Commission tables motion on forced leave for election

Deaf Smith County Commissioners Monday tabled a motion that would allow county employees the chance to run for office without having to take a leave of absence from their jobs.

Under current regulations, county employees are not allowed to run for an elected office without taking a leave of absence from the time they file for the election, which is in early February.

The general elections are held in November so it would be feasible for a county employee to unemployed for up to nine months awaiting an election.

If the county employee were to lose a primary, they could resume their job.

County Judge Glen Nelson said during the regular meeting of the commission that the employees should not have to leave their job if they are running for elected office other than the one they are employed under, or for an office where the incumbent has chosen not to run.

"I agree 100 percent," said Commissioner James Voyles. "I think there is some discrimination against the county employees who may want to run. I think everybody should have the chance to run and not have to give up their job."

Commissioners said they would look into the situation and discuss it at their Dec. 8 meeting.

In other business the commission elected to approve needed changes to the Bull Barn kitchen.

Beverly Harder told commissioners that the kitchen need certain items in order for the kitchen to meet minimum health standards.

The cost of the project should run around $400, Harder said.

Commissioners also nominated Tom LeGate to serve on the Deaf Smith County Appraisal board, and elected to pay a refund of $30 in taxes to the appraisal board.

Commissioners also elected to advertise for bids for insurance policies that are due to expire in February.

C of C to elect officers Dec. 10

Directors of Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce will elect officers for 1987 at a special meeting set for 5 p.m. on Dec. 10, it was announced Monday by President Bill Harris.

In a regular monthly meeting Monday afternoon, directors heard reports on the membership drive, a retail business committee promotion for Christmas, and the recent Christmas Carousel sponsored by the Women's Division.

Mike Carr, executive vice president, reported that 42 new chamber members were signed up in the two-day campaign Nov. 13-14. The drive was headed by Carol Sue LeGate and Roger Eades. Tom LeGate signed up the most members.

Lanette Leasure, president of the Women's Division, reported the group's Christmas Carousel was "a big success" with approximately 170 attending a brunch and style show included in the event. The retail business committee is sponsoring a "Best Christmas Ever" sales promotion for the holiday shopping season, and Carr reported that store participation has been "great."

Carr also reported on the progress of the Texcel program in which the chamber is involved. He and Bud Eades attended a workshop in Austin last week to learn more about how the project will be used in Hereford.

Newly-elected directors David Emerick and Larry Malamen were introduced at the meeting. Other new directors for 1987 will be Carol Sue LeGate and Ike Stevens. Carr said directors will hold an installation dinner and retreat in January. The annual chamber banquet has been scheduled for Feb. 12.

Directors present at the meeting were Harris, Mike Bowles, Rex Easterwood, Fred Rivera, John Hays, B.J. Gilliland, Lajean Henry and Lanette Leasure.

Advance playoff tickets on sale

Tickets for Hereford's regional football playoff game against Cleburne, scheduled for 7:30 p.m. Saturday in Abilene, are now on sale at Troy's Sweet Shop.

Advance tickets are priced at $5 for adults and $2 for students. All tickets at the gate Saturday night will be $6 each. Tickets will remain on sale at Troy's until 4 p.m. Friday. Troy's will be closed, Thursday, Thanksgiving Day.

The game will be played at Shotwell Stadium in Abilene. Abilene is approximately 265 miles from Hereford. The stadium is located on the east side of Abilene, just off I-20. A map is printed in today's paper, Page 9, to aid fans in finding the stadium. Hereford won the designation of "home" team and will be seated on the west side of the stadium.

At the meeting with Cleburne officials late Saturday night, several alternatives were discussed before Abilene was agreed upon as the site of the game. The two schools considered a coin flip for Jones Stadium or TCU Stadium, as well as neutral sites of Sweetwater and Vernon. The game could not be played in Abilene Saturday afternoon, as a game between Crane and Lampasas (3A) had already been booked for 2 p.m. at the stadium.

Accountants can help analyze whether credit is in 'danger zone'

By DEBE GRAVES
Feature Writer

As Christmas approaches some lending institutions mail out brochures offering loans to cover the heavy spending of the holiday season. Department stores and credit card companies encourage spending with "deferred payment" or "delayed billing" incentives. Participating in these plans is fine if you have the income to cover the expenditures when the bills begin pouring in.

Donna West, a CPA with Brown, Graham and Company, P.C., cautions, "Though some people manage their money wisely, many are living day-to-day in credit danger zones."

A quick evaluation of your credit health is offered by Consumer Credit Counseling of Houston. Add together all of your monthly installment payment excluding mortgage or rent. Divide the total of installments by amount of take home pay. The result is your debt to income ratio.

West advises, "If your ratio is 15 percent or less you are in a healthy credit to debt relationship. The focus of your money management efforts should be to improve your financial situation by creating a cushion of savings to cover unusual expenditures such as Christmas shopping or to provide for emergencies and retirement needs."

For those in the 15 percent bracket who find saving money difficult there are several suggestions to encourage savings.

Giving up one cola a day for one year, a savings of fifty cents a day, equals an annual savings of $182.50.

By "brown bagging" lunch instead of eating out each day an individual saves an average of $3 a day; this is an annual savings of $1,000.

Use a payroll deduction plan for savings or write a check to your savings account as if it were a monthly bill. This removes the temptation to spend the money on non-essential items.

West mentions, "A person with an income of $150 a week can save $336 a year by paying 1 percent of each check the first month, 2 percent the second month and so on until they reach a level of 10 percent savings each month."

Most readers will find their debt to income ratio is higher than 15 percent. For those in the 15 to 20 percent bracket, West cautions, "Be careful. You really need to look at where you are spending your money."

Steps for people in this bracket include a listing of debts followed by a close scrutiny of "needs" vs "wants."

Take the time to analyze your debt load and separate fixed expenses such as food, shelter and clothing as opposed to variable expenses such as entertainment.

"The first priority in this case is to put away the credit cards and not extend any other consumer debt."

She suggests, "Make sure all monthly payments are made and get the debt load down to a workable level."

So as a rule, it is considered wise to reduce the debt ratio to below 15 percent before saving money for the future.

"There are a number of reasons for paying off some of the debt load before beginning to save," explains West, "The primary reason is that as of January 1987, you will no longer be able to use credit interest as a tax deduction as has been allowed in the past." West is referring to new tax laws which provide a five year plan to reduce the deductions for con-

Mrs. Richard Williams identifies puzzle face

Mrs. Richard Williams, 715 N. Cherokee, was last week's winner in the Brand's Photo Puzzle Contest as she correctly identified the mystery guest as Coach Don Cumpton and submitted a completed puzzle.

The Brand received 82 entries on last week's puzzle contest, and all of them correctly identified Coach Cumpton. Puzzle pieces start in The Sunday Brand and continue through Friday, with one or more published each issue.

The idea is to clip the pieces, paste them on a sheet of paper in correct order, and send the completed puzzle along with an entry form from Friday's Brand. All the correct entries will be put in a box and a winner drawn for the $25 in Hereford Bucks.

The winner is announced each week in the Tuesday Brand. The contest will continue through Dec. 19. A hint on this week's puzzle: the mystery guest is not a Hereford resident.

Teacher group claims discrimination

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — The National Council of Teachers of English Monday condemned states' attempts to establish English as the official language, saying such efforts could be discriminatory. During its national convention in San Antonio, the council passed a resolution stating, in part, that the organization condemns "any attempts to render invisible the native languages of any Americans or to deprive English of the rich influences of the languages and cultures of any of the peoples of America."

Backers of the resolution said the removal of native languages of many Americans from official documents could discriminate against minority groups.

President-elect of the council, Nancy McHugh, who has taught English in the Los Angeles area for 30 years, said the printing of ballots in English only would be the primary effect of the declaration of English as the official language in a state. Translation in the courts and other areas should not be changed, she said.

UT inquires drinking-related death

AUSTIN (AP) — University of Texas officials have met with about a half dozen students to discuss possible disciplinary action in connection with the drinking death of a fraternity pledge.

The students were summoned by letter to meet with the dean of students after an extensive university investigation into the death of Mark Seeberger, 18, of Dallas.

Seeberger was found dead in his off-campus dormitory room Sept. 18. An autopsy showed that he died of alcohol poisoning.

Authorities have said Seeberger died following a fraternity "ride," in which he and two other Phi Kappa Psi pledges allegedly were handcuffed and forced to drink.

University officials have not released the identity of the students facing disciplinary measures. Action against them could range from reprimands to expulsion, officials have said.

UT spokeswoman Joyce Pole said federal privacy laws prevented the school from disclosing any information about Monday's disciplinary proceedings. The Travis County grand jury also has been investigating Seeberger's death.

Drug patrols take to the air

CORPUS CHRISTI, Texas (AP) — Two sophisticated Navy radar aircraft have been assigned to the Corpus Christi Naval Air Station and will begin regular anti-drug patrols of the Texas-Mexico border early next year, Sen. Phil Gramm's office announced.

Gramm, R-Texas, said President Reagan's cabinet agreed recently to assign the aircraft to Texas although the planes originally were to be based on the East Coast.

The EC2 Hawkeye aircraft will be operated by the U.S. Customs Service. The aircraft carry a crew of four and fly long-range patrol missions.

They are capable of spotting and tracking small, low-flying aircraft preferred by smugglers to move drug shipments across the border to isolated landing strips in Texas.

Collapse motivates OPEC nations

HOUSTON (AP) — The oil price collapse will cause members of the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries to earn up to $50 billion less in 1986 than in 1985, according to a recently released world oil study.

The loss, however, is helping to motivate the OPEC nations meeting next month in Geneva to push prices up to $18 a barrel, instead of the $15 it has been averaging, officials said.

Oil prices in the next six to 12 months probably will experience $2-$4 swings around the $15 range, according to World Oil Trends, a report released Monday by Arthur Andersen & Co. and Cambridge Energy Research Associates.

The study said that even if key OPEC members were to retreat from their year-old "market share" strategy, establishing criteria and a durable system for production management would still be a difficult task.

"In short, there's no obvious recipe for stability" in the oil industry, Daniel Yergin, president of Cambridge Energy, said from Washington. The price risks will continue to impact the industry along with the more familiar geological and political risks, he said.

Richard Adkerson, managing director of Arthur Andersen's Oil and Gas Industry Services Program, said companies in the industry will continue to analyze costs to help cope with the unpredictable conditions.

National Silver Eagle coins sell

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. Mint now has a silver rush to go along with the gold fever it stirred up over the past month.

The Mint put its new American Eagle silver dollar on sale for the first time Monday and promptly sold out the initial offering of 1.4 million coins.

The silver dollars, just like the American Eagle gold coins, are not being offered directly to the public but instead are purchased by authorized bulk dealers who then resell the coins to a network of coin shops, banks and other retail establishments.

The first silver dollars are expected to be available for public purchase by Friday. With an expected retail price of between $6.50 and $8.50, dealers are counting on them being a big hit with consumers.

Both the Eagle gold coins and the silver coins are bullion coins, which means they are sold for the market price of their bullion content. The gold coins, the first general-circulation U.S. gold coins minted in a half-century, have been extremely popular even though gold is selling for about $380 an ounce. Silver sells for a little more than $5 an ounce.

With the supplies of the silver dollars depleted, Mint officials say it may be another two weeks before they are able to offer more silver coins for sale. The San Francisco Mint, where most of the coins are produced is turning out 150,000 silver dollars a day, and another production line has been established at the Denver Mint.

Nearly 1,000 skiers stranded

GLACIER, Wash. (AP) — Some scrambled across logs and others paid for helicopter rides out, but nearly 1,000 stranded skiers eyed forecasts for more rain today and waited for liberation from this town cut off by flooding.

The National Weather Service said that rain would continue across the Pacific Northwest, and flood warnings were in effect for seven major rivers west of the Cascade Mountains.

Melting snow and several days of rain have left highways and rail lines in western Washington impassable and forced families from their homes. Officials in King, Lewis and Snohomish counties declared states of emergency.

Workers used heavy equipment Monday to clear a small mountain of debris blocking the Mount Baker Highway, a section of which was washed out Sunday by the swollen Nooksack River near Glacier.

The road was expected to reopen today, said Jan Leonardo, director of the Whatcom County Department of Emergency Services.

sumer debt interest. The reduction table for the new tax law is 65 percent allowable for 1987, 40 percent allowable for 1988, 20 percent allowable for 1989 and 10 percent allowable in 1990. In 1991 it is projected that the only deductible interest for consumer debt will be that of mortgage interest.

West says, "The number one financial goal should be to get rid of consumer debt as there is no longer a tax reason for it." According to West, for those in the 15-20 percent debt ratio the best advice is, "Put yourself on a cash basis. If you can't afford to buy it - don't."

The danger zone for consumers is considered to be a ratio over 20 percent. It is recommended that consumers in this range fill out a complicated scheduled analyzing when bills are due as opposed to the amount and time the monthly income arrives. "If necessary," West reminds, "You may want to contact your creditors and make arrangements to change the due date of bills to a time of the month that you can manage the payment."

A sudden illness or the loss of job may make it impossible for you to pay your bills on time. If the payment of debts cannot be met you may be tempted to turn to a company that offers assistance in solving debt problems. Associated Credit Bureaus, Inc. suggests that consumers check with the Better Business Bureau before entering a contract with "Credit Solution" companies.

In the Panhandle area, a good alternative to consumer credit agencies is a consultation with a C.P.A. West assures, "A reputable CPA with credit counseling experience can assist with complex budgeting and save the debtor the expense of traveling to Dallas, Houston or Albuquerque where Consumer Credit Counseling Service has offices." CCCS is a non-profit counseling service with more than 200 offices nationwide. The services of CCCS counselors are offered at little or no charge.

West explains, "If you schedule an appointment to see a professional bring the information needed to your initial appointment and ask the accountant what the fee will be. After looking at the information provided they should be able to give you a reasonably close estimate of cost."

Most accountants charge a minimal fee for the initial consultation. The fee for services should be less if you provide all of the needed information. "Be sure and provide all paycheck stubs for one month along with house or rent payment, utility bills, installment payment books and recent charge account statements," advises West. The professional will also want to see all medical bills, insurance premium statements and check stubs for groceries and car costs.

The professional should be able to help you assess financial decisions and alter spending habits according to individual needs based on age, health, income and debt ratio.

Bankruptcy becomes a consideration if, after you have done all that the professional has recommended, you still cannot meet the monthly payments of debt or if your creditors choose not to cooperate in rearranging payments.

See Wednesday's edition of The Brand for an interview with attorney, Ed Line, discussing the option of bankruptcy.

Three Hereford men voted to TCFA board

Three Hereford men were elected to serve on the Texas Cattle Feeders Association board of directors during the TCFA annual convention last week in Houston.

Bob Sims was voted in for a one-year term and past presidents Mike Bowles and Bob Josseland round out the board.

Bowles kicked off the convention with an address to more than 850 cattle feeders attending.

"If we don't actively plan for the future—a future of change—we'll be plain catchup ball," Bowles said. "And if we're playing catchup ball in an environment of rapid change, we won't even be in the ballgame."

"This has been a year of many changes and positive developments for cattlemen—many of which we can be proud of," Bowles said. Among them are the fact the market overcame annoying government disruption and returned to profitable levels.

Also, he said consumer perceptions of beef, after steadily declining for years, have begun to stabilize. "We're beginning to see headlines in big city newspapers like 'Beef Makes a Comeback.' And that's great news."

But, he said, not all of the developments this year have been positive. "The dairy termination program, for instance."

Many cattlemen have wondered how the dairy program happened. "In 1985, the average contribution to dairy PACs were $10 per dairyman," Bowles said. "The average contribution by beef cattlemen to beef PACs was 7 cents. That's how the beef industry let it happen."

Bowles used the dairy program to point out several changes he thinks are needed in the beef industry. "The first change needed is stepped-up legislative activity," he said. Cattlemen have long maintained that theirs is one of the sectors of agriculture which still operates with minimal government interference. "And that's the way we want it."

But, he said, some sectors of agriculture, principally grain and dairy producers, operate with significant government subsidies. "And what the government does for them affects us. So that puts us squarely in the middle of the debate over farm programs—a change we must make."

A second change Bowles feels is necessary is increased sophistication in marketing. "This hasn't changed in 20 years, since we started direct marketing out of feedyards."

So last year, the TCFA Market Committee began studying the concept of group marketing. "With the diminishing numbers of packers and concentration of buying power, they saw the need for more selling power," Bowles said.

After the Market Committee launched the idea, TCFA appointed a Steering Committee to study the feasibility of group marketing. "Their recommendations to interested feeders—and it'll be strictly a volunteer program—should be released in a few weeks."

A third major change for the industry is the $1-per-head checkoff. This program, he said, will finally allow the industry to take the offensive in the struggle to win back the hearts and the stomachs of the American consumer.

The fourth change Bowles would like to see is more industry-wide unity—not just in the effort to promote its product, but in all aspects of industry affairs.

"This can be done only through a coalition of the various associations that represent cattlemen," he said. "However, I'm concerned we aren't forming this coalition fast enough."

The reason, Bowles said, is that the National Cattlemen's Association isn't growing fast enough or strong enough to be prepared for the future. "That's because NCA is on shaky financial ground, brought on by unequal participation from this nation's cattlemen."

To achieve the goal of industry unity, he said, it's essential NCA get equal support from all of its affiliates. "TCFA has been a leading supporter of NCA and we must continue working to make NCA stronger."

The new president of the Texas Cattle Feeders Association is Zay Gilbreath of Gruver. Gilbreath is general manager of Caprock Industries, a cattle feeding subsidiary of Cargill, Inc. President elect is Clark Willingham of Dallas. Willingham is involved with Hitch Enterprises in Guyton, Okla. and is a tax attorney. Vice president is Wes Bonner, DVM, of Veribest. Bonner is general manager of Veribest Cattle Feeders, Inc., a commercial cattle feedyard.

TCFA directors elected to three year terms are Wes Bonner; Richard Brown of Wheeler; Jack Butt of Clayton, N.M.; Howard Diedrichsen of Dumas; Paul Engler of Dumas; Dennis Farley of Friona; Dick Geries of Uvalde; Dennis Hill of Hart; Walter E. Lasley of Stratford; and Robert Musselman of Morton.

TCFA directors elected to two year terms on the Board are Anne Anderson of Austin; David Bechtel, DVM of Canyon; John Benedict of Boerne; Randy Brown of Gruver; Dick Chumley of Dalhart; Randall "Cuppy" Graham of Roscoe; Leon Grissom of Bovina; Joe Hathoot of Canadian; Don McCasland of Clovis, N.M.; and W.J. "Dub" Waldrip of Lubbock.

Other directors elected to a one-year term on the Board are Eldon Dudley of Perryton; Zay Gilbreath; Bill Gillenwaters of Texhoma, Okla.; Ralph Hesse of Uvalde; Jim Kassahn of Lubbock; Les McNeill of Panhandle; Jay O'Brien of Amarillo; Ray Sneed of Dalhart; and Clark Willingham.

The Texas Cattle Feeders Association represents commercial cattle feedyards and their customers in Texas, Oklahoma and New Mexico. Last year, this region produced 6 million fed cattle, 23 percent of all the fed cattle produced in the nation.

Ann Landers Stay out of water

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I enjoy talking on the phone while in the tub, but my husband says I am going to electrocute myself someday if I should drop the phone in the water. I simply can't believe the phone company would install phones by bathtubs if this was a possibility.

Please check with your authorities and give me the facts. I will pull the plug immediately if you say my husband is right.—SOAKING IN SALEM, ILL.

DEAR SOAKING: Dick Hill from Illinois Bell Corporate Communications recommends staying out of the water when using a telephone, although he says the danger of electrocution is remote.

Unlike appliances such as hair dryers, the amount of electricity on a telephone line is too low to create a serious hazard near water. However, Hill cautioned that unusual occurrences such as a nearby lightning strike or a power line falling on a telephone wire may send an electrical surge strong enough to get past protective devices installed by telephone companies.

It may appear glamorous when a movie star uses a phone in a bubble bath, but it is not a prudent thing to do.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Real men don't cry! Real men don't hug other men! Real men don't say "I love you" to other men! I am ashamed to admit that all my life I have tried to behave in such a stereotypically masculine manner.

My father and I always got along well. In recent years I tried to do more things for him and with him. We had a truly loving relationship. But the constraints of manliness that he established by verbalizing these taboos prevented me from showing any affection for him.

On a recent Wednesday, Dad asked his doctor to admit him to a hospital for treatment of a high fever, the origin of which could not be determined. By Friday he was so weak he could not stand without support. By Saturday he was moved to the intensive care unit in critical condition.

As he lay semi-conscious and not expected to live, I was fervently praying for a healing miracle. It suddenly hit me that I had never in my life told my father that I loved him. I had not hugged him since I was a child. There were so many things he wanted to teach me that I had never made an effort to learn. (From age 17 to 25, I thought I knew more than he did.)

I begged God for another chance to tell my Dad I loved him. I wanted desperately to hug him but the taboo was too deeply ingrained and I couldn't bring myself to do it.

I have a bit of advice for sons of all ages. If your father is living, hug him and tell him you love him the next time you see him. It doesn't matter where it is or who is around. You might not get another chance. I didn't.—PRISONER OF "MANLINESS" IN MERIDIAN, MISS.

DEAR PRISONER: Thanks for a provocative letter.

In this age of Rambo fever and macho madness, it is good to be reminded that real men can and should show tenderness and affection. It's all right to cry. It's perfectly OK to embrace a father, or a brother, a son or a male friend. Men who are sure of their masculinity do so without hesitation.

The display of affection between men is heartwarming to witness. Men in other countries do it much better than we do. I hope the men reading this will take your advice.

Don't get burned by a "line" that's too hot to handle. Play it cool with Ann Landers' guide to "Necking and Petting - What Are the Limits?" Send your request to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 11995, Chicago, Ill. 60611, enclosing 50 cents and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Whitefaces advance in state 4A playoffs

By GARY CHRISTENSEN
Sports Editor

A fourth quarter, three-touchdown rally turned a dismal looking game into an exciting bi-district victory for the Hereford Whitefaces Saturday night at Jones Stadium in Lubbock.

The Herd, playing its first high school football playoff game since 1983, overcame several obstacles, including some critical turnovers, to rally from a 17-7 deficit and beat the Big Spring Steers 26-17.

Hereford advances to play Cleburne Saturday in the Region I playoffs. The game is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. Saturday at Shotwell Stadium in Abilene.

Big Spring was able to put only 10 points on the scoreboard after recovering four Hereford fumbles in the game. Two of the fumbles occurred within the Hereford 10-yard line, and one was recovered at the Herd 22.

"The Battle of the Cattle" was Big Spring's game for three quarters, as the Steers built a 17-7 lead. But the fourth quarter was an entirely different ball game.

The Hereford Whiteface offense came alive. After beginning a possession at their own 26-yard line, the Whitefaces drove for a touchdown in eight plays.

The first big play of the drive was a 15-yard pass from quarterback Todd Shire to Vincent Brown, giving Hereford a first down at its 47.

Two passes fell incomplete, but Shire then found the two receivers he has completed the most passes to this season. Chris Johnson, second on the team in receiving, caught a pass for a 35-yard gain to the Big Spring 18-yard line.

In the next play, Shire found Bobby Baker in the end zone for an 18-yard touchdown pass with 10:57 left in the game. A pass attempt for two points failed, and Hereford trailed Big Spring 17-13.

Big Spring ended up deep in its own territory when Hereford kicked off. There was a four-yard loss in the return, and a 10-yard penalty for blocking below the waist put the Steers at their 12-yard line.

The Steers could get only 20 yards in total gains against the Herd defense and were forced to punt.

In Hereford's next possession, the Whitefaces nearly suffered from interference "no-calls."

Shire was sacked for a five-yard loss in the first down play. A Herd receiver appeared to have been bumped into before the ball got to him in the second down play, but Shire completed a 14-yard pass to Baker in the third down play.

Baker's reception left the Whitefaces with a fourth-and-inches. Hereford went for the first down, and an offsides penalty was called against Big Spring — resulting in a first down close to the midfield line.

Three straight passes fell incomplete, including one in the third down play when a receiver again appeared to have been interfered with. Hereford was forced to punt, and Big Spring gained possession of the ball at the Steers' 14-yard line.

Big Spring's Phillip Matthews lost his grip on the football in the first down play, and Hereford defensive tackle Lee Young fell on the loose ball at the Steers' 15-yard line.

Hereford needed just one play to capitalize on the turnover, with Vincent Brown rushing in for the touchdown with 6:36 left in the game. That put Hereford into the lead 19-17, and Tim Long's PAT made it 20-17.

Now came the big test for the Whiteface defense, to try and stop the Steers and get the ball back, to either run out the clock or score some cushion points.

Mark Artho carried the ball three straight times for Hereford, first getting a 17-yard gain and then being stopped for a four-yard loss. But in his third carry of this Herd possession, Artho raced 54 yards before being knocked out of bounds at the Big Spring two-yard line.

A quarterback keeper was called two straight plays, but Shire could not get the ball into the end zone. An illegal procedure penalty against Hereford put the ball back to the six-yard line.

But the common Shire-to-Baker passing game was a success, with Baker pulling in the pass with 1:24 for a 26-17 Whiteface lead. The extra-point kick by Long hit the right goal post, and the lead stayed at 26-17.

Hereford stretched out its defense in the losing seconds of the game to prevent any big plays by the Steers. Big Spring managed to move from its own 40 to the Hereford 26, but time ran out and the Steers had to say goodbye to football for 1986. Hereford Coach Don Cumpston said, "We were obviously concerned about being behind by 10 points going into the fourth quarter."

"But we felt we could play a more wide open game in the fourth quarter. When you throw the ball like we do, you have a chance to make big plays."

And big plays the Whitefaces did make, both on offense and on defense — something Big Spring could not do in the first three quarters.

"They had some turnovers they didn't take advantage of, but we took advantage of turnovers."

"Our defense played by far their best game of the season. They were swarming around the ball," Cumpston said.

"I was extremely proud of all our kids. I don't think they ever lost confidence that we could win the ball game."

"Big Spring is a good football team. We knew going into the game that they were a big, strong football team, and that we needed to make some big plays — and we did that," Cumpston adds.

About Hereford's turnovers, he states, "The first time they got a field goal. We stopped them then, holding them to a field goal. We turned it over three more times and they scored only once."

Hereford lost a fumble at the Whiteface 44-yard line early in the game. Big Spring's John Olson kicked a 22-yard field goal with 8:42 left in the first quarter.

Neither team could get a first down in its next possession. But midway through the quarter, Hereford began a possession at its own 23.

Bobby Baker caught a pass tipped by a defender for a 31-yard gain and into Steer territory.

Plays that helped set up a touchdown were a 13-yard run by Marcus Brown, and pass completions of 17 and nine yards from Shire to Johnson.

The second of Johnson's receptions put the ball at the Steer six-yard line. Shire gained three yards to the three-yard line, and then Vincent Brown carried the rest of the way to give Hereford a 7-3 lead with 2:01 left in the first quarter.

The Hereford defense kept Big Spring to just small gains, and Kyle Streun sacked the Steer quarterback with a seven-yard loss in a third down play starting at the Steer 34.

John Olson of Big Spring kicked the longest punt recorded against the Whitefaces this season — 71 yards, with the punt going out of bounds at the HHS two-yard line.

Hereford was unable to get a first down from that location and punted. Big Spring began from the Hereford 41 and needed just four plays to regain the lead.

Decker completed a pass to Matthews for a 28-yard scoring play with 8:35 left. Olson's extra-point kick made Big Spring's lead 10-7.

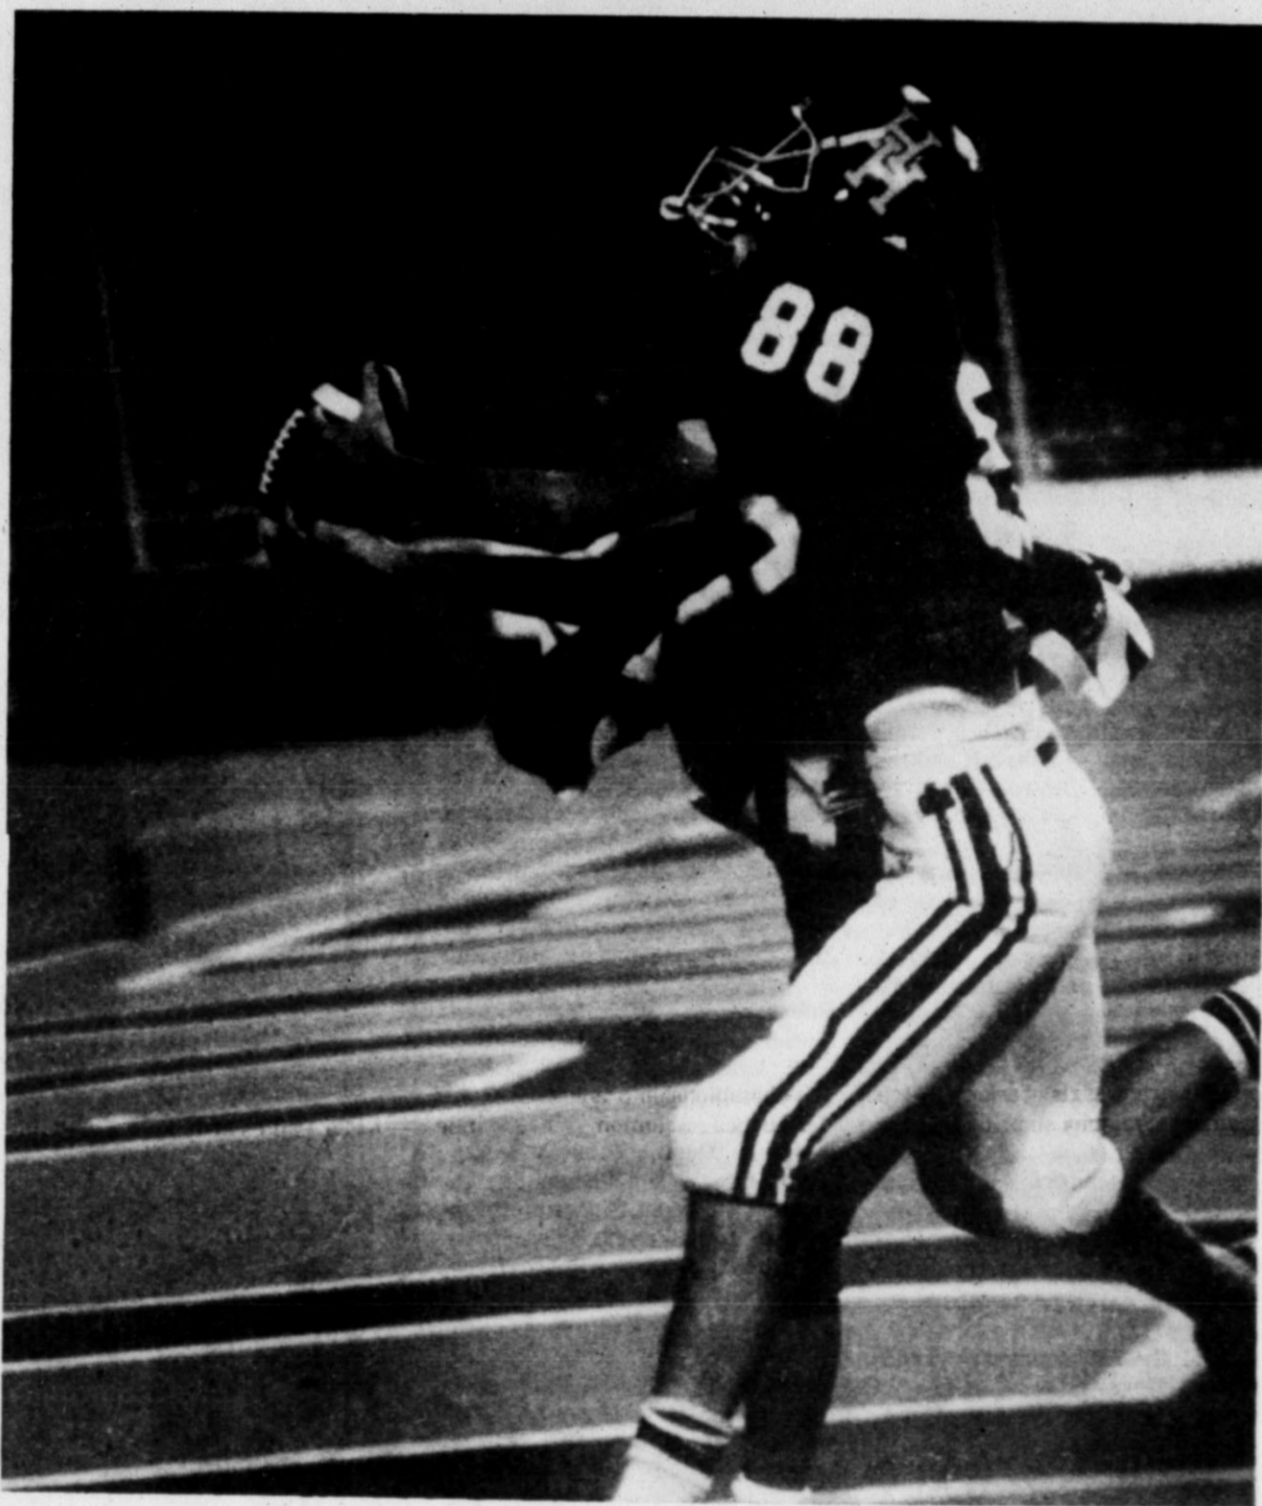

Hereford was unable to get a first down in its next possession, and had to punt. Big Spring began at the Hereford 41, and used four plays to get a touchdown.

Quarterback Paul Decker completed a 28-yard touchdown pass to Matthews with 8:35 left in the half. Olson's PAT gave Big Spring a 10-7 lead.

With 54 seconds left in the first half, Hereford lost a fumble when receiving a punt. Big Spring recovered the fumble at the Hereford six-yard line.

But the Whiteface defense rose to the challenge, stopping the Steers at the two-yard line in a fourth down play.

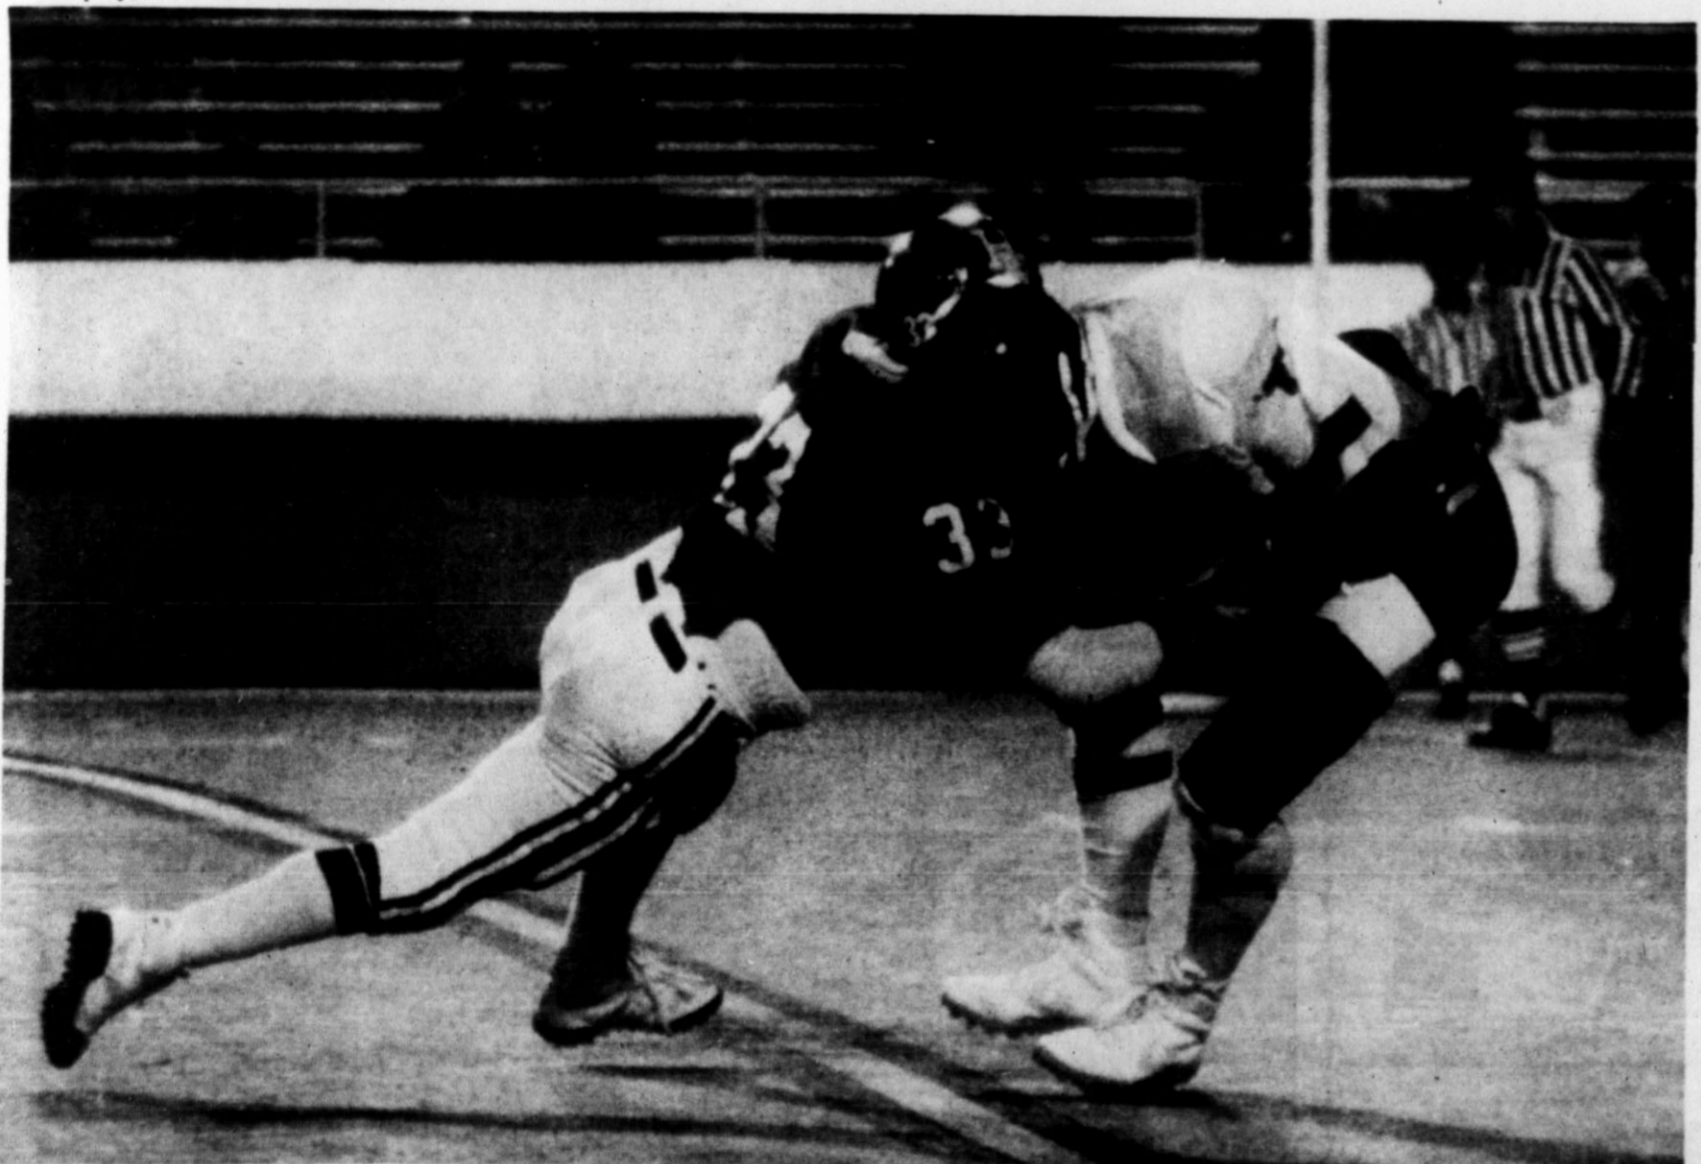

"The biggest series of the game was when we stopped them with 54 seconds left in the half. That was the turning point of the game," Cumpston said.

HHS varsity girls win tourney consolation

Hereford High School's varsity girls' basketball team won the consolation title of the Big Spring tournament on Saturday by defeating Lubbock High 54-35.

Hereford began the tournament last week against Sweetwater, losing 52-45. Hereford then edged Snyder 39-37 in a consolation bracket game.

The two victories in the consolation bracket evened the HHS girls' season record at 2-2.

Tonight Hereford plays host to Dimmitt. Game time is 6 p.m. at the Hereford High School gym.

Susie Kalka and Carmen Brockman combined for 29 points to lead Hereford past Lubbock High, 54-35. Kalka, who was named to the all-tournament team, scored 16 points and also had five rebounds, three steals, and four assists.

Brockman scored 13 points and grabbed six rebounds. Other HHS scorers included Tricia Kahlich with eight points and Katie Ramey with four points.

Hereford led 15-4 at the end of the first period, and also held an 11-point lead at halftime over Lubbock, 28-17.

Amy Coneway led Hereford in steals with five. Coneway also had three assists and three rebounds. Kamille Martin had three rebounds and two assists. Kahlich and Banner each had three steals.

Kalka and Brockman each scored in double figures in the 39-37 win over Snyder. Kalka had 12 points, and Brockman scored 11 points.

Hereford trailed Snyder in the first half — 13-5 at the end of the first quarter and 21-17 at halftime.

After three quarters of play, Snyder held a 29-27 lead. Hereford then outscored Snyder 12-8 in the final quarter to win by two points.

Brockman was high scorer for the Whitefaces with 17 points in the 52-45 loss to Sweetwater. Kahlich and Coneway each scored eight points, and Kalka scored seven points.

Sweetwater held a 24-14 halftime lead.

Hereford Coach Larry Sowers said, "We played probably our best game the first night, and lost. Sweetwater's all-state guard was a big factor against us, but she tore up her knee in their second game."

About the Snyder game, Sowers said, "We played out worst game then, but pulled it out. Then we played well against Lubbock High. I was pretty pleased with what we did in the tournament."

"I had hoped we'd play respectable against Sweetwater, and we played more than respectable. And we won the two games I hoped we would win," Sowers adds.

La Plata 9th grade girls win tournament

A quadruple overtime game decided the championship of the Hereford ninth grade girls' basketball tournament Saturday, with La Plata defeating Berger 60-56.

Canyon placed third by defeating Valley View 41-40, and Dimmitt won the consolation game 34-23 over Dumas. The tournament was played at the La Plata Junior High School gym.

The tournament opened Friday with four first-round games. Valley View beat Stanton 34-18, Berger beat Dimmitt 47-19, Canyon defeated Plainview 54-24, and La Plata defeated Dumas 49-32.

In other Saturday games, La Plata won over Canyon 49-44 and Berger beat Valley View in the semifinal games, and Dimmitt beat Stanton 34-23 and Dumas beat Plainview 44-34 in the consolation bracket.

The championship game between La Plata and Berger was tied 38-38 at the end of regulation time. The first

Each team scored eight points in the third overtime, putting both teams at 54 points going into the fourth overtime. La Plata then outscored Berger 6-2 in the fourth overtime for a 60-56 victory.

La Plata Coach Brenda Reeh said, "The freshmen seemed to improve with each game of the tournament. It's difficult to single out anyone as a dominant figure in the tournament.

"Each player contributed at some very important moments. These young ladies worked very well together."

"We've worked a great deal this year on learning the mental edge over our opponents. In the championship game with four overtimes, these kids proved that they could physically outlast and mentally out think their opponents," Reeh continues.

"They're a very smart bunch of young ladies and certainly deserve a championship," she adds.

Three La Plata players scored in double figures in the championship game victory. Poppy Richardson scored 17 points, Stacy White had 16 points, and Jessica Dearing scored 12 points. Libby Kosub and Jill West each added six points for La Plata.

White led La Plata with 12 points in the first-round, 49-32 win over Dumas. Richardson scored nine points, Cande Robbins seven points, and Kosub and Dearing six points each.

Ruben Vargas is grid contest winner

Ruben Vargas captured first place in the Brand football contest last week, missing just five of the 25 games on the weekly contest page.

Five entrants missed six games, with George Loerwald and Jim Marsh claiming second and third-place, respectively, on the basis of the tiebreaker score. Loerwald guessed a 20-18 Hereford win, and Marsh predicted a 20-15 victory. The Hereford-Big Spring score was 26-17.

Marsh became the final entrant to qualify for the season's Grand Prize contest this week. This is the final week of the contest and 30 entrants will be shooting for the grand prizes of $100, $50 and $15 in Hereford Bucks. All other entrants will be involved in a regular weekly contest with Hereford Bucks awards of $25, $15 and $10.

There will be two contest boxes this week—one for regular entries and one for the 30 people who qualified for the season grand prize by winning on any of the previous weeks. There were three winners each week, but six persons were in the winner's circle twice. The 30 entrants participating in the season-ending contest are:

Just To Say Thank You
To Dr. Payne, Jim Bullard and all the paramedic team at Deaf Smith General Hospital, Joann Brown, Joyce and Otis Walton would like to thank you for Saving Our Babies Life (Brandon). We would like to share with the public just how wonderful Deaf Smith General Hospital and their staff is. Brandon my little grandson was born premature, he has a lot of medical problems. Two weeks ago I found him dying, he had turned blue, we couldn't get him to breathe. I quickly called the police department and asked for an ambulance. They did not fool around they were right there on the spot. Thanks to them. If the paramedic hadn't gotten there as soon as they did little Brandon would not be here today. His surgeon in Amarillo told us if it hadn't been for the treatment that was given to him at Deaf Smith General he would never have survived. A special thanks goes to Dr. Payne who has worked and still is working with him. I would like to tell everyone that lives in Hereford, Texas you do have a hospital here with outstanding doctors, a hospital and paramedics that care. You have the comfort of knowing when you call the police department they will be there when you need them.
Thanks to all of the Hereford Doctors, Deaf Smith General Hospital Staff and the Hereford Police Department.
We Love You,
Joann Brown

Television in Africa fails to educate

NAIROBI, Kenya (AP) — Herald-ed a quarter-century ago as a tool for education, development and nationhood, television in Africa has, with a few exceptions, become a government mouthpiece and a showcase of American reruns.

Newscasters on state-owned Zimbabwe television are required to refer to South Africa as racist, Israel as Zionist and Morocco as expansionist. The standing order once prompted a forecaster to announce that "a cold front is moving in from racist South Africa." In most African countries, newscasts inevitably begin with an item on the country's leader, no matter how mundane.

In white-ruled South Africa, even the channels are segregated. But one of the most popular programs on a white channel is "Benson," the American comedy about a black state budget director who gets the better of his white colleagues week after week.

From Cairo to Cape Town, millions of viewers are hooked on the wheelings and dealings of wealthy American families in "Dallas," "Falcon Crest" and "Dynasty."

"After 25 years of experience with television in Africa, there is widespread disappointment with the medium and its capacity to enlighten and educate the general population," the International Development Research Center concluded in a recent report.

The Ottawa-based research group, financed by the Canadian government, conducted a three-month survey of television in 10 African

A separate Associated Press survey of TV fare in sub-Saharan Africa turned up some bright spots, such as Ivory Coast and Nigeria, which produce many local shows. The Ivory Coast, for example, has shown documentaries on homeless children who make a living on the streets, people injured in the workplace and how traditional healing and modern medicine exist side by side.

But overall, the Canadian report was negative.

"On most evenings, the African content seen on the majority of African televisions is represented by political speeches, reports on visits of foreign dignitaries, development experts speaking over the heads of the average viewer in European languages, telling them how they should develop, or dramas featuring upper-class characters dealing with typically Western problems," the report said.

"Instead of nurturing traditional cultural values, it has eroded them by offering large amounts of imported programming."

On the positive side, only 10 percent of Nigerian television programs are foreign, mostly detective dramas, Westerns and contemporary shows, said Pete Igoh, the manager of national programming for the Nigerian Television Authority.

Local productions are successful, Igoh said, because "they are filled with everyday moments that audiences can identify with. These shows are locally produced by Nigerians and not by whites cast in blackface, as our critics might be led to believe."

One of the most popular, "The Village Headmaster," watched weekly by 30 million people, brings rural values to the screens of urbanites who have lost touch.

Nobody is sure how many televisions there are in Africa. The Canadian group says estimates range from 2.7 million to 11 million sets, excluding the Arab states.

FELLOWSHIPS ANNOUNCED

WASHINGTON (AP) — The National Endowment for the Arts recently announced fellowships totaling $2.25 million to 232 American visual artists.

It says the grants "assist practicing professional artists of exceptional talent and demonstrated ability. These grants support some of our best visual artists, encouraging their creativity and helping them to buy a little time to pursue their art."

The grants were awarded in sums of $5,000, $15,000 and $25,000 each to artists working in the fields of photography, sculpture and crafts.

1986 GOVERNMENT WORKERS

(Source: U.S. Census Bureau) NEA GRAPHIC
There's one government worker for every 14 Americans. Of the nation's 237 million people, almost 17 million work for federal, state or local government.

Government probing claims that cancer-causing agents in wine

WASHINGTON (AP) — Scientists are looking into the possibility that drinkers of alcoholic beverages face a cancer risk from a chemical present in many wines and whiskeys, a top federal health official says.
However, there will be no immediate drastic action, such as yanking such beverages off the market as demanded by a consumer advocacy group on Monday, said Frank Young, commissioner of the Food and Drug Administration.
"We're responding at a thorough and rapid rate; I don't think we're going to do anything more than we are now," he said in response to a petition by the Center for Science in the Public Interest.

A spokeswoman for the Distilled Spirits Council of the United States said the chemical — ethyl carbamate, or urethane — has been shown to be associated with cancer in rats but not in humans.
The spokeswoman, Janet Flynn, accused the consumer group of "fright-mongering" and said her council had been able to find no health risks associated with low levels of the chemical detected. However, she also said the council was working to eliminate or reduce the chemical.

The Center for Science in the Public Interest, joined by the National Council on Alcoholism, said it had filed a formal petition urging the FDA "to inform the public of the risk and to take regulatory action to reduce the hazard" of urethane in wine and whiskey.
The groups noted that the Canadian government set limits nearly a year ago on urethane levels in wines and distilled spirits, and they called on U.S. officials to recall immediately all alcoholic beverages in this nation that exceed the Canadian limits.
The center said in a news release that tests on beverages in this country had shown urethane levels above the Canadian limits in 13 of 81 wines, nine of 20 sherries, 11 of 36 bourbons and 19 of 42 brandies.
However, Young said it was far from clear what the significance of the chemical was in foods using fermentation processes, including bread, yogurt and others as well as in alcoholic beverages.
Since the Canadian action, Young said in a telephone interview, U.S. scientists have been vigorously looking into the matter but "have not been able to come to grips with" the problem of what level of the chemical, if any, might affect health.

Bikinis are progressive

PEKING (AP) — The wearing of bikinis by women bodybuilders is a great advance in Chinese sports and a challenge to feudal thinking, the country's leading intellectual newspaper said today in front-page commentary.
China recently joined the International Bodybuilding Federation and the State Physical Culture and Sports Commission approved the use of bikinis at the 4th National Bodybuilding Contest in Shenzhen Economic Zone on Nov. 28-30.
"This is a great advance in Chinese sports. It is also a kind of advance brought about by China's open-door policy," it said.

Bikinis are almost never seen on Chinese beaches, and Chinese tradition has dictated that women not wear scant or revealing clothing.
But the paper said it was important for Chinese bodybuilders to follow the standards set for international competition, and that the bikini — or "bijini" as it is pronounced in China — allowed judges to see and evaluate musculature.

More and more, they include women and children, whole families.
"What's changing is the kind of people we're seeing," said the Rev. Kenneth Fox, director of the Open Door Mission in Rochester, N.Y. "Women in crisis, teen-agers, the elderly, it's not the typical person everyone thinks."
Across the country, organizations are preparing Thanksgiving meals for armies of the homeless, the lonely, the poor. In the farm and oil belts, organizers are preparing for more people than they've seen before.
In Kansas City, Mo., the Rev. Maurice Vanderberg, director of the City Union Mission, said people from farms and rural towns are increasingly among the homeless.
"I think it has to do with the

More families, children on food lines this holiday

In Nashville, they came for jobs they couldn't handle. In Phoenix, they were drawn by stories of Sunbelt prosperity. In Kansas City, they went from the farm to the food line. They are the new poor, these newly unemployed, and they are seeking help in increasing numbers this Thanksgiving.

farm economy," said Vanderberg. "Farms don't require the manpower they used to."
And in New Orleans, "the typical person we're working with now, compared to maybe a year or two years ago, are the new unemployed," said Jess L. Duncan of the Salvation Army.

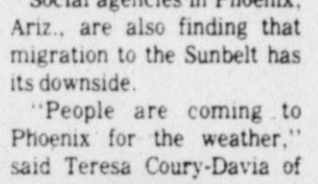

the St. Vincent de Paul Society, which is preparing 2,500 dinners, up from 1,500 last year. "It's all over the newspapers that Arizona is the place with a lot of jobs."
But many people arrive and find they are not qualified for the work available, she said.
Elsewhere, traditional Thanksgiving generosity will feed thousands.

"The trend we see is the number of intact families thrown into homelessness," said Mike Moreau of New Orleans' Traveler's Aid. "Three or four years ago, that wasn't a problem."
In Tennessee, where construction and new auto plants are drawing the hopeful, Nashville's Union Rescue Mission is catering to a larger and younger clientele.
"A lot of people across the country are hearing that Nashville is on a building boom and they're coming here for the jobs, and they're not skilled right for the jobs," said the Rev. Richard Kritsch of the mission.
Social agencies in Phoenix, Ariz., are also finding that migration to the Sunbelt has its downside.
"People are coming to Phoenix for the weather," said Teresa Coury-Davia of Los Angeles, 3,000 people are expected at the Union Rescue Mission, including a growing number of women and children. "More families are making their way to the streets," said spokesman Mark Holthaus.

In New York City, where 1.7 million people live below the federal government's poverty level, the city welfare agency and more than 20 religious and community agencies will provide dinners to about 26,000 homeless people living in city shelters. The Salvation Army plans to serve more than 7,000.
And in Plymouth, Mass., site of the first Thanksgiving meal some 350 years ago, the Salvation Army will welcome the needy to its center at Cole's Hill, a Pilgrim burial ground overlooking Plymouth Harbor.

"Half the Mayflower folks didn't make it through the first winter. It's significant that we're on this site where those people died," said Stephen Carroll of the Salvation Army. "Now people are still hungry and homeless in America's hometown but at least they don't die."
In 1775, Philadelphia Quakers under Benjamin Franklin organized the first society for the abolition of slavery.

The Newspaper BIBLE

LIFE BEGINS AT 80!
One day as Moses was nearing his 40th birthday, it came into his mind to visit his brothers, the people of Israel. During this visit he saw an Egyptian mistreating a man of Israel. So Moses killed the Egyptian. Moses supposed his brothers would realize that God had sent him to help them, but they didn't.
The next day he visited them again and saw two men of Israel fighting. He tried to be a peacemaker. "Gentlemen," he said, "you are brothers and shouldn't be fighting like this! It is wrong!"
But the man in the wrong told Moses to mind his own business. "Who made you a ruler and judge over us?" he asked. "Are you going to kill me as you killed that Egyptian yesterday?"
At this, Moses fled the country, and lived in the land of Midian, where his two sons were born. Forty years later, in the desert near Mount Sinai, an Angel appeared to him in a flame of fire in a bush. Moses saw it and wondered what it was, and as he ran to see, the voice of the Lord called out to him. "I am the God of your ancestors—of Abraham, Isaac and Jacob." Moses shook with terror and dared not look.
And the Lord said to him, "Take off your shoes, for you are standing on holy ground. I have seen the anguish of My people in Egypt and have heard their cries. I have come down to deliver them. Come, I will send you to Egypt."
And so God sent back the same man His people had previously rejected by demanding, "Who made you a ruler and judge over us?"
