Cotton damage notices forthcoming

By KIMBERLY THOGMARTIN
Staff Writer

Farmers who complained of 2,4-D damage last summer to the Texas Department of Agriculture can expect to hear from the department shortly after Jan. 1, a spokesman said Thursday.

Al Hernandez, who heads the TDA's pesticide enforcement division said his office is putting together a report that will describe the TDA's findings on damage to cotton crops in Parmer and Deaf Smith County.

More than 100 complaints about 2,4-D were registered last summer with TDA after cotton farmers in Deaf Smith and Parmer County discovered drift damage from applications of the powerful weed killer. TDA investigators spent several weeks in the two counties investigating the damage.

"We will send a copy of the report to each farmer who registered a complaint," Hernandez promised. "If there was a violation of the pesticide law filed as a result of his complaint, that will be shown in his report."

Hernandez said he expects the department to seek "administrative settlements" in about 40 of the 100 reported cases. The TDA will attempt to settle violations by offering the offender either a fine or suspension. If the person accused of violating pesticide regulations objects to the charges, a hearing will be scheduled at the TDA office in Amarillo.

Violations the TDA expects to prosecute, according to Hernandez, include charges of spraying too close to a susceptible crop, failure to obtain an applicators permit, selling to an unlicensed applicator and failure to maintain proper records.

In the meantime, a Houston attorney is waiting on the TDA to release the names of those accused of violating the regulations. Benton Musslewhite, along with Friona attorney Richard Collard, has filed a civil suit against more than 20 chemical companies on behalf of farmers who suffered 2,4-D damage.

Musslewhite indicated that as the names become available, he expects to amend the original and add the names of applicators and other accused violators as well. The suit was filed in Brazoria County, where Dow Chemical Company has a plant.

The suit claims $5 million worth of damage was caused to the estimated 30,000 acres of cotton affected by 2,4-D drift. It asks that each grower be awarded his actual damages plus three times that amount in punitive damages.

Around 30 individual landowners and farm corporations are listed as defendants on the suit, which claims the chemical companies named failed to give adequate warnings and directions for safe use of 2,4-D.

The TDA hopes to better monitor chemical applications that endanger not only susceptible crops, but human lives as well, by adopting more stringent pesticide regulations.

Andy Welch, TDA public relations director, said Thursday the department intends to publish a final version of those rules in next week's Texas Register.

The final version will include several modifications of the regulations first announced in October which was based on information gathered during public hearings held last month across the state.

Clinic burglarized Wednesday eve

Nearly $800 in cash and $8,000 in checks were taken sometime Wednesday night from Hereford Medical Clinic, 343 Miles Ave., Hereford police reported this morning.

Entrance was apparently gained by breaking a second-story window on the building's south side, police said. In addition to the theft, perpetrators also ransacked the emergency room.

The sign in front of Stockstill Interiors, 603 S. 25 Mile Ave., was broken between 5 and 9 p.m. Thursday. The vandalism was valued at slightly less than $500.

A rock apparently went through a window and damaged the door of a microwave oven recently at Roberts Appliance, 136 W. Third St. Damage estimates were $232 for the window and $105 for the microwave door.

Two men were arrested early this morning after having stolen a $45 rifle from a parked car. In addition to the theft, the suspects were charged with driving while intoxicated and carrying a prohibitive weapon - one other than the stolen item.

There were five motor vehicle accidents Thursday within city limits, one involving minor injuries.

High school presents 'Savage'

Hereford High School students are to present "The Curious Savage" Saturday and Sunday as their annual all-school play.

The two presentations are scheduled for 7:30 p.m. Saturday and 2 p.m. Sunday in the HHS auditorium. Tickets, which are to be on sale at the door, may be obtained for $2 apiece.

"Savage" is a three-act comedy written by John Patrick.

"This play was last presented in Hereford by The Community Player about 17 years ago," states an HHS press release. "Many of Hereford's leading citizens had roles in that production. In fact, the garden scenery used in the high school production is the same painting used in the Players play."

John Claypool, director of the all-school production, said members of the cast and theatre arts class have constructed the rest of the set. "This meets some of the new essential elements of mastery learning required by the state," he released claimed.

Post office extends its hours

The customer service windows at the Hereford Post Office will remain open until 2 p.m. Saturday. Postmaster Nolan Grady announced this morning.

Grady said the extra hours are to accommodate the Christmas rush and people who work until noon on Saturday. The windows will open at 8:30 a.m. as usual.

Next week, the "will-call" window will be open until 6 p.m., Grady said, so that undeliverable packages can be picked up until then.

Atomic information office planned here

By REED PARSELL
Managing Editor

Those wishing to learn more about high-level nuclear waste dumps and the current effort to establish one may no longer have to rely exclusively on media and the library for all their information.

The U.S. Department of Energy, in charge of the repository site selection process, has authorized an office containing nuclear garbage tidbits be started in Hereford. Classified advertisements in recent Brand issues have asked for local people to apply for the one-person operation.

Similar "Help Wanted" pleas have appeared in The Tulia Herald, the largest newspaper in Swisher County. Deaf Smith and Swisher counties each contain one of nine sites being considered for hosting the atomic waste dump.

Though authorized by the DOE, the two Texas offices are to be supervised by the Battelle Office of Nuclear Waste Isolation in Columbus, Ohio. Battelle was hired by the Energy Department to perform much of the project's technical work.

According to Helen Latham of Battelle, it is hoped the two Panhandle

To open first week of January offices will open the first week of January. At first they are to be full-time, as release of environmental assessments later this month is anticipated to create much public interest.

Locations for the offices are still being sought, she said.

As of Thursday afternoon, Latham said during a telephone interview, about six applications have been turned in from the Panhandle. The job requires experience working with the public, oral communication skills and an ability to handle information as a non-advocate. Latham said former teachers, librarians and sales-oriented people should be good candidates for the position.

Information offices have already been established at the seven other nuclear dump candidate sites. One of the outlets is in Minden, La., a town around 14,000 citizens located between Shreveport and Monroe off Interstate 20. Shirley Johnson mans that office, which opened in June.

"We have not been really busy," she said over the telephone Thursday afternoon, adding the pace has quickened somewhat lately. She explained much of her work is education-oriented; she helps children with scientific projects and shows films describing the nuclear waste situation.

Several people phone Johnson's office for information. "I'm not a technical person myself," she commented, "but I can answer a lot of the questions."

Michaelene Pendleton has been in the Moab, Utah, information office for more than two years. The town of around 5,000 residents rests in the east-central portion of the state about 20 miles from Colorado. Located near Moab are tourist attractions New Archers National Monument, Dead Horse Point and Looking Glass Rock.

As in Minden's outlet, the Moab office contains extensive material regarding the nuclear waste issue. Both "pro" and "con" sides are available, Pendleton stressed. "I have been allowed to run this as a neutral office," she said.

Interest in her outlet usually picks up following disclosures of events related to the dump selection project. There are, though, some "regulars" who pop in frequently just to see what is going on, Pendleton said.

The other Battelle-operated information offices are located in Monticello, Utah; Richton, Miss.; the Nevada Test Site; and near Richland, Wash.

Linda McClain, DOE project manager for Texas exploration activities, Thursday explained efforts were made about two years ago to establish information offices in Hereford and Tulia. Texas Congressmen, however, successfully argued against the proposal.

Environmental assessments, McClain claimed, are to be released as planned by or on Thursday of next week. A 90-day period for public comment is to follow.

Though the classified advertisement requesting applications for the local office states a Dec. 14 deadline, Battelle has asked it be run for a final time in today's Brand.

Walcott's Derr selected for school board

By KIMBERLY THOGMARTIN
Staff Writer

Walcott Independent School District's Eddie Derr is one of just three superintendents statewide named to a 17-member advisory committee of the state school board.

The committee, made necessary by the passage of the Education Reform Bill, is to recommend to the state board standards for the training of public school trustees.

One representative from each of the 15 state school board regions was named as well as two at-large members. Along with the superintendents, the committee includes six trustees, one regional service center director, a school teacher, three college professors and several representatives of the private sector.

Derr was recommended by Dr. Paul Dunn, state school board member from Region 15, as well as by senators Bill Sarpalis and Carl Parker. He said he feels there are two main reasons why he was selected to represent the Panhandle.

One of three superintendents

"I have worked in the four quadrants of the region," he explained. A native of Borger, Derr taught in several area schools before taking the job at Walcott School seven years ago.

He said he feels the work he did on a master's thesis also prompted his selection. "I did research in the area of superintendent and school board relationships," he said. "I learned a lot about what they should expect of each other."

Derr said Dunn was interested in having this area's member be from a rural school, "and Walcott is about as rural as you can get." There are 152 school districts in Region 15, which is the second largest district geographically.

"My initial reaction is that the legislature wants to look in to this area of school board member training, Derr commented about the formation of the committee. "I would like for the committee to proceed cautiously and progressively. I'm convinced that we should do a good deal of research and listening to those we represent prior to taking any action."

More than 6,000 local school trustees would be affected by whatever changes the committee decides to make, Derr pointed out. He said one possibility is requiring a certain level of training for school board members and adopting rules to see that those guidelines are enforced.

"We have to be careful about requiring training, though," Derr admitted. "For some districts that could be a lot of time and travel. I would like to come up with a delivery

State

Bill for $25.7 billion okayed

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas House and Senate leaders have prepared a $25.7 billion state spending bill for the 1985 Legislature that can be covered by expected revenue, plus a $160 million cushion.

A major issue of the 69th Legislature meeting Jan. 8 will be whether to hold spending to available revenue or consider new or revised taxes.

Altogether, the Legislative Budget Board cut requests for 1986-87 money from state agencies and institutions to $768 million below 1985 spending.

Comptroller Bob Bullock warned earlier that spending cuts had to be made, or new revenues found, because of the faltering oil and gas economy, which provides much of Texas' tax money.

Gov. Mark White will send the Legislature his budget recommendations in mid-January, then the Senate and House will hold public hearings and each write a spending bill. The final version of 1986-87 expenditures likely will be written by a 10-member conference committee, made up largely of those who produced the LBB bill.

Regents dump holdings proposal

EL PASO, Texas (AP) — After hearing a report that the University of Texas system could lose $27 million a year if it stopped investing in companies that do business with South Africa, the UT board of regents rejected the proposal by a unanimous vote.

The leader of a student group opposed to South Africa's racial policy called the regents' decision "disgusting."

The nine-member board reached its decision Thursday after hearing a lengthy report from Executive Vice Chancellor for fiscal affairs Michael Patrick on the financial effects divestiture would have on the university's system.

But student Eddie Reeves of Austin said, "The risk is not in withdrawing the investments. The risk is increased daily by maintaining investments in South Africa. South Africa is exploding. Everybody knows that."

"You're gonna lose (the investments) when the war comes and the war is coming," Reeves said.

Baytown agrees to buy property

BAYTOWN, Texas (AP) — Baytown city leaders said newly passed ordinances to deter residents from rebuilding their hurricane-damaged subdivision are humane as well as protective.

Baytown City Council on Thursday unanimously rescinded an ordinance that blocked residents from the flood-prone Brownwood subdivision after Hurricane Alicia devastated the neighborhood in August 1983.

City leaders reasoned then it was too expensive to restore city services to the area.

Since then, 20 homeowners have filed lawsuits in hopes of returning to their homes.

But two ordinances passed by the council Thursday — although they apply to all Baytown residents — will make it especially difficult for Brownwood residents to return to their homes.

One ordinance requires severely damaged homes in flood-prone areas to be rebuilt on stilts 16 feet above sea level. "Severely damaged" denotes a home whose repairs would cost more than half the house's market value.

Sheriff arrests mountain men

BOZEMAN, Mont. (AP) — A sheriff who spent five months tracking two mountain men who allegedly kidnapped a woman the younger man wanted as a bride and killed her would-be rescuer got "the drop on them" as the exhausted pair huddled by a campfire.

"It was exactly as I had hoped it would be — exactly as I prayed it would be," Madison County Sheriff Johnny France said Thursday after he single-handedly marched Don Nichols, 53, and his son Dan, 20, at gunpoint to other law officers who had flown into the rugged mountains of southwestern Montana to meet them.

"I have planned this thing, dreamed of it and everything I did today was just as if I'd been there before," France told The Associated Press in a telephone interview Thursday night.

France said both men were charged with aggravated homicide, assault, felony kidnapping and felony intimidation. They were taken to Virginia City and arraigned, then taken to the Gallatin County jail in Bozeman.

The Nicholsons are accused of kidnapping Kari Swenson, 23, a Montana State University student and member of the U.S. biathlon team, as she jogged along a mountain trail near Big Sky on July 15.

Residents desert Indian town

BHOPAL, India (AP) — The slums around the Union Carbide plant were a ghost town today following the flight of panicky residents who feared another poison gas leak like the one Dec. 3 that killed more than 2,000 people.

Police and municipal workers failed to report to work in Bhopal, streets were deserted and many houses and shops stood empty in a 2½-mile radius around the U.S.-owned pesticide factory.

The chaotic exodus began Wednesday as news spread of the government's plans to begin processing the plant's remaining 15 tons of deadly methyl isocyanate gas into pesticide Sunday. The processing is expected to last four to five days.

There was no official count of those who had departed, but government officials here estimated that as many as 150,000 to 200,000 people had fled the city of 900,000. Most were poor people from the small houses and mud-brick huts in the old sector of the city near the Union Carbide plant. But even farther away in the new sector, officials said hundreds had left.

Refugee centers were to open this afternoon in Bhopal's schools for people too frightened to stay in homes near the plant during the conversion process.

Shultz assures allies of talks

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP) — Secretary of State George P. Shultz, in meetings with NATO foreign ministers, has reassured them the United States will consult them on new arms control talks with Moscow and stressed that "allied unity" is the best way to achieve results.

Shultz will meet with the Soviet foreign minister, Andrei Gromyko, Jan. 7-8 in Geneva to develop a framework for new, comprehensive arms control negotiations.

The allies' intense interest in the meeting, and their hopes for its success, resulted in a 3½-hour private discussion Thursday during the opening session of the two-day NATO conference. The conference concludes today.

A senior U.S. official, who briefed reporters on condition he not be identified, said Shultz told his NATO colleagues "we all hope it might be the beginning of a better era in East-West relations."

"He emphasized ... our commitment to consult, every bit as full and varied as in the past," the official said.

Schroeder lives through his paralyzing stroke

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — William Schroeder survived a partially paralyzing stroke, his second setback since he became the world's second recipient of a permanent artificial heart, but motion in his weakened right side improved overnight, his doctor said today.

The stroke, which froze Schroeder's arm in midair as he was eating, came just hours after he received a Social Security check that was hand-delivered by two officials Thursday, as a result of his complaints to President Reagan in a telephone conversation the day before.

But Schroeder began recovering quickly, and "he is even better still" today, Dr. Allan M. Lansing, chairman and medical director of Humana Heart Institute, said this morning. The patient had improved steadily since 8 p.m. Thursday, two hours after the stroke, Lansing said.

Tests indicated there was no permanent damage in Schroeder's right leg, although "the arm motion is still not normal," Lansing said.

Schroeder, 52, was in serious but stable condition today, his 19th day with the artificial heart. His blood pressure and other vital signs were normal.

Schroeder had a restful night, and he "did moan, attempt some garbled speech during the night," nurses reported, Lansing said. There was "spontaneous movement of both the arm and leg" overnight, Lansing added.

At 6 p.m. Thursday, during dinner, Schroeder's wife, Margaret, realized that something was desperately wrong with her normally talkative husband, officials said. He suffered a stroke in the lower left side of the brain that partially paralyzed his right side and affected his speech.

Doctors were encouraged by Schroeder's attempt to talk shortly after the stroke and that he recognized his wife.

During the night Schroeder was given two units of packed red blood cells to help carry more oxygen to the brain, Lansing said. A stroke temporarily cuts off oxygen to a part of the brain.

Doctors have not determined the cause, and will be conducting studies over the next seven to 10 days to find out what went wrong. No tests were scheduled today because doctors wanted to allow Schroeder to rest without interruption.

On Thursday, four hours after the stroke, Lansing told reporters, "I am happy to tell you there has been some recovery. He even smiled when I joked with him."

Doctors were investigating several possible causes, including a blood clot that might have formed in one of the titanium valves in his metal-and-plastic heart and moved to Schroeder's brain.

Wholesale prices go up last month

WASHINGTON (AP) — A fresh surge in food prices pushed wholesale prices up 0.5 percent in November, the biggest increase since January and the first of any kind since July, the government said today.

Energy costs and automobile prices also rose last month.

Food prices rose 0.7 percent, largely the product of big jumps in meat prices, the Labor Department said.

The November increase in the Producer Price Index meant wholesale prices rose at an annual rate of 1.9 percent through the first 11 months of the year, more than triple last year's 0.6 percent gain but still well under the rates of more than 10 percent in 1979 and 1980.

Economists expect next year's increases to be only slightly higher than this year's.

Energy prices rose 0.6 in November, including a 1.7 percent gain for heating oil at the start of the fall heating season in many parts of the nation. Heating oil prices had risen 3.3 percent in October.

Automobile prices were up 0.4 percent after a 1.2 percent seasonally adjusted October decline that had helped cause the 0.2 percent decrease in that month's overall wholesale prices.

Food prices had risen in only two of the seven previous months, but the big November jump in meat costs abruptly reversed the downward trend.

Beef and veal prices surged 7.5 percent; pork prices rose 5.8 percent; poultry prices were up 3.3 percent; fish prices gained 0.6 percent.

Dairy prices rose 0.3 percent, but there were sizable declines of 7.3 percent for eggs, 7.1 percent for vegetables and 6.8 percent for fruit.

In other major categories:

—The overall energy-price gain included a 1.1 percent rise for gasoline but a 0.3 percent decrease for natural gas. Overall energy costs had risen 1.5 percent in October.

Christmas Stocking Fund

Family could use help

Are you going to have a Merry Christmas? Compared to Mr. and Mrs. H. and their three children, you may have a fantastic holiday season.

A few warm clothes and some food would brighten the Christmas season considerably for the H family. He is without a job at present, and the family is struggling to live from day to day. They can't think of buying clothes, much less toys, for the 6 and 7-year-old boys and the 3-year-old girl.

Your gift to the Christmas Stocking Fund could make a difference for families like this one. The non-profit CSF has been organized to provide help for the less fortunate in our community during Christmas.

Contributions for the fund are being handled by The Hereford Brand. Checks or cash can be taken to the Brand office or mailed to the CSF, Box 673. Applications for needy persons should be taken to the Social Services office at the courthouse.

The CSF project totaled $3,866.50 through Thursday. This is far short of the more than $7,000 raised last —Clothing costs were up 0.6 percent after declining 1.1 percent in October.

—Capital equipment prices costs rose 0.3 percent after decreasing 0.6 percent in the preceding month.

In all, the Producer Price Index for Finished Goods reached 292.3 in November, meaning that goods costing $10 in the base year of 1967 would have cost $29.23 last month.

If the month's 0.5 percent increase continued for 12 straight months, the yearly gain would be 6.4 percent on a compounded basis.

One month ago, the government has said that the October decline in the overall index was the third straight, the longest string of decreases in 17 years. Today, however, the August calculation was revised from 0.1 percent decline to no-change.

The November increase was the first since July's 0.3 percent gain and the biggest since the 0.6 percent hike of January.

Before the November figures were released, Donald Ratajczak, director of the Economic Forecasting Project at Georgia State University, said the expected meat-price increase was mainly due to ranchers' business decisions on the size of their herds.

He said livestock owners had been holding off the slaughter of many animals because they didn't like the prices being offered. Then feed prices began to fall, encouraging owners further to increase their herds, with the resulting relative scarcity of fresh meat pushing prices upward, he said.

However, he added that the phenomenon would be short-lived with no similar jump in food prices expected in December.

Michael Evans, president of his own consulting firm in Washington, saw similar inflation evidence in Thursday's Commerce Department report of rising retail sales in November.

year, and the 1983 total did not take care of all the families on the CSF list.

To Chicago Cubs

Sutcliffe to return

By NICK GERANIOS

Associated Press Writer
CHICAGO (AP) — The bidding for Cy Young winner Rick Sutcliffe is over, and the Chicago Cubs' commitment to re-sign their free-agent pitcher is nearly fulfilled.

Although the Cubs would admit only to being "very confident" of re-signing Sutcliffe, Chicago won the player raffle by default Thursday when every other team in the running was eliminated from consideration.

The Atlanta Braves, Kansas City Royals and San Diego Padres all confirmed Thursday that they had been informed Sutcliffe was going elsewhere — meaning the Cubs. The Padres, apparently the last team in the running, were the last to be informed, around 6 p.m. EST.

"The Cubs got him," said General Manager Jack McKeon of the Padres. "We were happy to be in the final two."

The Cubs now have re-acquired free agent pitchers Dennis Eckersley, Steve Trout and Sutcliffe. Rick Reuschel also left the club via free agency, but Chicago has shown little interest in re-signing him. That leaves only free agent reliever Tim Stoddard out of the fold.

"We made a commitment to the city of Chicago and to our ballclub to get our people back," General Manager Dallas Green said when the Cubs re-signed Trout last week.

On Thursday, as news of Sutcliffe's intentions leaked to the media, Cubs public relations director Bob Ibach would say only: "We're very confident that we'll re-sign Rick Sutcliffe."

Team president Jim Finks refused to comment on the reports, but Green told a television reporter: "I'm happy. We're getting closer by the minute. It still could fall through. Until Rick and Barry (agent Barry Axelrod) come to me and we're shaking hands on the deal, it's not a deal."

Ibach said team officials were shunning the media because they "didn't want to muddy the waters" until talks with Sutcliffe were completed. Ibach said he did not know when the Cubs could announce Sutcliffe's signing.

Details of the veteran right-hander's new contract, estimated to be worth between $9 million-$10 million over five years, were still being negotiated, Cubs officials said.

Only a day earlier, Axelrod had said that once Sutcliffe picked a team from the four offers, it would take some time to finalize the contract. While all four vying clubs had submitted a "top dollar" offer for a five-year contract, there still remained to be worked out such matters as deferred payments, loans and signing bonuses.

Boxing promoter hit with indictment

By LARRY ELKIN

Associated Press Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Flamboyant boxing promoter Don King is confident he'll win the decision in his latest bout with the law — a 23-count indictment charging him and an associate with jointly evading more than $300,000 in federal income taxes.

The spiky-haired King, who's had a hand in promoting "The Thrilla in Manila," "The Rumble in the Jungle" and the "Victory" tour of Michael Jackson and his brothers, said Thursday he expects to be "fully exonerated" in the federal probe.

King and Constance Harper, a vice president of Don King Productions Inc., were charged with "skimming" more than $1 million of the company's cash receipts and converting it to King's personal use. King, in turn, allegedly paid large cash bonuses to Harper, who did not report the money on her tax returns.

King became one of boxing's most colorful and successful promoters after his 1971 release from the Marion Correctional Institution in Ohio after serving four years for manslaughter.

"The company and its officers consistently filed what they believed to be complete and accurate tax returns," King said in a statement issued through his company.

In the meantime, King's company said, it would continue to promote boxing and entertainment events.

The two are to be arraigned on Dec. 21. King, 53, was charged with four counts of tax evasion and Harper, 51, with six counts, and each was charged with one count of conspiracy. Those charges each carry a maximum penalty upon conviction of five years in prison and a $10,000 fine.

In addition, they each face a variety of lesser counts of filing or assisting in the filing of false returns.

More than $900,000 of the money mentioned in the indictment represents cash allegedly "skimmied" from the Caesars Palace casino in Las Vegas, U.S. Attorney Rudolph W. Giuliani said at a news conference announcing the indictment.

King, who began promoting boxing events at the casino in 1977, drew large cash advances against amounts owed to his company and converted it to his personal use, Giuliani said. Harper allegedly received some of the money and helped conceal the diversions from the company's accounts and bookkeepers.

King was charged with failing to report a total of $422,000 in personal income and with failing to pay $211,000 in taxes between 1978 and 1980. Harper allegedly failed to report $195,000 in income and failed to pay $94,000 in taxes in those same years.

In addition, the indictment said Don King Productions Inc. did not report a total of more than $400,000 in receipts in 1979 and 1980. It did not charge, however, that the corporation evaded taxes on that money.

NBA roundup

Seattle dominance over L.A. continues

By WILLIAM R. BARNARD
AP Sports Writer

The Seattle SuperSonics have the solution to a problem the rest of the National Basketball Association has a hard time solving — beating the Los Angeles Lakers.

Jack Sikma hit a jumper with eight seconds left in overtime Thursday night to give Seattle a 124-122 victory over the Lakers, the third time in three tries the Sonics have defeated the three-time defending Western Conference champions this season.

"They seemed to have our number," Lakers Coach Pat Riley said. "It seemed like they made every big shot. They always kept one step ahead of the posse."

Tom Chambers scored 34 points to lead Seattle, while Sikma and Al Wood added 22 apiece. Kareem Abdul-Jabbar had 34 points and James Worthy 28 for the Lakers.

The Lakers are now 15-10, while Seattle improved to 11-12.

Elsewhere in the NBA, it was the Los Angeles Clippers 106, Portland 100; New York 119, Utah 115 in overtime; Houston 96, Atlanta 93 and Phoenix 116, Washington 86.

Suns 116, Bullets 86
Phoenix pulled into a first-place tie with the Lakers in the Pacific Division by routing visiting Washington.

Larry Nance hit nine of 10 field-goal attempts to lead the Suns with 18 points, while Jay Humphries scored nine of his 13 points while Phoenix was outscoring the Bullets 30-14 in the third quarter.

Washington, trying to make Gene Shue only the third NBA coach to win 700 games, was led by Gus Williams, who scored 22 points and had five steals, tying him with Randy Smith for the career theft mark of 1,403.

NFL preview

San Francisco goes for record

By ERIC PREWITT AP Sports Writer

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The San Francisco 49ers, in search of a National Football League record, and the Los Angeles Rams, hoping for a place in the playoffs, tonight open a suspenseful final weekend of the season with a game that could affect three other playoff hopefuls.

The 49ers, 14-1, who already have clinched a place in the postseason competition, hope to become the first team in NFL history to win 15 regular season games.

"We're going to go into the game to win it," 49ers Coach Bill Walsh promises, but the 49ers are expected to go without a few players, such as defensive back Ronnie Lott, who have slight injuries.

His team clinched its third division title in four years several weeks ago and won't have to leave Candlestick Park during the National Conference playoffs. The Rams, 10-5, will assure themselves of a wild-card berth if they stop the 49ers' eight-game winning streak and deprive them of that 15th victory.

If the Rams lose, they'll face an anxious few days, perhaps including practice for a game they won't play. They could reach the playoffs at 10-6, but it would depend on the outcome of other NFC games during a weekend that will see three division titles as well as two wild-card berths decided.

The NFC East title will be riding on Sunday's game between the Washington-Redskins and St. Louis Cardinals, while championships in the American Conference West and Central divisions also will be on the line.

Tonight's game will have bearings on the chances of the Redskins, Dallas Cowboys and New York Giants for NFC berths.

The other three NFC playoff contenders would like to see the Rams lose and are hoping the 49ers compete as they did on Oct. 28 at Anaheim.

Joe Montana, the NFC's top-ranked quarterback, threw for 365 yards and three touchdowns as the 49ers ran over the Rams 33-0 on Oct. 28. He also had three TD passes last weekend, playing only one half of a 51-7 mismatch with the Minnesota Vikings.

Tonight is Montana's final tuneup opportunity before the 49ers' playoff opener on Dec. 29 or 30, and Walsh says, "If the game is in doubt, we're going to stay with Joe to win the game."

While the 49ers have a record-breaking goal, that pressure is now behind Rams running back Eric Dickerson.

Dickerson got his record breaking out of the way ahead of schedule, rushing for 215 yards against the Houston Oilers last Sunday to make his season total 2,007, four yards over O.J. Simpson's record established in 1973.

The Giants have possibly the greatest stake in the Rams-49er game. If the Rams win, the Giants will make the playoffs as a wild-card team providing they can beat New Orleans on Saturday.

If the Rams lose to the 49ers, then the Giants' game doesn't matter. Then, their eventual fate would depend on the Washington-St. Louis game which will decide the NFC East championship and the Dallas-Miami game Monday night. The only way the Giants could then make the playoffs is for Washington to beat St. Louis and for Miami to beat Dallas.

Altogether, there are five teams still in line for three remaining playoff berths in the NFC — the Rams, Giants, Washington, St. Louis and Dallas. If Washington beats St. Louis, the Redskins will win the NFC East outright, and the Cardinals will be knocked out of the playoff picture.

If the Cardinals win, they will be the division champion, but Washington still could be in the running for a wild-card berth.

So far, San Francisco and Chicago have qualified in the NFC with division titles — the Bears as champions in the Central.

In the AFC, four teams have already qualified for the playoffs — Miami as champion of the East Division and Seattle, Denver and the Los Angeles Raiders as wild-cards, all from the West Division. Seattle and Denver will decide the championship of the West in their game Saturday.

The only other AFC race up for grabs is the Central between Pittsburgh and Cincinnati, which will be decided Sunday when the Bengals host Buffalo and the Steelers play at the Raiders. Pittsburgh leads Cincinnati by one game and can wrap up the title with a victory, no matter what the Bengals do.

Frank Kush 'rehired' in Arizona

By WALTER BERRY AP Sports Writer

TEMPE, Ariz. (AP) — When former Arizona State University football Coach Frank Kush headed to the pro ranks four years ago, he says he made sure to keep his house here because "I know I'll go back one way or the other — probably the other."

Thursday night, Kush returned as new coach of the United States Football League's Arizona Outlaws after

SUTCLIFFE

As the Cubs maintained their silence, each of the other clubs that had made a final offer to Sutcliffe bowed out of the derby.

"I would think that probably the loyalty factor and the fact he was familiar with Chicago ... were probably the biggest reasons," said Padres president Ballard Smith.

Although exact details of the Cubs' money offer to Sutcliffe were not known, Axelrod has said Sutcliffe would become one of the highest-paid pitchers in the game. When Bruce Sutter signed with Atlanta last week, he received a six-year contract worth $10.1 million.

resigning his head coaching job of the National Football League's Indianapolis Colts earlier in the day.

"I knew someday I'd come back here," Kush told reporters at Phoenix's Sky Harbor International Airport. "I spent so many years here and have so many ties. My wife and I planned to retire here. We just came back a little sooner than expected."

Kush, 55, has accepted a five-year contract with the Outlaws for a reported $250,000 per season, with about $700,000 of it guaranteed.

He was scheduled to be reintroduced to the Arizona media at a news conference this morning at a Phoenix hotel.

However, few people here have forgotten Kush since he was ousted as Arizona State's coach on Oct. 13, 1979, in the wake of controversy.

Kevin Rutledge, a former Sun Devil punter, filed a $2.2 million civil suit against Kush in August 1979, claiming Kush had punched him in the mouth after a 27-yard punt in a 41-7 loss to Washington on Oct. 28, 1978, in Seattle. It was one of the worst losses in Kush's 22-year coaching career at Arizona State, where he compiled a 176-54-1 record with victories in six of seven bowl game appearances.

First United Methodist Church

One of the highlights of the pre-Christmas season in First United Methodist Church, the Service of Carols and Candles will be conducted Sunday evening, beginning at 7 p.m. with the public invited.

The annual hour of music and candlelight will feature familiar carols and hymns of Christmas, as well as newer songs. Children's, youth and adult choirs will all have a part, also the youth and ladies' handbell choirs, directed by John Avery.

The congregation will join in favorite songs. A live Nativity scene will be presented as a part of the service, rather than on the church lawn as in several years past.

After the service the congregation will go to the church fellowship hall for an informal program that will include decoration of a Christmas tree. Each family is asked to bring one tree ornament and also a plate of cookies for refreshments.

Christmas Sunday (Dec. 16) at the church with the public invited. The following is a schedule of events:

9:30 a.m. - "The Super Gift From Heaven," a musical will be performed by the Kingdom Kids, the younger children choir.

10 a.m. - The older children's choir, "All God's Children," will be performing a Christmas musical, "The Late, Great Potentate."

11 a.m. - A special Christmas worship service is planned with music by Melanie Davis and Susie Merrick. The pastor will speak on "Emmanuel."

2 p.m. - 5 p.m. Families are invited to a come and go open house at the parsonage, 233 Cherokee.

6 p.m. - The adult choir will perform "Noel, Jesus is Born" and a candlelight service will also be held at that time.

Also, a family Communion will be held from 4 to 7:30 p.m. Sunday, Dec. 23. There will be an assignment sheet in the foyer to sign up family's names.

This is one of a series of special celebrations of the Advent season in First UMC. The Sanctuary Choir sang a cantata, "Immanuel" last Sunday and various groups are having Christmas parties and dinners during the weeks before Dec. 25.

Christmas Communion will be observed at 7 p.m. Christmas Eve. Dr. Weldon Butler, pastor, will conduct that service.

CHURCH OF THE NAZARENE

Special activities are planned for

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH

A ski trip to Purgatory, Colo., is being planned. Youth interested in going must sign up Sunday. The deposit of $75 is due at the time reservations are made and the remaining $125 is due Jan. 6.

A reception honoring Lola Jewell, who is celebrating her 80th birthday, will be held Sunday in Kinsey Parlor of the church.

Pioneer Club members have holiday luncheon, program

Members of Pioneer Study Club met recently at the Hereford Country Club for a luncheon and Christmas program with Mrs. Ted Panceria serving as hostess.

Lunch was served from a Christmas table decorated with holiday figurines which were used as place favors.

Mrs. Delmar gave the invocation and Mrs. Ray Johnson introduced the programs beginning with Mrs. Jim Clark reviewing the book, "The Best of Peter Marshall."

She quoted from several of his sermons including, "In a world that seems not only to be changing but even to be dissolving, there are some tens of millions of us who want Christmas to be the same.

"We will not 'spend' Christmas nor 'observe' Christmas, we will 'keep' keep it as it is in all the loveliness of ancient tradition. May we keep it in our hearts, that we may be kept in its hope."

Eunice Petersen, social chairman, conducted a time of games and Gladys Miller, president, presided over the business meeting.

The 'remember others' reports were received and Beatrice Hutson reported that the group sent a check to the Veterans Administration Hospital. Also, Mabel Heard announced that each member had contributed for Christmas gifts to be given to Berger Girlstown.

Goochie Ball, family chairman, reported that members had furnished food and money for a turkey dinner to a needy widow.

The next meeting was scheduled Jan. 8 at Something Special.

Members present included Goochie Ball, Helen Bishop, Leatrus Clark, Fern Ford, Mabel Heard, Bessie Hill, Beatrice Hutson, Billie Johnson, Etoile Manning, Gladys Miller, Mary Panceria, Eunice Petersen, Fern Sigle and Wilhelmina Wimberly.

Deadline Saturday for nominations

The Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce office will accept nominations for the Women's Division "Woman of the Year" through Saturday. The coveted award will be given to the recipient during the January quarterly meeting of the Women's Division.

The only requirement is the woman must have been active in the Women's Division this year. Individuals are asked to submit a list of accomplishments and participation in civic activities for the nominee. However, if persons do not have a complete list of the nominee's involvement, they are encouraged to go ahead and turn her name in and the committee will further research the person.

IF YOU ARE BETWEEN THE AGES OF 55-65 and are not in a Bible study class, we invite you to join us for Bible study at First Baptist Church each Sunday at 9:45 a.m.

University 'not Christian' says students

WACO, Texas (AP) — Two Baylor University students claim their school is no longer Christian because the student union shows R-rated movies and some faculty members aren't born-again Baptists. In a strongly worded "Student Manifesto," ministerial students Ray Smith and John B. Rollins warn that if things don't shape up, Baylor could be hit by the "wrath of God." The two claim to represent 25 other Baylor students. They are demanding that the university's faculty members be required to have proof that they are born-again Baptists or else be fired.

Baylor president Herbert Reynolds balked at the students contentions, saying some of the manifesto's allegations are inaccurate.

Reynolds also claimed the students were "being used" by two fundamentalist members of the Southern Baptist Convention, the Rev. Paige Patterson of Dallas and Houston state appeals court judge Paul Pressler.

Pressler, a state civil appeals court judge and a member of the Southern Baptist Convention's executive committee, called Reynolds' statement "outlandish."

Patterson, president of the Criswell Center for Biblical Studies, also said he was not involved in the student's manifesto.

Final Performance

The Four Dog Night, alias, Sons of Beach Boys, etc., made their last official appearance as a singing group Thursday evening at the Kiwanis Club Christmas party held at the Community

Governor says new tax unlikely

AUSTIN (AP) — Gov. Mark White, voicing his belief that the Legislature won't approve any new taxes next year, says the budget he will recommend to lawmakers in January will include spending restrictions for most state agencies.

"I do not intend to see any taxes raised," White said Thursday. "Everybody is going to receive some cuts with very, very few exceptions."

The comments came during a wide-ranging news conference that took place while the Legislative Budget Board wrangled with state agency budget requests that exceed revenues the state expects to take in next year.

White said he finds little sentiment among House members — where any tax increase would have to originate — for raising taxes.

With Comptroller Bob Bullock projecting that revenues will fall up to $900 million short of spending requests, the governor was asked whether a tax increase is inevitable. "I don't think so. I don't think so at all," he replied. White said his financial summit meeting with top legislators and other state officials will be held Dec. 20. Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby, House Speaker Gib Lewis, D-Fort Worth, members of the House and Senate finance and appropriations committees and many statewide officials will take part, he said.

Noting the state's severe financial problems as the summit is called, White added, "We're going to open with a prayer."

Among other cuts, legislative budget writers have recommended a 26 percent cut in state aid to colleges and universities, but White didn't criticize them for doing so.

"I don't think they're being irresponsible at all," he said. "I think they're showing the dramatic reduction in revenues that have occurred and I think they're trying to form those priorities as best they can to meet the needs of our state."

White rejected speculation that the move to cut university aid was a bid to have higher education lobbyists lead the fight for a tax hike.

"I can assure you there will be very little success unless they can find somebody in the House of Representatives who wants to introduce a tax bill and produce it out of committee. I don't care how much preaching goes on," he said.

The governor also noted talk about raising state college tuition, saying he opposes it unless provisions are made to guarantee that poor students still can get a college education.

"The whole point there is we should not deprive any child who is qualified for admittance to a university... an opportunity for that educational enhancement," he said. "I will assure you we have to make certain the door is open to every child in this state who is educationally capable of doing the work. I want to make sure that money does not become a barrier to their ability to enhance their education."
