

LOOT RECOVERED — Sheriff Travis McPherson looks over the items recovered early Thursday morning that were taken in the Sept. 29 burglary of P-K Auto Supply. A juvenile was arrested and charged with the burglary.

Juvenile arrested in auto store burglary

A 16-year-old Phoenix, Ariz. youth was arrested by law enforcement officials early Thursday morning and charged with the Sept. 29 burglary of P-K Auto Supply.

Authorities said a second person was involved in the burglary in which an estimated $5,590 in auto accessories was taken. The second person, who was named by the juvenile, is presently in Colorado and officials issued a warrant for his arrest. Officers went to Colorado Saturday to bring the other suspect back.

The juvenile was arrested about 2 a.m. Thursday at his home at Forrest Avenue Apartments.

City police Captain Ed Owsley and deputy sheriff Gary Gillespie were checking out a car parked at a grocery on South 25 Mile Avenue after arresting two subjects for being drunk, when they found some of the items taken in the burglary.

The two persons arrested for being drunk told officers they had borrowed the car and told them where the person who owned it could be found. Officers went to the address given them and found a party in progress. They picked up 11 persons for questioning but later released them when they were told about the juvenile.

Officers went to the home of the juvenile, who was living with his parents here during lettuce harvest, where they found most of the items reported missing.

Officers recovered three large boxes full of stereo tapes, two cameras, 15 mag wheels, one engine timing light, one home stereo unit, a small record player, seven stereo speakers, lights, batteries and an assortment of small tools.

All were damaged and all but one of the stereo tapes had been played on a stereo. The boys' mother told officers she did not know the items were in the two-bedroom apartment, although the large stereo was found in the oven of the kitchen stove.

The burglary occurred on Sept. 29 at the auto supply store located at 801 West First. Servio Gamez, manager of the business, notified police of the break-in early the following morning after he had gone to open up for business.

An early inventory disclosed an estimated $5,590 in auto accessories were taken. The store was broken into through a back door and the burglars took the merchandise without being seen from the busy U.S. Highway 60 because of the front window being covered for inventory.

Gamez had been in the store until about midnight inventorying and the burglary occurred between the time he left and the time he returned the next morning.

Slumbering giant awakens, rambles over Dumas, 21-7

By MARSHALL DAY
News Editor

The slumbering giant awoke again Friday night and proved last week wasn't a fluke as they defeated the Dumas Demons, 21-7, ending a 14-year drought against the Class AAA team.

The Whitefaces, who whipped the Amarillo Golden Sandies, 14-13 last week, completely dominated the game against the Demons. From Hereford's second possession it easily out-classed the Demons on both offense and defense.

The victory Friday was the first against a Dumas team since 1957.

The Whitefaces' offense has slowly put it all together this year and their defense, always a light in the dark, came through again, allowing only 130 total yards. During the third quarter the Whitefaces held the Dumas attack to only 14 total yards, eight of that on a pass.

Danby Harris, the Whitefaces' 188 pound junior fullback who came back to his original form against Amarillo a week ago, was the big tool in the Whiteface offense. He rambled for two touchdowns enroute to picking up 139 yards on 13 carries.

His first score came on the first play from scrimmage on Hereford's third possession of the first period. He took the hand off from quarterback Keith Kitchens' and raced 40 yards to pay dirt.

His second score came with just 38 seconds left in the game when he went over from six yards out to put the Whitefaces ahead, 21-7.

Dumas got its only score early in the second period.

After winning the toss and receiving, but getting no where against the Hereford defense, the Demons punted. A bad handoff on Hereford's first play of the game was fumbled and the Demons recovered on the nine-yard line and two plays later Rainly Sullivan took the ball over from the two for the score.

The potent Hereford defense gave the Demons only 45 offensive plays while Hereford was able to control the ball and the game with its 80 offensive plays.

Hereford's other touchdown came with only five seconds remaining on the first half clock. Hereford was forced to punt with just seconds left and Dumas got the ball on their own 20-yard line. The first play ended in a fumble which Hereford's Robert Lyons recovered at the 20.

The Whitefaces apparently had worked on a five-second offense, because quarterback Kitchens went to the sidelines, discussed the play with head coach Larry Dippel and came back into the huddle.

Senior end Bruce Barrett zipped down the right side line, got about two yards deep into the end zone and turned around quickly, just in time to catch the bullet pass from Kitchens.

With the game safely tucked away and the fans cheering for another score with only seconds remaining in the contest, the Whitefaces went for and were successful on an on-side kick attempt after Harris' final score.

The on-side kick traveled about 10 yards and one foot, just making the distance, and a Dumas lineman fumbled and Hector Rodriguez recovered on the 50-yard line.

Kitchens immediately went to the air with about half a minute remaining but missed on his first attempt. His second attempt was picked off by a Dumas player at the 22 with just 19 seconds remaining in the game.

The defense, inspired by a near capacity crowd and ideal playing conditions, never let the Dumas team inside the Hereford 40 except on the early score. In

Draft begins again

Draft-eligible young men in Deaf Smith County, who got a four month reprieve from Uncle Sam, will face physicals and induction beginning next month.

Inductions were stopped after the June call and will not begin again until the November call which will gather some 863 men from the state. The local call for the month of November will be 14 for physicals and six for induction.

Local draft board officials said the highest number that was reached this year has been 117 and that is likely to remain the top number for the rest of the year. Those who are No. 117 or below who do not get called up this year will be called early next year.

The draft call for the remainder of the year for the state of Texas was set at 588—none for October, 363 for November and only 195 in December. All of these will be from the extended or first priority groups, which in the case of Hereford will be those with number 117 or below.

All men in a class available for service who have been found qualified mentally, physically and morally with 1971 Nos. of 125 or below can expect to receive an induction order. If men in the first priority group with Nos. up to 125 are not ordered for induction in 1971, they will be placed in the extended priority group and will be inducted in the first three months of 1972 ahead of men in the 1972 year group of men in the 1972 year group (those born in 1952).

Pony League to meet this week

A meeting will be held Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. in the Pioneer Natural Gas Warehouse to discuss the 1972 Pony League Baseball season.

All officers, coaches and managers and persons interested in coaching or managing should attend the meeting.

Officers also will be elected for the coming season.

Koreans to visit Hereford

Korean wheat industry leaders will be in Hereford Oct. 30 as guests of Leo Witkowski, president of the Texas Wheat Producers Association, to discuss possible future purchases of wheat by their country.

The group, which is a seven-man wheat industry team, will study local elevator operations for receiving and maintaining quality grain, visit a dryland wheat farm and view wheat processing for cattle feed rations.

A reception attended by association leaders, local farm organization heads and grain trade spokesmen will be held to discuss wheat marketing and trade policies.

The group will be hosted by the newly formed Texas Wheat Producers Board, headed by Ken Kendrick of Stratford, d.

The group also is scheduled to visit the Gulf Coast to acquaint themselves with the export facilities for wheat at Corpus Christi, Houston and New Orleans. Members of the visiting agri-business group, which will be in this state from Oct. 29 to Nov. 4, are Hyung Tae Kim, Jung Suk Kim, John Yong Lee, See KOREANS, Page 2

Nanninga's probation revoked, sent to pen

Dist. Judge Archie McDonald revoked probation in three cases in district Court Friday, including the probation of Prehn Nanninga who pleaded guilty last year to the $40,000 burglary of Spangler's Diamonds, Ltd.

Nanninga was sentenced to the state penitentiary to serve not less than two years or more than eight for violation of probation.

Revocation of probation also was taken against Eugene Slawson and Dick Rogers. Slawson was sentenced to four to six years in the penitentiary and Rogers will serve two terms, one for eight years and the other for three years.

Both were on probation for burglary charges.

Nanninga was arrested in September and placed in the county jail for failure to report to the local probation officer. Nanninga moved out of the county, to Lubbock, without getting permission and had failed to report monthly as required by the terms of his probation.

Nanninga had been operating a room service operation for several motels in Lubbock. His employees cleaned the rooms.

Grand jury returns 17 indictments here

The Deaf Smith County Grand Jury, after an eight-hour session Wednesday, returned indictments against 17 persons, including two indictments against a Hereford man charged in the rape of two 15-year-old Plainview girls.

Raul Gonzales, 26, 704 Knight St., was indicted on the two rape charges, and another person, George Martinez, who was with him when the assaults occurred, was indicted on one charge of statutory rape involving one of the girls.

Indictments also were returned against three of four men arrested in a six-day period in September on drug violation charges.

Indicted were Billy Jack Weaver, 21, 801 South 25 Mile Ave. for possession of marijuana; Al-an Everett Brooks, 17, 404 Ave. J, for possession of narcotic paraphernalia; and James David Walker, 21, for possession of narcotic paraphernalia.

A fourth person, Benjamin David Rudnick, 23, also of Hereford, was no-billed by the grand jury. He had been charged along with Walker for possession of narcotic paraphernalia.

All three of those indicted on drug violation charges were picked up during a one-week period when sheriff's officers and police department officials arrested four other persons, including the first juveniles ever for this county, in separate raids.

Martinez and Gonzales were arrested Sept. 27 and charged with the rape of an Anglo girl and a Mexican-American girl who had both run away from their home in Plainview.

The girls told police the men stopped them on Second Street, said they knew where the friend of one of the girls lived and would give them a ride to her home. The four first drove to a liquor store between Hereford and Dimmitt, the girls told investigating officers, and bought a case of beer.

When they returned to town they went to Martinez' home in the Labor Camp, the girls said, where one of the girls fell asleep and the two raped the other girl. Martinez then left the house and the two girls and Gonzales walked to Gonzales' house where Gonzales raped the other girl, officers said the girls told them.

The two men were charged with statutory rape and placed in Deaf Smith County Jail on $20,000 bond each. They still are in jail awaiting trial.

Other indictments returned by the grand jury were against Garcia Jr., 30, Route 1, Box 514, for burglary; Francis E. Gaetz, 48, Route 5, for driving while intoxicated, second offense; Ben Garcia Jr., 30; Route 1, Box 514, for theft over $50; Charles Allen, 50, Route 1, Box 213-G, Canyon, for theft by bailer; Adam Lopez, 18, 430 Mable, for theft over $50; Candido E. Pina, 25, 413 West Second, for driving while intoxicated, second offense; Robert A. Treadway, 24, 508 Union, for burglary of a private residence at night; Pablo G. Peralta, 28, Box 1369, for driving while intoxicated, second offense; and Antonio Cazares, 54, 312 Ave. I, for driving while intoxicated, second offense.

State Senator Max Sherman will be in Hereford Monday as the principal speaker at the 1971 United Fund kickoff rally at 10 a.m. at the Community Center.

Most of the city's officials will be at the kickoff rally along with Sherman, in the United Fund's attempt to reach its goal of $40,000. If the goal is reached, it will be the second time in almost 10 years.

Recipients of the United Funds money will be present at the rally as will representatives of the various organizations. The Hereford High School stage band, under the direction of Ben Gollehon, also will be at the rally.

Kelly, Charles Bell, Bud Eades, Johnie Price, Clete Corlis and Paul Abalos.

These "Los Capitans" will select their own workers who will be called the "Pistoleros." "If things continue according to the groundwork already laid," Riggan said, "the goal is obtainable, it is assured."

"But due to the shortness of time we have, we have not been able to work our advanced contributions as they have been worked in the past. But, those that have been contacted so far have complied with the extra 25 per cent in a very gratifying manner."

The goal of the United Fund drive this year is to get 25 per cent more than it has in the past. The reason for that is because for the past several years the goal has fallen short of the needed funds by about 25 per cent.

The $40,000 goal of this year is up from $39,500 goal of a year ago. The major increase was allocated to boys baseball where last year it received $6,850 and this year will receive $8,000.

"I feel the additional exposure we have given a lot of the people through the civic clubs has prompted them to take a serious look at this extra 25 per cent. I feel that through the efforts that have been put forth there are many more people aware of the need and the necessity of the $40,000 goal than they were in the past," Riggan said.

Agencies which receive United Fund support are Campfire Girls, Childrens Rehabilitation Center of Amarillo where several local children go, boys baseball, the Council on Alcoholism, Boy Scouts, Red Cross, Salvation Army, Texas United Fund, GETTING READY — Charlie Riggan, drive chairman for this year's United Fund Drive, checks out some information from UF secretary Janet Gidden, prior to the kickoff rally scheduled for Monday. The rally will feature Senator Max Sherman as the key note speaker. The rally will be at 10 a.m. Monday at the Community Center.

 the first quarter Dumas moved to its own 41 but were stopped. In the second period the Demons drove down to their own 44 but again were stopped. The third period, the stanza in which the Whitefaces gave up only 14 total yards, the Dumas eleven made it to the mid-field mark just as the quarter ended. Switching directions at the beginning of the final quarter, the Dumas team made its biggest threat, moving to the Hereford 43 but was stopped cold on an interception by Kitchens who was playing in the secondary. The Demons moved one other time with just over three minutes left to play, but made it only to the Hereford 49 before being stopped.

STUDENTS OF THE WEEK — Distributive Education Students of the week are Greg Black and Carlos Mendez, employees of Piggly Wiggly. Black is the 17-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Herschel Black, 1524 Brevard. After graduation, he plans to attend West Texas State University. Mendez is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Carlos Mendez, Sr., 420 Long Street. Both boys are seniors at Hereford High School. They are shown with their employer, Chester Harrison.

BY MELVIN YOUNG
If the Whitefaces never win another game, they're still champions as far as we're concerned. Last week they defeated the Amarillo Sandies... and that'll keep Putt, Powell busy making excuses for a couple of months—and Friday night they soundly thrashed the Dumas Demons which should help to put-down our friend, Dick Reavis, publisher of the Moore County News.
Now Reavis is a pretty nice fellow, but last year during the Chamber of Commerce membership contest between Hereford and Dumas (which we also won), he wrote us this very caustic letter (all in fun of course) deriding the merits of Hereford in general and our football team in particular. And looking back at the records for the past several years, we didn't have a come-back. But the Hereford Whitefaces took care of that Friday night, and you can bet that Mr. Reavis will hear about it.

round town for awhile since he has such a limited time to spend on this trip. He'll be flying into Lubbock Thursday evening late, and will probably return to Washington some time Sunday.
—HB—
Don Lowder, the young attorney who holds forth over on Sampson Street, has been giving us a bad time this week because the announcement of the birth of his young son did not appear in the Thursday paper. Naturally we had a good excuse. That young man arrived on the scene too late to be included with the listings Thursday, but we're sure the announcement will be there today.
On the other hand, he may be like his father—always late for appointments.

FIRST MEETING — Newly elected officers of Kiwanis Breakfast club, who were installed in September, took over last week during the club's weekly meeting. Yearbook orders go out Thursday

Hereford High School students will have but one opportunity to order a copy of the 1972 yearbook this year. A Yearbook Assembly will be held Thursday for the purpose of giving every student an opportunity to order a copy of the 1972 Roundup. If a yearbook is ordered then, full payment must be made by Wednesday, Oct. 27.
Although no extra books will be ordered, the staff will order books for those students who are absent on Yearbook Day. In the event an absent student does not wish to purchase a yearbook, his copy will be offered to persons who did not order on Yearbook Day.
Students who are involved in a cooperative program and will be unable to attend the assembly should ask a friend to fill in an order blank for them.
Persons who do not have children in school, but wish to purchase a copy of the yearbook may do so by sending a full purchase amount of $9 per book to Bill Penn, yearbook sponsor, care of Hereford High School, 200 Ave. F. A receipt will be mailed later.

ITALIAN CHURCH — This is the church Sammy Ogan, Hereford's foreign exchange student to Italy, attends.

Sammy Ogan begins school year in Italy

(Editor's note: Sammy Ogan, son of the Rev. and Mrs. Sam Ogan of the Frio Community, wrote the following letter to his parents the day after he started to school in Italy. He is attending school on a foreign exchange program.
Dear Mom and Dad,
Well, school started yesterday. We got up at 8:30 and, after breakfast, took a bus to Sassoulo. At Sassoulo, we had to walk about 1/2 mile to the school. It is very small, and is sandwiched between a store and a bar-restaurant. Many of the schools here are downtown and even the others don't have a big lawn and tennis courts, etc. like schools in America. Ruggero and I are in the same class, and sit at the same desk. The kids don't change classes here, the teachers come and go.
Of course, it is all in Italian and I don't catch too much of what's going on. I just watch the girls.
The first tri-semester I won't be required to do all of the work that a regular student here does. I just kind of float along. In English class, however, I almost teach it.
School lasts from 8:00 to 1:00 (or noon many days). They go to school 6 days a week, but let out on the birthday of a saint, so very seldom do we have 6 days of school in one week.
The classes are about the same as in America. I have 32 kids in my class. The educational structure is different however. After "media-scuola," or junior high, the kids have to choose their fields. There are about 10 choices of high schools. Mine is a bookkeeping school. There are lots of exams (all oral) and one big one at the end of the year. If you pass it, you go to the next class. If not, you fail. All the kids stay together after junior high. Ruggero has had the same kids in his class for four years.
School today started at 8:00. We had three classes and went home at 11:00. I am not sure why we got out early, but no one complained.
The schools here are just for studying. They have no extra-curricular activities such as a school football team, etc.

Needlework fills program of club

Mrs. Gene Parsley and Mrs. J. T. Gilbreath presented a joint program entitled "Now Needles" at a Calliopean Study Club meeting Thursday night in the Knitting Boutique owned by the former, where a variety of needlework items was on display.
Members were informed earlier of a show-and-tell portion of the program in which each person would exhibit articles of needlework including tatted, painted, embroidery and crewel work, knitted and crocheted items.
Mrs. Gilbreath, in giving her section of the program, said "Embroidery can be described as needle painting. It is as old as woven cloth itself or even older. Indians embroidered on the skins of animals and the Israelites embroidered their tents."
"Needlework is a very old art and has always been part of our American culture, dating back to the days of Indians," said Mrs. Parsley. "Famous queens throughout history did needlework. Stockings were the first knitted article of clothing."
Hostess for the meeting was Mrs. Gilbreath.
Mrs. Tom Kendrick, vice president, presided in the absence of the president, Mrs. Jack Wilcox, when in business the group voted to continue sponsorship of a Campfire group.
Others present were Mmes. Irving Alexander, Clyde Cave, Paul Coneway, C. J. Crump, E. W. Dettman, Alton Fraser, Mary Gibson, Roy Grubbs, Sue James, Ansel McDowell, C. D. McWhorter, Emmett Milburn, A. T. Mims, D. W. Palmer, George Warner and Hazen Woods.
Mrs. Coneway will be hostess for the Oct. 28 meeting when a book review will be given by Mrs. Fraser.

Actually, the Hereford team played quite well Friday night, and in spite of an unusual number of penalties assessed against them, they moved the ball both on the ground and in the air. The statistics are lopsided in favor of Hereford—as you've probably already noted in the front page story. It was a big win for the boys and we're hoping that this will give them the confidence they have needed to go ahead and win a few more.

When the Whitefaces beat the Amarillo Sandies last week we were reminded of an incident that happened many years ago when Hereford was much smaller.
It seems that there had been a basketball league organized in the district, and a few of the fellows that worked around town had put together a team here. Earl Stagner was one of the players.
Well sir, there was a team in Amarillo—believe it was the Graham Plow group—that had been winning games all over the country and Amarillo sports writer Putt Powell was quite proud of them. He spent many hours extolling their virtues. And they were good, but as with all championship teams—even the Longhorns—they can be beaten by someone. And that someone happened to be the bush-league team from Hereford.
After the game Mr. Powell came into the Hereford dressing room, and addressing his remarks to Earl Stagner, commented: "How does it feel to be in the big league?"
"Fine," replied Earl. "And had we known it was so easy we would have been here sooner!"
—HB—
By the way, we see that Governor Preston Smith has again named Wayne E. Thomas chairman of the Coordinating Board, Texas College and University System. Thomas was reappointed to the board last week. Naturally, we assumed he would again serve as chairman, but the official announcement was not made at that time.
Also appointed to the board—for the first time—was Marshall Formby of Plainview. Formby is co-owner of Radio Station KPAN.

Congressman George Mahon of the 19th District will be in Hereford Friday afternoon to visit with a few local people. Mr. Mahon has represented the South Plains district for many years, having been elected to Congress during the 1950's. Deaf Smith County, although still in the 18th Congressional District will be in the 19th beginning January 1, 1972.
Mr. Mahon plans to come back to Hereford several times between now and the time when we join the 19th District, but just wants to touch base Friday and visit a

Windstorms cause plenty of damage

Among the ill winds that blow no good tornados and hurricanes are considered the arch-villains. Now comes word that the ordinary garden variety windstorm wrecks more damage than its celebrated cousins do.

Figures compiled by the National Weather Service show that windstorms accounted for at least $50 million in property damage in the United States for each of the last ten years—and in some of those years caused more than $500 million in damage.

"We don't hear much about windstorms because few people are affected by each of them," says Edwin P. Wiegel, public affairs officer for the National Weather Service.

"The big storms like Celia get the headlines. Yet year in and year out it's the rather ordinary winds that account for the greatest property damage."

The average number of hurricanes and tropical storms is about four, the average number of tornados about 600 and the number of windstorms — many of them with violently destructive winds — is estimated in the tens of thousands.

Windstorms are also a significant, though unrecognized, cause of death. Lightning from electrical storms kills more people each year on the average than any other weather event.

It is common for windstorms to blow at hurricane speeds of 75 miles an hour for brief periods, Mr. Wiegel comments. "These short bursts of speed inflict considerable damage by blowing off shingles, damaging crops or causing unstable buildings to collapse."

"Unless it is anchored, a mobile home can be overturned by even a 45 mile-per-hour wind if it happens to hit at just the wrong angle. Winds that would merely rip the shingles off a conventional house can send an unsecured mobile home rolling like an empty shoebox."

Mr. Wiegel strongly advises that mobile homes be anchored with tie-down equipment. Dr. Richard H. Simpson, director of the National Hurricane Center, says, "I wouldn't think of leaving my mobile home without straps attached to holdfasts embedded in concrete."

When a windstorm is anticipated its a good time to stay indoors but away from electrical appliances. If you should happen to be caught outdoors remember to keep away from lightning conductive objects. Many persons aware of this still remain too close to trees.

Twice the tree's height is a safe distance.

A windstorm usually passes quickly, usually in the matter of a few hours. Remember, however, that windstorms sometimes give rise to tornados. Tune in your radio or television receiver and listen for warnings.

Students honored for test results

Letters of commendation honoring them for their high performance on the 1971 National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test have been awarded to four Hereford High School students. Those named are Dennis Goheen, Lori Hopson, Carole Newton and Craig Otteson. They are among 35,000 students in the United States who scored in the upper 2 per cent of those who are expected to graduate from high school in 1972. The Commended students rank just below the 15,000 Semifinalists announced in September by the National Merit Scholarship Corporation (NMSC). Edward C. Smith, president of NMSC, said: "Although Commended students advance no further in the Merit Scholarship competition, their standing in this nationwide program deserves public recognition. Their high performance on the NMSQT gives promise of continued success in college. "The Commended students should be encouraged to pursue their education since their intellectual talent represents an important and much needed natural resource. Both these students and our nation will benefit from their continuing educational development." The Commended students' names are reported to certain scholarship-granting agencies and to the colleges they named as their first and second choices when they took the NMSQT in February 1971. The reports include home addresses, test scores, and anticipated college major and career intentions of the Commended students. NMSC encourages these students to take every effort to continue their education.

RE-CYCLING PROMOTERS — Turning waste material into something useful, a current enthusiasm of environmentalists, is just what Westway Home Demonstration Club wants to do in a project now under way. For several years past they have collected fabric scraps from home sewers and sent them to Wichita Falls State Hospital where the patients use them in crafts classes to make useful articles. This year they are expanding the project, asking cooperation of other clubs and individuals. Those who have scraps of new material to give may notify a Westway Club member now, or take them to the County Bull Barn Oct. 29. Mrs. T. B. Thomas, club president, left, and Mrs. Albert Lamb, project chairman, are pictured at a recent club meeting where the program concerned rugs.

Rheumatic diseases big cause of disability

One of the most common ailments in America, at least one everyone hears a great deal about from relatives and friends, is arthritis. Actually, arthritis is only one of several diseases in the family of rheumatic ailments—arthritis, gout, rheumatoid fever, and a host of allied ailments that affect joints and muscles. Today arthritis and other rheumatic diseases are among the greatest causes of chronic disability in the United States. "The total number of victims is as great as the total population of the State of Texas," said Dr. James E. Peavy, Texas

Commissioner of Health. "Of the 12 million estimated to be ill over a quarter-million are completely disabled." Arthritis and rheumatism alone cause the loss of more than 115 million work-days annually, a figure equivalent to 470,000 persons out of work for the entire year. This amounts to more than a billion and a half dollars annually in lost wages. Arthritis also drains away $200 million in subsistence allowances to arthritics unable to support themselves, and $200 million in lost income taxes. Two types of arthritis, rheumatoid and osteoarthritis, account for about 70 per cent of all the misery from the rheumatic diseases. Of every 100 patients who come to doctors or to clinics because of rheumatic diseases, it is estimated that 30 to 40 have rheumatoid arthritis, and 25 to 30 osteoarthritis, a type of joint disease due to wear and tear and old age. Ten to 20 have rheumatism of muscles or other tissues, 7 to 10 arthritis brought on by injury, and 3 to 5 suffer from gout. One has rheumatic fever, 2 have arthritis following infection with gonorrhea, and 3 to 5 have other miscellaneous forms of rheumatic disease.

There are many theories as to the cause of these diseases. One is infection, but the guilty viruses have not yet been identified. Another is that it is a change in metabolism—the way your body uses foodstuffs and carries on its work. A breakdown in the complex balance of body hormones also is suspected. According to other theories it is a disease of blood vessels in the affected areas, a disease of the nervous system, an emotion-spawned or psychogenic disease, or some kind of hypersensitivity or "allergy." "Many things are known about these diseases, but we do not yet have all the facts. Much more work and research is still to be done. The important thing is to diagnose and treat the disease early," Dr. Peavy says.

State meeting of OES viewed

Representation at the Eastern Star Grand Chapter session in Austin this fall was arranged by the Hereford chapter at its recent meeting in the Masonic Hall. Members voted to send Mrs. Jack Brown, worthy matron, as a delegate. Several other members plan to attend. Reports were given by Mrs. Horace Hershey on a friendship night program at Tullia which local members attended; by Mrs. Deward Roberson on welfare contributions, showing 100 per cent contributions from the chapter here. Illness of members now living in other cities was reported: Mrs. Vern Witherspoon is in an Albuquerque hospital and Mrs. Nora Russell, who now makes her home with her daughter in Levelland, is ill there. The annual Thanksgiving dinner was announced for Nov. 9. Mrs. Jack Brown presided for the session. Mr. and Mrs. D. R. Holt were hosts as refreshments were served from a table decorated with fall flowers.

Miss Nobles marries William G. Watson

The marriage of Miss Patricia Kay Nobles, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Millard Wentworth Nobles of 111 Sunset, to William Gorom Watson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert N. Watson of Midland, was read by candlelight Saturday evening in First United Methodist Church sanctuary.

The Rev. Russell Wingert, First Presbyterian minister, officiated for the ceremony in which Dr. Nobles gave his daughter in marriage.

Her honor attendant was Mrs. Neils Blasius of Dallas, her former college roommate, while Robert Watson Jr. of Austin acted as best man for his brother. Bridesmaids were Miss Cindy Caulfield of Carlisle, Mass., and Miss Judy Reese of Dallas, cousins of the bride, and Miss Lillian Cowart of Coppas Cove, a former Hereford resident.

Frank Nobles, the bride's brother, Gary Jones of Abilene and Bob Wood of Lubbock were groomsmen-ushers; Steve Conaway and David Leonard of Midland other ushers.

Wedding music was by Mrs. Charles Jones, organist, and Ben Gollehon, who sang vocal solos including "The Lord's Prayer" and "O Perfect Love."

An arch of votive candles framed a large bouquet of white chrysanthemums and gold pompons placed on the communion table of the church. Spiral candelabra on either side of the couple completed the altar setting.

Of ivory silk organza over taffeta, the bride's gown was fashioned with molded bodice veiled by delicate Guipure lace. Scalloped edges of the hand-clipped lace finished the high neckline and capped the long, full sleeves which had motifs of the lace stitched to the gathers just above deep cuffs.

Wider lace edged the skirt, toe-tip length, which flared slightly in front and spread into a circular train in the back. Her English illusion veil fell to the waistline from a lace and pearl headpiece.

An heirloom diamond and pearl lavalier worn by her mother and grandmother in their weddings was her only jewelry. Her bouquet was of white and yellow sweetheart roses and stephanotis, with ivory satin streamers.

Attendants were dressed in peacock blue georgette. Softly draped empire bodices were styled with scoop neckline and full sleeves caught at the wrist with satin bands. Satin rope around the waistline fell in front streamers, and softly gathered skirts were floor length.

Their headresses were bows formed of delustered satin loops.

After the wedding the couple and their parents received guests in Hereford Country Club, then Mr. and Mrs. Watson left for a honeymoon in New Orleans. They plan to be at home by October 24 at Apartment 341, 820 West Mitchell, Arlington.

Mrs. Robert N. Watson Jr. served the wedding cake; Mrs. Merrick Reese of Dallas and Mrs. Gary Jones poured punch at the reception. Mrs. Ivan Block and Mrs. W.L. Davis Jr. assisted in serving also. Mrs. Steve Conaway was at the table where guests registered.

Set between two smaller round tables covered in airy white organdy touched with blue, the bride's table held the four-tiered colonade cake, flanked by tall silver epergnes on a white linen-and-organdy cloth.

Smilax was twined about the tapers burning in the epergnes, and the same foliage studded with gardenias, circled the cake which was ornamented with gold accents and topped with wedding bells.

For travel the bride wore a fitted dress in fall colors, accessorized in navy. Her corsage was yellow roses and gold pompons.

She is a graduate of Baylor University and also attended Texas Tech, where she was a member of Pi Beta Phi and Alpha Lambda Delta. High school studies were completed in 1965 in Hereford.

Graduate study in geology beginning in January at the University of Texas at Arlington is planned by the bridegroom, who was graduated from Texas Tech.

Wedding guests from other cities included Mrs. Ladonia Gorom of Fort Stockton; Dr. and Mrs. M.H. Reese, Mr. and Mrs. I.M. Archer of Dallas; Mrs. M.A. Reese of Kaufman and Mrs. Shellum Pruitt of Peryton.

ELECTED SWEETHEART — Delia Betty Trevino, Hereford freshman at West Texas State University, was recently elected sweetheart of 1971-72 for La Macarena, campus Spanish organization, and will preside at all social activities of the group during the year. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carlos Trevino, 314 Ave. I, and a 1971 graduate of Hereford High School.

Couple to live at Fort Hood after Vega vows

A late afternoon wedding in Vega Saturday was solemnized for Miss Nancy Joan Artho, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Artho of Wildorado, and Charles A. Spinhirne, stationed now at Fort Hood in United States Army service.

Until recently the bride resided in Hereford while she was employed as a secretary for Big Tex feed lots. The bridegroom, who has had a year of duty with the Army in Vietnam, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Spinhirne of Vega. Both are graduates of Vega High School.

After Nov. 8 the couple will be at home at Fort Hood.

Monsignor W.F. Bosen, pastor, read the nuptial mass in Immaculate Conception Catholic Church at Vega. Miss Artho was given in marriage by her father.

Mrs. Bob Gruner of Amarillo was her matron of honor; bridesmaids were her sister, Miss Laurie Artho; cousins, Misses Delores and Janice Artho; a cousin of the bridegroom, Miss Martha Hons, and Mrs. Neal Laeb of Hereford.

James Spinhirne of Houston served as his brother's best man, with another brother, James Spinhirne, the bride's brother, Dale Artho, Larry Groneman, Louis Schenk and Bob Hons as groomsmen.

Ushers were Dick Hons of Austin, Stanley Wieck and Gene Schenk. Cousins of the bride, Mrs. Jim Skarke, Mrs. Jim Rosner and Mrs. Ralph Cabe, sang traditional wedding selections with Mrs. Edgar Frerich as organist.

All-white flowers at the altar, gladiolas and chrysanthemums, were in a large center bouquet and side arrangements. The processional was between pews marked with clusters of lilies of the valley and blue satin ribbons.

The bride's gown of tulle ver taffeta was sprinkled with lace motifs stitched on with seed pearl embroidery. It was made with empire waistline, full sleeves gathered to wide cuffs, and a chapel train attached at back waistline.

Over it her bouffant veil fell in double tiers to fingertip length, held to her hair with a bandeau of roses and seed pearls. She carried a bouquet of roses, carnations and stephanotis.

Heirloom pieces in her costume were a pearl bracelet belonging to her grandmother, Mrs. George Brockman, and her mother's wedding prayer book and handkerchief.

Sky blue knit dresses, floor length and sleeveless, were worn by the bridal attendants. High waistlines were banded with gold chain and pearl belts. Each carried a white basket of blue pompons and gysophylla.

The reception, a wedding supper and dance in the church hall followed the marriage ceremony. Mrs. Bill Brownling was at the guest register.

Misses Stephanie Brock and Janice Spinhirne served the tiered wedding cake, ornamented in blue and white and topped with a pair of dove figurines.

Assisting at the supper table were Misses Karen Artho, Julie Reinart, Cherri Fangman and Cathy Warren.

For the wedding trip Mrs. Spinhirne chose a blue knit jumper worn with white blouse.

A new award for standard flower shows, lately approved by the National Council of Garden Clubs, was won by Mrs. W.H. Gentry in Bud to Blossom Garden Club's annual fall flower show held Friday in Pioneer Gas Flame Room.

Called the arboreal award, it was given for the best entry in evergreen trees and shrubs. Mrs. Gentry was also winner of sweepstakes in the horticultural division and received the Glad Garden Trophy, a special award given in the club each year by Mrs. Art Manjeot, honorary member, to the exhibitor amassing the most points for places in the show.

Another special ribbon going to Mrs. Gentry was a creativity award in the artistic division for arrangement titled Strength for Today. She won four blue ribbons for needled evergreen and five for evergreen shrubs, one for chrysanthemums and one for marigolds, all in the horticulture division.

Mrs. Wayne Porter won sweepstakes in the artistic division; also the tri-color and award of distinction, top honors in that division for arrangements of fresh plant material and dried material, respectively. Mrs. R.N. Yarbro received the award of merit for the best single horticulture specimen in the show.

Junior achievement awards went to Kyla Poteet for artistic arrangement and Tommy Cherry in horticulture. The junior gardeners' exhibit was the largest ever for a Bud to Blossom show and included striking posters with an anti-pollution theme as well as plants and arrangements.

For the novice class, limited to those who had never won ribbons in a flower show, awards were given Mrs. Raymond Zamarrina, newest member of the club.

Others who won blue ribbons, denoting first-place, in artistic arrangement were Mues. Bill Nelson (two), Yarbro, B.W. Sisson and Jess Robinson.

Blue ribbons in horticulture went to Mrs. Gaylon Bryan in five different classes, Mrs. Homer Powell in two, Mrs. Yarbro in three, Mrs. Ray Polan, Mrs. Sam Long, Mrs. Zamarrina, Mrs. Sisson in three classes, Mrs. Bruce Brown in three and Mrs. Robinson.

Juniors who won blue ribbons were Becky Hughes, Johnny Carroll, Angela Porter, Monna Porter, Connie Walterscheid and Cynthia Parmor.

An award of appreciation was given Mrs. Manjeot for her arrangement of vegetables and grains grown in this area. She had created a farmer's figure of a potato, pepper, onion for a head, bronze chrysanthemum for hair, arms of green beans, legs of okra pods and toes of maize grains.

Mounted on a wood plaque, it was set on the registration table in the foyer, where a parade of visitors which continued through the afternoon signed the guest book.

Small talk

BY SUE COLEMAN
Women's Editor

A round dozen states were toured by Mrs. Fred Higgins on a two-month trip—from which she returned last week after visits with several relatives and friends, and to places where she wasn't acquainted, but was interested in seeing.

Sisters she visited were Mrs. Ben Deutchman of North Platte, Neb., Mrs. Fred Piper at Laramie, Wyo., Mrs. Harriet Kingman at Sequim, Wash., and Mrs. Elizabeth Gerke at Escondido, Calif. She also stopped to call on a sister-in-law, Mrs. Bill Higgins at Yuma, Ariz.

Some of the friends she saw formerly lived in Hereford. They are Mr. and Mrs. Orvil Landers and Mrs. Artie Pellum, all of Winterhaven, Calif.

Others were Mr. and Mrs. George Ledbetter, their two daughters and families, Mr. and Mrs. William Hart, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Magho, all of Imperial, Calif.

In addition to states in which she stopped to visit, she went through parts of Kansas, Colorado, Utah, Idaho, Oregon, New Mexico and back to Texas. Don't think she missed a one in the west except Montana. Maybe next time?

An organization, to use the term loosely, is being formed with the aim of serving as a social focus for older residents of the community. From talking to some of those concerned, I gather that it won't be so formally organized—that it is uncomfortable.

It didn't even have a name until the members (of it has members; anyhow the people who go to the monthly meetings) began referring to it as FFF because its aims were stated as "Food, Fun and Fellowship."

Bess Jennings tells me it meets on the fourth Wednesday of each month in fellowship hall at First United Methodist Church, beginning at 11:30 a.m. A covered dish lunch is served at noon and then there may be an entertaining program, games or just visiting.

Mrs. George Heard is acting as president pro tem but there are some plans to elect officers—no hurry. This isn't a sloppy organization, but it doesn't want to get so efficiently set up that nobody has any fun.

Although it began with the idea of appealing to older people, as a way to spend some leisure time in association with others, it has no age limit. And it is not just a women's organization; there are men, too, who like to eat and talk and maybe play dominoes. They'll be welcome.

Those who come for the first time aren't expected to bring food for the pot-luck lunch, so if you're looking for a way to spend time pleasantly, you might drop in Wednesday week, the 27th.

As state treasurer, Bessie Hill definitely plans to go to Fort Worth for the fall meeting of Texas Garden Clubs Inc. Oct. 26-28, and there may be other members of garden clubs here who will also go.

Mrs. Hill is to attend the state board meeting on the first day. The state meeting actually begins that evening with a pre-convention dinner, the program based on the anti-pollution theme which garden clubs as well as a lot of other organizations are so much interested in.

Yes, you can sew on vinyl
By Mrs. Argen Draper
Home Demonstration Agent

VINYL LOOKS ALL sewn Up!
Vinyl is a versatile plastic material appearing on the counters. Combine vinyl with fake fur, canvas, knits or corduroy in coats, jackets or vests. Alone, it is great for ponchos, reversible battlejackets with its own zipped midi skirt or in capes and boleros. Many accessories for the waist, head or neck are made of vinyl.

Select patterns with simple unbroken seams and few darts. Raglan or kimono sleeves are easier to handle, but a set-in sleeve may be used.

FABRICS: PRINTED OR embossed designs may have to be matched and may require more yardage. Look for yardage requirements under "with nap" on pattern when stitching suede-like vinyl. Use a firm lightweight interfacing to reinforce the buttonhole areas. Most vinyls need no interfacing. Choose linings of drip-dry fabrics.

CUTTING PREPARATION: Adjust the pattern and test it in muslin. Alterations are difficult to make in vinyl. Eliminate fullness in the set-in sleeve cap. Pin out an even fold on the pattern on the crosswise grainline.

Divide the amount to be removed into quarters. For example, if you want to remove ½ inch, mark the back of vinyl or pin it in the seam line, since pins leave a permanent mark.

MACHINE PREPARATION: Adjust the machine to medium thread tension and balance the stitch by adjusting the bobbin tension. Set the stitch regulator for 8 to 10 stitches per inch. Use light pressure on the presser foot.

Use a size 14 needle and change it often since the fabric dulls the needle. Use mercerized cotton thread on lightweight vinyls and heavy duty thread on the heavier fabrics.

SEAMS: Use tape or paper clips to hold the seams together while stitching. Some vinyl surfaces will adhere to each other, making taping unnecessary. Place tissue paper between the fabric and metal parts of the machine to help feed the vinyl through when stitching.

A roller presser foot will feed the fabric through. Keep seam allowance flat with single or double topstitching. Glue seam allowances to the backing with fabric glue or rubber cement.

CLOSING: Machine or bound buttonholes may be used. Reinforce the area with interfacing. Use centered zipper application or open seam method in the lap application.

Use tape to hold the zipper in place when stitching. Experiment with commercial adhesive. Metal eyelets and vinyl lacing may be used. Decorative gripper-type snaps also are being used.

HEMS: Gummed tape may be used to hold the hem in place for finishing. Use several rows of topstitching. Turn to the top line of stitching or stitch ½ inch from the edge and slipstitch to the backing. Glue the hem in with fabric glue or rubber cement.

PRESSING: Always test on a scrap of fabric since heat melts some vinyls. Finger press those that cannot take heat; use a dry iron and press cloth for others.

There's a new fact sheet on Vinyl—1967. You may have it for the asking.

SUGAR BEETS MAKE VERY good sweet pickles, using food coloring to give the desired color. Wash beets well, peel, and chunk. Cook until tender in water in which food coloring has been added. Combine all ingredients and simmer 15 minutes.

After simmering remove cinnamon sticks. Pack in hot jars leaving ½ inch head space. Bring liquid to boiling and pour over beets leaving ½ inch head space. Adjust caps. Process pints quarts 30 minutes in boiling water bath.

KRAUT, QUICK METHOD
Cut cabbage; pack loosely into jars. Add one teaspoon salt and one tablespoon sugar. Place lids loosely on jars, don't seal. Set 3 days; then seal.

The 62nd Legislature passed a bill requiring Justices of the Peace to meet at least one of the following qualifications: 1.

Be a licensed attorney 2. Have served two terms (8 years) as a Justice of the Peace, 3. Acquire 40 classroom hours of instruction.

Mrs. Pearlline Harris of Adrian and Mrs. Virginia Kennedy of Vega attended the first training session held in Lubbock Sept. 27, 28 & 29th along with 170 Justices of the Peace from the West Texas area. The Texas Criminal Justice Council made available a grant to pay the cost of obtaining the 40 hours instruction and Texas A & M University co-ordinated and conducted the sessions. The second twenty hour session will be held in February, 1972. Each person will receive a certificate certifying their attendance and their qualification to serve as Justice of the Peace.

"These training sessions are the ideal opportunities for every Justice of the Peace in Texas to bring dignity back into the court and upgrade the 'people's court,'" Mrs. Harris said.

"This is a must if the courts can continue to exist and I firmly believe that we are entitled to keep this local form of government that is controlled by the votes of the people and is available for the people's use. But I also believe the people are entitled to qualified persons serving in these positions and these training sessions are making this possible."

Mrs. Harris was re-elected as a member of the Board Directors of the West Texas Justice of the Peace & Constables Association during the annual convention held at Lubbock Sept. 28th.

Cub Scout pack is reorganized

Cub Scout Pack 51 recently reorganized following the resignation of Walter L. Kreig, who has been Cub Master for the past four years.

At the reorganizational meeting of the group held at St. Anthony's cafeteria, Forrest Ricketts was named new Cub Master, Max Goforth, new committee chairman. Other members of the committee are Dwayne Albracht, Institutional Representative; Amron Luderback, Advancement; Bobby Byers, Outdoorsman; Lewis McCuisti, Treasurer; Merle Goff.

The pack, which is self supporting, discussed holding its annual nut sale again this year and it was decided to do so.

With the enrollment of a number of new Cubs one new den was organized with Mrs. Merle Goff as den mother.

Delfino Romo volunteered to form a new Weblo group consisting of the boys from the pack who have reached age 10. The need for at least one more den mother also was noted to provide room for at least 10 more boys who have already registered.

Three All-Star baseball games have been played in Detroit's Tiger Stadium. They were played in 1941, 1951 and 1971.

SWEEPSTAKES WINNERS — Most first places in the two divisions of Bud to Blossom Garden Club's fall flower show were won by Mrs. Wayne Porter, left, artistic, and Mrs. S. H. Gentry, horticulture, to give them sweepstakes honors. Mrs. Gentry also received the Glad Garden trophy, a special award for scoring the most points on ribbons won, and the arboreal ribbon for the best entry in a designated horticultural class. She points to the evergreen branches which took the latter award. Mrs. Porter is pictured with one of the artistic arrangements which gave her both the award of distinction and the tri-color ribbon, top achievements in the artistic division. Mrs. R. N. Yarbrow received the award of merit for the best single horticultural specimen.

More enlistment options being offered through army

Two new and expanded enlistment options have been announced by the United States Army according to Sgt. Charles Barton, Army recruiter for Deaf Smith and Castro Counties. Both are outgrowths of the popular Unit of Choice option and the European Duty option. The new U.S. Army Korea and U.S. Army Vietnam options offer qualified young men several choices in return for an enlistment in one of the three combat arms — Armor, Artillery or Infantry.

"The enlistee," said Barton, "has a wider range of choices under these particular options than almost any others the Army offers. Not only can a young man select the basic training center at which he wants to take his training but he can choose from one of the combat arms." Sergeant Barton explained that the enlistee may pick his own training center location from among Fort Dix, New Jersey; Fort Knox, Kentucky; Fort Campbell, Kentucky; Fort Jackson, South Carolina; Fort Polk, Louisiana; Fort Leonard Wood, Missouri; Fort Lewis, Washington; or Fort Ord, California. He will also complete his advanced individual training there providing the station conducts the advanced phase in the field for which he has enlisted.

"An enlistee might complete basic and advanced infantry training at the post of his choice," the sergeant continued, "but those choosing armor or artillery would have to undergo their advanced training at a post such as Fort Knox for armor or Fort Sill, Oklahoma, for artillery."

Once he had successfully completed his training, the young soldier would then serve either a 13-month tour of duty with the U.S. Eighth Army in Korea or a 12-month tour in Vietnam, according to the option for which he enlisted.

After his tour of duty was completed there, he would be offerred his choice of assignment in the United States with one of seven of the Army's top combat units. As an alternative, he could also select assignment in Europe for the remainder of his enlistment, again with one of the combat units stationed there. Or, he could decide to serve in Alaska, Hawaii or Panama.

For more information on these new enlistment options, see Sgt. Barton at his office which is Local Board #8 in Hereford on Tuesdays or in Dimmitt at City Hall on Mondays. Or call him collect at Amarillo at 806-376-5151 extension 2182.

A minimum order of 10 at $24 per head must be placed. The animals, which are also known as blue wildebeest, must be picked up at either the Hluhluwe or Mkuzi game reserves. The gnus are regarded as surplus because of a severe drought.

"Dost thou love life?
Then do not squander time,
For that is the stuff Life is made of"
—Poor Richard's Almanac, 1775.

Even though these words were penned long ago, they are still just as applicable today.

Life is good, and we are to be held accountable for time we spend unwisely, and wastefully.
I am learning day by day that the life of a gardener, flower arranger, garden columnist etc. is one that can be really filled with many wonderful things. For instance, it has been my pleasure

this week to make new friends through the medium of gardening. Big, little, old and young no matter, I love people. Their interests can become of interest to those who listen.

This has been a week of visitation, was a pleasure to visit with Mrs. Lee Cocanagher. While there not only did we exchange ideas and thoughts, but I was filled with happiness when I saw some of the beautiful roses in her rose garden. One of the loveliest white roses I have seen this year, was a real point of beauty and interest.

The new home of the Pat Mal-ones (had known Mrs. Malone via of garden club work in Amarillo, and so good to have her in Hereford). Was thrilling to hear of her plans for landscaping the new grounds of their beautiful home. Extra pleasure to meet a sister and mother who were visiting. We exchanged gardening problems and ideas. They were interested in the use of Boisdarc apples and were baking some for arrangements, Not Eating.

Another big thrill was to see the harvested crop of the littlest gardener at the Dr. Gerald Payne home. Beautiful golden pumpkins all lined up in the hearth, are the real focal point in the attractive den. Also learned that to the young gardener, pumpkins are not grown for pies but for Jack O'Lanterns only.

While at the McCrary home, found one of my very favorite spoon chrysanthemums. Is a two tone and the formation is appealing. The name also is sweet, as it is "Remembrance."
Pretty, deep colored petunias graced one of the planter boxes.

Most enjoyable moments were spent with Mrs. Charles Skinner in her attractive home. Was searching for ideas on table settings, co-ordination, color, etc., for flower show tables. Found she is not only a collector of glass, china, silver but also of clocks and biscuit jars. She too is a lover of African violets, and had a pretty blue one with an intriguing name, which is "Blooming Fool", is an excellent bloomer. She too is one who does beautiful handwork, she was knitting a lovely white afghan.

While delivering bulbs, had a good visit with Mrs. Montgomery on Mimosa Street, fascinating to see the beautiful coverlet (flower) an old fashioned cross-stitched quile, and her vining materials in the patio, also new idea for landscaping of the backyard, with the new patio as the center of interest.

Other visits were at the Hospital, Mrs. G. P. Owen tells me there is to be a very unusual occurrence in December. Do you know what it is??? (More later on this, it pertains to nature).

Interesting and informative visit with KPAN manager Mr. Formby. (Also sold some Red Matador Tulip bulbs, none better). Made a quick viewing of the grounds at the Hereford State Bank, studying where best to plant spring flowering bulbs, which I was delivering to Mr.
Carlile. Talking with my friend the farmer, Horace Hershey, he informed me the turnips were ready for the dinner pot, and that with good cornbread, makes food fit for a King. From the ranch lands, friends (Mrs.
Hall and Perrin) dropped in to pick up some bulbs, and brought a petite, lovely wild flower to show me. It was dried, yet held its color beautifully, and the petal arrangement was most interesting. YES—the life of a Garden Clubber is thrilling, and to me,
"Fun."

Pioneer Study Club still has a very nice selection of Spring Flowering Bulbs. Help out a worthy organization, which adds beauty to our home town, by purchasing some of the bulbs.

Have just talked with my son, who has been a patient in Walter Reed Hospital, in Washington, D. C. and since his favorite potted plant whether sick or well is African violets, I will share some of the good ones to grow for winter. They are Gigi, a two tone white and blue, an excellent flowering plant. Rhapsodie, U-phelia, is a very beautiful double lavendar, flowers long lasting.
Other Rhapsodies which are pretty and do well (for Lloyd) are Sunny Side, and Annette, each are nice pinks.

This is Flower Show Week in Hereford, hope all have and will attend them. Bud to Blossom Flower Show with the theme,
"Potpourri of the Golden Spread," was a success. Mrs.
Wayne Porter, the flower show chairman is to be congratulated on the lovely and interesting show.

The Hereford Garden Flower
Show will be open to the public
Sunday afternoon from 2:30 p.m. to 5:00 p.m. It is staged in the First National Bank. Will be interesting to see how Banking has been portrayed in the various arrangements and throughout the Horticulture and Educational Divisions. How does this strike you? A luncheon table with the title of "Greenbacks."

FUN WAGON BARRED
BALTIMORE (AP) — The city
"fun wagon," replete with a sprinkler fountain and other recreational gear for children, has been barred from an East Baltimore neighborhood.

Officials led the wagon away after a protest petition was signed by 40 residents.

"There are a lot of sick, elderly people here," the petition said, "They need their peace and quiet. There are enough kids on the street already."

come see how it was handled by the arranger.

Another date of importance to Garden Clubs and other gardeners is that of the Flower Show School, which is to be conducted at the Garden Center, October 19, 20 and 21st. The 19th will be on Artistic Arranging, which will be taught by Mrs. E. Fred Lewis, Hurst, Texas. The following day, Mrs. John D. Saloi of Dallas will teach Horticulture, she will discuss chrysanthemums, and berried plants and shrubs.
Examinations will be given on the 21st. This is the school for Course Four, in the outlined study for National Judges. Two Hereford Garden Clubbers will arrange a segment table, and one will judge in the horticulture specimen exhibits, for teaching.

The course in its entirety will be $7.50 for one day $4.00 one day.
Those attending the two days,
who pre-register will be $6.00.
Anyone wishing to attend is most welcome.

DO NOW: Start planning and working towards putting the flower beds, and garden to bed for the winter. More on this next week.

Attack on profits

One of the more disheartening aspects of the controversy over President Nixon's new economic program is organized labor's insistence on some sort of "controls" over profits. The union argument, if it gets anywhere, could slow or even prevent a return to stable prosperity.

Superficially, it may seem to make sense to equate wages with profits. Wages are the return to workers, and profits are the return to owners of businesses, so if one is to be restrained why not the other?

One answer is that there already are several profit restraints, some of which have no counterparts in the wage area. If a business isn't innovative, well-managed or perhaps a bit lucky, for instance, it may wind up with a loss instead of a profit. A worker on a union contract doesn't face quite the same uncertainties.

Ironically, the chief uncertainty the worker faces is whether or not his employer will operate profitably. A reasonable record of profitability is essential to preservation of the employee's job and the wages it provides.

Another important difference between wages and profits concerns inflation. In the months before the wage-price freeze, many labor unions demanded and got huge wage increases, in part to offset the impact of inflation. There's no one a corporation can talk to about similar profit increases to limit inflation's inroads.

In 1970 after-tax corporate profits came to $41.2 billion, down from $49.9 billion in 1966. When the profit restraint of inflation is added, the 1970 figure looks sadder indeed.

The depreciation allowances that union leaders complain about also don't look so large once inflation's effect is considered. When a businessman decides to buy new equipment or build a new plant, and thus provide jobs for union members, he will find that he must spend much more than he would have spent for comparable facilities a few years ago.

In a real sense, moreover, the price freeze and whatever controls follow it will restrain corporate profits. The impact will not be as direct as it is in the case of wages, but it may be even more severe. The setup is so inflexible that it could bankrupt some businesses, which is a rather more serious result than the foregoing of a wage increase.

If profits are to perform their role in a free economy, they must have a certain amount of flexibility, both up and down. If profits of certain corporations rise, they are able to attract workers and capital from corporations whose profits are falling or disappearing. This reallocation of resources means that men and money are likely to be more fully, as well as more productively, employed.

The reallocation thus promotes the interests of workers generally. If organized labor wants to encourage that sort of thing, and also to impose a sensible restraint on profits, it should be working to assure the freest possible competition. Notably, unions could encourage governmental steps to prevent abuses of economic power. Since unions are among the major abusers of such power, that's probably asking too much.

It may be a little more realistic to hope that labor unions will eventually drop their protectionism and return to support of freer world trade. Only by gearing to meet such competition will industry have any hope of providing the millions of new jobs that Americans will need in the years ahead.

Whatever organized labor thinks or says, profit is the engine that makes the economic machine go and grow. If the unions damage the engine, a lot of their members will be denied a ride. The Wall Street Journal

Auto accidents are taking young people

BY BERT MILLS

Washington, D.C. — Every year more young people die on our highways than were killed in even the worst years in Vietnam, which suggests that if youths worried as much about automobile fatalities as they do about an unpopular war they could cause a drastic reduction in the senseless carnage on streets and roads.

Last year there were 16,500 young men and women whose lives were snuffed out in auto accidents. Almost one-third of all highway fatalities were in the youthful age bracket. Despite safer cars, better roads, and increased driver education programs.

Highway accidents last year killed more young people than any other single cause, and half of all deaths in the 15-to-24 age group were caused by a motor vehicle. Secretary of Transportation John Volpe has called these statistics "a national tragedy."

His department has a variety of programs to try to meet the situation.

However, even the most extensive and enlightened government programs won't help much unless the public, and particularly young people recognizes the problem and resolves to do something about it. In their own self interest, youths ought to take the lead in crusading for safe driving.

A start has been made in that direction but it is a bare beginning. Last January Secretary Volpe named 15 young people to a committee to advise on organizing just such a crusade. Under the stimulus of that core group a national conference is being held in Oakland, California, this month, seeking to develop a national program to take back to each state.

19 of 20 Are Drivers. One reason there are so many fatal accidents involving youthful drivers is that practically every youngster is a licensed motorist. Nineteen out of 20 boys and men of driving age have a license, and 63 percent of females. Many of them are only children but they can and do take to the highway, often returning in an ambulance or hearse.

The negligence of a lot of adults is part of the picture. State legislators who pass laws allowing kids as young as 13 to drive are culpable. So are educators who give driver training courses which certify youngsters as qualified drivers after only six hours behind the wheel.

Parents are often responsible for the death of their own sons and daughters, by failing to insist upon safe driving habits by their own children, by letting them ride with others who are candidates for a crash, and by providing the wheels and the cash for joy-riding expeditions at all hours of the night.

Drinking drivers are bad enough if they are mature adults but an inexperienced driver who has consumed a few beers is a potential killer. Drug users are even worse than drunks, and the first thing that should be done to anyone convicted of using narcotics is to cancel his driving license.

Young people regard driving as a right, and not a privilege. Courts and parents must change that philosophy and make it plain that unsafe drivers of any age have no right to endanger the lives of others.

Beware of School Courses. Nearly 3 million high school students take driver education courses annually, but there is considerable question how effective they are. The parent who assumes that his or her child is a safe driver because he or she earned a certificate at school is making a mistake.

In the District of Columbia, 18 to 20 percent of all graduates of school driving courses fail their written test for a driver's license, and 41 to 45 percent fail the road test. Studies in other areas have produced similar results. D.O.T. is spending millions trying to beef up school driver training programs.

Women's clubs and civic groups might as well undertake youthful driver projects. A first step might be to study the effectiveness of school programs. Next the licensing tests ought to be checked. Can anybody that can drive around the block without crashing earn a permit? And what do the courts do to those who cause accidents? Are convicted drunks deprived of their right to drive? What about dope users?

As long as there are automobiles there will be accidents. But too many are caused because too few realize the seriousness of the problem and do too little about it. The cause of highway safety should be a personal crusade for everybody.

Talk of Texas

BY JACK MAGUIRE

CITY OF GHOSTS—Port Arthur owes its origin to a man who decided to build a city on worthless swamp land because inhabitants of the spirit world told him to do so.

He was Arthur Stilwell, builder of the Kansas City Southern Railway and planner of a railroad that was to reach from mid-America to Topolobampo on the west coast of Mexico. He eventually amassed a fortune of more than $160 million which he said was made possible by business advice given to him by "spirits from the underworld."

In 1886, Stilwell formed the company that was the parent of his railroad and of the dozens of towns and villages he was to found as the line was built from Kansas City to the Gulf of Mexico. His original destination for the railroad was Galveston, but his advisers from the ghost world warned him that the island city would be destroyed by a hurricane. They told him to build directly south from Shreveport, La., and put his Texas terminal on the north shore of Sabine Lake.

That area was swampland populated almost entirely by alligators, but Stilwell paid $7 an acre for it and announced it as the townsite of Port Arthur. It turned out that the spirits were right and Galveston was all but destroyed in 1900. By then, however, Port Arthur was on its way to becoming the important seaport that it is today.

THE SIGNS OF TEXAS—At a motel in Arlington: "Towels for the whole damp family."

INFLATION—A copper coin minted in San Antonio in 1818 and worth about six and one-half Spanish centavos at the time will bring at least $325 from collectors today.

Known as "Garza coins" (after the postmaster who minted them on orders of the Spanish governor), they are handmade of copper. About 8,000 of them were issued because the citizens needed change smaller than the real, the unit in use at the time. They were called "jolas" when they were issued and were used for many years.

Most of the Garza coins disappeared over the last century. Then in 1959, a city crew excavating near the San Antonio River turned up a group of the coins in excellent condition. There are 60 of them known to be in the hands of museums and coin collectors today.

THE CHANGING TIMES—When directors of the State Fair of Texas let the contract for the Cotton Bowl in 1930, there was considerable objection to the cost.

The huge 75,000-seat stadium required an outlay of $328,000—a lot of cash in those depression-ridden years. (Today the Cotton Bowl takes in much more than that from one sell-out football game!)

Costs have skyrocketed in 40 years. When The University of Texas completes the addition of 14,000 seats (plus some classroom and office space) to its Memorial Stadium in Austin, it will have spent some $10 million.

SENSING THE NEWS

By Anthony Harrigan

EXECUTIVE VICE PRESIDENT

Southern States Industrial Council

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Complete federalization of all public schooling is the likely result if the U. S. Supreme Court upholds the recent 6 to 1 ruling of the California Supreme Court in the case of Serrano vs. Priest. Such a decision could have even more far-reaching effects than the integration rulings of the early 1950's.

The California court held that the state's system of financing public schools is unconstitutional. In California, as in other states, there is considerable difference between what the local school boards spend per pupil. The court held that the states must devise a system that equalizes expenditures so as to give each student "equal protection of the laws" under the 14th Amendment. Again, that controversial amendment has been twisted to implement the concept of egalitarianism.

Today, prosperous school districts in California may spend $1,200 per pupil. Less affluent districts may spend only $800. In future, said the California court, expenditures must be equalized. This is the same old leveling philosophy that is burdening productive citizens and providing largesse for the less energetic and less capable among our citizens. The California court said, in effect, that taxpayers in one district may not do more than any other group of taxpayers to give their children a quality education within the public school system. At the same time it also said in effect that taxpayers in a prosperous district must pick up the load for people in poorer areas.

That may seem fine to some people, to the people in the poorer areas and to the limousine liberals. But it means that, once again, the middle-class citizen would be hard hit in the wallet. The California decision also is another major blow at local control of schools. If the ruling is upheld and applied nationwide by the U. S. Supreme Court, the role and function of local school boards will disappear. That means the end of the last vestige of local control of education—a traditional feature of the American way of life.

Furthermore, one can be sure that the equal education ruling would mean that some districts would be more equal than others. Just as the courts have moved from desegregation to racial balancing, they also would be likely to move from equalization of school funds to concentration of school funds in so-called poverty areas. Again, the middle-class Americans, the people who make possible state and federal revenues, would be the losers.

And if the principle set forth in the Serrano vs. Priest ruling is applied nationwide, it follows that liberal groups soon would be demanding that in inequalities among state school systems be abolished. The more affluent states would have to pick up the school bill in the poorer states. That's where federalization would enter the picture. In no time at all, the United States would have a single, centrally-controlled public school system—something that the American people don't want.

We have already seen a similar move with regard to welfare. The Nixon administration's welfare expansion bill, the so-called Family Assistance Act, contains provisions to wipe out state-to-state differences in welfare payments. Big Government enthusiasts want a single, federal welfare system with no separate state requirements.

Eat more beef

American people will soon be eating 130 pounds of beef per capita per year, and beef consumption has already increased 74 per cent since 1950.

It is apparent that the vast number of cattle in feed lots, pastures and pens in this area is no accident. It is a result of a continued educational effort on the part of cattlemen and the resulting demand for beef.

The beef industry is important to those of us in this area because this segment of the farm economy offers the brightest future right now. If we are to land a major industry, it is likely to be a packing plant, using cattle as raw material after they have been fattened in feedlots using locally grown grain.

This is grain and cattle country and development needs to be pointed in that direction.

The beef business has its ups and downs, but the future looks brighter than ever because the demand for beef continues to grow.

Nobody ever heard anybody say "I don't like steak."

—The Perryton Herald

More CBS 'news'

FOR SOME reason, the Columbia Broadcasting System has not produced a credible explanation of its enigmatic announcement the other day of a change in presidents.

In an elaborately contrived "press release," Dr. Frank Stanton, president, and the ultimate boss, William S. Paley, chairman of the board, let it be known that Charles T. Ireland, Senior vice president and director of International Telephone and Telegraph Corp., will replace Stanton.

The latter had been scheduled for retirement at the age of 65 in 1973. However, he suddenly was "promoted" to vice chairman, and was to "continue as chief operating officer." Asked for an explanation of how the new president could keep from being chief operating officer, a CBS spokesman made the baffling reply that "the 'press release' speaks for itself." But it spoke with forked tongue.

The Stanton replacement really served as confirmation of strong rumors that Paley was unhappy because CBS has been caught with its ethics down in its biased and distorted "documentary," The Selling of the Pentagon. Also, he must have been appalled over bitter denunciation of the network in Congress for its record of deceit and irresponsibility under the Stanton management.

Two high CBS executives, Stanton favorites, were passed over when Ireland, an "outsider," was named. What will happen to another Stanton favorite, Richard Salant, president of CBS "news," has not been divulged. Since he was directly responsible, and chief apologist, for The Selling, firing would be too good for him, as apparently it was for Doctor Stanton.

THE BOOTLEG —Philosopher

Editor's note: The Bootleg Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm has been reflecting on a new rule the government has ordered.

Dear editor:

By 1974, according to an article I read in a newspaper last night, all new cars must be equipped with seat belts that have to be fastened before the car will start.

This was ordered; the government said, because despite the fact all new cars now come equipped with seat belts, less than 30 per cent of the people use them.

So, after 1974, the seat belt will be hooked up with wires some way with the ignition switch, and the car won't start unless the belt is fastened.

This sounds like a good idea and if it works it ought to be utilized further.

For example, instead of a key to start your car with, the government should require a punch card and a complicated slot on the dashboard. With the right holes punched and the card inserted, the car starts only if the seat belt is fastened. But another series of holes won't let it start unless you've registered to vote, another unless you've actually voted, another unless you've paid your taxes, another unless you've had all your shots, donated to the community chest, etc.

You get the idea. You can shape this country up almost completely through the punch card system of turning on the ignition in everybody's car. By putting enough holes in the card to cover practically everything, morally, ecologically, politically, etc., you could come up with a system whereby anybody who could still start his car after 20 years of driving would be qualified to serve on the Supreme Court without even being investigated. Like it is, if you investigate far enough, you may find nobody is qualified for the Court or anything else.

However, if the government limits its fastened-seat-belt rule just to seat belts, what's to keep a man from carefully fastening all the seat belts in his car with nobody in them, sitting on the one in the driver's seat, and taking off as usual? I've always said Congress ought to study human nature more.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

MAKING IT TOUGH FOR BURGLARS — Identification of stolen property, often difficult for the victim of burglars, is the object of a project underway now in the Women's Division of Deaf Smith Chamber of Commerce. Mrs. Eugene Sparks, upper left, is posting a notice explaining that an etching tool is for rent to mark household effects, tools, sports equipment and other articles which are most likely to be stolen. A driver's license number etched on these articles gives positive identification, which affords a discouragement to would-be thieves. Mrs. Charles Hoover, upper right photo, demonstrates that the mark may be placed inconspicuously on Terry Sparks' tape player, while Dana Henry waits with her luggage and Tonja Black with her bike. Roy Botkin and Cecil Hart, lower right, try out the handy gadget on farm tools and something bigger, a pickup. After marking assorted family property, Mr. and Mrs. Guy Warden are affixing to their garage door a sticker with the plain notice that articles in their home are so marked, as a deterrent to a possible break-in. The etching tool is available now at the Chamber of Commerce office, at a nominal rental fee.

Hopson-Lyons wedding has setting in home

An altar setting before a bay window in the home of the bride's parents was arranged for the marriage of Miss Dawn Hopson and Richard Lee Lyons Friday evening.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E.D. Hopson, 201 Ranger, and the home wedding ceremony was conducted in the dining area. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. W.T. Lyons.

Bob Wear of Littlefield, former minister of Central Church of Christ here and a longtime friend of the Hopson family, officiated for the double ring service. Tapers in seven-branch candelabra twined with green foliage lighted the scene.

Miss M'Lynn Hopson was her sister's maid of honor and Robert Lyons, brother of the bridegroom, was best man. Nicole Nichols, daughter of the Jerry Nichols of Amarillo and niece of the bride, was the flower girl and Hayden Hopson, her small brother, carried the rings.

Traditional wedding music and two modern selections, Never My Love and the theme from the motion picture, Love Story, were played by Brent Combs at the piano.

Her great-great-grandmother's wedding ring was worn on a gold chain as the bride's necklace, complementing the portrait neckline of her gown.

Of silk organza over taffeta, the dress was styled with short-sleeved empire bodice of Chantilly lace. The lace medallions were encrusted with crystals and stitched with seed pearls.

Wide scallops of the lace circled the skirt in three tiers, the bottom tier forming the floor-length hemline. A bandeau of medallions held her illusion veil in place. Lace appliques were scattered over the veil which fell into a short train.

A pearlized white orchid, with stephanotis tied into the love-knots of ribbon streamers, topped the white Bible belonging to the maid of honor, which the bride carried.

The honor attendant was dressed in pale orchid crepe with fitted bodice above a gored skirt, and puffed sleeves. Over it was worn a deep purple chiffon velvet bolero with rhinestone clasp. Her flowers were purple asters in a nosegay.

A miniature of that nosegay was carried by the small flower girl, whose dress was fashioned after that of the maid of honor, out of violet velvet trimmed with orchid lace insertion.

Mrs. Hopson wore at her daughter's wedding an orchid two-piece knit dress with white kinkle patent accessories. She and the bridegroom's mother, also the grandmothers, had cymbidium orchids for corsages.

A reception followed the ceremony. Mrs. Jerry Nichols served the wedding cake and Miss Donna Lyons, the bridegroom's sister, poured punch. The bridal bouquet and the attendants' nosegays were laid in the center of the table, on an ivory cloth with hand-crocheted insets.

Miss Marsha Lyons, another sister of the bridegroom, was at the guest book.

Leaving on a brief wedding trip, Mrs. Lyons had changed to a brown tweed suit with leather-trimmed jacket and matching accessories. The couple will be at home at No. 29, Lynette Apartments.

Both are students in West Texas State University and both are employed in Hereford. They are graduates of Hereford High School.

ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED — Mr. and Mrs. L. T. Johnson, 711 Lee, announce the engagement of their daughter, Gwen Duncan, 903 S. McKinley, to Jim A. Huckert of 406 Ave. B. A 1971 graduate of Friona High School, Miss Duncan is employed at Deaf Smith County Abstract. Her fiancé, son of Joe Huckert of 232 N. Main and Mrs. Norma Huckert of 406 Lawton, is an employe of Gibson's. He has just ended a term in the United States Air Force after two years' service in England. He was graduated from Hereford High in 1966. The couple plans a Dec. 4 wedding in St. Anthony's Catholic Church.

Wedding date fixed

Engagement of Miss Jan Alane West, daughter of Mrs. Samie Edward West and the late Mr. West, to Jim Bob Perrin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Perrin of Adrian, is announced by her mother. The wedding is planned for Dec. 22.

Miss West has attended Texas Tech University at Lubbock and the John Powers School in Dallas after graduation from Hereford High School. Her fiancé, a student in Clarendon Junior College, is a graduate of Adrian High and attended Texas A&M.

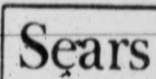

Chapter is host at bridge party

Fifteen tables of players took part in bridge games at the annual benefit party sponsored by Kappa Iota Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi Wednesday evening in Community Center. High score awards went to Mrs. Joe Frank Huckert and Mrs. Bill Reinauer.

Scoring second high were Mrs. Oliver Streu and Mrs. Olen Caviness, while Mrs. Earl Holt and Mrs. Earnest Wade placed third. Consolation went to Mrs. D. C. Miller and LaVerne Kimball.

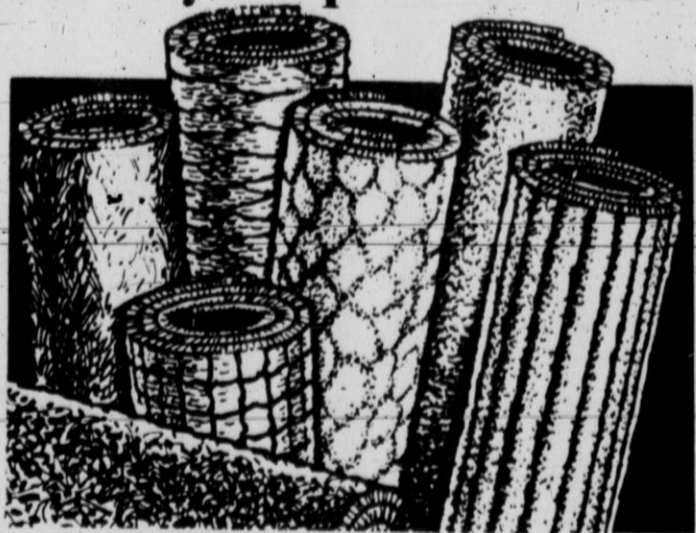

Prizes for the winners were contributed by Hereford merchants, as were door prizes. The grand door prize, a bridge table and chairs, was received by Mrs. Wade.

Girlstown visit made by club

A visit to Girlstown, U.S.A., by members of Mon Amis Study Club Thursday resulted in the club's "adoption" of a resident at the Whiteface home, 15-year-old Peggy Mattison.

Members will write—Peggy, invite her for visits in their homes, send her gifts on special occasions and otherwise give her the attention that relatives might give to a girl who is away at school.

In addition, Mon Amis members voted to bring to each meeting this year small gifts of cosmetics and useful articles to be sent to Girlstown for distribution to the residents.

They had lunch at noon Thursday with staff members of the girls' residence home, then were guided by Mrs. Marshall Cooper, wife of the executive director, through buildings of the facility.

Meeting at Easter Community Building in the morning, the club members went together to Whiteface. Mrs. Roy Botkin and Mrs. Buster Thomason were hostesses who served coffee and doughnuts before the trip began.

A short business discussion was held with Mrs. B.G. Cotten presiding.

WT caching staff scouring area for talented footballers

The visitor had picked the wrong time to watch West Texas State University's football team go through a workout session.

He wandered on to the Buffalo practice field at 4 p.m. on Friday, only to be met by one of the coaches walking swiftly by him in the other direction, tying his tie as he went.

Then he watched as another coach walked quickly past him leaving the field and only had time to wave. Finally, he caught one coach putting on his shoes as he left the Buffalo dressing room on the north end of the campus.

As the coach was hopping on one foot, trying to get his number 12 size foot into his shoe, the visitor asked where in the world he was going.

"Smyer," answered the coach. "Where," asked the visitor.

"Smyer," answered the coach as he slipped his pinched finger out of the back end of his shoe. Then, he was gone.

The visitor shook his head slowly and said, "I always knew coaches were nuts, anyway."

The new arrival had just witnessed part of the building of a football team at West Texas State by new coach Gene Mayfield. The coaches get their players out on the practice field as early as possible on Friday afternoons when the Buffs are slated to be at home on Saturday.

Mayfield and his staff feel the best place to look for football players is to start the search at home. Home grounds for the Buffaloes extends for several hundred miles in all directions from Canyon and the football coaches are going to watch every team in that area play before this season ends.

Despite getting a late recruiting start this past spring, the new Buffalo staff landed some hot prospects for next year's varsity. They hope for an even more impressive haul this winter.

Defensive secondary coach Leidon Hensley is directing the recruiting campaign. Thus far the Buffalo coaches have watched 65 high school teams and have attended one junior college clash.

"We have missed a few teams in the immediate Panhandle area, but we will pick those up shortly," said Hensley. "We will later study films of the players, but this work now will give us the opportunity to see the boy in action personally."

In some of these games we have seen, some teams have either won or lost by large margins. It is possible to judge how a player feels about winning when he is either way in front or way behind."

The Buffalo assistant said most of the visits at present consist only of watching the game and then talking to the coach afterward.

"Most of our contact work with the players will start as soon as the football season is over," said Hensley.

Although he wouldn't mention any players by name, Hensley did say there are a considerable number of running backs in the Panhandle-area this season who have considerable talent.

The one junior college game was between Mesa Arizona and New Mexico Military Institute, that being played in Roswell, N.M.

High school teams some of the Buffalo staff have seen are as follows: Amarillo High, Caprock, Palo Duro, Tascosa, Canyon, Pampa, Borger, Dumas, Plainview, Hereford, Lubbock High, Lubbock Coronado, Lubbock Monterey, Lubbock Dunbar, Friona, Dimmitt, McLean, Shamrock, Spearman, Jacksboro, Hamlin, Farwell, White Deer, Groom, Hobbs N.M., Seminoe, Levelland, Andrews, Lamesa, Littlefield, Lockney, Sudan, Happy, Springlake, Earth, Childress, Tulla, Clarendon, Perryton, Lawton, Okla., Panhandle, Wheeler, Canadian, Clovis, N.M., Vega, El Paso Burgess, Boys Ranch, Beaumont Hebert, Groves, Smett, Sunray, Phillips, Guymon, Okla., Sanford-Fritch, Texhoma, Okla., Liberal, Kans., Wichita Falls Rider, Anton, New Deal, Seagraves, Olton, Tahoka, Kress, Smyer, Dawson, and Nazareth.

"There are teams such as Dalhart, Stratford, Gruver, Wellington, Floydada, Silverton, and Bovina that we haven't seen, but we will watch those teams play within the next few weeks," said Hensley.

Varsity coaches who have seen games are Mayfield, Hensley, Dean Rudd, Jerry Behrens, Chop Van Pelt, Corky Dawson, and Jimmy Campbell. Freshman Coach Ronje Mankin has also seen some games, as have graduate assistants David Drummond and Dennis Whitley and graduate assistant Stan Hansen.

Prince Valiant
IN THE DAYS OF KING ARTHUR
L. FOSTER

Our Story: PRINCE VALIANT AND ARN RIDE OUT OF THE DESERT INTO THE SEAPORT OF GABES JUST AS A VESSEL BEARING THE CREST OF THE MISTY ISLES ENTERS THE HARBOR.

VAL IS FIRST TO LEAP ABOARD: "WHAT NEWS HAVE YOU OF QUEEN ALETA?" HE ASKS. "SHE IS SAFE AND WELL, BUT LONELY," SMILES THE CAPTAIN. "SHE SENT US TO FIND YOU."

VAL CALLS ARN TO HIS SIDE: "YOUR MOTHER IS SAFE IN THE MISTY ISLES. WE WILL GO TO HER AT ONCE." THERE IS NO EXPRESSION ON HIS FACE BUT HIS EYES ARE MOIST AS HE TURNS AND STRIDES INTO THE CABIN.

ALONG WITH MONTHS OF PERIL ACROSS WAR-TORN EUROPE, BURNING DESERTS AND RUGGED MOUNTAINS ALWAYS WAS THE TERRIBLE UNCERTAINTY: "DID ALETA SURVIVE THE LONG VOYAGE FROM BRITAIN?" NOTHING ELSE MATTERS NOW THAT SHE IS SAFE. HE BURIES HIS FACE IN HIS HANDS AND CRIES LIKE A CHILD.

WHENEVER AFFAIRS OF STATE PERMITTED, ALETA SPENT THE HOURS ON THE TERRACE GAZING OUT TO SEA. SHE WELCOMED THE PRESENCE AND SYMPATHY OF ORTHO, FOR IT WAS THIS STRONG, SILENT FRIEND WHO HAD SUGGESTED THE SEARCH FOR PRINCE VALIANT.

HE ALSO SENT TWO OF HIS OWN SHIPS, ONE TO PRECEDE THE QUEEN'S VESSEL, THE OTHER TO FOLLOW, AND HE GAVE THE CAPTAINS BUT ONE ORDER: "KILL PRINCE VALIANT!"

ORTHO HAS BECOME AN IMPORTANT MAN AND THE GRAND COUNCIL OFTEN SEEKS HIS ADVICE AND FINDS IT SO GOOD THAT TRADE HAS INCREASED. WHY IS HE SO HELPFUL? HE INTENDS TO BE KING!

© King Features Syndicate, Inc. 1971. World rights reserved.

IF ORTHO IS OF THE GREATEST IMPORTANCE, HAMUD IS THE LEAST. DRIVEN NEARLY INSANE WITH HATRED HE SPIES ON ORTHO DAY AND NIGHT. HE IS THE ONLY ONE IN THE MISTY ISLES WHO KNOWS HIS ENEMY'S TREACHERY. BUT WHO WILL BELIEVE A FILTHY BEGGAR?

hints from Heloise

DEAR HELOISE:
We are apartment dwellers and love every minute of it, but it did take a little getting used to. For instance, I have always loved flowers, but with a small fenced (six-foot-high redwood) patio, there certainly wasn't any room for potted plants, much less a flower garden.

My husband realized how much I would miss growing flowers and came up with a darling idea (I think). He took a plain ordinary chain and ran it across the length of the patio securing it to both sides of the wooden fence (clothesline style). Then we bought eight small colorful plastic buckets with handles and filled with potting soil. Put a hole in the bottom of each before adding soil for drainage, and planted each, with double petunias.

With the use of "S"-hooks - the buckets hang on the chain all along the back side of the patio and are so very gay and colorful. They are in full bloom now and I'm proud as a peacock!

Another advantage of the chain is that in addition to conserving space on the patio (and believe you me we need it!) the flowers are now able to get enough sunlight that is needed for strong, healthy plants.

Mrs. E. B.

A CASE FOR DOGS

DEAR HELOISE:
I took an old suitcase, removed the lid and did away with the catches. Then took an old but colorful tablecloth, hemmed it all around and inserted elastic, drawing it up just enough so that I could slip it over the bottom part of the valise.

Guess what? I've got the cutest and most practical doggy bed I could want! Fido has his own blanket inside and finds it most comfortable.

A Fan

WHO LIKES ONIONS?

DEAR HELOISE:
Whenever I boiled onions, they always went to pieces in the pot. So I finally solved my "ugly onion" problem by placing a small skewer pin through each onion, sideways.

When they are done, they are still in one piece and so am I!

Mrs. G. Nelson

A SUITE IDEA

DEAR HELOISE:
With the mad dash to purchase king-sized and dual beds nowadays, the ordinary double bed is outmoded. What to do with the headboard that matches your suite?

I have a beautiful rock maple suite that I bought in New England years ago. My headboard was a "ginger-bready" bookcase one, and I didn't want to discard it.

I hung the headboard on the wall over my stereo, which also happened to be maple. I filled in the slots (where the sideboards had fit) with maple wax purchased at the dime store. You can't even see the slots.

This gave me some beautiful shelves for my antique glassware, and I can still keep my suite intact.

Billie Padgett

LETTER OF LAUGHTER

DEAR HELOISE:
A friend of mine was teaching me, step by step, how to cook her wonderful spaghetti sauce.

We had been cooking and adding ingredients all day. The last ingredient was contained in a large bowl which slipped out of her hands and into the bubbling pot.

Miraculously we were not splashed, but the ceiling, walls, stove, floor - you name it - were dripping and running with sauce.

My friend turned to me with a sober face, and in the voice she had used with other instructions said, "If you haven't a bowl that fits the pot, borrow one."

Mrs. G. Thies

CROCHET TRICK

DEAR HELOISE:
Here is a trick for all those gals who crochet plastic bread wrappers into rugs.

When you cut the bags into strips, put them in another plastic bag with just a little cornstarch in with them and rub them together. This makes the plastic nice and smooth, and they crochet so much faster.

Mrs. Lambert

A SLEEVE JOB

DEAR HELOISE:
Here's how I fix all those long-sleeved T-shirts - that are too short in the sleeve and getting a little raggy on the cuffs...

I cut the sleeves off to the desired length plus a half inch. Cut iron-on mending tape into half-inch strips and iron to the inside raw edge of the sleeve. Turn once and stitch.

If a long enough strip of tape is not available, join several small pieces by ironing ends together.

Makes a real nice edge on the sleeve.

Thelma Thaagaard

SING YOUR ABC'S

DEAR HELOISE:
I have always had the habit of singing while doing my housework. When my oldest child started repeating what I sang, I switched to alphabet and counting songs.

Now, even the 2-year-old, is saying parts of the alphabet and learning to count.

Mrs. Sherry A.

BRACE YOURSELF

DEAR HELOISE:
I was blocking the door way (and getting bumped by everyone in passing) while doing my ironing yesterday.

So I pushed my board over near the kitchen wall. I simply leaned my back against the wall and finished my basket of ironing faster than ever before. The greatest thing was that I was not tired a bit.

From now on I will have my ironing board over near the wall where I can rest and iron at the same time.

Betty Olson

HOT, JUICY PIE

DEAR HELOISE:
To prevent my double-crust pies from bubbling over, I have discovered a simple solution.

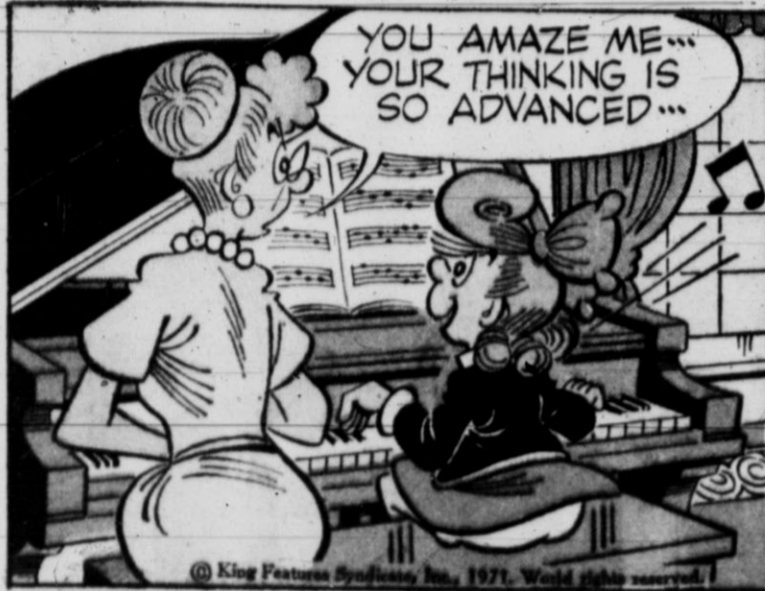

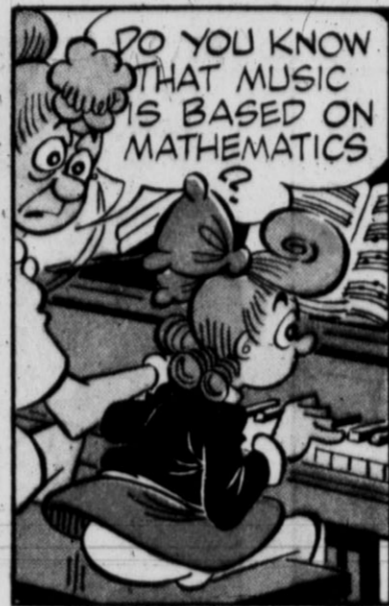

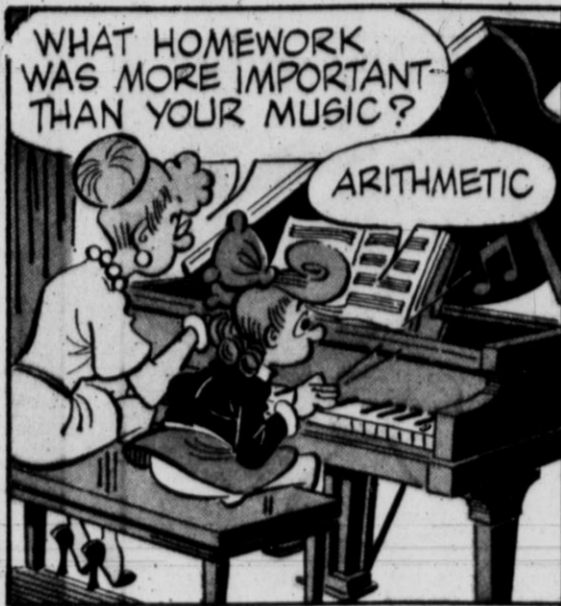

I cut drinking straws into short lengths and insert them in the slits in my top crust.

This allows the steam to escape from the inside and there's no messy "goo" in my oven.

Must Be Eighteen

THIS wits tester requires you to insert the numbers 1 through 11 (6 is already in place) in the blanks above so that a kind of magic circle results — one in which any three numbers in a straight line through center will total 18.

One way to solve this is to use numbered disks cut from cardboard.

BULLETIN BOARD

- CALENDAR QUIZ: There's a — apple, a — bug, an — person, an — brown ale. Fill blanks with months. (May, June, August, October, respectively.)
- Evaluate a tossed green salad of 10 Washingtons, 10 Lincolns, 2 Hamiltons, 1 Jackson. (All are U.S. bills.) It comes to one hundred dollars.
- Test your voice range: Try to sing out your very lowest and very highest notes. Use the scale, if you like, singing downward from "do," etc., and then upward, as far as you can go.

Hey kids! If you have a Bulletin Board item, send it to Junior Whirl, c/o this paper. It may appear here.

WHALE OF A CATCH! To complete the action-packed fishing drama above, draw a pencil line from dot 1 to dot 2, 3, 4, etc.

TALLYHO! To bring forth a surprise picture above, simply apply these colors: 1—Red. 2—Lt. blue. 3—Yellow. 4—Lt. brown. 5—Flesh. 6—Lt. gray. 7—Purple. 8—Black. 9—Green. Foxy?
