

General Election Scheduled Tuesday

Presidential Position, Governor's Post Major Items On Ballot

By Speedy Nieman

The last Aggie joke I heard was so bad that I hesitated in printing it. However, these two Aggies were talking and one said to the other: "You're so dumb I bet you can't even spell farm."

"Oh, yes I can," retorted the second Aggie. "E-I-E-I-O."

The general election comes up Tuesday, and it seems the campaigns have been particularly bitter this year with charges and counter charges coming from just about all candidates.

We agree with an observation made by another columnist: Our only hope is that the candidates are not so bad as their opponents say they are.

According to the polls across the nation, it must be admitted that Nixon is an overwhelming favorite. But, the polls are not always right. Two of the most notable flops by nationally-respected pollsters came in the 1948 Truman-Dewey race and in the 1936 Roosevelt-Landon campaign. There are still many "undecided" voters in this election, and some are so confused they may stay away from the ballot box.

Even if Nixon wins it big, he may not carry as many Republican candidates into office with him as party leaders are hoping. There are some hot races in Texas, with Sen. John Tower having a real battle with Barefoot Sanders. Even closer to home is the nip-and-tuck race between incumbents Bob Price and Graham Purcell in the 13th Congressional District. Deaf Smith missed out on that race when it was transferred to Rep. George Mahon's 19th District.

While Dolph Briscoe appears a shoo-in as governor, GOP candidate Henry Grover has mounted a strong campaign. Grover apparently hopes to ride the "anti-McGovern" wagon to victory, but it appears highly unlikely he'll succeed. Maurice Angly, the young GOP candidate for state treasurer, has made a big splash over the state, but voters seem to have the habit of marking the familiar name of Jesse James.

With 14 proposed state constitutional amendments on the ballot, you'll have to take a little time in making your selections. A sample ballot, as well as a rundown on the proposed amendments, has been published in THE BRAND. We hope you'll take time to study them before going to the polls!

If you don't subscribe to THE BRAND, we can't think of a better sales "pitch" than this one, which was published in The Hereford Reporter, 1961:

"One day last week down in the thickly timbered section of this great state, a man was caught out in a severe rainstorm and — to avoid getting a drenching — he crawled into a hollow log. The storm was terrific and of course the log got wet and began to swell and by the time the shower was over the hollow in the log had contracted so until our man couldn't budge.

"In fact it was squeezing him so tight that he couldn't sigh (there wasn't room enough for him to take a deep breath); so he began to think of the many little mean things he had done during his 47 years here below — beating his grocery bill, looking the other way when they passed around the hat at prayer meeting, laying around the courthouse in order to get on the jury, pitching horse shoes and playing croquet on Sunday, and a few more items of this stripe.

"Finally he remembered borrowing and reading his neighbor's paper for 14 years, and it made him feel so small that he just crawled out of that log as easy as could be."

Voters in Texas already have decided they want a new man to run the state, but they will be called on to join the rest of the nation Tuesday to decide if a new man will run the nation.

At the same time, area and local elections will be mixed into state and national bids in 1972—the first year 18, 19 and 20-year-olds will have a voice in selecting political figures.

In Deaf Smith County, a record 7,227 persons registered to vote in this General Election year, erasing the old record of 6,824 set in 1968, the last Presidential election year.

Of that number, only 660 persons under 21 years of age registered in this county.

Four parties will be represented on the Tuesday ballot along with a vacant space for write-in choices. Parties included on the ballot are Democratic, Republican, Socialist Workers, and Raza Unida.

The top office to be decided of course, is that of President of the United States, followed by, in order of standing, U.S. Senator, U.S. Representative, for 19th Congressional District, Governor, Attorney General, Comptroller of Public Accounts, State Treasurer, Commissioner of General Land Office, Commissioner of Agriculture, Railroad Commissioner, Chief Justice Supreme Court, Associate Justice of Supreme Court, Place 1, Associate Justice of Supreme Court, Place 2, and Judge of Court of Criminal Appeals.

Of more interest locally, other offices to be filled are State Senator for District 31, State Representative of District 74, State Board of Education for 19th District, Associate Justice for Court of Civil Appeals of District 7, District Clerk, Sheriff of Deaf Smith County, County Tax Assessor-Collector, Deaf Smith County Commissioner for Place 1 and Deaf Smith County Commissioner for Place 3.

Persons voting in the election must place an "X" in the square beside the candidate's name they wish to vote for.

A person may vote a "straight ticket" by placing an "X" in the square beside the name of the party of his or her choice at the head of the party column.

A "straight ticket" ballot is a vote for all the candidates of a certain party and for no candidates outside that party's column. If a person wishes to vote a straight ticket, they must not mark the squares beside the names of individual candidates.

One of the major items on the ballot this year is the 14 proposed constitutional amendments. Voting on these amendments will follow the same pattern as for candidate with the exception that there can be no straight ticket balloting. Each proposed amendment must be marked separately either "for" or "against."

Richard M. Nixon, seeking reelection to the Presidency of the United States for a second four-year term, is opposed on the ballot by George McGovern of the Democratic Party, and Linda Jenness of the Socialist Workers Party.

Nixon was a surprise winner in Deaf Smith County four years ago when he drew 2,474 votes to Hubert Humphrey's 1,545 and George Wallace's 791.

However, Humphrey carried the state of Texas and took the 25 electoral votes.

Running mates for the candidates are R. Sargent Shriver for McGovern, Spiro T. Agnew for Nixon and Andrew Rulley for the Socialist Workers.

In the U.S. Senator's race, Barefoot Sanders represents the Democratic Party against incumbent John Tower on the Republican ticket, Tom Leonard on the Socialist Workers Party and Flores Amaya on the Raza Unida Party.

George Mahon, one of the most influential men in Washington, is unopposed in his bid for the U.S. Representative, 19th Congressional District.

Dolph Briscoe, who won a primary run-off against Sissy Farenthold, heads the Democratic Party ticket for Governor and he is opposed by Hank Grover on the Republican ticket, Deborah Leonard on the Socialist Workers Party ticket and Ramsey Muniz on the Raza Unida Party ticket.

The Lieutenant Governor's office is being challenged by Bill Hobby, a Democrat, Meyer Alewitz, a Socialist Worker, and Alma Canales, a member of the Raza Unida Party.

Thomas Kincaid of the Socialist Workers Party and John Hill of the Democratic Party square off in the race for the Attorney General's office.

Another Socialist Workers candidate, Anne Springer, challenges incumbent Robert S. Calvert as Comptroller of Public Accounts.

Democrat Jesse James, incumbent State Treasurer, is challenged by Republican Maurice Angly Jr., and Raza Unida Ruben Solis Jr.

Socialist Worker Howard Petrick and Democrat Bob Armstrong are bidding for the office of Commissioner of General Land Office.

John C. White is unopposed as a Democrat running for the office of Commissioner of Agriculture.

Democrat Byron Tunnel, Republican Jim Segrest and Raza Unida Fred R. Garza are seeking the office of Railroad Commissioner.

Unopposed and running on the Democratic ticket are: —Joe Greenhill, for Chief Justice of the Supreme Court. —Price Daniel for Associate Justice of the Supreme Court, Place 1. —Sam Johnson for Associate Justice of the Supreme Court, Place 2. —Wendell A. Odom for Judge, Court of Criminal Appeals. —Max Sherman, State Senator for District 31. —Bill Clayton, State Representative for District 74. —James H. Whiteside for State Board of Education, 19th District. —James A. Ellis for Associate Justice, Court of Civil Appeals, District 7. —Lola Faye Veazey for District Clerk. —Travis McPherson for Sheriff of Deaf Smith County. —Nell Miller for County Tax Assessor-Collector. —Earl Holt for Deaf Smith County Commissioner, Precinct 1. —Bruce Coleman for Deaf Smith County Commissioner, Precinct 3.

Keep Hopes Alive

Herd Puts It Together, 46-14

BY MARSHALL DAY
News Editor

The Hereford Whitefaces kept their slim district title hopes alive Saturday night in Lubbock as they put together an awesome passing attack in the first half and easily outclassed the host Coronado Mustangs, 46-14.

The game marked the first time in several weeks where the Whitefaces were able to make their heralded passing attack click to near perfection.

Hereford dominated the game from beginning to end as the stout defense held the Mustangs scoreless for three periods.

Coronado scored two times in the final period once after a fumble recovery at the Hereford 8-yard line, and the second time following the recovery of the blocked punt in the end zone.

Hereford began the game looking a little shaky, fumbling three times in the opening minutes of play. However, on its third possession of the night, and with just over a minute remaining in the period, the Herd began to function as an offensive unit.

Two key passes from quarterback Keith Kitchens to end Alan Cornelius put sparkle into the game and contributed two touchdowns within a span of only six minutes.

Hereford got on the scoreboard late in the opening period as it moved the ball 81 yards in three plays, the key play being a 64 yard pass-run play from Kitchens to Cornelius that put the ball on the Coronado 11.

From the 11, Kitchens rolled in untouched for the first score. The attempt for the point after was blocked and Hereford led 6-0.

In the second period, Hereford got the ball with 7:29 remaining in the half. Moving from its own 34, back Wesley High picked up four yards on two carries and facing a third and long situation, Kitchens went to the air again in search of Cornelius, who he found open for a 63-yard pass-run touchdown.

Kitchens then turned around and connected with Cornelius again on a two-point conversion pass that tipped the Hereford lead to 14-0.

Barry McNutt provided the play for the next touchdown as he intercepted a Coronado pass on the Mustang 36.

Kitchens went incomplete to Champ on the first down play

Concert Planned

A fall music concert, presented by the high school choir and the two junior high mix choir and featuring a special "pop" group, will be held Tuesday at the high school auditorium.

The concert will begin at 7:30 p.m. and is free to the public.

Invitations have been sent out to people throughout the community, but an invitation is not necessary according to director Fred Ratliff.

The special "pop" group, known as the "Show Chorus," is made up of a small number from the high school mixed choir and patterned after the famous Johnny Mann Singers. The group will present numbers of popular, rock and patriotic music.

The La Plata Mixed Choir, conducted by Jim Brink, will present "I'd Enter Your Garden," "Tis Finished," and "Early One Morning."

The Stanton Mixed Choir, conducted by Douglas Morris, will present "Sing to the Lord in Highest Heaven," "O Come Ye Servants of the Lord," and "Down By the Riverside."

The high school mixed choir will sing "Christ is Erstanded," "Beloved Lord, Hasten the Day," "Neighbors Chorus," "I Love My Love," "Elijah Rock," "Movin' On," and "Won't You Come Home, Bill Bailey."

The "Show Chorus" is made up of Fred Ratliff on the piano, Ricky Long on bass, Kevin Evans on drums and Lee Line on guitar.

The high school numbers will have Ratliff as conductor, accompanied by Jan Walser.

Rotary Official To Visit Monday

Rotary District Governor Farris C. Oden of Amarillo will visit the local Rotary Club Monday to discuss the growth of Rotary in District 573 during the past 10 years and the future for Rotary in the coming year.

In addition to discussing the four avenues of service that are offered in Rotary—that is Club Service, Vocational Service, Community Service and International Service—he will point out in International Service the unusual opportunities that Rotary has to extend international good-will and understanding throughout the world, calling to the club members' attention the good number of exchange students that have been sent to countries all over the world during the past twenty years, and the large number that have been received from those countries in this District during the same years.

Also, he will discuss the fact that this District has been approved for a Group Study Exchange and we will be sending five men to Finland from this District. These will be businessmen, and they will go to Finland the last part of May and be there for six weeks. A like number of businessmen will be sent from District 141 in Finland to our District during the

Road Project For County Approved

The Texas Highway Commission has approved development of 8.5 miles of farm to market road in Deaf Smith County as part of the 1972 Texas to Market Road Program.

District Engineer Charles W. Smith of the Texas Highway Department said the estimated cost of the work is $260,000.00. The project consists of the construction of grading, structures, base and surfacing from the present west end of F.M. 2587 west a distance of 8.5 miles to S.H. 214 (F.M. 290).

This project will be under the supervision of Donald D. Day, Senior Resident Engineer at Canyon.

The work authorized for this county is part of a $20.4 million program for the development of 438 miles of secondary roads in the State.

The new program includes 335.7 miles of new construction. Of that total, 321.7 miles are new roads being added to the FM system. Other mileage was designated earlier and is being constructed in incremental stages.

Of the new roads being added to the system, 248.4 miles, or 77 percent, are for school bus routes. And 210.1 miles, or 65 percent, are for rural mail delivery routes.

VFW Asks For Toys

Soliciting for tax-deductible donations of money for the first time, the Veterans of Foreign Wars "Toys For Tots" drive is now underway, and new and used toy donations are still being sought.

The annual drive, which furnishes Christmas presents for children of needy families, helps more than 50 such families each year. Old toys with minor damage and new toys are collected by VFW and auxiliary members and repaired for the children. VFW is now encouraging other community groups to help with making doll clothes and repairs.

Local businesses, including Gibson, Gebos and Duckwalls, have donated nenearly-new toys in the past several years of the drive, and VFW encourages other businesses to do so the same.

Anyone who has minorly damaged toys may take them to the VFW hall in Veteran's park and leave them on the porch of the building, according to VFW spokesmen.

Toys collected in the drive will be delivered the Saturday before Christmas, and the VFW organization will continue to collect toys until two days before Christmas.

Toys may also be delivered to Hereford Welding, Walker's Refrigeration, Kelley Electric or Lockwood, or may be called in to be picked up by VFW representatives.

Back To School Night Planned

Stanton Junior High will host its annual parents' "Back To School" Night Monday, beginning at 7:30 p.m.

Parents of students at the junior high are invited to attend "classes" their children would attend. The classes scheduled for 12 minutes each, will follow the child's schedule.

Refreshments will be served until 9 p.m.

The "classes" are expected to end about 8:30 p.m. and afterwards there will be time for parents to visit with the teachers.

Voting Hours, Voting Laws

Persons planning to vote in the Tuesday General Election must have their voter registration certificate with them when they vote, local officials remind.

The registration certificate, a small pink-and-black card, has printed on it the person's name, age, voting box number and the location of that voting box. This must be presented at the time voting is done.

The polling places (see related story) will be open from 8 a.m. to 7 p.m. Tuesday.

Persons wanting to vote in the election can do so at any time during the day Tuesday. Employers are required, by law, to let employees off to vote if they are unable to do it on their own time.

If a person has moved to another precinct since getting the voter certificate, and has not since applied for one in the new precinct, they must go back to their original precinct to cast a ballot.

Boxers Get Six Wins In 12 Bouts

Hereford and area fight fans were entertained with a full card of exciting and evenly-matched bouts when Hereford Boxing Club hosted a Golden Gloves program Friday night at the Bull Barn.

Hereford boxers, under the coaching of Harold Wheeler, were in 12 of the matches and came away with 6 victories. Teams from Amarillo, Dimmitt, Plainview, Lubbock and host Hereford were entered in 25 bouts.

Two exhibition bouts were also featured on the program. Two professionals from Clovis, N.M., staged one of the exhibitions, and two state Golden Glove champs of last year were matched in the other.

The latter exhibition was in the light heavyweight division, matching a Lubbock champ and a Clovis champ—both of whom advanced to the National Olympic finals last year. One of the real crowd pleasers was a match between Willie Wilson of Hereford and Charles Martinez of Lubbock. Wilson won the decision in the 145-pound division bout.

Other winners for Hereford: Ceaser Castro decided Jesse Lucero of Amarillo; Ernest Castro won a decision over Bob Snee of Meade, Kan.; Mike Castro won over Tim Warren of Amarillo; Frank Celeya won by TKO over Jimmy Williams of Lubbock; Rudy Elezondo won a decision over Adolfo Romero of Dimmitt.

Losing decisions were Rubin Rameriz to Mark Brugel of Dimmitt; Felipe Luna to Larry Bossett of Dimmitt; Richard Villegas to Henry Valverde of Amarillo; Elezar Guzman to Herbert Martinez of Lubbock, Bobby Wilson to Ronnie McDonald of Dimmitt; and Eddie DeLeon to Tony Padilla of Dimmitt.

Luna, the Hereford boxer who advanced to the Junior Olympic finals last year, was matched against a boxer 20 pounds over his weight division. The little Hereford boxer had a fine effort but lost the decision.

Hereford got a late start on the boxing season last year, but Coach Wheeler has the program going strong this season and this was the first tournament to then High collected a first down to the Coronado 20 on a draw play.

On the next play, Kitchens again went to the air, and again it was profitable as he found Champ wide open in the end zone for the 20-yard TD pass. Terry Poindexter converted and the score was 21-0 with 5:03 left in the first half.

The Herd kicked off to Coronado and got the ball back four plays later following a Mustang punt.

Moving from the Coronado 34, Kitchens hit High with a screen pass to the 20 then little Johnny Adams got the call and rambled to the 10-yard line for the first-and-goal situation.

Adams got three more, High got six more on two carries and the Whitefaces were faced with a fourth and goal situation from the 1-yard line.

Kitchens kept the ball and went in for his second TD of the night.

The attempt at the extra point failed, but Hereford held a commanding 27-0 lead at the half.

The Whitefaces picked up in the second half just as they had ended the second period—driving in for a touchdown.

Defensiveman Steve Nieman intercepted a Coronado pass and returned it 15 yards to the midfield marker as the fifth touchdown drive began.

Going from the 50-yard line, Danny Harris was stopped for no gain but Terry Champ got the next call and scampered 23 yards down to the Coronado 27.

Champ then latched on to a 17-yard pass from Kitchens, followed by a four-yard pickup by Kitchens on a run and a one-yard lunge by Adams.

With a first and goal at the one-half yard line, High was stopped for no gain but Danny Harris went over on the next play for the score. Again the point after conversion kick was no good and the score was 33-0 with just over five minutes to play in the third stanza.

Following a Coronado punt late in the third period, Hereford began another TD drive that went 55 yards in 10 plays with the final coming on a 1-yard plunge by High.

Poindexter added the point after kick and the score was 40-0.

Hereford's final score of the evening came with just 1:11 remaining in the contest. Adams put on one of his patented runs that covered 38 yards to pay dirt for the final 46-14 score.

The Whiteface defense, subbed freely in the second half and completely in the final stanza, limited the host team to only seven first downs in the game—three of those in the final period.

The defense held the Mustangs to a net yardage of 84 yards, the lowest of the season.

The effort on defense was led by Winston Short, Mauri Montgomery, Wallace Hill and Duane Davidson.

Winds Scare Local Farmers

Hard winds that came on the heels of the ice storm last week caused momentary concern

Dinner Slated

A pre-game dinner will be served at Snyder Friday night prior to the Whiteface-Tiger contest, and Hereford fans are invited to attend.

The dinner, sponsored by the Snyder Band Parents, will consist of turkey and dressing and homemade pies. Plates will be $1.50 each. Proceeds will go to the band's scholarship fund. The meal will be served at the high school cafeteria, located adjacent to the football stadium. Serving starts about 5:30 p.m.

among area farmers with milo crops still out, but the cause for alarm was unwarranted as the winds quickly passed.

Just after press time Wednesday, high winds began sweeping across the county and farmers began reporting scatterings of lodging in milo fields, according to county agent Justin McBride.

However, the winds died down quickly and failed in an effort to damage the crops even more than did the ice storm of early last week.

"We did receive some minor damage and some heavier damage to the areas north and northwest," McBride said. "But overall it is not as severe as it might have been had the wind continued to blow."

"We probably wouldn't have had any damage had the winds come an hour later."

Association Supports Proposed Amendment

A statewide campaign in support of Amendment 9 has been launched by the Association of Texas Soil and Water Conservation Districts, headquartered in Temple.

Amendment No. 9 on the November General Election ballot would exempt soil and water conservation districts from the constitutional ban on dual office-holding.

Directors of Texas 192 soil and water conservation districts receive no salary. They are persons with farm or ranch interests elected by landowners to manage district affairs. They do, however, receive state per diem payments when on district business.

The Association Hutcheson heads includes the 960 district directors governing the 192 soil and water conservation districts in Texas.

Directors of the Association include Charles W. Wood of Lubbock, Ben O. Sims of Paint Rock, Dee E. Brune of Sealy, and W.S. Gibbs of Huntsville.

They joined Hutcheson in urging Texas voters to pass Amendment 9. The Association also joined in support of Amendment No. 12, which would allow state employees, as well as soil and water conservation district officers, to serve on school boards and city councils without forfeiting their state salary.

This reimbursement for expenses brings the office of soil and water conservation district director under the constitutional prohibition against dual-office-holding, and dual compensation for state employees.

As Doyle Hutcheson of Weatherford, president of the Association of Texas Soil and Water Conservation Districts, points out:

"I agree that this is disenfranchisement of thousands of our best people," Hutcheson said. "It works against the best interests of all Texans to unfairly limit governmental and conservation leadership."

"Our directors, who are leaders in their communities, are ineligible to serve on school boards, city councils or any other unpaid elective position. This often denies a community — particularly smaller communities — the services of its best and most qualified people."

Passage of Amendment 9 would not violate the spirit of the common law principle that no person should hold two or more public offices which pose a conflict of interest, Hutcheson said.

Young Travelers Tell About Trip

Two sisters-in-law, Mrs. Joe Reinauer Jr. of Hereford and Mrs. Bob Reinauer of Jacksonville, Fla., were program guests of Bay View Study Club Thursday afternoon to present one of a series of reports on unusual travel abroad.

Mrs. Colby Conkwright introduced the young matrons who related experiences of a trip through Mediterranean countries and northward into France and Germany. The meeting was in the home of Mrs. J.R. Allison.

While Bob Reinauer, a U.S. Navy aviation officer, was on duty in European waters, his wife and the Joe Reinauers took the extensive trip, mostly by automobile.

They spent some time in Portugal, where Americans visit infrequently, as well as in Italy and Greece where they saw the sights of 1972 and those of past civilizations.

Mosaic tiled streets in Portuguese cities impressed the travelers, and their attention was called to ancient Phoenician influence in that country. They attended both Greek and Roman Catholic churches and visited the Vatican in Rome.

Sights of Paris and a boat trip down the Rhine River were memorable facets of their tour.

Mrs. Joe Reinauer Sr. was welcomed as a guest with the speakers, and Mrs. Austin Rose Jr. as a new member, as Mrs. R.W. Eades directed business.

Also present were Mmes. Robert Josseland, W.S. Kerr, Earnest Langley, Juston McBride, Ansel McDowell, R.B. Miller, Keith Simmer, Jack Wilcox, John Gilliland, W.J. Gilliland, D.N. Garner, Herman Ford, Si Darling, and H.L. Benefield.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Mystery Mishap

At 7:13 p.m., in the main dining room of a large hotel, a mirror suddenly fell from the wall and landed on the head of an unsuspecting diner.
 No one could figure out exactly why the mirror had fallen. Nevertheless, the diner, painfully injured, filed a lawsuit for damages against the hotel.
 "He has no case," the management argued in court. "He cannot point to any specific thing we did wrong."
 But the court upheld the man's claim.
 "Mirrors do not ordinarily fall off walls," reasoned the court, "unless someone is negligent."

The court was invoking a famous legal doctrine known as res ipsa loquitur—"the thing speaks for itself." This doctrine is widely used when there is no direct, eyewitness evidence of an act of negligence. Weighing the odds, the law decides that an act of negligence—even though unseen—probably did occur.

Using res ipsa loquitur, a court found negligence when a car, parked on a steep slope, started to roll downhill. Chances were good, said the court, that the driver had neglected to set his brakes and cramp his front wheel against the curb.

Also using res ipsa loquitur, another court found negligence when a housewife encountered a piece of glass in a newly opened can of spinach. Chances were good, said the court, that someone in the canning factory had been careless.

But the mere fact that an accident has happened does not necessarily justify the use of the doctrine. Consider this situation: A woman climbing down from a trolley lost her footing and fell to the pavement. Demanding damages later from the trolley company, she said the car had probably moved just as she was getting off.

But the court said there was an equal probability that she herself had simply failed to watch her step. With no odds in her favor, said the court, she could not use res ipsa loquitur to win her case.

Letter To The Editor

Dear Sir:
Texas needs an up-to-date constitution. Proposition No. 4 sets in motion constitutional revision.

The 1876 Texas Constitution contains provisions on fence laws, regulation of livestock, and protection of the frontier (the governor can still call out the militia to put down the rampaging Indians).

This Constitution was written by men who had suffered under the excesses and extravagances of a hated carpetbagger government. To curb their government, they adopted numerous restrictions and details. Restrictions such that strictly local affairs (an example is the Lamar County Hospital District in Proposition No. 2) must be voted on by the entire State.

Vote for Proposition No. 4. Texas needs an up-to-date Constitution.

Sincerely,
Mary E. Williamson
Rt. 4, Hereford, Texas

Holiday Bazaar Plans Begin

A holiday bake sale and gift bazaar to raise club funds was planned at the meeting of Dawn Home Demonstration Club Friday afternoon in Mrs. Gary Smith's home. A date in December will be set for the bazaar, to be held at Sugarland Mall.

A work day was scheduled Nov. 30 in Dawn Community Center to prepare for the bazaar.

Argen Draper, County HD Agent, gave the program on bread making. She demonstrated the method of making whole-wheat bread, and served samples of cool-rise yeast bread she had made previously.

Importance of kneading yeast bread thoroughly was stressed. Mrs. Draper said a good test for doneness in a loaf of bread is tapping the crust; a hollow sound indicates the loaf is done.

Mrs. Carl Parnell was a new member present. Others were Mmes. H.D. Fowler, Pat Smith, H.V. McCabe, Jim McCabe, Jerry Stewart and Gene Meacham.

MARRIED SOON—Mr. and Mrs. Antonio Ramirez of Rt. 3 announce the engagement of their daughter, Elva, to Sammie Ramirez. Parents of the prospective bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Cruz Ramirez of 732 Long Street. November 25 is the date set for the wedding, in St. Anthony's Catholic Church. (Bradly Photo)

Miller Will Present Organ Concert Here

Earl W. Miller, college organist and assistant professor of Music at Wayland Baptist College, Plainview, will be featured in an organ concert at First Baptist church Nov. 12 beginning at 7 p.m. Ed Line, chairman of the church board of deacons, invites anyone interested to attend.

Previously Miller has served as organist for the First Baptist Church, Plainview, First Baptist Church, Dallas, and Evans Avenue Baptist Church, Fort Worth. He has served as organist for various Texas Baptist General Conventions, Sunday School, and W.M.U. Conventions. He has been the official organist for Southern Baptist Conventions held in the cities of Chicago, St. Louis, and San Francisco.

A native of Alexandria, Louisiana, Miller holds the B.A. Degree from Louisiana College and the Bachelor of Sacred Music and the Master of Sacred Music from the Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary,

Fort Worth. In addition to this year's study at the North Germany Organ Music Academy in Lubeck, Germany, with Professor Kraft, under the auspices of the International Institute for Humanistic Studies with Dr. Klaus Kratzenstein, Director, Miller has had further study at S.M.U., and Matlock College of Education, Matlock, England, in 1967 in conjunction with a European Music Tour with "Study Abroad."

Other study has been in 1970, with Wilma Jensen, at the Arizona State University, and in 1971, at the University of Oklahoma with Miss Mildred Andrews. Besides Plainview, Miller has given organ recitals and organ dedication concerts in various cities. He has had a series of organ programs over Dallas radio and Wayland's FM Station. One summer Miller was organist on a summer mission tour to Japan.

"The Church Musician," national publication of the Southern Baptist Sunday School Board, has served on the faculty at Glorieta Music Conference for several years.

While at Wayland, Miller has not only taught organ, piano, music education and various other music courses, but he has organized student ensembles which have appeared frequently before civic and church groups. The Wayland Handbell Ringers directed by Miller have performed in several states and Monterrey, Mexico.

Soon after coming to Plainview, Miller began his service on the Plainview Community Concert Board of Directors, serving three years as President, and two years as vice-president.

Miller is also a member of the American Association of University Professors and Phi Mu Alpha Sinfonia Men's Music Fraternity. As a member of the National Guild of Piano Teachers, he has served as adjudicator for it and numerous times for church music festivals.

On Aug. 15, 1950, Ezzard Charles knocked out Freddy Beshore in the 14th round of their championship fight at Buffalo, N.Y.

PAINTERS OPEN SHOW TODAY—Work of three Hereford painters will be exhibiting this week, beginning with a reception this afternoon in the Music Stand Restaurant. From left, Mrs. Warren Owen and Mrs. John Orsborn place examples of their work on easels in the studio of Mrs. A. Petersen, whose paintings hang on the walls. Invitations have been sent to the artists' friends for the reception, and the display will be open to the public afterward.

Woman's Third Part Is Subject

"A woman consists of three parts: Body, soul and clothes," the guest speaker to Hereford Study Club told members Thursday evening when she talked of the third ingredient. Argen Draper, Deaf Smith County Home Demonstration Agent, was introduced by the program chairman, Mrs. Samson, to discuss the subject which is always important to women. She spoke of new styles, of basic rules for becoming dress conscious, of style, of wise use of money, and of standards for dress, and workmanship in clothing. Booklets on wardrobe planning were given to members who joined in a general discussion after Mrs. Draper spoke. The meeting was in the home of Mrs. Bob Word with Mrs. Maurice Tannahill as co-hostess. Mrs. Joe Durham of Lakeview and Mrs. Farris Weaver of Oklahoma City were introduced as guests. Plans were completed for a dinner and style show at the next meeting, Nov. 16, in the Mason House. Members present included

FHA Loans For Losses

Texas farmers and ranchers who have suffered crop, livestock, or property losses from a natural disaster since June 30, 1971, may be eligible for benefits from Public Law 92-385, J. Lynn Futch, State Director of Farmers Home Administration - Texas, announced today.

Provisions of this law, signed by President Nixon on August 16, 1972, are now fully operative, Futch said.

Benefits are divided into two time frames:

1. Farmers and ranchers who receive loans from Farmers Home Administration as the result of losses due to a natural disaster that occurred between June 30 and December 31, 1971, may be eligible for a cancellation of up to $5,000 of the principal of the loan. Interest on the remaining loan would be three per cent.

2. Those who received loans as the result of losses from natural disaster that occurred after December 31, 1971, are also eligible for a cancellation of up to $5,000. Interest on the outstanding balance would be charged at one per cent.

Futch emphasized that it is not necessary for those who are entitled to benefits to contact the local FHA office. These are blanket provisions applicable to all who have received loans, and each will be contacted and told of the action he should take.

Futch also advises that any farmer or rancher who receives an Emergency loan from Farmers Home Administration between now and June 30, 1973, may have up to the first $5,000 of the loan cancelled, with the balance at a one per cent interest rate. The amount of cancellation is limited to the loss or damage not compensated by insurance or otherwise.

WHY ... Do Stores Start Christmas Before Thanksgiving?

That's a question that's often asked and it deserves a sincere answer!

Your newspaper appreciates the spirit that prompts many of the objections to early Christmas shopping promotions. However, when the reasons for the urge to "Shop Early" are examined, the most critical agree it's MORE than a problem for stores alone.

So we're happy to take this opportunity to present some of the problems that confront all stores at holiday time.

Every successful store directs its best effort toward perfecting a helpful service to ALL its customers. And since many customers ask stores to make it easier for them to complete their gift shopping before the crowded-post-Thanksgiving period, Christmas merchandise and displays are brought forward early to accommodate them.

And scarcely a major store in the nation could cope with the store traffic that would be generated if any part of early Christmas shopping was postponed until after Thanksgiving. Even under present circumstances most stores are strained to capacity during the peak of the season, to maintain the kind of store service all shoppers have learned to expect.

When you recall the extremely crowded conditions of stores the final two or three weeks before Christmas the problems becomes evident.

If no early Christmas shopping were done this condition would be multiplied many fold. (Actually there would not be enough room behind store counters for enough sales people to serve shoppers during this period between Thanksgiving and Christmas.)

The same condition exists in regard to the children's visits to Santa Claus. Thousands of children and their parents look forward to their annual visit with him, and unless he makes an early appearance, many hundreds would be doomed to disappointment, simply because it's physically impossible to reach him in a shorter time.

Those in the store business know that an extremely large percentage of the Christmas gifts that are selected are items that are in plentiful supply the entire year.

If you were to ask the thousands of retail employees—(and as a group they represent one of the largest employee groups in Hereford) they would tell you that much of the stress and strain of their Christmas would be relieved if the shopping public would anticipate Christmas shopping throughout the year. (Then you'd seldom hear your friends in retailing remark, "I'm simply worn down to my knees by Christmas Eve.")

Granted that the problem is not a one-sided one it should be recognized that stores are faced with the problems of convenient service to customers, of maintaining helpful employee relations, of providing a place where those of the public who can not, or do not, plan ahead may select the traditional gifts for their loved ones and friends.

We are sure that if all of our storekeepers could chat with you, personally and informally, that you would be convinced of their sincerity, and that in the true spirit of Christmas they would not be criticized for their efforts to perform a helpful service to their shopping public.

Carson City Silver Dollar Sale Starts

The U.S. General Services Administration today launched the public sale of over two million valuable 19th century Carson City Silver Dollars.

Arthur F. Sampson, Head of GSA, said this initial sale will consist of coins minted in 1882, 1883, and 1884 at the Carson City, Nev., mint which closed in 1893. They will have a minimum bid price of $30 each. The public bid period will end next January 31.

"President Nixon wants every American to have an opportunity to own one of these historic silver dollars as a reminder of our National Heritage as we approach America's Bicentennial," Sampson said.

"Therefore, people should submit their bids before January 31. The higher the bid, of course, the better a person's chances of acquiring a coin. The next sale, incidentally, probably won't start until late next year."

The 90 per cent silver coins, largely uncirculated, feature the head of Miss Liberty on one side and an eagle and a wreath with berries on the other. Under the wreath are the letters, "CC" for Carson City. That mint was the only one in U.S. history authorized to use a double mint mark.

GSA was authorized to sell the coins under the Bank Holding Company Act amendments signed by President Nixon in December 1970.

Sampson emphasized that any U.S. citizen can bid by mail or one coin for each of the three mint years at or above the minimum price. However, coins will be mailed only to ULSL or APO-FPO addresses.

The cost will include a handsome display case, a card explaining the coin's history and delivery by registered mail. Payment in advance will be required.

"The proceeds from the sale will go into the U.S. Treasury for the benefit of all citizens," Sampson said.

Order forms are now available at banks, savings and loans associations, credit unions, post offices, and Federal Information Centers across the country. Persons on the U.S. mint mailing list will automatically receive order forms.

Those not on the U.S. mint list can obtain an order form through the mail by sending a post card request to: Carson City Silver Dollars, General Services Administration, Washington, D.C. 20405.

"This is one of the most unusual sales ever conducted by the Federal Government and probably the most complex Consumer Marketing Program it has ever undertaken," Sampson said.

He explained that bids will be put in a GSA computer in San Francisco to ensure a fair sale and to list bidders in descending order so that top bidder will be assured of a coin. Only one coin from each of the three years may be bid upon.

"We want the coins to go to as many citizens as possible, and not fall into hands of large dealers, speculators or syndicates that might resell them at inflated prices," Sampson said.

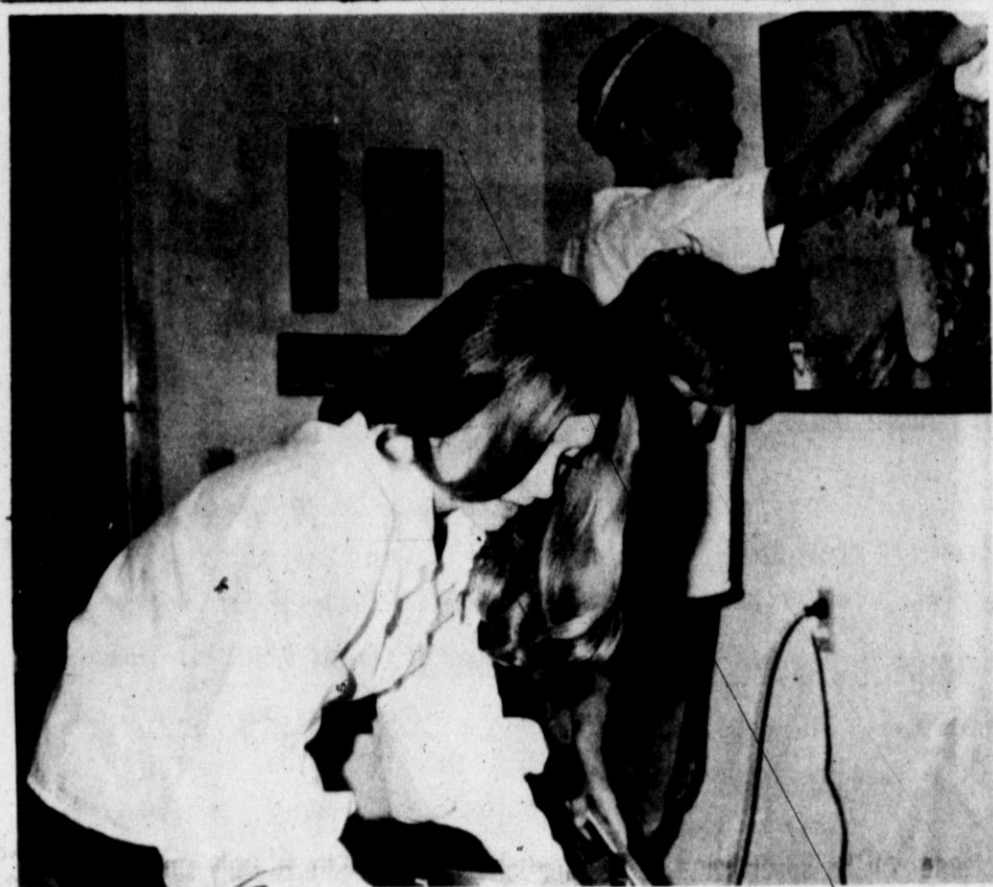

"The Joint Commission on the coinage kept this in mind when it developed this plan. We believe the sale will enhance the value of coins already on the market and stimulate sales in the numismatic community by attracting new collectors."

After the winning bidders have been determined, each bidder will receive a summary explaining which coin or coins he won, the price and refund due, if any. Bidders will get their coins and/or refund checks between April and June 1, 1973.

If there are more orders than coins, the silver dollars will be sold first to the highest bidders, then to succeeding lower bidders until the $30 base is reached. Remaining orders will be filled on a random basis, by computer, until the supply is exhausted.

CLEANING TIME—Hereford High School Key Clubbers and their club sweetheart, Susie Hickman, cleaned inside and out at Kings Manor home as a part of their community service projects for the year.

Economic Questions and Stabilization Answers

Q. Is it all right for a landlord to evict a tenant in retaliation for protesting an increase, as long as he waits two or three months after the tenant files his complaint before evicting him?

A. No. Economic Stabilization regulations prohibit retaliatory evictions under any circumstances. It is illegal for a landlord to evict a tenant for complaining of a rent increase, whether the eviction occurs days or months after a tenant's complaint.

Q. The school district I live in has been required by the State to increase the salaries of members of the school board. The board has only 10 employees. May this increase be granted without regard to the 5.5 per cent standard?

A. No. Under new Economic Stabilization regulations, the State must promptly file the Pay Board and obtain approval of pay adjustments which it requires local government units to implement.

A. Do you have a booklet that explains how a business computes allowable pay increases?

A. Yes. IRS Publication S-3038, "Rules for Computing Pay Adjustments," explains the limitations on wage and salary increases and the exclusions from adjustment computations and provides examples and filled-in forms. A copy may be obtained free by writing your Internal Revenue district office.

Q. The water rates in my county were recently increased. Can my landlord pass on this increase to me in the form of higher rent?

A. Yes. An increase in state and local fees, levies and other charges for municipal services, except for gas and electricity, is an allowable cost under Price Commission regulations.

Small Talk

BY SUE COLEMAN
Woman's Editor

NOW THAT THE weather on Halloween put an end to trick-or-treating, guess we will have to wait another year to try out plans for curbing that pastime and keeping the children from some dangers they have encountered in recent years.

The move, which seems to be a general one, not just in Hereford, was aimed to keep children in their own neighborhood and to end the trick-treat visits early in the evening.

It seems a shame to take drastic action against what was in the past a happy time for the kids, but abuses by young hoodlums — and greedy parents in some instances — reached the point where something certainly needed to be done.

And I'm far from approving the action some harassed householders have used the last few years, in giving the little ghosts and goblins dangerous medicine or razor blades in their candy. That's carrying it too far even if the doorbell keeps ringing when you're trying to get into bed.

But I must admit that Tuesday evening was may most enjoyable Halloween in five or six years.

she is here to stay.

That's something that happens every once in awhile — somebody comes for a visit or two, then decides to move up. We should feel flattered that our town makes such a good impression and of course that keeps us on our toes to try to impress the next visitor.

THAT DEFENSIVE driving course offered Monday and Tuesday at Community Center sounds like the sort of thing that could be a help to most of us. Even though it's sponsored by the Association for Retired Persons it is not beamed entirely at the old folks.

Sessions are scheduled from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. and 12:30 to 2:30 p.m. both days. If you can get to the daytime meetings, it just might be well worth your time.

A TOUR OF 10 Texas cities will be made Nov. 12-15 by the McMurry College Chanters, which has Karen Scott of Hereford as a member. An announcement from the Abilene college says the Chanters, 27 singers directed by Dr. Richard von Ende, will sing religious and popular music in churches and schools on this tour.

Woman In Man's Job Takes Ribbing In Fun

BY LORI HOPSON
Brand Staff Writer

IT'S NO LONGER a man's world, and Virginia Wallace, veteran employee of Southwestern Bell Telephone, can testify to the truth of the statement. Mrs. Wallace is employed as a frameman, traditionally a job held by men. She is the first woman in Hereford to serve in this capacity.

When asked if she gets any ribbing about her job, Mrs. Wallace says,

"About the only thing — wearing these tools — they say I'd look like Bonnie Parker if I had a cigar."

SHE ADDS THAT the kidding is all in fun, and continues to say that "The men have all been very helpful to me."

Mrs. Wallace began her service with the telephone company as an operator, where she served for seven years. She then worked as clerk to the wire chief for 14 years before becoming 'frameman'.

Her duties consist of soldering the exact small cable to the appropriate places on the distribution frame, a maze of thousands of intricate wire connections.

"My duty is to wire any new connections in and work all service orders before the men wire them into the customers' homes," she says.

HER ONLY TRAINING for the job consisted of on-the-job training, and she describes her first day on the new job as "a nightmare."

"I never had done any wiring, or handled a soldering iron, and I found out soon that they're definitely hot."

Mrs. Wallace must wire in the numerous cables every time there is a new service order, a change of address, or a discontinuation of service.

She was a manual operator until 1957, when the dial office was changed over to automatic service.

SHE SAYS THAT WHEN the frameman's job became open, she simply asked for it, and had no trouble getting the job. She became frameman in the company's central office in April.

Mrs. Wallace was born in Tupelo, Okla. and went to school in Spearman. She married Wayne Wallace in 1935, and two years later the couple had a son, Duwayne, who is now a pharmacist in Dallas. She says one of her hobbies is taking care of her garden.

"My biggest hobby, and the one I like best, is my two grandsons," she says.

SHE ATTENDS THE Presbyterian church, and has lived in Hereford for 38 years. When asked if she's met with any big problems with her job because of being a woman, she answers,

"No ma'am." "I really enjoy my job," she says. "I really do. It's fascinating and it's a challenge, very much so. Of course I'm working for the best company in the world," she adds.

MEXICO TOUR SCENE—Mrs. A.L. Manjeot of Hereford stands at left in this group of Texas garden club members who went on a tour of Mexico after their state convention in Brownsville, last week. Others at Horsetail Falls near Saltillo, S.A., are Mrs. J.F. Malone, District 1 Garden Clubs director, and Mrs. Joe Curtis, district treasurer, both of Pampa, and Mrs. Bill Fowler of Marble Falls. Mrs. O.G. Hill Sr., the other Hereford delegate, made the trip to the falls on horseback while this group hiked.

Mrs. Jobe Honoree At Shower

Mrs. Jimmy Jobe, who was Nancy Young before her marriage in First Christian Church Oct. 13, was honoree at a recent shower in the home of Mrs. Lynn Kester.

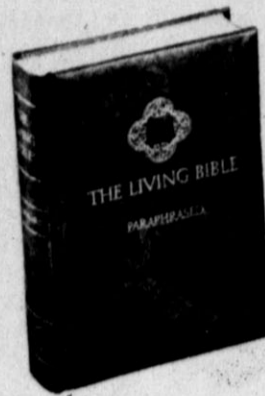

The bride was in a receiving line with her mother, Mrs. Bob Brooks; her husband's mother, BRIDE-ELECT—Miss Gayla Sue Winburn and Lee Kimball Jr. are to be married Friday in First United Methodist Church here, her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J.D. Winburn of Sayre, Okla., have announced. A teacher in the Hereford school system, Miss Winburn is a graduate of Southwestern State College, Weatherford, Okla. Her fiance farms in this area. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer L. Kimball, 521 Star, has attended Texas Tech and completed four years of service in the United State Marine Corps.

Bride-Elect Is Feted At Brunch

In Hereford this weekend to visit her fiance's family, Cherie Wilson of Dallas was complimented with a brunch and shower Saturday morning in Hereford Country Club. She is to be married Dec. 16 to Mike Harvey, also of Dallas, son of the Paul Harveys, whose friends entertained the pretty bride-elect. Also here for the meeting of families were Miss Wilson's mother, Mrs. Leonard Townsend, and grandmother, Mrs. H.S. Gray, of Austin, and a sister, Mrs. W.H. Roberts III of Dallas. They stood with Mrs. Harvey and the honoree to receive guests, as did Mrs. David Jefferys, a college sorority sister of the bride-to-be who will be a bridesmaid in the wedding. Corsages of red and white carnations were worn by those in the line, and more of the same flowers were arranged for table decor. In the hostess party were Mmes. Jimmy Mercer, J.B. Sowell, Charles Laing, Bill Kendall, Palmer Norton, Harold Beauchamp, Leslie Combs, James Brownlow, Jack Gilliland, Oliver Streu, Wilbur Gibson, Joel Hodges. Also Mmes. Leroy Williamson, C.E. Leasure Jr., Pat Robinson, Stan Knox, Neal Young, Don Shipley, Clint Formby, Jim Shaw, Edna Mathes, Ray Frye, Bill Cargo, Ed Line, O.A. Smith, Mary Carter, Bill Willis and Floyd Coker.

Comings and Goings at King's Manor

Halloween entertainment for King's Manor residents was planned by Mrs. Don Davidson, Charles and Judy Morehead. They introduced pumpkins straight from the field and gave each a butcher knife. We worked avidly and placed our lighted jack-o-lanterns in a row and turned out the lights. Louise Vaughn's won the award for the prettiest and the Virgil Dodson's award for the ugliest. Mrs. O. Wertenberger served colorful refreshments.

Saturday afternoon residents of Westgate Nursing Home enjoyed a tea party given in the dining room by members of the Auxiliary. The Halloween motif was carried out in decorations which included black cats, pumpkins and other Halloween figures. Cookies and punch were served. Hostesses were Laura Gibson and Mesdames Flake Barber, Jack Renfro, Charles Morehead, Irene Dunn and Helen Patterson. They were assisted by Melanie and Melinda Morehead, small daughters of Administrator Morehead, who in their festive party dresses helped serve.

Mrs. H.T. Fields visited her son, Wallace Fields, his family and friends in Shamrock last week.

Harry Hamilton of Lubbock visited his grandmother, Maggie Hamilton Friday afternoon.

October 29 noon meal guest of Mrs. Myna Mae Love was Eddie Glenn Gandy of Amarillo.

Honorable mention is due to two King's Manor residents, Miss Beulah Duensing and Mrs. Lottie Hutchins. These ladies serve in the matter of hoisting and bringing in our flag daily. They are quite dependable.

Mrs. Beulah Wright had as guests this week her brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. S.S. Padgett of Truth or Consequences, N.M.

Some days ago several second graders (Bluebirds they are called as beginning Camp Fire Girls) came to King's Manor and put on a program at which time they chose Mrs. Lena Pryor as their adopted grandmother. Then again Oct. 27 they came with a little Halloween party program. Then they drove Mrs. Pryor to another Halloween party at the home of Mrs. Donnel Krueger, leader of the group of Bluebirds where they presented action songs and a ballet dance by one of the girls.

The Joe Williams have returned from a vacation trip to the Missouri-Arkansas Ozarks to get pictures of the fall foliage and to do some rock hounding.

The rock hounding was pretty successful but the cloudy skies saw to it that there were few pictures.

People who visited Mr. and Mrs. C.W. Hicks October 29 were Mary Beth Thomas, Soap Lake, Wash. Rosella Craghead and Don and Bill and Judy Hawkins from Amarillo.

Mrs. R.G. Crane from Jamesbury, N.J. has been visiting her sister Mrs. Toles.

Jack Woolery from Amarillo visited his mother and other friends in Westgate October 29.

Mrs. Marvel Kirby from Canyon visited Mrs. Jane Hughes last week.

Eddie Gandy from Amarillo visited his uncle, H.H. Gandy, Oct. 29.

Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Payne of Clarendon, Mrs. Grace Counterman, Mr. and Mrs. S.B. Harvey and Ronnie of Happy visited Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Payne.

Dr. Ruth Lowes from Canyon visited friends in Westgate

October 29.

Women of the Wesley United Methodist Church honored residents of Westgate who have birthdays in November with a lovely party Wednesday afternoon. Punch and cake was served. The birthday table was covered with a cloth with Thanksgiving motifs. The beautiful birthday cake centered the table. Happy Birthday was sung to the honorees. Margaret Hare and Clara Strawbridge sang several duets, then led the group in singing. Those having birthdays in November are Mrs. Bertha Stokes, Billie Brown, Mrs. Fannie Clingingsmith, Mrs. Hautie Curry, Mrs. Irene Flynt, Mrs. Ray Coneway, A.W. Tooley.

Mr. and Mrs. May and two sons from Farmington, N.M. were visitors with Mrs. Hale this week.

Visiting with Mrs. Elizabeth Greer Oct. 30 were Mr. and Mrs. J.D. Hawthorn of Loving, N.M.

Dr. Randolph Lee Clark

Hereford Native Subject Of Journal

(Editor's Note: Randolph Lee Clark, M.D., at the University of Texas M.D. Anderson Hospital and Tumor Institute, Houston, was born in Hereford in 1906. The following article appeared in the Oct. 30 issue of Modern Medicine, a leading national medical journal.)

Turning dreams and ideas into reality is not a profession for most people, but for Dr. R. Lee Clark it is nothing less than a way of life.

As one of the three physicians who have been appointed to the President's Cancer Panel, Dr. Clark feels he is in an excellent position to work for the accomplishment of his greatest ambition — the conquest of cancer.

The appointment fits Dr. Clark, a man who has spent his nearly 40 years of professional life fighting cancer as a surgeon, researcher and teacher and as the first and only president of the University of Texas M.D. Anderson Hospital and Tumor Institute in Houston.

Dr. Clark believes the National Cancer Act of 1971 affords the nation the "exciting and challenging opportunity to mobilize all national cancer resources into a concentrated, clearly focused effort aimed at bringing the second largest killer disease in the country under control."

He concedes that some people do not approve of making the conquest of one particular disease a national priority. "However, most of our critics are not directly involved in cancer research and work. They just do not understand and appreciate the tremendous strides we have taken and the vast amount of new information we have gathered in the past few years."

"We know the direct roads to follow to get answers and I am sure we will find many answers."

The charge that the cancer program will be strangled by bureaucratic red tape "just isn't true," Clark argues. "The truth is that because of our unique position we can bypass much of the bureaucracy of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, especially when it comes to budget matters."

"We can present our budget directly to the President and the Congress and defend it, while the budgets of each of the other nine institutes of the National Institutes of Health must be approved by six or seven tiers of bureaucracy, any one of which can delay or reduce the budget request."

Dr. Clark says the most important reason for optimism about the program is "the attitude of the American people, who, through their President and Congress, have made it clear they wish to mobilize the nation's resources to fight cancer."

Many of the answers being sought about cancer, Dr. Clark predicts, will come from research in the areas of genetics and virology. "It is in the chromosomes," he says, "where we expect to find the first hints of an abnormality. And as to whether or not viruses are involved in human cancer, we have shown that viruses cause some types of cancers found in all other mammals, so why not also in humans?"

"Many of the answers have often come from study of lysogeny in bacteria, the symbiosis of a bacterium with a phage, or bacterial virus. We already know that the DNA or RNA of a virus can combine with the DNA or RNA of the host genetic mechanism. The two can remain combined for generations until some specific event or process triggers the virus to express itself in the form of a transformed or abnormal cell."

Born in Hereford, Texas, in 1906, Randolph Lee Clark spent much of his boyhood doing such "hard outdoor work" as milking cows, ranching, and maintaining the family garden. However, his parents were teachers and school administrators and he grew up in an atmosphere wherein the importance of education and learning was stressed daily.

While living in Wichita Falls, where his father founded Midwestern University, the young Lee Clark performed his first operation. He and a friend caught a skunk and planned to start a skunk farm. It was Dr. Clark's job to "fix the skunk" so it couldn't spray. "The skunk lived but the procedure failed and so did the business," he recalls.

Although assured by his father that he would become a teacher, Dr. Clark was basically undecided as to a career when he entered the University of South Carolina at Columbia in 1925 for his last two years of college.

He decided to major in chemical engineering "as a means to earn a living," but he soon discovered that in order for him to enjoy work, it "had to involve people, animate objects, not just cold formulas." Pursuing an early interest in physiology and kinesiology, he began to take some premedical courses and even though he decided in his junior year to enter medical school, he went on to earn a degree in chemical engineering.

Also during his junior year, he applied his knowledge of kinesiology to the "science" of wrestling and so won the national amateur middleweight wrestling title.

After graduation, Dr. Clark entered the Medical College of Virginia in Richmond, where he chose to specialize in internal medicine because he liked its logical approach to problem solving. He enjoyed the process of assembling data, searching for clues, analyzing the alternatives, drawing conclusions, and making the final diagnosis.

After assisting on the surgical service for a short time during his senior year, however, he decided he liked the surgeon's "action-filled, direct, mechanical and physiologic approach" to problems better than the internist's "Sherlock Holmes approach."

Scholastically, he achieved a record that assisted in starting the Alpha Omega Alpha scholarship chapter at Virginia. One week after graduating from medical school, Dr. Clark married the only girl in his 96 member class, Dr. Bertha M. Davis. They took their state board examinations in Raleigh, North Carolina, while on their honeymoon.

After spending a "fascinating" three months delivering health care to the "mountain folk" of North Carolina, Dr. Clark interned at Garfield Memorial Hospital in Washington, D.C., and then undertook studies at the University of Paris Graduate School of Medicine. He served as chief resident surgeon at the American Hospital in Paris from 1933 to 1935.

As part of his training in Paris, he spent six weeks at the Hôpital St. Louis, a large skin disease clinic. It was here his interest in cancer began.

Dr. Clark terms his experience in the Paris hospitals "my post-graduate course" in the history of medicine. "At the time," he recalls, "many of the people in Paris and their physicians held on to old medical practices such as leeching and cupping (the application of a heated glass cup to the skin for the purpose of drawing blood). I did apply a few leeches and cups to placate patients who insisted on these methods 'to be treated right,' but at the same time I used modern treatments and explained to the patient and his doctor why the old methods were worthless."

In 1935 he accepted a three year surgical fellowship at the Mayo Foundation for Medical Education and Research in Rochester and in 1938 he was awarded a master's degree in surgery by the University of Minnesota Graduate School of Medicine. He specialized in general and cancer surgery.

Then in 1946, after two years of private practice with his wife at the Shands Clinic in Jackson, Mississippi — "Bert (his wife) did the anesthetics and I did the surgery" — and four years in the Air Force, as director of surgical research and consultant in general surgery to the Air Surgeon General, Dr. Clark accepted an offer to become director and surgeon in chief of the new M.D. Anderson Hospital for Cancer Research in Houston.

He immediately began recruiting research men and clinicians and seeking funds for the construction of a new cancer hospital. "Recruitment was no easy task in those days because the physical plant of the M.D. Anderson Hospital, an old private estate, was "rather limited" and by itself would not have attracted a first-rate staff.

Thus, Dr. Clark had to employ what many feel is his greatest personal asset — his ability to sell an idea and to excite others about future prospects.

His idea for the new hospital was to integrate under one roof facilities for patient care, clinical research, basic research, and educational areas for both physicians and basic scientists in order to "negate the time lag between basic and applied science."

His dream turned to reality with the opening in 1954 of the new permanent home of The University of Texas M.D. Anderson Hospital and Tumor Institute. For many years Dr. Clark did all of the head and neck cancer operations at the hospital as well as general cancer surgery. He specialized in the treatment of thyroid cancer and was one of the first physicians to advocate total thyroid cancer.

Under Dr. Clark's direction, the hospital became one of the first cancer institutions in the country to combine the three basic treatments for cancer — surgery, chemotherapy and irradiation — and to apply the "team approach" to patient care.

The hospital's early employment of a computerized recordkeeping system, an innovation long advocated by Dr. Clark, has enabled the hospital staff to follow approximately 95 per cent of the more than 92,000 patients treated to date.

Slightly more than 38 per cent of all cancer patients accepted for therapy have survived five years or more.

As an administrator, Dr. Clark believes his basic responsibility is to "provide the facilities and the milieu in which ideas can be fully developed, expressed and, when warranted, applied in the clinic." By thinking creatively, he hopes to provide his physicians with "more advantages and opportunities in cancer research than anyone else in the world."

Dr. Clark keeps himself up to date with the fast-changing field of cancer research by editing several medical publications, including The Year Book of Cancer. He has held appointments in nearly 50 professional organizations and serves in 19 such groups. His 12 awards include the Legion of Merit in 1947, the Albert Lasker Medical Research Award in 1964, and the Distinguished Service Award of the American College of Surgeons in 1969.

When he can, Dr. Clark spends time at the "L.C.," his ranch near Houston where he maintains a herd of 500 Brangus cattle (the Brangus, he explains, is a cross between the Angus breed and the Brahmar breed.)

He also enjoys swimming, horseback riding, scuba diving with his son and daughter, and big game hunting in the Rocky Mountains.

Dr. Murray M. Copeland, vice president of the University Cancer Foundation of The University of Texas M.D. Anderson Hospital and Tumor Institute, has known Dr. Clark since 1946.

"I have never known him to meet an obstruction he couldn't overcome," says Dr. Copeland. "His ability to develop and implement new ideas, his charisma, and his go-go attitude have been among the major forces behind the success and growth of M.D. Anderson Hospital."

Q — I served during the Spanish-American War and wonder if I qualify for a VA pension?

A — You are eligible for pension if you received an other than dishonorable discharge after at least 90 days of active duty, or left service sooner because of a service-connected disability.

Q — Can I take some college courses while receiving on-the-job training under the GI Bill?

A — No. The VA pays full-time benefits for on-the-job training, which would make you ineligible for additional benefits if you took college courses at the same time.

Q — I applied to VA for dental treatment, but I live 150 miles from the nearest VA clinic. Do I have to go there for treatment?

A — Not necessarily. Write VA for examination papers and an authorization to have your dentist complete an examination and return the report to VA. After VA reviews the examination papers, you may receive additional authority for treatment. You should not make any appointments or have any treatment until you receive this authority from VA.

SOMETHING TO BE thankful for constantly: Soil conservation practices that are followed. And something to hope never returns: Dust Bowl days. Lorene Newman, county librarian, and I were discussing some soil conservation books that I was checking out to prepare a program. Among the books is Dust Bowl, by Patricia Lauber.

Lorene and I recalled November 11, 1933, which was the day of the Black Blizzard in five state: Kansas, Oklahoma, Texas, New Mexico and Colorado. Its effects were felt all over the United States and Canada and left financial scars on families that were never erased.

I also remember the deathly calm the next morning and how people started trying to correct some of the damage. This is a subject that will cause varied comments in any crowd.

IF YOU NEED some suggestions on pruning trees after the ice storm of last week, call 364-3573 for Modern Pruning Methods and Judy Summers will mail it pronto.

EACH YEAR HOME accidents disable more than four million Americans. To help curb this number, here are guidelines for the bathroom, a number-one accident trap.

To prevent slips and falls in the tub and shower, use suction-type tub mats or nonskid adhesive strips. Install safety grab bars on walls next to the tub, and make sure that shower-curtain rods, towel bars and soap dishes are firmly anchored. Also promptly wipe up water spilled on the floor.

Childproof medicine cabinets with a safety lock and insist that children ask permission before taking anything from it. Empty the contents of partly filled medicine bottles in the toilet before throwing them out.

Since little children can drown in small amounts of water, never leave an infant or toddler alone in the tub. Always test hot bath water with your wrist and teach children to do the same.

Tell youngsters who want to run bath water themselves that they should first turn on the cold tap then adjust the hot water to get the right water temperature. And if you have young children, make sure the bathroom lock can be easily opened from the outside.

Remember water and electricity don't mix, so never touch an electrical fixture or an appliance with wet hands or while you're standing on a damp floor. Don't use electrical appliances such as hair dryers, heater and radios in the bathroom.

If the light over the medicine cabinet has a metal chain for switching on and off, replace it with a cord made of non-conducting material. An even better way to eliminate this shock hazard is to have the chain replaced by a wall switch located away from faucets, radiators and pipes.

Another precaution is ordering safety glass or plastic for glazed shower or tub enclosures, and to use only unbreakable plastic or paper cups. When you scrub the bathroom, use only one kind of cleaner at a time. Mixed together, some cleaners and disinfectants produce harmful gases.

Let me point out that safety guidelines block accidents in the home only if they are used.

PLASTIC HANGERS can be a hazard to closets — under conditions. Clothes cleaned in a coin-operated dry cleaning establishment may smell and cleaning fluid and actually have an excess of fluid still in the fabric.

Sometimes enough solvent is left in heavy or dense fabrics to soften the plastic hangers — even though the fabric doesn't feel damp. Then the hanger sticks to the fabric so that it's difficult to remove without damaging the garment.

To prevent this air the clothes thoroughly before use or storage. It's a good idea to hang them outdoors or in a well-ventilated room on metal or covered hangers other than plastic.

Sticking also can occur if garments are hung on plastic hangers and then exposed to fumes from moth preventatives such as paradichlorobenzene.

Agriculture Is More Than "Texas Brag"

Texas have always been proud of their state, and the Texas "brag" is widely known. However, when it comes to agriculture, that "brag" is very real because agriculture is "big" in Texas.

"It's appropriate to take a look at the state's agricultural industry as we enter the month of November, the month designated as "Texas Food and Fiber Abundance Month," says Charles Baker, marketing specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University.

"For instance, consider that agriculture is a $10 billion industry in Texas, second only to the oil and gas industry," points out Baker. "In addition, the agricultural industry provides employment for 35 to 40 percent of the Texas labor force."

Of the state's approximate land area of 168 million acres, some 143 million acres are in farmland—more than any other state. Texas also boasts more and bigger farms than any other state in the nation.

And talk about diversity! Texas produces more than 200 different types of crops and livestock. "So, in many ways, the state is self-sustaining," notes Baker. "In addition, it provides food and fiber for consumers throughout this country as well as abroad. Texas is the third leading agricultural state in the nation and ranks fourth among the leading agricultural exporting states."

In the United States, Texas leads in the production of all cattle, beef cattle, rice, sheep and wool, goats and mohair, cotton and grain sorghum. It is also a leading producer of peanuts, pecans, hay, citrus and vegetables. Not to be overlooked are the dairy, poultry and egg, swine, corn, soybean, honey, wheat, timber, horse and mariculture (catfish and shrimp farming) industries.

"It's a good bet that consumers in Texas come in contact with a food or fiber product produced in the state every day," says Baker. "We're indeed fortunate to have such a wide array of high quality food and fiber products at our fingertips at reasonable prices."

"During the upcoming Thanksgiving season, it's appropriate for all of us to reflect on our good fortune of living in a state such as Texas that is overflowing with food and fiber abundance. It is indeed a time for everyone to count his blessings."

And a little Texas "bragging" might just fit in, too!

Wastes Can Be Used, Says A&M Report

How can animal wastes from feedlots be handled so that both agricultural producers and the environment benefit?

The major and rather obvious finding points toward cropland improvement.

Dr. John M. Sweeten, agricultural engineer and animal waste management specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, explains that wastes are an excellent source of the elements required for plant growth. Nitrogen, phosphorous and potassium, along with such micronutrients as iron and zinc are present in feedlot wastes.

"Besides furnishing nutrients, wastes offer other benefits," notes Sweeten. "For example, when applied to alkaline soils, they act as a buffering agent. In addition, such soil physical characteristics as porosity, granulation, water infiltration rate and moisture retention rate are improved by adding manure."

From the farmer's standpoint, manure's value as a fertilizer depends on its composition, price of commercial fertilizers and soil characteristics, points out the Texas A&M University specialist. At 40 per cent moisture, feedlot manure has average nitrogen-phosphorous-potassium concentration (in oxide form) of 1.5, 0.9, and 1.4 per cent, respectively, although wide variations from these values are common. With nitrogen and potassium each valued at five cents per pound and phosphorous at 10 cents per pound, the average 40 per cent moisture feedlot manure would be worth about $4.50 per ton.

Average dry weight analysis is about 1 and two-thirds that of manure at 40 per cent moisture. "certain areas do not receive manure's full benefit as a fertilizer," explains Sweeten. "Many soils in the High Plains, for example, benefit little from the phosphorous and potassium in manure. Thus, the nitrogen value may be only a fraction of the full potential."

Sweeten further says that only about half of manure's nitrogen is available during the first cropping season. Thus the first year's fertilization value may be reduced to a level which would not offset handling rates. "However, the remaining residual effects and benefits as a soil conditioner can easily outweigh manure's fertilization value, thus making it attractive for many cropping systems."

"The true value of manure can be measured as the value of increased yields resulting from its use minus application expenses," says the specialist. For instance, in studies in the Texas Panhandle, per acre net returns from corn silage receiving 10 tons of manure were boosted nearly $100 ($10 per ton) the first year compared with fields receiving only nitrogen fertilizer. By the third year, profits from 10 and 20-ton applications per acre (without additional fertilizer) were still $8 and $4.75 per ton, respectively, when compared with unfertilized fields. Sweeten also cites other High Plains research in which feedlot manure was applied annually to fields at 10, 30 and 60 tons per acre. After the third year grain, sorghum yields still returned a net increase of $6.20, $2 and 90 cents per ton, respectively, the highest returns clearly offsetting handling costs.

Application rates depend on the area's annual rainfall, irrigation practices, soil types and the crop to be grown. Sweeten suggests that farmers apply an annual rate not to exceed 10 to 15 tons per acre, although somewhat larger amounts can be used successfully at intervals of two years or more.

Salt accumulation may be the factor which limits application rates, notes the specialist. Such accumulations can be controlled by regulating the rates and frequencies of manure and irrigation application. Time of manure application is also important. The greatest crop harm can occur when manure is applied days rather than months before preirrigation and planting.

Manure should be plowed under as soon as possible after application to retain nitrogen and eliminate the possibility of surface water pollution, adds Sweeten. Research is progressing on the long-range effects and benefits of manure on cropland. "What has been an unwanted by-product of the beef industry has proved to be an asset for crop production," believes the specialist.

Holly Reports Sales Down Slightly

Holly Sugar Corporation today reported sales of $52,337,000 for six months ended Sept. 30 compared with $55,057,000 for the same period last year.

In an interim report to stockholders, President John B. Bunker said that "sugar prices have remained firm during the period. Following the corporation's current marketing program, sugar inventories are being maintained at levels higher than last year."

Holly doesn't report interim earnings until the end of its third quarter, December 31, because of the material and unpredictable effects of seasonal and climatic conditions upon sugarbeet processing now in progress. These variables are reflected in current operations because Holly uses the last-in, first-out (LIFO) method of sugar inventory valuation, Bunker explained.

"It is not until the end of December that major cost factors, upon which an unaudited nine months' earnings report can be prepared, become reasonably determinable," he said.

Bunker told stockholders that the sugarbeet crop now being harvested in the Rocky Mountain and Texas areas is showing a good ton-per-acre yield and an average sugar content.

fall harvest is about 60 percent completed and the crop is above average in tonnage per acre and sugar content.

Bunker also reported that agreement has been reached on sugarbeet purchase contracts for the 1973 crop with grower associations in Holly's California, Texas and Colorado growing areas.

He also told stockholders that Holly was requested to consider the operation of a new 5,000-ton-a-day capacity sugarbeet which the Minn-Dak Farmers Cooperative of Wahpeton, N.D. plans to build near that community to process beets grown by its members in the Red River Valley.

He said that Holly has indicated its willingness to enter into negotiations for a mutually agreeable arrangement following the U.S. Department of Agriculture's granting of an acreage allocation to support this new facility.

"In these regions, weather conditions during harvest have been more favorable to date than those encountered the past few years," Bunker explained. He said that in the company's Northern California area, the shade of deep pink and the placement of florets bloom out at the same time, which makes them fine material for arranging. They also make pretty corsages, a "gladmels" made of them is excitingly beautiful.

This year's lunch will begin at 11 a.m. Tuesday, Election Day in Deaf Smith County Bull Barn. The public is invited. Projects supported by the club in past years include a scholarship fund, aid to an ill resident of Girlstown, and most recently, the Public Health Clinic.

Camelot is a two-tone glad, soft pink and rich yellow. The texture is very pleasing, color combination pretty and blends with many other colors. Recommended for arranging. Florets are smaller than those of Miss America. This too is a favorite, and one which I hope to have for many years.

One of the prettiest autumn color harmonies I have seen in gardens is that of my neighbor, Mrs. Mitchell. She used as the chief planting chrysanthemums. These are of the football varieties, cheerleader, touch-down, etc. Colors are blends of pink and soft yellow.

Bordering the bed are pretty bright pink geraniums. Background, a lush green honeysuckle vine. An excellent study for an artist or gardener. Also a joy to a neighbor, as she sees it from her windows, is a good-eye opener in the morning, and a pretty thing to look at as the evening shadows come at the close of the day. HAPPINESS is appreciation of nature's beauty.

In making hanging baskets, use some of the cast-away nylon hose as filler lining for the wire basket, this will save on moss and really works well. Mrs. Kate Graham, an authority on hanging baskets, makes this suggestion.

Wild fire a Gladiola made a beautiful 'splash' in my fall garden. It is a new gladiola that I grew this year. It is a very nice shade of red, the florets are medium in size, well formed and beautiful.

The spike is unusually long, on two or more of them I counted 18 to 21 florets and buds. I made three plantings of this glad and it is an all season grower. Is one of my favorites, as red denotes cheer and warmth. They are excellent for arranging.

Have been well pleased with the 1972 Glad Introductions, Miss America and Camelot. Miss America is a beautiful

By Crawford C. Martin Attorney General of Texas

"I'm a consumer with a complaint. Who will help me?" Because there are so many things to complain about, and because there are so many state agencies to deal with, it's difficult for the consumer to know exactly who he should contact.

Many complaints come to my Consumer Protection Division which should go to another state agency. For example, my office receives complaints regarding insurance matters. The Texas Deceptive Trade Practices Act, however, does not in any way apply to the insurance industry.

While such complaints are forwarded to the Texas Insurance Commission, the regulatory body in this area, an unnecessary time loss has resulted. By sending your complaint directly to the state agency having primary jurisdiction in the matter, you accomplish two things. You know that the proper agency is made aware of the problem, and, if necessary, can take precautions to prevent such practices in the future. Also, you are assured of having your complaint reviewed by a specialist in the appropriate agency who deals with similar problems every day.

To help avoid delays in the solution of your problems, for the next few weeks we will discuss some of the more important State Agencies which are concerned with various consumer matters. We will talk about the Insurance Commission, Securities Commission, Department of Agriculture, Education Agency, Motor Vehicle Commission, Consumer Credit Commission and the Railroad Commission. We know you will find their activities on your behalf both interesting and informative.

People who live within their income sometimes get used to it.

AS THE DAY for the National Election draws near, there are many things which come crowding into my mind and heart. I love my country, the United States of America is real dear to me. Ours is a rich heritage. So much has been wrought in the making of our great nation.

With these things in mind, I decided to do some extra studying relative to the history of the U.S.A. In going through books, magazines and clippings I came upon a prayer which George Washington prayed in Christ Church in Alexandria, V.A., long, long ago.

It is known as the American Heritage Prayer. Its teachings and the tenor of supplication is just as timely today as when it was spoken by the man who was to become the first president of the U.S.A.

ALMIGHTY GOD: We make our earnest prayer that thou wilt keep the United States in thy holy protection; that thou wilt incline the hearts of the citizens to cultivate a spirit of subordination and obedience to government; and entertain a brotherly affection and love for one another and for their fellow citizens for the United States at large.

"And finally that thou wilt most graciously be pleased to dispose us all to do justice, to love mercy and to demean ourselves with that charity, humility and pacific temper of mind which were the characteristics of the divine author of our blessed religion, and without a humble imitation of whose example in these things we can never hope to be a happy nation. Grant our supplication we beseech thee, through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen."

As we go to the polls, may this be our prayer. Do Vote.

THIS AND THAT...The annual fall flower show of the Bud to Blossom Garden Club was well staged and was based on an excellent schedule. The members did themselves proud.

The artistry of their artistic division was very good. Their adaptations and interpretations were extremely well done. Horticulture division had some superior entries. Was so pleased to note the growth in his division. Is good that the members are growing, showing and sharing.

The junior division was most interesting, as was the educational division. Congratulations on a very excellent show. Glad is real proud of this club.

The cold weather made we gardeners scurry around. The choice roses, gladioli, chrysanthemums and tomatoes will to cut, gather and get in so we could continue to have fresh flowers at least for a week or so. Hope that all of you have saved the materials you wanted to for the winter potted garden. I have been very lucky in that I saved most of the plants I had planned to bring in. Did fail to get the ornamental peppers potted, had hoped to have some of these for Christmas gifts. Just might try planting some seeds and grow plants in other containers.

Jerusalem Cherries make colorful potted plants. However if there are small children I suggest that you do not use these, as it is a temptation for them to pull the bright red fruit and if eaten it could be harmful. When potting plants, tuck a small piece of cotton over the drain hole to retain soil, and dampness for the plant.

To clean artificial or permanent flowers put them into a paper bag with one-half cup of salt, close bag, shake well but gently. Remove from bag shake again gently over a newspaper. Rearrange in selected containers.

If this does not clean as well as you wish and the colors are not clear and bright, make a solution of detergent, using luke warm water. Lift by the stem and plunge the head of flower into the suds, rinse in clear warm water. Lift by the stem and plunge the head of flower into the suds, rinse in clear warm water. Shake well, place on newspaper until thoroughly dry, then rearrange. A change of container and placement would be well, in that it would be like a new arrangement.

Sun-loving plants can meet their requirements by the use of artificial light either fluorescent or incandescent. Aids to indoor gardening are commercial planters which are available.

African violets respond beautifully to the artificial light.

A friend of mine, who at one time served the National African-Violet Association as president, turned her entire basement into a greenhouse for her African violets. It was a great thrill to visit in her violet garden.

I understand that Mrs. W.N. Hodges on Harrison Highway, has a like arrangement, and she too has many beautiful plants.

Ever need an emergency 'frog' for an arrangement? If so use one of the plastic lattice-type berry boxes. Turn upside down, fasten with floral clay, and arrange flowers using the openings to hold them in place.

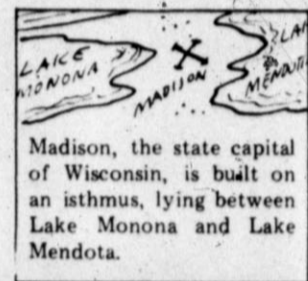

This is especially good for mass arrangement. One of asters, rich colored cushion mums or other small flowers makes a lovely gift for a shut-in or a sick friend. Use them I think you will like them. (I knew when I saved a stack of the lattice boxes they would come in handy or useful some day).

In making hanging baskets, use some of the cast-away nylon hose as filler lining for the wire basket, this will save on moss and really works well. Mrs. Kate Graham, an authority on hanging baskets, makes this suggestion.

ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED—December wedding plans for Sherri Marsh and Thomas Frank Sargent are announced by her parents. Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Marsh, north of Hereford. She is a graduate of the University of Arizona, where she was a member of Chi Omega sorority. Son of Mr. and Mrs. W.C. Teacher, Pupils To Place Work On Exhibit

Paintings by Anna Kovacs, as well as by her schoolage and adult pupils, will be on display from 1:30 to 6 p.m. today in the Presbyterian Church fellowship hall, open to the public. An added display this year, for the second annual show from Mrs. Kovacs' studio, will be a doll collection belonging to one of the pupils. Landscapes and still life will be featured in the varied exhibit, which will represent the work of children just beginning school as well as teenagers and adults who study with Mrs. Kovacs. Her own paintings have been displayed in an Amarillo gallery and at Fort Worth, and are owned by buyers from as far away as Detroit. Mrs. Kovacs enjoyed drawing and making pencil sketches when she was a child, but never studied painting nor considered that she had aptitude for it until a few years ago. She came with her family to Hereford from Yugoslavia, where they lived near Belgrade until the Nazi invasion separated the family. Kovacs was sent to a concentration camp while Mrs. Kovacs and their three children were held in another place. They were reunited after World War II only by accident, and were able to come to the United States through a church program for displaced persons. The Presbyterian Church sponsored their coming to Hereford from Chicago. Mrs. Kovacs tried painting with oils when her son became interested in that skill, and was her own teacher for a while. She studied with local teachers, in Amarillo and with guest instructors in short courses. Since she showed considerable talent and her paintings were in demand, she decided to teach small children because she likes to work with them. Older pupils requested lessons and were added later to classes in the studio she made from her garage at 709 Knight. She is a member of Hereford Art Guild and served as its president two years ago. Her paintings have been seen in its shows and other local art exhibits.

Two Attend Garden Club Convention

Mrs. O.G. Hill Sr. and Mrs. A.L. Manjeot returned the first of the week from Brownsville, where they attended the fall convention of Texas Garden Clubs and then joined other delegates on a tour into Mexico. They are members of Hereford Garden Club and Mrs. Hill is treasurer of the state organization. New officers were elected at Brownsville, to be installed next year when Mrs. Hill's two-year term will end. Boedecker of Lubbock District I director. Featured on the convention program was an address by Mrs. Maxwell Steel of Huntingdon, Penn., national president. Mrs. Hill and Manjeot attended a District I board meeting in Lubbock Friday. Several garden club members here plan to go to Dismitt Wednesday for a North Zone meeting.

Letter To Editor

Dear Sir:
 According to the polls taken in Texas and across the country, many Americans apparently have a low opinion of McGovern. This also, apparently applies to the people who elected him to the Senate. Isn't it strange that these conservative farmers from a small midwestern state would send such a radical to the U.S. Senate? Not once but twice! Then too, strangely enough this same state that sent McGovern also sent to the Senate Senator Mundt, a Republican. South Dakota isn't exactly a state of hippies, zippies, yippies, and other radical groups usually associated with the McGovern camp. Yet, apparently many people think this is true.

Democrats should note carefully those who believe in and understand the party system, and vote for that system in '72. Those who understand the party system, know it is more than a personal popularity contest. They also understand that the issue is not a popular man, but a political philosophy. This can be compared to a church denomination. The intelligent, informed member belongs to a particular denomination because he believes in the doctrine and practices of that denomination, not because of his "likes" for the pastor of that church. The individual who "votes for the man instead of the party" is comparable to one who joins a pastor instead of a church, who attends church only when he likes the pastor.

Thus casting a vote for a president means not voting for a man, but for a department of agriculture and thousands of appointed men and decision makers.

I'll remember these appointees of the Nixon administration when I cast my vote. They promised us peace, but 39,000 men are still in Vietnam. The bombing continues. I'll remember the 22,000 men who have lost their lives during the four years of "Nixon peace".

I'll remember the Nixon officials saying the McGovern proposal to withdraw the troops from Vietnam in 90 days would be unreasonable, inconceivable, and visionary. Now, "they" plan to have the troops home in 60 days!

Then too, I'll remember the dishonesty and the false integrities of this administration. It has lied about the Watergate affair, lied about ITT doings, lied about bombing the dikes, lied about the bombing of the French Embassy in Hanoi, lied about military mining of harbors, lied about HEW money being transferred to the Pentagon for war spending, and lied about the Russian wheat deal.

In earlier times the wheat farmer would divide the wheat from the chaff. In "Nixon times" the Russians get the wheat while the American wheat farmers get the shaft.

Sincerely,
 John Murdock

Settlement Impact

With the end of the long Vietnamese war at last in sight, it is a good time to re-examine the economic impact of a settlement.

I say "re-examine" because there was a great deal of discussion of that subject when the peace talks began in 1968. Economic conditions have changed a lot since then, and so has the size of the probably "peace dividend," as a look at the earlier studies quickly reveals.

The National Chamber established an ad hoc committee to investigate the problems of readjustment to a peacetime economy in June, 1967. The committee issued its report in March, 1968.

The report estimated that the war's end would reduce the rate of defense spending by about $20 billion a year. It also concluded that this level of spending had created between one and 1.4 million defense-related jobs, primarily in the states of California, Texas, Pennsylvania, Missouri, Maryland, New Jersey, Virginia, Connecticut, Illinois and Georgia, with some effect also in Massachusetts and Ohio. Consequently, these were the states expected to suffer the most defense-related unemployment in the event of a spending cutback.

That did, in fact, come to pass, but it is a pleasure to report that the worst is already over. Rather than an abrupt cutback, as was anticipated in 1967, the Vietnam war costs have been winding down slowly over several years. It is now estimated that an end to the war will save somewhere between $6 and $12 billion. So most of the local impact on defense-related industries has passed. (Most, but not all — some particular types of war material — bombs, for example — have been in intensive use even as the war wound down, and a sharp reduction of procurement could still cause some dislocation. Community leaders who feel their area might be affected can check with the Economic Impact Division of the Department of Defense.)

Our ad hoc committee also recommended a special effort to help Vietnam veterans find jobs, and happily, this has been done with some success. The Administration's Veterans Program, in cooperation with private business, placed over 1.3 million veterans in jobs or training in fiscal 1972. The goal for this year is a little above that. However, the unemployment rate for veterans is still higher than the overall unemployment rate. So, while there will be no new flood of veterans entering the labor market at the conclusion of a formal peace, we need to work harder to find jobs for those who need them right now.

Finally, there is the question of federal fiscal and monetary policy — what effect will the war's end have on the national budget? Unfortunately, the answer to that one is very little effect. Ironically, the low figure for war-end savings — $6 billion — is exactly the amount by which the fiscal 1973 budget is expected to exceed the $258 billion spending ceiling requested by the President. And even that $250 billion ceiling included a deficit estimated to be around $30-$35 billion.

The sad fact is that we have already spent the money we will save when the war ends, as well as the extra tax revenue that can be expected from the growth of the economy between now and 1975. As a nation, we are living far beyond our means, and there is no magical source of extra revenue large enough to help close the deficit-gap. Let's hail peace for its own sake, which is certainly enough. Economically speaking, the effects — good or bad — will be minimal.

'He might clobber that slow ball--!'

Public Will Have To Face Amnesty Issue

BY BERT MILLS
Washington, D.C.—Amnesty for draft-dodgers and military deserters is an issue the American public will have to face and resolve before long, perhaps during the 93rd Congress beginning in January. Congress has already begun the amnesty debate but is a long way from reaching a decision. American involvement in the Vietnam war will have to end first, and then the public will have to reach a consensus on an emotional issue on which there are strong feelings on both sides. Brief hearings by a Senate Judiciary subcommittee last winter served only to demonstrate the diversity of thinking on the question. Some anti-war leaders regard as heroes the young men who resisted the draft or deserted after induction and escaped to Canada, Sweden, or some other haven. On the other hand, some patriots consider all such men as cowards who turned their back on their country in time of need and should be forced to pay a stern penalty. Some of those on both sides of the amnesty argument draw a line between draft-dodgers and deserters and some do not.

Last January, a Gallup poll revealed that only 7 percent favor outright unconditional amnesty for draft-dodgers, and 22 percent oppose amnesty of any kind. The vast majority, 63 percent, prefer a middle course to require evaders of the draft to repay their country by serving in the armed forces or in some approved civilian activity, such as the Peace Corps or hospital work.

History Supports Amnesty
Amnesty is almost as old as the U.S.A. George Washington granted pardons to those who joined in the Whiskey Rebellion.

Abraham Lincoln pardoned deserters from the Union forces who agreed to complete their enlistments, and after the Civil War Andrew Johnson granted amnesty to Confederate soldiers.

Sixteen months after World War II ended, Harry Truman established an amnesty board which eventually granted pardons to about 10 percent of those who had refused to fight. However, the situation is different today and much larger numbers of men are involved. Nobody knows how many men evaded military service illegally during the Vietnam war, but tens of thousands are involved.

One reason why an early solution to the amnesty problem is necessary is that many Americans are waiting in Canada and Sweden, anxious to return to the U.S. once they know what fate awaits them in a post-war world. Reports indicate that permanent exile is not a desirable alternative of most of those that evaded service by leaving the country.

A number of amnesty bills were introduced in the recent Congress. Those attracting the most support were similar proposals by Sen Robert Taft, Jr. (R., Ohio) and Rep. Edward Koch (D., N.Y.). Their bills exclude deserters but would grant conditional amnesty to draft-dodgers who meet a two or three-year national service requirement.

A Great Effort Is Needed

The United Way of Deaf Smith County has launched its annual fund-raising campaign for nine participating agencies, with some changes "aimed at improving community confidence and spreading the base of contributions in the fund."

We have an excellent campaign organization for Hereford and Deaf Smith County, and these volunteer workers fully expect a successful drive this year. The United Fund, as it was formerly called, has not reached its goal here the past five years. Local board members have determined that the budget is reasonable, and they are striving to inform the public as to where their contributions are being spent.

The secret, of course, lies with citizens of the city and county. We must have much more enthusiasm about the campaign, giving our Fair Share and encouraging others to do the same.

We have a great community, great workers, and this is a great cause. There's no reason why 'hustlin' Hereford and Deaf Smith County should come up short in this important community endeavor!

A Dangerous Misconception

There's a popular myth making the rounds that if business is taxed heavily enough, there will be adequate funds to solve all the nation's problems. The Chamber of Commerce of the United States attempted to dispel this myth in its statement of recommendations to the platform committees of the Democratic and Republican national conventions.

The Chamber's reasoning goes like this: "Maturity demands an acceptance of reality. Our resources are not sufficient to cover all of our needs and desires. Therefore difficult choices must be made. Priorities must be set. Costs must be faced.

"It is the unhappy responsibility of our public officeholders to make many of these decisions. The burden of such decision-making will not be eased by encouraging people to believe that all things are possible, if they will only vote for the right man.

"Nor will the burden be eased by undermining public confidence in the competitive enterprise system through wanton attacks on business; misrepresentation of the level, value and function of profit; and calculated disregard of the private economy's contribution to human progress. The candidate who seeks office on such a platform will soon discover, if he wins, that he has made his own bed of nails and condemned himself to lie on it.

THE BOOTLEG

—Philosopher

Dear Editor:

I was sifting through a batch of campaign literature that turned up in my mail box, each piece of which claimed the country is headed for ruin if its candidate is not elected, makes no difference what he's running for, and among all this I found a non-partisan leaflet which reported that there are some 500,000 elective offices to be filled on Nov. 7.

After figuring up what it cost those 500,000 people to run, using detailed cost analyses on radio and television time, newspaper ads, barnstorming, air travel, telephones, printing, postage, bugging devices and other routine campaign outlays and guessing at what was shelled out in unaccounted-for cash, the leaflet estimated it cost 400 million dollars to fill those 500,000 offices.

Now a lot of people are saying the cost is too high, but they're forgetting that of all the people running, only half will get elected. Some argue that's money well-spent.

Nonetheless, the cost is high, particularly when you remember that 400 million dollars is just the cost of getting them in; the real expense comes in keeping them there afterwards, and I have been giving the matter some thought.

The thing to do is to set aside one night a week during say the last two months of the campaign when all television and radio stations, on penalty of forfeiting their licenses, are required to turn all their air time over to the candidates free of charge, allotting time on a democratically worked-out schedule, 5 minutes to Justices of the Peace, 8 minutes to County Judges, 10 minutes to State Representatives, 15 minutes to Governors, 20 minutes to Congressmen, 25 minutes to Senators, an hour to Presidential candidates, or some such arrangement. Do this every Tuesday night, say, from 6 o'clock to midnight. Show nothing else on television, cancel all the programs that one night a week and turn the candidates loose.

I don't know whether this would result in a more informed electorate or not, but it sure would cause Tuesday night business to pick up at the movie houses.

Come to think of it, you could put a special Tuesday night tax on movies, use the money to reimburse the radio and television stations for the free time, and everything comes out even.

Yours faithfully,
J.A.

Talk Of Texas

BY JACK MAGURIE

FOOTNOTE TO HISTORY — Forty years ago this fall, 13 orphans from Fort Worth won the heart of Texas by proving that football is a game in which David can slay Goliath on a dozen successive weekends.

The team was the Masonic Home Mighty Mites, perhaps the most undermanned eleven ever to play in Texas schoolboy competition. Coach H.N. (Rusty) Russell couldn't recruit players — his team had to come from the 85 orphan boys in the home. So he never had more than 13 players — 11 on the field, plus on substitute for the backfield and one for the line.

Yet in 1932, the Mighty Mites won every game in their district, then beat powerful Woodrow Wilson of Dallas 40-7 for the bi-district title. They skunked the Sherman Bearcats 20-0 in the quarterfinals and eked out Amarillo 7-6 in the semifinals. On their way to the shootout for the Texas Interscholastic League title, they scored 291 points to only 45 for their opponents.

In the finals against Corsicana, however, their luck ran out. The two teams played to a scoreless tie, but Corsicana was proclaimed the state champion. The Corsicana team had penetrated the Masonic Home 20-yard line once. The Mighty Mites, exhausted from a season of beating champions, were never able to get the ball close to the Corsicana goal.

BOOK TOWN — Lockhart, Caldwell County, boasts the oldest continuously used library in Texas.

The Dr. Eugene Clark Library, designed like a theater, was dedicated in 1900.

WHAT'S IN A NAME? — Ozona, county seat of Crockett County, got its name because residents believed (and still do) that their air is the purest in Texas.

Actually there was only one town in the county when the Legislature organized it in 1891. Called Emerald, it wasn't even considered by the voters as a likely place for the county capital. Instead they voted to locate their county seat at the site of a windmill on the E.M. Powell ranch and named it Ozona. Residents of Emerald then moved to the new county seat and Ozona remains the only town in the 2,794 square miles that make up the county.

Weldon Hart, Austin's courthouse historian, says that the present Crockett County courthouse was built in 1902 and cost only $30,000.

AUTOMANIA — Joe Nettles of Houston, who collected and restored old cars as a hobby, is the new owner of the official black Cadillac limousine used by the late J. Edgar Hoover.

The FBI sold the 1963 model to a hotel company in 1970, probably because the No. 1 G-man decided he wanted a new car. At least a couple of others owned the car before Nettles bought it. It had been wrecked when he got it, but he has had it restored.

NIXON

...for the special interests

NIXON'S PROMISE

Peace

In 1968, Nixon said: "Those who have had a chance for four years and could not produce peace should not be given another chance." He also said that he had a "secret plan" to end the war in Vietnam. He promised to "bring our troops home" and to "Vietnamize the war" in 1971.

And two and a half years ago he said: "We finally have in sight the just peace we are seeking." Two and a half weeks ago he repeated this statement.

NIXON'S RECORD

In the last four years, 30,000 more American boys have been killed in Vietnam, 530 added to POW and MIA lists (100 just in the last six months), the war has been extended to Laos and Cambodia, and more than $60 billion squandered, and although this war costs us more than $200 MILLION A WEEK, we control less land area in South Vietnam now than we did in 1968.

Nixon's secret plan to end the war is still a secret, although the upcoming elections have caused Nixon to send Henry Kissinger back and forth around the globe. Nothing has come of this, and much doubt has been cast that anything will.

Jobs

In 1968, Nixon said: "... we can control inflation without an increase in unemployment."

Also, he said he had an economic "game plan" designed to reduce inflation.

In 1969 he said: "We are not considering wage or price controls." In August, 1972, "... the goal of our new prosperity — a job for every American who wants to work, without war and without inflation."

Unemployment has almost doubled since 1968, and the Secretary of the Treasury says it will stay at approximately 4 million even when the war ends, yet Nixon vetoed bills aimed at providing more jobs.

Nixon froze wage increases at 5.5% while prices continued to soar to new records, and interest rates have never been controlled at all.

Taxes

In August, 1972, Nixon told the Republican National Convention: "Our administration has provided the biggest tax cut in history..." and "... one of the goals of our next administration is to reduce the property tax, which is such an unfair and heavy burden for the poor, the elderly, the wage earner, the farmer, and those on fixed incomes."

Who got the tax cut? Corporations benefited five times more than individuals. 1971 tax cuts lowered average tax liability of businesses by 15% while it lowered individuals by 3%. This paltry tax relief to workers was voted by Congress over Nixon's objections.

Nixonomics means:	1969	1972
Individuals Pay	70%	77%
Corporations Pay	30%	23%

Nixon plans to saddle us with a "Value Added Tax," which is a disguised national sales tax.

Spending

On April 25, 1968, Nixon said: "Only by cutting the federal budget can we avert an economic disaster."

On June 17, 1970, he said: "We have chosen to cut down the sharp rise in federal spending and to restrain the economy firmly and steadily..."

Announcing wage and price controls, August 15, 1971, he said: "To offset the loss of revenue from these tax cuts which directly stimulate new jobs, I have ordered a $4.7 billion cut in federal spending."

Nixon increased federal spending 33.5% — resulting in economic disaster in the form of unemployment, recession and inflation, all at the same time. In four years Nixon budgets have produced a $90.1 billion deficit. That's more than the combined 16-year deficits of Johnson, Kennedy and Eisenhower. Welfare rolls have increased 66% in Nixon's four years in the White House.

Nixon vetoed $1.8 billion for health care and education, but he asked for $8.5 billion additional funds for the military.

Crime & Drugs

In 1968, Richard Nixon strongly campaigned for the Presidency on the issue of law and order: "I pledge to you that the wave of crime is not going to be the wave of the future in America."

In 1971, he told the American Medical Association: "Drug Abuse is America's public enemy number one. ... It erodes our nation's strength... it undermines our nation's future."

Robbery and larceny are up 43 per cent since 1968. Burglary and murder are up 25 per cent. The Nixon Administration is linked to scandals political episodes: the ITT affair, the Watergate fiasco, and the Russian grain sale. Nixon's failure to disclose details of his wheat deal with Russia has cost the American taxpayer $150 million.

Nixon reduced the budget for the Law Enforcement Assistance Administration and related programs. Nixon opposed the Drug Abuse Education Act and establishing a National Institute on Drug Abuse and Dependence.

Senior Citizens

A current brochure from the Committee to Re-Elect the President falsely alleges that "... Nixon has submitted proposals to Congress which have increased Social Security benefits to the nation's elderly by more than one-third from 1969 to this year — a greater increase than in any period in history of similar length. The President has also advanced programs to enable more of the elderly to live in their own homes, and to improve nursing care and increase jobs for these same citizens."

Nixon opposed a recent 20% Social Security increase strongly enough to threaten to veto it. Only after recognizing that Congress had enough votes to override him did he sign it. He then took credit for the increase by enclosing a note with the Social Security checks.

The deductible amount of Medicare Hospital Insurance (Part A), set at $40 in 1966, stayed at that figure until Nixon took office. It has increased 70% since 1969. Medicare aid to nursing homes was slashed from $340 million in 1968 to $180 million in 1970. Nixon appointees have consistently failed to enforce federal standards for nursing homes.

McGOVERN

... for the People

McGOVERN'S RECORD

George McGovern was the first U.S. Senator to oppose the war in Vietnam. Nine years ago, in September 1963, McGovern warned: "We find our money and our arms used to suppress the very liberties we went in to defend in Southeast Asia. This is scarcely a policy of 'victory'; it is not even a policy of stalemate. It is a policy of moral debacle and political defeat."

McGovern is co-author of the McGovern-Hartfield Amendment which would have ended American involvement in Vietnam in December, 1971.

McGOVERN'S PROMISE

"I would stop all bombing in all parts of Indochina; I would begin the orderly withdrawal of all American forces from Vietnam, Laos and Cambodia, along with salvageable American military equipment.

"I would send the Vice-President to Hanoi to speed arrangements for the return of prisoners and an accounting of the missing. After all of our prisoners are returned, and we have a satisfactory accounting of the missing men, I would order the Secretary of Defense and the Joint Chiefs to close our bases in Thailand, and to bring home any troops and equipment still there."

McGovern is the author of the National Peacetime Transition Act which provides for re-training engineers and other skilled workers who have lost their jobs in defense industry layoffs. It also provides for government loans to contractors to aid in their conversion to peacetime production.

"There's enough work in this country for every man and woman who's capable of working, if we just set our values straight. We desperately need workers to build new schools, new hospitals and new houses; we need engineers to develop anti-pollution devices, to build mass transit systems, to solve our environmental problems. For those who lack the skills to get and hold a decent job, we must provide for training to develop those skills."

McGovern was the author of the 1969 Excess War Profits Tax, similar to legislation in effect during World War II and the Korean War. Nixon blocked this legislation.

McGovern has opposed the Value Added Tax as an unfair and heavy burden on the poor, the elderly, the wage earner, the farmer, and those on fixed incomes.

"Money made by money should be taxed at the same rate as money made by men. We must close $22 billion in tax loopholes which are available only to the rich and the corporations." He points out the shocking contrast in the way four different Americans are presently taxed:

Bob	Annual Earnings	$7,000	Source of Earnings	Wages	Tax Paid
Sam	Dividends	7,000	Dividends	992
Tom	Capital gains	7,000	Capital gains	526
Dick	Mt. Nepal bonds	7,000	Mt. Nepal bonds	0

While McGovern has supported every spending proposal vital to America's defense, he has led the fight to trim huge excesses in military spending that not only cost tax dollars but add to our growing problems of inflation and rising prices.

McGovern opposed the $250,000,000 loan to Lockheed executives, saying that it was a reward for poor management.

McGovern agrees with President Eisenhower's 1953 statement: "Every gun that is made, every warship launched, every rocket fired, signifies, in the final sense, a theft from those who hunger and are not fed, from those who are cold and are not clothed. ... We pay for a single fighter plane with a half a million bushels of wheat. We pay for a single destroyer with new homes that could have housed 8,000 people."

McGovern authored the Policeman's Bill of Rights offering incentives to young Americans to undertake police careers and providing schooling for policemen and prison officials.

McGovern co-sponsored the Federal Drug Abuse Prevention, Treatment, and Rehabilitation Act of 1971 now in effect.

McGovern co-sponsored the Juvenile Delinquency Prevention Act of 1967 and the Speedy Trial Act of 1971.

"Heroin addiction is a direct cause of many crimes: muggings, burglaries, shoplifting, etc. As much as 90% of the crime in New York City is committed by addicts to pay for their drug habits." A heroin addict's habit costs from $35 to $100 a day, and he must steal from $3,000 to $5,000 in property a month to maintain his habit, since he sells to a "fence" at a large discount. Much of our crime problems can be traced to Generals Thieu and Ky and their highly profitable drug operations that have hooked over 100,000 of our young men.

McGovern fought for the Medicare Bill. He is co-author of the "Older Americans Act and co-author of a bill which initiated the National Institute of Gerontology to focus research on diseases which affect the elderly.

McGovern urged immediate Medicare coverage of needed out-of-hospital prescription drugs and an end to monthly charge (Part B) for doctor's bills. He is co-sponsor of the Health Security Act introduced by Sen. Kennedy to cover medical costs of all citizens.

McGovern urges a minimum monthly income of $150 for each aged, blind and disabled person with Social Security funds to be supplemented from general revenues. He advocated 100% widow's benefits, instead of the present 80% of husband's benefits.

"If we can afford to spend $24 billion to land a man on the moon, we have the resources to provide an income for our senior citizens so they can live their retirement years in dignity and comfort — reasonably free from financial concerns."

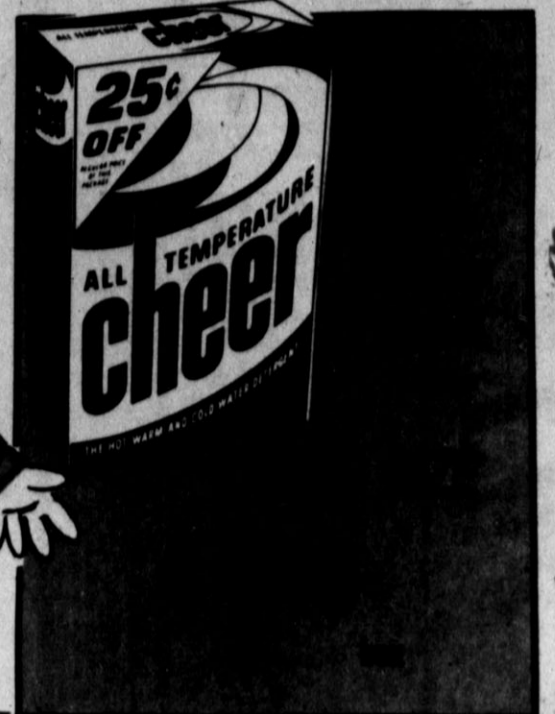

The Future of America Is in the Balance!

Our Story: THE SHIP HAS BEEN PROVISIONED, THE STORM DAMAGE REPAIRED, AND PRINCE VALIANT IS READY TO SAIL AS SOON AS THE WIND ABATES. THE LORD OF THE PROVINCE INVITES THEM TO A FAREWELL DINNER.

AND JACQUES, THAT PRINCE OF MINSTRELS, ENTERTAINS. HE IS MAGNIFICENT AND WITH SONGS AND POETRY EVOKES TEARS

IT FLATTERS HIS VANITY TO HAVE THE YOUNG LADIES GATHER ABOUT AND TO SET THEM GIGGLING AT HIS WITTY REMARKS. THEN HE THINKS OF JOAN, AND HOW SHE HAD CHIDED HIM ON HIS INSINCERITY, AS IF HE WERE WASTING HIS TALENTS ON FRIVOLITY.

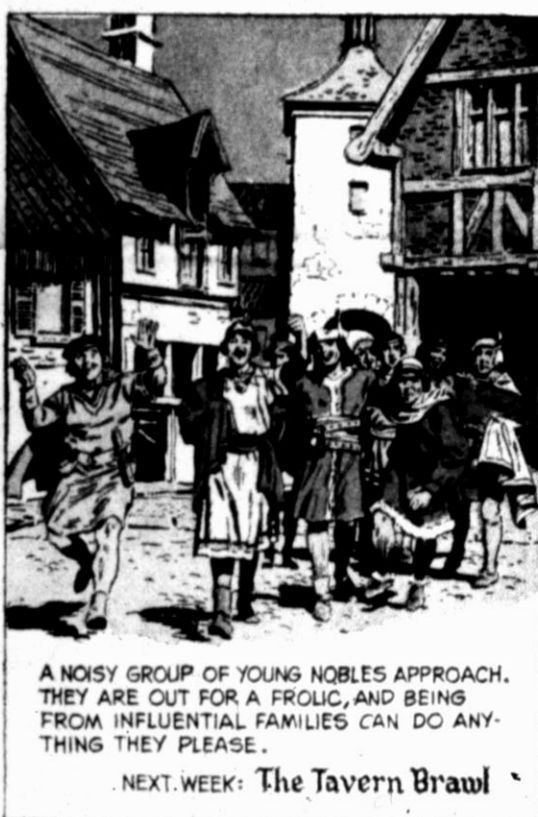

AS THEY ARE RETURNING TO THE SHIP, VAL REMARKS: "YOU WERE SPLENDID TONIGHT, JACQUES, AND FOR ONCE YOU DID NOT GET INTO TROUBLE OVER THE LADIES." HE ANSWERS: "A YOUNG SONGSTRESS POINTED OUT THAT MY EFFORTS TO BE TOO WITTY CHEAPENED MY TALENTS."

THEY AGREE TO VISIT THE TAVERN WHERE JOAN AND HER BROTHERS ARE PERFORMING, FOR, AS VAL SAYS, "ANYONE WHO CAN CURE JACQUES OF FLIRTING IS WORTH MEETING."

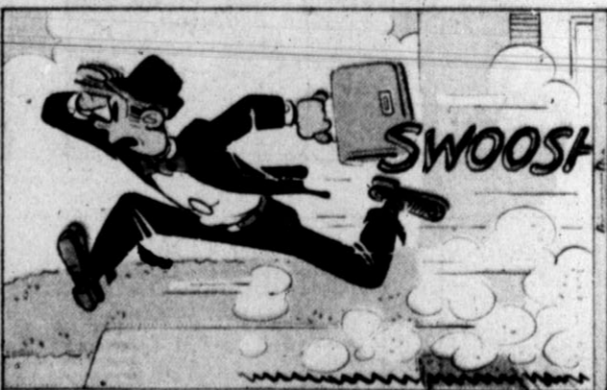

THE TAVERN IS CROWDED BUT THEY FIND A BENCH NEAR THE DOOR AND WAIT FOR THE ENTERTAINMENT TO BEGIN.

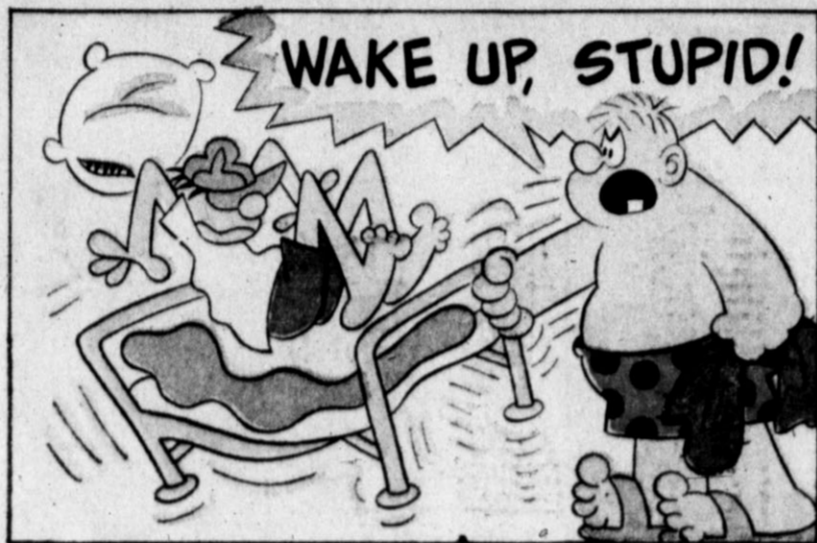

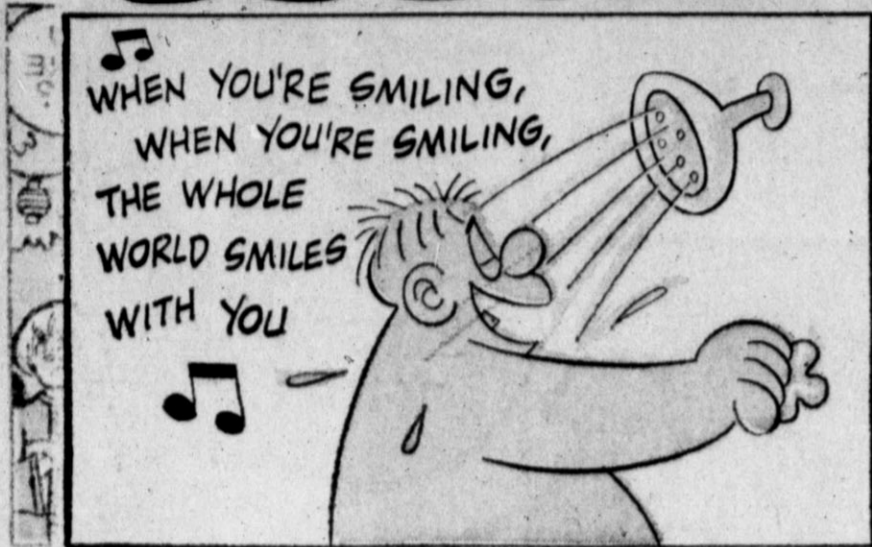

A NOISY GROUP OF YOUNG NOBLES APPROACH. THEY ARE OUT FOR A FROLIC, AND BEING FROM INFLUENTIAL FAMILIES CAN DO ANYTHING THEY PLEASE.

HELPS FOR HOMEMAKERS

DEAR HELOISE:
I don't like relish jars on the table during a meal. My hobby is collecting old bottles. So I've gathered together a few small and medium sized antique bottles and jars and put all the relishes and jams in these. Sauces, too. Just the touch I want on my table...

These make wonderful conversation pieces... they come from all parts of the country.

They don't match, of course, but this is the charm of it all! Just had to share this with others who feel as I do.

Julie Andrews
Julie, you're just great to send us this idea! Now, if you don't have access to antique bottles and jars, think of all the darlin' bottles and such that jams and sauces come in these days.

And just the other day in a supermarket, I saw jams and relishes in the cutest miniature copies of the old fashioned jars our mothers used to put up preserves in. You know the kind... with the clamp-on glass lid.

Just wash all your jars well, soak off the labels and reuse them.

The lids of most of the other type jars have printing of some kind on them... never mind, just put decals over them.
Bless you,
Heloise

LETTER OF THOUGHT

Getters generally don't get happiness; / Givers get it, you simply give to others a bit of yourself. / A thoughtful act, a helpful idea, / A word of appreciation, a lift over a rough spot; / A sense of understanding, a timely suggestion, / You take something out of your own mind, / Garnished in kindness out of your heart; / Put it in the other fellow's mind and heart, / If instead of a yem or even a flower, / We could cast a gift of a lovely thought / Into the heart of a friend, / That would be giving as the angels give.

A CLOSE SHAVE

DEAR HELOISE:
The following makes an elegant modern picture:
Peel the papers off crayons. Then take your potato peeler and make shavings, whatever size you want. The more colors, the better.
Then take a piece of white construction paper the size you want your picture to be.

Spray it with spray adhesive or use white glue, spread evenly.

Sprinkle your crayon shavings over this, being careful to put them close together... this way no white spaces show. Let this dry overnight.

The next day it is a wild picture.

MICROSCOPIC TIP

DEAR HELOISE:
If you have a microscope, you know that they are hard to keep neat. To keep slides, lens cloth, etc., here's what I do:

I use a tackle box for keeping all the pieces. The little compartments are great for keeping specimens.

ON THE MIND

DEAR HELOISE:
I got an idea this morning which I felt was nice to pass on.

I have this white terry cloth housecoat I've had several years... I like it best of all.

But somehow the right side front always caught onto things and kept tearing. Not wanting to discard it, this idea popped into my head:
As it had two pockets, I took off the second pocket... they both had strawberry designs. I sewed it over the tear a little bit at an angle.
It looked so cute and almost as if it belonged there. So I can still wear the housecoat.

off the record

DEAR HELOISE:
Don't throw away that old no longer needed metal record holder—it can be used as a lid holder in your cabinet with a few minor alterations. (It will certainly help eliminate messy shelves.)

First of all, measure the thickness of your lids so that you will know how many of those little metal dividers to remove from the record holder.

Counting from the end, I took out four of the little dividers, left one, and so on down the line until I reached the end of the holder.

Some of the little metal dividers will break out easily if you bend them back and forth a couple of times, but I think metal cutters or a pair of pliers would work better and faster.

This really works great for me and makes it so easy to find the right lid for the right pot or pan.

LOCK IT SAFELY!

DEAR HELOISE:
I used to always lose my money (5 or 10¢) at lunch, when I took my lunch box.
So my mother thought of an idea. She took a cloth drawstring bag that comes with bubble gum in it and put the money in the bag. She put it on the wire part of the box that holds the thermos in place.

CLIP THE ONE

DEAR HELOISE:
I use iron-on mending tape in many ways. One of my favorites is this:

I put the tape on the inside top edge of my husband's shirt pockets.

Sure makes it handy for the clip pens.

LOCK IT SAFELY!

DEAR HELOISE:
For girls with broken locket chains, but good lockets, I have an answer.

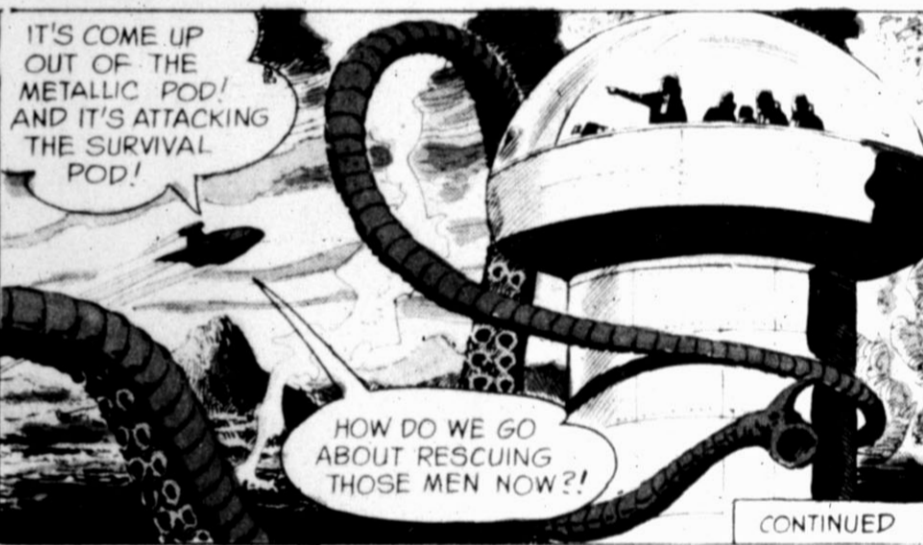

I took a piece of the colored yarn I use to tie my hair and put the locket on the yarn.
It makes a pretty choker and is simple to do.
I can even use the same color yarn to match the dress I'm wearing.

Hal Kaufman's JUNIOR WHIRL BULLETIN BOARD

A FINE sextet of wide-eyed owls you see above. When the artist asked these birds to sit for this picture, all willingly obliged. But then, all did something they're not supposed to do. Well, nobody's perfect.

But, perfect or not, two of this fine-feathered lot are twins. Which two? We'll let you decide.

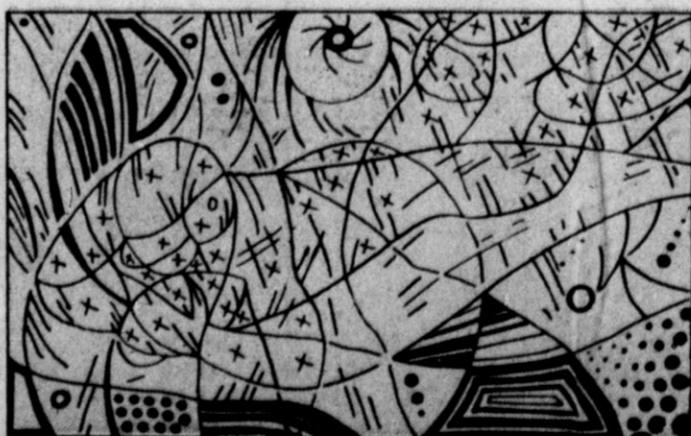

And, after you've picked out the look-alikes, see if you can tell what's wrong with the whole hootin' match.

No fair peeking at answer below, of course.

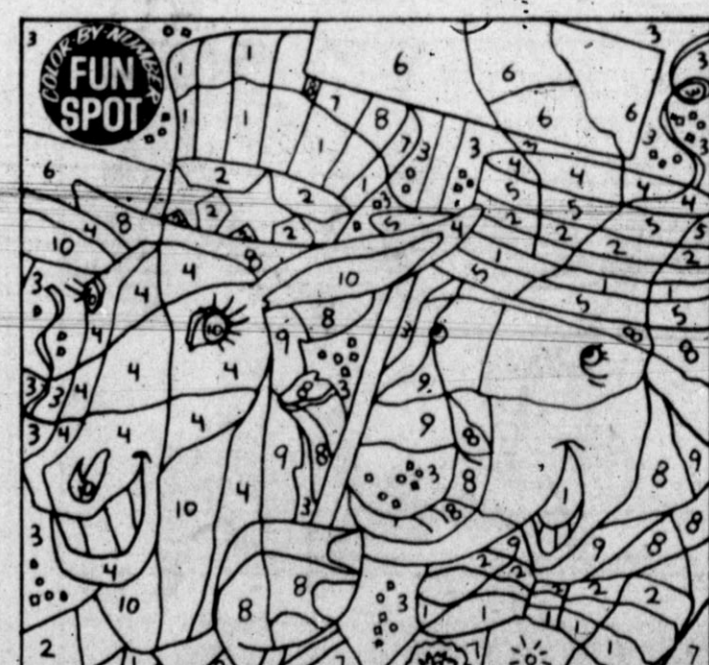

● ELECTION NEWS: Theodore Roosevelt succeeded to the Presidency at age 42. JFK was elected at 43. The youngest President-Vice President team ever to win national election bore the ages 46 and 45 respectively. The election was held in 1868. Can you give their names?
