

Europe Worries As Nazis Drill

Maneuvers Are Close To Two Frontiers

Hitler Looks On As Disturbing Reports Continue

BERLIN, Aug. 15 (AP)—Adolf Hitler looked on today as reserve forces of rearmend Germany started extensive war maneuvers that are to blanket virtually every part of the nation.

The reichsfuehrer's personal attendance was disclosed in a terse announcement which said he witnessed a military display at Juetterbog, one of Germany's largest military training grounds 40 miles south of Berlin.

No details were made known. Putting the nation on a virtual wartime-footing, the maneuvers apparently were a demonstration of the speed of motorized army transport.

Although other countries, notably Britain and France, gave evidence of grave concern at the magnitude of the maneuvers, an effort was made here to calm what was termed "exaggerated and disturbing reports."

Preparations for the two weeks of reserve training were noted chiefly in southern Germany (close to Czechoslovakia and France) but they extended also to the districts around the capital.

Military observers estimated 500,000 to a possible 1,000,000 men were participating in the maneuvers. Berlin citizens planning weekends in the country found placards at suburban bus stations announcing the regular postal department bus lines, connecting stations with lakes and other vacation spots, had been discontinued "temporarily."

Rumors current in rural sections said the buses were requisitioned by the military authorities for the fall games.

Europe's concern was that the maneuvers were to be close to the frontier and that some incident might provoke a conflict with Czechoslovakia.

The reserves are getting the two weeks' earlier training to acquaint them with new type weapons of the regular army.

MOSCOW, Aug. 15 (AP)—The Soviet government indicated today the carrying out of the Changkeng armistice agreement had been delayed by new border difficulties which almost resulted in an armed clash shortly after the truce went into effect August 11.

The difficulties first were disclosed in a Soviet communique last night stating that a new outbreak of fighting on the disputed Sibirian-Korean frontier had been narrowly averted.

Nine Killed In Crash Of Airliner

Plane Falls At Rio De Janeiro, Cadets Die

RIO DE JANEIRO, Aug. 15 (AP)—The Sindicato Condor flying boat "Anhangah" fell from low altitude into Rio De Janeiro bay today and sank, killing all nine persons aboard.

Five were passengers and four were members of the crew. None aboard the airliner was a North American.

The plane had taken off earlier but had returned when fog was found too dense for safety. The pilot waited for the weather to clear somewhat and then took off again. It was reported some of the passengers objected to the take-off, fearing disaster after the first false start.

Fishermen in the vicinity said the plane was flying in a sharp circle when it fell into the harbor, burst immediately into flames and sank.

The bodies of all the passengers were recovered and taken ashore by harbor police but all four crewmen were imprisoned in the cabin. Officials said they feared it would be impossible to raise the flying boat.

SAN ANTONIO, Aug. 15 (AP)—Two army cadets, tentatively identified as Edward D. Willard and Robert K. Whitehouse, were killed today when the planes they were flying in formation collided near Dilley, Texas.

Willard, 22, was listed as from Modesto, Calif., while Whitehouse, 21, came from Evanston, Ill. The two ships crashed at about 1,500 feet, army officials here said.

The plane of Cadet Willard spun to earth, crumpled at the impact and caught fire. The body of the pilot remained in the plane and was burned almost beyond recognition.

Cadet Whitehouse leaped from his machine but his parachute failed the rip cord had not been pulled, and he was killed.

Outstanding improvement has been made in sections where rainfall has been near normal and where available moisture has been conserved for vegetative growth through use of soil and water conservation practices, he explained.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15 (AP)—Federal health insurance may become one of President Roosevelt's proposals for broadening the Social Security program.

The President, who will speak tonight on the third anniversary of the Social Security act, already has recommended studies looking toward enlarging the program in other respects.

A hint that he might mention a health protection system appeared in a statement by Chairman Altmeyer of the Social Security board.

Vet Hospital Location Is Selected

Choice To Remain Secret Until FD Approves

Site for the veterans hospital in West Texas has been made it was learned here Monday afternoon, but choice of the location will remain a secret until the president passes on the veterans administration report.

Rep. George Mahon advised J. H. Greene, chamber of commerce manager, that the location had been made, but the information would not be divulged until the president had given approval.

Mahon learned of the action in a telephone conversation with Col. George E. Hays, assistant administrator of veterans hospitals.

The selection was made Monday morning but strict secrecy surrounded the choice. Mahon said he had no inkling of where the hospital would be placed.

Greene observed that whatever the board's action had been, the fight was definitely over and that the chamber could now turn its attention to other major projects.

AMARILLO, Aug. 15 (AP)—Control of the so-called dust bowl is nearer realization today than at any time since it came into existence, H. H. Fennell, regional conservator of the soil conservation service, said here today.

The area where severe dust storms may be expected to originate next winter, under present conditions, is confined to a scant third of the blowing land which made up the dust bowl in the spring of 1936, Fennell said.

ACEITES POSITION AT TROUP TROUP, Aug. 15 (AP)—Fount K. Bright, Dayton, Texas, high school coach the last seven years, said he had accepted a similar place at Troup high school and would begin activities within the week. He succeeds R. A. Brown, who resigned to accept an assistant's job on the coaching staff at Marshall.

SUSPECT IN FROME CASE HELD

GERMAN AIRLINER MAKES RECORD FLIGHT

The German airliner Brandenburg, shown taking off from Floyd Bennett field in New York was set down at the Tempelhof airfield in Berlin Sunday after a non-stop flight of 19 hours and 55 minutes. The leg completing the first round trip air trip between Germany and the United States was made in five hours and 50 minutes less than the only previous west-east crossing from New York to Berlin in 1933 by the late Wiley Post. The flight led to talk of a "round-the-world" flight by the airliner but German ministry officials said no information about it will be divulged in advance.

Hines Says He Does Not Expect To Lose Battle

Accused Leader Speaks While Jury Chosen

By JOHN FERREIS NEW YORK, Aug. 15 (AP)—With the vigorous assertion: "This is a political battle," James J. Hines, Tammany district leader, went to trial today on conspiracy charges growing out of the policy racket.

"This is not the first political battle I have been in," said the 61-year-old politician, as he awaited the selection of a jury from a special panel of 300 veniremen. "I am going to win this battle, too. I can't lose."

"I cannot be convicted on the testimony of a bunch of squealers. I have assured my friends of my innocence. I've told them not to worry, because I'm not wearing."

Of Thomas E. Dewey, the New York district attorney who brought him to trial, Hines merely said: "He is a young man with a duty to do."

Hines appeared early in the courtroom of Justice Ferdinand Pecora of the state supreme court. He sat and looked calmly at the faces of the veniremen.

There was a roar of laughter as half of the 300 dashed forward when Pecora said he would hear immediately any spokesman with a legal reason for being excused from jury service. Only 187 veniremen remained in the room, the rest departing, excused.

Schultz Associate? Hines, one-time patronage procurator for New Deal politicians, is charged with participating in the control and profits of a $100,000,000 gambling racket.

District Attorney Thomas E. Dewey, who once accused "certain elements of Tammany Hall" of having an alliance with crime, will attempt to show that such a partnership existed between Hines and the slain Dutch Schultz's Harlem numbers ring.

Ranger Leaves To Question Lubbock Man

Suspect Held On Attack Charges At Hobbs

EL PASO, Aug. 15 (AP)—Arrest of a 35-year-old patent medicine salesman in West Texas suddenly spurred Texas authorities today in their long unproductive investigation of the six-month-old Frome murder cases.

Ranger To Investigate Texas Ranger Frank Mills left here today for Seminole, Texas, where the suspect was in custody, to question him concerning the desert slayings last April 3 of Mrs. Weston G. Frome and her daughter, Nancy, of Berkeley, Calif.

The suspect, whose residence was given as Lubbock, Texas, was arrested in Plains, Texas, Friday night after three Hobbs, N. M., night club entertainers had been criminally assaulted. Charges were filed against him after he made a written admission when confronted by the girls, according to Sheriff W. Kerley of Lea County, N. M.

Sheriff John Sartin of Seminole took the suspect to Pecos, Texas today where he was to be viewed by persons who reported seeing a mysterious man trailing the automobile in which Mrs. Frome and her daughter were traveling east from El Paso. Their mutilated bodies were found near Van Horn, 138 miles east of El Paso.

Ranger Mills said he expected to have some important evidence in the case by tonight.

Mills said the assault on the Hobbs night club girls was among the most brutal he had investigated as a peace officer. They had been beaten and stabbed, although not critically.

The ranger questioned the suspect in Hobbs Friday, and with Sheriff Kerley searched his rooms in Lubbock Saturday.

The suspect was described as weighing 180 pounds and with a scar on his left cheek.

COMMISSIONERS VOTE TO PROVIDE ROADWAY Howard county commissioners court Monday passed a resolution to furnish right-of-way on a state designated north and south road from the Borden to Glascock county lines.

The order was one requested by the state highway department following action of the highway commission in designating a route from Falls to Garden City two weeks ago.

Howard county commissioners and Big Spring representatives at the time requested the highway commission to order a survey of the route from Gail to Garden City.

The order is a requisite to the ordering of a survey.

1938 Tax Roll Is Being Prepared With the records passed by the board of equalization in hand, the city tax office staff plunged into the task of preparing the 1938 tax roll Monday.

The Big Spring Independent school district tax office mailed out delinquent notices on 157 taxes and prepared to compile its 1938 roll the latter part of the week.

INJURES FOOT Floyd Dunlap, 18-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. O. B. Dunlap, residing on route 2 Big Spring, seven miles south of town, sustained injuries to his left foot early Monday morning when the wheel and platform of a tractor. Deep lacerations on the top of his foot were the principal injuries. No bones were broken. He was brought to Bivings hospital Monday morning for treatment, afterwards returning to his home.

MURDER CHARGES FILED BRECKENRIDGE, Aug. 15 (AP)—District Attorney Ben Dean today filed a charge of murder in 60th district court against Andrew Funderburk, 42, in connection with the fatal shooting here yesterday of Lloyd Rambo, 28.

GUNSHOT VICTIM Last rites for Morris Brown, 47, Abilene, were held Monday afternoon at Fort Worth. Brown was found Sunday morning by members of his family with a gunshot wound in his head. He had been in ill health since January. Brown at one time operated the Maurice Shoppe here.

VOTE TOTAL RISES After a big week end, absentee voting experienced a slow time Monday morning and the total mounted to only 85. However, the rate of balloting was expected to accelerate this week as the voting deadline on Aug. 23 nears.

BUSINESS FAILURES DROF NEW YORK, Aug. 15 (AP)—Business failures in the United States for the week ended August 13 totaled 221, a drop of 17 from the preceding week, but an increase of 68 over 153 failures in the like 1937 week, Dun & Bradstreet reported today.

TROOPS POUR INTO SANTONE SECTOR FOR THE 'BIG PUSH' By OLEN W. CLEMENTS CAMP BULLIS, Aug. 15 (AP)—Like two game cocks tossed into the pit, Blue and Brown army cavalry fought an intensive battle in the Leon Springs hill range today as 15 Blue planes rained "bombs" on a Brown army truck convoy rushing troops to the aid of the cavalrymen.

Foot and artillery troops were pouring into the battle sector from both camps and umpires said heavy fighting was expected at noon with the 12,000 Blue army troops holding the high hills and spraying bullets into the ranks of the 14,000 attacking Brown army.

The big sham battle, a part of the Third Army maneuvers that began three weeks ago at De Soto National park in Mississippi and spreading to the Southwest, probably will last more than three days.

Umpire headquarters here said heavy "casualties" were suffered by both sides in early skirmishes that slowly were assuming major battle proportions.

Two Planes Down Brown anti-aircraft claimed two Blue planes had been downed in the area around Robard and the Blue gunners said they shot down a Brown plane over Boone, headquarters for the Blue army commanded by Major General Claude V. Kirkhead.

Hospital attaches said nine national guardsmen were given treatment for minor injuries and illness today. The names of the nine were not available but army surgeons said none of the troopers were confined to the hospital.

Striving from their base below San Antonio, the forward movement by the Brown attacking army has been an uphill fight. Their objective is 1,200 feet higher than their base and to scale that height the Brown army must move across

Hamilton Man Hunt Stymied

Posse's Hunt At End Of 24 Hours Is Fruitless

DEQUEEN, Ark., Aug. 15 (AP)—Mounted police officers searched today through a densely wooded 10-square-mile tract near the Arkansas-Oklahoma border for two fugitives believed to be Floyd Hamilton and Ted Walters, southwestern desperadoes, who fled into the area under a machine gun fusillade Saturday.

The posse, which beat through the underbrush for more than 24 hours without finding a definite trace of its quarry, was made up of approximately 100 Arkansas, Texas and Oklahoma state police and sheriff officers.

Lieut. Earl Scroggin of the Arkansas state police said fingerprints See HAMILTON, Page 6, Col. 3

STILLWATER, Okla., Aug. 15 (AP)—Central Oklahoma officers widened today a search for two men who robbed a woman motorist near Perry and escaped after shouting to her that she could tell authorities she had seen Floyd Hamilton, southwestern desperado.

The woman, Mrs. Rubie Gearty, said she believed a second man who remained in the robbers' car, was Ted Walters, who is sought with Hamilton.

Guilty Pleas Are Heard

Criminal Docket Is Opened In County Court

Four pleas of guilty were heard in county court Monday morning when County Judge Charlie Sullivan opened the criminal docket for the current term.

Elias Gamboa and Elondro Valla entered pleas of guilty to receiving and concealing stolen property in connection with disposition of loot taken from the Burr store in a recent burglary. They received fines and costs of $25.00 and one day in jail.

Aurora Rodriguez was assessed similar fine and costs for simple assault, while Juan Costello, charged with aggravated assault, was given fine and costs amounting to $48.85.

Causes dismissed included those of Loy Phillips, theft; Charles Parker, aggravated assault; and two counts of losing money with which to pay a poll tax against V. A. Gomez.

Other criminal cases were to be heard during the afternoon. Civil docket is set for Wednesday.

Agents Decide On Show Date

Tentative Plans Are Talked For Club Boy Show

Tentative dates were set for the second annual Big Spring 4-H and FFA livestock show Monday by county agents of this area.

Subject to approval by the chamber of commerce, sponsor of the show, the dates will be Feb. 27-28, 1939.

Only major change in the rules was the addition of two classes in hot dogs. Light class will be from 150 to 220 pounds and the heavy class will be 220 to 300 pounds.

There will again be two classes for dry cow calves and two for nurse cow calves, and a class for fat fed lambs as well as car lot competition in calves and lambs.

Here for the confab with J. H. Greene, chamber of commerce manager, were Joe Williams, Lamesa, Dawson county agent; Lube Ballard, Snyder, Scurry county agent; V. G. Young, Garden City, Glasscock county agent; Ben Baskin, Colorado, Mitchell county agent; and O. P. Griffin, Big Spring, Howard county agent.

DELEGATION ON CORN BELT TOUR

DES MOINES, Ia., Aug. 15 (AP)—Cotton, rice and sugar cane farmers on a good will tour of the corn belt spent today learning how Iowa farmers raise corn and hogs and fatten cattle.

Harry Chalkey, Jr., of Lake Charles, La., who heads the delegation of 41 farmers from Louisiana, Mississippi and Alabama, assured Iowa farmers "we are proud of our child," adding, "after all, you must remember Iowa once was part of Louisiana."

Iowa Lieutenant Governor John K. Valentine addressed the delegation at breakfast, urging friendship and cooperation between Northern and Southern farmers.

One of the farms visited by the group this morning was that of Harry Browne, brother-in-law of Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace.

WASHINGTON, Aug.

THE SPORTS PARADE

By HANK HART

Future Plans

The phenomenal success of the Lubbock baseball club plus the fact that the game was reintroduced here for the first time in a decade has thus far attracted more than 10,000 paying customers through the turnstiles at home, will probably draw 40,000 before the Shaughnessy playoff finals draw to a close.

That was accomplished largely without lights for night play so little wonder that Harry Faulkner and his bunch are looking forward to an even bigger year next season.

And what has Big Spring drawn? Well, they haven't done quite that well because they have played but five nights under the lights here but during that time the turnout couldn't have been better.

And how do the directors look toward the future? With all the confidence in the world and rightfully so, what with the Barons turning in a magnificent stretch run that may or may not pay off.

Next year should be far easier and, although the local play at the present time leaves nothing to be desired, the officials have promised that a team will be put onto the field that the Hubbers or any other crew will find very difficult to edge out.

The situation as it stands right now shows that Lubbock, Clovis and Big Spring are looking forward toward next year. Cotton Clovis, business manager of the Hobbs club, says that there is going to be a new deal in that New Mexico city before next spring which leaves Wink and Midland on the outside. What League President Milton Price can do during the winter toward that end remains to be seen.

Those who were surprised to find that Harry Siebert had taken over mounds duties in a game at Hobbs Friday may be in for more of the same in one of the games with Wink here. The big fellow is due to take over for a game, surrendering his first base post either to Manager Charles Barnabe or to Aubrey Harlow.

Marshall Scott, ace lefthanded thrower, and Dade Loken, second sacker, have left the Hobbs outfit for Abbeville of the Evangeline league, the same organization that brought what they are beginning to think is a lemon in George Donaldson.

The departure of the pair may hurt Big Spring's chances in that the Hubbers tie up with Wink soon and will be needed by Neal Rabe.

Summer's Tops

The one-day tournament the Wink Country club staged over the weekend was said by Doug Jones and Frank Morgan, local entrants, to be about the best of the summer lot. Both of the local boys came back with prizes, Jones having gained championship honors while Morgan was declared the runnerup. The Wink layout is said to sparkle, boasting some of the best sand greens in this sector.

Jones, by winning the title, secured his third crown of the year in 11 stars which is a fair record for anyone. He has gone into the championship finals in all these tournaments but three, won first flight honors in another.

Pat Murphy and Carmen Brandon, grid mentors of the local high school, have called their future footballers into conference at the high school at 5:30 o'clock this afternoon. There has been nothing definitely decided as to fall training plans but it is possible that camp sites will be discussed this p. m. The boys are hoping so.

Doug Jones Sacks Up Honors In Wink Golf Tourney

Frank Morgan Runnerup In 1-Day Affair

Championship Is 3rd For Local Youth This Season

WINK, Aug. 15—Championship honors in Wink's first annual invitational golf tournament went to Doug Jones, Big Spring. Doug sank a three foot putt on the final hole to beat out Frank Morgan, also of Big Spring. Morgan was declared the runnerup after a playoff with W. P. Thurman, Midland.

Jones' individual opponent, Peyton Skid, Dallas, was trounced, one up. The Big Springer advanced with victory over Floyd Williams, Alpine, and E. D. Darnell, Eunice, N. M. Williams, the favorite, was beaten two up.

Jones had previously captured medalist honors and the long driving contest. All matches Sunday were played in foursomes.

The Wink victory was Jones' third title of the year. Previously he had gained top honors in Midland and Cisco meetings.

New York—Wesley Ferrell, veteran pitcher released by Washington, signed by New York Yankees.

Ferrell Move Is Surprise NEW YORK, Aug. 15 (AP)—When the Washington Senators booted Wes Ferrell out of baseball with an unconditional release last week, they kicked him right upstairs to the Yankees and what looks new like a world series cut.

The Yanks, hampered by the illness of Rookie Joe Vance who underwent an appendectomy Saturday night, and looking ahead to those five doubleheaders in a row against Chicago and Cleveland beginning August 23, signed the veteran "nuthin' ball" veteran yesterday. He'll probably make his debut in a world champions' uniform in the series with the Senators this week.

THIS IS HOW THEY STARTED, with a swift lunge from the starting gate, but how they finished is another matter. Melomorphosis won event at Saratoga Springs, N. Y.

Tigers Bowl Over Abilene, 14-4

Six Runs In 2nd Sew Up Decision For Pap Payne

Counting early and often the Big Spring Mexican Tigers sailed through to victory over the Abilene Eagles Sunday afternoon in Baron park, winning 14-4, behind effective mound work by Pap Payne.

The Tigers collected 17 assorted blows off Wallace, ace Abilene twirler, including triples by Elias Gamboa, F. Plerro and Johnny Mendoza.

Wallace survived a second inning Tiger attack which saw six runs chased across the plate but he was hopelessly beaten.

Payne was airtight until the eighth frame when the visitors put together four hits with a sacrifice to tally all their runs.

The Tigers will probably go to Alpine next Sunday to oppose an independent team of that city. Plans are being made to send the team to Juarez, Mexico, later in the month for a series of games.

LINERS BEATEN TWICE; 5-4; 3-0

By the Associated Press The Texarkana Liners, second placers in the East Texas league race, tackle the league-leading Marshall Tigers today to make up for two losses yesterday.

The Tyler Trojans won both ends of a doubleheader, 5-4 and 3-0. Eligore defeated Jacksonville, 1-0 to sweep the series as Zerk Lewis bested Southpaw Hank Davis in a pitchers' duel.

Jack Patterson Beats Out John Borican In Hurdle Event

BERLIN, Aug. 15 (AP)—America's track and field forces divided for further barnstorming tours today after having conquered Germany, 122 points to 92, in the first international dual meet ever held.

The American team, which had amazed German fans by its youth as compared to Germany's veterans of the 1928 Olympic games, won every running event except the 800 meters and placed its entries one-two in six of them. It displayed surprising strength in the distance runs.

Rain failed to keep the fans away from the Olympic stadium, and 80,000 sat through yesterday's ten events.

America's long-distance triumphs came as surprises, although they had been conceded their victories in the sprints and the relays. Greg Rice, the husky Notre Dame runner, staged a great finishing sprint to win the 5,000 meters run from two German rivals in 14:56 while Forest Etaw of Oklahoma A. and M. and George De George of New York took first and second in the 10,000 meters at 33:56. Etaw was timed at 9:33.6.

Another shock to German hopes came when Ray Malott of Stanford won the 400-meter run in 46.9 seconds, beating the favored Rudolph Harbig, who had won the 800 meters for Germany Saturday.

The Americans also took the first two places in the 200-meter dash with Clyde Jeffrey and Perrin Walker yesterday and repeated the feat in the 400-meter hurdles when Jack Patterson beat John Borican. A team of Harley Howells, John Marion, Charles Miller and Malott took the 1,600-meter relay.

OKLAHOMANS IN 22-3 TRIUMPH

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Aug. 15 (AP)—Top-ranking sandlot baseball teams today held places in the sectional tournaments this weekend to be staged in North Dakota, North Carolina and Indiana in the semi-finals of the American Legion junior baseball tournament.

Scores of yesterday's regional finals included: At Bartlesville, Okla., Okemah, Okla., 2; Topeka, Kas., 3. At Little Rock, Ark., New Orleans 2; Little Rock 1 (ten innings).

Louis, himself, is the only man fighting now who is top big for the Garden and his approximate 30,000 capacity. The days when Benny Leonard and Lew Tendler could pack the big orchards with their lightweight feud appear to be far away.

RIGGS-BUDGE TIEUP IS DELAYED

RYE, N. Y., Aug. 15 (AP)—The United States tennis association could give Mike Jacobs lessons in match-making, as Robert Riggs and J. Donald Budge, the best two amateur tennis players in the world, will not be seen together on the court until the finals of the national singles championship at Forest Hills next month.

Budge will play his first competitive singles since he returned from England at Newport this week. But Riggs, who yesterday won the eastern grass courts championship from Joe Hunt, will not be there. He will be resting at the order of Walter L. Pate, the man who captains the Davis cup team.

For Bobby is potential cup team timber, if not the finished product. So, despite the fact that a Riggs-Budge match is the only one the fans want to see, he will rest while Budge exhibits the best backhand in the game and his flawless timing at Newport.

With Baron Von Cramm in prison and Fred Perry and Billy Vines on the professional side of the fence, Riggs is the only one who figures to give Budge any sort of a tussle. It was a long shot when the season opened but as he has fought 15 victories in 19 tournaments, the odds have dropped.

No one knows just how far this iron-sinewed Chicagoan can go. He was never in danger yesterday beating Hunt 6-4, 6-3, 5-6, 10-8.

DOMINATE MEET

CLOVIS, N. M., Aug. 15 (AP)—Lubbock players dominated the New Mexico-West Texas open tennis tournament here yesterday as Wilson Chapman of Texas Tech won the men's singles title.

Chapman's 6-8, 7-5, 6-3 victory was over his playing partner, Dub Rushing, also of Lubbock.

Chapman and Rushing teamed to win the men's doubles, defeating Dale Dellinger and Bob Hill of Albuquerque, N. M., 7-5, 6-2.

Imogene Dalton, Canyon, defeated Mrs. Herbert Thomas, Clovis, for the women's singles crown, 6-2, 6-0.

OVERWHELMING FAVORITE

NEWPORT, R. I., Aug. 15 (AP)—With Bobby Riggs, the nation's No. 2 player, passing up the Newport invitation tennis tournament, red-headed Donald Budge today appeared to be an overwhelming favorite to take the Custop cup out of competition.

Dietz Twirls Hitless Game

Lloyd Dietz helped the cause of the league-leading Beaumont Exporters Sunday by pitching a seven-inning no-hit, no-run game.

The victims, to the tune of 6-0, were the third-place Oklahoma City Indians. Dietz walked three and two others got on base through errors.

The Indians won the opener 2-1. A five-run rally in the ninth inning by the Houston Buffs, resulting in a 7-victory spoiled an otherwise perfect day for the Dallas Steers. They won the nightcap, 9-7.

The Tulsa Oilers and the San Antonio Missions divided a twilight doubleheader as the Missions opened a 15-game home stand. The Oilers won the first game 6-2 and the Texans came back for a 3-1 win.

The cellar-dwelling Fort Worth Cats won a couple games from the Shreveport Sports 9-0 and 5-4.

Cochrane May Go To Boston

Wise Says Joe Cronin Is Headed Back To Washington

By SID FEDER NEW YORK, Aug. 15 (AP)—A lot of baseball men in the know feel that Mickey Cochrane will be making the Red Sox and Joe Cronin will be back in Washington in a year or two. And don't be surprised if Billy Bostell, who was paly-waly with Iron Mike, is put on the trading block by the Tigers. Sounds like a pipe dream, but Army is a little bit afraid of Whiteie, the cadet football opener. Al Schacht may do his clowning around the college gridirons this fall. If his advisers can sell him on the idea. Al Hostalk, the new middleweight champ, drew exactly one buck for his first fight—a two-round kayo. Is the Hollywood Coast league club gonna be sold again? Note to Kansas City writers: Don't let Bruce Ogden's new "Blue" new catches kid you. His first name's Ambrose, not Bruce, but he doesn't like it.

ST. PAUL LOSES TWO TO TOLEDO

TOLEDO, Aug. 15 (AP)—Cletus "Boots" Poffenberger of Toledo, not so long ago a Detroit hurler, continues to mow them down in the American association.

And his teammate, Jim Walkup, also a former American leaguer, upset Boots in disturbing the peace of association leaders. The two got together against St. Paul's league leaders yesterday and the result was a double win for Toledo, 3 to 2 and 7 to 4.

Rizzo Unsung Hero In Buc Flag Drive

Texan Has Clouted Twelve Homers; His Sunday Punch Pays

By HUGH S. FULLERTON, JR. Associated Press Sports Writer While the "pep" boys, Lee Handley and Pep Young, and "Fireman" Mace Brown, the great rescuer of the Pittsburgh mound staff, have earned and received plenty of credit, perhaps the main reason why the Pirates are holding onto the National league lead is because Jawn Rizzo can knock 'em out of the park.

Rizzo has proved to Pittsburgh fans that the New York Yankees theory—there's no argument like a home run—is hard to beat. Last season the Bucs hit only 77 homers all season. This year they have 42 with 53 games still to play. And an even dozen of them have come from Rookie Rizzo's bat.

Johnny provided the big pop yesterday with that 15th homer to help beat the third-place Chicago Cubs, 7-6, and Gaby Hartnett's wrecking crew had won their first two games of the series. Despite the victory, Pittsburgh's lead was clipped to 4 1/2 games as the New York Giants romped to a double victory over the Phillies, 11-0 and 14-4.

Lose To Hobbs Boosters In Sunday Go

Ramsdell And Stacey Scheduled To Work In Twin Bill

With their backs to the wall, Charles Barnabe and his Barons returned to town to make one last desperate drive for the coveted fourth position in WT-NM league standings, a drive that would insure them a place in the Shaughnessy playoff.

Willard Ramsdell, who twirled a masterful game in his last appearance, was due to take the mound again this afternoon in the first of six games with the Wink Spudgers, the outfit that now holds fourth place in league standings. The two teams were to go to bat at 3 p. m. were to return tonight for the rematch at 8:30 p. m. Pat Stacey was to be Manager Barnabe's mound laborer tonight.

That program of two games daily will be followed for the next four days with the Spuds furnishing the opposition through Wednesday, Thursday Clovis comes to town for five games. Sunday the Lubbock Hubbers will be here for a four game series.

The Spudgers regained their losses of Saturday by turning back the Clovis Pioneers, 5-3, in Clovis as Big Spring was losing to Hobbs, 10-3. Johnny Soden was shelled unmercifully by the Rabemets but managed to come out with the feature clout of the afternoon when he hit a home run in the eighth.

Hargroves, Smyly and Traweck blasted out circuit smashes for the Boosters to headline the 16-hit attack off Soden.

The Texans got behind in the first frame when the Boosters pushed across three runs and Rus Needham throttled the Barons bats effectively in every inning but the fifth.

READING AND WRITING

"WE PLANNED IT THAT WAY," by Frank Knox; (Longmans; 50); "DOROTHY THOMPSON'S POLITICAL GUIDE," (Stackpole; $1.35).

Some idea of the fall political campaign's importance may be had from the fact that already political books are appearing—two, indeed, emanate today from two of the most picturesque figures in American journalism.

Col. Frank Knox, one-time candidate for vice-president, is publishing "We Planned It That Way." Colonel Knox is concerned very little with abstract ideas, and very much with concrete figures, for he is writing about the disservice President Roosevelt and his henchmen are, in Colonel Knox's opinion, doing American business. It is the author's idea that, first, the United States cannot be spent out of this or any other depression, and that, secondly, it can be pulled out by private enterprise if destructive and hampering restrictions and taxes are removed.

To support his propositions, Colonel Knox produces a few statistics. He assumes that his reader agrees we are in a depression, and shows how, through Roosevelt's presidency, his promises to reduce the federal deficit have constantly been broken and as a result, how the public debt has soared. He discusses the various taxes—undistributed profits tax, capital gains tax, social security tax and so forth with considerable heat. He more than hints that the result of it all will be a dictatorship.

Dorothy Thompson, on the other hand, is at her coldest, Miss Thompson (or Mrs. Sinclair Lewis if you prefer) is unique in that the more likely her subject is to generate heat, the colder her prose grows. In this case, she is writing a political "guide," which in the first few pages is just that—she defines the various "isms" keenly, and appears to be writing a kind of political dictionary.

But it is not a dictionary for long. On page 33 of her little book she suddenly reverts to the essay form so familiar in her columns, and she keeps to that line through the remainder of the book. Her discussion and defense of the Constitution is the most succinct and glibly brilliant we have seen—like a bath in a shower of cold stars. She bases her objection to the present course of American government on more abstract propositions than does Colonel Knox, but her conclusions are certainly not less arresting.

BRITONS HURT IN RAID

MADRID, Aug. 15 (AP)—A British vessel's radio operator was killed and two other Britons were wounded today in an insurgent air raid on Valencia.

The operator was R. A. Amery of the British merchantman Hillfern. He was hit while standing on the dock and died shortly after of shrapnel wounds.

Telephone Gabbin' With J's And K's Reveals Interesting Facts

Telephone gabbin' with the J's and K's this morning brought out interesting facts of their daily activities, future plans and a bit of the past. Plans have already been made by some of the students for college and they are all a-flutter over prospects of gettin' off. Other families are still vacationing and entertaining.

JAYES, MR. AND MRS. W. F.: Recently returned from San Antonio where they spent a week.

JENKINS, ETHEL: Has returned from a visit in Baton Rouge, La., with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Jenkins.

JENNINGS, MRS. J. F.: Said her mother, Mrs. O. M. Trolinger, of Dallas, returned home over the weekend after a week's visit.

JOHNSON, MRS. J. H.: Reports that her niece, Clairene Cooper, spent the weekend at Rising Star with her mother, Mrs. M. B. Cooper, and in Abilene.

JOHNSON, MRS. BILL: Is sorta hopin' she won't have any visitors soon.

JORDAN, JENA AND LILLIAN: And Mrs. C. L. Wasson are planning to leave next week for a trip to Mineral Wells and will see Casa Manana at Fort Worth.

JOHNSON, MR. AND MRS. FRANK: Are entertaining their niece, Vivian Cooksey, of Lamesa this week.

JONES, MRS. DAVE C.: Started the conversation by saying she didn't have any company, she wasn't expecting any and wasn't going any place.

JONES, MRS. R. H.: Went to Hayes, Kas., and Denver a month or so ago but she isn't planning any other excursions. She said they built a new home at 1206 Wood last year and she was sick and unable to enjoy it until this summer.

JONES, MRS. R. V.: Broke her ankle several months ago and has been unable to get away from the house, but she has had visitors in and out all summer. Recently she hosted Mrs. W. I. Fox and children, W. I. Jr., and Wanda, of Abilene.

JONES, MRS. S. P.: Wants to go to East Texas at Sulphur Springs but she isn't for sure yet whether she will make it or not.

KNAUS, MRS. MARGARET: Has been entertaining her sister, Mrs. C. F. Dorchester of Fort Worth and Mrs. Dorchester's niece, Marjorie of Honolulu. They returned to Fort Worth Sunday morning. Mrs. W. A. Myatt of Sulphur Springs, Ark., an aunt of Mrs. Knaus, is also a visitor in the home.

KOBERG, MRS. CHARLES: Is expecting her sons, Dr. and Mrs. O. W. Koberg of Fort Worth and Dr. and Mrs. Charles W. Koberg and son, Charles, of San Angelo here for a visit the last of the month. Another son, Frederick, who is a medical student at Galveston, recently spent several weeks in the medical division of Camp Stewart near Kerrville. Frederick is to return to school this fall where he has two more years before finishing. Camille, daughter of Mrs. Koberg, attended T.S.C.W. in Denton last year but will go to the University of Texas this year around September 12.

KING, MRS. W. N.: In entertaining her sister, Mrs. Charles Peterson and son, Charles Ray, of Mineral Wells this week. In about two weeks, Mr. and Mrs. King are planning a trip to Pittsburgh and Millersburg.

KING, MR. AND MRS. W. R. AND THREE SONS AND A DAUGHTER: Left Sunday for a two week's vacation in the state of California. Their son, Floyd King, is to remain in California to attend the university.

KOONS, MR. AND MRS. D. A.: Are looking for Mr. Koons' daughter, Mrs. J. Dickerson and daughter, Caroline, of St. Louis to stop by here for a short visit the last of the month en route home from California.

KUYKENDALL, MRS. L. R. AND JEAN: Recently returned from a trip to Kerrville. They were accompanied home by Mrs. Kuykendall's sister, Mrs. Marjorie Neal, who is to remain here during the winter and run an art studio. While on their trip, they visited Mrs. Charles Worley in San Antonio. Mr. and Mrs. Worley are former residents of Big Spring and Worley use to be a pro at the country club.

KYLE, MRS. C. S.: Said she knew nothing important to report. She spent several days last week with her mother-in-law, from San Antonio with her this week. Earlier in the summer she made a little jaunt toward San Antonio.

KINARD, MRS. J. A.: Plans to attend a family reunion of the Kinards at Cisco in about two weeks and will be accompanied from here by Mr. and Mrs. Powell Martin, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Davidson, Mr. and Mrs. Dorsey Kinard, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Martin, Vonnelle and Quinton Martin. Her granddaughter, Melba Kinard, of Lamesa is visiting here this week.

KINARD, MRS. DORMAN: Is conducting the song service of a revival at Garden City this week.

KELSEY, MRS. CHARLES L.:

BRIDE RETURNS FROM TRIP

Mrs. Edgar Blackshear Cunningham, the former Leta Mae Stovall, who was married Aug. 7 in a 6 o'clock ceremony on the east porch of the Big Spring General Hospital. Mr. and Mrs. Cunningham returned the first of last week from a short wedding trip to the Carlsbad Caverns and El Paso. Mrs. Cunningham is a member of the hospital staff and Cunningham is employed by the Howe Bros. Drilling company. They have an apartment at 18th and Austin.

Is all excited over her new studio resident at 800 Runnels which is being remodeled. She said the place would probably be completed the latter part of the week and invited the alphanetical quizzier out to look the situation over. The house which is being remodeled is the old Maulden place, and is around 31 years old. Inez Ritter of Sweetwater, a piece of Mrs. Keisling, has been a guest in the home.

KENNESTER, MARY VANCE: Is recovering nicely from an appendicitis operation and was moved to her home at 711 Runnels 10 days ago but is still unable to be up and around.

KEISLING, MARGARET FAYE AND FATHER, L. F.: Are leaving next week for a trip to Nashville, Tenn. They are to stop at New Orleans en route and Margaret has hopes of seeing her college pal, Ruby Gibbs, there before continuing their journey. Ruby and Margaret were college friends at Miss Hockaday's School for Girls last year. Around September 19 Margaret plans to leave for St. Charles, Mo., where she is to attend Lindenwood college. Her brother, Jack Keisling, has just returned from a two weeks' trip to Colorado. He attended S. M. U. for four years and is to enter law school at the University of Texas this fall. Mrs. L. F. Keisling is visiting in Seymour with her father, David Ferrier.

Plan To Subsidize Wheat Exports May Develop Soon

world wheat surplus is pushing Secretary Wallace toward some action which informed persons said today might develop into a proposal to subsidize wheat exports.

Wallace hinted at such an idea in an AAA talk last week and, it was said, has discussed it with a few associates and Secretary of State Hull.

Since wheat crops are generally large — wheat producing nations this year will have for sale about twice as much as buying countries need—Wallace views the situation as acute.

In the past Secretary Hull has opposed the theory of export subsidies, under which exporters would be permitted to sell abroad at prices low enough to meet foreign competition. The government would subsidize them to the extent of the difference between these prices and the higher domestic figure.

Gov. James V. Alfred, suffering from a cold, could not attend. Mrs. Will Rogers, in Los Angeles, excused herself from attendance because of the emotional strain.

If You Are Going To College, Watch Your Classroom Style

By BETTY CLARKE AF Feature Service Writer

So you're going to college? Watch your classroom chic. Don't let it be just by accident that you look your best for that 8 o'clock. Make it a point to give yourself a precious few extra minutes for:

Putting your make-up on correctly. Get the powder on smoothly, all over your face and well down under your chin. No rouge, unless you're extremely pale and think you need a faint blush. Lipstick that's becoming, but not hardening. (The danger lies in getting it too dark.)

Brush and Comb Fixing your hair in its most becoming—and easy to keep—fashion. Half a dozen flicks with a comb won't do this year. You'll have to brush and comb carefully to bring out the life in your hair. Wear a hat or one of the new bandanas tied peasant-fashion under your chin for protection against wind damage.

Then check in your mirror to see that both stockings seams are straight, your slip isn't showing and sweater and skirt are together. Men are cranky on those points.

Don't forget to make necessary repairs on your manicure. Take that heather-tone polish all off or put a smooth, even coat on. If you've broken a nail, cut it off and file it down. Then you won't start biting it when the prof gets a little stuffy. And it won't catch in your hose when you give it an in-between tug during lunch.

Walk—Don't Run When you are sure you look your best, walk—don't run—to the classroom door. Then you won't have to catch your breath when you talk to that handsome quarterback who comes down his fraternity house steps as you pass by.

Once you're settled in the classroom, watch your posture; sit comfortably, but don't slouch. Don't wind your legs around the chair either. That's high school stuff. Now: Trying that new culture.

THE TWO-THIRDS RULE AGAIN

There are the makings of a first-class row in the reported move to go back to the two-thirds rule in Democratic conventions...

One of the popular misconceptions in connection with the two-thirds rule is that it gives the South the power of veto in the convention...

Of far more concern to the South than the loss of veto power it doesn't have is the proposal to apportion delegates on the basis of Democratic voting strength...

If the South must have something to worry about, in connection with the 8th convention, it should start worrying about that proposed change...

REPROACH TO AMERICA

PARIS, Aug. 15.—Although Europeans understand quite well why Americans do not wish to be drawn into the fiercer disorders of Europe...

LIPPMAN: A people whose frontiers are the great oceans, whose neighbors are friends, the Americans, they say, have received as a free gift from God those very things which Europeans have been fighting for centuries...

And yet, they point out, you are quarreling among yourselves and you do not manage to keep your people prosperously at work. It is a bad way of advertising the democracy you tell us about so often...

This is the most embarrassing reproach that an American abroad has to listen to. For the conventional criticisms that were current after the war are rarely heard these days...

But living as they do in the presence of issues that seem almost insoluble by civilized means, they do reproach us for fighting over issues that are entirely soluble with the exercise of a little disinterested intelligence...

If only American politicians, bankers, business men and labor leaders could spend some time in Europe, not as tourists in the hotels where the visitor is wrapped in cotton wool, and not under the cover of official guides who are trained in the art of keeping the foreigner ignorant...

One can see why Europe is what it is when no one in France or England can really talk with the guard and shrilled, deified personages who will decide its fate in Rome, in Berchtesgaden, in the Kremlin...

The world cannot afford the luxury of useless and wholly unnecessary quarreling at the center of the greatest democracy of all. It is as if the officers of a ship working its way through stormy and treacherous seas were to leave the bridge in order to quarrel about whether their meals were sufficiently well cooked...

Hollywood

Sights And Sounds by ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—Let's get in the middle today of the oldest internal feud in the movie production family. It's a feud to make the more publicized hates of the stars seem like polite disagreements about the weather. So let's be ready to duck.

In this corner we have the director. In this, the associate producer—or call him supervisor, or any of the names some directors call some associate producers. Ladies had best stick to the term "associate producer" or "supervisor."

The director is the guy who gets out on the set and tells people—actors, cameramen, props, electricians, offstage noises, everybody—what to do for each scene of the picture.

The associate producer is the guy in the office. He is the middle-man, the go-between, and often the patsy.

The executive producer I. e., Zanuck, Jack Warner, Louis B. Mayer, etc.) has delegated to him authority and responsibility for one or more features. He's supposed to have ideas for pictures and to carry them out through hiring writers, talent (including a director) and the necessary staff. He's supposed to see that it all falls into a wondrous pattern of a movie. The contestants introduced, we are ready for the gong. Gong!

Not all directors hate all associate producers. The Screen Directors' Guild—in its recent analysis of movie lites—had naught but "praise and recognition" for the works of many. But the "army of the inept... unqualified, inexperienced... utterly lacking in creative ability" (the analysis charges) is costing the industry a pretty penny while movie quality goes down. There were 220 last year—producers, associates, supervisors—compared to a mere 24 ten years before. Hollywood turned out only 484 features in 1936-37 compared to 743 ten years before. The overhead mounts and waste goes on.

That's the substance of the charge. The associate producer, as a body—hasn't answered. But I've been in on some informal discussions, and here's the picture: 1. Like the directors, the associate producers admit that in their midst are some who ought not to be in their midst. ("There is no desire in our part," said the Directors' Guild, "to absolve the director of some of the responsibility of some of the intentions of the Guild is to undertake self-discipline.")

2. The calibre of associate producers is generally higher than it used to be, in days when producers' relatives, stooges, and yes-men took over the jobs. (I can hear some directors' muttering, "in days WHEN?")

3. This one hurts: It's the directors who account for 20 per cent of the "waste" of the set—inability to make up their minds, resulting in too many "takes," delayed schedules, overtime pay for crew and extras. Instance cited: one director made 42 "takes" of one scene, used the second! (See the Guild analysis remarks on self-discipline.)

4. There were just as many supervisors 10 years ago, but they were high jumpers. As they were high jumpers, they were high jumpers. A military-looking sergeant in a blue uniform, with a high collar and a high collar, he looked like a spunking 60 miles an hour along the deserted esplanade, pulling up round the bend at a little cafe on the water-front.

"That's the Hotel de Ville," he told me, pointing across the clustering masts to an imposing edifice facing the harbor; "now for the high jump." And he led the way round the cobble-paved quay he added: "Have your handkerchief ready if you want to preserve the copyright on your face."

It was a timely warning. As we made a dive through the archway, our faces muffled, I heard the clicking of cameras. But I saw no sign of Jean-Francois Lubeac, and I registered a prayer that he had found other and better work. He led us up a stairway to a big bare room on the first floor where ranged on wooden chairs around the wall and looking strangely like the patients in a dentist's waiting room, I saw a number of familiar faces and a few that I did not know. The manager of Palm Beach was there, chatting with a dignified maitre d'hotel, still pale and nervous. A handful of waiters, oddly different in their civilian clothes, were ranked stiffly at a respectful distance from their employer, and beyond them I recognized the policeman who had guarded O'Donoghue's corpse the night before. In another corner, a sea fisher, cool and elegant in tailored white, had a graveled of the whispered remarks of a small, stout, agitated-looking man in a lavender silk shirt and white trousers, who mopped his forehead every other minute with a vast orange handkerchief. And then, as I duplicated Hugo's pose, I saw a man in a chair, I saw at the far end of the room, leaning with an elegant detachment against a battered iron stove, Geiss himself.

"He means mischief!" He had the air of being completely oblivious of his surroundings, but as we seated ourselves he recognized us with a welcoming smile and came across the floor.

"My friends!" he said, looking from one to the other of us with his head cocked on one side like a dispirited fowl. "You are, I hope, still my friends—even after last night? I am so sorry! I lost my temper. But you must not do it again! You must not joke about my little superstitions! They are a funny joke to you, but to me they are part of the life, giving what help we can. Is it not so?"

Hugo inclined his head. "Today even the least of mortals is the equal of Rene Geiss—in the sight of the state," he agreed solemnly. "Though I'm afraid that what you or I or Archie here have to tell won't be of much help."

He ended on a note of query, and the cartoonist gave him a quick look. Expressions, though, who face was, there was nevertheless something fairly derisive in the set of his mouth.

REMEMBER MOON

By MAX SALTMARSH

Chapter Eight The Inquiry Begins. I marched into the living room. "Hugo," I said, "we are now the proud possessors of a press agent."

"And," I continued, feeling I might as well be hanged for a sheep as a goat, "I've been and had my picture taken."

He gave me a stifled groan. "Go on," he said. "After that I can hear anything. Tell me the worst—were you wearing your lavender negligee or your 'beige pajamas'?"

"I had been extremely uneasy as to how he would react to my recent activities, but as I unfolded them I saw, with considerable relief, that a reluctant grin was stealing over his face."

"Well, well," said he as I finished. "I think you're daft, but I can't deny that the bit of news about Geiss is most refreshing. Our dream is taking a semblance of reality."

He got to his feet and paced the long room, which was filled now with a pleasant green half-light filtering through the closed shutters. "The fellow can't have committed the murder himself," he broke out at last, coming to a sudden halt in front of me. "He quite definitely wasn't there, and if he had been, he'd have been both thinking and assisted in the murderer's get-away, he must be even madder than I took him for. It can't be that, Archie. The man's got a lunatic intelligence of his own—his brilliant in his distorted fashion; he'd never make a slip like that."

"Unless," I suggested, "he had acted so quickly that there was no time for precautions. Suppose he suspected that the girl knew something damaging about him, but wasn't sure, and then suddenly discovered that she not only had the knowledge, but intended to act on it right away? He wouldn't have time to work out a plan of campaign or think about covering up his tracks. He'd have to go straight up the back. But who else appears to have so much as seen the murderer's face, and we don't know his name or where he's skipped off to, I don't see how we can hope to prove his connection with Geiss."

Hugo nodded. "Incoherent," he commented, "but sound. I'd suggest that we begin our investigations back side foremost—induction in preference to deduction—starting from the premise that Geiss arranged the two murders, try to find out why he did so. Come on, Archie. It's time we were facing the music."

He led the way through the hall to the courtyard, where his black Hispano barked sleepily in the sun. We got in and he turned the Hispano round towards the town. He took her at a spanking 60 miles an hour along the deserted esplanade, pulling up round the bend at a little cafe on the water-front.

"That's the Hotel de Ville," he told me, pointing across the clustering masts to an imposing edifice facing the harbor; "now for the high jump." And he led the way round the cobble-paved quay he added: "Have your handkerchief ready if you want to preserve the copyright on your face."

He ended on a note of query, and the cartoonist gave him a quick look. Expressions, though, who face was, there was nevertheless something fairly derisive in the set of his mouth.

"For myself, that is so," he answered, and spread out his hands.

"What, after all, do I know? I was not there. I saw nothing! But you, my dear Hugo, and your large young friend—I fancy you will find that the examining-magistrate relies much on what you can tell him."

He turned his opaque eyes on me. "And you at least," he added flatly, "mon cher ami, have the satisfaction of being the hero of the hour. You will pardon me. I fear my name called—I must go."

He turned away to where the agent de ville was beckoning him through a half-open door into an inner room.

I leaned towards Hugo. "That man means mischief," I said under my breath, and saw him nod. "He can't do much," he said doubtfully, "but he's a man of consequence and he knows the judge well, so watch your step, Archie. I've a feeling that we were a trifle unwise in showing out hands so clearly last night."

I was so entirely in agreement with him that I found nothing to say, and it was in a rather apprehensive silence that we sat watching the hands of the big clock slowly move on.

They had traveled as far as the half door when the inner door opened again, and every eye in the room turned instinctively towards the opening. "Monsieur le Baron Stahl!" he called loudly, and to my amazement the small fat man to whom Mme. Stifan had been talking, got to his feet and scurried across the floor like a frightened, unwieldy rabbit.

He was a dark-skinned, swarthy little creature, who looked as if he would have been more at home in the dish-washing department of some Bohemian restaurant. He was dressed in the height of Riviera fashion, but the white trousers showed up his great paunch unmercifully, and the lavender shirt opened incongruously over his hairy chest.

"If that's a great financier, I'm a Turk!" I whispered to Hugo, but got no answering grin.

"He's a badly frightened one, at all events," he whispered back. "Archie, I'd give my hope of salvation and half my American royalties to know what he's telling them."

The next moment the door opened a third time and I heard my name called. I got to my feet, and I stepped into the inner sanctum. It was a middling-sized room, and at first glance it seemed full of people. Behind a vast desk in the middle of the floor sat a small, gray man, so thin he looked like a bunpan, and beside him three men in dark suits, one of whom was looking at me with a pair of uncommonly sharp eyes.

The commissaire of police sat beside him, and at a table in the corner a little fellow like a lawyer's clerk scribbled furiously on some foolscap. A uniformed gendarme stood by a door in the opposite wall, through which I imagined Baron Stahl must recently have made his exit. He was wearing a pair of civilian clothes gossamer in low places, but at my entry he broke off and eyed me curiously. I realized that I was in the presence of the famous parquet, the court of the examining magistrate.

The commissaire got ponderously to his feet, flapped a fat white hand in my direction, and named me of matches, the judge, this is Mr. Stahl, and beside him three men in dark suits, one of whom was looking at me with a pair of uncommonly sharp eyes, and then leaned forward, his elbows on the table. "And now, monsieur," he said in a dry brittle voice like the crackling of twigs, "we will have your story, if you please. It will be easier, I think, if you will tell it in your own words from the beginning. You know what we desire to hear."

It certainly suited me better to tell my own tale and I took it slowly, choosing my words as carefully as I could, for though my French is adequate, it could not be described as first class, and I was mortally afraid of saying something that would not tally with the tale they would presently hear from Hugo, making no comment and putting no questions, a fact that, after a time, I found slightly disturbing; and when I had finished he sat for a good minute in silence, staring at me out of those beady eyes with an expression that I didn't altogether like.

FRENCH STEAMER Fights Against Rumored Cuts SINKS; MEMBER OF CREW SAVED

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15 (AP)—The Committee for Industrial Organization rallied its forces today against what it contended was a determination of the two major telegraph companies to cut wages 5.3 per cent. In a circular letter to all C.I.O. affiliates, John Brophy, national director, warned that the companies Western Union and Postal Telegraph intended to use a "technical loophole" in the new wage and hour law to make the cut. He asked full support for the American Communications association, C.I.O. telegraphers union, in resisting any cut. GIBRALTAR, Aug. 15 (AP)—A German ship today landed 24 crew members from the French steamer Artois which sank in the western Mediterranean last night apparently after striking a mine. Officers of the French vessel refused to make any statement and went into conference with British authorities immediately upon landing from the German steamer Theresia L.-M. Russ. Members of the crew said they believed the 430-ton Artois struck a mine although they admitted the possibility she might have been struck by a torpedo. The Artois was en route with a general cargo from Marseilles to Casablanca, French Morocco, when an explosion rocked her near midnight and she began to sink. In two boats the crew rowed until 8 a. m. when they were picked up from the German ship which was en route from Hamburg to Algiers.

MR. AND MRS.

HAVE THOSE JAPANESE BEETLES BEEN BUSY ON YOUR GARDEN, JOE? SURE. EATEN EVERYTHING. YOURS TOO?

I'D SAY SO. THEY MAKE A WRECK OUT OF EVERYTHING SAME HERE. WHATS TO BE DONE?

I'D KNOW. DON'T SEEM TO BE ANYTHING WE CAN DO ABOUT IT S'AWFUL

WHAT ARE YOU SO HAPPY ABOUT? WHY, OUR GARDEN IS NEVER ANY GOOD, ANYHOW. BUT THIS YEAR WE GOT AN ALIBI, THE JAPANESE BEETLE

PA'S SON-IN-LAW

RECOGNITION FROM SOCIETY'S DEPARTMENT, MRS. VAN UPFANTER, WOULD MEAN EVERYTHING TO US, SOCIALLY, AND I HAD THOUGHT THAT BY COMING NEAR TO THE CHANGE-OF-DOOR MAN, IT MIGHT BE ARRANGED! B-BUT NOW—OUR CHANCES ARE RUINED!

HOW? WHY?

WHY—BY FANTHAW'S BEING MEANT TO BE SEEN ABOUT WITH ONE SO—SO UNCOUTH WOULD BE FATAL TO OUR ASPIRATIONS!

WELL—WE WON'T BE SEEN ABOUT WITH HIM! WE WON'T EVEN RECOGNIZE HIM!

BUT—WHETHER YOU RECOGNIZE HIM OR NOT, HE WILL SEE TO IT YOU'VE RELATIONS TO HIM ARE GENERALLY KNOWN! YOU MAY LAY TO THAT!

OH NO, HE WON'T! I'LL ATTEMPT TO THAT, RIGHT NOW!

DIANA DANE

HEY! WHO'S THERE? ANSWER ME!

I DIDN'T KNOW YOU WERE SUCH A COMED, DOOLEY.

LISTEN—I TOLD YOU, I DON'T WANT NO TRICKS WITH NO GHOSTS! SO THAT'S THAT!

IT'S GETTIN' CHILLY, DANA. YA BETTER WEAP THIS BLANKET AROUND YA.

IT'S AMAZING I TWO FULL-GROWN MEN COULD BATHER SIT UP ALL NIGHT THAN SEE WHO'S OUTSIDE THE CABIN!

ALL NIGHT? SAY, I'LL SOON BE DAYLIGHT. YEAH—NO-HUM—THEN WE CAN GET SOME SLEEP.

SCORCHY SMITH

AS SCORCHY AGREES TO PILOT "HUNCH" MANTELL AND DR. AMOS FAULKNER ON A SECRET FLIGHT TO AN UNREVEALED DESTINATION, A GIRL ENTERS THE ROOM—IT IS THE SAME GIRL WHO RUDELY ORDERED SCORCHY AWAY FROM A PRIVATE PLANE EARLIER IN THE EVENING—

OH, MARITA—YOU'RE JUST IN TIME TO MEET OUR NEW PILOT—

MARITA, THIS IS SCORCHY SMITH—MY DAUGHTER, MARITA—

OH ER—HOW DO YOU DO?

HERE, WHAT'S UP? HAVE YOU TWO MET BEFORE?

I GUESS I OWE MR. SMITH AN EXPLANATION—YOU SEE I FOUND HIM GIVING OUR PLANE THE ONCE-OVER A WHILE AGO AND I ORDERED HIM AWAY—I SHOULD HAVE RECOGNIZED THE MR. SMITH, OF COURSE—

HOMER HOOPEE

AS A PROBLEM IN HIS PERSONOLOGY COURSE, HOMER HAS TO COLLECT A BILL FROM C. C. GRISBY FOR $200. ALL HE KNOWS ABOUT HIM IS THAT HE'S CRAZY ABOUT THE BAGPIPES! HERE'S HOMER IN A LARGE MUSIC STORE TRYING TO LEARN SOMETHING ABOUT BAGPIPES

WE DON'T KEEP BAGPIPES IN STOCK, BUT I CAN ORDER THEM! THEY COST FROM $150 UP ACCORDING TO—

NO, I DON'T WANT TO BUY ANY!

WHAT I WANT IS TO BORROW OR RENT 'EM AND FIND SOMEBODY WHO CAN TEACH ME SOMETHING ABOUT 'EM!!

OUR MR. SALTSMARSH MIGHT KNOW SOMEBODY, BUT HE'S AWAY ON HIS VACATION! I'LL INQUIRE AROUND AND IF I LEARN ANYTHING I'LL BE GLAD TO PHONE YOU!

ER—WELL, ALL RIGHT!
