

THE SPORTS PARADE By HANK HART

(Pickle Subbing for Hart)
Hmmm—at last! Bloddy Cross, down Concho way, is singing the praises of George Gentry, to whom he affectionately (this time) refers as the "hard headed principal" from Big Spring. To George is given credit for two ticks to the misdirection of the Ahlens Sportmen's club. Bro. Cross hails the occasion as one of victory for the amateur and suggests great rewards for Gentry.

Sad state of affairs as now exists in the Taylor county seat, where Gentry's down-the-line policy hit two questionable transfers, is reflected in the musings of an Ahlens sportsman here Monday. Thought he: "If the Sportmen's club is going to lose its players, I'm going to stop paying my dues."

If Dewey Mayhew, Ahlens coach, was forming at the month Saturday night after the district cross, he had never seen anyone who could and would bow his back like Gentry.

Incidentally, for the information of Ahlens scribes, the vote on the Ahlens side was 7 to 3 against eligibility, not 6-3 as originally reported. The 5-4 vote against the Cisco youth is correctly reported. This is Gentry's version.

Regardless of whom it hits—Ahlens, Big Spring, or anybody else—the district committee policy of weeding out doubtful transfers is to be commended. If schools can't obey the spirit of the law, they ought to be made to lick the letter.

The city would welcome an organization of tennis players to formulate some rules of "tennis etiquette" governing use of the two courts in the city park. As it stands now, first players on the court hold the court until they tire of it. It makes no difference if they have played 10 sets and half a dozen players are waiting. Pending addition of more courts, the playing time ought to be regulated and tennis players can do it most effectively.

Professor Hart, who leaned heavily on Midland to copy the W-F-NM play-off, will be grieved to learn of his favorite's demise. He should have asked us to name the ultimate winner—those money ball players, the Lubbock Hubbers. (Now watch Hubbs win.)

The football team is due back today, and if the mentors don't go holding secret drill on us, we can get a glimpse of what the 1933 machine will look like. It promises to be flashier, more powerful and "easier" than the 1932 scrappy. It will get some more.

Garner-girl basketball team is going to be stronger than ever this season. Of the contingent that lost only four out of 40 games at winter, only one member is missing. Yes, sir, they'll be tough.

Can anybody hear anything on the Pioneer loop? This department would like to learn if six-man football will be played hereabouts. It certainly flourished last spring.

TEXAS AND OKLAHOMA POLOISTS TO CLASH

Gridders Due Back Today From Camp

Local Rehearsals In Store For Lamesa Tilt On 16th

Training hours were to give way, temporarily at least, to thoughts of class schedules and inauguration of bookwork, for Big Spring's group of football aspirants. Pat Murphy, Carmen Brandon and their crew of gridders were due back today from their camp near Junction, where for the past 10 days the lads have enjoyed outdoor living while plugging away at drilling and scrimmaging.

The gridders' first task was to register for the new year's scholarship, then the mentors put them through daily paces on the home field, in preparation for the season's opening game, with Lamesa on Friday week.

The Steers polished off their camp session Tuesday with a scrimmage session against the Junction footballers. As they were traveling homeward today, there was no report as to how Murphy reacted to his charges' work against competition.

SEPTEMBER, 1938

Because beer is back, a new spirit is abroad in the land. For five years that spirit and all that it implies has been aiding the economic recovery of our country and our state. We believe, therefore, that the 5th Anniversary of Beer's return is worthy of CELEBRATION.

Let's celebrate... sanely! Let's show how much we appreciate the freedom, prosperous benefits and extra pleasures the return of Beer has brought. During this celebration the Pearl Brewery is offering four handsome money prizes to the distributors who make the best September sales showing. We will appreciate your co-operation in making us the winner and giving this district the best showing.

As its distributor, we want to show our appreciation for the return of PEARL Beer, which has made it possible for the brewers to contribute so much to prosperity in our state through increased wages, taxes, purchases of equipment, supplies, raw materials, etc. Only with your help can we do it. Help make this territory the winner!

Washington Daybook

By Preston Grover
 By JOHN COLLIER
 U.S. Commissioner of Indian Affairs
 Guest Columnist for Preston Grover

WASHINGTON—There is a widespread belief that the so-called New Deal for Indians is a novel, unprecedented thing which leaped into action from the brains of Franklin Roosevelt in 1933. The case of the Jicarilla Apaches serves to correct that misunderstanding.

Across 40 years, after the United States annexed the Southwest, the Apaches were the terror of everybody else, and the Jicarilla Apaches were as bad as the worst. In 1857, the Jicarilla were set down on a tract in New Mexico upon the high plateau which straddled the Continental Divide, close to the Colorado line.

In that same year the general allotment act for Indians was passed, requiring the breaking up of tribal lands into individual holdings, and disregarding even the family institution among Indians. Under this act, the Indians lost 90 million acres of their best land in the 45 years after 1857.

Hopeless, Dying

Twenty years ago, the Jicarilla Apaches were an embittered, hopeless, and literally, a dying tribe. Their numbers had fallen from 750 in 1900 to 580 in 1919. They were leasing their entire reservation, 750,000 acres, to commercial stockmen for $10,000 a year, and they were starving upon this lease money and U. S. sales.

In that hopeless hour, there were two necessities. One was to check the shocking death rate. The other was to get the Jicarilla to go to work. The work could be only one sort—livestock work. The devastating mortality rate was partly a reflex of a despairing and unoccupied intellectual and emotional life. Small issues of sheep were made to each family on a loan basis. Additional issues rewarded ability and willingness. As a result, from an unthrived and dying people in 1920, the Jicarilla last year, after 15 years of rebuilding, showed an earned tribal income which had jumped from $20 to $200. In place of dying, they were multiplying.

The Indian Reorganization act was advocated by President Roosevelt and signed by him in 1934. Almost everybody said: "These Jicarilla will not understand the act. The only time they have ever taken collective responsibility was on the warpath. Their ancient forms simply cannot be readjusted into a modern program. Forget about the Jicarilla."

In addition many people said: "There is an Indian trader who for 40 years has been a sort of federal overlord of the Jicarilla. His name is Emmet Wirt and he will never let the Jicarilla organize."

DOUG CORRIGAN COMES TO TOWN

Somebody said the other day, in contrasting the Howard Hughes trans-Atlantic jaunt, that it was a case of "achievement and damboolishness."

Which may be a correct interpretation. Be that as it may, the shrewd and amiable young Irishman, no careless novice in aviation regardless of the wisdom of his trip to Ireland, has caught the American public's fancy as no other since "Slim" Lindbergh blazed the name trail. The sheer bravado and impudence of Corrigan's flight, the insistence of him since he has returned, all have made him a character of the kind Americans take to heart.

And so it is that Big Spring carries a distinction in being one of the cities to greet Doug. He—and his $900 craft—will be here Thursday, and the crowds will be on hand to pay him honor. Residents of other cities will be here, too, to join in the West Texas welcome. It's a pleasant thing that such personalities as young Corrigan can come our way.

NO RUBBER-STAMP NEXT YEAR

The next congress of the United States will be no mere adjunct of personal rule. Americans who have become fearful that President Roosevelt's intervention in state primaries would produce a rubber-stamp legislative branch might take heart. There are at least three good reasons to expect more than less independence:

- The independence of the American electorate is the surest guarantee. Many astute political observers believe that the experience of other presidents who have even in a milder way dared to intervene in state elections shows that presidential opposition tends to be an asset rather than a liability.
- The tendency for the party in power to lose seats in off-year elections with economic conditions are expected to result in sizable gains for the republicans in the house of representatives particularly. Joseph Martin, chairman of the republican congressional campaign committee, claims a gain of 70 seats. Dr. George Gallup's poll sets an estimate of 85.
- There are enough independent democrats already renominated or holding over to insure strong questioning of administration policies. Most of the primaries so far have resulted in victories for conservative democrats. And it should be remembered that the president has not attempted to "purge" many who voted against his court plan.

In fact, some of the most regular New Dealers did that.

Altogether it appears that it would be well to recognize that American representative government is a long way from breaking down. That realization should strengthen the resolution of citizens to keep it functioning alertly and soundly.

Sights And Sounds

by ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—Latest Gaudier Hart-Paramount Aquatic sounded like a publicity gag in reverse. George walked and was cut off his weekly routine because he didn't like his role in "St. Louis Blues."

But it should've been Dorothy Lamour—because Sarong-Sarong is to play a movie star who walks everywhere who has to wear braces on their teeth; the Lane girls, Priscilla and Rosemary, have been wearing 'em, too—but only in private...

Irene Castle McLaughlin isn't going to see herself played by Ginger Rogers in clothes she hasn't selected personally. Irene's three-way deal with RKO on the Astaire-Rogers "The Castles" lets her write, advise technically, and design Ginger's wardrobe. Richard Sherman, the nostalgia expert "To Mary With Love," "Alexander's Ragtime Band" is doing the screen play...

Garbo's first on her return will be "Madame Curie" once scheduled by U for Irene Dunne. Metro bought it from U, same as they did "The Great Ziegfeld." And then Garbo does "Nimotikka"—which ought to be good. Modern Russian girl, full of the Soviet spirit, goes to Paris on a diplomatic mission, falls for a dirty capitalist count—but don't worry, all the political thorns are going to be taken out...

Memo, impersonal and impertinent, to Frances Mercer: The boys and girls on "The Mad Miss Manton" aren't liking the way you're taking the little success you've had—and you so young and nice, too... Better come down to earth...

They give Alice Faye what they call her first "dramatic non-singing role"—in "By the Dawn's Early Light"—and they give her as director Gregory Ratoff, Hollywood's greatest dialect comedian, on and off! (How can a gal look "pensive"!) Better come down to earth...

Movie vacations are funny... Walter Brennan's never had two weeks between pictures since "Barbery Court" three years ago—but before that he had time—and lots of hunger—on his hands...

Ed Lowry, the M.C. and entertainer, is a nice guy but he's the one behind this Make-America-Laugh-Conscious thing... It's a gang of comedians... Motto: Laugh America... It threatens among laughter things, to arrange for a National Laugh Week...

"Are you a Drooper or a Whooper?" Ed's letter challenges... Put me down, Ed, as a Drooper. I'm again it. I'm for Unregimented Giggling. I don't want to HAVE to laugh at any of youse guys.
