Saturday's local election gave approval to an unopposed incumbent mayor, named two to the Hereford city commission, put three persons on the hospital board, but left one of two seats in the school trustee race to be determined in a runoff election.

SCHOOL BOARD

A runoff between Steve Coneway and Margaret Marshall, seeking the District 1 seat, will be called tonight

In Dist. 3 school bid at the Hereford school trustee meeting. No date has been officially set, but May 4 is being considered. Coneway won the race by plurality with 92 votes, but held only 45 percent of the 205 ballots cast in that district. Marshall gathered approximately 34 percent of the votes in that district with 69 votes.

Out of contention is Sammy Gonzales, who drew 44 votes.

Bud Patterson won the majority in District 3 with 319 votes, or 67.5 percent of the 473 total ballots cast. Mary Parker received 154 votes, or approximately 32.5 percent of the total.

CITY ELECTION

Mayor Wes Fisher received approval from approximately 89 percent of 1,009 ballots cast in the city election. The incumbent was re-elected with 897 votes.

Joe Reinauer Jr., an appointed incumbent, was voted into Place 1 of the city commission with approximately 67 percent of the vote. He received 660 votes of the 981 cast for that ticket. Robert Rhoton received 321 votes.

Tom LeGate took 65 percent, or 639, of the 983 votes cast for Place 2 on the city commission. Mark Kelley received 344 votes, or about 35 percent of the total ballots cast.

HOSPITAL BOARD

Dr. Gerald Payne, an incumbent, drew 1,034 votes in the at-large election to keep his spot on the Deaf Smith General Hospital board.

Also placed on the board were the next highest vote-getters, Dr. H.A. Cavness with 889 votes and Rev. Charles Threewit with 825 votes.

Dr. Charles Allison, also an incumbent, lost his seat on the board. He collected 524 votes. David Workman's candidacy drew 394 votes.

Commission acts on routine agenda

By KIM THOGMARTIN
Staff Writer

Deaf Smith County Commissioners covered a lengthy agenda of mostly routine items Monday, making two board appointments and authorizing several expenditures.

Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce Executive Secretary Mike Carr was appointed to another three-year term to the Panhandle Regional Housing Finance Corporation. The board is made up of representatives from 22 Panhandle counties and three cities for the purpose of providing low-interest loans to first-time home buyers or builders.

Carr said the program also applies to families who have not owned a home for the past three years. Carr was named to the board when it was founded in 1981 and will serve another three-year term.

Commissioners learned about a telephone system for the sheriff's department that could be provided by AT&T for $339 a month based on a 48-month lease. The current system will need to be re-done because of jail renovations.

Gary Riddle, representing the phone company, told the court that after the contracted lease period, the county could buy the equipment for 10 to 15 percent of the original cost or continue leasing at half the initial rate. Commissioners delayed action on the offered contract until the next meeting, April 22.

Troy Don Moore was appointed to replace Bruce Coleman on the Deaf Smith County Tax Appraisal Board. On a related matter, County Clerk David Ruland told the court about a bill that would take away the right of

Walcott candidate waives contest

A Walcott school board candidate who needed just one vote to tie with the next highest vote getter has decided not to contest Saturday's election.

Gary Coleman, one of six candidates for the two seats up for election on the seven-member at-large board, announced at Monday's meeting of the Walcott Independent School District Board that he will not contest the results of balloting in that small community west of Hereford.

Coleman garnered 33 votes to Susan Perrin's 34. Top vote getter was Jack White with 46. Perrin and White were sworn in Monday night, replacing incumbents Dan Hall and Gerald Teel who were defeated in their re-election bids.

The possibility of the election being contested was based not only on the closeness of the vote but due to the fact that there were two persons who probably voted illegally at Walcott. The couple in question had recently moved to Hereford and there was an apparent misunderstanding about where they should legally vote.

Deaf Smith County Criminal District Attorney Roland Saul, County Clerk David Ruland and Sheriff Joe Brown were invited to confer with the board at Monday's meeting.

Saul said he told the board, which had met to canvass the results, that its function is simply a "ministerial" one, to receive the results and declare them official. He said the school board is expected to approve the election as conducted by the election judges, and only a candidate has the authority to contest an election.

Hall received 13 votes, Teel 11 and Stan Solomon, six.

Walcott School Superintendent Eddie Derr said he believes Coleman made the decision to avoid causing "a split in the community."

"I believe sincerely that neither Mrs. Perrin nor Mr. Coleman are happy that the vote came out the way it did, but they both are willing to do

Homeowners surprised tax not paid

DALLAS (AP) — More than 100,000 Texas homeowners' city, county and school taxes were late or may be delinquent because of delays in tax payments by 255 Texas mortgage lenders, officials say.

The delays were apparently caused by massive computer problems, Assistant Texas Attorney General Steve Gardner said Monday.

At the least, the taxpayers will be unable to deduct their tax payments on 1984 federal income tax returns, Gardner told the Dallas Times Herald. In addition, they might be subject to penalties because of late payments.

At the worst, some homeowners could face delinquency notices that threaten the eventual loss of their homes, he said.

"It's a huge problem," Gardner said. "That's why we're trying to work with them (the lenders) if we can."

Because of the computer problems, many lenders missed a Jan. 1 deadline for paying local taxes, he said. After Jan. 31, a taxpayer can be found to be delinquent if local taxes have not been paid.

Since the Jan. 31 deadline, some tax payments have been made, he said.

A mortgage lender typically collects a homeowner's property taxes during the year as part of the total monthly mortgage payment.

Nakasone appeals to consumer

TOKYO (AP) — Prime Minister Yasuhiro Nakasone, warning that protectionism by trading partners threatens Japan's economic potential, appealed to consumers today to buy more imports, and told businesses that emphasis on exports alone will not lead to solid trade relations.

Nakasone spoke after an economic committee approved a three-year plan to open Japan's markets to foreign products.

The program indicated Japan had yielded to some U.S. requests for greater access to its huge telecommunications market, including undetermined number of jalapeno peppers to the troops.

The Texas troops arrived in Honduras a week ago to participate in war maneuvers that White said would "demonstrate we are an effective fighting force should we be called to the defense of our nation."

White arrived in the Honduran capital Monday aboard an Air Force C-130 Hercules loaded with reporters to observe the Texas troops in action.

He was expected to return to the Honduran capital this afternoon before flying to Panama where he was to visit the U.S. military command headquarters. He was scheduled to return to Texas late Wednesday.

On his arrival in the Honduran capital, White was greeted by U.S. ambassador to Honduras John Negroponte and a mob of reporters. He was immediately whisked to a military base near Tegucigalpa, where he was briefed on the war games by U.S. military officials.

White emerged from the briefing, saying he was satisfied that all possible precautions were being taken to

TDA phone survey begins

Starting today, about 400 randomly selected businesses in Deaf Smith and Swisher Counties will be contacted for opinions on how a proposed high-level nuclear waste repository would affect the local economy.

The telephone survey is sponsored by the Texas Department of Agriculture and the Governor's Office as part of research being done to evaluate the impact of a repository. The results will be available in late May and will be included in the state's official response to the U.S. Department of Energy's draft environmental assessments for Texas and be used as a resource for state officials in determining their opinions on the issue.

Dr. Julie Brody, from the TDA office of research and policy planning, is supervising the survey.

Businesses which will be called have been contacted by letter.

According to Brodie, each interview will last about 15 minutes and can be conducted in Spanish or English. Answers will be kept in complete confidence.

The survey will ask for some general information, such as what the business produces and what it purchases. Inquiries will further address what economic changes the business owner expects to see with the implementation of site characterization or with location of a repository.

Brodie said most of the results will be reported in percentage form and the results will be carefully compiled in a manner which will not disclose any business' identity.

In two earlier surveys conducted by the Governor's Office and TDA the response rate was 91 percent, Brodie said, adding that such a response to a half-hour long interview was considered excellent.

Hot comments by U.S. cooled off

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (AP) — After trading hot charges with the Soviet Union on its offer to freeze missile deployments in Europe, the Reagan administration is cooling its rhetoric and emphasizing that the two superpowers are working together on mutual problems.

"The escalation stops here," said White House deputy press secretary Larry Speakes on Monday. "You can't whip this horse anymore."

The low-key approach was in stark contrast to a statement a day earlier by Robert C. McFarlane, the president's national security adviser. In unusually blunt language, he called the Soviet offer disappointing and said it was "a guise, a snare, a delusion" and added, "We had hoped for better."

McFarlane's tough words came after he met for three hours with President Reagan, vacationing at his mountaintop ranch. Television camera crews and correspondents were summoned to his hotel room and given an opportunity to question him in separate interviews.

The charges and countercharges were latched off Sunday when Soviet chief Mikhail Gorbachev said he had ordered a halt of deployment of medium-range nuclear missiles in Europe until November. He called on the United States to match the offer.

The Reagan administration immediately rejected the proposal, saying it merely would lock into place a substantial Soviet edge in warheads. In response, the Kremlin issued a statement through the news agency Tass, accusing Washington of following a "an irresponsible and dangerous policy" and saying the U.S. claim of Soviet missile superiority was "a gross lie."

Speakes refused to fire another volley. "Got nothing to add to it," he said.

Thefts, mischief top reports

Hereford police were busied with several thefts and criminal mischief cases during the weekend and Monday.

Saturday, a theft of a $110 bike was reported from 344 Douglas, a convenience store reported $10 worth of gasoline stolen, and in a burglary of a vehicle $175 in sound equipment was taken.

Police checked a broken window report, and two incidents of eggs thrown at private property.

A prowler was reported in the 300 block of Avenue D and two civil disputes filed.

Six persons were arrested for public intoxication and two for driving while intoxicated.

Hereford Welding reported over $1,000 in equipment taken in a burglary. Missing are mig guns, amp ground clamps and electrode holders.

Also in Monday's reports, a theft of a purse containing a watch and credit cards was reported. Police checked a report of a dog problem in the 600 block of Ave. J.

Governor to tour Texas Guard camp in Honduras

TEGUCIGALPA, Honduras (AP) — Gov. Mark White today was scheduled to tour military base camps where Texas National Guard troops are conducting war maneuvers with other American and Honduran soldiers three miles from the Nicaraguan border.

White planned to deliver 400 pounds of barbecued beef to Texas troops taking part in Big Pine III exercises.

The governor also was to carry 500 pounds of tortillas, 100 pounds of pin-to beans, barbecue sauce and an undetermined number of jalapeno peppers to the troops.

The Texas troops arrived in Honduras a week ago to participate in war maneuvers that White said would "demonstrate we are an effective fighting force should we be called to the defense of our nation."

White arrived in the Honduran capital Monday aboard an Air Force C-130 Hercules loaded with reporters to observe the Texas troops in action.

He was expected to return to the Honduran capital this afternoon before flying to Panama where he was to visit the U.S. military command headquarters. He was scheduled to return to Texas late Wednesday.

On his arrival in the Honduran capital, White was greeted by U.S. ambassador to Honduras John Negroponte and a mob of reporters. He was immediately whisked to a military base near Tegucigalpa, where he was briefed on the war games by U.S. military officials.

White emerged from the briefing, saying he was satisfied that all possible precautions were being taken to ensure the safety of the Texas troops. "I'm impressed that they not only did what they told us, they've gone further than that," he said.

White was invited to Central America by the Department of Defense after giving his permission for the Texas guardsmen to participate in the war games.

The guard's involvement has been highly publicized because of the proximity of their base camp, which they call "the Alamo," to the Nicaraguan border and the possibility of a confrontation with Nicaragua's leftist Sandinista troops.

Other than a small public affairs contingent from Connecticut, Texas is the only state with guard troops in Big Pine III. The Texas troops will be playing the role of the aggressor in the games, staging a mock attack on Honduras from near Nicaragua.

The governor said his three-day trip was designed to show support for the troops and "let them know the seriousness of the mission."

4 Around the County

By SUSAN RANEY
County Extension Agent

It seems that every other article I write for this news column has something to do with 4-H Record Books! I guess it's because record books are such an important part of being a 4-H member and so many good things result because of a 4-Hers good record keeping skills.

Things have changed a bit, however, and the National 4-H Council in Washington, D.C. has revised the senior 4-H report form. Even though it looks complicated, it's actually a more simplified and concise form to use. In turn, each Extension District in Texas has revised their junior report forms as well.

That means all of us - agents, leaders parents and 4-H members - need to be trained in the area of 4-H record books once again!

I just returned from a training in March held at the scenic Texas 4-H Center in Brownwood. There, I attended an action-packed, intense two-day training on every thing imaginable concerning record books. So now it's my turn to do the training.

Of course I can't provide the same atmosphere as the State 4-H Center did, it's lovely lake and beautiful surroundings; but I can get some of the same information across to those wishing to learn. Here's the plan!

Thursday - 4-H Record Book Leader Training. 7 a.m. Game Room of Community Center. For 4-H Organizational and Project Leaders.

Tuesday, April 23 - District Record Book Leader Training 7 p.m. Randall County Courthouse, Canyon. For 4-H leaders & interested members and parents—Jr. record forms will be discussed.

Record book workshops for members (These are for 4-H members to help them put together their record books) Wed. April 24 - 4 p.m., Lounge, Comm. Center.

Tuesday, May 21 - 4-5:30 p.m. and 7-8:30 p.m. - Lounge, Comm. Center.
Tuesday, May 28 - Same schedule as listed for May 21.

Monday, June 10 - 10 a.m. - 12 noon Game Room, Comm. Center.

Monday, June 17 - 10 a.m. - 12 noon - Game room, Community Center.

County 4-H Record Books are due July 11, at 5 p.m. For additional information on record book trainings, workshops, or deadline dates, contact Susan N. Raney at the County Extension Office.

Educational programs conducted by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service serve people of all ages regardless of socio-economic levels, race, color, sex, religion, handicap or national origin.

Herb pills dangerous

COLLEGE STATION - Herbs will add flavor and variety to meals. But herb pills and formulas are not special remedies for nutrition or health problems, and may be dangerous, says a Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service nutritionist.

Herbal remedies have been touted as good for any number of problems from arthritis to obesity, says Mary K. Sweeten. Often sold in health food stores or by people who sell vitamins out of their homes, they are claimed to be "natural" formulas.

"If these formulas contained nothing but herbs, they would probably be harmless, so consumers would simply be spending their money for diet aids which have no nutritional value," she maintains.

However, the Food and Drug Administration (FDA) recently recalled a herb pill supplement product because it contained three powerful drugs in potentially dangerous doses, although the label listed only herbs as ingredients.

According to Sweeten, the government analysis revealed that each herbal pill contained an arthritis drug, a potent diuretic and a tranquilizer. The label suggested taking only 4 pills each day.

Calendar

DEAR POLLY - My 4-year-old is always so anxious to know exactly when things are going to happen. After being asked 100 or more times when his birthday would get here, I made him a construction paper calendar and put an "X" on the big day. Each evening, we decorated the day's date with cotton balls for clouds, paper suns, lightning or other symbols for whatever the day's weather was like, gradually working our way toward the birthday.

He enjoyed this so much that we've continued it. Each month we use a theme. If there is a holiday like Halloween or Christmas that month, we cut out little decorations to glue on each evening. We usually make all the decorations on the first day of the month, and I keep them in an envelope clipped to the refrigerator above his calendar.

The calendar has eliminated his questioning about when things will happen. He has learned numbers better and has something to look forward to each evening. This Christmas, one of his gifts will be his very own calendar to continue to decorate daily. — JODY

DEAR JODY - I think this is a marvelous idea, both as an entertainment and a learning tool. LOYD LINDLEY AND WIFE, PAM
...received keys to their new car

Local resident wins grand prize

Hereford resident Loyd Lindley was the lucky winner of a new Ford Mustang convertible offered as a grand prize in an incentive marketing program conducted by CEVA Laboratories, Inc. Lindley won the car in a drawing held at CEVA headquarters Jan. 24. The drawing was the conclusion of CEVA's 1964 incentive sales promotion "CEVATHON", which ran from July 1 through November for distributor salesmen. CEVA Laboratories is a manufacturer and marketer of a wide range of animal health and poultry health products, sanitation products, animal reproductive products, rodenticides and insecticides, for producer and veterinary markets in the U.S. and worldwide.

Lindley earned prize points and drawing coupons by selling CEVA products as a distributor salesman for Profesional Agricultural Supply, Inc., Dimmitt, Texas, a position he has held for about 12 years.

As one of 276 distributor salesmen who signed up for the incentive sales program, Lindley earned 156,010 points, placing him 8th in the overall point standings. These points entitled Lindley to 80 drawing coupons in the coupon drawing total of 3,939, giving him mathematical odds of 1 chance in 49 to win the grand prize. The contest leader in points achieved 350,270 points, and had 178 coupons in the drawing with a 1 in 22 mathematical chance of winning the drawing for the car.

Lindley and his wife, Pam, were flown to Kansas City Feb. 7, and spent the night as guests of CEVA. The following morning they were presented the keys to their grand prize, and after receiving congratulations from CEVA officials they drove their new convertible back to Hereford.

Local youths represent town

Two high school boys will represent Hereford at the 1965 session of Texas American Legion Boys State, Commander Mary Williamson of Hereford Post No. 192 of the American Legion announced today.

Named to participate in this annual American Legion workshop in the organization and operation of state and local governments are Mark Taylor, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Taylor and John Sinnacher, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Sinnacher. Named as alternate are Patrick Phibbs, son of Mr. and Mrs. Glen Phibbs and Vince Medrano, son of Mr. and Mrs. Domingo Medrano.

The 1965 Texas American Legion Boys State will be in session from June 8 to June 14 at The University of Texas, Austin.

Departments (state and territorial organizations) of the American Legion will sponsor 51 of these Boys States this summer. Two outstanding youths from each of the American Legion Boys States will go to American Legion Boys Nation during July in Washington, D.C., where they will study federal government organization and operation much in the same manner as the Boys State delegates participate in training in state government.

During their Boys State sessions, the Hereford youths will participate in the organization of political parties, campaigns, elections, and the enactment and enforcement of their own laws within a mythical state. Elected State Officials will function "for a day" at the Capitol on June 14 and conclude with a Joint Session at the Boys State Legislature.

Income taxes

If you've wondered why there is an April 15th to worry about, it all started when the 16th amendment to the Constitution was ratified on Feb. 25, 1913. It said, "Congress shall have the power to collect taxes on incomes from whatever source derived, without apportionment among the several states and without regard to any census or enumeration."

'Focus On the Young Child' seminar scheduled April 20

Adults who are concerned with developing a quality environment for the healthy growth of young children can "Focus On The Young Child" during a one-day conference April 20 at Wayland Baptist University.

Sponsored jointly by the WBU Lifelong Learning Center and the Caprock Association for the Education of Young Children, the conference will bring together some of the leading educators in the area as session leaders.

To be held in the Wheeler Building on the west end of the Wayland Campus, the conference is open to all interested persons at a pre-registration cost of $10 per person. The registration fee will be $15 per person the day of the conference, and pre-registration deadline is April 12.

Knowledge concerning the normal development of young children will be presented during the day-long meeting, along with materials and methods which will enhance that development.

A total of 12 conference sessions are scheduled, and participants may choose any four in which to take part. Among the topics to be covered are: art for the young child, communication and young children, developing cognitive skills, games and physical activities for the young child, and modeling behavior.

Other conference topics are music for little people, parenting, recognizing special needs in young children, seizures and the classroom, storytelling, and techniques of discipline for the preschool child.

Among the conference leaders are Cochita Hansford, Laina McDonald, Beverly Webb and Kathy Southwick from the Wayland staff; and Lucy Ferrell, Mary Keller, Joanna Lester, Carole Oates and Ron Warren from the Plainview public schools system.

Other session leaders include Marlene Hoover and Maria Sheetz from the child development staff at Central Plains MH/MR Center; Vickie Luckenbach, Wilson ISD; Barbara Parker, Wee Care Child Care Center; and Frances Sam, College Hill Day Care Center.

Faculty and staff members from the Plainview school system may attend the conference as one of their required days, while day care workers may acquire up to six hours of credit toward state requirements.

Persons attending all four sessions will receive .8 continuing education units (CEU's) credit.

Interested participants should contact Dr. Audrey Wright, conference director, at 296-5521, or go by the Lifelong Learning Center at 501 Smythe to pre-register.

Bible service opens meeting

St. Anthony's Women's Organization met recently and opened with a Bible service, "Lord By Your Cross," given by Adeline Loerwald, Janie Banner and Chris Arthro.

Father Mark Traenkle gave a slide presentation on Jesus' passion and death. A report was given on the March 18 spring deanery meeting. Nadine Berend then announced that proceeds from the Pro Life dinner on March 17 will go toward opening up a counseling service in Hereford.

The next meeting will be May 7 at 8 p.m. and will be a reception of Christian mothers and blessing of expectant mothers. Mass will begin at 7:30 p.m.

The largest denomination of U.S. currency now being issued is the $100 bill. Issuance of currency in denominations of $500, $1,000, $5,000 and $10,000 has been discontinued because their use has declined sharply over the past two decades.

THANK YOU

I want to thank you individually and as well as all of you collectively for your support and voting influence in the Hospital Board election. I will make a concerted effort at trying to be the kind of board member you want, one that will work for our community.

Hereford's Nathan Flood, eyes the ball for a return during competition at the Hereford Four-Team tennis tournament last Saturday. Flood and his partner, brother Don Flood, placed sixth in doubles competition.

Whiteface netters find going tough Saturday

Talk about asking for it. The Hereford Whitefaces did just that last weekend in the Hereford Four-Team Invitational tennis tournament. High schools from Monterey, Coronado and Amarillo—the first-, second- and third-place teams, respectively, in the district tennis tourney last Fall—made their presence known at the HHS courts Saturday.

Those schools took the top honors. And meanwhile, the Whitefaces failed to produce a winner.

Hereford Coach Ruben Vargas was pleased with the event, however.

"It was very tough," he said. "But that's what I wanted. We needed to play some tough competition."

"It was good for us." Blair Rogers won a second place for the locals in boys singles. Coronado's Brandon Kastman knocked off the Hereford senior, 6-1, 6-1, for the top spot.

The other Hereford singles player, Chuck Garcia, managed a fifth place in boys play by defeating an Amarillo opponent. (No name available.)

The doubles team of Don Flood and Nathan Flood lost in their fifth-place match, 7-6, 7-5. The brothers wound up sixth.

In girls action, the Whitefaces' Robin Hopper and Kristen Cassels had to battle each other in singles. Hopper won the seventh-place match.

Connie Zinser and Natalie Sims, of Hereford, took third place away from Amarillo's Lopez-Scholl group, 6-0, 2-6, 7-5. The other Whiteface doubles team, made up of Hopper and Lana Kosub were eliminated in three matches.

This weekend, the Whitefaces are entered in the Wichita Falls Spring Classic. Play begins Friday and concludes Saturday.

Only one link, lawyer says

Tulane star to plead innocent

By AUSTIN WILSON
AP Sports Writer
NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Unreliable testimony by self-admitted drug users is the only thing linking Tulane basketball player John "Hot Rod" Williams to allegations of point shaving, according to the 6-foot-10 center's lawyer.

Mike Green of Chicago, who joined Williams' defense team on Monday, plans to have his client plead innocent at an arraignment scheduled next week.

"There's nothing to plead guilty to," he said.

"The man gave his best efforts in every game he ever played for Tulane," he said.

Williams, an all-Metro Conference selection considered a top pro prospect, is one of three players accused of controlling the outcome of home games against Southern Mississippi and Memphis State in February.

The other two are sophomore swingman David Dominique and senior point guard Bobby Thompson.

The indictment also mentions a conspiracy to shave points in the game at Virginia Tech on Feb. 16, although no specifics were included.

Dominique's lawyer, Edward Castaing Jr., also said Monday that his client will plead innocent at arraignment next week.

Two weeks ago, when District Attorney Harry Connick announced he was arresting the players, he said cocaine was the motivating factor, rather than money.

Green said Monday that the state's case is based on testimony from three people who admitted acquiring drugs from a fourth person also involved in the case.

"I have found in several of the cases I've tried that it's hard to determine what drug addicts mean from time to time," he said.

"The only thing I've read (about Williams) is what drug addicts say about him," he said.

He also said he may seek a gag order, if supposedly secret grand jury testimony keeps appearing in news reports.

"I can't see why a prosecutor would do that, unless he doesn't have confidence in his case," Green said.

He said Williams didn't even know what "point shaving" meant. Point shaving means intentionally winning by a smaller margin than the established betting line or losing by a bigger margin.

The case was allotted on Monday to State District Judge Alvin Oser, who told lawyers for the players and five others indicted in the case that he would hold a bond hearing and arraignment next Monday.

The comments by Green and Castaing were the first on behalf of those defending themselves against allegations made two weeks ago by Connick.

Two players, seniors Clyde Eads and Jon Johnson, testified against their teammates in a grand jury investigation that produced eight indictments.

Accused with the three players are Roland Ruiz, 48, a convicted local bookmaker; Craig Bourgeois, 23, of New Orleans; and Tulane students Gary Kranz, 21, of New Rochelle, N.Y.; David Rothenberg, 22, of Wilton, Conn., and Mark Olenky, 21, of Fair Lawn, N.J.

Hereford at rodeo

Two-time winner leads

Jana Johnson of Hereford was the only local participant to win a place in the Tri-State Rodeo in Stratford last weekend.

Johnson won second place in Barrels and third place in Breakaway Roping. Below are complete results.

Barrebacks: 1. Denny McLanahan, Canadian, 66; 2. Mark Pearson, Spearman, 62; 3. Adam Brewster, Snyder, 60; 4. Shawn Wright, Canadian, 57; 5. Clay Harris, River Road, 55.

Call Roping: 1. Jody Johnson, Happy, 12.181; 2. Ace Thompson, Channing, 12.726; 3. Greg Gedgull, Adrian, 12.832; 4. Mike Jones, Booker, 13.203; 5. Carl Cluck, Stratford, 13.636; 6. Jimmy Barr, Lovington, N.M., 14.612.

MEDICARE.
They pay.
You pay.

Medical and hospital bills. They can be overwhelming if you're not prepared. Medicare will pay a part of the bill and generally you are left with the rest. That's where WE come in.

Southland Life. We have a Medicare Supplement Insurance Plan to help cover those bills. We supplement your Medicare coverage. In other words:

They pay. You pay. We pay.

With our Medicare Supplement policy, we help reduce the "You pay" portion. Call or write for details. There's no obligation.

U.S. chemical industry:

The last environmental frontier?

WASHINGTON (AP) — Spurred by the Bhopal disaster, Congress is moving abruptly into a new environmental frontier — trying to impose air quality controls on the vast U.S. chemical industry.

"This is the last big unregulated piece of environmental protection," says Rep. James Florio, D-N.J., chairman of the commerce subcommittee of the Energy and Commerce Committee.

Both Florio and his partner in the effort, Rep. Henry Waxman, D-Calif., chairman of the Energy and Commerce health subcommittee, say they are hopeful about action this year or next on proposals to identify and control the hazardous substances emitted from some or all of the nation's 6,000 chemical plants.

When the 98th Congress left town last fall, such regulation was low on the environmental agendas for 1985, which were focused instead on amendments to the water quality act and the "Superfund" toxic dump cleanup law.

But when lawmakers returned in January, a new word had entered their vocabulary — Bhopal, the city in India where more than 2,000 people died last December from methyl isocyanate gas that escaped from a Union Carbide plant.

Seizing on Bhopal, Waxman and Florio have held a series of hearings critical of the Environmental Protection Agency and the chemical industry.

"We are finding that large numbers of chemicals are going into the air that are either known to be hazardous or suspected to be hazardous," Waxman said.

After discovering that EPA lacks even an up-to-date list of the locations of U.S. chemical plants, Waxman wrote to 86 large companies asking them for information about substances released into the air from their manufacturing.

Responses from 67 firms produced a list of 204 chemicals regarded by the industry itself as hazardous. Only five of the chemicals are regulated by EPA, which has had legal authority since 1972 to order emission limits on any substance it deems harmful to humans.

Waxman said his survey findings represent "a serious condemnation of the EPA's abdication of responsibility. ... It is a sad commentary that no government agency has ever attempted to gather this information."

He is critical of an EPA system that is still studying mustard gas, the killer of soldiers in World War I, and does not include methyl isocyanate in the current studies.

He said the EPA is "running around in circles, chasing tails. They won't list a chemical until they're ready to regulate it and they're not ready to regulate it until they list it. They work themselves into inaction."

The hearings also have focused on two of America's chemical centers — West Virginia's Kanawha Valley, where cancer rates are 25 percent to 100 percent higher than the national average, and northern New Jersey, where toxic releases regularly force residents to seek medical treatment.

EPA spokesman David Cohen said that regulating a chemical is "an enormous, complicated procedure." The five regulated chemicals are mercury, asbestos and beryllium, all done in 1973; vinyl chloride, 1976; and benzene, 1984. Cohen said three other substances — coke oven emissions, airborne radioactive particles, and arsenic — are close to being listed as hazardous.

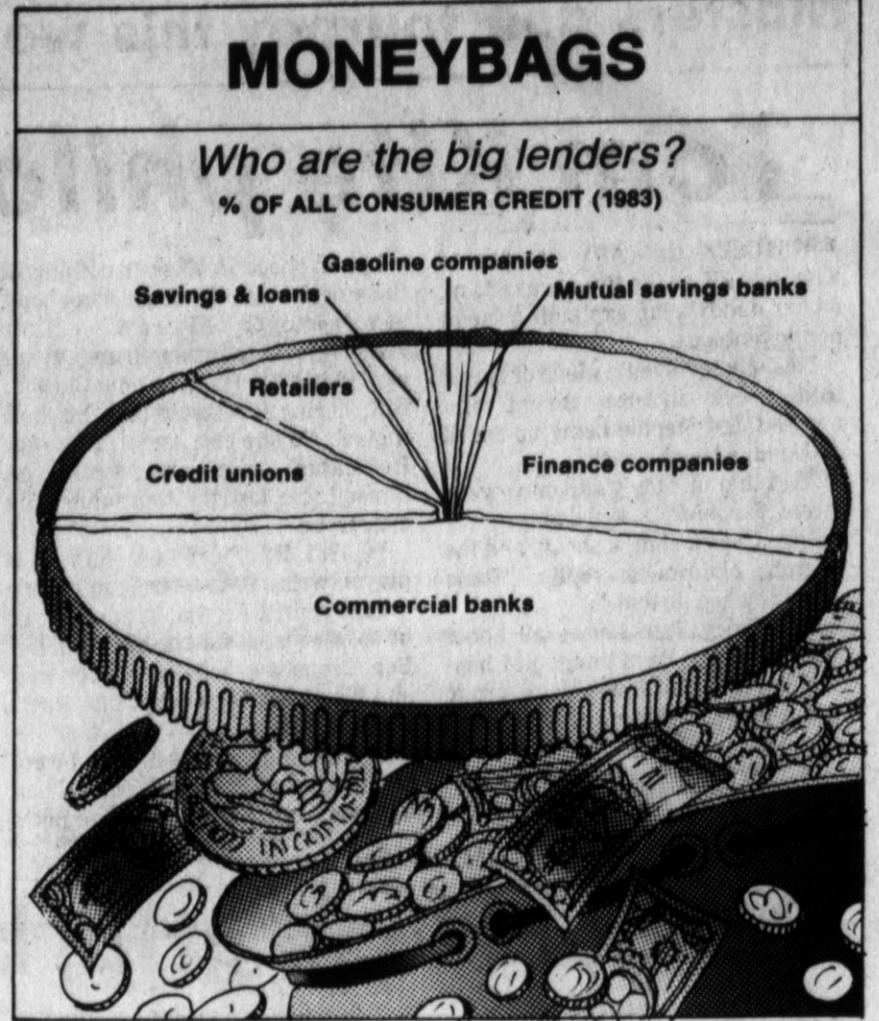

At a recent hearing, executives of Union Carbide, Monsanto and American Cyanamid said they could support stronger regulation, although none mentioned anything specific.

Roping school scheduled

Sid and Kay Dawn Howard will be sponsoring a roping clinic Saturday and Sunday at the Vega Rodeo Arena from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

The two-day school will cost $50. Boys will learn calf roping and break-away. Girls will be taught goat tying, barrels and break-a-way.
