DAN WELTY Brand Staff Writer

A "get tough" policy towards fireworks in the Hereford city limits has been adopted by Hereford Fire Marshal Jay Spain. Spain cites the number of firework-related fires last year as the reason for the campaign against fireworks in the city.

According to Spain, in the period from June 26, 1973 until July 16, 1973, the Hereford Fire Department answered alarms on six grass fires, two dumpster fires, and a fire that destroyed a barn. Spain said all were caused by fireworks. The fire marshal also pointed out this year is dryer than last year, and fires will ignite easier.

As part of the campaign against fireworks, Spain said the Fire Department would seize and destroy any fireworks found in the city. In addition, the Fire Marshal will enforce a city ordinance banning the manufacture or storage of fireworks within the city limits, and 5000 feet beyond the city limits.

City ordinance 286 under section XI-A of the Zoning and Building Permit Ordinances of the city of Hereford, amended in 1964, says: "No building or land, located within 5000 feet of the city limits of the city of Hereford... shall be used, and no building hereafter be erected or structurally altered... which is arranged or designed for...the manufacture or storage of explosives."

Spain said according to the Department of Transportation, fireworks were classified as Class B and Class C explosives, and thast some fireworks might contain Class A explosives, though in limited amounts.

Tuesday Spain checked highways to 5000 feet beyond the city limits, and locations in the city limits where fireworks are usually sold. The fire marshal said he found fireworks stands in violation of the city ordinance on Highway 385 north, and on Highway 385

Cof C Holds Quarterly Meet

After acknowledging previous acts by the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce, Roy Faubion, president, urged Chamber members Tuesday to continue striving to make Hereford and the county a better place to live and work.

FAUBION, guest speaker for the chamber's quarterly report to members, compared Hereford to a lumberjack whose production had fallen because the lumberjack had been too busy to sharpen his axe.

"I think this is what has happened to Hereford and Deaf Smith County and perhaps some of this area around here." Faubion said. "Hereford always has been and is now, the enchantment spot of the Panhandle. And in large part, I think the Chamber of Commerce through the years can take much of the credit which means the people have done the work."

He continued, "But we've arrived at a time in the last two or three years when the world has begun to change and we are being forced to change with it. And we are not content, as I think you feel, along with me, just to stay up with the crowd, we want to be out in front."

TWO AREAS the chamber is especially interested in, Faubion said, is dustrial development and development of people resources. He said an industrial team formed of local people has had training to sell Hereford and the county as an attractive industrial area to companies looking for relocation sites.

Bill Albright, executive vice president of the chamber, reviewed chamber activities for the first half of 1974 and enumerated tasks yet to be completed. Upcoming chamber events include a July 4 celebration, tennis tournament, AAU Junior Olympic Track Meet, agricultural tour for visiting students, West Texas Chamber of Commerce Convention, and a number of seminars on various topics.

ALBRIGHT said the chamber would continue vigorous efforts to obtain a YMCA-type facility for Hereford. The chamber members extended a wish of good luck to Susie Hickman, Miss Hereford of 1974, who will compete for the Miss Texas title July 4 in Fort Worth.

Special recognition was given to Mr. and Mrs. Pete Caviness for their remodeling of the chamber facilities at 701 N. Main. Faubion presented them with a plaque.

HISD Gets Grant For Bilingual Education

Hereford Independent School District received word Tuesday from U.S. Congressman George Mahon the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare has granted $70,400 to the district for bilingual education.

According to Title 7 of the Elementary and Secondary Educational Act (ESEA), the grant's purpose is the "development and operation of new programs, services and activities which meet the special educational needs of children 3-18 years of age who have limited English speaking ability and who come from environments where the dominant language is not English."

THE PROGRAM is to start July 1. 1974 and extend through June 30, 1975. The nationally funded grant is the first part of a proposed five-year project for bilingual students.

Ed McCreary, director of federal programs for Hereford schools, said Tuesday the money would be used to hire 12 bilingual teacher aides for first grade and to buy $9,000 worth of bilingual materials for students.

McCreary said the bill making bilingual education compulsory in public schools having 20 or more students in any grade whose dominant language other than English was passed in the last session of Texas legislature.

"WE, and schools like us, due to state lawmakers," he said, "must go into bilingual education, but very few state funds are available. The state's money is now used for teacher training for 1974 plus $10 per student to buy bilingual materials McCreary, who wrote the proposal for the Title 7 grant, said the HISD's plan is to have typically one bilingual and two monolingual teachers in elementary schools and two bilingual aides. "This team of five people, with team teaching. will conduct the bilingual program," he Six Hereford bilingual teachers attended a workshop conducted here by the Texas Education Agency June 11 to June 14. Monolingual teachers are attending a workshop here which began Tuesday and will end Aug. 2.

ALL OF the Hereford first grade students will be involved in the program. McCreary said.

The bilingual act as passed by the state calls for the program to be continued from grade one to grade six, McCreary said, but most school districts interpret the bill to say the continuance of the program after the third grade is up to local school boards.

AUSTIN--Consumer Three grades of beef are currently marketed at the retail level, U.S. Prime, U.S. Choice and U.S. Good. Choice is the favorite of most consumers and is sold in most retail stores. Prime beef is liberally marbled, tender, juicy and flavorful. Choice is of high quality with less fat than Prime. Good is lean beef of fairly good quality. It has less flavor than Prime and Choice but because of its high proportion of lean to fat it contains more protein per weight. White said there is a move to introduce a new grade of beef between Choice and Good into the market. As yet unnamed, the grade would have less marbling than Choice beef and would include the best meat now marketed as Good.

"Good," White said, "has become a catch-all for cattle of different sizes and ages. Therefore, quality within the grade varies considerably."

A consumer bonus if the category is adopted might be lower beef prices. Cattle would be fed for a shorter period than Choice animals, and the savings would be passed along.

THIS IS NO pipedream. It is based upon a recent Department of Commerce study of lifetime income, as determined by educational attainment and other factors. The estimated earning power of the average young man in Deaf Smith County, for the 45 years or so that he will be working, takes into account the amount of schooling he has received and the present level of income in the area, as

In general, the average high school graduate will earn approximately $135,000 more during his lifetime than a person with only an elementary school diploma. By the same token, the college graduate stands to make

$279,000 more than the man who has completed only high school, the report states. IN DEAF Smith County, the educational level of the population is relatively high and is steadily moving higher. The median amount of schooling being acquired by local men by the time they reach age 25 is 11.0 years. This is more than many sections of the country.

Nationally, there has been an upward trend in the proportion of males going beyond high school. It rose 50 per cent in the last 15 years.

Critics of oil company profits, the cost of natural gas and the depletion allowance will be interested in the outcome of a gas well recently drilled just 80 miles west of Oklahoma City.

On Wall Street

The "deepest well yet" was drilled by Lone Star Gas with three other minor partners and the tab was $6-million for the dry hole. The well had gone to a depth of 31,441 ft. (just a few feet short of 6 miles into the earth's crust) before hitting liquid sulfer. Hydrogen sulfide began eating away the drill string and the well had to be plugged at the 14,000 ft. mark. THE WELL USED enough steel drilling pipe to erect a 14 story building and also required an expensive high-tensile-steel drill pipe and special drilling fluids. This well happened to be just 19 miles from another dry hole which went down over 30,000 ft. and cost $5.5 million dollars. Lone Ltar Gas headed that venture also. The number of wells drilled to depths below 20,000 ft. were 74 in 1973 compared to 49 in 1972 and 57 in 1971. The wells averaged $2-million a piece and the success ratio is about 46 per

Fungus Gives Big Bonanza

By BOB HILL Lentz, Newton & Co., Amarillo

Suddenly a fungus, isolated by government research scientist seeking an answer to the nagging problem of jungle rot, has become the hottest discovery of the past 50 years. The super-fungus (trichoderma viride) will grow in any substance containing cellulose. After 5 to 10 days, the solids are filtered out and the resulting liquid or residue will turn cellulose into glucose in 48 hours. The glucose can then be converted to food or fuel.

The scientists have converted old newspapers, cardboard cartons and even manure into yeast and ethanol. The ethanol can be blended with gasoline on a 90 per cent gasoline to 10 per cent ethanol mixture. Some chemists have successfully run automobiles on a 80-20 mixture.

The potential of the superfungus is mind-boggling, It means that 1,000 lbs. of city trash can be converted into 500-700 lbs. of glucose per month in the laboratory. Scientists estimate that 3-million tons of city and farm trash will convert into enough ethanol to offset a shortage of 5-million barrels of oil per day. Although enthanol (grain alcohol) is more expensive than gasoline today, the super-fungus process will make it competitive with gasoline.

Scientists are even more enthusiastic about the food possibilities of the superfungus. Asian countries with large quantities of rice hulls (rich in cellulose) are anxious to begin converting these into protein using the super-fungus process, which will produce a single-cell yeast, suitable for livestock today, and hopefully for humans tomorrow.

A pilot plant is in operation now and economic feasibility tests are underway. A key problem is preparing the raw waste for mixing with the enzyme solution. Two methods of grinding up trash are being used and researchers are studying other methods.

The super-fungus process is already competitive in price with glucose produced from corn starch treated with acids. Experts believe that superfungus glucose will be much less expensive than the corn starch product when produced in large volume.

The Bronco League major division Yankees put together a 7-run third inning Tuesday night to down the Dodgers 12-5 and win the Bronco League major division by two games to one over the Dodgers. Both teams were unbeaten throughout the season with the exception of losses to each other. The championship game Tuesday night was the fifth meeting of the teams this season, and the fourth time in eight days. The Yanks were victorious in the end, however, sporting a 15-2 record to the Dodgers 14-3 season mark.

The Dodgers were plagued with pitching problems in the final game. Paul Torres started the contest, but was pulled out in the third inning after giving the Yankees seven runs. Dick Torres went on the mound for the Dodgers with the bases loaded, and gave up three more runs before the inning ended.

David Moreno went the distance for the Yanks, giving up eight hits and five runs. Moreno pitched three innings of the first game of the best of three series and pitched the third game. Earnie Suarez was the losing pitcher of the second

Much of their weeken hunting is done in mid-November and during the Christmas holidays near San Angelo where they have a deer lease. Looking back on her hunting experiences, Mrs. Milburn reflects an incident in which she ran upon a rattle snake at the hunting area.

"I found myself looking straight into the face of a big rattler and instead of shooting it, I froze. I suppose it was more afraid of me than I was because it drifted away. What is ironic about the situation is that that was the first rattler anyone had spotted in that particular area."

QUITE a contrast to her love of hunting is her unique ability to decorate cakes. Mrs. Milburn has been trimming cakes for the public for three years. She is vice-president of the Sweet 'N' Fancy Decorating Club and is also serving as vice-president of Young Homemakers Extension has been named chairman of the Breath of Life Campaign to fight children's lung diseases, ac-cording to Mrs. J.H. Grizzard, president of the Lone Star Chapter, National Cystic Fibrosis Research Foundation.

Welty will lead local volunteers in raising funds to support research and care programs for children affected by lung-damaging diseases like cystic fibrosis, severe asthma. chronic bronchitis, bronchiectasis, and a condition called "childhood emphysema."

Cystic fibrosis, an incurable genetic disease, is inherited hen both parents carry the recessive gene for C/F. It is believed that one in 20 persons or 10 million Americans may carry the C/F gene, usually without knowing it. Current research funded by the National Cystic Fibrosis Research Foundation is seeking a practical test to identify these carriers.

Because of improved therapy and constant research, many C/F patients are living beyond infancy to their teens and into young adulthood. hat same kind of therapy is relieving and often curing children suffering from other respiratory afflictions whose symptoms resemble those of C/F.

"Most people don't realize that there are six million children in the U.S. affected by pulmonary illness," said Welty. "For some of these children, breathing is not the national function we, who are lucky, take for granted." The Breath of Life Campaign supports not only research but over 100 C/F Centers for diagnosis and treatment across the country, six of which are located within Texas.

Girlstown Open House Announced

The 25th anniversary of Girlstown U.S.A. will be observed at the annual open house July 13 in its original location at Whiteface. Everyone interested in this residence for girls of all ages who have no other suitable home, is invited to visit the facility for an afternoon program and Highlight of the program, which begins at 2:30 p.m., is the crowning of Miss Girlstown 1974. The barbecue dinner will be seved afterward, beginning about 4 p.m. The event is scheduled this year on a Saturday afternoon instead of on Sunday as in the past.

Viola Williams, a member of the board of directors and a longtime supporter of Girlstown, announces that persons here who have contributed to Girlstown, either individually or through clubs or church groups, are especially invited to attend the open house. A number of organizations ere have been substantial contributors to this home for girls during its 25-year history. Notably, Hereford Lions Club has made large donations and presents gifts to the residents each Christmas, and Beta Sigma Phi Sorority has made Girlstown a national project with regular support in addition to the aid which separate chapters includ-ing those in Hereford give to the Merchants of this city and many individuals make gifts, especially at Christmastime, and several clubs and classes "adopt" girls to assist in various ways.

when the season is right, the young boys head for the lake or river to fish. Out only for a good time, they don't depend on their catch for food. Even when their luck is bad, the outing is worthwhile. Many years ago another small boy went fishing for his evening meal. His luck was not very good, for he only caught two fish. Luckily he had some bread with him to go with his fish. But not much, it would seem. On his way home, he saw a crowd following a preacher. He was intrigued by the Man and followed Him. After reaching a grassy hill, the Preacher spoke to them. It was late when He finished His message. The people were all hungry but there was no food. Sensing their hunger, the small boy offered Jesus his meager fare. Then Jesus multiplied it until it became enough for all five thousand people. The catch that had earlier seemed so very small, with God's help, became very big indeed.

Sometimes we seem to hold back, feeling that we have so little to offer. But like that little boy, we should give our meager fare. With God's help, the results can be fantastic. FIRST METHODIST CHURCH Dr. Jordan Grooms, Pastor of the plants survive, Supak says, replanting is unnecessary since tillering will compensate for the reduced stand. If replanting becomes necessary, the limited growing season in this area may necessitate the use of an earlier maturing hybrid.

Damaged Sorghum Does Best When Left Alone

Grain sorghum crops that are damage hail in most cased should be left alone rather than replanted, says a Lubbockbased agronomist.

If approximately 75 per cent

Even if replanting can be avoided, he points out, hail damage during the 7-to 10-leaf stage will have detrimental effects on yields. Research conducted at Panhandle State College in Goodwell, Okla., has per cent of the leaves are yields are reduced by approximately 8, 10 and 25 per cent, respectively. In addition, the susceptibility of the plant to disease and insects (especially the sorghum midge) is increased by reduced vigor and delayed maturity.

The agonomist cautions that replanting wil' not necessarily alleviate these pitfalls since the faster maturing hybrids generally have lesser yield potentials and are also susceptible to midge if planted late in the season.

REPRODUCTIVE GROWTH STAGE Following the 7-to10leaf stage, the sorghum plants enter the reproductive growth stage and hail damage becomes a more serious problem. A severe storm can not only destroy leaves but also may damage or destroy the head in its formative stages. Still, recovery tends to be rapid.

Plants with injury to the growing point and forming heads develop tillers at the uppermost non-damaged joints and these will eventually form heads. On the other hand, some plants will escape injury to developing heads; although these plants may also tiller, the original heads will still emerge, bloom, and mature.

A producer faces at least three alternatives when his crop is damaged: (1) leave things as they are and settle for a crop that will mature unevenly, (2) shred the stalks to a height of about 6 inches and force all plants to tiller uniformly, or (3) destroy the grain crop and plant millet or other alternate crop.

The producer's decision rests largely on when the damage occurred and its severity. Supak explained. Panhandle State College research has shown that when 25, 50, 75 and 100 per cent of the leaves are removed from healthy plants during the boot stage, yield reductions of approximately 10, 40, 70 and 95 per cent, respec-

However, if most of the leaves remain on the plant, even though they are severely mutilated, the yield reduction will be less severe. In this case, tively, can be expected.

it would be profitable to allow the damaged crop to go to completion.

BLOOM AND MILK STAGES 'Grain sorghum is most vulnerable to hail injury during the bloom and early milk stages," the specialist notes. "Obviously, the heads are fully exposed to the full brunt of blows administered by flying ice. This effect, howeveer, may be relatively minor compared the impairment of photosynthetic activity caused by defoliation.

Reduced photosynthesis during the bloom and early milk stage will adversely affect seed development and result in shrunken seed and low test weights. Additional problems also are created by subsequent tillering which results in uneven maturity.

"There is not much a producer can do about this type of damage," he emphasizes. "Unless he has an early planting of a fast-maturing hybrid, it is generally too late in the season to shred and make a uniform second crop.

"If the damage is so severe that the crop has little or no yield potential, a grower might consider overseeding the stubble with small grain for early grazing, or he might destroy the crop and prepare the land for wheat."

Supak says that hail injury incurred after the milk stage is usually less damaging than at the bloom stage. Complete defoliation during the soft dough stage cut yields in half, according to the Oklahoma research studies, whereas removal of 75 per cent of the leaves reduced yields by only 15 20 per cent. Although damage during the later growth stages can be expensive, it is not nearly as devastating as that which can occur during the bloom stage.

Butz Blamed For Beef Bind

In a statement released from the Waco office, Texas Farmers Union President Jay Naman charged that Secretary of Agriculture Butz "has little understanding of the severity of the livestock price situation," which Naman says is a direct result of government policy.

"Since the depression which has struck the livestock industry was set into motion by government policy, it is the responsibility of government to correct the situation," Naman said.

The head of the Waco based general farm organization charged the Nixon administration with starting the long down-trend of livestock prices by imposing price con-trols on beef and suspending the import quotas.

"Secretary Butz's program to talk the chain stores into reducing red meat prices along with a token purchase program will have little more than a temporary effect on livestock prices, if any," according to the arm leader.

"If Butz wants to help livestock producers, he must convince the President to rescind the order suspending import quotas until livestock markets begin to react. He must then show his determination to help the producer with a meat purchase program by requiring the processors who contract with the government to supply the meat to pay a fair price to producers for the live animals. "A massive meat purchase program without a guarantee that the processors will pay a fair price will provide windfall profits to the packers and not help the producer."

"The Administration should support the proposals in Congress to provide emergency low-cost disaster loans to the cattle feeders. Stocker and feeder cattle are going begging because the feedyards have lost confidence in the future and are in such a serious financial predicament that they are unable to move back into market to refill feedlots.

"A loan program that is designed to provide incentive said. for livestock feeders to continue their operations would go a long way toward bolstering the prices on stocker and fe cattle that are being moved from drought stricken pastures in the southwest," the state farm leader said.

Naman said that he felt that it was time for the Administration to move decisively and without delay to correct the situation for which it is in part to blame. He pointed out that today's livestock market conditions parallel very closely what happened when Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson was in office. "The situation today is worse than in the early '50's when Secretary Benson and then assistant, Earl Butz, stood idly by while livestock prices declined 100 per cent in a matter of a few months.

"I hope that Secretary Butz has learned something since then, and will do something other than preside over the bankruptcy of thousands of livestock producers," Naman

County Cotton Crop Exceeds 2,000 Bales

Official figures from the Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service in Austin show 2,100 bales of 480 pounds of net weight cotton produced in Deaf Smith County during 1973. The production came from 3,000 harvested acres for an average of 333 pounds per acre.

In the 25 counties represented by Plains Cotton Growers (PCG), 2,888,600 bales were recorded from 2,784,000 harvested acres. This averaged just over 498 pounds per acre.

The figures were given to PCG by phone on June 20. The TCLRS publication "Texas Cotton Statistics" for 1973 is expected out in about 10 days.

The total production was the nighest ever for the Plains, well above the previous record of 2,448,900 bales set in 1961. The yield per acre was the second behind the 513 pounds per acre made in 1965.

The joint PCG-Lubbock Cotton Exchange Estimates Committee in its final 1973 guess on December 1 of last year placed production at 2,725,000 bales.

Dawson County, with 315,300 bales, for the second year producer. Lubbock's total was close behind at an even 310,000 bales. In third place was Lynn County where 275,800 bales were harvested, compared to only 210,500 bales grown in Gaines County, the 1972 third ranking county. The highest per-acre yield in 1973 was achieved by farmers in Borden County where each harvested acre turned out 644 are others considerably more pounds of lint. Following pessimistic.

Borden in this category was Martin County with 599 pounds per acre and Howard with 593 pounds. Floyd, Crosby and Borden Counties were the top per-acre producers in 1972 with 616, 605 and 559 pounds per acre, respectively.

The joint PCG-LCE Estimates Committee will meet running edged out Lubbock early in July for its first County as the area's top estimate of what are acknowledged as greatly reduced 1974 crop prospects. Most observers are agreed that drought, hail and winds have cut Plains acreage for this year to around 2.1 million acres, and that yields can't possibly equal the excellent outturn of 1973. At least one knowledgeable source is placing production potential at 1.5 million bales, but there Predator control work in the United States is caught in a crossfire. The crossfire is between those who advocate no control at all and some who want to eliminate all pests.

Between these two extremes are many varying shades of 'Research by Texas Agricultural Experiment Station scientists is striving to clear up many of the unproved ideas that have evolved from years of unevaluated predator control work. Our goal is to gain data and information for sound decisions," said Dr. Jarvis E. Miller, director of the TAES, the state's agricultural research agency.

A TAES scientist, Dr. Samuel

L. Beasom, assistant professor of Wildlife and Fisheries Sciences at Texas A&M University, did an intensive, objective study on the impact of predation on game animals and rodents in South Texas in 1971 and 1972.

Beasom gathered data on the selectivity and efficiency of M-44's, hunting, strychnine baits and steel traps.

"The M-44 and hunting proved to be the most selective, each taking only target species. The M-44, which is a stringloaded device that ejects a sodium cyanide capsule, was the most efficient tool for taking coyotes while bobcats were taken more efficiently with steel traps. Hunting is obviously very selective, but the time involved weighs against it as a practical management tool, except in the case of sport hunting," Beasom said.

trudis Division of King Ranch in Kleberg County. Data were taken from two study areas similar in vegetation, soil, water, and predator and prey populations. A five-mile separation minimized interarea influences.

Beasom compared results of predator removal on the experimental area to a check program on the control area where no predators were

His experiment showed that an intensive short-term predator control program to improve reproductive per-formance of white-tailed deer and wild turkeys could be successful if started just prior to the breeding season. But environmental conditions are also an important consideration, the research indicated.

"During drought years it seemed that predator removal could mean the difference between virtual failure or relatively high reproductive success for the deer and turkeys. In years of abundant rainfall, however, reproductive success was relatively high without intense predator removal, indicating that removal may not be justified in these years unless a more intensive game harvesting program created a need," Beasom said

Another finding showed that the intensive, short-term removal program did not harm the biological balance in this particular study area.

Predator populations were apparently affected very little, Beasom's experiment was since they repopulated the conducted on the Santa Ger- experimental area each year when removal operations ceased. Rodent populations did not increase. In fact, Beasom's data indicated that mammalian predators had no effect on dent numbers either in a year of rodent scarcity or abun-

'However," Beasom said. "such a program might be biologically unsound in areas inhabited by rare predators or rare non-target animals because of possible detrimental effects of the predator control

When asked about nontarget species that had been trapped or killed by the predator control methods used, Beasom said the losses of nontarget species might be justifiable if, due to predator removal, the species produced many more animals than had been accidentally

"The limited data available on this relationship indicate that, indeed, nontarget species may have a net gain in numbers after predator control operations," Beasom added.

Though Beasom's research answers many questions, others need answering. TAES is planning more research in the vestigate the impact on 1) predation on wildlife and livestock and on 2) methods of reducing predator losses.

Beasom's philosophy is that predator removal is justifiable only if it is economically productive in reducing predator losses with little harm to the environment.

Census Reports Need Records

"Farmers and ranchers, get ready for the 1974 Census of Agriculture! Keep good records of your farming perations this year!"

This is the request of the Bureau of the Census, the Federal agency that will conduct the 20th nationwide Census of Agriculture during the first part of 1975. The Bureau is part of the U.S. Department of Commerce's Social and Economic Statistics Administration.

Farmers will receive their report forms by mail early in January. They should fill them out and mail them back promptly. Having accurate and detailed records will make it easy for farmers to do this. Questions will be much like those in the last previous agriculture census which covered farming and ranching during 1969.

Questions will ask for acreage of cropland harvested; quantity and market value of major crops produced; acres irrigated and means of irrigation; farm.

poultry will cover the number of each kind on the farm as well as the number sold and the sales value.Quantities and sales value of their products will be sought.

Details will be requested about farm products produced or marketed under contract. A few questions will be included about ired and contract labor, the number of workers and cash wages paid; also about any injuries to workers.

Further expenditure questions will cover amounts spent for feed, fertilizer. pesticides, lime, gasoline and other farm fuels, machine hire, and livestock and poultry purchases.

There will be questions about the various types and uses of land, such as cropland not harvested, other pasture and woodland, and about the value of land and buildings on the

The American National Cattlemen's proposed "New Grade" addition to the current grading system deserves 'careful consideration" by the U.S. Department of Agriculture and the beef industry, members of the 27th annual Reciprocal Meat Conference learned

Dr. Z.L. Carpenter of the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station and the A&M University Animal Science Department said there is little doubt that the transfer of conformation from the quality grade criteria has merit. Carpenter said New Grade offers opportunity to various segments of the industry, especially if future conditions are such that a lower percentage of the fed-beef supply will qualify for the Choice grade under present standards.

"It is clear that a new system for objectively determining ultimate palatability must be developed and incorporated into our grading system," the speaker said. "Until this happens, it appears that the American National Cattlemen's approach to modifying grade standards merits careful consideration."

Wheat Yield To Plummet

It's watermelon pickin' and eatin' time in Texas, and, as any old-timer will tell you, a good thump is one way to find the best melon in the lot.

According to Agriculture Commissioner John C. White, however, there are other - and possibly better ways to judge a ripe, juicy melon.

"The best one is to cut a plug so the meat can be seen and tasted," White said. "But your neighborhood grocer or supermarket manager may not understand when you start cutting away at his melons before you buy. So here are a few other tips to go by."

Though nothing offers proof positive, several outward signs are a guide to ripeness and quality. These include a firm, symmetrica! shape, fresh attractive appearance and good color. Color will vary from a deep solid green to gray, depending on the variety.

Mature melons have a velvety bloom or dull rather than shiny surface. The underside is yellowish.

White noted that Texas is first in the nation in watermelon production. This year, however, the yield is expected to be down because planting dropped 10,000 acres and the growing season was dry. Growers expect quality to be high.

Though recent predictions indicated melons will be smaller and prices higher this season, the early harvest has not borne them out. Charleston Grays and Stripes or Jubilees from South Texas have been in the 16-28 pound range and prices per hundred pounds have been, $3.50-$4.50.

AUSTIN--Texas wheat production is expected to decrease from a record 98.6 million bushel yield in 1973 to 63 million bushels, a drop of 35.6 million bushels, Agriculture Commissioner John C. White has announced.

White's projection was based on field studies of wheat conditions by Texas Department of Agriculture inspectors and U.S.D.A. statistical data.

Most of the decrease is due to the failure of the dryland wheat crop on the Texas High Plains. Growth of dryland wheat has been slow because of drought conditions throughout most of the area.

Nationally, winter wheat production is estimated 1.5 billion bushels, a five percent drop from May figures.

ISLAND OF THE SEVEN HILLS

By Zoe Cass Island of the Seven Hills is a wonderful tale of romantic suspense set on Gozo, an island neighboring Malta.

Alexa Prescot has come to Gozo after the terrible news of her father's sudden death. Apparently Mr. Prescott, though an experienced yachtsman, had drowned in the calm sea off his anchored boat.

Alexa cannot believe in her father's fate and has come home to settle his affairs and to try to lay his spirit to rest. Shortly before his death her father had bought a lovely old stone farmhouse on Gozo. Alexa, over the objections of Michael Brent, her former flance who also lives on the island, takes up residence in the deserted farmhouse.

Here, exploring the almost empty rooms, she comes upon what seems to be a great painting - what, in fact, looks like an original Modigliani. Its presence in the house is bewildering to Alexa since she knows her family's income would hardly have paid for the frame of such a painting.

That Alexa lives in the house seems to arouse in the island's peasants the greatest fears for her safety. Her encounters with Michael Brent and his new girl friend's family are perplexing

Finally a great storm at sea turns Gozo, a tourist paradise, into a prison for all of the characters. In a tense and surprising climax Alexa realizes how close she has been to her father's murder and to her own death.

A lovely and touching love story is played out beneath the lines of this drama and the colorful and luscious background adds to the reader's enjoyment of this suspenseful tale.

U.S. Congressman The Congress appears now to be moving to help cattle producers and feeders, and thus encourage a continuing beef supply for American consumers. On Tuesday and Wednesday the House Livestock Subcommittee conducted hearings on bills to establish a loan guarantee and loan insurance fund to help cattlemen and feeders to obtain credit with which to re-stock feedlots. I first offered such legislation last May 30, with 17 co-sponsors.

By BOB PRICE

Since then other bills have been introduced utilizing the same concept but making modifications in details. These, guarantees and loan insurance contracts would be made available only to borrowers who are no longer able to obtain creit through normal lending channels.

This previous week, the full committee laid important groundwork for this bill, introduced May 30, by conduct-Agriculture Secretary Butz was among those who testified and I participated in these hearings throughout the week. I thought the Secretary made it clear that while he felt any cattle loan guarantee should be of an emergency and temporary nature, he also recognized that the industry is suffering a severe economic depression which threatens to put many out of business.

IN THE MEANTIME, the Senate Agriculture Committee, acting quickly, held hearings on a bill offered by Sen. John Tower and others which were patterned after my cattle loan guarantee bill. I testified at those hearings early last week, along with others, and on June 19 the committee approved a modified version of the bill. At this writing the Senate was expected to call up the bill for passage on Monday.

Meanwhile, action was being taken along other fronts to help deal with the same problem of long-depressed on-the-hoof beef prices. A number of Congressmen evidenced interest in my bill to require a temporary beef import embargo.

Shortly after Secretary Butz' testimony to the House Agriculture Committee Thursday, the committee approved a resolution I submitted expressing sense of the committee that the President should rescind his earlier order which lifted meat quotas. The Senate Agriculture Committee also approved such a FOREIGN TRADE action, of course, is complex and we should not take action which would result in reprisals from our trading partners which might decrease the volume of our own agricultural exports. But pressure from Congress toward a beef import embargo is giving our trade negotiators a "Big stick" to use in their negotiations and it should help them to obtain voluntary reductions in our beef import

After his testimony to the House Committee, I also urged Secretary Butz to: revise the grading system for beef to include the upper one-third of beef currently graded "good" in the category known as "choice"; and, to re-institute the sales promotion program terminated last August known as the "Plentiful Food Pro-

The beef grading system has not been substantially revised for nearly a quarter of a century. In that time, technological advances have been made in the cattle industry which justify this

ADDITIONALLY, I have introduced legislation which would institute a voluntary check-off of one dollar per head among cattlemen to establish a fund for use of retail beef sales. This would work similarly to agricultural commodities.

The program would begin only after a national referendum showed approval by a majority of cattlemen who felt the fund was not worthwhile could have their contributions returned in full upon filing for a formal request.

In sum, I sense in the Congress a growing recognition that the plight of the cattlemen and cattle feeder is of concern to consumers and I now expect the Congress to be able to pass some form of emergency assistance which will help in the fight to return the cattle industry to a profit position and thus insure a continuing supply of high quality beef for consumers.

The beauty about youth is its faith and confidence . . . the two worthwhile possessions of the human race.

Teachers Association (TSTA) "at this point are well satisfied with the provisions of the proposed document related to public education and teacher retirement" before the Texas Constututional Convention.

Jimmy Hooster, director of governmental relations for the association, made the statement as he reported on prospects for a new educational finance bill in Texas at the Business Services Workshop at Texas Tech University Wednesday.

He also presented the association's 1975 legislative program which has as its goal educational rights for all Texas children."

Leaders of the Texas State Association of School Business Ceachers Association (TSTA) Officials, the West Texas Association of School Business Officials, the Lubbock In-dependent School District, the Education Service Center Region XVII, and the school equipment exhibitors.

Hooser reported education act, as approved by the convention Tuesday, required the Legislature to establish and provide for the equitable support and maintenance of an efficient system of free public schools below the college level and that the system 'must offer each individual an equal educational opportunity, but a school district may provide local enrichment of educational programs consistent with general law."

Hooser pointed out that Gov. Dolph Briscoe has not yet made a decision on calling a special session of the Legislature, but that he 'is fully aware of the needs of Texas school districts and retired teachers."

Hooser called on school officials to contact their state senators and representatives about "the need for additional state funding for 1974-75 for the public schools and the need to increase retirement payments."

The association's legislative goals are designed to help solve problems of : raising the level of school programs to provide an acceptable educational program to every Texas child; equity in tax administration; inflation and its effect on school budgets, revenue, and costs; improvement of teaching salares; continued improvement of the Teacher Retirement System; and additional financial burdens on schools, resulting from new state laws such as workmen's compensation for public employes, state-supported kindergarten, vehicular liability, tort claims, maintaining and improving existing programs, as well as court-ordered busing. Dumas school district business manager J.C. Sheperd presided over a discussion on "Workmen's Compensation." Panelists were Lubbock insurance men John Shropshire, Ken Gilmore and

Boyd Mears. Afternoon panel discussions dealt with wages and hours and the Occupational Safety and Health Administration (OSHA), and developments and problems in purchasing. Dr. Kelly Hamby, director of Research, Governor's Office of Educational Research and Planning, Austin, spoke in the afternoon on "Unique Costs of Different ypes of School Districts."

The workshop continued through Thursday noon.

Conference coordinators are Dr. Berlie J. Fallon of the College of Education, Texas Tech; and Rupert Pearce and Harold Glasscock of the Lubbock Independent School District.

And then there was the cynic who said an appropriate wedding march would be "The Battle Hymn of the Republic."

Getting back to nature and away from it all makes a great family vacation. There's lots of time and energy for swimming, hiking and especially eating. Preparing the food is part of the fun-if it's shared. Make sure everyone gets a job and keep the food simple, we interesting

Camping isn't a carefree vacation unless you plan well in advance. Checklists of foods, equipment and menus are a must to get everything on the road. If you're planning to fish or can carry frozen fish in your ice chest for a day, you'll want to include French Fish Fillets on your campout cooking menu. Dipped into a flavorful, "tomatoey" dressing, and coated with crunchy cracker crumbs, its the kind of simple, hearty fare that's just right for cook-

Ingredients and equipment are minimal, and preparation and cooking time are short. Bottled French dressing and cracker crumbs are easy to transport in your travelling kitchen, as they take up little space and do not require special storage. As for equipment, this recipe calls only for standard camping supplies-a bowl for the dressing, a plastic bag for the cracker crumbs, and your faithful iron skillet for cooking.

If French Fish Fillets become a favorite on the trail and you want to repeat the recipe at home, or if you're just not an outdoor cooking buff, try the indoor variation. You'll find this convenience recipe a welcome change of taste at the end of a busy working day. French Fish Fillets

Garden friends, garden

Spring and summer merge during June, giving gardeners many rewards. Our calendars mark the first day of summer, roses burst into a riot of color, annuals start their blooming season andy many perennials add color and interest to gardens. The trees are at their peak of beauty, having put on their full dress of luxurious foliage and the birds add their song as we work in the Recently I have been with many groups of people and was delighted to hear them talking about one of our garden friends. The singing birds. Each morning and evening while I work in the yard the mocking bird sings and entertains me.

Two of my friends who are excellent horticulturists and lovers of nature were discussing the birds that were seen in their trees and gardens. When a mocking bird was seen searching out a nesting place, bits of straw and lengths of yarn and twine had been placed so that the bird would have extra building materials for the nest. Soon the nest was completed, and eggs were laid. Then all was quite around the tree in which they had nested. Boys passing by had shot and killed the father bird, and the mother bird had to leave the nest to search for food. Yes, birds have enemies too.

In a letter from a friend in a distant state, she discussed how pleased she and her husband were when they noticed singing birds nesting in a tree in full view from their dining room window.

The husband was so pleased that he aided the birds by supplying some yarn. He unravelled an old sock and placed threads in view of the busy birds so that the nest would be strong and sure for the mother bird and the little ones. As the mocking birds flew from place to place they would often stop and sing, even sometimes at night when the moon was bright.

Yes, birds are our garden friends. They aid in keeping down bad insects and add color, beauty and music.

During these extremely dry days water should be accessible for the birds. Scraps of toasted bread, corn bread and other bird food can be shared to add to their diet of seeds and worms. Garden enemies can be controlled by various means. One of these is to keep plants healthy. A weak straggly, undernourished plant is an excellent place for insects to attack and hibernate in. There are many insects this year and dry weather makes it more difficult to grow healthy strong plants, and keep shurbs and trees in good condition.

Weeds are another enemy which we must constantly battle. Keep weeds, grasses and other foreign growths out of flower beds and from around vegetables. It is important that hese are not permitted to mature and drop their seed, which will cause another crop. Special attention should be given to many growing plants. Chrysanthemums and asters perform much better when their growing tips are pinched back. Nip the soft tip of growth from each young plant when it reaches six inches, and again when resulting branches have grown another five or six in-

Pinching forces young plants with only single stems to branch, and the more branches produced on the growing plant the more blossoms they will produce. I have found that if petunias are pinched, when set out, they will grow much better and be a stronger plant.

Tiny new buds will be appearing on the chrysanthemums, the first ones should be pinched or rolled off. This. will produce a more profuse flowering and better quality olossoms.

Tall varieties of chrysanhemums should be staked when they have reached 12 inches in height. The stakes should be strong enough to support the plant when in full flower. Asters can also be staked, and a more perfect bloom will be produced.

Drought and heat will seldom kill older, well-established shrubs, but can seriously affect new ones. To aid shrubs, cultivate the soil around them, removing weeds and grass.

After the soil crust has been broken around the plant spread a light dressing of a well balanced plant food in a broad band around the perimeter. This should be done especially for shrubs which flower and make berries.

Water throughly and slowly after adding the plant food. Water will carry the food to roots of the plants. Let the hose run slowly until soil is thoroughly saturated.

Frequency of this care depends on rainfall; during extreme dry weather this should be done for new plants every two weeks, once a month will probably suffice for older ones check to ascertain needs.

Soil crust should not be more than four inches. Friable soil always pays off. To save on maintenance a mulch should be used to keep soil from crusting deeply and will aid in retaining moisture for either old or new

During hot, dry summer months extra care should be given trees. Do not water at the base of the tree, but water at the edge of the drip line of the tree spread. You can expect feeder roots anywhere within this area, often even beyond. Food when applied should also be placed at the drip line.

The old saying, "a stitch in time saves nine" is applicable to gardening. It takes much time and effort to grow a tree. Care for them.

Good grooming is essential if healthy plants are grown, and the beauty we want is achieved in our gardens. Remove old flower blooms, do not allow seed pods to form if you want a continuous bloom. Seed pods should be removed from peonies now, and a light feeding given them.

There are many lovely showings of daisies in town. Those at the front of the panciera home ha ve been unusually nice. Large full blooms, and straight, sturdy stems with green foliage. Also many attractive showings of geraniums are around town. These will be attractive until frost if properly maintained.

Activities have gained momentum during the last week as preparations are made for the July 4 celebration. Planter boxes at the new library building have been planted. Bright red petunias are prevelant at First National Bank. Grounds at the Garden Center are being groomed for open house. New roses have been added to the memorial rose garden at First Baptist Church. Lawns and new trees at D.S. General Hospital are beautiful, and the memorial rose garden is adding color and beauty.

However there are eye sore places where weeds have taken over and trash accumulated. A hoeing and raking crusade would be very beneficial for all of us. Want a good physique? If so try hoeing each morning or late evening.

Keeping busy, cheerful and alert creates happiness and contentment. GLAD.
