

Change in free lunch plan sends school budget soaring

By MARSHALL DAY
Staff Writer

The Hereford school system's new and reduced lunch program, intended to provide free and reduced lunches to low-income family students, is being abused, a school official told the school board Monday.

Because of it, the school system suddenly is losing a lot of money, he added.

Tom Harkey, administrative assistant for school services, said a surprising upswing during January in the number of free lunches served has caused considerable concern to the school administrators.

The increase followed a President Nixon ordered offer at the first of the year for free lunches to those who need them. Instead of an increase in the cafeteria cash balance, the system is losing more and more each month, he said.

The increase in the Hereford system is not the only one being experienced Harkey said, and appeals to the state office in Austin may make it possible for cities using the program to get additional reimbursements.

"I don't think even they anticipated the problems we are experiencing," Harkey said.

"We are not having as much trouble, in the sense of the word," Harkey said, "except we know there are many participants who have abused the privileges of the program."

The program, designed by the federal government and submitted to school systems throughout the country, originally was set up to provide low-income families with the opportunity to let their children eat lunch in public schools at a free or reduced price.

The program began at the start of the current school year and through the first four months, there were only about 14,000 meals served each month on the reduced and free program. This included all the elementary and secondary schools.

In January, however, the total sky rocketed to 24,855 and Harkey said this might just be an indication as to what is to come in the remaining three months of schools.

"January is usually one of our lowest enrolled months because many of the families move out about this time and go back later on of course, and we may very easily surpass the figure we are having now," he said.

Hereford, unlike the majority of schools under the free and reduced program, is still in good financial shape. Most of the school systems have already lost most of their money in their cafeteria fund and are experiencing difficulty in finding ways to "make ends meet until the end of the school year."

"We are in good shape, really," superintendent Roy Hartman told the school board, "I would say we are in the top 5 per cent of schools in the state that are in good shape. But, we probably won't stay this way."

The total number of meals served in the first month of the program was only 11,431. In October is climbed to 15,291 then dropped to 13,713 in November and 13,623 in December.

Under the federal law, schools are not allowed to investigate to see if a student is actually qualified to receive free or reduced lunches. The federal law governing the program states a school may "investigate" an applicant, but it cannot request a family to show any type of income statement.

"They say we can't even consider the kind of car they drive, the amount of land they own, the type of house they live in or the kind of furniture in their house," Harkey said.

"If we can't do this, then what in the devil do we investigate? It just burns me up," he said.

Students who apply for the free or reduced lunch program are required to fill out an income questionnaire and present it to the school. If a student qualifies, he may get free lunches and if the income of the family is too high to allow free lunches, reduced lunches are permitted on the adjustment of the income.

Harkey said writing on some of the questionnaires made it obvious that the parents figured out to the very penny where they would get a free lunch ticket for their children. He said some of the applications had income figures put down, then erased several times.

"And they didn't even try to hide it," he said.

The administrative assistant said there also have been some cases where the student would go through the lunch line with a free lunch ticket then go to the snack bar in the cafeteria and pay for a malt or milk shake with a $5 bill.

"It is no disgrace to be on a free lunch program but the disgrace does come when you are on it and you shouldn't be," he said. "Why, there are some on it, who we know can well afford a regular meal ticket—people who own land, and I mean lots of it."

The largest increase in the number of free lunches each month has been in the secondary schools. Where the high school previously had only between 10 and 15 students a month, it now is approaching the 100 mark. In the junior high level where there were only about 30 participants before, there now are almost 150.

In an effort to make up the losses being incurred by the program, the school system is collecting state reimbursements wherever it can.

On any free or reduced lunch, the school gets 30 cents back from the state. It also gets back 5 cents on each regularly served meal, 4 cents on each 1/2 pint of milk sold and 5 cents on each of the migrant lunches served to children of agri-related businesses.

"We are trying to take up a little bit of slack where we can and this is one of the ways," Harkey said. "It is a little bit of extra trouble, but See LUNCH Page Two

FOREIGN JOURNALIST — Peter Sartorius, right, discussed with Brand news editor Charles Richards his coverage of the Apollo 14 spacecraft for the German newspaper he works for in Stuttgart. Behind Sartorius, of Stuttgart, Germany, is Elmer Kimball of 521 Star, who is hosting him for several days before his return trip to Germany.

German journalist always wanted to see Texas ranch

By CHARLES RICHARDS

A German newsman, who just finished reporting to four European newspapers on the flight of Apollo 14, arrived in Hereford Monday for a short visit with a local family.

The 33-year-old journalist, Peter Sartorius of Stuttgart, Germany, is staying with the Elmer Kimball family at 521 Star.

"I think it's the dream of each boy to see, one time, a Texas ranch, and I'm making this dream a reality," he said.

Frank Herter, an exchange student from Germany, stayed with the Kimballs in the early 1960s. The student's mother works on the Stuttgarter Zeitung with Sartorius and told him to look the family up while in Texas.

Peter has been in the United States for three weeks. He went first to Washington, then to Cape Kennedy for the launch of Apollo 14 and then to NASA, near Houston, to report on the flight.

"Apollo 14 was a perfect mission. It was very interesting because of the difficulty on the first day with the docking system, and to see in what way they could correct this little problem," he said.

His stories on the Apollo 14 liftoff and the moon landing were given banner headlines on Page 1, similar to the treatment given other correspondents in the newspapers of this country. Other stories filed during the flight itself were given less priority, taking a back seat to major breaking stories in Germany itself, he said.

Sartorius, who has a wife in Germany who once worked on a newspaper also, describes himself as a political writer, primarily. But he has always been interested in spaceflights.

"When he got a vacation, he used to go to various space shots over here. And after they found his interest in it, they started assigning him to them," Kimball said.

Sartorius noted less enthusiasm in news coverage of Apollo 14 than in Apollo 11, when man stepped onto the surface of the moon for the first time.

"At the Apollo 11 shot, about 3,000 newspapermen were in Houston. For Apollo 14, there were about 500." In both instances, he met and associated with many other newsmen whom he had never met before.

He must be back at work in Germany by the middle of next month, but he is going to spend a while in the Hereford area first. He also will stop off in New York City on his return to Germany. He will cover for his newspaper some of the pre-flight ballyhoo of the Cassius Clay-Joe Frazier heavyweight boxing championship match. He's no sportswriter, but he feels he will enjoy that.

Wilson loses Swanson

Vernon Swanson, plant manager of Wilson Beef & Lamb since it opened here, has resigned to move to Dallas, Wilson president Ed Trowbridge of Denver said Wednesday.

Swanson will be succeeded by Donald Day, 27, who has been sales manager here since the plant opened, according to Trowbridge, who came to Hereford to make the transition smoother. The change is effective immediately, Trowbridge said.

Swanson said he will become chief executive officer for Texas Meat Packers in Dallas, a subsidiary of Universal Container Co. of New York.

"It was a hard decision to make. Wilson is the only company I have been with since I got out of school, so it took a lot of thought before I made the decision to leave," Swanson said.

Day was with Wilson previously at the Chicago headquarters and at its Cedar Rapids, Mich., plant. He is married and has two children. He has a master's degree from the University of Illinois.

Simultaneously, Trowbridge announced the appointment of Don Anderson, 40, as general sales manager. Prior to coming to Hereford in January of 1970 he worked in the Omaha, Neb. plant of Wilson & Co. He has a bachelor's degree from Northwest Missouri State.

PRPC still without us...

The Panhandle Regional Planning Commission has come back to Hereford to re-present its reasons why the city and county should be a part of it.

But the meeting at the Hereford Country Club Tuesday night came up with few changes in viewpoint, particularly on the part of Mayor Jim Sears, City Manager Dudley Bayne and the four city commissioners on hand. "The upshot is — nothing," Sears said Wednesday. "We're not going to join, and they're not going to bother us. Which, I guess, is worth something."

The meeting followed a letter of protest Sears wrote to Gov. Preston Smith concerning the PRPC. Sears complained of statements by PRPC executive director Ernest Clark that indicated the regional commission would "put the squeeze" on cities and counties not belonging.

Representing the PRPC were the chairman of the PRPC executive committee, Dr. D. E. Hackley of Spearman; a Dumas city commissioner; the Dumas city manager; and the Collingsworth County Judge.

Neither Clark or the other two paid members of the PRPC staff were at the meeting.

The four PRPC officials said it had never been the policy of the regional commission to force anything on anyone. Clark's statement that "we're putting the squeeze on you" would better be phrased, "they're" putting the squeeze on you, meaning the state, the visitors added.

Sears said his impression was that the officials agreed with Hereford's stand, in principle, but that they felt Hereford was big enough to fight the idea and they weren't.

"The Collingsworth County Judge said we've got the people here and the expertise to do what we want, but that the population of Collingsworth County is less than a third of what it is here. He felt the people there might benefit from joining with others in a unit, just because of having more people," Sears said.

The mayor said he feels even the smaller counties would have been able to keep from being hurt by not being under the PRPC had they banded together against it from the start.

"Now they (PRPC) have got enough people in it now that those not in it are going to have more difficulty fighting it," he added.

Regardless of what happens next, whether the governor returns with an answer or positive action or not, Sears feels something has been accomplished.

"I think the commotion has pretty well served its purpose. They're going to be hard put to turn down anything we apply for now," Sears said.

The meeting, which Sears described as an amiable one, lasted for about three hours.

Local bills receive favorable action

By BETTY HANNA
Brand Correspondent

AUSTIN — Two bills of vital interest to Deaf Smith County came out of Senate committee Tuesday night, both recommended to the body for passage.

Sen. Max Sherman appeared before the Committee on District and Urban Affairs to explain bills No. 180 and 217 which he had introduced.

The first creates the post of criminal district attorney for Deaf Smith County and the second authorizes the county commissioners to establish a juvenile board.

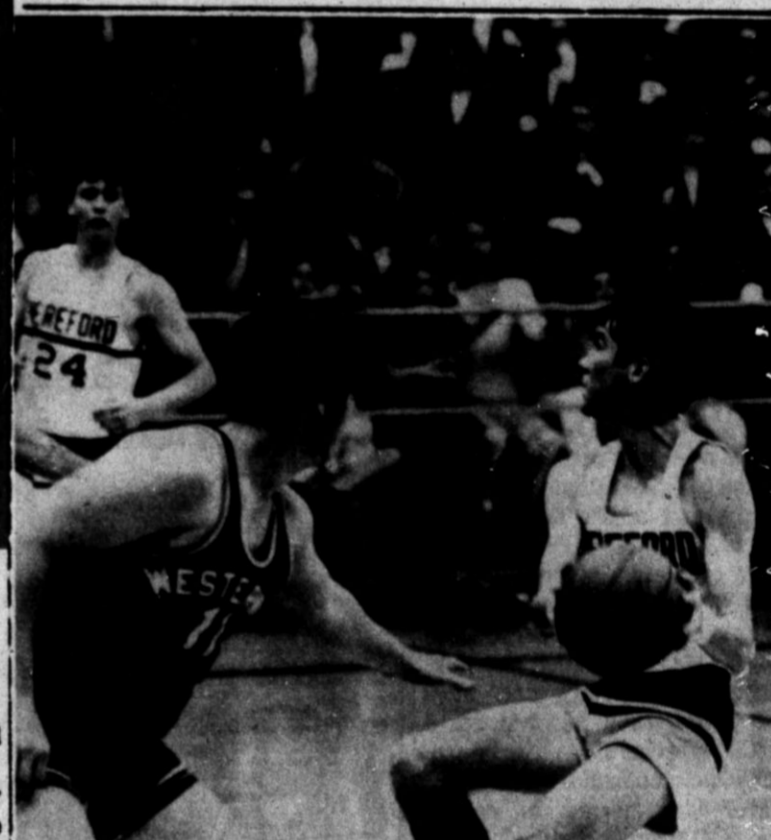

The two bills now approved by committee will be set down on the Senate calendar, but Sherman said it may be several weeks before the bills receive final confirmation.

Rep. Bill Clayton said he will substitute the Senate bills for the House bills to facilitate quickest action on them. Procedure on the bills is for their introduction into each house, referral into committee, committee approval, and vote by each house while in session.

Committee approval is the most crucial factor, and the bills appear to face easy sailing when placed for a vote before the House and Senate, Sherman said.

Clayton said Wednesday he will be in Hereford for the annual meeting of Water, Inc., Thursday and Friday. He will bring a stack of copies of the governor's address to the Senate and House so members of the group can study the governor's

Westerners' 62-50 verdict ends championship hopes for Hereford

The 1970-71 basketball race is over, as far as title chances are concerned for all District 4-AAAA teams except Plainview.

The Bulldogs nipped Monterey 37-36, Tuesday night while Lubbock was downing Hereford, 62-50. Plainview now has a 3-0 record, with a game here next Tuesday its only remaining game. The worst it can do is 3-1, and a tie with either Monterey or Hereford for the lead.

But since Plainview won the first half all by itself, all it needed was a share of the second half race to claim the title.

Sophomore Keith Kitchens scored 13 points to lead the Whitefaces, Tuesday with John McNey throwing in 12 points and Mike Wartes 10. David Myers had 8, Dana Rush 5 and John Sparks 2. The decision lifted Lubbock to 21-9 for the year and 1-2 in league play, with a game with Coronado Friday closing out its season.

Hereford, which had won two in a row, dropped to 21-10 and 1-1 in conference action. The Whitefaces meet Monterey Friday in Lubbock and then host Plainview here in the closer.

The Herd defeated Clovis, 71-56, Saturday night behind the 17 points of Rush.

Hereford led Lubbock after one quarter, 13-12, and at the half, 27-26. But Coach Ron Mayberry's crew suffered an extremely cold night from the 9-10, hitting only 27.7 per cent of their shots (18 of 65). Lubbock

Mmmm... magic & hotcakes

You can take the family out for a handy meal and an evening of entertainment at Hereford High School Friday, thanks to two civic clubs.

The Hereford Lions Club is staging its annual pancake supper from 5 to 8 p.m. Friday, and the Hereford Kiwanis Club will sponsor a magic show, which starts at 7:30 p.m.

If you're interested in the pancake supper, tickets are $1 each, with pre-school children free, and you can buy tickets from any member of the Noon Lions or at the door.

The magic show tickets also are $1 each and can be purchased from any Kiwanian.

Fred Story, Master Magician and Company from Tulsa, will present the two-hour, full-stage illusion show entitled 20th Century Fantasies.

The show, which will be divided into two parts, will include such mystic wonders as the levitation act, fantasy in flowers, the doll's dreamhouse, the dancing handkerchief, and many others involving various animals.

Fred Story and Company have performed for thousands through Kiwanis, Lions and Jaycee programs for more than 20 years and guarantees clean, fun entertainment for the entire family.

Tickets are $1 each and can be purchased from any Kiwanian. Program chairman is John Gilliland.

School plans its computers

The Hereford school board Monday approved the spending of some $6,924 next year to expand its present electronic data processing services to include another school, the complete school payroll and all phases of processing in both junior high schools.

The system set up at the start of this school year has all scheduling, grade reporting and attendance serviced through a computer, thus eliminating several months of man hours of work for the school system.

The board also:

- Set the date and place for the high school graduation services.
- Approved the school calendar for the next school year.
- Re-elected 15 administrators to two-year contracts, and
- Approved the election of an additional teacher.

The new electronic data processing services, offered by the Panhandle Educational Services Organization (PESO), will be expanded next year to include Bluebonnet Elementary School's attendance charts and the scheduling and grade reporting at both the junior high schools.

It also will include a complete payroll service for the school system.

The educational region in which Hereford is located is one of only eight regions in the state that has complete computer service available. The service, located at West Texas State University, provides the school with student scheduling cards, grade reporting and attendance records.

The cost for the services will be approximately $5,414, with an additional $1,510 needed cover the cost of computing the complete payroll of school employees.

Hereford has been using the program for the past year with only the high school participating. Only part of the payroll was processed. The program was limited to scheduling, grade reporting and attendance processed at the high school and attendance at the junior high schools.

Next year, however, the officials agreed to expand the program to include scheduling and grade reporting at the junior highs and attendance at Bluebonnet Elementary school.

Baccalaureate services for the high school graduation will be Sunday May 23, and commencement will be Thursday, May 27. Exercises will be at the football stadium, weather permitting, and if not, at La Plata Junior High Gymnasium.

The school board re-elected assistant superintendent Robert Holman to a three-year contract and presented two-year contracts to Tom Harkey, Bill Phillips, James Holmes, Walter Bryan, Jerry Don George, Don T. Martin, Charles Duvall, Phillip Shook, Ray Todd, Howard Birdwell, Bill McCarley and Larry Wartes.

Sheryl Wallace was appointed to teach a Minimal Brain Injured class at Bluebonnet school.

Let's cook something

Mrs. Connie Urbanczyk quite a young homemaker

By JANIE REINART
Staff Writer

MRS. Connie Urbanczyk's interest in homemaking in high school encouraged her to continue activity and join Young Homemakers of Texas, which named her as Young Homemaker of the Hereford Chapter at its annual awards banquet last weekend.

Mrs. Urbanczyk received the award from Sam Morgan, representing Deaf Smith County Electric Cooperative. She has served the club as vice president and secretary during her three years of membership and has participated in area "colleges" and conventions.

She is mother of two small children, Heath, almost three, and Chad, 4½ months. She and her family live in a spacious and beautifully decorated mobile home southwest of the city where her husband is engaged in farming.

CONNIE, whose name is the same as her husbands (however it wasn't planned that way to confuse anyone) likes to cook but thinks baking is the most fun. Sewing is her first love and something she puts to use often in making most of her own clothes and a lot of her eldest son's.

"I like to try new recipes all the time," says Connie. "I get tired of the same old thing over and over again."

Her recipe for meat loaf is one she has used since she was in high school. "My mother got it from a club cookbook compiled in Happy," she said.

She calls it:
MY MEAT LOAF
Preheat oven to 350 degrees.
Mix together:

- 1 lb. lean hamburger or ground round beef
  - 1 cup grated cheese (Velveeta or sharp)
  - 2 tablespoons Worcestershire sauce
  - 1 egg
  - 1 medium onion and one green pepper, chopped
  - 6 or 8 crackers, crumbled
  - 1 or 2 teaspoons salt and pepper to taste
  - 1 teaspoon Accent (if desired)
- Catsup, add until mixture is medium thick
Bake until done; 45 minutes to an hour.

A friend gave her the cookie recipe her family likes best. Connie assures us it is very easy, and good to make.

1½ cup sugar
1 cup shortening
1 egg
Add:
1 - 8 oz can crushed pineapple
Mix in:
¾ cups flour
¼ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon soda
¼ teaspoon nutmeg

Urbanczyk graduated from Hereford High School in 1965 and his wife in 1966. He studied agriculture at West Texas State University for more than a year.

They were married a year later in 1967 and enjoy spending their summers water skiing on Ute Lake. Connie says yardwork is another of her favorite summer pastimes.

Of more than 15 cats on the farm, son Heath is partial to one, a fluffy white kitten which he calls, simply, "my kitty."

Verdict . . .

Davis hit on nine field goals, most of them from three or four feet out after getting the feed from outside and whirling toward the basket. He hit 3 of 9 free throws and finished with 21 points to pace both teams in scoring.

Hereford just missed too many opportunities in the first half. The Whitefaces forced Lubbock into eight turnovers the first half but several times coughed the ball right back up on an error of their own, trying to cash in with an immediate score.

Hereford led 10-3 and 13-7 in the first quarter, but Lubbock scored eight straight points to take the lead, 15-13, and the lead switched back and forth until the half, when Mayberry's Mob went into the dressing room with a thin 27-26 margin.

That lead widened to 30-26 before Lubbock rallied for the 32-30 lead. It was 36-36 late in the third quarter, but Lubbock went on a 10-2 tear to take a commanding 46-38 margin. Dana Rush, who finished with five points, scored a three-point play to cut it to 46-41 but Lubbock reeled off five straight points for a 51-41 advantage with just 3:06 left that took the spirit out of the home team.

Hereford won the junior varsity game, 81-46, and the sophomore tilt 56-39.

The Whitefaces led virtually all the way in making Clovis their 21st victim Saturday night. They were ahead 15-14, 34-25, 55-47 at the quarter intervals.

Rush led the way with 17, Wartes added 15, McNey 14, Blake Arnwine 10, Kitchens 9, Sparks 2, Harold Schmucker 2 and Jeff Loerwald 2.

'Tryout' session Saturday kicks off Little Dribblers

The Little Dribblers Basketball League will get underway Saturday at 1 p.m. with the youngsters involved reporting to the high school gymnasium for tryouts.

Every boy, from the third through the sixth grade, who enrolls in the league will be placed on a team, according to the Hereford Jaycees, who are sponsoring the play. So far, about 230 boys have indicated they plan to participate.

There will be a maximum of 10 players to a team, and every boy will play at least one full quarter of every game.

Ron Mayberry, high school basketball coach will run the players through drills Saturday while coaches for the teams look on. Saturday night, then, the coaches will "choose sides" in a draft similar to that conducted by professional football, basketball and baseball teams.

The players then will practice for two hours with the coach who drafts them, on the following Saturday, Feb. 27. All practices and all games are scheduled tentatively to be played in Stanton Gym and in the high school gym, probably on Monday and Friday nights.

The season will last for five weeks, beginning March 1 and continuing through April 2. A local championship game is scheduled for April 5, in both the major and minor league. There will be eight teams in the National League, made up mostly of fifth and sixth graders, and 12 to 16 teams in the American League.

An All-Star team will be chosen at the end of the season from National League players to represent Hereford in a Little Dribblers tournament April 9-10. Should Hereford be victorious there, the team would advance to the national tournament at Levelland April 29-30 and May 1.

Anyone interested in being a coach should contact Terry Hill basketball league president, or come to the weekly Jaycee meeting at 8 p.m. today at the Hereford Community Center.

The major league teams will play twice a week, and the minor league teams once a week.

Each player will pay $3.50 at the first practice session. Of that, $1.35 will go for insurance and about $1.25 or more for a jersey. The rest will go toward custodial costs at the gymnasiums and other expenses.

The surplus in the cafeteria operating budget, which has been on the increase in the past five years, is working its way down to nothing because of the operating costs of the lunch program. At the beginning of this school year the cash balance was about $67,000, but the steady decline because of the program's cost has already dropped this figure to almost $34,000 with three months left in which to distribute it.

"Where we might have had about $70,000 at the beginning of next year, we are going to be down to about $10,000 - if we are lucky," Harkey said.

The whole purpose of the program, he said, is to help the students.

"We know a kid can't learn as well on an empty stomach and in a place of plenty like ours he shouldn't have to. But, no one should knock a free lunch and especially abuse it. "Some school systems around the state don't even want to get involved in this program because it is a lot of trouble. We are doing it for the kids.

"It is real discouraging because Mr. Harman and the board of trustees have always been for any kind of program to help the kiddoes. I've been at several schools and never have I worked with anyone who is more concerned with the students than the administrators here," he said.

Hereford area, an aide to Gov. Preston Smith said the governor's office probably will wait several more days before answering a letter from Hereford Mayor Jim Sears.

Don Petty, the governor's chief of program and planning, is in the Panhandle this week. The letter probably will be written after his return to Austin, administrative aide Jerry Hall said.

Ohio boy survives rabies

Making medical history comes to few people, but this distinction has come to an Ohio boy who medical authorities say has survived a case of human rabies.

Rabies in man is considered a fatal disease, but the six-year-old Lima, Ohio, youngster defeated the odds in the astounding medical event. He was asleep last Oct. 10 when bitten by a bat, which was captured by his father and submitted to a laboratory, where the tests were positive for rabies. The boy received a 14-day series of inoculations.

On Oct. 30 the youngster complained of neck pain and over the next several days experienced lethargy, general discomfort and loss of appetite.

When his condition worsened, the lad was admitted to a Lima hospital with 104-degree fever. Although the fever decreased, he became more lathargic, developed stiffness of the neck, lost the ability to speak or understand, had a weakness of the left arm and other symptoms and finally lapsed into a coma.

To facilitate breathing, a surgical opening (tracheostomy) was made in his throat. After a week, the boy gradually began to improve. Steady but slow progress continued and before Christmas he was able to walk with assistance and speak in short sentences. Later he was able to leave the hospital.

From the time the boy entered the hospital, test after test was run in an effort to pinpoint the cause of his illness. Blood tests were made — with negative results — for encephalitis and other diseases. Other tests also were run.

Using information concerning the circumstances of the original bite, clinical illness and laboratory findings, medical authorities said the evidence strongly suggested that the boy had an active case of human rabies. His case still is being watched closely.

The child's clinical improvement was significant and unusual, said health authorities. Human with rabies have been known to survive for up to 133 days. But, says the Center for Disease Control in Atlanta, Ga., there has been no laboratory-confirmed case in which the patient showed actual physical improvement after the first month of illness.

During the boy's treatment, heart and breathing functions were monitored continuously. Prevention of hypoxia — oxygen starvation — was accomplished by the throat operation and careful nursing care.

While this youngster is considered the first to survive human rabies, there is no speculation that the future holds any hope for other rabies victims. The Texas State Department of Health advises all animal owners to have their pets vaccinated against rabies and to avoid contact with any "friendly-acting" wild animal.

Lawyers join in bar association

Fifteen lawyers met at the Hereford Country Club Tuesday night and formed the Hereford Bar Association.

Don Lowder was named president and Hazen Woods secretary-treasurer.

Through the association's meetings the first Tuesday of each month, the local lawyers will have an opportunity to meet and exchange ideas.

"We contemplate having educational programs and projects as appear appropriate for the benefit of Hereford and the area," a spokesman said.

All local law firms were represented at the meeting, and the few active attorneys not on hand had prior commitments but expressed a desire to be a part of the organization.

On hand at the first meeting were John Aikin, Ray Cowser, Rex Easterwood, Wes Gulley, R. C. Hoelscher, Tom Kendrick, Ed Line, Bruce Miller, Andy Shulval, Wayne Thomas, Mac Tubbs, Jack Wilcox, James Witherspoon and Woods.

Supper honors CCA artists

A post-buffet supper to honor the artists who sang in the Community Concert Association program Saturday evening was given in the home of Mrs. D. W. Palmer, as CCA officers invited directors with their wives or husbands to meet Bill Crofut and Steve Addis.

Officers and directors of the Canyon CCA and their spouses were also included for the informal party, planned to give the singers an opportunity to relax and have supper after the concert and get acquainted with a few of the listeners who had earlier enjoyed their songs.

Mrs. Joe Reinauer, CCA president, assisted Mrs. Palmer in greeting guests. Mrs. Jeff Carlile was in charge of the hostess group which decorated the table with a Valentine centerpiece and poured coffee as guests served themselves buffet style.

Mrs. John E. Smith, Mrs. Hazen Woods and Mrs. Bob Word were on the committee, and others of the host group saw that the honorees and out-of-town visitors felt at home in the lively conversational parties that formed during the evening.

Officers with Mrs. Reinauer, this year are Bill Thompson, Mrs. Smith and Woods, vice presidents; Mrs. J. C. McCracken, secretary, and Carlile, treasurer.

Party precedes Valentine ball

Adding to the gala aspect of Beta Sigma Phi's annual Valentine ball Mr. and Mrs. James W. Witherspoon entertained in their home Saturday evening before the dance, inviting sorority members, their escorts and a few special guests.

Mrs. Witherspoon has served as a Beta Sigma Phi sponsor, and the couple has in past years played host a number of times to its members. This year their new home was open for the party and its rooms were thronged during the early evening hours.

Red roses were arranged with Valentine symbols on the dining room table where a buffet supper was served, on the hors d'oeuvres table in the den and in other spots over the house.

In a simply cut dress of pale aqua satin with gold brocade design, Mrs. Witherspoon greeted guests at the front door. Jo Carter acted as hostess on the second floor, wearing a white shirt with a flaring zebra-printed skirt.

Among out-of-city guests were three couples who came with the Harold Beauchamps. They were Mr. and Mrs. John Chauveaux and Mr. and Mrs. John R. Goodin of Claude, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Fletcher of Lake Tanglewood.

Guests of Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Jones were the Mark Jones of Littlefield, Mr. and Mrs. Renfro, former Hereford residents now of Amarillo, were also in the crowd.

Mrs. Bradley is named for H. D. club honor

A young member of Messenger Home Demonstration Club, Mrs. Gene Bradley, was selected as its nominee for the County H. D. Woman of the Year title, at a recent meeting in the home of Mrs. John Garnett, with Mrs. Bill Page presiding for business.

Members were reminded that all are invited to the annual appreciation luncheon Feb. 22 in the County Bull Barn, where the Woman of the Year award will be made.

A money-making project, sale of ironing board covers, was decided upon. Letters were read from Mrs. Alta Wylie and Mrs. J. M. Jack, both former members now living in Friona, who were chosen as the club's favorite senior citizens for this year. Mrs. S. N. Thweatt reported on the latest County H. D. Council session.

Argen Draper, County H. D. Agent gave the program on household inventories, estate planning and wills, stressing that parents of minor children should make sure in their wills who is to have custody of the children.

A salad luncheon was served before the meeting and Mrs. Tom DeShazo was honored for a birthday.

RUSSIAN TOURS WITH BALLET THEATER
NEW YORK—American Ballet Theater will tour 14 American cities from Feb. 1 through April 3. The cities are San Antonio, Austin, Houston, Dallas, Denver, Los Angeles, San Diego, San Francisco, Vancouver, Portland, Seattle, Chicago, Urbana, Ill., and Kansas City.

Stan Kenton set to appear here

Stan Kenton and his orchestra have been booked for one of three concerts to be presented by Hereford Community Concert Association in the 1971-72 season, directors announce.

This top musical attraction was secured for Hereford by arranging for a "hold" contract a full year in advance. Exact date of the Kenton orchestra's appearance has not been set, but it will be in March of 1972.

Each year directors of the Hereford CCA engage one or two attractions on a "hold" basis, and remaining concerts are booked after the annual membership drive when the budget is assured.

The drive for next season is tentatively scheduled for the week of Oct. 10. New members will be enrolled then, although persons holding memberships this season may renew at the final concert, to be presented March 2 by the Don Shirley Trio.

Under the CCA system, local directors finish choosing concerts for a city after membership fees are paid in the week-long campaign, so there is never a deficit. Admission to concerts is by membership card only.

Stan Kenton, leading the orchestra called today's most exciting is recognized as a dominant force in contemporary music, with worldwide influence as a composer and arranger. For over 25 years audiences have applauded him for artistic excellence and a brilliant personality as an entertainer.

- Involved are:
- 1 bicycle tire and wheel.
  - 1 hand dolly
  - 7 boy's bicycles
  - 1 girl's coat
  - 1 lunch pail
  - 1 ladder.
- Some metal scaffolding has turned up in Lubbock and reportedly was taken in Hereford. Anyone missing any scaffolding should contact the police department.

QUALITIES NEEDED FRANKFORT, Ky.

— The Kentucky Labor News had this comment in the closing days of the 1970 legislature: "It will take us all a while to unwind. For a session in the legislature one needs the strength of an ox, the nimble footing of a mountain goat, the wisdom of an owl, the tenacity of a bulldog, the acceleration of a jackrabbit, the prespicacity of a flea, the ubiquity of an ant, the patience of the tortoise and a temperament ranging from a mourning dove to a spreading adder."

"Since we do not have any of these qualities we sure will be glad when sessions are over."

Hereford will be host city for the fourth annual Membership Meeting of Water, Inc. this weekend, and pre-registration indicates a record high attendance. Leaders in the field of water resource development will headline the program here Friday, and the directors of Water, Inc. will hold a board meeting Thursday. Thursday evening the directors will be guest of the Deaf Smith County Water Association for a reception-dinner at the Hereford Country Club.

Heading the program Friday will be Warren D. Fairchild, assistant commissioner, Bureau of Reclamation; Brig. General Harold R. Parfitt, Southwestern Division Engineer, Corps of Engineers; Calvin Watts, Executive Director, Red River Valley Association; and Dr. Tinco van Hylckama, noted U. S. G. S. geologist.

The afternoon session will feature a business session and a panel discussion by acting executive director Jack Fickeson, of the Texas Water Development Board, executive director Hugh Yantis of the Texas Water Quality Board and chairman Otha Dent of the Texas Water Rights Commission.

Representative Bill Clayton, who is also Water, Inc. executive director, will moderate the panel discussion.

Latest bumper sticker observed: "Be kind to animals. Kiss a Frog."

And in little letters at the bottom — "TCU".

Hereford people are just naturally lucky it seems. At the recent TCTA Convention in Corpus Christi, two Hereford educators won palatings at the Houston booth. Winning were Louise Edmonson and Reuben McGilvary. They could hardly believe that out of about 10 prizes to be awarded to around 1,000 delegates, two went to Hereford people.

We're not sure who brought in this tidbit by the way, since it appeared on our desk Tuesday afternoon and no one in the front office seems to know how it got there, but we do appreciate the information. And golly, that's not luck... that's talent.

Members of the Executive Committee of Panhandle Regional Planning Commission were in Hereford Tuesday evening to meet with Hereford Mayor Jim Sears, the City Commission and members of the newspaper staff in an effort to make amends for statements made by the Executive Director of PRPC at a recent Dimmitt meeting. Coming to Hereford were Collingsworth County Judge Zook Thomas; Dr. D. E. Hackley of Spearman, Chairman of the PRPC Executive Committee; Grady Hollifield, a member of the Dumas City Commission and the Dumas City Manager.

All local city commissioners were present along with Mayor Jim Sears.

LaPlata club elects officers

Movies — Art or Atrocity was the program topic for the regular meeting of La Plata Study club in the home of Mrs. Emil Dettman Tuesday evening. Guest speaker was Randall Foy, manager of the Star Theatre.

In discussing movie ratings, he pointed out that a sheet showing each show's rating is posted at the box office and the rating also is noted in advertising.

Since the local theatre is owned by a Dallas based company, Foy commented that film choice is made there and is entirely out of his hands. However, he can schedule G and GP rated movies (those admitting juveniles without accompaniment) at times when children are most likely to attend.

"The more protest and publicity given a show rated R or X the bigger it gets," the guest speaker commented, citing one incident when an X rated show, scheduled originally for one week, ran for eight weeks following local protest and arrest of the theatre manager.

He concluded that X rated films are on the decline, that the public's curiosity and patronage of such shows seems to be declining.

New officers for the club were

The gentlemen on the PRPC Executive Committee were cordial and seemed quite sincere in their desire to atone for the remarks made by the executive Director at the Dimmitt meeting, but we feel however that they did not succeed in changing the minds of the city commissioners concerning the organization.

PRPC, which started out as the Potter — Randall Planning Commission, and presumably to be run without paid employees, now has a full-time executive director, a full-time planner and a full-time legal adviser. And the committee members readily admitted Tuesday evening that they would eventually have to have more paid personnel. This doesn't include secretaries that they might not have or hire in the future.

Both the Hereford City Commission and the Deaf Smith County Commissioners have declined membership in the organization and we think they should be commended for their actions.

Apparently the Texas legislature is making rapid progress on the bill to allow Deaf Smith County the services of a Criminal District Attorney and we should be hearing from them soon. Actually, the bill should sail through both houses since there would be no opposition in either.

And for the information of those who do not know, there are two attorneys in Hereford interested in the position. Rex Easterwood, an attorney with the Tubb, Lowder and Easterwood firm, has applied for the position as has present County Attorney Andy Shuval.

There will be additional information published in The Sunday Brand about both candidates.

"Further, the canned tuna on the market from here on will be safe and within FDA guidelines. The industry is proceeding to test the product at every point to insure this safety."

BATH, England — The lamprey, an eel-fish that was a medieval delicacy, may again become widespread in English rivers, says Prof. Martin Hardisty of Bath University. Granite Falls and head of Citizens Congress for Private Enterprise leveled the charges during a day-long seminar Saturday at the Bull Barn.

The seminar, sponsored by the Agricultural Watchdog Committee, was a $10-a-person affair featuring a question and answer session during the afternoon.

"We are not here to point our fingers at the Democrats or the Republicans," he told the some 200 persons who attended. "They're both contributed equally to the mess we're in. And yet, we strongly endorse and support our two-party system."

The economist said the government will have the power of spending, and taxing, private enterprise as long as the private enterprise exists. Private enterprise, he said, is the well that keeps the system going.

"It is a question of how long private enterprise can finance irresponsible spending by the government — it doesn't matter who's at the pump handle, the President, the governor or the mayor. They keep singing the same old song: money, money, money," he said.

Paulson, using a blackboard to present diagrams, listed four categories — corporations, small businesses, rental income and agriculture — that every type of private enterprise in the nation is included in.

Using these categories, he cited the years of 1948-50 as a period of ideal economical balance for each of these categories.

"We have had to substitute — in lieu of earned income — extensive debt expansion," he said.

"If we want to preserve private enterprise, then the only people who can preserve it are those who understand it."

SEMINAR SPEAKER — Arnold Paulson, manager of the Minnesota Business and Industrial Promotional Agency, presented a day-long seminar here

Saturday to explain the future of private enterprises. The day-long affair attracted approximately 150 area farmers, ranchers and businessmen.

Mrs. Gerald L. Askew nee Lucinda De La Cruz Miss De La Cruz is married at Plainview

Miss Lucinda De La Cruz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jose De La Cruz of Hereford, and Gerald L. Askew, son of Mrs. W. E. Askew of Norfolk, Va., were married recently in St. Mark's Episcopal Church at Plainview, where both are students in Wayland Baptist College. The Rev. James Mock read the service. Gerald Wilson of Hereford, a family friend, gave the bride in marriage. Miss Carmen De La Cruz was maid of honor for her sister and Gene Chism of South Bend, Ind., was best man. Other attendants were campus friends of the couple. The bride's gown was of white satin with bishop sleeves of organza, gathered to wide cuffs overlaid with lace. The fitted bodice was designed with V neckline and the softly gathered skirt fell straight to the floor. Her lace-bordered veil, attached to a satin headpiece with lace and seed pearl decoration, formed a chapel train. She carried a small Bible, a high school graduation gift from Thompson Memorial Baptist Mission of Hereford. Bridesmaids wore gold velvet skirts with white blouses, the waistline marked with green satin sashes. Their gold headpieces were trimmed with seed pearls. A reception in the parish hall followed the wedding, with the bride's sorority sisters of Theta Alpha Psi in the houseparty. Mrs. Askew is a junior Spanish major at Wayland, is basketball queen of the Wayland Pioneers, projects chairman of her sorority and has served as secretary of records for the Student Government Association. She was runner-up for Wayland campus beauty in 1969 and the 1970 Miss Plainview Pageant.

A Wayland senior majoring in psychology, the bridegroom is an employe of the Texas Department of Mental Health at Lubbock. His fraternities are Chi Omicron, Sigma Tau Delta literary honor group and Psi Lambda.

Refreshments were served to Mmes. Al Hewitt, Emmitt Hale, A. B. Higgins, A. N. Hopson, Sam Morgan, Glenn Witherspoon, B. F. Markham, C. S. Ramey, T. W. Roberson and a guest, Mrs. Martham's grandson Jeff.

Funeral services for Mrs. Earl Cole, 74, of 107 Ave. I, were conducted Tuesday afternoon in Avenue Baptist Church, of which she was a member. The Rev. Don Larkin, pastor, and the Rev. H. V. Fields of Grace Gospel Church officiated. Burial was in West Park Cemetery, directed by Gilliland Funeral Home.

Mrs. Cole, a resident of this county since 1946 when she came from Oklahoma, died in a local hospital Sunday. She was born April 15, 1896, in Clay County. The former Josie Harding, she married Earl Cole July 19, 1914 in Stephens County, Okla. His death occurred Dec. 23, 1968. Survivors are four sons, Floyd Cole of Hereford, Ralph of New Orleans, John of Spearman and Thurmond of Yuma, Ariz.; a daughter, Mrs. Harold Shearhart of Vinita, Okla.; a sister, Mrs. Ola Lawrence of Wichita, Kan.; a brother, Curtis Harding of Topeka, Kan.; 19 grandchildren and four great-grandchildren.

Eighteen members of Rebekah Lodge were present at a meeting in the IOOF Hall Tuesday evening, when Mrs. A. N. Hopson was hostess. She served refreshments at a social period after the regular meeting. Mrs. Jim Loving, noble grand, presided for business. Members planned to assist IOOF members in serving a pancake supper at the hall March 18, a fund-raising project.

Stanton, on the other hand, will be hoping to bounce back from a disappointing showing against the Plainview Estacado Blue teams. Stanton lost all

Grand jury gets suspects in area grain theft cases

By MARSHALL DAY
Staff Writer

District Judge Archie McDonald ruled Tuesday sufficient evidence was presented in an examining trial of two Littlefield men, accused of stealing grain from a local elevator, to warrant action by the county grand jury.

McDonald heard testimony from four persons, then bound over for grand jury action, Ronald Stewart and Gene Mixon. Mixon's bond, which was set at $10,000, remained the same, but Stewart's bond, previously set at $2,000, was raised to $10,000 by the judge.

three games with the seventh grade losing, 25-15, the eighth grade losing, 35-17 and the ninth grade falling, 43-37.

Stewart and Mixon, with Vaughn and Robert Hughes, a Colorado man, all were charged with theft of grain from the elevator at Framers Corner. They are, sheriff's officers said, believed to be part of a large ring that has taken more than $1 million in grain from this area during the past eight years.

Stewart and Vaughn were arrested Jan. 11 by Deaf Smith County Sheriff's officers after a three week investigation. The two were picked up in Littlefield and Vaughn was brought back to Hereford where he was jailed then later released on $10,000 bond. Stewart was picked up later by Littlefield authorities and he posted bond there.

Sheriff's officers arrested the two after a truck was discovered near Framers Corner with grain from the elevator. The truck was damaged when in the attempt to take the grain, and could not be moved. It was abandoned and sheriff's officers put a surveillance on it but no one returned to pick it up.

Officers traced the owner of the vehicle down then connected Vaughn with the case.

Later, Hughes and Mixon, owners of the truck and trailer, were arrested.

Crops clinic is today

Nine of the top crop experts from throughout the state will be at the Bull Barn today for the annual Deaf Smith County Crops Clinic.

The clinic, sponsored each year by the Deaf Smith County Crops Committee, will get underway at 9:30 a.m. and will conclude at 4:30 p.m. A dutch treat barbecue beef lunch will be served at noon.

The specialists are Edwin Garnett, farm management specialist; Dr. Anton J. Bockholt, Assistant professor, corn breeding at A&M University; Dr. Frank Peir, area agronomist; Dr. Robert Berry, plant pathologist; Dr. Bill Clymer, area entomologist; Dr. Raymond Brigham, associate professor soybean breeding; Leon New, irrigation specialist; James H. Valentine, soil chemist; and Dr. Allen F. Wiese, weed control specialist.

"The Crops Committee has given a lot of study to some topics they think might be of interest of local people," agriculture agent Justin McBride said. "These specialists are well versed in their respective areas."

The extended voter registration period became effective with the passage of a bill in the State Senate early this month. The bill passed after a federal ruling said it was unconstitutional to stop voter registration on Jan. 31 since it became official only on Jan. 11 that 18-21 year olds would have the right to vote in national elections.

Federal officials thought this would not give the newly-eligible voters the opportunity to register in time for the Jan. 31 deadline.

Rent-free provision is nixed

The city commission Monday approved a change in a resolution for a Hereford Knights of Columbus-sponsored housing project in South Hereford, but at the same time rejected another proposal for a second housing project that would allow 100 per cent rent supplement.

Attorneys R. C. Hoelscher and Andy Shuval, representing the Knights of Columbus, appeared before the commission with the two requests.

In other action, the city:

- Approved changing the name of West 14th Street to Sycamore Street.
- Authorized the letting of bids for March 15 on seal coat on streets throughout town, and
- Authorized the letting of bids for five police patrol cars on the same date.

Shuval asked the city commission to change the original resolution that stated the Knights of Columbus would have a specifically named builder construct the $1.2 million housing project.

"We ask that you straddle the name of the builder from the resolution because this builder is no longer with us," Shuval said.

The city commission approved the housing project in January of last year. The project which will cost an estimated $1.2 million will be constructed in South Hereford near Tier 1 and Blanca Elementary School and will consist of close to 100 housing units built in a complex. The project will be the second to be started in Hereford in the past year. Sproul Construction Company of Dallas is building a 132-unit complex in northeast Hereford at an estimated cost of nearly $2 million.

Sproul Construction company received an okay for its project about two months after the city commission okayed the Knights of Columbus proposal last year.

The apartments will contain an estimated 3,120 square feet and will be a modern design. They will be constructed of brick veneer, with the bedrooms and baths upstairs and the living room and dining room downstairs.

The project will have some two, three and four bedroom units, depending on the approval of the Federal Housing Administration. Off-street parking will be provided and the cost of the units is expected to be around $10,000 each.

Since the project is sponsored by a non-profit organization, it will, after a period of years, revert to the Knight of Columbus, Shuval said.

The Knights of Columbus, with the city's approval of the project, will now present its resolution to Urban America consulting firm in Dallas, where plans and specifics will be drawn up and then presented to the Federal Housing Administration for approval or rejection.

Shuval also asked the commissioners to consider a second proposal for another housing project that would allow 100 per cent rent supplement so if a person with a very low income wanted to rent one of the houses he would be able to do so.

The commission flatly rejected the proposal as it had done in a meeting last year.

The 100 per cent rent supplement, called a 221-D-3 project, would pay in lieu of taxes instead of regular ad valorem taxes, city manager Dudley Bayne told the commissioners.

"They are not put on regular assessment such as the Blue Water Garden project," he said in speaking of the Sproul Construction project.

Shuval said he was asking for the 221-D-3 project because the Knights of Columbus did not think the Federal Housing Administration would grant another project such as the Sproul Company's.

56 more sign up to vote locally

Some 56 more county residents were registered through Wednesday at the county tax office during the first two weeks of the extended voter registration period.

Nell Miller, tax assessor-collector, said the tax office expects to get some more registrants before the Feb. 26 deadline, but not a large number.

The total for the county now stands at 5,502, a record number for an off election year.

The extended voter registration period became effective with the passage of a bill in the State Senate early this month. The bill passed after a federal ruling said it was unconstitutional to stop voter registration on Jan. 31 since it became official only on Jan. 11 that 18-21 year olds would have the right to vote in national elections.

Federal officials thought this would not give the newly-eligible voters the opportunity to register in time for the Jan. 31 deadline.

For God So Loved The World

In all the world no monument is more famous than Bartholdi's Statue of Liberty. Standing on an isle in New York harbor, it is the symbol of a nation that enjoys the ultimate in political and religious freedom. It is our Americanism landmark.

Since 1886, the towering statue has been the first welcoming beacon for countless thousands coming to these shores to find a better life... The life of Liberty, of Freedom, the American way. The inscription on its base carries a potent message of promise as significant as the monument itself:

"Give me your tired, your poor,
Your huddled masses yearning to breathe free.
The wretched refuse of your teeming shore
Send these, the homeless, the tempest-tost, to me:
I lift my lamp beside the golden door."
Then, if we have in the past, may we never again take Liberty for granted... it wears a price tag.

Four churches prepare for week of crusade services Feb. 21-23

Members of four churches will meet for a prayer service at 7 p. m. Friday in Wesley United Methodist Church, in preparation for a week's evangelistic crusade which will begin Sunday.

In addition to Wesley Church, sponsors of the week's services by the Ed Robb evangelistic team are the Nazarene, First Christian and First United Methodist Churches. The public is invited to a breakfast meeting each morning at 7 o'clock in the Christian Church and an evening service at 7 p. m. in First UMC each day next week.

Prayer meetings in various homes are being conducted this week, and a 24-hour prayer vigil beginning at noon Friday will be a part of preparation for the week. Invitations have been mailed to prospective members as well as members of the four churches, and visiting teams are giving personal invitations.

Evangelist Ed Robb and the song leaders, Mr. and Mrs. Gene Moore, conducted a crusade in Amarillo last September which a number of Hereford resients attended. They have made world-circling tours and led crusades in cities over the southwest. Others on the team are Dr. Hubert Thompson, associate evangelist; Eddie Robb, youth evangelist, and the Rev. N. R. Saenz, speaker to Spanish-speaking congregations.

A Methodist pastor and evangelist since 1946, Robb formed his present team in 1966. The staff is backed by a 50-member board of directors headed by C. Wof McCamey, on Brw. by C. W. Brown of McCamey, an oilman who is a prominent Methodist layman Headquarters are in Abilene, Robb's home city.

Music will be important in each service, led by Bobbie and Gene Moore, who sing solos and duets, some they have written themselves, and also direct choir and congregational song.

American colonists, especially the Puritans, frowned on ostentation so much that a man appearing before a Salem, Mass. court in 1652 was charged with "an excess of boots, ribands, gold and silver laces."

Entertainment was provided by Jay Boren, a freshman at

Letter to the editor

On Friday, February 12, it was my privilege to join 19 members of the Hereford High School Forensic Team (debate, prose and poetry, interpretation, informative and persuasive speaking) and journey with them to Kermit, Texas. In these days when all you read or hear of is student riots, pot, etc., I would like the record to show that there are still many fine things being done by our young people. They were as fine a group as anyone could ask for in any day or time. Spirited, but well mannered, eager to learn and strive harder next time. I could go on and on with praise for those decent, intelligent and interesting students.

These students and their dedicated coach, Wayne Hodgson, deserve the backing of their town. Other than the three "R's" no school activity does more to prepare them for the future than does Forensics. Let's get behind this group and show them that Hereford cares about what they are doing. When someone says they are in Forensics, know what it stands for.

Joshua Tree story

Ever heard or read the story of the Joshua Tree? The novel is now available at the Deaf Smith County Library. Check it out today.

THE JOSHUA TREE
By Robert Cabot
At the heart of Robert Cabot's remarkable first novel stands a Joshua tree of the High Mohave Desert. The novel's design centers on a meeting, mediated by the Joshua tree, between old Will of the legendary West and young Lily of today's California.

Will Spear: born on the Volga escaping oppressions to a free life in America — cowpunching, hunting, prospecting, living with the Walapai Indians, mining in Death Valley, ranching in the Mohave — he lives out his convictions of rebellious freedom even as his family leaves him and the desert is threatened with death.

Lily Tocca: from her wild childhood in the northern California mountains, forced into suffocation, unable to conform, finding drugs, finding despair, finding love, reaching the high desert, she receives the legacy of Will's uncompromising freedom. Their experience is both a generational rejuvenation and a personal redemption.
Rather than reconstruct their past chronologically, Robert Cabot has created these two people in terms of their perceptions of each other and their mingled memories of their separate selves. Their past is entirely their present, an undifferentiation of time.

To deepen this present, not only is a memory treated as an immediate perception, but words and symbols are included in the margins to suggest a subconscious and often archetypal counterpoint.
This many-layered novel whose poetic associations holds a rich reward. The Joshua tree's promise is regeneration, these interwoven lives are its fulfillment.

Plant, Plant, Plant
City people can help discourage pollution by planting lawns and ornamentals. Here is why: Carbon monoxide comes from incomplete burning of organic compounds, one source being automobile exhaust. Monoxide buildup is prevented through quick mixing into fresh, oxygenated air. Oxygen enrichment comes from green vegetation, which traps carbon dioxide from the atmosphere and releases oxygen in its place.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Tree in Dispute

Watson had a special affection for the old shade tree growing on the boundary line of his property. But Jenks, the man next door, considered it an eyesore. One day Jenks announced he was going to cut away half of the tree, trunk and all.

Watson hastened into court for a stop order. But at the hearing, Jenks stood firm.
"I own everything up to the boundary line," he said, "including half of the tree. If his half cannot survive on its own, that is his problem—not mine."
Nevertheless, the court ordered

Jenks to leave the tree alone. The judge said the tree was owned not in two separate halves but jointly, with neither owner entitled to destroy the property rights of the other.

This is the law's usual attitude toward natural growth that happens to be located on a boundary line. Based on simple practicality, the rule generally applies not only to trees but to hedges as well.
Still, the rule may bend with circumstances. Take this situation:

A boundary line hedge between two homes began to get top-heavy. One of the home owners rented an electric shear and cut the hedge down low. His neighbor promptly filed suit for damages, accusing him of cutting away part of their jointly-owned property without permission.
But the court, unable to discern any damage, turned down the neighbor's claim. The court pointed out that the hedge, trimmed down, was actually in better condition than it had been before.

Occasionally even a total destruction by one of the co-owners may be justified. In another case, the roots of an old poplar had split the foundation of one of the adjacent houses. Overhead, the branches had grown dangerously brittle. Lopping off the roots and branches, according to a tree expert, could well cause the whole tree to topple over.

This time, a court ruled that the tree could be destroyed altogether. The court said the victim of a nuisance has the right to abate it—and this tree could fairly be classified as a nuisance.

Youth to vie for D.C. trip

Expense-paid trips to the nation's capitol city will be awarded winners of an oratorical contest, James Hull, manager of Deaf Smith County Electric Cooperative, announced Wednesday. The contest is open to any boy or girl at least 16 years of age but not 18 years of age prior to Sept. 1, 1971, Mr. Hull said. Winners will join winners of similar contests sponsored by other electric cooperatives across Texas on the sixth annual Texas Electric Cooperatives Government-in-Action Youth Tour to Washington, D. C. All expenses of the 12-day trip beginning June 12 will be paid by Deaf Smith County REC. Each entrant will be required to give a 5 to 8 minute talk on the subject "Rural Electrification - Challenge of the 70's" and answer one or more of 50 questions asked by the judges. The oratorical contest will be judged on the basis of (1) knowledge of subject, 40 per cent; (2) speaking ability, 30 per cent; (3) poise, 10 per cent; (4) personality, 10 per cent; and (5) appearance, 10 per cent. Interested young people may obtain an official entry blank from their school or the offices of Deaf Smith County Electric Cooperative. The deadline for submitting entries will be Feb. 28.

As participants in the Texas Electric Cooperatives Youth Tour, local contest winners will travel by chartered bus to Washington, D. C., where they will spend four days visiting places of historical interest and seeing the nation's government in action. On Wednesday, June 16, the Texas group will meet more than 1,000 students from other states for a program sponsored by the National Rural Electric Cooperative Association and the Rural Electrification Administration. The program will feature presentations by officials of these organizations and other Washington personalities and possibly the Presidential staff. The eventful day will end with a chartered cruise down the Potomac River which will include entertainment and refreshments.

Also included on the 12-day agenda will be visits to the following: George Washington's Mount Vernon home, Arlington National Cemetery, the U. S. House and Senate, the U. S. Department of Agriculture, the Smithsonian Institute, the Lincoln Memorial and other places of interest.

Small talk

By SUE COLEMAN
Women's Editor

THE PARTY-ING-EST (if there could be such a word) corner in town Saturday night must have been at the Live-oaks-Plains intersection where Elizabeth and Jim Witherspoon's house was alive and lighted up for an early party and Kathlee Palmer's across the street, for a late one. The first gala preceded the Beta Sigma Phi dance and the later event followed the Community Concert program. It's a good thing they didn't come at the same time; traffic would have been impossible.

Neither a sorority girl nor a CCA director, I was lucky to be a reporter and invited to both. With the concert in between, they gave me the liveliest Saturday night I've enjoyed in years.

ONE OF the reasons Hereford is such a good place to live, is that it has people who use their homes to entertain on such special occasions.

Both the scenes of the Saturday parties are beautiful homes, whose owners are gracious hosts for organizations in which they are interested, not just for their own close friends. Good hosts are civic assets, the same as good schools and good banks.

AS USUAL, Beta Sigma Phis dressed to the teeth for their Valentine ball — not just the queen, Sandy Owsley, and the princesses, Geneva Summers and Pat McDonald, but all the members. And their guests.

Local style trends I noticed were the use of handsome fabrics, many brocades and metallics, the prevalence of the soft shirtwaist. Whatever it is called this season, that universally becoming fashion is back for sure.

Linda Kids, for instance, wore a white shirtwaist with black pants and a sleeveless brocade tunic. Rachel Henslee's shirt had narrow ruffles down the front and a Valentine corsage on the shoulder; her slim skirt was scarlet velvet.

SAMMIE Spangler was gracefully holding up her sweeping skirt of quilted black and white print as she walked up the curving stairs of the Witherspoon home. Her blouse was also shirt-style with very full sleeves. Mrs. Bob Renfro, over from Amarillo to revisit friends, wore a shirt trimmed with bands of shepherd-check fabric matching her pants.

Chinese red and black print in a small design scattered over white, threaded with silver, gave an elegant look to Vida Grady's very simply-cut dress. Mary Jean Gore wore a pantsuit in vivid oriental print, becoming in her Brunette coloring.

THERE WERE well dressed women, too, at the concert and the party afterward. Sitting near me were Pic Thompson in navy in red and white trim matching her red rose corsage that looked like a Valentine gift. Also Joyce Allred in a suit with grey-and-cream striped sleeveless jacket over cream, most complimentary to her blonde hair.

Out at the Palmer home, Violet Reinauer was playing hostess in a straight-line black dress, an upstanding pleated frill at the V neck to frame her happy face. Mrs. Palmer chose a dress in two colors, the darker blouse matched by a band around the skirt hem, all tied together with a scarf in the lighter shade looped at center front.

MRS. WALTER Lemons and Lucille Brown are back home after several days at Stephenville, where the former visited her four-month-old granddaughter, Krista Lyn Loveless, and incidentally the child's parents, Linda and Hoyt Loveless.

Lucille helped her father, C. A. Woods, celebrate his 75th birthday with an open house while she was in the Central Texas city.

Among early radio's heroes was Jack Binns, a young radio operator who sent the first wireless distress signal to save his shipmates from a wintry Atlantic in 1909.

Wide world of folk song exposed in CCA concert

Singing everything from Bach to the label of a Fresca can Steve Addis and Bill Crofut gave a wide view of folk music in their appearance here Saturday evening on a Hereford Community Concert Association program.

The young musicians entertained an audience which included a number of CCA members from Canyon, displaying sound musical ability along with their presentation of folk songs in the contemporary manner.

As widely varied as folk music is, the program ranged from an anti-protest song to the old hymn, Amazing Grace, with an excursion into medieval music accompanied by recorder and handbells.

Using principally guitars and banjo to accompany themselves the duo also played such exotic instruments as a tranh from Vietnam and a thumb piano from Africa. A piano solo by Adis was a pleasing interlude.

Songs from many countries mingled with old and new American tunes for further variety.

Informal comment by the modern troubadours added humor, as did the words of a number of the songs. The performers invited the audience to join in the chorus of some numbers, like Everbody Loves Saturday Night.

The concert was the second this season for CCA, which will present the music of Don Shirley, pianist, and his ensemble March 2 to round out a year.

HIGH VALUE

LONDON — The value of a new work by kinetic artist Barry Martin, 27, won't drop below 325 pounds (780 dollars). That's the amount of 10-pound (2.40 dollar) and 10-pound (24-dollar) bills he is including in a design to hang in the study of a wealthy London patron.

Scaleless skin, small eyes and barbels — long feelers resembling feline whiskers — identify the catfish.

Open house at Mormon chapel slated tonight

The public is invited for open house in the local chapel of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints, 500 Country Club Drive, beginning at 7:30 p. m. today.

Two young men serving here as full-time representatives of their church, Elder Bruce Olson of Provo, Utah, and Elder Craig Marti of Boise, Ida., are sponsoring this evening's program with local church members, as part of their work in this area.

They will comment on a film and exhibits which will be set up to explain various sections of the Latter-Day Saints (Mormon) church, with special emphasis on youth work, answering questions often asked as to how this church keeps its young members interested and active, willing to serve in missionary duties such as Olson and Marti are undertaking.

Delta Xi has dinner guests

Dinner for 65 members and guests was the special event for Delta Xi Chapter of Delta Kappa Gamma Monday evening, when guest day was observed in Community Center.

The program combined information about the society of women educators, given by Mrs. Claude McDougal, with a cheerful sing-along session led by Mrs. M. H. Rihie with Mrs. Albert Ricketts as pianist.

Mrs. Jim Neill, chapter president, welcomed guests who included members' husbands.

The covered dish dinner served on tables where red and gold runners carried the society's colors down the center, and the Greek letters of its name were set in gold cutouts on the speakers' table.

Arrangements for the evening were in charge of a hostess committee comprising Mmes. Sam Ratcliff, H. E. Wester, Charles Bell, Gary Billingsley, Virgel Walker, J. Frank Smith and H. V. Crawford.

Mrs. McDougal, answering briefly the question, What Is Delta Kappa Gamma and Why?, said the professional association of women teachers began in Texas, formed 42 years ago at Austin, and is now international in scope with chapters in Canada and Scandinavian countries as well as over the United States.

Its purposes are to unite women educators for fellowship, professional advancement, personal growth and continued study, as well as to further educational progress in general, she said.

The United Nations came into being officially on October 24, 1945, with 51 members. Now the organization has 127 members.
