Attenborough's struggle with Gandhi pays off

LOS ANGELES (AP) — "Another 20 years? Without question I would do it again," said a clearly gratified Richard Attenborough as his two decades of struggle on the epic "Gandhi" paid off with eight Oscars, including best picture.

Attenborough, who produced and directed "Gandhi," said his wildest expectations were more than fulfilled Monday night at the 55th annual Academy Awards. The movie also earned him the best director award and, for Ben Kingsley, best actor honors.

Meryl Streep, who won the best actress award for her portrayal of the tortured Polish war refugee in "Sophie's Choice," said she thought she'd given her best performance ever in the role. "I don't think I'll ever see one like that again," said Ms. Streep.

Six and a half months pregnant with her second child, Miss Streep admitted that attending the ceremony had entailed a certain amount of physical discomfort: "The baby was kicking all night long," she smiled ruefully.

It was Miss Streep's second Oscar — she won for supporting actress in 1979 in "Kramer vs. Kramer."

Louis Gossett Jr. became the first black actor since Sidney Poitier's best actor award for 1963's "Lilies of the Field" to garner an Oscar, winning best supporting honors for his steel-hard drill sergeant in "An Officer and a Gentleman."

Only one other black performer has ever won an Oscar — Hattie McDaniel for "Gone With the Wind" in 1939. Gossett previously won an Emmy as the slave Fiddler in the miniseries "Roots."

Noting that his Oscar-winning role was not written for a black man, Gossett offered some advice to other black actors: "Don't look at black parts — look at parts." He added that the part was not changed in any way after it was given to him.

New MX basing plan headed for 'bitter' battle

WASHINGTON (AP) — The latest plan for basing the MX missile, similar to a proposal rejected by Congress two years ago, is awaiting President Reagan's endorsement before it is faces a bitter congressional fight.

A commission appointed by Reagan proposed Monday that 100 MX weapons should be built and put in Minuteman silos in Wyoming and Nebraska and that a new, smaller land-based nuclear missile should be developed in the next decade.

"Few, if any, will consider our recommendations an optimal solution," said retired Lt. Gen. Brent Scowcroft, the former national security adviser who headed the 11-member panel. "If such were available, this commission probably would not have been convened."

"What we have, we feel, has a reasonable, has the best chance to be successful," he told a news conference.

But most of the immediate Capitol Hill reaction came from MX opponents and it was predictably negative.

Rep. Joseph P. Addabbo, D-N.Y., chairman of the House defense appropriations subcommittee, predicted defeat. The MX "is a dog that has been around too long," Addabbo said.

Sen. Gary Hart, D-Colo., a candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination, said the panel's "recommendation to deploy 100 MX missiles in existing Minuteman silos makes no more sense today than it did when the administration proposed it as a temporary solution 16 months ago. It was rejected then; it should be rejected now."

Sen. J. James Exon, a Nebraska Democrat whose state would receive some of the missiles, called the plan "ridiculous."

Rural fire department compensation increased

BY BOB NIGH
MANAGING EDITOR
The fire departments in county rural communities will be getting a little more compensation when they answer a call in the future, thanks to action taken by the Deaf Smith County Commissioner's Court Monday.

Firefighters in Dawn, Sims, and Walcott will receive $100 for each fire they fight in the future, a change from the old $50 figure the departments got if they answered a call at which they received help from another department.

In the past rural fire departments got $100 for an unaided call, and $50 if aided. The county fathers, acting upon a request by Fire Marshall Jay Spain Monday, approved a standard payment of $100, regardless of the number of departments showing up at a blaze.

Spain said he felt the increased compensation was needed. "The rural departments have helped cut down greatly on the number of county fires with the training the volunteers have received," he said.

Pct. 3 Commissioner Bruce Coleman agreed. "It's such a blessing and benefit to the county for these guys to risk their lives and take time off from work to fight fires, and the compensation their departments receive is a small price indeed to pay for that protection," he said.

Spain said that about 60 volunteers are involved with the three rural departments in the county.

The court also approved (See COUNTY, Page 2)

Jimie Gillentine, publisher of The Hereford Brand from 1939 to 1971, received a special citation from the Panhandle Press Association Saturday at the group's closing luncheon in Amarillo.

Reagan still sure of peace plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Reagan is convinced his Mideast peace initiative is still alive, even though the Palestine Liberation Organization has turned it down, say administration officials. They say Jordan and Saudi Arabia have encouraged him to go on.

The initiative will be discussed at meetings today between Reagan and the Sultan of Oman, Qaboos Bin Said, who is visiting the United States for the first time since 1975. An official White House welcome for the sultan was planned.

John Hughes, the State Department spokesman, said Monday that both Jordan's King Hussein and Saudi Arabia's King Fahd told Reagan in telephone conversations they think his plan still is worth pursuing.

"We are determined to go forward with the Sept. 1 initiative," Hughes said. "King Hussein and King Fahd share our resolve."

"The president ... as a result of those conversations, is confident that the process is going forward," said Hughes. "He is confident they have not given up."

In Jordan, sources who spoke on condition they not be identified said King Hussein believes no progress will be made toward peace in the Middle East unless the United States or the PLO softens its stand on the future of the West Bank and Gaza Strip.

Hughes went further than the administration has ever before gone publicly about the degree of Saudi support for the Reagan plan. A Saudi peace plan, considered a rival to the U.S. plan, was approved by Arab nations at their summit in Fez, Morocco last year.

Hughes admitted that the PLO rejection was a serious setback, and it wasn't clear how the administration planned to revitalize the Reagan initiative.

Firemen battle big grass blaze

A weed burning near Bootleg was fed by strong winds and grew to char 4,000 of lush grassland in western Deaf Smith County and parts of New Mexico Monday.

Fire Marshall Jay Spain said nine departments sent a total of 21 units, plus an airplane patrol, to battle the blaze for over four hours.

He said that according to his knowleges no coattle or structures were damaged. However, firemen said the blaze got within a quarter mile of Art Reinauer's young grape orchard.

Winds from 20 to 30 mph, with gusts of up to 50 mph, turned a small controlled burning on a turnout to a massive wildfire. Spain said flames were as high as eight to 10 feet at times. The wind would gust and change directions, causing firemen often to be caught by flames from behind.

"We had one guy on top of a tanker. It singed his mustache," Spain said.

Instead, said White House sources who declined to be named, Reagan will probably wait a week so the MX debate doesn't detract from administration efforts against a House nuclear freeze resolution and in favor of Kenneth Adelman, the embattled arms control nominee.

The administration says the 10-warhead MX is needed because the 1,000 Minuteman missiles — the backbone of America's land-based nuclear force — is vulnerable to a first strike by increasingly accurate Soviet missiles.

Texas House gives tentative approval to redistricting plan

AUSTIN (AP) — A Texas House redistricting plan written by federal judges after it was challenged by Republicans and Mexican-Americans was apparently still viewed as a Democratic proposal when the House tentatively approved it after little debate.

All the Republicans present were joined by only six Democrats in voting against the plan Monday, which was tentatively approved 91-41. The plan needs to be voted upon again in the House before going to the Senate.

After the 1980 census, lawmakers drew up new districts for themselves, but the Texas Supreme Court rejected the House plan for needlessly crossing too many county lines, a violation of the Texas Constitution.

The Legislative Redistricting Board, made up of five elected officeholders — all Democrats — redrew the plan, but portions of it were challenged by Republicans and Mexican-Americans as unfair. The U.S. Department of Justice refused to approve the plan and it went to federal court.

Tech student survives ordeal

TULSA, Texas (AP) — A Texas Tech University student was in satisfactory condition today after a seven-hour ordeal in which she was strangled unconscious, stripped, bound, stuffed in a canvas bag and thrown in the trunk of a car for a 75-mile drive.

Another Tech student was arrested near his car here and taken for psychiatric tests Monday to an Amarillo hospital, authorities said. He had not yet been formally charged before a magistrate, although Swisher County District Attorney Ron Felty said aggravated kidnapping charges would be filed.

The woman had spurned the man's romantic advances, police said. She was not sexually assaulted, Felty said.

The woman, 21-year-old Beverly Reed, and the man knew each other because they worked in the same Christian youth group and attended the same Lubbock church, Felty said.

School board to meet

Hereford Independent School District board of trustees will meet at 5 p.m. today.

Aside from routine departmental and organizational reports the board will take bids on a pickup and on razing of a house on school property.

Action will be taken on summer school. The program will be similar to that of last year's, with a focus on honing basics, with a possible addition of counseling.

Transportation matters will be tended to in preparation for next year with sale and purchase of school vehicles.

The board will consider changes in the Panhandle Area Association of School Boards constitution and elect a director to the Education Service Center of District 16.

Reed new SCS conservationist

David Reed has been named as district conservationist with the Soil Conservation Service. Reed, formerly of the Amarillo field office, assumes the duties of Tom Cunningham who moved to San Antonio.

Reed has been with the SCS for over five years, starting in Iowa Park, Texas. A native of Axtell, Reed received a degree in agriculture from Carlton State University.

He is joined in Hereford by his wife, Marilyn, and daughter Amanda, 4½.

Two critically injured in nursing home blaze

HOUSTON (AP) - Two residents of a retirement home were hospitalized in critical condition today following a two-alarm fire that swept through two apartments.

An emergency room spokesman at Roseland General Hospital said the two women were suffering from smoke inhalation. Two others were treated for smoke inhalation but were released, he said.

"None of them are burned," the spokesman said. He said he could not release names of the victims, who were injured in a 7 p.m. fire Monday at the Treemont Retirement Apartments.

Officials said residents were quickly evacuated from one of the home's six three-story buildings in the 310-apartment complex.

A fifth resident who suffered burns was in good condition at Memorial City General Hospital, officials said.

Arson investigators were examining possible causes of the blaze, which fire department spokesman Davis Graham said may have started in a sofa in a second-story apartment.

Jean Rogers, director of the complex, said four units were gutted.

Cattle roundup snarls rush-hour traffic

DALLAS (AP) - Rush-hour traffic was snarled for miles when a tractor-trailer rig hauling 105 cattle overturned and steers scampered across the freeway toward the nearby Trinity River bottoms.

About 20 head of cattle were killed Monday in the accident. Sheriff's officers rounded up all but about nine or 10 of the other 85 that escaped, said Dallas County sheriff's spokesman James Ewell.

"If somebody else got to them first, they may already be on a butcher's block somewhere," he said of the loose cattle.

The cattle truck overturned about 4:30 a.m. on Interstate 35E, Ewell said. The freeway was reopened shortly before 10 a.m., he said.

The driver was not injured when his truck overturned, blocking all the northbound lanes of the freeway, Ewell said. Diverted traffic was bumper-to-bumper along side streets in the Oak Cliff area.

Girls leave hospital

EL PASO, Texas (AP) - Three-week-old Siamese twin girls who were joined from breastbone to navel before doctors surgically separated them have been released from a hospital here, officials say.

Brenda and Miriam Hernandez were born March 20 and separated 11 days later at Providence Memorial Hospital.

"They went home Saturday," nursing supervisor I.M. Flood said Monday. "They were doing fine."

The twins are the daughters of Raul and Maria Hernandez of Ciudad Juarez, Mexico, across the border from here. Ms. Flood said the girls were staying with their mother's family in El Paso.

A team of surgeons finished the operation in 3 hours and 15 minutes, less than half the time they thought it would take.

House votes to ask elimination of savings

AUSTIN (AP) - A controversial federal plan to let the Internal Revenue Service withhold 10 percent in taxes from savings and investment income has been rejected by the Texas House 125-8.

If approved by the Senate, a resolution will be sent to Congress asking elimination of the new IRS authority, which was approved last year in a tax bill. The withholding is scheduled to begin July 1.

Weather

West Texas - Fair to partly cloudy and cooler through Wednesday. Widely scattered showers or thunderstorms Panhandle tonight and Wednesday. Highs near 70 west and north to 85 south and southeast. Lows near 40 Panhandle and far west to 52 southeast. Highs Wednesday 60s north and west to 78 southeast.

The Country Pet Stop, located on S. Avenue K, handles general pet supplies and features dog grooming. The Hustlers serve as a goodwill ambassador group for Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce.

Thefts, mischiefs investigated

Hereford police filed three reports Monday, issued 11 citations and investigated two minor accidents.

A shoplifter was arrested for taking a bar of soap and some garlic spice at Taylor and Sons.

A $2,500 200 amp Lincoln welder was stolen from property on U.S. 60 East. The lock and chain on a fence area was cut to gain entry sometime Sunday night, police said.

Three juveniles were disciplined by patrolmen who say the youths stealing part of a sign at 400 N. 25-Mile Avenue.

Weekend police reports included:

-Unlocked doors shut at 132 E. Third, at 130 E. Fifth, and at 800 W. First.

-Two possible runaway reports were filed.

-Two juveniles who were with a group from Amarillo selling candy were arrested for theft of an AM-FM radio cassette player from 600 Avenue F on Saturday. Police contacted the boys' parents to take custody of them.

-Some underground sprinklers were damaged by youths and in another case, juveniles were blamed for throwing rocks and bottles into a yard.

-A bike was reported stolen from 453 Paloma.

-Police assisted in settlement of a verbal harassment case.

-A vehicle parked in a garage was burglarized on Sunday. Missing are a $300 .20 gauge shotgun.

-Southwestern Bell reported a broken receiver on a pay telephone.

-Patrolmen went to Westgate Nursing Home to check a prowler report Sunday morning.

Tulia is 75 miles north of Lubbock in the Texas Panhandle.

Ms. Reed had several bruises and abrasions on her body and was suffering from exposure, said Lubbock police spokesman Bill Morgan.

She was found stuffed in a blue canvas bag when the man's car, which was apparently abandoned when it struck a guard rail along Interstate Highway 27 in Tulia, was towed away from the scene, Morgan said.

The man was found incoherent in some brush near by the car, Morgan said.

Ms. Reed was listed in satisfactory condition today at Northwest Texas Hospital.

The Brand received four first-place awards at the convention, in addition to receiving the coveted Community Service award presented each year by the West Texas Chamber of Commerce. The Plainview Daily Herald also earned four first-places, and the Pampa News had three.

Gillentine left the newspaper business in 1971, devoting full time to printing plants in Amarillo and Dallas. He later sold the Amarillo plant, and his son is manager of the Dallas offset printing plant.

The press group initiated a program last year to honor former newspapermen, and Tommy Thompson of Amarillo was the first honoree.

Gillentine was praised for his outstanding achievements in the newspaper business, especially with The Hereford Brand for almost 35 years. He came to Hereford as an editor in 1937, purchased a half interest in 1939, and bought the remaining interest in 1949. By that time, the Brand had become known as one of the of $1,500. Under a proposal presented by Ms. Gibson, the county would purchase five copiers, which would average around $600 per month cost to the county, including maintenance contracts.

County Clerk David Ruland told the court that the new copiers were needed, not only to reduce expense, but to help avoid "problems" caused between county departments when a machine breaks down and waiting periods for use of the machines are necessary.

The court tabled action on the proposal to gather additional information.

In other action Monday the court:

-Agreed to advertise the bids on a new pick-up truck and a shredder for Pct. 3.

-Approved a request by Edwin Axe to cross a county road with a water line.

-Met with district attorney assistant Jerry Smith during an afternoon special session to discuss pending litigation.

All four commissioners, along with County Judge Glen Nelson, were present at the meeting.

MARY PATTERSON

Services for Mary L. Patterson, 80, of Lubbock were at 10:30 a.m. Monday in W.W. Rix Chapel in Lubbock with the Rev. Nathan Lundberg officiating. Burial was in City of Lubbock Cemetery under the direction of Rix Funeral Directors of Lubbock.

Mrs. Patterson was the sister of Lillian Cheek of Hereford. She died at 4:45 a.m. Saturday in Methodist Hospital, Lubbock, after a brief illness.

The Greenwood native married John C. Patterson on May 3, 1924, in Hobart, Okla. They moved to Brownfield in 1940 and to Lubbock in 1950. He preceded her in death on April 19, 1976. She was a Baptist.

Other survivors include five daughters, Juanita Simons of Denison, Geneva Threet of Hempstead, and Mary Vines, Hazel Rudder, and Imogene Hay, all of Lubbock; three sons, J.C. and Clarence, both of Lubbock, and James of Blanchard, Okla.; a brother, Lonnie Gardner of Cleburne; three sisters, Della Kathryn Hendrix, Irene Kimbrell, and Dovie Hesley, all of Wichita Falls; 41 grandchildren; 60

Mickey Rooney received a thunderous ovation when he was brought on stage by Bob Hope to receive his honorary award for 50 years of versatility in films.

"You honor me with the highest tribute I can receive in the business," said Rooney after the audience had seen clips of his films ranging from the 1934 "A Midsummer Night's Dream" to the 1979 "Black Stallion."

Rooney spoke frankly of being the No. 1 movie star at 19 and when he was 40 - "Nobody wanted me, I couldn't get a job."

Gillentine's philosophy with the growth-oriented Brand was "a town either grows or declines; it never stands still." He converted the weekly paper to a twice-a-week publication on July 4, 1948.

In his presentation, Nieman pointed out that the Gillentines also found time to contribute to community development. He served as a school trustee and was president of the Lions Club, as well as being one of the founders of the Hereford Country Club. He was president of the Panhandle Press Association in 1957-58.

Mrs. Gillentine was a Sunday School teacher at the First Baptist Church for many years, active in Camp Fire Girls, and was the second president of the Women's Division of the chamber of commerce. Both were active in many other boards and committees.

The infant was stillborn Sunday evening at Swisher Memorial Hospital in Tulia.

Survivors include his parents; two brothers, Jamin and Jordan, both of the home; grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles McCaslin of Happy and Mr. and Mrs. Morris Hacker of Hereford; and great-grandmothers, Mrs. K.I. McCaslin of Tulia, and Mrs. Edward Jesko and Mrs. Ola Hacker, both of Hereford.

Federal workers march to Alamo to protest

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) - With the Alamo as their backdrop, union leaders exhorted a crowd of about 150 placard-waving federal workers to "retire" President Ronald Reagan by voting him out in 1984.

The workers chanted anti-Reagan slogans Monday as they walked from the federal courthouse to Alamo Plaza for a peaceful protest against several of the president's proposals - particularly one that would up the mandatory retirement age from 65 to 67.

"Hey, hey, he's no good, send him back to Hollywood," and "Retire Reagan in '84" were the rallying slogans.

John Sturdivant, national executive vice president of the American Federation of Government Employees, said he flew in from Washington for the rally.

The gathering in downtown San Antonio, he said, is the first of several planned across the country.

"Power accedes nothing without demand," Sturdivant told the cheering crowd. "The message we send to this administration must be clear and unequivocal - we have had enough and we're not going to take any more."

"Federal workers are Americans," he said. "We are the ones who make sure veterans have care. We are the ones who make sure your mail is delivered on time. We are the ones who make sure the meat you eat is safe and the cars you drive are safe. We are the ones who make sure the country you live in is amply defended."

Local union leaders joined him in delivering rousing condemnations of Reagan's proposals, with one warning the president that union members refuse to be "federal wimps."

Curious tourists mingled with the throng and snapped pictures, as other visitors rode by in horse-drawn carriages.

Glen Peterson, AFGE's vice president for Texas, Louisiana and Mississippi, encouraged union members to vote "Reagan and his henchmen" out of office.

"We can stand here in the Alamo and we can say, 'Rip Reagan. Get rid of Reagan.' But that's just hollering," he said.

Blaze from page 1

Hereford received the call at 1:30 p.m. and returned to town at about 5 p.m. The fire originated about six miles west of Bootleg and two miles south.

The number of units and town dispatching were, one from Grady, N.M.; three from Broadview; two from San Jone; three from Walcott; four from Hereford; four from Friona; two from Bovina; three from Clovis; and one from Texico. The airplane assistance was from Clovis.

"We can stand here in the Alamo and we can say, 'Rip Reagan. Get rid of Reagan.' But that's just hollering," he said.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor,

For the past seven years, National Volunteer Recognition Week (April 17-23) has been observed throughout Texas to help raise public awareness of the important roles that volunteers play in their community, roles such as providing emergency services, helping Older Americans lead independent lives, fighting drug and alcohol abuse, and counseling troubled youths.

We at ACTION, the national volunteer agency, would like to express our appreciation to the people who serve in ACTION programs such as Foster Grandparents, Retired Senior Volunteers, Senior Companions, Young Volunteers in ACTION, Volunteers in Service to America (VISTA), and the Vietnam Veterans Leadership Program. Like other volunteers, they contribute their time and effort to help make their community a better place to live; and, like other volunteers, they go about their activities quietly, with little fanfare.

Volunteer Recognition Week comes only once a year, but a community relies on its volunteers 365 days a year. So, I ask that your readers take this opportunity to look around their community, to see the many ways that volunteers help us all; then, I'm sure they'll join me in saying, "Texas volunteers are great people!"

Sincerely,

Overcoming boredom

By PENNY REINART
County Extension Agent

Along with the fast approaching summer vacations comes a problem that many young people face—BOREDOM! At first the summer days bring loads of excitement and freedom—but soon that free time turns to boredom. What can you do to solve this problem?

Well, snap to and go beyond your isolated self. There's a whole new, big, bright wonderful world out there waiting to be explored. And 4-H is a part of that world! 4-H can keep you busy and help you have loads of fun at the same time.

Here are some other tips for fighting boredom:

-If there's no excitement in your life, make an itemized list of your needs and interests. Then check out other ways to achieve your ultimate objectives.

-If you find that your boredom springs from a mere lack of stimulation, get out and do something...something that you really enjoy.

-Make that boredom work for you by helping others. Volunteer your time to visit the elderly, work with the handicapped, serve on crisis hot lines and so forth.

-Don't sit home bored this summer—get involved! 4-H is ready and waiting for YOU!

Educational programs conducted by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service serve people of all ages regardless of socio-economic levels, race, color, sex, religion or national origin.

West Texas State University will host the annual school board workshop on Wednesday. Sallie Strain of Hereford Independent School District will preside at the general session which begins at 1:30 p.m. in the WTSU Activities Center Ballroom.

Orbry Holden of the Texas Association of School Boards at Austin will give a legislative update concerning issues.

finance, Dr. B.J. Stamps, superintendent of Amarillo Independent School District, and Dwain Walker of AISD; ideas for success with the community, Jess Butler of TASB; and the legal aspects of dealing with parents, staff members and students, Chris Elizade, TASB.

The workshop will adjourn at 4:30 p.m. Participants will receive certificates of attendance through the mail, said Dr. Fred Stoker, dean of the WTSU College of Education and conference coordinator.

The workshop, which will attract school board members, school superintendents and other school administrators from the Panhandle area, will begin with registration at 1 p.m. at the WTSU Activities Center.

Coffee and dessert at registration will be provided by the Canyon Independent School District board. The workshop fee is $3.

Five workshop sessions will be offered beginning at 2:30 p.m. and will be repeated at 3:30 p.m. to allow participants to choose and attend two.

Sessions will feature a discussion of the roles and relationships of board members in the administration of schools by Holden; board member orientation with Jerry Edwards of TASB; problems in school

The April Wild Flower Tour may be delayed until May because of cold weather. The plant sale is tentatively set for April 30 at the Garden Center. Plants from members' yards will be sold at reasonable costs.

The May 13 meeting will be a gourmet dinner in the home of Mary Herring.

Johnson gives program on growing day lilies

Mrs. Ray Johnson presented a program on day lilies Friday afternoon when members of the Hereford Garden Club met in the home of Mrs. Jack Wilcox. Mrs. Alfred Smith served as co-hostess.

Mrs. Johnson noted that day lilies should be planted no more than one inch deep and that the soil should be kept loose around them. Day lilies can be found in almost every color since hybrids were developed in 1935, she added.

To keep aphids and mites off day lilies, spray them with 1/4 detergent, 1 tablespoon chlorox, and 1 gallon water.

Day lilies may be cooked. They resemble squash in taste and may be flavored with cheese. Chinese use day lilies for food and medicine.

Mrs. Leonard Click was welcomed as a visitor.

The president, Mrs. Clinton Jackson, read thank-you notes for the club's work at the district meeting from Hazel McCoy, June Wood, and Mrs. Ice.

Doll painting course scheduled at Wayland

PLAINVIEW (Special)—A beginners' short course in porcelain doll painting will begin Thursday at Wayland Baptist University.

Designed to help persons learn the basics of cleaning, firing and painting porcelain dolls, the course is scheduled Thursday through April 22, meeting from 5:30 until 10:30 p.m. daily except Friday, April 15.

Sponsored by the WBU Office of Lifelong Learning, the course will meet at Betty's Fashion Fabrics, 618 N. Broadway.

Instructor for the course is Mrs. Billie Shugart. Mrs. Shugart began her career in china painting in Escondido, Calif., in 1965 and later began painting porcelain. She has been painting and restoring old dolls for more than two years.

Cost for the course is $37 per person, and enrollment is limited to 12 persons. Because of the limitations in enrollment, immediate registration in the Wayland Academic Services Office, Gates Hall 102, is urged.

The course also offers 2.5 continuing education units (CEU) credit.

For additional information contact Dr. Billie Henderson, director of lifelong learning, at 296-5521, extension 332.

Area women invited to luncheon

The Olton Chamber of Commerce and the women of Olton invite all area ladies to a "Welcome Neighbor" luncheon on Tuesday, April 19, in the party room of the Olton State Bank. The bank is located on the corner of Main Street and 7th Street.

Lunch will be served between noon and 1 p.m. and registration will start about 11:30 a.m. Admission will be free to out of town guests. There will be door prizes and a gift pack will be given to each person attending.

Please make reservations with Lois Brimhall, Olton Chamber of Commerce, P.O. Box 487, Olton, 79064 or call 285-2292.

Moving easier on adults

By SANDY PANKEY
Staff Writer

"Adjusting to moving a great deal is much more difficult on the children than it is for the adults," said Marsha Estep of 808 Park Ave., Apt. B.

Marsha and her husband, Raymond, moved to Hereford from Milburn, Iowa, Nov. 1. He is the general foreman at Swift Independent Packing Co.

"We have lived in various locations including Ohio, Iowa, Arizona and Nebraska," explained the homemaker. "I enjoy meeting new people and having the opportunity to live in different parts of the states."

"It is hard though for school age children to cope with new surroundings and seeing new faces," continued Marsha.

The Esteps have three children including a daughter, Kelly, who resides in Des Moines, Iowa; a son, Russ, a junior at Hereford High School; and son, Shane, a sixth grade student at West Central Elementary School.

"Our daughter is expecting her first child in July and we hope to go back to Iowa to visit," said Marsha. "I'm excited about being a grandmother."

Walker gives tips on avoiding food waste

"Are you among the host of housewives who cannot throw out little tidbits left from a meal? Do you find little dishes of food in the back of the refrigerator which are covered with mold? Don't despair, you're not alone," stated Louise Walker, county extension agent, at the Friday afternoon meeting of the Cultural Extension Homemakers Club.

The group met at the home of Vernis Parsons. Ms. Walker's topic was "Food Waste-Not." She said that from research and polls nationwide, it is estimated that Americans waste about ten percent of their food or approximately a month's supply over the period of a year.

She suggested that homemakers take inventory often and not buy more perishable food than their families can use.

Bertha Dettman presided over the business meeting, reminding members of several upcoming events including the district meeting in Borger today, a session on Oriental Cooking April 19 at 1:30 p.m. in the Reddy Room by Eva Kennedy, and a session on Cooking With Mixes at 2 p.m. and 7 p.m. April 27 in the Flame Room.

Carrie Mae Doak and Nell Pope volunteered to attend the training meeting on citizenship to be taught by Terri Jan Long at 1:30 p.m. April 20 in the Heritage Room of the library.

Answering roll call with "How I use Leftovers" were Ms. Dettman, Ms. Parsons, Jewel Rogers, Wilma Goetsch, Edith Hunter, Winnie Wiseman, Marie Thames, Mildred Lewis, Ms. Pope, Ms. Doak, Tillie Scott, Ruth Gandy, and Jewell Hargrave.

Fannie Townsend will serve as hostess at the next meeting, to be held April 22 at the Reddy Room. The program will be given by 4-H'ers presenting their 4-H method demonstration.

The newcomer met her husband while they were attending the same high school. "I was born in Columbus, Ohio, but my husband is from Kentucky," explained Marsha. "He moved with his family as a teenager to Ohio where he graduated from high school. We married in January 1960."

Marsha has attended several Newcomer and CowBelle luncheons and was impressed by the friendliness of the members.

"I have been acquainted with Peaches Reinauer who has made me feel very much at home in Hereford," concluded Marsha.

3-5A Medalist

Tiffi Dirks carded her lowest competitive round ever (80) Monday in the final round of the District 3-5A Girls' Golf Tourney at the John Pittman course. En route to the 80, she fired three straight birdies on the back nine (on holes 13, 14 and 15). She won district medalist honors by 11 strokes over Nancy Avery of Amarillo High. (Brand Photo).

AHS team champion

Dirks 3-5A medalist

While Amarillo High rolled to the District 3-5A girls' golf title, Hereford's Tiffi Dirks had little trouble in gaining district medalist honors and earning a return trip to the regional tournament in Lubbock in two weeks.

The Sandie girls carded a 380 Monday at the John Pittman course here in the final round of league play. Their winning margin over runner-up Tascosa was 128 strokes over the four rounds of play. The top two teams, as well as the top two individuals qualify for the regional meet, which will be held April 21-23 in Lubbock.

Tascosa began the final round 24 strokes ahead of Caprock in the battle for runner-up honors, and ended up 15 shots in front after Monday's finale, which had been twice postponed by bad weather.

Hereford, which fired a final-round 437, wound up fourth in the team standings with a 1,733 total.

Miss Dirks' 80 Monday was the low individual round of the day, by seven shots over eventual medalist runner-up Nancy Avery of AHS. Miss Avery trailed Dirks by 11 strokes after the four rounds.

Hereford girls place 5th

Redmon, Thomas earn trips

As expected, Amarillo High easily outdistanced the field last Saturday in winning the District 3-5A Girls' Track Meet at Plainview.

But, while the Sandie girls ran away with team honors, Hereford's Lisa Redmon and Bernice Thomas earned trips to the Regional meet in Lubbock, April 22-23.

Miss Redmon was a double winner, taking top honors in the 100 and 200 meter dashes. Her 12.1 winning time for the 100 was her personal best. She ran a 25.7 in the 200 prelims, which was her best effort this season, then came back to win with a time of 26.0.

Miss Thomas qualified for the regional meet in the discus with a toss of 102-5, which was good enough for second place. Both are expected to compete in a regional qualifiers meet this weekend in Plainview.

As a team, Hereford was fifth in the meet with 49 points. AHS rolled up 144 points, compared to 78 by runner-up Plainview. Palo Duro and Coronado tied for third with 77 points.

A number of Hereford girls came through with season bests in the meet.

The 1600 relay team, composed of Teresa Phibbs, Miss Redmon, Michelle Osborn and Paula Mason, ran a 4:12.2, but could place no higher than fourth. Miss Phibbs just missed earning a trip to the regional meet as she placed third in the 400 with a personal-best time of 61.1 — just a tenth of a second behind the second-place time.

Jana Morgan ran a season best 26.0 in the 200 prelims, but was fourth in the finals with a 26.8 time.

The 800 relay team, composed of Sarah Martinez, Miss Morgan, Michelle Osborn and Dede Dobbins ran a season-best 1:49.6 in placing sixth.

"Although we were only fifth in the meet, I thought the girls gave an all-out effort," coach Martha Emerson said.

"Four of the varsity team members were still out with injuries, and Paula Mason was competing in her first meet of the season."

In the junior varsity division, no team totals were kept.

The 1600 relay team (Lori Walterscheid, Liz Hays, Yolanda Alaniz and Stacey High) ran a 4:40.36 to place third, while the 800 relay team (Lisa Connally, Miss Walterscheid, Miss Hays and Miss High) ran a 1:56.53 in placing fifth. The 400 relay team (Connally, Dallas Phillips, High and Hays) was fifth with a time of 54.69.

Belinda Warren was third in both the 1600 (6:16) and 3200 (13:43).

In the 100 meter hurdles, Ana Villegas was third with a time of 17.4, while Dallas Phillips was fourth with a 17.5.

Yolanda Alaniz ran a 13:45 to place fourth in the 3200. Miss Walterscheid ran a 29.9 in the 200 meter dash as she placed fifth. Miss Connally was fifth in the 100 with a time of 13.3.

Lisa Dirks took fourth in the discus with a toss of 83-4 and sixth in the shot with a 26-8 effort.

Hereford's boys, mean-

Ballesteros simply Masterful

SPORTS

The makings were there for a dramatic finish — four former Masters champions separated by only two shots going into the final round.

Seve's birdie-eagle-par-birdie quickly took care of that as the handsome Spaniard outdistanced three of the game's top players and strolled to a rather easy four-shot victory Monday in the season's first major golf event.

"I played 4-under the first four holes, and I think that was probably the key,"

Ballesteros said. "That put me 9-under and put my confidence straight up."

It also put more pressure on the third round co-leaders, Raymond Floyd and Craig Stadler, playing one group behind him, and on playing partner Tom Watson, who had hoped to capture his third Masters crown.

The 26-year-old Ballesteros, who also won this tournament in 1980, lost that three-shot advantage only once the rest of the way.

That came when Watson knocked in a 35-40-foot eagle putt on the par 5 eighth to move within two shots of the lead.

But, a Watson charge wasn't to be.

Ballesteros rolled in a 15-foot birdie putt on the ninth and Watson, one of the game's top putters, lost his touch on the greens.

He three-putted Nos. 9 and 11 and also bogeyed the 10th, and the game was over for the reigning U.S. and British Open king.

Stadler and Floyd never got anything going, and the only ones who did, Ben Crenshaw and Tom Kite, were too far back for it to matter.

Ballesteros closed with a 69 for an 8-under 280 total in the day-late finish on the still-soggy 6,905-yard Augusta National Golf Club course.

Crenshaw had the low round of the day, a 68, and Kite fired a 69 as the two tied for second place at 284.

Watson and Floyd finished at 285 with scores of 73 and 75, respectively, and Stadler, the defending champion, struggled to a 76 and was tied at 286 with Hale Irwin, who had a 69.

Watson closed to within three shots with a birdie on the 13th, but had a double bogey 6 on 14.

Watson said the 14th "sealed the coffin. The lights went out."

"I told my caddy after 13 that from here to the last hole we have to play in par," Ballesteros said. "I did."

"I made a couple of mistakes on the back nine, but I kept my cool," he said.

"The key on this course is you have to wait for the birdies. I made my birdies early in the round and that was the key."

The victory was worth $90,000 for Seve and it was his third major championship. He also won the British Open in 1979 and now owns 29 titles in his globe-trotting career — most of them overseas.

"This is my favorite course," he said. "You have to use your power ... your mind ... and be lucky."

He's golf's newest Arnold Palmer

By WILL GRIMSLEY AP Special Correspondent
AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — He is golf's new Arnold Palmer with a Spanish accent — flamboyant, loose, pirate bold and dripping with raw charisma — but he belongs to the world.

Severiano Ballesteros, the Masters champion for a second time, has a calling card which reads like Paladins': "Have clubs — will travel."

"I am sorry I cannot stay for LaCosta," he said, referring to the exclusive Tournament of Champions next week in San Diego, Calif. "I must go home to play in Madrid."

There he will defend the Madrid Open title he has won three times.

Seve, as pals call him, is 26, dark, tall and handsome, perhaps the most exciting golf personality America has seen since Arnie started hitching his belt and making those birdie charges in the 1960s.

Unfortunately, Uncle Sam can have him only a little while.

"I do not change my schedule," he said after crushing America's finest golfing talent in Monday's final round. "I play only three more tournaments in this country — Westchester, the U.S. Open and PGA."

"Some day I will come back to play the tour one year just to see how good I am."

"Maybe next year."

This was Ballesteros' second Masters in three years — his 30th professional tour victory in a career which has taken him to every continent. His collection includes the British Open, French, Dutch, German, Japanese, Scandinavian, New Zealand and Australian crowns.

A bachelor, he likes the gypsy life.

"How many languages do you speak?" someone asked him in the posttournament interview Monday.

"Well, let me see," he said. "Spanish, Cuban, Mexican, Argentinian..." All Spanish-speaking countries. "Nine besides English."

He said the Augusta course was much like the course he grew up on in his native Santander, Spain.

"Makes me use my mind," he added. "My favorite — best in the world."

He said he also enjoyed the galleries and the press.

"They like me, and I like them," he said, then addressing the assembled press corps: "I like you, too. I just like to make a few jokes."

It is difficult to tell when Seve is serious and when kidding. Flip answers come off his tongue like the birdies he spews over the golf courses.

He wasn't doing much kidding Monday when he seized control of the tightly bunched leader board with birdie-eagle-par-birdie on the first four holes of the final round, lunging into a quick three-stroke lead.

"Seve got such a strong start, it put a damper on everybody," said Tom Kite, who tied with fellow Texan Ben Crenshaw for second place, four shots back of Ballesteros' 280.

quarter, Flowers outjumped two Washington Federals defenders at the home team's 49-yard line and then rambled the remaining distance to complete a 98-yard touchdown pass, the longest in the history of the United States Football League.

"I threw the ball as far as I could and he made a heck of catch," said quarterback Alan Risher, who completed 16 of 30 passes for 310 yards, including eight to Flowers for 179 in the Wranglers' 22-21 victory.

"I saw it from the second it left Risher's hand. I thought it was a jump ball and seriously thought about knocking it down so they wouldn't intercept it. We needed to hold on to the ball at that point in the game," Flowers said.

Washington coach Ray Jauch, who watched his team fall to 1-5 and last place in the Eastern Conference along with next week's opponent, the New Jersey Generals, was disheartened by the defeat.

"This has got to be the worst one yet. It's like we find a new way to lose every week."

Year of guards and forwards

College cage coaches eye national signing day

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — Wednesday is national signing date for high school basketball players and coaches say the top prospects range from 7-foot-2 to 5-3.

But there are no overpowering big men in the mold of Ralph Sampson or Pat Ewing, say the cross-section of coaches and recruiters.

"It's the year of guards and forwards," said Mike Gilleran, who coordinated the NCAA's Operation Intercept. In Operation Intercept, the NCAA works with recruiters and high school and college coaches to compile a list of the most heavily sought players so their recruitment can be monitored.

"The closest to a consensus No. 1 player would probably be Reggie Williams of Dunbar High School in Baltimore," said Gilleran.

Williams is a solidly built 6-7 swingman and the leader on what everyone considered the top high school team in the country. One of his teammates was Tyrone Bogues, who's out to prove a 5-3 guard can play in the Atlantic Coast Conference.

"He's said he's going to Wake Forest," Gilleran said of Bogues. "He impressed a lot of people last week in an all-star game in Washington, D.C. His team won, in large part because of Bogues, the way he stole the ball, set up plays and generally created havoc. It will be interesting to see what he can do in the ACC."

In the all-star game, Bogues more than held his own against another of the country's greatest prospects, James Blackmon, a 6-3 guard from Marion, Ind.

"A lot of people are wondering about Bogues' defense at 5-foot-3, but you just have to see him get out there and play to appreciate how he can mix it up," said Gilleran. "He gave Blackmon some trouble. And the fact he could stay out there with Blackmon tells you something. He hung in there pretty well."

Many of the best prospects have already signed, taking advantage of an experiment by college administrators that allowed seniors to sign during a seven-day period last November.

"Blackmon is headed for Kentucky," said Gilleran. "He's an excellent player, handles the ball well and can shoot." Kentucky also is expected to land 6-7 Winston Bennett of Louisville's Male High School, which has produced a number of gifted players, including former Louisville All-American Darrell Griffith.

"He's a big, muscular kid who is very gifted and will probably play power forward," said Gilleran. "If Kentucky gets Bennett and Blackmon, that will be quite a coup."

The tallest player on the NCAA's list of top recruits is 7-2 Martin Nessley of Columbus, Ohio, who is headed for Duke.

A legend in the New York City prep ranks, Dwayne "Pearl" Washington, has decided upon Syracuse, said Gilleran. However, the 6-2 Washington, from Boys and Girls High School in Brooklyn, did not exactly overpower Curtis Aiken, a small guard from Buffalo, N.Y., who says he's coming to Kansas.

"He's listed at everything from 5-9 to 5-11, but he's a fine player," said Gilleran. "He first bloomed in the Empire State games last summer when he played against Washington. Aiken's team beat Washington's in an upset and everybody who came to see Washington went away about equally impressed with Aiken."

One of the top guards is Antoine Joubert of Detroit, a smooth 6-5 guard and all-around player. Another is Henry Dalrymple, a native of New York who attended prep school in Vermont and has committed to Georgia Tech.

"He's a 6-4 swingman, quick, aggressive and tough," said Gilleran.

Other top guard prospects from New York include 6-2 Kenny Smith, who's said to be headed to North Carolina or Virginia, and Kenny Hutchinson, 6-4, reported to be leaning to North Carolina State.

Indiana has been promised the services of Steve Alford of Newcastle, Ind., a record-breaking 6-2 guard.

"He's your prototype shooter," said Gilleran. "A great pure shooter."

Other top center-forward prospects include Dave Popson, 6-10, of Kingston, Pa., who's said to be considering Notre Dame and North Carolina, Ricky Winslow, 6-8, of Houston, and 6-8 Tom Sheehy of Rochester, N.Y., who announced Monday that he will sign a letter of intent with Virginia.

"Most coaches seem to think that although there's not a great, overpowering big man in this year's class, there is greater depth than usual at guard and forward," said Gilleran. "There are also some good prospects on the West Coast, and in the Deep South."

Astros off to worst start in club's history

By BRUCE LOWITT AP Sports Writer

Winning isn't everything — and for the Houston Astros and Chicago Cubs these days, winning isn't anything.

The Astros, off to the worst start in the 22-year history of the franchise, have dropped their first seven games, the latest an 11-inning 4-3 heart-breaker Monday night to Los Angeles.

And the Cubs, starting their midsummer swoon a bit early, have dropped six in a row without a victory, their latest a 5-1 decision Monday in Cincinnati.

In the only other National League game, Atlanta blanked San Diego 4-0.

Bob Knepper was two outs away from his — and Houston's — first victory of the year when Derrel Thomas singled and, with two away, pinch-hitter Mike Marshall singled just over the glove of leaping second baseman Bill Doran. Then Steve Sax tied it 3-3 with a liner through the box.

Reds 5, Cubs 1

The Cubs are off to their poorest start since 1962, when they lost their first seven games. "We're off to a poor start, but we've got a good ballclub," Chicago Manager Lee Elia proclaimed. "Once we start cooking, we'll be all right. Things are just magnified now because of the start of the season."

"They're not quitting," he said of his players. "Maybe they're trying too hard as a team ... Down deep every guy on this ballclub knows we've got a good ballclub."

Joe Price pitched a two-hitter for the Reds, one of them Wayne Nordhagen's home run, and Dann Bilardo hit a two-run double and Cesar Cedeno added a two-run homer, both in the second inning against Dickie Noles.

Braves 4, Padres 0

Pascual Perez stymied the Padres on five hits to stretch Atlanta's winning streak to five games. "He was super, just great," Braves Manager Joe Torre said. "This was his best. He's now put two complete games back-to-back."

Terry Harper hit a run-scoring single in the fourth inning, then Bob Horner and Harper hit successive home runs in the fifth.

Texas Tech comeback nips A&M

By The Associated Press

Some come-from-behind heroics pushed Texas Tech to a Southwest Conference baseball victory over Texas A&M, while Arkansas breezed to an easy win over Houston.

Jimmy Zachry slugged a three-run homer in the eighth inning and teammate Kenny Albritton added an RBI single as the Red Raiders rallied to beat the Aggies 11-10 in Lubbock on Monday.

Tony Laird and Norm Roberts each drove in two runs for the Razorbacks, who posted a 9-1 win over the Cougars at Fayetteville, Ark.

Tech raised its record to 16-14 on the season and 6-6 in SWC play.

A&M, which lost its ninth straight conference game, built an early 8-3 lead, but Tech scored twice in the fifth and sixth and trailed 10-7 going into the eighth.

By winning final 3 games

Knicks can clinch playoffs

NEW YORK (AP) — New York Coach Hubie Brown appreciates the luxury of not having to worry about other teams' scores, as long as the Knicks continue to win.

"I think we will win our last three games," Brown said after the Knicks' easy 121-92 victory over the Indiana Pacers in the only National Basketball Association game Monday night. "If we win all three, it doesn't matter what Atlanta or Washington does. From a positive standpoint, the best way to make the playoffs is not worry what the other teams are doing. We have to do it ourselves."

"We don't have to worry about Washington or Atlanta at all," said Bernard King, who hit 13 of 20 shots and scored 29 points to lead the Knicks. "I prefer it this way."

The Knicks are tied with Atlanta for fifth place in the Eastern Conference, and both the Hawks and Knicks are one-half game ahead of Washington. Two of the three teams will earn a postseason berth by Sunday, the final day of the regular season.

But because of the tiebreaker situation, the Knicks are assured of making the playoffs if they win their last three games, at home against New Jersey and on the road against Detroit and Chicago.

"This is a good position to be in," said center Bill Cartwright, who hit all eight of his field goal attempts and finished with 19 points. "I feel we'll win our remaining games."

Indiana's seventh straight loss dropped the Pacers, 19-60, two games behind Cleveland in the Central Division. Both the Pacers and Cavaliers have three games left, and if Cleveland finishes ahead of Indiana, the Pacers will flip a coin with Houston for the right to choose first in the June 28 college draft, with three-time All-American Ralph Sampson of Virginia the likely first selection.

"We're not trying to catch anyone now," Indiana Coach Jack McKinney said. "We're just trying to win a few and salvage the season."

McKinney said the Pacers might have been expected to start "playing out the string" weeks ago, but "if we do that, we are cheating the people who pay our salaries."

"You can't accuse them of playing out the string," Brown said of the Pacers. "They lost in overtime to Philadelphia on Friday and led most of the game against Cleveland Sunday. It's been a frustrating season for them and tonight they just had a bad game."

After trailing 57-42 at halftime, the Pacers cut the deficit to 59-50 in the third quarter, but got no closer than that as the Knicks outscored them 62-42 the rest of the way.

King had 15 points and Cartwright and Paul Westphal nine each in the first quarter as the Knicks led by as many as 17 points in the period, which ended with them ahead 35-22.

Cartwright had seven points, King six and Westphal four to account for all of New York's points during the 17-8 spurt that gave the Knicks a 55-38 advantage. None of them played in the final quarter.

Clark Kellogg and Brad Branson led the Pacers with 20 points each. For Branson, it was five points more than his previous career high.

Leonard, Royals trip Red Sox, 6-2

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — The Kansas City Royals probably proved last year that Dennis Leonard is crucial to any hopes they might have of winning the American League West championship.

Last May the hard-throwing veteran broke two fingers, stopping a line smash with his pitching hand. The Royals spent the rest of the season in a futile duel with California. Leonard missed 16 starts and the Angels won the flag, finishing three games ahead of the Royals.

But after Monday night's six strikeouts in a 6-2 victory over Boston, Leonard and Manager Dick Howser were resting a lot easier.

"Leonard threw the ball as well as he can tonight," said Howser. "He had as good a fastball as he is going to have. I have been very impressed with the way he's thrown four of his last five times. He was mixing his pitches very well."

In Monday night's only other AL game, the California Angels defeated the Seattle Mariners 6-1.

Leonard's six strikeouts included the heart of the Boston order in the third — Dwight Evans, Jim Rice and Tony Armas. In the fourth, he struck out Dave Stapleton and Glenn Hoffman.

An inside-the-park home run and a fielding gem by shortstop U. L. Washington helped Leonard beat the Red Sox. With the score tied at 2-2 in the fifth, Washington ripped a pitch from Bruce Hurst, 0-1, into the left-field corner that eluded Rice. It gave the Royals a 3-2 lead.

In the first inning, Washington deprived Boston of at least one run. With one already in, two runners on base and two out, he went to his left to stop Stapleton's hot grounder and flipped the ball behind his back to Frank White for the force at second.

Red Sox Manager Ralph Houk said Hurst performed better than the score would indicate. "I thought Hurst pitched good enough to win," he said. "He just didn't get too many breaks. Leonard is a good pitcher, one of the best in the league."

Angels 6, Mariners 1

Tim Foli drove in four runs for California with a pair of singles and left-hander Tommy John scattered seven hits for his second complete game in two starts. Bobby Grich went 4-for-4 for the Angels.

"When I get into a groove and find my rhythm, my confidence level goes way up," John said. "I have confidence in throwing some pitches I might not throw were I struggling ... When I'm throwing well, I keep the ball down and help the fielders behind me can come up with the good plays — which they've now done in two games for me."

Meeting Wednesday

Coaches of teams in the T-ball, minor and major leagues are urged to attend a meeting Wednesday, beginning at 7 p.m. at the Hereford State Bank, according to Bill Watts.

"It's very important that coaches attend this meeting," Watts said, "because teams will be selected."

"FILING SHORT FORM NOT SIMPLE," SAYS H & R BLOCK

Two different short forms and new deductions make short form filing more complicated this year.

You may not be eligible or it may not be to your advantage to file one of the two short forms. The short forms, including the new 1040EZ, can only be used by taxpayers meeting certain strict requirements. You are limited in deductions on the short forms. Using the wrong form could cost you money, or even mean an audit.

You will have peace of mind in knowing H & R Block's personal, courteous, and competent service is yours ... at a very reasonable price. One Day Service is also available for your convenience at any H & R Block office.

H & R Block's tax preparers are trained to know which of the forms - 1040EZ, 1040A, 1040 - gives you the maximum tax advantage for your individual requirements.

Restored hotel creating interest

RUSK, Texas (AP) — The opening of the Thomas J. Rusk Hotel, a restored version of the structure built on the courthouse square in the 1920s, was the talk of the town.

The two-story hotel opened last month the weekend of the season's inaugural run of the celebrated Texas State Railroad, which draws tourists from around the state for a ride on antique trains powered by restored steam engines.

The hotel and the train shared about equal time in conversations throughout this East Texas community.

Attorney admits tape may be damaging

BROWNSVILLE, Texas (AP) — The attorney for a La Keria man on trial for murder said a tape recording that allegedly details a slaying in progress is damaging to his client, but he won't try to stop it from being admitted as evidence.

Paul Wolf, 21, is on trial in state district court here for the murder of Leticia Castro, 26, a fourth-grade teacher in Pharr.

Defense attorney James Mardis said it's up to prosecutors to prove the tape meets state criteria for admission to court.

"If they can do what the law requires, I won't say anything," Mardis said following jury selection Monday.

Five men and seven women were seated from 60 people called as potential jurors in the case. Nearly twice as many potential jurors were called because of the extensive pretrial news coverage of the case.

Mardis' motions that the trial be moved to another city were denied by State Dist. Judge Darrell Hester. Most of the news coverage has centered around the tape recording, which was found on the body of Miss Castro's fiancée, Billy Staton, the day the two were found in separate Rio Grande Valley canals.

Prosecutors contend Miss Castro and Staton were slain July 16, 1982, at the home of Wolf and his wife, Sherry, 21.

Cameron County District Attorney Ray Cantu claims the pair were killed by the Wolfs because they were unhappy with arrangements that allowed Staton to visit his daughter at the Wolf's home.

Mrs. Wolf is Staton's former wife and mother of his 3-year-old daughter, Melanie. Staton, on advice from his attorney, had concealed a minicassette tape recorder on his body when he last visited his daughter at the Wolf house last summer, Cantu says.

He claims Miss Castro accompanied Staton on the visit but waited outside in the car when Staton entered the Wolf house. Three weeks later, on Aug. 6, 1982, the two bodies were found in drainage ditches.

"Have you seen the hotel?" they asked at a barbecue the night before the train ride. The question repeatedly popped up the next day during and after the 25.5-mile train ride to Palestine.

All the interest in the hotel was generated by Richard and Diana Lowder, the new owners who will hold a grand opening April 22.

The Lowders bought the hotel about nine months ago and restored it to designs of the 1920s at a cost of about $500,000.

The hotel opened its doors March 18 to its first guests in five years.

The guests, most of them participating in the state railroad festivities, included Texas lawmakers and employees of the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department and the Texas Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation.

"The best way to open a hotel is to rent all your rooms, which we were quite fortunate to do," Lowder said. "That doesn't happen all the time."

Lowder is no stranger to the hotel business. The past eight years, he worked as a general manager in regional offices of the Hilton Hotels Corp. in Houston, Midland and Salt Lake City, Utah. He has opened eight major hotels for various firms.

"I did have a lot of experience in larger hotels," he said. "But it was our desire in seeking our own adventure to develop a project that has a personality of our own. We tried to do that in our design and our interior furnishing."

The original interior design lacked creativity, Lowder said. So they added wallpaper indicative of the period, wood molding on the walls and doors and tile floors in the bathrooms.

To enhance that nostalgic look, brass beds and ceiling fans were installed in each of the 36 guest rooms and three suites.

For the outside, green awnings were placed above the entrances to the lobby and the private Sam Houston Club as well as over the windows on the second floor.

Bricks were added to the sidewalks in front of the hotel, harking back to the 1920s when brick streets and sidewalks were a familiar sight.

"People are reaching out for and touching the nostalgia of the smaller hotels," he said. "I envision that in each of the smaller communities in Texas there will be a movement in the restoration of the small hotels."

The Lowders visited Rusk upon learning that the hotel was for sale after sitting vacant for five years. It was in poor condition, and the walls had collected five layers of paint over the years.

"It's exactly what we wanted," they said.

"I wish you could see the pictures. The before and after is really dramatic," Mrs. Lowder said.

"Everyone, they just couldn't believe we came up with something like this," Lowder said.

They credited civic and business leaders in the community for their support.

"Well, I think it's just great to do what they've done for the downtown area," said Chamber of Commerce President Charles Hassell. "They have spruced up the area and are bringing more people to town. We think it's a great asset to Rusk. The citizens are behind it 100 percent."

Bryan Robinson, 29, a maintenance mechanic, said "I'll tell you, Rusk hasn't seen this much traffic on the square in many years."

Everybody in cars and on foot was stopping and the traffic jams on the square were amazing, Mrs. Lowder said.

"They were walking sideways. It was really funny," she said.

There was pressure from meeting the deadline to open in conjunction with the opening of the railroad season and hosting the first group of guests. However, all the hard work put into the restoration paid off for the Lowders during the first weekend.

"When we finished (opening night) it was really a quite rewarding experience to know everyone was in bed around 3 a.m.," she sighed.

Legal Notices

THE STATE OF TEXAS
COUNTY OF DEAF SMITH

NOTICE OF EXECUTION SALE OF REAL PROPERTY

By virtue of an execution issued out of the 22nd Judicial District Court of Deaf Smith County, Texas, on a judgment rendered in that Court on August 9, 1982, in favour of Wall and Sons Drilling, Inc. and against Terry Lundell, in Cause NO. CI-82 B-024, styled Wall and Sons Drilling, Inc. Vs. Terry Lundell, on the docket of the Court, on the 22nd day of March, 1983, I levied upon the following described real property situated in Deaf Smith County, Texas, as the property of Terry Lundell:

AN undivided interest in and to the North half of Section 74, Block K-3, Deaf Smith County, Texas.

Signed this 22nd day of March, 1983.

Travis McPherson, Sheriff
Deaf Smith County, Texas,

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas Indian leaders who called a controversial attorney general's opinion an "act of war" have won a promise the ruling will be reconsidered.

Indian leaders spent the day in the capital Monday meeting with state officials and legislators. The opinion that has angered them, issued last month by Attorney General Jim Mattox, said there is no legal basis for state aid to Indians.

"This is nothing less than an act of war upon Indians," said a statement signed by the tribal council of the Tigua Indians of El Paso. "We are ready to go to war in every forum and courtroom in this country to defend our people."

The Mattox opinion said Texas should not give special treatment to Indians just because they are Indians and cast doubts on a proposed $1 million in aid for the Indians over the next two years.

Don Miller, an Indian rights attorney representing the Alabama-Coushattas of East Texas and the Tiguas, said the opinion erred in considering Indians a racial group. He said Indians were a political entity.

"We need to encourage the attorney general's office to decide whether they honestly believe the state ought to turn its back on 160 years of history on some bogus equal protection argument," Miller said.

The agreement to review it, announced by Assistant Attorney General Valinda Hathcox, came after a meeting between Mattox and attorneys representing the Indians.

"We have co-existed peacefully with white people for lo these many years," said Chief Robert Fulton Batisse, 74, of the Alabama-Coushattas, speaking through an interpreter in his tribal language.

"The attorney general's opinion raised questions regarding the very existence of our tribe," said the chief, who came to Austin with Indian leaders from both tribes for a series of meetings with state officials.

The controversy stems from the arrest of two Alabama-Coushatta Indians caught hunting without licenses in 1981. They argued they had sovereign hunting rights on their 4,315-acre Polk County reservation, and the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department asked the attorney general for a ruling.

In the 10-page opinion that followed, however, Mattox ruled they were not entitled to any special treatment whatsoever — including hunting rights, land or state aid. He reasoned the state may not discriminate for or against any group on the basis of race or nationality.

ownership but they can never sell it.

The Tigua tribal council said if Mattox does not withdraw his opinion, "we are authorizing our lawyers to take whatever legal action is available to protect the properties, interests and lives of our reservation, tribes and people."

Edgar Rice Burroughs, the man who created Tarzan, personally answered every letter sent to him over a span of thirty-five years. He received hundreds of thousands.

A slippery moss solution

DEAR POLLY — Please tell me how to remove the slippery moss-like growth from brick patios and walks. — JO ANN

DEAR JO ANN — You can buy excellent weed killers at any garden supply store that will do this job admirably. You should be sure to buy the kind that kills all plants. However, this is obviously not to be used anywhere there are plants or grasses you want to preserve. Be sure to follow the instructions scrupulously. Some home remedies you may want to try: Pour hot salted water (one pound salt to one gallon boiling water) on the growth. Or, douse the offending plants with a mixture of half water, half chlorine bleach. Some readers recommend sprinkling borax powder during early spring between stones and in other places where weeds are likely to sprout. Again, use these solutions with great care and don't use them anywhere that the runoff will contaminate other plants. — POLLY

DEAR POLLY — In answer to a Pointer about using vegetable oil as a hot oil treatment for dry hair, please tell your readers not to wet their hair after the oil treatment before rubbing in shampoo. Shampoo should be massaged in immediately after the oil, then rinsed out. Repeat with a second shampoo and rinse. If you wet your hair after the oil but before the shampoo, you'll end up with a first-class mess. — MARLYN

DEAR POLLY — If you have a wet/dry vacuum, it can help you defrost the freezer. Instead of mopping up the cold, melted ice with a towel and ringing it out in the sink, simply vacuum up the ice chips and accumulated water from time to time during the defrosting process. It makes a messy job simple. — CINDY

DEAR READERS — Cindy has a fine Pointer. Please note, however, that this Pointer is only for use with a WET/DRY vacuum. — POLLY

HEALTH

Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

New acne treatment

DEAR DR. LAMB — Help. My life is being ruined. My skin is so blotched with acne I hate to look in the mirror. I've been to a dermatologist, family doctor and a pharmacist. I wash my face twice a day and I use rubbing alcohol. My doctor prescribed Neo-Medrol and tetracycline. The pharmacist suggested Fostex and Fostril. My dermatologist told me just to wash my face. Nothing seems to help. I've tried about everything on the shelf, including Clearasil.

It is marketed under the name Accutane. You may be a candidate for its use. Incidentally, it is not to be used during pregnancy, which may not be of interest to you but will be to other readers. Your dermatologist would be the one to consult about its possible use in your case.

Meanwhile, I am sending you The Health Letter 8-2, Acne Can Be Treated, which covers the more usual forms of treatment. Others can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

DEAR DR. LAMB — My 9-year-old son has an undescended testicle and a urolgic has advised surgery as soon as possible to correct the condition.

We do not want our son to have to undergo unnecessary surgery. I have heard that an undescended testicle does not automatically mean sterility. We are very confused.

DEAR READER — As long as one testicle is descended, and is normal, a male is able to be fertile and father children. That may be part of the confusion. But the undescended testicle is almost never able to produce sufficient live sperm cells for fertility. That internal body temperature is too great for normal sperm production. If both testicles are undescended the male will be sterile, even though he may have normal sex drive and sexual relations.

If the testicle is "mobile," meaning it does come down part of the time, this is not true. But that is not a real undescended testicle.

Many authorities like to have the undescended testicle lowered well before puberty, before sperm cell development may occur, as early as 5 or 6. There is an increased risk of cancer in an undescended testicle.

16,000 survivors with 16,000 stories

WASHINGTON (AP) — Thirty-eight years ago this week, a Jewish chaplain with the U.S. Third Army drove a jeep through the gates of Buchenwald, raised a megaphone and announced in Yiddish: "Yidden, ir zeit frei!" — "Jews, you are free!"

He saw a frightened, 8-year-old boy cowering behind a mound of corpses and lifted him into the air, laughing and crying.

On Monday night, in a sporting arena, the chaplain, Rabbi Herschel Shechter of New York City, and the boy, now Rabbi Israel Lau of Israel, liberator and liberated, shared their memory before 16,000 other Jews attending the American Gathering of Jewish Holocaust Survivors.

Each survivor defied Adolf Hitler's intention to slaughter all the Jews of Europe, and each had his own survival story — accounts of horror, told with distaste and disbelief; stories of atrocity, filled with corpses.

President Reagan and his wife, Nancy, stood with the survivors. The president was warmly received — interrupted by applause 26 times in a 25-minute speech — and applauded most when he pledged American strength to Israel's survival.

"As a man whose heart is with you — and as president of a people you are now so much a part of — I promise you that the security of your safe havens, here and in Israel, will never be compromised," Reagan said, bringing his audience to its feet.

Like the two rabbis, Reagan had a survival story. It concerned two "righteous Gentiles," Alexander Rozlan and his wife, now of Clearwater, Fla., then of Poland, who hid three Jewish children for more than four years.

"Once when German soldiers searched their home," the president recounted, "the Rozlans kept serving wine and whiskey until the troops were so drunk they forgot what they were looking for."

"Later, Rozlan's son was in the hospital with scarlet fever. The boy hid half his medicine under his pillow so he could give it to the Jewish children his family was hiding, because they too had scarlet fever."

Benjamin Meed, now of Brooklyn, N.Y., then of Warsaw, Poland, told a chilling story about death. Meed is the organizer of the conference.

"Forty years ago, I had a brother," said Meed. "His name was Mordechai David. He was only 17 years old. One day I obtained papers in my name that were thought to guarantee my safe passage out of Poland."

"A day before my intended departure, my brother begged me for these papers, and I gave them to him. The papers led him to the infamous Hotel Polski in Warsaw, and eventually to the trains which took him and others together to the unknown."

"It was my name that was listed by the Germans for that transport. By chance I and not my brother could have been on that train."

"Since then — 40 years — I am haunted by the thought that I live my brother's life."

Reagan and Meed and the others spoke before a grim backdrop depicting a stone wall bearing the names of death sites: Buchenwald, Treblinka, Majdanek, Bergen Belsen, Dachau, Auschwitz.

Six million Jews died in those places.

Fort Worth orchestra plays on great wall

PEKING (AP) — The Fort Worth Chamber Orchestra didn't get any applause for its performance on the Great Wall of China, but after five encores the night before, the musicians were just fiddling around, anyway.

The orchestra, which had taken the day off from concerts and teaching, visited the Great Wall Monday on the third day of a tour almost canceled when China suspended cultural relations with the United States.

"The Great Wall is one of those magnificent places where you wish to make an impression," said Ann Koonsman, the orchestra's executive director.

The 40-member orchestra doodled around a bit with their instruments and then trumpet player Steve Weger started playing the "Ode to Joy" from Beethoven's Ninth. The rest of the orchestra picked it up. The orchestra arrived last Friday, one day after China angrily canceled a package of cultural exchanges in retaliation for the U.S. granting political asylum to Chinese tennis star Hu Na.

The Fort Worth orchestra's tour was not part of that package, but two planned joint concerts with Chinese orchestras were banned because of the climate. The orchestra now will play alone on those two occasions.

Concertmaster Robert Davidovic also stood on a platform Monday and played excerpts of gypsy music.

"The impromptu concert attracted a crowd that was so nice and courteous," Mrs. Koonsman said.

"They made a circle and gave us some space, all smiling and nodding."

Ann Landers

Stepmother cares about kids

DEAR ANN LANDERS: A while back I found myself nodding in agreement when I read these lines in your column: "The principal reason second marriage fail is because of trouble over children from a first marriage—his or hers." May I say a word, please, to children whose parents have split and who find themselves with a stepparent they resent a little—or a lot?

DEAR CHILDREN: Since your dad and I married, I have worked right along with him so he could keep up the child-support payments. The flights you make to visit us for holidays and summer vacations are half paid for by me. I share in the bills for your medical and dental care. I buy most of the clothes you wear.

I do all this willingly because I love your father and recognize that he has an obligation to you, which I am happy to share.

When I say "No" to you it is because I want you to turn out to be a person of good character who will be able to handle whatever life sends your way. It would be a lot easier to say "Yes." No hassle, no arguments, just closing my eyes and ears and letting you do as you please. But I refuse to do that.

Children of divorce have a few added problems, but then so do people who marry a divorced person with kids. Please try to understand where I am coming from. It's hard for me, too. But I am willing to meet you more than halfway. If you come 30 percent down the road, I'll travel the other 70. I am—Your Stepmother

DEAR STEPMOTHER: I have never printed a letter like yours before. My heartfelt thanks for writing it. Millions of stepparents and children are sure to see themselves in Ann Landers' column today.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: It takes a lot of nerve to disagree with a person who has as many experts in her corner as you, but I believe you were mistaken in a recent column when you told a woman, "We both know that people don't snore when they are awake." I offer my husband as Exhibit A.

Often when we are watching TV together or are seated in a movie theater I can hear him breathing heavier than normal. After a few minutes he begins to snore. I have looked at him several times to make sure he hasn't fallen asleep. Sure enough, I see his eyes are wide open.

I tell him about it when it happens in public because it annoys people around him. He quiets down a bit temporarily, then he's back, full steam. So, dear Ann, please beware that some people do snore when they are awake.—An Authority In Centralia, Ill.

DEAR AUTHORITY: Just when I think I've heard everything I get a letter like yours. Thanks for writing.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: With so many children turning out to be disappointments, do you have any words of wisdom that might help?—L.P. In Augusta, Maine

DEAR L.P.: Train a child in the way that he should go and walk there yourself once in a while.

Two flyers, rescue team spend night in Pacific Ocean

HONOLULU (AP) — Two downed Navy flyers and two rescue specialists who parachuted to help them struggled in 18-foot waves waiting for help today after an A-4 jet crashed in the Pacific Ocean 700 miles northeast of Honolulu, officials said.

Aircraft circling the area Monday reported that the two flyers and one of the Coast Guard rescue specialists were trying to link their life rafts, while the other rescuer floated without a raft about half a mile away.

The Matson container ship Lurline, en route from San Francisco to Honolulu, was being diverted to pluck the four servicemen from the ocean. Rescue aircraft were circling the area and were talking to the downed fliers by radio.

"The first pararescuer was dropped and made contact with the rescue aircraft," said Coast Guard spokesman Keith Spangler. "But the second one never made contact."

"His parachute opened, and he was seen in the water," Spangler said. "At last report, he was approximately one-half mile from the (search and rescue) raft."

"It may not be until first light or later that we'll be able to get to them," Spangler said.

The Navy jet was part of a three plane flight en route to the U.S. mainland from Kaneohe Marine Corps Air Station when it crashed shortly after noon Monday, Spangler said. The names of the flyers were not released and the cause of the accident was not known.

The pilot of a Marine A-4 jet in the group saw the crew parachute into the water, and an Air Force C-130 refueling aircraft accompanying the jets spotted the pair about an hour after the accident, Spangler said.

The two flyers were in separate one-man life rafts ejected from the aircraft, Spangler said. The two search and rescue specialists were supposed to share a four-man life raft, Spangler said.

The three rafts were reported to be within a mile of

House panel considers death penalty repeal

AUSTIN (AP) — Hoping that Texas' first execution since 1964 will help make their point, anti-capital punishment forces have brought their case back before the Texas Legislature.

Rep. Joe Hernandez, D-San Antonio, presented to the House Criminal Jurisprudence Committee on Monday two bills that would eliminate the death penalty and replace it with life in prison without parole.

"For a long time, we didn't think much about the death penalty because it had not been imposed in many years, at least in Texas," said Hernandez.

Charlie Brooks Jr., a convicted murderer, became the first man executed by lethal injection Dec. 7, and was the first Texas convict executed in 18 years.

The U.S. Supreme Court threw out Texas' death penalty statute in 1972, ruling it was "capriciously" applied for a number of different crimes. But legislators moved swiftly to rewrite the death penalty law, drafting it to cover only specific crimes.

In 1974, Texas re-enacted its capital punishment law, and the U.S. Supreme Court upheld it. Later, lawmakers voted to use lethal injection as the method of execution, retiring the state's electric chair.
