

Coleman Concerned Over Alleged Abuses

Commissioners To Study Food Stamp Program

Concerned and alarmed by an increasing number of complaints about "abuses" of the Food Stamp Program, Deaf Smith County Commissioner Bruce Coleman has called for a discussion on the matter when the Commissioners Court holds a regular meeting Monday.

Coleman has invited the area food stamp supervisor from Amarillo to attend the meeting and outline the administration of the program to commissioners. The topic is scheduled on the court's agenda for 2 p.m.

AT COLEMAN'S REQUEST, the Amarillo supervisor—Mary Ann Cathey—met with the commissioner and representatives of The Brand and KPAN Radio here earlier this week to learn more about the program. Too many citizens, it was agreed, know little of the program and hear only the allegations of mis-use of the food stamps.

Ms. Cathey realizes that "there will be abuses of all government programs, but we try to keep them at a bare minimum." Adding that "it is a very good program," she stated that "we should balance off the complaints with all the good the program has accomplished."

She pointed out that a "fraud investigation division" has recently been organized to check out alleged violations. "If there are abuses here, I want to know about them. People can contact the Hereford Food Stamp office to get in touch with me."

The supervisor said the office had received some anonymous calls which complained of abuses, but pointed out that "we must have specific information." She said the office also received

"input" from social agencies and minority organizations on administration of the program. "We administer the program as prescribed by law," she stated.

ASKED ABOUT DOLLAR figures on the local program, Ms. Cathey reported that $74,022 worth of coupons were cashed here in August and that the program had 461 participating households at that time. Records indicated that participants of the food stamp program paid $23,366 for the $74,000 worth of coupons. The statewide average on bonus coupons is 68 per cent.

What are food stamps? A booklet published by the State Department of Public Welfare states:

"Food stamps are not only for families on welfare. It depends on your income and the number of people you're feeding. Food stamps usually have to be paid for, but the amount you get is worth more than what you pay.

"For example, a family of four with a NET income of $100 a month might get $150 in food stamps for $25. But the rate changes every six months to allow for food price increases. The stamps are for people who can't work and for people who can. If you can work and you are 18 to 65-years-old, you must register for work. And you must accept a job offer you are capable of handling. You don't have to register to work if you are physically or mentally unable to work, or if you are caring for children at home who are under 18 years old.

"Net income is what you have left after income tax, social security tax, union dues and other automatic deductions from your paycheck. It is also what is left after you deduct from your income such expenses as medical and child care costs. Rent or house payments that are more than 30 per cent of your net income can be deducted, as can utility bills, including an allowance for one telephone.

"THE TOTAL INCOME of a household is the combined salaries of all its working members and any other money coming in." Furthermore, the maximum financial worth of families or groups applying for food stamps can't be more than $1,500 unless one member is 60-years-old or over, in which case maximum financial worth is $3,000 for the entire household. If you are 60 and live alone, you are limited to the $1,500 figure. To figure financial worth, you don't have to count your home and lot, one licensed car, personal belongings like clothing and jewelry, or household goods like furniture and a TV.

"Food stamps are just like money, except that you can only buy food with them—no tobacco, alcohol or things you can't eat."

The booklet points out that persons interested in the program can contact the welfare or food stamp office in their area to get an application form and set up an interview. Those found to be eligible are issued a Food Stamp Identification card. Each month the participant receives an ATP (Authorization to Purchase) card that tells how much they have to pay and how many food stamps they can get. The coupons can then be purchased, or picked up, at the post office.

Area Talent To Perform 'The Messiah'

PROBABLY THE world's best-known work of religious music, Handel's oratorio The Messiah will be heard at 7 p.m. today in Hereford High School auditorium. It is a favorite performance in churches and public auditoriums all over America and in many other nations this Christmastime.

Its performance has become a tradition in cities around the world, as the music which was acclaimed when it was first sung in 1742 has become increasingly beloved. It is sung by community choirs like the one to present it this evening, by church and school choruses and professional choirs.

ASSOCIATED with Christmas, the sections of the oratorio which relate the prophecies of Christ's birth and the Nativity story will make up the program here, about an hour and a half long.

Included are such familiar songs as Comfort Ye My People, For Unto Us A Child Is Born, He Shall Feed His Flock, and to close the evening, the rousing Hallelujah Chorus.

Robert McFarland is directing the chorus of about a hundred members and a full orchestra which has several members of the Amarillo Symphony, residents of Hereford, Canyon and Amarillo, playing with high school orchestra members and instructors.

Soloists are Mrs. Bob Huckert, Mrs. Wesley Gulley; Dan Steele, a music student at West Texas State University, and Bob Davis of Amarillo.

Mrs. Gulley, who has directed school and church choirs here and is frequently heard as a soloist, will sing the soprano arias, "There Were Shepherds, And Lo! The Angel, The Angel Said Unto Them, and Rejoice Greatly.

ALTO SOLOS to be presented by Mrs. Huckert are A Virgin Shall Conceive, O Thou That Tellest Good Tidings, Then Shall The Eyes Of The Blind and He Shall Feed His Flock.

Steele's baritone solos are Thus Saith The Lord, Who May Abide?, For Behold Darkness, I Tell You A Mystery and The Trumpet Shall Sound.

Opening arias are by Davis, a tenor. They are Comfort Ye and Ew'ry Valley, which are followed by the first choral selection, And The Glory Of The Lord.

It has been several years since there was a complete presentation of The Messiah in Hereford, although selections from the oratorio are a part of the Christmas music in most churches.

Christmas Light Tour Set

DEFINITE arrangements for a bus tour of Hereford to view Christmas lights and outdoor decorations, have been released by Mrs. O.G. Nieman, president of the Women's Division, Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce.

The Women's Division is sponsoring the tour in connection with its holiday lighting contest.

It will be held the evening of Thursday, Dec. 19, beginning at Kings Manor retirement home at 7 p.m. It is planned especially for the benefit of older residents including those living at the Manor, but is open to all who wish to join the tour, at no cost.

MRS. JACK McKinstler has been named chairman of arrangements. A school bus will make the tour, courtesy of Hereford Public School officials.

Stops will be made in various parts of the city to pick up passengers; these places are to be announced soon. Churches will be asked to be responsible for getting their elderly members to the bus pick-up points.

The tour is planned to last about two hours, including a stop for coffee and a program of carol singing by children of the community. The bus will be driven over residential areas of the city, past homes which are winners in the lighting contest and other striking decorative displays of the season.

FURTHER DETAILS are being worked out by representatives of the Women's Division.

Entries are being received now by the Women's Division beautification committee for judging in the Christmas lighting contest. Mrs. W.C. Russell is chairman of the committee.

Entry deadline is Dec. 16. Cash awards will be made for the top three places in decoration of an entire home, best decorated window and doorway. In addition, groups of homes entered as blocks will be judged and a citation presented the winner.

Meat Store Expected to Open Dec. 18

Pitman Outlet to Lower Meat Prices

By DAN WELTY
Brand Staff Writer

The construction of a beef retail outlet in Amarillo by the Pitman Industries of Hereford will complete a new concept in the cattle industry — one company handling all phases of beef production from the pasture to the consumer.

Directors and officers of the Hereford cattle and grain company made the announcement at a news conference Thursday at the Texas Cattle Feeders Association office in Amarillo. The outlet will feature beef that has been exclusively fed and processed by Pitman and will be brand named "Pitman Beef."

THE OPENING December 18th of the facility will be the final step of implementing the concept according to John Pitman, company president. Cattle have already been taken from Pitman feeding facilities and slaughtered to begin the aging process that will be a trademark of meat sold through the outlet.

The concept, an innovation for the cattle industry, will assure beef buyers of high quality meat at prices noticeably below the prevailing cost of beef in Amarillo, John Pitman said. The arrangement will be advantageous to the company by providing a convenient, steady market for cattle from Pitman feedyards, he added.

The outlet, which will operate under the Pitman Beef name, will be located at 4312 West 45th in the 45th and Western shopping area. Pitts Harrison, vice president of Pitman Industries will supervise the management of the outlet.

Harrison said at the news conference that Pitman will be able to guarantee the quality of all the beef it sells because the company will control the cattle from backgrounding in the pasture and feeding at the firm's feed yards through custom slaughtering and dressing locally. The process ensures that the meat conforms to Pitman's specific standards for taste and tenderness, he said, and keeps prices to the lowest levels possible.

Pitman said part of the planning that went into the new facility was a survey of housewives to find out what they wanted in the way of services and meats. Six or seven housewives were polled to determine the average family's needs. It was indicated that surveys of this type will continue in order for the retail outlet to furnish products the consumer is best able to use.

Other features of the Amarillo facility will be a beef information booth, convenience items and eight different packs of frozen beef. The beef information booth will be for the housewife with questions about cuts of meats and to furnish cooking hints. In addition, the store will carry several non-meat items for the convenience of the housewife.

The outlet will also have facilities to permit customers to sample variety beef items and to learn how they can be used in menu planning, they said.

Pitman Beef will operate from 10 a.m. until 7 p.m. Monday through Saturday. Formal opening ceremonies will be held in January.

Harrison indicated that the new beef outlet will especially cater to families that buy beef in quantity. Pitman Beef will offer eight different beef packs, matched to family size. Pack purchasers will be able to obtain a selection of meat cuts at significant savings from the average supermarket price, he suggested.

The quality of the meat in the frozen quantity packs will be the highest, Pitman said, just as the cuts that will be available singly to the consumer.

Questioned by newsmen, Pitman said that the company foresees savings for the consumer by elimination of the middleman. "What we will try to do is make the transition from feedlot to consumer as efficient as possible. We will use our own cattle right through to the consumer."

Asked how much savings the consumer could expect, Pitman said it was too early to tell. "As far as we know there is no one else doing this. We'll just try to see. We've never done this before, but we'll try to make the efficiency count for us so we can get the beef to the consumer cheaply."

Pitman said his company, which has operated in Hereford since 1930, is particularly pleased to be launching the plan in Amarillo.

"Hereford looks to Amarillo for a lot of things," the company president said, "so we enjoy the opportunity to do something in return for our neighbors. This chance for Hereford and Amarillo to join hands across the plains will be good for both cities, we believe."

Pitman's remarks were seconded by Bill Albright of the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce, who also attended the news conference.

Miss Lillie Celebrates A Century of Active Life

By FAY GAUGGEL
Kings Manor Reporter

A Westgate resident will be 100 years old on December 14. She is the second person of the King's Manor Complex to reach this age (a Mrs. Byrd being the first one).

This time our resident is Miss Lillie Hostetler who was born December 14, 1874 near Tusco, Ill. on a farm. More than once I have heard her tell, with beautiful nostalgia, of how her parents were so in love that they made a "Heaven on earth" home for her and her two brothers.

SHE FINISHED high school and then attended Eureka College, -Eureka, Ill. majoring in English. Her next step was to work as librarian in schools. Years later she came to be librarian in Texas towns Borger, Amarillo and Hereford.

During these days she helped organize chapters of the Great Books Foundation which is a national group of real scholars who are interested in delving into an eight year course of Great Books chosen by the English instructors of our most prestigious Universities.

Miss Lillie is now totally blind and quite deaf, though she never complains. She says she isn't sick and this is true. But she is tired and too sensible to try to walk or move about much.

An amusing little incident occurred some few years ago when she went to her doctor for a check-up.

"Now, Miss Lillie", said he, "What medication are you using now?"

"WELL, DOCTOR, about every week or ten days, I take a little bile tablet." When he seemed surprised she grew apprehensive saying, "Oh doctor, have I been doing wrong?"

"No, Miss Little, I'm simply amazed and amused to know that's the extent of your dosing yourself. I only wish I could have no more to do than that!"

Miss Lillie caught the humor of it and they laughed together.

One actually has to know Miss Lillie to appreciate her. Without a doubt she has the best enunciation, pronunciation, diction and sentence structure we've ever heard, all without seeming pedantic or unnatural in the least.

SHE NEVER LOSES her simple dignity or queenly deportment. Yet she is as warm and approachable as a child. She is the quintessence of a lady and when we're in her presence we feel as though we should curtsy and address her as "Your Ladyship."

Miss Lillie's philosophy of teaching is that some passages of literature should be memorized (Oh shades of ye old fashioned teachers!) She says it should be done in view of the fact that some may be in the future, as she is now.

Miss Lillie can truthfully say, "My mind to me a kingdom is." Silence and darkness cannot fetter her. From memory she can hear "The murmuring pines and the hemlocks", or she can see the gossamer mist of an Indian summer.

Congratulations, Miss Lillie, as you make it in age to the three-digit number. Blessings on you, Your Ladyship!

Miss Lillie Hostetler

Crop Committee To Sponsor Clinic

A CROPS Clinic will be sponsored by the Deaf Smith County Crops Committee from 1:15 p.m. to 4:30 p.m. Thursday, Dec. 12, at the Hereford Community Center.

Sheriff Warns Shoppers To Beware During Holiday

SHOPPERS, BEWARE this holiday season. According to law enforcement officers, it's prime time for burglars, thieves, pick pockets and confidence artists.

Travis McPherson Sheriff Deaf Smith County Sheriff Department explained that not only are people careless about locking up valuables, but are also susceptible to criminal activity during this festive season.

"We're asking people to take some basic precautions to prevent burglary and theft while they're out shopping. We're also warning them to be aware of what they're out shopping. We're also warning them to be aware of what they're buying to guard against fraud and to avoid receiving stolen property."

"THE FIRST rule is Lock Up. When you leave home, don't leave the opportunity for someone to gain easy access to your house and walk off with your property," McPherson said.

He explained that burglary is a crime of opportunity. Eliminating that opportunity is what Crime Prevention is all about.

Lock up are the key words when shopping too. McPherson emphasized the importance of locking packages or any valuables in the trunk of the car to keep "temptation out of sight."

"IT'S important, too, that you lock the car for your personal protection," he said. "Also, separate your home keys from your ignition key when leaving your car in a parking lot or garage."

"We discourage leaving home with only Christmas tree lights lit since it calls attention to the presents arranged around the tree. That's like a neon advertisement that there are new items to be had, and that no one's around to see them taken."

McPherson said that the Crime Prevention Unit of Deaf Smith County Sheriff Department has more information on personal and property security precautions. He suggested that individuals call for printed materials on the subject.

"There's more to reducing crime than the work of the law enforcement agencies. It takes action on the part of the individual to prevent crime by eliminating the opportunity for it to take place.

We want everyone to have a happy holiday season; so protect your valuables by locking up. When you leave your home, leave it with a "somebody's there" appearance. "At this time of year, be particularly wary of the door-to-door salesman and of "fly by night" street sales," he concluded.

Pitman Industries was welcomed into the Amarillo business community at the news conference by officials of the Board of City Development and the Amarillo Chamber of Commerce. The outlet is expected to employ between 10 and 15

Glenn Deen, president of the Texas Cattle Feeders Association and TCFA executive vice president Charlie Ball, said the Pitman concept is an example of innovative thinking by association members to solve some of the economic uncertainties facing the cattle industry.

Police Beat

Alleged Exhibitionist Sought by Policemen

Hereford police are on the trail of a man described as being about 30 years old with an Afro-hair style who was seen exposing himself in front of two girls Tuesday afternoon.

According to the police report, the man pulled up to an address on Mimosa Street in a dirty white car. He leaped from the car wearing a green T-shirt, underwear, and waffle-stomper shoes. The police report says that the man growled at two girls in a front yard and then pulled down the underwear. He returned to his car and fled.

THE REPORT SAID the man has been seen repeatedly in the northwest section of the city.

Four high school girls told police the man would sometimes stand near their driveways when they returned late at night, but would leave when the girls kept circling the block. The case is pending.

The Kenny Gears Machine Shop on East Highway 60 was burglarized of about $190 worth of car parts, tires, and tools. The burglary was reported Thursday morning and police believe the crime was the work of a small person. Entry was apparently gained through a barred window. The steel bars are spaced about nine inches apart.

A 25-year-old woman was arrested for shoplifting Friday and later released on $500 bond.

Isabel Perez Puentes was observed by the manager of Duckwall's in Sugarland Mall taking small items from the shelves of that store and placing them in her pants. She allegedly walked from the store without paying for the items and was chased down by the manager. Police estimated the total value of the items was about $15.

Police arrested three persons on charges of DWI in the past week, with one arrest resulting from a one car accident. A pickup was involved in a collision at Avenue A and Grand Street early Saturday morning, and officers charged the driver with DWI.

The only other accident police worked also was a one-vehicle crash. Police accident reports say the car was doing figure-eights at a high rate of speed on the parking lot of Northwest Elementary school when it slid out of control and knocked over a sign. Damage to the sign was estimated at $30.

VOLUNTEER FIREMEN were called out six times between Monday and Saturday morning. The week began at 6:02 a.m. Monday when firemen were called to fight a barn ablaze at 502 Austin Road. The alarm had been too late, however, and firemen only kept the flames from spreading. Firemen were called back to that scene later that morning when the flames threatened to erupt again.

Wednesday provided two alarms when fire fighters were called to the cotton gin south of town. A pile of cotton burs were quickly extinguished. Later that afternoon, a small fire of cotton burs was put out at the Big Tex Feed Yards.

An open flame heater was blamed for a house fire at 206 Avenue I Saturday morning. Four units of the volunteer fire department answered that call, and were forced to tear open a wall of the house that had fire underneath. Flames never developed but smoke filled the house.

School Board To Meet Tuesday Night

A PRESENTATION by Kids, Inc., consideration of the Bilingual Education Program, a seminar on sources of federal funding for education and a report on the naming of the elementary school head the agenda for the Board of Education's regular December meeting, at 4 p.m. Tuesday in the Administration Building.

Also on the agenda are reports on the enrollment, cafeteria, tax office, transportation, football receipts for 1974, December holidays and juvenile officer update on the 1974-75 school year.

School policies to be considered deal with protection of the rights and privacy of parents and students, personnel policies for measuring faculty and staff relationships and other personnel policies.

LARRY Dippel athletic director, will present discussion concerning the Athletic Program.

Messiah--

Almost everyone is acquainted with some of the songs, and from numerous magazine and newspaper stories, with the history of The Messiah.

It is generally known that German-born George Frederick Handel, living in England where his music had been very successful, saw a period of failure, poor health and financial reverses before he composed the oratorio that was popular from its first performance and marked a turn for the better in his fortunes.

There is no admission charge for the presentation here and the public is invited. Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce is helping to promote the community musical effort.

The decoration committee of the Chamber Women's Division, headed by Mrs. Calvin Goodin, is in charge of decorations for the auditorium stage.

Commissioners Plan Hearing on Petition

A public hearing on a petition to close a county road is the first item on the agenda when Deaf Smith County Commissioners hold a regular meeting Monday starting at 10 a.m.

Other items on the agenda include discussion of the local food stamp program, discussion on allocation of revenue sharing funds, and possible approval of a museum director. The commissioners are also expected to take formal action on increasing salaries for all county officers and employees.

Criminal District Attorney Andy Shuval is scheduled to speak to the court about submitting a bill to the legislature which would provide for the state to pay all of his salary.

Special Fund Established For Local Cancer Victim

A special fund has been established at the Hereford State Bank for Mrs. Luther (Minnie) White, 63, of 110 Bradley, who underwent surgery Tuesday at St. Anthony's Hospital in Amarillo for a malignant brain tumor.

Mrs. White, a resident of Hereford for about 32 years, was in the Deaf Smith County General Hospital before she was transferred to the Amarillo hospital for the operation, according to Mrs. Albert Edwards, Mrs. White's niece. She was taken there Nov. 27, after which it was immediately determined that an operation was necessary.

MRS. WHITE'S condition is considered weak. Without the operation, she couldn't have survived long, Mrs. Edwards explained.

Any and all donations will be most appreciatively accepted since the cost of the operation and associated medical services is expected to run quite high, Mrs. Edwards said. The White's had only a small amount of medical insurance, which won't cover the cost.

ALL DONATIONS may be deposited in the account of Luther White at the bank. This was arranged for the convenience of the White family so checks could be written when funds are needed. The fund was set up Mrs. Edwards Friday and contributions will be accepted during normal banking hours.

"All deposits will contain the name of the donor and we would be very grateful for any amounts," Mrs. Edwards said.

The family's only income comes from a small saw sharpening service run by White as well as from a job he has with Brownlow Brothers.

A United Way Agency

CRC Offers Professional Services To Handicapped

THE CHILDREN'S Rehabilitation Center Inc., one of the 11 agencies benefited by the Deaf Smith County United Way, serves the Texas Panhandle and parts of Oklahoma and New Mexico through a professional staff dedicated to offering rehabilitation services to all physically handicapped children.

Headquartered in Amarillo, the center receives funds from United Way campaigns in communities it serves. The greatest portion of the center's budget comes from the Amarillo campaign, although many services would probably have to be cut back if the serviced communities did not participate.

The Hereford area contains about 12 persons receiving center treatment. Of these nine live here.

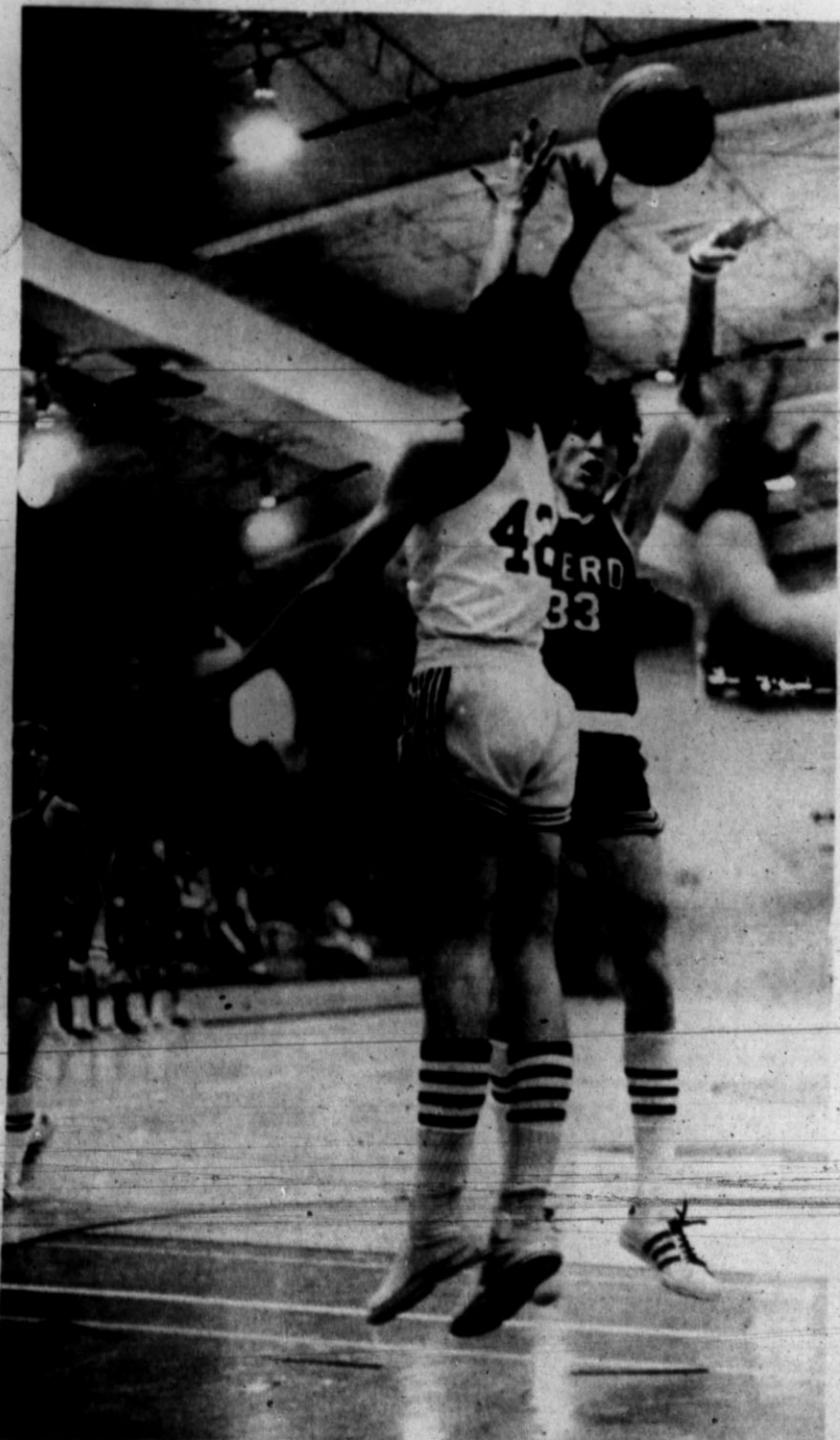

THE CENTER turns away no one even if the patient can't afford its services. The staff of the center is composed primarily of professionals who volunteer their services.

Included on the staff are nine orthopedic surgeons, one neurologist, four neurosurgeons, seven pediatricians and one urologist. According to Richard G. Balke, executive director of the CRC, no other community is known that offers such an in-depth cross section of the medical profession in one program.

THE CLINICAL staff of the center includes physical, occupational and speech therapists as well. They are responsible for carrying out the prescription of the medical staff and teaching the child to live with his or her disability.

Besides the United Way funds, the center receives income from insurance policies, the State Crippled Children Program, the Building Fund Reserve and parent fees.

Hull For Two

Sharp shooting Mike Hull (33) goes to the air for two points against the Canyon Eagles in a contest the Herd won 68-67 in overtime. Hull, the Herd's postman, scored 22 points. John Johnson (42) tries to block Hull's shot as Herd guard Mike Munerlyn (43) watches from behind. (For details see sports page story.)

Library Joins Area System

Deaf Smith County Library is one of 16 libraries to qualify for membership in the Texas Panhandle Library System (TPLS) organized under provisions of the Texas Library Systems Act.

The Major Resource Center for TPLS, which serves a 25 county area, is the Amarillo Public Library. This system will receive a $135,000 grant which includes $2,378.75 in State funds. This sum was appropriated by the legislature in 1973 and is allocated on a per capita basis. Also included is $132,721.25 in federal Library Services and Construction Act funds being used to demonstrate how systems can improve library service in Texas. "Some 83 per cent of all Texans are served by 232 libraries that are members of the ten library systems," said Dr. Dorman H. Windrey, director of the Texas State Library, the agency that administers the Systems Act.

Like the people of Texas, library resources are unevenly distributed. In fact, 40 per cent of all Texans are served by the ten largest libraries. Grants made to the systems assist in giving all Texans access to materials and staff expertise that would otherwise be available only to users of the large libraries.

The area library is Lovett Memorial Library at Pampa. Community libraries are Hutchinson County Library at

Lions Plan Yule Party

"Julie," a movie about a Multiple Sclerosis victim, was shown to the Hereford Lions Club as the program for a regular weekly luncheon meeting Wednesday at Civic Club Center.

Linda Broadfoot, secretary of the Panhandle area of the MS Society, came from Amarillo to present the program. She was introduced by Ed Wilson, program chairman for December.

The club recognized the "students of the six weeks" from Stanton Junior High School, with club president Wayne Lady presenting pens to Nickie Stipe and Dwayne Kimbell. Students are selected on the basis of grades, citizenship and participation in school activities.

The weekly Leo Club report from high school was presented by Cindy Ruther, president of the organization. Bob McFarland, Methodist music director, made an announcement concerning the presentation of "The Messiah", which will be presented by a community choir Sunday night at the high school auditorium.

Lady also announced that contributions are still being accepted for the area campaign to purchase coats and shoes for Girlstown, U.S.A.

The club will not meet on Wednesday next week, but will hold its annual Christmas party Thursday night at the Bull Barn. Ladies are invited and the club will host girls from the Girlstown campuses at Whiteface and Borger.

Students of Six Weeks

Students of the Six Weeks from Stanton Junior High School were presented pens by President Wayne Lady during the weekly luncheon meeting of the Hereford Lions Club Wednesday at Civic Club Center. Receiving the awards were Nickie Stipe and Dwayne Kimbell. Students are selected on the basis of grades, citizenship and participation in school activities.

On Wall Street

Government Begins Pilot Project for S S Checks

Well, it has finally arrived. That point in our society for which the bankers have yearned for many years is now at hand.

Starting this month the government begins a pilot project for handling Social Security retirement checks in Georgia to 700,000 old-age pensioners, by asking them to permit the government to send their checks directly to their banks instead of mailing them to the recipient. More than 1,500 of the Georgia pensioners have said "yes" to the direct deposit program.

The Treasury Dept. mails out millions of checks regularly and is almost choking on the huge volume of paperwork. Making payments through the banking system eliminates a tremendous work load, both for the Treasury Dept. and the U.S. Postal System. By 1979 the Treasury plans to have over 16-million regular federal payments transferred directly to the recipient's bank account.

To do this, the deposit instructions would not be sent by mail, but by computerized tape over the direct wires of the Federal Reserve which cover all parts of the country.

Banks are so enthusiastic over the potential that the Treasury has had to warn certain ones not to jump the gun and talk old-age pensioners into the new procedure before the Treasury forms and promotional materials are ready. The Air Force is asking its personnel to agree to direct deposits of payroll checks under a separate program while the state of Pennsylvania is getting a similar program under way by having banks disburse state welfare checks instead of the state mailing them out as in the past.

One Amarillo business has been depositing payroll checks for employees in a local bank, handing the employee a deposit slip instead of a check.

Acceptance of the direct deposit program will be slow at first. There's just something nice about being able to hold that check in your hand before cashing it or depositing it.

Dimmitt Youth Passes Course

Army Private Martin E. McIntosh, son of Mrs. Mae McIntosh, 507 S.W. Second, Dimmitt, completed a seven-week basic field artillery course at The Army Field Artillery Training Center, Ft. Sill, Okla.

He learned the duties of a howitzer or gun section crewman. He also received instruction in handling ammunition, setting fuses and preparing charges, communications and maintenance.

NLSI Dividends To Be Paid Soon

The Veterans Administration on January 1 begins paying for the first time dividends to about 600,000 Korean Conflict veterans who carry "RS" and "W" prefixed National Service Life Insurance (NSLI) policies.

Jack Coker, VA Regional Office Director, noted the dividends will be paid on anniversary dates of policies but pointed out they will be small in comparison to those normally paid on other policies carried by veterans of WWI and II. The dividends were authorized last May under PL 93-289.

Dividends also may be used to pay insurance premiums in advance, buy additional paid-up insurance, or to reduce debt on policy loans. Dividends left on credit are used to automatically pay premiums should the policyholder fail to do so.

VA mailed dividend option selection forms in October which allow acceptance of dividends in cash, or leaving them with the agency as a dividend credit or dividend deposit, both at interest.

Coker explained that the amount of dividend a veteran receives depends on the face value of the policy, his age at time policy was issued and the number of months in force during 1975 dividend year.

Veterans with "RS" and "W" policies were urged to complete dividend option selection forms and mail them or inquiries to the VA insurance center which maintains the veteran's insurance records. Centers are located in St. Paul, Minnesota, and Philadelphia, Coker added.

TSTA To Hold Yule Banquet Monday Night

Texas State Teachers Association (TSTA) members will gather tomorrow at 7 p.m. in the high school cafeteria for the annual Christmas banquet.

Tickets for the occasion can be purchased from faculty representatives. TSTA members are urged to invite Future Teachers of America (FTA) as special guests.

Hereford High School Orchestra will provide dinner music.

College-Bound Veterans Need Apply For GI Bill

Certify early to get the best service on GI Bill checks is the advice offered to the veterans not now enrolled in college but who intend to attend during the 1975 spring term by Jack Coker, Veterans Administration Regional Office Director.

Coker said the Veterans Administration can have the veteran's first GI Bill check waiting for him at his school at the start of the spring term if he completes his certification early.

Veterans can contact the campus VA "Vet Rep" or the VA Regional Office in Waco. Most of the veterans who attended college during the 1974 fall term are already certified to receive their benefits as they continue into the spring term.

VA's main concern is the veteran starting college under the GI Bill for the first time this spring or those who attended previously and are starting again in January. They must be certified for school benefits if they want an advance GI Bill check when school starts next semester.

Social Security Queries Answered

By Travis C. Briggs (Have you a question about social security? Address it to Travis C. Briggs, District Manager, Social Security Administration, 317 East Third Street, Amarillo, Texas 79101. You will receive an answer in this column or by mail.)

Q. I am 52 years old and partially disabled. I applied for social security but my claim was denied because my disability was not severe enough. I am working, but my job does not pay much. Can I apply for Supplemental Security Income as a disabled person and receive a partial disability payment?

A. The disability requirements for Supplemental Security Income are the same as for social security. Therefore, you would not be entitled to SSI payments unless your condition has become more severe. To be entitled to Supplemental Security Income payments or social security payments as a disabled person, your physical or mental condition must be so severe that it prevents you from doing any substantial gainful work and must be expected to last for a period of 12 months or longer or be expected to result in death. There are no social security or Supplemental Security Income payments made on the basis of partial disability.

Q. My 18 year old son receives social security payments as a student. He will attend the same college next fall. Will his checks stop during the summer months?

A. No. His checks will not stop. He will continue to receive these checks during the summer months since he intends to return to full-time attendance after his vacation ends.

Is Your Bank Safety-Deposit Box Insured?

By Bernard E. Nash

Although it was a fairly common practice not so very long ago, I doubt if many older people today keep their valuables or cash hidden in cookie jars and under mattresses in their homes.

Most probably use modern, bank safe-deposit boxes. But their valuables may not be as safe as they think.

When a bank is robbed, the losses suffered by people with checking or savings accounts are covered by the bank's own insurance. But if safe-deposit boxes are broken into and robbed, the people renting them are sometimes unpleasantly surprised to learn that the bank's insurance doesn't always cover the full value of the contents—if it covers them at all. All too frequently, the safe-deposit box rental contract will contain a section limiting the bank's responsibility to the "exercising of ordinary care" and releasing it from all liability for the "loss or destruction of any property, including money, placed in said safe." Thus, the bank is off the hook, and the customer is up the creek.

I don't want to alarm anyone unnecessarily, but this is a matter which you—if you or someone close to you has a bank strongbox—should look into now while there's still time to prevent problems.

Safe-deposit box robberies are rare compared to bank holdups, but they do happen. For instance, in Laguna Niguel, Calif., robbers broke into 450 safe-deposit boxes—many of them rented by retirees—and stole some $5-million worth of valuables.

"I'm 72 now and just recovering from my second heart attack," one of the victims told reporters. "I'll probably be dead by the time they get this thing settled."

That was in March 1972, and present indications are that the claims cases probably won't come to trial for at least another year.

What can you do to guard against such losses?

If you use a safe-deposit box you should find out exactly how fully the box's contents are covered by the bank's insurance.

Read the contract or form you signed when renting the box. If you don't have a copy, ask the bank for one—and don't be shy about telling them why you want to read it. This form should spell out what protection you have, and—even more important—which of your valuables are excluded from coverage.

If you're not a whiz at deciphering the legalistic fine print of such documents, a good next step would be to have a talk with one of your bank's executives. In advertising their safe-deposit services, banks may imply all kinds of protection, but ask a banker a point-blank question—and follow it up with more for anything you don't understand—about your box's insurance coverage.

If your bank does not provide adequate insurance coverage you may want to provide your own. A growing number of insurers have responded to this situation by offering coverage for safe-deposit boxes. Or, you might be able to have it covered by a special "floater" to your house or apartment policy. Discuss it with your insurance agent, and again be sure to note all conditions and exclusions. Check also on accessibility to the box by surviving spouse if it is jointly held. Laws governing access vary among states.

Another good idea is to make a list of the contents of your strongbox, including papers, policies, securities, bonds, jewelry, etc. Whether you or your bank provides the insurance, it's always helpful to have a guide to what's being insured. And the last place you want to keep this list of valuables is in your safe deposit box.

Chances are your safe-deposit box will never be robbed, but—whether you put it in your files or special bureau drawer, or even in the cookie jar—this list will prove valuable someday. You can bank on it!

NEWS REPORT FROM WASHINGTON

The Nation's Defense-Armed Services Committees-The Pentagon-The Air Force-

WASHINGTON, D.C.—One of the worries of informed reporters is the slipshod manner by which the nation acquires weapons for the armed services.

Time after time in recent years the military brass from the Pentagon has come before congressional committees (members do their best but are woefully uninformed) and sold a phony bill of goods. The taxpayers pay through the nose in billions and, often, the weapons bought aren't the best—won't do what has been claimed and cost more than had been claimed.

The latest example of this process occurred in recent days before a House Armed Services subcommittee headed by Mel Price of Illinois (D). Price had initially had the courage to call for a hearing to look into a privately-built close support aircraft, the Enforcer. It costs far less than the Air Force's proposed close support aircraft. The private builder convinced most members of the subcommittee—in August—the Enforcer might save hundreds of millions and should be flight tested.

(Five Senators have twice written Defense Secretary James Schlesinger asking a flight test, all members of the Senate Armed Services or Appropriations committees, and of both parties—Jackson (Wash), McIntyre (N.H.) and Proxmire (Wis), Democrats, and Thurmond (S.C.) and Tower (Texas), Republicans.)

After the House hearing in August the powerful Air Force lobbying and public relations team, plus the brass, took over. While the Senators had addressed the Defense Department, the blocking effort because almost totally an Air Force show.

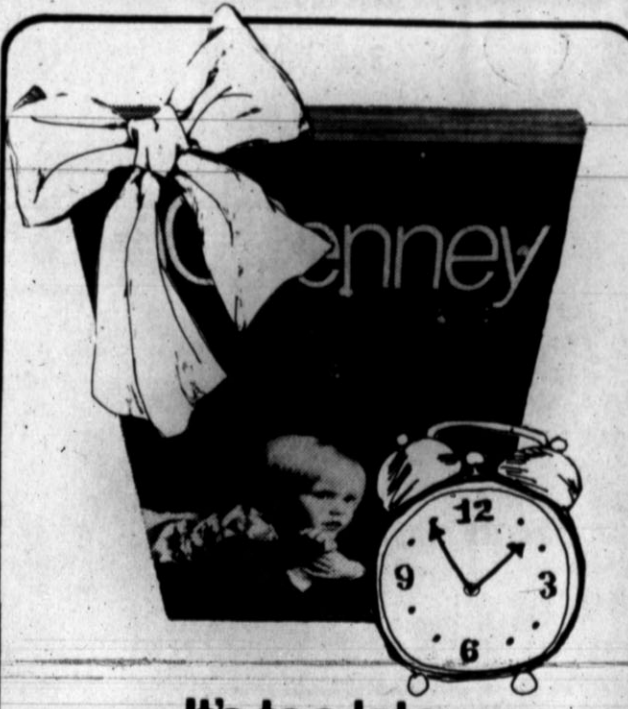

General Jones, Chief of Staff, ordered his top man at Wright-Patterson, General Stewart, to conduct a new evaluation of the Enforcer. The evaluation was top-level, and found the Enforcer to have considerable promise.

But when the Air Force had its reply day before the House subcommittee recently, it brought along charts, computer studies, film projectors, etc. While the Enforcer looked good, it argued, it was not necessary to flight test it. It had all been worked out (by the Air Force of course) with computers! In the end, the computers showed the Enforcer wouldn't be cost-effective!

Not one member of the eleven-member subcommittee was able to refute the computers, charts, grafts, etc. (Chairman Price was fed weak, puerile questions by the committee staff.) None has the time, or staff, to match the Air Force's preparation. But one (Alabama's Bill Dickinson, R) noted the Air Force would spend more fighting a test (likely to prove embarrassing to the Air Force) than the test would cost.

Vitamin Regulations and the Older Consumer

By Bernard E. Nash

There is an inescapable irony in Congress' current flirtation with legislation which, if passed, would seriously reduce the effectiveness of new Food and Drug Administration regulations establishing standards for the labeling and formulation of vitamin products.

Bernard Nash have been quite strident in their opposition to FDA regulation.

The FDA promulgated these regulations—which go into effect in mid-1975—to protect consumers of nutritional supplements by requiring proper labeling of these products to tell the consumer exactly what he or she is buying. What is ironic is that many senators and representatives actually think that, by supporting legislation to hinder the FDA, they will be helping consumers!

I think they came to this erroneous conclusion because most of the voices they've been hearing belong to a small but vocal minority, composed of nutritional faddists and people with a financial interest in vitamin sales, who have been quite strident in their opposition to FDA regulation.

On the other hand, if the term "silent majority" was ever an appropriate characterization of any group, that group should be the nation's overall consumer population which—as far as vitamins are concerned—just hasn't been heard from.

It is not the general consumer public that has flooded Congressional mailrooms with protests that FDA regulations are depriving them of their vitamins. In fact, it is probably quite difficult for most consumers to become agitated about vitamins which, to them, are most likely something they've been taking in reasonable amounts for years as compensation for potential nutritional deficiencies in their diet.

However, in recent years, massive doses of various vitamins have been touted as cures for a wide variety of ailments and physical inadequacies. With the notable exception of Dr. Linus Pauling, the Nobel Prize-winning biochemist, these claims are usually advanced by people interested in selling vitamin products. As a result, vitamin sales have increased tremendously—even though almost none of these claims have been proven through valid scientific experimentation.

For the most part, the people complaining about how their vitamins are going to be taken away from them are those who regard vitamins as a cure rather than a nutrient. As long as they don't harm themselves or anyone else in the process, I agree that they have the right to consume all the vitamins they desire. The FDA insists that no vitamin or mineral will disappear from the market due to the new regulations; no one is taking their vitamins away from them.

What the regulations will do is protect the person I'm most concerned about—the innocent consumer who knows little about vitamins, but who wants to supplement his or her daily diet. This person needs help—such as the FDA is attempting to provide—to avoid wasting money on useless dosages amidst the confusion of the nutritional marketplace.

And, for the unwary, there are also dangers. Vitamins, when isolated from the foods in which they are normally found, are chemicals—and chemicals sometimes produce strange, unexpected results. It has been proven, for instance, that excessive consumption of vitamin A or D can produce a number of severe and harmful symptoms, which is why individual doses of these vitamins above 100 percent of the U.S. Recommended Daily Allowances are now available only by prescription.

Since vitamins A and D are available in smaller individual doses, if a person is really determined to consume a massive amount of them, it is still possible for him or her to do so. However, it seems reasonable to assume that such people have some idea of what they're getting into—while the innocent consumer probably doesn't.

In the final analysis, it comes down to knowing what you're buying. If, for instance, you are taking normal individual doses of vitamin C to prevent nutritional deficiency, it will be sold as a dietary supplement. However, if you're taking massive individual doses of vitamin C to treat a cold, then the FDA would require that, since it is being promoted as a remedy, it should be sold as a non-prescription or over-the-counter medication. Thus, consumers will be able to know what they are buying.

If you feel that you—as an average consumer—deserve this basic protection, let your senator know how you feel, so that the true voice of the consumer will have a chance to be heard before it is too late.

John C. Sawhill, acting head of the Federal Energy Administration:

"We're going to have to change our lifestyles in this country if we're going to solve the energy problem."

Charles Percy, Senator (R-Ill):

"The average family is paying substantially more in taxes as a per cent of income than the major oil companies."

Dear Debbie

Letters to DEBORAH WHITE

Dear Debbie:

My husband used to be very lukewarm about sex, but all of a sudden he's driving me crazy. He just turned 45 and acts like the world were coming to an end tomorrow. Before I was lucky if we made love once a month. Now he comes home lunchtime, rushes back after work and won't leave me alone. Why didn't he behave like this 20 years ago when I would have enjoyed it? After all these years of indifference the shoe is on the other foot but I'm just not interested. Should I suggest he get himself a girlfriend?

Too Tired

Dear Tired:

You won't have to. Just be patient a while longer and he'll get one on his own. Many women wish they had a husband like yours. I just hope you won't be one of them when he starts to stray.

Dear Debbie:

I'm 15 years old. Everytime my uncle visits us, he picks me up and holds me for about 10 minutes. I keep telling him I'm not a baby anymore but he says I'll always be his little niece. He is 60. To add insult to injury, now he tells me I'm getting plump. I'm not getting plump, I'm just filling out, but his hands are so busy he doesn't even know what he's feeling. I've told my mother but she laughs and thinks it's funny. If you print this maybe she'll tell him to stop.

Manhandled

Dear Manhandled:

Whether you're plump or not doesn't matter. He has no business feeling the filling. Tell him you're growing up and his horseplay makes you uncomfortable. If he persists, make yourself scarce when he visits.

PERSONAL TO JILTED: Ordinarily it's proper to return the ring, but since you paid for most of it I'd tell him to go jump in the lake.

If you have a problem, sometimes it helps to air it. Write to me in care of this newspaper. Personal replies aren't always possible, but I'll answer the letters of widest interest in this column.

H<sup>3</sup> HUSTLE HUSTLE HUSTLE

By Bill Albright, Executive Vice President Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce

Ancient Hereford Proverb says "He who Shops Hereford First is twice blessed."

Now what does that mean? Well the first blessing is that he saves money because he doesn't spend 16 cents per mile, to go to and from. Let's see, 16 x 100 equals $16.

Also he saves time and that's often overlooked, but pretty valuable when you're in a hurry to get things done. Then of course, there's that blessing of economic benefit, where each dollar spent in a community turns over or is spent again, seven more times before it becomes used up.

And finally, dollars spent in Hereford produce tax money which help to pay for our schools and government. Guess we'll have to change that proverb to "THRICE BLESSED".

We really help ourselves when we buy things from our own Hereford Merchants. (You might mention a word of thanks for the Christmas decorations which many of our merchants help provide).

AND SPEAKING of those decorations you should know that these are the first new ones we've had in some time. We've expanded the territory a bit to try to include more of the businesses and we promise to do even more next year.

Many thanks are due to the Hereford Jaycees for their Hustlin' effort in getting the decorations up and to Southwestern Public Service for their part in "hooking them up."

Don't forget that the City of Hereford helps to pay a share of the expenses too and the County has a piece of the action—so everyone has a part in making our community take on the Christmas look. Thanks Hereford and Deaf Smith County.

TONIGHT AT 7 p.m. we will be in our seats at the Hereford High School Auditorium witnessing and enjoying a very beautiful religious service, The Messiah, directed by Bob McFarland, with a chorus of more than 100 voices and a 25-piece orchestra. Decorations are courtesy of Marian Goodin and her committee from the Women's Division of Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce.

AT THIS TIME of year we are working on annual reports, committee projects and the budgets for 1975. We're also putting the final details together for the Annual Banquet which by the way is Thursday, Jan. 9.

If you have some suggestions or thoughts or even complaints—why not stop by the office and let us know. You provide the ideas and support and we'll provide the Hustle Hustle Hustle.

MEDICINE CHEST

by H. BOSWELL YORK, R. PH.

How many die each year from drug reactions? — N.D. Surprisingly few when you consider the amount of medicine consumed each year. The Pharmaceutical Manufacturers Association has two categories for listing deaths from adverse drug reactions: (1) deaths of patients who are suffering from nonlethal diseases and (2) deaths of patients who are suffering from lethal diseases. In each category about 3000 people die from adverse drug reactions.

Will stilbestrol arrest cancer in women? Also, what are its side effects? — J.C.

Stilbestrol is one of approximately a half-dozen medicines which is used to treat breast cancer. It is used primarily when women are past the menopause. Stilbestrol or diethylstilbestrol as an estrogen (female hormone). Nausea and vomiting are common side-effects. There are numerous other side effects which may occur less frequently. These side effects can be minimized by reducing the dosage. Dosage adjustments should only be made by your physician.

I am taking a weight reduction candy which contains benzocaine. I thought benzocaine was an anesthetic? How does it help to reduce weight? — J.S. Benzocaine is an anesthetic. It may help you to lose weight if you eat food for the "taste" of it. Benzocaine can deaden your taste buds. Remember, the most important aspect of your diet is to count your calories.

What would happen if I didn't use cleaning solution regularly on my contact lenses? — M.M. Contamination collects on contact lenses just like everywhere else. If it isn't removed, your lenses will impair your vision, irritate your eyes and trap bacteria, which could lead to infection.

Chances are you and members of your family do not have diabetes. But why take chances? Send for a free diabetic tester for each member of your family. A long, self-addressed, stamped, envelope, stating the number of testers you want will do it. Limit of three testers per envelope. Send to me, in care of this newspaper.

Hereford residents will be linked to Amarillo by a safer avenue of travel once the construction of the 15th Street bridge in Canyon is completed over U.S. Highway 60. It connects the downtown of Canyon with the Hugley Hills area of the city. Don Day, Texas Highway Department resident engineer in Canyon, said major excavation work was recently completed. Gilvin-Terrill Inc. holds the $999,583 contract for the overpass project.

More Funds Needed To Complete Ranch

Campaign chairmen and foremen met today to map final strategy for a Ranch Headquarters Association drive to raise $250,000 for completion of the Ranch Headquarters outdoor exhibit or ranching history at The Museum of Texas Tech University.

The Ranch Headquarters, when completed, will record with buildings and other visible records of the past, the history of U.S. ranching from its beginnings on the Rio Grande up through the High Plains of Texas in the 20th Century.

Ranch Headquarters Director Robert Snyder, one of four campaign chairmen, told those attending a luncheon meeting that approximately $392,000 is yet needed to move and restore structures to complete the project. Of that amount, a goal of $250,000 has been set for Lubbock.

TO DATE, more than $150,000 has been spent by Texas Tech in preparation of the Ranch Headquarters site, utilities and personnel. The Ranch Headquarters Association has contributed more than $300,000 for the moving and restoration of the historic structures on the site. And a private gift of $100,000 for an orientation center and memorial gallery has been received. These contributions from the university and the private sector, primarily within the ranching industry, have brought the Ranch Headquarters within sight of its goal, Snyder said.

"We hope to have reached our $250,000 goal in gifts and pledges by Dec. 31, 1974," Snyder said. Funds from other sources are being sought for site development and other requirements of the Ranch Headquarters.

Popularity of the project has already been demonstrated. More than 20,000 school children have toured the Ranch Headquarters since educational tours became available in January, 1973. During the past two years, more than 30,000 visitors have toured when the Ranch Headquarters was opened for a few hours each weekend. Last summer, when only Sunday tours were available in good weather, visitors from 47 states and 27 foreign countries came.

"THE GOAL," said Snyder, "is to complete the Ranch Headquarters in time for it to be a full participant in the celebration of the American Bicentennial."

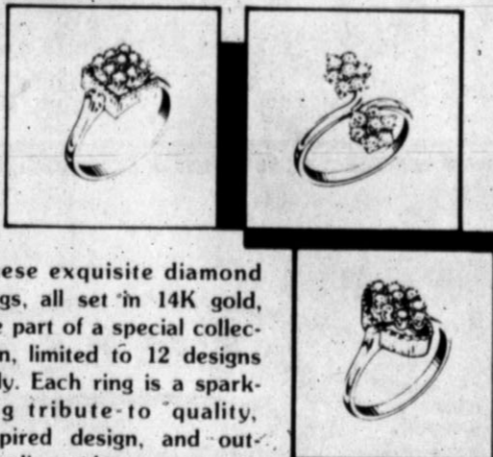

Persons who wish to contribute to the completion fund are asked to send donations or pledges to the Ranch Headquarters Association, Box 4499, Texas Tech University, Lubbock, Tex. 79409. Campaign chairmen, foreman and Ranch Hands who will be named to work on the campaign will launch the project at a 4 p.m. meeting Monday in The Museum.

Comings And Goings At King's Manor

BY FAY GAUGGEL

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Naylor of Quitman and Robert Naylor of Richardson were guests in the home of Mrs. Lucile Naylor for the Thanksgiving weekend. The four attended a Naylor family reunion in Panhandle Saturday.

The Rev. and Mrs. Dewitt Seago initiated seasonal festivities for King's Manor folk Dec. 1 with a tea at their home 414 Sunset Dr. About 80 guests attended.

Among close friends there was much warmth and gaiety as guests took turns at a table resplendent with Christmas decor in cloth, napkins, cup and plates.

The centerpiece of bronze and yellow chrysanthemums was presented to the Seagos by Attorney James W. Witherpoon of Hereford, a friend of the manor.

Mrs. Seago is a specialist in serving. Her cuisine smacked of the Pennsylvania Dutch or German, due to her choosing recipes handed down from her mother's cookbooks.

One especially toothsome cookie she called a strumpf-bander (you pronounce it). These served with spiced tea and coffee made the refreshments something special. The Seagos were most gracious as host and hostess.

Those assisting the Seagos were Mrs. John Stevenson, Mrs. Joe Williams, Mrs. Clyde Hudson, Mrs. Virgil Dodson, Mary Helen Fisher, Julia Welly, Leota Moore, Lucile Naylor, Ellen Lloyd, Kay Kendrick, Beulah Wright and Avis Thompson.

The monthly December birthday party at Westgate was given by the young homemakers of Texas Club. Those having birthdays were Lydia Bippus, Sarah Willoughby, Edna Doak, Lillie Hostetter, Glennie Hill, Sallie Turner and Opal Merrill.

Miss Hostetter was especially honored for having reached her 100th birthday. This lovely party surely put us in a happy holiday spirit.

Overtime! Herd Beats Eagles By One

DAN WELTY
Brand Sports Editor

The rivalry between the Canyon Eagles and the Hereford Whitefaces goes back many, many years. Back to the days when the two were in the same AAA district and fought for the district crown.

That rivalry was more than evident Friday night as the Herd downed the Eagles 68-67 in an overtime game that had fans standing, cheering on their team for several of the final minutes.

The win was a big one for the Herd, their second of the season compared with five losses. Hereford had beaten Tascosa during the Midland Tournament, but couldn't get in the win column anywhere else.

James Arney came to life in that overtime period to score seven of his 11 points for the evening, hitting two field goals and three from the charity stripe.

Mike Hull led the Herd scoring with 22 points, Doug Charest had 12, and Lynn Tarr added 10. Lynn Wright was high for Canyon with 18 points and John Johnson had 17 points. James Walling hit 12 points for the Eagles.

The Hereford victory, even if it was going to be a slim one, seemed in jeopardy in the closing seconds of the overtime period. Walling hit a field goal with about 30 seconds to go, turning the ball over to Hereford. As the ball was brought down the court and Hereford stalled to protect their 68-67 lead, a Canyon player tapped the ball out of Mike Hull's hands. The ball went loose and as Hull grabbed control, he straddled the mid-court stripe. Referee James Kyle blew the whistle, turning the ball back to Canyon with 10 seconds showing on the clock.

Canyon was able to put a shot up with those few remaining seconds and Hereford fans and players watched in horror and then jubilation as the ball bounced in the hoop and hopped back out. Hull came down with the rebound and the final buzzer sounded, giving Hereford the one-point win.

With the Hereford crowd and Canyon fans competing in yells across the Eagle gymnasium, the closing minutes of the regulation time proved exciting in themselves. Coaches Barry Arwine and B.B. Kendrick used time outs to their fullest advantage as it took several minutes to play the final minute on the clock.

Canyon held a 59-57 lead with 1:36 of regulation time remaining. The ball changed hands on the court and Hereford called time out and Lynn Tarr added two to the Hereford tally and Canyon called time out with it 59-58 and 58 seconds left.

A foul on Ken Cooper as action got back underway provided Canyon with the tying point. Hereford went into a stall and Arwine called time again with 27 seconds left. Back in action, a bobbled pass turned the ball over and James Walling was fouled. His free throw missed with 12 seconds showing, costing Canyon the win and sending the game into overtime.

Arney was fouled on the tipoff of overtime and sank both free throws, but John Johnson hit a field goal to tie the game at 61-61. A pass to Arney under the basket caught Walling fouling the Herd guard as he put two in, and the resulting free throw gave Hereford a 64-61 advantage. Johnson scored from the corner and the Eagles got two more for 65 points, but Tarr passed to Hull under the basket and the postman added two. Arney hit another field goal on a short jumper to give the Herd a 68-65 lead, and then Walling hit the final two points.

Hereford will be idle Tuesday night and then compete in the Amarillo tournament Friday and Saturday.

Six Boxing Clubs Crowd Bull Barn

A crowd of about 500 watched thirty bouts in the Bull Barn Friday evening as the Hereford Boxing Club hosted five other boxing clubs for matches.

Amarillo, Lubbock, Levelland, and Canyon boxing teams brought boxers to compete against the Hereford boys.

Coach and sponsor Harold Wheeler commented on the final match of the evening in the 150-pound division. "Eddie De Leon of Hereford and Skip Witt of Lubbock had a crowd pleaser

Eddie fought Witt toe to toe and put him down in the second round. But after the eight count Witt came back fighting. Eddie finally won by a decision."

Two Hereford boxers won their matches on knockouts. Juan Ruiz scored a second-round technical knockout of Robert Buentello of Tulla in the 125-pound division. Jesse Guillen also scored a second round TKO in the 109-pound division, defeating Jackie Williams of Levelland.

NOTES ON FORMER WHITEFACES

Keith Kitchens didn't start in the Red Raiders' first game Monday night, but he was soon in action and Coach Gerald Myers seems to be grooming Kitchens as the floor leader for the Tech basketball team... James Harris, freshman griddier at Tech, visited in the home of Dr. and Mrs. Joe Whitley over the Thanksgiving holidays. He's looking forward to going to the Peach Bowl with the Raiders... Steve Nieman, Buff soph, ran the second leg on the mile relay team when West Texas won over Tech and LCC at an indoor meet in Lubbock Tuesday night. The WT team set a school record for the indoor mile relay... Two Hereford freshmen have won letters for football at Tarleton State at Stephenville. Chuck High, running back, and Wayne Schumacher, linebacker, were among 25 freshmen to win letters.

Lynn Lauderback, freshman at Texas Tech University, has been selected to march with Red Raider Band. He is HHS of 1974.

A COUPLE OF weeks back we reported on a press release from the Consumer's Product Safety Commission. Part of their statistics were based on a study made at the University of North Carolina. We found a few more of the findings of that report.

Quarterbacking, so says the report, is the safest job as far as football players go. In the five-year study at the top of the injury list, followed by defensive tackles, linebackers, and offensive halfbacks.

AND SPEAKING OF INJURIES, a recent report to the American Medical Association estimated that there are five million snow-skiers in the United States and that between 165,000 and 600,000 skiing injuries will occur in the next year.

There may be five million people who try to ski in the next year, but 165,000 is a literal translation of the term, there are not that many skiers. And from our observations, it's those people who have never been on the slopes before that always go home with the broken legs and pulled muscles.

IF YOU PLAN TO SEND the kids off to tennis camp this summer, now is the time to get them enrolled. A brochure on the West Texas Tennis Camp came across our desk this week, and it urged early enrollment.

David Kent, coach of the WT tennis team, and Roland Ingram, formerly of Amarillo High and now coach at Midland College, are the two directors of the camp and they have a fine staff of young tennis talent to help the kids at the camp.

The camp will run three sessions: June 1-7, June 22-28, and July 27-Aug. 2. There is a limited enrollment and sessions are filled on a first-come basis. The camp will be in its sixth year, and it's full every year. More information can be had from David Kent, WTSU, Box 413 W.T. Station, Canyon, Texas, 79015. It's for kiddies from 9 through 17.

THE CHAMBER OF COMMERCE Sports Committee Luncheon will be held Friday the 13th this month. Jake Webb says the meeting will be at Dickies.

BE LOOKING FOR an article to appear soon on sports injuries. Coach Larry Dippel has been saving information for us to write the article with.

WE HAVE, ON OCCASION this fall, been involved in some of the simple things that can take your mind off the hustle and bustle of today's society. Though we would share a couple although they don't particularly pertain to sports.

A tetrahedral kite is just one of the many odd shapes of kites that you can buy anymore. The father-in-law brought one back from a recent trip and we spent more time playing with it than the younger kids it was meant for.

There's something really stimulating about standing with the cold Texas wind blowing at your back, all snug and warm in your heavy ski-coat. The tetrahedral kite can be made to fly in different directions, and if you spend enough time flying it, the crick in your neck gets unbearable. But for some reason it's a good hurt.

With Christmas approaching and us on a recent ski-trip, the thought of getting our own tree from the mountains seemed like a good one. The U.S. Forest Service provided the $1 permit, the motel manager loaned us a saw, and away we went to the specified area.

It had snowed about six inches on top of the mountain, (about the only snow New Mexico has had), and we pushed the mini-pickup with its mud-snow tires up the mountain till the only tracks we saw were those of wayward deer and small animals.

Course, getting the right tree was imperative and we finally found that one and got it loaded. That's when we took time to look around, and the scenery and solitude just wanted to make you scream for joy. Skiers in the super-high country say that at high elevations you can breathe in raw air and a feeling of giddiness will come over you. It did!

Everything is beautiful in its own way.

FRAZIER WANTS ALI

BY THE TIME your eyes peel this copy the press, television, radio and word of mouth, will have echoed the name MUHAMMAD ALI to the farthest flung civilized areas, perpetuating a household name known in every hamlet throughout the world. The 32-year-old former champion - after a seven-year wait - became the second man in boxing history to regain the heavyweight championship of the world when he gave George Foreman his first beating.

NOW JOE FRAZIER who lost his title to Foreman after being knocked out in the second round, January 1973 in Kingston, Jamaica, wants to become the third man in history to regain the championship. Floyd Patterson was the first heavyweight champion to lose the title and win it back during his first two out of three fights with Ingemar Johansson.

MUHAMMAD ALI, before dethroning Foreman, hinted that the fight in Zaire would be his last, but now is ready to go at least one more time - say for 10 millions bucks. And Frazier is the man, Smokey Joe outpointed Ali in a 1971 extravaganza at Madison Square Garden. But Ali was awarded a 12-round decision over Frazier in their Garden rematch earlier this year.

SMOKEY JOE said, "As far as I'm concerned I whipped Cassius Clay twice," using Ali's other name. Obviously, Frazier wants to meet Ali in a rubber match in the "worst possible way." The promoter of the Foreman-Ali bout, Don King, mentioned Frazier as the next challenger, provided Muhammad is willing. And he hinted that New York might be the place. King said, "You get the best exposure in New York, but there's a state tax problem that would have to be alleviated."

A BRIEF CAPSULE of the epic-making account of how the colorful and handsome Muhammad Ali wrested the crown from formerly rough-tough George Foreman, as seen by your sportstalker on closed circuit TV at Radio City Music Hall, was scored as follows: The first round was fairly even Foreman was ahead in round two, Ali took rounds three and four by an edge. Round five was even, Ali by a comfortable margin in round six. Foreman won round seven. At this stage the bout was up for grabs. Foreman kept pressing the attack, hammering away at the body. But his head bombs were mostly misses, or only caught leather as Ali used the ropes to advantage. In round eight Foreman was leg weary and arm heavy, and looked drunk. With two minutes, 58 seconds of the round gone, the temperature 80-plus degrees and the humidity in the 90s, Muhammad Ali's flashing fists (a left-right combination) connected on Foreman's jaw. He went crashing to the canvas in the center of the ring. Foreman was up at the count of 10, but certainly in no condition to continue.

Hereford Will Hear Christmas Music Of 'Messiah' Today

A SETTING for the community chorus and orchestra which will present the Christmas oratorio, The Messiah, at 7 p.m. today is being arranged by the decoration committee of the Women's Division, Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce. Mrs. Calvin Goodin, right, is chairman and Mrs. Robert Hickman a member who has worked with her on the replica of a stained glass window, focal point of the decoration. Christmas trees supplied by Hereford Meat Market will line the stage in the high school auditorium, with poinsettias from Park Avenue Florists and Flowers West. Mmes. Rex Lee and W.C. Davis are other committee members working on the decorations.

ORCHESTRA players, below and at bottom left, include professional musicians, some from the Amarillo Symphony, as well as students in Hereford High School Orchestra.

DOCTORS, lawyers, businessmen and housewives are included in the choir of approximately a hundred voices which will sing the famous music composed by George Frederick Handel in England more than 200 years ago.

Merry Mixers Hosts For Supper-Dance

Supper was served for several guests and members of Merry Mixers Square Dance Club Wednesday evening in Community Center, then they joined in an evening of dancing.

Officers for the next term were elected with Mr. and Mrs. Al Harris chosen to serve as president. Couples are named to all offices in the club; Mr. and Mrs. Warren Hall are to be vice president, the Bob Hammonds treasurer, the Allen Evans secretary.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Kuper will act as social chairman and also be club representatives to the Panhandle Square Dance Association, with the Gary Vectors as alternates.

Guest couples, who are all currently enrolled in a square dance class taught by the club caller, Stewart Rowan, were the Bill Thompsons, Billy McAlisters and Gene Savages. Mr. and Mrs. Rex Williams from a Friona club were guests, too, as was Lane Rowan.

So far, we've found no worker who believes that he's overpaid and underworked.

Family Together

Mr. and Mrs. Arsenio Cortes of Miami, Fla., left, are enjoying their grandchildren, James and Yvette Pickett, as well as visiting with their daughter, Mrs. James Pickett, standing right. They plan to be here through Christmas. The Cortes family came to the United States, one at a time, after communists came into power in their home country Cuba.

Husbands of club members were guests and others invited for the evening were Mmes. Aaron Hutto, John Hine and D.W. Palmer.

Mrs. Ansel McDowell, Chairman, and members of the social committee were hostesses. They include Mmes. H.L. Benefield, Homer Garrison, Jimmie Gillentine and Keith Simmer.

Cuban Home Just A Memory

BY SUE COLEMAN
Women's Editor

FLORIDA residents who are among the hundreds of Cubans in that state after fleeing the communist regime in their homeland, Mr. and Mrs. Arsenio Cortes are visiting during the holiday season with their daughter, Mrs. James Pickett of 111 S. Douglas, and her family.

They are not strangers in Herford, as they lived here about a year and also in Amarillo for a time before settling in Miami. Mrs. Pickett, the former Maria Cortes, met her husband at Amarillo. They have been Herford residents six years.

Like most Cuban residents who chose to leave the island when the communists came to power, the Cortes family met various obstacles and were forced to leave all their property behind them.

MARIA AND a brother were the first to come to the United States, and lived in West New York, a part of the New York City area which is in New Jersey. She had just graduated from high school, and attended school to learn English after she came to this country.

Mrs. Cortes was not permitted to leave Cuba for the United States, but was allowed to go to Spain, where she had relatives, so she came by that route. Cortes was able to join his family in 1966. Another daughter with her husband and children have since come to Florida.

Relatives of the family still live in Cuba. Like other residents of the country, some of them prefer to stay while many would leave if it were not for the sacrifices involved. Cortes says.

"SOME of the young men have been taken into the army and of course their families don't want to leave," Mrs. Pickett explains, "and there are other reasons in addition to the loss of their property."

"There are some people in Cuba better off under communism, those are the very poor," Cortes adds.

Now retired, Cortes was an accountant and auditor. He attended school in Jamaica and learned English there but Mrs. Cortes speaks very little English.

The family laughs about the language problem in West Texas, where Spanish and English are commonly spoken. They speak those two, but find it difficult sometimes to communicate in either.

BRITISH pronunciation was learned by Cortes in Jamaica, and the East Coast version by Mrs. Pickett, "and neither of them sounds the way West Texans talk," she says.

Also, their Cuban accent in Spanish is much nearer Castilian than the dialect spoken by Mexicans and Southwesterners, whom they often have difficulty in understanding.

The Picketts have lived in Herford six years, attend the Church of the Nazarene and teach in its Sunday school, and he is a member of the Kiwanis Club. He is a salesman for Tide Products. Their children are Yvette, three years old, and James, two years her senior.

Christmas Party Is Scheduled

The Ford Community Christmas party is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. Friday in Ford community building. Everyone in the community and surrounding area is invited to attend with a special invitation extended to all newcomers.

Each family is asked to bring a Christmas dessert. Coffee and punch will be furnished. For entertainment Christmas carols will be sung.

A special Christmas program will be presented by the Ford 4-H group in which they will tell a Christmas story of each ornamant they made.

A DIAMOND'S PROFILE

At one time, the outline of a brilliant cut diamond seen from the side, in profile, was a genuine symbol of value. Unfortunately, through overuse and distortion, this diamond shape has become almost a meaningless cliché. Still, in proper context, it has meaning. And did you know that there are ideal proportions to which a brilliant diamond can be cut?

Seen from the top, a brilliant diamond is round ideally a perfect circle. Seen from the side, starting from the top, the flat top of the diamond is called the table. Directly below it are the bezel, star and upper-girdle facets. This total area above the girdle of the diamond is the crown. The girdle encircles the diamond. Below it are the lower girdle and pavilion facets with a tiny facet on the bottom tip of the diamond called a culet. The part of the diamond below the girdle is collectively called the pavilion.

The ideal brilliant cut was realized in 1919. Because of the optical properties of diamond, the closer a diamond is cut to its ideal proportion, the greater its brilliancy, scintillation (sparkle) and dispersion (fire). It is unfortunate that size, to many, is the most important factor in a diamond.

Proper proportioning—and polishing—contribute more to the beauty of a diamond than size, flawlessness or the total absence of body color. The ideally cut diamond is proportioned to return, through the crown, maximum fire with maximum brilliance. In poorly cut stones, the fire is less because light is allowed to leak from the side of the stone through the pavilion facets. Because a diamond has extraordinary powers to reflect and refract light, it is beautiful. It is most beautiful when correctly cut.

There is a lot more to diamonds than proper cutting, though this factor is paramount. Drop by after the seasonal rush and we can continue this conversation in depth.

Former Resident Weds Saturday

A former Hereford resident, Miss Caroline Spinhirne of Dallas, married Stephen Bezner of Euless Saturday afternoon in St. John The Apostle Catholic Church in Fort Worth. The Rev. William Aaron, pastor, officiated.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Spinhirne, now of Dimmitt and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Bezner of Fort Worth.

Two arrangements of white gladiolas and candelabra decorated the church.

The bride's sister, Miss Angela Spinhirne, served as maid of honor and John Bezner of Dallas was best man to his brother.

Brothers of the couple, Michael Spinhirne of Dimmitt and Russel Bezner of Dallas, escorted guests to the pews.

Mrs. Pat Bradley of Fort Worth played traditional wedding songs for the ceremony.

The refreshment table was centered with a pink flower arrangement.

Leaving for a wedding trip to Monterrey, Mexico, the bride wore a navy blue jersey dress and a white orchid corsage.

The couple will be at home after Wednesday at 1301 Monterrey, Apt. 186, in Euless.

The bride is employed as a caseworker for The Texas Department of Welfare. She graduated from West Texas State University in 1973 with a bachelor of science degree in social work and graduated from Hereford High School in 1969.

Bezner is manager of Champion Tire Store in Fort Worth. He graduated from Richland High School in that city and attended Tarrant County Junior College.

Party Given Very Young Honoree

Only a month old, Jeri Lyn LaFrance was the honoree at an evening party Tuesday in the home of Mrs. Tom Burdett, where Mrs. Dan Dudley and Mrs. N.D. Kelso were also in the hostess group.

Jeri Lyn is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry LaFrance, born Nov. 1. About 25 guests attended the party and presented gifts to the small honoree. Her mother was assisted in opening the packages by her grandmother and aunt, Mrs. Glen Stevick and Sally Stevick of Friona.

Seeing the gifts, and the baby, was part of the entertainment during the informal hour. The hostesses served coffee, punch and cake from a table with Christmas decoration.

Afternoon Vows Said By Couple

Saturday afternoon wedding vows were exchanged by Miss Debbie Gamez and Armando Gonzalez in the sanctuary of First United Methodist Church, with Dr. Jordan Grooms, pastor, reading the marriage ceremony.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Isaias Gamez, and of the bridegroom Mr. and Mrs. Ignacio Gonzalez, all of Hereford.

Paired candelabra twined with green foliage flanked a large bouquet of white gladiolas at the altar as a background for the wedding party. White bows marked pews on the central aisle.

Miss Silvana Gamez, sister of the bride, was her maid of honor and Rosendo Gonzalez was his brother's best man. The bride's youngest sister, Vonnie Gamez, was the flower girl.

Escort couples were Messrs. and Mmes. Able Aguirre, Art Kelso and Ramon Andrade, Miss Ida Zamora and Bobby DeLaGarza.

Before the entrance of the bridal party, Bernadina Gamez and Robert Gonzalez lighted candles. Ushers were Horace Gamez and George Gonzalez.

Christmas Tree Is Theme For Country Club Party

A festival of Christmas trees entertained Hereford Country Club members Friday evening as officers and directors with their wives were hosts for the annual holiday dinner-dance that traditionally signals the beginning of the Christmas party season.

Bob Josseland is president of the club this year, Eddie Reinauer Jr. vice president and Rudy Metz secretary-treasurer.

Directors are Pete Caviness, Mark Hoelscher, Dr. Gerald G. Payne, Bill Griffin, Ross Latham, Bob Spangler, Jim Easley, Don T. Martin, Pat Robbins, J.A. McWhorter, Richard Ottesen and Wayne Phillips.

A large Christmas tree was set at the east wall of the ballroom as a background for the dance floor and surrounding tables. Its branches, lightly frosted, were hung with gold and red balls and sparkling lights.

Miniature trees were placed on red circular bases on the tables, perfect in decorative detail down to the tiny packages heaped around them.

Dinner was served from a round buffet table in the small dining room, where a green and white tree trimmed with gold bells was surrounded with poinsettias as a centerpiece.

Half of the table was covered with a white cloth, half with red, both brocaded in poinsettia design.

Poinsettia plants were placed on either side of the clubhouse entrance, and green branches sparkled with gold were clustered at intervals around the ballroom walls to complete the decor.

An orchestra played for dancing through the evening and in a custom at the yearly Christmas parties, guests gathered around the piano to sing familiar songs.

Writing Analyst Speaks To Club

Analysis of handwriting made by a guest speaker on the subject, then practiced by members and guests of L'Allegra Study Club under his direction, proved especially interesting at the club's Thursday morning meeting in Pioneer Gas Flame Room. Mary Gibson and Mrs.

Dwaine Walker were hostesses. The speaker was O.J. Bales of Clovis, a handwriting analyst and psychographic instructor, who told how handwriting characteristics can reveal personality traits. Hearers were asked to exchange and analyze specimens of their own handwriting.

Joyce Pike, dean of students at Amarillo College, and Cathy Robinson, a student, were guests at the meeting, as were Mmes. Tom LeGate, Dean Stallings, Calvin Goodin and Jonny Cloud.

By SUE COLEMAN

PHI BETA KAPPA, the honor society which carries the most prestige, has a new member from Hereford. Sharon Readhimer was lately elected to Phi Beta Kappa, with 20 other students at Rice University.

Sharon has been on honor roll at Rice since she began studies there as a history and Spanish major. And nobody here was surprised, as she was valedictorian when she graduated from Hereford High a few years ago. She is the daughter of Viola Readhimer, 213 Aspen.

Congratulations are certainly in order for this latest scholastic honor, and the town can be proud of the coveted key Sharon will bring when she comes back home.

Peggy adds, "really are good bridge players." No descriptions of the others.

Anyway they like having dinner and playing bridge together periodically, and believe in enjoying the games rather than making grim contests of them. Nothing wrong with that club.

A FAMILY dinner was served Thanksgiving in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Reuben Munsen, 206 6th Ave. Their daughter, Doris Jackson, with her children Tracie and Erick were present, also their son, Allen, and Beverly Craig.

From out of the state were Munsen's sister and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Wentler of Humboldt, Kan., and Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Munsen of Iowa, Kan., Mr. and Mrs. Steven Stubbs came from Littlefield; Mrs. Stubbs is Mrs. Munsen's sister.

Another sister, Victoria Messer, visited with the group in the afternoon.

HER BRIDGE club is giving her a bad time Peggy Furr says, after she remarked in an interview that she belonged to "a crazy bridge club" and was quoted to that effect in The Brand, and the other club members say she gave them a bad name because they don't play Crazy Bridge, they play a very intellectual type of game.

In fact they refer to their group as the Couth And Culture Club but Peggy says her sons just call it "that crazy bridge club" and she has adopted their nomenclature.

You might judge for yourself if you know the members with the Furrs are the Monk Johnsons, Hap Cavnesses, Gerald G. Paynes, Kenny Gearns, D.C. McWhorters and Orpha Clicks. The latter couple,

Edward Kennedy, Senator (D-Mass):

"The United States should increase its contributions for the relief of Palestinian refugees in the Middle East."

THAT TALL, tumbleweed tree which is undoubtedly the center of attraction in the western Christmas decorations at First National Bank was constructed by Gladys and Hap Cavness "with some helpers." I learned.

There was a good solid pole for the center, with wire around it to hold the tumbleweeds in place, then the spray was put on. Sounds rather simple but somehow I doubt being able to produce a tree that would look as well.

Moon Assigned To Calvary Unit

Army Sergeant Michael E. Moon, son of Mrs. Winona Moon, 310 McKinley, is assigned as a scout in the Combat Support Company, 2nd Battalion, 5th Cavalry, 1st Cavalry Division at Ft. Hood. His father, Earl K. Moon Jr., lives at 1306 E. 1st St., Dalhart.

Look Who's New

Mr. and Mrs. John Robert Dolan are the parents of a son, John Corey, born Dec. 4. He weighed 7 lbs. 12 3/4 oz.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Albert Spinhirne are the parents of a daughter, Meysa Ann, born Dec. 3. She weighed 6 lbs. 1 oz.

Toys For Tots

Organizations as well as individuals in Hereford are being asked by the Veterans of Foreign Wars and its Ladies Auxiliary to contribute toys for the annual Toys For Tots program in which VFW members collect and repair the playthings to be given underprivileged children at Christmas. A young group, the Friendly Bluebirds of Aikman School, is joining the drive as Mrs. P. B. Sowell, VFW Auxiliary president, and Mrs. Jim Loving look on in the background. Mrs. Loving spoke informally to the girls this week, explaining the program. She holds a doll quilt, one of many made by Mrs. Susie Tiefel for dolls given in the drive.

Into Holiday Dress Homes On Tour Put

Holiday decor will add to the beauty of four Hereford residences opened to visitors this afternoon in the annual benefit homes tour sponsored by La Madre Mia Study Club. The tour will begin at 2 p.m.

Club members have supplied handmade items for sale in a bazaar at one of the homes, that of the W.E. Sparks, 506 Westhaven, where refreshments will be served by Mmes. Don Lane, Charles Watson, Craig Smith and Don Taylor. This committee will act as hostesses there, with the bazaar committee: Mmes. Richard Ward, Bud Snyder, Stanley Simmons, Waldo Baxter and Roger Williams.

Women from the club will assist the owners of each home as hostesses. Those at the home of Mr. and Mrs. O.G. Hill Jr., 102 Douglas, will be Mmes. Herschel Black, Robert Priest, G.C. Merritt, Charles Frye, Wayne Lady and C.D. Adams. Mrs. Dickie Gerles, tour chairman, with Mmes. Gerald Martin, Lanny Crump, Jimmy Anderson and James Gentry will be hostesses with Mrs. Tom Burdett at 312 Douglas. Co-chairman of the tour, Mrs. Don Walser, and Mmes. Gwynne Owen, Joe Railey, Dean Herring and Lynton Allred are on the hostess committee for the Bill Allen home, 203 Sunset.

Seasonal decorations in all four homes have been arranged by Joe Frank Clark of Flowers West.

Visitors may begin the tour at any home, purchasing a ticket at the door if one has not been bought in advance. Price of a ticket is a dollar, and all proceeds go to the club's community project fund to be divided among Deaf Smith General Hospital Auxiliary, the county library and Meals-On-Wheels.

Sprited COOKING

An Imperial Meal
There's no need to be chicken about letting your imagination take wing when it comes to making up menus. Even such exotic, exciting dishes from the mysterious East are nothing to brood about. Chicken Teriyaki is not more inscrutable than stew, and you probably already have all the ingredients.

- CHICKEN TERIYAKI
2 large, whole chicken breasts
1/4 cup soy sauce
1/4 cup honey
1/4 cup vinegar
2 tablespoons Bourbon
1 garlic clove, crushed
1/4 teaspoon powdered ginger
1 cup chicken bouillon

Split, skin and bone the chicken breasts. Cut in thin strips. Combine remaining ingredients and marinate meat about 1 hour. Turn occasionally to season evenly. Weave meat strips on small metal skewers. Grill on hibachi or in oven broiler about 2 minutes each side. Makes 4 servings; at least 8 for appetizer.

Keep athletes on your gift list

There must be an athlete or sports-lover in the house.

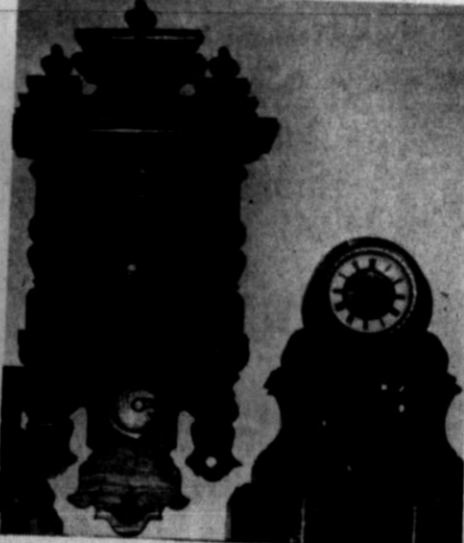

Chances are that more than one family member is interested in sports or has a favorite athletic activity.

Chances also are someone would like a Christmas present connected with a favorite sport.

Little boys are often involved in all sorts of sports. Baseball equipment and football equipment are popular presents for boys. Some youngsters develop a great interest in a particular sport, such as basketball, soccer or hockey, so don't forget about their athletic interests.

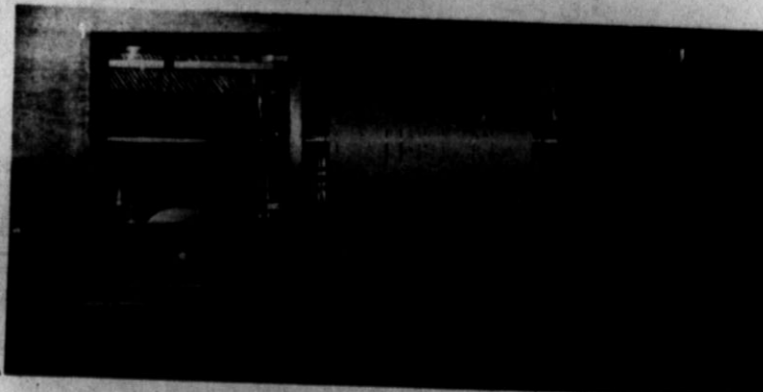

Particularly important these days, don't leave out a little girl or young lady. Females of all ages are becoming increasingly involved in athletics. So a gift involving a sport could be very appreciated by a girl.

And for adults — give accessories for bowling, tennis or golf, to name a few.

AC Choir Rehearses Last Season Concert

The Amarillo College Choir will complete the first semester with a concert at 8 p.m. Tuesday in the Concert Hall-Theater of the Fine Arts Complex, open to the public at no charge.

The concert will contain works from all periods of music from early Gregorian Chant with alternating polyphony as represented in an epiphany hymn by G. Dufay. Other composers to be represented on the program include Hassler, Brahms, Copland, Kubik, and Hunter as well as several seasonal carols.

The Chamber Choir will present a modern adaptation of a 15th century madrigal dramatization titled "Sir Christmas" by Thomas Yeake. "Sir Christmas" will feature Alan Brunton of 2015 Milam as tenor soloist; Madeline Henshaw, AC music instructor, on harp; and Resa Purser of 3715 Fleetwood, melodica.

"The 48-member organization draws its participants from all segments of Amarillo College life and students are encouraged to maintain the high level of musical development begun in public schools through their college life," said Dr. Dale Roller, associate professor of music at AC. He added, "All Amarillo high schools and many schools from surrounding areas are represented in the choir."

In November the AC Choir

presented a concert before the Texas Junior College Choir Festival at San Jacinto College in Pasadena, Tex. Amarillo received the Honor Choir distinction from the executive board of TJCCF last year and thus received their opportunity to appear before the full membership, said Dr. Roller.

In 1965 the Choir performed before the National Junior College Convention in Dallas. Each year the organization performs throughout the local community and on television.

Price Increase Proposed For Food Stamp Clients

Food stamp recipients would pay a standard 30 per cent of net income for their food stamp allotment, effective March 1, under an amendment of food stamp regulations proposed by the U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA).

The intention to propose this increase was announced in President Ford's Budget Message of November 26.

The proposal would mean an increased purchase requirement for all households except (1) certain households of eight or more persons, which have been paying 30 per cent of income and (2) those entitled to free food stamps under the law (one and two person households with net monthly income of less than $20 and all other households with income of less than $30).

For example, a four-person household with a monthly net income of $150 after allowable deductions (e.g., taxes withheld, shelter costs over 30 per cent of income, medical expenses over $10, and child care expenses) now pays $41 for $150 in food stamps. Under the proposed formula, that household would pay $45 for its food stamp allotment.

The proposal is in line with the provision of the Food Stamp Act specifying that the amount a household pays for its food stamps should represent a reasonable investment on the part of the household, not to exceed 30 per cent of the household's income.

requirements vary widely in percentage of income. This proposal is designed to remove the differentials in percentage of income paid for the food stamp allotment by providing that every household with the same income pays the same purchase requirement.

The proposed amendment was published in the Federal Register Friday. Written comments should be mailed or delivered to P. Royal Shipp, Director, Food Stamp Division, Food and Nutrition Service, U.S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D.C. 20250 so as to be received not later than Dec. 27.

MICHELIN TIRE CORPORATION

2500 Marcus Avenue
Lake Success, New York

November 18, 1974

TO: ALL MICHELIN DEALERS
SUBJECT: Increase in Michelin Prices

Gentlemen:

Although there may be last-minute changes and the increases will vary in impact on some sizes where our prices could go above or below the percentages we indicate herein, we expect the increases to be in the vicinity of:

Passenger Tires Domestic	+10.32% with some exceptions
Passenger Tires Non-Domestic	+11.19% with some exceptions
Truck Tires	+8%
Tubes - Will advise later.
Earthmover Tires	+11 or 12%

These price increases will become effective January 1, 1975.

At the Michelin X Jubilee held in January, 1974, Michelin Tire Corporation stated that we would try to build inventories in order to have a 60-day supply to carry us through the change-over period from European to U.S.A. production. Due to sales well beyond our projections, we find ourselves in a position of not having adequate supply in all sizes at the present time.

During the course of the convention, we also stated that we would hold the line on our passenger tire prices as long as possible and that we did not anticipate that we would be able to give any notice of a price increase. We find that we can give you notice of the anticipated increases effective January 1.

ANY TIRE NOT SHIPPED BY DECEMBER 31 WILL BE INVOICED AT THE NEW PRICES EFFECTIVE JANUARY 1, 1975.

We will do everything possible to fill all orders prior to the price increase.

Migrants To Discuss Vision Difficulties

Representatives from the State Commission for the Blind will be at Llano Estacado Farmworkers of Tejas in Colonial San Jose (Labor Camp) on the west side of St. Joseph Church Tuesday from 9:30 a.m. - 3:30 p.m.

The Commission for the Blind is a state agency designed to help people with eye problems. The Commission works not only with legally and totally blind but also - works to prevent blindness.

Two basic programs will be presented: The vocational rehabilitation (VR) or adult program, which covers people from age 12 and above and the visual handicapped children (VHC), or children's program, which assists children from birth to 12 years old.

The VR program covers three main areas. The broadest area is medical services, which is for individuals with eye problems requiring medical treatment such as surgery or medication for glaucoma, cataracts, pterygiums or sudden decrease of vision. If economic and visual requirements are met, the Commission can pay for this medical treatment.

The VR program also offers training, which includes college, training or personal adjustment training. There are two rehabilitation centers in Texas for the blind where an individual can learn personal adjustment skills, including mobility and Braille.

Also, a homebound teacher is available who can work in a person's home and adjust them in the needs of personal skills and assist them to function in the home. Job placement is also provided as a VR service for the totally or legally blind and gives assistance in finding jobs which a visually limited person may be able to perform.

The children's program also offers medical services for those who meet the economic requirements. These services are for children with severe visual loss and children with crossed eyes which may lead to vision loss and emotional maladjustment, children with congenital cataracts, and many other eye problems. Counseling services are also offered for children who are legally and totally blind.

When application is made with the Commission for the Blind for services, and the economic requirement is met, an eye examination will be paid for by the Commission. This application may be made at the Llano Estacado Farmworkers of Tejas in Colonial San Jose Tuesday from 9:30 a.m.-3:30 p.m.

For further information, call 364-6539. For possible medical treatment of eye problems, including a change of eyeglasses, contact the Commission at the Farmworkers of

Vikki Carr To Lead Christmas Seal Drive

Mrs. Jewel Smith of Hereford has announced that singer Vikki Carr will serve as the 1974 National Chairman of the Christmas Seal Campaign, getting underway in October, November and December.

A native of El Paso, Miss Carr is urging the public to support the American Lung Association's program of fighting TB, emphysema, asthma and other lung diseases through Christmas Seal contributions for research, medical training, and community education programs.

Mrs. Smith said that the need for such funding is critical, with a severe shortage of chest specialists compounded by an emphysema rate doubling about every five years and standing currently at over 500,000 new cases per year.

Joyce's Journal Make The Best Of Your Tree This Christmas

by Joyce Shipp

DEAF SMITH county Home Demonstration Council has planned a county-wide Christmas party for all Home Demonstration Club members, to be held Monday at 2 p.m., in Community Center.

western juniper it bears red berries.

The species of tree you choose will probably depend on your location, family tradition, your type of decorations and the space you have to fill. Begin by measuring the height and width of your tree area. A 6- to 7-foot tree is most popular, since most homes have eight-foot ceilings.

To fill wide areas a Scotch pine or Douglas fir may be your best choice, while Balsam firs are good for tall, narrow spaces. Arm yourself with a tape measure on your tree-hunting rounds to be sure of your tree size. Buy a tree close to your required height; cutting can spoil the shape.

TAKE INTO account the amount of tree that will show in your room. A tree that fits in a corner need not be as well-shaped as one that stands in the middle of the room.

There are voluntary USDA standards for Christmas trees: Premium, 1 or Choice, 2 or Standard. Briefly a Premium tree is the most dense, with no damaged sides, while No. 2 or Standard may have light density and only two undamaged faces.

Naturally, prices drop with tree quality, but you need spend only the amount required for a tree good enough for your needs.

Looking for a fresh, healthy tree is a simple but necessary step. First, check that the tree is free of vines, moss or lichen (a fungus type organism). Be sure the tree has a deep, uniform color and a fragrant odor.

RUN YOUR hand down the branches, then bounce the tree lightly on the ground to be sure that needles are resilient and firmly attached. The limbs should be supple, not brittle, and strong enough to hold lights and ornaments.

Choose a straight, cleanly cut stem to fit evenly in the stand. If it's moist and sticky with sap, you can be sure the tree has been freshly cut.

You'll probably buy your tree a few days ahead of time so store it with care. Cut diagonally across the base, and keep the tree outdoors. Set the butt end of the tree in a container of water, if outdoor temperature is above freezing.

When you bring the tree inside, cut the stem straight across to fit the stand. Choose a sturdy, well-supported stand, that will hold at least one quart of water. Set the tree in the stand, sprinkle or spray with water, and fill the stand at once.

Refill the stand daily. There are products available to supplement the water in the tree stand, to help trees maintain freshness. Or you may run a humidifier in the tree room to prevent it from drying out.

Keep the tree away from a fireplace, radiator, television, candles or any other heat-producing device. Before stringing the lights, check for exposed or faulty wiring and use only flame-retardant decorations.

Finally, enjoy your tree throughout the holidays but don't let it outstay its safety period. Take it down right after New Year's Day.

SCOTCH PINE - a full, long-needed favorite. This tree needs few decorations and is an attractive choice for a bushy table-top tree. The needles are long and grow in clusters.

WHITE PINE - for those in search of an interestingly-colored tree. The needles are silvery blue-green and soft to touch. The look is full and rounded.

EASTERN RED CEDAR - The most unusual Christmas tree variety, with dark blue-green, scale-like leaves. Like the

Nutrition Studied By Pupils

Contributed by R.W. Hairgrove

The students in Learning Center D at Tierra Blanca Elementary School have been studying nutrition under the direction of Deborah Evans, Sawam Shipley, Kathy Conway and Lily Goodin.

A control study using three rats provided by the National Dairy Council was employed. One rat, which the young people named Fat Albert, was on a regular balanced diet; a second rat, Mickey, was fed vegetables and a third rat, Junky, ate junk.

Enthusiasm exhibited by the students who found the subject of nutrition more exciting because of their visiting "friends". Besides the motivation factor, the rats furnished concrete reinforcement to the students' ideas about the types of foods needed for healthy bodies.

The social studies activity was integrated into other subject areas such as: math, where the rats were weighed and their progress charted on line graphs; science, where the rats were observed and the students formed hypotheses and made predictions as to outcomes. In creative writing and art, the rats were also used as subjects.

Some of the students were not familiar with all of the foods used so a tasting session was incorporated into the project. Fresh coconut and pineapple were compared to the canned variety and some of the mothers helped the teachers prepare a variety of Mexican food dishes for the students to sample.

The whole experiment was a success with the rats eating a proper diet gaining and looking healthier than "Junky" who had a diet of only junk foods.

Observe Rats

These boys at Tierra Blanca School sit in front of the caged rats which were analysed by classmembers in a controlled study of nutrition. Common health rules were tested and observed by the pupils, including (l-r) Kyle Minchew, Kerry Beard, Ricky McCracken and Bobby Rodriguez.

Wet Fall Hurts Cotton

As if summer drought, a wet fall, disease, hail and low prices were not enough, some cotton producers now may have to face the prospects of reduced grades and possibly even yield due to "barkly" cotton.

The strange condition is the result of prolonged periods of wet, humid conditions during the latter part of the season, says Dr. Robert B. Metzger, Cotton Specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Cotton plants that were killed by desiccants, verticillium wilt or other diseases prior to the prolonged wet spell now have deteriorated to the point that limbs and stalks break off during stripping, he explains. Strips of bark are peeled from these broken sticks and limbs in harvesting and ginning operations.

The former Lubbock-based specialist who now serves the state from Extension headquarters at College Station says that barky cotton will be reduced by delaying stripping until the cotton plant has time to dry out.

"With green stalks, it is difficult to remove the bolls from the plant, requiring close setting of the stripper rolls to get the cotton," he adds. "Under these conditions, considerably more barky bales can be expected."

"Under dry, open weather conditions, stripping will improve each day. Grade, whiteness of the cotton, also will improve with open weather. But, excessive delay of harvest will result in deteriorated plants, and thus bark, loss in grade and even yield can be expected," he says.

"Only dry cotton should be harvested," Metzger advises. "This is essential in maintaining lint quality, whether it's ginned immediately or placed in storage."

Manure Can Replace Fertilizer

Manure used as fertilizer will produce just as much sorghum, corn silage and wheat as commercial fertilizer and is much cheaper, contends Dr. John M. Sweeten, agricultural engineer with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Comparable yields were produced in the Texas High Plains with 10 tons of manure per acre and recommended fertilizer applications.

"It costs about $40 to fertilize one acre of land with commercial fertilizer while the cost of fertilizing the same amount of land with feedlot manure is about $23 where the haul distance is 10 miles. Assuming the same yields from the two acres, fertilizing with feedlot manure saves about $17 per acre," says the Texas A&M University System, specialist.

This would indicate a break-even haul distance for manure of about 40 miles.

Because of the shortage of commercial fertilizer and the resulting high prices, the demand for feedlot manure as fertilizer has reached an all-time high, explains Sweeten.

"Last year when Texas cattle production reached a peak, four million tons of manure were produced. Most of this was used by crop farmers on the Texas High Plains," notes Sweeten.

"Today Texas feedlots are operating at less than 60 per cent capacity and the demand for manure from crop farmers is exceeding the supply."

Charges for feedlot manure delivered to the field, varies among feedlots, but a typical charge is about $2.25 per ton for a 10-mile haul. Of course, the charge varies with the distance hauled.

Ag Labor Taxed

Farmers who pay cash wages for agricultural labor must report and pay social security taxes on each employee, says Dr. Wayne Hayenga, economist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Agricultural labor refers to all services performed for hire on a farm and also includes domestic work in a private home. However, wages paid to a son or daughter under 21 years of age or to an employer's wife or husband are not subject to social security taxes.

"An employer must pay social security taxes on each employee who worked 20 days or more for any amount of cash wages during the year or who was paid $150 or more in cash wages during the year," points out the Texas A&M University System economist.

"The employer can deduct half the tax due from an employee's wages but must pay the other half himself. The social security tax rate for 1974 is 5.85 per cent for the employee and the employer, which makes the total tax 11.7 per cent of the first $13,200 in wages paid to each employee."

If the total tax due at the end of a quarter is less than $200, it can be paid directly to the Internal Revenue Service, using Form 943. If the total tax due at the end of any month other than December is $200 or more, a deposit must be made with an authorized commercial bank or with a Federal Reserve Bank, explains Hayenga. Such a deposit must be made with a Federal Tax Deposit Form 511.

Complete rules and forms are mailed to operators when they apply for an employer's identification number.

Tips On Ricking Cotton Save Money

"If ricking your cotton is in your plans for this harvest season, a review of some of the major do's and don'ts might save some headaches and dollars by avoiding mistakes in putting your cotton into storage," says Marvin Sartin, Area Specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Some operators will use field storage equipment for the first time this fall, and many others are only into their second season with this new concept of cotton handling, Sartin points out. Field storage of cotton has some real advantages in improving harvesting efficiency, but there are also some pitfalls that must be avoided if these systems are to be utilized effectively, the economist warns.

"Ricking is the most popular manner of field storage on the Plains," he says. "This method was developed specifically for this area and is well adapted to dry or low rainfall conditions. Stacking cotton on the ground in a rick is successful if good management of the ricking operation is closely observed."

He offers these basic considerations of ricking: THE FUNDAMENTAL concept of ricking is cotton storage, the specialist believes. "When cotton is placed in a rick, you are usually committing it to be stored there for a period of at least several days, if not weeks. The site on which the rick is placed is vitally important in maintaining cotton quality through the storage period. The ground should be firm and well packed without clods, or rocks and must be well drained.

"If YOU plan to insure your stored cotton, check with your insurance agent before beginning the ricking operation," he strongly advises. "Limitations will be placed on the size of each rick, the distance between ricks, and the location of ricks relative to public roads. It is much easier to build your ricks to meet these requirements than to convince an insurance company to change their requirements to fit your ricks."

Loose ends on the ricks are another common problem. Before beginning to construct a rick, the machine should be filled with cotton and then backed up to compress the cotton that will form the beginning of the rick. A similar operation at the end of the rick will aid in avoiding the loose ends which are subject to blowing and moisture damage.

THE SECRET to successful field storage is starting with dry cotton and protecting it against damage from moisture, Sartin points out. Cotton with relatively high moisture content (above 12 per cent) should not be stored in any manner. "Whether such cotton is in a rick or a trailer, it will heat and will at least damage the viability of the seed. To protect seed and lint quality, do not rick cotton that is above 12 per cent in moisture.

Be aware of green trash, green bolls, and damp weather since these factors can easily increase the moisture content of the seed cotton above the safe level. If you plan to catch planting seed from ricked cotton, take pains to keep the cotton dry and be selective about the particular rick from which you catch seed.

"ANYONE WHO has operated a rick compactor knows that his is easier said than done," Sartin says. "However, the construction of a well formed rick is necessary if the cotton is to withstand wind and wet weather without being damaged."

In building a good rick, the specialist explains that the primary consideration is getting a smooth rounded top on the rick without ridges and valleys. A common error by rick compactor operators that results in wavy ricks is moving the ricker forward too far between packing operations, he says. Forward movement between the cycling of the compactor should be limited to 12 to 18 inches.

The economist says there are many other problems encountered in ricking cotton. All county Extension agents on the South Plains have a mimeographed publication, "Guidelines for Using the Rick Compactor," which discusses the operation of this equipment in detail. Studying this publication could save hundreds of dollars by avoiding some of the pitfalls in building ricks, Sartin concludes.

Mycotoxins, at high doses, kill very rapidly," the veterinarian adds. "Cattle eating smaller amounts of mycotoxins may appear depressed, off-feed, with bloody diarrhea, sometimes having a pale yellowish color of the membranes around the eye and mouth. There is no diagnostic change in the body temperature or in the routine blood analysis."

Cattle Are Victims Of Moldy Poisoning

Dr. John Coleman, scientist with the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, says that similar moisture conditions have existed this year and if they persist into the winter they could pose a threat to cattle owners.

"Moldy poisoning is a name that has been used to describe deaths of cattle and swine that graze harvested corn stubble," says Coleman. "This condition occurs more often during a wet fall that follows a dry summer. The wet fall delays harvest and increases the number of ears which drop to the ground and become moldy. Deaths of cattle usually occur from 3 to 30 days after being turned on the moldy stubble."

"Good managers can do this by making sure that cattle are full when turned on a stubble field, by grazing only small areas at a time to allow cattle to glean only a limited number of ears and by supplemental feeding until most of the ears are picked up," he suggests.

Cotton Module Systems Move Into South Plains

On the South Plains more than 60 new module builders will be in operation for the first time this fall, says a Lubbock-based economist in farm management. While this system of handling and storing cotton is gaining popularity and has certain advantages over other methods, it also has specific requirements for successful operation.

Marvin Sartin, area specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, points out that even though the High Plains climate differs from the Mississippi Delta where these machines have been used extensively, area cotton producers would do well to draw upon experiences of other cotton farmers to identify common problem areas in building modules of seed cotton.

Sartin offers several basic concepts of module machinery that each operator should understand and the pitfalls that should be avoided:

THE MODULE system was designed to serve a dual role, he says. It is a ture handling and storage system, giving the operator the alternative of moving the cotton directly to the gin in modules just as cotton trailers would be moved or of storing the cotton in modules at the farm, gin, or other convenient location.

"This flexibility is a primary differentiation in the concept of moduling as opposed to ricking. A cotton producer who owns the complete module system can exercise the decision of whether or not to 'store in the field' and utilize his equipment in either case," Sartin says.

IDEALLY, ALL harvesting should be delayed until the seed cotton contains less than 12 percent moisture, the economist recommends. Such dry cotton will maintain seed and lint quality in a trailer, a module, or a rick. However, favorable weather conditions do not always coincide with cotton harvesting, and sometimes cotton must be stripped at higher levels of moisture. "If this cotton is placed in modules, do not store them," Sartin warns. "Take them directly to the gin and have the cotton ginned as soon as possible. Wet cotton has the hazard of heating and damaging the seed and lint; however, such cotton is in no more danger in a module than in a tightly packed trailer."

If modules of cotton are to be stored, Sartin points out, a well-drained storage site should be selected. Because cotton is stacked on a pallet and can be moved easily, there is no particular need to prepare a storage site where the module will be constructed.

A central storage site may be prepared and maintained at the farmstead or other convenient place. The primary consideration in site selection is high ground that can be reached during adverse weather, he explains.

AN IMPORTANT item for any cotton that will be stored is protection from moisture. Even though Plains weather is relatively dry, Sartin says modules should be tarped to reduce the potential danger from rain and snow. Modules are densely packed, twice as dense as a rick, and may be more subject to damage from wet weather than either ricked or trailer cotton.

The less dense cotton in a rick or trailer has more air movement and some chance to dry if it becomes wet. In a module, the cotton is packed tightly and will not dry if it gets wet.

The size of the stack makes covering a module simple, while covering a rick is difficult and expensive, he figures. Because tarps are readily available for modules, it is wise to cover them if they will be subjected to the weather for any significant length of time.

"IF YOU PLAN to insure your cotton during storage, obtain the requirements of your company prior to beginning your harvest," says the specialist. "Some gin policies may cover your cotton part of the time, but many will require the cotton to be stored on the gin yard."

"Expect regulations limiting the number of modules that can be stored in close proximity and prepare your storage sites accordingly."

THE TEMPERATURE of all modules should be monitored for the first few days of storage, he recommends. Most will show a rise in temperature for a day or two and sometimes for a week. As long as the temperature inside the module does not exceed 120 degrees, no damage to seed or lint should result.

However, if the temperature does reach this level, that module should be ginned as soon as possible to reduce any damage from heating. If dry cotton is used and unless excessive green trash is present, the temperature should not reach this height.

IT IS IMPORTANT that modules be well constructed to withstand the rigors of loading, unloading, and hauling, Sartin says. They should be packed as tightly as possible, especially on the ends.

The module builder operator should continue the packing between dumps of cotton to assure uniform density throughout the stack. Particular attention should be given to packing both ends as they are the most susceptible to crumbling during loading and unloading.

"Strive to build a slightly rounded, uniform top on the module," he notes. "Even though it will be covered with a tarp, low places on top will allow water to collect on the tarp, and it may eventually seep through. A firm, rounded top will cause the water to run off and prevent this potential problem."

Sartin says the primary enemy of stored cotton is moisture.

"If you start with dry cotton and keep it from getting wet, you should have a successful experience with field storage. This technological advance has many benefits for the operator who uses it wisely."

A Weekly Report Of Agri-Business News

Compiled From Sources Of The Texas Department of Agriculture
John C. White, Commissioner

Now: Sterile Moths... Fair Practices Commended... Citrus Crop Down... Milk Production Up

STERILE screwworm flies are not the only sterile flies being raised in the Rio Grande Valley. Sterile moths that evolve into pink bollworms, the scourge of the cotton patches, are being mass reared at a laboratory in San Benito. The facilities are being expanded, and the goal of two million moths a week may be reached soon. On October 4, 65,000 sterile pink bollworm moths were flown to Florida and dropped on areas where wild cotton flourishes. Intentions of the USDA are to prevent spread of the pink bollworm from south Florida. Eventually, the pink bollworm, which was first found in Texas in 1917 in a Robertson County cotton field, may be brought under control in a manner similar to the way screwworms have been and are being controlled.

LIKE ANY INDIVIDUAL or any other agency, the Texas Department of Agriculture doesn't like to receive complaints and tries to do all that it can to avoid causing justifiable complaints. Department personnel were gratified recently to know that one effort in meeting with some success: The staff of the Public Employees Study Commission recently commended the Department's eight-member Equal Employment Practices Committee which was set up by Commissioner White to try to avoid any discrimination within the Department. In a letter to Deputy Commissioner Bill Pieratt, the Study Commission wrote: "It is encouraging to see such an impartial and effective means of handling complaints... The cross-section of management and employees, blacks, browns, and women who comprise the committee instills trust in the persons who might have complaints so that they might voice their dissatisfaction without fear of reprisal."

Magazine Sales To Benefit 4-H

4-H members across the state are undertaking a magazine sales campaign to meet financial goals set by each county for the new Texas 4-H Center at Lake Brownwood. "4-H boys and girls will be participating in the Reader's Digest magazine sales program arranged through the Texas 4-H Youth Development Foundation," says Dr. Don Stormer, state 4-H leader, the sales program will run for some 60 days and is designed to raise about $400,000 for the completion of the $1.4 million 4-H Center. The Center is being built on a 78-acre site on Lake Brownwood and is about 80 percent complete. It is scheduled to open its doors in early 1975. "The magazine sales program will provide an opportunity for all Texans to contribute to the new center and to secure or renew magazine subscriptions at the lowest possible rates," points out

Food and Guilt

We have waves of movements and fads in this country and right now we seem to be on a food fad. Primary thrust of the food fad is an attempt to make the average American feel guilty about eating so much food when his counterparts in other lands are feeling hunger pangs.

There were numerous comments made regarding the traditional Thanksgiving dinner, a time when American families traditionally overstuff. Somehow, we are supposed to feel guilty about this and do something as sensible such as send this food to other lands.

The world food problem is serious and it is complex. It is a problem that is getting the attention of world leaders, including those in the United States. It is, however, a problem that the individual American will have little to do with, and a problem over which the individual has no control.

The notion that Americans can help the food problem by not applying a bag of fertilizer to the front lawn because this bag of fertilizer will go into a field of India and help boost food production is just not so.

This nation can produce more food than it is producing. But any solution has to recognize that the American farmer hasn't been given a great deal of incentive to put on fertilizer when the cost of it keeps skyrocketing and there is no assurance that the food he produces will be higher in price when he sells it.

The production of food depends upon a lot of factors that are not apparent to one who knows nothing about farm problems. The production of food is not as simple as feeding raw steel into one end of a factory and having shiny new automobiles coming out at the other.

The production of food depends upon the weather, for one thing. Even irrigated crops vary with the weather and thus far there is no foolproof way to determine what the weather will be at planting time or harvest time. Right now America is in short supply on corn, soybeans, and other crops because of too much water at one time of the year and too little at another time.

The American farmer has been held down for decades with every increase in production followed by an immediate drop in price of what he produces. The cattle market is a good example right now. The cattle population was increased in order to put more beef on the table, but the price has fallen so low as to bankrupt countless cattle operators.

Our national policy has to take into account a growing importance of the American farmer, if this nation and the world is to have plenty of food. Thus far, the farming segment is treated badly in the political arena and only when people come up against the cold and unpleasant fact that food is getting in short supply will the farmer begin to receive the courtship that he deserves.

45 YEARS AGO

City Health Engineer H.E. Hargis had a test made of the Hereford city water in Amarillo last Saturday, showing that the water pumped at the local city water plant is almost pure, it showing a bacteria test of one bug, and in another part of town it showed five per cubic centimeter. Manager of a local creamery states that the plant purchased last Friday and Saturday of cream amounting to 7,736 pounds. It took 152 patrons to bring in this amount and is quite an encouraging increase in cream buying over a few weeks ago when the creamery business reached its lowest ebb.

35 YEARS AGO

Deaf Smith County's seven to eight cotton growers will have a chance to express their views Saturday on whether they favor or oppose cotton marketing quotas on the 1940 cotton crop. A few weeks ago J.F. Ward had a sign at his home which said, "FOR SALE. BABY CHICKS." Now he has taken down the old sign and put up another which reads, "FOR SALE. FRYERS."

20 YEARS AGO

November building permits soared more than 300 per cent over the same period last year, according to City of Hereford records this week. A total of 16 permits were issued during the past month, amounting to $100,150, while November, 1953, permits only totaled $24,000. Defied by high winds and blowing dust, Hereford's annual Santa Clause Day, came off according to schedule Saturday afternoon. Approximately 4,000 persons were on hand for the event.

10 YEARS AGO

Winter laid its coldest fingers of the season on the Hereford area this past week, sending the mercury skidding into the teens early Friday, after spreading a thin, white blanket of sleet and snow over this section of the Panhandle at mid-week. Hereford downtown merchants will meet with the city commission at their next session and urged decreasing parking angles on Main Street to 30 to 35 degrees, this widening the driving lanes downtown.

5 YEARS AGO

A traffic violation and a futile attempt to conceal a key, resulted in the arrest of a former Hereford woman and a male companion and the discovery of an estimated $15,000 worth of uncut heroin here in the early hours Thursday morning. Officials of United Fund are exerting all possible efforts to collect any further donations before "close out" operations begin. Reports from the majors of the Drive show that even though a great number of people in the area have made contributions to the Fund, there is still a large amount of eligible participants who have not done so.

1 YEAR AGO

Plans for a major expansion for the Armour Food Company's beef plant here were announced today. Tom Hamlett, plant manager, said plans call for a 25 per cent increase in slaughter capacity, a four-fold increase in fabricating, expanded cooler facilities and new offices. A Monday night major fire here resulted in more than $100,000 damage to the John Osborn Buick-Pontiac car dealership. The front half of the building, which contains the new car showroom, offices and parts department, was gutted by the blaze.

US Chamber Report

Inflation Strategy Mapped By Keynes

By ARCH BOOTH
U.S. Chamber of Commerce

Today I'm going to be lazy and let someone else write the column. His name is John Maynard Keynes, the British economist whose ideas have influenced American economic policy for two generations.

Very briefly, Keynes concluded that governments could smooth out the peaks and valleys in the business cycle by engaging in deficit spending during recessions and running a budgetary surplus during booms. The deficit spending counters recession and the surplus wards off inflation.

Unfortunately, we learned only half of Keynes's lesson. Deficit spending is very popular with politicians, who like to start new federal aid programs. But once an aid program is started, it is almost impossible to end. So, we have followed a policy of deficit spending in both recessions and booms. And that is the source of our present inflation.

Since we are in trouble for not paying close enough attention to Keynes, I think it's a good time to read what he had to say about inflation. The material is taken from his book, The Economic Consequences of the Peace, written after World War I:

"LENIN IS said to have declared that the best way to destroy the capitalist system was to debauch the currency. By a continuing process of inflation, governments can confiscate, secretly and unobserved, an important part of the wealth of their citizens. By this method they not only confiscate, but they confiscate arbitrarily; and while the process impoverishes many, it actually enriches some. The sight of this arbitrary rearrangement of riches strikes not only at security, but at confidence in the equity of the existing distribution of wealth.

According to the director of information for the Minnesota Farm Bureau Federation, "if inflation is to be checked, control of federal spending is an absolute MUST. And if federal spending is to be reined, the answer has to be a resounding 'NO' to demands for an ever-greater flow from the federal treasury and a reversal of the trend toward centralized government."

"Wealth is not who has it, but his who enjoys it."
—Benjamin Franklin.

"Americans rely on oil and natural gas," notes the American Petroleum Institute, "to provide 76 per cent of our power and energy, but we're using these resources faster than we are finding them. In fact, current estimates indicate that, by the year 2000, our petroleum energy requirements will triple. U.S. consumers have always been able to take adequate and cheap energy supplies for granted. The petroleum industry built up reserves, beyond what consumers were using, like a savings account. However, in recent years, we've been dipping into that savings account just to cover our everyday needs. And, at the present rate of energy use, if we don't replenish these reserves, we soon won't have anything left in the bank."

"As far as I am concerned, I think over the next two or three years, the most critical and

"Those to whom the system brings windfalls, beyond their deserts and even beyond their expectations or desires, become 'profiteers,' who are the object of the hatred of the bourgeoisie, whom the inflation has impoverished, not less than of the proletariat."

Lenin was certainly right. There is no subtler, no surer means of overturning the existing basis of society than to debauch the currency. The process engages all the hidden forces of economic law on the side of destruction, and does it in a manner which not one man in a million is able to diagnose."

KEYNES IS equally current on the topic of price controls:

"The presumption of a spurious value for the currency, by the force of law expressed in these regulations of prices, contains in itself, however, the seeds of final economic decay, and soon dries up the sources of ultimate supply.

"If a man is compelled to exchange the fruits of his labors for paper which, as experience soon teaches him, he cannot use to purchase what he requires at a price comparable to that which he has received for his own products, he will keep his produce for himself, dispose of it to his friends and neighbors as a favor, or relax his efforts in producing it.

"A system of compelling the exchange of commodities is what is not their real relative value not only relaxes production, but leads finally to the waste and inefficiency of barter."

All of which goes to show that we still have a lot to learn from Keynes — and we'd better learn it soon.

explosive domestic issue is that of the role of the American corporation, its structure and the viability of the free enterprise system. We must initiate an all-out campaign to build the public's trust, in the institution of business and in the philosophy of free enterprise." — Z.D. Bonner, executive vice president, Gulf Oil Corporation.

International interdependence, brought in focus by the energy crisis, underscores the need to inventory other materials and minerals on the U.S. shortage list. U.S. Geological Survey sees a trend in other minerals paralleling the fuel situation and seeks congressional support for expanded exploration. Federal resources management is of key importance, says Representative Julia Butler Hansen, head of the Appropriations Committee. Public lands have 52 per cent of U.S. oil and natural gas; 30 per cent of coal; 40 per cent of uranium; 60 per cent of potential geothermal sites; and three fourths of shale oil lands.

"It is the consumers who are hurt when the rates are held down so the utilities have to postpone construction and also pay higher interest charges. Is it not great that we have politicians protecting us? With friends like these, who needs enemies?" Professor Ross J. Wilhelm, University of Michigan Graduate School of Business Administration.

Talk of Texas

By Jack Maguire

FOOTNOTE TO HISTORY — Massachusetts patriots will be dismayed to hear that one of the two casks that survived the Boston Tea Party of 1773 turned up not long ago in a Texas bank vault.

Apparently two tea crates survived the incident in Boston harbor on December 16, 1773. The rest of the tea casks sank after a band of American colonists, angered because of the tax imposed on their favorite beverage by Parliament, boarded a British merchant ship and tossed its cargo into the salt water.

One of the two tea casks has been a prized possession of the Daughters of the American Revolution for many years and has been displayed proudly at the Smithsonian Institution in Washington. The second crate which historians believed to have survived the harbor rip-off disappeared, however.

Somebody in Washington heard a rumor that the missing memento of the Boston Tea Party might have migrated to Texas. That was enough to send Henderson Shuffler, director of the Institute of Texan Cultures, and Conrad True of the San Antonio Conservation Society on a hunt for the historical treasure. Within a week they had alerted virtually every amateur historian in Texas to be on the lookout for one used tea crate.

They turned up the fact that a San Antonio woman, Mrs. George Waring, had indeed owned the 201-year-old cask. On her death, it passed to her brother, William Cade Ford of Laredo. He stored it in a Laredo bank vault.

Now the cask is on display at the National Portrait Gallery in Washington. But it will be back in Texas soon to stay.

TEXANS AT WORK

... Editor's note: The Bootleg Philosopher on his Deaf Smith grass farm on Bootleg Corner takes a look at Congress this week, we think.

Dear editor:

As I understand it, one of the requirements set up by Congress for Nelson Rockefeller before he can be confirmed as Vice-President is that he no longer give away any money to anybody who might be influenced by it. Can't even cancel any of his friends' debts.

I didn't pay much attention to this until yesterday when I read an article discussing the national debt.

ACCORDING TO it, the national debt is 487 billion dollars, up to week before last, and the interest on it is 31 billion dollars a year. I still hadn't paid much attention to this until the article went on to point out that 31 billion dollars a year in interest comes to $429 a year for every family in the country. In other words, the principle.

Now what I want to know is, if

A Farmer's Creed

- I believe a man's greatest possession is his dignity and that no calling bestows this more abundantly than farming.
- I believe hard work and honest sweat are the building blocks of a person's character.
- I believe that farming, despite its hardships and disappointments, is the most honest and honorable way a man can spend his days on this earth.
- I believe farming nurtures the close family ties that make life rich in ways money can't buy.
- I believe my children are learning values that will last a lifetime and can be learned in no other way.
- I believe farming provides education for life and that no other occupation teaches so much about birth, growth and maturity in such a variety of ways.

December and January are tough months for a lot of the state's wild life.

For these 62 days, trappers are permitted by law to take just about any animal whose pelt can be sold. Raccoons, opossums, wildcats, foxes, coyotes, wolves, nutria, beaver and mink bring the best prices. Rabbits aren't ignored, however, and even a house cat occasionally contributes its skin to the furrriers.

Most of the pelts from Texas find their way to Europe. There they are turned into coats, jackets, stoles, hats and what not. For trappers, the fashion market provides both sport and hard cash. In some areas, like Leon County, the annual take in skins often exceeds $100,000.

BELIEVE—IT—OR—NOT

Collegiate baseball players will be delighted to hear that the world's only split-level playing field is no more.

Austin's Clark Field, for almost a half century the home of The University of Texas baseball team, boasted a 12-foot-high cliff which sat in the middle of the outfield. Any ball hit onto the cliff was considered in play and outfielders had to scale the solid rock to retrieve it.

By spring, a new, modern baseball stadium will open. Clark Field will disappear and the rock cliff will be bulldozed to level the site for a building.

REMEMBER WHEN

Sidewalk salesmen eked out a living during the Great Depression of the 1930's by peddling neckties on the street?

For prices ranging anywhere from 15 cents to a dollar, the not-too-fastidious male could pick up a useful, if sometimes gaudy, cravat.

Mr. Rockefeller wants to cancel my $429, what business is it of Congress? That ought to be between me and Rockefeller, if I knew how to get in touch with him. It looks like every time a man has a chance to get ahead these days Congress throws a roadblock in the way.

CHANGING THE subject, I noticed that a Senator, reacting to President Ford's announcement that he'd gotten a nuclear arms agreement with the Russians between banquets on his recent trip abroad, said he ought to have it in writing.

I'm not sure I follow this. Say he'd gotten it in writing and the Russians later, on found it convenient to violate it. What're we supposed to do? Have the Deaf Smith grand jury indict Brezhnev for breach of contract and try him before Judge H.C. Williams?

Even though the price of the stuff has skyrocketed, some contracts still aren't worth the paper they're written on.

Yours faithfully,
J.A.

To have success with amaryllis it is necessary that a few simple rules be followed. Many are potting amaryllis for Christmas gifts, and have asked me to give some aids.

The bulbs can be potted from November until April. Use a fairly deep flower pot which has been washed and sterilized. I prefer clay pots because they hold moisture and breathe through their pores, which aids the bulb to make a better plant.

The pot should be an inch larger in circumference than the bulb. Place a small stone or broken pieces of a clay pot on the hole in the bottom of the pot. Plant the bulb with about half its depth above the top of the soil.

Place the potted amaryllis in a warm shaded place, preferably where it has gentle bottom heat (70-75 degrees). Temperatures should be even day and night for best results. Water well (not soggy) before placing in the darkened area, very little water should be given until the bud is formed.

Once growth is started and the flower bud is well developed, the pot should be placed in a cooler and lighter atmosphere, not direct sunlight. At this state the roots can stand more moisture and regular watering is required. Use tepid water, as cold water shocks the plant.

When the amaryllis is in full bloom, cool night temperature (50 degrees) will lengthen the life of the flower.

Most amaryllis have two scapes, usually they grow one at a time. Therefore after the blossoms have faded on the first scape, do not neglect the plant; continue to water keep in same place and watch for the second scape, which a good developed bulb usually produces.

Amaryllis planted now will flower during the holiday season, if properly handled. They are lovely Christmas gifts, even before they start growth. In transporting afterpotting, use care that it is not chilled.

It is most interesting to watch the growth of the bulb. It seems that you can almost see it push up. Since they come in beautiful rich colors, also white and striped, they are a favorite of many growers.

After flowering, the bulb should be kept growing by keeping the soil moist. Add a little plant food (bone meal is recommended) from time to time. When chance of frost outside is past, take pot with plant and plunge this in the garden, preferably in semishade.

Top of the pot should be about 2 inches below soil level. Dehydrated manure or other recommended fertilizer can be placed on top of the soil around the pot. This treatment will enable the bulb to regain strength and firmness which it has lost while producing flowers.

Before any frost occurs, possibly latter part of September here, take the pot with the plant out of the garden soil. Store in a dry place, about 65 degrees, and stop watering completely.

The foliage will gradually turn yellow and when it has so, you may cut off the foliage 2 inches above the top of the bulb. Leave the pot dry and undisturbed for a month or two and then repeat the potting and growing instructions.

Many continue to water the plant so the foliage grows long and rank, and does not produce blossoms again. The resting period of dryness is most important, also the repotting.

COWAN JEWELERS DOWNTOWN

There is a faint invigorating chill and a tang of wood smoke in the air as we prepare for the winter and for Christmas time. Autumn has been beautiful (except for the long rainy spell, but really that was a blessing) and as we start those shut-in days, let me suggest that we all grow one or more of the "Green Beret" plants.

Donald C. Hand, horticulturist at the National Gallery of Art, has drawn up a listing of these house plants which are very hardy, in fact he says they are hard to kill. The list consists of agave, aspidistra, maranta, monstera, peperomia, philodendron (many varieties), sansevieria, (really a dry weather plant and takes very little attention) scindapsus, syngonium and zebra.

Two of this group are "almost indestructible" - the aspidistra (cast-iron plant) and sansevieria (snake plant, or some call it mother-in-law tongue). These two are toughies, also most anyone can grow one or more kinds of the philodendron.

If you are not successful growing them in soil, try them in water. Some of my prettiest winter plants are philodendrons grown in water. Boil and cool water in which to grow them; in adding new water use luke warm water which has been boiled, and let set awhile.

This rids the water of some of the minerals which are detrimental to plants. Rain or snow water is good.

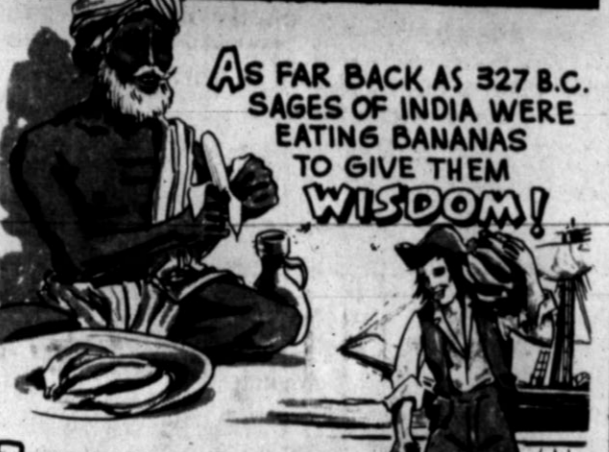

Really these last ones mentioned seem to thrive in low light conditions, prefer dry rather than wet soil and will take any humidity level at all. These are especially nice, because when one goes on vacation they do not have to have attention. I have left mine as long as five weeks.

CHRISTMAS tree. Merchants are displaying Christmas trees all ready to be decorated. If you buy early, be sure and give the tree plenty of water. Make a new cut, before glacing in water.

Also may I suggest that you consider seriously a potted evergreen for your Christmas tree. I have used these for many years and today I have several growing in my yard.

Make Christmas time a merry, happy time, not a rushed, hurried and bad humor time.

THE FORBIDDEN FRUIT IN THE GARDEN OF EDEN MAY NOT HAVE BEEN AN APPLE - BUT A BANANA!!!

AS FAR BACK AS 327 B.C. SAGES OF INDIA WERE EATING BANANAS TO GIVE THEM WISDOM!

THEY WERE INTRODUCED TO THE U.S. IN 1804 WHEN A SCHOONER CAPTAIN BROUGHT 30 BUNCHES TO NEW YORK FROM CUBA!

TODAY MOST OF THE WORLD'S BANANAS COME FROM CENTRAL AMERICA.

Cabbage Thrive With Wind Shield

Texas Tech University agricultural researchers found that spring cabbage planted in the protection of winter wheat outyielded the unprotected cabbage by 143 per cent.

The test was made by vegetable researchers near Munday in Knox County 140 miles east of Lubbock and 75 miles west of Wichita Falls.

"Thus the yields of cabbage in the protected area would have paid for the land taken out of cabbage production and devoted to wheat," said Joe D. Tidwell, who is in charge of the vegetable research program near Munday.

The protection also increased soil and air temperature in the microclimatic zone near the ground. Increased air temperatures induce more rapid crop growth and earlier maturity.

Increased soil temperatures accelerate root growth, the rate of nutrient uptake by crop roots, and the conversion in the soil of unavailable forms of plant nutrients such as nitrogen and phosphorus to readily available forms.

Increased soil temperatures also aid water absorption by the crop plants and favor increased root extension into areas where additional water and nutrients are stored, Tidwell said.

Dr. John D. Downes, professor of agronomy at Texas Tech and director of the College of Agricultural Sciences vegetable research program, said that vegetable research in the Munday area had been under way since 1969.

Grain Not Damaged By Discoloration

Nutritional value in grain sorghum is not affected by discoloration caused by weathering, according to Jack King, research director for Texas Grain Sorghum Producers Board.

"With prolonged rains we have had this year in the Texas High Plains area causing discoloration of grain, many grain producers and elevator operators have become quite concerned because the grain is not grading No. 2," King said.

"We felt discoloration had little effect upon the nutritional value. Therefore, TGSPB collected samples of grain from grain exchanged in No. 2, No. 3 and Sample grades. We had a chemical analysis performed on each sample to determine nutritional levels. Results showed that all samples, regardless of grade, were equal in nutritional value when discoloration caused lower grades," stated King.

Tests proved that when all other factors are normal, discoloration alone does not change the nutritional value of grain sorghum.

The only tests which showed a decrease in nutritional value was a batch which had been labeled Sample grade because of test weight as well as weathering.

No. 2 grain sorghum is the normal trading grade. The minimum test weight must be 55 lbs. per bushel, with maximum moisture content 14 per cent.

Grade No. 3 must weigh at least 54 lbs. per bushel and have a moisture level of 15 per cent or less.

Sample is the lowest sorghum grade. Dr. Robert Albin, animal nutrition specialist at Texas Tech University in Lubbock, stated after reviewing the samples he agrees that "according to these tests, there is no difference in nutritional levels due to discoloration."

CARE OF CHRISTMAS CACTUS

Whether you're giving, receiving or already have a Christmas cactus, you should be prepared to give this sometimes temperamental holiday plant the right kind of attention. Its brilliant pink flowers which hang gracefully from the ends of flat-stemmed branches are well worth the effort. So named because it customarily sends forth its juscious blooms around mid-December, Christmas cacti have been known to blossom several times a year and they are usually a joy to their owners year round.

The planting mixture for this plant should be humus soil and the pot should be on the smallest side as the plant likes to be root-bound. Winter, spring and summer, the soil should be kept consistently moist, but never so soggy that stems weaken and rot. In the fall (just before blooming time, especially), water more moderately and allow soil to dry between waterings. Although you might want to shade it somewhat in summer, in all other seasons the plant likes full sunlight, but coolish temperatures. A spot on a sunny window sill, close to the glass, is ideal.

The trouble with getting ahead in life is staying ahead.

AC Registration Altered

According to the plan for advance registration, students will be encouraged to fill in a trial schedule form before they report to their adviser for scheduling. This step will eliminate much time which has in earlier registrations been lost in consultation between student and adviser.

During this time of advance registration, students will be able to complete their registration entirely. Another break in favor of the student is that tuition payment may be deferred until Jan. 7, even though the student has completed all other necessary steps in registering. The Students attending Amarillo College will be able to register now through Friday.

This is the first time that an advance registration has been conducted at AC in the College of Arts and Sciences, School of Biomedical Arts and Sciences, and the School of Technology. New registration changes are designed to take the frustration and complication out of the necessary process and to make it as simple and brief as possible.

THE FIRST CHANGE is that pre-registration has been dropped in favor of advance registration. The difference is more than semantic.

deferred tuition payment is intended to provide relief for students already hard pressed by rising costs and the need for a little Christmas money.

College officials, incidentally, are not making any predictions about spring enrollments, but one suggested that the inflationary pinch may force some students to attend a relatively inexpensive college such as AC rather than more expensive colleges down state.

students currently enrolled but also to new students and to evening college students as well.

During the period of regular registration, students currently enrolled will report to the gymnasium or to their adviser according to an alphabetical schedule as usual. Those whose last names begin with letters A through H register Wednesday, Jan. 8; the remainder Thursday.

Man Discounts 'Manure Energy'

A researcher at Texas A&M University has discounted the economical production of energy through manure combustion. The report was prepared by John M. Sweeten, a specialist in agricultural engineering and animal waste management.

The gross energy available from manure combustion is about 13 million BTUs per ton. However, 25 per cent of this energy would be consumed through moisture removal. An additional 45 per cent would be needed to operate air pollution abatement equipment, leaving a net energy production upon combustion of about 4 million BTUs per ton of dry manure. Sweeten's report says, "this is less than the energy to be realized from refeeding and does not account for the obvious disadvantages of centralizing manure for such a capital intensive operation."

Rather, Sweeten's research has concluded that manure applied at 10 tons per acre will produce just as much grain sorghum, corn silage and wheat as commercial fertilizers. It takes 5.6 million BTUs of energy per acre to manufacture, distribute and apply anhydrous ammonia and concentrated superphosphate. On the other hand, the energy required to collect, haul and spread feedlot manure at 10 tons per acre amounts to 1.2 million BTUs per acre. And that includes a 10 mile haul distance.

Gift Plan Aids Needy

In these inflationary times, the special CARE Holiday Gift Plan enables you - at bargain rates - to send memorable "Season's Greetings" to relatives, friends, business associates and, at the same time, to save lives, feed hungry children, heal the sick and help poor families in Africa, Asia, Latin America and the Middle East to become self-supporting.

Simply send CARE the names and addresses from your gift list, with your contribution - at least $2, or more, for each name. Keep a copy of the list so you can sign and address the attractive cards and envelopes that will be sent you. The cards will inform each person that you have given to CARE, in his or her name, to help people in dire need. This makes a heart-warming gift by itself. It also makes a fine, thoughtful extra gift for persons to whom you are giving other presents.

For each dollar donated, CARE delivers six dollars worth of aid. This is made possible by buying supplies at special, low prices, by receiving U.S. government farm commodities - obtainable only with individual contributions as the base - and enlisting host governments' and communities' partnership.

To allow time to receive the cards, be sure to send your holiday donation and list of names as soon as possible to CARE, 109 N. Akard, Dallas, Tex. 75201.

ENERGY QUIZ
 An uninsulated house will require about twice as much energy (electricity, oil, gas) to heat as a well insulated house.
 Correct. Experts say that a four-inch layer of insulation will lower fuel costs by as much as 15 percent. Put up storm windows in the fall, take them down in the spring.
 Wrong. If you want to cut your air-conditioning costs, the dead air space between the storm and the regular window is a good insulator and helps keep the house cool in summer.
 You can save on fuel costs by turning down the furnace 10 or 15 degrees and using a portable electric heater.
 Wrong. Electric heaters use up costly energy.
 Lower the thermostat 15 degrees at night to save fuel.
 Wrong. Lower it no more than 5-10 degrees, or you'll use extra fuel in bringing it back to normal in the morning.
 An open damper on your fireplace permits 20 percent of the heated air in the house to escape up the chimney every hour.
 Right. Keep the damper closed when the fireplace is not in use.
 When you leave a room for a few minutes, don't bother to turn off the light, because whenever a bulb is turned on it uses a surge of energy.
 Wrong. No excess energy is used when a bulb is turned on.
 Wattage indicates the amount of bulb light.
 Wrong. Wattage measures the energy the bulb uses. The amount of light is measured in lumens.
 A 40-watt fluorescent bulb gives more light than a 100-watt incandescent bulb.
 Right. And it lasts about 10 times longer.
 The filter of your furnace should be checked and cleaned at the beginning of winter.
 Wrong. Not if you want it to run efficiently. It should be checked at least once a month to get the most out of the fuel.

WHERE YOUR TAX MONEY GOES
 Know what a Frisbee is? The little plastic toy that looks like the cover of a soup tureen and flies through the air with the greatest of ease? Well, the Pentagon recently spent $375,000 of the taxpayers' money to find out why a Frisbee spins so nicely.
 That expenditure was presumably in the interest of national defense, but what about the government agency that spent $19,300 on a study of why children fall off tricycles?

In these days of soaring inflation, when most Americans are finding it harder to stretch their paychecks to meet the constantly increasing prices, the government is spending tax dollars on such projects as these:

$46,000 to compile a dictionary of witchcraft.
 $576,000 to teach mothers how to play with their children.
 $85,000 to study the effect of rural road construction in Poland.
 $35,000 to study wild boars in Pakistan.
 And $35,000 to study lizards in Yugoslavia.

We're not kidding - these are but a few of the projects being underwritten by your tax dollars, projects that the National Taxpayers Union calls "questionable." The report has triggered an outburst of protests from citizens all over the country. They're outraged to learn that their taxes go to pay for such boondoggles as studies of Polish pigs, Central American toads and research on the smell of perspiration of Australian aborigines. And the $26,361 spent to buy an odor-measuring machine for Turkey.

Citizens are complaining that such projects are ridiculous, and demanding that their representatives in Congress put a stop to the waste of tax money.

A lot of Congressmen are in agreement, such as Sen. William Proxmire (Wis.), who sees little need in these days of inflation for such projects as a study of the language behavior of the chimpanzee, Rep. John Conlan (Ariz.) told the House of Representatives: "Working men and women complained about this scandalous spending situation, asking what they could do to help fight this battle of the budget."

What you can do, of course, is write your Senator and Congressman and tell them in no uncertain terms what you think of this kind of extravagance.

Is there much difference in the length of daylight in various parts of the United States?
 Yes. At various times of the year there is quite a difference. For example, at the Winter Solstice, which this year comes on December 22nd, there will be more than an hour's difference in the length of daylight in Maine and Florida. Florida will see the sun more than an hour longer on that day.
 Yet at the autumnal equinox, and the spring equinox, the hours of daylight are practically the same in northern and southern states. As in the case in December at the Winter Solstice, the hours of sunshine are quite different in the northern and southern areas. In June-at the Summer Solstice--the days in the north are longer.
