

Artic Circle's Frigid Weather Hits Texas Due To Unusual Wind

By The Associated Press
The harshest winter in years has most of the nation in its icy grip, forcing up the price of heating bills, shutting down factories and schools and slowing navigation on major waterways.

The frigid cold is even driving up the cost of oysters. And the National Weather Service predicts no big thaws for at least 30 days.

Robert Dickson, deputy chief of the weather service's long-range prediction section, said a drastic shift in normal wind patterns is bringing weather from the Artic Circle as far south as Texas.

About two-thirds of the nation is feeling the chill in what the weather service said was the harshest winter in at least five years.

The demand for more heating fuels, such as natural gas, is threatening reserves, officials say.

In Binghamton, N.Y., one supplier, the Columbia Natural Gas Co., cut off service to industries with back-up capability. Other industries without such dual capacity have been cut back to 60 per cent of the normal supply.

Elsewhere, fuel supplies have been increased by as much as 50 per cent and more to heat homes and businesses.

Some factories in South Carolina and New Jersey have been idled because of a natural gas shortage.

On Thursday, government officials and businessmen from the Carolinas, Virginia, Maryland and other states asked the Federal Power Commission for authority to buy natural gas from Texas that is not subject to federal price controls.

The group, including Sen. Strom Thurmond, R-S.C., contended that without new supplies schools will be shut, tens of thousands of workers will be jobless and public health will be endangered.

The cold snap is causing the heaviest ice buildup in years on the Great Lakes, the Coast Guard said. And in Chesapeake Bay, seven vessels, including two barges carrying a total of nearly 1.4 million gallons of oil, were trapped in Tangier Bay near the Eastern Shore of Maryland. Coast Guard officials feared that chunks of ice, blown by gusty wind, might puncture the barges' hulls; but no leaks were immediately reported.

Two tugboats that were towing the oil barges also were stuck in the ice.

In the Great Lakes, Lake Erie was almost completely frozen; Lake Michigan was in danger of freezing over for only the fourth time this century and a western portion of Lake Superior was covered with ice as well.

The Coast Guard halted traffic along 20 miles of the Mississippi River near Cape Girardeau, Mo., when a collapsing ice dam separated 11 barges from a towboat.

Barge traffic was also slowed on the Ohio, Allegheny and Monongahela Rivers.

The ice on the Chesapeake Bay has cut drastically into the catch of oysters, snapper, rockfish and lobsters, forcing up prices. Oysters, for example, are up to $10 a bushel, a 10 per cent increase over last year.

Burdett Explores Women's Rights

The increasing rights of women and the possible implications of the proposed Equal Rights Amendment were analyzed by Tom Burdett, attorney at law. He spoke to the Association of W's Tuesday evening in the Community Center.

Introduced by association president, Mrs. Leon Vogler, Burdett traced the rights of American women since 200 years ago. He reviewed the role of women in suffrage, jury service, disposal of property by wills, divorce and equal employment.

After laying this foundation, Burdett explained the background of the proposed Equal Rights Amendment, 27th amendment to the U.S. Constitution. Proposed in March of 1972, the ERA requires ratification by 38 states within seven years of proposal by the Congress. As of now, 34 states have passed the ERA with the states of Nebraska and Tennessee reportedly hoping to legally rescind their ratification.

The attorney then read three segments of the amendment, emphasizing "the danger of the second part of the ERA," which states that Congress shall have the power to enforce by appropriate legislation the provisions of this (ERA) article. Burdett went on to warn his audience that the legislature could interpret this power of enforcement in several diverse ways.

Possible implications of the ERA were expounded by Burdett, who expresses the opinion that the ERA is "unnecessary." He commented that the equal job opportunities protected by the controversial amendment are already granted in the Equal Opportunity Act of 1972.

Burdett quoted Senator Sam Ervin, who said, "It (the ERA)

Arbor Day Means Planting Tree

COLLEGE STATION—Arbor Day coming up Jan. 21 signals the time for Texans to beautify home landscapes and communities by planting trees.

"Trees have long been appreciated for their beauty and by-products such as lumber and cooling shade. But trees have proved they are worth much more," says Everett Janne, a landscape horticulturist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. "Majestic oaks, pecans, cedars, pines and elms are being used to combat noise and air pollution and as protection from erosion.

"Our ancestors realized the permanent beauty of trees and their value to each coming generation. Such a thought should be kept in mind when planting a tree this Arbor Day," says the Texas A&M University System specialist.

The tree to be planted should be selected for the climate and soil of the area, emphasizes Janne.

"Arbor Day comes at prime planting time for trees, when cool, moist soil allows roots to become established before top growth begins. This enhances the chances of successful plantings of oak, cedar, bald cypress, Deodar cedar and similar species," adds the horticulturist.

The Wa Ca Tawasi Camp Fire group met Tuesday afternoon at Temple Baptist Church Fellowship Hall for their regular meeting.

The girls took part in a bead ceremonial and worked on table decorations for the Father-Daughter Banquet, an event of Feb. 4.

Karen Johnson served refreshments to the following members: Gloria De La Paz, Holly McNeese, Norma Cervantez, Shirley Morrison, Laurie High, Kimberly Seward, Rosie Garza, Sandra Rodriguez, Elma Turribates and Tanya Jones. Adult leader is Betty Jones and Evelyn Johnson, assistant.

Denim jeans are continuing in fashion popularity. Current looks emphasize details such as pockets and topstitching combined with traditional lines. Indigo-blue remains the favored color, reports Becky Culp, area clothing specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. The Texas A&M University System.

ERA Protested By Association

Letters condemning the Equal Rights Amendment (ERA) were written to legislators Saturday by members of the Association of W's during a potluck luncheon meeting.

The "Women Who Want to be Women" requested in writing that their Congressmen vote to rescind the proposed amendment.

Today In History

Today is Friday, Jan. 14, the 14th day of 1977. There are 351 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1784, the United States ratified a peace treaty with England, formally ending the American Revolution.

On this date: In 1809, England and Spain formed an alliance against Napoleon Bonaparte.

In 1814, Denmark ceded Norway to Sweden as one of the provisions of the Treaty of Kiel. In 1907, an earthquake in Jamaica destroyed Kingston and took 1,000 lives.

In 1914, Henry Ford's first assembly line went into operation, vastly reducing the time it took to manufacture a car.

In 1953, Yugoslavia's parliament elected Premier Tito president, by a vote of 568-1.

In 1965, the prime ministers of Ireland and Northern Ireland met. It was the first meeting between the two country's heads of government in 43 years.

Ten years ago: A West German-French summit meeting in Paris improved relations between the two countries, but they retained their differences over the American role in Europe.

Five years ago: The American commander in South Vietnam, General Creighton Abrams, left after five years' duty in Saigon.

One year ago: The Spanish government drafted several thousand postal workers into the army in an effort to stem labor agitation which had idled 150,000 workers in the Madrid area alone.

Today's birthdays: Actress Faye Dunaway is 36. Choreographer Gerald Peter Arpino is 49.

Thought for today: Music is the universal language of mankind. - Henry Wadsworth Longfellow, American poet, 1807-1882.

$75,000 In Jewelry Robbed

HOUSTON (AP)—Police hunted today for three men who robbed a jewelry store of an estimated $75,000 in cash and jewelry.

Richard M. Ferguson, manager of Corrigan's Jewelry Co., said three armed men entered the store late Thursday afternoon and held 11 persons-four employees and seven customers at gunpoint. He said they took rings, bracelets, watches, necklaces and loose diamonds from a display case and cash from a register.

The theater's orchestra comes from the Greek and literally means the "dancing place." It was that portion of the ancient theater reserved for the dancing of the chorus, and also for the instrumentalists.

Napoleon Fan Buys His Sword

WINNSBORO, Tex. (AP)—There's a rancher in East Texas who is a big fan of Napoleon Bonaparte's, and has spent thousands of dollars to prove it.

Charles Cranford, 35, now is the proud owner of the sword of the French emperor, after buying it sight unseen, and by long distance.

In fact, Cranford ran up a $400 phone bill just trying to establish his credit and in bidding for the sword, which was being auctioned at an art gallery in Switzerland.

Cranford also wanted Napoleon's hat, but it sold for $32,000, and he stopped saying, "yes" when the price hit $20,000. "But when the sword came up, I got it for... about three times as much as the hat," Cranford said.

"I don't know how to say this, but I'm a millionaire," Cranford added.

As to why he wanted the Little Corporal's sword, "I believe if you want to be successful, you should follow in the footsteps of someone who's done it," Cranford replied.

But Cranford does not plan to sell the sword, although he has had offers which would mean a profit.

FAITH INSPIRED FRANKLIN'S ADVICE ON SENSIBLE LIVING

Benjamin Franklin, while officially known as an early American statesman, is more universally remembered as the source of some of the most common sense advice ever offered to mankind; timeless and just as pertinent today as it was when he first uttered it, no matter what part of the world you happen to live in. Let us honor him on the occasion of his birthday, by renewing his prescription for a long, happy and productive life; with the principal ingredients consisting of thrift, diligence, preservation of health and the wise conservation of time. Franklin was a religious man; and your own regular attendance at the Church of your choice will instill in you the same principles for which we remember him today.

"And every man that striveth for the mastery is temperate in all things."
—I Corinthians 9:25

Welfare Board Hopes For Better Ways To Deliver Medicaid Help

AUSTIN (AP) - The State Board of Public Welfare hopes a task force of forty-seven distinguished Texans, including Janey Briscoe, can come up with better ways to deliver Medicaid services.

The task force held its first meeting Thursday in the Senate Chamber.

"I do not think a more important study could be made at this time," Gov. Dolph Briscoe told them.

"There is no more critical problem facing this state--this country, for that matter," said Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby.

Welfare Commissioner Raymond Vowell came up with the idea for the task force in the face of rising expenses and declining federal and state money.

Jamie Clements, chairman of the state board, said federal matching funds for Texans are going to be reduced. "And you know why? It's because we're doing such a good job," he said.

He explained later that Commerce Department figures show the Texas economy is doing better than that of most other states.

Also, Clements said, "state officials are indicating intentions to restrain state spending, and this seems to be the prevailing wish of the people of Texas."

Asked later which state officials he referred to, Clements said Briscoe, Hobby and Speaker Billy Clayton.

Clements said the board spent $364 million on health care in 1973. For the current fiscal year, the budget is $734 million, and in 1979, it is expected to be $963 million.

Marvin Watson, former postmaster general and special assistant to President Lyndon Johnson, said he accepted the role of chairman. "or chairperson," of the task force "with great pleasure and an overwhelming sense of purpose."

"Nuclear-age families" no longer feel the same responsibility toward older members of the family that generations past did, Watson said. "Children no longer grow up at their grandparents' knee, where dwells within the older generation much wisdom and much understanding," he said.

And those grandparents live longer now, he said. Each day, 5,000 U.S. citizens reach the age of 65. Thirty-five per cent of the people on Medicaid in Texas are over 65, and 30 per cent of those are over 80, he said. There are 9,000 persons in Texas over 100, he said.

There are 680,000 Texans eligible for Medicaid today.

Dependent children on Medicaid get only $1 a day from welfare, Watson said. "Supporting a child at this figure leaves a small margin for 'welfare profit,' he said.

The task force is scheduled to do most of its work in committees. Members will visit several Texas cities over the next two months. A final report is expected before the end of March.

Judge Allows Filming Texas Executions

DALLAS (AP) - A federal judge's ruling that would allow filming of Texas executions has taken the form of an injunction at the same time a condemned man's attorney told the U.S. Supreme Court such filming would be indecent.

It would be "dangerous" to permit the government to decide what "is or is not fit for public viewing on television," U.S. District Court Judge William Taylor said Thursday.

Taylor's comments were included in an injunction sought by a Dallas television newsman against the Texas Department of Corrections which had tried to keep TV newsmen from filming executions in the state penitentiary at Huntsville.

The judge ordered that the execution be filmed for later broadcasting on the condition that the film be made available to other television stations.

The judge's ruling was cited Thursday in an appeal filed with the U.S. Supreme Court by Jerry Lane Jurek, who is scheduled to die next Wednesday.

In his request for a stay, Jurek contends, among other things, that Judge Taylor's ruling is inconsistent with "evolving standards of decency as required" by the U.S. Constitution.

Jurek also contends that prospective jurors were illegally excluded from serving at his trial after stating only general reservations about the death penalty, that he was denied "effective assistance" from his lawyers and that the prosecutor mentioned crimes for which Jurek was never convicted.

Jurek, 25, of Cuero, was convicted of the 1973 strangulation death of 10-year-old Wendy Adams, also of Cuero.

Meanwhile, E.T. Summers, another of Jurek's attorneys, filed a request for a stay of execution Thursday with U.S. District Court Judge Owen Cow in Corpus Christi. Summer said the filing in Corpus Christi was done in case the Supreme Court acted against his client.

Texas Atty. Gen. John Hill said last week the state would appeal Taylor's ruling. A spokesman for Hill's office said Thursday the appeal will be made to the 5th Court of Appeals in New Orleans.

The last execution in the state was in 1964.

In explaining his decision, Taylor dismissed state arguments that the filming of an execution would be an "offense to human dignity" and "distasteful" or "shocking."

"If government officials can prevent the public from witnessing films of governmental proceedings solely because the government subjectively

A Message From Your Outgoing President...

This has been a rewarding experience for me as your president of the Chamber this past year. It was a privilege to serve during our Bicentennial and thanks to the Bicentennial, we have all come to a deeper awareness of our origins and to our responsibilities for keeping the blessings we now enjoy. We must never take them for granted. We have had a good year in 1976 and working with our various committees and their chairmen has given me a greater love and appreciation for this community and the fine people. The Women's Division has been blessed again with good leadership. Georgia Sparks has given our meetings an added "spark." The pace set by our Women's Division is not an easy one to follow. This past March, fourteen of our farmers, ranchers, businessmen, grain and cattle people, a banker, a newspaper publisher and our Chamber Manager visited Washington, D.C. to meet our legislators and let them know first hand how serious the cash price squeeze really was. We visited more than 30 officials, including the State Department, the Dept. of Agriculture, the White House and 32 Senators and Congressmen. We felt we really made progress to a greater understanding of our problem. We hope the year 1977 will bring a greater prosperity for our farmers, ranchers and businessmen alike. My congratulations and best wishes to all the new officers and directors. The spirit of cooperation among our people never ceases to amaze me. This is without a doubt the greatest country in the world and the finest people. I will always continue to try to make this a better community through our Chamber.

A Message from the New President...

We have all had the privilege of observing and participating in the observance of this great country's 200th birthday. We have all developed a keener and deeper sense of appreciation for those who have preceded us. It seems we are constantly told there is a lot wrong with this country, but I believe there is a tremendous amount more right than is wrong. We should all rededicate ourselves to the principles that have made this country great and press forward in the task of making this an even better country in which to live. In the twelve years that my family and I have lived in Hereford and Deaf Smith County, we have been impressed by the progressive attitude that prevails among the people. The accomplishments achieved are too numerous to list. These accomplishments are the result of the progressive attitude and hard work of the people of Deaf Smith County. Your officers, directors and committees earnestly solicit your assistance in making this a better community in which to live during the coming year. By improving the economic and cultural life, Hereford and Deaf Smith County can continue to set the example for others to follow.
