

SIGHTS, FACES SEEN

Around Town

Regardless of other activities in 1953, people are not planning to vote like they did last year. A check in the collector's office Friday showed a total of 446 poll taxes had been paid, and the office estimated 550 for the year. Last year a total of 3,340 polls were paid; however, only 1,244 had been paid at the same date of Jan. 9, in 1952. Poll taxes may be paid any time during January.

Chamber of Commerce Secretary Cecil Massey is about as far in the dog house as a man can get. Cecil called the doctor, who told him their baby would arrive around Jan. 30, then went to Childress to speak at a football banquet. They forgot to check with the baby, however, and the little fellow decided to arrive Jan. 7—while Cecil was in Childress. Friends rushed Mrs. Massey all the way to Canyon, but got there in time. "We smoked cigarettes and walked the floor just like an expectant father," Miss Olive McDougal and Mrs. Grady Bowdy reported. "We knew you would want us to do this."

Meanwhile, Massey reports there are only 100 tickets left to the annual Chamber of Commerce Banquet, and the number cannot be increased, due to limited space in the hotel. Tickets may be secured at the C-C office for a consideration of three bucks.

The 1953 Buicks went on display here Friday, Jan. 9, at Earl Hendricks Buick on Highway 90. New lines, new this and that have drawn wide comment. Earl will even grin and admit they are the "best Buick yet."

Add Clay Angelo to the list of firemen who was only half through shaving when the whistle sounded. Clay turned up at Elm Courts Thursday afternoon with plenty of whiskers and traces of lather on one side of his face, while the other side was shaved smooth and clean. Despite the weather, he was also minus his shirt.

E. E. Fridley is back in Hereford after two weeks in the Thornton Minor hospital in Kansas City. "Snow and ice everywhere" reports Mr. Fridley. "Never was so glad to get home." He will be back on the job soon and is getting along nicely.

Postmaster Jim Lipscomb, another fire victim, has been out of office most of this week. He hopes to be back on the job Monday.

O. L. Bybee was named county attorney pro tem Friday by County Judge Horace L. Schloss. He will serve in this capacity until County Attorney Gib Howard is able to return to work.

A speech course will begin on January 27 at 7 p. m. at Shirley school. The course will be held each Thursday night and will carry 3 semester hours credit for those who wish to receive the credits. The course will feature

Post Office Receipts Jump

Postal receipts in Hereford jumped sharply during the past 12 months. Total receipts in 1952 were $62,399.43 compared with $54,198.88 the previous year -- a gain of $8,200.55.

Post office employees attribute the 15.13 percent gain to "just a steady, general growth in the area."

"One or two months fell slightly under, but every quarter of the year showed an increase," Elmer Patterson said.

Vandals Use Wire On School Doors

Vandals, believed to be "teen-age high school students, stole four partial rolls of copper wire from the REA grounds Thursday night, last, scattering on Park Avenue and along the high school grounds. They also wired the back door of the high school with the copper wire.

Four boys dragging copper wire behind an old model coupe were later stopped by police, but denied any connection. The boys said that they found the wire and were bringing it in for identification. They boys were released and no charges were filed. Value of the stolen wire was estimated at $35.

Reporting the presence of greenbugs in several locations in Deaf Smith County, Dr. Donald Ashdown and Eldon Cleveland, Texas Tech research men, said Friday that early appearance of the insects constitutes a general hazard.

"Ordinarily the greenbug does not show up until spring," Dr. Ashdown stated. "It's early appearance, coupled with phenomenal powers of reproduction, present a matter of concern to the wheat farmer."

He reported greenbug findings at Dena, and at locations near Hereford. He said, however, that greater greenbug populations are present in the North Plains than in this area with concentrations near Groover. Lighter populations were reported near Dumas, Sunray, Stratford and Morse.

"Reproduction and feeding of greenbugs are largely unhampered by cold weather," Dr. Ashdown continued. "Whereas natural enemies like the 'Ladybug' are unable to move."

Dr. Ashdown urged farmers to keep a very close periodical check on wheat fields so that increasing greenbug populations might be detected and combated. Wheat growers, he said, should report their findings to the local wheat growing organization or to the county agent. The Greenbug Research program is carried on through Texas Tech Research Foundation and in this area is sponsored by Pitman, Sears and Bradley Grain Companies and the Santa Fe Railroad.

Rigid Enforcement Follows Fall In Parking Meter Take

Parking meter receipts will show a drop here this year, unless a land-office business occurs during the next four months, city officials estimated this week.

The city's fiscal year ends April 30, 1953, and the eight-month gross at the close of December was $6,804.54. Figuring the remainder of the fiscal year on a percentage basis, the receipts can be estimated at around $9,000,

1949	$11,105.41
1950	12,277.25
1951	10,969.87
1952	10,490.50
1953	6,804.55

(Only 8 months covered in 1953. All reports based on April 30 closing date of fiscal year.)

City officials said that the drop in meter receipts is probably due to laxness of enforcement, rather than a drop in traffic. They estimated that receipts should have increased rather than dropped during the past 12 months.

More rigid patrolling of meters will start Monday, Jan. 12, City Manager Grady Bowdry said, as a warning to people who may have become careless in dropping pennies and nickels when they park.

Pays $150 Fine

Otho Lee Noland was fined $150 and cost in county court this week for driving while his license was suspended. The suspension period was also lengthened six months.

Noland was picked up by Highway Patrolman Joe Culp on East Second street Thursday.

Hereford Boys Join Marines

Billy Frank Amrey who lives at 117 Ave. "E", Hereford, Texas, and Jimmie Jack Wilkins who lives at 125 Ave. "E", Hereford, were enlisted in the U. S. Marines at Amarillo on January 7, 1953 for a three year period.

Both Amrey and Wilkins went to San Diego, California together and will remain together in the same platoon for the nine weeks basic training course. After basic training they will be given a promotion to Private First Class and 10 days leave. After their leave they will report to their new duty station for further on the job training.

Spacing Permits On Wells Needed Here Februry 1

"A well spacing permit will be required on any irrigation well drilled here after Feb. 1," Tom McFarland, secretary of the High Plains Water district told irrigation farmers here Friday night. The meeting was held in the courthouse and was attended by 60 producers.

"Even if the well is contracted now, the permit will be required," McFarland said. He also pointed out that permits may be secured from county committeemen, who will have charge of spacing in this area, and said that "well spacing is nothing to be afraid of, it is really a protection and help to the irrigation farmer."

McFarland also urged all people in the district to vote in the election scheduled here next Tuesday, Jan. 13.

Bank Deposits Up By $1,809,707.95

If money in the bank is any indication, conditions in this area were unusually good the past year. Combined deposits of the two banks in Hereford mounted up to $11,240,512.016 at the close of business Dec. 31, 1952.

This figure was $1,809,707.95 more than the banks had on deposit Dec. 31, 1951, when the combined deposits totaled only $9,430,804.21.

Chief reason for the increase in deposits was attributed to diversified crops and good prices during the past 12 months. Business men also reported sales increases during the year. The downward trend of cattle, likewise, took some investors off the market and left money in the banks.

Further indicating "better conditions" as cause for the increase in deposits was the drop in loans listed by the two Hereford banks.

Loans listed on Dec. 31, 1952, totaled $2,831,184.96 as compared with $2,845,481.10 at the same time in 1951 -- a decrease of $42,961.14 in loans.

Most other areas reported a decrease in deposits at the time of the Dec. 31 call. Collingsworth County's four banks showed $6,443,018 as compared with $7,485,236 in 1951 -- a drop of $1,042,218, reported from Wellington. Ochiltree County (Perryton) also showed a drop. Their figure was $9,738,091 this year as compared with $10,469,126.66 in 1951 -- a drop of $731,035. Canyon and Memphis papers showed no change in the Jan. 8 issues.

Littlefield, on the other hand, jumped over $2 million in deposits. The six Lamb County banks reported $24,698,758 this December as compared with $21,313,793 in 1951.

County Will Name Three Committeemen In Election Scheduled Here Tuesday

Deaf Smith will name county committeemen and ballot on one precinct committeemen in the High Plains Water District election scheduled here Tuesday, Jan. 13.

"Any qualified voted in the irrigation district is eligible to vote," said Gayle Neal, chairman. "This includes residents of the City of Hereford, along with farmers and ranchers. Anyone who lives in the irrigation district. We are all paying taxes on the district in connection with county and state payments."

All voting in Deaf Smith County will be at the courthouse in Hereford. J. J. Clark is election judge. Three county committeemen will be named for Deaf Smith from a list of five, including: Pete Carmichael, Paul Corbett, Byron Campbell, John Henderson, and Frank Bezner.

This county, along with Potter, Randall, and Armstrong, will also elect one precinct chairman from a slate of three candidates: Jim Line of Bushland, A. G. Dietz of Canyon and V. E. Dodson of Hereford.

Well spacing will be controlled by county committee, making this a really important job, said Tom McFarland, secretary of the High Plains District.

COACH PREDICTS FAST, SHIFTY TEAM

'53 Grid Schedule Is Tough

Football fans can look forward to a tough schedule in 1953, also to a fighting team with a competitive spirit, according to Coach L. B. Russell who this week reviewed the coming grid season before Lions Club members.

Hereford's new conference will include seven teams: Canyon, Dumas, Phillips, Dalhart, Shamrock, Perryton and Hereford, providing one of the toughest AA conferences in the state.

"I like tough games," said Russell, and to prove the point listed the Hereford schedule for 1953:

Sept. 11 -- Muleshoe, there.
Sept. 18 -- Littlefield, here.
Sept. 25 -- Tulla, there.
Oct. 2 -- Open date.
(Conference games below)
Oct. 9 -- Shamrock, here.
Oct. 16 -- Phillips, there.
Oct. 23 -- Dumas, here.
Oct. 30 -- Perryton, here.

In reviewing other squads in the conference, he said Dumas will be good; Shamrock loses their line; Perryton is a question mark. Dalhart and Canyon are scheduled for heavy losses in personnel.

Rules in 1953 will be practically the same as this year, according to Russell. This district, however, will call a tie game a tie; no award on penetrations and first downs. District Championship will in case of a tie go to the team which won when the two played. In case of a three-way tie, teams will draw for championship. All games will start at 8 o'clock over the conference.

Spring training in another big question for the Hereford squad. If there is no spring training, Russell is considering baseball. Track will, as usual, be featured this spring.

THE 1952 OLDSMOBILE, above, driven by Kenneth Harland Landrum of Amarillo has been declared a total loss. According to Landrum the automobile ran off a six-foot embankment, three miles west and 1/2 mile south of Hereford, Thursday night about 9:30. Fire accounted for most of the damage. He was accompanied by J. M. Meredith of Amarillo. Neither man suffered any injuries. Staff Photo.

Junior Livestock Rules Are Listed

Three important changes in the annual Rotary Club sponsored Junior Livestock School, scheduled Feb. 13-14, were today announced by Bill Stanford and Hugh Clearman, livestock committee men.

One of the primary changes includes filling out and submitting an official entry card to be eligible to enter the show. These cards may be secured at the County Agent's office or at Mr. Stanford's office at the high school. They must be completed and returned not later than Feb. 6.

The second major change is addition of a new class in the show: "Fine Wool Lambs."

Auction restrictions is the third major change. New rules call for individual sales on only the following: "first 20 place lambs, first 20 place pigs and the first 30 place calves. Animals placing below these levels will be sold in groups."

Complete rules and regulations for the 1953 show follow:

1. All pigs must be in place by 6 o'clock Thursday, Feb. 12, 1953. All calves must be in place by 10 a.m. Friday, Feb. 12, 1953.
2. All animals will be weighed beginning at 2 p.m. Thursday, Feb. 12.
3. All animals will be tagged at the time they are weighed.
4. Each boy may show not more than 2 calves, 2 pigs, and 2 lambs in the single classes.

5. A sifting committee composed of one representative from each of the Counties, Castro, Parmer, Oldham, and Deaf Smith, will sift the calves, lambs and pigs before the show.

6. All livestock entered in the show must have been under the supervised feeding of the County Agent or Vocational Agriculture Teacher as follows: Calves -- at least 6 months; Lambs -- at least 2 months; and Pigs -- at least 2 months.

7. Entry cards will be furnished and must be mailed in before February 6, 1953. This will be necessary so that space will be available for livestock entries. Cards must show boy's full name and mailing address.

CALVES

1. Calves weighing 850 pounds and over will show in the Senior Class.
2. Calves weighing under 850 pounds will show in the Junior Class.
3. The 1st and 2nd place winners in each class above will compete for the Grand Champion and Reserve Champion calf of the show.
4. In the group of 3 class, both light and heavy weight calves may be used to make up the group and any boy or girl who has 3 calves is eligible for this class. In addition any 2 boys or girls may pool their calves to form a group of three -- providing these calves have been fed out on a cooperative basis.
5. No calf will be allowed in the show that is more than 18 months old.

LAMBS

1. There will be 3 classes of lambs as follows: a. Southdown and Southdown crosses; b. Fine-wool class; c. Other breeds and crosses.

2. Decision as to how sheep shall be classified will be left to the Department Supervisor.

3. The 1st and 2nd place winners in each of these classes will compete for the Grand Champion and Reserve Champion Lamb of the show.

PIGS

2. Tentative plans have been made to divide the show into classes as follows:

1. Duroes (1) Pigs weighing 225 pounds and over, (2) Pigs weighing 170 to 225 pounds.
- Chester-Whites, same as Duroes.
- Poland Chirms, same as for Duroes.

- All other pigs, same as for Duroes.

3. 1st and 2nd place pigs in each of the above classes will compete for the Grand Champion and Reserve Champion of the breed.

4. Grand Champion and Reserve Champion of each breed will compete for the Grand Champion and Reserve Champion of the show.

SALE ANIMALS

1. All animals will be sold according to the way they placed as near as possible.
2. Due to the large number of animals entered in the following, animals will be sold according to the above rule: First 20 place lambs, first 20 place pigs, and first 30 place calves; all animals in the above will be sold as individuals. Animals placing in the show below the above will be sold as groups, the size to be determined by the Superintendent of the show.

Two Fires Result In Slight Damage

Two fires Thursday resulted in small fire damage, according to Chief Earl Phillips. Smoke damage was possibly heavy in the O. G. Hill, Jr., fire, however.

The Hill fire, 122 Texas Street, occurred around 8:15 o'clock Thursday morning and was thought to have come from a forced air heating system when the fan ceased working. Fire damage was practically nothing, but fogs of smoke filled the house, and probably created extensive damages, according to firemen.

The second fire occurred shortly after noon Thursday at Elm Courts in an unfinished cottage which is used for a workshop. It started from a large bucket of tar which A. J. Schroeter was heating on a temporary hot-plate to patch a spot on the driveway. The west wall, ceiling and north wall of the building were burned, but the flames did not get out of control and were quickly extinguished by the fire department. A small stack of oak flooring was also ignited in the blaze.

Home Demonstration Club Activities

South Hereford Club
South Hereford Home Demonstration Club met with Mrs. John Hacker Tuesday for a luncheon and business session.

Plans for the new year were discussed and year books were filled out.

Those attending were Mesdames; W. H. Goettsch, A. C. Flowers, Clarence Hollabough, S. S. Williams, John Draper, Eldon Craig, Ronald Matthews, Ethel Layman, Miss Evelyn Bell and the hostess.

North Hereford Club
Recently elected officers were installed at the North Hereford Home Demonstration Club meeting held Thursday afternoon in the Frank Brinkman home. Mrs. Otto Olson, new president, and other officers who were named earlier in the year, were installed in an impressive candlelighting service conducted by Mrs. S. S. Williams of the West Hereford H. D. Club. Mrs. Frank Brinkman gave the council report.

The next meeting was announced for Thursday, January 15 when a luncheon will be held in the home of Mrs. Paul Hoff.

Those present were Mesdames; Wilbur Gibson, Wesley Brown, Otto Olson, Bob McQuigg, Fred Saltzman, Mary Bodkin, Allie Fullwood, F. H. King, Paul Hoff, Frank Barrett, S. S. Williams, the hostess and Roberta Campbell.

"El Paso" Now Off Letterheads

El Paso, -- (AP) -- El Paso is beginning to feel big enough to drop the "Texas" from its name -- on city stationery.

City Attorney White told the city council: "Other large cities leave their state off stationery. Take New Orleans, or Houston, or New York. Those cities do not use a state to identify them because they're large enough and well enough known."

"I think El Paso is known well enough to drop 'Texas' now, too."

The beaver is the largest North American rodent.

The Mauretania held the Atlantic speed record for 20 years.

Household Scrapbook

By Roberta Lee

Glassware
To strengthen new glassware put into a pan of cold water and heat slowly until water has reached the boiling point. Then remove from the fire and let stand until the water has cooled before removing the glass. This treatment will make the glassware less liable to break easily.
Swelling
To prevent bruises from swelling, apply immediately a cloth about five folds in thickness, dipped in cold water. When the cloth becomes warm, renew the wetting.
Poached Eggs
Cook poached eggs in milk instead of water and it will make them far more nourishing as well as tasty. This is particularly good for an invalid.
Coconuts
The difficulty of opening a coconut can be remedied by following this method: First, bore a hole in the eye and pour out the milk. Second place the coconut in the oven and the heat will crack the shell. Then the meat can be removed very easily.
Brick Fireplace
The bricks about the fireplace can be brightened if they are first scrubbed with hot soap-suds, then a coat of hot boiled oil is applied using a paint brush.
The Skin
The face, neck, arms and hands will be softer and whiter if a mixture of a little raw cornmeal and sour milk is applied.
Scorched Spots
For scorched spots on white linen, spread over the spot a paste made of the juice pressed from two onions, 1/4-ounce of white soap, two ounces of fulder's earth, and a half-pint of vinegar. Mix and boil until fully blended.

Ice Cream Stains
Ice Cream Stains can be removed from unwashable fabrics by rubbing well with cold water and then applying carbon tetrachloride. Sponge until the stain disappears.
Pillows
When making pillows or cushions, rub the wrong side of the material with beeswax, and it will prevent the feathers from working through the covers.
Mending Celluloid
Celluloid can be mended by moistening the broken edges with glacial acetic acid and holding them together until the acid dries.

How Can I?

By Anne Ashley

Q. How can I make candies fit in the candlestick?
A. Where a candle is too small or too large for a candlestick, drop it into hot water to soften the wax, and then push into the candlestick. If the candlestick is too small, the candle can be squeezed in; if too large, the soft wax will spread and hold the candle upright.
Q. How can I prevent brass articles from tarnishing?
A. By covering them with a coat of clear varnish. The varnish will form a lacquer which will not wear off unless the article is handled frequently.

Q. How can I improve French dressing?
A. Try making the French dressing with half lemon and half lime juice. This will make an especially good dressing for fruit, vegetable or fish salad.
Q. How can I remove ink spots from wall paper?
A. By applying a weak solution of water and oxalic acid. It should be applied with a paint brush and pressed with blotting paper, as the acid might affect the color of the paper. It might be necessary to repeat this process a second or third time.

Q. How can I promote the growth of houseplants?
A. Geraniums and other house plants that are kept in the windows should be turned around frequently so as to promote the growth of well-rounded plants.
Q. How can I be sure of a brown crust when baking sponge cake?
A. Granulated sugar, sifted over the top of sponge cake before putting it into the oven, gives it a rich brown crust when baked.

Q. How can I remove the discolorations from shirt collars?
A. When the backs of men's collars begin to acquire that greasy, soiled appearance, dissolve a little salt in some alcohol and rub the collar with this solution on a clean cloth. The discolorations will be entirely removed.
Q. How can I make a good salad that is not too heavy for children?
A. By using equal parts of diced raw apples and tuna fish and one-half the amount of celery.

Q. How can I give the original shape to shoes that have become wet?
A. The best way to treat wet shoes is to stuff newspapers into them. These papers will help absorb and keep the shoes in shape while drying.
Q. Approximately half of the people suffer from some form of allergy.

LET'S COOK SOMETHING

Stews With Flavor And Prestige For January

January brings the sort of brisk weather that provides an ideal setting for stews. Old-fashioned beef stew, chicken stew, beef and kidney stews covered with pastry, or lamb stew with any number of vegetables, all may be endowed with flavor and even prestige by the home cook.

Because of its association with economy, and stew does cut meat costs, to many people it symbolizes the boarding house variety, but an expertly made stew may be served to guests with a flourish of pride for the response to this delectable dish is always unanimous.

Here for cold weather meals are three recipes of Mrs. S. L. Easley's, an expert southern cook, who obtained them from friends in Georgia.

Irish Beef Stew
3 pounds chuck beef cut in 1/2 inch cubes.
3 medium onions
2 cups sliced potatoes
salt and pepper to taste
Salt meat and brown in shortening in a large heavy kettle. Cover with boiling water and cook for one hour. Add salt and pepper to taste and add the sliced potatoes. Continue cooking until potatoes are done. More water may be added if needed.

Brunswick Stew
2 pounds fresh pork ham boiled until tender and well shredded. After shredding put back in pot of liquor and add:
1 can corn
1 onion (cut up)
2 tablespoons catsup
1 can tomatoes
1 large Irish potato
salt and pepper to taste
Reserve the potatoes until the rest of the ingredients have been cooked together slowly for one or more hours, stirring frequently. Add the diced potato, salt and pepper to taste and cook until potatoes are done.

JAMBALAYA of Chicken

Texans In Washington

By Tex Easley

Washington, Jan 10 - (AP) So far as Texas is concerned, the election of Lyndon B. Johnson as Senate Floor Leader probably was the most important aspect of the opening of the 83rd Congress.

Not in the 52 years that records have been kept regarding the Senate leadership of the two major political parties has anyone so young been elevated to that position.

Johnson is 44. The average age of the Democratic floor leaders in the past upon assuming office has been 67, that of the Republican floor leaders 69 plus, almost 70.

Heretofore, the youngest among Democrats to take over the job was the late Joseph T. Robinson, of Arkansas, who started in at 41 in 1923. The youngest Republican assuming the leadership of that party was Styles Bridges of New Hampshire, who took the post last year at 44.

Aside from age, Johnson's becoming a party floor leader is noteworthy because only one other man in the recorded period had fewer years of service in the Senate. Johnson has just completed four years. John W. Kern of Indiana became Democratic floor leader in 1913 after only two years in the Senate; he was 64 at the time.

Only four Senate Democrats heretofore have become floor leaders when under 60, and only three Republicans when under that age.

Johnson's present position of influence in the Senate is much like that of Bonham's Congressman Sam Rayburn.

The latter, who was 71 on Jan. 6, stepped down from the House speakership on Jan. 3 and turned his gavel over to Rep. Joe Martin (R-MASS). The veteran Texas lawmaker, who had served as longer than any other man in the history of the nation, then became the House minority party floor leader.

In brief remarks made as he stepped down from the Speaker's rostrum, Rayburn lauded Martin, then smilingly expressed the hope that the switchover would be only temporary.

Scene of the story, "Dracula," is laid in Rumania.

AROUND THE CAPITOL

The chairman of the Texas congressional delegation for the new session is Rep. Paul Kilday of San Antonio, who took his seat in the House on Jan. 3, 1953. Elected as vice chairman is Rep. Clark Fisher of San Angelo. Rep. Walter Rogers of Pampa was named Secretary-treasurer.

The chairmanship of the delegation goes each year to the man next in line in point of seniority after the retiring chairman.

Mrs. Altavene Clark of Amarillo, who was for years a secretary to Federal Judges Marvin Jones and Eugene Worley while each in turn served as the Panhandle's congressman, is to be married Jan. 17 to John M. Spann of Fort Worth. He is assistant to the president of the Rock Island Railroad.

Mrs. Clark, a widow, was executive officer of the House Agriculture committee during the last session of Congress.

Formby Reports On 12-Day Naval Cruise Aboard HAAS

By Marshall Formby
The HAAS is 306-feet in length and on the cruise in the Caribbean to Nassau and the Bahamas carried a crew of 150 men and 20 officers. Nineteen of the men were reservists, taking a two-week refresher course. Six of the officers were reserve officers, doing two weeks duty. However all officers aboard the ship and almost all the men were reserves -- being "regular" navy. The HAAS was built in 1944 by the Brown shipyards of Houston. It was commissioned in September of the same year. It was named after a Naval flier who gave his life in a battle in the Pacific islands early in the last war. During wartime, the vessel can carry 200 men and 16 officers. It's main purpose is designed to accompany or escort freight vessels or troop ships, and to search out and destroy and threatening submarines of the enemy. Its speed is 24 knots or about 27 miles per hour.

(MARSHALL FORMBY, attorney and radio station operator, recently completed a 12-day cruise in the Caribbean aboard the destroyer-escort, HAAS, as a guest of the U. S. Navy. Formby made the trip as a civilian observer and made a series of 11 tape recordings about navy life which have been presented over Station KPAN, Hereford, and KFLD, Floydada. In the following article Formby tells of some of his experiences and observations.)

Leaving its home port of New Orleans, the HAAS sailed through the Gulf for 24 hours. There an inspection was made of old Fort Jefferson. The fort is now abandoned except for four men who work there, keeping it intact as a national monument. The fort covers nearly 14 acres with brick walls 14-feet thick. It was from old Fort Jefferson, that the Battleship Maine sailed on its ill-fated mission to Havana in 1898 to be blown up, initiating the Spanish-American war. The Government worked 30 years building the fort, only to find that the walls and entire fort were then obsolete.

The HAAS then sailed on through the Key islands, into the Bahamas and docked at Nassau, main city of the Bahamas, for four days and nights.

At Nassau, along with some of the members of the crew of the HAAS, I visited the American Consul, Thomas H. Robinson, and the Bahamas Governor, Sir Robert Neville. He obtained an interview with American Consul Robinson.

Most of all men on the HAAS had from two to three days liberty from the ship while in Nassau.

In my opinion, this country can be proud of the conduct of its military personnel. When we left Nassau, various persons volunteered to tell the Captain of the ship, Lt. Commander G. H. Dericks, of the well behaved sailors. Owners of the beach places, as well as others in Nassau said members of the HAAS were the best behaved guests they ever saw. The boys all had a wonderful time, but behaved while having it.

During the four-day trip back to New Orleans, all personnel on the HAAS was given training under simulated war conditions. Each day an imaginary battle was fought. One day the HAAS pulled into the naval firing area in the Gulf of Mexico, somewhat south of the Mobile, Alabama, area and had firing practice for regular members of the crew, along with those doing the two-weeks reserve duty. The five-inch guns opened up, firing shellbursts into the air in order to give crewmen on the 40 mm. anti-aircraft guns an opportunity to do practice firing. The five-inch gun is fairly accurate at a distance of six miles. An imaginary enemy submarine was discovered and two depth charges dropped.

Galveston's "George Bernard Shaw Of The Incinerator" Still Mystery

Galveston, -- (AP) -- Down where the city trash is burned, they're still wondering about the man they called the George Bernard Shaw of the incinerator.

Who was he? Where did he learn so much? What brought him to Galveston to live in a shanty?

His body was found on New Year's Day by a negro woman who wanted to share her family's feast with him.

She found him in his small iron bed -- dead, his six dogs lying on the floor beside him.

The man said his name was Jack Bean. That was about all he ever told anybody about himself during the 30 years he lived in Galveston.

When he died, he appeared to be about 73 years old. He was about 5 feet, 9 inches tall, and weighed about 170. He had deep hazel eyes and iron-gray hair.

Jack listened more than he talked. He would listen to anybody and give advice when asked.

When the depth charges went off, water was spouted into the air fifty feet high.

The 12-day cruise was my only experience with the Navy, except the free rides I got while in the Army Engineers during World War II. "For example, I crossed the English Channel in 1944 on an 85-foot Coast Guard vessel, and I got so sea sick that I never wanted to see even a West Texas lake again. But on this Caribbean cruise I ate and lived with the men and officers and I gave those anti-sea sick pills the dickens. I took so many of those pills that I couldn't get sea sick."

My final impression of the Navy is that the Navy feeds good, even better than the Army I know about. The men and officers sleep in better quarters and are treated better. The Navy is not a bad deal for a young fellow for two or three years. The only thing that bothers me is the close quarters. For a fellow who was raised on the wide open spaces of Dickens county and used to the Plains, it's rough to crowd him up in such close quarters. Maybe you get used to it! I doubt if I ever would.

The Santa Fe workers on 59th street were among his closest friends. Because he seemed to them a man who should have been sitting on a judge's bench or behind an executive's desk, they called him the "Legend of 59th Street."

Some say he was once a reporter for the New York Times.

He had a keen memory and astounded his friends with his accounts of history, giving dates and places accurately, and with his ability to remember stock market quotations.

His friends often checked his statements at the library -- and never found him in error. That's why they started calling him the George Bernard Shaw of the incinerator.

He loved children and dogs. When his body was found, his only possessions were a one-dollar bill, five sticks of peppermint candy, a couple of magazines and a number of New York and Chicago newspapers.

He didn't buy candy for himself but for children to whom he passed it out -- when he had a little spare cash.

Installation..

Mrs. Alta Davis, retiring noble grand, served as hostess for the social hour which followed the installation rites. She was assisted by Mesdames; Earline Manning, Oia Hacker and Mildred Renfro.

Miss Naomi Hare, missionary to Peru, is spending her vacation here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Hare.

Q. How can I remove creases in curtains that have been folded and stored away?

A. When putting laundered curtains away in a drawer, fold them so that the top and bottom are together. If folded this way, the creases will work out when hung, but if folded lengthwise there will be no weight to bring out the creases.

In England, lemonade is called lemon squash.

VOTE IN WATER ELECTION JANUARY 13

Lack Of Interest Can Lose Control Of Water

Voters in Deaf Smith County will join other people in the High Plains Irrigation District next Tuesday, January 13, in the election of district and county committeemen to head the water program of this area.

If previous elections and meetings are an indication, the vote will be comparatively light. This is wrong of course, but it is true. Why people consistently refuse to become interested in a feasible water program for the area is a question which is difficult to answer. Perhaps they do not understand it. Maybe they are afraid that they might do the wrong thing.

Water, like air, is practically a free commodity in this area. It is one of those things that people do not miss until it becomes critically scarce or exhausted. Without surface irrigation in 1952, things would literally have "gone to pot" in Deaf Smith County. Irrigation, plus diversified farming, actually did more than any single thing toward putting money in your pockets during the past twelve months. Directly and indirectly, it helped to pay salaries, and move stocks of merchandise; it sold new tractors and new automobiles. Irrigation fed our families and educated our children. Irrigation, in 1952, spelled prosperity for this area. It kept drought relief from our door.

A few interested farmers, ranchers and business men of the High Plains area got together a few years back and organized the Hi-Plains Water Conservation District. The district stresses voluntary conservation will be a solution. At least, we have to give them credit for trying, in an equitable manner, to settle a serious problem. It is the land owner's answers to a better method than state and federal red tape, inefficiency and bunglesome handling of water regulations. Most people in the district say that they would rather handle their own problems than to have the government handle them.

This handling, we feel is indeed democratic. It is the American way to do things. It is an example of how the government of the United States can once again be returned to the people. Indifference and lack of interest in recent years has removed the government from the people more than ever before in history. The same thing can easily happen to the water situation in Deaf Smith County, and over the entire High Plains area. If people do not take an active interest, vote their preference, and generally take steps toward water conservation, they can certainly expect state control or federal regulations -- perhaps both.

In addition, the county and precinct committeemen elected next Tuesday are the men who will have charge of our water regulations, including well spacing. It is only good business and common sense to be heard on a question so vital as water in this country. Remember the date and place: Courthouse in Hereford, Tuesday, January 13.

Dog Pound Enables Law Enforcement

Announcement by the City of Hereford officials that a dog pound will be constructed here within a few weeks seems like a sensible answer to a serious problem.

For a long time stray dogs have roamed the streets, even to the point of penalizing owners who keep dogs within reasonable bounds, providing them with vaccinations and licenses. Lack of a proper place to impound stray dogs has continually made it impossible to enforce existing laws and ordinances on the subject.

Officials justly felt that it was unfair to destroy dogs without giving owners a chance to claim them. However, completion of the dog pound will place officers in a position to hold dogs 48 hours in order that owners may claim them if desired. Furthermore, if the 23 licenses sold here in 1952 are an indication, there are literally hundreds of stray, unclaimed dogs in the city.

The stray dog situation is a problem of long standing. Officials hope the pound

Police School Is A Step Forward

One of the best developments seen in this area in a long time is the sponsorship of the police school now in progress in Hereford.

New people, especially young men, are entering the profession of law enforcement from time to time. A large percentage of the group becomes dissatisfied and leaves, while others seem to develop a knack for irritating people. Much of this situation is due, probably, to the fact that they actually do not know how to do their job. There has previously been no measure to follow and often no one to teach or explain duties of a policeman.

A policeman should know his legal rights, along with what is expected of him. He should be courteous and fair; yet when the occasion demands, he is called upon to defend himself, perhaps his life. The next thing to an out-and-out crook is an overbearing cop, self-inflated with his importance. On the other hand, a dead policeman isn't much good to anyone.

The police school apparently answers many of these short-comings, especially at a time when help is scarce and replacements occur from week to week and month to month. It is just as impossible to expect the ordinary citizen to step into the role of police officer efficiently as it would be to expect the average man to preach the sermon at his church next Sunday, or to fly an airplane without instruction or experience.

A $21,814.50 Gap

Of unquestionable interest will be the county court trial in which John A. Cavin, et ux, have objected to the special commissioner's award of $423 as insufficient to cover right-of-way damage and tie, in turn, filed an appeal asking for a total of $22,237.50 in damages.

Actually, the two parties are $21,814.50 apart. Furthermore, that is a wide gap. If parties on each side are really and truly trying to be fair and equitable, it would appear that there is a wide divergence on points of view.

As to who is actually right in the matter, no one can say until it is settled in court. However, as we said at the beginning, it is a case of unquestionable interest and one which will possibly draw capacity attendance when it comes to trial this month.

QUESTION OF THE WEEK

Well Spacing Is Endorsed Here By Farmers In Brand Query This Week

Spacing of irrigation wells will go into effect on February 1 as a voluntary conservation measure on the part of farmers in this area. District leaders feel that voluntary conservation is the only means to avoid state and federal control.

What do you think about this situation?
Faust Collier -- PMA Office

Complete cooperation on a voluntary basis might steer us clear of a lot of trouble.

F. H. King -- Farmer northwest of Hereford
I think we need it. I don't think the farmers need it in particular but to protect ourselves we will have to have it on ourselves. If we go along and space our wells then the big industry and businesses will have to go along too and that is where it will help. I think we better go ahead and have well spacing.

T. L. Sparkman Jr. -- Farmer east of Hereford
I believe there are some advantages and some hardships. But that is logical. I somewhat feel the people as a whole have been considerate in considering the detrement and advantages to their neighbors. There are cases that would not conform to showing consideration to their neighbor but they are definitely in the minority.

The principle of the thing is right if they can keep some screwball from getting at the head of it.
If we can keep politics out of the program it will probably work out for the better of the country. With politics involved you can look for anything. Unless there is a very good board to handle the situation, there are some people, especially on smaller tracts, that it will work undue hardships on.

With the water situation as it is with politics trying to become involved I would be in favor of well spacing controlled by a local board rather than be ruled by either Austin or Washington or both.

The use of Gamma Globin holds out a ray of hope for immunization for at least a short period though the supply is so limited that at first it will probably only be available for children under eleven years of age.

The Jingle Bell season is past and the snow is gone but we still envy the three little boys Paul Coneway gave a sleigh ride to because we've always wondered what it would be like to dash over the snow in a real horse drawn sleigh.

Of course the little Coneways and their guest had to settle for the "putt-putt" of a little tractor instead of horsepower with bells, but a boy wouldn't mind that.

Our house work is sure being disrupted because we are so curious that we just have to see what goes on when the Covingtons run a concrete floor with their ready-mix set up and Mr. Wester puts that smooth finish that we've tried to figure out.

I'll Never Forget

By J. A. Roe

We came to Plainview in 1919 in an old model "T" Ford. There were four kids, a dog, my wife and I. Boy that was one muddy road we had to travel. It was always either raining on us or just ahead of us during the whole week that it took to make the trip. Everytime we came to a mudhole the kids would get out and push. Our daughter kept losing her shoes. The boys would wade back to get them, and come back and push some more.

We lived five miles west of Plainview for about two years before we moved to Running Water. While we were in Plainview we met the C. L. Fords. They lived several miles west of us. Later their two sons, Rural and Herman, taught in Hereford. The first family we met when we moved to Plains were the Severs. They live over on the east side of town now. The Fords were the second family we got acquainted with.

We lived at Running Water for seven years and then moved to Hereford or rather Westway to what is now know as the "Old Roe Residence."

Bud Roberson built the house -- or rather his father-in-law built it for him, about 1924. As soon as the house was built they started holding elections there because it was centrally located for the precinct.

During the 18 years I lived there I held 16 of the elections. Grady Wilson held the elections during the other two years.

One time they moved the elections to Walcott but just for one election because no one would go clear to Walcott to vote. When H. D. Culpepper was elected commissioner the elections were moved back to our place.

Some of the people were living around Westway when we moved there or about the time we moved there were: Kelly Gray, Herman Gray, Tom Vaughn, the Pierces, the Littles, the Lindseys, Charley Smith, the Goldstons, the R. M. Gunns, Mr. Walton, Grady Wilson, Sam Hines, Stricklands and Jim Hendricks, the Kikes family, the O. Wilders and the Joe Landers.

A fellow by the name of Key taught school there the winter after we moved there.

P. C. Short was running the Westway store when we moved there but in May R. M. Gunn bought the store from him and ran it as long as we were out there. He moved to town about the time we did.

There was plenty hapening in Hereford along in the 30's. We had sanatorium after sanatorium. You could sit in the house and not be able to see your hands.

When we would go to milk during the evening while the sandstorms were blowing we couldn't get back to the house without the milk being covered with dirt and trash.

When we moved to Westway there weren't very many tractors in the country. My boy, Red, and a cousin J. R. Roe brought their horses through from Plainview horseback when we moved. We used those horses to break out about 600 acres of our place. When we moved there very little of the place had been broke-out.

There wasn't much in Hereford's main street in those days. There was a filling station along about the place Rutherford's is now. Stamboughs store was where Caves 5 and 10 is now. I remember we needed some mosquito bar and that was the only place we could get it.

The lumber for the house we bought was from Camp Bowie. The fellow had brought the old hospital at Camp Bowie -- that was when Camp Bowie was at Fort Worth -- and had it torn down and the lumber moved to Hereford to be used in his house.

Right after we moved to the place we tore all the paper and stuff off the walls to repaper the

Panhandle Paragraphs

Hereford will, in the near future, be practically surrounded by dial telephone systems. Friona and Bovina have been operating on dial systems for some time. Now comes word that dials are being installed in Canyon. Telephone officials are still meeting with the city commission in regard to higher rates in Hereford, but state that dial telephones cannot be installed here in the immediate future.

Dial telephones are being installed in Canyon as rapidly as possible, but they will not be in use until November 7, according to information received here.

According to the time schedule, work will start on the building by the first of February. This building will be located on lots east of the West Texas Gas Office, on lots bought from W. A. Warren.

The building will be completed by October 17, and installation of the new equipment will start at once.

According to schedule, the change-over from the present system to the dial system will start November 7.

All long distance calls will be made through Amarillo, and no operators will be employed in Canyon under the new system. The business office and maintenance crew will be the only persons employed locally.

LAUGHING MATTER

Mrs. Mike London, the cashier at Albuquerque's ice arena, thought it was a joke when a short man pushed a revolver through her ticket window and demanded money. Mrs. London laughed and kept on laughing when the bandit threatened her. Finally the gunman walked away.

But the police didn't think it was funny when Mrs. London waited almost three hours before she reported the incident.

She says she thought it was a joke and in the rush of business almost forgot the affair but later she wondered if the man with the gun might have been serious. Then she called the police.

Officers are convinced the bandit wasn't fooling but they haven't been able to find him to get his side of the story. —The PORTALES TRIBUNE

WAS DRY YEAR

Final moisture records released this week by Judge Jack Allen confirmed what had been suspcionned for a long time. The year 1952 was the driest since the dust bowl years of 1935 and compared with the previous drought of 1917. Only 14.57 inches of moisture was recorded during the year. In 1935 the Perryton area had 13.40 and in 1934 it had 14.23. The lowest moisture on record here was in 1910 when only 10.62 inches fell. In 1917 the rainfall was 14.14"

BOOTLEG
—Philosopher

Editor's Note: The Bootleg Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm is back in the habit of misinterpreting the news, his letter this week reveals.

Dear editor:

With the new year now underway and the world as usual fraught with grave perils and such like, people naturally turn to serious thoughts and I wasn't surprised to read in a copy of a newspaper which got caught under my front gate when it fell over the other day, it's not the first time it fell over or the last and I can't see much sense in fixin it when not over fifteen feet from where it is the fence itself is down too, anybody who doesn't like to step over the gate can walk around and come through the hole in the fence, where some thinker in Washington announced that "World Leadership has been thrust upon the American people", and he was ready to do something about it.

I don't agree with him. It may have been thrust on him, but not on me. I haven't even accepted leadership on this farm out here yet, it runs me more than I run it, and if anybody thinks I'm in a position to take on the world in addition to what I'm already doin, he's badly mistaken. Furthermore, most people I know have about all they can take care of too without addin anything else, not to mention the entire world.

I think maybe the world needs some leadership, but I ain't gonna have the job thrust on me, not with the farming season about to get underway before too long, half my fences down, my equipment run down and needin fixin, everything I buy gettin higher and everything I sell gettin lower, my bank account overdrawn, my wife hollerin for new clothes, my cows bawlin and only eight bales of hay between them and green grass in the spring.

However, in spite of all I got to do, that ain't what's standin between me and world leadership. I could let my work slide, probably will, always have, but just between you and me I'm afraid the world is too big for any one country to lead it. On top of that, there's just too many people in the world who ain't interested in bein led by us. World leadership is a fine idea, it gives the thinkers in Washington something to occupy their time between tax measures, but what he world probably needs even worse than world leadership is more individuals who can't be led. Here comes my wife now gettin ready to lead me to the wash tub.

Yours faithfully

W. J. Albracht -- Farmer southeast of Hereford

I know one thing -- time has come for conservation of water and the only way we are going to get it is by spacing the wells. I'm glad to see it come.

Mrs. Charley Burk -- Farm wife northwest of Hereford

I think it is the thing to do. I definitely think that the wells should be spaced. I think this voluntary situation is better than having the government taking over and telling us what we can do.

W. R. Scheihgen -- Farmer southwest of Hereford

I believe it is a pretty good thing. If you get the wells too close together one well will ruin another and neither one of them would be any good.

THE hunt for Communists in the U.S. is likely to be intensified in the near future with the formation of a Senate "task force" to search out Reds in the Government and in the United Nations.

Sources on Capitol Hill say Sen. Homer Ferguson (R-Mich) is in line to head such a group. There is talk that Delaware's Republican Sen. Williams may abandon his lone-wolf role as a sleuth for scandals in the Internal Revenue Bureau to head another group investigating that agency.

Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy of Wisconsin, as chairman of the Senate Committee on Government Operations, can launch investigations anywhere. He has declared his intention to extend the search for what he called "Communist thinkers" to the nation's universities and colleges.

U.N. Probe

Signs point also to continuation of the loyalty probe of U.S. employees of the United Nations. Sen. McCarran (D-Nev.) says loyalty to the United States was secondary—if not ignored altogether—in State Department security checks on American employees of the U.N.

He predicts that the Senate Internal Security subcommittee, which he headed in the last Congress, will have more questions to ask on the subject.

It is clear the issue of U.S. Reds in the U.N. is far from dead. The new investigative lineup indicates that responsibility of the Democratic Administration will be emphasized.

Background of U.N. Probe

The background of the State Department's role in U.N. employment of Americans is this:

In 1946, James F. Byrnes, who was then Secretary of State, determined that the State Department should not make recommendations on applicants for U.N. jobs because the U.N. Secretary General had exclusive authority.

In 1949, a new system was worked out. State officials gave Secretary General Trygve Lie reports on Americans employed or seeking jobs in the U.N. These reports were usually based on FBI investigations. The final decision always rested with Lie.

Dye for Concussion

Brain concussion is one of the most painful of injuries—and most stubborn to treat.

Researchers at the University of California are studying the possibility of using a red dye to treat such injuries. They found that concussion disrupts a delicate mechanism protecting the brain against certain normal components of the blood that are harmful to it.

The mechanism that does this is called the blood-brain barrier, made up of special semi-permeable membranes in the blood vessels of the brain. One of its functions, for example, is to keep up the supply of spinal fluid from substances contributed by the blood stream but to screen out poisons and infectious agents.

In concussion, the researchers found, the permeability of this barrier is increased, possibly permitting some undesirable blood substances to pass through to the brain. The dye, trypan red, can lessen the permeability of a disrupted blood-brain barrier.

The researchers, Dr. Robert B. Aird, Dr. Louis Strait, and Dr. David Zeal, emphasize the correction of the mechanism's functioning may not be the whole answer to the treatment of brain concussion but the studies indicate it is at least part of the picture.

Sidelights

● In Los Angeles, the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, convinced that most of the 700,000 dogs in the city were neurotics because of noise, hired a canine psychologist to free the animals from frustration.

● In Buffalo, N. Y., members of a local church moved through the streets inserting coins in parking meters by cars parked overtime, then attached summons to Sunday services to the windshields.

● In Sacramento, Calif., Assemblyman James W. Silliman was very happy and virtually speechless when he took over as new Speaker of the State Assembly. He was stricken with laryngitis a few days before.

CHURCHILL MEETS WITH EISENHOWER AT HOME OF BERNARD BARUCH

WITH scarcely more than a week to go until he takes the oath of office as the first Republican President since March, 1933, Dwight D. Eisenhower has called a two-day conference of all his major appointees.

The parley, scheduled for Monday and Tuesday, will mark the first meeting of the Eisenhower official family as a group. Attending will be all Cabinet appointees and top administrative aides.

The President-elect summoned the meeting as a last-minute huddle to thrash over some of the top domestic and international problems facing the new Administration. Eisenhower will also have the opportunity to discuss his conferences with Prime Minister Winston Churchill in New York this week.

Churchill, puffing the formidable cigar that has become his personal trademark, came to New York ostensibly to renew his old friendship with Eisenhower. Unofficially, he wanted to talk over Anglo-American tactics on a number of international issues.

formal, full-scale Anglo-American conference sometime after the new Administration takes over.

Later in the week, Churchill and his wife went to Washington to pay a farewell call on President Truman before leaving for a two-week vacation in the British West Indies.

Bearing Down on Budget

An associate of Eisenhower's said meanwhile that Joseph M. Dodge as Federal Budget Director will have perhaps unprecedented authority in shaping fiscal policy. Eisenhower, in announcing the appointment of Dodge as head of the Bureau of the Budget, disclosed that he had asked the 62-year-old Detroit banker to sit in on Cabinet meetings.

Eisenhower reportedly feels that under the Truman Administration the budget chief has been only a sort of super accountant with little policy-making authority.

Quotes

Gov. Adlai Stevenson of Illinois on his role in building up the Democratic party during the next four years: "I'll always be available for such advice as I can offer. I'll speak infrequently and it will be when both a suitable occasion and something useful to say converge."

Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, Supreme Allied Commander in Europe: "In the fight the North Atlantic Treaty Organization is making for peace by peaceful means, it is of vital importance that our political authorities have their voices in negotiations between East and West backed up by the only force potential aggressors recognize."

Trieste

Friendly Allied Pressure

The U.S. and Britain are studying a friendly, but firm, proposal to Italy and Yugoslavia for quick settlement of their explosive differences over the strategic Adriatic port of Trieste.

For seven years the Trieste problem has nettled Allied strategists who are anxious to tighten up defense lines by drawing Yugoslavia into closer alliance against the threat of Russian aggression.

The proposal would call for a solid settlement of the issue along the territorial lines laid down in the Italian peace pact, with Zone A going to Italy, and with Yugoslavia retaining Zone B, largely a hilly, agricultural region.

The proposal, while giving Italy complete control of Zone A, would call for retention of Trieste as a free port for trade and shipping purposes—a face-saving gesture not only for the two countries directly concerned, but for Austria, which has an important economic stake in its continued operation as such.

Trieste is supposed to be a free territory but the Allies never have been able to make the basic decisions to get it running as such and occupation has continued.

VARIATION ON OLD CZECH THEME

COMMUNISTS in East Germany, taking a cue from the recent treason "trials" in Czechoslovakia, have the stage set for their own long-heralded purge.

As in the Czech purge, the whipping boy will be the long-suffering Jew.

In East Berlin this week, the ruling Socialist Unity (Communist) party announced adoption of a resolution which amounted to the indictment of two former high officials who have been behind bars for more than two years.

The "Zionist Viewpoint"

They are Kurt Mueller, number two Communist of West Germany until he was kidnapped on a visit to East Berlin in May, 1950, and Paul Merker, a Jew, former state secretary of East Germany's agriculture ministry and a member of the Politburo until September, 1950. Merker was charged with harboring the "Zionist viewpoint."

The language of the resolution hinted the East German purge may strike close to Gerhart Eisler, another Jew, who jumped bail and fled the United States in 1949 to become East Germany's propaganda chief. His job was abolished Jan. 1 without any announcement as to his future. He was slated, however, to address a mass meeting in East Berlin after his job was scratched, along with other East German notables.

PAUL MERKER

Trotsky Issue

The resolution charged that Mueller in 1949 had contacted "through the help of Western agents, foreign Trotskyites like Ruth Fischer." Ruth Fischer is Eisler's sister.

Rumors that Eisler was slated for purging have abounded since 1950 when Merker and five other East German officials were tossed out of their jobs and reported jailed. They included Bruno Goldammer, Eisler's deputy propaganda chief.

The fact that Eisler is a Jew—and the brother of a Trotskyite—is enough to hang him in view of the current Communist "party line." This seems to favor courting adherents in Arab countries by Jew-baiting at the moment.

Economy Is Byword Atop Capitol Hill

THE new Republican-controlled Congress has set its sights on cutting government spending and reducing taxes. Rep. Charles Halleck of Indiana, chosen by House Republicans as their floor leader, calls a cut in government costs the number one task of the 83rd Congress. He predicts it can be done without endangering security or hampering government services.

Rep. Reed (R-N.Y.), new chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, is stumping for a bill to reduce income taxes of most individuals by 11 per cent effective June 30.

Depends on Budget

New Hampshire's Sen. Styles Bridges, chairman of the powerful Senate Appropriations Committee, indicates any tax cut must await a balancing of the budget. He also pledges a major drive to reduce government costs and implies a slash is possible on defense requests unless the Korean war expands.

GOP leaders on Capitol Hill point out that the budget under which the Administration will function through fiscal 1954 will be the one worked out by President Truman and his economic advisors. Nevertheless, Republicans have ample opportunity to trim the outgoing President's budget proposals.

President Truman's proposed budget for the new fiscal year, beginning July 1, calls for spending around 80 billion dollars. It will be the starting point for efforts to trim Federal outlays.

Economists on President-elect Eisenhower's staff, led by Joseph Dodge, who will head the Bureau of the Budget after Jan. 20, have had the Truman budget under study for some time, trying to find out where cuts could be made.

State of Union

Congressmen heard President Truman's final State of the Union message this week. It was a message of almost unprecedented gravity in which the President coupled a wish of God-speed to his Republican successor with a grim warning to Soviet Premier Stalin.

The recent atomic tests on Eniwetok Island, said the President, clearly demonstrate that any new war will bring ruin not only to Stalin's world, but to the Western world too. The President also drew a picture of swelling Western strength and expressed the hope it would convince the Communists of the wisdom in receding from the cold war they began.

The President submitted no new legislative proposals, saying he did not wish to impinge on Eisenhower's privilege to chart the country's course. He recounted highlights of his Fair Deal program and declared it had been beneficial for the country.

The Honeymoon Period

With inauguration only days away, the honeymoon between the White House and Capitol Hill is expected to last quite awhile with Republicans in control at both ends of Pennsylvania Avenue for the first time in 20 years. There is, however, an ever-present threat of a blowup in legislative-executive relations. The men Eisenhower has chosen as his administrative assistants are notably less conservative than the GOP wing in power in Congress. The differences which characterized the two camps prior to the Republican Convention last July could boil to the surface at any time.

The big foreseeable issues facing the new Congress deal with taxes, Federal spending, labor, foreign aid, the war in Korea, price-wage-rent controls, immigration and tideland oil, to name a few.

The big question is: What will Sen. Robert A. Taft, Senate majority leader, do? The answer may not be forthcoming for several months, when the job of actual legislating gets under way.

Sen. Taft's expressed interest in the Senate Foreign Relations Committee may forecast some tough going for Eisenhower's foreign policy program. The general is opposed to withdrawal from Korea and endorses continued military aid to NATO nations. In addition, his position on world trade indicates he does not favor any increase in U.S. tariffs. Taft, who represents the nationalist wing of the GOP as opposed to the internationalists in the party, is likely to exercise a conservative influence when these measures come up.

TREATIES IN THE BALANCE

THE new Premier of France, Rene Mayer, caused concern among some Western diplomats this week when he promised to subordinate ratification of the European Army Treaty to an agreement on the Saar and to new negotiations to modify the treaty.

These stipulations on foreign policy enabled Mayer to win votes from right-wing Gaullists, who had supported no previous Premier.

Mayer sought to allay fears that he was abandoning the European army project. He assured Foreign Minister Robert Schuman he still was as favorable to European unity as when he defended the Schuman coal and steel pool in the National Assembly.

Exactly what modifications in the European Army Treaty Mayer favored was not clear. It was apparent, however, that there will be an even longer delay than anticipated before the treaty finally is ratified by the Assembly.

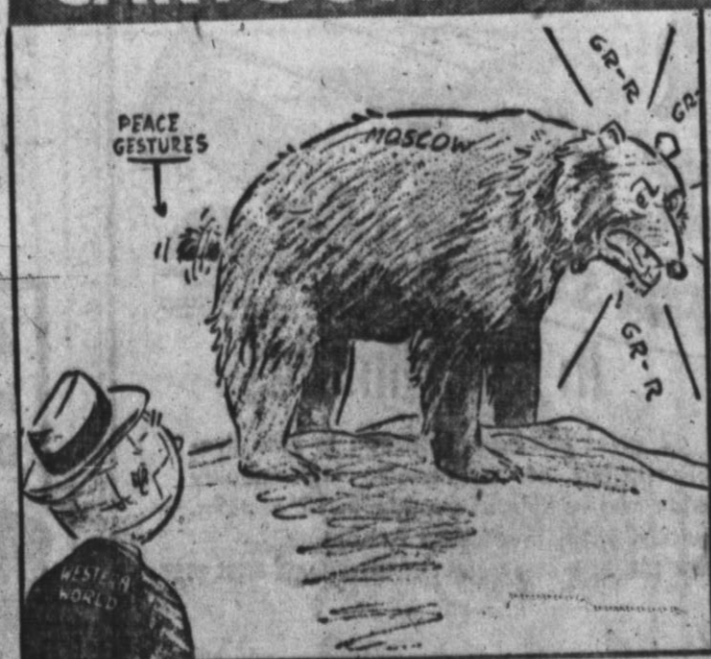

All of this reflected the French concern that the European army project will weaken their position in their overseas territories by pinning down in Europe those forces they might need abroad.

In Germany, meanwhile, official statements that the Bundestag probably will not get around to acting until late February on the treaty system which will bring a rearmed Germany into the European Defense Community caused additional concern over the eventual fate of the entire West European defense setup.

This had U. S. military authorities gloomily considering withdrawing the operational area of Western defense from Hesse and Saxony to the Rhine.

In this connection, President-elect Eisenhower intervened forcefully, sending a message to West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer endorsing the European Defense Community and urging speedy ratification of the treaty system binding a rearmed Germany to the West.

By Kent Snare

With the anticipated advent of TV to our locale from Amarillo sources around April One next, the TV hot potato which the NCAA meeting has been fingering this week in their annual meeting assumes some local reader interest of scriping importance. From my meager TV witnessing, the most attractive offerings are those pertinent to sporting events, natural, I am prejudiced in that direction, but the fact remains, that spectator demand, which nationally is sports minded, whether you believe it or not, has precipitated sports coverage technique a bit ahead of other "on the spot" events. So the aspect of what will be offered on local TV screens football-wise next fall may get an eye beamed this way. And to date the NCAA has assiduously controlled all TV broadcasts, but not without various and sundry protests, particularly from Pennsylvania U., Notre Dame U. and the DuMont Television Network. Which protests undoubtedly will evoke some changes, now or later. Last fall the NCAA, instituted and enforced, by weight of numbers, a program of controlled collegiate football events on TV. Only one game a week was allowed to be carried on a national TV network and no single team could appear on the nation's TV screens more than once during the just past season. Local stations were allowed the option of substituting one local game for one network contest during the season. It proved not to be a happy arrangement. There have been complaints from TV networks and stations, from a portion of the general listening and viewing public, and purportedly even from members of the instituting NCAA. Quote the Reverend Theodore M. Hessburgh, President of Notre Dame U., herewith: "who called the NCAA plan "Un-American and illegal," and declared it attempted to dictate what the public can and cannot see, with small regard for what the public would like to see." He further said, that if the four national networks and local stations cooperated in the interest of the public, "It would be possible to have football telecasts of as many as 50 games each Saturday and hundreds each season". The University of Pennsylvania has been the most ardent supporter of unsupervised collegiate football TV and last year decided to fight the NCAA dictatorial. It stated it would telecast all its games but their opponents on the schedule announced that if Pen insisted in that stand, they would cancel their games with the Quakers, rather than risk banishment from the NCAA. With the threat of such a boycott pre-eminent, Penn had to pull in its horns, however right now, Penn, The Irish and DuMont Network have spearheaded opposition to a point that the NCAA seems to feel that they have a tiger by the tail and no one to point it at, who will give them any aid or assistance. As one ole Ex-Coach put it they will need some "agibility" to avoid some skin loss. Altho at the minute the committee has not submitted its report, sources close to that committee, guess that it probably will recommend "continued study". There will be more anon, from here and there. I have mentioned herein, that Bowden Wyatt, Wyoming U. coach is being seriously considered for the Arkansasaw mentor's opening. AP says he will hit Fayetteville, next Monday, to brush the situation in person. And more on Carl Snaveley's successor at North Carolina U. In addition to the aforementioned "Talkin" Tatum of Maryland U. and George Barclay, comes now the names of Johnny Vaught of Ole Miss and Bud Wilkinson of Oklahoma U. The latter is in the manner of wishful thinking, unless'n they shake out the purse and hire some more personnel, scouts, I betcha.

Four Farm Buildings Burn Every Hour Somewhere In United States

COLLEGE STATION, Oct. 7 - Four an hour, that is the number of farm buildings burned somewhere in the nation. Experience shows that only 50 percent of the loss is covered by insurance and the remainder is a complete loss to farmers.

Prevention should be the number one item in any program aimed at reducing the number of fires but despite all human efforts fires may strike and provisions should be made for these emergencies, says the state leader.
