Steel Workers Threaten To Call Strike Demand That Company Sign Contract With Union As Bargaining Agent

PITTSBURGH, May 18 (AP)—A collective bargaining conference between representatives of the steel union and the Crucible Steel Company of America ended today with the announcement by Philip Murray that the negotiations will be continued next week.

The steel workers organizing committee, of which Murray is the chairman, has threatened to call a strike among Crucible's 18,000 workers unless the company agrees to a contract with the union as collective bargaining agent.

Murray and F. C. Hufnagle, chairman of the company, conferred more than three hours. A solution may be an agreement for a consent election of workers supervised by the government. Such an election will be held Thursday by 27,000 employees of the Jones and Laughlin Steel corporation.

COURT TO DECIDE SECURITY LAW NEXT MONDAY OR JUNE 1

WASHINGTON, May 18 (AP)—The supreme court will decide on constitutionality of the social security program either on next Monday or June 1, the only remaining "opinion days" before the summer recess.

(By lone practice, the court delivers opinions in all cases argued, before adjourning for the summer.) A high justice department official disclosed today the government may seek an early ruling on another major controversy—the suit to dissolve the Aluminum Company of America—by appealing directly to the supreme court from an injunction by Federal Judge Robert M. Gibson at Pittsburgh.

Van Devanter To Quit The Supreme Court

Way Open For FDR To Make First Appointment To High Bench

SERVED TWENTY-SIX YEARS IN THE COURT President Extends 'Every Good Wish'; Invites White House Visit

By JOHN T. SUTER WASHINGTON, May 18 (AP)—Associate Justice Willis Van Devanter announced today his retirement from the supreme court, effective June 2, thus clearing the way for President Roosevelt to make his first appointment to the high bench.

The 78-year old justice, who has served 26 years in the court, made known his intention in a letter to the president. Mr. Roosevelt immediately wrote a brief acknowledgement in long hand extending to the jurist "every good wish" and inviting him to call at the White House before he leaves Washington.

"My Dear Mr. Justice Van Devanter: I have received your letter of this morning, telling me that you are retiring from regular active service on the bench on June 2, 1937.

"May I as one who has had the privilege of knowing you for many years, extend to you every good wish.

"Before you leave Washington for the summer it would give me great personal pleasure if you would come in to see me.

"Very sincerely yours, (Signed) Franklin D. Roosevelt. News of the retirement aroused widespread excitement on Capitol Hill where intense interest already was centered on the senate judiciary vote today on President Roosevelt's bill to reorganize the supreme court.

Under the reorganization plan the president would have power to add six new justices to the high bench, one for each present member of the court over 70.

Chairman Ashurst (D-Ariz.) told newspapermen the retirement "immediately promotes" the prospects for passage of the bill but Senator Wheeler (D-Mont.), opposition leader, demanded withdrawal of the bill. "There is absolutely no excuse whatever for going ahead," he said.

Van Devanter has long been considered a conservative member of the court. His retirement brought Chief Justice Hughes a statement that the court would suffer a "most serious loss."

"His long judicial experience, his extraordinary memory and grasp of precedents, his acumen and fairness enabled him to render a service of inestimable value in our deliberations, while his equable temperament, his tact and unfailing kindness made him an ideal associate. We shall greatly miss him."

ADVENTUROUS TRIP IS ENDED ABRUPTLY

An adventurous trip to California ended abruptly here Monday evening for three T.C.U. co-eds who were coastward bound in a car belonging to the father of one of them.

Ann Lane, driver of the car, said that they were going to a ranch belonging to Jane Wood, another member of the party. Nella Huffman completed the group. Officers held the three in a local hotel after the father had notified police that the car had been taken without his permission. He was to come here Tuesday afternoon.

Howard County Farmers Work Planters Overtime

Howard county farmers in the northern section of the county worked their planters overtime Tuesday in an attempt to get cotton seed into the ground before hot and dry winds relieve the soil of its moisture.

It was estimated that approximately 65,000 acres of cotton will be planted, possibly by the end of this week, in the county. An additional 15,000 acres may go to cotton soon if the southwestern corner of the county gets needed rain. Cotton crop acreage last year totaled 66,177. It was expected to show an increase this year of about 14,500 acres due to an inclination among producers not to participate in the government conservation program.

STUDY TEACHING METHODS Four Cochran teachers inspected teaching methods employed in the Big Spring schools Tuesday.

MOTHER TAKES FULL BLAME IN KILLING

Had Named Lover In Slaying Of Her Daughter

NEW YORK, May 18 (AP)—District Attorney L. Barron Hill of Suffolk county announced late today that Mrs. Helen Tiernan, 35-year-old widow, had absolved George Christodulus, her suitor, of any connection with the "babes in the wood" slaying of her seven-year-old daughter, and had told him, "I did it all alone."

Earlier today she said Christodulus planned the crime and struck the first blow with the hatchet.

NEW YORK, May 19 (AP)—A 30-year-old restaurant store room man and suitor of Mrs. Helen Tiernan, confessed slayer of her daughter, was charged today with acting in concert with the young widow in the crime.

The man was George Christodulus, referred to by Mrs. Tiernan as George Christie. Detective Captain Edward Mullins said she accused him late last night as having plotted with her in attempting to kill both her seven-year-old daughter Helen and her four-year-old son Jimmie.

Christodulus denied having anything to do with the crime. The body of little Helen was found Sunday in a thicket near Brookhaven, on Long Island's south shore, the throat gashed, the head bruised, and the clothing and parts of the body burned. Nearby was little Jimmie, his throat also cut but he was alive. He is expected to recover.

Christodulus told police he was born in Yrda, Greece, and that he came to this country in 1928, jumping ship. He said he had known Mrs. Tiernan for several years. He was placed in a cell at police headquarters to await appearance in the police lineup later in the day.

Blames Lover Mrs. Tiernan's confession said she suggested the crime and struck the first of a rain of hatchet blows in the gruesome tragedy. The body of Mrs. Tiernan's daughter, Helen, was discovered Sunday, only a few hours after she was killed, near Brookhaven, L. I. Her throat was slashed, the head bruised, and the clothing and parts of the body burned.

Nearby was the boy, Jimmie Tiernan, his throat cut but still alive. He is expected to recover. Consentino's account of Mrs. Tiernan's purported confession quoted her as saying the couple planned to tell the children they were taking them on a picnic to Brookhaven, taking along a hatchet, a bread knife, a pair of scissors and a bottle of gasoline.

On Saturday morning, the statement related, Mrs. Tiernan put the weapons in a suitcase and told the children it contained their picnic lunch. Consentino said the statement told of the mother and children meeting Christodulus near Brookhaven and of driving with them to the scene.

Big Spring has been named central headquarters for West Texas in the advance ticket campaign for the Frontier Fiesta, it was announced Tuesday.

Will H. Fox, special representative of the Fiesta, said he had established offices in the Douglas hotel. He and other agents of the Billy Rose organization will work out of Big Spring.

The ticket sale officially opened Monday and will continue until June 25, the day before the Fiesta sign a bargaining contract. Spokesmen for the Youngtown Sheet & Tube company, against which C.I.O. officials also have threatened a strike, said the same course would be followed by them.

Men Want To Work "As near as we can tell," the Republic statement said, "our men want to work and we want them to work. However, if outsiders blockade the streets so that our men are unable to come to work we will shut down and stay down until civil authorities clear the streets and make it possible for our men to return peacefully and without intimidation."

Republic Steel employs 52,000 workers, mostly in Ohio. It has plants in several other states, including Alabama. The two companies are important objectives in the attempt of the steel workers organizing committee to organize the independent steel industry.

WALLY AND DUKE TO WED JUNE 3 MONTS, France, May 18 (AP)—Wallis Warfield and the Duke of Windsor will be married quietly at the Chateau De Candé on June 3, with no member of the British royal family in attendance.

The man who chose to be husband rather than king, chose the birthday of his late father, George V for his wedding to the woman he could not have as monarch. The announcement, which made no mention of the coincidence in dates, said the wedding party would be confined to "those who have been with them"—the duke and Mrs. Warfield—"during the past months," and added tersely: "No Members of Royal Family." "There will be no members of the royal family present."

Right up to the moment of the announcement, many had supposed that the Duke of Kent, Edward's youngest brother, would be best

HOUSE VOTES SUBMISSION FEE SYSTEM

Representatives Act On Governor's Appeal

AUSTIN, May 18 (AP)—The house of representatives responded quickly and unanimously today to Governor Allred's appeal for submission of a constitutional amendment authorizing a return to the fee system.

Within 20 minutes after reading of the governor's message, the body voted, 126 to 0, for submission. If the senate should take like action, the people would be permitted to vote August 23 on whether to abolish the new salary method of compensating officers.

"I voted to abolish the fee system," said the governor, "but I must admit error. It not only has proved a costly financial failure, but has utterly failed to produce as good a type of service as we had under the old system. After all, our forefathers were pretty wise in writing most of the constitution."

The amendment would not make the fee system mandatory but would permit the legislature to adopt any method if desired. Rep. Leland M. Johnson of Waxahachie failed in an effort to obtain immediate action on a motion to broaden the house committee investigation of eleemosynary institutions. He said the committee needed expense money so it might check on "reported irregularities," asserting the group would like to inspect the state hospital at San Antonio among other institutions.

Mrs. Phillips Leaves Post

Served As Chamber Secretary Under Three Managers

Mrs. Alice Phillips, secretary under three chamber managers, Tuesday returned to private life. She left the chamber office, in which she had worked for 12 years Tuesday morning with a two weeks paid vacation. However, she said that her tenure ended Tuesday morning.

"I want to see the chamber continue to be bigger and better," Mrs. Phillips told a reporter. She said that it was her hope that the organization would increase as a factor for community development and good.

Mrs. Phillips said that she had considered no plans for the future. Assuming her duties in 1925 with C. T. Watson, who served for nine years as manager, Mrs. Phillips continued as secretary during the term of W. T. Strange, Jr., who resigned effective May 1. She had been under Jimmie Greene, new manager, since that time.

Her activities with the chamber of commerce helped Mrs. Phillips to become one of the best known women in West Texas.

Mrs. Lillian A. Knox, mother of the defendant, was here Monday seeking a suspended sentence for her son.

Sen. Borah Reports Vote Of 10 To 8

All Amendments Rejected Except Few Clarifying Changes

SEVEN DEMOCRATS, NORRIS FOR BILL Vote In Executive Session After Supreme Court Shake-Up

WASHINGTON, May 18 (AP)—The senate judiciary committee voted 10 to 8 today to report the Roosevelt court bill adversely to the senate.

First members to emerge from the committee session said all amendments, except a few clarifying changes, were rejected by the dominant opposition majority.

The vote, taken in executive session shortly after announcement of the retirement of Justice Van Devanter, came out just as it had been forecast for more than a week.

For almost two hours, the committee voted down compromises after compromise. Senator Borah (R-Iowa), one of the leading foes of the president's bill, stepped out of the committee room to tell newspapermen: "Ten to eight adversely."

Just As Expected The line-up on the final vote, Borah said, was just as it had been forecast — with seven democrats and three republicans opposing the presidential measure to increase the size of the supreme court. Seven democrats and Senator Norris, the lone independent, voted for the bill.

Unanimous Resolution Endorses Strike Of 800 Automobile Workers

TYLER, May 18 (AP)—State Federation of Labor delegates voted a unanimous protest today when they were informed at their annual convention that rangers had been sent to Houston because of the strike of 800 automobile mechanics.

A resolution passed unanimously endorsed the strike and gave the strikers the "moral and financial" support of the Texas federation. Delegates were informed the rangers were sent to Houston yesterday.

Another resolution empowered officials of the federation to ask Gov. James V. Allred to remove the rangers. The resolution was introduced by Wallace Reilly, legislative representative and executive of the federation.

The resolution endorsing the strike said that Houston automobile dealers have refused to deal with members of the machinists' local there except as individuals. Beaumont apparently was leading in the convention city race. Brownsville and Austin were other bidders. Candidates for president were Harry Carroll, San Antonio painter, and A. S. McBride, Houston bricklayer.

STOP IN TEXARKANA Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Robbins, Big Spring representatives in the Broadway of America motorcade, wrote from Texarkana as they left for Little Rock where they were to be honored with other members of the party at a dinner.

According to the couple, the motorcade has been making scheduled time on its trek to the 10th annual convention to be held in Memphis today.

WALLY AND DUKE TO WED JUNE 3 The official announcement of the wedding itself, handed to reporters at the gates of the chateau by Herman L. Rogers, said: "His royal highness the Duke of Windsor announces that his marriage to Wallis Warfield, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Takie Wallis Warfield of Maryland, will take place at the Chateau De Candé at Monts on Thursday, June 3."

Mrs. Warfield only recently renounced her first name "Bea" and the surname of the man from whom she was divorced early this month—Ernest Aldrich Simpson. The long-awaited wedding date, certain call for the last act in an unsurpassed drama of empire, love and abdication, comes just 26 days before Edward's 42nd birthday. His father, the late King George V, youngest brother, would be best

Speaker Blames 'Butter Barons' For Heavy Tax

DALLAS, May 18 (AP)—Charles J. Haden, Atlanta capitalist, speaking before the National Cottonseed Producers association convention here today, said "the people of America, under a law passed by their own congressmen force the consuming public to pay a tax of ten cents a pound on margarine, the purpose of which is to swell the dividend of the butter combine."

The speaker blamed "the butter barons" for federal statutes which he said penalized cottonseed products.

"Our tariff-blockaded ports," Haden said, "make a two-way barrier, our cotton shut in, and other people's goods shut out. It goes even further. A fictitious price limits home consumption. The system builds burdens between grower and weaver. Both lose to the misleading slogan 'the more abundant life.'"

Haden declared the "tariff system came up as the voter strength of the south went down."

The speaker reviewed the contributions of the south to the nation's development and asserted the south was being penalized in favor of other sections of the nation.

Rehearsals To Start Tuesday

Variety Show Billed By The Military Order Of Cootie For June 4

Rehearsals for the musical portions of the Variety Show billed by the Military Order of Cootie (VFW) for June 4 will begin Tuesday evening, it was announced.

W. R. Wagborne, who was presented on a program of organ at the First Methodist church Sunday evening, will be in charge of the musical division. He plans to conduct a preliminary study of the choral part in the first session Tuesday evening.

Wagborne was for nine years professor of public school music and head of the department of music at Texas Tech, was director of music for the department of recreation at Houston, has captured several national and international awards with his compositions, his most recent being the first prize of the Federation of Music Clubs in San Antonio.

Poetic Pageantry
Peak of his production responsibility for the Variety Show are centered in his "Early American Panorama," a bit of poetic pageantry.

"In it male, female and mixed choruses are used as commentators and as picturesque embellishments on the dramatic panorama being shown on the stage. The whole is presented in a series of episodes, musically accompanied, of the building of American civilization with the dominant theme of brotherly love and peace."

Miss Bera Cook of San Angelo, business manager for the show, said she was anxious for a large group of singers to meet with Wagborne in the basement of the First Methodist church. Practice sessions will be held there on Tuesdays and Fridays.

WELCOME GIVEN ENDEAVOR II

ABOARD COAST GUARD CUTTER PLUNCE, OFF MASSACHUSETTS, May 18 (AP)—An American escort steamed east from New Bedford, Mass., before dawn today to guide T. O. M. Sopwith's Endeavor II to a noisy welcome at Newport, R. I., scene of the British yachtsman's second challenge next August for the America's cup.

The Plunce, expected to bring the nation's first greetings to the slim invader and his convoy, the Belgian fishing trawler John.

Back at Newport, where the challenger's approach whipped up fresh enthusiasm at the start of another international racing season, a sizeable and noisy collection of private craft stood by to provide escort up Narragansett bay.

From Newport the big racing sloop will go immediately to Bristol for grooming at the Herreshoff shipyard.

WEDDING BELLS RING FOR JAMES MATTERN

CHICAGO, May 18 (AP)—Wedding bells rang out today for James J. (Jimmy) Mattern, 32, divorced from Mrs. Della M. Mattern. The trans-Atlantic aviator who twice attempted to circle the globe by air took for his new bride Dorothy Harvey, brunette show girl and model.

Mattern said he would fly to New York with his bride after the ceremony in suburban Berwyn. They met in Chicago in 1933, he said, on his return from his second attempt 'round the world flight. Miss Harvey gave her age as 24.

In his divorce hearing the flyer testified he married Mrs. Mattern in Los Angeles July 22, 1937, and that she left him at Fort Worth, Tex., Nov. 15, 1932. The charge was desertion.

Modern College Girl Lacks Fire And Spirit

LINCOLN, Neb., May 18 (AP)—The modern girl lacks fire and spirit in the opinion of Dr. Louise Pound, professor of English language at Nebraska university.

Dr. Pound, sister of Roscoe Pound, former dean of the Harvard law school, recalled today when co-eds always were fighting or plotting something. Today's maidens, she said, tend to be disinterested in everything.

"It is most discouraging," she declared, "to have that young lady in my front row applying lipstick the entire period during my class. In reading some beautiful poem when I am trying to keep myself from being moved to tears, or am trying to move my audience to tears, I find it a fascinating distraction to watch this girl smearing her mouth, oblivious."

W. W. Robertson of Abilene, chief engineer for Radio Station KBBT, who spent Monday here inspecting the local plant, left Tuesday morning for Abilene.

Where Is

By HANK HART

Lost—One baseball and a lot of patience. Here's a chance for the people who drive out to the Coeden Ollers' home games to see the game free. Manager Pepper Martin extends the invitation to be his guests free of charge if these people who sport thousand dollar automobiles will only stop parking beyond the fence in left field.

Horace Wallin would have had a home run Sunday afternoon had it not been for the fact that the pellet came to rest somewhere amid the settlement outside the left gardens.

Horace hasn't raised a howl. You can't get close enough to him yet to find out what's the matter.

The Carter Royals have finally come up with a pitcher faster than Roscoe Van Zandt. He's Frankie Gumez who struck out 16 Devils in his first appearance in the local league.

He throws that high hard one in there with good control and is impossible to rattle.

Frankie ought to be good. He pitched for the Orpheum Cigar outfit in Tulsa, Okla., last year and marched into the state finals.

Before coming to Big Spring Gumez pitched a no-hitter yet lost 3-0. A couple of misplays in the last frame proved his downfall. On another day in the state tournament he pitched in both ends of a doubleheader.

Charley Morgan's failure in the Sunday game with Coahoma can be attributed to the fact that he had to work all night Saturday. He wielded a sledge hammer until the wee hours of the morn.

Continental's Ollers (they're to be known as that from now on) have arranged a two-game series with the Texon Permian Basin league team June 12 and 13. C. J. Lamb and his boys are going to need some pitching if they expect to keep pace with the powerful oil team. Both games will be played in Texon.

If Washington's Senators today are resting at the bottom of the American league it is no fault of right-hander Jimmy DeShong.

When he set down the Red Sox yesterday with seven hits, 4-3, it was his fourth straight victory since he went in against the Cleveland Indians on May 4 and turned in a winning eight-inning relief job.

His flinging yesterday overshadowed anything the Philadelphia Athletics could do as they swung back to the top of the standing with a 3-2 victory over the New York Yankees and was fully as

By Cronin's Injury
WASHINGTON, May 18 (AP)—Misfortune has caught up with Joe Cronin again.

He was struck on the cheek yesterday by a ball thrown by Pinky Higgins. He was carried to a hospital but an x-ray showed no broken bones, and he was able to leave with the Red Sox for Boston last night.

Only a few weeks ago the experts said Manager Cronin wasn't good enough to make his own team. They figured he would weaken the Boston lineup if he elected to be a playing pilot.

But the early weeks of the American league season have seen no comeback more spectacular than his.

Lighter by many pounds and in great condition, Cronin has been the spark of the Boston line-up at shortstop. His batting average is .437, and his all-around play is reminiscent of a few years ago when he was rated the most valuable player in the league.

The A's also got the benefit of seven hit, seven strikeout pitching by Lynn Nelson, one time Cub flinger.

Lee was the hurdle that kept the Reds from sweeping their three-game series with Chicago, giving the Rhinelanders a meager six hits.

Frankie Gumez made his first start a brilliant one Monday night on the Mundy diamond as he struck out sixteen men to lead the rejuvenated Carter Royals to an 8-4 victory over the league leading Anderson Devils. The sixteen whiffs chalked up by the former Tulane established a new record for the Mundy loop, the lean right hander accounting for two more than Horace Wallin, Coeden southpaw, was able to retire on three pitches last year.

Pat Stacey Hits In Six Of Seven Attempts To Lead Oilers With .857

Pepper Martin's Oilers, celebrating the week-end by rapping out 29 base blows, looked far better on paper than they did two weeks ago when only three men were batting .300 or better.

Last week's two games saw five batters add enough percentage points to their year's total to lift themselves into the charmed circle and featured heavy slick work by Jake Morgan and Carmen Brandon but the real stars of the week were Pat Stacey and Mike Sherrod. Stacey has been put out only once in two games this season while Sherrod is batting an even .500.

Carmen Brandon has 13 total bases to take a big lead in that department, and is leading the club in triples, while Ramsey has put six mates across to lead in runs batted in.

Redmen Down Houston While Shippers Lose To Panthers

(By the Associated Press) TODAY'S SCHEDULE Houston at Oklahoma City. Galveston at Tulsa. Beaumont at Fort Worth. San Antonio at Dallas. (All night games.)

Oklahoma City's Indians rode on top of the hectic Texas League race today as the climax of a spurt which saw them win eight of their last nine games.

The Redmen downed Houston 3-0 last night to replace Beaumont's Exporters at the top of the scramble, the Shippers going down before the rejuvenated Fort Worth Cats, 3-1.

Roy (Snipe) Hansen shut out the Ruffs with a three-hit performance. The Indians scored two runs in the first inning as a result of Carl Kott's slashing triple, then got another run in the eighth that they didn't need.

Best Prospects In Fight Game Fight For Chance At The Title

LOS ANGELES, May 18 (AP)—Barring another blow-up, Los Angeles' biggest fight attraction in a decade will go at Wrigley Field the night of May 28.

Rival managers of the two heavyweight headliners, Bob Nestell and Bob Pastor, after proving that two heads can be harder than one, finally agreed to postponement from the original May 24 date of Promoter Tom Gallery's triple main event show.

Bus Wilson, manager of Nestell, demanded a June 1 date to let the Californian's split eyelid heal. It was cut in training last week.

Jimmy Johnston, Jr., fiery little manager of the New Yorker, insisted Nestell's injury was "mental" and held out for May 24. Neither camp would budge for hours.

Finally the Nestell camp surrendered and Johnston agreed to the new date.

BRONX LAD WRESTLES ARGENTINE

By HANK HART

Twice Ace Freeman has gone in to the ring of the Big Spring Athletic Club and as many times the Bronx "Buster" has had to step through the ropes without victory, but he has shown enough in his appearances to be matched with the "Beau of Buenos Aires", Gorilla Pogi, and tonight he gets that chance in the match that holds the spotlight on Herman Puhler's three bout card.

It's young Freeman who has captured the fancy of local fandom. Fast and aggressive, he's shown a willingness to mix it up and settled the fact once and for all last week that he could "take it" by going the limit with Vic Webber.

Tonight he's going up against the "gristle-eat" who had too much for one Jerry Markus last week and who is hard to stop in any man's league. Pogi goes out for blood in all his matches, asking no quarter and giving none.

The gorilla man has fought them all since he left the city by the Passaic River and is well posted in the science of the "razzle" game.

Special events on the bill are Joe Koepke, native Texan, and Jerry Markus, the Hebrew boy.

It should be the roughest bout of the evening. They picked up their knowledge of the game the best way they knew how and the ethics of the ring evidently were missing.

Vic Webber, whose average to date is one for two, returns for the semipro, wrestling Jack Terry, of the Kitchener, Ontario, Terry, and the Koepke-Markus bout goes on at 8:30 p. m.

JAMESON, KIRBY SEEDED IN MEET

ATLANTA, May 18 (AP)—A couple of youngsters about high school age stood out as possible trouble makers for the medalist, defending champion and other veterans as match play began today in the women's Southern golf championship.

They were Betty Jameson of East Antonio, Tex., who had her 18th birthday on Mother's Day and Mark McGarry of Atlanta, who won the title in 1934, and Dorothy Kirby, 17, three times winner of the Georgia state championship.

Miss Jameson qualified with an 83 and Miss Kirby with an 89.

In the upper bracket, Miss Kirby of Birmingham and Miss Jameson in the lower bracket met Mrs. George Sherrill of Atlanta.

Mrs. Dan Chandler, who was the medalist at Oklahoma City last year, and put across a 77 to capture medal honors again yesterday, was paired with Mrs. Frank C. Ford, Jr., of Charleston, S. C.

The defending champion, Mrs. Mark McGarry of St. Petersburg, Fla., faced Mrs. R. E. Winger of Fort Worth, Tex.

Two more ranking favorites were Marion Miley of Lexington, Ky., and Miss Kathryn Hemphill of Columbia, S. C. Miss Miley met Mrs. Elsie Haynes as a Miss Hemphill drew Marthe Daniel of Rome.

A NEWCOMER GETS SOME ADVICE

William B. Bankhead (left), speaker of the house, spent a few minutes giving friendly advice to Lyndon Johnson, youthful democratic congressman, who succeeded the late James P. Buchanan from Texas, just before they went into the house chamber, where Johnson was sworn in.

Congress Gets Proposal To Consolidate All Federal Power Activity

WASHINGTON, May 18 (AP)—A proposal to consolidate all federal power activities under one agency reached congress today in a Brookings Institution report. Chairman Byrd (D-Va) said the institution, retained by his special senate committee on government reorganization, had expressed the opinion that substantial savings would result. The proposal would empower the new agency to fix rates and determine production for such "yardstick" power developments as the Tennessee Valley Authority. This, the report explained, was suggested "on the assumption that an operating agency functioning as a yardstick should not be permitted to regulate its own production or determine its own rates." Congressional leaders said, meanwhile, they expected the president to recommend by Wednesday a national program for power development, flood control, reforestation and soil conservation. Senator Norris (Ind-Neb) has prepared legislation to create seven regional authorities similar to TVA. He has conferred with the president and said the measure would be introduced in a few days. Among other Brookings recommendations is one that: The work of the petroleum conservation division be restricted to enforcement of the Connally "hot oil" act and to advising the secretary of interior on petroleum policy and that studies looking to prevention of waste be transferred to the bureau of mines. POPE PIUS RESTS CASTEL GANDOLFO, Italy, May 17 (AP)—Pope Pius, his condition described by prelates as reasonably satisfactory, observed his customary Monday rest today. Union Drafts Drive Plans

Prepare For Campaign In Ford Plant, Seek To Alter Agreement

DETROIT, May 18 (AP)—The United Automobile Workers of America, making final preparations for an intensive organizational campaign among Ford Motor company workers, drafted plans today for a conference on changes to be proposed in its agreement with General Motors corporation. Union officials said the opening of two offices in Dearborn, home of the Ford company, had been deferred until later in the week. They indicated that the postponement was caused by a desire to make "something of a splash" in inaugurating the campaign. Letters to U.A.W.A. locals in General Motors cities disclosed the plans for a conference on revision of the General Motors agreement. Homer Martin, president of the international union, said the conference will be held "not later than the first part of June," but the date has not been fixed. June 11 is the first date on which 60-days notice may be given by either General Motors or the union of intention to seek revision of the agreement. Martin said the conferees also would seek methods of elimination unauthorized strikes in General Motors plants. Four such strikes affected more than 16,000 General Motors Workers in Cleveland, Janesville, Wis., and Saginaw, Mich., last week. All were back at work today. Before Martin left on a speaking tour that will take him to Los Angeles and Oakland, Calif., he said he expected no resistance in the union's Ford organization campaign. The week opened with Ford making the first move, distribution to its workers of cards bearing "Fordisms" stating the management's views about labor.

LIQUOR CANNOT STAND THE LIGHT OF TRUTH

WHAT IS RULE NO. 1 FOR ALL ATHLETES? Coach Andy Kerr of Colgate university answers a vital question: "One of our first training rules is never to drink alcohol in any form. I would rather have an athlete break almost every other rule laid down than to break this one concerning the use of intoxicants. Alcohol is the foe of athletes and destroys the efficiency of mind as well as muscle. It makes poor athletes and dull students out of boys and girls who otherwise might excel in sports and studies." (Submitted by local WCTU). California pays nearly $12,000,000 a biennium to care for its insane, mentally deficient, juvenile delinquents and blind. The spores of "rust," the great foe of the wheat grower, travel on the wind and have crossed whole continents.

Legislature Approves Health District Plan

AUSTIN, May 18—The biggest step in public health yet taken by Texas was that last week, according to Dr. George W. Cox, state health officer, when the house sharply increased an appropriation for the control of syphilis and the legislature approved a health district plan to put this and other health measures into effect. The house used the syphilis-control grant from $10,000 to $50,000, when a plan to deal with this major preventable disease was shaped by federal, state and Texas Medical association representatives.

For the first time, Texas will, if the appropriation stands, and federal public health cooperation continues, make a broad attack upon the inroads of this one of the two foremost preventable diseases afflicting thousands, and taking hundreds of lives needlessly each year.

STOPPING THE "STEAL"

The supreme court might well have been acting with a degree of common sense as well as with full knowledge of and appreciation for the law when it upheld the provisions of the 1936 revenue act barring refund of processing and floor stock taxes collected under the invalidated agricultural adjustment act.

Passed to halt the refund of $963,000,000 taxes to processors, the act provided that refunds be made only in event the taxpayer could offer direct proof of his having paid the taxes.

Since it is commonly assumed that processors promptly passed the tax on the consumer, those who stood to profit most by overthrowing the revenue act must now offer positive proof that such was not the case before they are eligible to recover.

This will set well with the average citizen for feeling that he, in effect, paid the taxes himself, he could see no good reason for some manufacturer gaining the sole benefits thereof. In other words, there seemed to be little justification for enriching processors simply because they enjoyed a strategic position.

Secretary of Agriculture H. A. Wallace spoke bluntly at the time it appeared the refunds would go to manufacturers who succeeded in having it impounded, in calling it "the great American steal." And now the court has stood wisely in the way to prevent what might have otherwise smacked of what the secretary spoke.

NEW YORK—Vignettes:

A serious-faced tourist, watching the big boats dock, saying, "I've always been fascinated by ships.... I used to own a canoe."... Hugo Mariani, sadfaced (for no reason) entertainer, gazing moodily at the jumbled neon signs in 7th avenue.... The orange juice stand at the corner where Lilly Langtry used to live.... The hushed excitement in a midtown cafe as Loretta Young, looking beautiful in soft blue, wends her way to a reserved table.

The ex-jockey who now is a shoe-shine boy (he's 42 years old) although he owns an apartment building in Brooklyn.... The second arch of Brooklyn Bridge which bolts out the site of an old house where a famous murder took place (Rose street) a hundred years ago.... Nancy Garner, the singing niece of the Vice President, hurrying out of a cab in the Murray Hill sector.... Leona Lee, the well dancer, saying she doesn't like chow mein ("It isn't good for my figure").

The high, lofty dignity of Grand Central at dusk with organ music filling the vast, arched interior.... The girl who plays a Russian peasant in a nightclub.... who really used to be a peasant in Russia.... But she left there, disillusioned, and never went back.... The reason: one night she came in from the fields to her home and found that the Cossacks had been there.... and killed her mother and father.

Gypsy Gabriella's smile.... Katharine Locke, the season's only starlet, who lives in the Bronx but owns a farm in New Jersey.... The sad, listless ducks on the artificial lakes in Central Park.... He's the Russian who hunts tigers with spears and bows and arrows.

Urchins, who probably have never been off the island, gazing wonderingly at a miniature forest on top of an East River apartment house.... The priest who heads a fine Boy Scout organization on the east side.... The clusters of well-dressed Japanese who attend all the first nights and openings.... Babe Ruth wearing his habitual big brown cap.... This typewriter, and its faded, beaten ribbon.... Harold Von Schmidt, the artist, departing for Washington, where he will do a number of panels for the government.

NEWS

BEHIND THE NEWS

By PAUL MALLOTT

Division—WASHINGTON, May 17—All is not well at the top of the new order. Mr. R. himself let that cat, or at least one ear of it, out of his bag by the peculiar manner in which he chose to receive his congressional leaders.

Ordinarily, he calls them all in for round table conferences, and pits the advice of one openly against the other and then issues his orders. It is like a staff meeting. This time he called them all in, but not together. First, he received his foremost congressional adviser, Mr. Garner—alone. Then he summoned his senate leader, Robinson—alone. Next came the two house leaders, Bankhead and Rayburn, together. The result was three different conferences on the legislative program, and three slightly varying interpretations. (As a matter of fact, he did not discuss all of the same subjects in each of his three conferences.)

The explanation being passed around sub rosa on the Hill, is that President Roosevelt fired so hotly in his last staff meeting, he did not intend to risk another indignation rally. Messrs. Garner and Robinson are supposed to have spoken so freely against the budget and relief program before that he decided to handle them individually this time.

Even if it means no more than that, it is significant of the deep personal objections to some of the president's current policies by men around him who have the welfare of his administration at heart.

Complications—

At the same time there is evidence that the president is not as hard-boiled "adamant" as the popular word—about the supreme court packing bill as he is being represented.

The best way to describe it is that court packing is still "must" legislation, while the remainder of the program is "ought" legislation. (The terms "must" and "ought" are supposed to have been used by the president himself.)

But the real reason why Mr. Robinson announced there would be no compromise on the court "just yet" (and then asked newsmen to scratch out the "just yet" because it might sound bad) is this:

An intricate technical situation has developed among pro-court-packing senators. Under terrific pressure from the White House and Postmaster General Farley, they have been rasping and barking their approval over the radio waves. They are definitely out on the waves and some way must be found to get them back safely in preparation for a "compromise."

Pro And Con—

The senate line-up on the court has not changed materially despite the coming of pre-packed Berry and the firming of Senators O'Mahoney and McCarran as anti-packers. Presidential checks-and-balance count forty-three votes sure, and eight or nine more still wavering.

They are giving themselves the benefit of doubts, but they say they can get these eight or nine by the use of political weapons or political sugar. Some waverers may need nothing more than a personal invitation to the White House, and a presidential pat on the back, while others may require more substantial hardtack. These are just prospects however, and the immediate situation is decidedly unfavorable to the president.

Condensation—

You can get a line on how the debate is going to run from the fact that a certain republican waverer has concluded preparation of a court speech which will require two days to deliver. He has condensed his thoughts to this radical extent because he expects interruptions which will extend his initial effort to five days.

If every senator followed his course, the debate would last from three to fifteen months. (Presidential advisers are counting on two months.)

It is therefore premature to talk or think of filibuster. If ordinary debate is certain to string out from two to three months, the opposition will not even have to consider extra-dilatatory tactics for a long time yet.

Jiggering—

Latest authentic word on wages and hours legislation is that it is nowhere near ready for submission to congress. This comes from a presidential authority and not from his unofficial attorney-general who are supposed to be ready with something to submit to the president.

It is not said the legislation probably will be presented in three or four bills rather than bundled into one package. The bills may be segregated into: anti-trust, wages-hours, child labor in interstate commerce, and prices. No one knows when.

Mr. R. is insisting on his $1,500,000,000 for relief. He will get it after a struggle. The president wants the farm loan plan to start with $100,000,000, instead of $200,000,000, and he probably will not let it. The small amount will be just a wedge for future expenditures.

MAY CONQUEST NEW GUINEA WILDS BY USING BIG PLANE

SAN DIEGO, Cal., May 18 (UP)—The wilds of New Guinea, heretofore almost inaccessible to white men, may be conquered this year by a Navy-type flying boat which will drop food supplies, instead of bombs, and shoot with cameras instead of machine guns.

That was revealed here when Richard Archbold, research associate of the department of mammals, of the American Museum of Natural History, arrived to superintend construction of a plane, at the plant where the Navy's big craft are built.

The expedition into one of the few remaining unexplored spots on the world map will be led by Dr. Austin L. Rand, of the museum, Archbold said.

EVE'S ORCHARD

By MARGARET WIDDEMER

Chapter 43
JUDGE'S SACRIFICE

But it was two days later before George came back, with Judge in the seat beside him, dusty and eye-circled but still determined to go away again the moment he got the chance.

"The police had called to say they thought it was he they were holding at Philadelphia," George telephoned from the village. "But I didn't want to say anything till I made sure."

"The little boy stood, defiant and pale and dirty, in the circle of anxious grown people in Eve's living room.

"Not goin' to stay, you can't make me!" he said to them, ready to cry. Eve knelt and threw her arms around him.

"Oh, you darling foolish baby, why didn't you ask before you went off? If you'd listened a minute longer you'd have heard me tell Denny I wouldn't marry him, no matter what happened to you, one said, careless of the listeners.

"'Twasn't that!" Judge said and shut his lips tight again. "Well then, what the nation was it?" asked Uncle Henry impatiently. "Olive, you ought to be paid, big as you are, and I'll do it if you don't stop acting up like a fool. I thought you were as sensible a boy as ever I saw."

Judge looked round at the circle of eyes and desperately gave in. "Twas an account of George then, if you must know!" he said angrily, "I wouldn't mind about Denny, he's not so hot. But he did say any man would job at marriage and I knew I was why you and George didn't get married."

Eve put a desperate hand over his mouth, remembering too late that he had been away the whole week Ellen and George had been engaged, and in the confusion of the fire must have heard nothing of it.

"We don't want to," she began. Judge said doggedly, pushing down her hand, "I heard you by the windbreak, the night of the fire. You said you couldn't, but you wanted to. You said," he blushed and evaded with a small boy's self-consciousness, any mention of love—"that you did, awful!" Then the firm came before I made out why and when I heard Denny I knew it was me. So I went."

A Little Boy Sobs
Eve dared not look at George, standing with his hand on the door lintel, not at Ellen, very still beside Uncle Henry. She took a long breath—Ellen was her friend, Ellen had stood by her when no one else had—

"Judge, little boys like you can't arrange things for grown people. You made a dreadful mistake. I'm Ellen George wants to marry. Don't you see how silly you were?"

George!" Judge's cry made Eve in spite of herself turn to where George stood with a stony face, his knuckles white where he gripped the lintel.

"I'm going to marry Ellen, Olive," he told the child, even smiling a little. "So you see you ran off all for nothing!"

Judge, tired and shaken, flung himself on Uncle Henry and began to cry frankly. "He did like Eve, he did!" he wailed. "Everyone said so, Mattie and Adriano and all and Eve liked him. And now you've all changed your mind. I hate it, it's all mixed up—"

He went on sobbing till Uncle Henry put an end to the scene by picking the child up and carrying him to his own room.

"What you need's a bath, and supper in bed, son," he said solemnly. The three left behind stood silent a moment.

"I have to be getting back to the inn now," George said unceremoniously.

"I'll drive you," Ellen said. She held out her hand, in its bright-colored plique gauntlet, to Eve. It was icy cold. "See you later, Eve dear," she added with just her usual smile. Eve watched Ellen's fearful scarlet silk cape and gay flaring heels going down the porch steps beside George's dusty golf clothes. Nobody was going to say anything. It had passed. Life would go on....

Eve stood watching till they were out of sight. She could hear the little boy sobbing on upstairs and Uncle Henry's voice quivering anywhere, any more.... Nothing but the everlasting ringing of the telephone. She answered it. Mrs. Minton over the Ridge; a loaf of bread, two dozen biscuits. And was the old Seymour house burnt right down to the ground and was it true that George Cleveland's experiments were all burned up too? She answered civilly, she took the order and gave the information. This was what her life would be from now on, forevermore.

Finally she could go from the house and the sound of the child's crying. She could hide for a while. She ran down the hall, her light skirts flying behind her, she fled out and between the tall rose bushes, the thick border of tall late sweet peas, to the rough stone steps that would give her the blessed shelter of her orchard.

The narrow path among the gnarled trees received her like arms around her. The heavy scent of sun on ripening apples was in her face. Something of the desolate numb misery slipped away as she went blindly on among the tree trunks. This was the place which spoke most to her of George, where she should have been most miserable; strangely it comforted her, as she felt the last twilight on her shoulders and the twigs underfoot.

She dropped beside an old tree whose croch made a low wide seat, and crouched in it, her head buried in her arms, as if it had been a living friend to whom she could come for comfort and protection. Far away she heard the sleepy birds; the wind was sweet across her curls. If she stayed here for a while perhaps she could be steady and go on.

A twig snapped under someone's foot. She lifted her wet face. George.

HEART ATTACK IS FATAL TO WICHITA CHIEF OF POLICE

WICHITA FALLS, Tex., May 18 (UP)—Wichita Falls' second chief of police to die within 40 days of a heart attack passed away Monday morning at his home.

F. M. Dowdy, appointed head of the department April 8 two days after George H. Hodgins was fatally stricken en route to the police station, died at 7:30 o'clock. He would have been 37 in July.

Dowdy's appointment as chief of police followed eight years of service with the department. He was born in Clay county.

MAKES PLEA FOR 8-HR. DAY

DALLAS, May 18 (UP)—The National Cottonseed Producers' association opened its annual convention here today with a plea from W. F. Penland, Dallas, president of the organization, for the industry to place its plants on an eight-hour day basis and to adopt a minimum wage scale.

Penland, who was honored with a barbecue yesterday on the Singleton farm near Mistlethorn, said he would ask the convention to go on record for these measures. Col. M. E. Singleton, owner of the farm, is a past national president of the association. Henry T. Womble, Caldwell, president of the Texas organization, was toastmaster.

Press Termed Nation's Greatest Protection

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., May 18 (AP)—The Southern Newspaper Publishers association was told today that American newspapers constitute "our greatest protection against the domination of the nation by leaders of temporary majorities."

The speaker, Giles J. Patterson, Jacksonville, Fla., attorney, discussed what he described as a trend toward a democracy governed by a centralized national government.

"American representative democracy accustomed to thinking of liberty in contrast with the unlimited power of a ruler that they fail to realize that liberty in America today is related to protecting the rights of individuals and minorities against the tyranny of majorities."

Unable to obtain their regular printing stock, southern newspapers published on wallpaper for a time during the civil war.

The speaker said only an independent judiciary and free press offered checks upon these majorities. He added "the judiciary is already under attack," and reviewed recent court decisions which he said gave possible weapons to be used "to punish newspapers for attacks upon the heads of government."

"To continue to exercise its influence for the good of all the people is the solemn and inescapable duty of the press because of the power it possesses," he said.

"I think our people became so accustomed to thinking of liberty in contrast with the unlimited power of a ruler that they fail to realize that liberty in America today is related to protecting the rights of individuals and minorities against the tyranny of majorities."

Tune In KBST 6:45 P. M. CURBSTONE REPORTER

J. E. (Scotty) Scott, staff photographer of the Arkansas Democrat, Little Rock, arrived Monday evening from Little Rock by American Airlines plane. He is the guest of his friend, Jimmie F. Willson.

Wally

was born on June 3, 1905, and died Jan. 20, 1936.

June likewise is Mrs. Wurfel's birth month. She will be 41 on June 19.

Rogers, the wealthy New Yorker who was virtual guardian and spokesman for Mrs. Warfield during the wait for her final divorce decree, gave the announcement to a hundred American, French and English newspapermen at the chateau gates.

Edward and Mrs. Warfield did not appear.

A drizzling rain was falling but Rogers wore no hat.

He was so excited he groped frantically for the french words needed to translate the announcement for the French reporters.

Rogers would put no interpretation on his declaration that "invitations to the wedding of the Duke of Windsor and Mrs. Wallis Warfield will be confined to those who have been with them during the past months."

Neither would he say who, definitely, would be invited.

Despite Rogers' reticence, there was an immediate tendency on the part of some persons to interpret the announcement as an indication the royal family is definitely frowning in the marriage.

But there have been strong indications King George VI and Queen Mother Mary, were, indeed, supporting the Duke's wedding plans and that the government of Great Britain was the dissenting party.

(Londoners saw in the announcement that royalty would not be at the wedding further evidence of a determination to disassociate the former monarch from British public life.)

Rogers later promised to answer questions based on the announcement this evening, however.

"Wallis Blue"
The typed announcement was on office stationery of "Wallis Blue"—so called because she likes that hue so much.

Still untold was whether the future Duchess of Windsor will be given the title "Her Royal Highness," but the fact that no member of the royal family will attend led to the belief the British government has refused to sanction such a title.

There was this comment outside the chateau:
"Baldwin has won again!"

The announcement that the invitations would be limited to "those who have been with" the couple recently left the field open for some speculation.

Borah

announced his retirement, effective June 2, Chairman Ashurst (D-Ariz) told newspapermen the retirement "immensely promotes" the prospect for passage of the court measure.

On the other hand an opposition leader—Senator Wheeler (D-Mont)—quickly demanded withdrawal of the president's plan.

He said "there is absolutely no excuse whatever for going ahead."

"Protests Bill"
Ten of the 15 members of the committee are publicly committed against the bill which would permit the addition of as many as six new justices unless those now over 70 retire.

There were hints that Ashurst had talked with the White House before calling in newspapermen.

When they walked in his office, he feigned ignorance of the retirement announcement. When told that Van Devanter had formally announced it, the committee chairman said:

"That immensely promotes the bill. That means it will certainly pass."

Asked if the bill would be withdrawn, now that court decisions did not rest upon the judgment of a single vacillating judge, as court bill supporters had contended, Ashurst said:

"I never heard of a man who surrendered when he was winning. When the bill came out it was as popular as a role cat at a picnic. But the bill has gathered strength. Whatever has happened has helped the bill."

Wheeler, reached by telephone in his office, said:

"The president ought to withdraw the court bill immediately. There is absolutely no excuse whatever for going ahead with his fight, because the administration's measures will no longer be subject to one justice's opinion. If the bill is withdrawn, I am certain that within the course of time there will be other retirements from the bench."

Senator Borah (D-Iowa) said the retirement would have no effect on the outcome of the judiciary committee's voting because "the lines are already drawn."

Senator Burke (D-Neb.), another opposition leader, said the retirement should not have any effect on the court bill.

Those voting to report the president's bill favorably, Ashurst, said, were Senators Neely, Logan, Dietrich, McGill, Pittman, Hughes, Norris and Ashurst.

Those against were: Senators King, McCarran, Van Nuys, Hatch, Burke, Connally, O'Mahoney, Borah, Austin and Steiwer.

Miss Allyn Bunker, who has been visiting in Corpus Christi, returned here Monday evening.

Justice

court in October, Justice Southernland might take advantage of the retirement act.

Van Devanter wrote this letter to Mr. Roosevelt:

"My Dear President:
"Having held my commission as an associate justice of the supreme court, for twenty-six years, and having come to the seventy-eight years of age, I desire to avail myself of the rights, privileges and judicial service specified in the act of March 1, 1937, entitled 'an act to provide for retirement of justices of the supreme court, and to that end, I hereby retire from regular active service on the bench—this retirement to be effective on and after the second day of June, 1937, that being the day next following the adjournment of the present term of the court."

"I have the honor to remain, 'Very respectfully yours,
"Signed) Willis Van De Vanter, 'The President."

(The act to which the justice referred permits justices over 70 to retire at full pay—$20,000 annually.)

Van Devanter has been a member of the court since 1911. Considered a conservative by the administration, his departure from the bench will give President Roosevelt an opportunity to select a successor—his first appointment to the bench.

The retirement created the first vacancy on the court since 91-year-old Oliver Wendell Holmes resigned in 1932 after serving 39 years. He was succeeded by Justice Benjamin N. Cardozo.

Until the beginning of the present term of court last October, Van Devanter had voted against administration action or laws 12 times and for it once in litigation before the tribunal. The sole exception was the Tennessee Valley Authority controversy and the decision did not involve constitutionality of the act.

This term, however, he voted in line with the administration nine times and against it three times. Two of the three votes were gained application of the Wagner labor relations act to the Associated Press and the manufacturing concern. The other was against the administration's contention that the congressional resolution abrogating payment of obligations in gold applied to bullion as well as to coin.

If a justice whose views were those of administration lawyers had been on the bench instead of Van Devanter since Mr. Roosevelt was inaugurated in 1933, it would have changed the outcome of only three major cases.

These involved the New York law establishing minimum wages for women, the railway pension act and the municipal bankruptcy statute, all five to four decisions. The court has since reversed itself and upheld a Washington state law fixing women's minimum wages. Plans also are under way for a revised railway pension measure.

Only 14 justices in the history of the nation have surpassed Van Devanter in length of service on the high court. He was a member of the tribunal for 26 years. The record of 34 years was established by Justice Field who served from 1863 to 1897. The famed Chief Justice John Marshall, who died in 1835, was beaten by a few months.

In Excellent Health
Despite his age, Van Devanter appeared to be in excellent health. He delighted in tramping over a farm he recently bought in Maryland. And he went duck hunting as often as he could.

His wife, who died in 1934, had owned several Montana wheat farms operated by tenants. When the justice received the AAA benefits, she promptly returned the money.

"Because I voted for the invalidation of AAA," he explained, "I do not feel I could accept the check."

Were Picking Flowers
Little Jimmy and his sister Helen were happy, playing about and picking flowers.

"I hesitated," Mrs. Tiernan was quoted as saying.

"I didn't want to go through with it."

"Finally little Helen came over near where I was. She stopped to pick a flower. Jimmy was a little distance away.

"George grabbed the hatchet and hit Helen on the head three times. Helen fell over on her back. I took the knife and cut her throat. Helen screamed. Jimmy heard her and came running toward me, crying, 'mommy, mommy, what happened?'"

"George struck him twice with the hatchet on the head. When he fell I cut his throat with the knife. I took the gasoline from the suitcase, poured it on the clothes of Helen. George lit a match and put it on the gasoline.

"I took the children's shoes off and some of their clothes so they couldn't be traced. I took them home.

"George drove me to the railroad station. I came home by myself and he came home in the car."

Sketch Revives Talk Of New County Courthouse

New courthouse talk was revived Tuesday by the appearance of an architect's conception of the new structure in the office of County Judge Charles Sullivan.

Throughout the morning many persons called to view the sketch prepared by Haynes and Strange, local architects. In the drawing, the building was a five story affair, the two top floors apparently being for jail space.

S. F. Haynes, accompanied by Mrs. Haynes, was here Tuesday. Their home is in Lubbock. W. T. Strange, Jr., formerly chamber of commerce manager, is other member of the firm.

'Ready-Made' House Is Delivered In Stanton

STANTON, May 18—The first "ready-made" house to be delivered in Stanton is now in process of being erected here. The house was consigned here by the DuPont Glycerin corporation for use as a residence by L. J. Johnson, manager of the Stanton plant.

Carpenters specially brought here by the company selling the house are putting up the structure which has five rooms and bath, with two screen porches. The usual "built-in" features are included, ready to set up.

The house is of white-painted wood, simply designed.

Shortage Of Buyers At Weekly Ring Sale

Reversal of the order of the previous week Monday cut down volume on the weekly ring sale at the Greer pens east of here.

"This time there was a shortage of buyers in comparison to the amount of stock. At least there was a shortage of buyers for the heavy offering of the day, work stock. Fine work horses and big boned mules went without offers. Lack of moisture on ranges kept down bidding for some making purchase confessed to being short on grass.

Listed Monday were mules, horses, cow ponies, swine, sheep, beef, cattle, and milk cows and calves.
