Bulldogs Have Injuries; Herd Ready

By BOB NIGH

MANAGING EDITOR PLAINVIEW - Hereford Whiteface football fans will be hoping that the rainswollen dark grey clouds which covered the field at Bulldog stadium here this morning will be an omen of things to come when the Herd faces off against the Bulldogs Friday night.

Bulldog mentor Greg Sherwood watched the grey skies with anticipation today as rains, which have all but swamped virtually the entire Lone Star State, threatened

The rain isn't the only thing on Sherwood's mind, however as his 4-2 Bulldogs prepare for the Whitefaces, who are 6-0 on the year.

While those injuries may stifle the Bulldogs, who are favored to beat the Whitefaces by many area "experts," Sherwood still has the big guns well, and ready for action as District 4-5A begins.

Fullback Tim Coleman (5-9, 168, Jr.) and halfback Luther Thompson (5-9, 160 Sr.) will be counted on by Sherwood to carry the load against the Herd, along with quarterback Steve George, a head coach Don Cumpton

5-9, 147-pound sophomore. End Kevin Moseley (6-2, 190, Sr.) is Plainview's top receiver in the Bulldogs' Wing-T offensive attack.

"The key to winning this game will be not making mistakes," Sherwood said. "It seems like it always comes down to that."

Despite scouting the Whitefaces throughout the non-district schedule, Sherwood claims he still doesn't know just what to expect of the unbeaten Herd. "Hereford's got a great

Cumpton was definite in his opinion as well. "I don't think it will make any difference at all," he said. "It's the same size field wherever you play."

The Whitefaces will be bolstered by the return this week of middle linebacker Ken Cosper, who is back after sitting out a 21-6 win over Tascosa last week. Cosper is recovering from an ankle injury, and is listed by Cumpton as "eighty percent" well and ready for tomorrow

Cumpton looks for the game to boil down to how well each team plays in the trenches, where most games are won anyway. "The team which can control the line of scrimmage will probably win," he said. "It usually comes down to that."

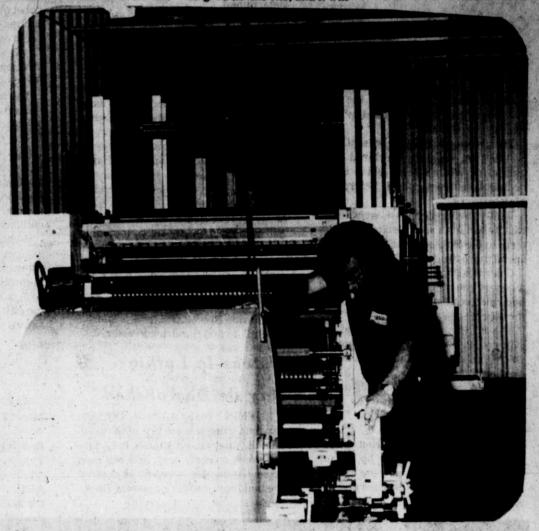

Cumpton doesn't have the injury woes of Sherwood, with the exception of Cosper's slowing injury. The rest of the Whitefaces will be in full battle dress for the showdown, which many expect to play a major part in determining the loop champion this year.

Reagan Gets Additional Time To Salvage Deal On AWACS

By JIM ADAMS Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) President Reagan, chipping away at opposition to his AWACS sale to Saudi Arabia, is getting an extra week to try to salvage the deal in the Senate after an overwhelming defeat in the House.

If you are one of those that think perhaps President Reagan and his administration should slack off a bit from more tax cuts, you might reconsider.

You, as a taxpayer, owe $20 more today than you did yesterday - just as your share of the federal pension liabilities. #### More Tickets Available Today

HISD Assistant Superintendent Larry Wartes has reported that "around 1,100 tickets have been sold to Hereford fans for the big game in Plainview tomorrow night. He added that the local outlet, Troy's Sweet Shop, has an additional 200 tickets today, and will be selling them until noon Friday.

"I'm sure those who don't buy them in advance will be able to get them at the gate, also," Wartes added.

Wartes said that in the past tickets sold for Plainview games have been marked "reserved." He said that the tickets are reserved in Section E at Bulldog Stadium, but that they may not be reserved seats.

"All the tickets we have sold thus far are in Section E between the 38 yard-lines," Wartes said. "We are not sure if they are reserved seats within that section, however."

Several checks with Plainview officials have yet to clear up that question, and Wartes said that he thinks the tickets are reserved section only. "But, we may be in for a surprise when we get to Plainview," he added.

Wartes suggested Hereford fans get to the game early to avoid confusion with seating for the game.

Reagan gained more time when Senate leaders decided to postpone their vote from next Tuesday, as originally scheduled, until sometime the following week.

Tom Griscom, an aide to Senate Republican leader Howard H. Baker Jr., said Baker and Democratic leader Robert C. Byrd agreed on the delay because Reagan is to be in Mexico next week for an economic suramn.

Saudi Arabia's Prince Fahd also is scheduled to attend the summit, perhaps giving Reagan one last chance for Saudi concessions to calm Senate opponents'

Saudis to Present Alternate Peace Plan

By NICOLAS B. TATRO Associated Press Writer

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) -Saudi Arabia is stepping up its campaign on behalf of an alternative to the Camp David peace process following the assassination of Egyptian President Anwar Sadat. But Israel says it will make no concessions.

The oil-rich kingdom is expected to present Crown Prince Fahd's eight-point blueprint for Mideast peace to the Arab summit scheduled Nov. 25-27 in Fez, Moroc-

Habib Chatti, secretary-General of the Jidda-based Islamic Conference Organization, which comprises 41 Moslem countries and the Palestine Liberation Organization, asked the summit to adont Fahd's formula as the "Arab plan."

"There is no better framework for negotiations than the Fahd plan," Chatti was quoted by the Saudi news agency as saying.

Three Saudi statesupported newspapers also campaigned for the Fahd plan Wednesday.

The prince, who runs Saudi Arabia's day-to-day affairs, unveiled his plan Aug. 8 after private contacts with Arab states. It calls for Israeli withdrawal from lands seized during the 1967 Middle East War and creation of a Palestinian state with Arab Jerusalem as its capital. In turn, the plan asserts, Arabs will recognize all states in the area. It implies, but does not state, Israel's right to exist.

Up to 2.2 inches of rain fell said it would be three or four in the southern panhandle Wednesday night and early today, causing a few frowns from farmers.

'Treed' Elephant Saved from Flood

GAINESVILLE, Texas (AP) - An elephant missing and presumed dead in the deluge that swamped the city zoo used her trunk as a snorkel to survive 30 to 40 hours snagged in the branches of a fallen tree, her trainer said.

"She's just utterly exhausted," Zoo Superindentent and trainer Vince Reynolds said Wednesday night. "I really don't see how she survived it."

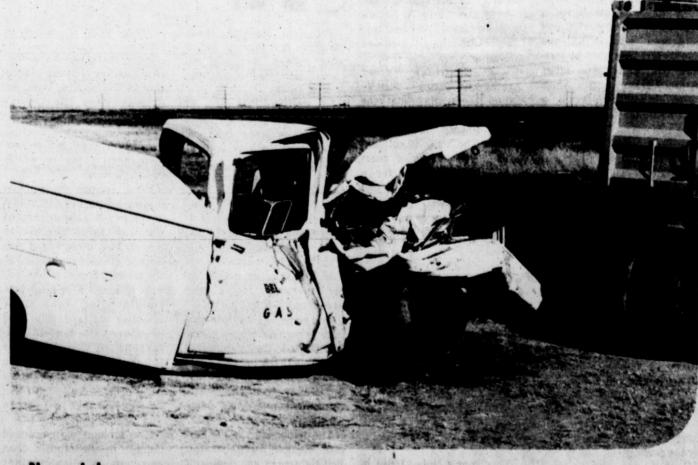

Reynolds said the elephant escaped with a slight cold, a scarred trunk and a sore neck. "Right now, we've got her on high ground. I started to take her back to her cage ... but she just wouldn't go. She got in that soft mud and she just wouldn't go any further. She'd had enough of that." Gerry II, a 13-year-old female elephant that was reported missing and presumed dead Tuesday, was found snared in a fallen tree and stranded by the swift current of floodwaters that hid most of her massive body from "We could see her, but we just couldn't get to her because of the swift water," said Assistant Police Chief

Carl Dunlap. "She was able to keep her snout above water and breathe after she became entangled in the treetop. When we finally got to her, there was about a foot of her back sticking out of the water and her snout. We could see her eye every once in a while," he said. Cowboys in this North Central Texas town began a roundup Tuesday of the animals that broke out when rising (See ELEPHANT, Page 2A)

Coleman Seeks Congress Seat

EL PASO, Texas (AP) - The first hat hit the ring Wednesday when state Rep. Ron Coleman of El Paso announced that he would seek the congressional seat being vacated by U.S. Rep. Richard White...

The five-term state representative is the first formally declared candidate for White's seat, which is expected to attract others before the May primary.

White announced two weeks ago that he wouldn't seek election to a 10th term in the House because he wants to spend more time with his family.

Coleman, 39, said he had considered a congressional campaign before, but had ruled out any bid while White held the office.

The El Paso lawyer predicted the 16th congressional district campaign will focus on the country's economic problems.

"I think we'll be talking about the Reagan economic policies and whether they're working or not," Coleman said.

Coleman's voice on the House floor earned him recognition by Texas Monthly magazine as the "Best Legislator" in the 1979 session and one of the "Ten Best" in 1977 and 1981.

Child With Matches

Blamed In Arson

HOUSTON (AP) - A child playing with matches taken from a teacher's purse started a fire that killed three children in a day care center restroom, arson investigators have determined.

Ike Sherrouse, one of the investigators, said Wednesday the Sept. 29 blaze was started by a boy who was left unattended for about 30 minutes in a rear room of the northeast Houston building. He said the boy, who was not killed, and four other children were being toilet trained when they were Another child told investigators he watched the boy take matches from a teacher's purse and begin playing with them, Sherrouse said. Sherrouse said an investigation of the fire's point of origin revealed a pile of combustible materials on the floor, including discarded papeprs, diapers, clothes and sacks.

The three children who died were trapped in a windowless bathroom. The dead were identified as Shamarion Brooks, 2; Chelsea Andrea Staghill, 3; and Randrick Frazier, 2.

Shacks In Lufkin May Be Demolished

LUFKIN, Texas (AP) - Officials expect to finish a survey of 66 unoccupied, dilapidated shacks here late this week or early next, and will then order the owners to repair or destroy the buildings, Lufkin's planning direcarea of the zoo.

Ed Richie said Wednesday that the city will begin sending notices to landlords in two weeks. The owners will have the choice of bringing the structures up to the standards of the city housing code or demolishing them.

Richie said an informal survey the planning department completed in September identified 414 substandard "shotgun" shacks, so called because a shotgun blast fired from the front door could exit through the back door.

"We want to take care of those structures that are vacant first," Richie said.

The existence of the shotgun shanties was brought to the attention of city officials in July by a series of stories by the Lufkin News.

Many of the houses, built in the 1930s and 1940s for lumber mill workers and other laborers, do not have indoor plumbing. In one area, residents of 12 houses shared an outhouse.

Richie said 75 percent of the 414 houses needed substantial improvements. But he said the City Commission feels that "any kind of roof is better than no roof" and that the city has no plans to order occupied houses vacated.

But some of the animals who escaped the rising waters still were on the loose late Wednesday.

"We don't have a full count of what animals are missing, but none you could consider dangerous. Mostly they're fleet of foot, like deer," said Dunlap.

The elephant, happily, is present and accounted for. Reynolds, 61, said he has cared for Gerry II since the popular pachyderm came to Frank Buck Zoo about 12 five times a day. I got pretty close to her," he said. The zoo is fashioned in a sloping valley-like environment, which filled up with the heavy rains until its banks were overflowing, Dunlap said.

"That flood came down on us so fast we didn't know what was taking place," Reynolds said. "We had very little water in the zoo when the rain started so we thought we'd get boats and open the door on monkey house." Fifteen minutes later, he said, the whole zoo was Reynolds said he stayed out on the bank well after Gerry was discovered snagged in the tree late Tuesday night, but finally went to bed.

"But after the police called me and told me she had come out, I stayed with her the rest of the day."

The zookeeper, who has been at the Gainesville zoo for 18 years, said he didn't know how many of his approximately 60 animals survived the deluge, though certain that three big sheep and two flamingoes had drowned.

"It's bad enough for anything to lose its life when it's out on its own," said Reynolds. "But I really feel like I'm responsible since those animals are penned. It's my

But an aide, who insisted on anonymity, said the real reason was that Grassley' "feels he was strong-armed" when an unidentified White House official appeared to link Grassley's AWACS vote to White House approval of the senator's choice for U.S. attorney.

And Sen. Dennis DeConcini, D-Ariz., told reporters that a Republican friend suggested Reagan would not campaign against his reelection next year if the senator would vote for the AWACS sale.

DeConcini said he didn't know if that offer came from Reagan himself. But he said the president has called him and other Democrats and asked, "What is necessary?"

The senator said he is sure Reagan means what is necessary to make the AWACS sale acceptable to them, "but when those kinds of overtures are made, ob-viously the lines of communication are open if you want to open it up to anything you think is necessary ... for your state."

At the White House, Speakes denied that Reagan is offering senators any favors for their AWACS votes. "We don't operate that way," Speakes said.

Bulgarian-born Writer Wins Nobel Literature Prize

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP) - The Swedish Academy awarded Bulgarian-born writer Elias Canetti the 1981 Nobel Prize in literature today "for writings marked by a broad outlook, a wealth of ideas and artistic power."

The 76-year-old Nobelist, who writes in German, has produced novels, plays and memoirs since the 1930s.

One of his most well-known works is a memoir from his youth "Die Gerettete Zunge" The Saved Tongue), published in 1977.

Canetti has lived in London since 1938. For a time he lived in Austria and Switzerland, where he learned German, the language in which he writes. He carries a British passport.

Academy sources said Canetti has long been in line for the prize. Canetti got his literary breakthrough in 1935 with the novel "Die Blendung" (Auto da Fe). He has published numerous works through the 1960s and 1970s, including travel notes, plays and

Herd Leading All Phases Of District Stats

By BOB NIGH

MANAGING EDITOR Through the first six games of the 1981 District 4-5A football season the dust cover of the loop statistics book has been flashing a brilliant maroon and white, with a large "H" emblazoned in gold script across its front.

The cream of the crop, embodied in the undefeated Hereford Whitefaces, has dominated district offensive paign began, and the Herd continues to hold the top spot in every offensive category as the five district foes head into the first week of loop warfare.

And, while the Hereford offensive machine has been oiled and tuned to near perfection, the HHS defensive eleven has more than shown itself deserving of coauthorship of this year's district novel.

total offense, averaging 340 yards per game as Whitefaces Alan Wartes, Wayne High, and Rudy Hernandez lead the passing, rushing, and receiving categories respectively.

Wartes, first team alldistrict quarterback a year ago, has tossed the ball for 643 yards this year with a 39-84 completion mark, 46.4 percent. The Herd senior has thrown six touchdown passes as well, and averages 15.5

yards every time he finds a Whiteface senior on the end of one of his aerials.

By MARC HERRING Staff Writer

Thousands of fans screaming as you speed past the last runner and make the turn for home is about as far-fetched of a dream as is possible for a cross-country runner, who spends most of his or her time in solitary workouts pounding out the miles. Senior captains of the Hereford High School cross country team, George Arroyos and Kellie Howell, both love the sport, but are not in it to show off to the crowds.

"I really enjoy running," Howell said. "But until the team starts doing well, or one of the team members is doing exceptionally well, we are sort of unkown by the people around."

Howell, who has been running on the team all three of her high school years, learned to enjoy the sport more as each year passed.

When I came to high school, I wanted to play some sport in the fall, and Coach (Martha) Emerson wanted me to run cross country so that I would be in shape for spring track.'

Howell began her career in the lonely sport not to excel, but to use it as a maintenance program so that she could be ready for the 'real' track program the next semester.

As it turned out, she led the team that first year as well as last year. This year though, sophomore Dana Cabbiness is challenging Howell for the

"At first. I was sort of upset that some sophomore would come in and be the best runner, but I realized that in reality this was the best thing that could happen both for me and the team," Howell said.

"Dana has made me work a lot harder this year, and even though last year when I was the best on the team, I wasn't that good through the district, still feels that the team can win district. "This is the best team I have ever been on in any kind Everyone on the team is

If the team does not make it, Arroyos is sure to, since he has the second best time in the district, 15:51. This time is about thirty seconds behind the district leader, Tom Cavazos, of Coronado "I think that I can beat Cavazos," Arroyos said. "I beat him last year, but he just outworked me over the summer and put more miles behind him than I did."

Both Howell and Arroyos become good at running is to be willing to work on their own, to work more than the coach asks for.

"This summer I averaged about 25-35 miles a week, but most of that was crammed into a few days because I would skip some days, instead of just running a steady program," Arroyos said.

Both runners plan on continuing their running after high school, preferably for a college on a track scholarship,

Tennis Team Travels To Lubbock For Tourney

The Hereford High School the progress through tennis team will face its toughest challenge of the year today as it travels to Lubbock to play in a 17 team tournament that will boast some of the state's best teams.

In a format where each team will play a minimum of four dual matches over the three day period, Hereford will go up against Abilene Cooper this afternoon. Cooper goes into the tourney rated the second best team in the state and coach Robert Cox feel that his netters will have to play extremely well to compete with the Cooper net-

As far as individual players on the Whiteface team, Cox feels that the girls are playing pretty good right now, with all six seeds contributing to the team. Vanessa and Kim Sims played very well against Plainview and he hopes the girls can keep up three day tournament.

On the boys side, the doubles team of Trent Thomas and Kelly Cassels have been playing good and sophomore Donny Anderson has steadily improved over the course of the year.

This tournament will allow everyone to get in a lot of playing time, which can only help a player's improvement.

Friday the HHS netters will face El Paso Ysleta, and Cox expects that match to be a

"We have the ability to play right with the El Paso team, Cox said. "All we have to do is play as good as we can and to not let up at any point in the individual matches."

Included in the tournament will be all of the district schools and Cox added that there will be a lot of top flight tennis played throughout the weekend.

Upsets Take Toll On Fearless Forecasters

If it were batting averages they would be all-stars, but as rognosticators, the Brand's panel of Fearless Forecasters leave much to be desired. After a dismal showing last week when none of the quacky quintet bettered the .500 mark, veteran picker Spasmodic Speedy Nieman leads the pack with a 95-61 record, for a .608 percentage on the year. Right on Nieman's heels are Bumbling Bob Nigh (94-62, .602) and Miss-The-Marc Herring (93-63, .596).

Sorry Mauri Montgomery is fourth with a 91-65 standard (,582), while Geriatric Gene Bigham has the back door covered with a dismal 88-68 ecord (.564). Herring, who joined the panel after three weeks had passed and began his quest for forecaster honors with a 46-32 mark, the same as lastplace Bigham's, has posted the best overall performance the past three weeks. Herring and Bigham posted 12-14 marks last week to top the panel, with Nigh and Mon-

Montreal Edges LA

LOS ANGELES (AP) -The Montreal Expos, bolstered by a masterful pitching performance by Ray Burris, return home on even terms in the National League Championship Series after beating rookie sensation Fernando Valenzuela and breaking the Dodger Stadium jinx in the process.

And patience was the key to Wednesday night's 3-0 victory as far as rookie outfielder

Tim Raines is concerned. Raines. Valenzuela's only serious challenger for the NL Rookie-of-the-Year award, collected three hits because he refused to chase the 20-year-old left-hander's out pitch - the low screwball.

"I was just thinking about laying off those screwballs down and away and waiting for a fast ball I could handle and he came with those pitches I could hit," Raines said after the Expos evened the best-of-five playoffs with the Dodgers at one victory each. The five-hit shutout by Burris not only tied the series, but enabled the Expos to break a 10-game Dodger Stadium losing streak. They had lost 19 or their last 20 games in Los Angeles!

Now the series shifts to chilly Montreal; where the nighttime low temperature for the week was recorded at 28 degrees on Monday night. The teams square off Friday night and Saturday afternoon. A fifth game, if necessary, would be played

Undefeated SWC Teams On Road

DALLAS (AP) - Three undefeated Southwest Conference football teams are all on the road Saturday, traveling to extremely unfriendly locales.

Texas takes its No. 1 ranking in The Associated Press college football poll to Fayetteville, Southern Methodist risks its 5-0 record and No. 10 AP ranking against Houston and Texas A&M visits defending SWC champion Baylor.

Rice visits Texas Tech in the fourth conference game and TCU hosts Utah State in a non-conference match.

Here is a look at each game, in order of starting

Texas A&M (4-1, 2-0 in SWC) at Baylor (3-3, 1-2) -Bears have beaten Aggies three straight but have never won four in a row. Ags hold 44-26-7 series lead. On defense, Aggies rank 11th nationally against the run at 92.8 yards per game, Bears are fourth in SWC pass defense at 167 per game. Four of league's top 10 runners are in the contest - Aggies'

Johnny Hector and Earnest Jackson rank 5th and 6th, Bears' Walter Abercrombie and Dennis Gentry are 7th and 10th

Utah State (3-3) at Texas Christian (2-3), 2 p.m. - Utah State fresh off 17-14 victory over Pacific, Frogs trying to rebound from 41-28 threshing by Rice. Stanley Washington. nation's No. 2 pass receiver, suffered broken rib in Rice game and will miss this one.

Texas (4-0, 1-0) at Arkansas (4-1, 1-1, 2:45 p.m. -Regionally-televised (ABC-TV) game. Arkansas rebounded from TCU toss to beat Texas Tech 24-16. The winner of this one has won or shared SWC title five of last nine years. Texas leads SWC in all three defensive categories, ranks fourth nationally in total defense, fifth in rushing defense. Razorbacks are 12th nationally in rushing defense. Hog QB Tom Jones, out with injury since TCU game, will start against

Texas. Longhorns have won eight of last nine and 12 of last

14 to take 47-15 series lead.

39-15 in SWC and 18-7 in games played in Arkansasbut last four games have been decided by total of 20 points.

Denver

Buffalo

Cleveland

Tampa Bay

Southern Methodist (5-0, 2-0) at Houston (3-2, 1-1), 7:30 p.m. - SMU is third nationally in scoring with 39.6 points per game, but Cougars are fifth nationally against scoring, allowing just 7.8 points per game. Mustangs enjoying best start since 1950. Cougars lead series 4-2 but Mustangs have 2-1 edge in Astrodome. Mustangs lead conference in total offense (419.6 yards per game) and rushing offense (321.6). Houston's total defense of 229.8 is tenth in nation.

Rice (2-3, 1-1) at Texas Tech (1-4, 0-3), 7:30 p.m. -Rice win would give Owls best start since 1967. Tech suffering worst SWC start since 1966. The series is knotted at 15-15-1 but Tech leads 7-4 in Lubbock and has won six straight since 1974. Rice surged from 15 points back to smother TCU, 41-28, a week after Frogs had beaten Arkansas.

The "E" Game

Martha Harvey of Beaumont and her son Graham re-enact the "E" game," a vision test that gave the first indication that Graham was seeing poorly. His eye problem was diagnosed as amblyopia or "lazy eye,"; had it not been detected and treated early, Graham would have soon lost all useful sight in his right eye.

Screening Volunteer's Son First One Helped

(SPC) Little did Martha Harvey realize when she volunteered for the vision screening program in Beau-mont that the first child she'd help would be her own. Yet it happened on her first screening assignment. It was at her son's nursery school and there the first to fail the vision test she gave was her four-year old Graham.

Martha was stunned! "At no time had Graham ever given us any indication he wasn't seeing correctly; yet the screening indicated he had very poor sight in his right eye.

'My first reaction was that he was nervous because his mother was testing him. So another screener did the retest and when she got the same results, I took Graham for a professional eye examination as quickly as I could get an appointment."

The examination revealed that Graham had amblyopia or "lazy eye," the most serious early childhood eye problem, she explained. With amblyopia one eye is stronger than the other and gradually takes over all seeing functions. The other or "lazy eye" then becomes progressively weaker and in time loses all useful sight.

nothing can be done to restore poorly so doesn't complain sight in that eye. That is why am so grateful that Graham's condition was caught early enough to be treated," she said. "As part of the treatment, Graham's stronger eye was patched, forcing the weak one to work. thereby strengthening it.

prescribed." Martha Harvey is a screener with the Beaumont junior league, one of 60 volunteer organizations throughout Texas who have been trained by The Texas Society to Prevent Blindness to do vision screening in their local communities.

"These groups yearly screen over 40,000 children,' says William D. Pittman, O.D., State Program Chairman for TSPB. "Last year 1,800 children were referred from the program for professional eye examinations and in just about every instance, their parents, like Mrs. Harvey, were surprised to learn their child might have an eye problem."

"This attitude is understandable," Dr. Pittman wenton. "Unless the child has a condition like crossed eyes, there is seldom an external sign to indicate an eye problem. What's more, a child has no "Once this happens, way of knowing if he is seeing about it. For instance, if a child sees a tree down the street as a green blur, he thinks trees look like that to everyone."

"This underscores the importance of a good vision screening program," he stressed. "Without one, there is no way to find the one child in every 20 who has an eye problem that can be best corrected if caught early in life."

"Last year the State of Texas initiated a vision screening law that requires all children entering school for first time have a vision test. The Society applauds the law and has worked to help implement it. However both the Society and The Texas Department of Health emphasize that the earlier in life a child has a vision test, the better it is for the child. Had young Graham's amblyopia gone undetected until he was six or seven, it might have been too late to correct his

"lazy" eye. Many parents think that a child's vision can't be tested until the child is old enough to read the letters on the eye chart, Dr. Pittman went on. That is erroneous. Doctors can readily test a baby's sight and Prevent Blindness looks forward to the day when every child's eyes will be examined by a professional at birth and during the preschool years.

"That, however, is still the impossible dream," Dr. Pittman said, "so special eye charts have been devised for screening young children. In the Prevent Blindness and Texas school programs, a "Tumbling E' chart is used. The "E's are faced in 4 different directions on the chart and the child is asked to indicate which way the 'E's' are pointing. It's a simple test, often played as a game with the children, yet it can detect major problems such as amblyopia and refractive errors. Failure to pass the diagnosis as traumatic cataracts and retinal

"If a child has not had a professional eye examination or been tested in a vision screening program, Prevent Blindness encourages the parent to write for the Society's free Home Eye Test for preschoolers. This test will give the parent an opportunity to play this important 'game' at home," Dr. Pittman said.

isn't just the stuff of strong bones: It also plays a role in the clotting of blood, and it's important in the contraction and relaxation of the heart. Calcium is also a vital link in nerve transmission, and an essential element in enzyme regulation.

The Food and Drug Administration states that the more calcium is needed, the more rapidly it is absorbed by the body. Children and especially adolescents, who are in a high growth period, have a greater need for calcium. Pregant women and nursing mothers also have a high need for the nutrient. Spain stressed the importance of safety in the classroom, and pointed out potential fire and safety bazards. He elaborated upon preventative measures and noted that the greatest hazards in the class were waddeu papers in the trash cans and blanket wash that is used on the offset presses.

When the fighting stopped at Yorktown five years later, thousands had sacrificed lives and fortunes, but America's "sacred honor" remained intact. In October of 1781, the Declaration of Independence became an accomplished fact of world politics.

The 1981 Yorktown celebration will, in many ways,be modeled after the 1931 "Ses-Schranot, a newcomer, on the quicentennial" event, which brought the largest gathering of people for one occasion in Virginia history. As in that celebration, four days (Oct. 16-19) are set aside for special events, exhibits, military reviews, cultural shows, ceremonies, and speeches. Friday, October 16, 1981 will be "Festival Day." Plans as yet are unconfirmed, but the schedule calls for local, state, federal and foreign dignitaries to deliver addresses. Governor Dalton will officially open the ceremonies.

Saturday, October 17, is set aside as "Military Day," featuring parades, concerts, and addresses by national and international officials. Sunday, October 18, is declared "A Day of Prayer and Thanksgiving." On this date in 1781, Washington and Cornwallis were negotiating the terms of surrender at the Moore house near the Yorktown Battlefield. This day will also commemorate "Gloucester Surrender Day." The fourth and final day, October 19, 1981, is called "Celebration of Victory." In 1931, President Hoover delivered the keynote address on this date. Likewise, President Reagan has been invited, and is expected to participate in the 1981 celebration.

As a prelude to the Yorktown Day activities. plans are to commemorate the crucial Battle of the Capes between Admiral de Grasse and Sir Thomas Graves off the mouth of the Chesapeake Bay. It was the French navy's success in this battle that sealed the fate of Cornwallis at Yorktown.

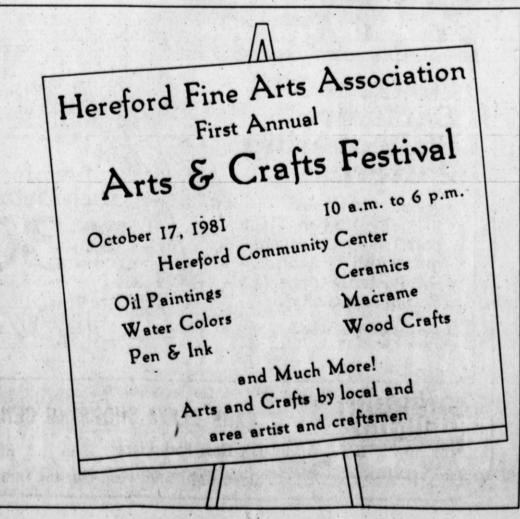

The Yorktown celebration will involve thousands of people in exhibits, recreated military regiments, entertainment and services.

These events are designed to reach all Americans; to show the nation, and the world, that America remains committed to the ideals of

Planning Ahead A Must For Happier Holidays

Traveling for the holidays or expecting travelers? Plan ahead - even scheme, if you must - to build the "happy" into your holidays, says Diane Welch, a family life education specialist.

When you "pack your bags" for the trip or "get the spare room ready," consider a few hints that will encourage tranquility and fun, the specialist advises.

Welch is on the home economics staff of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

"Hints" in this case are ways to allow for personality charasteristics or normal human traits that may lead to tenseness simply because of the closeness involved and changes in normal routines. Knowing the potential "mischief" that can arise and using some planning skills to keep "mischief" from getting out of hand can build the "happy" into any situation, Welch insists.

MAKE PRELIMINARY PLANS

Discuss ideas with al' in-

Obtain suggestions of what people would like to do and whom they would like to be with while on the trip.

Prioritize, compromise and make decisions. Schedule and make arrangements far enough in advance to allow people to get ready.

DECIDE LENGTH, COST Be realistic about holiday

That helps sidestep some of the major risks of abrasion and reactions to territorial invasion, which family togetherness in close quarters may bring.

Crowded conditions and the competition for housing resources - showers, televisions, bed and phones - and the loss of valued privacy may be more than some people can manage.

Comfort for most people lies in the fact that conditions are temporary.

RECOGNIZE INDIVIDUAL DIFFERENCES

Individual personality factors also can produce friction. Moodiness, distractions by non-appealing activities or noise levels, temperature preferences, possessiveness of time and objects, differences in values, wants and interests, and even intergenerational power struggles are all components of possible conflict.

Personalities may not blend well with prolonged interaction. Plans for time that allows separate activities for separate family members.

SHARE TASKS Consider tasks that may be shared. Many people feel more comfortable when they feel they are helping with the responsibilities of the host family.

Also talk about time frameworks and routines. "Unknowns" create more problems than "knowns."

AVOID OVERDOING Avoid overdoing on eating and social activities. Decide on a program that puts desired activities at the top of the list and leaves others out - to balance holiday "doings" with blocks of time for rest. In addition, and perhaps hardest to do -- observe moderation.

BUILD IN RECOVERY TIME

Finally, it's a good idea to allow for a recovery period AFTER holiday travels or visits -- before family members must go back to school, work and other responsibilities, the specialist

Tim Ruland, son of Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Ruland, and Eddie Lindeman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Florain Lindeman, have been cast in the upcoming McMurry theatre production of "Roshomon." Tim will be playing the role of the Samurai and Eddie will play the role of the Wigmaker.

The central theme of the play is one of drama and comedy. Four people tell different stories of a murder. The play is set some one thousand years ago, in and around the city of Kyoto, Japan, near the Roshomon Gate.

It happens that a husband and wife are journeying in the forest outside the city when attacked by the notorious Bandit of the Woods. The wife is assaulted, while the man is tied helplessly to a stump.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Our oldest daughter is almost 30 and has been married twice - both divorces not her fault. A few months ago Ruth let a guy move in with her. She has to make house payments and neither of her lousy ex's give one cent alimony.

This fellow, Chuck, told Ruth not to sell her pice, that he would give up his apartment and help her with the house payments. Before he moved in he talked about marriage. Now he has changed his mind. So she is living in sin. God knows we didn't raise her this way. She sang soprano in the church choir.

Chuck has not paid for a dime's worth of groceries won't even buy dog food. he parties all the time, and Ruth sits around bawling, waiting for him to come home. I've tried to talk sense into her head, but she won't listen.

DEAR VA.: Would your daughter allow you to take the children for a while? Are you able and willing to do so? Give it some thought.

It's awfully hard to sit on the sidelines and watch your daughter mess up her life, but the women is 3 times 7 plus 9. You cannot impose your values on her and tell her how to live.

Write and let me know what you have decided. I hope you can take the girls. Your daughter sounds too troubled to be a decent role model and provide the emotional support her children need.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I consider myself a normal 17-year-old high school girl. I get mad crushes on boys, like to yak on the phone a lot and I love parties. But I have to major problems. First of all, I have terrible fistfights with my parents - not the usual kind. I end up by knocking the daylights out of them. I feel sorry later because I love them both dearly.

The second problem is that I'm about 70 pounds overweight. I eat like crazy. Every time I pass the refrigerator I have to stuff my mouth. I can't hold to a

I have been reading your column for a long time, and I used to make fun of you because I thought you were so square. Now I find myself asking you for some suggestions on how to feel better about myself. I am sort of ashamed of the way I treat my parents, and I sure wish I could lose about 75 pounds. Please help me.-Out Of Sight In Savannah

DEAR SAVANNAH: You need a lot more help than I can give you. For openers, you are smart enough to know that it is not "normal" to be 70 pounds overweight. Neither is it "normal" to beat up on your parents.

Start with your school counselor. Tell him (or her) exactly what you have told me. If there is no counselor in your school, speak to your favorite teacher and ask her to help you get some counseling. (She can check the mental health services that are listed in the phone book.)

See the school nurse about an appointment with a doctor who will help you loose weight. Your emotional problems are undoubtedly related to your weight problem - and vice versa. You need professional help to get your life straightened around. I hope and pray you listen to me. Good luck.

BY ERMA BOMBECK

One of the first concerns of new mothers is the eating habits of children.

I can make you an authority in 400 words or less. The more teeth a child has, the less he chews. He or she will never eat anything that is good for him-gives him strong bones or teeth-makes him feel better.

He will never eat anything that is green. His first words will be "a la carte." He will never eat the same cereal twice.

A child inherently feels that the dog gets better food than he

When a mother pretends to love the white lumpy stuff in the spoon that smells, a child has absolutely no reason to trust

A child will never eat anything in a sack with his name on Knowing this, I cannot imagine why there is flak every year somewhere regarding school lunches. The school lunch has always been designed to give children the nutritional balance and vitamins necessary for growth and development that a child is put to bed early for not eating at home.

Some children have been known to enter high school believing in their hearts that broccoli is something you plant on Arbor Day for shade.

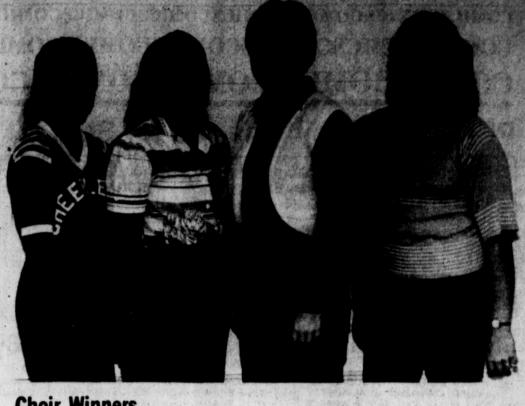

Yet every year someone insists upon converting them to nutrition despite the fact that nutrition is what gets thrown

Until then, the award for ingenuity goes to a school in the Midwest which announced that the price of a school lunch will go up to $1.35 a year.

If exorbitant prices don't get children flocking to the cafeteria, then I've been a mother 25 years for nothing.

NEW YORK - Charles M. Schulz, creator of the comic strip PEANUTS, expressed his thanks today to the thousands of readers and well-wishers who wrote cards and letters to him after his recent heart surgery.

Schulz has had a practice of answering in some fashion all the mail he received from PEANUTS fans, but the recent volume proved too large to handle.

Grumman Corp. Savoring Court Victo

UNIONDALE, N.Y. (AP) - Grumman Corp., savoring a court victory in its effort to fend off a $450 million takeover bid by LTV Corp., is moving to buy massive blocks of its own stock to fortify its position.

U.S. District Court Judge Jacob Mishler on Wednesday issued a 65-page preliminary injunction halting any further acquisition moves by Dallasbased LTV, which offered last month to buy 70 percent of Grumman's 13.8 million outstanding shares at $45 a share, an offer which at the time was about $20 above the market price.

The offer was made on

"sufficient evidence to corroborate the possibility of violations of federal antitrust laws" and ordered the matter to trial.

Grumman, based in Bethpage on New York's Long Island, is principally an aerospace company and the nation's fourth-largest defense contractor. The company filed suit Sept. 28 to try to block the takeover, claiming LTV had violated federal anti-trust laws.

During a two-day hearing in front of Mishler last week, Grumman argued that the two companies were competitors in at least three aerospace and military product markets.

'The lessening of competition might very well effect the quality and price of weapons sold to the United States Navy," Mishler said.

"We are shocked and disappointed and plan an immediate appeal. We were not expecting that ruling," said John Johnson, public information officer at LTV.

"Everyone at Grumman is very pleased," said spokesman Sands Jones.

But even as it reeled from Mishler's decision, LTV was moving to stop massive purchases by Grumman of its own stock.

In a hearing Wednesday before Mishler on a separate action filed by LTV, the Dallas company's attorney, Henry King, argued that

Grumman should be stopped from buying any more of its own stock and forced to rescind previous purchases of 1.2 million shares made just this Mishler reserved decision on the matter, saying he would make a ruling "as soon as possible." The judge already rejected a request Tuesday to issue a temporary restraining order against the purchase of Grumman stock.

LTV said its offer is contingent on gaining 50.1 percent of the company's stock.

Meanwhile, Paul Thayer, LTV's chairman and chief executive, and Grumman President Joseph G. Gavin, testified at a Manhattan hearing held by state Attorney General Robert Abrams' office to determine if LTV's proposed takeover bid contained full financial disclosure to Grumman stockholders.

Mexican National Sentenced To 30 Years For Murder

FLORESVILLE, Texas (AP) - A woman who admitted shooting San Antonio realtor Julian Dess one time in 1979 has been sentenced to 30 years in prison.

Irma Zani, 34, a Mexican national who was promised immunity to testify against her husband in the Dess killing, was sentenced Wednesday after being convicted of murder in 218th District

After District Judge Pat Priest of San Antonio pronounced the punishment, Mrs. Zani shook hands across the counsel table with Wilson County District Attorney Alger Kendall Jr. and said, "I hope God forgives you for

Mrs. Zanı admitted shooting Dess but said her husband - who has been implicated in three killings, including the mutilation death of his mother - forced her to pull the trigger after she thought the realtor already was dead.

Dess' body, which had been ravaged by coyotes, was found on a desolate stretch of the Padre Island national Seashore on Dec. 8, 1979, four days after he disappeared while showing property to a couple in Wilson County.

Dess, 73, was shot three times in the head with a .25-caliber pistol, an autospy showed. Testimony showed the pistol was found by the FBI in Acapulco and had been purchased by Zani in Austin in September 1979.

In a statement introduced into the trial, Mrs. Zani said her husband, Robert, shot Dess two or three times and "then gave me the pistol and told me to shoot Mr. Dess. I told him 'I think he is dead.' Robert Zani said, 'So what?'

shot Mr. Dess one time." A federal grand jury also indicted him on a murder charge in Dess' slaying because the body was found in a national park.

Wilson County authorities took jurisdiction in Irma Zani's case after she told Zani said her husband plannthem the murder happened on a ranch in the county.

Mrs. Zani agreed to cooperate with authorities investigating Dess' killing after she was promised immunity by Kendall if she would comply with several conditions, including testifying at her husband's trial.

However, the immunity grant, approved on May 20, 1980 by two district judges, was ruled invalid at a pre-

Officials said the unit Dog Diseases More Frequent In Summer

Many diseases that are threatening to a dog's life, such as rabies, parvovirus and heartworm, occur more frequently in the warmer months. With warm days dwindling, pet-owners may believe that it's all right to stop worrying about the health of their fmaily's canine friend. This is not

"Many problems that are not readily apparent, but which could later affect the good health of your dog, can be prevented," said Dr. Ben Johnston, president of the Texas Veterinary Medical Association. Taking 10 minutes or so to give your pet a home health examination can be the best insurance to keeping him healthy, said Johnston.

First, stand back and look at your dog from head to tail. His coat should be shiny, and there should be no indication of hair loss. Next, look at his eyes for any sign of inflammation, soreness, or growths. The eyes should be clear, showing no evidence of mucous buildup or matting. Look into his mouth, paying particular attention to the lips, gums and teeth. The lips and gums should be pink; and the teeth should be checked dark staining or mineral deposits on his teeth. Next, look into your dog's ears. Are there any scratches, bruises or rashes? Also pay attention if there is any for odor or tartar - look for odor from his ears. Even though a dog's coat is a protective covering, his skin should also be examined for growths, or external parasites such as fleas or ticks. In older dogs especially, it is important to feel the skin for growths or small wart-like tumors.

Other items that should be considered in your dog's home health exam is whether or not he is eating regularly. Has there been any vomiting or any loss of appetite? Also check your pet's stool for any blood or diarrhea. If you detect any problem or abnormality as you give your family's canine friend his home health examination, be sure to check with your veterinarian. Your pet may indeed be healthy, but don't take a chance on it.

Pets, just like people, need correct them, advises Johnston.

the offensive odor. We would appreciate any advice you can offer. DEAR READER - Of course cleanliness is impor-tant in preventing body odors but most people do not know that ordinary soap and water often will not work, even if you bathe every

Why? Because the odor is usually caused by bacterial action on normal sweat. These bacteria are inside the layers of the skin. Washing the surface of the skin will not remove them. That is why a cleansing soap that penetrates the outer layers of the skin is sometimes necessary.

A preparation that con-tains hexachlorophene is the best available, such as pHisoHex. It is a prescription item because it was found years ago to cause damage to babies. Before that it was routinely used in hospital nurseries to prevent staphylococcal epidemics.

Your daughter's doctor can give her a prescription.
The hexachlorophene will penetrate the skin and stay there. In a few days it will begin to kill off the resident bacteria and her odor prob-lem will begin to disappear, provided that really is the cause — and it probably is in view of its location. I don't think it has a thing to do with her diet.

I am sending you The Health Letter number 18-2, Sweating, Antiperspirants and Body Odor, to give you more details about this.

Others who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY

The usual deodorants you can buy will not correct her problem but they may pro-vide some limited relief. They are fine for less difficult problems. And because I don't know your daughter's age I want to caution that I do not recommend hexachlorophene regularly in anyone who is pregnant or likely to be regnant. Otherwise using it locally as under the arms until the odor disappears is not likely to be a problem.

DEAR DR. LAMB - I have been on one grain of thyroid for about 10 years. In that time I have gained 15 pounds. I've tried dieting but can't lose any weight. It came on and stayed on after I started on the thyroid program. Could the thyroid keep me from losing weight? keep me from losing weight? Should I stop taking it to see? I don't know why the doctor put me on them. Exactly what does the pill do for me?

DEAR READER - If you have a normal thyroid, taking a small dose of thyroid will not do a thing for you. Your thyroid gland just decreases the amount of thy-roid hormone it produces roid hormone it produces. The end result of the thyroid you take plus the amount produced by the gland is about the same as the gland would have produced if you had left the thyroid pills

Your doctor must have thought you had low thyroid function. If so, stopping your thyroid pills will only make matters worse. If you really do have low thyroid func-tion, you might need more thyroid rather than none. But I must add that low thy-roid function is seldom a cause for weight gain. Usu-ally it is caused by too many calories. Talk to your doctor and see if he wants you to take more thyroid or not. DEAR DR. LAMB - My son had a seizure just after his 16th birthday. I took him to the best neurosurgeon in this area and he told me he had epilepsy and put him on phenobarbital. He had a brain scan along with a blood sugar tolerance test. He also had a brain wave test and all of his tests were negative. My son is now 19 and last month he had another seizure. It seems before these attacks he complains of a nervous stomach. Can there be any connection between the two?

I'm sure his doctor is a fine, capable man but he can't communicate with my son or me so can you tell me what is causing the seizures? I worry that he is treating a symptom without looking for the cause. Other than the seizures my son has always been healthy and athletic. I would appreciate any infor-mation concerning his prob-

DEAR READER - Your son's doctor thinks he has already told you what is causing your son's seizures when he told you he had epilepsy. The story is typical for this rather common condition. In many such cases no underlying cause is ever found. In others we know it is caused by a specific disease or injury. Some people develop seizures for the first time after head injuries sustained in automobile accidents.

The important thing is to be sure there is no underlying cause that can be corrected, rather than neglected, and I am sure from your letter that your son's doctor has already done this. You will under stand your son's problem better after you read The Health Letter number 10-8, Epilepsy: You Can Have It Too, which I am sending

Others who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, selfaddressed envelope for it to me, in care of this newspa-per, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY As the Health Letter explains, many people with such disorders live perfectly normal lives. In fact some important people in history, such as Julius Ceaser and Alexander the Great, were

The other point you need to keep in mind is that it is not always easy to control seizures. It often takes a period of time in evaluating the individual patient's responses to different treatments before finding the best one available. But most people with this problem can have the seizures controlled with various treatment programs now available.

DEAR DR. LAMB - We have a spoiling grandmother who gives our 2 and 3-yearold children Halls cough drops and Rolaids as candy. Occasionally when we see her they will get four or more Halls in one day. She says they are good for them, the cough drops clear up their nose. The children don't have colds when she gives them the cough drops. Could I please have your opinion on this because I disagree?

DEAR READER - I'm sure she means well and just wants to express her love for her grandchildren but it is a bad habit. Halls cough drops contain one ingredient that has an adrenaline-like action. That is why it helps to clear the nose in patients who have a stuffy nose from a cold. It has another ingredient that is a cough suppressant.

Beyond that, it is very bad to give children medicines, including antacids, as a substitute for candy. It gives
