Raging Storms Bury Northeast Under Snow

A howling blizzard that ranked as the season's worst storm in the biggest cities of the Northeast buried blossoms under 2-foot snows, grounded robins in 75 mph gusts and slammed the door

The storm killed at least four people Tuesday in the Northeast after claiming 10 lives in the Midwest the day before, and four young hikers were missing in the Catskill Forest of New York.

Elections were canceled, Connecticut Gov. William O'Neill called out the National Guard to help clear the streets of abandoned cars and the airports serving New York, Boston and New Jersey were shut down.

"This is the worst morning I've seen in some time," said Manchester, N.H., police Capt. Dana Weeks. "It's unbelievable how in a month's time people can forget how to drive in snow." Many New Yorkers went home from work early in a snowstorm that was accompanied by lightning. It was the city's worst of the winter and the first April blizzard since weather records have been kept. By late afternoon few people walked in the footdeep snow in the city.

Four Connecticut cities were under a state of emergency and Hartford Hospital asked owners of four-wheel-drive vehicles to bring hospital employees to work as the state lay under 14 inches of snow.

Argentine Foreign Minister Nicanor Costa Mendez met for 70 minutes in Washington Wednesday with Secretary of State Alexander M. Haig Jr. Costa Mendez told reporters the United States offered to help its "two good friends" resolve the crisis.

"I'm confident that we will reach through negotiations even if they are long negotiations - that we will reach peace, an honorable and just peace," he said.

The Reagan administration is "walking right down the middle" between Britain and Argentina and is "not going to give anybody any help either way," Pentagon spokesman Henry Catto told reporters in Washington.

In London, Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher made clear she was only interested in mediation that would achieve Britain's aims.

British Ambassador Sir Nicolas Henderson, after a 45-minute meeting with Haig, said he was sure U.S. officials would "do everything they can to try to get the Argentines out of the islands."

Henderson cited the U.S. vote for the U.N. Security Council resolution calling on Argentina to withdraw its forces and said he didn't think the Americans were "neutral about the question of the Argentine occupation."

The big British paval task force en route to the Falklands was in the third day of its 8,000-mile voyage. It was expected to reach the islands 400 miles east of Argentina's Patagonian coast on April 20.

Study Shows Financial Heads Favor U.S. Policy

By JAMES PELTZ AP Business Writer

Chief executives and investment officers at major financial institutions overwhelmingly support President Reagan's economic policies, a new survey shows.

The officers also fear inflation will be fueled if Congress overreacts to the recession by boosting spending, according to the survey, which was released Tuesday.

The study, conducted by the New York investment company Oppenheimer & Co., surveyed 93 executives of major financial institutions controlling about $540 billion in assets.

It said 87 percent of the respondents "felt the president's policies were salutory and the 'temporary pain' of recession as well as a 'down' market should not deter the government from its course." But 59 percent feared congressional "overreaction to the recession that could boost federal spending by more than the 7 percent to 10 percent now expected," the study said.

Reagan has proposed about $55 billion in spending cuts and other savings for the fiscal 1983 budget, but has resisted cutting defense spending or accepting any changes in the three-year personal income-tax cut, passed last year, which he says is needed to help pull the economy out of recession.

But projections of record federal deficits have many in Congress pushing for defense cuts, or a delay or reduction in installments of the tax cut to help pare the government's shortfall.

Some economists blame uncertainty over the budget and deficits for keeping interest rates high, which in turn could jeopardize economic recovery this year. In Washington, House

PHILADELPHIA (AP) -A bottle of cognac that awaits the last survivor of a 50-yearold society of World War I veterans stayed tightly corked as two of the five living members toasted their annual reunion.

"I haven't missed a year," said Henry F. Bamberger, 88, the secretary of the Society of the Last Man of 40 Veterans. "Even when I was in the service, I got leave to come here." William P. Wilson, 83, the society's treasurer, also attended Tuesday's luncheon and, in a newer tradition, both men brought their wives.

"To swell the crowd, in other words," Wilson said.

The other three surviving members couldn't make it to the luncheon.

The society was formed July 13, 1932, from among commanders of American Legion posts in the Philadelphia area, and began meeting every April 6, the anniversary of the American declaration of war in 1917.

There was "quite a formali-" at those early meetings, Wilson said.

"We used to have set up all 40 places," he said. "As the roll call was called, we would take a rose and put it in a vase at the place of a deceased member and give a hand salute - just like at the cemetery."

Some things have changed. The old fighters no longer sing "Auld Lang Syne," and the meetings, once held in the upstairs George Washington room of the Engineers Club, were moved to the first floor when the veterans began having trouble climbing the

Rotary Club Fish Fry To Help Buy Thumper

By Jeri Curtis Staff Writer

A person "clinically dead" a state where the heart and lungs cease functioning - can be kept alive by cardiopulmonary resuscitation.

The Hereford Rotary club wants to keep more people alive by purchasing a $5,000 mechanical CPR "thumper" for Deaf Smith General Hospital.

The club is sponsoring a fish fry at the Bull Barn Friday night from 5:30 to 9 .p.m. All proceeds from the $4 ticket revenues will go to the hospital thumper fund. Travis Caraway of Lubbock knows CPR saved his life last fall while he was visiting Jimmy and Dorothy Mercer. Caraway has a cardiovascular disease and about three years ago had heart bypass surgery. His wife, Alta, said she and her sister, Mrs. Mercer, were in the kitchen when Mercer shouted at them. Caraway had dropped a glass of water and stopped

'When we got in there I just thought he was dead," Mrs.

Caraway recalled.

Mercer telephoned the ambulance. A weekend rescue crew member who lived two. doors down heard the beeper call and arrived at the Mercer's about the time the ambulance did.

"It didn't seem like Jimmy had hung up-the phone when these two appeared," Mrs. Caraway said.

Shawn Poland, respiratory therapist at Deaf Smith General, pulled Caraway onto the floor and with the other crew member, began giving CPR. Minutes later more of the crew arrived and started hauling equipment out of the ambulance.

'I just kept saying, 'Quick, let's get him to the hospital. but the young man (Poland) said he was doing all there that he could do in the hospital," Mrs. Caraway related. About 30 minutes later Caraway stabalized and he was taken to the hospital. "That CPR is what saved him," Mrs. Caraway declares. "He just owes his life to that team." The manual CPR which saved Caraway is best for immediate action, however, when a patient must be transported to the hospital "thumper" mechanical CPR administrator is used.

Deaf Smith General has one thumper, kept in an ambulance. If it is in transport to Amarillo or Lubbock, the hospital emergency room must rely on manual CPR. The thumper is more consistent than manual CPR and is used for long term CPR.

Manual and mechanical CPR pushes down on a patient's chest to move the lungs, thus feeding oxygen and pumping the heart. When manual CPR is done, the administrator is actually breathing for the patient and himself and tires easily. "I'd rather have one around here (at the hospital)," says Poland. When they go to Amarillo with the thumper we don't have it here for the next call. It's happened to us before."

Judges William Wayne Justice of Tyler, Sam Johnson of Austin and Robert Parker of Beaumont got involved after minority plaintiffs challenged the plan drawn by the Legislature.

That plan, backed by Republican Gov. Bill Clements, probably would have changed District 5 in Dallas from a Democratic seat to a Republican seat. It also would have given a black candidate a good shot at unseating U.S. Rep. Martin Frost, D-Dallas.

The map was altered by the judges, who came up with a plan that probably protects Democratic interests.

However, last week the

For May 1 Primary Supreme Court said the panel had no right to redraw the Dallas-area map because the Justice Department approved those districts as drawn by state lawmakers.

The high court left it to the panel to decide which boundaries should be used on an interim basis for this year's elections, and whether the May 1 primaries should be delayed.

Johnson said the judges unanimously decided not to delay the primaries. However, Parker wanted the plan drawn by the Legislature - which favored Republicans - used for the elections, Johnson said.

Clements Asks Reagan To Declare Disaster

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) - President Ronald Reagan has been asked to declare Paris and Lamar County a major disaster area and eligible for federal funds in recuperating from Friday's tornadoes.

Gov. Bill Clements' message Tuesday to the president said preliminary damage estimates totaled $36.1 million, of which $34.7 million was to private non-agricultural properties.

Approximately 1,100 homes were damaged or destroyed, he said.

I have determined that this incident is of such severity and magnitude that effective response is beyond the capabilities of the state and the affected local governments and that supplementary federal assistance is necessary," Clements

He designated Wesley M. Anders of Austin as the state's coordinating officer for the request. Anders will work with the Federal Emergency Management Agency in continued damage estimates.

A spokesman said the students plan to arrive in Houston Friday and deliver the petitions to Jack Steel, manager of Bush's office at the federal building, at about 11 a.m.

"We are doing this because we care about college education," fraternity coordinator Joe Dante said. "We wish the vice president could be there, but he has given us his best wishes by letter and we think our run will call attention to the vital need for financial aid for college students."

In addition to collecting signatures on petititions, fraternity members said they have raised $2,000 to contribute to the general scholarship fund at St. Mary's.

The runners planned to camp at Hallettsville tonight and at Fulsher Thursday night.

About 30 of the nation's leading climate experts met privately last week "to understand what happened" this winter, Somerville said in an interview Tuesday. They gathered at Scripps Institution of Oceanography in suburban San Diego, far from the howling winds of the Northeast or the snows of the Midwest.

It was "not a winter characterized by a single regime, or some simple flow pattern that set itself up at the beginning and persisted," Somerville said.

"Several forecasts caught it in general but none predicted the extreme breaking cold, individual details

The winter was not only unusually cold in some places, wet in others and snowy in still others, it also was unusually damaging. As the Northeast reeled under an astonishing blizzard and portions of the Midwest lay frozen under the coldest weather ever to come along so late in the year, the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration put losses at $8.2 billion and more than 350 lives.

The winter produced one of the most severe outbreaks of cold weather America has seen since the 1800s, weather service meteorologist Nolan Duke in Kansas City, Mo., said in January. The Gulf Coast was glazed with ice, Southern cities such as Atlanta were frozen to a standstill at below-zero temperatures and half of southern Florida's winter vegetable crops were lost. The winter brought the coldest weather on record in Chicago, Milwaukee and

Federation District Convention

Proposition To Overhaul Crime Laws One of the chief targets of the measure is the state Supreme Court, which has had a liberal majority for about 30 years but which has come under increasing attack in the last few years. As the U.S. Supreme Court has narrowed previous rulings on defendants' rights, the California court has increasingly set out on its own, under the state constitution, in areas like police searches, confessions and insanity.

The result has been accusations of judicial lawmaking, attempts to defeat Chief Justice Rose Bird at the polls, and now the Gann initiative; which would overturn many of the court's rulings.

The 69-year-old Gann, who ent most of his life selling real estate and automobiles, burst from obscurity four years ago when he and Howard Jarvis spearheaded the drive for Proposition 13.

Next to the tempestuous, headline-grabbing Jarvis, Gann was a quiet, calm figure. In 1980, Gann won the Republican nomination for U.S. Senate but was defeated by Democratic Sen. Alan Cranston by 1.6 million votes. Even some of the measure's supporters say major portions of the measure are unconstitutional for example, a provision that appears to admit all evidence from illegal police searches.

But the current anti-crime mood makes its passage likely, and if it survives court challenges, its impact could equal the shock wave caused by Proposition 13's $6 billion tax cut.

For instance:

A provision eliminating the automatic right to bail, and making public safety the first consideration in granting bail, might repeal the bail schedules that govern release of more than a million arrestees a year.

In that event, critics say, every local police jail would need a judge to set bail and, as the initiative requires, state reasons for each release.

Another provision would declare a constitutional right for all public school students and staff to attend "safe, secure and peaceful" schools.

Supporters say the purpose is simple, to promote school safety. Opponents say the potential consequences are staggering: parents refusing CPR

Crisis Center Representatives Give Quarterly Meeting Program

Chamber of Commerce Women's Division Quarterly Meeting held last night at the Community Center enjoyed a delicious and unusual buffet catered by The Deli. After a short business meeting, a program was given by representatives from the Rape Crisis Center in Amarillo.

President Carolyn Canon presided over the business session asking Glenda Geries to give the invocation and Shirley Wilson to read the minutes of the previous

Georgia Sparks then told members about the Cowgirl Hall of Fame dedication, open house and Rhinestone Roundup scheduled for April 17, noting that the fine arts

Those present at the committee of the Women's Division will serve as hostesses at the open house that afternoon.

> Leatrus Clark reported for the beautification committee, reminding members that May 1-8 will be Clean up Week in Hereford and all residents will be encouraged to plant red and white petunias.

Details of the Little Miss Hereford Pageant were given by Brenda Barrett. The pageant is set for April 24 in the Hereford High School auditorium and is for girls ages four through ninth grade. Signup deadline is 5 p.m. April 16.

Shirley Wilson reported on the Miss Hereford Pageant set Aug. 14, noting that high school girls will be invited to a party explaining the pageant in the near future. The welcome committee report was given by Arvella Lauderback. This committee is planning a dinner for the Cowgirl Hall of Fame honorees in the Black House the Friday night before dedication, and also will help with the Miss Hereford party.

Carrell Ann Simmons reported that 54 new members had been signed up during the recent membership drive. She presented awards to the three members who signed up the most new members.

Irene McKinster was given $75 in Hereford Bucks for enlisting 16 new members; Brenda Reinauer, not present, took second place of $50 for signing up 13 new members: and Billie Hopson received $25 for enlisting five new members

At the conclusion of the committee reports, Ms. Canon introduced Sylvia Childress, public information director at the Rape Crisis Center in Amarillo. Accompanying Ms. Childress was Nelda Roberts, filling in for JoAn Dwyer, who was scheduled to come.

The two women showed members a short film strip and then asked everyone to fill out a questionnaire. The remainder of the program was a detailed explanation answering the questions on the handout, and any other questions voiced by members.

The Rape Crisis Center offers its services to all 26 counties in the Panhandle and is on call 24 hours a day, 365 days a year, commented Ms. Childress. Three full-time staff members and a host of volunteers operate the

The women stressed that public awareness and precautionary methods are two preventive measures used at the Crisis Center. Other services include counseling for both the rape victim and her family.

Ms. Childress, whose special area of concern is sexually abused children, informed members of a film and program entitled "Speak up - Say no" made especially for children ages six to eleven. She stressed the importance of teaching children that it's O.K. to say no, emphasizing that boys need to be taught about this type of abuse as well as girls.

Ms. Childress and Ms. Roberts concluded the program by reminding those present that anyone can be a rape victim and the key is vulnerablity. Women should take precautions to keep from being vulnerable, they said.

The Hereford Chamber Singers will host Eugene Butler, noted composer and musical director, for a weekend clinic and concert on Saturday and Sunday, May 8 and 9.

The concert is open to the public and will begin at 2:30 p.m. Sunday in the Hereford High School Auditorium. Tickets are $3 each and will be available at the door.

Butler will direct the group in his musical compositions, including an original work for choir and string ensemble composed especially for the Chamber Singers.

The Singers will participate in a clinic with Butler on Saturday from 9 a.m. to 12 noon and from 2-4 p.m. at the high school auditorium. A "pig roast" will be held at the community center at 6 p.m. Saturday evening at a cost of $5 per person. Advance reservations are necessary.

County Extension Agent Today's 4-H program is for all youth-rural and urbanfrom all racial, cultural, economic and social backgrounds.

4-H reaches girls and boys in a variety of way: as members of organized 4-H clubs, as participants in special interest groups, and as enrollees in short-term projects. It reaches them through television, camping and other educational methods, and in programs planned to meet specific needs of youth and communities where they live.

4-H involves youth people everywhere-in big cities and little towns, in the country and in suburbs, on Indian reservations, and in the District of Columbia, Puerto Rico, Virgin Islands and Guam. Activities are typically conducted in the homes of members or their leaders, in schools or in other community buildings.

Youth organizations in . more than 80 countries around the world have adapted the 4-H idea. Opportunities for individual, club, community, state, national and international projects and activities are available through 4-H.

Today's 4-H gives young people an opportunity to take an active part in learning about and solving problems that face them and their communitise. These include problems of environments, health and use of drugs.

Members participate in projects that give them knowledge of science, agriculture, home economics, personal development, community service, leadership and citizenship. Often this knowledge helps open the door to a future career. But the main purpose of 4-H is to help youth become effective citizens.

Some of the most popular 4-H projects are foodnutrition, clothing, home improvement, home grounds beautification, health, safety and leadership. New projects range from aerospace to theatrics and karate. In rural areas many 4-H members work with livestock, crops, poultry, forestry, marketing and farm machinery. Both girls and boys learn farming methods, do experimental research, and have fun in the Popular with city, suburban and rural young people alike are projects in community development, electricity, environmental protection and conservation, gardening, home photography, public speaking, woodworking, entomology, small engines, development. Older girls and boys find satisfaction and challenge in projects in automotive care and safety, career studies, grooming and personal money management, consumer education and leader-

An Investment In The Future

Flexibility is the key to today's 4-H projects-flexibility in the kinds of learning offered and in the variety and size of projects. For instance, one of the fastest growing is a horse project for youth who don't own horses.

In 4-H it's kids that count. And that's an investment in the future.

Educational programs conducted by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service serve people of all ages regardless of socio-economic levels, race, color, sex, religion or national origin.

Attorney Fighting Rape Laws

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) -Saying rape is Texas' fastest increasing crime and the hardest to prosecute, former U.S. Attorney John Hannah has promised to hire special rape prosecutors if he is elected attorney general.

"I intend to immediately hire several of the best prosecutors in Texas with established records in rape trials and make them available to local district attorneys on request," the Tyler Democrat told a Capitol news conference Tuesday.

Hannah also said he might recommend changes in the law to aid prosecutors, such as allowing testimony from other victims of the same rapist, which currently is not allowed under an "extraneous offense" clause in

"I absolutely refuse to believe something cannot be done," Hannah said. "I refuse to believe our only solution and advice to women is to carry mace, wear a whistle or stay locked in their

Appearing with Hannah was Houston municipal Judge Joellen Snow and Jane Wells, head of the Texas Women's Political Caucus, which endorsed Hannah last week.

Hannah also promised to establish a centralized information source on rape cases and educate hospital emergency room staff on preserving evidence when they treat rape victims.

On another issue, Hannah said he supports the death penalty, but would not predict when the next execution would be carried out in Texas. No one has been executed in the state since 1964. There are about 200 inmates on death row.

"This is not a Texas problem, it's a national problem," Hannah said. He said executions are delayed because of a "haitus" in the federal courts and suggested an attorney general might be able to demand quicker hearings on appeals to speed the process.

ABC Nets Two Weeks Of Top Rating

NEW YORK (AP) - ABC won the networks' primetime ratings competition for the second straight week, thanks in large measure to the Academy Awards show and a sitcom spinoff, "Joanie Loves Chachi," figures from the A.C. Nielsen Co. showed.

But CBS, winner in the weekly competition this season 17 times to eight for ABC, continues to lead for the period that began Oct. 5 by a full point, and two CBS shows, "Dallas" and "60 Minutes," remain the TV year's top-rated programs.

The rating for ABC in the week ending April 4 was 18.4 to 17 for CBS and 14.6 for NBC. The networks say that means in an average primetime minute during the week, 18.4 percent of the nation's homes with television were watching ABC.

The Oscar competition, a perennial hit with viewers, ended a three-week run by "Dallas" as the No. 1 show in prime time. The rating for the ABC broadcast - up against some stiff competition - was 33.6, the highest for any winning, non-sports program this season.

Here are the week's 10 highest rated programs: The Academy Awards show, with a rating of 33.6 representing 27.5 million homes, ABC; "Dallas," 29.1 or 23.8 million, and "60 Minutes," 25.6 or 21 million, both CBS; "Three's Company," 25.1 or 20.6 million, "Too Close for Comfort," 24.6 or 20.1 million, "Joanie Loves Chachi," 23.5 or 19.2 million, and "Hart to Hart," 22.7 or 18.6 million, all ABC, and "Falcon Crest" and "Dukes of Hazzard," both 22.2 or 18.2 million, and "Magnum P.I.," 22.1 or 18.1 million, all CBS.

Medic Alert Emblem Saves Lives

Twenty-six years ago, Medic Alert was formed because of a near fatal accident to a teenager.

In the summer of 1953 in Turlock, Calif. a high school student named Linda Collins cut herself while playing with an air rifle. her father and mother were away from home so a neighbor took Linda to the hospital for treat-

The attending physician gave Linda a sensitivity test to tetanus antitoxin in case she was allergic. Unfortunately, she was highly allergic to the test, went into a coma for three days and almost died.

Her father, Dr. Marion C. Collins, determined to prevent this from happening to Linda, designed a silver bracelet bearing the insignia of the medical profession on the front with the words, "Medic Alert." On the back was engraved the warning: "Allergic to Horse Serum," the liquid vehicle used at the time for tetanus antitoxin.

Convinced that bracelets or necklaces with medical messages could help save lives and speed treatment in emergencies, Dr. Collins in-

The other used the 1980 Mexican census and applied expected sex ratios for age groups thought to produce the biggest number of emigres. Researchers basically counted the number of people who weren't there.

The "very preliminary" figures show there are more undocumented workers in Houston and Dallas than in areas where the Hispanic population is larger, such as the Rio Grande Valley, El Paso and San Antonio, Newport said.

The survey so far has found that undocumented workers are more likely to be married than are legal residents, and that most illegal immigrants sought better pay when they came to Texas, while legal residents cited joining family members as the reason for originally coming here.

Legal residents surveyed by the firm reported crossing back and forth across the Texas-Mexico border more often than did the illegal immigrants. And the figures. would suggest that about 70 percent of the undocumented workers have been in the state continuously for more than a year.

Newport said when the undocumented aliens were asked which of three "long run" situations they favored, 49 percent wanted to become U.S. citizens, 19 percent wanted to return to Mexico and 32 percent liked the idea of a temporary work permit that would allow them to move back and forth.

Rebate Dispute Compromised

By JACK KEEVER Associated Press Writer

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) - A compromise proposal that would allow General Motors to extend its rebate and lowinterest rate car and truck specials to Texas has been approved by the Texas Motor Vehicle Commission.

Assistant Attorney General John Fainter Jr. offered the proposal, noting that the automobile industry "is in a prolonged recovery period."

"It is a very difficult market out there right now,' said Tom Ryan of Houston, district sales manager for Ford Motor Co.

The commission, which met in an emergency session requested by the Texas Automobile Dealers Association, voted unanimously Tuesday to withdraw its March 31 rule prohibiting GM's rebate and low-interest rate deals.

It voted to allow such deals temporarily if the company discloses whether the car dealer is covering part of the

The old rule had prohibited rebate or special finance programs that required dealers to contribute part of the savings to the customer.

The rule excluded Texas from GM's nationwide program that offers customers 12.8 percent interest rate financing on cars and 14.2 percent financing on trucks.

Dealers from throughout the state complained to the TADA here to do something.

TADA executive director Gene Fondren said last wee dealerships along Texas' borders could suffer substantial harm, because prospective customers would go to Oklahoma, Louisiana and New Mexico to buy GM-products.

Fondren said financing in Texas had ranged from 151 percent to 18 percent. He said Tuesday he felt certain that General Motors Acul ceptance Corp., the financialsubsidiary of GM, would "almost immediately" offer the low-interest rate plan in Texas.

Fainter stated that it is important to disclose whether the dealer is covering part of the savings because the "dealer's contribution" could affect the price of the vehicle.

An amendment was added to Fainter's proposal that deleted specific advertising requirements and merely stated that the dealer's participation must be presented "clearly and conspicuously."

"It's a fair thing from the standpoint of the entire industry," said Dan Boone, a member of the motor vehicle commission.

"This is the best of all possible worlds," said Rebecca Lightsey of the Texas Consumers Association.

John Thede of General Motors Acceptance Corp. said GM felt the low-interest rate plan - "in place in 48 states" - was "beneficial to all concerned and harmful to none."

Auto Racer Feels Safer in Machine

By WILL GRIMSLEY AP Special Correspondent

SALISBURY, N.C. (AP) A man who guns fragile pieces of machinery around a curved track at speeds of 200-plus mph insists he wouldn't dare mount a race

"Horse racing is much more dangerous, in my mind, than auto racing," Bill Alsup, a 43-year-old survivor of dirt roads and big-time circuits, said Tuesday.

"I feel much safer strapped in my machine roaring around the Indy Speedway than I would be trying to rein a horse to a Kentucky Derby victory at Louisville.

Alsup, guest speaker at the closing session of the National Sportscasters and Sportswriters Convention, was drawn into the unique comparison during a discussion of the jockey fatality at New York's Aqueduct Race Track nine days ago.

It marked the 113th death on the nation's thoroughbred tracks since 1940 in spills that also have produced 33 paraplegic cases among jockeys.

"I don't have the statistics at hand but I am sure we haven't had that many auto race fatalities - certainly not since 1960," Alsup said.

"Driving a race car, you have greater control over your destiny. You have the wheel in your hand, your foot on the gas pedal and the machine under any restraint you find necessary.

"There is a stronger element of chance and uncertainty when you're on a horse. This is another piece of flesh - a being with a mind and a nervous system, an animal over which you have no complete control.

"If you suffer a spill, you have the hooves of maybe a dozen one-ton animals pounding over your body.

"Everythng happens so fast and in such a small area, there is little or no chance to divert the stampede. In a race car, when one car is in trouble, the other drivers at least can usually avoid a crackup with the turn of the steering wheel. Also, yellow flags go up to slow the pace until the danger has subsided."

Amado Credidio, Jr., a 24-year-old Panamanian jockey, was crushed under pounding feet on March 29 after his mount clipped the back feet of another horse, stumbled and tossed the rider onto the track.

The hazards of horse racing have diminished little over the century, while auto racing, an entirely different kind of sport, has adopted numerous safeguards and is continuing to lessen the odds on fatalities.

"The last serious crackup we've had at Indy was in 1973 when Swede Savage was fatally injured and Salt Walther suffered bad body burns," Alsup said. "We have had accidents but guys walk away from them.

Alsup, who finished second only to Rick Mears in the Indy-car World Series point standings, raced motorcycles, survived the Saturday night dirt track neckbreakers and had a fling at sports cars and stocks before moving up to the big fuel guzzlers.

Alsup, a native northern Californian who attended Colorado University and got into a ski-lift sideline business that took him to Woodstock, Vt., has split from the Penske dent this year.

How big a victory was it for the Milwaukee Bucks? Let us count the ways.

One - the Bucks' 122-116 triumph Tuesday night came against the Boston Celtics, who have the best record record in the National Basketball Association and could be Milwaukee's opponent in the Eastern Conference finals.

Two - a defeat would have knocked the Bucks 11/2 games behind Philadelphia in the conference standings. The two teams could meet in the second round of the playoffs and the team with the best record gets the home-court advantage in a seven-game

Three - Milwaukee needed a confidence booster because of its problems in the backcourt, where Quinn Buckner and Junior Bridgeman are lost for the season with injuries and Brian Winters missed the Celtics' game with a groin in-

Four - the Bucks proved they could adjust to the injuries by moving regular forward Marques Johnson to guard and giving a start to rookie forward Alton Lister, who scored 14 points and helped Milwaukee outrebound the Celtics 52-41.

"Lister was really something," said Bucks Coach Don Nelson. "The difference is experience. He's played about 1,000 minutes now. That was my goal for him so he would be ready at this time of year, and he's right on schedule.'

In other NBA games, Philadelphia tripped Chicago 117-104, Los Angeles defeated Houston 108-97, Utah beat Dallas 129-114, Atlanta edged 106-104, York downed Washington Cleveland 94-85, Portland

Mahler Stifles Padres; Cards Roll Over Astros

By KEN RAPPOPORT AP Sports Writer

Rick Mahler knocked Phil Niekro out of an Opening Day pitching assignment with a freak batting practice accident and his conscience bothered him for nine days.

"I thought about that right up to the game. I hated it," said Mahler, who was given the starting assignment Tuesday night after injuring Niekro's ribs with a line drive off his bat during a spring training workout.

Spurred by determination to atone for the mishap, the 28-year-old right-hander hurled a two-hitter to lead the Atlanta Braves to a 1-0 victory over the San Diego Padres.

Making the most of his first season-opening start, Mahler retired 17 consecutive San Diego batters between the second and eighth innings on the way to the first shutout and second complete game of his checkered career.

Once the game started, Mahler said he put the Niekro incident out of his mind. His shutout was preserved by three defensive gems that kept him in control.

"The defense made every play you could possibly make," said Mahler, who struck out seven and walked

Left fielder Dale Murphy was responsible for two hitsaving catches, and right fielder Claudell Washington crashed against San Diego's newly-shortened outfield wall to snare to line drive off the bat of Luis Salazar. Murphy made a diving catch of a Juan Bonilla liner in the third and robbed Sixto Lezcano of extra bases in the fourth with a twisting grab near the wall. Luis Salazar's secondinning single and a ninthinning double by Ruppert Jones accounted for San Diego's only hits.

In other National League action, the St. Louis Cardinals walloped the Houston Astros 14-3 and the Los and Nolan Ryan. Angeles Dodgers edged the San Francisco Giants 4-3. Two games were called by snow - Montreal at Pittsburgh and New York at Philadelphia.

In the American League, Seattle whipped Minnesota 11-7 and Oakland Athletics beat California 3-2 in 11 innings. Four games were postponed by bad weather -Toronto at Detroit, Texas at New York, Boston at Chicago and Cleveland at Milwaukee. Cardinals 14, Astros 3

Darrell Porter's three-run homer in a five-run first inning started St. Louis to an easy victory over Houston

Ryan, 11-5 last season, including a record fifth career no-hitter, was no match for Cardinal starter Bob Forsch, who scattered seven hits in eight innings, including solo home runs in the sixth inning by Alan Ashby and in the seventh by Art Howe. Porter also collected one of seven Cardinal doubles.

"It might have been good to save some of those runs for tomorrow night but I don't scoring runs this season," Porter said. "We won't always have it this good. It was just a great day for us and a frustrating day for them."

Forsch, despite delivery problems, mastered the weak-hitting Astros until he tired in the eighth.

"Teams come in to Houston and don't score that much all year against these guys," Forsch said. "You just don't expect that many runs off Nolan Ryan." Dodgers 4, Giants 3

Dusty Baker's basesloaded single through a drawn-in infield in the ninth inning lifted Los Angeles over San Francisco in the World Champions' opener at Dodger Stadium.

Bill Russell led off the Dodgers' ninth with a double off loser Gary Lavelle, the third of four San Francisco pitchers. One out later, Steve Sax singled and pinch-hitter Ron Roenicke was walked intentionally to load the bases. Greg Minton replaced Lavelle and Baker hit the first pitch between third and short for the winning run.

"He threw a high sinker" and I hit it," Baker said. "I' kind of thrive in being in such a situation. As a youngster, Facdreamed about Hank Aaron and Willie Mays, and now I'd hope some people are thinking about me."

"Opening Day is like Christmas - once you've lost it, it's hard to recapture." said Mike McClure, vice president of marketing for the Chicago White Sox.

And what was supposed to be the opening day of the baseball season turned out to be just like Christmas in six different cities - a white Christmas - when those famed April showers turned out to be snow showers.

A freak storm that struck the Northeast and Midwest with near-blizzard conditions forced the postponement of six games Tuesday, several others on Wednesday and Thursday and sent the Boston Red Sox scurrying back to their Winter Haven, Fla., training camp and the Milwaukee Brewers to Houston's Astrodome. Meanwhile, the Chicago White Sox and Toronto Blue Jays arranged a pair of exhibition games in Minnesota's new Hubert H. Humphrey Metrodome.

In the American Boston-Chicago, Cleveland-Milwaukee and Toronto-Detroit games were first postponed from Tuesday to Wednesday and then put off again, along with Thursday's regularly scheduled games between the same teams.

The game in New York scheduled Tuesday between the Yankees and the Texas Rangers also was postponed and there was so much snow on the Yankee Stadium diamond that it couldn't even be rescheduled for Wednesday. an open date. Those teams will try again Thursday.

In the National League, New York at Philadelphia and Montreal at Pittsburgh were called off Tuesday. The Mets and Phillies will try to play Wednesday night, but the Pirates, after first resetting their game with the Expos for Wednesday, later decided to wait until Thursday. Chicago and New York were beset by snow removal problems and near-freezing temperatures, while more than a foot of snow forced the Brewers to seek the comfort of the Astrodome for Wednesday and Thursday workouts. The Astros were scheduled to entertain the St. Louis Cardinals both nights.

The White Sox and Blue Jays will play practice games Wednesday afternoon and Thursday night in the Metrodome, where the Twins and Seattle Mariners had league games scheduled Wednesday night and Thursday afternoon...and where Commissioner Bowie Kuhn couldn't make it for Tuesday night's opener because the storm canceled his flight from New Jersey. In Detroit, pitcher Jack Morris said the field was "like a brick," adding, "Right now, I think I'm going to go out and buy a heater for my waterbed." While no one could do anything about the weather, except to try to clear the snow as quickly as possible, critics came down hard on the schedule-maker who paired

"Can you imagine California playing at Oakland? Two warm weather cities. And what about Seattle opening at Minnesota? Two teams with domes. It just doesn't make any sense.

White Sox co-owner Jerry Reinsdorf agreed with his manager, but had an ex- nesota history. planation.

"California doesn't want to schedule a lot of games at home while the kids are in school and they don't want to be playing at home when the home," he said. "That's ridiculous."

The Cleveland Indians returned from Milwaukee and planned indoor workouts at Cleveland State Universi-

"The field was in nearperfect condition last Wednesday. Then, Mother ton (Weaver, Gilbert, Ti-Nature dealt us a severe blow Friday and Saturday," added Harry Gill, the Milwaukee groundskeeper.

Former Indians pitcher Herb Score, now a broadcaster for the club, recalled stepping off a plane in Chicago before the 1961 White Sox home opener and being confronted by 15 inches of

"But tq. days later, we played," Score said.

'We got snowed out against the Yankees one year on May 8 in Cleveland, so nothing surprise me any more," said Bob Lemon, another former Cleveland pitcher who now manages the Yankees. "I'm not sure what year it was, somewhere between 1946 and

In Philadelphia, Joel Ralph, manager of Veterans Stadium, said he planned to handle the snow and slush removal "as though it was on my living room rug. We'll try and do it by hand with 30 guys using snow pushers and rubber squeegees. If worse comes to worse, we'll use jeeps and a tractor with a rotary brush."

The Yankees held a preseason workout Monday and outfielder Dave Collins. informed of Tuesday's impending storm, quipped, 'Maybe George will delay it

"I just kept listening to the coaches and changing a few things," said the rookie first baseman who struggled through a spring hitting slump and was voted the "worst hitter" to make the 25-man roster.

"I had been putting pressure on myself and coaches just told me to relax and do what I could do. It finally sank in. I just went into tonight knowing it starts all

While Seattle Manager Rene Lachemann postponed judgment on Maler, he did have some thoughts about the Twins' new home - the Hubert H. "This place has got a chance of being the Kingdome in home runs;" he said. "You play in here and you just have to keep going."

Minnesota third baseman (Los Angeles) Dodgers are Gary Gaetti hit two of them, including a three-run job that tied the score 4-4 in the fourth. In the fifth, the Mariners took the lead for good as Julio Cruz scored on a sacrifice fly by Bruce Bochte.

The Mariners scored again "Having snow blowing all in the sixth on Maler's sacrifice fly and added four straight balls more runs in the seventh on an RBI double by Al Cowens and a three-run double by Maler. Cowens added a solo homer for Seattle in the ninth. In the only other AL game played Tuesday night, the Oakland A's edged the California Angels 3-2 in 11 innings.

Four games were postponed by bad weather. Snow wiped out the Texas-New York contest, while the Toronto-Detroit, Boston-Chicago and Cleveland-Milwaukee games were postponed by cold.

In the National League, Los Angeles beat San Francisco 4-3, St. Louis walloped Houston 14-3 and Atlanta trimmed San Diego 1-0. Snow postponed the Montreal-Pittsburgh and New York-Philadelphia contests.

A's 3, Angels 2 Davey Lopes drew a basesloaded walk from California pitcher Don Aase with two out in the 11th inning to force in the winning run in Oakland's victory over the Angels.

Aase walked Dwayne Murphy, the A's leadoff hitter in the 11th, but retired the next two batters before Wayne Gross singled, sending Murphy to third. Jim Spencer was walked intentionally to load the bases.

Lopes, the former Los Angeles Dodgers' second baseman playing his first AL game, fell behind 0-2 on the count and then took four

SUGARBEET DIRECTORS

Two longtime directors of the Texas-New Mexico Sugarbeet Growers Association received special plaques Monday night after retiring from the board. S.L. Garrison, left, served 17 years and is a former president, while Ed Wieck had been on the board since 1973. President Bill Cleavinger, right, cited the leadership of the two men and their dedication to the sugarbeet industry. The presentation came during a director's dinner at K-Bob's Restaurant.

Brucellosis Program Said To Cost More Than Disease

AUSTIN - At a time when government and private enterprise are concentrating on reducing spending, the Independent Cattlemen's Association continues to ask government officials to take a close look at the cost of the federal brucellosis control program.

"Cattlemen strongly believe that the federal brucellosis control program costs them more than the disease," ICA vice president Dr. Eddie Payne told the agriculture subcommittee of the House Appropriations Committee last week, "so I appear before this committee in support of the President's budget reductions for the federal program."

is composed of representatives of more than ninety Texas gas distribution and transmission companies, including representatives from both municipal and investorowned systems. Association members serve more than ninety-five percent of all gas consumers in Texas. In addition, the membership includes representatives from practically all companies who provide products and services to the gas industry in

The organization promotes public education and public relations programs to help customers learn more about the gas industry; fosters cooperation between industry and government bodies; and accumulates data which is useful in developing engineering, operating and maintenance programs that will contribute to the safe and reliable use of natural gas throughout Texas.

Washington D.C was part of a series of hearings reviewing President Reagan's 1983 budget. The proposed budget decreases brucellosis pro-

million in 1982 to $60 million

As a representative of thousands of men and women who derive their primary livelihood from ranching, Payne testified his industry is suffering from overregulation. The 48-year-old brucellosis eradication program which has had little effect on incidence of the disease since its beginning is the biggest example of overregulation, he says.

Payne, a practicing veterinarian and cow-calf operator, cited President Reagan's explanation for the program's cuts as substantial evidence for discontinuing its futile attempt to eradicate brucellosis. Reagan reasoned eradication may not be possible because (1) wild animals carry the disease; (2) the disease can be easily reintroduced and spread; (3) incidence of the disease has only been reduced slightly although $690 million in federal funds was spent for that purpose between 1960 and 1981; (4) federal costs for the program are nearly triple the animal production loss

Payne's testimony in from the disease.

"Over the next 20 years President Reagan's budget change will save a billion dollars for the federal government and an additional $200 million for states and producers," Payne said. 'It will allow cattlemen to clean up their own herds and save the government money that is now being wasted."

Former governor Dolph Briscoe, a past president of the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association, and Norman Moser, also past president of TSCRA and former chairman of the Texas Animal Health Commission made almost the ame recommendations testimony before the same committee March 31.

ICA testified last year requesting to cut the federal program's funding and increase bruccellosis research funding, says ICA President Roy Wheeler. Congress agreed to expand research, but failed to reduce funding of the test and slaughter program in their budget, reports Wheeler. ICA then took its case to the Office of Management and Budget who in turn recommended the cuts to President Reagan. Reagan's budget now proposes to phase out the federal test and slaughter program over the next three years.

Farmers Receive Deficiency Checks

Grain sorghum farmers will receive deficiency checks of 48 checks per hundred pounds on their 1981 production. Commodity Credit Corporation will mail checks totalling approximately $232 million. Texas sorghum producers will receive the largest share with $71.5 million, while $65.4 million will go to Kansas growers and $44.8 million to Nebraska.

"USDA has informed us that the checks will be mailed on, or about, April 10," reported Elbert Harp, executive director of Grain Sorghum Producers Association (GSPA.) Barbecue Comments Requested

WASHINGTON (AP) -Here's your chance to tell the government that barbecued ribs from your part of the country really are different from those in California, Texas and Georgia.

If you're convinced they're all the same, tell that to the Agriculture Department's bureaucrats who are looking into the spicy situation.

The department said Tuesday that it wants public comments on how to write new federal specifications for barbecued meat.

Donald L. Houston, administrator of the department's Food Safety and Inspection Service said the effort began after his agency was asked by a manufacturer of barbecue equipment to update the federal definitions of "barbecue" and "barbecu-

-Can both dry heat and moist heat be used? -What types of heat

-Are there styles of barbecuing that should be recognized as having geographic significance?

The director of the Textile Research Center (TRC) at Texas Tech University says instrument measurements will remove human error from the process which leads to the classing of cotton.

Director James S. Parker, who expects TRC to test more than 80,000 cotton samples on its line of instruments this year, is quick to point out the TRC does not class cotton. Only the United States Department of Agriculture, through its classing offices, can do that.

'We don't class cotton," Parker said. "We are simply measuring the physical charactristics of cotton. It requires a grader to review the numbers our tests generate and class the cotton.'

At present, the USDA has only one cotton classing office which uses instrument measurements, and it is in Lamesa, Texas. Eventually,

The major roadblock to implementing instrument measurements nationally in USDA cotton classing offices is money, Parker said. A single line of equipment necessary to take all measurements costs more than $100,000, and dozens of lines are needed classing offices.

Winter Weather Delays Planting

Rain, snow and cold over vast areas in recent days have stalled spring planting and other field work in much of the nation, says the government's Joint Agricultural Weather Facility.

But in some other parts of the world, including sections of the Soviet Union's winter grain area, a lack of moisture is raising concerns about 1982 harvests. China is another country where dry conditions are causing worry.

Officials said Tuesday the "intense storm" systems during the week of March 29 through April 4 caught U.S. farmers in the midst of planting corn, sorghum, cotton and other crops.

Generally, however, the winter wheat crop was "in mostly good condition" as the April storms developed, the report said.

'Kansas winter wheat showed good growth and started to joint in the southcentral and southeastern parts of the state," the report said.

Oklahoma wheat was reported in "good to excellent" condition, and the Texas crop was rated in "fairto good" shape. Nebraska and Montana prospects also were said to be fair to good.

"Corn planting moved northward in Virginia and began in Kansas," the report said. "Progress ranged from 16 percent completion in North Carolina to 79 percent completion in Georgia."

Cotton planting gained momentum in Arizona and Texas and began to get under way in New Mexico, South Carolina and Georgia. Some cotton was planted in California but wet weather slowed field work and put growers behind schedule.

Tobacco transplanting was 82 percent finished in Georgia and 10 percent complete in South Carolina, the report said. In other areas, producers "seeded and cared for beds. Plants were in fair to good condition."

Rice planting was reported 8 percent finished in Mississippi, 24 percent in Louisiana and 31 percent complete in Texas by April 4. Looking at conditions on a global basis, the facility which is operated by the departments of Commerce and Agriculture - included these observations in its weekly report:

Soviet Union

Member FDIC

"Scattered light showers fell across most of the region. Many winter grain areas of the Ukraine and North Caucasus broke domancy under low topsoil moisture conditions. If a persistent dry period extends into the growing season, the emerging crop could be adversely affected."

South Asia "Dry weather and nearnormal temperatures permitted harvesting in nothern Pakistan and India. In Bangladesh, most crop areas had no rain. The southern tip of India continued to receive locallized rainfall."

Eastern Asia

'Most of China's dry area had little or no rainfall. Only half of the irrigable winter grain fields are reportedly being watered. All others remain under stress, a third seriously. Wide temperature fluctuations again occurred.

Results from yield trials in Kansas and Nebraska prove that SeedTec D701G adapts to a wide variety of growing conditions. In the 1981 Kansas grain sorghum tests, D701G tied for first in the Thomas County (fallow) trial and ranked among the top five hybrids in Brown, Ellis, Ford, Reno, Republic and Stafford counties. Even as far north as Auburn, Nebraska, SeedTec D701G placed second in the extension yield trial while recording the lowest moisture content of all hybrids entered.

Consistent performance like this is no accident. It reflects the fact that D701G is adapted to both dryland and irrigated conditions. Resistance to downy mildew and Biotype C greenbugs, plus tolerance to smut and MDMV, also enable SeedTec D701G to produce heavy yields of high test-weight grain.

SeedTec 652G ranks high in state

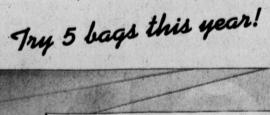

Over the past four years, SeedTec 652G has compiled an impressive record in the Kansas grain sorghum trials. In Greely and Thomas counties, 652G produced the highest average yields during the past four years combined. Four-year yield averages also show that this mediumearly sorghum finished among the top four hybrids in Ford, Finney and

Year in and year out, SeedTec 652G has what it takes to make the most of a little water. Even in hot, dry weather, 652G comes through with big yields of bright red grain. Its other strong points include excellent seedling vigor, fast-drydown, and tolerance to smut, MDMV and Biotype C greenbugs.

Disease-resistant SeedTec 710DR produces healthy sorghum yields. SeedTec 710DR offers the kind of disease resistance a sorghum hybrid needs to produce consistently high yields. With resistance to downy mildew and head smut, as well as tolerance to MDMV, this medium maturity hybrid performs well under most growing conditions. These features, plus strong emergence and excellent standability, make 710DR a wise choice for growers who want

ABC has brought in "Police Squad!," a madcap sitcom mocking police series from the '60s and '70s as a sixepisode replacement for the fading "Mork and Mindy."

Weathermen Check Storm Warnings

PARIS, Texas (AP) -Something can be learned from every tornado to help Texans prepare for the next violent storm, say forecasters who visited this twister-devastated city the day after the funnels touched

"Tornadoes usually move about 30 mph, but this one was moving about 50 mph," said Mike Mogil, deputy meteorologist in charge of the National Weather Service forecast office in Fort Worth.

Mogil praised the city and county warning system used last Friday to alert the area of the impending danger. Emergency vehicles with sirens raced through city streets to alert residents to take cover as the storm approached.

"(Getting) the warning out was imperative since it was moving so fast and covering a lot of ground in a short amount of time," he said, adding, "a spotter in Bonham mentioned that it was zipping right along."

Both Mogil and Alan Moller, warnings and preparedness meteorologist, were tracking the storm's path at the weather service in Fort Worth.

"We were typing the warning message into the computer system when we heard it had touched down," Mogil said.

"We knew from the movement around Bonham that it was dangerous, but did not know it was tornadic until a parent cloud, or wall cloud, was spotted near Ravenna. A funnel emerged and that's when we put out the warning to Fannin and Lamar Counties," the forecaster said.

The warning system used by the National Weather Service is two-fold, Mogil explained. 'We use the radar to track a system and then a spotter on the ground to tell them very well," he said.

tremendous amount of response by the people at risk credit," said Moller. "Local contributed to the very low amateur radio operators were working closely with city police and the Department of Public Safety. They should get credit for what they did." Mogil said the early alert triggered the public warning. 'Not only did they (amateur radio operators) report what they got ... they got the word out to the cars with sirens and were the communications links," Mogil noted.

The spotters were also praised by Harold McCrabb, meteorologist-in-charge in Fort Worth.

"The total warningpreparedness program paid off," he said. "Early warnings thanks to trained spotwhat is going on. It worked ters, effective dissemination of the warning via sirens and "County spotters are due a the mass media and superb death toll."

Mogil added that because a tornado is a very "shortfused" type natural disaster, there is never going to be a lot of warning. But, he added, the people of Paris got "more than most people can ever hope to get." "And believe me, we are glad," Mogil said.

Training helps hands

DEAR DR. LAMB — My neighbor and I have been on a walking program since last fall. We have worked up to three-and-a-half miles in 60 minutes at least five days a week. Before this we were doing aerobic dancing two days a week for one hour each time. During the aerobic dancing class I noticed that my hands would swell and feel quite warm. They do the same thing during our walks. Hers do the same thing but to a lesser degree.

I am 40 years old, very healthy, not sick with even a cold all winter. Are my hands anything to worry about? They do return to normal after a while. What causes this?

DEAR READER - When you are walking your hands may swing but they do hang down and you are not contracting your arm muscles. The blood tends to pool in the veins in your hands. Let your hand hang down by your side and watch the veins over the back of your hand pop out. That is because blood runs downhill in response to gravity. Now hold your hand in front of your face and watch the veins collapse as the blood runs downhill toward your heart.

The increased pressure in the vein in your hands during walking causes fluid to escape into the tissues and remain there causing swelling. The same applies to dancing. The increased flow from increased heart work actually augments the Training helps because your body gradually develops reflex control to decrease blood flow to the parts of the body that are not working, such as your hands and arms when walking or exercising your legs. Your contracting leg mus-cles milk the blood out of your legs up toward your heart and actually prevent swelling. That is why walking or even jogging will pre-vent swelling of your legs cause swelling. The swelling you have noticed in your hands during leg exercise is entirely normal and will not harm you. Walking is very good for most people's health. And it certainly helps control body weight.

Landmark Smoker Study:

Merit Earns Taste Trophy.

Rigorous smoker tests confirm MERIT as proven taste alternative to higher tar smoking.

Just released—the results of extensive new research conducted by MERIT.

The conclusion: In tests comparing taste and tar combined, MERIT is the clear choice over leading higher tar brands.

MERIT Remains Unbeaten.

In impartial new tests where brand identity was concealed, the overwhelming majority of smokers reported MERIT taste equal to—or better than—leading higher tar brands.

Moreover, when tar levels were revealed, 2 out of 3 chose the MERIT combination of low tar and good taste.

Taste Turning Smokers To MERIT.

In a separate part of this study, smokers report that MERIT taste is a major factor in completing their successful switch from higher tar brands.

Confirmed: 9 out of 10 former higher tar smokers say MERIT is an easy switch, that they didn't give up taste in switching, and that MERIT is the best-tasting low tar they've ever tried.

Year after year, in study after study, MERIT remains unbeaten. The proven taste alternative to higher tar smoking—is MERIT.
