Greek Capital In Riot

ATHENS, Dec. 4 (AP) — Gen. Cassalos, acting military governor of Athens, gave armed formations of the leftist EAM 72 hours notice today to quit the area as a consequence of Sunday's violent clashes.

Twenty-one persons were killed and 140 injured in the clashes with police yesterday. A general strike ordered by the EAM had the Greek capital in a tense grip today.

Apparently unorganized formations had taken up positions in air raid trenches with machineguns and had posted themselves in other points of vantage.

A semi-private war between the ELAS and Royalist bands raged in the Thessalon district of the capital. British troops surrounded and disarmed a column of 800 ELAS marching on Athens from the Thessalon district last night without a shot being fired, headquarters of Maj. Gen. R. M. Scobie, British commander in Greece, announced.

Submarines Sink 20 More Nippon Ships In Raid

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4 (AP)—American submarines have bagged 20 more Japanese ships, including a light cruiser and a destroyer.

Today's announcement by the Navy brought the overall total of Japanese ships sunk by United States undersea hunters to 874. Of that number 82 are warships. In addition 37, including 11 combatant ships, are listed as probably sunk.

The last previous report of submarine action was on Nov. 25 when 27 enemy vessels were listed as destroyed, including two combatant ships.

The text of Navy communique No. 557:

Pacific and Far East: 1. U. S. submarines have reported the sinking of 20 vessels including two combatant vessels—a light cruiser and a destroyer—as a result of operations against the enemy in these waters as follows:

One light cruiser, one destroyer, 10 medium cargo vessels, one medium tanker, four medium cargo transports, three small cargo vessels.

These actions have not been announced in any previous Navy department communique.

A light cruiser usually is classed as one on which the main battery is of less than 8-inch caliber, most Japanese light cruisers mount 5.5 or 6.1 inch guns.

TOKYO BOMBED AGAIN

Rail Arteries Are Struck By Planes

LONDON, Dec. 4 (AP)—Five rail arteries feeding supplies to German frontlines were smashed today by 1,200 American heavy bombers, escorted deep into western Germany by more than 1,000 fighters.

Headquarters said railroad yards and adjacent industrial installations at Kassel, Mainz, Giessen, Oest and Bedra were the targets of the heavy attack by British-based Fortresses and Liberators of the U.S. Eighth Airforce.

First groups returning reported German fighters failed to molest the bomber formations. Heavy clouds obscured the target areas and bombing was by instrument.

Only one of the yards on the Rhine—that at Mainz. The others are far in the rear of German supply lines. The Soest rail facilities are seven miles southeast of Hamm, the reich's largest railroad center which has been hit heavily by the Eighth in recent weeks.

Uncertain weather and dimming hours of daylight curtailed heavy bomber operations from Britain over the weekend but 1,000 fighter bombers based in Belgium and France continued the Allied air offensive with a sharp Sunday punch on the left wing of the western front.

Brief morning sunshine brought out almost 100 German jet fighters yesterday but they withdrew before cannon-firing RAF Tempests. One was shot down near Rheine, beyond the British Second army sector.

More than 700 sorties were flown by the RAF Second tactical airforce during the day. Eight locomotives were destroyed and railway road beds torn apart in 29 places.

Industries Lay In Smoking Ruin After Attacks

SAIPAN, Marianas Islands, Dec. 4 (AP) — Industrial Tokyo lay in fresh ruins and flame today in the wake of the fourth thunderous bombing raid — and the most successful — by American Superfortresses based on Saipan.

A sizable force of B29s, striking in midafternoon yesterday, found the Tokyo area clearly outlined in sunlight and for an hour and a half unloaded their bombs with pinpoint accuracy, despite intense ackack and swarms of interceptors.

Results were good, said the 20th Air Force communique. One squadron reported 75 per cent of its bombs fell within the target area.

The prime objective was the Mitsubishi engine factory of the extensive Nakajima aircraft plant, one of the empire's top producers of military planes. The plant, built compactly of one story concrete structures, was the target of the initial B29 raid there Nov. 24 when considerable damage was inflicted.

Returning pilots from this fourth raid on Tokyo in 10 days described it as the toughest but the most successful. Antiaircraft fire was more severe and fighter interception stronger and more persistent than previously, but the bombing was carried out through cloudless skies.

The last squall large fires raging, whipped by an unusually high wind.

One Superfort was acknowledged lost.

(A Japanese communique claimed that 14 Superfortresses were definitely shot down and seven more probably. It admitted six interceptors were lost, including several that reportedly made suicide crashes into the big raiders.)

(Tokyo radio made its customary claim that damage was slight, but authorities ordered 12 more miles of fire breaks built in the Japanese capital.)

T. V. Soong Made China Premier To Aid Chiang

CHUNGKING, Dec. 4 (AP) — Foreign Minister T. V. Soong assumed the premiership of China today in a move which will enable President Chiang Kai-shek, as commander in chief of China's armies, to concentrate fully on military tasks.

Soong stepped into his new post with his appointment as acting vice president of the executive Yuan, succeeding his brother-in-law H. H. Kung. He then was designated acting president of the Yuan.

There were unconfirmed and possibly inspired reports of an agreement in principle between the central government and the communists.

Gen. Chou En-lai, communist leader, left Chungking Dec. 1 with an alleged draft of an agreement for final approval by the North China communists but his plane returned to the capital because of bad weather and he still is here.

By virtue of his new assignment Soong will become in a sense Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek's right-hand man — a transition in Chinese politics regarded here as of paramount significance and one almost certain to be popular with the country as a whole.

Soong's attitude toward the communists is known to be moderate and his re-emergence into the limelight might make easier a compromise so urgently needed to achieve Chinese unity.

Recent Rains Bad For Grain But May Help Future

"Although the recent rains have proven to be bad on the grain sorghum and cotton crops in part harvesting and picking has been delayed, thus lowering the grade. . . . The rain might prove to be a salvation for the farmers in the future." Durward Lewter, county agent said Monday.

M. Weaver of the AAA explains the statement saying that "because Big Spring and surrounding communities often face summer droughts, farmers must depend upon soaking winter rains for successful planting and harvesting in the spring, summer and autumn months.

Besides making a "water reserve" for future farm crops, the rains have also made possible better winter grazing for livestock, Lewter said.

Weaver also reported that rain fall last night amounted to a quarter of an inch.

Robberies Reported

Two burglaries are now being investigated by Big Spring police. Both were reported Sunday morning and both reported the loss of gasoline ration stamps.

Thornton Service Station operators said that there were 1200 gallons of stamps company reported that 500 gallons of A, B and C stamps had been taken. In addition, there was about $2.50 in pennies missing. Police said that Wooten's was entered through a back window.

Third Army Troops Pour Through Saar River Gap

Heavy Artillery Fire Laid Down By Beaten Nazis

By JAMES M. LONG PARIS, Dec. 4 (AP) — Third army troops and tanks cleared all of Saarlautern west of the Saar river today and poured across the captured bridge under screaming shellfire from Siegfried Line guns to deepen their wedge into the section of the city east of the stream.

For 16 unbroken miles northwest of Metz, the Americans stood on the west bank of the barrier river. Progress continued, it was said officially, but details were withheld.

The Germans reflected their rising alarm at the menace to the rich Saar arsenal with a succession of counterattacks. None was in great force and none won back an inch of the cratered battlefield. The reaction, however, underlined the likelihood that the Germans would lash out from their Siegfried Line defenses with the fullest force possible in an attempt to plug the Saarlautern gap Siegfried Line artillery concentrated on the captured and intact bridge inside Saarlautern, second city of the Saarland.

The U.S. Ninth army still battled for the sportground on the western outskirts of Julich. River bannion guarding Cologne and cities of the Ruhr. No crossing of the river into the main part of the town has been reported officially.

The First army pushed into the northern spurs of the Eifel mountains southeast of captured Brandenberg toward Bergstein. Anti-aircraft gunners of the First were credited with destroying 38 and probably shooting down 16 more of the 120 German planes strafing their lines Sunday.

All along the line, the Allies were fighting in either worsening weather or in weather which hardly could become worse. The Germans opened the dikes on the lower Rhine in Holland south of Arnhem, spreading floods in the Canadian sector which threatened to engulf the "island" between the Rhine and its tributary, the Waal.

American fighter bombers flew through intermittent showers and icing conditions on the northern flank. In the south, rains were becoming general again and clouds hung heavily at three top levels.

The British Second army advanced almost a mile into the western suburbs of Venlo and completed mopping up the German bridgehead west of the Maas river in that corner of Holland. The Nazis destroyed the Maas bridge last week, and the Tommies reached its ruined entrance today.

The U.S. Seventh army, cleaning up the Aisatian plain below completely cleansed Strasbourg, captured Ribeauville, a town of 5,000 eight miles north of Colmar, capital of upper Alsace.

German Defenses Crumble Wednesday Slated As Sgt. Logan Day

LONDON, Dec. 4 (AP) — Russian troops smashed ahead in southwestern Hungary today within 72 miles of the Austrian frontier and cracked strong Nazi defenses along the Slovakian border with the capture of Miskolc and Satoraljaihely.

A German broadcast early today said a major Russian force had reached the area of Lake Balaton, which is 60 miles southwest of Budapest and at some points on the farshore only 45 miles from the Austrian border.

Miskolc, a vital military supply center for German and Hungarian armies, fell yesterday to Marshal Rodion Y. Malinovsky's second Ukrainian army, elements of which joined with Gen. Ivan Petrov's fourth Ukrainian army in taking by storm the communications junction of Satoraljaihely, 45 miles to the northeast.

In the drive west of the Danube toward the Austrian frontier, Marshal Feodor I. Tolbukhin's third Ukraine army captured Tamas, only 21 miles below Lake Balaton, in an 11-mile advance and seized Kaposmero, in the closest approach to Austria.

The sweeping gains of Tolbukhin's army engulfed more than 80 places in a steadily expanding front below Lake Balaton, guardian of strategic approaches to Austria, and won for him a 26-mile strangle hold on the Budapest-Zagreb-Trieste railway connecting German defenders of Budapest with Nazi forces in Yugoslavia and northern Italy.

AUSTIN, Dec. 4 (AP) — Governor Coke R. Stevenson said today he probably would appoint three new members of the University of Texas board of regents before the Christmas holidays.

The governor has decided on a successor to the late Dr. Judson Taylor of Houston but will withhold the announcement until he chooses two more appointees with terms beginning on January 1.

Terms of H. J. Lutchter Stark of Orange, Mar. I. D. Fairchild of Lufkin and Dr. C. O. Terrell of Fort Worth expire in January.

Also expected to be appointed by Christmas are three members of the state board of education. Expiring in January are terms of Ben O'Neal of Wichita Falls, Royal Watkins of Dallas and H. C. Custard of Cleburne.

Trade Commission Undertakes Solving Of National Problem — Cigaret Shortage

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4 (AP) — The Federal Trade Commission today undertook to provide an answer to the nation's No. 1 mystery: what has happened to the cigarettes.

That decision, communicated to Senator Wheeler (D-Mont) in response to his request, highlighted a day that found lawmakers turning to such diverse subjects as air production and a woman industrialist's personal correspondence.

The senate war investigating committee heard the chief of the army's service forces, Lt. Gen. Brehon Somervell, second a suggestion by War Production Chief A. J. Krug for the payment of forty-seven marriage licenses at their posts until the war job is completed. Both men say the postwar bonus system would be preferable to outright pay raises.

The personal correspondence at issue was that of Miss Vivien Kent, who operates a war plant at Westport, Conn., and whose letters to German Count Frederic von Zedlitz have been in the news before. A senate postoffice subcommittee is inquiring into the "leak" that permitted portions of her censored letters to the count in Argentina to be made public. Miss Kellems told the senators that there was "nothing illegal or seditious" in the letters and asked: If she were a spy how come she is engaged in war production.

Meanwhile, nearly everyone in the capital, it seems, is trying to find a job for Henry Wallace. The latest suggestion is that he be put to work salvaging Latin American sore spots.

Wednesday, proclaimed as Sgt. Logan Day, bids fair to be a four in one event for those in the county attending the program at 8 p. m. at the city auditorium.

In addition to hearing T-Sgt. James Logan the most decorated G.I. of World War II speak, and a talk by Lt. Col. H. Miller Ainsworth, there will be a program presented by an eleven piece orchestra and men of the AAFBS, a chance to obtain tickets to Thursday's Free Movie Day, and more important—to make an investment that will bring four dollars for every three invested.

T-Sgt. Logan, one of only two men to receive the Congressional Medal of Honor and Distinguished Service Cross in World War II, has also received the Purple Heart for wounds, the presidential unit citation, the Combat Infantryman's badge and the Good Conduct medal.

He will speak on what the fighting men expect of the homefront and of his experiences at Salerno and other fighting fronts in Italy where he distinguished himself by becoming wild and capturing many Germans and turning the tide of an attack in his sector.

Wednesday has been proclaimed as "Sgt. Logan Day" in Big Spring by R. L. Cook, mayor pro tem. In setting aside the special day, he observed that "the most eloquent testimonial of our sincerity in welcoming our heroic visitor will be to buy bonds, more bonds and still more bonds. I appeal to every person in Big Spring to speak their appreciation to Sgt. Logan and all of our fighting men in this manner."

Col. Ainsworth, who is a noted speaker, will tell the story of the Fighting 36th. He is a veteran of the last war and fought in Africa and then at Salerno.

All those buying bonds at the Wednesday night rally, if purchased through the R&R theatres, will receive tickets to the free movie day on Thursday when the Spencer Tracy picture, "The Seventh Cross" will be shown. Those buying bonds through the State theatre will receive free tickets to the show, "Henry Aldrich — Boy Scout," starring Jimmie Lyon.

Rep'dts to headquarters Monday showed that Coahoma had purchased $243.75 in bonds to bring the total sales in E bonds to $207,699, and the overall total to $743,121.

Air Conference May Approve Agreement

By JAMES J. STREBIG
 Associated Press Aviation Editor
 Delegates to the World Conference were called today (3 p. m. central wartime) to give formal approval as a joint committee to an agreement which completes and coordinates their work as separate groups.

Committee approval would leave as a final step adoption of the report by the full conference.

It now seems clear that the 34-day meeting will produce these five documents:

1. A proposed convention or treaty which will establish an international air organization.
2. A similar document but on a temporary basis so that it can be operative during the period required to articulate and effectuate the permanent agreement.
3. A standard form agreement for use in all direct negotiations for commercial air right between countries.
4. A "two freedoms" document by which the signatory states would exchange reciprocally the right of peaceful flight and non-commercial stops for scheduled aircraft.
5. A "five freedoms" document through which signatory states grant to each other not only the right to fly in peace and make operational stops but also to carry home traffic outbound and back again and to carry the traffic of other nations, so long as the other countries do not reserve the privilege to themselves.

Many sermons have been preached on the parable of the "Prodigal Son," but at 7:30 p. m. today Dr. Chappell has an unusual and timely message that every adult in Big Spring should hear.

Those who have had the pleasure of hearing him during the past week are telling their friends about the powerful, yet pointed messages brought twice daily by Dr. Chappell.

Big Spring seldom has had the rare privilege of working together spiritually with a religious leader such as Dr. Chappell. We urge you to attend—to bring your friends—to say a word to those who have not yet made the most important decision of their life.

Services continue at 10 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. daily through Friday. Make them a MUST on your calendar of events.

Miss Sholtz specializes in special flower arrangements which include wedding bouquets and altar decorations.
One of the major services offered by Caroline's Flower shop is the filling of orders for service men overseas and at camps all over the nation.
For the Christmas dances and parties where corsages are in order, Carrie suggests orchids, gardenias, roses, chrysanthemums, or carnations for the hair, wrist or shoulder corsage.
Miss Sholtz has had vast experience in the care of flowers and arrangements, the shop has telegraph delivery service which enables flowers to be ordered anywhere in the United States and Canada, this service is specially convenient for military men who won't be home for Christmas and would like to send their mothers, wives, sweethearts or sister an arrangement of cut flowers.
With chrysanthemums and poinsettias at their peak in popularity at the present time why not send a potted plant or cut arrangement to a friend who is ill or just send them to someone dear who would appreciate the fact that you are thinking of them?

Terracing Machines Being Featured By Local Firm

The Big Spring Tractor company on the Lamesa highway is featuring its stock of terracing machines for the next two weeks. These machines are products of the Ford-Ferguson manufacturers. There are two types of terracing machines available at the present time. The Carrington blade terracer is adapted especially for maintaining the terraces after they are built, while the Ferguson disk model is used for building the terraces. The Carrington type can be used in many ways about the farm. For example, it can be employed in making ditches, grading roads, cleaning fence rows, leveling ground and doing all types of grading work about the farm.

The Ferguson disk type of implement is best suited to throwing up the terraces and can be of benefit to the farmer in that he can place the terraces where he chooses. In this way he can save time and money by doing the terracing himself without hiring a large corps of laborers. The farmer can make the terraces any size which he thinks are necessary and any height which he feels would best suit his purposes. The farmer can always be sure of the outcome of his terracing when he does the work himself with a Ferguson terracer.
Both models of the terracing machine are built with all the tested Ford-Ferguson principles such as the fact that the machine is mounted to the tractor as a unit. It also has the quick detachable apparatus and the Ferguson hydraulic system.

The Big Spring Tractor company has a large supply of repair parts, the largest since the beginning of the war, and will be able to keep the tractors of the area in good working condition. There are no new tractors immediately available to the section, but when there are, the Big Spring Tractor company is the dealer for all Ford-Ferguson tractors for Howard, Martin and part of Glasscock counties.

Davis Visions Good Outlook For Feed

Running 12 hours six days a week with the current manpower shortage has proven quite a problem but Manager Bill Davis of the Big Spring Cotton Oil company on North 12th street has been keeping his most vital plant running at its fullest capacity with one crew throughout the current crisis.
Davis came to Big Spring last June from Lamesa, where he was connected with the oil mill company of that city. He has been in this field of business since 1936, and his eight years of experience in the products has given him a thorough knowledge of his business, and how to get the best quality products from it.

Another reason for the successful results obtained from the company's products is the familiarity Davis has with this area's agricultural problems, and his knowledge through experience of coping with them.
Thirty-five tons of seed run through the mill's processing each day through the use of one crew. This amount could be easily doubled if labor could be obtained for the work. Davis has a faint hope, he said, of obtaining another crew within the next ten days. "It is an Oklahoma promise," he added, "and I am not certain I will get them, but I do have hopes."
More cake is being turned out this year as well as hulls because of the dry spell that has been prevalent in this area for some time. Good pasturage has been hard to obtain and cake and meal are in demand.

Nabors Beauty Has Answer For Hair Problems

Hair problems become increasingly more difficult with the current spell of damp weather, with the strong wind that has been blowing only adding to the women's troubles. Nabors' Beauty Shop at 1701 Gregg has set itself determinedly into the face of winter winds to aid Big Spring women in solving the problem of maintaining an attractive and neat, as well as fashionable coiffure.

Davis has stated that he has an ample supply of meal for this section, and will be able to supply the entire area's needs.
To give some idea of the results of a day's output at the mill Davis stated that one ton of seed will produce 900 pounds of cake, 290 pounds of cottonseed oil, 450 pounds of hulls, and 20 pounds of linters, the latter being used mostly for the manufacture of munitions. Davis and his employees have been very much hampered by their shortage of help, some days workers doubling up on jobs to round out one full crew.

Nabors or sponsoring new permanents now that are leaving women with satisfied results, both with their hair and with the prices. Nabors has prices that fit every pocketbook, with quality to match their economy. Mrs. O. L. Nabors, owner and operator reports.
Appointments are easily accessible to women. By phoning 1252 fast and satisfying results may be scheduled, adds Mrs. Nabors. It is advised that this type arrangement be made before calling at the shop, which is also suffering with a war-time rush.

Would You Like A Tulsa Varsity 'T'?

MIAMI, Fla. Dec. 4 (AP)—Anybody who knows how to solve one of the oddest conditioning problems ever faced by the coach of a bowl-bound football team probably can win a varsity "T" by getting in touch with Henry Frnka at Tulsa University.
The schedule makers unintentionally gave Frnka a brown-wrinkler when they arranged for Tulsa to play the University of Miami in this semi-tropical climate Dec. 1.
Of course they didn't know at the time that the Oklahomans would be hatched against Georgia Tech in the Orange Bowl game Jan. 1.
But as Frnka rode homeward today after watching his eleven trample Miami 48-2, he had to worry about taking a team from Miami to Tulsa for a three-week stay when returning to 80-degree weather.

Schoolboy Grid Teams Roll Into Play-Off Tilts

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
Associated Press Sports Editor
Clear-cut favorites pushed forward today in seven of the eight games that will send the Texas schoolboy football race into its quarterfinal round.
The only battle in which the critics were undecided was the week's feature contest—Sunset vs. Paschal at Dallas.

This will be the only game matching undefeated teams. It also will be the lone tilt in which there is no direct comparison of strength. The reason is that Sunset played in a district that had no outside games. In that district—the Dallas sector—Sunset won nine games and tied one.
Paschal on the other hand played a fairly well-balanced schedule with teams from other areas while sewing up honors in the Fort Worth district. The Panthers swept through undefeated and untied, rolling up 244 points to 20 for the opposition.

The eight games this week are being played in equal number on Friday and Saturday. Here is the schedule with the starting times and the favorites:

Friday—Greenville at Highland Park, Dallas, 2:30 p. m., Highland Park favored; Waco at Breckenridge, 2:30 p. m., Waco top favorite; Lufkin at Marshall, 2:30 p. m., Lufkin favored; Austin at McAllen, 8 p. m., Austin outstanding favorite.

Saturday—Wichita Falls at Amarillo, 2:30 p. m., Amarillo favored; Austin (El Paso) at San Angelo, 2:30 p. m., San Angelo heavy favorite; Paschal (Fort Worth) at Sunset (Dallas), 3 p. m., toss-up; Lamar (Houston) at Fort Arthur, 3:15 p. m., Fort Arthur heavy favorite.

Just four teams reached the first round of the state play-off with unbeaten records. Paschal, Waco and Austin were undefeated and untied while Sunset has been tied but not defeated. However, none of these four occupies the favored spot of the San Angelo Bobcats, who lost an early season game to Lubbock and were held to a one-touchdown victory over Amarillo but haven't come close to dropping a contest since. In fact, the Bobcats look as strong if not stronger than the 1943 San Angelo team that swept to the state title.

San Angelo has scored 399 points while giving the opposition 20 in ten games.
Waco's record is most impressive of the other fifteen teams. The Tigers, scoring 360 points to beat such fine teams as Marshall, Highland Park and Temple.

Team	W.	L.	T.	Pts. Op.
Waco	10	0	0	360
Paschal	10	0	0	244
Austin	10	0	0	201
Sunset	9	0	1	112
Breckenridge	9	1	0	405
San Angelo	9	1	0	399
Port Arthur	9	1	0	392
Lufkin	9	1	0	271
Highland Park	9	1	0	354
Amarillo	9	1	0	259
Greenville	9	1	0	242
Austin (El Paso)	8	1	0	225
Wichita Falls	8	2	0	377
Marshall	8	2	0	301
McAllen	7	3	0	207
Lamar	6	3	1	103

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By HUGH FULLERTON, Jr.
NEW YORK, Dec. 4 (AP)—The boxing business isn't so hot hereabouts, but its going great guns in Khorramshahr according to Sgt. Allen Lacombe's report on the Persian gulf command championships. . . . "We built a new outdoor stadium that will seat 6,000 fans," he writes. "It is all home made and the farthest seat from the ring is only 28 yards. . . . Our fights in the Persian gulf command tournament were terrific. The only thing that went wrong was two bad decisions, one on the opening night and another in the finals. . . . One of my boys, Harold Geldernick from Wisconsin got a decision over George Stangelo, a MP from Ohio. Stangelo won from here to New Orleans but the judges saw different. . . . The very next night Geldernick won as far as he got beat the night before but again the judges were looking the other way. I did not think 6000 guys could make so much noise. But what can I do; I'm only the promoter, announcer, manager of one team, water boy, and everything else. But what counts is I'm a sergeant and the tournament was sponsored by others a lot higher."

G I Dream
In conclusion, Sgt. Lacombe adds: "I have been so busy with all the sporting activities around here I cannot even find time to write my girl friend and parents. They told me if I do not start writing soon, they will have to come over here and get me. Wouldn't that be wonderful? W O W."

Little Shaver
Just to prove those stories about youthful college football players are true, Publicist Ed Kennedy of Holy Cross relays the news that Wilbur "Whip" Halliday, 17-year-old Crusader end, indulged in his first shave just before the Boston college game. . . . Halliday was missed when the team was starting out to Fenway park and Coach Ox De Gross found him in the hotel barber shop. "You told me I was going to catch a touchdown pass today," Halliday explained, "so I wanted to look good for the pictures." . . . P. S., Halliday caught one, but making a circus catch also showed the ball clutched tight against his face.

Monday Mathews
Although Harvard only played informal football this year, another Harvard has been going at it formally with great success. . . . Harvard, Nebraska, high school has won 13 out of 14 games — 12 in a row — in two seasons and had only 16 players in 1943 and 15 this year. . . . When the Nazi invaders of France tied to be requisition the stallion, Thor, sire of some good racers, he managed to kill two Germans before he was subdued. The thoroughbred record suggests a citation if and when Thor is recaptured.

Expected Unemployment In Nation After Nazi Surrender Less Likely
WASHINGTON, Dec. 4 (AP)—The expected sudden spurt of unemployment in this country — After Germany falls — now seems less likely.
The reason: The government has changed its plans on cutting down war production after victory in Europe.
Only three months ago top government officials said this: After V-E day only 60 per cent of present war production would be continued for the fight against Japan.
The other 40 per cent would be stopped. The plants involved would turn to civilian work.
But that 40 per cent cutback would throw out of jobs — at least temporarily — between 4 and 6 million people.
The length of their unemployment would depend upon the speed with which cutback plants changed over to peacetime work.
The picture began to change in the past few weeks.
There were calls from the highest people in government for sus-

Roosevelt-Emerson Vows Read At Chasm

GRAND CANYON, Ariz., Dec. 4 (AP)—Col. Elliott Roosevelt, the president's second son, and Actress Faye Emerson were honeymooning in the Grand Canyon region today following their marriage yesterday on a snow-swept height overlooking the famed Chasm.
The couple was married in an observation station on Yavapai Point by the Rev. Roger Sawyer, pastor of a Williams, Ariz., Methodist church.
Asked why the unusual setting was chosen for the event the bride explained, "our marriage means so much to us both that we wanted to begin it as beautifully as possible."
The newest member of the White House family wore a blue doekin suit, a mink bandeau with matching coat and muff and alligator shoes and carried a cluster of white orchids at the ceremony. She was given in marriage by John Meyer, a friend at whose Los Angeles home they met in September, 1943.
In Beaumont, Tex., Miss Emerson's mother, Mrs. Jean Young, said the couple would return to Hollywood soon and after a few days there will go east, stopping at Beaumont on the way.

Southwest Conference Season Passes Climax

By The Associated Press
The 1944 southwest conference football race goes into the books today as a triumph of the underdog.
There have been stronger fields and campaigns just as close but none more interesting and few so erratic.
Texas Christian's Horned Frogs, who had been taking likings for a half-dozen years, surged to first place with a flick of ability with its battle when the chips were down. The race ended with a victory for an underdog as Southern Methodist came out of the dark cellar regions to topple the champions.
Rice, the team that was supposed to give Texas its hardest fight in the title race, finished in a tie for last place with Texas A. and M. and Southern Methodist.
Texas, rated before the season started, as in a class by itself, had a rough time closing out in second place.
Arkansas, which had been cuffed around for years, beat Texas A. and M. and Rice and tied champion Texas Christian to finish the highest of any Razorback outfit in seven years. Attendance at most school's was up substantially compared to last season and the brand of football was generally higher.
Texas A. and M. led in most everything except victories. The Aggies rolled up 2,927 yards rushing and passing in 10 games. Second in offense was Rice with 2,612 yards while Arkansas was third with 2,876. Texas Christian fourth with 2,083. Texas fifth with 1,935 and Southern Methodist last with 1,925.
This is a good indication that statistics are worth little in football. Champion Texas Christian is fifth, while A. and M., which is tied for the cellar, is tops. Only Arkansas and Southern Methodist justified their statistical positions. Arkansas finished third, Southern Methodist last.
Rice led in ground gains with 1,884 yards in 11 games. The Aggies showed 1,848 in 10 tilts. The aerial leader was Arkansas with 1,158 yards. Here again was a surprise. Arkansas wasn't supposed to do anything except

Army's Davis Is Top Scorer On Nation's Grids

NEW YORK, Dec. 4 (AP)—Army's Glenn Davis won the 1944 college football high scoring championship with 120 points on 20 touchdowns, a final tabulation showed today. This compares to the 129 points Bob Steuber, of DePaul, tallied in winning high scoring honors a year ago.
Among the next 12 scoring leaders was Paul Yates, Texas A. and M., who played 10 games, scoring nine touchdowns for a season's total of 54 points.

FERRIER LEADS NELSON

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 4 (AP)—Sgt. Jim Ferrier, golfing soldier from Camp Roberts, Calif., held a one-stroke lead over the defending champion, Bryon Nelson, of Toledo, Ohio, as they teed off today for the final round of the 72-hole San Francisco open golf tournament.

Getting Good Lessons

Many will recall having read two stories in the Sunday Herald, one about the farming ventures of Leland Wallace, who got his start in 4-H club work, and the other about the number of youngsters now engaged in livestock feeding operations.

Put the two together and you get an idea of what the 4-H program is and does. While Mr. Wallace has achieved an impressive record, the really impressive thing about it is that he is yet a youthful farmer. To be sure he picked up the bulk of his knowledge of farming operations at the hands of his father by actual practice, but that additional something which gave him the jump on others came from his experience in club work.

What has worked for him surely can be made to work for the 69 boys and four girls who are feeding out 87 calves, 38 pigs and 33 lambs. This year they have, for the most part, a good array of stock to start with. In this they will be impressed with the necessity of good feeders to do a top feeding job. Hereford breeders are wise in promoting interest in club work, for in turn the club boys and girls will be creating a big demand for the breeders' fine animals not many years from now.

Youngsters also are learning the necessity of proper feeding technique, of the amounts of feed required to finish steer calves, of the profitability of maintaining good water and good feeding pens and stables for the animals.

Silence Penalizes Products

The small tobacco manufacturers of America have issued a letter in protest to commentators and to newspapers in referring to use of "less popular brands" during the current cigarette shortage.

This is an erroneous statement, they declare, because their particular brands have been popular with millions over the country all these years. They also take offense in that there is an inference that there is inferior quality in the lesser known brands.

Perhaps it is an injustice to refer to these unfamiliar packs as "unpopular." Perhaps they do possess just as great an element of quality in a great many instances as do the leading brands. The difference is, as the protest points out, that the widely known brands have been carrying on a great program of advertising in support of their product. This meant that the product had to be good to capitalize on the advertising. In turn, it ought to be a lesson not only to small tobacco manufacturers and to anyone in business that failure to tell about a product penalizes it in the end.

Texas Has Great Post-War Road Building Opportunity

By PAUL BOLTON

Headed Austin Correspondent
The vista of a great era of road building for Texas, opened by bills before congress which tentatively allot about $50 millions a year to Texas, is tempered somewhat by the magnitude of the job. But according to Charles E. Simons, the executive secretary of the Texas Good Roads Association, it is probably the greatest opportunity Texas has ever had or ever will have to advance its program.

And Simons looks at the job ahead in terms of people, rather than in terms of shining slabs of concrete stretched across the broad face of Texas. Here's an example of what he is talking about:

There are in Texas approximately 175,000 miles of secondary roads. These include roads serving one or two families; but the point is that each road serves human beings—farmers who need to get their produce to market, and their children to school.

Particularly the school children. Country kids, he says, are as much entitled to the opportunity of education as city kids. The opportunity is missing when the road is impassible for days, or even weeks at a time.

They're entitled to better schools than the one-room, one-teacher school which may be within walking distance of their farm home. There is a vast movement on among the state's educators to consolidate the one-teacher school houses into modernized consolidated schools; there is savings in overhead as well as better facilities, in such consolidations. But there's no point in consolidating if—because of bad roads—the children cannot reach the consolidated school. Hence, in terms of making schools accessible, good roads are actually a prerequisite to a good educational system.

To hard surface one of these 175,000 miles of secondary highways costs, in round figures, some $7,000. And if you multiply 175,000 miles by $7,000, you get a staggering figure. But the practical problem is not quite that bad. By surfacing some 25,000 miles, roads would be made accessible to an estimated 90 per cent of the population.

And this amount of paving could be done for around $175,000,000—which is lots of money, but small in comparison with the amount needed for the entire job.

The highway department is ready to build these secondary roads, and in order of their importance. They have made surveys on every mile of road in the state, and can tell you the traffic count on the road, the number of families it serves, the average amount of traffic, the churches, school houses and what not. So under the department's supervision, Texas would have reasonable assurance of getting the more important secondary roads built first.

The primary system of roads embraces some $768,000,000 worth of construction work at the pre-war average cost of around $40,000 a mile.

For this staggering job which of course, isn't all going to be built in a single year, the highway department is substantially prepared. In addition to its current income, which is expected to mount after the war releases gasoline to civilians once more, the department has a $30 million nest-egg.

Invested in war bonds, this amount has been the money which the department hasn't been able to spend during the war years. These figures reflect that trend. In the fiscal year ended August 31, 1942, expenditures reached $34 millions, a large total due to the considerable amount of access roads to army camps; in the next fiscal year it dropped to $18 millions and last fiscal year (ended Aug. 31, 1944) it was off to $11 millions. These figures include state and federal dollars.

The gasoline tax has dropped off from a pre-war average of some $25 millions—this being only the highway building portion—to about $19½ millions in the last fiscal year. Department spokesmen think the tax should go back at least to $25 millions and they confidently expect considerably more, for, as one department spokesman said, "a lot of these folks from the north like Texas so well that they're going to stay down here."

The War Today

by Dewitt Mackenzie
Associated Press War Analyst

The closer Europe gets to the end of the war, the more widespread and violent becomes the political upheaval—the struggle between the left and the right—of which the bloody week-end demonstration in Athens is symptomatic.

We shall do well to recognize that the war is ushering a new political and social epoch into Europe. The war isn't the cause of this historic turnover, but it's facilitating it vastly.

Little Greece of course is only one of many continental countries which are in the throes of this politico-social change. In greater or less degree we see it in Italy, Yugoslavia, Rumania, Bulgaria, Poland, Finland, France and Belgium. We find it, too, hovering again over Spain in the form of a renewed challenge by the republicans to the Franco regime which came to power through one of the most terrible civil wars of history. Hungary also is in the midst of internal strife.

In several countries the question of a monarchy is involved and the way it looks from here several more crowns will be under glass cases in museums by the time Europe has passed this cataclysm.

The Greek crisis had reached a nasty pitch today. Twenty-one people were dead and some 140 were injured as the result of week-end demonstrations.

This bloody clash would have had less significance in connection with the European trend had it represented an isolated instance, for the Greeks are fiery in their politics, but the past few days have been similar outbursts. There has been street fighting between political groups in both Rome and Brussels, where the governments are having tough going in the face of the leftist opposition.

I think we can put all this down as just the beginning of the European political convulsion. The ending of the war will remove restraint in most of the countries an olive full rein to the fight between the left and the right. The continent will indeed be lucky if it isn't the seat of widespread civil wars.

Assuming the global war lasts three more years, it is extremely unlikely that the American government will start issuing passports for foreign pleasure travel until at least two years after the last shot has been fired.—A. L. Simmons, president Simmons Tours.

National Election Will Be Changed

By JACK STINNETT
WASHINGTON — It may take some time, but our method of voting for president and vice president of the United States is going to be changed.

The threat in Texas and several other southern states to name electors who would not vote for the Roosevelt-Truman ticket, regardless of whether their states voted Democratic, has highlighted the matter. But actually the controversy over the method of electing our only two nationally-named executives is really almost as old as the Constitution.

Our present method of actually getting a president in the White House by popular vote is a custom, not a law. The Constitution provides that the states, through their legislatures shall name the presidential electors allotted them in such a manner as they may direct.

The states could if they wished (and some used to leave it to the legislatures to name their presidential electors—the people having only a theoretical voice in the matter through electing members of their state legislatures.

On the other hand, there is no more than a moral obligation on the part of an elector to cast his ballot for the people of his state have voted. The states and the voters are powerless to prevent any elector from casting his vote any way he wishes and opponents could never do any more than brand him as a traitor and let it go at that.

Hollywood—

Most Beautiful Stars Want New Faces

By ROBBIN COONS
HOLLYWOOD — Gene Tierney was told that she had been selected by a national magazine as one of the four most beautiful women in Hollywood. The other three are Linda Darnell, Hedy Lamarr and Ingrid Bergman.

Gene was pleased, naturally, but then—"I don't see how they could possibly leave out Maureen O'Hara. She's so beautiful."

This is interesting because of what Maureen said recently—not on the subject of beautiful women, but about a picture. She wanted badly to do "Cluny Brown," and Jennifer Jones was the likeliest candidate. Said Maureen: "The part requires a plain girl and Jennifer—she's so beautiful. She could never be plain enough, and I—oh, I'm really the one for that part."

Another time Hedy Lamarr bowled me over by remarking innocently that for years, as she grew up, she had an inferiority complex over her looks. People were always staring at her, and Hedy thought they stared because she was different or queer. "I've only recently come to believe," she said, "that I'm not so bad."

Which indicates that movie actresses, like many other humans, are frequently prone to believe they might do better with another map and chassis.

The beautiful Gene currently has transformed her personality strikingly with a blond wig for her role as the Sicilian girl in "A Bell for Adano." For the first time, too, she is playing a role without make-up, revealing one of the town's smoothest complexion jobs. Her vis-a-vis, John Hodiak, likewise skips the grease-

New Blood Needed In Diplomatic Staff To Help French Relations

By WALTER LIPPMANN.

Some months ago I heard a story about General de Gaulle and an American diplomatic officer which has helped me to understand much better what I saw and heard in France. The diplomat was telling the general what the French were going to do after they were liberated, and the general was disagreeing with him.

"But," protested the diplomat, "I am sure I am right. I know France well—I lived there thirteen years."

"Ah," said the general, "you forget that I have lived in France two thousand years."

This convinced the diplomat not only that General de Gaulle is an extremely difficult man to get on with but that he has the grandiose idea of identifying himself with his country.

But in fact this is the secret of his extraordinary power as it is of Winston Churchill's—that like Churchill he feels the historic destiny of his people and therefore he knows what in the end they respond to and will do. Ordinary politicians who practice what might be called Gallup Poll democracy find such a man impossibly difficult to get on with. For he disregards the appearance of things, the immediate preoccupations on the surface, the practical difficulties of the moment. Yet his prophecies come true.

In June, 1940, General de Gaulle stated that while France had lost a battle she had not lost the war. Now he is stating that France is a great power and that nothing can be decided about the future of Europe, and indeed of the world, without her full agreement and participation. The astonishing thing is that events are vindicating his second prophecy as they have already vindicated his first. I say it is astonishing, though I do not myself doubt it at all, because by every ordinary criterion of national power France is very weak indeed. She has lost several million of her best men. The people who remain are suffering from the shock and tension of the German terror, and their vitality has been drawn by years of undernourishment and privation and humiliation.

The structure of the French economy, on which the life of the nation and the functions of government depend, has been twisted and distorted by the Germans, then sabotaged by the French patriots, then bombed and bombarded by the Allies, and systematically demolished and looted by the retreating Germans. What was left and could be repaired has had to be monopolized by the Allied armies in order to carry on the war.

Yet in Europe France is already a great power in that no statesman who has any sense of realities would now think of making plans for the settlement with Germany and Italy or for the reconstruction of Europe, or for the general organization of peace, without seeking the full and equal agreement of the French government.

The explanation of this paradox—that a country so powerless is yet so powerful—is that in General de Gaulle the French have found a leader who acts in the present on what he knows will happen in the future. I had come to Paris from London where I met a number of men who were making schemes, as other men are making them in Washington, for controlling Germany during the next ten or fifteen years. I found that in Paris some one had realized, and of course it was General de Gaulle himself, that all these schemes were designed to control Germany in the very years when Germany would be prostrate, and that the schemes would come to an end just about when Germany could again begin to be, if she ever is after this war, dangerous. I found then that the French government is basing its policy on the assumption that if theorists in Washington and London make what they imagine is a German settlement, there will necessarily be a second settlement—in which France will play the leading part in the west—a few years hence.

Those who have grasped this, and no doubt they include Mr. Churchill and Mr. Eden, are therefore making up their minds that the only way to have the first German settlement be the real settlement is to start all over again by including the French government at the beginning.

A lesser man would not have begun by insisting on restoring the greatness of France to heat his people had enough coal to heat their houses. He would have struggled with the economic difficulties of France. De Gaulle knowing that the economic problem is insoluble until the war is finished, lets his ministers struggle to find what palliatives they can. He knows, and events will surely prove him right, that a France which concludes the war as one of the victorious great powers will have both the material means and the spirit to repair the devastation

—but that a France which ends the war as a client of Great Britain or the United States will get too little help from them and will have lost the capacity to help herself.

I wish I could report that the tragic muddle of our official relations with France had been cleared up by the recognition of the Provisional Government. The fact is that it has not been, and the reason is, I think, that except for the ambassador himself, the staff of the embassy in Paris is the same staff that so completely misjudged the French resistance when Admiral Leahy was at Vichy, and the significance of De Gaulle when Mr. Murphy was at Algiers. I do not wish to suggest for a moment that those men do not honestly and loyally wish the French government to succeed, now that we recognize it. I do mean to say that their records prevent them from making the kind of contact with France today which the staff of the embassy must have if the ambassador is really to know what is going to happen, and if he is to give the Secretary of State and the President the information and guidance which they will need.

It was wise to choose as ambassador a man who had never been entangled in the lamentable history of Vichy and Algiers. But it is a capital error not to staff the embassy with men who have no prejudices from the bad past, against whom Frenchmen hold no prejudices from the bad past.

This is not an agreeable thing to report. But some one had to say what so many informed and responsible people in Paris know to be the truth. For we cannot afford to continue to misunderstand and to misjudge French policy if we are to make a workable settlement in Europe, and we shall misunderstand and misjudge it if we do not have an embassy staff that is capable of foreseeing correctly what is going to happen.

Business Review Says Business And Agriculture Are Sound Across State

DALLAS, Dec. 4 (AP) — The monthly business review of Federal Reserve bank of Dallas said today that business, agriculture and industry in Texas continued sound, with agriculture probably offering the brightest picture. The labor shortage persists.

Sales at department stores in the district increased from September to October and were about 10 per cent higher than in October, 1943.

Cash and credit sales showed an increase of 13 per cent over a year ago.

Crops in the district are larger than expected, and prices are good.

On Nov. 1 the Texas cotton crop was estimated by the department of agriculture at 2,600,000 bales, or 100,000 bales above the Oct. 1 estimate. This is below the 10-year average, however.

The corn crop exceeded previous expectations and the estimate was increased 2,500,000 bushels to 87,138,000 bushels for the season.

The pecan crop is almost double the average production.

Two Wrecks Here During Week-End

There were two wrecks over the week-end. One occurred Saturday at 10:30 p. m. at Owens and 3rd streets when a car driven by Joe Allen and one driven by L. L. Tedford collided. There were no injuries and damage to the cars was slight.

The second was at 10:30 p. m. Sunday at the intersection of 5th and Johnson. A cab driven by M. L. Reed and pick-up driven by Everett Leggett crashed. Mrs. Lonnie Mallarda and Mrs. Quincy Adams, who were riding with Leggett, were both injured and carried to a local hospital. The occupants of the cab were C. R. Thompson and Carlton Terry, neither of whom sustained any injuries. Both automobiles were badly smashed, police said.

This brings the total of automobile accidents up to five for the week-end.

Farm Leaders Gather To Attempt Solving Problem Of Cotton Future

By CLAIR JOHNSON
WASHINGTON, Dec. 4 (AP) — The nation's farm leaders gathered today in a broad effort to solve what some of them termed their biggest headache—the future of cotton.

Called together by the house subcommittee on postwar agriculture planning, they hope in a week-long conference to work out a formula for an industry described as "divided and disorganized x x x on the verge of destruction."

This description was offered by Subcommittee Chairman Pace (D-Ga.), who added:

"America's number one farm problem is to work out a future policy for cotton. Unless it can be solved the agricultural economy of the entire nation is imperiled."

"We hope to achieve an overall plan for cotton at this session. Then we will tackle other commodities, such as wool and grains, at similar conferences."

Pace reported the meeting would be conducted as "a fact-finding, government leaders and confiding hearing" with farm officials all asked to testify. Every phase of the cotton industry is represented, from the growers to the railroads and bankers.

Other nations are interested too. Several of them have obtained state department approval to have observers in attendance.

Some of the problems listed include:

1. An expected postwar surplus of 12 million bales of American cotton.
2. Competition of synthetics such as rayon.
3. Possibility of an international cotton agreement to divide up marketing and production.
4. How can cotton growers receive fair U.S. prices and still meet foreign competition in world markets?
5. Production needs, including the crop control program.

Two Bills For Road Building Head For FDR

By FRANCIS J. KELLY
WASHINGTON, Dec. 4 (AP) — Two big bills authorizing the spending of more than $2,500,000 in postwar road and river projects are headed toward the White House this week.

One sets up approximately a billion dollars for flood control, irrigation, power and navigation works on the nation's rivers. The other calls for spending $1,673,000,000 over a three-year period to improve the highways in anticipation of a post-war motoring boom.

Noting that the bills call for expenditure on millions of dollars in every state, a senate leader prophesied they will not be held up long in the conference committees where they were sent for adjustment of differences between the two houses.

"Too much plunder," he explained privately, with a worldly smile.

With both the senate and house hopeful of completing the session's work in the next couple of weeks, the senate resumed consideration of a $500,000,000 rivers and harbors authorization bill, companion to the billion-dollar flood control measure.

Although the rivers and harbors debate may drag along all week in the senate, it is likely that Chairman Thomas (D-Okla.) of the agriculture committee will ask unanimous consent for consideration of the crop insurance bill, passed by the house.

Jealousy Among Fighter Pilots Says Commander McCampbell

By ROBERT E. GEIGER
PACIFIC FLEET HEADQUARTERS, Pearl Harbor, Dec. 4 (AP) — There's a certain amount of jealousy among fighter pilots, says Comdr. David McCampbell, the Navy's 34-plane ace of aces, but after all, downing enemy planes is strictly a matter of teamwork.

"The guy who goes out alone doesn't get any confirmation," said Comdr. McCampbell of Los Angeles, "so I like to have someone along with me."

"Another thing to remember is that the leader always gets more shots at the enemy than other members of his squadron," he said at a press conference.

"When a single enemy comes at us, the group leader makes a pass at him. If he misses, then his wingman lets go. If he misses the next fellow in line gets a shot and so on."

Lt. Wayne Morris, the former movie actor and now a member of McCampbell's fighting squadron 15, said rivalry among flying men is like on a football team, and acts as a spur to achievement.

"You can't imagine what a naval battle is like," McCampbell declared, "without seeing one, but the second battle of the Philippines Sea reminded me of a gigantic Fourth of July display. Things like pinwheels were bursting. There were streamers in the air and phosphorus was blazing. There were all sorts of colors."

On Oct. 24, during the battle, he destroyed nine enemy ships in one hour and 35 minutes.

His outfit went through both battles of the Philippines Sea. It went into action in May, and since then 27 of the group's pilots have become aces. The group as a whole has downed 314 planes, and destroyed 348 more on the ground.

It has sunk 251,000 tons of enemy shipping, and probably sunk another 100,000 tons, as well as damaging 467,450 tons. Comdr. McCampbell's individual record of 34 is topped only by the 36 of Maj. Richard Bong, Army ace.

British Oppose World-Free Press

URBANA, Ill., Dec. 4 (AP) — The London economist's criticism of Kent Cooper's campaign for international freedom of access to news indicates that British news agencies fear competition without "special preferences," says Frederick S. Siebert, director of the University of Illinois school of Journalism.

Siebert, in a statement issued here, replied to an article in the British weekly publication which said that the campaign by Cooper, executive director of the Associated Press, was an American "attempt to dominate" world news.

Siebert said:

"The reasoning of the economist writer indicates that the British news agencies are fearful that they will not be able to compete with American news agencies in a world-wide basis unless they are given special preferences, especially in access to communication facilities and in transmission costs."

Icaza Testifies In Dorsey Trial

By FRANK FRAWLEY
LOS ANGELES, Dec. 4 (AP) — Antonio Icaza testified today that he saw Band leader Tommy Dorsey's pretty wife slash the handsome nose of Movie Actor Jon Hall with a 6-inch kitchen knife.

And with the same knife Allen Smily cut the left shoulder of Hall's coed, the Panamanian actor-sailor told the jury trying the sentimental gentleman of swing, his wife, Pat Dane, and their friend Smiley on charges of assaulting Hall.

Icaza pictures the Dorsey-Hall conflict at the swingmaster's apartment last Aug. 5 as a transient affair, moving from the balcony, through the dining room and into the living room.

Then Smiley appeared, said Icaza, and—

"I saw Smiley start to beat up Hall. He was behind Hall."

"What was Dorsey doing at that time?" asked Deputy District Attorney Edwin Myers.

"He had let loose of Hall and had a broken bottle in his hand. Hall was dizzy. Then Pat Dorsey cut Hall in the nose with a knife."

Icaza, flown here from Panama to testify, has filed a $40,000 damage suit against Dorsey for hurts he claims he suffered in the conflict.

Defense counsel let it seep out that they planned a "surprise" motion soon for dismissal of the assault charges.
