Battle Brews Here Over New Judge Appointment

Interest in the new state district court judgeship here has increased the past two days to a point just short of active campaigning as though it were an open election. The position is an appointive one by governor Dolph Briscoe.

The new court would be carved out of the present 69th Judicial District Court. The new court would consist of Deaf Smith and Oldham Counties and the 69th district would contain Dallam, Hartley, Sherman and Moore Counties.

The Texas House approved the new court bill on a voice Thursday and final approval is expected Monday. The Senate already passed it and the Governor will have to sign it after House acceptance. The effective date is April 1.

So far those reportedly seeking the job are Wes Gulley, Rex Easterwood and Bruce Miller of Hereford, and Dick Brainerd of Vega. All are attorneys.

Hereford Bar Association members are backing Easterwood with support from just about all law firms here. However, Gulley seems to be the other frontrunner since he has close ties with Austin officials including the governor according to several local sources.

The most recent development has been a campaign coordinated through Tom Simons, a local sports broadcaster, to accumulate names on a petition-telegram in support of Easterwood. It will be sent to Briscoe soon, he said.

Names on it are reportedly among the most prominent citizens in Hereford. Pro-Easterwood sources are concerned about the man's chances for the appointment despite the amount of local support he has.

Both Miller and Brainerd are deeply interested in the judgeship and both are said to be trying for as much support as they can garner.

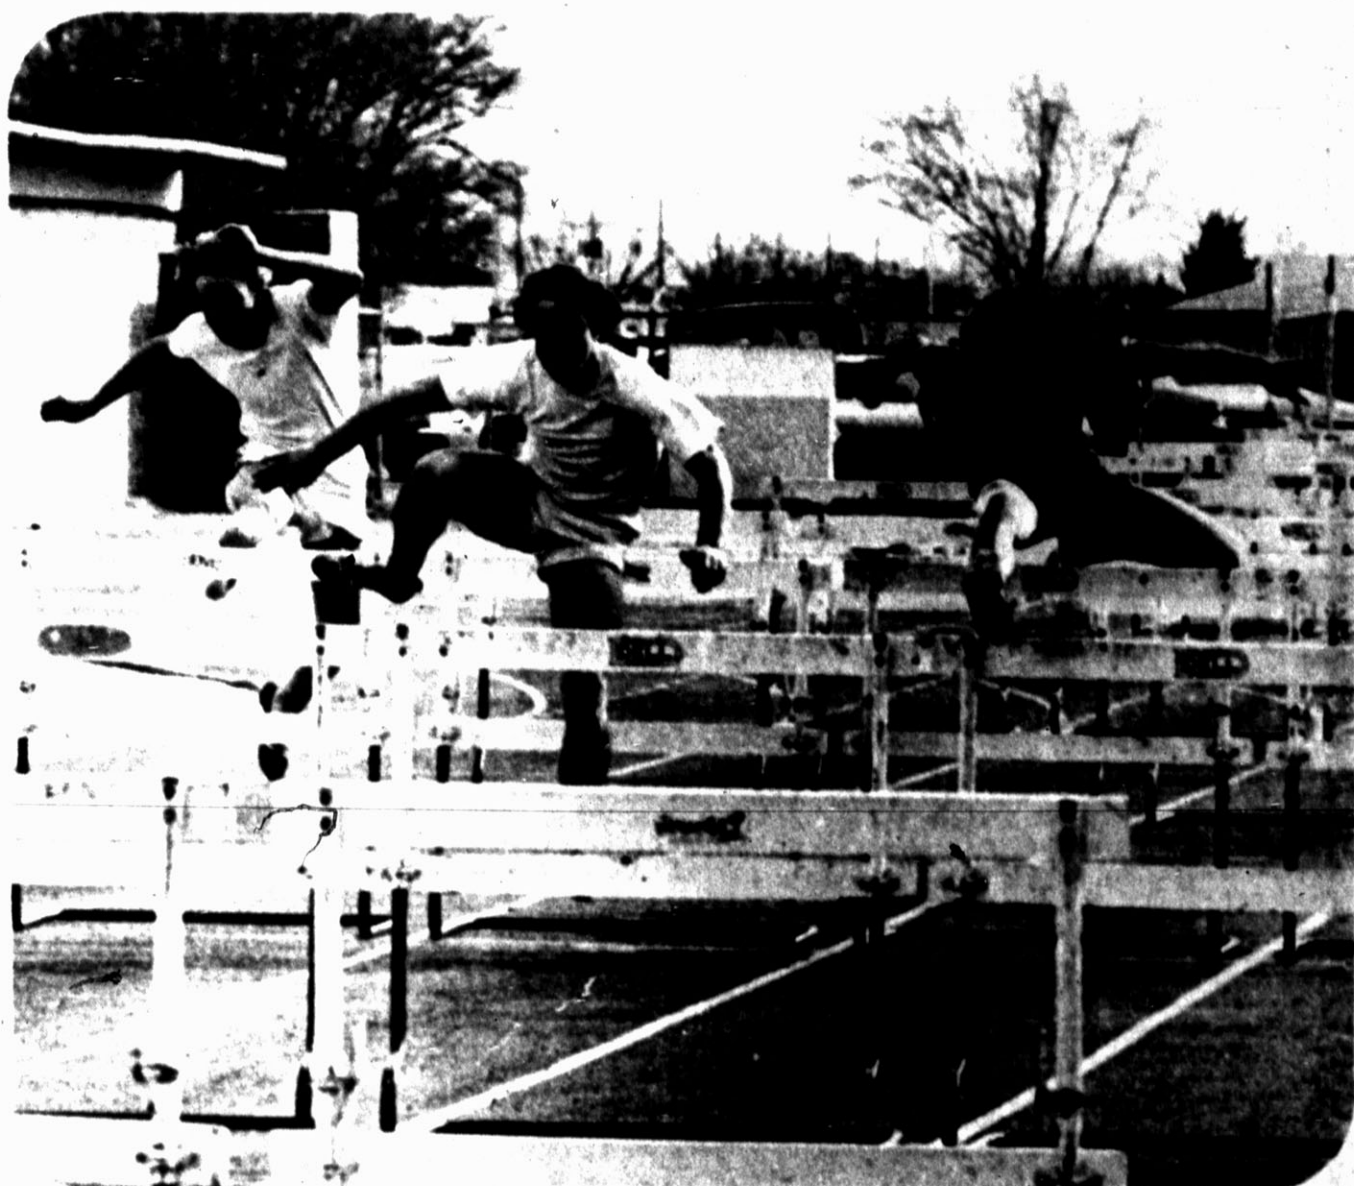

Contacts have been made in Austin by all the men with some approaching the governor directly.

Miller sought support for the same district court position in 1975 when the legislature was then considering for the second time creating the new court. It was at about the same time that Mike Metcalf, now 69th district court judge, was appointed to that bench after the death of Judge Archie McDonald. It had been incorrectly reported in the Thursday issue that Miller sought the 69th district court position.

Miller said today that even though bar association support is for Easterwood, it does not represent all the 24 licensed practicing attorneys in the two county area. He claimed wide local support.

Other court candidates were unavailable for comment at presstime.

Criminal District attorney Andy Shuval has been mentioned for the judgeship but he flatly denied wanting it Thursday. He did leave his future possibilities open when the first election for the judge's post arises in 1978.

Flying Hurdlers

In this race either contestants were fast flyers or they didn't stay with the pack. As shown, the competition was close with these guest participants in a scrimmage track meet at Whiteface field Thursday. Despite the gray skies, the hurdlers raced anyway without any thought to pending rain. [Photo By Bob Nigh].

Electric Supplies Tight

WASHINGTON (AP) - Electricity supplies will be tight along the West Coast in coming months because of dry weather, but experts say the rest of the nation should have enough electricity for a few years.

Salaries Tied To Deficit

HOUSTON (AP) - An economist says government spending should be brought under control immediately.

Dr. Richard A. Gonzalez suggested it might be wise for salaries of congressmen to rise or fall at the same percentage rate as deficit spending.

Gonzalez, a former treasurer of Humble Oil & Refining Co., now Exxon Co. USA, spoke Thursday before a group of business executives.

"Progress toward balanced budgets might be surprisingly quick if total compensation of congressmen and top federal officials were adjusted up or down each year by the same per cent spending falls short of or exceeds revenues," Gonzalez said.

Supersonic Flight Nears

DALLAS (AP) - Federal approval is the final hurdle to be cleared before Concorde air service between Texas and Europe can begin.

Branniff International, Air France and British Airways signed an agreement Thursday setting up Concorde service between Dallas-Fort Worth and both London and Paris on a six-times-a-week basis.

Branniff would operate the flights between Texas and Washington, D.C. British Airways would handle flights between Washington and London, while Air France would operate the Washington-Paris route.

The flights would be at 95 per cent the speed of sound between Texas and Washington and at twice the speed of sound over the Atlantic.

Air Pollution Not New

FAIRBANKS, Alaska (AP) - The frozen remains of an Eskimo woman who lived 1,600 years ago show that air pollution was a problem even then.

"She definitely had severe black lung," said George S. Smith, a National Park Service anthropologist. Black lung, caused by inhalation of coal dust, is common among miners.

Smith said the woman, who apparently died in a landslide or earthquake, probably acquired the lung condition by inhaling fumes that accumulated in constricted living quarters from lamps that burned seal oil or whale blubber.

He said the remains found on St. Lawrence Island in the Bering Sea - the oldest human body ever found in Alaska - also indicated that the woman suffered from coronary atherosclerosis and emphysema.

Light Moisture Is Teaser For County's Wheat Crop

By JIM STEIERT
Brand Farm Editor

Local dryland and irrigation wheat farmers got their first hint of a little help for their crops from Mother Nature last night as light rainfall accompanied by fog settled over the area.

BUT THE MOISTURE that had accumulated by this morning was barely enough to whet the appetites of the moisture-hungry dryland and irrigated wheat crops. Local farmers, faced by high irrigation gas bills and cold temperatures, have been reluctant to irrigate their wheat this winter, and the powdery snow has fallen in the past two months has done little to store moisture in the county's dryland soils, so farmers will take any moisture they can get.

While moisture accumulations here could be classified as little more than teasers in most areas, parts of southern Texas were threatened by floods in the face of soaking downpours.

A flash flood watch covered the eastern portion of South Texas this morning and rainfall in excess of two inches was reported at College Station.

Scattered, often heavy thunderstorms mixed with light rain in the central and western portions of the state, and dense fog cloaked many localities.

THE GREATEST RAINFALL accumulations in the local area were reported at the Summerfield community, where .45 inches of moisture was recorded at the Kuper farm, and in the far northwestern portion of the county, where .40 inches of moisture was received in the vicinity of the Clint Homfeld farm.

Mrs. Homfeld reported that the dryland wheat in the area 47 miles northwest of Hereford is "still holding on," indicating that the crop was undergoing some stress.

"It has been so cold this winter that the wheat hasn't done much growing, but if we get some warm weather and suitable moisture, things should look pretty good this spring," she added.

Several of the individuals who report rainfall totals to The Brand indicated that their gauges had not been in place or they were unable to read them at presstime this morning, but a spokesman from Bootleg Corner reported that light rain fell in that area all night.

A spokesman at Easter Grain, south of Hereford, estimated rainfall in that community at .10 inches.

Dawn Co-Op, east of Hereford, reported that rainfall in that area was approximately .30 inches.

The City of Hereford logged a total of .22 inches of moisture, according to KPAN radio.

Referendum Program Is Tonight

A presentation on the upcoming Beef Referendum will be conducted by Charles Ball, executive vice president of the Texas Cattle Feeders Association tonight at 7:30 at the Community Center.

The presentation is sponsored by the Hereford CowBelles, and is being held to enlist support for the Beef Research and Information Act.

The referendum, to be held this spring, will give all cattle producers an opportunity to vote on a voluntary self-help program which could have substantial effect on the future well-being of the nation's beef industry.

Ball will present slides and answer questions here to clarify what the referendum is and its advantages for producers.

Funds for the Beef Market Development Plan would be collected at the rate of three-tenths of one per cent of the sales value of each animal. Each time the cattle were sold, the seller would contribute another three-tenths of one per cent of the value he added to the animal.

Any owner not wishing to participate in the program could obtain a refund of the amount he contributed upon request.

Under the "fair share for everyone" program, the beef industry would finance its own research, consumer education, producer information, promotion and market development programs.

All area cattle producers are invited to attend tonight's presentation.

Rape Crisis Volunteer Linda Nickum

Myths Dispelled

Advice Offered For Rape Victims By Crisis Service Representative

"Rape can happen to anybody." That's what Linda Nickum, a volunteer worker for the Rape Crisis Service in Amarillo, told the Noon Kiwanis Club Thursday.

Mrs. Nickum presented the program for the group in conjunction with the Kiwanis major emphasis on crime and crime prevention. She said that the Rape Crisis Center in Amarillo is manned mostly by volunteer workers. The main objective of the group is to help cope with the psychological problems encountered by rape victims.

"Rape can happen to anybody. Your wife, your girlfriend, sister, mother or even grandmother," she told the Kiwanians. In the past year, the Amarillo volunteers have had reports of rapes involving a 6-month-old baby, who later died of injuries received during the rape, and a 96-year-old woman. Rape is something not limited to any social class or age.

Only about one in 10 rapes are ever reported, Mrs. Nickum said. The insensitive handling by police investigating the rape and the rigors of a court trial in which the woman's character is put under close scrutiny are the main reasons most rapes are never reported.

These problems are undergoing change, though. The Amarillo police department and Potter County District Attorney's office have been showing great cooperation in dealing with the special problems related to rape, according to Mrs. Nickum.

THE RAPE CRISIS SERVICE, which now has been expanded to handle sexual abuse of children, had its beginnings in 1965 during a weekend seminar. An interested women's organization felt the need was great for such a service in Amarillo due to the poor response being given rape victims. Mrs. Nickum said that the service is not a group of women who hate men and have revenge in mind.

In fact, she said, there are two men on the rape crisis staff. The men on the staff counsel with husbands of rape victims. It usually is a psychological hardship on the rape victim's husband, as well as the victim herself. There were even two male rape victims reported in Amarillo last year.

There are three things that must be dealt with immediately should a rape occur, advises the Service. First, as soon as possible after the rape has happened, a decision must be made by the woman whether or not to prosecute. The first impulse of a woman who has been raped is to cleanse herself by showering, changing clothes or douching. This would destroy the only evidence that can be used against a rapist, the woman's body.

Heart Association Sets Drive Goal At $10,000

By KERRIE STEIERT
Women's Editor

Ten thousand dollars is the goal set by Hereford's Chapter of the American Heart Association, announced Dean Stallings, campaign chairman.

The annual fund drive was launched here Jan. 28 at the Heart Ball, a benefit dance which yielded $3,000 for the Heart Association. The remaining two-thirds of the fiscal goal will hopefully be received from businesses, special gifts and door-to-door collections.

Heart Sunday will be observed here Sunday, Feb. 20, when 400 volunteers will canvass the city in a door-to-door strategy. Marie Griffin, chairman of the Feb. 20th drive, said that all persons interested in working for the Heart Fund on Heart Sunday are welcome to assemble at the Community Center at 2 o'clock that day.

Another large percentage of donations will come in the form of special gifts and from business firms. Virgil Marsh is in charge of collection of special gifts and has a committee composed of 16 volunteers. Contacting businesses for contributions is Ron Smith.

Hereford's Chapter of the Heart Fund was founded two years ago. Archie Dwyer is president.

Selected as poster child during the local campaign is Cynthia Noyes, 4-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leaton Noyes, 504 Schley.

LISTED BELOW is a breakdown of how each dollar is spent by the Texas Affiliate of the Heart Fund:

25 cents -- Research -- In support of research projects relating to the causes, treatment and diagnosis of cardiovascular diseases.

28 cents -- Public Education -- In support of educational programs designed to increase the public's awareness of the risk factors and warning signs of cardiovascular diseases.

22 cents -- Community Service -- To supply materials and equipment for hypertension screenings, CPR training courses and Stroke Clubs.

10 cents -- Professional Education -- To keep the medical community abreast of the latest developments in the treatment and diagnosis of cardiovascular diseases and in the care and handling of the cardiovascular patient.

10 cents -- Fund Raising -- The cost of supplying training information, educational leaflets and materials to conduct the February campaign.

5 cents -- Management and General -- Administrative costs, volunteer and staff training, surveys, meeting expenses.

Rape

SECOND, A VICTIM must receive VD and pregnancy counseling. Most victims never think about it, but Mrs. Nickman said if a rape occurs, chances are great the victim will be exposed to venereal disease. And the chance of pregnancy is also likely.

Third, psychological help is imperative. Counseling with a professional or at least someone in the family is a necessity. Mrs. Nickman said she had counseled with women who were raped over 20 years ago that still were having residual psychological effects.

Mrs. Nickman said there are two types of rapists. One is the psychotic, the rapist who usually kills his victim. There is little that the Crisis Service can do in this case.

The other type, the social rapist, is the type the service is most concerned with. This is the "gay next door who wants to come in and wait until your brother comes back" or "the nice uncle who offered you a ride home" she said.

THERE ARE MYTHS about rape that prevents women from reporting rapes and justice from constructing rapists. Among these is the belief that women are the guardians of the nation's morality. Mrs. Nickman pointed out an incident involving India's Prime Minister Indira Gandhi. The Indian parliament came up with the idea of locking women in their houses after seven each evening to prevent rape. Mrs. Gandhi replied that the women were the victims, not the persons committing the crimes, and the men should be locked up each evening. Just because a woman happened to be a woman does not mean she should be subject to rape.

Most people believe that rape involves some provocative behavior on the part of the woman. An FBI study, said Mrs. Nickman, reports that only 4 per cent of all rapes had anything to do with what the woman said or did. The 4 per cent included just being polite to a rapist who asked a question.

A third myth is that rape is a crime of sexual gratification. This is not true, said Mrs. Nickman. It usually involves an individual who hates women and chooses rape as a weapon because it not only injures physically but emotionally as well. Most rapists have had deep emotional conflicts with their mothers, or had a father that was abusive to women.

These three things are being taught by the Rape Crisis Service not only to benefit future rape victims, but to give an insight to future jury members. Lawyers who defend rapists must usually try to drag up past sexual conduct of women in court in an effort to prove the act was willing. But, Mrs. Nickman said, a woman who is not willing, regardless of her past, is a rape victim.

WITH AN INCREASE of 100 per cent in rape cases in Amarillo last year, the Rape Crisis Service is also intent on prevention or rape. There are pamphlets available which are legal and a self-defense method is useful knowledge to a woman.

The Service has sponsored karate classes in Amarillo. "But there are other ways to prevent rape," Mrs. Nickman pointed out. "Some potential victims have talked their way out of it by telling the rapist they just had a baby, or they just had surgery or they were on their way to a VD clinic."

The motto of the Service is to "Use your head to protect your body."

The Superwoman Administrator

On his way out of office, President Ford has asked about the likelihood of a woman President. He predicted that we still have one within 20 years. But that she will have to succeed to the Presidency from the Vice Presidency.

The inference is that women, for all their equal opportunity, in politics are not yet "considered equal."

Argentina tried a woman president and her tenure ended in ignominy.

Israel tried a woman president and she lasted longer than any male predecessor.

India has Indira Gandhi. A year ago I wrote that Indira Gandhi is a tough cookie, inevitably.

She still is, and it's still necessary.

Next month Indians will vote and her Congress Party will win overwhelmingly.

That will constitute an immense vote of confidence in a superwoman administrator.

Twenty months ago there was such turmoil in India—political rioting, disruptive labor strikes—that India's economy was stagnating and Prime Minister Gandhi's political future was in jeopardy.

She did what she had to do. Because self-government without self-discipline won't work, she declared a state of emergency—canceled elections, stifled political dissent, jailed troublemakers, imposed censorship and restored order.

Strikes, slowdowns, walkouts—formerly endemic in Indian industry—are now nil. There is no street rioting. And Indian trains are again running on time.

So now, hopeful that her 612 million people have "learned to behave," she will let them try self-government again.

She has eased censorship, ordered the release of political prisoners, re-allowed political rallies and scheduled parliamentary elections for mid-March.

India's newspapers are again printing the statements and pictures of opposition political figures—though Prime Minister Gandhi has told the news media that she will tolerate nothing inflammatory, nothing that would disturb public law and order.

Most of India's news media people recognized the necessity for this guideline. Many freely applauded Mrs. Gandhi's imposed discipline which rescued India from chaos.

Indeed, most Indians seem to acknowledge the need for her recent emergency measures, having seen their country's economic course reversed from stagnation to growth.

Exports and foreign exchange reserves are at record levels. Industrial productivity has jumped.

The Indian rupee has never been more stable.

Government operates with more speed and less red tape.

India's grain storehouses are bulging with wheat and rice.

And retail prices in India are 2 per cent below what they were two years ago.

Indira Gandhi is grooming her second son, Sanjay, to carry on. He will run for a seat in parliament next month.

But whether or not this is the beginning of a dynasty, another woman has demonstrated there is no job too big.

By GLADYS MANJEOT

GARDENING—Why should we value parking lots above parks, and content ourselves with plastic flowers? Every city should be a garden city for GARDENS can give more intense sensory awakening and DELIGHT than any noxious hallucinogens. — American Horticulture Magazine.

WHAT IS A GARDEN? For years we have been writing about gardening, and encouraging folks to plant and grow flowers, vegetables, trees, lawns, etc. Many answers have been given as to what a garden is, however it seems none of them really seem just right. Why? Because the garden concept bridges art, science, work and partnership.

Really the basic weakness is in the lack of understanding of the garden as an art form. Instead most of us tend to reduce it to the hobby level when we also should be aware that gardening is concerned with creation, ecology and conservation of human environment.

Gardening is a part of community development, of city planning, and urban renewal. If large or small, it may be, yet it contributes to the total environment of man. Think back—recall how many pleasures you behold as you work with the lawn, flowers, shrubs, and vegetables, also trees which contribute so very much to our existence. Bruce Gullion of Massachusetts Department of Natural Resources, has said: "Many children today do not know where even a carrot or bean comes from, and through not knowing may grow up to destroy the very environment which sustains them." It is unfortunate that we do not think seriously of the importance of gardening and whether young or old, we should be well aware that environment, conservation ecology are very essential to all. It offers to us an opportunity and a challenge.

It is now time to start planning and getting ready for gardening.

Food Gardening is flowering. With retail food prices setting new highs and spiraling at annual rate of increase, city consumers are finding that growing their own food is good economics as well as good exercise and nutrition. Land that was once vacant, unused—and in many cases unsightly—is being cultivated into neatly-tended and fertile city farmlets.

To give them a bit of creative beauty, flowers are being grown along with the vegetables. Flowers such as marigolds, act as a control for insects.

It is now time to start planning and getting ready for gardening. A good way to start is to first plan on paper, making changes where necessary and means learned from experience. Sam D. Cotner, Extension Horticulturist for Texas Agricultural Extension Service, says

"you can have an enjoyable and productive vegetable (plus flowers) garden."

Where space is not available, you can have a "micro garden," or container garden. The latter is becoming very popular for city dwellers. All one needs are plants, fertilizer, a suitable soil mix and the containers. Gallon cans and even OLD HATS can be used. Straw hats are attractive, and are sure other discarded hats would add glamour to the container garden. TRY IT and SEE.

In the last weeks of winter we frequently have three or four days of really fine weather (very inviting to come on out doors). Work can be done in the garden at such times, will not only lighten the burden or pleasure when spring really arrives but will help to build up winter softened muscles. Heavier, steadier work later on will be made much easier to take.

HUNGRY WOLVERINE

WASHINGTON (AP) — Reports of the wolverine's ferocity are greatly exaggerated, says Dr. Maurice G. Hornocker, head of the wildlife research center at the University of Idaho.

Legend pictures the wolverine, the largest land dwelling member of the weasel family, as a ferocious predator that would tear up a camp or challenge a grizzly bear.

Hornocker says the animal harbors no malicious intent. "It's simply a question of trying to find a square meal."

The researcher has been studying wolverines in north-west Montana for two years, supported by the National Geographic Society, the National Science Foundation and the U.S. Forest Service.

ACLU Suit For KKK Seeks $775,000

SAN DIEGO (AP) — A suit by the American Civil Liberties Union on behalf of the Ku Klux Klan seeks $775,000 from the Defense Department and the U.S. Marine Corps and seeks to block the transfer of KKK members from Camp Pendleton.

The suit brought in U.S. District Court by Michael Pancer, local aclu director, stems from the Marine Corps' rapid transfer of Marine KKK members from Pendleton to others bases last November after a racial melee uncovered a Klan cell on the nation's biggest Marine base.

The suit asks $250,000 on behalf of the KKK for alleged denial of its rights and amounts ranging from $25,000 to $75,000 for 10 Marine KKK members, friends or relatives.

TEXAS BOYS CHOIR
...to perform for CCA members here

Texas Boys Choir Arriving Monday

Hailed by critics as "an amalgam of tousle-headed freckles who perform with the vibrance of youth tempered with the resolution of experience", the internationally-famed Texas Boys Choir will appear in concert at Hereford High School auditorium at 8 p.m., Monday.

Sponsored by the Community Concert Association, the young Texans, who range in age from 10 to 14, will present the type of varied program which has brought them accolades throughout the nation and abroad.

Included in their program in non-traditional boychoir music, a concert piece written especially for the Texas Boys Choir and offered in celebration of America's Bicentennial. Their performance Monday of "The Continental Soldier Suite" will be the CCA audience an opportunity to see the selection that won the Choir a Freedom Foundation Award. The noted Freedom Foundation award was given for The Texas Boys Choir's recording of this musical presentation of the American Revolution as seen in the lives of some of its patriots.

On stage, the Choirboys' musical presentations are fully costumed, lighted and choreographed. A tribute to their showmanship as well as musicianship was NBC-TV's invitation to perform the suite on the "Stars and Stripes Show" July 4th, 1974 special with Tennessee Ernie Ford hosting such stars as Bob Hope and Dionne Warwick.

The suite was written by Ray Charles and arranged especially for The Texas Boys Choir by Burly Red as a salute to the Bicentennial. "Better than the Rockettes!" exclaimed one critic. Another said, "They turned the suite into a staged number worthy of George M. Cohan. The audience loved it!" The Choir has been extended an invitation to again appear on the "Stars and Stripes Show" with "The Continental Soldier" on July 4th, 1976.

With 16 records to its credit, the Choir's first recording for Columbia - Charles Ives: Music for Chorus - won the Grammy Award, the National Academy of Recording Arts and Sciences' equivalent to the OSCAR. Following this was a second Grammy award in 1969 for Columbia's "Glory of Gabrieli" series.

Soon afterward came the Bronze Award from the International Film and Television Festival in New York for the color film "A Time of Waking", the story of the philosophy of The Texas Boys Choir. The film won an award from the Freedom Foundation as well.

Additionally, the Choir has contributed four volumes of recordings for the Holt, Rinehart and Winston educational series, "Exploring Music" currently in use in public schools throughout America. The Choirboys also perform in schools in their home town and surrounding areas. A Resident Choir assumes these duties and many civic appearances when the Concert Choir is on tour. Throughout their group tours into 15 European countries, Mexico, Canada, and 48 of the states of the Union, the Choirboys have sung before heads of state and other dignitaries.

For example, at the Vatican in Rome where, after two performances at St. Peter's Basilica, the Choir was granted an audience with Pope Paul VI. Following a private performance by the Choir, the Pope addressed the boys in English, saying, "What a privilege is yours. Though young, singing and your discipline you create the peace and beauty of true art."

One of the basic ideals of The Texas Boys Choir, shared by all the boys who pass through the organization, is a joy of sharing the delights of music with people in every corner of the globe. Throughout its years of entertaining both famous personages and "everyday" citizens, the Choir has sung in some of the world's most magnificent structures and on some of this country's smallest school stages. They have proved themselves one of America's most charming group of ambassadors in the most elite and exclusive of French festivals, the Festival Paul Claudel, and have sung with equal enthusiasm at an informal songfest with other choirboys.

One reviewer noted: "How proud we all must be when they (the TBC) represent us, not as a world power armed with atomic might, but with spiritual power of youth and music, their voices proclaiming the American ideal!"

The Texas Boys Choir, proclaimed by famed composer-conductor Igor Stravinsky as "the best boys choir in the world", is a unique blending of discipline, talent and fun - infectious qualities instilled in the group by its founder, George Bragg, since its beginning more than 29 years ago and carried on today by Steve Stevens.

When founder George Bragg retired in February, 1975, Steve Stevens was appointed Musical Director. A former choirboy, Mr. Stevens was Resident Choir Director for five years before his new appointment. From 1957 to 1960 he sang in the Choir under George Bragg.

Under his direction, the Texas Boys Choir made the educational recordings for Holt, Rinehart and Winston in 1971. He studied conducting at the Vienna Symposium, was chosen as assistant to Gunther Theuring and Denis Stevens. During the choir's 1972 European tour, he was tenor soloist at the concluding concert in St. Marks, Venice. Since 1971 he has been acting curator of The National Archive of Boys Choir. He is also Southwestern Regional Representative of ACDA National Standing Committee on Boychoirs.

March Proclaimed Big Brother Month

The board of directors of Big Brothers-Big Sisters met in a regular monthly session Wednesday morning.

The public relations committee announced that March would be Big Brother-Big Sister month in Hereford. The third annual Appreciation Dinner will be held March 24 in conjunction with the celebration. A television show on Hereford Cablevision will also be aired during the month.

Ann Landers Rehabilitation Needed

DEAR ANN: What do you think about a judge who lets wife-beaters out on probation, reporting to their wives, instead of sending them to jail?

This judge in Indiana claims most wives don't want their husbands in jail and don't want a divorce. They just want their husbands to stop beating them. The probation periods range from six months to a year. The judge tells the violence-prone sluggers that if they clobber their wives again they'll have to serve time.

This same judge sentences people convicted of minor offenses to work at community projects instead of letting them languish in jail at the taxpayers' expense.

What are your views on this approach to the penitentiary? Looking Ahead To Better Days Maybe?

DEAR LOOKING: I like it. The entire penal system in America needs overhauling and this kind of reasoning makes a great deal of sense. Brutality and incarceration just make people angrier and more determined to "get even." What is needed is rehabilitation.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Will you print something that appeared in the Rhode Island Churchman? It really made me stop and think. Perhaps other readers who have teenage daughters will see themselves as I did... A Providence Reader you done your homework?... Don't slouch... You didn't make your bed... Quit banging on the piano... Why don't you iron it yourself?... Your fingernails are too long... Look it up in the dictionary... Sit up straight... Get off that phone... Why did you ever buy that record?... Take the dog out... You forgot to dust that table... You've been in the bathroom long enough... Turn off that radio and go to sleep.

Another day gone and not once did I say, "I love you." Dear Lord, forgive me... Anonymous

Reaching the Top

Mother, Child Unable To Escape Raging Fire

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP) — A woman who begged for rescue from a fire escape and the daughter she held in her arms were among the four people who died as fire gutted a decaying apartment building.

"God, the look on her face," said one of the helpless bystanders.

At least 10 were injured in the Wednesday blaze, including a man who jumped from a fourth-floor window.

Vivian Rand, 26, perished as she begged someone to save her daughter, Sonya, 5, who died later of burns at University Hospitals in Iowa City.

The first fire truck on the scene had been inspecting buildings nearby. Eyewitnesses said it had no ladders, and firemen stood nearly helpless as occupants screamed for help and dropped children to persons on the ground before leaping themselves.

"I saw people hanging on fire escapes and dropping to the ground," said Jay Furnas, 20, the building manager. "Others were jumping from windows."

Jim Furnas, 18, his brother, said he was on the ground as Mrs. Rand screamed, "Save my baby, save my baby" from a third-floor fire escape. Furnas said he and others tried to talk the woman into climbing down, but she refused, saying the metal handrails were too hot.

"She had the child in her hands. As I stood there, she screamed and started to burn," Furnas said.

Furnas said firemen later managed to get to the child, but left the mother's body "to go after somebody who was alive."

The child was taken to a Des Moines hospital and later flown to the burn center at University Hospitals in Iowa City, where she died of her burns.

The other two victims, whose bodies were taken from a fourth-floor apartment, were identified as Nellie Hall, 35, and Larry Gene Thomas, 28.

Be A Friend, Have A Friend

ENCOURAGEMENT: Constructive or Destructive

In helping to build a feeling of competence in a child, we must be very careful in the way we reinforce or encourage.

Let's suppose Robin, who is three, comes around the corner with a plate of cookies to pass out to her birthday guests. One of the cookies falls to the floor. Mother has the following choice of action.

a) Mother jumps up and rushes over to take the plate of cookies from Robin. She says to Robin, "Here, dear let me take that. You might spill them. You go on and play with your friends and I'll pass out the cookies."

b) Mothers stays where she is and gives Robin a big smile of approval and pride.

c) Mother stays where she is and says to Robin, "Thank you for you help, Robin. It's nice to have a helper like you around."

In the first example, Robin probably feels her mother is saying Robin you can't handle this situation. I can't trust you, you're not competent.

The last two examples will do much for Robin's sense of pride and competence. The cookies may be spilled—but what mother would trade a dozen cookies for her child's development?

I will never forget a situation that I witnessed about four years ago here in Hereford. A five-year-old boy, Scott, had spent hours building a magnificent structure while he was at the babysitter's. When his mother came to pick him up, she said, "Scott, what are you building, a skyscraper?" Scott said, "No, mother it's a ship." Then his mother said, "Oh no, Scott, that's a skyscraper, here is the..." With one sweep of his arm, Scott scattered the blocks across the room.

One point I think we need to remember is not to expect extreme efficiency in kids, but to consider the effect our responses have on them. I am the most guilty in using the conjunctive word "but" — "billy, that stool you built is really sturdy, BUT you got the screws in crooked." or "Jill, those cookies you made are really tasty, BUT you put the faces on crooked." If I could delete that three letter from my vocabulary, my encouraging would be a lot more constructive!

None of us are perfect in our responses, but if we stop and THINK before we react, the effect on the kids we deal with will be a constructive one.

VALENTINE VIGNETTES

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — Humorous, heartwarming stories involving people and romance are a natural by-product of St. Valentine's day, says Hallmark researcher Sally Hopkins, who collects them.

One husband took his wife into domestic relations court complaining she had received 27 valentines from her "circle of boy friends." In court the woman sheepishly admitted to the judge that one person had sent them all — herself.

Some years ago TV personality Garry Moore surprised his wife on Feb. 14 by hiring four sky-writing planes to draw a heart three miles wide, pierced by an arrow six miles long, with Garry and Nell written inside.

In England romantics no longer send valentines in the form of checks on the "Bank of Love." They were banned for looking too much like the real thing.

Give.

It's a simple case of self-defense.

OUR GREATEST LEADERS HAVE BEEN GUIDED BY FAITH

The leaders and founding fathers of free nations who are remembered and honored throughout their country's history have all had several things in common, despite their differences in personality and temperament. Without exception, they have been men of strong character, with an unselfish devotion to duty, a determination to overcome every obstacle and a complete subordination of all personal glory to the best interests of their country. They were men with a kind of principle that is hard to find today, and this was largely a result of their faith, upon which they depended for guidance during the dark hours of adversity. Attend the Church of your choice and learn some of this faith with which our revered leaders gave us our priceless heritage of freedom.

One language held his heart and lip,
Straight onward to his goal he trod,
And proved the highest statesmanship Obedience to the voice of God.

—John Greenleaf Whittier

UNDERSTANDING

MENTAL HEALTH
Hereford Family Services Center

Child mental health experts agree that there are several possible reasons why some children who are of normal intelligence cannot learn to read.

Researchers who have studied these disorders think that some inherited factor is probably the most frequent cause. Complications and infections before and after the child was born may also be causes.
Still other factors that might contribute to learning disorders are inadequate teaching, defects in the senses, emotional problems and complexity of language itself.

Whatever the cause, it is important to remember that the child is not at fault.

What is happening to him (and it is usually boys rather than girls who are affected) is probably some lag in the process of maturing. The child's nervous system simply has not reached the point where it enables him to learn to read.

Experts on how children develop say that there are very definite stages in the growth of the ability to learn. For example, a 3-year-old can generally draw a circle when shown one; a 5-year-old, a square; a 6-year-old, a triangle.

The ability to copy a triangle has nothing to do with reading skill, in itself. But the investigators have found that the lack of this ability and other seemingly unrelated abilities in a school-age child indicates that something has gone wrong.

Either the nervous system is slow in developing, or it may have been damaged.

There may well be complications per cent failed.

The underlying reason a child of normal intelligence cannot learn to read and write well-- or has extreme difficulty doing so-- when taught by the usual educational methods is still a mystery. There is good evidence to support the theory of a lag in the development of the Heart Disease Results In Less Deaths Here Than State Average

Is the mortality from heart disease on the decline in Deaf Smith County? How big a hazard does it continue to be, locally and in other areas of the country?

Special interest centers on the disease at this time because February has been designated National Heart Month and because of recent reports, by the National Center for Health Statistics and others, that a reduction in the heart toll has finally been recorded.

The number of deaths in the United States from heart disease, the general term that includes strokes and other ailments of the cardiovascular system, has dropped to less than one million a year, the figures for the last two years show. The mortality is now down to 979,000.

The reduction is attributed chiefly to the development of improved methods of diagnosing and treating the disease and to new surgical procedures, dietary controls and a cutback in cigarette smoking among older people.

In Deaf Smith County, heart disease is responsible for some 47.6 per cent of the total mortality, based upon an average of the last three annual reports made by the U.S. Public Health Service.

Elsewhere throughout the United States, by way of comparison, it accounts for 51.4 per cent of the total. It amounts to 49.4 per cent in the State of Texas.

Despite the gains that have been made, however, heart disease remains the biggest threat to human life, causing more than one-half of all deaths in this country.

In Deaf Smith County's area, where the official reports show the average annual mortality from heart disease, cancer, accidents and all other causes of 105 a year over the three-year period, some 50 are attributed to heart disease. Not included are deaths locally of non-residents.

The nation's economic loss resulting from heart disease comes to approximately $23 billion a year, according to an estimate made by the Health Insurance Institute. This includes medical expenses, loss of income, reduced production and the like.

The cost in Deaf Smith County, on that basis, related to the incidence of heart disease locally, is about $1,175,000 a year.

WTSU Alumni Association Picks Officers Of Board

Jim Hubbard of Claude will serve as president of the West Texas State University Alumni Association until 1979, according to Jim Edd Wines, executive director of the association.

Other members of the recently elected 1977 Board of Directors are vice president, Jerry Don George of Hereford; first vice president, John W. Gayle of Tulsa; second vice president, Boyd Vaughn of Tulsa; secretary, Thelma Bray of Pampa; and treasurer, David Wilder of Plainview.

Terms of all directors except those of George and Gayle will end in 1979. Terms of George and Gayle will end in 1978.

Members of the board whose terms end in 1978 are Dorothy Fletcher, Amarillo; William Blankenship, Tulsa; L. Louise Box, Amarillo; Billie Erwin, Amarillo; Bob Finney, Muleshoe; Marion Hill, Borger; Bill Massie, Borger; and Harold Dalton, Stinnett.

Terms will end in 1979 for Bill Duncan, Amarillo; Leo Forrest, Amarillo; Steve Hodges, Hereford; Donald Edward Powell, Amarillo; Joe Y. Snead, Amarillo; and Dr. Lindsey Taylor, Amarillo, past president of the association.

Appointed university officials of the board include Dr. Lloyd Watkins, University president; Charles Wright, associated professor of biology; Dr. Albert R. Mitchell, dean of the School of Business; and Keith Winter, director of development.

"The board is in the process of organizing alumni chapters in the Panhandle," Wines explained. "We want to give the alumni members the opportunity to come back on campus as guests in the future with special activities planned for them."

Pioneer Reports Stock Dividend

The Board of Directors of Pioneer Corporation at their meeting held recently in Amarillo declared a regular quarterly dividend of 36 cents per share, payable March 9, to stockholders of record on Feb. 24.

Consolidated net income and earnings per share for Pioneer Corporation again reached a new high in 1976. Consolidated net income for the year was $38,034,060 compared to $26,951,226 in 1975. Earnings per share for 1976 were $4.09 compared to $3.03 in 1975 (adjusted for the 20 per cent stock dividend). Consolidated net income for the fourth quarter of 1976 was $8,141,554 or 88 cents per share compared with $6,472,830 or 72 cents per share for the same period for 1975.

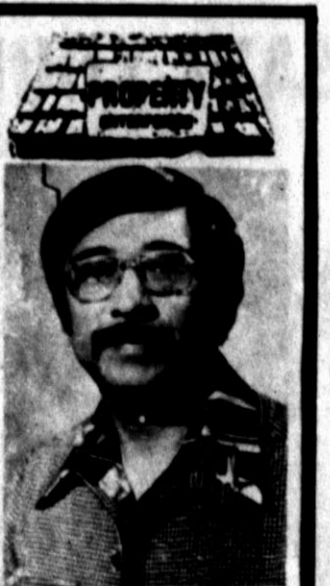

In making the announcement of Pioneer Corporation's income, Pioneer President, K.B. "Tex" Watson observed that the continued improvement in earnings was primarily a result of Pioneer's subsidiary operations. He said that net income for the Company from subsidiary oil and gas exploration and production and extracted products had increased about 400 per cent in the past four years, having gone from $5 million in 1972, to about $25 million in 1976.

Additional factors contributing to the earnings in the fourth quarter of 1976 were emergency sales of gas to Michigan-Wisconsin Pipe Line Company and Columbia Gas Transmission Corporation. Watson told the Directors that, in an effort to assist with the national emergency, Pioneer was participating in these emergency gas sales whenever the Company had surplus gas available, and the sales would not interfere with normal operations of the system. Similar sales were made in 1975.

The annual report for the year 1976 will be mailed to stockholders about the 18th of March and the Annual Meeting of Pioneer Corporation will be held in Amarillo on April 19.
