Herbicide ban placed by commission

By KIMBERLY THOGMARTIN Staff Writer

Deaf Smith County Commissioners Monday took the advice of County Extension Agent Dennis Newton and voted to regulate the use of hormonal herbicides in the county.

The commissioners court unanimously approved a motion from retiring Precinct 3 Commissioner Bruce Coleman, who moved the county become regulated under Texas Department of Agriculture guidelines and that the use of butyl ester formulations of 2,4-D be banned between April 15 and Oct. 1.

The decision was in response to a plea from area cotton farmers that the volatile mixtures of 2,4-D not be used during the cotton growing season. Last summer, at least 30,000 acres of the crop were damaged when unseasonably heavy rains caused the weed killer to drift from April 15 to Oct. 1 the wheat fields where it was applied to cotton fields in Deaf Smith County and nearby Parmer County.

The TDA received more than 100 complaints, all of which were reportedly investigated during the late summer months. While the investigation has been completed, names of persons who will be charged with drift and pesticide permit violations have not been made

Meanwhile, cotton growers whose crops were affected have filed a suit against chemical companies which manufacture and distribute 2,4-D, claiming the product labels do not give adequate warning about possible consequences of using the chemicals. Houston Attorney Benton

Musslewhite said the names of applicators and land owners will be added to the petition when the names are released by TDA.

"This is a touchy issue," Newton told commissioners during Monday's regular meeting. "My advice is that you find a middle ground."

Newton said that by regulating the use of 2,4-D only during the summer months, farmers who want to use the butyl ester formulations because of its cost efficiency could still do so before and after the period of restric-

Petitions about TRLA circulate

By KIMBERLY THOGMARTIN Staff Writer

While rumors have abounded and many "off-the-record" telephone calls have been received by the Brand, a letter to the editor in Sunday's edition is the first tangible information petitions asking for an investigation of the local Texas Rural Legal Aid office are being circulated in Hereford.

sponsored by TRLA in violation of its available in a number of public own rules and purpose.

Among actions complained of by public officials and other members available to the Brand this morning, of the community are discrimination suits filed against the county, school board and local packing sheds and D.C., based Legal Services Corporathe alleged refusal of TRLA to repre- tion. "It is time for all of us to insist that the legal aid be required, in an orderly and legal way, to fulfill its rightful purpose of helping those who need help," the letter stated. "We ask all" Signed by Ruth Fish and Naomi people to read and consider signing Warrick, the letter suggests that in- the petition being circulated, which dustries have decided not to locate in asks for an investigation by TRLA's Hereford because of "movements own head people. Copies will be places until Wednesday evening.

A copy of the petition, made lists eight "demands" of Donald Bogard, president of the Washington,

We demand (we have tried asking) a full investigation of the legality and ethics of all TRLA activities, all lawsuits brought by TRLA since it has existed in our county," the petition reads. "These activities should be judged against the intent of Congress and the laws and regulations that Legal Services Corporation funded entities were to stay within."

The petition also demands an acounting of funds expended by the local office and that TRLA "be forced to end its current discriminations and serve equally all of our poor of all races, sex, or occupations."

"The mass of our poor in need of legal aid are not migrant farm laborers," the document claims. "They need jobs and individual legal help more than social reform."

Also listed is the demand for an end to "political activism, racism, fear, violence and economic destruction being promoted in our midst with our own tax dollars." The petition accuses TRLA of keeping legal fees awarded it by federal judges in special accounts and using them to pursue otherwise prohibited activities."

Betty Martin, owner of Louise's Dress Shop in Sugarland Mall, is one of at least four persons circulating the petitions. She said this morning she is among those in the community who are "concerned about Hereford and its future.'

Martin said she believes the community needs the legal help, but for persons of all races who have a need.

"Suing the taxpayers costs everybody," she pointed out. "I hope when the petitions come in they are a reflection of how people feel."

All those who have petitions are asked to turn them in by Wednesday night to one of four persons, Martin said. Warrick, who lives at 204 Center, and Fish who resides at 103 Center are collecting them along with Martin, who resides at 206 Ranger. Also taking up the petitions is Chamber of Commerce President Bobby Owen, who lives at 340 Elm.

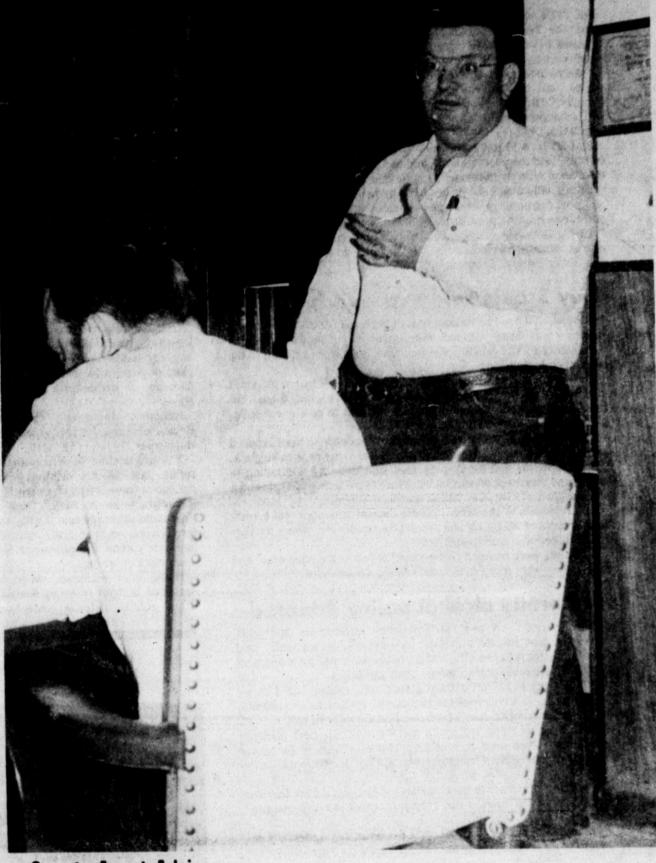

The four can also be contacted at their business locations, Martin said. Warrick is at Warrick Shoe Service and Fish is at the Texaco Wholesale Distribution Office. Owen is employed by Summerfield Fertilizer.

"We're concerned that TRLA has no guidelines it has to follow," Martin said. "For a government entity, that's not right."

TRLA Executive Director David Hall of Weslaco, contacted this morning in San Antonio, said he is aware the petitions are going around but is not familiar with the wording.

"If they've got anything that's substantive in nature, other than just general complaints, they should put those in writing and address them to me," Hall suggested. "I will then hold a hearing and we will clear the matter up immediately.'

Hall said letters sent to Washington D.C. end up in his office anyway because actions of the local office are overseen by the TRLA, Inc. board of directors, "most of whom are lawyers."

County Agent Advises

Deaf Smith County Commissioners relied at least partly on the advice of County Extension Agent Dennis Newton Monday when they voted to regulate herbicide use in the county and ban volatile formulations of 2,4-D during the cotton growing season. The regulated status takes effect Jan. 1.

An estimated $300-$500 damage was done recently to a vacant house owned by Ann Bowling of 201 Ranger Dr., Hereford police reported this morning.

Among the arrests were six for driving while intoxicated, three for public intoxication and one each for disorderly conduct, no driver's license and shoplifting.

Economic installations targets

WASHINGTON (AP) Nicaraguan rebel leader says his group has informed Sandinista officials it will strike at "strategic economic targets," such as oil refineries, if the Sandinista military starts using high-performance Soviet helicopters against the insurgents.

Adolfo Calero, head of the Honduran-based Nicaraguan Democratic Force, said in a telephone interview Monday from Miami that the prospective change in tactics was brought about by the introduction of at least six Mi24 Soviet helicopters into Nicaragua over the past two weeks. Nicaraguan Foreign Minister Miguel D'Escoto confirmed today on ABC's "Good Morning America" that his country has imported some Soviet helicopters. When asked specifically about Mi24's, he said, "there were some helicopters, yes. A

But, he said, the capacity of the Mi24s is such that "the Sandinistas could polish us off between now and February," the month in which the U.S. Congress has said it will reconsider resuming aid to the rebels.

A U.S. official, who asked not to be identified, also said the introduction of the Mi24s could represent a turning point in the three-year armed conflict in Nicaragua.

"They (the Sandinistas) are really going to blow the rebels out of there," the official said.

U.S. officials were unavailable for comment on Calero's remarks. Nonethless, when leftist rebels in El Salvador began targeting that country's economic infrastructure three years ago, then-Secretary of State Alexander M. Haig Jr. criticized the tactic as "sheer terrorism."

Pesticide control proposal knocked

AUSTIN (AP) - Criticism from some farm groups not withstanding, the Texas Department of Agriculture wants to work with farmers in writing safety regulations for pesticide use, Agriculture Commissioner Jim Hightower said.

"We're listening, we're making substantive changes and we're going to come out with the soundest pesticide safety program in the country," Hightower said Monday.

His comments came as several farm groups blasted the proposed

S.M. True, a Plainview farmer and president of the Texas Farm Bureau, said the porposals will add to farmers' costs but do nothing that is not already governed by state and federal law. "They will cause food prices to be higher and quality to be lower and hurt farmers, ranchers and consumers. These regulations are anti-farmer, anti-agriculture and anti-consumer," True said. The rules "are excessive, unfair and no real need has been shown why the changes are necessary," added Clemon Montgomery of the Texas Agricultural Cooperative Council.

Boy Scouts said exposed to dioxin

IRVING (AP) - The national headquarters of the Boy Scouts of America has been deluged with telephone calls from worried parents across the country who fear their sons were exposed to the toxic chemical dioxin.

"We've gotten hundreds of calls," said Audrey Clough, assistant director of communications for the Scouts. "We're telling them what the Army has told us, that there doesn't seem to be any cause for

The calls follow reports that about 32,000 Scouts had been exposed to the chemical during a 1981 jamboree at an Army base in Virginia. Scout officials and Army personnel said they are still trying to determine the extent of possible exposure to the tainted soil around a storage shed at Fort A.P. Hill in northern Virginia.

So far, studies by the Army indicate the contamination was confined to an area of 100-by-100 feet around the small shed, where the herbicide Silvex was stored until 1978.

No Scouts were camped closer than 150 feet to the shed area, and many more were more than a mile away, Clough said.

Fraternity alcohol policy adopted

DALLAS (AP) - A new interim policy at Southern Methodist University that monitors alcohol consumption at fraternity and sorority parties is too specific and probably will only last a couple of months, said a student who helped draft the policy.

"A fraternity can't spit without getting into trouble," said senior Ted Brabham, a member of the 15-member committee of students, faculty and administrators who developed the interim policy.

Under the new rules, fraternity and sorority members planning on-campus parties must hire campus police, a licensed bartender and appoint four juniors or seniors who will not drink to monitor the

"I will urge the frats to have parties off-campus if they feel they can't abide by the rules. I don't think this will last two months, Brabham said.

Walter A. Snickenberger, SMU vice president for student affairs, banned alcohol from sorority and fraternity events Sept. 10 after two weekends of raucous partying, when students drinking alcohol hurled bottles and verbally insulted campus policy.

Sharon's suit against Time opens

NEW YORK (AP) - Former Israeli Defense Minister Ariel Sharon launches his court attack on Time magazine today, claiming he was libeled by a report saying he discussed vengeance with Lebanese Phalangists before hundreds of Palestinians were massacred in Beirut in 1982.

U.S. District Judge Abraham D. Sofaer and a jury of four men and two women were set to hear the $50 million lawsuit in Manhattan.

Sharon has called Time's report on the findings of an Israeli investigation into the September 1982 massacre "a blood libel." He said he sued "for the honor and pride of the Jewish people and the state of Israel.'

Time has called the suit "an attempt by a foreign politician to justify his conduct of a war by his state and to enhance his political reputation." The weekly magazine, based in New York, also said Sharon "is supported in that effort by the government of his state."

Sniper tried suicide at stadium

EUGENE (AP) - A sniper who shot one man to death and wounded another before killing himself had tried to take his own life once before by slashing his wrists in the same college stadium where the shooting spree unfolded, police said.

Friends and acquaintances of Michael E. Feher said he was prey to fads, wanted to be a rock star and was overwhelmed by personal problems, but they said he gave no indication his frustration would be vented in deadly violence. Feher, 19, donned combat fatigues, blackened his face and entered the University of Oregon's Autzen Stadium on Monday carrying two rifles, police said. He wounded a wrestler who confronted him, killed a former Olympic sprinter and turned a rifle on himself, police said.

Last summer, Feher slashed his wrists at Autzen Stadium but survived the suicide attempt, police Lt. Rick Nelson told the Eugene Register-Guard.

Police said Feher shot to death Chris S. Braitwaithe, 35, a sprinter who recieved degrees from the school in 1976 and 1977 and competed in the Olympic Games in 1976 and 1980 for his native Trinidad, on a jogging path outside the stadium.

Indians trained for communist life

NEW DELHI, India (AP) - Soviet authorities in Afghanistan are shipping thousands of primary-school Afghan children to the Soviet Union for at least 10 years of indoctrination into Communism and the Soviet way of life, Western diplomatic sources said today.

About 870 Afghan children aged 7 to 9 left for Soviet Central Asia on Nov. 5 in the first such flight after they were seen off from Kabul airport by weeping parents and the wife of President Babrak Karmal, the informants said.

The sources, who briefed reporters on condition they not be identified, said the Karmal regime described the operation as a "magnificent friendly gesture by the Soviet Union toward the Afghan people."

The Soviet and Afghan authorities have announced that many similar groups are to leave for the Soviet Union in the near future, all of them for an initial schooling period of 10 years, the sources said. The reports could not be independently verified.

The pro-Soviet Karmal regime has been in power since the Soviet military incursion at the end of 1979 and is presently backed by an estimated 105,000 Soviet troops.

Restaurant killings suspect said sane

DALLAS (AP) - A Moroccan national accused of gunning down six patrons at a nightclub knows the difference between right and wrong and is not insane as the defense contends. a psychiatrist has testified.

Abdelkrim Belachbeb has a "severe sociopatic personality" and was aware of his actions the night of June 29 at Ianni's Restaurant and Club, Dr. James Grigson testified Monday.

Belachheb, 39, has pleaded innocent by reason of insanity to six counts of murder and one of attempted murder in connection with the shooting spree at the restaurant. If convicted, he faces life in prison.

If found innocent by reason of insanity, State District Judge Gerry Meier will determine how long he stays in a mental institution. The prosecution continues its rebuttal to-

Ethiopia

Half a hundred years ago, in the depth of the great American depression of the 1930's, every child was admonished by his parents to "Clean up everything on your plate. Don't waste food. Think of the 'starving Armenians."

Americans are - always have been - a dichotomous contradiction of pride and compassion.

With today's worldwide communication "the starving Armenians" are everywhere.

Recently, the starvation most prominently mentioned is in Ethiopia. Yet Haitians, within a hundred miles of Florida, are only a little less hungry.

Uncle Sam is on the sceneproviding daily hot meals to 600,000 Haitian schoolchildren.

In Ethiopia we're trying to help. Though Ethiopia's military dictator takes his orders from Moscow, Uncle Sam has sent 80,000 metric tons of wheat and other foodstuffs to Ethiopia. These shipments, if they get through, will save a lot of lives.

I say "if they get through" because it is SOP in most red-led countries for the food to get diverted into the fat bellies of the rulers or onto the black recently septn 100 million dollars between two and three percent of his country's total GNP - to celebrate his own anniversary!

And while the Soviets have sent Mengistu two billion dollars in military aid - to solidify his communist dictatorship - Moscow's humanitarian contribution, so far, has amounted to barely three million dollars worth of rice.

The African drought notwithstanding, Mengistu's mismanagement of Ethiopian agriculture surely exacerbated the situation.

And still the ministers from these benighted places stand up in the U.N. and conemn us - U.S. - for not giving them more.

This is a burn rap. We are not the villians. marxists are the villians!

Whatever Africa's recent weather, it is conspicuously apparent that the most starvation is in nations under Marxist rule. The lesson of Africa is getting distorted into an indictment of us when it should focus, instead, on the invariable message of Marxim: "To each according to his need" is phonybaloney. In the name of a bankrupt utopian philosophy, they starve!

The spacewalkers told Mission Control today they preferred a modified form of the manual berthing in which Gardner would fly over; and secure the satellite, bringing it over to Allen, standing in a work station mounted on the end of the ship' robot arm. ty was regulated they would grow more cotton. And I've talked to farmers who don't want the county regulated in any way.'

Miles Caudle, one of two cotton growers attending the meeting, said he was not concerned so much with what chemicals are used as with now they are applied. "The important thing is to make the people who use them responsible," he said.

Raymond Schlabs told commissioners he has lived in Parmer County and did not especially like the regulated status of that county. "I'm with Miles," he said. "If you misapplicate them, you're going to have problems."

Newton announced that New Mexico has decided to regulate use of the weed killer in Roosevelt and Curry counties, which are just to the west of Parmer and Deaf Smith. "New Mexico is interested in what we do, because Texas has an influence on the national level," he said.

Recent regulations proposed by TDA for all of Texas were also discussed at the meeting, with Newton reminding commissioners that public hearings are being conducted this week to give farmers a chance to comment. The closest hearing for Panhandle growers will be Thursday in Lubbock at 2 p.m. in the civic center.

"TDA wrote regulations without any input from the farmers," Newton pointed out. "And there's been a lot of criticism. As a result of this and the public hearings, I think the regulations will end up staying about the same as they are."

County residents who object to Monday's decision have 21 days to appeal, it was announced following the vote. Newton told the court it was his understanding that the regulation status could be changed a year from now if the county is not happy with it. Walcott wheat farmer Ernest

Brown, contacted Monday night about the court's decision, said he does not see a "big problem" with it. "We can get along with the Amene," he stated. Amene and Banvil are two less volatile formulation of the chemical which can be used with a permit from TDA after the regulated status of the county goes into effect

"The only problem it could cause is that it has made us fall under TDA regulations," Brown added. "But TDA might have done this for us if we hadn't of done something."

In other business Monday, bills approved for payment included one for $55,672.72 to the Amarillo law firm of Underwood, Wilson, Barry, Stein and Johnson. The company represented the county in job discrimination suits brought against it by Abel Villarreal and Cecilia Garza. Ware was appointed as special prosecutor after the Deaf Smith County Grand Jury returned three indictments against Hereford attorney Jerry Smith. Those indictments were dismissed last month by speciallyappointed Judge Pat Boone Jr. of Littlefield.

Commissioners canvassed and approved returns from the Nov. 6 election and opened bids for tennis courts to be constructed at Walcott. The State Department of Parks and Recreation must approve the bids because much of the money to build the courts comes from a grant issued by that department.

RUTH EVANS

By LISA BALL Staff Writer

Ruth Evans has experienced balancing in two ways-in her college degree and in her life between work and home.

Evans came to Hereford in May with a two-year degree in accounting from South Plains College. She is currently a legal secretary for Richard Forrest, a lawyer with Witherspoon-Aikin and Langley. She has been there for three months, typing all the forms needed by her lawyer.

"It's a real interesting job and I always stay busy," she said. "I learn something new every day."

She had had experience with shorthand and typing, and had kept the books for a bank in Levelland. With the ever-present dream of opening her own accounting firm, Evans is also looking forward to the chance to become a para-legal. "Once I work here for five years," she explained, "I will have the opportunity to take more classes and become a para-legal. I still won't be able to practice law, though.'

She had attended Texas Tech University, but it was not until she worked for a public accountant that

All proceeds from the sale will be used for the special activities fund which include out-of-town trips and special needs for individual clients.

Parents of the clients and Hereford residents have donated clothes, kitchen appliances, toys and other items to be sold.

Anyone interested in giving articles may call the center at 364-5861 or bring them to the Satellite Center.

Award Winners

Gold star banquet honors top 4-H members

Forty-two outstanding members of 4-H Clubs in 20 Panhandle counties were honored in Canyon Saturday night with the coveted Gold Star Award. The youths were challenged by Dallam County Attorney Ron Enns, himself a former Gold Star winner, to view their honor as a responsibility to continue using their leadership abilities to help others.

Joining the youths at the awards banquet in the cafeteria at West Texas State University were parents, government officials, Extension leaders, fellow 4-H'ers, educators and other community leaders.

Honored at the banquet from Deaf Smith County were Scott Robbins, son of Mr. & Mrs. Frank Robbins of Hereford. Other Gold Star recipients from Deaf Smith County were Kristi Powell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Powell and Rickie Vogel, son of Mr. & Mrs. Herb Vogel.

Enns told the 4-H'ers, parents and friends that his own 4-H experience had played a major part in his life. "If it wasn't for 4-H, I wouldn't be here tonight," he said.

"You're not just getting an honor, you're getting a responsibility. That six electric cooperatives which sponship home and do something with it," he challenged.

Enns told the audience there are many types of leaders. He urged the youths to be the type of leaders who do things because they want to help others, not the "glory seekers" who do things for what they get from their actions.

And he urged the boys and girls to disdain mediocrity. "There is a lot of pressure right now to be 'average,' to not do any more than you have to. If everybody was average, there wouldn't be any Gold Star banquets, because no one would be outstanding. There would be no fine universities, because no one would go. There would be no advances, no new ideas.'

And he cautioned the young leaders that even though they might do something better than it had ever been done before, their effort would still be mediocre unless it was their own best effort.

Master of ceremonies was Bobby Martin, presi Carson County. Guests were welcomed by Tommy Weemes of the Deaf Smith Electric Cooperative, one of responsibility is to take this leader- sor the banquet annually. The others are Rita Blanca, North Plains,

Swisher, Greenbelt and Lighthouse. The awards were presented by Mrs. Sue Farris and Paul Gross, district Extension directors.

Dinner music was presented by "Hard Country," a country rock band of Gray County youths. Members of the band are Roy Lott, Mistie Greer, Mike Phillis and Rebecca Venable. Also on the program were 4-H members Jean Leven of Carson County, Jan Spencer of Moore County, Jeff Walters of Hutchinson County, Cyndi Starkey of Moore County, Kris DeKeratry of Potter County, Roxan Tillery of Sherman County and Camille Farris of Dallam County.

Story speaks on recent visit to Hearst castle

Garden Beautiful met Friday in the home of Bessie Story with Audine Dettmann as co-hostess.

Helen Spinks, president, called the meeting to order and the minutes of the last meeting were read and approved. Members were reminded that the next meeting will be the Christmas party and were asked to bring guests to the meeting.

Story gave a program telling of her recent visit to the Hearst castle located about halfway between Los Angeles and San Francisco. It was built by George Hearst to satisfy his ego as an important person. He purchased a total of 240,000 acres and built his castle at the top of a mountain. It contains 39 bedrooms with baths, sitting rooms with elegant furnishings, two libraries and a large sitting room. The home also has a morning room, dining room, servants quarters and other rooms. Statues all over the grounds are evident, and the rooms are all decorated with antiques, tapestries and painting from all parts of the world. He also had built a zoo with hundreds of animals for the guests enjoyment and two large pools.

The grounds are landscaped and requires seven full-time gardeners to keep it in condition.

After Hearst's death, the Hearst estate gave the castle and immediate surrounding grounds to the state of California. The state had made it into a park and provides regular tours to visitors. The upkeep for the estate cost 5 million dollars a year, but it returns a profit of from two to five million a year to the state.

Other members present were Mmes. W.P. Axe, W.T. Carmichael, Ray Cowsert, Bill Emmons, J.T. Gilbreath, W.W. Gilbreath, Wayne Jones, J.W. Witherspoon, Jean Dowell, Hilda Havens and E.W. Young.

The next meeting will be at Mrs. W.W. Gilbreath's home for the Christmas party.

L.A. may not make playoffs

Raiders bow to Seattle

By JIM COUR

AP Sports Writer SEATTLE (AP) - When the Los Angeles Raiders' renowned Monday night magic fails them, they better start worrying. After their 17-14 setback against the opportunistic Seattle Seahawks, they have to be wondering today if they're even going to make the National Football League playoffs this season, much less with another Super Bowl.

It just might not be the Raiders' year, conceded quarterback Marc Wilson.

'We're 7-4," Raiders' Coach Tom Flores lamented. "Our backs are up against the wall with that kind of record."

"I think we're snake bit a little bit." remarked Wilson, who threw three fourth-quarter interceptions. "We keep doing things that are selfdestructive."

The Seahawks won the kind of game the Raiders have always seemed to be able to pull out of the bag, especially on Monday nights.

Moreno places 29th at state

Selma Moreno, Hereford High School's first-ever representative at a state cross-country meet, finished 29th Saturday at the event in Georgetown.

Moreno turned in a time of 12:25 over the two-mile course on the campus of Southwestern University. Coach Martha Emerson said she was pleased with Moreno's performance. although Moreno had turned in better times this fall.

'She didn't do too bad considering the pressure she was running under," Emerson said. "She ran a good first mile, but the level of competition and pressure got to her on the second."

Approximately 100 runners from Class 5A were in the race.

"Selma had a good season," Emerson said. "Now we'll just get ready for spring track."

Moreno was first in every regularseason contest she entered this year with the exception of one. She also won the District 3-5A meet and placed fifth at Region I.

Cornhuskers desire national championship

Nebraska doesn't want repeat of 1983

By STEVEN WINE

Associated Press Writer

Nebraska, a front-runner virtually all season in its unsuccessful bid for the national championship last year, this time hopes to come from behind to finish No. 1.

In 1983, the Cornhuskers won their first 12 games before suffering a 31-30 loss to Miami in the Orange Bowl. This season, Nebraska was knocked out of the No. 1 spot after its fourth game, a 17-9 loss at Syracuse.

The Huskers have won six in a row since then, and on Monday completed a climb back to the top of the Associated Press college football poll. Nebraska, 9-1, received 37 of 59 first-place votes from the nation's and fell from first to eighth in the Burke said that since Saturday's showdown in Lincoln against sixthranked Oklahoma and a bowl game are the only games remaining for the Cornhuskers, the No. 1 ranking won't create additional pressure.

"Regardless of what number we are, when we play Oklahoma it's a big game," Burke said. "If I had to pick our spot to be No. 1, I think it would be this week and this time."

Coach Tom Osborne said Nebraska is fortunate to reach the top of the poll for the second time this season.

"It's a good opportunity because there are so many teams that are deserving that don't get the chance," said Osborne, who has coached the Cornhuskers to four straight Big Eight Conference titles.

Osborne expressed confidence that Nebraska can win its first national championship since 1971, when Bob Devaney was the coach.

"If we get the job done in the next sportswriters and sportscasters to two games, we ought to be there at replace Washington, which lost to the end," Osborne said. "I think we Southern California 16-7 Saturday can do it, but it's not a foregone conclusion by any means."

Nebraska's closest challengers this week are major-college football's only remaining unbeatens - No. 2 South Carolina, 9-0 after a Nebraska cornerback Dave Burke 38-26 victory over Florida State, and said after Saturday's 41-7 victory at third-rated Brigham Young, which ran its record to 10-0 with a 34-3

"We forgot to look around on defense and all of a sudden, Indiana was killing us with the fast break, making the outside shot and grabbing the offensive rebounds," Jones said in assessing Indiana's 40-28 second-quarter spurt.

"They were flying and beating us at our game. They were teaching us about the fast break," Jones added.

Larry Bird, who led all scorers with 29, sparked Boston to a 16-point lead in the second quarter. But rookie Vern Fleming came off the bench to fire an Indiana spurt that tied the game three times in the third quarter. That's when Robert Parish and Dennis Johnson went to work, igniting a spurt that gave the defending world champs their sixth victory in seven starts. Parish, who made eight of 10 shots from the field, scored 11 of his 18 points in the third quarter as Boston took control.

"We talked about creating the situations to get the ball inside to Parish at halftime," said Jones. "He had only three shots in that first half and that's not our offense."

Coaches predict TCU to be in Cotton Bowl

DALLAS (AP) - Three of the five Southwest Conference coaches whose teams have played both Texas and TCU are predicting that the Horned Frogs will win in Saturday's "Showdown in Cowtown," according to a newspaper's poll.

The winner will advance to the Cotton Bowl as the SWC host team.

"There might have been a day when you could roll a helmet with a Longhorn onto the field, and all the guys in purple would be looking over their shoulder, but you can't say that this season," Texas Tech coach Jerry Moore told The Dallas Morning News.

"I think this game is going to be a lot more interesting than anyone ever imagined," added Moore, who said he thinks TCU will win because of its defense.

Arkansas coach Ken Hatfield and Houston coach Bill Yeoman were slightly partial to TCU, while Rice coach Watson Brown said he'd have to go with Texas. SMU coach Bobby Collins abstained.

Baylor coach Grant Teaff, who still pressure." must face Texas, also abstained, as did Texas A&M coach Jackie Sherrill, who has dates remaining with both title contenders.

Oddsmakers favor Texas by 12 points in the game, which is scheduled for a 2:50 p.m. kickoff Saturday in Amon Carter Stadium in Fort Worth, with a regional television audience also looking on.

Texas, 6-1-1, fell from third to 10th in the Associated Press rankings after being upset by Houston 29-15 last week. TCU, 8-1, rose to No. 12 after coming from behind to beat Texas Tech 27-16.

Tech, which led Texas most of the game before losing 13-10, said he favors TCU because he thinks the Horned Frogs will be able to deny the Longhorns the ball.

"For TCU to win, they need to do exactly the same as they've been doing the last few weeks, keep the ball," Moore said. "We were able to control the ball fairly well against Texas, so TCU should be able to do that. The TCU defense is no pushover, and if they can deny Texas the ball and stop its rushing game, they should be in good shape."

Yeoman, whose Cougars lost to TCU 21-14 two weeks ago, called it "a dead heat."

"If it was at Texas, I'd give it to the Longhorns. That crowd yelling against you can mean a lot. But at TCU, Id say the Horned Frogs have an edge. They can't make turnovers, and they have to shut down Texas' running game," Yeoman said. Hatfield's Razorbacks were victimized by TCU's fourth-quarter rally and lost 32-31. In the Texas game, the Porkers were behind 24-18 but on the verge of scoring when the game ended.

"TCU made a believer out of me," Hatfield said. "Any time you can come into Fayetteville, get behind and still come back to win, that shows a lot of character. I don't think Texas' experience will be a key. I don't think TCU will fold under

George Blanda, playing for four teams, made 943 points-aftertouchdown during his career, a National Football League record

Brown said it's been several weeks since he saw either team, "so I just really don't know. But it's been a mighty long time since Texas has lost two straight Southwest Conference games." Rice lost to both TCU and Texas.

TCU coach Jim Wacker discounted the feeling that his team might succumb to nerves.

"Frankly, I'm a lot more relaxed this week than I have been all season," Wacker said. "Getting to the point where you have a chance to play for all the marbles is the hard part. There was a lot more pressure trying to reach this game intact."

TCU is 5-1 and Texas 4-1 in SWC play. All other league teams have lost two or more games.

Shopping for shrimp from mobile markets

COLLEGE STATION - Roadside shrimp vendors are popular in many parts of Texas. But before buying shrimp from these vendors consumers should check for cleanliness standards in the operation and good quality shrimp, says a Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service seafood specialist.

First look for shrimp that are stored or displayed in a clean container, say Annette Reddell Hegen. There should be enough insulation and ice to keep the shrimp at a temperature of 45 degrees F or below, she adds.

Whether you buy your shrimp from a roadside vendor or a supermarket, you can judge the quality of the shrimp too," says the specialist. Fresh head-on shrimp will have the head firmly attached to the tail, she notes. As shrimp deteriorate, the enzyme action causes the two sections to separate.

Also look for shrimp that are free of discoloration on the flesh, advises Hegan. The flesh should have a healthy bloom and look somewhat translucent.

The shells, however, may vary in color. Shrimp may have pink, white, gray or brown shell color depending on the species. "Shell color has nothing t do with quality unless the shrimp is very pink, indicating exposure to too much heat," she says.

Your sense of smell can also help in shrimp selection, says the specialist, since fresh shrimp have a milk, fresh and clean odor.

Fabric softeners affect retardance

COLLEGE STATION - The flame washings," Fonseca observes. "In retardant children's sleepwear you buy may not stay that way unless you take care in laundering it, says a Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service clothing specialist.

"Normal home washing is not a problem," says Alma Fonseca, "But several research studies indicate that using fabric softeners will reduce the effectiveness of flame retardant finishes."

Tests have been conducted on 100 percent cotton children's sleepwear that was treated with wash-cycle fabric softeners, rinse-cycle softeners and softeners added to the dryer, she explains.

The best performance for fire retardance occurred when repeated launderings took place without use of a fabirc softener at all, reports Fonseca. The sleepwear treated with a dryer fabric softener still met standards for flame retardance, although it did not perofrm as well as those without fabric softener.

The rinse-cycle softener caused some reduction in fire retardance and the wash-cycle softener had the greatest effect, she says. "The wash and rinse cycle fabric softeners have the most effect on flame retardance because they build up in the fabrics over repeated the case of wash-cycle softeners the fabrics will actually gain weight during launderings."

Additional tests of different fabric types, show that 100 percent cotton sleepwear is more likely to be affected by this build-up of fabric softener, she notes. Sleepwear made from 80 percent acetate and 20 percent polyester still met the children's fire retardance standard even after the use of rinse cycle fabric softeners

Parents who buy 100 percent cotton sleepwear should wash it without the use of fabric softeners for maximum flame retardance, says the specialist. Unfortunately, this will result in a less soft feel to the garment. If you find it necessary to use a softener, stick to dryer-cycle product, she advises.

For acetate-polyester sleepwear either rinse-or dryer-cycle fabric softeners will not affect the flame retardance qualities of the garments, Forseca says.

DEAR ONE: I know many handicapped people who are heroic. The tasks they perform every day are monumental, yet they expect no special praise. I hope every able-bodied person who has parked in a space reserved for the handicapped will see your letter and feel ashamed. Thank you for writing.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I'm writing in the hope that I can help "Red Eyes in Ohio"-the mother of the 4-month-old with colic. As the mother of two, I also spent most of my time walking the floor with a couple of screaming babies. The first was colicky for five months The second was colicky for nine months. These children were born a year apart and I was ready to go out of my mind. I finally changed pediatricians, and learned that both babies were allergic to milk. The doctor instructed me to take them of formula, and be sure they got lots of green vegetables and calcium-rich foods. The change was incredible. They stopped screaming within a few days and became calm and peaceful. Now both children are in school.

Supreme Court reversed his ing in Houston and lifted an injunction against Houston's Handy Dan chain. Many merchants opposed to the blue law argue it doesn't make sense.

"When you start looking at the list, you realize how ludicrous it all is," said Linda Ward, an official of Furrow Building Materials of Austin. "A customer gets furious when you have to tell them they can't buy a metal trash can on Sunday, but they can buy a plastic one." "It's a bad law, and I think they should change it," said Austin storeowner Buddy Slack. "A place should be able to sell everything. A person should be able to walk into a store on Sunday and buy a fishhook."

Slack said his biggest sales are during the weekend. "If we had to close down on Sunday, it'd really hurt us," he

> In the past two years, the Travis County attorney's office has sent 10 to 15 letters warning retailers that the county had reason to believe they were violating the law, said Jan Breland, assistant county attorney. But Breland said her office, which is responsible for enforcing the Sunday-closing law, never has prosecuted a blue law case.

The Texas and U.S. supreme courts have repeatedly upheld the blue law, and the Legislature has rejected attempts to repeal it.

"I haven't heard of a case with the blue law having ever come up in Austin," said District Judge Bob Perkins, who has been at Austin jurist for 10 years.

several businesses, claiming they have defied the law.

On Friday, the Merchants Association filed lawsuits against five businesses in two Houston shopping malls that defied the law and attorneys for the group say they will file suits this week against three other businesses.

Tom Conner, attorney for the merchants association, said Tennant's decision on Monday won't keep the group, from seeking out those who violate the law.

Any merchant who believes that because of this ruling, they can open on consecutive Saturdays and Sundays is sadly mistaken," he said. "We intend to prosecute these cases. The law is with

"It's my impression there will be more as a result of this decision," Cogburn said.

Many businesses support the blue law and pay lobbyists to fight against its repeal in the Legislature.

'The intent of the law is for stores to close one weekend day, and we think that's a good thing," said Mickey Moore, executive vice president of the Texas Retailers Association in Austin, a lobbying group with 1,400 member companies. Moore said there are few additional sales generated from being open seven days a week.

"A large deparment store, like Foley's, would have to bring in hundreds of employees on Sunday," Moore said, "while a discount store needs only a handful to operate."
