea of manipulating the supplies to meet demand at a reasonable price, is a sound approach and I think it is a good approach from the standpoint of the processors, the producers and the consumers," Poage has said.

"The Congressman said the program "has given us a degree of stability that we can't get otherwise, and I see no reason for basic changes in the Sugar Act. There will be, of course, some changes but I would assume that we could probably go on with the same basic plan or program that we have at the present time."

Music festival for juniors set

With about 150 music pupils expected, the annual Junior Festival for this section sponsored by District I, Texas Federation of Music Clubs, will be held in First Baptist Church here, beginning at 8:45 a.m. Friday.

Music students in classes affiliated with TFMC Juniors will take part in the festival, playing or singing for rating by qualified judges. Mrs. Carl Wimberley of Dawn Music Club is chairman of the festival.

Judges will be Mrs. Allen Casler of Hereford, Mrs. Frank C. Scott, Mrs. Thomas Hambric and Robert Goodnow of Amarillo. Goodnow has served as a judge in previous festivals, and Mrs. Casler was one of last year's judges.

A luncheon will honor the judges; it is being arranged by Mrs. A. O. Thompson.

Also assisting with the festival will be Mmes. Dale Young, Paul Lyons, William Penn, W. T. Carmichael, and S. F. Clements of Music Study Club; Mmes. Alfred Smith, R. T. Stewart and J. B. Caraway of the Dawn Club.

Each judge will hear a number of pupils perform during the day in various rooms of the church.

Mrs. Casler received her master of arts degree in music last spring at West Texas State University, where she had been a graduate assistant in the music department. A voice pupil of Royal Brantley, she won numerous awards as a student, including a five-year scholarship.

She sang leading roles in opera and musical comedies on the WTSU campus, receiving Branding Iron Theater awards for outstanding performance in musicals each year from 1965 through 1969.

Delegates named in garden club

This year's and next year's president of Bud to Blossom Garden Club were elected delegates to the spring convention of District I, Texas Garden Clubs, at a meeting in Community Center Friday morning.

Dimmitt couple dance guests

Mrs. Bill Nelson and Mrs. R. N. Yarbro will represent the club at the convention in Amarillo March 23 and 24. Mrs. W. H. Gentry was named alternate. Mrs. Wayne Porter was hostess Friday, and the program was the second in a study series with the topic, Beauty Enhanced by Color.

Mrs. Jess Robinson outlined the principles and elements of design in flower arranging, while Mrs. Bruce Brown discussed the choice of color.

To illustrate the lesson, Mrs. Gentry displayed an arrangement in an analogous color scheme, Mrs. Robinson one in monochromatic color, Mrs. Brown one with complementary scheme.

Others present were Mmes. Lloyd Sharp, Gaylon Bryan, Sam

Long, Billy Wayne Sisson, Robert Ginn and Kenneth Klechak.

Bay view club hears counselor

Counseling and guidance programs in the Hereford school system, and their aims for the student, were discussed on the program of Bay View Study Club Thursday afternoon by Mrs. Bob Word, counselor at Stanton Junior High.

AIM of the program is to help the child reach his fullest potential and to accept himself for what he actually is, Mrs. Word said; sometimes work in parent-child relations is necessary here.

The counselor aids children in resolving problems in fear and guilt, which often seem insurmountable to the child but which may be solved with help, she added.

Mrs. W. S. Kerr was hostess in her home. Mrs. Colby Conkwright, president, directed a business meeting and welcomes a new member, Mrs. C. W. Fisher.

Also at the meeting were Mmes. R. W. Eades, Martha Shirley, Jack Wilcox, J. R. Alason, Wilson Humphrey, H. L.

This week: Save 15% on made-to-measure draperies.

Made:

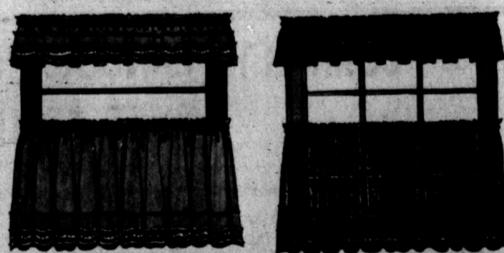

Choose from hundreds of beautiful fabrics — do it now and save. These draperies will be made to any size with Penney quality workmanship, many fine details usually found only for dollars more.

To measure:

Width: measure from (G) to (H), or simply the width you want to cover. Length: For ceiling to floor length, measure (A) to (B). For regular floor length measure (C) to (D). For all length measure from (E) to (F). Add 3 inches if you want below-sill length. Bring these measurements in and we will recommend the proper size draperies.

Perky tier and valance sets priced so low you can brighten up every window. Cotton or fiber glass. Assorted patterns. 30 or 36" lengths.

DOUBLE WEDDING PLANNED — Two brothers and their fiances plan a double wedding for March 27 in St. Anthony's Catholic Church with the Rev. Boniface Reidmann, pastor, officiating for the nuptial mass. Miss Luwana Kaye Williams, left, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert M. Williams, 219 Avenue B, will become the bride of Larry Robert Kuper of Summerfield. Both are 1969 graduates of Hereford High School. Kuper is a sophomore at West Texas State University where he is majoring in music. He is employed by Wilson's Meat Packing Company and his fiancée with the traffic department of Southwestern Bell Telephone Company. The engagement of Miss Betsy Hine to John Henry Kuper is announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Hine, 316 Star. Miss Hine is a senior in Hereford High School and her fiancée is a 1967 HHS graduate. He is in partnership with Kuper Farms of Summerfield. Both men are sons of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Kuper of Summerfield.

Minister talks to L'Allegra

A minister's observations on Love and Marriage were given to L'Allegra Study Club Thursday afternoon when Dr. Gerald Mann, pastor of First Baptist Church, was the guest speaker. The same subject was discussed at a previous meeting of the club from the viewpoint of an attorney, Wayne Thomas.

No change made in wheat issue

Marriage is the most important institution in a civilized society, Dr. Mann said, and a good marriage is achieved only by the two partners working together with the purpose of making a success. He defined marriage as the total union of two persons.

In the business period with Mrs. Buddy Bloomer presiding, members planned a theater party for their husbands March 6, when they will go to a performance of Theater 66 in Amarillo. Two more special events of early spring were discussed: A style show will be given in La Boutique shop on the next meeting date, March 4, with members of La Madre Mia Club as guests, and L'Allegra Club will present Mary Allen Vincent of Dallas in a singing musical review March 18 in First Baptist fellowship hall, with the public invited.

Members present included Mrs. Dennis Farley, Janice Conkwright, Hazem Woods, Jeff Carlile, Eddie Reinauer, Jerry Weldon, Linda Warrick, Danny Martin, David Gibson, J. D. Hamblen, Gary McQuigg, Rudy Metz, Alex Schroeter, Marshall Wilson and J. H. McCrary.

Rotary will host visitors from Chile

The Hereford Rotary Club will host seven visitors from Chile on March 11-15 as a part of the organization's program to promote better understanding and friendly relations among the peoples of the world. The promotion, known as Group Study Exchange, provides travel grants for the exchange of teams of young business and professional men between paired districts in different countries.

The seven South Americans who will be in Hereford are Nelson Briceño, Gustavo Alberto Vega, Hernan Constanzo, Guillermo Alejandro Rojas, Marcelo Coddou, Alejandro Herman Villegas and Franklin Arriagada, group leader.

Vega, Villegas and Arriagada will stay with local Rotarians during their stay and the remaining four will be housed in Muleshoe, making trips to Hereford for tours of area industries. The group will tour the Holly Sugar Plant, Kings Manor, the cattle feeding facilities, Wilson Beef and Lamb and other

Memory of war dead honored

Honoring the memory of area men who have died in U. S. military service in Vietnam, Los Ciboleros Chapter daughters of the American Revolution, presented certificates of merit to their parents at a ceremony in Deaf Smith County Museum Thursday afternoon. Those honored are James Pavlicek, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Pavlicek; Stephen Jesko, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Jesko; Arthur Tijerina, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Tijerina, and Thomas Galvaz, son of Mrs. Lilly Galvaz, all of Hereford. Also Richard Fortenberry, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Fortenberry, and Larry J. Price, son of John V. Price of Friona. Mrs. Galvaz and Price were unable to be present, so the citations will be taken to them. Mrs. Johnny Velasquez accepted the certificate commemorating her brother, Tijerina.

Mrs. Joe Reinauer DAR chaplain here, conducted the memorial service. She discussed symbols on the table where the framed certificates were laid: Gold candlesticks for remembrance, a cross for faith, red roses for God's love and the red, white and blue ribbons which tied them, symbols of the nation. Ben Gollehon sang solos, The Lord's Prayer and Battle Hymn of the Republic, accompanied by Mrs. Jim Cramer at the piano, as part of the service, and the Rev. Boniface Reidman gave the benediction. Mrs. Jess Robinson, chapter

Guests attend dinner

A quartet singing a variety of songs entertained Hereford Study Club members and their husbands Thursday evening, when the club was hostess in the Community Room of First National Bank. Quartet members were Bill Penn, Bill Devers, Bobby Boyd and Jim Hannaford. They were introduced as program guests after a buffet dinner had been served from a table decorated with Valentine symbols in red and white.

On the hostess committee were Mmes. Art Stoy, R. N. Yarbrow and Bob Poston. Other members and guests present were Messrs. and Mmes.

regent, presented the certificates and to each mother, one of the roses.

Tea was served after the ceremony, with Mrs. Robinson and Mrs. Jeff Smart as hostesses. The table, covered with a gold and green cloth, had as a center arrangement an antique kerosene lamp, a spring bouquet and a pair of antique eyeglasses laid on an open Bible to represent the theme, A Guiding Light.

Misses Cynthia Ann and Jennifer Lynn Smart served petit fours and coffee.

At a business meeting afterward, Mrs. Reinauer was named delegate and Mrs. Stan Knox alternate to the DAR Continental Congress to be held in Washington D. C. in April. Mrs. Earnest Brainard of Amarillo, state secretary of the DAR, spoke briefly of this congress and of DAR work. Mrs. V. O. Hennen spoke of Tamasee school in South Carolina and Kate Duncan Smith school in Alabama, both maintained by the DAR for underprivileged students. Mrs. Tom Sawyer showed slides and described the DAR museum in Washington, where each state has a room of historical interest. Other members and guests present were Mmes. Ray Carlile, T. E. Braddy, S. L. Garrison, C. R. Winget, Labry Ballard, Maurice Tannahill, Garland Solomon, N. D. Barlett and Merlin Kaul.

CONFUSED?

Sometimes it is difficult to find your way through all the claims and counter-claims of advertising media.

But there is one no-nonsense report that tells it exactly like it is—not like we (or anyone else) dreams it to be.

That's the report of the Audit Bureau of Circulations, an advertiser controlled circulation fact-finding and fact-reporting organization.

Next time you question a circulation claim, just ask to see proof—the ABC report.

And that's a fact, for sure.

SUNDAY BRAND

As a member of the Audit Bureau of Circulations, our circulation records and practices are subject to the scrutiny of regular field audits and the discipline of ABC-determined standards.

Letter to the editor
 Dear Editor: Last week, the grand jury in Castro County was convened to hear evidence on the widespread use of marijuana and even harder drugs by our high school young people. A week before the grand jury met and returned indictments against three other offenders. Two local and one out of town youth. When the jury next convened, they were faced with approximately 25 more young people. Sitting on the grand jury were the parents of two of the teen-agers who, rather than excuse themselves from further duty, influenced the rest of the jury to no-bill all the latest offenders and dismiss the indictments on the earlier ones. All that is, except the out of town youth who actually was indicted on a lesser charge than some of the others. Now we are told by the county officials that there is no way to legally contest the actions of the grand jury. It seems we have no recourse but to voice our opinions aloud for this sorry deed. Some of the more influential citizens have tried, and so far successfully, to keep any outside news media from getting hold of this. As you can see, there is more than one matter involved here. Not only has the jury the same as condoned their children's actions, but by refusing to treat the out of town youth the same way, have actually set a double standard. We are assured by our local law enforcement officers that there was more than enough evidence to take legal action against all of the young people. Also, we have been informed by these same people, that more than marijuana is involved, in the Dimmitt high school; we already have kids who have moved up to the more exciting phases of drug addiction — LSD, and Heroin. This must be stopped!! The sheriff's office hired an undercover agent and spent a year or more gathering all of this evidence: sleepless nights, danger and the disbursement of quite a bit of county money to buy drugs for evidence. THEN, the grand jury turns them SCOTT-FREE!! Things are rotten in Dimmitt!!! Perhaps, with your help, we can make it better for the younger children. Thank you very much, Doyle McFerrin Rt. 3 Hereford, Tex.

Man injured in Friday accident

Raymond Casarez of Hereford, was reported in satisfactory condition Saturday at Deaf Smith County Hospital after being admitted for injuries sustained in an accident south of town Friday night.

Officers of the Dimmitt Department of Public Safety investigated the accident which occurred about 9 p. m. 10 miles south of Hereford on U. S. Highway 385.

Officers said Casarez's vehicle, a late model pickup, left the road and overturned. Casarez was taken to Deaf Smith County Hospital by Gilliland ambulance.

Woman of Year in H.D. clubs to be picked from 6 nominees

By SUE COLEMAN
Women's Editor
SIX HOME Demonstration Clubs of Deaf Smith County have chosen nominees for the title of County H. D. Club Woman of the Year, who is to receive an award presented annually by The Hereford Brand.
The winner, chosen by a committee of judges, will be revealed at the 1971 appreciation luncheon at which the County H. D. Council will be held Monday noon in Deaf Smith Bull Barn.
Members of the county commissioners court and others who have given special support to the H. D. Club program in the past year, have been invited as luncheon guests. Mrs. J. G. Gandy, Council chairman, will preside.
Mrs. J. V. Perrin, president of Bippus H. D. Club this year, is its nominee for Woman of the Year. She has a perfect attendance record at club meetings and has given five programs, two of them on subjects at which she received instruction in workshops.
Wife of a farmer and rancher, Mrs. Perrin is in that respect like other members of Bippus Club, which covers a wide area in northwestern Deaf Smith County where homes are far apart and much of the country is grassland.
She enjoys painting and sewing as hobbies, in addition to housework. A member of Farm and Ranch Club, she is serving it as secretary-treasurer this season. She works with the young people of Bippus Community Church.
NAMED by Dawn Club is Mrs. J. E. McCabe, also its nominee as a delegate from this county to the Texas H. D. Association convention. She has worked on the telephone committee this year, attended most meetings and also a food preservation and beef demonstration.
Her husband is a farmer and they are parents of a daughter and three sons, in age from junior high student to five-year-old. The family likes to do things together, gardening and putting up the food, playing games, attending community programs, even carpentering in a current project to add rooms to their home.

Mrs. McCabe likes to cook, especially to make bread for her family, also to sew for herself and her daughter and knit when there is time. With other Dawn H. D. members she helps serve dinners to Dawn Lions Club, of which her husband is a member.
REGULAR in attendance at Progressive H. D. Club until her leg was broken while she was helping her husband with farm tasks a few weeks ago, Mrs. Tom Morgan was the club president, an office she resigned because the injury kept her from the meeting. She is its Woman of the Year.
She served as club reporter for early months of 1970 and has held other offices in her four years as a member. Sharing farm and ranch work with her husband is routine for Mrs. Morgan, mother of a married daughter. She attends First Baptist Church and WMU regularly.
"Since I have been a member of Progressive club I have put into practice ideas in sewing, cooking and improving my home," she notes. "I have overcome some of my shyness by being president and working in other offices."
A YOUNG ranch wife living 27 miles west of Hereford with her husband and two small sons, Mrs. Gene Bradley is the nominee from Messenger H. D. Club. She is vice president, chairman of the education, yearbook and cheer committees.
She has given various club programs, attended a workshop, and was a delegate to the district THDA meeting. On a County H. D. Council meetings special project committee, she helped buy and deliver draperies and a bedspread for a room at Gristown.

With cooperation from her husband whom she assists in turn with ranch work, she has been hostess for a number of club parties for families. The Bradleys are active in community events. Mrs. Bradley was summer student in WTSU for courses in the humanities.
MRS. ROGER WILLIAMS, completing a second year as president of North Hereford H. D. Club, is its nominee. She is on the reporters' committee in the County Council, has attended three workshops and planned two programs sponsored by the club to which all interested area women were invited.
In community work she assisted in the March of Dimes and United Fund drives and a home tour, all projects of La Madre Mia Club in which she is reporter this year. She has served as a hostess at the county historical museum.
A member of First United Methodist Church, she helps in teaching children. She had the Gristown resident whom the club sponsors, as a guest in her home a week last summer. Her husband is a farmer and her daughters are three and five years of age.
NEAR-PERFECT attendance at Wyche Club and County Council meetings marked this year for Mrs. Wayne Jones. Wyche president, nominee for Woman of the Year and delegate to District I convention. She has served on the finance and cheer committees, attended a workshop and half a dozen special Council meetings.
Leading in club projects, she sold ads for a recipe book and then sold more than 75 of the books, acted as hostess at the museum, gave stamps to "Wings for Gristown", filled a Red Cross ditty bag for a serviceman's Christmas gift, sent cards, gifts and food to absent, ill or bereaved members.

She and her husband, manager of Tip Top Oil Co., have two children. Mrs. Jones served on the hospitality committee at the district THDA meeting in 1970 and was first alternate to the state meeting. She is a member of TOPS club and the WMU of her church, where she assists in work for youth.
Lutheran church will conduct Lenten services
Lenten services, to be conducted each Wednesday through March 31, will begin at 7:30 p.m. Feb. 24 in Immanuel Lutheran Church, the Rev. Herman J. Scheller, pastor, announces, adding that all area residents will be welcome at these Wednesday evening meetings.
Observance of the Lenten season in the weekly services will emphasize Christ's passion and death for the sins of all, and its meaning to the individual's faith and life today, the pastor says.

COMMUNITY PLAYERS

GET READY TO STAGE

THE GLASS MENAGERIE

FAMILY SCENE is set for a tense moment in Tennessee Williams' drama, The Glass Menagerie, which Hereford Community Players will present in the round at the Little Bull Barn Theater Friday and Saturday nights. Lorene Johnson plays Amanda, the mother who attempts to dominate her son Tom, played by Fred Howard, and her shy, crippled daughter Laura, enacted by Amy Gilliland, to realize her own frustrated dreams of the past.

A GENTLEMAN CALLER whom Amanda envisions bringing romance to her daughter is portrayed by Robert Stewart, a newcomer to the Players. In this scene Laura shows him pieces from her collection of miniature glass animals, the lonely girl's chief interest.

NARRATOR for the drama, which its author describes as a memory play, is Fred Howard in the role of the son. He recalls events in the home he has left to escape his mother's smothering vitality, and at times slips into a scene himself, as his reminiscences link together the action on stage.

NEW EXPERIENCE in staging brings added tasks for the backstage crews, who have unusual lighting effects and special musical background as well as the stage itself, where action takes place in more than one room at a time yet all the action must be visible on all sides. Major share of this work falls to the trio below: Dale Moore, on the ladder, John Claypool, behind ladder, and Bobby Byers. All are veterans of staging for Players' production.

The Sunday Brand

STAGING PROBLEM in the Players' first attempt at theater-in-the-round is discussed by the director, Meredith Wilcox, with Mrs. Johnson. With action taking place on an improvised stage in the center of the auditorium and the audience seated on all sides around it, a more intimate participation in the actors' portrayal of their roles is gained; the aim is to make spectators feel that they are themselves part of the play.

IMAGINATION of the audience will be called into play on stage properties, like the empty picture frame which serves as a portrait of Amanda's husband and has a large part in the plot. Lana Weyerman, who with Rose Ann Smith is in charge of properties, checks its placement in a rehearsal, below center. Sylvia Emerick, at right below, prompting at rehearsal, is another of the many members, unseen by the audience, who make the production possible.

Mrs. Donald Cornelius nee Linda Worthan

Linda Worthan, Mr. Cornelius Exchange Vows

In a simple church ceremony Friday morning, Miss Linda Deanne Worthan and Donald Cornelius exchanged marriage vows with the Rev. Don Larkin, pastor, officiating in Avenue Baptist Church.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Worthan, Route 3, and the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Guy Cornelius, 202 Fir.

Only family members and a few close friends of the couple were present for the mid-morning marriage service.

Miss Worthan was attended by Miss Ellen Bridges as maid of honor, while Jerry Collier acted as Cornelius' best man.

White brocade made the bride's street-length dress, with lace ruffled around the neckline and down the front of the bodice. Long sheer sleeves were gathered to wide cuffs. The skirt flared gently from the empire waistline.

A brief veil was held to her hair with a seed pearl coronet. Her bouquet was of white carnations in a nosegay tied with lavender ribbons.

Miss Bridges was dressed in lilac crepe, styled similarly to the bride's gown, and carried a single long-stemmed carnation with ribbon streamers.

Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius will

Volunteers for Manor Auxiliary being enrolled

Women of this area who wish to give any type of volunteer service to residents of Kings Manor retirement home and its hospital unit, Westgate, are invited to enroll in Kings Manor Auxiliary before Wednesday and attend an orientation session that afternoon in the Manor library.

Those interested are asked to notify Mrs. Clark Andrews, membership chairman, or the director's office at the Manor, it is announced by Mrs. Hilton Higgins, president.

New and prospective members are to meet at 2 p. m. Wednesday for orientation. Various phases of service in which the Auxiliary is active will be explained at that time, so the new members may choose their branch of work.

Purpose of the Auxiliary is simply to add to the satisfaction and pleasure in life of the retired men and women at the Manor. Members' duties range from just visiting and talking with residents, to class instruction by skilled craftsmen.

CLEVER SIGN

LOUISVILLE, Ky. — The cleverest sign in a long time was posted outside a home here: "Look Daddy — Puppies for Sale."

More than half of the most devastating weeds in the United States originally came from Europe or Eurasia, most of them brought over by man, accidentally or intentionally.

monies Saturday evening in Grace Baptist Church of Amarillo. The Rev. M. O. Garner, pastor, officiated.

Following the wedding trip to New Mexico, the couple will be at home at 339 Avenue I in Hereford.

Candles lighted the church sanctuary for the wedding, set in greenery as a background and on pew ends down the aisle.

Presenting the program of nuptial music were Wayne Pittner, organist, and Misses Colletta and Cathy Sutton, Virginia and Debbie Allen, and Donna Barrett, who sang Never My Love.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white velvet skirted dress with shell pink satin bodice overlaid with lace featuring bishop sleeves with cuffs of pink satin and lace.

Her veil fell from a white velvet bow and she carried a bouquet of baby's breath, violets, daisies, and pink roses.

The bride's sister, Miss Nancy Lamb, served as maid of honor and Mrs. Grant Lamb and Miss Linda Todd were bridesmaids.

The attendant's wore cranberry velvet, hooded gowns lined and trimmed with shell pink satin. They carried pink rose nosegays tied with pink streamers.

Johnny Moya was best man and Mitchell Bell and Grant Lamb served as groomsmen. John Hoffman, Thomas Brasher and David Moya, all of Hereford, ushered.

Wedding guests joined the newlywed couple for a reception in the Grace Baptist Church Fellowship Hall immediately following the ceremony.

Mrs. Synott Matthews served cake and Mrs. Richard Bishop and Mrs. Thomas Ritchey served punch and coffee.

The table was decorated with silver candelabra holding burning white tapers on either side of the four-tiered bridal cake. For the wedding trip the bride chose an off-white dress and jacket ensemble.

The couple is attending West Texas State University. Bell is employed by Deaf Smith County Electric Cooperative.

N. Hereford club meets Thursday with Mrs. Hoff

North Hereford Home Demonstration club members were reminded at a Thursday afternoon meeting, of the annual H. D. Council Appreciation luncheon to be held Monday at the Bull Barn. Highlight of the luncheon will be the naming of H. D. Woman of the Year. Mrs. Roger Williams is N. Hereford club candidate.

One guest, Mrs. Hylton Brown, was present in the home of Mrs. Paul Hoff, to hear a program on Inventory of Household Goods by Argen Draper.

Mrs. Draper stressed, also the need for making wills, especially for couples with young children.

Other members in attendance were Mmes. T. E. Brisendine, Kenneth Haggard, W. J. Lueb, J. E. Hodges, Tony Hoffman, J. A. Crofford, Roger Williams, Viola Williams, Otto Olsen and Miss Roberta Campbell.

The next meeting is set for March 4 with Mrs. Roger Williams.

Happy Home Environment WHAT'S THE IDEAL?

Most people would agree that the ideal happy home environment must take into consideration the environmental aspects as well as the spiritual and human relationships.

In the present state of technology, electricity does its job well when it comes to environmental aspects of conditioning the air in your home.

The ideal system, now available, not only does its job of comfort heating in winter and comfort cooling in summer but also refines the air itself. Electric humidifiers control the amount of moisture in the air and electrostatic air cleaners remove undesirable dust particles.

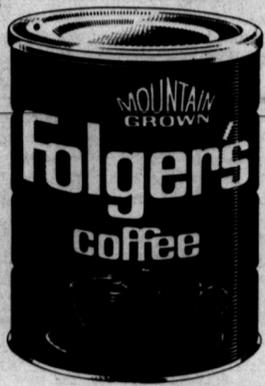

So then, 4 things to give you a happier home environment... electric heating, electric cooling, electric humidification and electric air cleaning... and all of it automatically. Ask your Public Service manager for complete information.

Solutions, not scapegoats

PRESIDENT NIXON recently assured 200 industrial executives that his administration does not intend to make them "scapegoats" in the drive to clean up the nation's air and water.

"The government is not here to beat industry over the head," he told them.

Businessmen's worries were no doubt eased somewhat, but they would be even more reassured if more Americans took the same point of view.

The environment crusaders, a group that now includes most Americans, have tended to make all industry a scapegoat for the befouling of the environment. Industry is big, visible and rich. In many cases, some of its members have been guilty of practices that pollute.

BUT IF MANY in industry, like most of the population, have only recently recognized the full implications of air and water pollution, industry has a problem that most citizens do not immediately face. When the average citizen recognizes the enormity of the problem and demands solutions, he's on the side of the angels so far as the environment crusade is concerned. But industry has to do the work to find the solutions — that takes money, technology improvements and time, none of which are easy to find.

There are, of course, environmental sinners as well as saints among the ranks of industry as there are in all groups on all concerns of society. But to make industry the scapegoat for the entire problem not only is an injustice to the many industrial firms that have worked for decades to control pollution but contributes little to the real goals of the drive to clean up our air and water.

The majority of American business and industrial firms are good corporate citizens who are willing to do their part voluntarily. Government must be prepared to enforce realistic antipollution codes against the minority who aren't.

But no businessmen are eager to pay their dues in the environmental crusade at the cost of bankruptcy. And businessmen who are concerned about the survival of their firms as well as the species should not be beaten over the head as greedy, selfish profiteers because of that.

IF WE CRIPPLE our industrial economy in an attempt to get instant cures for pollution, we are likely to discover that economic disaster, like effluent, can do serious harm to the quality of life.

We want the benefits of an industrial economy but without suffering the poisonous by-products. That's a tough problem that urgently requires solutions, but we don't help the situation by vindictively battering the people who have to do most of the technical and financial chores involved in solving it.

— Dallas Morning News.

Repealing supply and demand

President Nixon's conversion to deficit financing launches the nation on a new inflationary course before there is any visible evidence that the prior inflation has been brought under control.

Something obviously has happened to his former economic "game plan" which centered on an attempt to let the steam out of the inherited inflation he blamed on the long-continued deficit spending on his Democratic predecessors.

The original "game plan" fell through principally because it proceeded from economic theories perfectly valid in a free labor market but now inoperative because of the ability of the unions to manipulate wages upward even though labor is in surplus.

Because inflation is the better part of any effect "full employment" policy, it was thought formerly that a government with the political guts to accept a little unemployment could achieve a degree of wage stability and therefore price stability.

It was under this assumption that the Nixon administration embarked on severely restrictive monetary policies that resulted in a recession with unemployment which reached a rate of 6 per cent in December.

But the onset of recession wasn't accompanied by the declining wages and prices normally associated with spreading unemployment.

Wages continued to soar, not only in the blue-collar classifications long identified with trade unionism, but in a widening array of newly organized white collar categories, conspicuous examples being the school teachers and other public employees at various governmental levels.

Oklahoma, a state which always has trained more teachers than it could use in its own schools has exported its surpluses to other states where demand exceeded supply. But now the supply of teachers has begun to exceed demand all over the country. The U. S. Department of Labor estimates that 4.2 million new teachers will enter the field between 1970 and 1980, to find only 2.4 million jobs awaiting them.

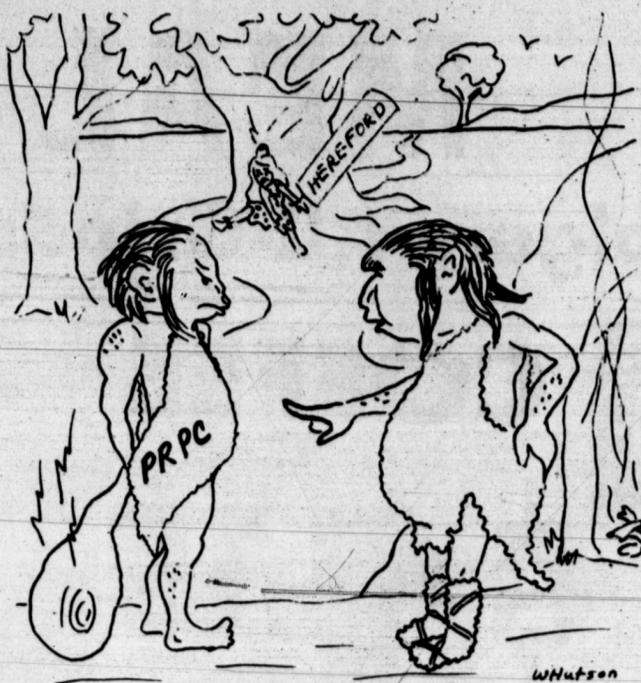

It would have been axiomatic in the past that salaries would have reflected that surfeit condition of the job market. But that isn't true any longer. Through recourse to the picket line, the strike in various guises, and other tactics of their blue-collar exemplars, the teachers, the postal workers and other public employees at all governmental levels have managed to repeal the law of supply and demand.

That law ceased to function long ago in the heavy industries, a development attributable largely to the refusal of Congress to make the unions equally accountable with employers under the anti-trust laws. Labor unions are able to act in collusion on a nationwide, regional or local basis to force acceptance of their demands, however extortionate.

The determining consideration isn't what is reasonable or consistent, with prevailing conditions in the labor market, but only what is comparable to or in excess of the latest settlement in some similar field. Thus I. W. Abel, president of the United Steelworkers, says in response to a question whether he would ask his followers to accept less than the huge increases won by such unions as the United Auto Workers, says: "I wouldn't even try."

There must come a time eventually when the consumers no longer will be able to buy and the taxpayers no longer able to pay. Governmental compulsion in one form or another lies down that road.

Decisions on land use may be given to state

By BERT MILLS

Washington — Land use decisions now made at the town or county level would be brought under state control, if Congress adopts a national land use policy recommended by President Nixon in his environmental message.

In his call for reform of the institutional framework in which land use decisions are made, President Nixon declared: "I propose legislation to establish a National Land Use Policy which will encourage the states, in cooperation with local government, to plan for and regulate major developments affecting growth and the use of critical land areas."

"This should be done by establishing methods for protecting lands of critical environmental concern, methods for controlling large-scale development, and improving use of lands around key facilities and new communities."

Main thrust of the Nixon program is directed toward the coastal states. They would be given priority in qualifying for Federal planning grants. The President asked for authorization of $100 million to be allocated at a rate of $20 million per year for five years.

The program would be administered by the U. S. Department of the Interior. States would have two years to develop their land use plans. Interior would have an additional six months to certify those plans.

Most Decisions To Be Made Locally

President Nixon appears to have anticipated that objections might be raised against Uncle Sam calling the shots on land use matters. Early in that part of his message devoted to this subject, he gave assurance that "most land use decisions will continue to be made at the local level, with the states deciding issues which 'spill over local jurisdictional boundaries.'"

Also, the President included the phrase "in cooperation with local government" in his "I propose" passage quoted earlier. When reporters were briefed at the White House, Russell Train, Chairman of the Council on Environmental Quality, gave assurance that the plan "does not inject the Federal government itself into making land use decisions around the country."

Nevertheless, the whole idea is for the U. S. to establish environmental guidelines and to give money to those states that cooperate and withhold funds from those that do not. One of the factors on which Federal certification will depend is the cooperation between neighboring states in dovetailing their land use plans in areas where environmental problems cross state lines. Regional cooperation is one of the goals of the program.

Local tax considerations often influence land use decisions. The White House thinking is that if controls are exercised at the statehouse, along lines drawn in Washington, local pressures can be resisted and "major land use decisions can thereby fit into a coherent pattern."

Other Programs Related

Some 14 bills are in the Nixon environmental package, and several others deal with specific land use matters. Most have been proposed before, including additional parks, especially in urban centers, expansion of wilderness areas, and restoration and preservation of historic sites.

One new addition to the package is a proposed "Power Plant Siting Law." A single agency within a state or region would be given responsibility for "assuring that environmental concerns are properly considered in the certification of specific power plant sites and transmission line routes."

Another proposal relating to land use is to subject surface and underground mining to Federal regulation. A "Mined Area Protection Act" would regulate environmental consequences of mining. If states did not follow U. S. guidelines to prevent air and water pollution from mines by both adopting and enforcing suitable regulations, the Federal government would be empowered to do the regulating.

The President has given Congress much to ponder in his land use program. Every American has a stake in the decisions that result.

THE BOOTLEG —Philosopher

Editor's note: The Bootleg Philosopher on his Johnson farm has a few moon thoughts this week, more or less. Dear editor:

According to an article I read in a newspaper I picked up off the road near this Johnson grass farm yesterday because I thought it was my ecological duty to do it, interest in trips to the moon is lagging, in fact, it said, people are getting bored with them.

I'm afraid this is true because I heard several people around here say they didn't have time to watch the recent landing or the splash-down live. "We can catch it later on the evening news," they said.

This means there's a real crisis in the space program. It's as though a football fan skipped the televised game with the off-hand statement he could get the score in tomorrow's paper. We can't let it happen.

To keep the space program going I have figured out two possible solutions.

(1) To keep people glued to their T. V. sets during a moon walk, put on some sort of sports event up there. Alan Shepard's golf antics on the moon attracted more attention than anything else, so why not send up a golf team, or better still two football teams? What quarterback wouldn't love to thrill the fans by throwing a three-mile-long bomb? They could pick up rocks during the half. How about an interplanetary pole vault record of 350 feet? What do you suppose would be the longest home-run hit on the moon? You get the idea. We've got to do something to keep this television series from being canceled.

(2) On a more serious side, as you know, to send the latest team to the moon to get 100 pounds of rocks cost $800,000,000.

That figures out at 8 million dollars a pound. Clearly, moon rocks are the most precious substance men possess, and rather than turn them over to a bunch of geologists to argue about, why not really utilize them? Why not base our monetary system on them? Why not go off the gold standard and get on a moon-rock standard?

A few more trips and we'd have enough rocks to more than equal all the gold in Fort Knox, with less than one-tenth of one per cent of the storage problem. You could keep the whole lot in two or three suitcases.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Talk of Texas

By JACK MAGUIRE

OF TIME AND THE RIVER — The only public boxing match ever staged in the middle of the Rio Grande River happened just 75 years ago.

The pugilists were Robert L. Fitzsimmons, who was to become the heavyweight champion of the world, and Peter Maher, champion of Ireland. The promoter was Judge Roy Bean, self-styled "Law West of the Pecos." The date was February 21, 1896.

The fight had been originally scheduled for Dallas, but the Legislature went into special session and passed a law prohibiting the staging of any boxing match in Texas. When the fight promoter then decided to move the bout to Juarez, Mexico, the Mexican authorities nixed that idea. That's when Judge Bean took the law into his own hands and invited the fighters to his domain at Langtry.

An island in the Rio Grande — regarded by Bean as a "no man's land" subject only to his own laws — was selected as the site. Sports fans rode Southern Pacific special trains to Langtry, then walked to the river. Judge Bean sold them beer at $1 a bottle and pocketed more profits than either the fighters or the promoters of the fight.

It was all over in less than two minutes when Fitzsimmons decked Maher for the long count. But the beer-drinking (and Bean's profiteering) went on long into the night.

THE PASSING PARADE — Dallas Baptists are a pleasant lot.

Ten churches of that denomination in the city have the word "pleasant" as part of their name!

TEXANS-AT-LARGE — The famous Byrds of Virginia might have Texans except for the fact that a young Austin lawyer became homesick for his native state.

William Byrd, recently from Virginia, was a bright young barrister in the capital who married a Williamson County girl and seemed on his way to making it in Texas politics. He served as adjutant general in 1861, then enlisted in the Confederate Army and was captured.

After the war, Byrd came back to Austin but began to pine for his native Virginia. He and his bride decided to return. There they began the family line that was to produce two Virginia senators and Richard E. Byrd, the famous Antarctic explorer.

STEAMBOAT 'ROUND THE BEND — "The Ariel," a sidewheeler powered with wood and water, was the first steamboat to operate on a Texas river.

Owned by an entrepreneur named Henry Austin, it made its debut on the Rio Grande in 1829 and was moved to the Brazos River in 1830. Austin decided that river commerce wasn't profitable and decided to return to his boat to New Orleans. He ran it aground, however, and finally left it to rot on the San Jacinto River near Harrisburg.

SENSING THE NEWS

By Anthony Harrigan

EXECUTIVE VICE PRESIDENT

Southern States Industrial Council

TORONTO, Canada — While the United States has difficulty with welfare unions and military groups funded with public money, it hasn't a monopoly on this type of problem. Canadian taxpayers also are required to fund protest groups that want to tap the public treasury.

Earlier this winter, Canada's organized "poor" held their first national meeting in this northern metropolis. They had a field day with more than $68,000 of public money. Five hundred delegates attended the conference, supposedly representing more than 250 welfare and low-income groups across Canada.

Helen Wallace, a London Free Press staff writer, noted: "In spite of the fact they were appointed to represent Canada's poor, some of them appeared to be a comfortably dressed, middle-class looking set." This observation won't surprise Americans who have noticed that many recipients of federal food stamps in the U. S. drive to the supermarket and wear good clothes. Those who make a career of "poverty" seem to do quite well.

There was nothing solid or middle-class about the resolutions the conference approved. For instance, the conference of Canadian "poor" people approved resolutions demanding release of both Quebec "political prisoners" and Angela David, the communist teacher held in connection with a murder charge in California.

Though this militant group wants increased funding from Canadian taxpayers, the conference participants were unwilling to let the public know what happened in their sessions. The press was evicted from the meeting. The decision to close the conference to the press was made by a select committee headed by Peter Robinson, a member of Toronto's Black Liberation Front.

One gimmick proposed by the conference is a national "poverty" newspaper. Canada's taxpayers would be expected to pick up the tab for this sheet. This is a propaganda device that apparently hasn't occurred to the organized "poor" in the United States. Indeed, participants in the Toronto meeting seemed especially determined to attack the Canadian press. They went so far as to blame poverty in Canada on "the major media owners."

Both Canadians and Americans should pay close attention to meetings of this sort. Extremists of every variety, including enemies of freedom of the press, see anti-poverty programs as efficient means of funding radical activities. In funding the organizations of the "poor," governments in effect create new political organizations that have the objectives of denying energetic citizens the fruits of their labor.

Opportunities abound in Canada, as in the United States. Canada's Far North represents the last frontier on this continent. People are needed in the Northwest Territories Yukon, northern Manitoba and elsewhere to open a great region and make it fully productive. But the organized "poor" aren't interested in the challenge of hard work in a stern environment. They aren't interested in self help. Their real objective is radical political action and in extracting money from self-reliant citizens. This is a phenomenon common to both Canada and the United States.

home where the hosts' collection of paintings is displayed. Honorees at the ball, Valentine princesses from each of the three BSP chapters, are shown in lower photos. Mrs. Kirk Owsley of Kappa Iota, chosen queen for 1971, dances with her husband at left and Mrs. Larry Summers, nominee from Alpha Alpha, with her husband at right. In the foreground of the center group is Mrs. Bill McDonald, Xi Epsilon Alpha princess.

Four churches opening crusade

Initial services of a weeklong Challenge-for-living — Crusade will be held here today by Ed Robb, widely known West Texas evangelist, assisted by Bobbie and Gene Moore, song leaders, and Dr. Hubert Thompson, associate evangelist.

Church of the Nazarene, First Christian Church and the two United Methodist congregations here are cooperating in this crusade, inviting the public to daily services at 7 a.m., with breakfast, at the Christian Church and 7 p.m. in First United Methodist Church.

Separate Sunday worship services are scheduled and the first joint meeting this evening. After it is dismissed an informal reception will be held in

First UMC fellowship hall, to give members of the four sponsoring churches an opportunity to meet the crusade personnel.

Arrangements are in charge of the committee on hospitality and arrangements. Garland Solomon and Mrs. J. D. Hamblen are the committee members from the host church, Mrs. A. M. Hare and Gene Brownlow from Wesley UMC, Mary Douglas from the Nazarene and Mrs. C. E. Rush from the Christian Church.

Ed Robb heading the evangelistic association which bears his name and was formed in 1966, has conducted preaching crusades in many West Texas cities, including Amarillo and Vega in recent years, and has made tours of the United States and around the world.

He led four revivals in India last year and visited Moscow to gather information on churches in Russia. He has preached in Indonesia and Japan, also in Latin-American countries.

His decision to engage in evangelistic work came in 1946 while he was serving in the U. S. Navy. After completing his education he served as pastor of several Methodist churches in Northwest Texas, then began devoting full time to evangelism.

His associate, Dr. Thompson, is a veteran Methodist minister. The musicians, a husband-and-wife team whose duets are favorites of crusade audiences, have accompanied Robb on tours abroad and provided the musical background for many of his citywide crusades.

Singing evangelists for the past seven years, they joined the Robb association three years ago. The couple met and married in an Oklahoma college in 1953 and since have not only sung together, but collaborated in writing and recording songs.

SW Bell official disputes Senate rate figures

AUSTIN — The accuracy of rate information presented earlier to a Texas Senate committee was challenged by a Southwestern Bell spokesman Monday as the committee continued hearings on the creation of a state utility commission.

Sam Holcomb, assistant vice president for Southwestern Bell, showed committee members a map on which every rate for leased line service — as reported last week by Sen. Charles Wilson of Lufkin — was incorrect.

Holcomb noted that one rate reported by the Senator was incorrect by more than $900 a month.

"I don't know how the figures on the Senator's chart were calculated, but they leave an incorrect impression," Holcomb said.

Wilson, and committee chairman William T. Moore of Bryan both have bills before the State Affairs committee which would provide statewide regulation of the telephone industry. The Wilson bill would regulate only telephone companies; the bill by Senator Moore would regulate all utilities.

Holcomb was one of several witnesses appearing Monday in opposition to both bills.

Earlier in his testimony, Holcomb maintained that rates for both local and long distance telephone service to Texas customers of Southwestern Bell compare favorably with rates in other states.

He also said that Texas rates not only compare favorably with those in other states, but that telephone service in the state generally "is not exceeded anywhere in the world."

"The various municipalities have done a good job of regulating the telephone industry," he maintained. "Why, then, should the taxpayers be burdened with the added expense of another regulatory agency?"

Holcomb told the committee that one of the most often criticized features of long distance service — the difference in rates for interstate and intrastate calls — is not unique to Texas. Similar differences exist in states which have statewide regulatory agencies, he said. Directing his remarks to the frequently cited example that it costs more to call Texarkana, Texas from Austin than it does to call Texarkana, Arkansas, Holcomb said, "That was true; however, the recently approved increase in interstate rates has largely eliminated that disparity."

Under new rates, the charge for a call from Austin to Texarkana, Ark., is $1.15, while a call from Austin to Texarkana, Tex., is $1.05. Prior to the new rates, the call from Austin to Texarkana, Tex., was slightly higher than the interstate rate.

Holcomb, however, cited 19 specific examples in other states where telephone rates for a call that originates and terminates within that state are higher than the rates for calls that originate in one state and terminate in another state even though the distances are comparable. One of the examples he gave was Tennessee where a 3-minute day station-to-station call from Nashville to Memphis (195 miles) has a rate of $1.10. The comparable rate from Nashville to West Memphis, Ark. (a distance of 200 miles) is 90 cents.

Holcomb said that part of the difference between intrastate and interstate rates simply could be attributed to the cost of providing the service. "All though cost of circuits is only one element of cost of providing long distance service, the average cost per mile of intrastate circuits in Texas is $61 compared to $28 for an interstate long distance circuit," Holcomb said.

Holcomb also pointed out that in addition to long distance rates, local rates in Texas, set by local municipal governments, compare favorably with those in other states in which there is statewide regulation. He then went on to point out that rates for local exchange service in Houston, Texas' largest city, are less than rates in numerous cities around the country.

"Even our smaller towns like Meridian, Roscoe and West have rates lower than in comparable cities in states which have regulatory commissions," Holcomb said. "There are many other comparisons which could be made to illustrate that the rates for local service in Texas compare very favorably with states having a statewide regulatory agency."

To the charge that Texas has the "sorriest telephone service in the United States," Holcomb said, "This simply is not true."

He went on to point out that customers in Texas place more than 9.5 billion calls a year and a very high percentage of them are handled in a completely satisfactory manner.

As an example, Holcomb noted that on the average, a Southwestern Bell customer's telephone is out of service less often than once every four years. "And of all the phones in trouble, 85 per cent are restored to service in less than three hours after they are reported," he said.

Holcomb also challenged testimony offered last Monday that there were as many as 13 customers on rural telephone lines. He said Southwestern Bell, one of 108 telephone companies in the state, had undertaken a rural improvement program several years ago, and at the close of 1970, some 75 per cent of the company's exchanges have been equipped for suburban four-party service.

"Our objective is to continue this program of providing improved rural service as fast as economic factors will permit," he said.

To the charge that Southwestern Bell had an 8.9 per cent rate of return on its Texas operations, Holcomb said the cited figure represented the ratio of net operating revenues to average net plant, and was not related to a legal rate base in Texas. On the rate base established by Texas law, Holcomb maintained Southwestern Bell's rate of return was 5.43 per cent in 1969.

He also maintained that the 8.9 per cent figure did not include consideration for various other charges, such as interest charges on bonds.

How much deductions do we claim?

Deaf Smith County residents who are getting together their income and expenses figures for the past year, in preparation for their annual encounter with Uncle Sam, will be interested in knowing how their charitable and other deductions compare with the average.

Were their gifts to charity larger or smaller than those made by most people in their income category? Were their medical expenses and their deductible local taxes higher or lower?

Helpful information regarding this, for those who itemize their deductions, comes from the Commerce Clearing House, a national authority on taxes and business law, based upon data obtained from the Internal Revenue Service.

It has prepared figures showing just how much the average taxpayer in each income class has been deducting for contributions, interest charges, local taxes and medical costs.

In general, it shows, families throughout the country whose earnings are equal to the average in Deaf Smith County have been deducting a total of $1,530, equivalent to 22 percent of their gross income.

The deductions listed by local families with lower-than-average earnings represent a bigger proportion of their income. Conversely, those in the high brackets have smaller deductions, percentage-wise.

The range is from 16 percent, for those with top incomes, to 24 percent at the other end of the scale.

Those local families who are in the $12,500 class will have total deductions of about $2,130 if they fit the norm for that income, the CCH figures show. Those at the $5,500 level will be deducting around $1,290.

A breakdown of the $1,530 in deductions usual to those with incomes equalling the Deaf Smith County average shows that $227 of it is for charitable contributions, that $475 is for interest paid on loans and on installment debt, that $480 represents local tax payments and that $348 is for allowable medical expenses.

Of course, these figures are merely a guide to what people in various income brackets are listing as deductions. They are not automatically accepted by the IRS. Proper records must be available to support all claims.

NUMBER FOUR ON THE BALLOT (SJR 17)
Special Election May 18, 1971

BE IT RESOLVED BY THE LEGISLATURE OF THE STATE OF TEXAS:

Section 1. That Article III of the Constitution of the State of Texas be amended by adding thereto a new Section 49-d-1 to read as follows:

"Section 49-d-1. (a) The Texas Water Development Board shall upon direction of the Texas Water Quality Board, or any successor agency designated by the Legislature, issue additional Texas Water Development Bonds up to an additional aggregate principal amount of One Hundred Million Dollars ($100,000,000) to provide grants, loans, or any combination of grants and loans for water quality enhancement purposes as established by the Legislature. The Texas Water Quality Board or any successor agency designated by the Legislature may make such grants and loans to political subdivisions or bodies politic and corporate of the State of Texas, including municipal corporations, river authorities, conservation and reclamation districts, and districts created or organized or authorized to be created or organized under Article XVII, Section 59, or Article III, Section 52, of this Constitution, State agencies, and interstate agencies and compact commissions to which the State of Texas is a party, and upon such terms and conditions as the Legislature may authorize by general law. The bonds shall be issued for such terms, in such denominations, form and installments, and upon such conditions as the Legislature may authorize.

"(b) The proceeds from the sale of such bonds shall be deposited in the Texas Water Development Fund to be invested and administered as prescribed by law.

"(c) The bonds authorized in this Section 49-d-1 and all bonds authorized by Sections 49-c and 49-d of Article III shall bear interest at not more than 6% per annum and mature as the Texas Water Development Board shall prescribe, subject to the limitations as may be imposed by the Legislature.

"(d) The Texas Water Development Fund shall be used for the purposes heretofore permitted by, and subject to the limitations in Sections 49-c, 49-d and 49-d-1; provided, however, that the financial assistance may be made pursuant to the provisions of Sections 49-c, 49-d and 49-d-1, subject only to the availability of funds and without regard to the provisions in Section 49-c that such financial assistance shall terminate after December 31, 1982.

"(e) Texas Water Development Bonds are secured by the general credit of the State and shall after approval by the Attorney General, registration by the Comptroller of Public Accounts of the State of Texas, and delivery to the purchaser, be incontestable and shall constitute general obligations of the State of Texas under the Constitution of Texas.

"(f) Should the Legislature enact enabling laws in anticipation of the adoption of this amendment, such Acts shall not be void by reason of their anticipatory character."

Sec. 2. The foregoing constitutional amendment shall be submitted to a vote of the qualified electors of this State at an election to be held on Tuesday, May 18, 1971, at which election all ballots shall be printed to provide for voting for or against the proposition: "The constitutional amendment providing that the Legislature may propose an amendment of the Constitution at any session of the Legislature."

BE IT RESOLVED BY THE LEGISLATURE OF THE STATE OF TEXAS:

Section 1. That Article XVII, Section 1, of the Texas Constitution be amended to read as follows:

"Section 1. The Legislature by a vote of two-thirds of all the members elected to each House, to be entered by yeas and nays on the journals, may propose amendments to the Constitution, to be voted upon by the qualified electors for members of the Legislature, which proposed amendments shall be duly published once a week for four weeks, commencing at least three months before an election, the time of which shall be specified by the Legislature, in one weekly newspaper of each county, in which such a newspaper may be published, and it shall be the duty of the several returning officers of said election, to open a poll for, and make returns to the Secretary of State, of the number of legal votes cast at said election for and against said amendments; and if more than one be proposed, then the number of votes cast for and against each of them; and if it shall appear from said return, that a majority of the votes cast, have been cast in favor of any amendment, the said amendment so receiving a majority of the votes cast, shall become a part of this Constitution, and proclamation shall be made by the Governor thereof."

Sec. 2. The foregoing constitutional amendment shall be submitted to a vote of the qualified electors of this state at an election to be held on May 18, 1971, at which election the ballots shall be printed to provide for voting for or against the proposition: "The constitutional amendment providing that the Legislature may propose an amendment of the Constitution at any session of the Legislature."

NUMBER ONE ON THE BALLOT (SJR 15)
Special Election May 18, 1971

BE IT RESOLVED BY THE LEGISLATURE OF THE STATE OF TEXAS:

Section 1. That Article III, Section 24, of the Texas Constitution, be amended to read as follows:

"Section 24. (1) The State Ethics Commission is created as an agency of the State. The commission consists of nine members. Three members shall be appointed by the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of Texas with the advice and consent of the Associate Justices serving on the Court, three members shall be appointed by the Presiding Judge of the Court of Criminal Appeals of Texas with the advice and consent of the other Judges serving on the Court, and three members shall be appointed by the Chairman of the State Judicial Qualifications Commission with the advice and consent of the other members of the commission, of each group of three appointees no more than two shall be attorneys engaged in the active practice of law. In addition thereto there shall be two ex officio members, one from the House of Representatives and one from the Senate to be elected on the first day of each Regular Session of the Legislature by a majority of the membership of each House for a term ending on the first day of the next Regular Session.

"(2) With the exception of the initial appointees, each member shall hold office for a term of six (6) years and until his successor is appointed and has qualified. In making the initial appointments, each appointing officer shall designate one (1) appointee to serve a term of two (2) years, one (1) appointee to serve a term of four (4) years, and one (1) appointee to serve a term of six (6) years. Interim vacancies shall be filled in the same manner as vacancies due to expiration of a full term, but only for the unexpired portion of the term in question. The membership shall designate one of its members to serve as chairman for a period of two (2) years.

"(3) The members of the commission shall be reimbursed for actual and necessary expenses incurred in the performance of their duties.

"(4) The commission shall recommend the compensation, per diem, and mileage allowance of members of the Legislature, and may recommend the salary of the Speaker of the House of Representatives and the Lieutenant Governor at an amount higher than that of other members notwithstanding any provisions to the contrary of Article IV, Section 17, of the Texas Constitution.

"(5) The commission shall promulgate the rules of ethics to govern the conduct of all legislators, legislative officers and all officeholders, appointive or elective, of any office, department, district agency, commission, board or any governmental unit or branch established by or under the authority of the constitution and laws of the State of Texas and all persons who shall use any privilege of the floor in either House of the Legislature. The Texas State Ethics Commission shall further promulgate rules providing that each member of the Legislature and each of the hereinabove named officeholders upon election and any appointee to any of these offices shall file with the State Ethics Commission a statement under oath setting out a complete financial statement in detail within 10 days after being elected or receiving an appointment. This information shall be privileged information to the State Ethics Commission to be used only by them to determine if there exists a conflict of interests or if there is or has been a violation of any of the rules of ethics promulgated by the Texas State Ethics Commission. No Regular Session shall be of longer duration than 140 days. In addition to the per diem, the members of each House shall be entitled to mileage in going to and returning from the seat of government, which mileage shall not exceed Two Dollars and fifty cents ($2.50) for every twenty-five (25) miles, the distance to be computed by the nearest and most direct route of travel, from a table of distances prepared by the Comptroller to each county seat now or hereafter established; no member to be entitled to mileage for any extra session that may be called within one day after adjournment of the Regular or Called session.

"(10) The commission is further authorized to recommend to each Legislature changes which will update, improve, and effect economy in the legislative process."

Sec. 2. The foregoing constitutional amendment shall be submitted to a vote of the qualified electors of this State at an election to be held on the 18th day of May, 1971, at which election the ballots shall be printed to provide for voting for or against the proposition: "The constitutional amendment to create a State Ethics Commission empowered to set rules of ethics for members of the Legislature, State officers and legislative officials thereof, and to recommend compensation for members of the Legislature and the Lieutenant Governor and recommend improvements and economy in the legislative process."

NUMBER THREE ON THE BALLOT (SJR 5)
Special Election May 18, 1971

BE IT RESOLVED BY THE LEGISLATURE OF THE STATE OF TEXAS:

Section 1. That Article III, Section 51-a, of the Texas Constitution, be amended to read as follows:

"Section 51-a. The Legislature shall have the power, by General Laws, to provide, subject to limitations herein contained, and such other limitations, restrictions and regulations as may be by the Legislature deemed expedient, for assistance grants to and/or medical care for, and for rehabilitation and any other services included in the federal laws making matching funds available to help such families and individuals attain or retain capability for independence or self-care, and for the payment of assistance grants to and/or medical care for, and for rehabilitation and other services to or on behalf of:

"(1) Needy aged persons who are citizens of the United States or noncitizens who shall have resided within the boundaries of the United States for at least twenty-five (25) years;

"(2) Needy individuals who are totally and permanently disabled by reason of a mental or physical handicap or a combination of physical and mental handicaps;

"(3) Needy blind persons;

"(4) Needy dependent children and the caretakers of such children.

"The Legislature may prescribe such other eligibility requirements for participation in these programs as it deems appropriate.

"The Legislature shall have authority to enact appropriate legislation which will enable the State of Texas to cooperate with the Government of the United States in providing assistance to and/or medical care on behalf of needy persons in providing rehabilitation and any other services included in the federal laws making matching funds available to help such families and individuals attain or retain capability for independence or self-care, to accept and expend funds from the Government of the United States for such purposes in accordance with the laws of the United States as they now are or as they may hereafter be amended, and to make appropriations out of State funds for such purposes; provided that the maximum amount paid out of State funds to or on behalf of any needy person shall not exceed the amount that is matchable out of federal funds; provided that the total amount of State funds paid for assistance grants for needy dependent children and the caretakers of the children shall not exceed Fifty-Five Million Dollars ($55,000,000) during any fiscal year.

"Provided further, that if the limitations and restrictions herein contained are found to be in conflict with the provisions of appropriate federal statutes, as they now are or as they may be amended to the extent that federal matching money is not available to the State for the purposes, then and in that event the Legislature is specifically authorized and empowered to prescribe such limitations and restrictions and enact such laws as may be necessary in order that such federal matching money will be available for assistance and/or medical care for or on behalf of needy persons.

"Nothing in this section shall be construed to amend, modify or repeal Section 31 of Article XVI of this Constitution; provided further, however, that such medical care, services or assistance shall also include the employment of objective or subjective means, without the use of drugs, for the purpose of ascertaining and measuring the powers of vision of the human eye, and fitting lenses or prisms to correct or remedy any defect or abnormal condition of vision. Nothing herein shall be construed to permit optometrists to treat the eyes for any defect whatsoever in any manner nor to administer or to prescribe any drug or physical treatment whatsoever, unless such optometrist is a regularly licensed physician or surgeon under the laws of this State."

Sec. 2. The foregoing constitutional amendment shall be submitted to a vote of the qualified electors of this State at an election to be held on May 18, 1971, at which election the ballots shall be printed to provide for voting for or against the proposition: "The constitutional amendment removing the limitation on the total State appropriations for assistance grants for the needy aged, the needy disabled, and the needy blind, and setting a limitation on total State appropriations during any fiscal year for assistance grants for needy dependent children and the caretakers of such children."

Tea compliments mid-winter bride

A shower tea honoring a bride, Mrs. Joe Reinauer Jr., the former Miss Linda Lee Alexander of Dallas, was given Friday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Gaylord Newell, 123 Liveoak. The couple was married January 20 in Dallas.

Approximately 125 guests were greeted by Mrs. Newell and received by the honoree, her husband's mother, Mrs. Joe Reinauer Sr., and Mrs. James Reinauer, a sister-in-law. Hostesses for the tea were Mrs. Earnest Langley, Carl McCaslin, George Turrentine, Jack McKinster, Ed Loerwald, Eugene Loerwald, Jack Wilcox, W. W. Gilbreath, Earl Holt, Earnest Flood, W. E. Dameron, Wayne Bass, H. L. Benefield, Roy Grubbs, Paul Conaway, Elmer Kimball, Owen Seamands, Merlin Kaul, Ivan Block, John D. Pittman, D. C. McWhorter, Jonny Cloud and Newell.

Mrs. Bill Reinauer registered guests at a table centered with pink roses in a crystal bud vase.

Mrs. Steve Conaway and Mrs. Ed Reinauer ladled punch while Miss Angela Grubbs served cake. The table was centered with a five-branch candelabrum with burning white tapers and an arrangement of pink sensation roses and candytuft.

For the afternoon the honoree wore a powder blue wool dress and coat ensemble and a pink sensation rose corsage. Similar corsages were worn by members of the houseparty.

Out-of-town guests included Mrs. Fred Reinauer Sr. and Mrs. Jack Summers, both of Oklahoma City.

Our Story: THE ENCOUNTER WITH THE OUTLAWS RAISED PRINCE VALIANT OUT OF HIS DOLEFUL MOOD AND NOW HE IS MORE ALERT TO HIS SURROUNDINGS.

HE PASSES A FEW TINY FARMS AND FLOCKS OF SHEEP. FROM A SHEPHERD HE LEARNS THAT THE TOWN OF MYRDDIN IS A FEW MILES FARTHER ALONG ON THE BANKS OF THE TYWY RIVER.

VAL HAS NEVER BEEN THIS WAY BEFORE, BUT THE NAME SEEMS FAMILIAR. THE TOWN ITSELF HAS A ROMAN WALL IN DISREPAIR AND THE BUILDINGS ARE IN LIKE CONDITION.

AS HE CROSSES THE TYWY ON THE ANCIENT BRIDGE THERE IS A SIGN OVER THE GATE THAT CATCHES HIS EYE. OF COURSE! THIS IS MERLIN'S BIRTHPLACE AND ITS CITIZENS ARE PROUD OF IT.

THEY GATHER AROUND, FOR IT IS WELL KNOWN THAT PRINCE VALIANT HAD BEEN A PUPIL OF MERLIN'S AND THEY ARE EAGER TO LEARN ALL THEY CAN OF THEIR CITY'S IMMORTAL CELEBRITY. VAL, TOO, ASKS QUESTIONS.

"WHERE IS MERLIN'S CAVE?" YOU ASK. WE KNOW, NOT THOUGH IT IS RUMORED HE SPENT YEARS OF HIS YOUTH IN STUDY THERE. EVEN ADVENTUROUS CHILDREN HAVE NOT DISCOVERED IT, THOUGH IT MUST BE CLOSE BY.

AT EVENING VAL CLIMBS THE BARREN WASTELAND BEHIND THE TOWN, FINDS A COMFORTABLE SEAT, AND AWAITS SUNDOWN.

A STRANGE OCCUPATION FOR A WARRIOR: HE IS WATCHING BATS. HE IS TRYING TO LEARN THE DIRECTION THEY ARE COMING FROM, BUT THEIR ERRATIC FLIGHT DEFEATS HIM.

hints from Heloise

DEAR HELOISE:
The bride and groom from the top of a wedding cake can be preserved... Place the "little couple" in a shallow bowl ordinarily used for flower arrangements (the size depending on how large the bride and groom are).
Next put regular raw rice around the base with small plastic orange blossoms arranged in the rice. Be sure not to use instant rice because it will deteriorate.
Then all you have to do is set a round-type fish-bowl upside down over the arrangement.

The net veil on the bride will crumble with age and must be replaced with new net or nylon lace attached to the bride's head with glue. Other than that, all that's necessary is to remove the bowl for occasional side of mine, and fold the top over several times.

At home where we have that good hot coffee of our own choosing, or the preferred soft drink, we open up our ice-cream bags and remove our sandwiches and fries piping hot!
Ex-Dogface

DEAR HELOISE:
I've always known my Dad was a genius, but he has hit a new high with this idea:
In order to butter or grease a turkey easier, lightly flour your hands and pat Mr. Tom before greasing. The butter sticks beautifully, and he comes out with a very nice tan.

DEAR HELOISE:
I like to sleep on flannel sheets. The "boss" doesn't. So I cut a flannel sheet down the middle and do likewise to a regular sheet.

HELP FOR HOMEMAKERS

Then I sew two halves together—one side flannel and the other percale (or muslin).
My husband sleeps on the percale and I on the flannel and we're both happy.
Then when the season changes, these special sheets are stored away until needed again.

DEAR HELOISE:
I have just discovered a novel and fun use for empty plastic jars — particularly the one-pound size.
Filled with pebbles, marbles, plastic keys or other small objects, and the lid tightly screwed on, they make rolling toys for tiny children.
My six-month-old can push one around for an hour or so and still be amused at the motion and the sound. My two-year-old likes to use them for blocks.
Now I regret throwing out all those jars in the past!

CUTE CUT-UP!
DEAR HELOISE:
Did you know that cut flowers arranged in your old coffee pot are ever so cute in the kitchen?
I even used this idea at a kitchen shower and my guests loved it.

DEAR HELOISE:
I needed a lightweight sweater to wear around the house... one that I could do my housework in.
Most of my sweaters were too bulky, but I finally found an old long-sleeved orlon one. I disliked the rib part of the sleeve, as it always seemed to soil before the rest of the sweater needed washing. So I cut off several inches of the ribbing and put seam binding on it. Then turned it to the wrong side and finished it by hand.
Now it has become an all-purpose sweater that I find terrific while doing chores. Doesn't bind at all.

DEAR HELOISE:
Do you remember "drawing" in the fog on windows when you were young? Well, here's a superb way for mothers to get those picture windows cleaned with no effort.

Smear some window cleaner on the window and when it dries, let the children go to town drawing pictures with their fingers or cotton swabs. They'll really have fun, and when they're through, just wipe the window off with a soft cloth and it will be absolutely sparkling!
Janet Post

DEAR HELOISE:
A little four-year-old youngster playing with my daughter remarked as he went through the kitchen, "Your Mommy is a good, smelly cooker!"

DEAR HELOISE:
I spread an old shower curtain on my bed to sprinkle my clothes on. This way I can sprinkle them all at once.

MAGIC CLASS

GATHER round, "stoonts," for today's magic class. (Don't scoff, friends, a degree in magic was pursued this past year at the Univ. of California.) Today's lesson: Place a small disc of paper on a flat surface and hold a slightly larger coin about an inch above it. Challenge: To induce the paper to rise up and touch the coin. Secret: Blow down hard through a paper straw at the top surface of the coin. Air currents will "raise" the disk to the coin.

BULLETIN BOARD

● ANSWER IN SIX DAYS: Beginning with any day of the week, name six consecutive days without mentioning Wednesday, Thursday or Friday.

● D'jever see an onion roll? A bed spring? An egg box? A milk shake? Challenge: Think of another within 30 seconds.

● Math Test: Pick an even number. Add 18. Divide by two. Subtract the number. Add forty-one. Answer is 50. Right?

● Hear Hear! How much higher than the top note on a standard piano is a range inaudible to the human ear? That is, how many notes higher?

TIGER BY THE TAIL? Does one of the monks above clutch a string that leads to the tiger's tail? Could be. We'll let you decide.

MAGIC COLORS: 1—Yellow, 2—Red, 3—Blue, 4—Orange, 5—Green, 6—Lavender, 7—Black, 8—Brown, 9—Flesh tones. Simply apply colors neatly above to bring forth the surprise picture.
