

The amendments:

Branding proposal still before solons

(Editor's Note: Federal allegations of insider tips and sure-fire stock deals for state officials raised legislative ethics to a top priority issue. Amendment 1 on the Tuesday ballot concerns "pay and ethics proposals.")

AUSTIN (AP) — How do you be sure legislators and state officials won't yield to the temptation to sell out the public interest for private profit?

Put a watchdog over them, some urge.
Pay them more, say others.
With the so-called, "stock scandal" in the background, Texans vote Tuesday on a constitutional change that would do both.

Ethics Rule Proposed
Proposition No. 1 would set up an 11-member commission to issue and enforce ethical rules for all state officials - and possibly even Capitol reporters.

The same commission also would consist of three appointees each of the state Supreme Court chief justice, presiding judge of the Court of Criminal Appeals and the chairman of the Judicial Qualifications Commission. One senator and one representative elected by their colleagues also would serve.

Ethical rules issued by the commission would take effect automatically unless specifically rejected by the legislature.
The rules would cover the lawmakers, state officials and "all persons who shall use any privilege of the floor" in the House or Senate.

Since reporters in the Capitol have floor privileges, the rules presumably would govern their conduct.

Finances "Reportable"
Legislators and officials would have to file confidential financial statements for the commission to use only in searching out conflicts of interest or unethical conduct.

The commission would investigate alleged ethical violations and report to the "appropriate state agency, official, legislative body, grand jury or district attorney."
Pay raises recommended by the commission would take effect only if both Houses of the legislature approved them, with each member's vote a matter of official record.
Ethics suddenly became a prime issue when the Federal Securities and Exchange Commission alleged in January that rich financiers smoothed the way for a banking bill with quick stock profits for top state leaders.

Battle lines formed in recent weeks, with sharp divisions between "pros" and "cons."
Dr. Albert McCall, president of Baylor University at Waco, heads a new statewide committee supporting the amendment. On the committee are people such as Dr. Jimmy Allen, president of the Baptist General Convention of Texas; former Sen. Ralph Yarborough; Callan Graham, director of the Texas Catholic Conference; and heart surgeon Dr. Michael DeBakey.

"It is essential that an ethics commission be established," McCall said, "so that Texans can enlarge their confidence in their lawmakers."
Republicans generally have opposed the amendment, which GOP Rep. Maurice Angly of Austin called, "Nothing more than a sham. . . It is a gimmick to obtain a pay raise."
"This legislature, by its actions, has earned a vote of no confidence," declared Mrs. Nancy Palm of Houston, Harris County GOP chairman.
Groups Approve
Out strongly for the amendment were the Texas Public Employees Association and the Texas State Teachers Association, groups which have fared well with the legislature.
"The members of the legislature are now engaged in almost a fulltime job fulfilling the commitments of their elected office. We feel it is time they received adequate compensation," said teachers' President Jerome Chapman.
"For a little fame, lots of hard work, frequent abuse, infrequent appreciation and $4,800 a year - would you leave home and come to Austin tomorrow?" asked teachers' association Director L. P. Sturgeon recently.
The state AFL-CIO executive board called the measure "a weak, milquetoast approach to legislative ethics" and asserted that "Under the cloud of suspicion that already hangs over this session of the legislature, any attempt to 'put something over' on the public is unthinkable."
Since 1969, voters have turned down three proposals to raise legislative pay.
Gov. Preston Smith told the lawmakers in 1969 that doing something about the public's "conflict of interest" suspicions might be what it takes to get their pay raised.

Opponents of the amendment argue that the original thinking didn't pan out, as evidenced by the more than 300 amendments that have been tacked onto the Texas Constitution. Instead, the principal effect of the limitation has been to slow the processes of good government, they say.

Opponents of Amendment No. 3 line up with the original thinking. They say a better method often would be to amend existing statutes or enact entirely new laws instead of further cluttering the Constitution with additional amendments. If the Constitution has been amended 300 times under the present (See AMENDMENT 2, Page 3)

It should be understood that the state does have to follow the federal court decisions. It could ignore them and pick up the federal share in welfare programs, which happens to be three times as much as the state pays.
Some Forget
A lot of people forget that welfare costs more than the $80 million the state spends each (See AMENDMENT 3, Page 3)

Local government now must provide waste water treatment facilities, and sewer systems with 70 per cent local funds and up to 30 per cent federal grants. Adoption of Amendment 4 would let the state provide up to 25 per cent of such cost, local participation would drop to 20 per cent and federal participation would increase from 30 to 55 per cent if the state takes part.
Opponents say this is just another move of "towns to pass on to the state another financial burden which is rightfully their responsibility."
Proponents say this is the only way to get local governments adequately to treat and dispose of wastes, thereby improving the quality and quantity of water.
The amendment also was endorsed by the Texas Society of Professional Engineers, which says these federal funds will go to other states if Texas does not take them.

Amendment No. 1:

Ethics, pay

Financial statements for the commission to use only in searching out conflicts of interest or unethical conduct.

The commission would investigate alleged ethical violations and report to the "appropriate state agency, official, legislative body, grand jury or district attorney."

Pay raises recommended by the commission would take effect only if both Houses of the legislature approved them, with each member's vote a matter of official record.

Smith signs juvenile bill

By BETTY HANNA

AUSTIN — Gov. Preston Smith Monday signed into law a bill allowing the Deaf Smith County Commissioners to create a juvenile board in Hereford.

But a bill requiring the recording and re-recording of livestock brands and marks is still in the legislative mill.

The brand bill, introduced by Sen. Jack Hightower of Vernon and carried by Rep. Bill Clayton of Springlake in the House, would require all livestock owners to record their brands or marks in the county clerk's office within six months after the act takes effect, even if they have not been previously recorded.

According to Clayton, the necessity of the bill became evident when the recent Panhandle storm scattered cattle for miles, mixing herds together and making ownership claims difficult.

The bill would clean out deadwood in old records and reestablish known brands Clayton said.

The Senate passed the bill, a House committee amended the bill, and the measure now is before the Senate again for final concurrence. The bill was still when the calendar clerk Wednesday, but Clayton said he planned to confer with Hightower about the bill and try to push it along to final passage as soon as possible.

Hightower said Wednesday he felt certain the Senate would concur in the bill and that the bill will be signed into law before the May 31 end of the legislative session.

Clayton and two other representatives — Tom Christian of Claude and Tom Holmes of Granbury — are sponsoring a resolution to create an interim committee in the House to determine other needs in the area of branding. This committee would meet with groups throughout Texas and report back to the legislature in the next regular session, two years from now in 1973.

A similar interim committee has been proposed in the Senate by Hightower and Sen. Murray Watson of Mart.

BILL THOMPSON resigns post

Chamber loses its manager

Bill Thompson, manager of the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce for more than 12 years, resigned Wednesday to become executive vice president of the Leavenworth, Kan., Chamber of Commerce.

Thompson, 49, accepted the position by phone immediately after the regular meeting of the local chamber's directors Wednesday morning.

The board accepted the resignation "reluctantly" and appointed a three-man committee to begin the search for a new manager.

Thompson will take over the reins of the Leavenworth job on June 21. He said city officials at Leavenworth contacted him recently and offered him the job. He called it "a tremendous challenge that I am very interested in."

Chamber President Charles Hoover named Melvin Jayroe to head a committee to look for a replacement. J. W. Robinson and Earl Stagner also are on the committee.

In other Chamber business, Carroll McDonald gave a report on the Industrial Committee and John Messenger reported on the Governmental Affairs Committee's work, particularly concerning the Get Out The Vote effort.

McDonald suggested the board look into the possibility of establishing an Industrial Foundation that could come up with large loans available for operating capital of firms wishing to locate in Hereford.

The chamber directors, after hearing Messenger's report on the upcoming election, voted to officially endorse the proposed constitutional amendment to issue more water bonds and raise the allowable interest rates.

Kiwanians' aim Friday:

Give adults the dope

The Kiwanis clubs of Hereford present a program Friday night designed for adults.

It's about dope, a growing problem in many communities, including Hereford.

Most narcotics education programs are aimed toward teenagers. This one is aimed at adults, and it's part of nationwide Kiwanis drive to attack the drug problem.

Central modernization runs into slight snag

The hopes of using leftover federal funds in the Hereford school budget to modernize the top floor of Central Elementary into a non-graded program were scrapped by the Hereford School Board Tuesday night.

Supt. Roy Hartman strongly recommended that the board not pursue the angle any further, after learning that there would be considerable federal and state control involved "from now on" in the venture if it were undertaken.

"You're so obligated for so long when you use federal funds, that I'm of the opinion we should not pursue this any more," Hartman said. "I don't believe this is what we want."

We don't want them to tell us what to do on it."

The board gave indication, however, that it still might go ahead with the renovation, since it would take only $20,000. It would have to come out of local funds, but the budget may come up with a surplus of more than that.

In other business, Assistant Supt. Bob Holman said it is very likely there will be five classes here next fall for 4-year-olds in a program paid for entirely with funds from the migrant program.

Holman met last Thursday in Austin with the Early Childhood staff of the Southwest Educational Development Laboratory.

It was agreed Hereford would apply for five classroom units of about 20 children each, and the Austin officials wanted each of them to have a bi-lingual teacher working with a monolingual teacher.

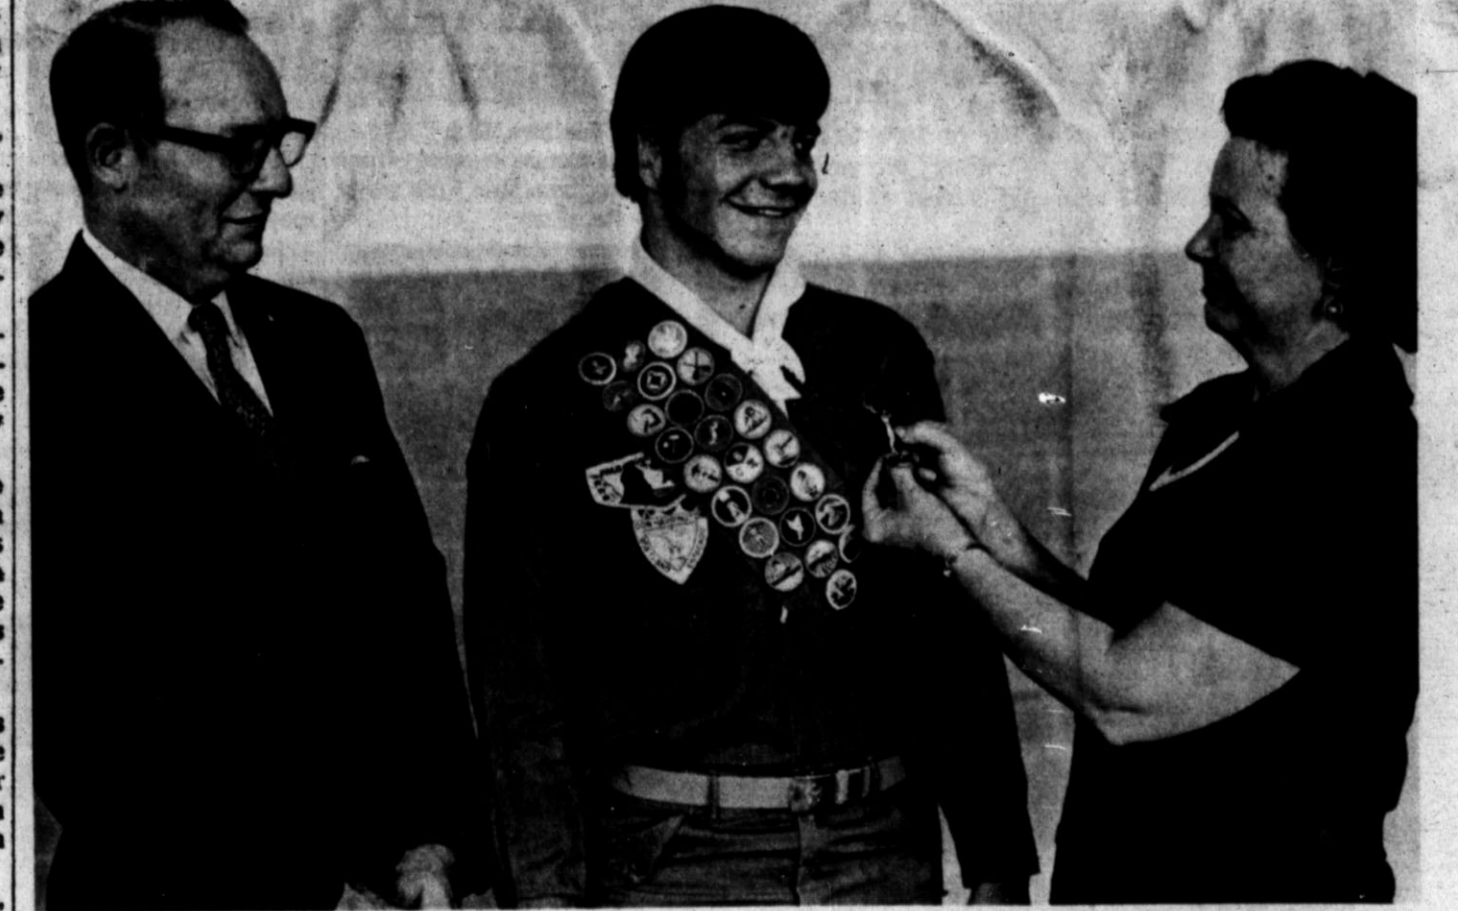

It finally was conceded that Hereford could go ahead with the program if it had bi-lingual teachers in three of the five classes. Holman said there would be a class in each of Hereford's elementary schools except Shirley, which has insufficient space.

The kindergarten program also will be expanded next fall. The program did cover children of 5 years, 5 months age and up, except that migrants as young as 5 could enter. Next fall, the program will allow children of 5 years 2 months.

Enrollment reports through the first five six-weeks showed 1,363.64 students in Hereford's top four grades, which is used with similar figures of a year ago to determine University Interscholastic League classification beginning with the 1972-73 school year.

Hereford had 1,265.40 the same time a year ago. The average for the two years is 1,324.52, well over the borderline between Class AAA and AAAA. The margin is 1,300, which Hereford passed by about 30 students in its average from 1967-68.

Rotarians grab city golf title

The Hereford Rotary Club won the 1st annual Civic Club Golf Tournament over the local golf course last weekend, with an average score — after handicaps were subtracted — of 72.41, just over the par of 71.

Cliff Arnold led the 12 Rotarians in the competitions, shooting a 73 that converted to a four-under-par 67 after his six-stroke handicap was taken into account. Both his gross and net scores were low for the 54-man field, which also included members of the Noon Kiwanis, Noon Lions, Morning Kiwanis and Jaycee organizations.

The six-man Noon Kiwanis Club was next with a 74.83 net average, followed by the four-man Morning Kiwanis delegation, 74.75; the 26-man Noon Lions, 74.57; and the six-man Jaycees, 77.5.

The Rotary Club will receive a trophy, which probably will be passed around each year to the winning club.

On straight scores, with no handicap figured in, the Rotary Club again led, with an average of 82.91. Next were Morning Kiwanis, 85.5; Noon Lions, 87.5; Noon Kiwanis, 91.0; and Jaycees, 103.3.

Behind Arnold, three players shot net scores of 68 — Noon Kiwanian Pete Nash (82), and Lions Charles Skinner (74) and Don Lowder (83). Skinner and Carroll McDonald both shot 74.

Here are the entries and the way they shot, with gross and net scores:

ROTARY — Arnold 73-67, Brown 86-75, Combs 86-80, Davis 81-71, Ford 80-72, Hair 83-73, Hennen 83-75, King 76-70, Martin 77-71, Tubb 75-73, Young 84-70 and Wheeler 81-72.

NOON KIWANIS — Boyd 89-73, Boyer 86-78, B. Dowell 87-77, Nash 83-68, Sparks 86-75, D. Dowell 86-80.

NOON LIONS — Bowling 88-72, Brisendine 108-88, Cain 88-73, Clough 88-73, Connelly 100-75, Durham 84-76, Emery 86-85.

Evans 104-74, Hairgrove 83-78, Harkey 81-77, Hartman 76-68, Hendon 81-69, Holmes 77-75, Hughes 85-74, Jayroe 88-71, Lee, 82-70, Line 85-75, Lowder 83-68, McDonald 74-72, Roberson 81-80, Robinson 86-71, Russell 76-68, Skinner 74-68, Thames 86-77, Weaver 87-81, Williams 87-77.

MORNING KIWANIS — Coffey 83-73, Penn 83-75, Reed 100-88, Stagner 76-71.

JAYCEES — Bailey 117-82, Cushmanberry 102-72, Day 86-74, B. Johnson 100-70, J. Johnson 100-73, Richards 83-73.

Golf tournament here next week backs FCA trip

The drive to send several local athletes to Estes Park, Colo. this summer for a week of encampment with numerous professional and college athletes and coaches will be accomplished in Hereford through a golf tournament here next week-end.

The competition next Friday, May 21, will be in four-man teams, with the low ball counting toward the race for prize merchandise.

The entry fee is $30 per player, and local members of the Fellowship of Christian Athletes are seeking to get a large number of local men in the tournament.

The fee will cover 18 holes of golf, which includes the possibility of playing with such "name" players as Don Maynard, all-pro receiver for the New York Jets, who has agreed to be in Hereford for the activities.

It also will include a dinner next Friday night in the Bull Barn. Maynard will be the principal speaker. Members of the Texas Tech and West Texas State coaching staffs will be in the tournament and will speak at the dinner.

The entry fee obviously will more than pay for the expenses of the tournament and dinner. It is what is left over that will go toward meeting the costly expenses of sending Hereford High School athletes for Colorado for a week of fellowship with other athletes who will be meeting in a spiritual atmosphere.

The deadline for entering the tournament is next Wednesday. Persons interested in playing, or in making a contribution toward helping send the boys to Colorado, should call David Bornstein at 364-0616 or see or call Bud Snyder or John David Bryant at the First National Bank.

Earl Fridley dies in home

Arrangements for the funeral of Earl Elmo Fridley, 84, are pending at Gilliland Funeral Home.

Mr. Fridley, who had lived in Deaf Smith County since 1925, died Tuesday afternoon at his home, 209 East Sixth. He came to this county from Miami, and had moved to Texas from Oklahoma in 1910.

Born July 3, 1886, in Missouri, he married Ethel Meeker in 1909 at Harper, Kan. She died five years ago.

He is survived by a daughter, Mrs. John Jacobsen Jr. of Hereford, and two grandchildren.

Amendment 3 . . .

The ratio on family payments is even higher, 4 to 1. For all welfare programs — families, blind, disabled and elderly — the ratio is 3 to 1.

Now you know why welfare is in a mess.

Amendment 3 on the Tuesday ballot would remove the ceiling on three of the four welfare categories — blind, aged, disabled. It would put a $55 million ceiling on aid to families with dependent children, the program that has caused all the trouble and the one that some people suspect is being abused by "deadbeats."

Next Two Years
The State Welfare Department estimates this ceiling will be adequate only for the next two years and that family aid will cost the entire $55 million a year in 1972-73.

Proponents of the amendment argue that if it fails, family aid payments must be cut by one-third beginning in June. That is a reduction from about $120 a month for a woman with three children to $80 a month.

They also say Texas ranks 44th in the nation in welfare, paying only half of the national average in family aid and making Texas something less than a paradise for the lazy.

The average old age assistance payment in Texas is $62.58. Banana splits are out.

Reform Needed First
Opponents say welfare reform is needed first — to get undeserving off the family aid rolls.

Since federal courts make the rules, the federal government should take over all welfare payments, the opponents say.

The federal government may do precisely that, as predicted by Rep. Wilbur Mills, D-Ark., in a speech to the legislature two weeks ago.

But full assumption would not come until 1975, supporters of Amendment 3 say, and meanwhile welfare recipients face a drastic cut in June.

Amendment 2 . . .

(Continued From Page One) system, it would be an unbearable twice that many if amendments could be offered in a session, they contend.

Further, allowing proposed constitutional amendments in a special session would throw added controversy — and therefore delay — into a short period of time that usually already are filled with complications such as appropriations and taxation, the opponents add.

Postal rates go up Sunday

Postmaster Nolan Grady said Wednesday that increases in most postage rates will take effect Sunday as the new United States Postal Service begins its task of achieving self-sufficiency as required by the Postal Reorganization Act.

Grady noted that general postage rates have not been increased since 1967 when Congress passed what was to become its final legislative act in this respect.

The new increases — authorized on a temporary basis until the newly created Postal Rate Commission can make recommendations to the Governors of the Postal Service on permanent changes — will raise first-class letter rates from 6 to 8 cents an ounce, and airmail letter rates from 10 to 11 cents an ounce.

Post cards will go from 5 to 6 cents each and airmail post cards will go from 8 to 9 cents each.

The increases will be borne more by business than by individuals, the postmaster pointed out, since about 75 per cent of first class and airmail is from commercial mailers.

In addition to increases in first-class rates, second and third class will also go up on Sunday. However, the full increases proposed by the Postal Service will not be put into effect on a temporary basis, in second and third class, since the postal reform legislation contemplates that such increases be phased over five years — or 10 years for nonprofit organizations — provided Congress appropriates the necessary funds to ease the transition to full rates.

Because of the phasing provision, the increases to become effective Sunday for second and third-class will generally be only one-fifth of the total increase proposed by the Postal Service.

No changes are made in the rates for parcel post, which is the principal component of fourth-class mail. However, increases will be made in the "book rate," which is classified as fourth class.

The new temporary rates also make changes in other postage rate categories and special service fees, such as special delivery and registered mail.

The Postal Service announced in February it intended to make the temporary increases if the Postal Rate Commission did not make the recommended decision within 90 days of the request by the Postal Service.

Recently the Rate Commission confirmed it would be unable to make a decision within the 90 days, and Sunday was selected as the date on which the rates would become effective.

When the domestic changes go into effect, there will be conforming increases in letter rates to Canada and Mexico.

 Bill Thompson, manager of the local Chamber of Commerce for the past 12 years, Wednesday morning submitted his resignation to the Chamber's Board of Directors. Thompson has accepted a post with the Leavenworth, Kansas Chamber of Commerce, and will commence duties there June 21.
 Leavenworth is a city of some 40,000 people and, according to Thompson, the new job was "more than I could afford to turn down." He has served as Chamber manager here during the big "growth" years of Hereford, and has been highly regarded by his peers throughout the state. He has served in a number of offices in the Chamber of Commerce Manager's organization.

Bill has been a real active Chamber manager since coming to Hereford, and has worked hard at the job. He has also been quite active in other community activities and in his church work, and will be missed when he leaves.
 Another change is going to take place soon, and Hereford will be losing another of its outstanding citizens. Rev. Clifford Trotter will be leaving the local Methodist Church to assume new duties in Amarillo as District Superintendent, Northwest Texas District. He will be leaving around the 1st of June.
 This is a big promotion for Clifford, and certainly we're pleased that he has been chosen for the position, but we're going to miss him in Hereford. He has been a community and church leader since coming here, active in the Rotary Club, and always willing to give a helping hand wherever needed.

 But that's the way it goes. When you have capable people in these positions, they're eventually going to be promoted. And really, we wouldn't have it any other way. It's the top-level men that everyone wants, and that's the kind we try to keep in Hereford.

Have you noticed the dust blowing on Buffalo Lake recently? As most of you probably know, the lake is bone dry, and if you don't believe the dust will blow, just drive down there on a windy day. You'll get an eye-full — of dirt that is.

However, Buffalo isn't the only lake that's dry this year. Down at San Angelo, the lake that was built to supply the city's water, dried-up and eventually grew up in weeds and brush. But early this year it got so dry-down there that the weeds and brush caught fire and burned-up. Now how about that one for a drought story.

And we note also that the City of Hereford has voted to sell the excess water from its sewerage disposal plan to a local farmer who plans to pipe it to his farm and use it for irrigation purposes. Which, incidentally, will solve two problems. No longer will the works downstream be able to complain about the City's sewage running into what once was Buffalo Lake, but one more farmer will have water for his thirsty crops. Not only will the water be "wet" but it should also be "fertile."

Not only will the water be "wet" but it should also be "fertile."

We've had quite a number of compliments, and comments, concerning the remarks made in this column Sunday about pollution problems and the use of DDT, but one area farmer takes issue with us.

"Buster" Thomason, who farms in the Easter Community, takes exception to our remarks about DDT — not because it isn't a fine insecticide, but rather, because that is his wife's initials. "Buster" figures that DDT may be fine to eradicate the insects, but DDT or Dorothy D. Thomason, has been giving him a bad time for many years. And we predict that it's going to get worse when she reads this column.

J. C. Simpson, custodian at the Bull Barn, found a small pin out there following the TSTA banquet Monday night and has turned it in to The Brand. In turn, we have sent it up to the High School principal's office.
 Although we're not too familiar with the Greek letters, this appears to be someone's sorority pin, and we're sure they'll

Officers told to harmonize

"If officers this term will work together in harmony as instruments in an orchestra, at the end of the season members will thank them for the good memories they made for the club."

This is what Mrs. Gwyne Owen, retiring Valedictorian, told new officers as she installed them Tuesday evening in the home of Mrs. George Olson.

Mrs. Olson, the baton, will serve as president; Mrs. Richard Ottesen, vice president and piano; Mrs. George Ritter drum, secretary; Mrs. Gid Brown, violin, correspondent; Mrs. James Trail, clarinet, treasurer; and Mrs. Bill Brady, trumpet, historian.

Mrs. Ottesen will head the year book committee with assistance from Mmes. Howard Birdwell, Owen and Ritter. Other committees appointed were service committee Mmes. Joe Frank Clark, Jack Ambold and Armon Lauderback; telephone, Mmes. Brown, Billy Wayne Sisson and Glenn Watts; membership, Mmes. Hugh Clearman, Red Durham and Frank Zinser.

To help the yearbook committee plan programs for the new season answers to roll call were "my favorite program during the year." Serving table for the salad supper was covered with white linen cloth and various shades of pink peonies as centerpiece. Individual tables were laid with pink cloths and held vases with orchid iris.

The group discussed summer activities including a family picnic, trampoline party and a "come as you are and gab session."

Small talk

By SUE COLEMAN

ANOTHER of the holidays that call for visiting is Mothers Day and I'm sure lots of mothers had their children at home, or went to see children last weekend. There was lots more celebrating, too, by presenting gifts to Mother or taking her out to dinner with the family.

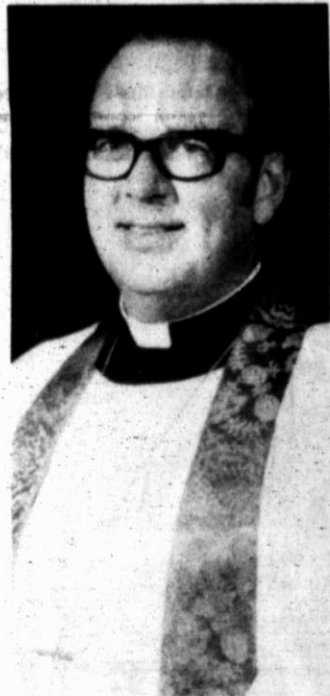

Mothers Day and commencement celebrations were sort of mixed by the W.C. Davis family. Mrs. Davis' mother, Mrs. Jennie Buckner, and the Davis' daughter, Sidnye Johnson, who graduated from West Texas State last week, shared the honors at a family dinner in an Amarillo cafe.

The Davises have two graduating daughters in their family; Gwen is to get her diploma from Hereford High later this month. And for the first time in a good many years, Mrs. Buckner won't have a grandchild in Hereford schools, from which she herself graduated a long time ago.

VISITORS in Mrs. D.W. Allmon's home Mothers Day week-in from Brownfield; Mr. and Mrs. H.L. Allmon and Mrs. Bob Allmon, Elizabeth Allmon and small daughter Kathy from Lubbock; Mr. and Mrs. Jack Allmon, Jacky Lynn, Jim and David from Dallas.

MOTHERS DAY calls for sentimental gestures, but Lillian Lookigbill had told her family, "I don't want any fluffy robes or boxes of candy or flowers. What I need is a new wheelbarrow!" She got it, with a rake that will also help her in her gardening, an dsome clothes suited to that sort of activity. She's delighted!

That piece of information I got at the Pioneer Club lunch Tuesday ... along with Fern Ford's horrified tale of a young housewife she knows, who actu-

The Rev. David A. Heidtke

Guest to give Sunday sermon at local church

In the spring mission festival at Immanuel Lutheran Church, the Rev. David A. Heidtke, pastor of the Beautiful Savior Lutheran Church at Amarillo, will deliver the Sunday morning sermon.

The service begins at 11 a.m. and the public is invited, the Rev. Herman Schelter, pastor, announces. Purpose of the mission festival, he said, is to "inspire and encourage witnessing to our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ".

The guest speaker has been pastor of the Amarillo church since last November and previously was at San Angelo, Fredericksburg and Taylor. He served on the district stewardship committee and was pastoral conference chairman while at Taylor.

In 1965 he spent three months in Germany under the International Church Workers Exchange Program of the Lutheran World Federation.

He is a native of Wisconsin, was graduated from Wartburg College and received the B.D. degree from Wartburg Seminary in 1964.

And Gladys Legg's quickness in taking credit for bringing the iris for table decoration to the din-

THE SAM LONGS plan to be in Plainview Saturday morning for Wayland Baptist College commencement, when daughter Becky will receive her degree as a psychology major. Becky was a 1967 graduate of HHS. SAW NICKI Dameron for too few minutes Tuesday. She stopped for a Hereford visit on her way home to Salida, Colo., from Fort Worth, where she visited her parents and helped her daughter, Kerri, pack up her belongings at TCU to start the summer vacation.

She also got in on the excitement at the home of June and Jitter Nolen incident to his being chosen president of North Texas State. The former June Dameron of Hereford, Mrs. Nolen is dent of District 1, Texas Federation of Music Clubs. She spoke of activities in the district, as the club observed Federation Day. The meeting was in the home of Mrs. Walter Lemons in Hereford.

Club members presented a program of music. Mrs. Pat Miller played as a piano solo a selection from Price Igor by Borodin. Mrs. Ray Stewart sang the folk hymn, His Eye Is on the Sparrow, accompanied by Mrs. Carl Wimberley who played piano solos, Ah Sweet Mystery of Life and Verdi's Triumphant March.

Popular songs, Raindrops Keep Falling on My Head and Misty, were played by Mrs. Gerald Parker, pianist. Mrs. Alfred Smith presided and welcomed the guest speaker. Also present for the luncheon were Mmes. Clarence Betzen, J. B. Caraway, Carl Klueskens, J. F. Matthews, H. V. McCabe, Edgar Sowell and Robert Strain.

District award report is made

Awards received by Pioneer Study Club in district Federated Clubs this spring were announced as convention delegates gave their reports to highlight the club's Federation Day luncheon Tuesday in the Caisson House.

Final reports of officers and committee chairmen were heard also, as this meeting was the last of the season. Mrs. Ted Panciera, president completing the first year of a two-year term, appointed all committee heads to remain in their posts for the next year.

District convention reports were made by Mrs. Ray Johnson, Mrs. L. H. Lookingbill Sr. and Miss Roberta Campbell, who went to the recent meeting in Pampa.

First places in the district were won by Pioneer Club for programs in the education department: Continuing education, technical vocations, training and special needs; public affairs department: urban and rural, American Heritage and citizenship.

Also in international affairs:

Latin-America scholarship and international clubs; home life department: Family economy; conservation: Public parks and recreation; and for Federation goals.

Second places were won for conservation and beautification projects, fine arts program on public and visual arts and reporting in public affairs. The club yearbook received third place, and a citation was received for 100 percent subscriptions to the state Federated Club magazine.

Making her report as treasurer, Mrs. W. C. Hromas told of club contributions to the Day Care Center, United Fund and Amarillo Veterans Hospital as well as such continuing projects as work on Mothers Park.

Mrs. Ralph McCullough ended her report as correspondent by presenting Mrs. Panciera a gift expressing the club's appreciation for her service during the year. Mrs. Delmar Sigle was program leader.

Hostesses for the luncheon were Mmes. Tandy Legg, William Wimberley, Bess Werner and J. M. Gilliland. Tables were centered with iris bouquets; bedding plants in gay pastel-colored pots were place favors.

Concerning veterans

Veterans and their dependents are asking thousands of questions concerning the benefits their Government provides for them through the Veterans Administration. Below are some representative queries. Additional information may be obtained at any VA office.

Q - I am 20 years old, and going to college under the war

Orphans Educational Assistance Program. I earned $800 last year, and wonder if that will prevent me from receiving benefits?

A - No. There is no limit on your earned income.

Q - I am attending the university under the G. I. Bill, and my wife and I are expecting a child later this year. Will I receive extra benefits for the child from the date of birth, or only from the date I inform the VA?

A - You must inform the VA of the child's birth by submitting a copy of the birth certificate within one year from the child's birth. Then you will be paid from the date of birth.

Q - My wife is the principal beneficiary on my National Service Life Insurance Policy with a lump sum settlement. If both of us were fatally injured in a car accident, but she survived me even by a few minutes, how would the proceeds of the policy be handled? How could expensive probate proceedings be eliminated?

A - If your wife survived you, she becomes the beneficiary under the policy. The VA must pay the proceeds to her estate, and not to the contingent beneficiaries that you may have specified.

Probate could be avoided through the use of the "Common Disaster Clause," available upon request at the time the policy is issued, or later. This provides for a time lapse between the death of the insured and payment of the proceeds to the principal beneficiary. Thus, if the beneficiary fails to survive the specified period, payment of NSLI proceeds will be made as if the principal beneficiary had died before the insured.

Q - I was recently discharged from active duty and covered my Servicemen's Group Life Insurance. Am I eligible to apply for insurance from the VA?

A - Generally, no, unless you were separated from service on or after April 25, 1951, with a service-connected disability. Then you may apply to the VA for the special non-participating National Service Life Insurance. Such veterans must have been separated from service under other than dishonorable conditions, and be in good health except for any service-connected disability. Application must be made within a year from the date the VA notifies the veteran that a disability was rated as service-connected.

Q - I'm a veteran and would like to purchase a mobile home. If I obtain a guaranteed mobile home loan through VA, can I later get a regular GI home loan?

A - Yes, after the mobile home has been paid in full, you will then have full home loan guaranty entitlement available for a conventionally constructed house.

Q - I'm a veteran of World War II, and will soon reach my 65th birthday. Will I be entitled to a Veterans Administration pension?

A - You may be eligible for a pension from the VA at age 65 if your income from all sources does not exceed $2,300 a year if you are single, or $3,500 a year if you have one or more dependents. A wife's income and the size of her estate are factors which must also be considered. For further information and assistance, check with your nearest VA office or your local Veterans County Service Officer.

GETS B.A. DEGREE
Charlotte Lynn Hill, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O.G. Hill Jr. of 102 Douglas, will receive her bachelor of arts degree in elementary education from Southwest Texas State University in commencement exercises at 8 a.m. Wednesday.

While at the San Marcos university, Miss Hill was a member of Delta Zeta sorority and a nominee for All-College Beauty.

KATHY GETS AWARD
Kathy Miller of Hereford recently received the Pennies for a Purpose scholarship at Eastern New Mexico University in Portales.

Miss Miller was one of four coeds at ENMU honored with the scholarship by the Associated Women Students at a special awards breakfast and fashion show.

Mothers club installs officers

Using the theme "Pot of Gold at the End of the Rainbow" Mrs. Lynton Allred, retiring president of La Madre Mia Study Club, told new term officers "the true and lasting gold is that we, as mothers, shape and mold our children's lives."

Mrs. G. C. Merritt began duties as president of La Madre Mia Tuesday evening at K-Bobs Restaurant where the club met for supper and installation of officers in their final meeting of the season.

Assisting Mrs. Merritt in leading the club through the coming year are Mrs. Bobby Owen as vice president, Mrs. Bud Snyder secretary, Mrs. Wayne Lady treasurer, Mrs. Herschel Black reporter, Mrs. Waldo Baxter historian, and Mrs. Ray Moore parliamentarian.

Members presented Mrs. Allred a gift in appreciation for the good year they experienced. Names were drawn for secret

Council Sales, earnings rise at Holly offices filled

Next year's officers for the City Beta Sigma Phi Council were elected at a salad supper in First National Bank Community Room, and were installed afterward. Mrs. Kenny Ruland will be the president.

Mrs. Charles Laing was named vice president, Mrs. Robert Jones secretary, Mrs. Hicks Robertson treasurer, Mrs. Joe Frank Huckert correspondent, Mrs. Gerald Borney reporter and Mrs. John Schneider advisor.

Others present were Mmes. R.J. Cramer, Delbert Bainum, Howard Gore, Pat McDonald, Max Stipe, Gary Gore, Melvin Fowler, Tom Buchanan and Merle Goff.

COLORADO SPRINGS — Increased sales and earnings for the fiscal year ended March 31, 1971 were reported Wednesday by Holly Sugar Corporation.

Sales advanced 17.3 per cent to $90,385,000 from $84,734,000 last year.

Net income, including extraordinary items of 11 cents a share, was $1,296,000 or 83 cents a share compared with a loss of $3,465,000 or $1.59 a share for fiscal 1970. Income before extraordinary items for fiscal 1971 was $1,121,000 or 72 cents a share.

Provision for Federal and state income taxes was $739,000 for the year ended March 31, 1971 compared with a tax credit of $3,069,000 for last year.

President John B. Bunker said that while the fiscal 1971 results were much improved over last year, they were adversely affected by the low-quality su-

Summer task of making Christmas gift bags for servicemen starts

This county's quota of ditty bags to be made and filled with Christmas gifts for American men in military service in Vietnam, has been received by the Red Cross chapter which has the task of packing and shipping the bags in time for receipt in combat areas by next Christmas.

Bags are to be filled and taken to the local Red Cross office by Sept. 15. Material has been ordered and is expected to be here by next month.

In the meantime, individuals and organizations which each summer supply workers to make the bags are being contacted by Genevieve Miller, County Red Cross executive secretary. Women of several churches and the Home Demonstration clubs are regular volunteers for the work. Any others are asked to notify Mrs. Miller.

The bags are made in a specified size of specified material, but contents may be chosen from a list of small items which Red Cross workers in combat areas have found are welcomed by servicemen.

It is recommended that one worthwhile item such as a pocketknife, wallet, pen-sized flashlight with batteries, pen and pencil set, or lighter, be included in each bag with a number of inexpensive items.

Those listed include soap in

Museum toured by club

Vivid pictures of the way Hereford residents lived in past years were given to a group of women who have recently moved here, in a tour of Deaf Smith County Museum Tuesday afternoon.

Newcomers Club members, after lunch at Big Daddy's Restaurant, visited the museum and were guided by Mrs. Juston McBride as they viewed ranch and farm implements used by county pioneers, household furnishings, items from early stores, clothing and ornaments worn early in this century.

One of the members, Mrs. Fred Saltzman, who recently came from Tucson after 12 years residence there, was able to give the other newcomers first hand information about some displays, as she is an old-timer of the county as well as a newcomer. She lived in Hereford many years before she moved to Arizona.

Dinner closes Lone Star year

A Tuesday evening dinner at the Cason House and installation of officers marked the end of a season for Lone Star Study Club members as Mrs. R. L. Etheridge, a guest, acted as installing officer.

Mrs. Etheridge used various vitamins and their purpose when outlining the new officers' duties. Mrs. Jim Bookout presided in business as new president.

Mrs. S. S. Williams will serve as vice president, Mrs. Jim Higgins secretary and Mrs. Coy Phillips treasurer.

Mrs. Bookout outlined plans for the new club year and appointed committees to take care of projects throughout the season.

On the yearbook committee are Mrs. S. S. Williams, V. E. Dodson, John Jacobson Jr. and W. S. Flutt; social committee, Mrs. Carl Williams, H. E. Henslee and J. J. Durham; age and over, and must have had junior life saving instruction or its equivalent.

Instructors and aides who have worked with the program here in past summers will serve again this year, Mrs. Brumley says, but others are needed.

courtesy, Mrs. G. W. Newson and Ray Suit.

Mrs. S. A. McCathern and Mildred Elliott are on telephone committee, Mrs. R. O. Blue is reporter and Mrs. Hardy Benson, county representative.

Mrs. Benson will host a summer evening social and meeting in June when the group will discuss its constitution and by-laws.

Students receive awards Friday at assembly

Scholarships and awards will be presented to high school students in an annual awards assembly at the high school auditorium at 8:30 a. m. Friday.

More than $4,000 in scholarships will be presented by various clubs and businesses.

Awards also will be presented to students who have performed outstanding work in various subjects.

Lemon trees have been cultivated in India for over 2,500 years.

Young Mothers honor member

Honored as Young Mother of the Year, Mrs. Burl Spears had a double role in the season's final meeting of Young Mothers Study Club Tuesday evening, as she also was installed as president for the coming year.

Mrs. Raymond Gerk, a former Mother of the Year, introduced Mrs. Spears as the club's choice for this year, and presented a gift from members.

Another gift was made to Mrs. Travis McPherson, in appreciation for her work as president for the term just ended. She in turn gave mementoes to officers who have served with her.

She conducted the installation which made Mrs. Spears president, Mrs. Bud Thomas vice president, Mrs. Paul Jones secretary, Mrs. Chesley Johnston treasurer, Linda Newton correspondent, Mrs. Charles Brown reporter-historian. Mrs. McPherson will act as parliamentarian in the new administration.

The club met in the Flame Room of Pioneer Gas Company for a salad supper to close the year. Mrs. Spears and Mrs. McPherson were hostesses.

Present were Mrs. Eugene Baldwin, Don Brush, Eldon Howell, Paul Jones and Don Samuels, in addition to the officers.

Mrs. Waters is West Hereford club hostess

Choice of flooring and care of floors was the subject of a talk to West Hereford Home Demonstration Club by Argen Draper, County H.D. Agent, Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. W.A. Waters was hostess to 12 members in her home.

The speaker recommended cleaners for various types of floors, and said asphalt tile is one of the easiest materials to care for.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Waters and the hostess gift was presented to Mrs. Draper. Also attending the meeting were Mrs. E.M. Cox, Roy Boyd, D.R. Grimes, John Jacobson Sr., Ulys Pierce, D.W. Allmon, Robert Boyd, W.H. Awtry Sr., Misses Mary Bradley and Evelyn Bell.

Red Cross sets swimming lessons

Swimming lessons for beginners and advanced swimmers, in the free program sponsored here each summer by the county Red Cross Chapter, will begin in June, with the tentative date set for June 7, Mrs. David Brumley, chairman, announces.

Sessions will be scheduled for two weeks each through the summer, with a week between sessions so that make instruction can be given if the weather or other events cause interruption in a session. A complete schedule of classes is being prepared.

Classes will be conducted for adults, teenagers and children. The age limit for children begins with those who have had at least one year of school. All instruction is given at the municipal pool in Dameron Park.

No pre-registration will be conducted, Mrs. Brumley says. Those in the daytime classes will register on the Friday preceding each session, and evening class members will register the day the classes begin.

Need for more water safety instructors, and also for aides, is announced by the chairman, who asks for volunteers to contact her or the Red Cross office here. New residents of the city who have had any experience in teaching water safety and who will help with the summer program, are invited to telephone Mrs. Brumley for information. The aides must be 14 years of

REX EASTERWOOD

DEMOCRAT

EDUCATION
Rex Easterwood is the only candidate who has received his entire education in Texas Schools, graduating from Dimmitt High School, West Texas State University, and St. Mary's University College of Law. Rex Easterwood received a Doctor of Jurisprudence from St. Mary's, and is the only candidate with a law degree for the office of Criminal District Attorney.

SUCCESSFUL LAW PRACTICE
Rex Easterwood is a successful practicing attorney and through his experience as both a prosecutor and defense attorney is best qualified to serve Deaf Smith County. Rex Easterwood is the only candidate who can effectively work with the local and State law enforcement agencies, and with the State and County Courts, as our prosecutor should. This harmony between various law enforcement agencies and the office of Criminal District Attorney will better serve the people of Deaf Smith County.

INDEPENDENT DEMOCRAT
Rex Easterwood owes no favors to any person or group, and therefore will be able to serve our County without personal conflicts interfering with his conduct of the Office of Criminal District Attorney.

Rex Easterwood will conduct the office of Criminal District Attorney with all the dignity and respect which it deserves, keeping the office of Criminal District Attorney separated from petty disputes and local power struggles.

Belief Helps Make Good Neighbors!

Today, the world is getting smaller. We're looking at it from the moon. Looks like we've just got to be good neighbors, if we are to survive... to be good neighbors. And we might as well start with the folks next door. Sure their dog barks too much and too loud. But the dog's old and its masters a bit hard-of-hearing. So, maybe you, too, should pretend to be a little older and a mite deaf to the bark. It's a good way to make and keep good neighbors.

Sometimes the kids across the street whoop it up a little too much and perhaps turn your yard into a playground. But they are young and their parents blind to their antics. Maybe you too, can grow a little younger and look the other way for a while. It might surprise you just how good your neighbors will become and how easy it is to keep them good.

That road hog who cuts in front of your car - that boss who cuts down your best efforts - that show-off who cuts up at parties. Sure they're thoughtless and careless. But patience could easily turn them into good neighbors. Belief in the Almighty's Presence and Plan will soften your hard line with understanding. Belief in America and democratic ideals will give you strength to forebear. Belief in other people will make you a good neighbor. So, as we move in for a closer look at the moon, maybe we ought to take a closer look at the folks next door. It's a good way to make, and keep good neighbors. You'll get the idea at your place of worship this week.

Voters decide major issues here Tuesday

If you are going to be out of town next Tuesday, you have just two more days to vote absentee in the multi-pronged election coming up.

The absentee deadline is 5 p. m. Friday. Through Wednesday afternoon, 30 persons had voted absentee.

The Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce is urging a strong turnout on the part of county voters for the balloting.

The chamber pointed out that the local issues will be far more involved than in most counties, where the only thing on the ballot is the four proposed constitutional amendments.

At stake locally is whether a hospital district should be established in Deaf Smith County and whether Rex Easterwood or County Attorney Andy Shuval will be the district attorney for this county.

Several civic organizations will participate in projects to encourage a heavy turnout. The Jaycees will provide transportation to and from the polls, and the Jayceettes and the women's division of the Chamber of Commerce will call registered voters Monday to urge them to vote.

Key Club members will be flying American flags on Election Day as another reminder. The Jaycees will put up two banners above downtown streets in another "Go Vote" encouragement and will send members down the sidewalks wearing "Eat at Joe's" type signs that ask people to go vote.

The Jaycees also will man a blackboard on the Courthouse Square Tuesday night and keep a running account of the election returns as they come in — on the hospital district, the criminal DA race and the four amendments.

The four proposed constitutional amendments concern a higher ceiling on state welfare payments, less stringent restrictions on submitting constitutional amendments, creation of a new ethics commission empowered to recommend higher legislative salaries, and raising interest rates of water improvement bonds.

In some other counties of Texas, liquor by the drink will also be decided. The Easterwood-Shuval clash for district attorney is the most provoking of the Election Day issues. The job was created in a bill passed recently in the Texas Legislature. It makes District Attorney Mike Metcalf of Dumas responsible for Oldham, Moore, Dallam, Hartley and Sherman counties, but no longer for Deaf Smith County.

The hospital district is considered vital because of the tax money it would save the county. Money would be saved because in Texas, a big portion of any money raised through county taxes must go to the state. Hereford has nearly a million dollars in hospital bonds, which meant that considerably more than a million dollars has to be levied through county taxes, because much of it goes right off the top to the state. With a hospital district, all taxes would stay in the county.

The Hereford School Board, although taking no official action, endorsed the hospital district issue Tuesday night. Supt. Roy Hartman pointed out that the maximum a school district has to come up with locally is determined by a per cent of county values.

Had the county had a hospital district the past 10 years, Hartman estimated the county residents would have had to pay $1 million less in school taxes, "and that's a very conservative figure." Without the hospital bonds, county values would have been considerably lower each year. If there were a separate hospital district, the local residents would be paying an estimated $140,000 less in school taxes just this year alone Hartman said.

Guyrene Carter dies; services held Wednesday

Funeral services for Mrs. Guyrene H. Carter, 54, of 138 North Texas, were conducted Wednesday morning in First Baptist Church by Dr. Gerald Mann, pastor, and the Rev. Russell Wingert, Presbyterian minister.

Burial in Rest Lawn Memorial Park was directed by Gilliland Funeral Home. Pallbearers were Bruce Coleman, T.E. Seigler, Robert Cash Jr., H. A. Cavness, D. C. Kinsey and O.Z. Golden.

The family has requested that memorial gifts be made to the American Cancer Society at either of the Hereford banks. Mrs. Carter died early Tuesday in Deaf Smith County Hospital after a long illness. She had been a Hereford resident since 1955, when she came here from Austria after a stay

Trash roundup drive concludes

The annual paint-up, clean-up, fix-up drive ends Saturday. Members of the Women's Division of the Chamber of Commerce coordinated the drive, which was interrupted four days after it started by the Hereford Tornado.

The women passed out leaflets house to house Tuesday and Wednesday of this week in a last-ditch effort to inform residents of the city trash ordinance and to request their cooperation in making Hereford cleaner.

The pamphlet emphasized these points: —Trash must be placed in approved containers with a lid. Garbage should be wrapped in paper before being placed in the trash can. Trash can and lid may be purchased from the city for $4.50.

Students attend classes Saturday

Hereford's six elementary schools, two junior high schools and high school will be in session Saturday.

It will be the first Saturday classes in years. The weekend date was made necessary by the tornado which hit Hereford April 19, cancelling school for the day. State requirements call for 180 days of actual classroom instruction, and the local system would have had only 179 without the additional day.

Bad weather earlier had caused the School Board to shorten the Easter Vacation by two days.

abroad. She was a native of Texas, born Sept. 28, 1916 in Johnson County.

Surviving Mrs. Carter are a daughter, Mrs. Marshall Day, of Hereford; a son, J. F. Carter, in U. S. Army service at Fort Riley, Kan.; her mother, Mrs. G. K. Horton of Hereford; and two sisters, Mrs. Dorothy Martin of Hereford and Mrs. Bob Park of Lubbock.

—All junk cars must be removed from public or private property. This means all cars not bearing current license plates and inspection stickers. —Uncollected, over-accumulated, nuisance and unsanitary trash on public or private property can result in fines. —Fine for violation of any of the regulations carry fines of up to $200. —Though Saturday, extra trucks will be sent on rounds to pick up trash, old stoves, old refrigerators, etc., if they are placed in the alley.

Petition goes out on POW issue

Copies of a resolution urging humane treatment of war prisoners held by the North Vietnamese will go from Hereford this weekend to representatives of the governments of 15 nations "involved in or interested in the conflict in Southeast Asia."

The resolution was adopted by the annual council of the Episcopal Church's Diocese of Northwest Texas at its recent meeting in Lubbock. The Rev. Fred Howard, vicar of St. Thomas Church here, as secretary of the convention, was responsible for the mailing.

Nothing that more than 1,500 American servicemen are reported missing in Southeast Asia, and current reports indicate that several hundred are now held prisoner under conditions unfavorable to health and even life, the resolution appeals to the governments involved for "proper and humane treatment" of all prisoners, and release of information about those reported missing.

It closes with this statement: "... We, the elected reprerepresentatives who speak for the more than 12,000 members of the Episcopal Church in this diocese, must express our concern to the governments of the world and our own government, to the leadership of the church throughout the world and to the press with the hope that the anxiety and anguish of the families of these men may be lessened by the above listed action and with the ultimate objective: The return of these men to their homes and families."

Jeane Dixon doesn't predict Hereford misery

The "report" that Jeane Dixon had predicted disaster for Hereford this month turned out to be just that — only a report.

Mrs. Dixon said she made no such statement. The statement circulated the door for 50 cents. Proceeds will go toward buying a set of recordings for the elementary music program.

Ben Gollehon, music coordinator for the Hereford schools, will emcee the program. The choirs each will sing two or three numbers and then all will join with the orchestra in a grand finale.

Charles Jones will direct the orchestra. The music teachers are Nelda Rogers, Aikman; Nancy Jones, Bluebonnet; Elene Moss, Central; Nancy Richie, Northwest; Jan Coffman, Shirley; and Julie Wert, Tierra Blanca.

High school and junior high music students will have their festival next Thursday night.

about Hereford for several days last week that Mrs. Dixon had said the April 19 tornado was a just a warning for Hereford and that a major disaster would hit the city by May 31. Then when a funnel cloud was reported seen two miles south of Summerfield, many persons recalled the report.

The Hereford Brand called KVII-TV in Amarillo Monday afternoon, since the station had talked with Mrs. Dixon in the past. Newsman Roger Davis of KVII said he had talked with Mrs. Dixon that morning and that she denied every saying anything about Hereford. He, and others, could remember no time she had ever been pined down to a particular city on one of her predictions.

The closest to anything of this type Davis could recall was a statement by Mrs. Dixon several months ago in Canyon that the nation would be hit by disaster in 1971, particularly in the month of August.

Syria is primarily an agricultural nation, with about 34 per cent of the land under cultivation. The plain of Hauran in the south produces wheat, barley and other cereals. Fields and groves along the coast yield tobacco, cotton, peanuts, mulberries and olives. Around Hom, north of Damascus, sugarcane, beets and grapes flourish.

Parrots have no wishbones.

Social security

(Have you a question about social security? Address it to: Travis C. Briggs, District Manager, Social Security Administration, 217 East Third Street, Amarillo, Texas. You will receive an answer in this column or by mail.)

Q — If a 29-year-old student graduated in February, 1971, from school, but will not be issued a diploma until May, 1971, is the student considered to be in full-time attendance until May?

A No, His full-time attendance would terminate in February when he graduates.

Q. Are Trade Schools approved for student benefits?

A Yes, most of them are approved.

Q I am attending school full time and drawing student benefits. Next summer I will work and earn $600.00 a month for three months. Will I need to report this to the Social Security Administration?

A Yes, since your total earnings for the year will be more than $1000.00, it will be necessary to file a report with the Social Security Administration not later than April 15, 1972.

Q I will be 18 years old soon, and I intend to continue going to school. Should I report this to the social security office?

A Yes, You will receive a questionnaire card in the mail shortly before you reach age 18. Complete the questionnaire card and return to the social security office so that you will continue receiving monthly checks.

Q I am 21 years old and attended school full time. I am drawing social security benefits. I plan to get married next June. Will I be able to continue drawing social security benefits if I am attending school full time?

A No. Marriage will terminate your social security benefit.

Q. I have lost the red, white, and blue book which tells how to file for reimbursement of doctor bills. Can you send me another one?

A Yes. We are mailing you another copy of "Your Medicare Handbook."

Q. I am a widow and will be 66 in May. When can I start getting social security benefits on my deceased husband's record?

A. You should get in touch with your social security office now, as you may be eligible for widow's benefits beginning with May.

Q I am working as a maid for a lady that pays me $5 a week. She is holding out social security taxes from my wages. What can I do about it?

A. Your employer is required to take 5.2 percent of your wages, match this amount, and send it in to the Internal Revenue Service each quarter. This helps you to earn social security credits so benefits could be paid should you become disabled at any age, retirement benefits at age 62, and Medicare protection at age 65.

Q. I am age 66 and have both parts of Medicare. Are prescription drugs covered under Medicare?

A. No.

The race problem

The biggest problem facing Hereford? It's the lack of understanding, communication and cooperation between members of the Anglo and Mexican-American communities, according to response KPAN's Clint Formby got a few weeks ago from a cross-section of Hereford's citizens.

IN HIS interviews, Clint went to about 60 city leaders, housewives and just plain men-on-the-street. He then had to put all the answers together for a report to the FCC on how the radio station planned to help serve the community's — needs and help solve its problems in the future.

"The answers were many, but I think principally they came down to three or four," Clint said about his probes to learn the primary local problems.

First, the Mexican-American situation.

Second, the declining underground water table.

Third, the lack of recreation facilities, both for teen-agers and for the family as a whole.

Fourth, apathy, an apparent growing unwillingness by residents to involve or educate themselves on any issue.

THE "RACIAL" problem was many faceted. Some said the Anglo community should make themselves more aware of Mexican-Americans' problems. Others said Mexican-Americans should take more pride in the community and try to become a vital part of it.

The discrimination issue was in the background. In keeping with the racial makeup of the community, almost half of those questioned were Mexican-American.

"They (the Mexican-Americans) didn't list discrimination as number one, but several listed it as number three," Formby said. "It was not a big issue with them, although they did feel that in certain jobs there was some discrimination." The

Plant, rummage sale scheduled by Garden Club

A repeat performance of a plant and rummage sale is scheduled Saturday by Hereford Garden Club at its garden center building, corner of Park Ave. and West Ninth.

Bedding plants, perennials and annuals for transplanting will be offered for sale in larger quantities than were on hand last Saturday, Mrs. L.W. Norvell, club president, announces. Clothing and household items are available for the rummage sale.

A similar sale was conducted last Saturday, and despite the thundershower that day was a success, with all plants sold. After the shower is a still better time to set plants, Mrs. Norvell reminds local gardeners.

Funds from the sales will be used by the club to continue work on the garden center grounds, at the location of the old Campfire Girls Hut.

Mexican-Americans listed the lack of job opportunities, inadequate housing and too few bilingual persons in top positions as bigger problems than discrimination.

ON THE state level, the water problem was considered the top problem and the welfare problem No. 2. Nationally, about 90 per cent of those interviewed said the foreign policy, or the war, was the major problem.

Despite the grand jury report a year ago that portrayed Hereford as a growing center for organized crime and that drugs was becoming a major problem here, the issue made scarcely an appearance on the questionnaires.

"It just didn't come out," Formby said. Only one or two of the questionnaires mentioned drugs as a problem. Neither did the courthouse controversies over the past months rise as a major problem in the people's minds.

A state representative from Claude suggested a concept the other day for luring new industry that could catch on.

HE SUGGESTED that the High Plains look into diversification within the industry already operating rather than seek to bring in new industry not related to our present economics.

Several of his remarks are adaptable to the cattle feeding and vegetable industries of Deaf Smith County.

Why not a facility for the tanning of hides, Rep. Tom Christian asked.

Why not a facility for the design and manufacture of leather goods — not just saddles, bridles and boots, but the whole scope of marketable goods, ranging from belts and wallets to shoes and handbags and the latest campus fad.

"AND WHY not," he asked, "combine the beef and poultry and pork industries with the vegetable industry... and move together into the field of frozen dinners and pre-cooked foods?"

He made mention of a forecast in the U. S. News and World Report that within seven years 40 per cent of all food consumed in this country will be of the convenience type which will be marketed by approximately 12 companies.

"WHY NOT go a head start on this trend and base these companies here?"

Other possibilities he outlined:

—producers of vegetables should consider freezing, canning or pickling these products.

—the sugar industry at Hereford should join with the product of the pecan orchards at Abilene and Plainview and move into the area of candy making.

—swine producers, such as at Pampa, Canyon and Hereford, should expand and add packaged pork to the area's list of marketable products.

—producers of soybeans, cottonseed and corn should expand into the production of cooking oils, shortenings, salad dressings and margarine.

ICT STUDENT OF THE WEEK — Industrial Co-operative Training Student of the Week, Arvell King, is shown above with his father and employer, Otis King. The Kings operate a trucking firm and reside on Route 3. Young King is a graduating senior this year at Hereford High School.

THREE TIME WINNER — Leroy Johnson, left, high school senior, who received the Livestock Farmer Award at the local FFA Chapter Banquet last week, went to win the area award at Palo Duro High School in Amarillo on Saturday. Johnson was one of six district winners entered into the contest. Making the award above at last week's banquet is Richard Schilling, secretary of the local FFA chapter.

'Fruit basket' award is given in TOPS club

Calorie counting, exercise and the encouragement of other members in Sugar Blues TOPS Club were credited by Mrs. Clarence Veasey, enabling her to win last week's prize for the greatest weight loss. She recorded a loss of five pounds. Each member contributes a can of fruit or juice each week to the "fruit basket" which is given to the member best carrying out the club aim to Take Off Pounds Sensibly.

Four guests, Mrs. Bill Gilliland, Agnes Betzen, Giesle Shelton and Betty Shelton, were among the 21 present at the Monday evening meeting in Community Center.

Insulating a royal harpist in Wales once brought a fine of six cows and 120 pennies, according to National Geographic.

Let's cook something

Motorcycling, cooking on top of their list

By JANIE BANNER

Staff Writer

FOR THE DUANE Verschelde household it is not unusual that Mrs. Verschelde spends numerous leisure hours on her motorcycle while Verschelde and daughter Tammy are in the kitchen "experimenting" and having a great time.

"My husband is the chef around here and I'm the dishwasher," said Mrs. Verschelde. "He loves to try new recipes, even desserts, which I find quite unusual."

While Wanda doesn't particularly like to cook, her husband enjoys the opportunity.

"Ever since we married," began Mrs. Verschelde, "Duane has liked to get in the kitchen and try out new dishes, anything and everything. And I do not mind cleaning up after him so that's what I do most. I do cook, but I don't especially like to."

feels is "tops" and is so good at preparing is one given them by a male friend who is described as "a fabulous cook!"

It is called, simply, a tossed salad, but has flavorful differences added originally by its "maker."

"The beer is added to give extra flavor for a different tasting salad," said Mrs. Verschelde. "We serve it most often with charcoaled steaks."

TOSSED SALAD

3 medium size tomatoes, diced
2 medium size onions, chopped
1 large bell pepper, chopped
2 carrots, sliced

Marinate two or three hours before serving, or all afternoon if time allows, in salad dressing: half cup vinegar half cup beer (your choice!)
one-fourth cup salad oil garlic salt
salt and pepper to taste

Add small head of lettuce right before serving time. Toss well. Serves 6-8 persons. May add radishes and celery if desired.

Verschelde, however, feels it unnecessary. "I think the radishes and celery take a way from the flavor."

THE VEGETABLE garden he plans to begin work on soon should come in handy with this recipe throughout the summer months.

Ask Mrs. Verschelde what she likes to do better than anything else and she will, without a moments hesitation, answer "ride my motorcycle!"

"That's my first love. I ride it every chance I get when the weather is nice. Duane did not like the idea of my getting one at first but he is getting to like it more every day."

"We take it to Canadian River and lakes around the area and can ride for hours and not get tired of it. Tammy loves it too," she said.

ALTHOUGH Mrs. Verschelde teaches kindergarten at Shirley Elementary she finds time to sew, refinish furniture, decoupage, oil paint and crochet jewelry.

Wanda is vice president of the Elkettes and a member of Hereford Art Guild. She is leader of her daughters' Bluebird group of 15 girls, the Sunflower Bluebirds. She plans their projects, summer day camp, arts and crafts and field trips.

Mrs. Verschelde taught special education classes at Shirley the first year she lived in Hereford and for two years has taught the kindergarten group.

She received a BS from West Texas State University and is presently attending night classes to complete certification for special education.

VERSCHELDE IS active in Elks and Masonic Lodges. He is employed by Wilson's Beef and Lamb Company in the refrigeration-engineering department.

Eight-year-old Tammy is a second grade student at Shirley. The Verschelde family lives at 232 Greenwood along with six baby poodles and a birddog; no names have yet been given to them.

Local Ford men win recognition for car sales

Two salesmen with Orval Watson Ford Sales, were honored for outstanding sales performances during 1970 at a banquet in Dallas last Saturday.

A select number of Ford dealership salesmen were presented a 300-500 Club membership award for "excellent retail sales performance." The Ford 300-500 Club was founded in 1959 to recognize the performance of outstanding Ford dealership salesmen throughout the country.

The average 300-500 Club member sold nearly $750,000 worth of automotive merchandise in 1970 to qualify for the national honor.

Local dealership salesmen qualifying for 300-500 Club membership were Bob Sheffy and Hugh Blakey.

College campuses are scenes for YHT Area I Activity Days

Members of the local Young Homemakers of Texas have recently attended Area I Activity Days on four consecutive Tuesday mornings and afternoons at Panhandle area college campuses.

Attending sessions from Hereford were Mrs. Charles Weatherford, Area I president, and Mrs. Jim Culpepper who plans to run for office Sept. 11 at Area I Convention in Muleshoe.

Programs were given on sewing, expandable fabrics, demonstrations on hairpiece goods and care, sewing instructions according to new sizing and patterns for pant outfits, and family vacationing needs.

Colleges staging the activity days were West Texas State University at Canyon, South Plains College at Levelland, Clarendon Junior College, and Wayland Baptist College in Plainview.

Mrs. Weatherford will assume duties as local president in place of Mrs. Bud Thomas the first Tuesday in September when the club will begin its season of meetings.

It has been decided Young Homemakers will meet once a month and begin meetings at 8 p.m. rather than the usual 7:30 p.m. meetings twice a month.

Former county resident buried

Funeral services for Mrs. E.M. Jack, 73, were conducted Monday afternoon in Tenth Street Church of Christ of Friona. She lived on a farm in western Deaf Smith County from 1930 until she moved to Friona in 1964.

She died Saturday evening in Parmer County Hospital. Leland Huthon conducted her funeral and burial was in Friona Cemetery.

The former Minnie Wilson, she was a member of a pioneer Floyd County family and came to Deaf Smith County after her marriage.

Survivors include her husband; a son, Bertram Jack, who lives on the farm in this county; two daughters, Mrs. Marjorie Childs of Gunnison, Colo., and Mrs. Gienna Miller of Floydada; a sister, Mrs. J.A. Wylie of Friona; a brother, nine grandchildren and six great-grandchildren.

Birthday big event for girl

Connie Denisse M. Villarreal celebrated her birthday Saturday with a party at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hector Villarreal, 418 Ave. E. Born on Mothers Day seven years ago, her birthday this year actually fell on that day again, so the party was given a day early.

A big pinata in the shape of a watermelon slice, made by the honoree's parents and her uncle Raul Gutierrez, held favors for the guests, who were served birthday cake with ice cream and punch after games.

They included Brenda Martinez, Barbara and Linda Garcia, Maribel and Yvonne Gutierrez, Nadine Villarreal, Joy Libbey, Cindy Romo, Tony Madrigal and Kelly Chavarria; also friends from Friona, the Barry Thompsons and twin sons Derek and Darin, and the Emilio Ramos and daughter, Noemi.

Also present were Connie's maternal grandmother, Mrs. Antonia G. Madrigal; aunts and uncles, Messrs. and Mrs. Jaime Villarreal, Omar Villarreal, and Raul Gutierrez, and Mrs. Carmel Martinez. Another aunt, Angie Mata, wished her "happy birthday" in a telephone call from Austin.

PENNY JONES GRADUATES
Penny Dora Jones of 122 Centre will receive her bachelor of science in education Saturday from the University of Texas at Austin.

Miss Jones is one of 400 candidates scheduled to receive degrees in the College of Education.

Coffee Sunday honors couple

Mr. and Mrs. F.E. Lindeman of Route 1 were honored Sunday for their 25th wedding anniversary with a early morning coffee, hosted by their daughters Charlene, Margaret and Pat.

The event took place in the home of Lindeman's brother and family, Mr. and Mrs. Mark Lindeman and daughter Ann, 302 Avenue K.

The couple's daughters are Mrs. Ed Sanders, Mrs. Gary

Smith and Miss Pat Lindeman of Lubbock.

They were married May 13, 1946 at Windthorst near Wichita Falls. Mrs. Lindeman is the former Angeline Schroeder.

Also present for the coffee were Ed Sanders, Gary Smith and the Lindeman's three grandchildren, Keith, Kim, and Kelly, Mr. and Mrs. Benny Lindeman and family of Amarillo, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Schumacher and son David, and Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Anderie and family of Nazareth.

The Lindeman's 19-year-old son Leonard, stationed at Sheppard Air Force Base at Wichita Falls, could not be present.

David Self wins Air Force medal

David E. Self of Hereford has won the Air Force Commendation Medal for meritorious service while assigned as a special agent with the Personnel Security Divisions at Offutt Air Force Base, Nebraska.

Self received the award after his return to Nebraska from Ft. Gordon, Ga., where he attended a 14-week course in polygraph examiners' training.

The award was for outstanding service during the period from Oct. 22, 1969, until Jan. 1, 1971.

Self is the son of Mr. and Mrs. A.J. Self, Route 5, Hereford. His wife, Gwen, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Coleman Wright, 316 Ave. H., Hereford.

BEST CLEANUP POSTER — Loretta Vigil receives a citation from Mrs. Dick Barnard for coming up with the best poster to call attention to the current trash roundup drive in Hereford. Loretta is a sixth grade at Central School. Mrs. Barnard is chairman of the cleanup drive, which is sponsored by the women's division of the Chamber of Commerce. That's Loretta's poster in the background. Honorable mention went to Mary Stokes, Melody Kendrick and Raul Mariscal, all of Bluebonnet Elementary.

BEST LITTER ESSAY — Larry Don Landers, a Central Elementary sixth grader, gets congratulations and a certificate from his teacher, Mrs. Robinson, for his essay concerning efforts to make Hereford more attractive. Honorable mention for essays went to James Noyes of Aikman Elementary and Tony Melugin of Bluebonnet Elementary.

Afternoon piano recitals slated

Spring recitals by two groups of piano pupils who earned certificates and pins playing in auditions of the National Guild of Piano Teachers will be presented in Mrs. Ellis Combs' home on coming Sunday afternoons. District winners, each of whom met requirements in playing by memory five or six specified compositions in the auditions, will give the program at 2:30 p.m. Sunday. Their parents and friends have been invited to hear them.

Mrs. Combs' pupils who will appear then are Lynette Rhoton, Dale Rhoton, Teresa Rhoton, Shawn Frye, Scott Ward, Tommy Weaver, Lisa Honea and Gayle Gripp.

The next Sunday, May 23, the program for another group of guests will be given by national winners, those who gave satisfactory performances before the auditions judge play selections by such classical composers as Bach, Beethoven, Haydn and Schuman as well as moderns including Debussy, MacDowell, Mannsucci and Rebecov.

These soloists will be Pam Garrison, Mike Hull, Suzanne Solomon and Debbie Hoover.

Quarterly wage reports needed on all workers

Every three months employers are required to file with Internal Revenue Service reports of wages paid employees.

With this reminder, Travis Briggs, Amarillo Social Security office manager, cautions employers to be certain reports show each employee's name and social security number just as shown on the employee's social security card.

"For your employe to receive credit for wages earned and tax paid," Briggs said, "the name and number on the report must match the information on the employe's social security record."

By taking simple precautions, Briggs said, the employer can avoid recontacts for missing numbers or names.

An employer may secure the necessary forms for reports from the nearest IRS office. Private home owners who have paid an employee more than $50 cash wages during the quarter must also report these wages. The IRS can provide the forms for reporting domestic employees also.

For additional information about the reporting of social security wages, local residents should call the Amarillo Social Security office at 378-5151. The office is located at 317 East Third and is open from 8:15 a.m. — 4:30 p.m. Monday through Friday except national holidays.

The center is trying to have persons from each of the cities where it has Satellite Day Care Centers to attend open house activities from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Friday in Amarillo.

The center is at 901 Wallace Blvd., in Amarillo, in the new Medical Center complex. "We are hoping interested citizens from Hereford will go to Amarillo, tour the school and view the classrooms," said Max-

Local student, teacher plan for science meet

David Hicks, Hereford High School student, and science instructor Ray Barber are among 550 of the state's top science students and teachers selected to attend the 11th Annual Texas Nuclear Science Symposium.

The symposium runs from June 7th through June 10th and will be held on the campus of the University of Texas at Austin.

The symposium is presented by the Texas Atomic Energy Research Foundation, of which Southwestern Public Service Company is a member, and the University of Texas at Austin. 42 High Plains students and teachers, including the Hereford pair, will be sponsored at the symposium by Southwestern Public Service Company.

David, the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Hicks of 197 Douglas, is a member of the band and active in the school athletics program. He is an Eagle Scout and enjoys skiing and music as hobbies.

This is Barber's 4th year of teaching at Hereford. He earned his bachelor's degree from North Texas State University at Denton. He has done graduate work at the University of Texas and West Texas State University, and is presently an instructor of math and physics. He lives at 118 Douglas.

The featured speaker for the opening session of the symposium will be Dr. Edward Teller from the University of California, one of the nation's foremost authorities on atomic energy. In addition to hearing lectures by leading authorities in thermonuclear fusion and nuclear physics, the symposium participants will have an opportunity to tour the fusion research laboratories at the University, where much of our na-

Letter to the editor

Dear Editor:

I have read dozens of newspaper stories and "letters to the Editor" and not one have I seen which discussed Amendment One fairly or even objectively.

Amendment One was prepared by a group of citizens throughout the state even before our present legislature was elected. The Ethics Commission which would be so created would be appointed by the Judiciary which legislators have absolutely no control.

The big lie which has been carried by all state papers in its "Letters to the Editor" reflect this is a subterfuge for legislators to get a pay raise. The facts are salaries will be left as they are or adjusted only by the Ethics Commission. The legislature has only the power to accept or reject a change.

The truth of the matter is his plan has worked well in many states in giving a fine balance of representation in the legislature. Finally, why have Texans resisted all efforts to raise legislators' salaries? The answer is simple. Obviously any effort on the part of us, as legislators, to campaign for a raise would be resented. As a result those who fall for the communist line "that all elected officials are bad, have their heyday. R. B. McAllister State Representative District 78 Lubbock, Levelland and Brownfield

We don't indulge in gimmicks or fads. But our clothes do reflect the current trends in fashions. When we widen our lapels, we make our pocket flaps and vents deeper, too. Music club has program guests

Two outstanding music students among high school girls of Hereford were program guests of the Music Study Club at a meeting in Mrs. Paul Lyons' home Monday afternoon, assisting in a program of American Music Today.

Miss Suzanne Solomon played MacDowell's Shadow Dance as a piano solo, and accompanied Miss Sherry White as she sang Let There Be Peace on Earth.

Club members on program were Mrs. J.C. McCracken, who played Mardi Gras (Grofe); Mrs. Joe Hacker and Mrs. Buddy Peeler, a piano duet, Tonight, by Leord Bernstein, and Mrs. C.J. Mountz who varied the program with Berceuse from Goodard's "Joselyn".

Mrs. D.W. Palmer directed the club in singing the Hymn of the Month, God of Our Fathers, with Mrs. Bill Penn as pianist. Leader of the program, Mrs. Ellis Coombes discussed the American musical heater and its effect on music of other countries as well as this. An outgrowth of the European operetta and musical revue, the popular musical is a truly American invention, she said, an important and varied musical form.

Mrs. Tom Burdett, vice president, conducted business in the absence of Mrs. Dale Young. Plans were made for the spring luncheon May 24 which will close the club year.

Mrs. A.O. Thompson, who attended the convention of Texas Federated Music Clubs in Austin recently, reported on that meeting and announced that Music Study Club's yearbook won a white ribbon as a state award. As chairman of National Music Week observance here, she thanked members for their cooperation in presenting daily programs last week.

At the library Characters-events create bold story

A novel on the shelf this week at Deaf Smith County Library is sure to satisfy readers who are looking for a story filled with characters of all types and settings and events to fit each. Check into it today.

THE ANGELICA
by May Dikemas

The Angelica is a bold book, cerebral and sensual. It is the story of a modern saint, as seen by the clever, passionate woman who loves him.

The settings are: New York City, the rural South (scene of a dangerous Civil Rights march), and a great mansion in Canada, staging point and arms cache for the new American Revolution.

The final scene, a moment of affirmation and triumph, takes place in a church.

The events are melodramatic; and the cast of characters is enormous. Some of them are:

Don Elliott, folk singer, ex-war-hero, charismatic leader of the Peace and Freedom Movement; Jean Allen, who loves him; Dora Elliott, his mother, who is something close to a practicing witch.

Randolph, her familiar; a cat; Dr. Egon Vadim, a deluded psychiatrist (and a great comic figure); Cat Blondell, a blue-eyed black militant of prophetic gifts; Connie Miller, guitar-playing beauty and Civil Rights leader.

Ellen and Joe, a young American Indian couple; Kermit, a rich and Pharisaical liberal; Ron and Bob, old admirers of Jean's; Bunny, her rowdy, rumpy old schoolmate; Maud, Jean's "artise" mother. Also Maudie's Things, her rather eerie possessions; Sharon, Stephen, Susu and Ariadne Hot Sheet: mixed-up kids who worship Don.

Various aunts, priests, bodyguards, schoolmarm, militants, small children, ghosts (perhaps), batty old ladies, FBI men, animals, and a murderer.

This novel is a dazzling "read," and the work of a major new talent.

THE LONELY RIDE
by Giles A. Lutz

The danger to Fort Phil Kearny was imminent and very real.

One of the worst blizzards on record had left the post dangerously low on supplies, and that half the garrison had been wiped out in one terrible massacre it would be only a matter of days until the Sioux began to make good their vow to destroy every fort built by the white man.

The only hope was to send for reinforcements, but everyone knew that whoever tried to get through the 236 Miles to Fort Laramie faced almost certain death.

For John "Portugee" Phillips however it was a chance he had

New board members, officers chosen for county Red Cross

Eight new directors, elected for the Deaf Smith Red Cross Chapter at the recent annual meeting when Rodney Laubhan was named chairman, will serve a three-year term ending in 1974.

They are Mrs. Gaylon Bryan, Mrs. N.E. Tyler, Ray Clay, John Poindexter, Joseph Roddy, Fay Collins and Duane Albracht, postoffice representative, and Mrs. Ed Sowell, Dawn community representative.

They replace retiring directors Jim McCabe of Dawn, Billy Hutson from the Hereford postoffice, J.R. Johnson, Mrs. R.B. Hutson, Mrs. H.F. Neely and Mrs. E.W. Sparks.

to take for the sake of his wife and children and the other families at Fort Kearny.

The story of his miraculous journey through sub-freezing weather and savage Indians to deliver the dispatch for help, based on actual events, is a vivid portrayal of raw courage and heroism in the face of incredibly perilous odds.

Laubhan, who has been a vice chairman, will succeed Bartley Dowell as chapter chairman. Poindexter will serve as first vice and Mrs. Tony Hoffman as second vice.

Board members whose terms expire in 1975 are Mrs. Elmo Hall, Fred Fox, Dowell, Mrs. Herman Ford, Mrs. Jim Clarke, Mrs. Winnie Anderson and Roy Hartman.

Expiring in 1973 are the terms of Mrs. Clinton Jackson, Mrs. David Brumley, Mrs. Ismael Gamez, Mrs. Hoffman, Mrs. Buel Monroe of Westway community, Mrs. Willis Duggan of Simms community, the Rev. C.W. Allen, Donald Shipley, the Rev. Sam Ogan of Frio community and Baxter London.

Every year the world's seas produce 100 to 150 billion tons of microscopic plants-phytoplankton-that are the basis of the seas' food chain.

When turned loose to feed at will, a horse will eat himself to death, while a mule will eat only his fill.

Places remain in youth grid camp at Tech

Applications are still being accepted for the 1st annual Jim Carlen Football Camp, scheduled for four three-day sessions near the Texas Tech campus in Lubbock June 6-19.

Carlen and his coaching staff will provide the instruction in the camp, which is open to boys age 8 through the eighth grade. There will be no contact or pad work, but instruction will be given in discipline, conditioning, offensive and defensive football, specialty work and unit work.

The fees are $50 per session and they include complete insurance, housing, meals, jersey and certificate. Swimming also will be included.

The camp will be conducted in the Matador off-campus dormitory near Tech. It is close to the intersection of the Brownfield Highway and 19th Street, west of the Tech campus.

Additional details on the camp may be obtained by writing Jim Carlen Football Camp, Box 4190, Lubbock.

Keep food hot or cold-- or don't keep it at all

Salmonellosis is an illness which loves to go to picnics, to banquets and parties where foods are prepared well in advance, and even to family functions in homes.

Commonly called food poisoning, it may show up anywhere it receives an invitation. Sometimes it is credited by individuals with being a 24-hour virus.

The food infection symptoms may range from mild nausea and abdominal discomfort to a full-blown case which also involves fever, vomiting and diarrhea. When you get it, you're sick. And, it can be fatal, says the Texas State Department of Health.

Salmonellosis is used to refer to infections caused by any of the numerous members of the genus Salmonella. Some 900 varieties are known and they may inhabit most species of warm-blooded animals and many cold-blooded vertebrates. Major reservoirs of human salmonellosis are in domestic livestock, swine and poultry. Organisms may be transmitted to man either directly from animals or through contaminated products of animal origin. Humans also may spread the infection.

Recently, outbreaks of Salmonellosis were traced to pet turtles. And, the Communicable Disease Center in Atlanta reports a case in a 19-month-old child caused by a parakeet.

The most dramatic and highly-publicized aspects of salmonellosis are the food-borne infections which occur in large groups of persons who have consumed a contaminated food. In this type of contamination, food is prepared and held in such a manner that the bacteria has an opportunity to multiply.

The State Health Department is so concerned with the problem of food-borne infections it is planning a special seminar for sanitarians in September. The tailor-made course will equip local sanitarians with the knowledge to teach classes in food-borne disease control to food handlers in their own communities.

In a way, food-borne illness is a matter of chance. Five factors must come into play to produce it. You must, of course, have bacteria present, and you need growth-supporting temperatures, suitable food, time and or improper refrigeration are the main causes of food poisoning of humans. Almost without exception in food poisoning cases, the food was contaminated after having been cooked and was allowed to stand at temperatures which encouraged bacterial growth. Bacteria thrive at temperatures ranging from 45 to 140 degrees Fahrenheit. Keeping food just barely cool or warm doesn't help.

Time is important between fixing and eating picnic foods. The shorter period the better. And remember to keep foods hot, keep them cold, or don't keep them at all.

It's been around...but marijuana is still misunderstood

Sacred Ganges River draws Hindu thousands

ALLAHABAD, India — The best way to insure a place in heaven, according to Hindu belief, is to come to this northern India city and bathe in the sacred Ganges river.

The holy dip, however, can be done only once in every six years or so — when the stars are considered in a perfect position to allow the world's largest religious festival to take place.

Braving the freezing cold of the Indian winter, a surging mass of humanity — hundreds of thousands of persons at a time — slowly walks into the Ganges.

Men, women and children immerse themselves over and over, chanting prayers asking God to grant them eternal life in heaven instead of a rebirth on earth.

Allahabad ("City of God") is the site of the festival because it is the holiest spot on earth for Hindus and the ideal place for them to wash away their sins.

Here, according to Hindu mythology, is where nectar fell from a pitcher during a tug of war in the heavens between the gods and the devils.

The festival derives its name — "Kumbh (Pitcher) Mela (Festival)" — from this incident.

Today, the spot where the nectar fell from heaven is marked by the confluence of three rivers. Only two — the Ganges and the Jumna — are visible. The third, according to Hindu legend, is the Saraswati, which flows under the earth and joins the other two rivers here.

Those who come to Allahabad often take back to their villages pots of water from the Ganges to distribute among their friends and relatives.

Hindus believe that a spoonful of this water, if sipped just before death, will help the soul reach heaven.

Millions more — there are an estimated 450 million Hindus in India — who cannot afford a trip to Allahabad take a bath in a river or pond near their home and say an extra prayer asking God to give their neighborhood sources of water the same sanctity as the Ganges.

While the "Kumbh Mela" is a blessing for devout Hindus, it is a nightmare for the health authorities and police.

A major fear is that cholera — so prevalent in India — might break out in epidemic form. Everyone who goes to the festival must have a cholera shot.

Police have to keep a close watch on overenthusiastic Hindu holymen who sometimes come armed with spears, swords, lances, and daggers. On rare occasions, tempers flare and these weapons are used between the warring factions of holymen.

The biggest problem for the police, however, is controlling the millions of pilgrims.

They still recall the stampede that occurred during the 1964 festival, when 1,000 persons were trampled to death during a religious procession.

Many of their relatives did not weep, however, because they believed God had summoned the victims to leave and had freed them from the dreaded cycle of death and rebirth on earth.

Pure radium resembles common table salt.

French is the official diplomatic language of the world.

Known to man for nearly 5,000 years, marijuana is one of the most common and least understood of all drugs.

Most of the American experience with marijuana has been limited to the widespread, relatively infrequent use of a rather weak form of the drug. Although the principal active ingredient in the plant is thought to be a very complex substance known to scientists as Delta-9-tetrahydrocannabinol, or THC for short, much remains to be learned about the chemistry of marijuana and related substances.

The Texas Health Department, as one of the prime dispensers of information on drugs of abuse in the state, feels that it is time to cut through the volumes of words and contradictions spoken about this drug, and separate the facts from fiction.

There is general agreement among medical researchers that at the common levels of usage the typical subjective effects of marijuana are: alteration of time and space perception, sense of euphoria, relaxation, well-being and disinhibition, dulling of attention, fragmentation of thought, impaired immediate memory, an altered sense of identity, exaggerated laughter, and increased suggestibility. Other less common effects are dizziness, a feeling of lightness, nausea, and hunger.

The drug's effects on the emotions and senses vary widely, depending on such factors as the user's expectations, the circumstances of use and, of course, the strength and quantity of the drug used.

Typically, time is distorted and seems such extended — five minutes may seem like an hour. Space may seem enlarged or intensified, and hearing seems otherwise distorted — ten feet may seem to be 100 feet. Sounds and colors sometimes seem influenced on creativity, one way or another. The distortions of the senses apparently account for the user's feelings of being more creative.

Recent studies indicate that marijuana has no effect on body temperature, respiratory rate, blood pressure, blood sugar, or diameter of the pupil. The drug does produce an increase in the pulse rate and causes a reddening of the eyes at the time of use, and some dehydration.

The drug can produce illusions, or misinterpretations of various sensations. But hallucinations, or the experience of a non-existent sensation, and delusions are rare.

Marijuana does not lead to physical dependence. Therefore it cannot be considered addicting. Chronic users become psychologically dependent upon the effects of the drug. Thus, it is classified as habituating.

The Texas Health Department is constantly updating its information on the drugs of abuse as new data becomes available. Much knowledge on the effects of marijuana has been gained from scientific research in the past year. Thousands more research projects are underway to determine the health implications of marijuana.

Controlled laboratory tests on humans indicate little or no influence on creativity, one way or another. The distortions of the senses apparently account for the user's feelings of being more creative.

Tornadoes strike without warning

One of nature's deadliest phenomena is the tornado — a violent, destructive whirling wind that strikes almost without warning and seemingly at random, sweeping everything out of its path as its whirlpool tail moves in a narrow path over the land.

The tornado that struck the city of Lubbock last year, like the earlier disasters in previous years in Dallas, Waco, and San Angelo, once again reminded Texans that disaster health planning is the difference between safety and catastrophe.

The Texas State Department of Health has joined with other state and federal agencies and medical associations to see that all areas of the state are prepared in case of a disaster. Consequently, Texas is meeting warning systems, and a well-oiled public health relief organization.

Texas' "local severe weather warning system," the first established anywhere in the world, now has radar storm warning sets in almost all major cities in the state. These stations are all connected by teletype and radio. Any station is able to instantly appraise all other stations of a tornado traveling in their direction. All communities in the vicinity of the twister can be warned of the tornado's approach through normal channels of communications, or through special warning devices.

If worse comes to worse, and a tornado does strike a community, the Texas Health Department stands ready to provide vaccine and public health engineering and emergency nursing know-how to stem the threat of disease or further complications while disaster relief is underway.

Defense steals show in WT spring game

CANYON, Tex. — The throwing arm of quarterback Ed Holwig and the strong legs of sophomore-to-be Billy Pritchett led the offense in Saturday night's spring training final, but the defense stole the show.

Holwig, the 6-4, 215-pounder from Highspire, Pa., tossed for one touchdown and Pritchett ran for another as the Maroons edged the Whites, 14-12, in the game-like contest.

The big showing was by the starting defensive unit. The Maroon offense was the first unit, while the White offense comprised the second team during the entire game. The Maroon defense for the first half was the first team and the Whites were made up of the second team defense.

At halftime, however, the defense changed uniforms, thus sending the first team Maroon offense against the first team defense, and the second team against the second team.

With the Maroon offense running against the White defense, and the White second team offense against the Maroon defenders during the first half, the Maroons compiled a 14-13 halftime advantage.

In the second half, with first teams against first and seconds against seconds, the White team outscored the Maroon 9-0.

Little Matias Garza provided most of the offensive points (eight) while performing as the placement kicker for both teams. The 150-pounder from Alamo, Tex., booted 54 and 44-yard field goals for the White team and provided two extra point kicks for the Maroon.

When the White team scored late in the fourth quarter to make the count, 14-12, they tried for a two-point conversion and failed.

Holwig hit on seven of 21 passing attempts for 64 yards. His 11-yard pass to Mike McCullough in the first quarter was good for the Maroon's first score.

Pritchett, 6-4, 220-pounder, rolled for 11 yards on 3 carries, including a seven-yard scoring run in the first quarter. He fielded three passes for 45 yards.

McCullough caught one other pass for six yards and converted linebacker Aubrey Warren caught three for 21 yards from his tight end position.

David Diedrich rushed for 43 yards on 19 carries to pace the White offense Little Mark Sem-low picked up 40 yards with 15 carries.

"I was pleased with the offense at times during the game and the defense was consistently strong throughout the contest," said head coach Gene Mayfield following the scrimmage.

The head coach pointed to the play of linebackers Windy Williams and Bill McKinney, defensive tackle David Denny and safety Mike Hrcir. On the White team, linebackers Glenn Kelly and Willis Haws stood out. The coaching staff feels Haws is one of the team's more improved players.

No players were injured seriously during the scrimmage, but coach Mayfield pointed to earlier losses by injuries.

Defensive end Bruce Whisenhunt, who started seven games last fall, underwent an operation for an old shoulder injury prior to spring practice and missed all of the drills.

"Bruce has played there and is a good football player," said Mayfield. "Some of the other injured defenders needed the work this spring."

Included in that group were defensive end Thomas Costello, tackle Manuel Gomez and tackle, but injured a knee. He is up from the freshman team, Jensen a transfer and Gomez a letterman. Gomez started drills as the starting defensive tackle, but injured a knee. He barely played enough to letter last fall and the coaching staff wanted him to get as much work as possible this spring.

Local girl makes UT honor list

A Hereford girl is among the students making the fall semester honor roll at the University of Texas. In all, more than 1,170 students were on the list.

She is Cathy Sue Young, 428 Ave. L.

Madrigal visits on Army leave

After Army training in aircraft maintenance at Fort Eustis, Va., Pfc. Leon J. Madrigal is on a short leave, here for a visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leon Madrigal Sr. of 342 Ave. G. and other relatives.

The 19-year-old Hereford man will report to Fort Dix, N.J., May 22 and from there will leave for Germany, where he is scheduled for two years service.

He entered military service Oct. 5, 1970 and took his basic training at Fort Ord, Calif.

Volleyball play is called off

The Civic Club volleyball tournament scheduled for Monday, Tuesday and Thursday of this week was postponed.

Lynn Brisendine, tournament chairman, called the tournament off Monday when one civic club, with its two teams, said the word was not out sufficiently among its players and they probably would not be in the tournament. The field already was just seven teams.

The tournament probably will be rescheduled later, perhaps as late as this fall, Brisendine said.

Peace officers, Army give look at many weapons

All kinds of weapons will be on display at Sugarland Mall May 22.

Two exhibits will be on the mall floor at that time. The Peace Officers Association will have an equipment display on that day. Representatives of the sheriff's office, police department, highway patrol, fire department, Alcoholic Beverage Commission and Parks and Wildlife Department will be on hand.

Also starting May 22, and running through the 26th, will be a display of Communist equipment captured in Vietnam. The exhibit by the U. S. Army shows the scope and degree of sophistication of the enemy's armed aggression against the South Vietnamese people.

Weapons featured in the exhibit range from rifles to heavy machine guns. Included is the Type 56 Assault Rifle, also known as the AK 47, produced in Russia and China for the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese Army.

Elsewhere in the display, an enemy soldier's personal gear is shown — including such items as a protective mask for gas warfare and a typical North Vietnamese uniform.

Art show starts at Mall Tuesday

If you're in Sugarland Mall next week, there will be something in the foyer to sidetrack you from your normal rounds.

The mall is sponsoring a three-day art show, featuring local talent, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday.

Some of the entries are expected to be from the school system. Each artist will be limited to three paintings. There will be no judging.

Some of the paintings will be sold, however, at the discretion of the artists.

The art show was begun last year. Because of its success, it is being repeated.

Eddie Culp goes into AF basic training

Eddie L. Culp, 20, of Hereford recently enlisted in the U.S. Air Force and has been assigned to Lackland AFB, Texas for six weeks basic training.

After completion of basic training, Culp is scheduled to attend the Air Force Technical Training School in the mechanical area.

Culp is a 1970 Hereford High School graduate and is married to Mrs. Cynthia Carol Culp of Route 1, Hereford.

Former Dawn resident among WTSU graduates

Buddie Stewart, son of Mr. and Mrs. C.C. Stewart of Canyon, formerly of Dawn, graduated from West Texas State University this week with a degree in speech.

Stewart attended Hereford schools through junior high and graduated from Perryton High School.

2 local men receive degrees at Texas A&M

COLLEGE STATION — Two Hereford men were among the record 1,731 candidates for spring graduation at Texas A&M University.

Commencement exercises were Friday for students earning graduate degrees and Saturday for undergraduates.

Lacey said 1,269 students have filed for baccalaureate degrees, 319 for master's and 143 for doctorates.

Degree candidates from Hereford were Deaf Smith County Agent Juston McBride, 611 E. 4th, a master's degree in agricultural education, and Gerald Victor Witkowski, 215 North Texas Ave., a BS degree.

Barnard takes Marine course

Charles Barnard of Hereford has graduated from a computer programming at the Marine Corps base in Quantico, Va.

Barnard, a private, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard P. Barnard of 212 Ave. B.

He attended Texas Tech.

Social security

(Have you a question about social security? Address it to: Travis C. Briggs, District Manager, Social Security Administration, 317 East Third Street, Amarillo, Texas. You will receive an answer in this column or by mail.)

Q. Can I get both benefits on my own work and on my husband's record as a widow?

A. You cannot get both benefits in full, but you are assured of the highest amount. For example, if you apply on your own, you will receive the amount you are entitled to on your own. In addition, if your widow's benefits are higher, you can receive your own plus the difference between that amount and the amount you are entitled to as a widow.

Q. I worked 10 days last year for a farmer and earned $125. Do I receive any social security credits for this?

A. No. You would earn credits only if the employer paid you $150 or more in cash during time basis for cash wages.

Q. I injured my back several weeks ago. My doctor advises me I will be out of work for six or seven weeks. Should I file for disability?

A. No. By definition, your disability must be expected to last at least a year or result in death. However, if you should find later that your injury will be of longer duration, you should contact your social security representative.

Q. I am receiving disability benefits and my nine-year-old daughter is receiving benefits on my record. Is she eligible for a larger benefit as a disabled child?

A. No. She can continue to receive benefits, however, regardless of her age, as long as she is disabled.

Q. The Veterans's Administration determined I am 50 per cent disabled. Is this sufficient to establish disability for social security benefits?

A. Not necessarily. Social security disability is not based on a percentage. Also, since different laws are involved, a separate determination would have to be made by the Social Security Administration.

Q. Can a disabled wife draw benefits on her husband's record if she is under age 62 and has no children in her care?

A. No. At present there is no provision for payment of social security benefits to a disabled wife.
