Local Re-Counts Requested

Deaf Smith County Democratic Chairman Robert Strain has reported that re-counts in two of last Saturday's elections will be conducted at 9 a.m. Monday in the county courtroom.

Strain said that Pct. 2 County Commissioner hopeful Jerry John Reyna has formally submitted a letter requesting a recount in his race against incumbent, and apparent winner, Austin Rose, while Rumaldo Garcia has formally requested a re-count in the Pct. 2 Chairman's Reyna was officially found to be a 394-357 loser to Rose in the election when Democratic Party officials canvassed the results Tuesday. But, the challenger posted the required $50 fee for the re-count, the first in the county since Bill Bradly defeated J.F. Martin for the Pct. 1 County Commission seat two years ago.

Garcia requested a re-count in the precinct chairman's race due to a misunderstanding by the election judge. Strain said. "Write-in votes are allowed in the county chairman and precinct chairman contests," Strain said. 'The judge misunderstood this, and thus didn't record any write-ins."

In another announcement, Strain reported that the time of the County Democratic Convention has been announced wrongly. The convention will be held at 2:30 p.m. Saturday, May 15 in the 222nd District Courtroom. The time had previously been announced as 7:30 p.m.

Local Democrats will be electing delegates to the State Convention at that time.

There are not many families in the "average" group, just as there are no families with 2.2 children or 1.4 cars in the garage. Statistics and realitites can be very different.

The government lists 13 percent of the country's households as poor-with income below $4,310 for a single person or $8,450 for a family of four. Of the families in this category receiving food stamps, the Census Bureau says 37 percent have no financial assets other than the value of their

White Receives Nomination

Temple Withdraws From Runoff

By KEN HERMAN

Associated Press Writer

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) -Railroad Commmissioner Buddy Temple, who was to face Attorney General Mark White in a runoff next month for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination, today pulled out of the race and gave the nomination to White.

Temple, a distant second in Saturday's primary, said he still felt he had a chance of winning the runoff, "But judging from the tone of the campaign just ended, it's clear that the runoff could degenerate into a bitter con-

"Such a struggle would leave the party spent and possibly divided - emotionally, financially and politically," Temple said at a Capitol news conference. "Whoever prevailed, it would be a hollow victory for the Democratic Party and its entire slate.

"What I am doing may be unique, but today Texas Democrats are in a sort of rebuilding process. I want my role in the party to be constructive, not destructive," he said. Temple said he was disappointed in his showing in the primary, particularly in Southeast Texas. The 40-year-old Diboll millionaire said he intended to campaign for the Democratic slate during the summer.

White will face Bill Clements, the state's first Republican governor since Reconstruction, November. Clements easily defeated retired insurance man Lowell "Duke" Embs, 52, of San Antonio in Saturday's GOP primary. Clements won more than 92 percent of the vote. Temple said, "I entered this race because I sincerely believed that Bill Clements must be replaced by a Democrat. It is a belief that I hold just as strongly today."

Temple becomes the second candidate to pull out of the Democratic runoff.

State Treasurer Warren G. Harding, who finished No. 2 in Saturday's primary for treasurer, announced Tuesday he was quitting the race. White captured about 44.7

percent of the votes in Saturday's Democratic gubernatorial primary, less than the majority needed to avert a runoff but enough to give him a hefty lead over the other five candidates.

Temple came away with 30.4 percent and Land Commissioner Bob Armstrong got 19.8 percent. With 6,255 of 6,256 precincts reporting, White had 583,495 votes to

Store Roof Collapses In Rainstorm, Killing One

LAWTON, Okla. (AP) - A section of a supermarket roof collapsed under the weight of rainwater Wednesday night, killing one woman and critically injuring another as thunderstorms flooded streets in southern Oklahoma, officials said.

"Water went to pouring in all over," said Bernice Noble, an assistant manager at the Humpty Dumpty supermarket. Officials said the roof over about one-third of the store fell in at about 6:20 p.m.

"There weren't many customers in the store - about 10 or 15 - because of the rainstorm," she said.

The dead woman wasn't immediately identified. The injured woman was identified as Helen Trivey, 27, a store employee.

About 4 inches of rain fell in Lawton Wednesday night, and streets were flooded in the southeastern Oklahoma town of Ada, where 5.75 inches of rain fell. Chickasha, south of Oklahoma City, had 3 inches of rain, and 2.71 inches were reported in Holdenville.

Another store employee, stocker Ray Anderson, said he was "about 30 feet from where it happened. I heard this sonic boom. I really don't think there were that many people in the said that "to agree to a ceasefire without a total withdrawal would leave the burglar with the spoils." He spoke to a news conference after meeting with NATO ministers and U.S. Defense Casper Secretary Weinberger.

He said Britain would continue to seek a peaceful solution through the United Nations, but added, "I must stress that these efforts can only be based on the precondition of Argentine withdrawal."

An Argentine Foreign Ministry source in Buenos Aires said Nott's statement "means that there is no diplomatic solution for the moment." The source asked not to be identified.

In London, Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher met with her Cabinet, and in New York, Britain's ambassador to the United Nations, Anthony Parsons, told the British Broadcasting Corp., that the Argentine statement Wednesday night was not an enormous breakthrough. I don't think anything has changed particularly here."

Foreign Secretary Francis Pym had told the House of Commons earlier that he and Secretary of State Alexander M. Haig Jr. were working on a new peace plan.

Argentina told U.N. Secretary-General Javier Perez de Cuellar on Wednesday night that "the Argentine government reiterates that it willing to negotiate a peaceful settlement" regarding the islands.

The Argentine communique did not say the junta accepted the substance of the secretary-general's proposals to settle the conflict over the British island colony Argentina seized April 2. But it said it "is willing to negotiate a peaceful solution."

Perez de Cuellar refused to make public his peace plan, but informed sources said it included a cease-fire, withdrawal of Argentine and British forces from the Falklands area and appointment of a U.N. administrator for the islands while negotiations resume to determine their future. The plan reportedly takes no position on the thorny sovereignty > issue. Pym told the House of Commons Haig's peace efforts were continuing and Britain made a "constructive contribution" to them Tuesday.

"A vital ingredient of the ideas on which we are working is an early cease-fire and the prompt withdrawal of Argentine forces," Pym said. He said the plan under discussion was an amalgam of proposals from Haig, Perez de Cuellar and Peruvian President Fernando Belaunde Terry, who made peace proposals last weekend.

Meanwhile, no new military action was reported in the South Atlantic battle zone Wednesday. Argentina drew the last blood Tuesday when one of its planes fired a missile that set fire to the British destroyer Sheffield, forcing its crew to abandon ship, and a British Harrier jet fighter was shot down and the pilot killed in an attack on one of the Falkland airstrips. The British government said at least 30 of the Sheffield's 270 crewmen were killed, and government sources said 57 mokre men were missing or wounded. The shattered hulk of the destroyer was reported still afloat Wednesday.

Two Argentine ships and a Chilean craft continued the search east of the tip of South America for about 350 sailors missing from Argentina's only cruiser, the General Belgrano, which a British submarine torpedoed and sank on Sunday. The Argentine government reported the rescue of 680 crewmen.

Press Association, Britain's domestic news agency, said two Argentine submarines were reported operating in the 200-mile war zone both nations declared around the Falklands, but it said the rest of the Argentine fleet was sailing back toward the mainland coast.

I call this piece, "A Guide Through Toys Past" or "Seven Reasons Why We Don't Need a $140 Video Game."

Indulge me, folks, while I reminisce about the toys of yesteryear that my children not only lusted for, but convinced us they could not possibly live without.

Horse. Remember him? He was brown and sucked up 80 gallons of water a day through his face. He was a lot of fun and lived with us for three years. He toed in and every time the farrier came to shoe him, it cost $45. No one wanted to pick the manure out of his feet because it was "gross." He attracted flies and did not like the sensation of anything on his back. He was ridden 12 times.

Ping Pong Table. It was a big table and held books, coats, dirty laundry, lunch sacks, stuff that had to go to the cleaners and stacks of old newspapers. You couldn't see the TV over it and it eventually went to the garage where it warped.

Patti Duncan Welcomed As New Lodge Member

Hereford Rebekah Lodge No. 228 met Tuesday evening with 27 members present.

With the rites of the Degree team, Patti Duncan was received as a new member of the Rebekah Degree, under the direction of team captain Ben Conklin.

Noble Grand Roberta Combs presided during the business meeting in which several members were reported sick. Also cheer cards were signed. Twentyfive visits to the sick were reported and 19 get-well cards were sent.

An announcement was made of the "Woodie McDermitt" Memorial Jamboree. The annual country western music show will be staged at 7:30 p.m. May 15 at the Odd Fellow Temple. Musicians who wish to take part in this memorial show may register with Jerry Hodges at the Sound Stage I.

Monday the lodge members will be traveling to Dimmitt for the State President's District No. 5 meeting with Edna Schuster.

Indian Art Exhibit Displayed

An American Indian art form can be seen in a new exhibit displayed at the Panhandle-Plains Historical Museum.

Beadwork from several tribes of native American Indians is represented in various colors and designs on clothing, and on artifacts used in connection with horses.

The exhibit, which is on the second floor of the Museum's Annex, contains beadwork dating from the early 1800's through the 1940's from the Great Lakes area to the southern plains of Texas.

Aesthetic and artistic values of these artifacts are the main theme of this exhibit, according to Carol Daffern, Curator of Exhibits at the Museum.

"The American Indian took a foreign object like a glass bead and turned it into an art form," she said.

The first display case contains a Crow woman's dress decorated with shells. A Sioux Woman's capelette and two girls' capelettes from the Sioux and Great Lakes area involve beadwork.

A general explanation is given of the exhibit stating that American Indians did

Mother's Day Bake Sale

Set Saturday

The Women G.I. Forum will hold a Mother's Day bake sale on Saturday from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. in Sugarland Mall. All types of baked goods will be featured.

Everyone is urged to come out and purchase a special Mother's Day treat for loved not make glass beads. They satisfied the universal human need for adornment with shells, stones, seeds, and a variety of objects found in nature until European traders introduced glass and metal beads. From that point until the present beadwork has become a hallmark of American Indian artistic expression.

A men's clothing case includes two buckskin leggings of Sioux and Comanche origin, a Cheyenne cloth legging, two buckskin vests from the Crow and Cheyenne tribes, and a cloth vest from the Great Lakes area.

Another case includes eleven pairs of moccasins of all sizes for men, women and children. Some are decorated with beads and dyed porcupine quills or rosettes. Several of the beads form designs of tipis, feathers, flowers and birds. One pair of burial or ceremonial mocassins are fully beaded, even the soles, and are to be worn only once for a very important occasion.

Explained in this case are two of the basic beading techniques the Indians used, Daffern said. The lazy stitch has an uneven, bumpy surface that made a geometric design. The Plains Indians often utilized this stitch. The spot stitch, used by Woodland and peripheral Plains tribes, has a smooth surface and allows for a floral design by forming curves and circles. The more heavily beaded garments were used for special occasions.

A Chippewa saddle pad is Daffern's personal favorite "because of the quality of workmanship, the intricate work of beads, and its artistic and aesthetic qualities."

Blackfeet guantlets, Sioux saddlebags, and a Southern Cheyenne rifle sheath are also a part of the case.

Bags of all kinds are the topping.

subject of one display. A few of the bags included are two "possible" bags from the Sioux and Southern Cheyenne Indians, a Cheyenne pipe bag, an Iroquois velvet pouch, an Arapaho cradleboard cover and a Chippewa shoulder bag.

A 'possible' bag is a catchall," Daffern said. "You wanted to."

finished the display in Mrach and it will show for about five months, Daffern said. Bobby Weaver, Curator of Ethnology, did the exhibit research.

Food Packaging Is Expensive

Consumers, the package your food comes in may be as expensive as the food in it, says Dr. Cass Ryan-Crowe, a food and nutrition specialist.

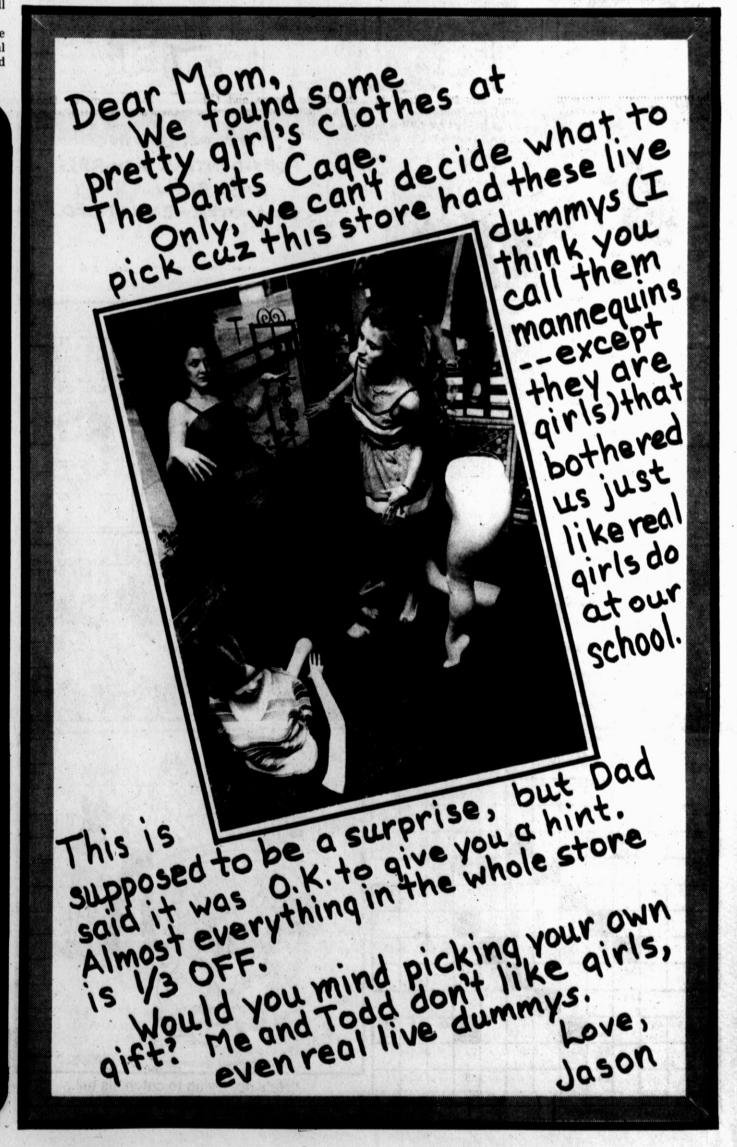

Ryan-Crowe is on the home economics staff of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

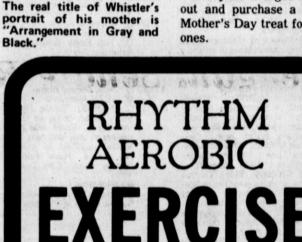

Ready-to-eat items like desserts, chips, syrups, gums and soft drinks have a packaging value twice that of the ingredient, the specialist explains.

Raw meat, produce, cheese and sugar packaging value may be as low as three to seven percent of the food ingredients, she points out. On the average, consumers spend $1 out of every $11 on packages and containers,

Student Overcomes Difficult Situation

By LINDA CAUDLE

Family News Editor Being selected as a twirler your freshman year in college is pretty exciting, but when you have a cast on your leg and are not even able to try out in person, mere excitement is an understatement. So it is in the case of Mendy Rogers,17 year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ken Rogers.

Two weeks ago, when Mendy was getting off the bus as the Hereford High School band returned from UIL contest in Amarillo, her mother met her and handed her a let-

"I saw the return address." says Mendy, "and was so nervous as I opened the letter. The first word was 'Congratulations' and I screamed so loud everyone knew I'd made it."

"It was a miracle! When I broke my leg, I just gave up hope of being a twirler next year," explains Mendy. She was scheduled to compete at Regional twirling contest in March, right after the accident, which happened in Winter Park, Colo. on a ski trip with the youth group of First Baptist Church.

"It was our first day out," recalls Mendy, "and we had just gone to the top of the mountain. I was the first one

Selected as Twirler

Mendy Rogers, shown with a few of the twirling trophies she has won, was recently notified that she has been chosen to be a twirler at Angelo State University, where she will be a freshman in the fall. What makes Mendy's situation especially unique is that her right leg to start down and then had a bad fall. At first I thought I'd be able to get up in a minute. but when my leg started swelling and the pain got worse, I asked my friends to get the Ski Patrol.

"They put my leg in a split and pulled me down the mountain on a sled. I then went to a clinic and had a cast put on my leg, which went way up over my knee. I broke both bones in the lower part of my right leg."

"The snow was just fantastic, and I had been skiing for 13 years," says Mendy. "I guess I was just enjoying it too much."

The chances seemed impossible, but with the support and encouragement of her family, Mendy visited Angelo State University in San Angelo, where she had always wanted to go to college, and had an interview with the band director, Harris Brinson.

Home movies, taken by her father during football season, were sent and Mendy's twirling teacher, Rhena Cooper of Canyon, former feature twirler at West Texas State University, as well as one of the judges who had seen Mendy twirl at contests, talked with Brinson, explaining her abilities, experience, and accomplishments.

Mendy will received a scholarship of $100 per semester which increases each year according to ability and number of years in school. She plans to major in some area of business. Her uncle is a professor at Angelo State and her mother and father both grew up near there so Mendy had visited in the area quite often. "I always thought I'd end up there," comments Mendy. "I love the country."

Mendy has been twirling in school for five years, at La Plata Junior High for two years and Hereford High School the last three. She played varsity tennis her sophomore year and has one brother, Blair, who is 16 years old.

Having taken twirling lessons and participating in contests since she was in the fifth grade, Mendy began taking lessons from Rhena Cooper when she was in eighth grade.

She has competed in a number of twirling contests, mostly in Canyon, Plainview, and the Lubbock and Amarillo areas, and has earned 23 trophies, 11 first place and the rest second and third place, as well as several medals.

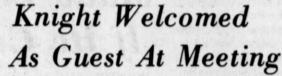

She has won three titles, including Miss Llano-Estacado. Miss Golden Spread, and Miss Tri-State.

Mendy has competed at State the past three years, placing in the top ten last year at Lubbock. She has also competed at Regionals, which includes a five-state area, the last three years and at National's last summer.

At Regional, State, and National competition, participants are interviewed, and judged not only on twirling and modeling skills, but on poise, personality, manners, and content of answers during the interview.

Mendy hopes she will be able to have the cast taken off in the next week or two, but there are no promises. The doctor had first said three or four months, so nine weeks wouldn't be that bad anyway. She is anxious to get back on both her feet and start practicing her twirling routines again. She will be able to compete in contests until her twentieth birthday, and would really like to win the Regional or State title

MR. AND MRS. C.T. DOUGLAS ...Observe 50th Anniversary

Friends Are Invited To Anniversary Reception

Mr. and Mrs. C.T. Douglas of Plainview, former residents of the Hereford area, will celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary Sunday afternoon. Friends are invited to a reception between 2 and 4:30 p.m. at the couple's home in Plainview, 2400 West 19th St.

The Douglas' two sons and daughter and their families are hosting the reception. They include Mr. and Mrs. Don Douglas of Hereford, Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Douglas of Plainview, Mr. and Mrs. John Palmer of Independence, Kan., 10 grandchildren, and five great-grandchildren.

Married May 10, 1932 in Oklahoma, they lived in the Westway and Bippus Communities near Hereford for 11 years before moving to Plainview about five years ago. Mr. Douglas was engaged in the farming and ranching business before his retirement. Mrs. Douglas was a member of the Farm and Ranch Club and Bippus Extension Homemakers Club while living here, and both

Ann Landers

Sentenced To Equal Treatment

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I have read several letters in your column about people who have abused animals. Those letters made me so sad I have actually wept. Today I read something that made me stand up and cheer, "God bless that judge!" I'm asking you to print it. It might start a national trend that could result in better treatment for animals everywhere.

A man convicted of abandoning four puppies at the city dump in sub-zero weather was sentenced to the same treatment-two nights with the frozen garbage. Judge Wallace Anctil said, "That kind of treatment shouldn't be given to an animal or any human being, but I felt he should get a taste of it. He'll be rather lonely and cold."

This happened in northern New Hampshire, which speaks very well for the kind of justice they hand out there. What do you say, Ann?-

Applause From New Haven DEAR NEW HAVEN: Wallace is my kind of judge. I think in all fairness, however, we should tell the readers that the offender had a choice of paying a fine of $200 or spending two consecutive nights at the city dump-from 5 p.m. to 5 a.m. Also he was to be consulted periodicallyby a police officer to see if he would prefer to pay the fine. The most recent word was that he chose the garbage

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I would like to comment on a trend. I believe is a big mistake. I refer to women waiting until they are in their 30s and even 40s to have children.

I was born when my mother was 42, and this is what it is like with us "late dividends"-as we were called. Our fathers rarely live to see us through high school.

We never know our grandparents-they are long gone. When we get to a marriageable age, we feel guilty about leaving mama-so we ask mama to move in with us. This can be very hard on a new husband.

Please, Ann, urge women to have their children when they are young. That's what the Lord intended.-Out Of Sync In Hagerstown

DEAR SYNC: Some delay women who motherhood say it is wonderful idea.

Others are on your site. But just between you and me, wouldn't you rather be born late than never?

Sutter Setting Pace For Saves In Season

By WILLIAM R. BARNARD AP Sports Writer

Bruce Sutter, who is setting a record pace for saves in one season, says the St. Louis Cardinals can be more successful this year if he's not the only man they depend on in the bullpen.

"I've been saying all along that you can't win with one man in the bullpen," Sutter said Wednesday after he picked up his 10th save as St. Louis beat the Chicago Cubs 7-6. "You've got to have at least two. The ideal situation would be three or four."

Sutter struck out two and gave up no hits in the ninth inning to help the Cardinals win their fourth straight victory and hand the Cubs their fourth consecutive defeat. If he keeps collecting saves as he has in St. Louis' first 27 games, Sutter would have 60 for the season, 22 more than

Baines Redeems Error With Two-Run Homer

By KEN RAPPOPORT

AP Sports Writer It started out as a bad night for Harold Baines. Then it turned into a good one with one swing of his bat. The Chicago White Sox right fielder misplayed a fly ball in the third inning Wednesday night that allowed the Toronto Blue Jays to take a 1-0 lead.

But he made up for the mistake in the seventh with a game-winning, two-run homer that led the White Sox to a 4-1 victory.

Baines' shot was followed by successive homers by Jim Morrison and Bill Almon and marked the first time the White Sox had hit three homers in an inning since Ju-

Texas left fielder Billy Sample let Herndon's hit get by him for an error, allowing Turner to come home with the Tigers' final run.

Davis Outlines Goals For Buff Athletics

ty head football coach Don Davis, who will also assume the athletic director's duties at the school June'1, spoke to the Hereford Lions Ciùb Wednesday, outlining briefly some of the goals he has set coach. They included starting an endowment fund, putting together a solid coaching staff to create an exciting brand of football, and a promotions program to put WTSU in the spotlight.

The coach said he wanted an endowment fund "that wound appeal to everyone, not just athletes," and that such a fund shows a "tremendous amount of promise."

Davis told the Lions that he

His staff, he says, is aiming at improving the Buffs' passing game to "create an exciting brand of football." "This will help in recruiting," he said. "I don't care where in America you find a young quarterback. He'll know where Brigham Young University is because of its notoriety for passing. That's the kind of identification factor we're looking for at WTSU."

The Buffs have hired a promoter through Quarterback Club funding, and Davis says that television spots are being taped now for showing later this year to help bolster season ticket sales.

"This is an opportunity for WTSU to blend conservative, proven principles with creative thinking to create a hybrid which will grow and flourish in the future," Davis

"I know it's just an ugly rumor that you and I are the only ones left who saw Abner Doubleday throw out the first ball." President Ronald Reagan told Perry from the White House on Wednesday.

Reagan, at 71 the oldest man to serve as president. told Perry, 43, the oldest player in the major leagues, "I don't celebrate birthdays anymore, I celebrate anniversaries of my 39th birthday."

Perry told Reagan, "You're still a young man, too," and sent his regards to Reagan's wife, Nancy. Perry campaigned with the Reagans when Reagan was seeking a second term as governor of California.

Reagan's phone call came during a press conference at which Perry said he was more excited than nervous about approaching his 300th

"To win 300 games you have to have a long career," Perry said. "You have to stay healthy and stay away from injuries. I've been fortunate enough to do so."

Perry, who picked up No.299 last Friday in New York's Yankee Stadium, is scheduled to get his first crack tonight at becoming the 15th pitcher to reach the 300 mark. The Yankees again will oppose Perry and the Seattle Mariners, this time in the Kingdome.

"I hope there's a big crowd," Perry said. "I want to pitch well. If I had any special tricks and told you, you just might tell Mr. Michael (Yankees Manager Gene Michael). I think I'll keep it to myself."

displayed Reagan familiarity with Perry's accomplishments, citing him as the only pitcher to win the Cy Young award in each major league.

When the president hung up, Perry, a North Carolina peanut farmer in the offseason, said, "I forgot to tell him about the farm bill."

In the off season, Perry is a peanut farmer in North Carolina.

"I happen to know him and Nancy very well," Perry said of Reagan. "I traveled with him as a member of his sports committee when I was with the San Francisco,

As for his next victory, Perry said his teammates who aren't in the starting lineup have been coming to him to ask for a chance to play in his next game.

"I tell them I'm just a player," he said.

But he admitted the coming game has caused some unusual side effects.

"It's been a little different the the past few days. There have been more of you people around," he told journalists at the news conference.

While Perry said he wasn't especially nervous about going for No.300, he said he hoped the Mariners would score some runs early against the Yankees.

Still, "I've always thought I pitched well under pressure," he said. "I've pitched Waco Richfield of Class 5A forfeited all of its victories Tuesday after turning itself in to the District 15 committee for using Don Neumann, a shortstop and pitcher who was ruled to be residing outside the Richfield boundaries.

The forfeits enabled Waco University to claim the district championship without the originally scheduled four-team playoffs for the title.

The ineligible player meant Richfield forfeited two regular-season victories over University, giving University the second-half title outright and a tie for the first-half championship.

Without the victories, University and Temple had tied for the second-half title and would have played Tuesday night. Ellison and Richfield would have tied for the first-half title and were to have played Wednesday.

Because of the forfeits Ellison, Richfield and Temple are now out of the picture and University goes to the bidistrict playoffs in two

"There's nothing I could say that I would want printed," Temple coach Larry Hennig was quoted in the Waco Tribune-Herald as saving.

Waco Independent School District Superintendent Frank Cudlaty said, "It was an honest mistake on the part of the people who certified the boy's eligibility. We regret it very much. It was an honest mistake."

The newspaper said an anonymous call to a Waco school principal prompted the investigation. Newman was an all-state pitcher Reicher last year.

Comparative Shares in the Major Industrial Countries

Government spending claims a large share of American wealth, but it could be worse. It is in most of the other major industrial democracies. Averaging annual government spending during the decade of the '70s, only Japan shows a lower a percentage of national output than the United States.

Pioneer Reports Earnings Higher In First Quarter

AMARILLO, Texas --Pioneer Corporation (NYSE) reported today that earnings for the first quarter of 1982 were higher than those for the first quarter of last year. The Amarillo-based energy-oriented corporation has now recorded 13 conearnings improved over those for a year earlier.

For the first three months of 1982, Pioneer earned 81 cents per share, an increase of 3.8 percent form the 78 cents per share earned in the first quarter of 1981. Net insecutive quarters in which come for the quarter was

Army To Destroy Abandoned Shell

CUERO, Texas (AP) -Military experts say they will destroy the 81 millimeter projectile that someone jettisoned in the Guadalupe River.

"We'll just get rid of it because it never could be used by the Army," Sgt. 1st Class Gary Owen of the 137th Ordnance Group, headquartered at the Corpus Christi Army Depot, said Wednesday.

Texas Highway Department workmen building a bridge over the river two miles outside Cuero on the Old San Antonio Highway scooped up the 21-inch long Army green projectile while dredging the bottom of the river on Tuesday. Construction was halted until Owen and another ammunition expert explored the river bottom with metal detectors to assure no other projectiles were in the area.

Owen said it was "very doubtful' that the shell, manufactured in 1971, could have exploded.

"The thing had never been fired. The fuse was never armed," Owen said.

"It was found almost in the center of the Guadalupe River. We got down there and looked around with metal detectors. But we didn't find anything more."

Lasaro Campus, chief deputy in DeWitt County, said Wednesday that Army officials in San Antonio were trying to trace the origin of the shell by using lot numbers inscribed on it.

"We're still awaiting word from the armed forces," Campos said.

Officials were looking into the possibility that the projectile could have been stolen from Fort Hood more than a year ago," Owen said.

DPS trooper David McEathron said the projectile "looked like a little rocket, mostly green with a gray-colored nose cone and little fins on the back end like Capt. Jeffe W. Gunn, 65, of Tavernier, Fla., and Second Mate Daniel P. Lynch, 54, of Corpus Christi, were ordered by U.S. Administrative Law Judge Thomas McElligott to turn their licenses over to the nearest Coast Guard Station.

Gunn pleaded guilty to a charge of failing to slow his vessel, the 811-foot Delta Norte, in fog shortly before the Feb. 19 collision.

$29.8 million, up 2.2 percent when compared with $29.2 million a year ago.

In announcing the first quarter's results of the annual shareholders meeting today, Pioneer's chief ex= ecutive officer and chairman K.B. Watson said that several occurrences, including court decisions, have clarified the mineral interest in certain oil and gas producing properties owned by a subsidiary of the corporation. As a result of that clarification, the reserves owned by the corporation have been increased by about 170 percent. The use of the greater reserves in computing depletion udner the full cost accounting method decreased depletion charges for the quarter by $4.8 million, thereby incrasing net income by $2.5 million, or seven cents per share.

also told Watson shareholders that the earnings for the quarter were particularly affected by a reduction in special contract sales of natural gas and by lower prices for natural gas liquids. Liquids prices did, however, increase from March to April, he said. The consolidated revenues of Pioneer and its subsidiaries amounted to $302.4 million for the first quarter of this year, an increase of 4.9 percent from $288.2 million a vear ago.

The directors of Pioneer, meeting in conjunction with the annual meeting, declared today a regular quarterly dividend of 25 cents per share, payable June 2 to stockholders of record May

Kidnapping Suspect Shot To Death

MIRA, La. (AP) - A northwest Louisiana sheriff believes 9-year-old Jennifer Rebecca Barden was left behind in Missouri by a fugitive kidnapping suspect who was shot to death a by young mother here Wednesday.

Sheriff Dan Hathaway of Caddo Parish said his office would not charge Kay Claytop, 23, who killed Billy D. Wilson, 27, after he broke into in her rural home about 10 miles from the Arkansas border.

"The intruder turned on her and sort of made a noise that sounded like a growl and "I think there is very little hope now," said Sheriff Maurice Robison of Caldwell County, Mo., after learning Wilson was killed.

The missing girl's stepfather, Ronald Nelson, said the "tragedy is nobody will get to ask him where she is. I didn't want this man dead ... until after we found our daughter."

"I'm thrilled in the sense he (Wilson) got what was coming to him," said Mayor Tom Gallagher of Gallatin. "A lot of people around here said it's too bad it was so fast. They wanted to see him suffer as much as this little girl."

"From what I've heard, that's sort of the drift of information coming to us," Hathaway said. "We know when they attempted to apprehend them in Texas, they were able to follow the vehicle and saw both men jump out and she wasn't with them at that point." He said it seemed the consensus, too, that "if Billy Wilson did commit the incident, he did it on his own." The sheriff said he had no idea what brought Wilson to this out-of-the-way northwest Louisiana community, about midway between Shreveport, La., and Texarkana, Ark. "We really have no idea why he was in north Louisiana. There was some speculation he might have had a former girl friend somewhere in north Leuisiana, but we have no evidence to support that."

Hathaway said a man believed to be Wilson first went to the Clayton home about midnight, asking to use the phone to report car trouble. The sheriff said Mrs. Clayton's husband was at work - he sells and installs burglar bars - and she was alone with their two daughters, so she refused.

Hathaway said Wilson returned to the Clayton home, removed a window pane and let himself inside.

"Mrs. Clayton Clayton got up, picked up the weapon, walked through the house and confronted him in the living room," the sheriff said.

A sheriff's investigator said Wilson was as close as 6 feet to Mrs. Clayton when she After shooting him, said investigator Bob Teros, Mrs. Clayton grabbed her daughters and ran screaming to a neighbor's house to telephone deputies.

"She just came out here her and her little girls screaming that somebody broke into her house," said Lillie Nicholls, the neighbor. "She just came out here screaming and crying. Her children said somebody had broken into her house."

Hathaway said his office would file no charges against Mrs. Clayton.

"As far as the situation here goes, from our viewpoint, it was purely an act of self defense and I certainly feel confident no charges will be filed, although that's the prerogative of the district attorney," he said.

"Heloise is famous for recycling anything and everything and 'don't throw anything away,' so what's wrong with recycling a brilliant idea?" she said. "An example is yesterday morning I was cleaning the kitchen counter and I thought, 'Oh, I wrote a column three or four years ago on cleaning kitchen counters and I need to re-turn that idea.' But I don't go and pull the same column and run it. I just rewrite the idea.

"It's not running an old column. There are just so many ideas. If you didn't read it that one day four years ago, why should you be denied learning about it because it was an idea that was in a column four years ago?"

She said she does draw on ideas accumulated over the 24 years she and her late

"When I write a column, what I call a headline, that starts off 'Dear Readers,' I will say 'four years ago mother printed a recipe on how to make Peking Duck and here it is again because you all want it so much. We've got so many requests...

"I want people to understand, no, I don't recycle the same letter," she said. "But if it's the same idea or with a little bit of a different twist, we'll print it in a year or so, or more often, depending on if the readers want it. "Why we'll reprint really good hints more often, is say, you're single and don't have any kids. You're not interested in baby hints at all. You're not even going to read them. But as soon as you get married and pregnant, you're going to want to read every baby hint in the book. The same is true of new parents, homemakers, new bachelors."
