At the United Nations today, Secretary-General Javier Perez de Cuellar said he thought he was in "the last hours" of talks with Argentine and British negotiators in attempts to end the dispute.

He did not elaborate, but a British source at the U.N. said Argentina's response had some new elements, "including some points of forward movement." Argentine Deputy Foreign

Housing Starts Down in April

By The Associated Press Housing starts fell in April

by almost one third from the pace of a year ago, while the Reagan administration issued its gloomiest forecast yet on any recovery for the slumping economy. The Commerce Department said Tuesday that new houses were started at the seasonally adjusted annual rate of 881,000 units, 6.4 percent below the March level and 32.3 percent below the April pace of a year ago.

On the brighter side, personal income continued its modest advance this year with a 0.3 percent rise in April.

Michael Sumichrast, chief economist for the National Association of Home Builders, said it is unlikely that housing can show much recovery unless interest rates fall sharply.

"It's a dismal picture," he

Mark J. Riedy, executivvice president of a lenders group, the Mortgage Banker Association of America, said "It's not surprising, but it' disappointing at the samtime."

On Monday, a Morgai Guaranty Trust Co. study forecast only moderate growth in the housing in dustry through mid-year.

Commerce officials previously had reported housing starts rising for five straight months through March, but revised figures released Tuesday showed a 0.4 percent decline in March rather than the 2.5 percent gain first estimated.

In Washington, Treasury Secretary Donald T. Regan said the nation is in for anemic recovery, perhaps followed quickly by another recession, unless huge potential federal budget deficits

Hannah Claims He Corrected Inaccuracy

LUFKIN, Texas (AP) - Former U.S. attorney John Hannah, running for state attorney general, says he immediately corrected an inaccuracy discovered in campaign literature that described him as having a law

Democrat Jim Mattox says his opponent in the June 5 primary "duped" the press by stating he had a degree. Mattox, a Dallas congressman, called a capitol news conference to display the Hannah brochure.

But the company that made the brochure, Sparrowhawk Studios of Lufkin, produced a letter on Tuesday which it said it received by certified mail from Hanna on Jan. 7.

"There is one problem on the brochure I need to bring to your attention," Hannah wrote. "Apparently you are not aware that I have neverreceived my law degree when you wrote the copy."

Hannah asked the company in the letter to correct the brochure. He said he did not finish law school but holds a license to practice law.

Testimony Resumes After Psychiatrist Refused Cross Exam

WASHINGTON (AP) - A defense psychiatrist resumed the witness stand today at the trial of John W. Hinckley Jr. after initially refusing to undergo cross-examination unless he was permitted to testify about a brain scan taken during an examination of the presidential assailant.

Dr. David Michael Bear caused a stir and delayed the trial for an hour and a half when he refused to answer the first question of today's crossexamination by Assistant U.S. Attorney Roger M. Adelman.

After U.S. District Judge Barrington D. Parker indicated that Bear's full day of direct testimony Tuesday would be jeopardized if he refused to undergo crossexamination, the Harvard Medical School psychiatrist conferred with defense lawyers and once more took his seat on the witness stand.

Clements Says Special Session Still to Be Held

Sings at Banquet

By KATHY BAKER Associated Press Writer

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) -The special legislative session scheduled for May 24 is still on and may be expanded, even though the lawsuit that triggered the emergency session has been postponed, Gov. Bill Clements says.

Midwestern State University announced Tuesday it will delay until next year its lawsuit seeking to overturn a 1979 law that halted collection of the state property tax.

Clements called the special session to head off the lawsuit, scheduled for trial on June 2. He limited lawmakers strictly to repealing the tax, which was set out in the state constitution to provide a fund for construction at state universities outside the Permanent University Fund.

The PUF pays for construction at University of Texas and Texas A&M system col-

Clements said he did not think it a waste of money to go ahead with the session even though delay of the suit means the tax repeal could be accomplished during the Legislature's regular session, which begins in January.

"The expense of the special session, if it lasts a week, as (Lt. Gov. Bill) Hobby, (House Speaker Bill) Clayton and I think it will, is $200,000 versus a billion dollars tax. I think that's a pretty good trade," Clements said Tuesday. In a statement issued in Austin early Tuesday, the university officials said they were not seeking payment of back taxes not collected since 1979, which would amount to about $1 billion. They said their suit was meant to push the state toward a permanent solution to the smaller colleges' funding problems.

"What they're really doing is trying to delay the inevitable, which is to abolish the tax," Clements said. "They're playing for time and that's a ploy on their part, for delay. That's gone on too long."

Meanwhile, Clements has been asked to open up the special session to include the state's prison problems.

The governor said that if figures from the Texas Department of Corrections warrant, he may allow appropriations for prisons to be considered.

Hobby had asked Clements to include prison problems on the special session agenda after TDC began turning away new inmates last week. Overcrowding had put the system in violation of a federal court order, prison officials said.

Among the items Hobby asked Clements to include was financing for stepped-up prison construction and for contracts with county jails to house TDC inmates.

"If we can really pick up some time (in constructing new units), I would be inclined to favor it," Clements

TDC Director W.J. Estelle last week told lawmakers that $48 million is needed to build a prison on Walker County land acquired by the state. The prison will take 18 months to build, he said, adding that an appropriation by the special session would give TDC a head start.

The court, among other things, ruled the county had not exhausted all its alternatives in district court, said El Paso County Attorney George Rodriguez.

The closing of prison gates drew fire from county jail officials who also have overcrowding problems. Six counties are under federal court orders to reduce their jail Intions.

Under the TDC's new limited admissions plan, restrictions were imposed on of debate on the Labor Party's motion, presented in protest against a 10.7 percent inflation rate in April. This without any limits.

The number of convicts that will be allowed from the larger counties will vary from week to week and will be based on space available in the prison and the number of inmates each county sent rate of 136 percent, which would bethe highest ever in the Jewish state. The two defectors, Amnon

Linn and Yitzhak Peretz, said they quit Likud because Begin banned flights by El Al, the Israeli airline, on Saturday, the Jewish Sabbath, in response to the demand of religious parties in his government coalition.

Although a hawk, Linn said he was also dissatisfied with the government's handling of anti-Israeli unrest in the West Bank and the Gaza Strip. He charged it failed to explore ways of co-existing with the Arabs.

If Begin defeated the noconfidence vote, he could try to govern without a majority while trying to get TELEM to join his coalition. Or he could call an election for a new Knesset, three years ahead of schedule, since opinion polls indicate Likud would win more seats than the 46 it now

If he lost the no-confidence vote, he would have to resign. He could then try to form a new coalition government, call an election or step aside and let the Labor Party try to form a majority coalition.

With the switch by Linn and Peretz, Labor has 50 seats in the Knesset, four more than Likud. But getting the support of 11 more members would be difficult because the National Religious Party, which has six seats, refuses to join a Labor government.

Juveniles Guilty Of Car Thefts

Juveniles have been found responsible for several auto thefts last weekend, according to Hereford police. Four juvenile suspects gave statements to police concerning the thefts.

A criminal mischief case, that of a broken pickup window, also involved juveniles. A burglary at Big T Pump earlier this week also involved a juvenile and an adult.

Artists Sought For Educational Program

The Texas Commission on the Arts is searching for talented, experienced artists interested in bringing firsthand experience with the arts to Texas young people, announced Executive Director Allan Longacre recently.

Application forms for Artists-in-Education residencies are available now, as well as a list of residency locations for the 1982-83 school year.

Artists interested in requesting further information may call TCA at 512-475-6593 or toll free (800) 252-9415, or write Education Program, Texas Commission on the Arts, Box 1306 Capitol Station, Austin, Tx 78711. The deadline for receipt of applications is June 1, 1982. TCA's Artists-in-Education program, jointly sponsored by the Texas Commission on the Arts, the National Endowment for the Arts, and local sponsors, places professional artists in learning environments for direct and prolonged contact with student, teachers, parents and the community. Increasing the aesthetic awareness and self-expression of all participants is a major program goal. In the past year, artists have been placed in 50 residencies throughout the state. Residencies for the 1982-83 school year, ranging from one week to nine months, will be available in the following discipline areas: creative writing, music, theatre, and visual arts.

Artists may be scheduled for up to 20 hours of direct services per week including work with students in workshops, lectures and demonstrations, work with teachers in workshop and inservice sessions, and involvement with community pro-

Applicants will be screened by the Commission and the local sponsors, based on the following criteria: artistic quality, professional experience, and proven ability to work successfully with young people, school personnel, and community members.

Interviews are held in Austin, and are tentatively set for the month of June.

Drill Team Sponsors Beard Growing Contest

The Hereford High School High Steppers drill team will sponsor a beard growing contest in preparation for the Town and Country Jubilee Aug. 20-22. The competition is open to anyone and drill team members will kick off the contest on June 1.

Interested persons may purchase permits from drill team members. They will be selling three types of certificates: shaving permits for those who don't want to grow bears, membership certificates for those who will grow beards, and little shaver permits for young boys who want to participate.

During the week of competition in August, there will be a new beard contest, for those who started growing beards on June 1, and an existing beard contest, for those who already had beards prior to that date. The competition, along with the Jubilee, will take place in Dameron Park.

WHAT'S THE USE? By Bob Wear

"What's the Use?" This is not an uncommon question. In some instances, it may be appropiate; but, in most instances, it is not the wise view. It is usually part of the destructive spirit of defeatism. It comes from not putting forth the effort necessary to inform one's self about the problems and difficulties about which something can be done; something better than giving

There are good trends and bad trends, and they can be identified and separated; and we can know the difference. There are time-tested and well-proven fundamental principles about which something has to be done. They form the structure of our way of life, and they can be preserved and strengthened and appreciated. We must not, in times of testing and trial, turn away from these with the attitude, "what's the

Perhaps we don't care. Is this why we are willing to accept defeat? Surely not, because we must care. The only reason the good and desirable elements of society and civil government have ever existed is because enough people cared enough. When the way was rough, some may have asked, "what's the use?"; but many more knew that the maximum effort was justified, and they made it.

We are finished, when and if we finally begin to say, "what's the use?" Some folk think that this feeling of defeatism is increasing. This, however, is one feeling we cannot afford; because it will undermine our strength and kill our spirit. The important point here is that this unwanted and hurtful downtime can be overcome, and must be overcome.

If defeatism is our mood, we are breaking faith with those who lived before us. If we are thinking or asking, "what's the use?" we are violating the trust and confidence of those who will come after us. We cannot afford to give up, can we? It seems that we should firm-up our determination to work for the preservation and the continuance of the guidelines and standards which have blessed so many for so long. This good work must be done in the home, the school, and in every other area of human thought and action.

If we are looking for justification for giving up, we will find it; but if we look for success we will find it.

-Bob Wear

Car Dealers Donate $323,350 To Senators Against Used-Car Rule

WASHINGTON (AP) -Fifty-six senators who voted to kill a federal rule requiring used-car dealers to warn buyers of known car defects received a total of $323,350 in campaign contributions over the past five years from the chief lobbying group against the rule.

But Frank McCarthy of the National Automobile Dealers Association, spearheaded the lobbying drive, said he doesn't think the donations "changed a single vote." The Senate voted 69-27 Tuesday to veto the Federal Trade Commission regulation which would require the warning.

The congressional veto the first ever of a FTC rule now goes to the House, which is expected to follow the Senate's lead. The House has until May 26 to complete congressional action blocking the plan.

"It doesn't look good for us," said an aide to Rep. Toby Moffett, D-Conn., a key backer of the rule in the

The FTC regulation would require dealers to disclose all known defects in each car they sell and to state whether the vehicle is covered by a warranty.

The rule would make car dealers subject to fines up to $10,000 for failing to disclose defects they know about.

The association's donations, made through its Automobile and Truck Dealers Election Action Committee, went to 36 Republicans and 20 Democrats who voted to throw out the rule, according to Federal Election Commission records.

Eleven other senators nine of them Republicans received contributions but opposed the veto effort.

Backers of the FTC rule blamed the dealers' intensive lobbying campaign for the lopsided vote, but said the campaign contributions were only part of the story.

"Car dealers are respectable citizens in every town in this country," said Sen. Bob Packwood, R-Ore., chairman of the Senate Commerce Committee. "They are often pillars of their community. A senator could think, 'why not give them my vote?"

By vetoing the rule, "we are in essence saying to the

Larvae Die During Takeover

CIUDAD JUAREZ, Mexico (AP) - Cotton farmers who were relieved students did not kill 15 million beneficial insect larvae held hostage for five days now face financial hardship because most of the tiny captives died anyway.

Farmers said the loss of the insects - which feed on the eggs of cotton-threatening boll weevils - would be expensive because more insecticides will now be needed.

Students demanding more money for their school threatened during a five-day siege of a laboratory last week to kill the insects unless the government agreed to negotiate. The protesters ended the takeover Saturday, but assistant lab director Martha Cortez said it was already too late.

Ms. Cortez said Tuesday the deaths were accidental, resulting from changes in temperature in the laboratory during the siege.

Area farmers had pleaded with the students to spare the lives of the insects, which are released at the beginning of the cotton season to control the pests.

Ms. Cortez said the farmers now would have to make at least two extra applications of insecticide on their cotton to make up for the loss. Neither she nor the farmers could produce an estimate of the costs.

The larvae require a temperature of 78 to 80 degrees and humidity of 60 to 70 percent to survive. Ms. Cortez said she returned to lab Saturday to find that 68-degree cold had killed all but about 2.6 million of the larvae.

Lab director Helidoro Luevano said the deaths of the insects were not the fault of the students, who he said treated the lab with respect and even cleaned the building while they held it.

If women are supposed to have a softer nature, the forever barking sergeants aren't interested in finding it. Women are seen marching and chanting "I want to go to Iran, I want to kill an Iranian." Oregon, Pennsylvania Voters Go To Polls

By The Associated Press

Pennsylvania voters living near Three Mile Island voted by a 2-1 margin against restarting the nuclear plant's undamaged reactor in a referendum that the Nuclear Regulatory Commission says will affect its decisions.

"This sends a clear message to the governor and elected officials. It's so decisive, it's better than our wildest dreams," said Kay Pickering of TMI Alert, an anti-nuclear group.

The vote Tuesday was conducted in three counties around the crippled Three Mile Island plant, scene of the nation's worst commercial nuclear power accident three years ago.

In other elections Tuesday, Oregon Gov. Vic Atiyeh easily won renomination for a second term over three Republican challengers, while followers of an Indian guru voted to incorporate a new 2,000-acre city in central Oregon.

In Pennsylvania, Gov. Dick Thornburgh and U.S. Sen. Heinz, Republicans, were unopposed for renomination.

The nuclear power vote concerned one unit of the Three Mile Island plant near Harrisburg, Pa., which has been shut down for three years. In a non-binding referendum in Dauphin, Cumberland and Lebanon counties, voters were asked: "Do you favor restarting TMI Unit 1, which was not involved in the accident on March 28, 1979?"

With 268 of 273 precincts reporting, returns showed 39,910, or 67 percent, voting against restart and 19,644 in favor.

Nuclear Regulatory Com-

would affect decisions by the NRC, which will ultimately decide on any restart.

"I think we can call it a mandate to elected officials." said Susan Reider, of The Bipartisan Committee to Vote No. "We're heartened

Robert C. Arnold, president of GPU Nuclear Corp., which operates the plant, said he was "reluctant to draw firm conclusions from the referendum vote" because of "the light turnout and the difficulty in addressing the complexity of this issue with a simple yes or no answer."

The three counties have 222,091 voters. Both Units 1 and 2 have been shut down since the accident and efforts are under way to clean up radioactive contamination in Unit 2. The Unit 1 restart has been delayed by corroded steam generator tubes and a U.S. Court of Appeals order last week that the psychological impact of the accident on nearby residents must be considered in a decision on restarting the undamaged reactor.

In the Pennsylvania primary, U.S. Rep. Allen Ertel won the Democratic gubernatorial nomination, defeating three other candidates for the right to take on Thornburgh, who is seeking a second four-year term.

With 98 percent of the vote counted, Ertel had 419,021 votes, or 57 percent, to 143,893, or 19 percent, for his closest challenger in the fourman field, political consultant Stephen Douglas.

In the Pennsylvania Senate race, party-endorsed Cyril Wecht won the Democratic nomination and will face Heinz, an heir to the ketchup mission Chairman Nunzio and food processing fortune, Palladino has said the vote in November. With 86 percent

Shuttle Rolled Into Assembly Building

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) - The space shuttle Columbia was towed 300 yards from its hangar early today to an assembly rendezvous with its rockets and fuel tank in preparation for its final test flight this summer.

The 100-ton spacecraft emerged from its hangar at 12:50 a.m. EDT and was swiftly towed on its landing gear into the cavernous Vehicle Assembly Building where the mating operation will take place.

The rollout was more than 13 hours late, a result of miscalculations by ground crews on the time needed to prepare the space plane for towing, said a Kennedy Space Center official.

"No major problems. There were just some bad guesses by technicians on how long it would take to complete each procedure" in the hangar on Tuesday, said spokesman Mark Hess.

The delay was expected to have little or no effect on the start of the reusable spacecraft's fourth mission, the final test flight before the shuttle program becomes operational in November.

The tentative launch date is June 27, but officials here say this may change after the shuttle is moved to the launch site next week.

Filipino Sailors Freed

HOUSTON (AP) Panamanian officials have freed three Filipino sailors under shipboard arrest, but they said two other crewmen will be extradited to Panama to face murder charges stemming from an alleged mutiny.

The three released Tuesday and allowed to return to their homeland had been held in connection with the slaying of their first officer and an alleged plot to kill seven others.

But Panama's Consul General Carmen Crespo de Pinzon said the trio was released "because their involvement was misunderstanding."

She said two other crewmen will be extradited to Panama today to face murder charges.

On Tuesday morning, authorities boarded the freighter Evergreen, docked at the Port of Houston, and questioned the crewmen individually about the murder.

Rodolfo Severino, the consul general of the Philippines, said he was on the ship during some of the questioning but he and his deputy were ordered to leave the ship after two hours because "our presence was influencing statements of the witnesses.'

U.S. authorities became involved after the captain, Amos Hecht, an Israeli, radioed that a mutiny was under way. Agents said the ship's first officer, Dajit Suberoi, 42, of Jullundur, India, was killed in international waters, 110 miles south of Port Eads, La.

Welding Spark Blamed

Two Killed In Explosion

KILGORE, Texas (AP) -A welding spark may have touched off the explosion that killed two refinery workers, hurled debris 800 feet in the air and sent flames soaring to heights visible 16 miles away, officials said.

Two other workers were injured when three storage tanks containing gasoline, naphtha, and diesel fuel exploded Tuesday morning at the Shore Company Inc.

Company officials said the blast destroyed one-third of the plant and caused more than $1 million damage, said Kilgore Fire Chief Paul Duckworth.

Witnesses said the metal tops from the tanks were blown more than 800 feet into the air and the flames were visible in Longview, 16 miles

The blast forced the evacuations of about 760 people in a three-block radius around the refinery for 21/2 hours, including 460 elementary school students who were sent to another school after the explosion.

"We had quite a bit of potential in the fuel involved," said Duckworth.

He said about 150,000 gallons of gasoline, 20,000 gallons of diesel fuel and several thousand gallons of naphtha were stored at the refinery, along with 3,000 gallons of tetraethyl lead and 800 gallons of butane.

Firefighters worked to keep flames away from the lead and acid, Duckworth said.

ABC Wins Third Week of Ratings

NEW YORK (AP) - ABC won the networks' ratings race for the third week in a row, thanks in large measure to "Inside the Third Reich" and a couple of light-hearted specials, figures from the A.C., Nielsen Co. show.

Two programs, CBS' broadcast of the Miss USA Pageant and "Too Close for Comfort" on ABC, finished in a tie for first place in the competition for the week ending 5 for the week.

May 16, and Part I of NBC's 10-hour "Marco Polo" miniseries was third.

But ABC had nine shows in the Top 20, more than any other network, including "It's Not Easy Being Me: Rodney Dangerfield" in 12th place, and "Hollywood: A Gift of Laughter." 17th.

The conclusion of "Inside the Third Reich," a two-part made-for-TV movie, was No.

The rating for ABC was 15.4 to 15.2 for CBS and 13.2 for NBC. The networks say that means in an average minute of prime time, 15.4 percent of the nation's homes with TV were tuned to ABC.

British investor Alan Clore is resolved. S.G. Salt Lake City Attorneys on Tuesday asked U.S. District Judge George OVERWEIGHT?

Cire for a preliminary injunction to stem further efforts by Clore and Zopress Commercial, S.A., to take over the Houston-based natural resources firm.

Clore is conducting a proxy fight and the results will be announced Friday morning in Geneva, Switzerland.

Clore has spent $27.3 million in purchasing 15.4 percent of the shareholdings, and put up his own slate of directors against the company management slate.

The lawsuit, filed last month, contends Clore and other investors violated Securities and Exchange Commission law by secretly forming a "group" to takeover the company. The suit also said that beginning in November 1980, Clore and at least six other parties began purchasing stock.

"If there is no group, there is no case, and there is no group," said Louis A. Craco, an attorney for Clore. Craco argued his client "has continuously and assiduously denied the existence of a group. "The votes have been cast," he said. "The annual meeting has been held. This is the last attempt by GRC to retrieve a losing situation."

Hoyt, Herndon in Record Book

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON AP Sports Writer

Lamarr Hoyt's winning streak is at 13 and counting, while Larry Herndon's home run barrage ended at four in a row, but both players have their names in the record books.

Hoyt, the Chicago White Sox' right-hander, is unbeaten in eight decisions this season and set a club record with his 13th consecutive triumph in a 10-2 rout of the Texas Rangers Tuesday night.

Meanwhile, Herndon, Detroit's left fielder, homered his first three times at bat and drove in seven runs as the Tigers outslugged the Oakland A's 11-9. Since he also homered his final time up Sunday against Minnesota. Herndon tied a major league record of four home runs in as many trips to the plate.

It was the 16th time in major league history a player hit four consecutive home runs over a two-game stretch. Pittsburgh's Ralph Kiner did it twice and the last American Leaguer to accomplish the feat was Baltimore's Don Baylor in 1975.

AL streaks were not limited to Hoyt and Herndon. Elsewhere, the California Angels won their fifth game in a row, defeating the Milwaukee Brewers 4-1; Minnesota rookie Tom Brunansky homered for the third straight game as the Twins outlasted the Baltimore Orioles 8-7, New York's Ron Guidry won his fourth consecutive game as the Yankees downed the Kansas City Royals, the Seattle Mariners blanked the Boston Red Sox 2-0 and the Cleveland Indians edged the Toronto Blue Javs 6-5.

Herndon hit his three home runs against Mike Norris - a three-run blast in the first inning and two-run shots in the third and fifth - but the streak ended in the seventh when he grounded out against Dave Beard.

Lance Parrish also homered for the Tigers, while

Rickey Henderson, Danny Goodwin, Dave McKay and pinch-hitter Jeff Burroughs connected for Oakland. Burroughs' grand slam capped a six-run seventh that tied the score 9-9, but the Tigers went ahead in their half of the seventh on Richie Hebner's single, an infield out and Parrish's two-out single. Singles by Lou Whitaker and Alan Trammell scored Parrish.

White Sox 10, Rangers 2 Chicago backed Hovt's five-hit pitching with a 14-hit attack. Greg Luzinski drove in four runs with a double and two singles, while Carlton Fisk had two singles and three RBIs. Hoyt's 13-game winning streak is four short of the AL mark of 17 consecutive triumphs shared by Johnny Allen of Cleveland in 1936-37 and Dave McNally of Baltimore in 1968-69. Hoyt, who was in the bullpen earlier in the season, has won all five of his starts and the White Sox have given him a total of 52 runs in those games.

Angels 4, Brewers 1

Steve Renko pitched a three-hitter and retired the last 20 batters for his first complete game since 1980 and Bobby Grich hit a two-run homer. Renko completed only one of 23 starts in 1980 and started 15 games without going the route last season. It was his third start of 1982. Twins 8, Orioles 7

A three-run homer by newly acquired rookie Tom Brunansky, his third in the last three games, snapped a 3-3 tie and helped Minnesota end an five-game losing streak and defeat Baltimore for the first time in 13 games. Brunansky, appearing in his fifth game since the Twins obtained him in a trade from the California Angels' farm system, connected in the fifth inning off reliever Jim Palmer.

John Castino singled home what turned out to be the winning run in the top of the ninth as the Twins withstood Baltimore homers by John Lowenstein, Terry Crowley and Jim Dwyer. Yankees 6, Royals 2

Ron Guidry posted his fourth consecutive victory with eighth-inning relief from George Frazier as the Yankees snapped a threegame losing streak.

Guerrero 'Thinks' Home Run; Lifts Dodgers Past Chicago

One thing about Pedro Guerrero: He doesn't think

"I wasn't thinking single or double," the Los Angeles Dodger outfielder said about his trip to the plate Tuesday night leading off the bottom of the ninth inning against the Chicago Cubs. "I was thinking home run."

Guerrero translated his thoughts into action, belting a 3-1 pitch from Bill Campbell into the center field seats at Dodger Stadium.

The result was a dramatic 2-1 victory for the Dodgers over Chicago that saved some embarrassment for reliever Tom Niedenfuer, who had given up the Cubs' tying run

"Seventeen hundred games over 13 years. That's enough."

In a career that makes him a cinch for almost automatic induction into baseball's Hall of Fame, Bench caught 1,738 games, 180 short of Lopez' record and fourth in the alltime list. He left a fielding percentage of .991, less than one point off the National League record set by Johnny Edwards and just two back of Bill Freehan's all-time major league mark.

But statistics fail to record the pain and suffering Bench had to undergo as one of the game's most aggressive and hardest hitting catchers.

"I've had my left foot broken six times and my right foot five times," he said. "I had my little finger broken once while batting. After a game, my legs were so stiff that it would take me several minutes to get comfortable on a plane.

NEW YORK (AP) - The

the two sides in the National Football League's contract talks were ready to go back to the trenches. Representatives from the owners and player's association were to resume talks this morning at the New York Sheraton hotel following a layoff of more than one

The NFL Player's Association representatives walked out of an April 12 meeting, claiming the owners were not bargaining in good faith. The association's counsel, Jim Berthelson, filed an unfairlabor-practice charge the following day and the two sides have not meet since then. The charge is still pending.

NFL Management Council spokesman Jim Miller said last week that the current talks will center on noneconomic issues. He said that management will give the union a proposal to streamline from 60 to 30 days the time in which a player may file a grievence.

Miller said the players union would probably submit a proposal to revamp the waiver system. The union wants players who are waived to be declared free agents. The present system allows teams to acquire waived players in reverse order of the previous year's stanWith the present labor agreement scheduled to expire July 15, the two sides remain far apart on economic issues. The players are demanding that 55 percent of the owners' gross revenues be set aside for salaries. The owners are seeking a much lower figure.

A recent newspaper survey by Pro Football Weekly in Chicago disclosed that fans are upset at both sides for the current contract impasse.

"Both the players and the owners better understand that this is not another baseball strike," said Hub Arkush, the newspaper's publisher, referring to last season's 50-day strike that shutdown the major leagues. "The fans feel very deeply about all this and have threatened to even boycott the telecasting of games to demonstrate their anger."

The survey was based on 5,000 responses from those mailed to the newspaper's 100,000 readers.

The survey also disclosed that fans wanted NFL Commissioner Pete Rozelle to get involved in the talks, serving both sides.

Sizzling 76ers Attempt To Clinch Finals Spot

ing Philadelphia 76ers can clinch their third berth in the National Basketball Association title round in six years tonight by continuing their domination of the out-of-sync Boston Celtics.

Only 10 days ago, that prospect seemed extremely unlikely.

Boston handed the 76ers their worst playoff loss ever, 121-81, on May 9. But Philadelphia bounced back with three straight victories and is a hot team going into the fifth game of the best-otseven Eastern Conference final.

Boston, which lost playmaker Nate Archibald for the series with a dislocated shoulder in a 99-97 third-game loss, has been less organized than it was in compiling the league's best record, 63-19.

Still, the 76ers know all too well that a 3-1 lead doesn't guarantee another shot at the Los Angeles Lakers, who beat them in the 1980 final round and have won this year's Western Conference championship.

"We have a mission, a purpose," said forward Mike Bantom, who joined the 76ers this season. "It's not to win just one game. It's to win four; 3-1 does not win this series."

It didn't last year, when Philadelphia also went out to a 3-1 lead over Boston in the Eastern Conference final, then blew the last three games in the final minutes by a total of five points. "Last year we probably had a feeling that the series was over and there would be no way they would be able to Bench, with 366 home runs back," come said Philadelphia guard Lionel Hollins. "We learned from free agent market to remain that. We learned that it's a the last cylinder in the once seven-game series."

That comeback also taught the Celtics a lesson that could much to me," he said. "I boost their confidence as they have different priorities, and struggle to stay alive in their

BOSTON (AP) - The sizzl- battle for the club's 15th championship and second in a

> Although it's been done only four times, the Celtics feel they can win after trailing 3-1 because they already have accomplished it.

"Being down 3-1 last year is no different than this year other than they know we can do it. We know we can do it," said Boston forward Larry Bird. "It was tough last year. You can't get any harder games than the last three we played."

Last season, Boston trailed Philadelphia by six points with 1:51 left in the fifth game, was tied with 40 seconds left in the sixth, and was behind by nine with 5:23 to go in the seventh.

"I don't think it can be any tougher than last year," said Celtic guard M.L. Carr. 'That was unreal to do that."

However, Boston hasn't been playing as well as it did in the first four games against the 76ers last year. It also will be without Archibald, who had 27 points and 19 assists in the first two games.

"Philadelphia is making everything happen, and we're not doing anything," Bird said. "That can switch around. We know we're capable of winning the championship."

The 76ers last won the NBA title in 1966-67. Ten years later, they lost in the final round to Portland.

Boston's bid to become the first NBA team since the 1967-68 and 1968-69 Celtics to win consecutive championships hinges on its ability to shut down Andrew Toney and to regain its own offensive rhythm.

Toney's average of 25 points per game leads all scorers in the series. He was virtually unstoppable in pouring in 39 points in Sunday's 119-94 win at Philadelphia that put the 76ers up 3-1.

"If we don't find some

I don't think that we can win," said Boston forward Cedric Maxwell, the most valuable player of last year's playoffs. "I don't think there's a legal way in which you can stop him," Philadelphia's Julius Erving, who has averaged 17 points during the series. "He's able to handle the ball and get into his rhythm. His wrists are so strong that he's capable of getting his shot off against any type of pressure."

With Archibald out, Boston has had trouble adjusting to Gerald Henderson as the starting playmaker.

"We're not cohesive on offense at all," said Henderson, who prefers to stay outside and stick to set plays more than Archibald, who likes to penetrate to the basket and create opportunities.

"If our outside shots were falling," Bird said, Philadelphia's doubleteaming of Boston big men Maxwell, Robert Parish and Kevin McHale wouldn't be a problem. "Kevin, Max and Robert can start scoring a lot easier in there because somebody's got to start guarding their man. They can't be playing a zone all night long."

Boston didn't lose three consecutive games during the regular season and never has lost four straight in Bill Fitch's three years as coach. The Celtics had the NBA's best home record this season, 35-6, but Philadelphia's 26-15 road mark is worse than only Boston and Los Angeles.

If Boston wins tonight, Game Six will be Friday night in Philadelphia. A seventh game, if necessary, would be here Sunday.

Farmer-Owned Cooperatives Disappearing

WASHINGTON (AP) -More than 2,000 farmerowned cooperatives disappeared during the decade of the '70s, half of them going completely out of business for various reasons, says the Agriculture Department.

department's Agricultural Cooperative Service said Monday that its master list showed there were 7,790 farm co-ops in 1969-70. By 1979, the list was down to 6,445 co-ops.

Although the net loss was 1,345 cooperatives during the decade, the difference was accounted for by more than 600 co-ops which came into existence during that period.

The analysis was included in the May issue of Farmer Cooperatives distributed Monday. It was written by Diane Moore, a statistical assistant in the agency.

Fifty percent or 1,000 cooperatives went out of business in the decade, the report said. The reasons most often given were declining business or membership, financial trouble or poor management.

Other reasons for the decline in co-op numbers in--Nearly 18 percent or 352 cooperatives were merged or consolidated. -About 13 percent or 261 were acquired by another organization or cooperative.

-Almost 10 percent or 195 were no longer operating as cooperatives.

-More than 10 percent or 204 organizations could no longer be located, refused to provide information identifying them as bona fide farmer cooperatives or could not be identified for other miscellaneous reasons.

"If the number of cooperatives going out of business, merging, consolidating or being acquired by other cooperatives or noncooperatives continues at the same pace as during the 1970s, there will be fewer than 5.000 by the end of this decade," the report said.

Agricultural Cooperative Service wants to keep its records as up to date as possible, it said.

"If farmers have organized a new cooperative recently or if a cooperative has discontinued operating for one of the reasons mentioned, Banvel Herbicide: broadleaf weed control in sorghum without carryover.

Lock up your broadleaf weed problems not your planting flexibility - with nocarryover Banvel* Herbicide. Banvel lets you rotate to a variety of crops next year without fear of damage from herbicide Banvel Herbicide controls your toughest broadleaf weed problems in grain sorghum: pigweed, cocklebur, sunflower, velvetleaf, morningglory and dozens more.

Apply Banvel early . . . when sorghum is in the 2- to 5-leaf stage. For the most effective, most economical broadleaf weed control, apply Banvel when weeds are seedlings, less than 3 inches tall. An early season application of Banvel Herbicide stops tough broadleaf weeds before they can seriously slow your sorghum development.

Ask your ag chem distributor for Banvel Herbicide — to control broadleaf weeds as long as you need it . . . but not next year when you don't.

Falkland Crisis Won't Bring Special Benefits

WASHINGTON (AP) -American farmers may not see any significant benefits in their grain export situation as a result of the Falklands Islands crisis, 'according to one Agriculture Department expert.

The Soviet Union has halted at least temporarily its purchases of grain from Argen-

But James Parker of the department's Foreign Agricultural Service said Tuesday that the Soviet Union has not bought significant amounts of grain from Argentina since January. Argentina invaded the Falkland Islands on April 2.

For that matter, he said, the Soviets have not bought any grain from the United States for two months.

"It's got a lot more to do with their buying strategy than anything related to the Falklands," he told The Associated Press.

Parker, deputy director for analysis in the agency's grain and feed division, was asked to comment on a British Broadcasting Corp. report that the Soviet Union has temporarily stopped buying grain from Argentina, possibly as a result of the Falklands crisis.

Less than half of this year's expected grain contracts have been signed by Moscow, the BBC said.

It noted that this was "probably of more immediate economic concern" to Argentina than Common Market trade sanctions protesting the invasion of the Falkland Islands.

The Soviet Union is the largest purchaser of Argentine grain.

Parker served as U.S. agricultural counselor in Buenos Aires before returning to the Agriculture Department last December. Prior to his assignment in Argentina in February 1980, he was an assistant U.S. agricultural attache in London.

One reason cited in the BBC report for the lull in Soviet grain buying could be the cancellation by Lloyds, the international insurance underwriters, of war risk coverage on any ships trading with Argentina or sailing in the South Atlantic. The cancellation takes effect

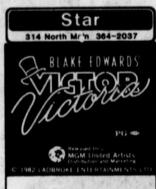

However, Parker said the British war zone announcements have been "very careful about what that implies for commercial shipping" between Argentina and other countries.

"Grain shipments continue very, very heavy," he said. 'April shipments were a record for the month of April, and shipments in the first half of May have been very

Asked in the telephone interview whether the Soviet Union will continue to be a good customer of Argentina and the United States, irrespective of the Falklands crisis, Parker replied: "There is no reason to doubt otherwise, unless the military aspects of the situation balloon dramatically."

Amazing Diet Breakthrough: CUT CALORIES BUT NOT CONSUMPTION

At last, medical science has discovered a way to lose weight without reducing caloric intake. No more strict regimentation, fad diets, or gnawing hunger pains! Eat regular, nutritious, well-balanced meals and still lose weight.

Eleven years of scientific research

A noted Biochemist directed twenty-five other scientists in an eleven-year research study that discovered an incredibly effective diet aid.

The scientific team noted that when laboratory animals were fed uncooked kidney beans, undigested starch was found in their digestive systems. Evidence suggested that some substance in the raw beans prevented the digestion of starch. After years of painstaking research, the scientists isolated the substance and named it Special Legume Protein Concentrate (SLPC).

Caloric absorption blocked

SLPC performs it's magic by prohibiting the carbohydratedigesting enzyme, alpha-amylase, from digesting carbohydrates in the digestive tract. When SLPC is ingested prior to eating a meal containing starchy foods such as potatoes, rice, breads and pasta the SLPC inhibits the alphaamylase from working. Undigested starch passes through the digestive tract and is eliminated-calories and all.

Convienient tablet formulation

Until now, SLPC has been restricted to use by physicians. But because SLPC is not a drug and is harmless when taken in combination with a variety of healthy foods, Nutrion Corporation has made this miraculous dietary breakthrough available to the public in tablet form, STARCH-LITE.

One STARCH-LITE tablet, taken at the beginning of each meal or snack, inhibits the ingestion of 400 starch calories--the amount of starch found in four baked potatoes, four slices of bread, two cups of rice, or two cups of pasta. While it is unlikely to consume such quantities of any one food in one meal, many fruits and vegetables also contain large amounts of starch, and thus each STARCH-LITE tablet is formulated to block the average starch content of one meal.

Food c	Total alories	Starch calories blocked by TARCH-LITE r	Calories
Bread, one slice	110	100	10
Rice, 1 cup cooked	200	180	20
Macaroni, 1 cup cooke	d 210	168	42
Corn, 1 cup	174	160	14
Potato, 1 medium bake	d 120	100	20
Banana	120	104	16

The STARCH-LITE difference

Unlike most starch blockers on the market, STARCH-LITE is more than just granulated beans. The STARCH-LITE formulation includes a highly concentrated portion of the effective SLPC ingredient.

In addition to inhibiting carbohydrate absorption, STARCH-LITE tablets have been formulated with a bulking agent which serves as an appetite suppressant. In the stomach, each STARCH-LITE tablet expands to fifty times it's original size, creating a full, satisfied feeling which naturally reduces your desire for food.

Safe and stable weight loss

One STARCH-LITE tablet taken with every meal results in pound after pound of excessive weight loss. You'll realize losses of five to ten pounds almost immediately. But most importantly, your weight will come off and stay off. With the continued use of STARCH-LITE, you'll never again have to suffer the frustrations of dieting.

A time to begin

NUTRION CORPORATION introduces STARCH-LITE to the market with a limited TWO WEEK INTRODUCTORY OFFER. Order today to take advantage of this special price and to join the thousands of other customers who are now enjoying this simple, effective diet breakthrough.

Persistence will help

DEAR DR. LAMB — I am 32-year-old female. Recently I lost 27 pounds with a diet and a whole lot of will power. But I have not lost inches in my stomach, which is 37 inches, or my thighs which are 23 inches. I have started to ride a stationary bicycle. Will I benefit as much from this as I would a regular bike? Will this help my stomach and thighs? How long before I see results? How many minutes a day should I ride? DEAR READER - Congratulations on your weight oss. One of the most important aspects of reducing an enlarged stomach is to lose body fat. There is about as much fat inside the abdomen as there is outside under the skin. If you don't lose the internal fat you cannot hope to reduce the abdomen a great deal. Of course if you just happened to have a tumor or be pregnant then you might be pretty unsuccessful in shrinking your abdomen. It seems like the last place a person loses fat is from the place where you want to lose it. Your face gets thin but your abdomen stays fat. But persistence will do the trick or at least improve matters.

Bicycling will help use calories, converting the calories of energy to mechanical energy. To the extent that helps you lose fat stores it is helpful. Don't expect it to tighten your abdominal muscles. Walking and jogging don't either. You need to do sit ups, modified leg lifts and exercises to strengthen and tighten your trunk muscles. Posture is also important. Walking, cycling and running, unless uphill or up stairs, do not require you to contract your abdominal muscles. That is why these exercises won't strengthen your abdominal muscles to help control your girth.

Outdoor bicycling uses about half as much energy per mile as walking a mile and about a third as much energy as jogging a mile. Stationery bicycles vary greatly and many have adjustments you can make for more or less effort.
