

Damage High As Hail, Floodwaters Hit Texas

By The Associated Press
Tennis ball-sized hail pelted the West Texas city of Monahans late Tuesday, injuring 14 people and inflicting heavy damage on businesses, homes, utility poles and trees.

"There's damage all over the place, windows, roofs, cars," said Monahans police Lt. Mike Strickland.

Breaking glass was responsible for the minor injuries suffered by 14 people, according to Police Chief David Mills. None of the injured were admitted to the hospital, he said.

"There's probably not a business or house that doesn't have some damage," Mills said.

Extra police were called out to provide security for businesses with broken windows, Strickland said.

"Most of them got their places boarded up and everything is quiet now," Strickland said early today.

"I've heard about hail that big, but I had never seen it before. The wind was pretty high and that made it worse," Strickland said.

Six mobile homes were also damaged by high winds and the heavy rain accompanying the storm caused some minor street flooding.

Trees were stripped of their leaves in some areas and some utility poles were snapped by the high winds accompanying the storm.

"You'd think it was a glacier," Mills said of the coating of hail on the ground. "It was curb-to-curb ice. I've never seen anything like it."

Floodwaters from an earlier storm were expected to recede enough today to allow some 35 families to return to their homes at Falfurrias in South Texas, officials said.

Several creeks went on a rampage in Falfurrias and chased about 150 people from their homes, according to Brooks County Sheriff Ramiro Castellano.

The Falfurrias flood was the latest in a series since May 12 that also have swamped parts of Wichita Falls and Austin.

Water was a foot deep Tuesday afternoon in downtown Falfurrias, and three feet deep in some residential areas, said Castellano.

"The situation is stable, but it's still serious," in the small town about 55 miles southwest of Corpus Christi, he said.

President Reagan declared Wichita County a major disaster area Tuesday due to heavy flooding that began May 12, Gov. Bill Clements said.

The presidential declaration means Wichita County residents who suffered flood losses will be eligible for several types of aid, including loans and grants, Clements said.

Heavy thunderstorms with the potential for flash flood producing rainfall, high winds, hail or tornadoes moved eastward across the northern portion of Texas early today.

A tornado watch covered 47 counties in West Texas and North Central Texas early today. The tornado watch was along and 70 miles and on either side of a line from 60 miles southwest of Midland to 60 miles north of Abilene.

Golf ball size hail and street flooding was reported at Lubbock as the storm system passed through that West Texas city. A tornado warning was issued for Lubbock and Crosby counties as the heavier storms passed through the area.

Motorists in the Abilene area were warned that heavy rains would likely produce flooding of low water crossings and low areas of highways and roads throughout the night.

Forecasts called for more showers and thunderstorms statewide today. And forecasters said the stormy weather would likely continue Thursday.

Highs were to be mostly in the 80s and 90s, ranging from the 70s in the Panhandle to near 100 in Southwest Texas.

Showers Light in Area

Thunderstorms were reported throughout the local area Tuesday night with heaviest rainfall recorded at Easter Fertilizer, 1.2 inches accompanied by lots of wind. Easter Grain recorded one inch.

Lightning, wind and rain hit Hereford shortly after 8 p.m. and continued intermittently for several hours. KPAN recorded .29 of an inch in town.

Other reports include Walcott, .50 of an inch; Bootleg, .45 of an inch; and Barrett and Crofoot, .20 of an inch.

Scattered showers and warmer days remain in the forecast for the next several days.

Casualties Not Reported

Argentines Blast British Ships

By The Associated Press
Argentine warplanes blasted the British destroyer Coventry and the freighter-supply ship Atlantic Conveyor near Falkland Sound, using radar-deceiving Exocet missiles in a devastating attack probably aimed at the flagship carrier Hermes, British officials said today.

The Defense Ministry in London said the Coventry and Atlantic Conveyor were lost in the attack Tuesday, but did not say whether they sank or how many men died. A high British official said casualties were expected to be "light," but Britain's Standard newspaper feared "heavy casualties."

The British official, who declined to be identified, said the Atlantic Conveyor was hit from 28 miles away by two Exocet missiles fired by Argentine warplanes — the same kind of French-built missile that sank the British destroyer Sheffield on May 4.

He said the carrier Hermes was close enough to see the Atlantic Conveyor hit, and that the Exocets — which fly about 6 feet above the surface of the water at about the speed of sound to avoid radar detection — probably were intended for the Hermes, one of two carriers in the armada and a base for Britain's vertical takeoff Harrier jets.

The source said the Coventry was hit by a large bomb from one of four Argentine aircraft that attacked both the Coventry and destroyer Broadsword, accompanying it on radar picket duty. He said the Broadsword suffered minor damage with no casualties reported.

Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher's "War Cabinet" met, and a government source described the meeting as a "grim affair. We all recognize it was a bad day. But we hold fast to our objective," meaning the retaking of the Falkland Islands by British forces who landed near San Carlos Bay on Friday.

Rescue operations to recover crewmen from the icy South Atlantic continued throughout the night, British officials announced. But they did not say whether the vessels sank or how many men perished. British Defense Minister John Nott was to make a statement to the House of Commons.

Britain has said it lost 74 men and Argentina 394 since the Argentines seized the Falklands from Britain April 2. Most of the Argentine losses — 321 — were from the cruiser General Belgrano, torpedoed and sunk by a

GOP Confident About Budget

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republican leaders are expressing confidence that a budget blueprint they drafted and President Reagan endorsed can win in the House — a possibility even some majority Democrats are now conceding.

After rejecting four budget alternatives this week, the House today is sorting through dozens of amendments to two separate plans, one endorsed by the president and the other by the House Democratic leadership.

A third outline, drafted by Democratic and Republican moderates, also is in the running.

House Republican Leader Robert H. Michel of Illinois said Tuesday he was making better progress than expected in keeping moderate Republicans in the GOP fold. He added he wouldn't be surprised to see a majority support the Republican budget that he and other GOP leaders drafted.

"I think we're in good shape," said a senior House Republican who insisted that he not be quoted by name.

Leaders of both parties have indicated the final outcome of the budget fight depends on the fate of $23.3 billion in Medicare savings over three years in the GOP plan.

A high-ranking Democratic source who asked not to be quoted by name said that if Michel "cleans up" his proposal with an amendment neutralizing the Medicare cuts as an election-year issue, "it'll pass."

'Paralysis in Government' Program Launched Here

A "Paralysis in Government Program" was announced here Monday afternoon by Melvin Jayroe, Hereford Realtor, and object of the campaign is to deliver at least a million messages to the President and Congress that the federal deficit must be reduced.

The program was initiated by the National Association

Realtors, which is urging representatives of all industries across the nation to support the plan.

Jayroe called a meeting of businessmen from most professions in the community and announced the program to representatives of a dozen businesses. An area meeting to help launch the program is scheduled in Amarillo today, and several Hereford citizens will be attending.

Jayroe and other interested citizens will be distributing petitions and form letters around town this week and asking citizens to support the bi-partisan program.

"We are not endorsing a party plan," said Jayroe. "We are simply sending a clear message to Congress and the President that the federal deficit must be reduced in order to cure the problem of high interest rates that is plaguing our nation."

He added that the Texas Association of Realtors has already held meetings on the program, seeking the support and participation of all business and industry. The national association has some 650,000 members, and the Realtors are hoping many major trade groups will join the program.

A sample of the wording being used on some petitions: "We, the undersigned, petition the President and the Congress to take immediate action to bring down the deficit below $100 billion in

Senate to Take Up Debate On Emergency Spending Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Risking a presidential veto, the Senate will take up an emergency spending bill which includes $5 billion in housing subsidies, says Senate Majority Leader Howard H. Baker Jr., R-Tenn.

Senate Republican leaders failed Tuesday in their attempt to strip the spending bill of the housing subsidies, despite President Reagan's condemnation of such "bailout" measures for struggling industries.

Before leaving the White House for California on Tuesday, Reagan met with the Republican congressional leadership and "strongly indicated" that he would veto the supplemental appropriation bill because of the mortgage subsidies, according to deputy White House press secretary Larry Speakes.

"We think it would send immediate wrong signals to the market that could result in interest rates going up," Speakes said.

The House already has passed an emergency spending bill that includes the housing provision.

Plans Revealed To Sell Jet Planes

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Reagan administration has secretly notified Congress it plans to sell Israel an additional 75 F-16 advanced jet fighters for more than $2.5 billion, the biggest arms sale to Israel in more than four years.

U.S. defense sources, who asked to remain anonymous, said the Pentagon sent a classified notification to Capitol Hill on Monday, a day before Israeli Defense Minister Ariel Sharon conferred with Defense Secretary Caspar Weinberger.

Congress is usually notified of all arms sales about 20 days before the public announcement.

The Sharon-Weinberger meeting Tuesday appeared to unfreeze some defense-related economic aid measures which were slowed last December to demonstrate U.S. objections to Israeli annexation of the Golan Heights, captured from Syria in 1967.

If the F-16 sale was intended to thaw Israel's opposition to any sale of mobile anti-aircraft missiles or sophisticated jet fighters to Jordan, it apparently didn't work. After the meeting, Sharon made it clear he had stressed to Weinberger that Israel stood fast against the provision of "modern, sophisticated weapons to Arab countries, and mostly to Jordan."

Meanwhile, Israel received some valuable support in the Senate, where at least 45 of the 100 senators co-sponsored a resolution urging President Reagan to drop any intentions to sell fighters or anti-aircraft missiles to Jordan

Grid Season Tickets Go On Sale Here Hints on Attracting New Industry Given at Meeting

By O.G. NIEMAN

Important "do's and don'ts" in seeking new industry to a town were outlined here Tuesday when Jonathan Krebbs, manager of area development for Southwestern Public Service Co., spoke to local leaders.

Craig Smith, industrial development committee chairman for Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce, presided at the luncheon meeting and introduced Krebbs. About two dozen interested community workers attended the meeting at K-Bob's.

Because of its permanent investment in area towns,

Southwestern Public Service offers a number of services to assist communities in economic development.

Krebbs explained that these services include: plant location research studies, information data bank, industrial site and building information, site inspection tours, coordinated contact with community leaders, technical assistance through plant location team, and expansion assistance for existing industry.

The SPS department also helps train local professionals to serve on a community's search team, and one of these courses is being planned for a Hereford team in the near future.

Emphasizing that industrial development is a longrange program and often a "hit-or-miss" situation, Krebbs said that too many businessmen expect quick results.

"Many companies who are thinking about expansion often plan five years or more in the future. A town may work with them a couple of years before a decision is reached by the company," said Krebbs.

The first two questions a prospect usually asks, said Krebbs, are: "Can I make a profit in this town, and does the community's personality

Senator Stalling Emergency Spending Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — A senator is stalling action on a $6.3 billion emergency spending bill because he is opposed to a housing subsidy provision that President Reagan has denounced.

Sen. William Armstrong, R-Colo., used parliamentary maneuvers to block Senate action Tuesday on the emergency budget bill, which would provide money to keep certain government programs running for the rest of fiscal 1982.

Armstrong complained the bill was $2 billion over what President Reagan has requested, but he said his main objection was the $1 billion for this year to help the construction industry.

Senate Majority Leader Howard H. Baker pleaded with Armstrong Tuesday not to "go on with this filibuster," and said there may be "some payment interruptions" unless the Senate acts on the spending bill before the scheduled start of the Memorial Day recess Friday.

But Armstrong indicated he planned more of the same today.

The housing program, designed to help some 400,000 low- and moderate-income families buy houses by subsidizing mortgage interest rates, has strong support in the Republican-controlled Senate.

"We have an overriding national priority to somehow get federal spending in line with revenues," Armstrong said. "Bills like this say to Wall Street and Main Street that we really weren't serious about controlling federal spending."

Sen. Richard Lugar, R-Ind., usually an ally of the president, authored the housing program, which he defended as "a responsible approach to get the economy moving again."

Congressman Shows President 'Utmost Respect'

WASHINGTON (AP) — When U.S. Rep. Charles Wilson of Lufkin was alerted Tuesday by the White House operator to expect a phone call from President Reagan, he was also told how to address the president.

The operator carefully instructed him not to refer to the president as "Mr. President," said Wilson.

Since the call would be made from Air Force One, security required that only the code name be used. The president's code name was "Rawhide."

Wilson said the operator was adamant, she said for him to do otherwise would be a breach of security.

Wilson said he reluctantly agreed, but had second thoughts in the 15 minutes before the president called.

"For a boy who grew up in the East Texas pineywoods, it just didn't seem fitting," Wilson said. "We were taught to have the utmost respect for the office of the president of the United States of America."

By the time the call came the congressman had hit upon a compromise. "Hello, Charlie," the president said.

"Hello, Mr. Rawhide," Wilson replied.

Reagan called to seek Wilson's support for the president's proposed budget.

Wilson, a Democrat, said he had to turn him down.

"But I did so with the utmost respect," said Wilson.

Initiative And Referendum

Proposals Introduced

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Sen. Walter Mengden, R-Houston, and Rep. Carlyle Smith, D-Grand Prairie, introduced proposals Tuesday that would allow Texans to bypass the Legislature in enacting laws.

If the Legislature approved their initiative and referendum proposals, they would be placed on a statewide election ballot.

"The legislative process is saturated with problems from beginning to end," Mengden said.

"Committee chairmen who refuse to give hearings to bills, unrepresentative committees, and enormous logjams of legislation are just a small part of the problem," he said. "The end result is that bills and resolutions are frequently killed in the Legislature that have the overwhelming support of the people."

"This is not a new battle," Smith added in a statement, "but part of the age-old struggle throughout history to implement democracy. It will not be easy, but government by the people will eventually prevail."

San Antonio Mass Has Pro-Argentine Tone

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — The Argentine national anthem played as the Rev. Louis White walked to the altar of the historic San Fernando Cathedral to say Mass for the fallen soldiers on both sides of the Falkland Islands conflict.

About 50 people attended the Argentine Independence Day ceremony Tuesday night sponsored by the Argentine Association of South Texas.

Participants told the gathering support for Argentina was growing among Anglo and Latin Americans and that the United States was wrong for siding with Great Britain.

White, speaking in Spanish, said the reasons for attending varied, but he stressed the unity of all men and the quest for justice and peace.

Students Find Error In SAT Test

NEW YORK (AP) — On the morning of May 1, Doug Jungreis was breezing through the math section of the Scholastic Aptitude Test — until he got to question No. 17.

"As soon as I saw that question," said Jungreis, a 15-year-old junior at Hewlett High School on Long Island, "I knew there was something wrong with it." Jungreis has a 98 overall average and already has shown high promise as a mathematician.

Similar doubts plagued a friend of his, Bruce Taub, a 17-year-old junior at Hewlett who describes himself as "just the average 11th grade student."

Taub said he was so bothered by question 17 after the test that he spent hours at home working it out. He discussed it with Doug and showed the question to his former boss, Alvin Pascal, president of a computer firm called Manamation, Inc.

"I spent an hour arguing with him. We used diagrams, cardboards and computer tapes. Finally I convinced him the question was wrong and I was right," he said.

In Buffalo, N.Y., that same morning, 17-year-old Sivan Kartha, a star of City Honor School's math team, mullered over the same question. "I was pretty sure I knew how the testers interpreted the question, but I was looking at it from a different perspective. I realized that I was right."

All three wrote letters to The College Board, which is responsible for the SAT college admissions exam that about 300,000 high-school students took May 1. Each of the three provided elaborate mathematical proof that multiple-choice question 17 was faulty because the correct answer was not among the choices.

To the surprise and pleasure of the three students, the board reviewed their complaints and publicly admitted Monday that the math question was faulty — only the third time it has ever admitted error in its questions.

The test will be rescored with the question left out. The scores of all 300,000 students who took the test on May 1 will have to be changed — by about 10 points up or down on the test's 200-to-800 scale.

The erroneous test question showed a diagram of a small circle "A" touching a larger circle "B," and asked: "In the figure above, the radius of circle A is one-third the radius of circle B. Starting from the position shown in the figure, circle A rolls around circle B. At the end of how many revolutions of circle A will the center of circle A first reach its starting point?"

The answers offered by the test were: (A) 1½; (B) 3; (C) 6; (D) 4½; (E) 9.

Because the circumference of the smaller circle is one-third the circumference of the larger circle, the intended answer was (B) 3. But the correct answer is 4, as the three students proved.

Because the smaller circle is traveling in a circular path, it actually makes a fourth revolution as it rolls around circle B.

Farmworkers Win $25,000 Settlement

The Texas Farm Workers Union today announces that a group of 200 farmworkers, who participated in the 1980 Panhandle farm labor strikes, have won a $25,000 settlement from a Muleshoe vegetable company.

In August of 1980, the workers, led by the Texas Farm Workers Union (TFWU), walked out of the cucumber fields of the Robert Ruiz vegetable Packing Co. near Muleshoe. They protested the subminimum wages they were receiving and demanded that the company pay them at least the minimum wage. When the Robert Ruiz Company refused to negotiate, the workers, with the help of the TFWU and Texas Rural Legal Aid, filed a minimum wage law suit in the U.S. District Court in Brownsville.

Evidence developed in the case indicated not only that the workers had received less than the minimum wage but also that Robert Ruiz company officials had instructed their crew foreman to falsify wage records in order to hide the minimum wage violations.

In a settlement signed this week by Judge James De Anda, the company agreed to pay the workers $25,000 in back wages and damages.

The strike by Ruiz Company workers was part of a series of TFWU led strikes against High Plains Vegetable Companies which occurred throughout the summer of 1980. A number of those work stoppages resulted in legal action by the workers. The Ruiz settlement is the first such case to be resolved.

Court Ruling Making Border Patrol's Work Even Tougher

EL PASO, Texas (AP) — A federal court ruling on a lawsuit against the U.S. Border Patrol is making it tougher for officers to catch illegal aliens, Border Patrol officials say.

The ruling involves the complicated grey area of "reasonable suspicion" and is making Border Patrol agents think twice before stopping someone for questioning, says Alan Eliason, chief agent in the El Paso District.

"We're not pushing the panic button," he said. "We're not saying, 'Oh my God, the judge has put us out of business.' He didn't. We're still catching a lot of illegal aliens."

"But it seems to put more of a burden on the officer in his daily duties by narrowing the focus of who he can talk to," he said.

The ruling resulted from a lawsuit filed March 11 by four Mexican-American El Paso residents who claimed their rights were violated by Border Patrol agents in raids on area taverns Jan. 29.

The raids were part of a crackdown along the border staged by Jack Richardson, who was the acting chief agent in El Paso at the time. The same week the lawsuit was filed, Richardson returned to his regular job as chief agent in Del Rio. Eliason was appointed to the permanent post a few weeks later.

A temporary injunction requested in the lawsuit was handed down last week by U.S. District Judge Lucius Bunton. The government has requested a clarification of some points of the ruling and Bunton may answer that petition next week.

In the injunction, Bunton ordered the Border Patrol not to conduct "warrantless, dragnet" raids on local bars and ruled that the Jan. 29 raids were illegal because they detained bar patrons without a reasonable suspicion that each person had violated the law.

Eliason said the Border Patrol has halted raids on all but the most "notorious" bars since the lawsuit was filed, but has continued to hit some local businesses believed to employ illegal aliens.

Border Patrol officials said the bar raids were conducted because El Paso police had provided information that illegal aliens were employed at the bars.

The ruling also enjoined the Border Patrol from searching the non-public areas of businesses, such as offices or kitchens, without a warrant.

Finally, and of greatest concern to the Border Patrol, the ruling said officers must have a "reasonable suspicion" that a person is an illegal alien before they stop him for questioning.

Reasonable suspicion, in the language of the law, is a higher criteria than that provided by existing immigration law, Eliason said. The Immigration and Nationalization Act says officers can question "any alien or person believed to be an alien" about his citizenship, he said.

But under the reasonable suspicion ruling, an officer wanting to question a person would be required to have specific reasons for believing the suspect was an illegal alien.

Under the old method, an officer could stop anyone who looked, dressed or acted like an alien. But that often led to Border Patrolmen checking the identification of Mexican-Americans — one of the factors in the lawsuit.

Eliason said government lawyers have asked the judge to clarify whether reasonable suspicion is needed to simply stop someone and ask for identification papers.

While the agency is awaiting the clarification, Eliason said he has ordered his officers to be as certain as possible that a person is an illegal alien before stopping him.

Industrial

mesh with my company's philosophy?"

Krebs said he had completed a survey of 20 cities that have been successful in attracting new industry, and asked them to rank their most effective techniques.

Number one on the list was the use of brochures and information booklets printed for the communities. Second was programs to develop local industry, and the third most effective technique was personal contacts with prospects.

Other effective programs included use of a local industry to endorse the city and area, preparation of slide shows about the city, "blitz" trips by the industrial team, advertising in magazines, newspapers and trade show booths, follow-up campaign on past inquiries, letter campaigns, and developing local citizens to supply "leads."

Smith said the local committee is scheduling more meetings and planning to update its industrial team techniques.

Accompanying Krebs from SPS was Paul Moore, area development consultant.

Falklands

British submarine May 2.

The Atlantic Conveyor's most important task had been to transport more Harrier fighter-bombers to the British armada fighting to regain the Falklands, but British officials said the jets had already been "disembarked."

The destroyer carried a crew of 270 men. It was not known how many men were aboard the freighter, which was requisitioned from the Cunard Steam Ship Co. to carry supplies from Britain to the Royal Navy task force in the South Atlantic.

The Coventry is the second destroyer and the fourth major warship lost by the task force in the campaign to retake the Falkland Islands from Argentina. The others were the destroyer Sheffield, a sister ship of the Coventry, and the frigates Ardent and Antelope. The task force still has three cruisers, two destroyers and six frigates, but several of the frigates have been reported damaged.

In other action Tuesday, the British Defense Ministry said its Harrier fighter-bombers and ships of the Falklands task force bombarded the runway and military installations at Stanley, the capital of the Falklands, for the second straight day. Argentina claimed three Harriers were shot down, but the British made no report of losing any planes.

Britain has now reported 67 Argentine aircraft shot down, including a fourth or more of the Argentine air force's combat planes, British defense and intelligence sources said.

Country Music Show To Perform Here Saturday

Country music will come to life this summer in dozens of West Texas cities and towns, thanks partly to the efforts of a couple of teachers who team up their talents in arranging the music for what has become a tradition in the region.

"Raisin' a Ruckus!" the sixth annual country music summer show produced by South Plains College, is again making its round of performances this summer throughout West Texas and eastern New Mexico.

The show will come to Hereford on Saturday, sponsored by the Hereford Lions Club. Showtime is 8 p.m. at Whiteface Stadium. Tickets are available from any Lions Club member or at The Hereford Brand for $3 per person. Children under six will be admitted free.

"We spend a lot of time listening to records and getting the sound as close as possible to the original," explained John Hartin, director of SPC's degree program in country-bluegrass music, a veteran performer of the road show circuit and composer in his own right.

"We try to bring back a lot of good memories of that music, that particular time, for example with Bob Wills' 'Faded Love' and 'San Antonio Rose,'" he added.

Hartin and Ed Marsh, SPC fiddle and bluegrass music instructor, have teamed up for the past five summers to arrange the music for SPC's road shows. They also wrote and arranged an original score for SPC's original musical, "The Black Rose," and won an Amoco Award for Excellence in Musicals for their efforts.

Marsh has performed professionally with bluegrass bands and toured the Caribbean with a USO troupe, but he has never been more impressed than with SPC's annual summer road show.

"The facilities for the show are just tremendous. I've always been on the road with a small budget, where compromises had to be made, either in numbers of people in the band or equipment or stage facilities; never until the SPC experiences have I been able to go on the road with all the lights, portable stage, all-the people in the band we wanted," he comments.

The show uses equipment from SPC's two-year degree program in country-bluegrass music and also uses the expertise and facilities of the sound technology program.

A Showmobile that can seat a 60-piece band, portable state-of-the-art sound system, acoustical equipment, instruments, costumes for dozens of costume changes and lighting all combine to make SPC's road show comparable to a professional country music awards show, Hartin says.

This year's show features some country rock and a Beatles medley, which Hartin feels were influenced by country music. "In the 60s and 70s, pop, country and rock music sort of fused," he explains, "with country songs going into the pop market, and vice versa."

"A little softer country sound began to develop with the music of Ray Price and Jim Reeves, for example; and Chet Atkins, over at RCA, brought in a Nashville sound with more strings and more orchestra."

Drill Team Sponsors Beard Growing Contest

The Hereford High School High Steppers drill team will sponsor a beard growing contest in preparation for the Town and Country Jubilee, Aug. 20-22. The competition is open to anyone and drill team members will kick off the contest on June 1.

Selected

Judy Rogers received a $150 scholarship recently from the Deaf Smith-Castro Counties Legal Secretaries Association. This is the seventh scholarship which has been given from the group. Ms. Rogers, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dan Rogers, plans to attend Clarendon College where she will study to be a legal secretary.

Interested persons may purchase permits from drill team members. They are selling three types of certificates: shaving permits for those who don't want to grow beards, membership certificates for those who will grow beards, and little shaver permits for young boys who want to participate.

During the week of competition in August, there will be a new beard contest, for those who started growing beards on June 1, and an existing beard contest, for those who already had beards prior to that date.

The competition, along with the Jubilee, will take place in Dameron Park.

Adolescent Medicine Seminar Is Scheduled At Texas Tech

Adolescence and the special health care problems associated with that age will be examined in a one-day "Adolescent Medicine" seminar Friday at Texas Tech University Health Sciences Center (TTUHSC).

The seminar, scheduled from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., will examine a wide variety of subjects including the psychosocial factors critical to early, middle and late adolescence; teenage pregnancy and substance abuse.

Sponsored by the TTUHSC Department of Pediatrics, the seminar is designed to provide the pediatric student, resident physician, faculty and other health care providers with information about the interrelationship between the behavioral and biological sciences in the understanding of adolescents and their health. The conference is open without charge.

Guest speakers will include Robert W. Members View CPR Film

President Jack Nunley presided over the Monday night meeting of the Deaf Smith County Lapidary Club. Members met at the Flame Room. Following a routine business meeting, the program consisted of a film entitled "Pulse of Life," which was about CPR.

Members decided to meet at the library at 8 p.m. Thursday to dismantle the rock display which has been there this month.

A report was given on the recent trip to Lake Meredith, which 36 members participated in. Bob Newell discussed a program to be given on July 26 by the ranger at Lake Meredith. He will present a program on mapping, the technical term for making arrowheads.

Joe Williams invited members to participate in the balloon launching, which was held Tuesday at King's Manor.

The Clovis, N.M. Show, which will be held July 31 and Aug. 1, was discussed.

Hosts for the meeting were the Bud Cawthons, Betty Rice, and the Julian Perrins. The door prize, which was given by the Weldon Robersons, was won by Mona Gee. Twenty nine members were present.

The next meeting will be June 28 at the library. The program will be about CPR.

Vaccine Clinic Set In Dimmitt

A free vaccine clinic will be held from 9 a.m. to 12 noon on June 11 at the City Hall Assembly Room in Dimmitt.

Vaccines that give protection against several childhood diseases such as polio, diphtheria, lock jaw, whooping cough, measles, rubella, and mumps will be administered.

Jenkins Records 3000 Strikeouts, Cubs Lose

By BARRY WILNER AP Sports Writer

On a night of milestones, veteran Ferguson Jenkins got his in defeat and young David Palmer was a double winner. Jenkins fanned San Diego's Garry Templeton on three pitches in the third inning Tuesday night, making the 38-year-old Cubs right-hander just the seventh major league pitcher to record 3,000 strikeouts. But the Padres edged Chicago 2-1.

Palmer capped a successful return from elbow miseries which cost him most of last season by hurling six innings of two-hit ball as the Expos belted Houston 6-1. For the 24-year-old right-hander, it was sweet just being back in the major leagues and twice as nice to win.

Elsewhere in the National League, it was Atlanta 10, New York 2; Cincinnati 4, Philadelphia 3; Los Angeles 5, Pittsburgh 2, and St. Louis

8, San Francisco 3.

Jenkins joined Walter Johnson, Gaylord Perry, Nolan Ryan, Steve Carlton, Bob Gibson and Tom Seaver in the 3,000-strikeout club. Jenkins wound up with four strikeouts in his seven innings.

"My goal when I started was to win 250 games. I've done that. Now, I'd like to be close to 300 and I could be," said Jenkins, who is in his second term with the Cubs in a major-league career that started in 1965 with Philadelphia. "Everyone has a love for something. I happen to love pitching."

Palmer is thrilled to be around the Expos after losing most of last season to injury. He made his first major-league appearance since Oct. 1, 1980 and got support from Andre Dawson's two homers and four RBI and Gary Carter's two-run shot.

"David had nerve problems and he was still a bit timid thinking about his elbow, but he was still psyched up," Carter said.

"I threw a lot of pitches," Palmer said. "I just approached it like my 10th start because I had already started nine games in the minors at Memphis. I was really pleased with my performance."

Palmer walked six and hit one batter.

Braves 10, Mets 2

Atlanta snapped a three-game losing streak and New York saw its three-game victory string end as the Braves broke loose for eight runs in the second inning.

Glenn Hubbard drilled a three-run homer and Dale Murphy grabbed the league lead with his 14th home run of the season. Atlanta sent 14 men to the plate against Mike Scott and Tom Hausman in the big inning, with Hubbard slamming his homer off Hausman, who had just come off the disabled list.

"I've never hit one out there before," said Hubbard, whose shot went over the center-field fence. "I knew I hit it good, but I didn't think it was out."

Reds 4, Phillies 3

Cincinnati rallied with four runs in the eighth inning, two coming home on Dave Concepcion's single and the game-winning run being plated by Dan Driessen's single. The comeback broke a six-game slide for the Reds.

"This gives everybody a lot of confidence that we can win if we're down by a run or so going into the late innings," Driessen said. "It might be the start of something big."

"Those guys were going through exactly what we went through earlier this season," said Phils Manager Pat Corrales. "They eventually were going to beat somebody."

Dodgers 5, Pirates 2

Fernando Valenzuela struck out seven and walked none as he hurled a five-hitter for his fifth complete game in 10 starts. Steve Garvey's RBI double broke a 2-2 tie in the sixth and the Dodgers got their record back to .500 at 22-22.

Steve Sax and Pedro Guerrero each had three hits for LA, while Bill Madlock belted a two-run homer for the Pittsburgh runs.

Cardinals 8, Giants 3

Reggie Smith's 300th major league home run got the Giants started but two three-run innings for St. Louis put the Cardinals in charge.

Ken Oberkfell drove in three runs with an RBI single in the fourth and a two-run triple in the seventh. Glenn Brummer drove in two runs with a sixth-inning infield single. Smith hesitated after a close play at first base, allowing Mike Rams to score the second run.

"Speed is a big part of the game and we take advantage of it," said Oberkfell.

Palmer Notches 250th Win As Baltimore Bombs Rangers

By MIKE EMBRY AP Sports Writer

Baseball history buffs probably will make notations in their books about the 250th career victory of Baltimore pitcher Jim Palmer.

Palmer, however, wasn't about to get caught up in all the hoopla after the Orioles ripped the Texas Rangers 10-3 Tuesday night, enabling him to reach a plateau achieved by only 31 other pitchers in major league history.

"Once you get 249 you certainly don't want to stop at 250," said Palmer. "I want to keep going. When do I want to stop? How about 319? That's a nice number."

The big right-hander, 2-2, walked two and struck out five in 8-1/3 innings in his first start since May 6. He needed relief help from Tippy Martinez in the ninth.

In other American League action, New York blanked Toronto 8-0, California ripped Boston 10-2, Kansas City tripped Chicago 7-4, Cleveland clubbed Minnesota 7-0 and Oakland bounced Milwaukee 10-5.

Palmer's effort was backed by the slugging of Gary Roenicke, who blasted his 11th and 12th homers of the season, and John Lowenstein, who popped a two-run homer and scored four times.

Ranger starter Doc Medich, 2-5, lasted only 22-3 innings in picking up the loss. Doug Flynn led Texas with three hits.

Angels 10, Red Sox 2

Tim Foli homered and drove in four runs and Brian Downing and Bobby Grich smacked successive homers to power California to its ninth victory in its last 11 games.

The Angels' Bruce Kison, 4-0, matched the 13-hit offensive attack by striking out four in completing his first game of the season. The right-hander gave up three walks in snapping Boston's five-game winning streak.

John Tudor, 4-2, was tagged with the loss.

Yankees 8, Blue Jays 0

Tommy John limited Toronto to five hits and one walk while getting 15 of the first 16 outs on groundballs in helping the Yankees win their sixth straight game.

John, recording his second shutout of the season, has won four of his last five games to even his record at 4-4.

Roy Smalley and Oscar Gamble keyed the New York attack with seventh-inning home runs to spark a five-run outburst.

Royals 7, White Sox 4

Cesar Geronimo knocked in two runs with a homer and a single and Willie Aikens and Jerry Martin each doubled in a pair to make rookie Keith Creel's pitching debut a happy one.

Creel, a 23-year-old right-hander, limited the Chicago Sox to five hits. He needed sixth-inning help from Dan Quisenberry, who picked up his 12th save.

The setback, combined with California's victory over Boston, knocked the White Sox out of first place in the American League West.

A's 10, Brewers 5

Dan Meyer snapped out of a hitting slump and helped Oakland snap a six-game losing streak with the victory over Milwaukee.

Meyer rapped a club-tying three doubles and drove in two runs. He went into the game mired in a 5-for-33 slump.

Marty Keough, 4-5, scattered five hits over 72-3 innings to pick up the victory. Moose Haas, 2-2, was the loser.

The Brewers staged a three-run rally in the eighth behind Ben Ogilvie's two-run blast. Ted Simmons also homered for the Brewers, a solo shot in the seventh, his fourth of the year.

Indians 7, Twins 0

Lary Sorenson tossed a seven-hitter as the Indians extended Minnesota's losing streak to seven games.

Sorenson's effort was complemented by three home runs by the Indians, including a three-run smash by Von Hayes. Alan Bannister and Ron Hassey also homered for Cleveland.

Sorenson boosted his record to 4-3 as he recorded six strikeouts and one walk.

Brad Havens, 1-3, was the losing pitcher.

Mariners 7, Tigers 6

Dave Henderson legged out an infield single with two out in the bottom of the ninth inning to score pinch-runner Joe Simpson with the winning run for Seattle.

The Mariners rallied with a three-run eighth to tie the game 6-6.

Bill Caudill, 6-2, got the victory after stopping Detroit in the ninth. Elias Sosa, 2-2, the last of four Tiger pitchers, got the loss.

Extra Inning Night In Texas League

By The Associated Press

It was extra inning night in the Texas League as El Paso, Tulsa and Jackson needed some 10th inning heroics to emerge victorious.

El Paso edged Arkansas, 4-3, Tulsa slipped past Midland, 8-6, and Jackson came from behind to beat San Antonio, 5-4, in Texas League action Tuesday night. Amarillo's scheduled game at Shreveport was postponed because of rain.

Mark Schuster slugged a one-out homer over the right field fence in the bottom of the 10th inning to give the El Paso Diablos a 4-3 victory over the Arkansas Travelers. Schuster finished off the night with a double, a triple and the homer, adding two RBI to increase his league leading total to 46. The homer was his 10th of the season.

Andy Van Slyke had a two-run homer and drove in the only other Arkansas run.

Derek Tatsumo, 3-0, was the winning pitcher. The loser was Jeff Kenner, 3-3.

A 6-3 lead looked safe in the ninth inning for the Tulsa Drillers, but the Midland Cubs scored three runs to tie the game and send it into extra innings.

Carmello Aguayo drove home the winning run in the 10th inning with a sacrifice fly.

The winning pitcher was Dennis Long. Tagged with the loss was Jim Gerlach.

Billy Beane singled home Darryl Strawberry with the winning run in the 10th inning as the Jackson Mets came from behind to take a 5-4 victory over the San Antonio Dodgers.

Defense Highlights Rain-Shortened Battle

White Edges Maroon, 14-6, in Spring Game

By SPEEDY NIEMAN

The White team used one big offensive play and a swarming defense that bent but didn't break to score a 14-6 win over the Maroon in the Whitefaces' annual spring game Tuesday night.

Flashes of lightning and a driving rain quickly thinned out a good crowd, but it didn't dampen the enthusiasm of the players as they ended spring drills with the intra-squad battle.

The Maroon team drove to the White's 4-yard line with 6:26 left in the game, but when the Whites held on fourth down, Coach Don Cumpston decided not to take any more chances and blew the final whistle.

"We were surprised at the defenses on both sides; the hitting was excellent," said Cumpston. "It's the most physical we've been all spring."

Cumpston said the players had "lots of fun...it's a good way to end the spring training." He added that "if the team continues to improve, we have a chance of being a good team this fall."

The Herd mentor said there were no injuries in the game, which was his only concern before this contest, because he knew his team was going to win.

After a scoreless first period, the White team launched a touchdown drive. Gary Ruckman got it started with a 42-yard run that carried to the Maroon 27. Manuel Mendiola got 12 more to the 15, than a short gain and a penalty put the ball on the 8.

The White's Dan Fowler plowed off tackle and went into the end zone from the 8, and David Zuniga tacked on the extra point for a 7-0 lead by the Whites. The first tally came with 8:30 left in the second period.

The Maroon's Jay Hodge intercepted a Jeff Streun pass later in the period to start a Maroon drive from the 38. The big gainer came from Glen Phibbs, who took a late pitch from quarterback Charles McDowell and went 27 yards to the White 35.

Raymond Martinez, Ronnie Terry and McDowell had gains to get the ball to the 1, then McDowell knifed in for the score on an option play. The touchdown came on fourth down. The snap for the extra point was bobbled, and the Whites still led by 7-6.

The White team made only one first down in the second half, but it came on the first series of plays and it went for a touchdown. Kevin Redus took a pitch and started around the left side, dipped in and then sped to the outside.

Redus found an opening down the sidelines and dashed 60 yards for a touchdown. Zuniga kicked the extra point again, and the Whites had a 14-6 lead with 10:39 left in the third period.

After exchanging the ball, the Maroon team drove down the field to the White 14. Quarterback Robert Abalos and Ronnie Collier accounted for most of the yards, but with paydirt in sight, disaster struck the Maroons.

A late pitch by Abalos was picked off by defensive back Mike Scott, and the freshman went 88 yards for an apparent score. A penalty erased the six points, however, and the Maroon team had one more opportunity before the game ended. Starting on their own 33, the Maroon team launched a drive as Phibbs dashed 20 yards, then Terry added another 20-yard scamper. McDowell passed to Martinez for a crucial first down on the White's 9-yard line, then Terry carried twice to put the ball on the 4.

McDowell tried to spot a pass receiver on fourth down, but he was swarmed by the White defense. Cumpston decided to call the game at that point because of the weather. The rain had started falling in the third period, shortly after the White's final score.

The Maroon team had the edge in first downs, recording 12, while the winning Whites had 8 first downs. Neither team had much success in the air and several passes were intercepted.

In the opening freshman contest, the Maroon team scored a 20-0 victory. Quarterback Chad Stephens and running back Augustine Ramirez led the victors, with Ramirez scoring twice.

Stephens passed to Ramirez on a 35-yard scoring play to give the Maroons an early lead. Ramirez later broke loose on a 50-yard touchdown run.

The final Maroon score came on the last play of the scrimmage as Stephens tossed a 50-yard "bomb" to wide receiver Javier Mendiola.

Lazaro Abalos sparked the Maroon defense and Beto Valdez was a standout offensive lineman. David Parsons and Dennis Chandler were standouts on defense for the White team.

Spring Game Action

White running back Kevin Redus (25) takes a handoff from quarterback Sammy Suarez (5) in this action from Tuesday night's annual Maroon-White game. The intra-squad battle climaxed spring training for the Whitefaces, with the White team scoring a 14-6 victory. Redus recorded the game's big play with a 60-yard touchdown scamper. Coach Don Cumpston was highly pleased with the defensive performance of both teams.

In women's play, Jenny Klitch topped Hana Strachonova of Czechoslovakia 6-2, 6-1; Jo Durie of Britain beat countrywoman Glynis Coles 1-6, 6-4, 6-3; Tanya Harford of South Africa defeated Isabelle Villiger of Switzerland 6-3, 7-6; Maria Paz Derova of Czechoslovakia topped Sofia Amiach of France 6-3, 6-2; Petra Delhees of Switzerland beat Elizabeth Jones of Britain, 7-6, 6-3; and Susan Leo of Australia defeated Betsy Nagelsen 6-4, 6-4.

No. 10 seed Sue Barker of Britain withdrew from the tournament, suffering from intestinal flu.

GOLF

DUBLIN, Ohio (AP) — Californian George Archer fired the best round with a 7-under-par 65 in the pro-am prelude for the Memorial Golf Tournament beginning Thursday.

Archer, 42, a former Masters champion, recorded 10 birdies in his round over the par-72, 7,116-yard Muirfield Village course.

Jack Nicklaus, the tournament's founder and host, tied Tom Kite for second place with 68. Six other pros came in with 69's, including defending champion Keith Fergus and Arnold Palmer.

Indy 500

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — All 33 starters in Sunday's Indianapolis 500 will be reminded that the race is never won on the first lap. In other words, Chief Steward Tom Binford will tell them, be careful once the green starting flag is dropped.

Binford's annual warning is not frivolous. First-lap mishaps have occurred in the past, some with tragic results.

Salt Walther crashed along the front straightaway at the start in 1973. He was seriously injured, nine spectators were hospitalized after being sprayed by burning fuel, and 11 other cars were damaged.

In 1970, Jim Malloy crashed on the pace lap, striking the fourth-turn wall. On the first lap in 1966, Billy Foster struck the outside wall on the mainstretch, setting off a chain reaction that knocked 11 cars from the race.

A fiery, first-lap crash in 1964 killed drivers Eddie Sachs and Dave MacDonald and eliminated three other drivers from the race. In 1958, Ed Elisian spun out in the second turn and started a 15-car chain reaction that killed Pat O'Connor and eliminated six others from the race.

"It's a timing deal," said Rick Mears, who will start Sunday's race from the pole position.

Planting Hampered By Severely Heavy Rains

WASHINGTON (AP) — Planting of corn and other 1982 crops has been hampered severely by heavy rains in parts of the country, according to the government's Joint Agricultural Weather Facility.

The facility said Tuesday that rains during the week of May 17-23 limited field work in the central and southern Great Plains and caused some winter wheat to lodge or become tangled.

"In the East, rainfall improved crop conditions and helped restore soil moisture supplies," the facility said in its weekly review. "Continued clear weather in the eastern Corn Belt permitted planting to progress rapidly."

However, soggy fields restricted planting in the western North Central region, the report said.

The facility is operated by the departments of Commerce and Agriculture.

Nationally, the 1982 corn crop was estimated to be 77 percent complete by May 23, the same progress as a year ago when farmers went harvested a record crop. The average for the date is 80 percent.

"Progress was equal to or ahead of schedule in all states except Iowa, Minnesota, Nebraska, South Dakota and Wisconsin," the report said.

"Planting was finished in Georgia and Ohio, and nearly complete in Illinois, Indiana and North Carolina."

Other crop planting progress included:

—Soybeans were 39 percent planted, compared to 30 percent a year ago and the average of 41 percent for this time of the season.

—Sorghum planting was 34 percent completed, compared to 42 percent a year ago and the average of 45 percent. —Cotton planting reached 58 percent of the estimated acreage, compared to 79 percent a year ago and an average of 68 percent.

—Spring wheat planting was 73 percent completed, compared to 95 percent a year ago and the average of 85 percent.

Winter wheat, which was planted last fall for harvest this summer, was reported in "fair to good" condition although heavy rains in Oklahoma caused some flooding and lodging in fields.

Fieldwork delays also were reported in parts of Canada.

Looking at the situation in the Soviet Union, the report said "persistent showery weather" continued over some northern areas of the European part of the country, causing further delays in fieldwork.

"Mostly dry weather continued over the Ukraine while beneficial precipitation in the North Caucasus improved growing conditions," it said.

"At present, intensive spring grain sowing is occurring over many areas and abundant rainfall is needed soon over the entire area."

In Europe, widespread precipitation fell over crops areas of England, northern France and most of northern Europe during the week, which helped both winter and spring crops.

THE HEREFORD BRAND FARM NEWS

Brush Control Best In Spring

COLLEGE STATION — Mesquite and other brush can best be controlled with herbicides in spring and early summer when soil moisture is favorable and the brush is making rapid growth.

"This is the time of year when herbicides can be used effectively in management of brush species," points out Dr. Tommy G. Welch, range brush and weed control specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

He says that broadcast application of liquid herbicides is probably the most popular method of brush control. These herbicides must be taken into plants through their leaves and translocated to stems and roots. How well this takes place depends on growing conditions when herbicides are applied.

Mesquite is best controlled after the leaves have fully extended and have turned from light to dark green, explains the specialist. Other brush species such as huisache and Macartney rose may be sprayed during the fall.

"Soil moisture and soil temperature both influence the effectiveness of foliar herbicides," says Welch, "because they affect plant growth. As the soil temperature increases and soil moisture becomes more favorable, plants grow better. And that's when foliar herbicides are most effective."

Soil moisture is also needed for pelleted herbicides to be effective, adds the specialist. These herbicides are applied to the soil surface and need moisture to dissolve and move into the root zone.

Pelleted herbicides are generally applied in late winter and early spring to take advantage of spring rains. They work well on several species of oak, winged elm, whitebrush, Macartney rose, pricklypear and redberry juniper.

Ranchers should be able to see the results of liquid herbicides within several weeks after application, he adds. However, pelleted herbicides act much more slowly and may not show final results for two or more years. But they do give a higher degree of control.

"Since the main objective of brush control is to increase forage production for livestock, some desirable grasses must be present," notes Welch. "Usually, if 15 percent or more of the grasses present are desirable plants and are well distributed over the area to be treated, herbicide treatment should boost forage production."

Once herbicides are applied, Welch advises ranchers to follow a good grazing management program. He suggests at least a three-month deferment from grazing after treating with a liquid herbicide and deferment during the growing season after using a pelleted herbicide.

"Keeping livestock off treated areas for this length of time will help grass seedlings become established and will allow established plants to regain vigor and produce seed," notes Welch.

Of course, once forages begin to make good growth, proper grazing is essential to maintaining a good grass cover and to retard brush reinfestation, emphasizes the specialist.

Block Requesting Canada To Hold Back

WASHINGTON (AP) — Agriculture Secretary John R. Block says he plans to ask Canada's farm leaders to hold back on plans to boost wheat production this year.

Block was scheduled to meet today in Ottawa with Eugene F. Whelan, minister of agriculture, and Sen. Hazen R. Aguee, minister of trade for the Canadian Wheat Board.

Canada has announced plans to increase wheat production at a time the U.S. government has asked farmers to cut back on 1982 acreage to help reduce the large world supply and to help strengthen grain prices, Block told reporters Tuesday.

"With Canada talking about an increase, this is a great concern to me and is a concern to the American wheat producer," he said.

Block said other topics would include seeking Canadian support against the European Common Market practice of subsidizing its farm exports in competition with other major suppliers, including the United States and Canada, and the perennial problem of Canadian potato exports entering the U.S. market.

Ag Mechanics Workshop Scheduled

LUBBOCK — An intensive workshop in general agricultural mechanics for high school vocational agriculture teachers will be offered at Texas Tech University, 8 a.m. to 5 p.m., weekdays, June 7-25.

Dr. Lewis Eggenberger, agricultural education and agricultural engineering professor at the university, will direct the workshop for the eighth year.

Eggenberger said the workshop will be geared to preparing vocational agriculture teachers for high school instruction in practical skills.

As part of the "hands-on" workshop, participants will learn survey and welding techniques, tractor maintenance, portable building construction and small gas engine overhauling. They also will build a wiring board which can be taken home. Individual workshop sessions will be taught by a qualified expert in the field.

Teachers attending the course are selected by the director of vocational agriculture at the Texas Education Agency (TEA). Teachers at schools starting pre-employment laboratory training programs in general agricultural mechanics are selected. Of the $23,036 grant from TEA to fund the workshop, $12,077 is allocated for travel and per diem allowances of attending teachers.

Scheduled instructors and subjects to be taught include Dr. Eggenberger, small gasoline engine and tractor maintenance; Henry Burchett, owner of Burchett's Sales and Service, Lubbock, two-stroke cycle small gasoline engines; Dr. Marvin J. Cepica, associate professor of agricultural education, and John M. Dillingham, assistant professor of agricultural education and agricultural engineering, agricultural construction; and Ed Raue of Cement and Supply Co., Lubbock, concrete construction.

Also, Tommy Holmes of New Deal and Oliver Thompson of Lubbock's Cooper High School, vocational agriculture teachers, wiring and electric motors; Professor Marvin J. Dvoracek, chairman of the university's Department of Agricultural Engineering and Technology, soil and water management;

Microcomputer Farmers' Helper

COLLEGE STATION — Farming and ranching is a tough ball game, especially in today's complex environment. Making the right decisions isn't easy, so farmers and ranchers need all the management information they can get their hands on.

Enter the microcomputer. This home or office-sized computer can put a wealth of information at the fingertips of agricultural producers so that they can manage their operations more efficiently and effectively, says an economist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

"Many farmers and ranchers currently do not have all the management information and decision-making tools they need, such as enterprise budgets, various production records, market analysis aids and cash flow statements, to do the best job in controlling and managing their operations," points out Dr. James McGrann. "Therefore, the greatest area of potential innovation in agriculture in the '80s is farm and ranch management, and the microcomputer can be an important tool in improving this management."

An increasing number of farmers and ranchers are turning to computers due to advancements in hardware (computer and related equipment) technology and increased availability of agricultural software (instructions or programs for computers), notes the economist. And more producers will be able to profitably use microcomputers in the future.

"With a tax deductible investment of $6,000 to $10,000, a producer can put together a fairly complete management information system," points out McGrann. "Used effectively, such a system can pay for itself a few years by improving management decisions. It also can increase the motivation of the decision-maker to more adequately evaluate production, marketing and financing alternatives."

Of course, with the many selections of microcomputer software and hardware now available, choosing the right system for a particular farming or ranching operation can be a difficult task, says the

4-H's Going To China

WASHINGTON (AP) — A dozen former 4-H members from 10 states will be heading for China in July for a three-week program which will give them a sample of life on a Chinese commune.

The National 4-H Council said Tuesday that the program will begin July 18 and will include 10 days of living and working with Chinese host families.

Daniel Lee Einarsen, Fort Collins, Colo., a 1979 4-H youth exchange delegate, will be coordinator of the program, according to Melvin J. Thompson, a council official.

Others in the program are: Carma Kay Allan, Parkersburg, Iowa; Kenneth Charles Gensrick, Mequon, Wis.; John David Hasler, Newberry, Ind.; Jane Marie Hopper, King George, Va.; and Kathleen Fern Levenhagen, Mequon, Wis.

Also, Carolyn Jeanene Lindsey, Jacksboro, Texas; James Robert Moxley, West Friendship, Md.; Sandra Marie Otto, York, Neb.; Linda Sue Rendlemen, Carthage, Ill.; Paula K. Shireman, Akron, Ind.; and Lynn Marie Yacca, Ventura, Calif.

economist. So getting a good handle on computer terminology is the first major step.

"Once a producer understands some of the basics about computers, the first and most critical consideration is selecting software," emphasizes McGrann. "Computers have no use if software is not available, and software costs will exceed hardware costs over the useful life of the system."

The economist recommends "hands on" experience to give producers a "feel" for various computer systems and to become familiar with their capabilities. Software support, including a good user's manual and overall dealer service is critical to the general feasibility of the system.

"The Extension Service has conducted workshops on computer applications that have provided hands on experience from many farmers and ranchers," notes McGrann. "Such workshops and training sessions will continue in the future. These have provided valuable information to help producers more effectively use the computer in managing their operations."

County Extension agents and Extension economists located at district Extension offices over the state can provide further information on microcomputer applications, notes McGrann. After identifying software that will best fit a producer's needs, the next step is to select the hardware (computer, printer, storage devices, keyboard and related items).

"It's important to actually run the desired software on the system before buying it to make sure there are no incompatibility problems," advises McGrann. "Again, dealer support is extremely important."

The economist suggests that a farm or ranch business computer system meet at least three requirements: 64K-central processing units (CPU) with the ability to go to 128K, dual disk drive and capability of running the Digital Research CP-M or a CP-M 86 operating system.

Since the amount of disk storage is a problem with a large record system, McGrann advises producers to allow for sufficient storage capacity to meet anticipated needs and to purchase a system with storage growth potential. He says that any microcomputer should be able to run standard word processing, mailing list and electronic worksheet type software.

"As with any new technology, an initial learning period is necessary to effectively use a microcomputer in farm and ranch management," points out McGrann. "The microcom-puter and software are only management tools that provide the decisionmaker with better information.

"Many farmers and ranchers over the country are finding profitable ways to use microcomputer technology," he contends. "Microcomputers will be one of the important tools in bringing about innovations in farm and ranch management in the years ahead."

Wheat Field Day Slated Tomorrow

BUSHLAND - Wheat is the primary crop in the Panhandle of Texas and is grown on 4 million acres. This is more acres than corn and sorghum combined. Most of the wheat varieties grown in the area were developed at the USDA Conservation and Production Research Laboratory at Bushland.

Dr. B.A. Stewart, Director of the Research Laboratory, invites everyone to a Wheat

Field Day on Thursday, May 27 at 1:00 p.m. The highlight of the tour will be a nursery of commercial hybrid wheats being compared to TAM 105 and other varieties of wheat. Techniques used to develop new wheat varieties will be discussed by Dr. K.B. Porter, Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, Wheat Breeder, who has developed most of the wheat varieties grown in the area.

TFU, NFU Fighting Elevator Bankruptcy

WASHINGTON — Texas Farmers Union President Mike Moeller joined with other state presidents and National Farmers Union leaders in calling for protection for producers in the case of elevator bankruptcies. The farm leaders requested Congress to enact legislation which will prevent economic hardship and loss for producers who have commodities stored in facilities which declare bankruptcy.

"Bankruptcy cases can be tied up for long periods of time in court. Under current law, producers who have stored their commodity have no resource other than to wait on a court decision while they may have their entire harvest, which is their annual income, tied up in a bankruptcy," Moeller stated.

The Farmers Union plan calls for the following steps to be implemented: Innocent party claims should be settled quickly in an elevator bankruptcy; Priority should be given to farmers who have sold grain for cash but have not been paid; and a warehouse receipt should be evidence of ownership of grain.

The plan also calls for the establishment of a federal storable commodities insurance corporation which will guarantee up to $150,000 protection for each farmer who has stored, delivered or contracted his crop to licensed commodity dealers.

"A farmer who has his crop in an elevator is no different from a businessman who has his car being repaired in a garage. If the garage goes out of business, the owner should still get his car out as quickly as possible and not have to wait for years of litigation," Moeller remarked.

What does it take to make a BUMPER YIELD?

A bumper sorghum yield takes hard work, good weather and the right seed. That's the reason the best farmers plant ORO Hybrids. Like ORO G XTRA, the high yielding hybrid with "open bag" resistance added making it an excellent sorghum for areas from Kansas to South Texas. If you want high yields, why not plant the best... plant ORO G XTRA.
