

Reagan speech criticizes Democrats

By TERENCE HUNT Associated Press Writer

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — President Reagan, campaigning in one of the key battlegrounds of the 1984 presidential race, today accused liberal Democrats of trying to block his administration's policies but said, "Here's a flash from the Gipper — they're not going to win."

Opening a new assault against Democrats controlling the House of Representatives, Reagan said, "This is the same liberal leadership that has done nothing but stand in the way of initiatives the American people want and need."

In a speech billed by the White House as non-political but steeped in partisan rhetoric, Reagan addressed the Texas Bar Association convention in the hometown of Mayor Henry Cisneros, one of the half-dozen people interviewed by Walter Mondale, the likely Democratic presidential nominee, as a potential running mate.

Made in San Antonio today

Reagan accused House Democrats of blocking action on a long-stalled package of anti-crime legislation, constitutional amendments requiring a balanced federal budget and allowing voluntary prayer in public schools, tuition tax credits and other economic programs.

"The liberals in the House can stand in the way again if they want to, just as they did when they opposed spending cuts and tax cuts, rebuilding our military strength or helping El Salvador and other nations resist totalitarian rule," Reagan said in his prepared text.

"But they didn't win then — and here's a flash from the Gipper — they're not going to win now."

It was a rare public mention by the president of a nickname he earned in his Hollywood days in the film "Knut Rockne All American" when, as a dying Notre Dame football player named George Gipp, he voiced a rallying cry for the team to someday "win one for the Gipper."

Reagan's political strategists are nervous about Texas, a key state that carries 27 electoral votes, one-tenth of the 270 needed to win the White House. Although Reagan won Texas easily in 1980, his advisers refuse to predict a repeat performance.

In his speech, Reagan told the audience, "It wasn't long ago, after all, when our national economy was in its worse mess in years, when our national security was badly endangered — endangered not only by Soviet expansionism and a massive Soviet arms buildup but even by threats and aggressions from tiny

Police find dissident in crate

By MICHAEL WEST Associated Press Writer

LONDON (AP) — A British Celedonian jetliner carrying 180 passengers and 14 crew members was being held at Nigeria's main airport today after police in Britain rescued Nigeria's "most wanted man," who had been stuffed into a crate at an airport.

The airliner incident occurred one day after the abduction and rescue of Umaru Dikko, a leading Nigerian dissident found drugged in a crate which a Nigerian Embassy official reportedly described as diplomatic baggage. It was unclear if the two incidents were related.

Airline spokesman Tony Cochrane

Passengers, crew members detained said in London that the Boeing 747 was ordered to return to Lagos Airport by Nigerian air traffic control after it had taken off late Thursday night. The aircraft arrived back at the airport at about 11 p.m. (6 p.m. EDT).

"We have had no official explanation whatsoever," Cochrane said.

"The passengers are being treated courteously. Apart from the fact that they are being held, we have no fears for their safety."

British government sources, who spoke only on condition they not be named, said Nigeria's high commissioner, or ambassador, Maj. Gen. Halidu Hannaniya, had been summoned to the Foreign Ministry today to answer questions about the affair.

The Nigerian government has denied involvement in the abduction, but the British Foreign Office said it has asked the commissioner why one of his aides was at the airport when Dikko, a former transport minister, and two other Nigerians were found.

The Nigerian Broadcasting Corp. said a Nigerian Embassy official was supervising the loading of cargo onto a Nigerian Airlines plane Thursday at Stanstead and told customs officials that crates the men were diplomatic baggage.

Dikko, 47, and the two other men were under police guard and being treated at hospitals today, according to the domestic news agency Press Association. The BBC said Dikko was in satisfactory condition.

Dikko was a close adviser to former President Shehu Shagari and the Sunday Observer newspaper reported in January that his health was estimated at $1.4 billion.

He had vowed to launch a holy war in the West African country to overthrow the six-month-old military government of Maj. Gen. Muhammadu Buhari, which overthrew Shagari last Dec. 31.

The new government has accused Dikko of taking massive kickbacks for approving contracts under the former government and has called him its "most wanted man." It has vowed to bring him back for trial.

The London Daily Mail said British officials were taking the line that Hannaniya was not personally involved. When Dikko was snatched, the high commissioner was lunching at the Foreign Office as the guest of the Foreign Office minister of state, Malcolm Rifkind.

Witnesses said two kidnapers forced the struggling Dikko into a yellow van in front of his London apartment at about 12:30 p.m. Thursday, said police spokesman Mike Cobb.

Police have refused to make a detailed statement about other facts in the case.

Press Association said the first hint of trouble at the airport 30 miles northeast of London came when customs officers telephoned the Foreign Office and reported doubts about a diplomatic consignment, which apparently didn't meet the specifications of diplomatic baggage.

The BBC said an embassy staff member told customs officials that the crates were diplomatic baggage, although they apparently were not labeled as such. Police opened the boxes in the presence of the embassy official, Press Association said.

Inside were Dikko and the other two men, who have not been identified. Press Association said police were conducting a manhunt for the kidnapers and believed the men were armed.

Shagari is under house arrest in Nigeria.

Gramm gets nuclear assurance

Phil Gramm has been assured Texans' complaints about a nuclear waste dump being placed in the Panhandle are being considered by the U.S. Department of Energy, the Congressman's office reported this morning.

Benard Resche, DOE director of nuclear waste management, reportedly told Gramm the public comment would be "a major factor" in the selection process. Among the nine sites being considered for the nation's first high-level nuclear waste repository are one apiece in Deaf Smith and Swisher counties.

The field is to be narrowed to five after environmental assessment studies are completed by DOE later this year. Early in 1985, the president is to approve the three top candidates for detailed site characterizations. A final choice is slated for 1990, with storage operations to commence eight years later.

Gramm is the Republican candidate for the U.S. Senatorial seat being vacated by John Tower. He co-authored a bill which allows the governor of the ultimately chosen state to veto placement of the nuclear waste dump. An override can be accomplished by majority votes from both houses of Congress.

Mosquito spraying slated

Weather permitting, the city of Hereford Saturday morning plans to once again to attack mosquitos by spraying.

The aerial application of pesticide is to be the second of several planned for this summer, according to an official at City Hall. The first was conducted last Friday morning.

Dudley Bayne, city manager, said before the first spraying such action was necessary due to the several complaints his office had received concerning the insects.

Barrett Plumbing vandalized

Harold Barrett, owner of Barrett Plumbing, told Hereford police a $250 window at his business was broken at approximately 3:20 p.m. Thursday.

He said he thought a group of juveniles was responsible for the vandalism, though police listed no suspects in their report.

Also investigated Thursday were the theft of a girl's 10-speed bicycle, vandalism of a vehicle, burglary, criminal trespass and juvenile problems.

The Deaf Smith County Sheriff's department reported this morning it recently filed charges against a county jail inmate for possession of a controlled substance. Looked into were a minor theft and disturbance at a private bar.

Wayne brothers star in play

By KIM THOGMARTIN Staff Writer

"I think whatever Dad had been doing when I was a kid, that's what I would have wanted to do when I grew up."

That is a pretty nice thing for anybody's kid to say, but then, Ethan Wayne is not just anybody's kid. The 22-year-old actor is starring with older brother Patrick at the Country Squire dinner theater in Amarillo. Their father, of course, was John Wayne.

"Come Blow Your Horn" was Neil Simon's first stage play. Some, including Patrick, say it is one of the best. But the brothers admit that a good script is not the only thing that brings the 400 or so patrons out to the Country Squire every night.

"We know that some people are coming just to see what the sons of John Wayne are like," Patrick said. "But when we meet with the people afterwards and sign autographs, they let us know they enjoyed our work too."

"The Duke" died in 1979, but has not been forgotten, especially by Texans. The beloved actor was no stranger to Texas, having filmed "The Alamo" in a small town near San Antonio. He often promoted his films here, which Patrick said were well attended in the Lone Star State.

"Going on location with Dad—those were the best times for me as a kid," Ethan remembered. Ethan played the part of the grandson in the movie "Big Jake." Patrick, who started at age 11 in "Rio Grande," went on to act in 10 of his father's films.

"Come Blow Your Horn" is a comedy, the story of a family living in New York City. Patrick and Ethan play brothers Allen and Buddy Baker, two bachelors who work for a rather domineering and suspecting father.

"Basically, there's something for everyone to identify with," Patrick commented. "There's a value system that comes into play, and there's nothing more that wouldn't appeal to the people of the Panhandle."

Duke's sons

Allen Baker is the playboy, the man about town, and in conflict with his father about the fact that he is not married. Things really get funny when Allen decides it is time to educate little brother in the ways of swinging bachelorhood.

So 21-year-old Buddy, leaving home for the first time, takes up residence at Allen's apartment. Patrick says the brothers' confrontations with their parents are among the funnier scenes, like when Buddy is expecting a girl at the apartment and his mother unexpectedly drops in.

There's a change in both characters by the time the curtain opens on Act III. Allen has fallen in love and is thinking of getting married, while his once shy younger brother has learned to live "life in the fast lane."

Oil wells may cause earthquakes

AUSTIN (AP) — Oil and gas production may have caused earthquakes that were recorded near the towns of Fashing and Pleasanton in South Texas, according to a University of Texas scientist. "The earthquakes all appear to originate on known faults where those faults form boundaries of an oil or gas field," said Dr. Wayne Pennington of UT's Institute for Geophysics and Department of Geological Sciences. Pennington said Thursday that two earthquakes in Atascosa County within the past year have reached magnitudes of 3.2 and 3.9 on the Richter scale. The Richter scale is a gauge of energy released by an earthquake as measured by the ground motion recorded on a seismograph. An increase of one means that the motion has caused no appreciable damage and can be expected to pose only minor hazards to the communities involved, Pennington said. He said oil and gas production lowers fluid pressure in reservoir rock, and this affects the strength of the rock.

Spence trial in punishment phase

WACO, Texas (AP) — A psychiatrist was on standby to describe the mental stability of David Wayne Spence as the punishment phase of Spence's murder trial entered its second day today, with prosecutors seeking the death penalty. Spence, 25, was found guilty Tuesday of capital murder in the slaying of 17-year-old Jill Montgomery of Waxahachie, who was killed July 13, 1982 and found the following day in a park near Lake Waco. Jurors could begin deliberating Spence's punishment late today. The stabbed and mutilated bodies of two other teen-agers — Raylene Rice, 17, also of Waxahachie, and Kenneth Franks, 18, of Waco — were also found. Spence has been charged but has not stood trial in the deaths of the two other teen-agers. He faces life in prison or death by injection for Miss Montgomery's death.

Unemployment takes a tumble

WASHINGTON (AP) — Civilian unemployment tumbled to 7.1 percent in June, the lowest in more than four years, as 460,000 Americans found jobs, the government reported today. The 0.4 percentage point drop in the seasonally adjusted rate, the steepest plunge since unemployment fell from 8.8 percent to 8.4 percent from October to November last year, took this key economic indicator to its lowest ebb since April 1980. At that time, unemployment stood at 6.9 percent. Last month's good news from the Labor Department was spread across all population groups, with black Americans, whose unemployment has been more severe than that of whites, enjoying the strongest improvement. An alternative unemployment rate, which combines the 113.8-million member civilian labor force with the 1.7 million members of the armed forces stationed in the United States, fell by a commensurate amount to 7.0 percent.

Editorial writer freed from jail

BELLEVILLE, Ill. (AP) — An editorial writer freed from jail after the sources whose identities he had steadfastly refused to reveal stepped forward voluntarily has vowed to "fight to change this law from a typewriter and sleep at home each night." Richard Hargraves, 34, was ordered released from St. Clair County Jail by Circuit Judge Roger Scrivner on Thursday after attorneys reached an agreement in the case. He was the first journalist jailed in a civil libel suit in 26 years. Hargraves was jailed Tuesday for refusing to identify two sources he consulted before writing a 1981 editorial for the Belleville News-Democrat critical of Jerry Costello, chairman of the St. Clair County Board of Supervisors. In a copyright story in today's News-Democrat, board member Dave Hickey said, "Apparently, I am the source who talked to Rich Hargraves prior to him writing an editorial... Apparently Mr. Hargraves is referring to me as one of the people he talked to." Ed Anderson, another board member, revealed his connection to Hargraves Wednesday night on a St. Louis radio program.

Jurors to decide suspect's sanity

LOS ANGELES, Calif. (AP) — Jurors who took just 4½ hours to convict Marvin Pancoast of first-degree murder must now decide if he was sane when he bludgeoned Vicki Morgan, mistress of the late multimillionaire Alfred Bloomingdale, with her son's baseball bat. Before Thursday's verdict, defense attorneys had argued that others had better reasons than Pancoast to kill Miss Morgan, resurrecting earlier claims that videotapes exist showing Bloomingdale and Reagan administration officials in sexual escapades with the 31-year-old ex-model and other women. They sketched Pancoast as a masochist-turned-patsy, an acknowledged homosexual even though he was Miss Morgan's sometime roommate. They said he took the blame for the killing because he thrived on humiliation and said there was no physical evidence to support his widely publicized confession.

Hostages freed in Pakistan

ISLAMABAD, Pakistan (AP) — More than 250 people held hostage in a hijacked Indian Airlines plane were freed unharmed today when eight Sikh militants surrendered unconditionally to Pakistani authorities, a government spokesman said. The hijackers, who had threatened to blow up the plane and everyone on board, were in custody, while the passengers and crew members were taken to the Lahore airport lounge after their 20-hour ordeal, the spokesman said. The airline said there were 255 passengers listed for the flight, presumably including the hijackers, in addition to a crew of nine. The spokesman said he had no further details on the negotiations that led to the surrender of the eight hijackers. Initial reports had indicated there were only four of them. The spokesman said a Pakistani International Airlines jet would fly the freed passengers and crew from Lahore to New Delhi this afternoon as a goodwill gesture.

Worker-government distance denied

MEXICO CITY, Mexico (AP) — Despite calls for prosecution of a clique of powerful oil union leaders, President Miguel de la Madrid went into the center of their activity and said there is no distance between workers and the government. "We are part of the same system and allied in the revolution," the president said in Ciudad Madero. "We are going to continue struggling and to show that there will not be any maneuvers, intrigues or slanders that might distance workers and their unions from the government of the revolution."

Pennsylvania looks like battleground

By RON SIRAK
Associated Press Writer

Power lines and trees were twisted in tangled knots today after thunderstorms packing 60 mph winds and unleashing up to 2 inches of rain in 90 minutes raked the Northeast, damaging dozens of homes and leaving parts of Pennsylvania looking "like a battleground."

Thunder and lightning also blasted its way across the Midwest, buffeting parts of Kansas, Nebraska, Illinois and Missouri with high winds and golf ball-size hail, the National Weather Service said.

Four people were killed Thursday in a plane crash near Winchester, Ind., that authorities said may have been caused by lightning striking the twin-engine craft.

Rains continued in the Northeast this morning, while heavy thunderstorms hammered away at south-central and southeastern Kansas and parts of northeast Missouri and western Illinois.

Experts in Massachusetts and Pennsylvania were to take a look at damaged buildings to determine if the destruction Thursday night was caused by tornadoes, as reported by residents.

"These are the kinds of storms summer brings," said Harry Gordon on the National Severe Storms Forecast Center in Kansas City, Mo. "It rained last night and continued today from New England into Georgia and along another band from Wisconsin into New Mexico," he said.

A series of storms slammed into eastern Pennsylvania, damaging more than two dozen homes Thursday, authorities said.

Man may have staged his own death

MADISONVILLE, Texas (AP) — A bullet-riddled, bloodied van belonging to an East Texas man identified as a key witness in an investigation of Texas' prison system may be part of a hoax, a sheriff investigating the case says.

Madison County Sheriff Ed Fannin said Thursday he believes James Rodney Pitts, 37, of Palestine may have tried to stage his own murder Tuesday by leaving the vehicle in a roadside park six miles north of here — about 60 miles southwest of his hometown.

"My personal opinion is that I think he skipped the country," Fannin said. He said the shooting of the van "could be his doings also."

Fannin said he was hoping tests of the blood found in the van would be returned today.

Asked why Pitts might do such a thing, Fannin said, "He's in trouble. And the more I've looked into it the more trouble I find him in."

"It's been a devil of a thing for us but it sure looks like a set-up deal now," said Fannin after learning Pitts cashed a $2,000 payroll check at 9:30 a.m. Tuesday at the Elkhart State Bank in Elkhart, 10 miles south of Palestine.

Fannin also said drivers and customers at a truck stop reported seeing a man who looked like Pitts walking about six miles south of where his van was found.

Pitts, a former construction superintendent for the Texas Department of Corrections, promised to cooperate in investigations of the state prison system's handling of construction contracts, state Attorney General Jim Mattox said Monday.

Pitts also agreed to pay $25,000 in damages for conspiring to circumvent state bidding procedures, the attorney general said.

Houston Post reporter Fred King, who interviewed Pitts Tuesday afternoon in a restaurant in Madisonville, about 65 miles southwest of Palestine, said in an article in Thursday's editions that Pitts said he had told the attorney general's office not to reveal his cooperation in the investigation until others had appeared in court.

Pitts "gaped when he learned Mattox had revealed his agreement to cooperate and expressed fear for his life and his family," the Post said.

But Elna Christopher, a spokeswoman for Mattox, said Thursday that Pitts and the attorney general had no such agreement.

"He (Pitts) knew all along, and indicated to our attorney that he wanted people to know he was cooperating so he 'could put this all behind him,'" Ms. Christopher said.

"This (cooperation) is one of two terms in the settlement agreement. The other is the $25,000." Ms. Christopher said the attorney general's office would work with authorities to find Pitts.

"We'd like to know if he is alive, where he is," she said. "If somebody's done something to him, we want to know who did it."

A bullet had been fired through the driver's side of the windshield, the rear passenger seat and left rear window, and lead fragments in the back of the driver's seat — and blood — show a person could not have been seated erect in the driver's seat when the bullet was fired, Fannin said.

Blood was on the side of the driver's seat, console and driver's side window, but investigators found no splashes that a bullet would make leaving a body, Fannin said. Pitts' wife Rosalie, 36, told the Post on Wednesday that her husband's .38-caliber revolver and a portfolio case she believed contained prison-related papers were not at their home.

"Mrs. Pitts said she doubted her husband would stage a shooting. 'I'll whip him if he did,' she said. 'he would had to have cracked to do that.'"

On Tuesday, the woman said she believed her husband was alive. But a day later, she sounded less optimistic. "I don't know," she said.

there's houses in there and they were right in the path."

Experts won't be able to determine until they examine debris today if the damage was done by tornadoes or powerful "down rushes," Gordon Tait of the National Weather Service said.

The storms carried winds of up to 60 mph and dumped 2 inches of rain on Philadelphia in 90 minutes, Tait said.

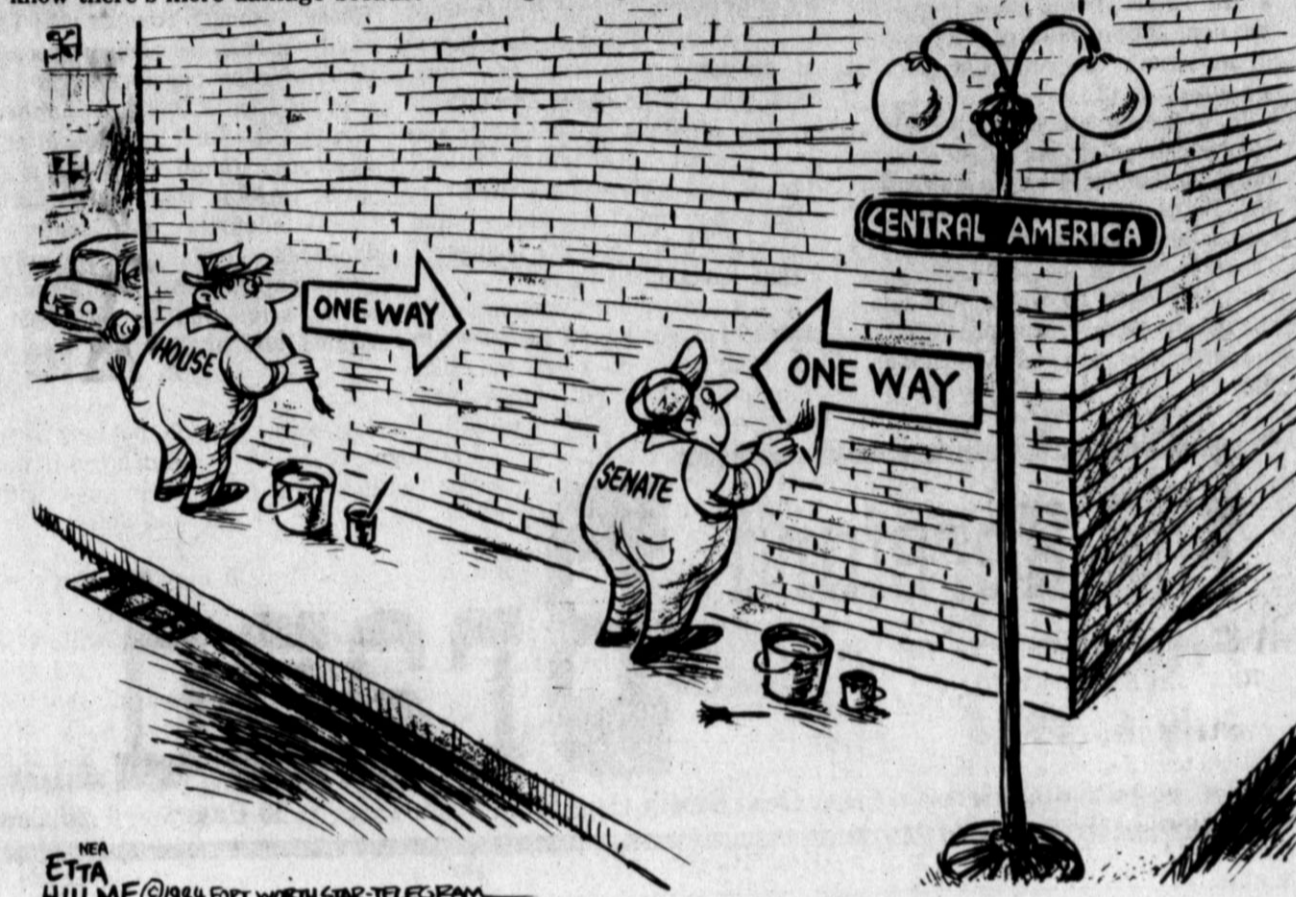

Power lines serving 7,000 customers were knocked out by the storms and crews worked through the night to try to restore service, a spokesman for Pennsylvania Power and Light said.

Another 7,000 people were without power for a while in northern New Jersey after heavy thunderstorms rumbled through, Art Lenehan, a spokesman for Public Service Electric & Gas said.

An elderly couple in Hampton Township were hospitalized after both suffered burns when their mobile homes was hit by lightning, police said.

The weather service issued a flood warning for today along the Saddle River at Lodi, N.J.

Soviets ready to talk about space weapons

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union said today its offer to the United States to hold talks this fall on space weapons was limited only to that subject. It said talks cannot convene until the United States agrees.

The announcement was made in an official statement issued by Tass news agency. Tass said the Reagan administration had given a "negative" reply to the Soviet offer by saying it was willing to discuss weapons in space in Vienna this fall but would also raise the issue of nuclear arms.

"Tass is authorized to declare that the Soviet government confirms its offer to the government of the United States to open formal talks on preventing the militarization of outer space," the Soviet statement said. "It is these, and not some other talks, that it is urging the U.S. government to start, and it is awaiting a positive response from the latter."

Tass added: "In Washington they are now trying to conceal this position of theirs with statements on their readiness to arrive for the talks in Vienna. But what the American representatives will be talking on there is, ostensibly, not so important. No, it is important. And before the delegations of both sides get together, agreement must be reached on the subject of the talks."

The Soviet government said that response was "totally unsatisfactory," contending the United States was trying to set preconditions on the talks.

Spokesmen for the U.S. State Department and the White House have said the United States has accepted the Soviet offer to go to Vienna, that preparations for the talks were "on track" and that the U.S. delegation would bring up the issue of nuclear weapons.

Ann Landers Technically correct

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Recently you printed a letter from a man in Tennessee. The writer called his out-of-wedlock grandchild "a little bastard." You labeled the grandfather "leading contender for the Garbage Mouth of the Year Award." My trusty Webster's Dictionary defines a bastard as "an illegitimate child," and that's what the trumpy granddaughter brought home. So next time, get the facts straight before you call someone a garbage mouth.—Marie In N.Y.

DEAR MARIE: According to the three dictionaries I consulted, a bastard is indeed an out-of-wedlock child. But the common usage takes on clearly pejorative overtones: "obnoxious," "spurious," "debased" and "of inferior quality." Furthermore, I am sure you have heard the word used as a synonym for a no-goodnik, a person of low character, a scoundrel.

I don't know if the granddaughter was a tramp. I do know she had a child out of wedlock. The man who wrote was directing his anger at the innocent child. While the word "bastard" was technically correct, it was used in an insulting and degrading manner. In my book the man is still a garbage mouth.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: A woman wrote that her jogging, workout-nut husband was so wrapped up in himself and his body, he didn't have time for the kids or her. She wondered if she should leave the egomaniac. I thought you'd be delighted with letters but I don't recall a single one.

I resolved the same problem years ago but the resentment lingers. All the lonely hours came together and formed one huge lump in my throat. When I realized this was all there was going to be, I asked myself the famous Ann Landers questions: "Would I be better off with him or without him?" Coward that I was (and an insecure Catholic besides) I opted for "with him."

It's been a sad life but the choice was mine. To observers, our appears to be a solid marriage that produced six children but my heart knows the truth and it hurts.

I've come to the conclusion that too often the wrong people get together to start with. I can tell that lady from experience, it's not much fun living with someone who's in love with himself.—Been There in Buffalo

DEAR B.T.: It may be small consolation, my dear, but at least it's his own body he's preoccupied with—and not someone else's.

Perhaps you bummed out from the beginning, made a poor choice, but you stayed with it and had six children. So make the best of it. Swallow the lump in your throat and concentrate on ways to extract some satisfaction and even joy out of life.

You don't say how old your children are but if they are adolescents or younger, they need time and attention. If Dad is preoccupied pounding the pavement and pumping iron they aren't getting much from him. I hate to sound like a broken record but this country is pathetically short of volunteers. (Nobody wants to do anything without pay anymore and it's a pity.) Contact the Red Cross, Salvation army, your church, hospitals, homes for the aged, Lighthouse for the Blind, the veteran's hospital. There is no better way to put meaning into your life than to help those who are less fortunate. After all is said and done, the only things we keep forever are the ones we give away.

"Sexual freedom" presents a difficult decision for teenagers and their parents. Ann Landers offers down-to-earth advice in her new booklet, "High Schol Sex and How to Deal With It—A Guide for Teens and Their Parents." For each booklet, send 50 cents plus a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 11995, Chicago, Illinois 60611.

According to the U.S. Department of Commerce, Americans annually spend $2.5 billion for admission to sporting events.

There were 6,706 thoroughbred racing programs in 1983 and they attracted 50,169,430 paying customers.

Yogurt suggested as milk substitute

COLLEGE STATION — People who suffer from milk intolerance can reap the nutritional benefits of milk—without side effects — by eating yogurt, says a Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service nutritionist.

Lactase deficiency is a fairly common problem, especially among non-caucasians, says Dr. Dymple Cooksey. It's estimated that three in ten non-Caucasians and one in ten Caucasians experience the problem, she adds.

Lactase is an enzyme which breaks down lactose, or milk sugar. For people with a lactase-deficiency, the lactose from milk remains undigested in the intestine and can cause discomfort, explains the nutritionist.

This milk intolerance is usually recognized between the ages of ten and 20, the years when active teenagers need four servings of dairy products daily, she notes. Yogurt can provide a solution to this problem.

One cup of plain yogurt provides about the same amount of protein, calcium and riboflavin as one cup of milk, she says.

However, low-fat yogurt may not be fortified with vitamins A and D, so other sources will be needed, advises Cooksey. Dark-green and orange vegetables, egg yolks, butter, fortified margarine and whole-milk cheeses all provide vitamin A.

The fruit-flavored yogurts are as nutritious as milk, but have two or three times more calories than skim or low-fat milk, the nutritionist says.

Task force to adopt bylaws

The Deaf Smith County Chemical People Task Force will discuss and adopt bylaws during a meeting at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday in the Hereford Community Center Lounge (west end). Everyone is invited to attend and offer input.

The task force was formed in November 1983. Its purpose is to reduce and prevent drug abuse at all levels of the community.

The Tuesday night meeting is likely to last an hour and a half, according to Mike Moon, a member of the task force. Further details may be obtained by calling him at 364-6111.

The first winner of the Most Valuable Player Award in the National League was second baseman Frank Frisch of the St. Louis Cardinals in 1931.

Mike Schmidt of the Philadelphia Phillies who led the National League in home runs with 40 in 1983 was also first in drawing walks with 128 and in on-base percentage with .399.

ON THE MOVE
WINSTON-SALEM, N.C. (AP) — With new home construction and home resales on the rise, millions of Americans are preparing to pack up everything they own and move.

Linda Vannoy moved 687 employee families of R.J. Reynolds Industries in 1983. She says that, if properly managed, family moves can be survived and even enjoyed.

Her tips for movers:
— Get valuable belongings appraised and photographed.

— Collect all medical, dental and eye glass records and prescriptions before leaving town.

— Pack your old telephone book — you may need it to clear up details after you move.

Official dislikes reform bill

I've Got To Slide

Jeromy Gowdy of the Yankees prepares to slide into third as Braves' third baseman, Ciro Casarez prepares to take the catcher's throw in what would turn out to be a close play. The Kids Inc. AUSTIN, Texas (AP) - The executive vice president of the Texas High School Coaches Association has criticized as "unrealistic" a provision in a new education reform bill in Texas that will require high school athletes to pass all courses with a grade of 70 to remain eligible.

Some coaches said the provision will be challenged in court and expressed the fear that some athletes will find no reason to stay in school once they are ruled ineligible for inter-school sports competition.

"It's unrealistic to think a 15- or 16-year-old child is not going to stub his toes somewhere along the line," Eddie Joseph, who led his organization's lobbying efforts against the eligibility provision, told the Austin American-Statesman.

"But it passed, and it goes into effect in January."

Despite fierce opposition from the coaches' association, the Texas Legislature included the provision in the reform bill - spurning pleas of coaches to allow athletes to fail at least one class.

Ebbie Neptune, athletic director and football coach of Austin Westlake, said the new rule will be especially costly to athletes who try hard in the classroom but just don't have the ability to pass something like math or science.

"We're going to take athletics away from him," Neptune said. Once that happens, such a student would have no incentive to stay in school, he said.

The bill requires that all students pass all academic subjects in a grading period with a grade of 70 on a scale of 100 to retain eligibility. If they do not, they will be suspended from extracurricular activities until the next grading period, which in most schools is six weeks.

Because the reform bill was passed only this week, Joseph said, "many coaches and parents across the state are probably not aware of exactly what it means and what impact it may have."

"Even so, in some ways we (the THSCA) feel fortunate. We were able to get some other things eliminated from the bill," Joseph said. One proposal would have had the effect of eliminating athletic periods during the school day.

Joseph said another measure to ban extracurricular activities on Mondays, Tuesdays, Wednesdays and Thursdays would have curtailed basketball programs and would have virtually eliminated junior high athletics.

Joseph declined to speculate on what the outcome of a legal challenge to the Legislature's eligibility standards would be.

"It is not an inherent right for a youngster to participate in extracurricular activities as part of the educational process, and it seems that legislators are confused about that."

Jim Streeby, athletic director and football coach at New Braunfels, said the coaches and administrators felt they could live with a University Interscholastic League rules change.

Jordan says Evert will lose in Wimbledon

LONDON (AP) - Kathy Jordan doesn't think Chris Evert Lloyd is in Martina Navratilova's league.

Despite Lloyd's thrashing of third seed Hana Mandlikova in the semifinals of the All England Lawn Tennis tournament, Jordan doesn't "give Chris much of a chance" in Saturday's final between the three-time Wimbledon champion and Navratilova, a four-time and defending Wimbledon champ and Grand Slam titlist.

"I hope she gives Martina a good match, but I have seen the past results, and it hasn't been that close," Jordan said after being ousted by Navratilova 6-3, 6-4 in Thursday's other semifinal.

In three previous title clashes on Wimbledon's Centre Court, Lloyd has yet to prevail over Navratilova.

On that historic turf today, John McEnroe, bidding to become the first American since Don Budge in 1938 to repeat as singles champion, faced an unexpected semifinal challenge from unseeded Pat Cash. The 19-year-old Australian right-hander gained the last four by ousting sixth seed Andres Gomez of Mexico in the quarter-finals.

The other men's semifinal featured No. 3 seed Jimmy Connors - playing in Wimbledon's semis for his eighth time - and No. 2 Ivan Lendl, the Czechoslovak ace who upended McEnroe in the finals of the French Open on clay four weeks ago.

Connors has the edge in his career series with Lendl, 11-5. But Lendl has won most of their recent meetings, including this year's Volvo Masters indoor tournament and the WCT Tournament of Champions at Forest Hills in New York on clay. In the latter, Lendl demolished Connors 6-0, 6-0, the only time in his pro career that Connors has been shut out.

In ninth inning

Rangers bow to Tigers, 7-4

ARLINGTON, Texas (AP) — The Detroit Tigers came out of a horrendous slump Thursday night — horrendous to the Tigers, that is.

They beat the Texas Rangers 7-4 to snap a four-game losing streak, the Tiger's longest this season.

"It's been a while since we won a game like that," said the Tigers' Kirk Gibson, who knocked in the game's winning run. "We were beginning to wonder what was going on. We haven't had many breaks the last few games."

Four losses is just a drop in the bucket for most teams, but for the Tigers who with the recent losses are still 31 games over the 500 mark, it is a lot.

"It's a funny game," said Lou Whitaker. "We needed this game. We had jumped out to some early leads lately and lost."

However, it wasn't just that the Tigers broke their losing streak. It was how they did it.

With Rangers starter Charlie Hough's knuckle ball in fine form and the score 4-1 Texas with two outs in the Detroit ninth, the Tigers scored six runs with Gibson knocking a three-run homer into the rightfield stands to win it. Rejuvenating the Tiger forces in preventing Hough from gaining his ninth straight complete game and his seventh victory in a row.

"It's been two weeks since we won a game like that," said Chet Lemon, who was part of the ninth inning rally. "But we never quit. We find ourselves always coming at the opposition. It was a good feeling to see us do that."

Doug Petry started for Detroit but left the game responsible for all four of Texas' runs. Aurelio Lopez took the Tiger win in relief going one and two-thirds innings and giving up one hit, to put him at 7-0. Willie Hernandez picked up his fifteenth save of the year, pitching to one batter in the ninth.

Hough's loss puts him at 8-7.

The Tiger downpour in the ninth began with two outs when Lemon and Larry Herndon hit consecutive singles and pinch hitter John Grubb was walked to load the bases. Whitaker kept the rally going with a single to center which scored both Lemon and Hernandez. Alan Trammell followed with yet another single to score Tom Brookens who was pinch running for Grubb. Gibson's blast, his 12th homer of the year and his 10th game-winning RBI, scored Whitaker, Trammell and himself, to win the game.

"It was just a couple of hits in the field, hit, a blooper and a horrible pitch," said Hough. "I pitched a knuckler to Gibson. That was the first bad one I had really thrown all night."

Up to that point it had been smooth sailing for the Rangers and Hough, who had only allowed five hits going into the ninth. Texas scored first in the fourth to break three and a half scoreless innings. The Rangers went up 2-0 on Gary Ward's two-run double which scored Keigh O'Brien and Bobby Jones.

O'Brien had walked and advanced on Buddy Bell's single and a Larry Parish double play ball before scoring along with Jones who had walked.

Detroit rallied for one in the fifth as Howard Johnson rounded the bases on his single down the third base line, Whitaker's grounder to first and Trammell's RBI double.

Dallas Grand Prix could be dangerous

DALLAS (AP) - Grand Prix officials are worried that the race track where the Dallas Formula One race is being held this weekend is potentially unsafe.

One official said Thursday that organizers of the Fair Park race circuit failed to prepare the track far enough in advance, a factor he said could spell disaster during the four-day event.

"They could have used a little more time to cure the surface," said R. David Jones, Grand Prix race chairman from the Sports Car Club of America. "If that stuff (damaged track patches) comes up in a race, it could cause a driving hazard."

"It starts developing a hole and that affects the handling of the car," he said. "They'll be watching it, though."

Jones said he is also concerned about unreliable communications services.

A staff of 22 doctors has been assembled for the race, as well as paramedics and nurses. The SCCA will have six crash rescue vehicles, five ambulances, six wreckers and two chase cars for on-track use, with two ambulances for off-track emergencies.

About 15 off-duty firemen and paramedics on the Grand Prix payroll will be on location at the park, L. Blaine Danyluck said.

Meanwhile, after their first few spins around the 2.42-mile track, drivers described the course as "bumpy." Drivers also said the Dallas course contains some unusual hazards.

"More people will be concerned about safety here than at most circuits," British driver Jonathan Palmer said, "because of the complete lack of runoff areas, the concrete barriers and the fact that the visibility around corners is not good."

Jones conceded that at such a first-even event, it is difficult to plan for all the contingencies.

"For a first-time effort, they've done very well," Jones said. "They're going to get caught short by the little things they didn't expect."

In 1983, Dallas officially became the ninth stop on a 16-race circuit and joined Detroit as the only other U.S. city to have a Formula One race. An international audience of about 100,000 is expected for qualifying runs and races that end Sunday afternoon.

Dallas businessmen Donald R. Walker and Larry Waldrop put up about $6 million to bring Formula One racing to the city.

"They spent a lot of time on (planning) parties, hospitality and everything," Jones said. "Now that's fine to plan those things and it's important, but they would have been better off giving some more attention to other details."

Family reunion held recently near Canyon

Forty-one members of the former Charlie and Kate Caldwell family enjoyed a two day reunion at Ceta Canyon Lodge east of Canyon this past weekend.

The time was spent in reminiscing and reviewing the picture gallery of the various groups taken in past years. Swimming and other games were also enjoyed. The special event of the reunion was a talent show on Saturday night.

Eugene Roberson acted as master of ceremonies and the talent show consisted of special music by various groups of the family. Several humorous readings were given and a special memorial was given for those of the family who had died.

Gifts were presented to the oldest man and the oldest woman in attendance and to the youngest boy and the youngest girl present. Gifts were also presented to the family traveling the farthest distance and the family with the largest number present. The program ended with the group gathering around the piano and singing old songs.

Only three of the seven children of the Caldwell family are still living. They are Velma Hodges, W.P. (Pete) Caldwell and Eunice Boyer, all of Hereford.

Attending the reunion from Hereford were Ms. Hodges, and Messers. and Mmes. Bobby Owen, W.P. Caldwell and Cecil Boyer.

Others in attendance were Mr. and Mrs. David Caldwell, Matthew and Dorsey and Mr. and Mrs. Joe Cudd, all of Carrollton; Sammie Caldwell of Lancaster; Mr. and Mrs. Ed Roberson of Austin; Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Roberson, Rickey and Ronny of El Paso.

Also, Mr. and Mrs. David Allen and Angie of Abilene; Beth Owen and Richie Haschke of Wichita Falls; Mrs. Aaron Bourland of Lubbock; Mr. and Mrs. Scott Harrison of Cleburn; Karen Flynn and son, Richard, of Seattle, Wash.; Jo Purcell, Terry and Keith of Swartz, Mich.; Mrs. J.W. Runions, Pam, Katrina, Crystal and Mindy of Hohenwald, Tenn.; and Mr. and Mrs. Don Booker and Steven of Henrietta.

Supper precedes VFW auxiliary meeting

A fried chicken supper preceded the Monday evening meeting of the Auxiliary to VFW Post 4818.

Marie Goheen, past district president, installed Essie Martin as junior vice-president; Rose Goheen, patriotic instructor; Edith Richardson, trustee; and Mabel Yocum, guard. Marta Williams is the new auxiliary president.

It was announced that the auxiliary will hold a bake sale in Sugarland Mall on July 21. Two afghans donated by auxiliary members will be on display, to be given away at a later date. Proceeds from the sale will go toward a television set for patients at the V.A. Hospital in Amarillo.

The next meeting is scheduled at 8 p.m. July 16.

Others present were Helen Bishop, Betty Boggs, Doris Coffin, Marie Goheen, Rose Goheen, Frances Green, Essie Martin, Lillie Muller, Ms. Richardson, Ms. Yocum, Leone Buckley, and Ms. Williams.

New officers installed at regular Rebekah meeting

New officers were installed when members of the Hereford Rebekah Lodge 228 met in regular session Tuesday evening with 21 members present.

vice-grand; Nellie Beauford, right support to chaplain; Irene Merritt, color bearer; Stella Hershey, banner bearer; Leona Sowell, acting past noble grand; Verna Sowell, inside guardian; Ms. Combs, outside guardian.

Noble Grand Ms. Conklin presided as reports were made of sick and distressed members. Thirty-four visits and 17 cards were reported. A donation to birthday funds of the Children's Home and Home for the Aged were made and the semi-annual report was read and per capita taxes paid.

Ms. Hopson, Dorothy Lundry and Verna Sowell served refreshments. Others attending were Ben Conklin and Ruth Rogers.

District convention set July 19-22 in Amarillo

The Watchtower Bible and Tract Society of New York has revealed completion of plans for a series of 119 district conventions of Jehovah's Witnesses during the summer of 1984.

Stanley Weigel, official spokesman, said 65 separate sites will be utilized for the annual meetings. A total of more than 1,150,000 persons are expected to attend the conventions in the United States.

Many delegates from this area will be attending various conventions in the United States. One of the 65 cities selected is Amarillo, where the Civic Center Coliseum will host delegates July 19-22.

The theme for the 1984 conventions is "Kingdom Increase" and much of the program content will center on the growth of the religious movement in recent years.

"Jehovah's Witnesses are marking a centennial this year," one delegate said. "The movement started one hundred years ago with a handful of Bible students and today is conducting ministerial and preaching activity in 205 lands with 2,600,000 now associated worldwide."

He said the convention is scheduled this year at the Amarillo Civic Center with a projected attendance of 5,500 persons expected.

"This is indicative of the tremendous growth in recent years," he concluded.

ADOPTION PLAN
KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — More than 70 utility poles in downtown Kansas City have been "adopted" by civic-minded companies responding to a beautification program.

Currently unadorned, the utility poles will be used as armatures for gaily decorated banners to emphasize the city's $1.5 billion building boom.

In ancient times, people believed that love resided in the liver, and not in the heart, as some say now.

Our blessings that have come to pass,
We tend to disregard;
Because we see the greenest grass
In someone else's yard.
The magic thing we call success
Eludes us, come what may;
And thus it seems that happiness
Will never come our way.
However, through the Church we find
That there's no need to roam,
For happiness and peace of mind
Are always close to home.
So, don't go searching all around,
And some day you'll agree:
The greenest grass of all is found
Wherever you may be!

— Gloria Nowak
