Allies Win War's Greatest Victory

LONDON, Nov. 3 (AP) — A thousand British heavy bombers laid 4,480 tons of explosives and fire bombs last night on Germany's greatest arsenal of Dusseldorf after a day in which U.S. fighters of the Eighth Air Force won "their greatest victory of the war over the Luftwaffe."

Roosevelt Says Stilwell Rumors Are Murmurings

By J. W. DAVIS Associated Press Staff Writer

President Roosevelt said today that some reports concerning the Stilwell incident and Secretary of State Hull's health may have prompted his radio reference to what he termed campaign "whisperings and murmurings."

He gave reporters at his news conference the same answer—that that may have been what he was talking about last night. To these three inquiries:

1. What of the statement by Rep. Judd, (R-Minn.) that Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell had served an ultimatum on the Chinese government demanding that he be given full command of Chinese armies?

2. What of reports that Secretary Hull is planning to resign, and

3. That Vice President Wallace would succeed Hull.

Today's presidential news conference took the political spotlight as Governor Dewey returned to Albany for a final home-state drive to be climaxed by a Madison Square Garden address tomorrow night.

Mr. Roosevelt will speak from Boston a couple of hours earlier after brief appearances at Bridgeport and Hartford, Conn., and Springfield, Mass.

From a member of his cabinet, Interior Secretary Ickes, came the charge that the republican campaign for Thomas E. Dewey "has been a sly, but deliberate effort to encourage" anti-labor and anti-semitic feeling.

And from Dewey came a denunciation of democratic tactics as including the "most corrupt offer ever made by any political party."

It is time, he said, "to put an end to secret deals, both at home and abroad."

O'Daniel Heckled By Houston Crowd

HOUSTON, Nov. 3 (AP)—Senator W. Lee O'Daniel, heckled and booed for 30 minutes here last night as he addressed a rally sponsored by the Texas Regulars, said in a statement later that the demonstration against him had been arranged "presumably on orders from Washington."

With pandemonium among the police-estimated 2,500 persons in the auditorium, O'Daniel read his speech into a microphone which carried it by radio over the state.

More than a dozen full-fledged fist fights, in which noses were bloodied and eyes were blackened, took place on the crowded floor.

After the meeting Senator O'Daniel issued a scathing statement blaming the riot on "the communists, labor leader racketeers, New Deal fellow travelers and lawless element which constitute the principle backing of the New Deal party."

He said he was not frustrated or surprised by the demonstration because he had been reliably informed beforehand that a riot had been arranged, "presumably on orders from Washington."

He termed it "another disgraceful gestic performance."

Soviets Capture Domsod; Head For Capital City

By EDDY GILMORE MOSCOW, Nov. 3 (AP) — The Red army smashed into the outer defenses of Budapest today, hammering German positions less than 23 miles south of the Hungarian capital after capturing the rail station of Domsod.

Northeast of Budapest Russian columns cleared the enemy from a 65-mile section of the eastern bank of the Middle Tisza river, on a front between Csap and the Czechoslovakian border and reaching down to captured Polgar, 93 miles from the imperilled capital.

Sixty towns and villages were seized in the advance on Budapest from the south and the enemy was rolled back on a 60-mile front. The capture of 2,080 prisoners, including Col. Gen. Janus Voroeco, former Hungarian chief of staff, brought the total for the first three days of the offensive to 7,518.

It was believed here that Red army advance columns might already have appeared across the Tisza northeast of Budapest in a drive to link up with forces to the south for an all-out assault on the city.

German broadcasts heard in London suggested that the Russians might smash into Budapest over the weekend.

A Russian communique said the desperate Germans were throwing in fresh forces "straight from the march" in an attempt to halt the drive, and that during the day more than 2,000 enemy troops were killed and 58 tanks and mobile guns knocked out.

The communique in a brief reference to the East Prussian front said 200 Germans were killed as the Russians repelled a Nazi counterattack south of Goldap.

Russian bombers sank nine German transports and damaged two in raids on Lepaja and other German-held Baltic points.

Russian bombers sank nine German transports and damaged two in raids on Lepaja and other German-held Baltic points.

The Americans destroyed 208 German planes, 183 in the air and 25 on ground. Four victims were swift new jet-propelled craft. The victories fell 99 planes short of the record of 307 destroyed in a lengthy running battle over and around Schweinfurt and Regensburg, on Aug. 18, 1943. The jet planes attacked in formation, but only a few were able to penetrate the fighter screen concealing the bombers.

OPA Rejects Plea By Citrus Growers

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3 (AP) — The plea of Texas, Arizona and California growers for a price increase on citrus fruits has been rejected by the Office of Price Administration.

This was learned authoritatively today from officials who declined to be named, just as the office of Senator Pepper (D-Fla.) was advised that an order had been signed approving a boost in prices for Florida grapefruit and oranges. The Florida action was taken as a result of crop losses in the recent hurricane.

Bollworm Epidemic Spreads In State

McALLEN, Nov. 3 (AP) — Pink bollworm infestation has spread to three more Texas counties, bringing to 16 the number now affected, bollworm control officials in the Rio Grande Valley have announced.

Newest counties are McCulloch, Nolan and Coke, all in West Texas and near the already infested San Angelo area.

Majority Of Local Business Firms To Bypass Armistice Day Vacation

A meeting of 26 Big Spring business men and women held Thursday afternoon at the chamber of commerce resolved to keep local business houses open Saturday, November 11, which is Armistice day.

Local banks will be closed, as will the chamber of commerce, and the city offices. Several business establishments voted to close and will do so. The Big Spring bombardier school and all other army posts will not observe the holiday.

It was also decided at the meeting that local firms will recognize November 30 as Thanksgiving despite the President's proclamation for November 23. Plans have already been made for public schools to observe November 23 as a holiday and a football game has been arranged for that date.

Superforts Blast Rangoon

M'Arthur Barely Misses Death In Japanese Strafing

By LEONARD MILLIMAN Associated Press Staff Writer

Superforts bombed Rangoon today as Japan threw its best pilots into a desperate attempt to rescue battered remnants of imperial ground forces from a death trap being closed on Leyte Island by Gen. Douglas MacArthur, who himself missed death by inches from a Japanese aerial attack.

The war department announced a "substantial force" of B29s, carrying the greatest bomb load per plane in aerial history, effectively smashed railway yards in Rangoon. These Burma raiders flew from India bases.

An eight-hour air battle was fought around a convoy off Ormoc as recently arrived reinforcements were reported trying to flee from Leyte, where routed Nipponese have already suffered an estimated 30,000 casualties.

Even the dark China picture brightened for the Allies, with Chinese troops recapturing the Burma Road stronghold of Lungling for the third time in five months. U. S. Liberators sinking a destroyer and damaging a transport in the South China sea, and Chungking welcoming the imminent return of Donald M. Nelson to form a Chinese war production board.

A 50 caliber bullet fired by a strafing Japanese plane missed General MacArthur's head by a scant foot. The general, who has had numerous close brushes with death, looked at the bullet hole in the wall of his hut and commented, "Well, not yet."

Chinese reentry into Lungling climaxed a blazing five-day assault and made possible the reopening of a land supply route to China. Lungling would be the junction of the Burma and Ledo roads, if the Ledo road is routed through Tengchung, 35 miles to the northwest.

Japanese retreated towards Mangshih, a lesser Burma road garrison to which beaten Nipponese have fled from other fallen strongpoints on the Salween front.

Quads Past First Critical 48 Hours

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 3 (AP) — The tiny Cirimello quadruplets are past the first critical 48 hours of their lives, and all are doing well.

So is their petite young mother. An announcement by Pennsylvania hospital administrator Dr. John N. Hatfield, issued two days after the three girls and their brother were born in the first Caesarean operation quadrupled delivery in medical history said:

"The three little girls seem to be progressing nicely. The boy is still having a little respiratory difficulty. His lungs are not yet fully expanded, but he does have a good lusty cry. He needs a good deal of attention on the part of the corps of special nurses. x x x

"The boy retains good well and has good color. The body functions of all four babies are considered normal. As far as the mother is concerned, she is making very good normal progress. The babies have not yet been named."

Unusually Heavy Rains Halt Move On Italian Front

ROME, Nov. 3 (AP)—Unusually heavy rainstorms have brought operations of the Italian battlefront once more to a standstill. Allied headquarters announced today.

A few gains were achieved by the Eighth army, but there were no major advances as fighting mired down.

British infantry and armor made an advance of nearly a mile south of the Rimini-Bologna highway (No. 9) in the Forli sector. The battle raged around the Forli airfield, two miles southeast of Forli, with the Germans holding two sides and the British two sides.

German guns and infantrymen blocked the advance up highway 16 toward Ravenna on the Adriatic coastal sector. The British were approximately five miles from the city.

The Germans counterattacked during lulls in the violent weather on the Fifth army front, but American positions remained virtually unchanged. Many forward units were unable to get their full quota of essential supplies because of the washed out bridges, swollen streams and the mud.

Governor Favors 'Cooling Off' In Rainey Troubles

AUSTIN, Nov. 3 (AP)—Governor Coke Stevenson favors a "cooling off" period before taking action on the University of Texas administrative turmoil which led to the discharge of President Homer P. Rainey and the resignation of three regents.

The Jaconic governor-ranchman said, "I've been around the campfire long enough to know you can't drink coffee out of a boiling pot without burning your lips."

Stevenson acceded to requests of students, ex-students and faculty groups and last night held a two and a half-hour conference with representatives of the various groups.

Following the meeting spokesmen expressed the opinion that the difficulties can be ironed out with satisfaction to all elements.

However, Malcolm Wallace, student body president, said students still want regents to meet here Saturday and explain the reason why they discharged Dr. Rainey.

In San Angelo, Chairman Penrose B. Metcalfe of the special senate educational investigating committee last night termed "inadequate" reasons given by the regents for discharging Dr. Rainey.

Last night Governor Stevenson concurred with Federal Judge J. C. Hutcheson of Houston, spokesman for the students, ex-students and faculty group which conferred with the governor, that the exercise of judgment, wisdom and caution would solve the situation caused by the discharge of Dr. Rainey and the resignation of the three regents.

Judge Hutcheson emphasized that the discussion was general in nature and that a condition and not a theory was discussed.

Soong Denies U.S. Pressure Reports

By SPENCER MOOSA CHUNGKING, Nov. 3 (AP) — Foreign Minister T. V. Soong denied today reports of American pressure for a solution of China's communist problem and predicted a new deal in relations between China and the United States.

Soong opened an interview with a written statement in which he stressed the declaration that the recall of Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell was "entirely a question of personality."

In discussion he said Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek and the former commander in chief of U.S. forces in the China-Burma-India theater did not link each other, and could not work together. He said this relationship dated from the first year of Stilwell's stay in China.

Soong said he believed future relations between China and the United States would be "more understanding, more intimate and more fruitful."

Chinese greeted the announcement that Donald M. Nelson was returning to China to assist in increasing war production. This was termed a hopeful element in improving relations with the United States.

Soong said the Chinese welcomed heartily the appointment of Maj. Gen. Albert C. Wedemeyer, U.S.A., as commander in the China theater. He asserted that the resignation of U. S. Ambassador Clarence E. Gauss was in no way connected with the Stilwell episode.

The foreign minister acknowledged that the communist question has been discussed between the Americans and Chinese but only, he said, in the most friendly manner.

Soong denied any disagreement between Chungking and Stilwell over the campaign in Burma. He said the Chinese welcomed constructive criticism but that unfortunately, a great deal of the criticism abroad was not of that type. He said events would show whether the critics of China were right or wrong.

Stilwell To Make Own Press Decision

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3 (AP) — It will be up to General Joseph Stilwell himself to decide when—and, if—he wants to make his story public.

The war department made this known today in response to inquiries as to whether a press conference would be arranged when the general arrives in Washington following his recall from China.

It was stated that the department will not suggest to "Vinegar Joe" that he meet reporters to give his version of his much-discussed recall, but that there is no reason why Stilwell should not do so if he wishes.

Two Bodies Found Shot Three Times

McPHERSON, Kans., Nov. 3 (AP)—Two bodies, each shot three times through the back and head and tossed into a roadside ditch, were found yesterday to end a week-long search—and to start another hunt, this time for the killers.

A search had been conducted for the two men, Dr. M. E. Lambert, 31, a Canton, Kans., osteopath, and Cpl. Charles Nipper, 21, since Monday. That's the last day they were seen alive, and that's also the day Doctor Lambert's bloodstained car was found near here.

Highway patrolmen said they were at a loss to explain why the bodies were not found sooner. No attempt had been made to cover them. They also were not certain of a motive. The men's billfolds were missing, but jewelry and change had been passed up.

Nipper, who had been stationed at the Smoky Hill Army Air Field near Salina, was last seen entering a car similar to Lambert's at a roadside shelter near Wichita, of it.

Supercoach Still Missing

VICKSBURG, Miss., Nov. 3 (AP) — Fifty-five passenger Greyhound supercoach was stolen from the bus terminal here last night, and thus far no trace has been found of it.

Few Nazi Guns Remain On North Side Of Schelde

LONDON, Nov. 3 (AP)—British commandos and infantry overrun the ancient Dutch port of Vlissingen (Flushing) in a bitter fight through blazing streets today and the month-long battle to open Antwerp was just about over.

Few Nazi Guns Remain On North Side Of Schelde

LONDON, Nov. 3 (AP)—British commandos and infantry overrun the ancient Dutch port of Vlissingen (Flushing) in a bitter fight through blazing streets today and the month-long battle to open Antwerp was just about over.

The few German guns remaining on flooded Walcheren island on the north side of the Schelde mouth after the capture of Vlissingen were rapidly running out of ammunition.

Only a few scattered snipers remained to harass the Allies on either side of the river mouth, entrance to Antwerp port.

Americans and British smashing against the hard circle of German defenders holding south of the Maas (Meuse) on the road to Rotterdam, restored a bridgehead over the Little Mark river within six miles of the Moerdijk bridge.

The Americans attacked in moonlight a few hours before dawn in gaining their bridgehead to the left of the British, and dug in while waiting for reinforcements.

Southeast of Aachen, where the U. S. First army attacked on a limited front and broke through the Hurtgen forest with gains of one to two miles yesterday, the Americans continued to advance today but against increasing resistance. Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's supreme headquarters announced.

On the southern reaches of the Allied front, Allied troops battled deeper into the rising hills of the Vosges, capturing eight towns and villages and approaching to within from three to eight miles of the first towns inside six passes leading to the Rhine flatlands.

All the vital part of Walcheren island was in Allied hands with the fall of Vlissingen, a city of 22,000 and third port of Holland. Supreme headquarters announced that the Allied amphibious forces on the Dutch island which landed Wednesday at Westkapelle on the western tip and at Vlissingen had come to within two miles of a junction. Thus the coastal belt of dikes and dunes on the southwestern edge of the island where German guns were stationed, as well as the northwest corner, had been seized.

Convention Drafted For Post-War Flying

CHICAGO, Nov. 3 (AP) — The United States made public today its draft of a convention for governing international civil aviation, setting forth in formal language the plan outlined for the first time yesterday by Adolf A. Berle, Jr., leader of this country's delegation to the world conference here.

The American plan is for a permanent assembly with each signatory state represented, and an executive group which would be in continuous session. Its actions would require majority vote of the 15 members, who include two from the United States, two from the Soviet Union, two from the British commonwealth of nations, one each from Brazil, China and France and six to be chosen from among the other nations, three being from continental Europe, two from the Americas and one from Asia and Africa.

The draft convention stated in precise terms the United States policy that "each state grants the right to fly across its territory without landing, and the right to make technical stops in its territory, to the aircraft of the other contracting states engaged in scheduled airline service."

Misses Thanks For Cooperation

Miss Boyles and Lewter expressed thanks for cooperation coming from C. H. DeVaney, Frank Lovelace, Ralph White, Leonard Wallace, Ralph Proctor, E. W. Lomax, W. F. Coates, Sunny Chapman, Ed Carpenter, C. B. Lawrence and others in erection of the booths and arrangement of displays.

The show has been planned and worked on since late September. Farmers from most nearby communities will bring their various entries, compare them with other products, and have them judged by authorities on farm products in general.

East Fourth Baptist Is A Good Church

Yesterday, Today and Tomorrow

It is of supreme importance that when in 1492 Columbus discovered the North American Continent he christened it San Salvador, which, being interpreted, means "the land of our Saviour." Thus, America came under the Christian name and rule three hundred years before her monumental and immortal Declaration of Independence was framed and in the later strife and bloodshed of the battlefield she won the uncontested right to become and remain a free and independent republic.

When in 1776 those far-sighted and brave-hearted patriots penned and adopted the Declaration of Independence, which dissolved the political bonds that had connected them with another governmental power, they justified their courageous actions on the grounds that all men are created free and equal and that they are endowed with certain fundamental rights that cannot be denied, that among these are life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness. The concluding words of the Declaration of Independence are among the most sublime and sacred ever recorded by human hands, and these are they: "And for the support of this declaration, with a firm reliance on the protection of Divine Providence, we mutually pledge our lives, our fortunes, and our sacred honor." God is thus in the pith and marrow and warp and woof of that document that makes us free from alien tyrants and foreign political entanglements. We are indebted to the Church for every merit that makes our nation fit to live in and for every quality that renders it worth dying for. Let's pay that debt by being loyal to the Church.

"So Help Me God!"

By Ray Dudley, Editor The Oil Weekly

I stood in the blazing sun at Ellington Field, in Texas, last Monday and watched the cadets file by, fine many chaps, watched them come into the hall in which they were to receive their wings as commissioned officers in the United States Army Air Force. My third and last boy, a lad of 19, was among them.

Two years ago his mother and I had seen a similar group file into the chapel at Ellington to receive their wings, and our second boy was among them. Today he and his elder brother, who had chosen Navy Air, are memories, precious memories, it is true, but boys to be spoken of in hushed tones as boys who would have made good citizens, two boys whose memories will never be dimmed in the eyes of their father and mother. They, with thousands of others, have made the supreme sacrifice for America as they knew it and loved it.

Then Monday we heard again the prospective officers take the oath necessary to their commissions: "I do solemnly swear that I will support and defend the Constitution of the United States against all enemies, foreign or domestic, that I will bear true faith and allegiance to the same; that I take this obligation freely, without any mental reservation or purpose of evasion; and that I will well and faithfully discharge the duties of the office upon which I am about to enter: SO HELP ME GOD."

For a moment my thoughts drifted from the son whose burned body lies somewhere in France and from the other son who lies in native soil. . . .

Our forefathers who wrote the Constitution knew that they were giving to future generations a document so precious that it would be worth the loss of American lives to preserve . . . and they knew that there would arise enemies to it, domestic as well as foreign.

Then my mind went back to a time nearly three years ago, when my first two boys volunteered, and the pledge I made them:

"To the best of my meager ability I shall do all I can to defend against foes at home the institutions you boys have enlisted to uphold . . . and I shall do that without fear of sacrifice if it costs me everything I have, including my life: SO HELP ME GOD."

It was not necessary that I pledge them my fullest efforts to help prosecute the war . . . they could have expected no less of me as an American and a father.

The casualty lists over the country name thousands of parents whose boys have been lost and whose sons are as precious to them as mine were to me. I claim no distinction as the parent of boys who have died in the service. I can only claim to be among those to whom this war is a deadly serious thing, and I wish my claim to be listed among those who resent with every atom of their being the efforts which are being made by the Hillmans, the Browders, the Murrays and others, including our President, to nullify the sacrifices of thousands of American boys.

As I heard the oath to defend the Constitution repeated by the young men at Ellington, I could not but remember the remarks which have been made about it by Americans of foreign birth who would seek to destroy it . . . "a scrap of paper . . . an out-moded document . . . a bill of property rights rather than a bill of human rights." And these are the men who are asking that we trust our country to them.

The situation under which the Communist Front in America is trying to wield control over our country through the capture of one of our great political parties, is so preposterous as to be almost incredible. But make no mistake—the threat is a real one. That a Russian-born radical, with all of the class hate of his native land, should aspire to control this country is so fantastic that many cannot believe it. But it is true.

That he and his fellows have openly boasted that their organization, the CIO, is raising millions as a war chest to help keep Roosevelt in power, indicates a blatant confidence in their victory. That this money should be extracted from hundreds of thousands of members whose membership was forced on them, is a disgrace. That they get away with it is a shameful tribute to the close association they have with our Department of Justice.

Who was it who climbed the stairs, hat in hand, to Hillman's suite in a Chicago hotel to learn the wishes of the boss as to who would be Democratic candidate for the vice-presidency? It was our United States Department of Justice head—the man sworn to uphold our laws (including the Smith-Connally act which makes it a felony for a labor union, or a corporation, to contribute to a political party). Yes, it was Attorney General Biddle, and the man with him was the person who later was named by Hillman as the Democratic vice-presidential nominee, Harry Truman.

With Hillman and Browder and their ilk as arrogant as they are now, what will their attitude be if they succeed in re-electing Franklin D. Roosevelt? Where will their power end? What will happen to the rights guaranteed under our Constitution? If our interests should ultimately clash with those of Russia at what point will these men make up their minds as to where their first loyalty shall lie? If England's interests should clash with those of Russia, will our country's armed forces be thrown against a nation whose kinship to us derives from a common parent-hood?

This is a long way from the ceremony at Ellington last Monday. The field has widened until the lives of a large group of fine boys seem but a drop in a great ocean.

But it is not a long way from the pledge I made my boys.

Midland Host To Angelo: Abilene Meets Mustangs

Towner Leeper, the potent pony of Sweetwater's Mustangs will lead his undefeated and untied teammates, ranked ninth in the state by the Associated Press, against the Abilene Eagles and Jim Harrison tonight in the Eagles home city in what promises to be one of the classiest ball games West Texas has seen in many a day.

The Mustangs loom as pre-game favorites but the Eagles are looking forward to another upset, after handing one to Lubbock's Westerners not many weeks back, and a win by the Eagles will prove no surprise to interested parties in this area.

The game will pit the two teams still unbeaten in conference play that are marked to give mighty San Angelo's Bobcats a run for their money in taking District No. 3's title for the second consecutive year. Neither have met the Bobcats this season and the game will be the indicator as to the most dangerous threat Coach Jewel Wallace will have to face.

In the other lone district game the Bobcats will invade Midland for a game slated as a walkover for the defending state champions, and all statistics fail to prove differently. Angelo is at full strength and may once again have the services of end Kenneth Carley, missing from the lineup all year because of knee trouble but a most potent pass receiver and defensive glant for the Cats.

Considering all odds sports scribers have given the Bulldogs little chance to stop fullback George Graham and his cohorts and the Bobcats are expected to roll on toward another district title with a top-sided win.

Favorites Eliminated In Wichita Tourney

WICHITA FALLS, Nov. 3 (AP) — Two ranking favorites of the all-Southwest Women's Golf tournament were eliminated here yesterday when Mrs. Joanne Barr Tracy of Dallas defeated Mrs. Betty Mims White, also of Dallas, and Mrs. George Noble of Dallas defeated Mrs. Frank Goldthwaite of Fort Worth.

Mrs. Tracy won 5 and 4 and Mrs. Noble won by the same margin. Mrs. H. R. Behrens of Brownwood eliminated Mrs. H. L. Reynolds of Amarillo 1 up.

Sliding Down The Sports Chute

with BILL

With 15 correct guesses of 21 chances this season in District No. 3 and Southwest Conference guessing here I go again out on the limb for the week's games.

First let's look into the local schoolboy race of the conference play:

San Angelo-Midland: After last week there is no guesses about the Bobcats. They should reverse nature's order and this time the Cats will tree the Bulldogs . . . by a big score.

Odessa-Yaletta: Odessa is smarting from that 47-0 loss to the state champs and if it didn't take all the fire out of the Broncho machine they will take the game tonight with little difficulty.

Sweetwater-Abilene: This rates as a toss-up. Sweetwater has all the advantages on paper while Abilene has them in down-to-earth thinking. Sweetwater in the backfield and the Eagles on the line. The backfield should slip one or two passes by the line to score a win, but an Abilene win will be no upset.

Texas-SMU: The Longhorns are smarting from that defeat they got last week. SMU is in the same boat. However, Layne and Bechtol should prove too much for the Mustangs in Austin . . . Texas by two touchdowns.

Rice-Texas Tech: Everytime I choose the Owls to lose they win. I'll take them again this week purposely to win by a fair score. Tech has tasted blood and may fool us all . . . I hope.

TCU-Chatham Field: I know little about the service team but that long train ride plus the transfer losses will not be on the Frog's side. They will probably drop a close one.

A&M-Arkansas: The Ags are rolling right along now after being upset by the Frogs. They should prove too much for the Porkers and take a win on home grounds by three touchdowns.

Just to stretch my luck lets look in on a few other games of interest to the area's fans: Oklahoma should take Iowa State. Notre Dame to beat Navy. Georgia Tech over Duke. Tennessee to down L.S.U., Ohio State to wallop Indiana, Tulsa to bounce back and upset Iowa Seahawks, and Army to have a field day with Villanova.

See you . . .

Rankin Sparks Locals To Win Over Cardinals

Sparked by the return of Horace Rankin, who has been a member of the Steer squad this season, the Big Spring Yearlings pushed the Hermleigh Cardinals all over the field last night and took a 12-0 win that was much different than the score indicates with the locals dominating the field of play all evening. The nearest the invaders came to the Maverick goal line was the 12-yard marker after a Yearling fumbled the punt and the invaders recovered. The ball was lost four plays later on a fumble as Joe Jones recovered to halt the lone scoring threat.

For the locals it was once again Marvin Wright and Wesley Rogers in the hometown line with Rankin, Gordon Madison and Ervis Campbell sparking the offense that moved through a very stubborn opposing line all evening almost at will and to very effectively upset the favored Redbirds.

Not to be left out of the individual starring however was Jones at end and Pete Fuglaar at guard. These two lads contributed quite a bit to the success of the local team with their fine blocking, and Jones' pass receiving.

After a scoreless first quarter with the black-shirted home team looking good but not threatening, Jeston Corbell, Hermleigh safety, dropped a punt from the toe of Rankin and Wesley Rogers, who was down the field fast from his guard slot, fell on the ball on the 14.

After one play moved the ball to the seven Campbell ploughed over for the first score. The kick went wide after a bad center. On the next kickoff the visitors fumbled again and Rogers again nulled the free ball, this time on the 35. After a series of downs however the ball went over and the half ended with the underdog locals leading 6-0.

In the third quarter Rankin dropped back to the Hermleigh 40-yard line and laid a pass on the fingertips of Jones who gathered it in on the 27 and raced to the 12 where he was hauled in by the halfback who had been at his side from the moment he took the ball.

George Worrell made good on the pass by charging over from the two after a penalty had moved the ball back out to the seven. Campbell had charged down to the goal, and it appeared once that he had gone over but the officials ruled it no score; then Worrell carried over. Again the kick was no good.

In the fourth period Rankin continued to do some very spectacular passing with excellent receivers. A punt from the toe of Charlie Boren was dropped by an over-anxious halfback and Hermleigh recovered. They moved to the 12 yard line before Wright, who got 25 per cent of the tackles in the game, charged through to smother the ball on the 20 after chasing the ball carrier back eight yards. This ended the visitors' scoring threat and the ball game ended two minutes later, giving the home team a 12-0 win.

Outstanding in the visiting line was Kenneth Bracken at center, Yelton Blankenship at tackle, and J. P. Hale at quarterback.

Starting for the locals were Thomas and Jones at ends; Wright and Collins at tackles; Fuglaar and Rogers at guards; O'Brien at center; Rankin, Madison, Campbell and Worrell in the backfield.

Oklahoma Ags May Invade Cotton Bowl

DALLAS, Nov. 3 (AP) — There will be a Cotton Bowl game Jan. 1 but that's all the official information right now.

However, it's pretty well settled that no service team will play in the Dallas gridiron classic.

It's also pretty certain the Cotton Bowl folks have Oklahoma A. and M. down as No. 1 on the list of prospects as visiting team.

The Southwest conference champion automatically becomes host eleven. Right now it looks like Rice but the conference race isn't half over and a lot still can happen.

Other top prospects as visitors are Tulane, Georgia Tech, Wake Forest and Mississippi State. Some of these might have trouble making it, however, due to the fact they have naval trainees who can't be away from the campus for extended trips.

A team doesn't have to be undefeated to play in the Cotton Bowl this season. The Southwest conference won't be and it isn't likely there will be many others in the "trade area" of the bowl with unblemished records.

College Heights Noses Central In 6-0 Classic

North ward, College Heights and West ward took wins Thursday afternoon as the Big Spring junior football league swung through its fourth week of play and squared away on the final three games next Thursday with a tie for the championship becoming more and more probable as each game rolls by.

In the afternoon curtain raiser the Northside Dogies took their first victory over the diminutive South ward team and went wild in the biggest scoring spree of the year as they scored in every period to win easily 40-0.

In the first quarter South kicked off to open the game and three quarters later Tommy Rupard crashed over from the three and Hodnett converted. A few minutes later Rupard rounded end and sped 30 yards to paydirt. He then converted and the period ended 14-0.

In the second quarter Lynn Hodnett raced end again for thirty yards and paydirt with C. J. Harris converting. In the same period Rupard intercepted a Southside pass on the 35 and crossed the goal untouched. The conversion failed and the half ended with North leading 27-0. In the third period Harris again crossed the double-stripe after a 30 yard dash with Hodnett converting. The final score came in the fourth period when Hodnett scooped up a punt for the North eleven and raced 65 yards to score. The conversion failed and the game ended 40-0 in favor of the North Dogies.

In the second and feature game of the day College Heights, potential challenger for the title, found Central ward a tough nut to crack and for three quarters they battled scoreless with both teams finding it difficult to move downfield against tough defenses, but with the offensive ledger well balanced.

With Rusty Rusk and Amos Jones sparking the College Heights team the white-shirts moved down to the eight yard marker. Then Jones heaved a pass to Wayne Brown, but Johnny Knott slapped it down. The following play Jones again heaved to Brown, and again Knott battled the ball, but this time it bounded from his hand to his shoulder and into the waiting arms of Brown, who was standing in the end zone. This was the ball game, although Jackie Kilway and Billy McMillan sparked a valiant comeback for the losers they were too deep in the hole to take a win. This leaves College Heights still undefeated.

In the afternoon's finale the West ward eleven came through in expected style against stubborn opposition to overcome East ward's team 13-0 and also remain in the undefeated class. In the second period Lewis Gilbert crashed over from the three yard line for the winners after Leslie Sherrod had returned a punt some 25 yards to set up the play. The conversion was no good. Again in the third period it was speed and blocking that proved the difference as Bobby Campbell swept his own right end and raced 35 yards for the score. He converted on the same play. The fourth period was scoreless and the game ended in favor of the Golden-Shirts 13-0.

College Heights and West Ward have played to a tie in their game last week and stand tied for first place with no losses. Central and East ward are in second place with .500 percent each with two wins and two losses, while North comes next with three losses and one win and South is in the cellar with no wins.

Next week, in the final round, South plays College Heights while North battles East and West clashes with Central in the final game of the afternoon.

Steers Stage Long Scrimmages In Preparing For San Angelo Invasion

Coach John Dibrell has been sending his charges through plenty of extra-tough scrimmage sessions this week preparing them for the invasion of the potent San Angelo Bobcats November 10, and after four days of lengthy sessions on the Steer practice field it is a certainty that they will fare no worse physically than they have in intra-squad clashes.

Part of the week has been contributed mostly to blocking and tackling and even at this late date in the season the extra-tough work left many bruises and sore spots on the squad.

During the latter part of the week's work passing has been the big theme of Dibrell's work and instruction, and that department has rounded into shape considerable with Steer hopes soaring for some local scoring in their clash with the state champions Friday. The Cats are rated six touchdowns better than the locals with every chance and benefit-of-the-doubt given the mavericks.

Ed McLaren has been lost to the squad for the remainder of the year. Dibrell has informed these offices that doctor's orders have placed the speedy halfback's broken hand in a cast for a minimum of seven weeks and the coach has ordered McLaren to check in his equipment as he will have no chance of seeing action against Angelo, Abilene, or Sweetwater.

Hugh Cochran, one of the team's biggest scoring threats this year and an all-around fine player, will not be lost for any game, however. Dibrell gave notice that Cochran also was carrying a cast on a broken hand earlier this week. However, the cast will be removed before the game Friday night, and then protected with a special taping. After the game the hand will be replaced in the cast for protection during the week. Whether this will hamper Cochran's ball handling remains to be seen but use of the hand is expected to be unhurt and his game will be slowed little as it is not his passing hand.

Unbeaten Teams In High School Race Face Tests

By The Associated Press
Texas Schoolboy teams with perfect records may dwindle to less than a half-dozen when lights are turned off on football fields tonight.

In games yesterday Paschal (Fort Worth) easily held its standing by trouncing Masonic Home 38-0. Lamar (Houston) defeated Jeff Davis (Houston) 13-6 and in another Houston game, St. Thomas (Houston) defeated Sam Houston (Houston) 28-7.

Austin's undefeated and untied Maroons can take a long stride forward in district 15 championship if they turn back once-beaten but dangerous Thomas Jefferson of San Antonio today.

Top games today are Sweetwater vs. Abilene, North Side vs. Poly (both Fort Worth), unscored-on Sunset (Dallas) vs. Adamson, Waco vs. Corsicana, Goose Creek vs. Orange, and Kerrville vs. San Antonio Tech.

All are conference games.

More About Amendments

Two amendments will face Texas voters as they go to the polls next Tuesday.

On this point, we should like to use a timely quote from Rep. Burke Summers in a plea to club members to inform themselves before voting: "Go to the polls and vote; but vote as you please; but never let it be said that you were one of those who will confess, 'I never knew there were two amendments to be voted upon.'"

That, indeed, is a damaging indictment against anyone who claims the right to vote. Yet there will be several hundred who will come to the end of their bulky ballot on election day with complete surprise. They will either guess or pass over the amendments.

Again we remind the public of the content of these amendments. One would permit the counties to alter the various fund rates so long as they stay within the overall constitutional limit of 80 cents. The point is that in many instances the general fund, and perhaps some others, is forced to carry such a load that the traditional 25 cent rate cannot maintain it. Under the present system transfers have to be made without any direct violation of any. The new arrangement would simplify matters and thus we believe is worthy of approval since this convenience would outweigh the danger of boosting general fund rates without any effort to reduce them. The answer here is to make sure that good officials are chosen to administer our affairs.

The second amendment would permit cities and the state to set up a pension fund for their employees, who are now unprotected by social security or any other program. We see no reason why they should not be entitled to this same protection. In both the fund and pension amendments, local action may be taken only after a local vote of sanction, which makes the program optional. It is opinion that approval by voters of both amendments would be in order.

Too Many In Any Event
One of every 42 persons in the United States has syphilis, according to a statement made here Wednesday by J. H. James, Jr., VD investigator for the state department of health.

The implication then is that Big Spring has 440 cases. It may be that we do have, but before admitting it we should like to call for a little more than a blanket application of a statistical formula.

Currently there are 150 cases under treatment at the VD center. What we should like for the VD investigator or some authority to make known is the number of cases under private treatment. This would give us a more accurate picture of our rate of infection.

In any case, if we have only half the number of cases of syphilis as would be our lot under the national rate, we would have an alarming number. Can you imagine what a community furor would arise if we had 200 cases of smallpox? Well, why put up with syphilis any more than with smallpox?

Hollywood - "Laura" Fine For Escapist Purposes
By JACK O'BRIAN, AP Drama Editor. (One star means poor, four means excellent).

1-2 "Laura," with Gene Tierney, Dana Andrews, Clifton Webb, Judith Anderson. For escapist purposes "Laura" has just about everything. It is set against a fashionable background of literary personages, fashion designers and others generally considered both interesting and well-beeled. The settings are the smartest, the women's clothes have the ultimate in chi-chi and the conversation is of the best brittle sort. You might very well think that Philip Barry or Noel Coward had a hand in it.

A young fashion executive, a beautiful, brilliant member of the smartest cafe set, is found murdered. Suspects include the man she was about to marry, the woman who loved him and a writer. A tough, handsome young detective is assigned and one of the most absorbing murder mysteries of the year starts to unravel.

Clifton Webb walks off handily a combination of Alexander Woodcott, Lucius Beebe and the late Paul Kelly. He is a writer, Maury Paul, plus some overtones which none of the gentlemen named possess. He is a cynical, amusingly - insulting exquisite, elegant

by Dewitt Mackenzie, Associated Press War Analyst

One of the most inquiring people I know is my colleague Howard Blakeslee, Associated Press science editor, who has a penchant for abstruse problems, as witness his demand that I explain what impels Herr Hitler to continue fighting for a lost cause.

What Blakeslee wants me to do is read the dictator's mind to see whether the Nazi chief still has something up his sleeve—and maybe that's not a bad idea in view of yesterday's great air battle and other signs that a showdown is impending. The difficulty is that while I've seen a good deal of Hitler at one time or another—Berchtesgaden, Godesberg, Munich, Berlin, Sudetenland—I can't claim to read readily one of the most twisted minds the devil ever moulded. Still, this abnormal mind surely reacts to some typical human emotions, to let's try.

First off, Hitler no longer has the slightest hope of averting defeat. He's surrounded by overwhelming military strength, backed by unlimited resources. His own fighting machine is crippled. His war supplies are nearing exhaustion. The majority of his vital industries have been knocked out. His communications are in terrible shape. His food supplies finally are running short.

Why then does he hang on? He's responding to a primary human emotion—self preservation. He isn't fighting for the sake of Germany, but is using the final resources of the fatherland to try to save himself from Allied vengeance. His captives are battling for life in the same corner.

There's small doubt, as I see it, that Hitler would surrender immediately if the Allies were foolish enough to promise immunity for him and his gang.

So every move the fuhrer now makes is directed to one end—to delay defeat in the hope that some fortuitous event may save his hide. The answer is that he has nothing particular in mind. He's just a terrified murderer to whom any reprieve is a good reprieve.

He says to himself: "Maybe the Allies will get tired of war and make a negotiated peace. Maybe the advocates of a soft peace will triumph." Always it's "maybe, maybe," without any specific likelihood in view.

Has the fuhrer any secret weapon or special scheme up his sleeve? Yes, probably both. But he has nothing that he expects will give him victory—only the bare possibility of a lessening of his own punishment.

whole works just above complete mediocrity all by himself. It concerns seven persons who escape from a German concentration camp. They are brought back, one by one, to be crucified. Tracy's escape in front of the Nazis takes up most of the film, although it stops abruptly while he and Signe Hasso have a brief love affair. The entire picture moves so slowly, however, that one could hardly tell if it had actually stopped at all.

Next honors must go to Dana Andrews as a tough, intelligent, brilliant young police lieutenant. The role is one of the best he has had.

Judith Anderson as "the other woman," is far from her Shakespearean roles and heavier thespian attempts, but as would be expected, she is exactly right. Gene Tierney has the role of the young fashion expert and while it calls for little more than looking beautiful, she is eminently satisfactory, since she certainly is that.

1-2 "Seventh Cross," with Spencer Tracy, Signe Hasso, Felix Bressart.

Here is a case where an ab-sorbing book has been turned into a cinematic chestnut which would have sunk to utter dullness except for Spencer Tracy, who holds the

Ernie Pyle: Gun Backfires On Tank Crew And Almost Results In Their Death

Editor's Note—This is No. 46 of the Ernie Pyle war dispatches that are being reprinted during Ernie's vacation.

IN NORMANDY, June, 1944 — The hospital was in our hands, but just barely. On up the street a block there seemed to be fighting. I saw seemed to be, because, actually you can't always tell. Street fighting is just as confusing as

One side will bang away for a while, then the other side. Between these sallies there are long lulls, with only stray and isolated shots. Just an occasional soldier is sneaking about, and you don't see anything of the enemy at all. You can't tell half the time just what the situation is, and neither can

About a block beyond the hospital entrance two American tanks were sitting in the middle of the street, one about 50 yards ahead of the other. I walked toward them. Our infantrymen were in doorways along the street.

I got within about 50 feet of our front tank when it let go its 75-millimeter gun. The blast was terrific there in the narrow street. Glass came tinkling down from nearby windows, smoke puffed around the tank, and the empty street was shaking and trembling with the concussion.

As the tank continued to shoot I ducked into a doorway, because I figured the Germans would shoot back. Inside the doorway there was a sort of street-level cellar, dirt-floored. Apparently there was a wine shop above, for the cellar was stacked with wire crates for holding wine bottles on their sides. There were lots of bottles, but they were all empty.

I went back to the doorway and stood peering out at the tank. It started backing up. Then suddenly a yellow flame pierced the bottom of the tank and there was a crash of such intensity that I automatically blinked my eyes. The tank, hardly 50 feet from where I was standing, had been hit by an enemy shell.

A second shot ripped the pavement at the side of the tank. There was smoke all around, but the tank didn't catch fire. In a moment the crew came boiling out of the turret.

Grim as it was, I almost had to laugh as they ran toward us. I have never seen men run so violently. They ran all over, with arms and heads going up and down and with marathon-race grimaces. They plunged into my doorway.

I spent the next excited hour with them. We changed to another doorway and sat on boxes in the empty hallway. The floor and steps were thick with blood where a soldier had been treated within the hour.

What had happened to the tank was this: They had been firing away at a pillbox ahead when their 75 backfired, filling the tank with smoke and blinding them.

They decided to back up in order to get their bearings, but after backing a few yards the driver was so blinded that he stopped. Unfortunately he stopped exactly at the foot of a side street. More unfortunately there was another German pillbox up the side street. All the Germans had to do was take easy aim and let go at the sitting duck.

The first shot hit a tread, so the tank couldn't move. That was when the boys got out. I don't know why the Germans didn't fire at them as they poured out.

The escaped tankers naturally jubilated as June-bugs and ready were excited, but they were as for more. They had never been in combat before the invasion of Normandy, yet on three weeks their tank had been shot up three times. Each time it was repaired and put back in action. And it can be repaired this time. The name of their tank, appropriately, is "Be Back Soon."

The main worry of these boys was the fact that they had left the engine running. We could hear it chugging away. It's bad for a tank motor to idle very long. But now they were afraid to go back and

Pappy And Wife Live, And Work In Same Suite Where "News" Is Made

By TEX EASLEY WASHINGTON, Nov. 3 (AP)—A three-room suite on the fifth floor of the Washington hotel here is the workshop of the W. Lee O'Daniel News.

It's also where the Texas senator and his wife live, but with office desks, typewriters, filing cabinets and stacks of back issues of the anti-New Deal weekly pile around in every corner, even on top of a spare bed, there's hardly room to get around.

While dances are going on in the ballroom several floors over their heads and cocktail parties progress down below, Senator and Mrs. O'Daniel can be found editing copy for the O'Daniel News and preparing daily radio scripts.

For the past two months, says the senator, they have been working from 7 a. m. to around one and two o'clock the next morning.

The manager of the paper is Mrs. O'Daniel, and she has a desk by a window on the 15th street side. Her view of the outside is largely restricted to the gray stone walls of the treasury.

As for finances, Senator O'Daniel readily displayed records showing far more detailed information than was asked of him by the Senate campaign expenditures committee. He has carefully kept books in filing cabinets crowded in behind his desk showing receipts and expenditures by the radio committee and the O'Daniel

News. The newspaper has received about $80,000 on its own subscriptions, over and above the $109,000 raised by the Common Citizens Radio Committee. The committee turned $79,000 over to the O'Daniel News "as a sort of trust fund to finance subscriptions" if needed.

In one morning's mail came scores of letters, enclosing checks of various sizes for subscriptions. One letter came from Arkansas, made out for $30 and giving the names of six persons to whom copies should be mailed. A note said that the writer had read that Senator Moore (R-Okla.) had contributed $25,000 to the O'Daniel cause and that he didn't see where he could go wrong in following an example set by Senator Moore.

Books also are kept on the cost of radio broadcasts. The Texas senator had a list of 116 radio stations throughout the United States which now are broadcasting his 14-minute programs daily. The transcripts are made at a cost of $8 each for the original and $4 for copies. Sometimes more than one station uses the same records. The total bill for making the transcripts is about $1,100 weekly. In addition the radio stations are paid for the time on the air.

The eight members of the hillbilly band are paid $100 weekly, says the senator, noting that Perrin and his brother, Bill, are the only remaining members of his old musical outfit he used to sell flour before he became governor of Texas.

All this expense is paid for by the O'Daniel News, which sells at a subscription rate of $5 a year and is published at a cost of $2 for 52 copies. The $3 profit goes to expanding the radio broadcast, which in turn brings in still more subscriptions, and for paying for copies of the O'Daniel News sent to those on a free mailing list. On that list, he says, are the names of every daily and weekly newspaper in the United States.

Senator O'Daniel says although the O'Daniel News might legally declare a big dividend, it is dedicated to forwarding its crusade for "a thorough house cleaning in Washington" and puts the profits back into that work.

The senator himself helps keep books and write editorials and records for the O'Daniel News broadcasts, but he isn't connected officially with the O'Daniel News. Mrs. O'Daniel is manager. His son, Mike, is president and another son, Pat, is vice president. Both sons are in the army.

Ag Department Hangs Out Warning Sign

By CHARLES C. HASLET (Substituting for Jack Stinnett, who is ill) WASHINGTON — A warning sign has been hung out by the Department of Agriculture.

The department admits it has no legislative program to back up its campaign to prevent a disastrous land boom such as followed the first World War, but it is carrying on an educational campaign throughout the nation anyway.

It is cautioning farmers and non-farmers, lending agencies, banks and real estate dealers to help keep land prices from further inflation.

It contends that current values are above levels that can be sustained by production over a period of years.

The Farm Security Administration says: Some farms, regrettably, are being bought by speculators, who are not interested in farming or in living on a farm, but only in the profit that can be made by selling the land for more than they paid for it.

Secretary Wickard's office reports that land prices throughout the country already are above normal and in some places have doubled during the last two years.

There has been a tremendous rise in land prices in the citrus, tobacco, corn and wheat belts and in the Pacific northwest. The increase has not been so great in the Atlantic and New England states.

The Bureau of Agricultural Economics says that the year or two following V-E day in Europe is likely to be the "critical" period of the World War II farm real estate market. In case a high degree of optimism and enthusiasm develops, BAE says, "all conditions essential for a full-fledged land boom are likely to be present shortly after the end of the European war."

Secretary Wickard's office has talked with insurance companies and banks and found they are "looking at the problem soundly." But the department is somewhat worried about the increasing number of loans being made by wealthy individuals.

If farmers buy with small down payments at inflated prices, the department fears they may lose their farms at foreclosure sales when prices drop, just as many were lost at the end of the boom following World War I.

One development "disturbing" the department is that workers in war plants and some businesses are buying farms without seeing them, just to have a place to go after the war ends. They often get misrepresented, over-priced land.

During that time 496 tourists' cars came into Mexico through Nuevo Laredo from the United States.

Importation of rock salt and table salt from the United States, which was heavy has been restricted by order of the finance ministry, which also has subjected the exportation of textile fiber to export control. This latter measure, it is thought, will affect sacks for Mexican products exported to the United States.

THE OLD JUDGE SAYS...

"Mary and I were just saying, Judge, how lucky we are here in America that we have so many natural resources to help win the war."

"That's right, Jim. When war broke out we had oil, we had steel, we had food, lumber, aluminum...practically everything we needed. There's one thing we didn't have...rubber. The enemy had that."

"But that didn't bother us for long. Soon American brains and industry had synthetic rubber by the tons rolling out of plants. That filled a critical need...you can't win a war without rubber."

"I was very much interested the other day in reading a statement made by a high government official on synthetic rubber. In it he said 'It is fair to regard the rubber manufactured to date as being almost solely the product of the beverage distilling industry.'"

"He also said that, in his estimation, the tremendous contribution of distillers' industrial alcohol to the synthetic rubber program had not received the recognition which it deserves."

"We certainly learned something today, didn't we Mary?"

Morocco Soldier Walks Three Days And Nights To Good Hoospital

By HAL BOYLE

WITH THE 9TH EVACUATION HOSPITAL IN FRANCE, Oct. 26 (Delayed) (AP)—The Goum crept tiredly into the hospital receiving tent.

He looked bad from his leather slippers all the way up to the top knot which these native French troops from Morocco leave growing on otherwise shaven skulls so the angel of death can haul them into heaven.

"What's wrong?" asked the soldier clerk.

The Goum doubled up with pain and said it was his stomach. It hurt him terribly.

"I have walked three days and three nights across the mountains to get to you," he said proudly.

"Why did you do that?" asked the surprised clerk.

"Because," replied the Goum, naively, "I heard from many soldiers that here one can lie in a warm bed and eat good food."

That is the best testimonial received by the 9th Evacuation Hospital which has handled 40,000 patients during more than two years service in four Mediterranean campaigns.

Along with the usual battle casualties, the hospital now is receiving a substantial number of malaria cases. This is surprising to most soldiers who associate malaria with hot weather but was foreseen by the medical staff.

Troops contacted malaria while fighting in the Pontine marshes in Italy which is one of the worst infested spots in the world," said Taylor. "It had been laying dormant then and cropped out again because of lowered resistance among troops, the result of exposure and weariness from days and nights in the front lines without a rest."

There have been more cases of gas gangrene noted in the hospital also since it came to France and its commander, Lt. Col. William E. Stone, Boonville, Mo., who knows soil from his years in the farm belt, has a ready explanation.

"We had relatively few cases of gas gangrene in Africa because there were fewer germs in the soil and so wounds that came in contact with it didn't infect so easily."

"But in France, the soil has been fertilized heavily with manure for centuries and was teeming with organisms which may cause gas gangrene."

Pentecillin is the answer.

As autumn weather has steadily worsened, soggy rains and cold nights have brought the reappearance of trenchfoot, bane of the soldiers of World War I. Frequent changes of heavy socks and rest in an area behind the front keep most of the sufferers from becoming hospital cases.

DDT--The Wonder Insect-Killer Not Yet Ready For Use By Civilians

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3 (AP)—DDT—the so-called wonder insect-killer of this war—is not yet ready for civilian use. There's no indication when it will be.

There are two good reasons: Because military needs are so large, there is not enough for civilians now; the government still is experimenting to determine DDT's poisonous effects on man, insect and plant.

Industry is doing a lot of experimenting with it, too, for use as an insect killer in homes after the war. For instance: fly sprays, moth proofing, an insect repellent in paints, and protection for pets.

DDT has been in use for months before the army announced its development. Early last summer it was credited with having checked typhus.

The use of DDT was pushed and extended. It is used for malarial mosquito control in combat areas and in some hospitals for veterans and war prisoners in this country.

But in those cases it is used by men who know how to handle it. Government officials say it is not yet practical for civilians to attempt malarial mosquito control with DDT.

The War Production Board says its own arsenical producers industry advisory committee—the men who produce DDT—agree that it should not now be released for commercial use. They suggest further experiments on agricultural crops, dip sprays for livestock, and household insecticides.

This is what was said at WPB: How long after a fruit or vegetable has been sprayed by DDT can it safely be eaten by a human? Government agencies are trying to find out.

How extensively can it be used in agriculture? DDT still is the best insect-killer found, killing a larger variety than any other material yet tested.

But there are quite a few varieties, apparently, which it won't kill. And that's the hitch. Suppose two different kinds of insects destroy apples. Suppose DDT kills only one of those insect types and doesn't bother the other. A way should be sought to make it deadly for both.

Or—suppose there is one kind of insects which destroys apples and another beneficial kind which destroys the destructive type. If DDT kills both types, then farmers lose the benefit of the helpful insects.

And experimenters have found just those problems.

Soldier Vote May Change Results Of Tuesday Election

NEW YORK, Nov. 3 (AP)—Enough soldier votes are likely to be cast in next Tuesday's election to change the political complexion of at least 16 states.

Sealed in millions of bulky envelopes from ships and camps throughout the world is the power, an Associated Press survey indicates, to overcome the pluralities which Wendell Willkie achieved in six states four years ago, and the same power to erase President Roosevelt's margin in 10 others.

If the division of the civilian vote is approximately the same this year, the military ballots could assure victory for the president or for Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, his republican opponent. In all 16 of the states. These states represent 235 of the 531 electoral votes.

Michigan, with 19 runs in the electoral ladder, is an outstanding example of a state whose presidential preference could be reversed by the soldier vote.

Willkie carried Michigan by slightly less than 7,000 votes—a small fraction of the 165,000 G.I. ballots expected to be tabulated in the Wolverine state next Tuesday night.

Such a reservoir of votes could wipe out the democrats' 1940 deficit. It could counteract a substantial civilian shift toward the republicans at the same time.

There is the equal possibility that it might, with or without help from the voters at home, top the republicans' hairbreadth victory of 1940.

The 16 states are not the only ones in which the soldier vote may have a marked effect. Officials in Pennsylvania and California, to name two of the most populous states, have been quoted in previous AP surveys as believing the soldier vote may be decisive.

The 16 are merely those in which the soldier vote appears likely to outnumber the 1940 plurality of either party. Six of them gave Willkie a total of 56 electoral votes, the others gave Roosevelt 189.

Marlin Papers Are Sold To Buchanan

MARLIN, Nov. 3 (AP)—The Daily Democrat and the Weekly Marlin Democrat have been purchased by George S. Buchanan, wellknown through civic and community activities and as manager of the Marlin chamber of commerce for seventeen years.

The announcement from the publishers said the new owner's varied experience, boundless enthusiasm and energy, and an interest in people equip him to carry on the ideals and traditions of the newspapers.

The Daily Democrat, in making the announcement, also expressed appreciation for the cooperation and friendship of the community through the years since the late J. M. Kennedy founded the Marlin Democrat.

Sixty - Four Permits Issued For Building

Sixty-four building permits were issued in October with $26,295 in expenditures. Of these 24 permits for additions were granted and 19 were for remodeling.

In the same month for 1943 permits were granted allowing for only $3,331 expenditures, showing an increase of almost $23,000 in building and remodeling being carried on in Big Spring. In 1943 eight addition and eight moving permits were issued.

Forty-five Seamen Missing In Sinking

MANTANE, Que., Nov. 3 (AP)—Forty-five merchant seamen were missing today after a British freighter sank in the St. Lawrence river near Mantane. With the cause of the sinking obscure, there was speculation that Nazi submarines had again penetrated the St. Lawrence.

The ship went down last night after two explosions. Seventeen survivors who rowed across the swift St. Lawrence current for six hours in the only lifeboat known to have left the vessel landed at nearby Petite Matane this morning.

The St. Lawrence is 30 miles wide here.

The ship was outward bound. The crew, total of 62, the survivors said, totaled 62.

Mechanics Strike Staged In Detroit

DETROIT, Nov. 3 (AP)—A strike of approximately 18,000 members of the Mechanics Educational Society of America in more than a score of Detroit area war plants began at 10 o'clock this morning.

It was called according to Matthew Smith, MESA national secretary, in sympathy with a jurisdictional dispute between the MESA and United Automobile Workers (CIO) in the Toledo plant of the Electric Auto-Lite Co.

First of the MESA members to leave their jobs were approximately 2,000 employees of the Nash-Kelvinator corporation plant. Smith said workers in 24 other factories had been ordered to quit their posts.

Besides the strike in the Electric Auto-Lite plant 24 more Toledo plants were affected by sympathy stoppages.
