

Armour Closing: A Simple Tragedy

By DEBE GRAVES
Staff Writer

An emotional issue, the closing of Armour operations in Hereford, has been surrounded by much controversy and bitterness, like any story there are two sides to the problems which brought about the demise of the beef processing plant. To get an inside look at Armour, we talked with Bill Graham an Armour employee for 10 months in the personnel department. Graham, who will be moving to Amarillo after the close of the plant, candidly shared some of his insights with us.

"To really understand what is going on you have to realize it is not a Watergate scandal. It is a simple tragedy which happens all the time. In this case it is happening to Armour, their time has come," begins Graham.

"I am one of the people caught in the middle, and there are many others out there who are caught in the crossfire between management and the union. Most of the time they follow the union stuff because the union has been pictured as the guys in white hats with the management being the bad guys," he continues.

"I don't like the management out there any better than I do the union. Most of the decisions made in management are not home-grown, they are made by people hundreds of miles away in Phoenix where Hereford is a number on a book."

"We have two sides who refuse to listen to each other; management and union, and to complicate matters, divine intervention coming in the form of orders from the Armour citadel in Phoenix," states Graham.

Graham says he feels the attitude at Armour has been adversarial contempt and the "dislike between the armed camps" has overshadowed their purposes. He says he feels that rather than an attitude of willing compromise between the two factions "there is no give between these guys."

"It is not so much a house divided as a house which was never together in the first place. If the union had taken a cut in wages in exchange for a voting member on the board or worker participation in decision making things could have worked out. On the other hand, chances are that management would have agreed to the cut in salary but not to the compromise."

"The Union tried to win small battles like compensation for re-doing boxes of meat that had already been packed and other odds and ends. They also fought to keep guys on the payroll who didn't deserve to remain employed. Management, in return, has created situations which have led to major rips in the morale and in the fiber of the place."

Graham adds, "When a worker joins the union they are not an employee anymore they are a Union Member. They begin to think they can do whatever they want and they think the union will protect them. It's like rubbing sheep's blood on your door to protect your eldest son." According to Graham the situation at the local plant became a case of the blue hats and the white hats with no middle ground. "The actual blame lies with the union, the management and the employees who took advantage of the company."

He explains that because of the bitterness many of the employees felt toward the company they began abusing privileges to hit at the company in the money belt. "Everyone takes advantage of their jobs occasionally, but some of these guys became professionals at it. Taking a piece out of the company became a profession." Graham cites as an example perpetual abuse of sick-pay by employees who were able to work.

Armour is a subsidiary of Greyhound Corporation, which some Armour employees have named "the running dog." (See CLOSING, Page 2)

County Fathers Approve Budget Amendments, CETA Contract

By BOB NIGH
MANAGING EDITOR

Deaf Smith County Commissioners approved budget amendments and okayed a new CETA contract during their regular session Monday at the court house, and acted upon two other pieces of business during two emergency meetings as well.

The emergency meetings, called because the items in question were not on the posted agenda, concerned the closing of the purchase of the Dick Walker property by the county and the need to advertise for bids on a new vehicle for the sheriff's office.

The court named Precinct 2 commissioner Austin Rose as the county's agent to handle the closing on the real estate deal concerning the Walker property, which will be used as office and storage space.

Sheriff's deputy Dean Butcher asked the county to advertise for bids on a 1981 model car for the sheriff's department to replace a unit damaged in an accident recently. Permission was granted to do so by the court.

County Auditor Alex Schroeter presented budget amendments to the county fathers in the amount of $51,180. "We've got the money in the budget, it's just on the wrong lines," Schroeter said. The court approved the amendments, which included increases of $15,140 in salaries, $8,100 in prisoner's board, and $5,140 in telephone expenses.

Local CETA coordinator Loretta Kindsfather presented a proposal put together by her and Amarillo CETA Interim Director Vicki Jacobs. Under the proposed contract Mrs. Kindsfather would split time equally between Deaf Smith County and the Panhandle Regional Planning Commission (PRPC) at a quarterly salary from each entity of $2,152.

The contract also calls for a full-time secretary locally at a quarterly salary of $2,447. Mrs. Kindsfather told the court that the proposed setup would save both the county and the PRPC "about $10,000 per year."

In other action, the commissioners approved a request by Deaf Smith REC to cross a county road in precinct 2 with an electric line, and they signed the 1981 property value report for the county.

Permission was granted to build a bridge in the northeast part of the county at a cost of $9,120 as the county's party of the project. The state will pay the remainder of the cost, or $36,480.

Barry Mainardi of Dallas and Dannie Boyd of Amarillo discussed a deferred compensation program for county employees with the court. The program, through special tax laws, allows county employees to defer a portion of their income, and the taxes on that income, and use both to build a bigger fund for supplemental retirement income.

The program was developed under the direction of the National Association of Counties (NACo) Governing Committee, and is a completely-voluntary program.

Polish Dissident Group KOR Goes Underground

GDANSK, Poland (AP) — The Solidarity congress heard another attack on Poland's Communist leaders as the official media charged that the dissident group KOR was going underground inside the independent labor federation.

The 800 delegates to the union's first national congress applauded 93-year-old economist Edward Lipinski Monday when he told them the Polish Communist Party's brand of socialism "has been destroying us for 30 years."

"I consider myself a socialist and have been a socialist since 1906," said Lipinski. "But the socialism created was a socialism of mismanagement unequalled in 200 years — a socialism of prisons, censorship and police."

"It is this socialism that is anti-socialist and anti-revolutionary," said Lipinski, a founder of KOR who announced its dissolution to the congress.

KOR — the Committee for Social Defense — was founded in 1976 to help workers who were punished for participating in riots over food-price increases. Its leaders have been among the chief advisers of Lech Walesa and other leaders of Solidarity.

KOR's chairman, Jacek Kuron, told the congress the committee is ceasing to exist because it "has fulfilled its function.... Now, with Solidarity, it has become superfluous." Some union theorists believed the disbanding of KOR would remove a major target of Soviet and Polish leaders, who accuse it of manipulating the union. But the response of the official media indicated any such belief was groundless.

"KOR has made Solidarity its heir," said Warsaw Radio. "The illegal opposition organization numbering a few dozen wants to become a legal organization numbering millions."

Trybuna Ludu, the Communist Party newspaper, said: "KOR is planning to declare that it has given birth to an enormous child in the person of Solidarity. The actions of KOR will continue within Solidarity."

Meanwhile, new labor unrest was brewing. Union leaders in the Katowice coal region in southern Poland declared a strike alert to protest the arrest of the publisher of a union paper and pressure to work the mines on holiday Saturdays.

The government has sent troops into the mines to help boost lagging production of coal, Poland's chief export. It says 175 million tons is the minimum necessary this year, but only 163 million are expected so far.

A spokesman for a "free trade union for policemen" told the Solidarity congress 2,000 police officers participated in a national founding congress on June 1. Zbigniew Zmudzkiak said 40,000 policemen support a union "to demand that police will not be used to stamp out the protests of the working class."

The Interior Ministry has banned the policemen's union.

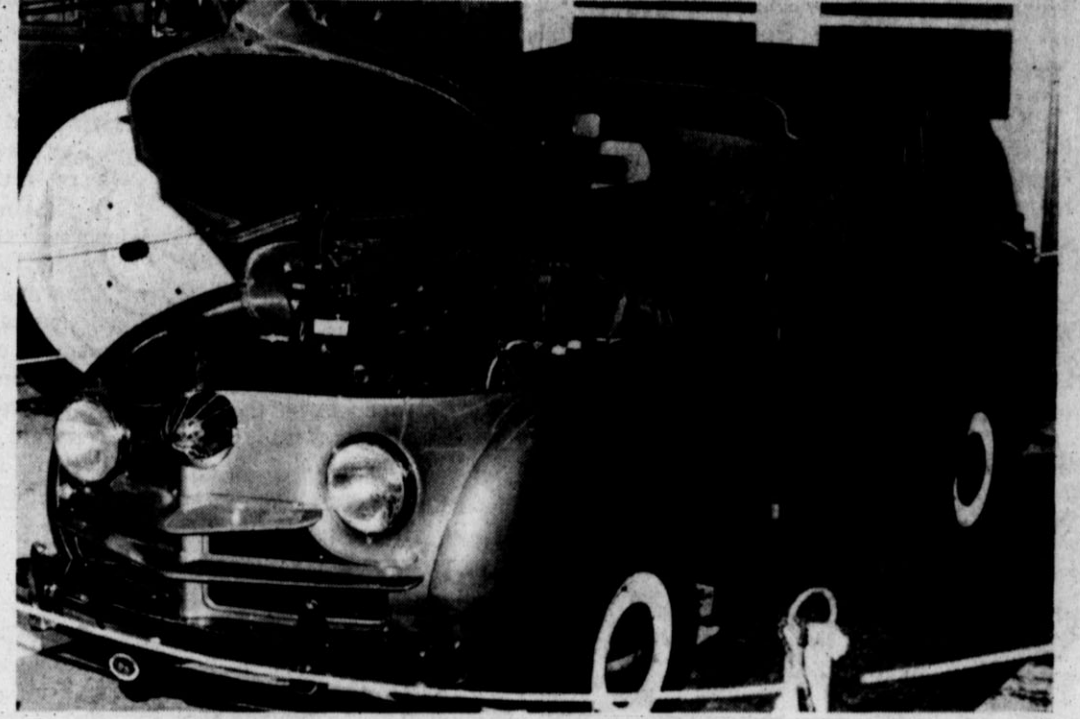

Hinckley's Lawyers Plan To Enter Insanity Plea

WASHINGTON (AP) — After acknowledging for the first time that John W. Hinckley Jr. shot President Reagan, lawyers for the 26-year-old defendant are planning an insanity defense that would include a split trial with two juries.

The defense decision means competing psychiatrists could have a major role in Hinckley's trial, testifying on whether or not he understood his actions were wrong.

Were Hinckley found innocent by reason of insanity he would be sent to a mental institution until a judge ruled he was no longer dangerous to himself or to others because of mental illness. Hinckley could face life im-

Haig, Gromyko Make Little Headway Monday

UNITED NATIONS (AP) — Secretary of State Alexander M. Haig Jr. and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko made little apparent headway in resolving U.S.-Soviet tensions during nine hours of meetings, but they agreed to try again early next year.

Haig and Gromyko met for five hours Monday, following a four-hour session last Wednesday. The first meeting produced agreement to begin arms control talks Nov. 30 in Geneva. After the second meeting, State Department spokesman Dean Fischer said they covered "the full range of international and bilateral issues" and "agreed to continue their discussions early next year." The spokesman said the next meeting would probably be held in Geneva.

The talks were the first high-level contact between the Reagan administration and the Soviet government, and Fischer indicated the administration had not expected any major agreements.

He told reporters the talks were "frank, businesslike and serious," and "the outcome... essentially met our expectations." "I wouldn't want to characterize it as the opening of a new rapprochement," he said. "...I think it is important to bear in mind that this was the first series of meetings that the secretary has had with Foreign Minister Gromyko. They did agree on the TNF negotiations and they did in fact discuss at great length all of the issues of bilateral and international concern."

The TNF or Theater Nuclear Force negotiations are the arms talks beginning next month to limit the deployment of medium-range nuclear missiles in Europe.

Japanese Market Recovers Sharply

By The Associated Press

Following the yo-yo pattern set on Wall Street during a day of frantic worldwide trading, the Japanese stock market made a sharp recovery early today after plummeting to its worst single-day decline in history.

Within hours of the opening of the market in Tokyo, stock prices had regained most of the ground they lost Monday, although prices continued to drop in Hong Kong today.

The selling wave that hit Tokyo and London struck New York for the first 30 minutes of trading Monday, but the American market soon stabilized in heavy trading and surged to post substantial gains on the day.

Stock prices around the globe were under pressure in part because of concern over whether the United States budget deficit can be controlled to help ease interest rates, analysts said. There was also uncertainty

Fischer said Haig emphasized to Gromyko the U.S. desire "to resolve international questions on the basis of restraint and reciprocity." This underscored the Reagan (See HAIG, Page 2)

Irani Official Killed; More Leftists Executed

By FERESHTEH EMAMI
Associated Press Writer

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Another top Iranian clergyman was assassinated today by a leftist guerrilla who walked up to him after a lecture and set off a hand grenade, the official Pars news agency said. The assassin's hand was torn off in the blast, and a security guard and a student also were wounded, it said.

Pars said the victim was Hojatoleslam Abdulkarim Hashemi-Nejad, secretary general of the ruling Islamic Republican Party in northeastern Mashhad. He was a ranking clergyman, and like other assassination victims before him was loyal to Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini.

Pars said Hashemi-Nejad's lecture was delivered at the IRP's headquarters in Mashhad and that angry demonstrators surged through the streets of the city after the assassination demanding revenge.

"If courts don't move the people will rise," the demonstrators chanted, according to Pars. "Shed the blood of the monafeqin." Monafeqin, Persian for "hypocrites," is the term the Khomeini regime uses for the leftist guerrillas.

The Majlis, Iran's parliament, sent a message of condolence to Khomeini which said: "They take away a star every night and yet this grief-stricken sky is filled with our stars," Pars said. Several weeks ago a leftist assassin strapped a grenade to his waist and set it off in front of the Friday prayer leader in northwestern Tabriz, killing the clergyman, himself and six others.

Pars identified both assassins as members of the "pro-U.S. Mujahedeen Khalq," the leftist guerrilla group blamed for a three-month-old urban guerrilla war against Khomeini's fundamentalist Moslem regime.

The regime announced the execution of 119 more leftists Monday, raising the official total to 993 in the three-month-old period.

Tehran Radio said 57 guerrillas were put to death for participating in the street fighting in Tehran Sunday, 52 were executed in Isfahan, and 10 died before firing squads in other cities.

Meanwhile, Iraq denied Iran's claim that Iranian forces lifted the siege of the oil refining city of Abadan. But an Iraqi military spokesman admitted that the besieging force pulled back from the north-south highway to the city.

Although the Iranian government did not issue its Abadan victory claim until hours after the fighting broke out in Tehran Sunday, Parliament Speaker Ali-Akbar Rajsanjani charged the Mujahedeen (See IRAN, Page 2)

Typhoid Outbreak

Traced to Restaurant

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — Six new cases of typhoid fever have been confirmed in the predominantly Hispanic west side of San Antonio and health officials say they expect more cases to surface in coming weeks.

The new cases increased to 33 the number of people diagnosed as suffering from typhoid in recent weeks. Thirty-one of the 33 confirmed victims — six of them identified Monday — had eaten tortillas and barbacoa, a Mexican meat dish, purchased from La Frontera Molino Restaurant, which was voluntarily closed by its owner Sunday, investigators said.

"We are most suspicious of the barbacoa (steamed tender parts of cows heads)," said Dr. Wayne Sandera of the Center for Disease Control in Atlanta.

Owner Manuel V. Menchaca voluntarily closed the restaurant Sunday and health officials said blood and stool samples were taken from its 25 employees in an effort to isolate any carrier of the disease.

Screen Missing

ORANGE, Texas (AP) — An inch-thick platinum catalyst screen worth $296,000 is missing from a Dupont chemical production facility, authorities said.

Sheriff's deputies and FBI agents questioned employees at the Dupont Sabine River Works extensively, after the screen was discovered missing.

from a plant production area, investigators said, adding that a chain was cut from a door entering the area.

The screen is an inch thick, measures 43 inches in diameter and weighs about 60 pounds, a company spokesman said. Such screens are placed in piping as part of the production process.

Jovan Rocks Tradition

With Stones Tour

DALLAS (AP) — Jovan, Inc., the fragrance manufacturer, says it's as irreverent, bold and provocative as Mick Jagger and the Rolling Stones.

And that is how company marketing officials want buyers to perceive Jovan's sponsorship of the rock group's 28-city U.S. tour.

Jovan was given the chance to sponsor the tour after Schlitz Brewing Co. declined.

"When they came to us, it took us all of six seconds to decide," said Dick Miller, Jovan's advertising director. "The Stones are innovative, irreverent, bold and provocative, and that's what we are."

Miller said the millions Jovan will spend to promote the Rolling Stones' tour carries little risk, since the group's fans tend to be the same age as Jovan's target market — the 16- to 34-year-old range.

The Rolling Stones say Jovan's sponsorship does not mean they endorse any of the products, but the perfume company expects a little bit of limelight will go a long way.

John L. Hays, 46, a Waskom welder and a patron at the cafe, died after being struck four times in a hail of gunfire from a .22-cal. revolver, authorities said. Six-year-old Lasann Wayne Thomas, also of Waskom, was treated for a wound in the arm and was released Sunday from Memorial Hospital in Marshall. He was sitting at a table with Hays when he was struck, witnesses told police.

Frankie Lee Davenport, 31, of Marshall, surrendered to police a few hours after the 9:50 p.m. shooting spree, in which police say five or six shots were fired.

Siamese Twins Born

In Set Of Triplets

EL PASO, Texas (AP) — Doctors here say there is a good chance that Siamese twins born in a set of triplet girls can be separated — although physicians are unsure when the operation could be performed.

Dr. Jose Alva, the babies' pediatrician, said Monday that the twins, joined at the chest and upper abdomen, were receiving oxygen in Sierra Medical Center's intensive care nursery and were in stable condition. He said the third triplet is in good condition and may go home in a few days.

Alva said the twins "have a good chance" of having two livers but probably can be separated even if they only have one as long as they have separate gall bladders and bile systems. The twins' intestines are connected.

With Returning Of Juveniles

U.S., Mexico May Need Treaty

EL PASO, Texas (AP) — The problem of Mexican kids who cross the border and commit crimes in El Paso seemed to have an easy solution: ship them back to Juarez to cool their heels in a juvenile detention center.

But that simple solution has become an international issue that some say may have to be resolved with a treaty between the United States and Mexico.

More than two years ago, El Paso officials reached an oral agreement with juvenile authorities in Ciudad Juarez that called for youths caught committing crimes in El Paso to be put in a detention center on the Mexican side of the border. The youths could be held for up to three months.

"It was working beautifully," said District Judge Woodrow Bean II. "The crime rate here went down last year. Those juveniles over in Juarez knew that if they were caught over here, they were going to be taken to the detention center, so they didn't come over here."

Juvenile authorities on both sides of the border said they were pleased with the arrangement. Then came the hitch.

Last December, a Juvenile Probation Department employee named Margaret Ingle refused to take some juveniles to Juarez, saying it was illegal for El Paso County officers to take prisoners into a foreign country.

She was fired, but complained, and the county Juvenile Board ruled 4-3 on April 23 that the process was indeed a violation of a clause in the Texas Constitution that prohibits "banishing" convicted criminals from the state. The board reinstated Ms. Ingle and ordered the probation department to find another way to deal with the alien juvenile criminals.

The divided vote is still a matter of debate among the county judge and assorted district judges who make up the Juvenile Board.

"I voted to leave it the way it was and if, at some future date, the court told us we were doing something wrong, then we could do something different," Bean said. "I think (the other judges) were just scared of it."

District Judge Edward Marquez, on the other hand, said, "The procedure we had before, while working well, was illegal. It didn't appear we were doing any harm until we really got into it and researched it."

The procedure worked this way: Young illegal aliens arrested on suspicion of a crime were sent to the El Paso probation department. Those with criminal records in El Paso were taken to court and, if convicted, placed in the state juvenile center in Brownwood.

If it was a first offense, the officers would load the youths into state vehicles and take them to the Juarez detention center, said Xavier Banales, head of the probation department.

"I felt bad about that, too," Marquez said, "because those kids were being locked up without any kind of a hearing."

Since the shuttle across the border was halted, Banales said, the agency has either tried to prosecute the youths or turned them over to the Immigration and Naturalization Service.

But to prosecute, the department must contact a youth's parents. That can be difficult in Juarez, which has relatively few telephones among its 900,000 people, Banales said.

Lee Holder, assistant INS director for investigations, said the teen-agers are either taken to court for deportation hearings or released at the bridge in what the INS calls "voluntary departure."

"The procedure for handling juveniles is so complicated and takes so long that they probably just find it easier to release them at the bridge," Banales said.

Banales said the change in policy "certainly had a big influence. All of a sudden, we're beginning to see two things — an increase in the number of referrals and quicker returns by the youngsters."

"Now, we're getting youngsters who come back to our facility about two or three days later," he said.

Bean said the trend proves a prediction he made when he was out-voted at the Juvenile Board meeting.

"I predicted right away that the crime rate would probably double in El Paso, especially after those kids start realizing that they're just going to take them to the bridge and kick them out," he said.

Statistics appear to bear him out. For the first 28 days of September, 56 Mexican youths have been referred to the probation department, the highest monthly total since October 1980. By contrast, in April, the last month under the agreement, 25 Mexican juveniles were arrested in El Paso.

Banales said 60 to 70 percent of the illegal alien youths are picked up for business burglaries.

The judges of the Juvenile Board have turned to Congress for help with the matter, since the Constitution limits agreements with foreign countries to the federal government.

"What we have to have is a treaty with Mexico that allows our juvenile people to return juveniles to Mexico," Bean said.

The judges appealed to Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, D-Texas, who with 14 colleagues from border states has asked the State Department to begin talks with Mexico.

"This year, 3,000 to 6,000 juveniles will illegally enter this country and commit crimes," said Bentsen's press secretary, Jack Devore. "None of these local government individually can cope with this without a national policy."

Supreme Court Rules Against Oil Producers

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Oil producers must protect landowners against financial losses resulting from premature "watering out" of leases because of field-wide migration of oil and water, the Texas Supreme Court has ruled.

The precedent-making decision Monday could mean new financial liabilities on producers as well as an upsurge in well-spacing cases before the Texas Railroad Commission.

The high court's unanimous opinion held that Amoco Production Co. owes $1.8 million to John Alexander and others from whom it had executed drilling leases in the Hastings, West Field, of Brazoria County.

The Hastings, West Field, reservoir slants, with the Alexander leases on the low end and some other Amoco leases on the high end. The field contains both oil and water. Because oil is lighter, it migrates toward the high — or "updip" — end of the field and away from the low — or "downdip" — end.

Oil production in the updip end of a field accelerates the movement of water into the downdip side and hastens the day when wells at the lower end "water out."

The high court said oil producers have long been understood to have an "implied covenant" with landowners to protect the lease against drainage before its time. In the past, this has been understood to mean "local drainage" from wells on adjacent leases.

The covenant to protect from drainage is not limited to local drainage. It extends to field-wide drainage. Oil lost by field-wide drainage is just as lost as local drainage oil," the court said Monday.

It said an operator's duties may include drilling replacement wells, re-working existing wells, seeking voluntary unitization of a field's production and filing "Rule 37" applications with the Railroad Commission.

Rule 37 allows the commission to space wells more closely than it ordinarily would permit.

"There is no duty unless such an amount of oil can be recovered to equal the cost of administrative expenses, drilling or re-working and equipping a protection well, producing and marketing the oil, and yield to the lessee a reasonable expectation of profit," the court said.

It said Amoco should have applied to the Railroad Commission for a Rule 37 exception that would allowed the drilling of new wells at the high end of the Alexander leases.

Several Offenses Reported

Hereford police received a report of a bike stolen from the 300 block of Lake from Israel Vera, 305 Knight.

Della Lopez, 216 Ave. J, reported that someone had torn the screen off a window, but nothing was taken.

Criminal mischief was reported at 14th and Avenue F where a rock had been thrown through a window.

D.L. Welty, 100 Cherokee, reported that valve stems on two trucks had been broken.

One runaway report was given Monday on a 15-year-old girl missing since Friday.

During the weekend police arrested three for public intoxication, one driving while intoxicated and two for possession of marijuana.

Officers investigated a minor accident on main Street, and issued 24 traffic tickets through Monday.

They wanted, even before the news of the victory of Islam reached the people, to make themselves felt. We witnessed a military-like order that even the children were pulled out of schools and sent into the streets."

Eyewitnesses in Tehran reported that the first clash occurred when 150 Mujahedeen marched out of Tehran University, once a center of support for Khomeini, chanting "Khomeini's end is near" and "The regime will collapse this month," the Kuwait news agency reported.

Residents of Tehran told The Associated Press by telephone earlier that the guerrillas fought the revolutionary guards with machine guns and rocket grenades, and the street fighting was the worst in the capital since the 1979 revolution.

Jomhoori Eslami, the newspaper of the ruling

Islamic Revolutionary Party, said 10 Mujahedeen, eight revolutionary guards and four bystanders were killed. In addition, Tehran Radio said two Mujahedeen leaders who "organized the demonstration and another previous demonstration were identified and gunned down," and two other "terrorists" were shot and killed when they tried to avoid arrest.

Tehran Radio said a large number of arrests were made but did not say how many.

Iran said that the Iraqi force which had held Abadan under siege for 10 months had been driven back to the west bank of the Karun River, opening the main north-south highway between the city and Ahwaz, the provincial capital, and the east-west highway to Bandar Mashur.

Iraq called Iran's victory proclamation an "empty claim" and said its forces tightened their hold on Abadan. But an Iraqi military spokesman in Baghdad, quoted by the Gulf News Agency, admitted the Iraqi forces retreated to the west bank of the Karun, which runs west and north of Abadan, and that the Iraqis had knocked out the bridges the Iraqis put across the river.

Graham says, "It is a clear example that a good bus company does not necessarily make a good meat packing owner."

When asked about the mental attitude among the workers who will be unemployed after Oct. 2, Graham replied, "When the closing was first announced the initial attitude was that they would rescind the decision. By the third month it dawned on everyone that they really would close this time. By the fourth month the general attitude was that someone would come in and buy it right away. By the fifth month the attitude was one of settling accounts. Now the whole place is surrounded by an air of disbelief and cynicism."

Though nothing can now be done to prevent the closing of the local Armour plant and the loss of income to around 400 people, it can be used as an example for the future and a caution to us all.

Graham summed up his viewpoints with his statement, "In reality there are no good guys and bad guys. There are just people and the right and wrong of the issue is purely academic. Everybody is hurt by this, it is disruptive and painful to all involved. Someday this will be a note lost in the junk of somebody's attic but right now it is traumatic, even to those who jobs are secure. It all started out slowly and just built quietly until both sides burst. Armour didn't die of euthanasia, it was an agonizing slow death."

In the next part of this series we will look at the psychological and economic repercussions the closing of the plant may have on individuals and the community as a whole.

to consider the program at their next meeting on Oct. 12.

In action concerning the tax appraisal district, the court cast equal votes for five persons to be on the district's board of directors. The five included Precinct 3 County Commissioner Bruce Coleman, Dan Hall of the Walcott Independent School District; Melvin Jayroe, representing the City of Hereford; James Gentry of the Hereford Independent School District; and Frank Zanser, Jr., of the Deaf Smith

General Hospital District.

The commissioners also gave formal approval of the paving of the tax district's parking lot at the Old Central School. Coleman reported that some $10,000 was left over in the tax district's original budget, and that the work will be paid for out of the surplus.

Coleman, a member of the NACo Criminal Justice & Public Safety Committee, gave a report on the "National Association of Criminal Justice Planners' meeting held in San Antonio last week.

Coleman said the meeting included a few county officials as well as professional criminal justice planners from over the United States, who work for individual states, large prison systems, and metropolitan areas.

Innovations, mainly in the state of Minnesota, were discussed Coleman reported. They included new ideas on sentencing guidelines and work release programs, restitution, and public service work for those not sentenced to actual prison time.

The commissioners joined County Judge Glen Nelson in touring the old Pitman residence, which was formally deeded to the National Cowgirl Hall of Fame last Friday, after lunch. Commissioners Coleman, James Voyles, and Bill Bradley were present for the meeting. Commissioner Rose was absent, due to business in Corpus Christi.

Attorneys Vincent J. Fuller and Gregory B. Craig said Hinckley's right to an impartial jury would be in "grave jeopardy if the same jury that has been exposed to the emotion-laden evidence...is also asked to decide the question of the defendant's mental responsibility at the time of the shooting."

They wrote that "understandably, there will be great rage and anger directed at Mr. Hinckley" by jurors exposed to evidence.

Bike-A-Thon

Victor Winner Of Bike-A-Thon

Nearly $10,000 was raised for St. Jude's research hospital as a result of a Bike-A-Thon held here Sept. 19. Over 160 rides participated in the event, sponsored by the Alpha Iota Mu Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi.

Riders gathered last Saturday at the county library to turn in their money, and a total of $9,603.35 was turned in according to AIM service chairman Tonya Gilliam.

Jamie Victor was the top fund raiser, collecting $1,289.55 for the 20-lap event held near La Plata Junior High School. For her efforts, Miss Victor won a bicycle.

Coming in second was Chad Larkin, who collected $431.50, and received a $100 bill as his prize. Third, fourth, and fifth place winners were Frankie Vallejo ($389), Dustin Hubbard ($284.50), and Randy Friemel ($282). They received their choice of several other gifts as their prize.

In addition to the top prizes, AIM also conducted drawings for several prizes donated by local merchants. Melissa Saldana won the biggest prize in the drawing, a new bicycle.

St. Jude Children's Research Hospital is located in Memphis, Tenn. and was founded by entertainer Danny Thomas. It is non-sectarian, interracial, and completely free of charge to patients admitted by physician referral, and if their disease is under study.

Bridal Shower Honors Nancy Newsom

Newsom Honored With Bridal Shower

Miss Nancy Newsom of Amarillo, bride elect of Jimmy Lynn Woodman, was honored with a bridal shower Saturday morning at the Hereford Country Club.

Receiving guests were the honoree, Mrs. Carroll Newsom, the honoree's mother, and Moselle Woodman, Amarillo, mother of the prospective groom.

The centerpiece on the serving table was a figurine of Dan Cupid on a white pedestal base holding a silk arrangement of royal blue and white roses in the bride's chosen colors. Guests were seated at quartet tables centered with white angels figurines with clear wine goblets holding white candles surrounded by white roses and greenery. Table appointments were in pewter.

Assorted fruits were served to the guests along with cream of orange cheese with gingersnaps, sausage balls, miniature quiches, and cookies. Those serving were Georgette Botkin, Jackie Murphy, cousin of the honoree, and Nita Newsom, the honoree's sister-in-law.

Special guests were Mrs. G.W. Newsom and Mrs. J.V. Pickins, the honoree's grandmothers, both of Hereford.

Debt money

A rising share of the national debt is held by foreign investors, the Conference Board reports. Of our $780 billion debt at the end of fiscal 1978, the U.S. government owed $488 billion to private investors. Some 25 percent of this was held by foreigners, up from 5 percent in 1960.

Ann Landers

'Perfectly Content?'

DEAR ANN LANDERS: How do you manage to turn out seven columns a week? It has taken me a whole week to write this one letter.

I thought your answer to "Mrs. X From Nowhere" was cold and unsympathetic. May I please tell her that "I" care? I, too, hate myself for choosing the wrong mate.

Our children are grown, our parents are dead and we should be able to be divorced like sensible, middle-aged people and seek partners with whom we are more compatible—or enjoy life alone. But the unhappiness seems to be all on my side. My husband is perfectly content.

His good qualities could fill this page, but I'm starved for intellectual companionship and desperately unhappy. This has been going on for 20 years. I've made a life outside, but there's this miserable, empty one I have to come home to every damn night.

Too many wives (and husbands) are too decent, too dependent, too religious or too traditional to divorce a mate who still "loves me." So they live with the resentment and bitterness and turn it inward—and hate themselves for their spinelessness.

Under the best of circumstances couples grow and respect each other's growth. But when one grows and the other does not, at least one of them is terribly unhappy. I know—I Did It In Indiana.

DEAR INDIANA: We are seeing far fewer people who are "too decent, too dependent, too religious or too traditional to divorce a mate who still loves them." And, maybe it's just as well.

Marriage should be an equally rewarding partnership. If the husband or wife is resentful, bitter, unfulfilled and desperately unhappy, I don't see how the other person can be "perfectly content." Those non-verbal messages must be coming through a mile a minute.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Your lack of social graces seems never-ending.

A man may extend his hand to another man for a handshake, but it is a serious breach of etiquette for a man to extend his hand to a lady. He puts himself in the position of being refused. The prerogative to allow the touch of another person remains with the female. It is, and hopefully shall remain, the lady's choice whether or not to extend her hand. No gentleman acts first.—Etiquette In Atomic City, Idaho

DEAR ATOMIC: You are reading an awfully old book. It did say that a half century ago, but such formal behavior went out with sleeve garters and the buggy whip. Twenty-three scadoo, Dad.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Most salespeople work on a commission. Many women who shop do not know this. They will spend an hour with one salesperson, come back in a couple of days and buy the item from the first person they see. The salesperson who spent the hour receives nothing. Is there a solution?—New At The Job

DEAR NEW: Say something like to the "looker" who has taken up a lot of your time: "I've enjoyed serving you. If you decide to come back, please, will you ask for me?" Then hand her your card.

Eades Attends Texas Tech Medical School

One hundred four first year students have begun studies at Texas Tech University Health Sciences Center School of Medicine. The group was the tenth class to enter medical school at Tech.

The class of 1985 will spend the next two years in Lubbock studying the sciences basic to medicine. During their junior and senior years, they will be based at regional academic health centers in Amarillo, El Paso, or Lubbock. The junior year will include clinical rotations in the areas of family practice, internal medicine, obstetrics and gynecology, pediatrics, psychiatry and surgery.

Their senior year will consist of preceptorships in rural health care settings and elec-

At Wits End

BY ERMA BOMBECK

I don't know how in the world you can expect nations to reason together when you cannot get five people to agree on one breakfast cereal.

At the moment, we have 37 boxes of cereal on our shelves—all open. Some snap. Some explode on impact with milk. Some puff up. Some die from the humidity. All attract ants.

I have a dream. A dream that before I go to that big utility room in the sky, every box of cereal on the shelf will be emptied.

I've tried it before with little success. "Hey gang, how about polishing off the Chock Full of Pimples?"

"They're stale." "How about the Cavity Flakes?" "They get caught in your teeth."

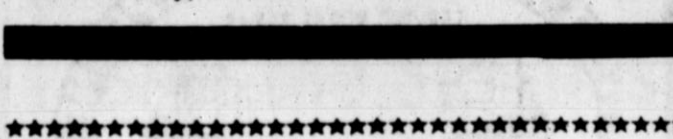

"Anyone for Shredded Natural Bran Harvest Nuggets with no preservatives?" "That's for old people who have nothing to lose by eating sensibly."

What this world needs is a one-size-fits-all cereal. A cereal that would fight sog, fortify you with vitamins, talk back to you from the bowl, contain a 194-piece plastic replica of a Civil War battle and keep you regular.

For some unexplained reason, a box of cereal is something a woman cannot throw away. I can throw away a box of baking soda that has been in the refrigerator for three years, a box of raisins that has entered the Twilight Zone, or a clove of fresh garlic that has gone to live with Jesus. I cannot evict a 32-ounce box containing two tablespoons of Captain Clown Krinkles.

Yesterday, I decided to do something about the 37 boxes. I crumbled the stale Bran Brittles and sprinkled them over a casserole. I baked a cookie out of the leftover cup of Fruit Lips. The puffed Crunchies I made into a necklace. The two remaining bite-sized Fun Wheats I made into earrings. I was down to 33 boxes when my husband came in with a box of Early Morning Chewies.

I'm losing the battle.

The first known advice column was in London's The Ladies Mercury, in 1693.

What's Castro Up To?

What is Castro trying to do to us?

He unloaded Cuba's prisons and asylums and dumped them on us to relieve Cuba of that burden and to create problems for us.

In January of 1980 our CIA did warn our State Department and our National Security Council and in June of that year a congressional committee — that Castro hoped his Trojan Horse would precipitate a crisis in the United States — riots, bombings, shootings, assaults on banks.

He hoped to terrorize the American public and government. It has not yet turned out as bad as he wants — but bad enough. And he has not stopped trying.

We don't really need Cuban insiders to tell us that Castro is trying to destabilize the United States. The evidence is obvious.

It is from defectors, however, that we learn details of his "Plan Bravo," how he intends to enlist Puerto Rican terrorists, Mexicans and blacks to foment violence in the United States.

Our State Department has information that some 200,000 Cubans now hold exist visas and are ready, on signal from Castro, to sail to the United States.

That the only reason he has not already triggered that invasion is that his agriculture is so snafued he desperately needs an end to our 20-year trade embargo.

Marxism has made a shambles of the Cuban economy. Unless he can normalize relations with us Castro has no international credit.

Daniel James is the author of: "Cuba, First Soviet Satellite in the Americas."

James says Castro is seeking to sweet-talk us into lifting the embargo while, at the same time, through the Cuban diplomatic mission in the U.N., he seeks to subvert us.

James says most of the Cubans listed as "political counselors" never show up for U.N. duties. Instead they are Cuban or Soviet intelligence operatives enjoying complete diplomatic freedom of movement in our country.

Miami is home for Cubans who fled Castro and for thousands of Castro rejects.

Also for a new generation of Cubans who never knew the Cuban Communist dictatorship nor the government which preceded it. They do not share the anti-Communist attitude of their parents. They have developed a tolerance for Castroism—even a preference for it.

Cuba, to some of this new breed, is a "homeland."

Castro, to some, is a misunderstood Robin Hood. The more radical of these Cuban youth in Florida have formed an underground "brigade" which periodically journeys to Cuba for terrorist and guerrilla training.

So — what is Castro trying to do to us? Anything he can.

Let's let people who find so much wrong with TV in on a secret — there's an "off" switch on the machine, folks.

Why go to a demolition derby when you can stand on an overpass and watch traffic any rush hour?

Think how much harder trash collectors had to work before garage sales were thought of.

By the time you're old enough for the doctor to tell you to have a drink or two each evening, you're in no shape to munch peanuts to go with the gargle.

Keeping up with the Joneses is no problem — it's the Smiths who are setting the budget-busting pace.

WEEKLY ATHLETIC SAFETY TIPS

THE PREVENTION OF HEAT ILLNESS --
The most important aspect of preventing heat illness is to replace vital body fluids after a heavy workout. When someone is active in jogging, tennis, or any other sport requiring a fair degree of exertion, they should take in fluids every thirty minutes. After a workout, especially when the weather is hot and humid, you should never lose more than two pounds in weight. If you do, you aren't replenishing the supply of body fluids you have lost.

Outscored All District Teams

Harriers Take Top Honors in Plainview Meet

By MARC HERRING
Brand Sports

The Hereford Whiteface boys' cross country team continued to show their heels to the opposition as they captured their second consecutive team title Saturday at the Plainview Invitational Meet.

The girls also did well, finishing fifth out of a field of 13.

Junior Fernando Carrasco ran his best time ever for the Whitefaces to lead the team with a fourth place finish. His 16:08 was 30 seconds behind the winner, Tom Cavazos of Lubbock Coronado, who ran the course in an impressive 15:38.

In the boy's field, Hereford beat all of their district foes, with Monterey coming the closest with a second place finish. Following the 82 points of Hereford and the 87 of the Plainsmen, Coronado was fourth with a point total of 107 and Plainview coming in a distant 13th with a total of 281.

The scoring in a cross country meet hinges on the placing of a team's top five runners. Each runner is given the number of points that correspond to his or her finish, with a member of an incomplete team not counting as one of the finishes. Although the first five runners are all that score for the team, the sixth runner helps the team by finishing high to push the opposing team's runners farther down.

George Arroyos was the second Hereford runner to cross the finish line, a seventeenth place finish in a time of 16:55. Following him, Edward Flores took 24th at 17:10, Gary Blevins at 17:17 to finish 27th Chris Kahlich with a time of 17:23 in 33rd and Eliseo Ramirez in 65th with a time of 17:59.

"The key to winning most meets, especially district, where there are only four or five teams running, is to keep the times close together," Coach Martha Emerson said. "That's why Monterey will be so tough for us in district. Even though Coronado probably has the fastest runner, and we are stronger in a few positions, Monterey's runners all finish close together and pretty high."

The girls again relied on the high finish of sophomore harrier Dana Cabbiness to lead them to their fifth place finish. Cabbiness ran the two mile course in 13:43 for an eight place finish.

Other girls to help out on the scoring were Deborah Rogers in 30th with a time of 14:17, Kellie Howell in 31st with a time of 14:22, Olga Alaniz with a time of 14:26 for 36th place, Yolanda Alaniz in 48th with a 14:43 and Linda ermimo with a 15:01 for 56th.

Patricia Salazar was the runner though that made the difference for the Whitefaces to finish where they did. According to Coach Emerson, Hereford had tied for fifth with Canyon but Salazar's 69th place finish bettered the sixth place finish for Canyon, therefore giving Hereford fifth place.

"This meet was a good example why that sixth place runner tries as hard as they can," Emerson said.

"I thought the girls did very well, considering the circumstances for the meet," Emerson said. "Kellie had been sick all week, which hurt her conditioning, and Deborah can only work out half the time since she is also in basketball."

The teams elected captains this week with Cabbiness and Howell being named leaders of the girls' team and Arroyos elected by the boy harriers.

Next week the teams travel to Brownfield for another confrontation between the district teams, which Coach Emerson feels is both good and bad for the team.

"It's nice to be able to see how the other teams are running, but then again it gives them a chance to see how we are progressing too, so I guess it sort of evens out," Emerson said. "All I now is that our middle finishing runners are going to have to improve their times and close the gap between our top runners and themselves."

Captains Named

Kellie Howell, George Arroyos and Dana Cabbiness were named by teammates as the Whiteface captains for the cross country team. The team, coached by Martha Emerson, has been impressive so far this season with the boys taking two first places and the girls one top spot so far. Both teams will be in Brownfield next Saturday. (Brand photo)

Divisional Races Tight Going into Last Week

By TOM CANAVAN
Associated Press Writer

With just six days remaining in the baseball's second season, the four divisional races are wide open.

The four first-half division winners — the New York Yankees, Oakland A's, Philadelphia Phillies and Los Angeles Dodgers — have all qualified for the divisional playoffs. If any one of those teams finishes first in the second half of the season — the Dodgers will not — then the team that finishes second during that half will qualify to meet the repeat winner in the divisional playoffs.

The American League East has the biggest logjam at the top with five teams within four games of the first-place Milwaukee Brewers.

The Brewers hold a half-game advantage over the Detroit Tigers with the Boston Red Sox 1½-games back and a half-game ahead of the Baltimore Orioles.

New York and Cleveland are 3½ and four games behind the Brewers, respectively, but they would have to win all their remaining games just to have an outside chance at taking the second-half title. The Yankees have five road games left, the Indians seven home games.

Milwaukee, Detroit, Boston and Baltimore all have five games left.

The Brewers will have a home crowd behind them for all five games. They are scheduled to meet Boston tonight and Wednesday and conclude the season with a three-game weekend series with runnerup Detroit.

The Tigers finish their home season tonight and Wednesday with games against Baltimore, which returns home for a three-game weekend series with the Yankees.

The Kansas City Royals hold a 1½-game lead over the Oakland A's in the AL West with seven games remaining. The Minnesota Twins are 3½-games out and meet the Royals in two must-win games tonight and Wednesday. If the Royals sweep those games, they will qualify for the divisional playoffs because Minnesota cannot finish ahead of them in the standings for the second season.

The Royals must also play three games with Oakland and two with Cleveland. The Twins finish the season with three games at Chicago.

The Montreal Expos hold a half-game lead over St. Louis in the National League East with both teams having six games left.

The Expos and Cards will play each other just one more time — in St. Louis tonight. The Expos also have two games with Pittsburgh and three with the New York Mets, all on the road. The Cards will play two at Philadelphia and close with three games at Pittsburgh.

Chicago and Philadelphia are 3½ games out, and any combination of three Expos wins and Philadelphia or Chicago losses will eliminate them. The Mets will be eliminated by two Expo victories or Met losses.

The Houston Astros hold a 2½-game lead over the Cincinnati Reds in the NL West with the San Francisco Giants 3½ games out. All three clubs have six games left.

The Astros, who will play five of their final six on the road, will play 47 games in the second season — one more than both Cincinnati and San Francisco. Houston will have two games at Cincinnati and three at Los Angeles, while it meets San Diego at home tonight.

The Astros magic number to eliminate Cincinnati is four, and three with San Francisco.

BASEBALL

NEW YORK (AP) — Nolan Ryan of the Houston Astros, who pitched a record fifth no-hitter against the playoff-bound Los Angeles Dodgers last Saturday, was named National League Player of the Week for the period ending Sept. 27. Reliever Shane Rawley, with two wins and two saves during the week, received the honors in the American League.

Ryan, who had been tied with ex-Dodger Sandy Koufax for the most career no-hitters — four apiece — Ryan struck out 11 batters in his masterpiece, marking the 35th time in his career he has struck out 10 or more batters. It is a major league record.

The left-handed Rawley pitched eight innings, allowing four hits and no runs. He walked six and struck out three.

ATLANTA (AP) — Reggie Smith of the Los Angeles Dodgers was fined $5,000 and suspended for five days by National League President Charles Feeney for going into the stands last Thursday to fight a heckling spectator in San Francisco.

Smith will be able to participate in pregame workouts with the Dodgers and will be eligible to play Saturday.

TENNIS

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Fifth-seeded Eliot Teltscher defeated No. 6 Brian Teacher 6-3, 7-6 to win the $200,000 TransAmerica Open tennis tournament.

John McEnroe and Peter Fleming, the world's top doubles team, won the doubles final with a 7-6 (10-8), 6-4 victory over Mark Edmondson and Sherwood Stewart.

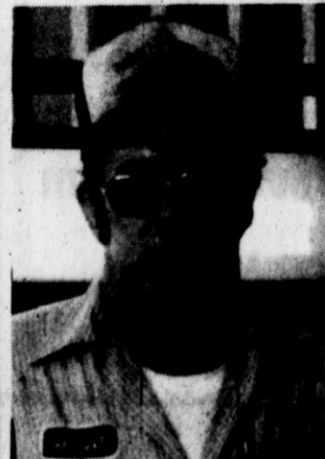

BLOOMINGTON, Minn. (AP) — Third-seeded Pam Shriver and sixth-seeded Barbara Potter and fourth-seeded Wendy Turnbull posted first-round victories in the opening round of the $125,000 U.S. Women's Indoor tennis championships at the Met Center.

Shriver defeated Yvonne Vermaak 6-0, 6-1; Potter ousted Susan Rollinson 6-1, 6-3, and Turnbull defeated Blount 6-3, 6-4.

In other matches, Bonnie Gadusek beat Leslie Allen 4-6, 6-3, 6-4; Julie Harrington eliminated Joyce Portman 1-6, 7-5, 6-1.

Regardless of Court Decision

Ainge Says He's Through With Baseball

By GARY MYERS AP Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The baseball career of Danny Ainge will come to an end Sunday. Whether his basketball career starts days later will be determined this week in court.

While lawyers for the Toronto Blue Jays and Boston Celtics bickered over procedural matters in the first day of their celebrated battle, Ainge, barely managing to keep his eyes open after an all-night flight, proclaimed he was through with baseball regardless of the outcome of the trial.

"I have no intention of going back there (Toronto)," Ainge told The Associated Press as the lawyers began their arguments. "I don't plan on returning to Toronto no matter the outcome. Toronto feels if it wins the case, I'll go home for the winter, change my mind and come back for spring training. But I'm through with baseball."

Ainge, 22, is just completing the first year of a three-year, $225,000 contract as a parttime third baseman with the Blue Jays. Because his batting average never did quite make it to .200 this year, Ainge, a 6-foot-5 All-American guard from Brigham Young, came to the conclusion that basketball was his best sport. The only problem, of course, is his contract, which includes a $300,000 addendum that restricts Ainge from playing in professional or recreational basketball.

That clause, which Ainge contends was waived verbally by Blue Jays President Peter Bavasi in June and confirmed two days later by Toronto vice president Pat Gillick, is the point of contention in the trial that got underway Monday in U.S.

District Court.

The other key factor that the six-member jury in Judge Lee P. Gagliardi's courtroom must decide is whether a man is allowed to have a change of heart and switch careers. On Monday, the attorneys for each side presented their opening remarks to the jury. The case is recessed until Wednesday because of the Jewish High Holy Day Rosh Hashanah. Testimony from Ainge and members of the front offices of the Celtics and Blue Jays will be taken Wednesday.

While this was going on Monday, Ainge, who took the red-eye flight from Los Angeles Sunday night, was having a difficult time paying attention. He repeatedly slumped in his seat at the rear of the courtroom, his body begging for a little sleep. But he revealed he filed voluntary retirement papers with the Blue Jays last Thursday and considers his baseball career over on Sunday, when the Blue Jays close out their season in Seattle.

"Even if we lose the case, I'm not going back to baseball. I have some businesses in Utah and I have been offered an assistant coaching job at BYU," Ainge said. "I have a lot of alternatives."

In his remarks to the jury, Blue Jays attorney Douglas Parker said if Ainge were inactive in April, Toronto would seek to make a financial settlement with the Celtics, allowing him to play basketball. Some court observers feel the Blue Jays no longer want Ainge but instead want to recoup some of their investment in him.

Rodeo winners

Scott Wilcox, left placed third in Bull riding and Steve McConnell was second in steer wrestling at a high school rodeo in Pampa last weekend. Hereford's Rita Ward also finished sixth in girls' pole bending.

Expos, Cards Fighting for National League East Lead

Will the real St. Louis Cardinals please stand up? Perhaps tonight will tell the story.

The Redbirds have spent most of the second half of the season trading hot and cold streaks, going from hope to happiness to despair and back again.

Darrell Porter hit a two-run double in St. Louis' five-run fourth inning and the Cardinals beat first-place Montreal 6-2 Monday night, bringing them to within one-half game of the lead.

Another victory over the Expos tonight will put the Cardinals back in the National League East lead with five days left in the season.

Momentum has been a sometime thing with the Cardinals since the season resumed Aug. 10 after the players' strike.

They won seven of nine from Aug. 26-Sept. 4 to take a 3½-game lead, lost five in a row from Sept. 5-9, won seven of eight from Sept. 11-17, then lost seven of eight the next eight days. Now they have won three in a row again.

In other NL games, Houston edged San Diego 2-1, San Francisco blanked Cincinnati 4-0, Atlanta shaded Los Angeles 2-1, Philadelphia bombed New York 12-4 and Pittsburgh and Chicago split a double-header, the Pirates winning 4-0 and losing 3-1.

Tommy Herr's infield hit ignited the Cards in the fourth after the Expos grabbed a 1-0 lead in the top of the inning on Gary Carter's RBI double.

Garry Templeton and Keith Hernandez singled to load the bases before George Hendrick's grounder tied the game and Dane Iorg's sacrifice fly gave St. Louis a 2-1 lead off starter Scott Sanderson, 9-7. Then Porter's double off Grant Jackson brought in two more runs and pitcher John Martin capped the rally with an RBI single.

Martin, 7-5, was relieved by Jim Kaat with one out in the seventh after Larry Parrish's solo homer. Kaat earned his fourth save.

Astros 2, Padres 1

Art Howe slapped a two-out, bases-loaded single on a checked swing in the ninth inning to give Houston its victory over San Diego and give the Astros a 2½-game lead over the Reds in the NL West.

Juan Eichelberger, 8-8, had allowed only four hits in the first eight innings, but he allowed a single to Tony Scott and two walks in the ninth before Howe connected for the game-winner.

San Diego scored in the seventh on Terry Kennedy's homer.

Giants 4, Reds 0

San Francisco stayed 3½ games behind the Astros and dropped Cincinnati to 2½ games back as little-used Al Hargeshimer and Greg Minton combined for a four-hit shutout.

Hargeshimer, 1-1, scattered four hits, struck four and walked four in seven innings before Minton relieved in the eighth.

Jerry Martin hit a two-run homer and scored twice for the Giants, who handed the Reds only their third loss in 14 games.

Phillies 12, Mets 4

Lennie Smith increased his consecutive-game hitting streak to 17 with two singles and a triple to lead Philadelphia's 12-hit attack against New York.

The Phillies exploded for five runs in the third inning. Two runs scored on singles by Gary Matthews and Keith Moreland and two more scored on first baseman Dave Kingman's error.

Larry Christenson, 4-6, got credit for the victory with four scoreless innings of relief.

Braves 2, Dodgers 1

Glenn Hubbard tripled home Atlanta's first run in the seventh inning and scored on a single by Matt Sinton.

The Braves broke a four-game losing streak and assured that Los Angeles would not win both halves of the season.

Rick Mahler, 7-6, gave up only five hits in seven innings, including Steve Garvey's solo homer.

Pirates 4-1, Cubs 0-3

Pittsburgh's Rick Rhoden pitched a four-hitter in the opener for his second shutout of the season and Dave Geisel and Randy Martz combined on a five-hitter in the second game for Chicago.

Steve Henderson hit a two-run homer and a run-scoring single for the Cubs in the second game.

Bill Madlock drove in two runs with a sacrifice fly in the opener.

Texas Hanging by Thread For Place in AL Playoffs

Mark Brouhard hadn't hit a home run since May 10 — but he sure picked a good time to hit another.

Reaching the fences for only the second time this season, the Milwaukee outfielder drove in the game's only run Monday night to help the Brewers take a 1-0 victory over the Boston Red Sox.

"I just wanted to hit the ball hard," Brouhard said after leading the Brewers in to first place in the American League East.

Vuckovich pitched a three-hitter as the Brewers climbed over Detroit by a half-game after the Tigers lost 7-3 to Baltimore. The Red Sox dropped 1½ games back in third.

Frank Tanana had a three-hitter after six innings until Brouhard lined one of his pitches into the left center field seats at County Stadium.

Elsewhere in the AL, it was Kansas City 6, Minnesota 1; Cleveland 6, New York 2; California 6, Chicago 0 and Texas 6, Seattle 5.

Of his gopher ball, Tanana said he threw a fastball on the outside part of the plate because he thought Brouhard "would be expecting one inside."

Tempers flared after Jim Gantner, the next hitter after Brouhard, pushed a drag bunt which Tanana fielded along the first base line. The two collided as Tanana tagged Gantner near the bag, and Tanana tumbled to the ground.

Tanana jumped up and started toward Gantner, shouting angrily as players from both sides streamed onto the field. There was some pushing and shoving, but no punches were thrown and no players were ejected.

Vuckovich improved his record to 14-4 while Tanana dropped to 3-10.

Orioles 7, Tigers 3

Eddie Murray drove in four runs with a double and a home run and Benny Ayala had a two-run homer as Baltimore defeated Detroit. The Orioles trailed 3-0 when they rallied for four runs in the third, with Murray's two-run homer capping the rally off George Canouzzello, 1-1.

Baltimore reliever Sammy Stewart, 4-7, who came on after Jim Palmer had retired only two Detroit batters, checked the Tigers on seven hits the rest of the way to pick up the victory.

The Orioles are in fourth place, two games off the pace, with six days left in the regular season.

Royals 6, Twins 1

Willie Aikens and Hal McRae each clubbed two-run homers and Dennis Leonard pitched a five-hitter to lead Kansas City over Minnesota. The victory put the first-place Royals 3½ games ahead of the Twins in the AL West.

Aikens' blast, his 27th of the season, came in the second off loser Brad Havens, 3-8. McRae connected for his seventh homer in the ninth off reliever Dan Cooper.

Leonard, who has won five of his last six starts, struck out eight.

Angels 6, White Sox 0

Don Baylor and Brian Downing drove in two runs apiece, Rod Carew scored two runs and Mike Witt hurled a six-hitter as California blanked Chicago and ended the White Sox' playoff hopes for the 1981 season.

Witt, 7-9, had four strikeouts and walked one as he earned his first career shutout.

Rangers 6, Mariners 5

Mark Wagner's three-run double gave Texas an early lead and the Rangers held on to beat Seattle. Wagner delivered with two out in the second inning after the Rangers loaded the bases on a single by Pat Putnum, a double by Jim Sundberg and a walk by Leon Roberts off Seattle starter Glenn Abbott, 4-8.

Rick Honeycutt, 11-6, gave up 10 hits in six innings for the Rangers. Three relief pitchers followed, including Jim Kern, who posted his fifth save.

PUBLIC NOTICE REGISTERING LIVESTOCK BRANDS

The attorney general is reminding every citizen who has registered a brand prior to Aug. 30, 1981 that citizens must re-register each brand with the county clerk within six months in order to protect their right to it. If everyone follows the registration schedule set out by the law, county clerks will have a correct, revised set of records every ten years, and there should be no dispute about the correct ownership of livestock.

To register or re-register marks and brands, to the county clerk, who will keep the forms in an indexed bound volume or on microfilm for easy reference. livestock owner may obtain forms either by mail or in person from his or her county clerk's office. There will be blank spaces on the form in which to describe the mark or brand and the location on the animal where the brand is recorded.

The forms should then be mailed or delivered in person B.F. CAIN, County Clerk Deaf Smith County 40-29

PUBLIC NOTICE

Notice is hereby given that Deaf Smith Electric Cooperative, Inc. (The "Utility") intends to change rates for electric utility service by adding a purchased power adjustment clause to all rates as soon as may be permitted by law. The changes are applicable to all areas to which the utility provides electric utility service. All classes of customers are affected by the proposed changes. The proposed rates will not immediately produce any increase in the operating revenues of the utility, however, if Southwestern Public Service Company is authorized to increase charges to the utility for wholesale power, then such increases will be charged to ratepayers of the utility.

Implementation of the proposed changes is subject to approval by the appropriate regulatory authority. A statement of intent including the Proposed revisions of tariff and scheduled and a statement specifying in detail each proposed change, the effect of the proposed change is expected to have on the revenues of the utility and the classes and numbers of utility customers affected is on file with the public utility commission of Texas and the municipalities of Hereford and Nazareth.

The statement of intent is available for public inspection at the general office of the utility located at Hereford, Texas. CAMPBELL MCGINNIS, ATTORNEY FOR THE UTILITY Tu-52-4c

Cataract removal

DEAR DR. LAMB - I had a cataract operation on one eye two years ago because I couldn't see out of that eye. I can see out of the other eye just enough to know where I'm going and who I'm talking to, but it's like seeing through a fog. I have my cataract glasses. I'm worrying about how soon I should have my other eye operated on. Once the eyes are both operated on for cataracts do they have to be operated on again? I'm a widow over 75 and deaf.

We would like your opinion to settle this. Tell us what vitamins really are good for you and for your sex life. DEAR READER - We'd better start with the understanding that we all need vitamins and they are all important. But you should get all you need from a well-balanced healthy diet. If you can't or don't eat a regular balanced diet for any reason or have a medical problem that increases your need, then a vitamin supplement is important. Any all-purpose one tablet a day usually does the job for healthy people. For the most part if you are healthy and eat a balanced diet of the four food groups, you will not need to take vitamins. Additional vitamins in that case will not improve your health or improve your sex life.

DEAR READER - Cataracts are caused by a change in the material inside the lens of the eye. The lens itself is a round, marble-like shaped object of gelatinous material. When it is clear it acts like the lens of a camera and focuses light rays on the back of your eye, the retina, like a projector focuses on the movie screen. The projected image stimulates cells in the retina that transmit impulses through your optic nerve to your brain so you can recognize the image.

Murray Wins Grid Contest

Robert Murray of 147 Greenwood captured the top prize of $25 in last week's Hereford Brand Football Contest, missing only three of the 26 games. His three misses included the Houston Oilers, San Diego Chargers and Oakland Raiders.

Standing alone in the second prize spotlight is Beverly Bryant of 112 Kingwood with only four misses. Houston and San Diego were among her misses along with Atlanta and Buffalo. Her efforts were worth $15 in Hereford Bucks.

Joining the top winners is John Stagner of 227 Fir, who edged out five other contestants missing five games. His close pick of 36 points in the tie-breaker game made a $10 prize difference. The next closest opponent guessed 39 points in the KC-Seattle game. Stagners misses included Houston, Oakland, Green Bay, Penn State and Mississippi.

There's another $50 available in prize money this week and a brand new contest. Sharpen up your pencils and your pigskin picking skills and get your entry into the Brand office by 5 p.m. Friday. You may win some of that $50 in prize money.

Phibbs Named Player of Week

For his efforts in sending the Canyon Eagles home with a goose egg Friday night, Hereford linebacker John Phibbs was named Amarillo Globe News 5A defensive player of the week.

Caprock tailback Stephon Hodge took the offensive title with his 122 yards rushing on 21 carries and three touchdowns against Levelland.

Phibbs' ten tackles (including three for losses), two fumble recoveries kept the Eagles down to 93 yards total offense. Phibbs scored a touchdown and kicked three extra-points.

For the season he has tallied 46 solo tackles and gone 15 for 16 in extra point attempts.

Teammates Aubrey Richburg and Ken Cosper were close behind Phibbs for the title. Richburg had seven tackles on the Eagles, caused two fumbles and knocked down a pass. Linebacker Cosper had ten tackles, caused one fumble and blocked a Canyon punt.

Whiteface Golfers Take Second

Hereford placed second between Berger and Plainview in a practice match here with the two schools Saturday.

Scores for Hereford golfers were David Dudding, 83; Frankie Garcia, 87; Brett Barrick, 87; Paul Jorde, 87; and Scot Skinner, 90.

"Our scores were not indicative of how we can play," said Coach James Salinas. "Part of the problem was it being our first outing."

Salinas blamed windy weather for part of the team's slack, but added their main playing problem was "just probably mental."

Oct. 10 the Herd travels to Plainview for another practice match with 5 other teams.

YMCA Flag Football In Second Week

The Hereford and Vicinity Y.M.C.A. finished its second week of flag football for boys in grades 1-6 with the two older divisions vying for playoff spots after the round robin play is completed.

In the NFL (grades 3-4), the Cardinals and Steelers kept the loss column empty with wins last Saturday. The Cardinals used a strong defense to edge the Rams 2-0. The Steelers whipped the Colts 12-0.

In other NFL games, the Packers evened their mark to 1-1 with a win over the Lions, 6-0, and the Cowboys used the same score to edge the Bears.

AFL action (5-6 grades), also has two unbeaten teams. The Chargers continued to roll, this week with a 12-0 triumph over the winless Raiders. The Oilers are the other unbeaten team as they overwhelmed the Dolphins 23-0.

The other AFL game had the Browns break into the winning column with a 8-0 win over the Jets.

Standings for the leagues after two weeks are:

NFL	Win	Loss	Tie
Rams	1	1	0
Cowboys	1	1	0
Packers	1	1	0

Rams Roll By Bears, 24-7

CHICAGO (AP) — Even the towels thrown in the Chicago locker room fell short of their intended mark, strewn sloppily about the carpeting like a reminder of the soggy performance most of the Bears thought they'd left behind on the playing field.

"It looks like we can't do anything right," defensive tackle Alan Page said after the Los Angeles Rams had dismantled Chicago 24-7 before a national television audience Monday night. "I think everybody on this team has done enough soul-searching and trying to do things right — but we're just not getting it done."

How bad were the Bears? So bad that the only thing that prevented Bob Parsons, from punting following each of the Bears' first 12 possessions were a pair of fumbles by Chicago's Walter Payton and an interception by Los Angeles' Joe Harris.

So bad that three Chicago quarterbacks managed to complete just one pass to a wide receiver, and that one went to Brian Baschnagel for all of three yards.

The Rams started the game by moving 71 yards in just five plays, capping the brief — 1:42 elapsed time — drive when Wendell Tyler powered over from the 2-yard line for the first of his two scores.

And Los Angeles quarterback Pat Haden, who finished 13 of 29 for 210 yards gave Chicago an idea of what the night would be like by completing his first three passes in the drive, the big play coming on a 44-yard hookup with Billy Waddy to the Chicago 2.

The Rams' lead was extended to 10-0 by the intermission after placekicker Frank Corral connected from 24 yards late in the second quarter. The Bears, already beat up heading into the locker room, had to leave starting quarterback Vince Evans and wide receiver Ricky Watts behind because of injuries.

LeRoy Irvin then put the game on ice with an electrifying 55-yard punt return for a touchdown. It marked the first time a Ram had returned a punt for a score in 20 years, the last being Dick Bass, who went 90 yards against Green Bay back in 1961.

Volleyballers Lose Matches

The Hereford volleyball team got dragged by the Amarillo Sandies Monday night in varsity and junior varsity play.

The Sandies took it 15-5, 15-8. Junior varsity scoring was 15-7 and 15-14.

The Herd goes to Coronado Thursday to open district play.

Iowa Enters Top 20 First Time

By CHUCK SCHOFFNER AP Sports Writer

A stranger has joined the nation's college football powers.

Occupying the No. 18 spot in this week's Associated Press poll, released Monday, was the University of Iowa, which has gone without a winning season longer than any other major school in the country.

The top 20 appearance ends a 19-year drought for the Hawkeyes, 2-1, who vaulted into prominence this season with upsets of Nebraska and UCLA. The last time Iowa was ranked was October 1962 after the Hawkeyes beat Oregon State in their season opener. An Iowa team hasn't finished above .500 since 1961.

A much more familiar name, Southern California, remained the No. 1 team. The Trojans pulled out a last-second, 28-24 victory over Oklahoma to become the first team this season to hold the No. 1 ranking for more than one week.

Iowa earned its Top 20 berth with a 20-7 victory over UCLA, sixth last week. That came two weeks after the Hawkeyes jolted Nebraska 10-7 when the Cornhuskers were seventh.

"Super, that's great!" Iowa Coach Hayden Fry said when told of his team's ranking. "I guess it is anyway. I'm not sure how authoritative the polls are."

Fry added, "It's nice to get some recognition." He said he was pleased that Iowa State, No. 20, also was rated. It was the first time both schools had appeared together in the AP rankings.

"I was hoping both of the Iowa universities would be ranked," said Fry, whose team plays at winless Northwestern Saturday. "That's good for the state."

Iowa State, 3-0, is the only team that has beaten Iowa, 23-12, on Sept. 19. The Cyclones beat Kent State 28-19 last week.

Southern Cal received 57 1/2 of 66 first-place votes and 1,311 of a possible 1,320 points from a nationwide panel of sports writers and broadcasters.

Penn State moved to second from third after downing Nebraska 30-24. The Nittany Lions received 5 1/2 first-place votes and 1,208 points.

No. 3 Texas, No. 5 Oklahoma and No. 6 North Carolina each received one first-place vote.

Texas, a 14-7 winner over Miami of Florida, compiled 1,104 points in the balloting; No. 4 Pittsburgh, which was idle last week, had 1,027; Oklahoma received 1,022, and North Carolina 967.

Texas and Pittsburgh each climbed one spot, while Oklahoma tumbled from second.

Ohio State climbed from eighth to seventh after beating Stanford 24-19. Michigan slipped from seventh to eighth after beating Navy 21-16. Mississippi State's 28-7 whipping of Florida sent the Bulldogs from 12th to ninth and Brigham Young moved from 11th to 10th with a 41-20 victory over Colorado.
