Japanese, European markets reflect drop

Stocks continue second day of skidding

NEW YORK (AP) - The stock stock markets. market continued falling early today in the wake of its worst one-day drubbing in history, a plunge that sent worldwide and posed a major test for Wall Street.

At 10:30 a.m. EDT the Dow 1,763.92. Bond prices were generally to 1,792.89. lower, with prices of some long-term Treasury issues down by about $5 per $1,000 of face value.

The aftershocks of Thursday's selloff continued overnight in Japan, where the Tokyo Stock Exchange suffered the worst one-day drop in its history in response to the Wall Street skid. Prices also were down sharply . dent of the investment firm A.G. Edin mid-day trading on European wards & Sons Inc. in St. Louis.

The market rebounded from other severe declines this year, but analysts said investors' willingness shock waves through markets to bid prices higher this time could be seriously challenged following Thursday's nosedive, in which the Dow Jones average of 30 industrial average had skidded another 28.97 to stocks plunged a record 86.81 points

The stock and bond markets both were crushed by waves of selling. Prices of some long-term Treasury bonds tumbled $30 for each $1,000 in face value. "It was constant, persistent, unrelenting selling all day long," said Alfred E. Goldman, vice presi-

The selling also produced Wall Street's busiest day ever as a record 237.57 million shares changed hands on the New York Stock Exchange, surpassing the previous high of 236.57 million set Aug. 3, 1984.

Some market trackers attributed the sudden slide to a growing belief among investors that the economy is picking up steam.

An economic upturn generally would seem welcome, but in the financial markets worried investors previously had sent stock and bond prices higher on the premise that the economy would remain sluggish, which could lead to further declines in interest rates.

Stock prices generally go up as interest rates go down.

The prospect of a growing economy, however, dampened hopes that the Federal Reserve Board would continue to push rates lower.

Some economists said expectations of an economic rebound and that the Fed will not lower rates further to spark the economy appeared tion that the economy's picking up," said Gordon B. Pye, senior vice president of Irving Trust Co., a New York bank.

Instead, Pye suggested, the markets "overreacted in getting too pessimistic about the economy in July and August, and maybe now they're correcting that overbearishness on the economy."

For the Dow Jones industrial

The markets' decline snowballed into dramatic proportions with the help of computerized trading programs that are increasingly being used by large institutional investors to quickly buy and sell huge portfolios of securities.

WASHINGTON (AP) - Wholesale prices jumped 0.3 percent last month as the third hefty food price increase in four months more than offset a small drop in gasoline prices, the government reported today.

Both meat and eggs registered substantial gains.

Even with the increase last month. the Labor Department said prices at the wholesale level fell at an annual rate of 5.0 percent for the first eight months of 1986.

But economists cautioned that the August rise, only the second this year, was a signal that the best news on inflation is over.

Fears of renewed inflation were cited as one factor behind the record plunge in stock prices on Wall Street Thursday as nervous investors expressed concern about recent rises in the price of commodities such as oil, gold and platinum.

The bulk of last month's gain came from a 1.3 percent spurt in food prices, which came on the heels of a 1.9 percent July jump. Food prices had held flat in June but had risen 1.3 percent in May.

Beef prices rose 5.8 percent, their second big monthly gain, while pork prices were up 11.5 percent. Analysts have said that farmers' decisions to reduce cattle herds, which drove beef prices down earlier this year, are now boomeranging as smaller herds mean tighter supplies at supermarkets.

Egg prices spurted 12.5 percent while poultry prices gained 11.2 percent. Both increases were blamed on the South's summer-long heat and drought, which decimated chicken

Zakharov was taken this morning from the federal lockup in Manhat-tan, the Metropolitan Correction Center, to the federal courthouse in Brooklyn where he had been indicted. He arrived sitting in the back of a maroon Ford, a marshal on each side. Zakharov was apparently handcuffed.

Another source said the cases of Zakharov and Daniloff were still the subject of intense negotiation.

Homemade graphs charting the federal budget deficit hang on the wall and the counter is lined with U.S. News and World Report magazines.

It's all in the second floor classroom where N.D. Kelso teaches Hereford High students about government.

"I try my best to get students interested in what's happening in the world today," said Kelso. "Students in the eleventh and twelfth grades are not very well informed about government - they don't know anything about it," said Kelso.

Kelso said that out of a class of 30 students, only three or four ever watched the news on television. "So one of my goals is to get the student to watch more news on the TV," he said.

Kelso gets students actively involved by holding debates on current events. He said he usually picks topics from the U.S. News and World Report. "We discuss just about everything that comes up," he

Hunts hire new civil lawyer

DALLAS (AP) - An attorney who once represented Vietnam war protesters, won a case that forced integration of Virginia prisons and devotes a quarter of his time to clients who can't pay is now arguing for the billionaire Hunt brothers.

Although the sons of the late H.L. Hunt, a pioneer Texas oil tycoon, are wealthier than most of his clients, Philip Hirschkop, 50, of Washington, said he believes he's still fighting for the downtrodden.

"They're very honest people ... They could treat me like a hired William Herbert Hunt, Nelson Bunker Hunt and Lamar Hunt are in federal court trying to save companies and property they own from foreclosure by 23 banks wanting to collect on past due loans totaling $1.5 billion.

The Hunts have filed lawsuits totaling $14 billion, claiming the banks tried to destroy their companies.

Hirschkop represents the brothers in legal proceedings stemming

The Brooklyn-born lawyer once defended six women arrested by White House officials for stepping from a tour line to pray for an end to the Cambodian bombing. He also successfully such war protesters as Jerry Rubin, Norman Mailer and Dr. Benjamin Spock.

Ramsey Clark, a former U.S. attorney general, says Hirschkop is a good lawyer, but his demeanor is different.

"He's aggressive, scrappy, articulate — effective. Given perhaps to overstatement," Clark said.

The Fort Wolters facility will be used while the TDC awaits completion of 10 trusty camps that will hold a total of 2,000 inmates. The camps are being built at existing prison sites. The first two are scheduled for completion in March.

The others should be ready in May, according to Nunnelee.

ncer treatment tried on mice

WASHINGTON (AP) - A promising anti-cancer treatment that uses a new type of natural killer cell to attack tumors has been so successful in mice that doctors say they hope to start human trials in a few weeks.

The new therapy, developed by researchers at the National Cancer Institute, is a variation of a similar one already undergoing tests which also enhances the body's natural defenses to attack cancer.

Researchers said Thursday they have found a powerful anticancer cell residing in tumors that appears to be 100 times more potent than another cell used in the promising treatment developed

The new treatment, which combines the cells with two drugs, has been tested only in mice. But scientists said it resulted in dramatic cures in a majority of animals with tough colon, lung and liver

Dr. Steven A. Rosenberg, the principal researcher, said in a telephone interview that treatment with the new cells, called tumorinfiltrating lymphocytes, or TIL, "looks quite promising."

"But I must caution, this has only been done in mice and not humans," Rosenberg said. "Lots of things work in mice that don't work in humans."

Another American kidnapped

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) - Armed men today kidnapped Joseph Sesipyoh, an American accountant working in the American University of Beirut's controller's office, university sources and police said.

Sesipyoh was the second American kidnapped in Lebanon this week. Frank Herbert Reed, 53, director of the Lebanese International School, was kidnapped in Moslem west Beirut Tuesday as he headed to play golf.

Lebanese police confirmed Sesipyoh's abduction, saying it was officially reported to them by American University officials.

The university sources, speaking on condition of anonymity, said Sesipyoh, a 30-year-old naturalized American of Italian descent, was kidnapped by gunmen who sneaked into his campus quarters at 6:30 a.m.

The university has been plagued by kidnappings and assassinations since Moslem militias wrested control of west Beirut from the Lebanese army in February 1984.

Sesipyoh's Lebanese wife, Ilham Ghandour, works at the U.S. Embassy in Christian east Beirut, according to the sources and embassy spokesmen.

Court voids acquittals in trial

MANILA, Philippines (AP) — The Supreme Court today voided the acquittal of 26 people charged in the 1983 assassination of President Corazon Aquino's husband and ordered a new trial.

In a 50-page decision written by Chief Justice Claudio Teehankee, the court said the acquittal of then armed forces chief Gen. Fabian C. Ver, 24 other military men and one civilian was reached in a sham trial orchestrated by then-President Ferdinand E. Marcos.

A new trial into the slaying of opposition leader Begnino Aquino is needed "so that the truth may be finally known and justice done to all," the Supreme Court said.

Teehankee and seven other justices voted to invalidate what they called "the non-trial of the century." The court's three other justices qualified themselves from the deliberations.

The court said records of the case showed "that from beginning to end, the then-president used, or more precisely, misused the overhwelming resources of the government and his authoritarian powers to corrupt and make a mockery of the judicial process."

Inflation could devastate Mexico

MEXICO CITY (AP) — The nation's inflation rate likely will hit a record 100 percent or more this year, prompting fears among businessmen and others that the government has given up its fight to control skyrocketing prices.

Labor leaders already are demanding an emergency increase in the minimum wage to help workers recover some of their lost pur-

In the first eight months of the year, consumer prices surged at an accumulated rate of 59.4 percent, not far off the 63.7 percent posted in all of last year.

Private analysts forecast that the inflation rate will top 100 percent by year's end. If true, it will be the highest since the government began collecting consumer price statistics in 1968.

With the economy in a fresh recession, government officials decided to follow policies designed to give the economy a lift and resume growth next year.

As a result, some analysts say they fear the government has abandoned the inflation battle.

"It's a worry that we have that they are going for growth and if inflation goes up, well, so be it, and that they can't really implement a plan in which we would have growth with gradually lower inflation," said Claudio X. Gonzalez, president of the prominent Business Coordinating Council, which serves as a spokesman for business.

"We are very concerned," he said.

Private economist Rogelio Ramirez de la O said there's a "strong possibility" that the inflation rate will be even higher next year. Jonathan Heath, senior economist at the private Mexican forecasting project of CIEMEX-Wharton in Philadelphia, said,

"There's nothing that will bring it down." "Economic policy is not geared any more toward fighting inflation," he said. "There's nothing we can really expect to help lower inflation right now."

He predicted an inflation rate of about 103 percent this year and nearly 120 percent in 1987.

Consumer prices shot up 98.8 percent in 1982. From April 1982 to April 1983, they skyrocketed 117.2 percent. By 1984, the government had pared the inflation rate to 59.2 percent, but it bounced up last year. President Miguel de la Madrid told the nation in his State of the Union address on Sept. 1 that inflation-fighting remained a high priority of his administration.

"We shall stand firm in the fight against inflation," he said. "Its structural roots and its dynamics oblige us to redouble our efforts to

His administration, he said, "shall not discard any option (in reducing the inflation rate) that is viable and consistent, as long as it does not present illusions of short-lived progress coupled with permanent setbacks."

The president dismissed suggestions that government policies were to blame for the price kick.

"This is incorrect," he said, "the basic cause of the inflation and recession we are now experiencing is the drastic decline in oil earn-

A senior government official, speaking on condition of anonymity, said the administration "will try to do everything possible not to let (the inflation rate) go above 100 percent, but some things are beyond

The economy has been badly battered by the collapse in world oil prices that began at the end of last year.

Mexico, the world's fourth largest crude producer, had in the past counted on oil sales for about 70 percent of its foreign earnings, money used to help stay current on the nearly $100 billion foreign

It gained $13.3 billion in oil sales last year but is forecast to earn only about half that this year.

With the fall in oil earnings, analysts say Mexico has had to boost prices controlled by the public sector and slash subsidies to make up for the lost revenue. Prices for tortillas, milk, gasoline and the subway system have shot up this year.

The peso currency also has depreciated rapidly against the U.S. dollar, making imported goods more costly and adding to higher prices for consumers.

Moreover, interest rates have remained high and labor costs have gone up, all boosting business costs, which are again passed onto Workers won increases in the minimum wage of 33.1 percent in January and 25.1 percent in June. The minimum wage in Mexico City is 2,065 pesos a day, or about $2.85.

With the financial crunch, the government has been forced to negotiate a $12 billion rescue package with the international financial community for this year and next year. With the fresh money, officials hope to bolster the economy so that it will grow at an inflation-adjusted annual rate of 3 percent to 4 percent in 1987 and

"I try to get them to understand how our economics system works-- how it affects them, how a crisis in South Africa affects them," he said.

For an example, Kelso stressed to graduating teens that their senior rings will cost more due to South Africa being the U.S.'s major source of gold. In Kelso's class a student might also learn the market on stocks.

"We buy stock on the stock market and for advanced social study students, we have a class on buying and selling commodity futures. But they've got to be pretty sharp to handle that," he said.

Kelso's advanced social study class is busy researching a conservative and liberal study that includes such locals as Jesus Moya and TRLA. Other national groups and individuals being studied are the Black Panthers, Jane Fonda, the John Birch Society, Ku Klux Klan, President Ronald Reagan, Edward Kennedy, Walter Mondale, and Geraldine Ferraro to name a few.

"We research these people, study their beliefs and their opinions, and determine why they are liberal or why they're conservative," said Kelso.

In the advance class students do not use a text book. Instead they use several different resources materials including magazines, newspapers, and library research materials.

Border agents finish training ticipated more weaponry in an effort to beef up the fight against drug smuggling, the U.S. House gave final approval to a bill designed to further escalate the war.

Provisions related to the U.S.-Mexico border included in the bill, approved late Thursday night in the House and now headed for the Senate, are instructions to the President to send military forces to U.S. borders to stop drug smuggling and give them power to make arrests.

Despite opposition from Defense Secretary Caspar Weinberger and others to military involvement in drug eforcement, the bill also orders radar aircraft deployed for surveillance and drug seizures, and use of the National Guard and Army Reserves.

Meanwhile, training specialists from Drug Enforcement Administration headquarters in Washington, D.C., and DEA agents from Dallas and elsewhere trained hundreds of agents last week on stopping drug trafficking.

The agents were from 39 Border Patrol stations in Texas, four in New Mexico, six in Arizona and 19 in California, said Philip Jordan, regional DEA special agent in charge.

A&M, LSU series resumes

By DENNE H. FREEMAN AP Sports Writer

Defending Southwest Conference champion Texas A&M couldn't have found a tougher place to test its 1986 mettle than Baton Rouge, La., on a Saturday night in September.

It's a renewal of an old series that saw the Aggies win the last game 39-8 in 1975 under Coach Emory Bellard. The Ags also dropped the Tigers in 1974 under Bellard but trail the series

A&M Athletic Director Jackie Sherrill revived the series and now must put his coaching hat on to deal with it. LSU has been known to roll the cage of its Tiger mascot next to the locker room door of the visitor's so they can hear his growls.

A&M offensive coordinator Lynn Amedee, a quarterback on the 1963 Cotton Bowl champion team, said "They poke their tiger mascot, Mike, with a stick to get him excited."

Sketches of WT. ENMU games

By The Associated Press Here are the highlights of this weekend's college football games involving Lone Star Conference teams West Texas State University and Eastern New Mexico University:

CENTRAL STATE (0-0) at WEST TEXAS STATE (0-1), 7:30 p.m., Kimbrough Stadium (20,000), Canyon. Buffaloes are 0-1 after 38-32 loss to Troy State. WTSU was ranked 2nd in NCAA Division II in preseason poll after move from I-AA Missouri Valley Conference. Troy also ranked in top 20 after winning 1984 Division II national title. Buffs had trouble stopping Troy State wishbone offense, which ran for 402 yds. Buff sr QB Tod Mayfield of Panhandle hit 29 of 53 passes for 354 yds and 3 TDs. DB Blake Garnand of Bakersfield, Calif., led WTSU defense with 9 tackles. CSU, which will join LSC next fall, is playing season opener. Coach Gary Howard's team was 7-2-1 last year to reach NAIA Division I quarterfinals. CSU ranked 2nd in NAIA preseason poll with 18 starters back. TB Eddie Goodlow, 235-pound senior, ran for 1,171 yds in 1985. One of 5 LSC opponents for team from Ed-

EASTERN NEW MEXICO (1-0) at NEW MEX-ICO HIGHLANDS (0-0), 7:30 p.m. MDT, Perkins Stadium (7,000), Las Vegas, N.M. Greyhounds off to 1-0 start after easy 49-7 win over Western New Mexico. ENMU had 455 yds total offense, including 262 rushing (after 1985 rushing average of 43.1). Soph RB Rufus Smith of Cleveland, Tex., had 103 yds and ran for 3 TDs in first half on runs of 13, 19 and 48 yds. QBs Tommy Gonzalez of Lubbock High and John Paul Cantu of Edinburg each threw TD pass. Soph DB Mike Wallace led 'Hound defense with 7 tackles and 2 interceptions. New Mexico Highlands, member of Rocky Mountain Athletic Conference, playing season opener for coach Dan Shonka. Highlands was 7-3 last yr (4-3) for 3rd in RMAC). QB Brian Ainsworth returns to direct Highlands offense.

Aggie star running back Keith Woodside, who is one of 10 A&M players from Louisiana, said, "They've been known to throw a whiskey bottle or two in the stadium. It can get wild. I may do a little dance if I score a touchdown."

Aggie guard Jerry Fontenot said, "I'm telling my teammates to wear ear plugs. I KNOW the fans there are crazy. I used to be one of them."

"It's a tough place to play," Sherrill said. "I know because I played there when I was at Alabama."

The Cotton Bowl champion Aggies were field goal favorites over LSU in the nationally televised (ESPN) clash at 6:30 p.m.

La Plata 9th grid team has tough opener

The La Plata Junior High School football team had a tough night Thursday in opening the 1986 season, when the Mavericks suffered a 52-8 loss in Amarillo to Bonham Junior High School.

Bonham held a 32-0 halftime lead in the game.

Brian Waggoner scored La Plata's touchdown in the second half with a one-yard run. The two-point conversion was successful when Chad Schroeder completed a pass to Scott

Next Thursday, the La Plata ninth grade team plays its home opener, against Bowie Junior High School. Game time is 4:30 p.m. at Whiteface Stadium.

The La Plata seventh and eighth grade teams will open their seasons next Thursday, both at Friona. The seventh grade game is scheduled for 5 p.m., and the eighth grade game is set for 6:30 p.m.

A MATTER OF CHOICE

In another interesting sidelight, LSU freshman running back Harvey Williams of Hempstead, Texas, was thought to be on his way to signing with the Aggies before he chose the Southeastern Conference school.

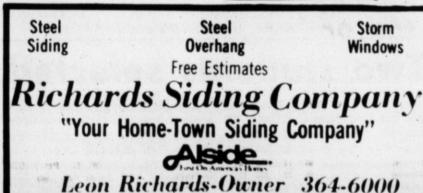

Aggies' All-America linebacker Johnny Holland, who is also from Hempstead, said "Well, I guess we'll just have to welcome him to big league ball."

In other games involving SWC teams this week, Southern Methodist was rated a 14-point choice over Rice in a league game at Houston; oddsmakers installed No. 12 ranked Baylor as a 17-point selection over Louisiana Tech in Waco; Texas Tech was a 21-point underdog to powerful Miami on the road; Arkansas was a 10-point pick over Ole Miss at Little Rock: Texas was an 8-point favorite over Stanford in Austin; and Tulane was a field goal favorite over Texas Christian in New Orleans.

Miami Coach Jimmy Johnson said Texas Tech's 41-7 opening victory over Kansas State had the Hurricanes' attention.

"There might be an initial tendency to overlook Texas Tech but that will change once they start watching the films," Johnson said. "Our players will see they are in for a ballgame. Texas Tech is underrated by a lot of people but I know about 'em. I expect a tough game."

Patriots defeat Jets, 20-6

By BARRY WILNER

AP Sports Writer EAST RUTHERFORD, N.J. (AP) - It might not look that way on the scoreboard, but everyone at Giants Stadium knew the New York Jets had been manhandled by the New England Patriots.

The final score Thursday night was 20-6. It could have been 40-6 for all that it mattered. The AFC champion Patriots dominated the Jets, who also lost star running back Freeman McNeil for four to six weeks with a dislocated right elbow.

The Patriots, who got a pair of touchdown catches from Tony Collins, have allowed only three field goals in two games. They are 2-0 and will lead the AFC East regardless of Sunday's results.

The Patriots' offense put the Jets in ideal position on the third play from scrimmage when quarterback Tony Eason fumbled when hit by nose tackle Joe Klecko. Linebacker Lance Mehl dived on the ball at the New England 10.

But it took the Patriots' defense just one play to get the ball back, as nose tackle Toby Williams stripped the ball from fullback Tony Paige and end Brent Williams grabbed it.

option pass by Craig James to Irving Fryar later in the period, but Fryar dropped the ball. Still, New England continued to drive and Collins sneaked into the left flat to haul in a 6-yard pass from Eason. Jets quarterback Ken O'Brien, who hit on 16 of 30 passes for 180 yards, threw the first of two interceptions - he also was sacked four times - on the next series. Cornerback Ronnie Lippett tipped, then caught a pass intended for Al Toon at the New England 15.

Tony Franklin missed a 49-yard field goal try, then the Jets moved 53 yards in 13 plays for Leahy's 33-yard field goal. On that drive, in which New York had the ball for 7:28 after holding it for only 4:33 in the first quarter, McNeil suffered his injury. He fell on his right arm when tackled following a 7-yard gain.

The Jets, now 1-1, managed another decent drive, covering 26 yards in six plays following a 14-yard punt return by Kurt Sohn. Leahy extended his team record to 14 consecutive field goals with a 47-yarder, making it 7-6 at halftime.

But the Jets had nothing in the second half. And the Patriots had a

The Patriots nearly scored on an trick play in their repertoire that clinched it.

With a fourth-and-1 on the New York 10, New England called time out to discuss what to call. The play, called by backup QB Steve Grogan, was "438 pass," another option throw by James. He rolled right with a handoff from Eason, the linebackers and secondary bit at the run, and James lofted a pass to a wide-open Collins at

"They're not trick plays," James said. "It's part of the offense. We try to keep the defense guessing."

That play clinched the win because the Jets were having no success against New England's staunch defense.

As Notre Dame football coach

Holtz is in pressure cooker

Lou Holtz on Saturday becomes the latest head football coach to step into the pressure cooker known as Notre Dame.

As the 25th coach in the history of the Fighting Irish, Holtz begins his reign at home against third-ranked Michigan.

"There are probably no teams playing this year with greater football traditions than Michigan and Notre Dame," said Bo Schembechler, opening his 18th season at Michigan and 24th as a head coach. "I wouldn't want to play them later in the year, because it's too tough a game and could detract from the Big 10 season."

Two games pitting Top Twenty teams against each other are also on tap for Saturday - No. 10 Ohio State at No. 17 Washington and No. 7 Texas A&M against No. 14 Louisiana State. But the biggest share of the attention will be in South Bend, Ind., where the Wolverines tackle the Fighting Irish on national television.

'Anytime you play Notre Dame in South Bend in the opening game of the season, it wouldn't make any difference who's coaching. There will be tremendous enthusiasm" Schembechler said, speaking of Holtz. "We can offset that with our own enthusiasm."

Former Notre Dame Coach Dan Devine says of Saturday's confronta-

"The circumstances of this game Lou's first game and playing Michigan - could be unequal to anything."

Michigan is a 6-point favorite over Notre Dame and has a 12-5 advantage in the series.

"There are lots of pluses and minuses to opening with a team like Michigan," Holtz said. "If we want to be the best we've got to beat the best, and Michigan may be the best team in the country.'

Michigan, 10-1-1 last year - the Wolverines' best record since 1974 - finished second in the Associated Press rankings to national champion Oklahoma.

In other games involving Top Twenty teams, No. 2 plays host to Texas Tech, No. 4 Alabama will take on Southern Mississippi at Birmingham, Mississippi State is at No. 8 Tennessee, New Mexico is at No. 11 Brigham Young, Louisiana Tech is at No. 12 Baylor, Mississippi takes on No. 18 Arkansas at Little Rock, Duke is at No. 19 Georgia and No. 20 Michigan State travels to Arizona

Ohio State is coming off a 16-10 loss to Alabama in its season opener in the Kickoff Classic. But the Buckeyes are a slight favorite over Washington in the Huskies' first game of the season.

"I hope we're a better football team than we were two weeks ago," said Ohio State Coach Earle Bruce. "I think we are and I know we're going to have to be.

"But you don't know until we meet an opponent like Washington. We will certainly have a tough test in Despite Ohio State's opening loss, Washington Coach Don James is worried.

"Experience tells me that anybody who loses regroups and comes back harder the next time," James said.

"I don't think it'll make it any easier. "They're a solid team. They've got a lot of ingredients and they're really an aggressive team. They're really a

The Huskies are concerned with

Ohio State quarterback Jim Karsatos and linebacker Chris Spielman. Spielman had 16 tackles, picked off a pass and caused a fumble against Alabama, and was voted the game's most valuable player. Karsatos hit 20 of 32 passes for 202 yards against the Crimson Tide.

Bruce sounds worried about Washington's 6-foot-3, 242-pound senior fullback Rick Fenney, who led the Huskies in rushing last season with 497 yards despite missing the better part of five games with ankle, back and hamstring problems.

"What a healthy Rick Fenney means to them is victory," said Bruce. "He played in seven games last year and they won all seven. He missed five games and they lost all

Councilman tests positive

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) - City Councilman Ed Harrington's "drug" use has caught up with him.

Harrington, who disclosed that he drinks almost 10 cups of coffee daily, Tuesday tested positive for caffeine on a well-publicized drug test he took earlier this week with Mayor Henry Cisneros.

"The doctor said I flunked the caffeine part," Harrington said hours after receiving his results. "Then he asked how much coffee I drank. I said eight to 10 cups and he almost went through the roof. They told me to cut down.

Cisneros passed the test but stopped just short of giving wholesale support to drug screening for all city employees because he believes the issue raises "immense" legal. medical and monetary considera-

"If it proves to be prohibitively expensive, legally difficult or for one reason or another medically unreliable, then I am persuadable on the issue of drug testing," Cisneros

Harrington said he was surprised the drug test uncovered his habit, because caffeine was not included in the list of 46 drugs that could be detected by the screening.

DEAR DR. GOTT - This question is not a hoax: Is it physically possible to die of a broken heart?

DEAR READER - I take this deceptively simple question seriously. I suppose the answer depends on the definition of a broken heart.

To begin with, a medical study from a teaching hospital in New York City last year showed that recent widows and widowers had a higher death rate than age-matched, non-grieving persons. The profound-grief reaction appeared to affect some of the victims' immune systems and they developed cancer. Others died of heart attacks. In the broadest sense, I think some deaths might be attributed to 'broken hearts."

Second, doctors often have the impression - as yet unproved - that depression (formerly called "melancholia") does have an adverse effect on a patient's health. The will to live seems to play an important role in combating disease. Whether this relaimbalance) remains unclear. In my experience, a loss of hope will sometimes worsen a disease and hasten death. Is this phenomenon due to a broken heart? I don't know.

Finally, scientists have known for many years about a peculiar form of behavior seen primarily in developing countries, especially among African natives. If a medicine man or witch doctor casts a spell on a particular person, the person may die within a few weeks. He or she stops eating and appears to give up all control over life, until the curse can be neutralized or withdrawn. Technology seems incapable of reversing the process. The death curse produces death, and we don't know why. I don't think that most reputable scientists believe that a person can die from a broken heart. Nonetheless, the mind is powerful, and we are just beginning to fathom the intriguing ways that the spirit affects the body. Until the syndrome of a broken heart is studied extensively and answers are found, I prefer to keep an open

DEAR DR. GOTT - About six years ago I had "swimmer's ear." Since then, I've had the wax cleaned out regularly, but the ears still itch enough to drive me crazy. A cotton swab dipped in rubbing alcohol only gives temporary relief. Can you help?

DEAR READER - Swimmer's ear refers to an infection of the outer ear canal. It occurs when people swim in fresh water (or pools) and the ear canal remains moist, giving bacteria and yeasts a damp environment in which to grow.

The condition is easily treated with several days' use of eardrops, usually Cortisporin or Otobiotic. I've used a simple and inexpensive method of preventing swimmer's ear. During the swimming season, I advise pa-tients to pour half a capful of rubbing alcohol into each ear canal at the end of the day, wait a few seconds, tilt the head to allow the alcohol to run out and then leave the residue to evaporate. The alcohol binds moisture, evaporates it and allows the ear canals to remain dry during the night.

Severe swimmer's ear usually requires the services of an otolaryngologist, who may need to remove infection and debris with a small vacuum device.

DEAR DR. GOTT - I have been taking nicotinic acid (250 milligrams twice daily), which has eliminated my Meniere's syndrome. This may sound as if I'm trying to teach my grandmother to suck eggs, but maybe you will agree that it's worthwhile pasing this information on to your readers.

'Broken heart' can take its toll

DEAR READER -: Thank you for your tip. Nicotinic acid can sometimes be useful for Meniere's syndrome, and the dose you mention is not harmful.

DEAR DR. GOTT - The hair on my daughter's legs sometimes curls inwards again before it comes through the skin, and the area becomes red or filled with pus. What causes this? Is it because she has naturally curly hair?

DEAR READER — Ingrown hairs can be a problem, particlarly if the person has curly or kinky hair that easily bends upon itself. Shaving often enocurages hair to grow inward. The situation can usually be remedied by tweezing or plucking the hairs that misbehave.

DEAR DR. GOTT - Every day for the past four years, I have had to take pain reliever for a headache. It's mostly on the right side near the temple or directly on the top. Is it normal for a person to have daily headaches? tion is due to a hormonal balance (or I am 31, female, weigh 140 and am no ypochondriac.

DEAR READER - Headache is one of the most common afflictions that doctors are asked to treat. Although the muscle contraction (tension) type is probably the most prevalent, other conditions - such as vascular headache - have to be considered. Daily headaches are not normal, so I suggest you ask your doctor to investigate the reason you are having trouble.

WISE SELF-CONTROL By Bob Wear

LEARNING wise self-control may be our most important and also most difficult task. This is something that ty notion of personal rights or percan be and should be learned, and it sonal freedom, too much of the view can be learned without stifling the that we are free to say and do as we life or the personality. In fact, if we desire to reach the maximum in effective living; we must learn how to manage ourselves well; and we can do this.

THE DAILY NEWS brings reports of the loss and the damage being caused by people 'out of control'. In our daily living, some of our problems are caused by our lack of selfcontrol. These will be problems that we could have avoided. We say or do something that should not have been said or done, and we create a problem. Whereas, if we had been fully

POLLY'S POINTERS

DEAR POLLY - I'm trying to cut back on sugar. Is it true that fructose is a healthier substitute for white sugar? - ANNE
DEAR ANNE - According to the U.S.D.A.'s dietary guidelines, Americans should cut back on all simple sugars - and that includes both white sugar and fructose, as well as glucose, maltose and lactose. Sugars provide calories but few other nutrients. Thus, diets with large amounts of any of these sugars should be avoided, espe-cially by people with low-calorie needs, such as those on weight-reducing diets and the elderly.

Substituting one form of sugar for another will not really help. Neither are honey, brown sugar or raw sugar especially "healthier" for you than white table sugar.

I use honey quite a bit in baking be-cause I like its flavor. It does contain traces of some minerals and vitamins, but not in amounts significant enough to qualify it as a nutritious food. However, since honey is much sweeter than sugar, you can generally use half the volume of honey in a recipe as is called for in table sugar. The only sweetener that contains significant quantities of nutrients is black-strap molasses, which does have iron and other minerals.

The Multiple Sclerosis Arrest fund-raiser held Wednesday was termed highly successful according to Troy Waddell, the chairman of the local chapter. Approximately 85 citizens, including city officials, were detained in a mock jail. Over $1,000 was collected and a total of $3,000 is expected after all pledges have been received from friends of prisoners who put up

Toys make dreams come true

VERNON, Texas (AP) - In a crowded workshop littered with templates, specially-sized power tools and wod scraps, Virgil Fisher makes children's dreams come true.

One might imagine him, in another season, as the perfect Santa Claus, with his snow white beard and sparkling eyes. Fisher is confined to a wheelchair, but that does not stop him from doing the one thing he says gives him the most joy in life: making wooden toys for children.

There are trains, animals, doll furniture, and the favorite of all children, he says, a carousel which seems to spin on forever. Some are sold at craft fairs around the Southwest, but many are given away to any child with an adoring smile.

At the recent Hometown Festival who visited his booth walked away said. with a wooden horse, or duck, or a carved letter with his or her initial.

'They're just little things, but they make the kids happy," he said with a

Fisher came to Vernon with his wife Margaret and two daughters in 1979, when rheumatoid arthritis and temple lobe sclerosis forced him to abandon the sweeping business he had built in Hutchinson, Kan. :Faced with a life that he says would have meant "eight hours a day in front of the television and another eight at night," Fisher again began to dabble in woodworking, a hobby

he had first learned in high school. 'His daughters' former bedroom is now a convenient and well-equipped woodshop, complete with power tools cut down to make them accessible to his wheelchair and some 600 wood patterns, from which he crafts his

To get new ideas for his toys, the Fishers scour through magazines and children's coloring books. Ideas come from "anywhere and everywhere," he says.

Mrs. Fisher's favorite source for ideas is Country Living Magazine, bécause it specializes in memorabilia.

People want what they liked as a kid, the old fashioned kind of toys," she said.

Although Fisher does make items other than toys, most notably fanciful Christmas decorations and desk nameplates, his talents are best suited to the toys because of their small size.

"I can't make anything over 3 feet, because if it's bigger than that I can't push it through the saw without moving my chair," he explained.

Even the white pine he buys for his creations must be cut down to fivefoot lengths before he can manage the rough pieces.

Fisher travels to about a dozen craft shows each year and would like to go to more, except for the work involved in having enough toys to meet the demand. That demand is high, because of the low prices he insists

"At a quarter or fifty cents they'll sell real good. The highest price thing I make is the carousel, and that's $20. I don't charge a lot of money because I can get a lot of toys out of a little piece of lumber. I use 150 Arts and Crafts Show, each child every scrap, even the little ones," he Fisher's woodworking skills are his three grandchildren - Wally, 6, Ricky, 2, and Megan, 1, who say they have one of every type of toy that Grandpa makes.

Fisher makes a special trip to a craft show in Tucson, Ariz., each year to visit them. The trip, he says, is barely profitable, except for the chance it gives him to visit with his

CLEVELAND (AP) - Sleep expert Ernest Wuliger takes his business lying down, and suggests shoppers looking for a mattress do

"In the store, they should kick off their shoes, stretch out on the mattress and roll around," says Wuliger, chairman of the Ohio Mattress Co.

Consumers should check for comfort, support and durability when they buy a new mattress, he adds. "Test how the mattress feels to you," Wuliger advises. "This is the kind of shopping that lets you get off your feet, so take advantage of it. You won't be the first to doze off during a mattress test."

Firm support should also be comfortable, and a mattress that is too firm may cause the sleeper to toss and turn, he says, adding:

Texans to celebrate Independence Day

By DAVID SEDENO Associated Press Writer

With the Texas Sesquicentennial a backdrop, celebrations begin this weekend for Mexican Independence Day, which commemorates the day in 1810 when a Mexican priest called on his countrymen to revolt against their Spanish rulers.

Beginning Saturday, thousands of people will gather in the Mexican-American communities across the state, listening to mariachi bands, patriotic speeches, viewing folkloric dancers and plays, crowning queens and eating ethnic foods.

The celebrations will climax Monday night when local dignitaries will cry for independence, trying to emulate the shout given by Father Miguel Hidalgo y Costilla on Sept. 15, 1810, in Dolores, Mexico.

The shout is known as "El Grito de Dolores" or the "Cry of Dolores." The priest, who later was executed for stirring revolt against the Spanish rulers, is regarded as the "Father of Mexican Independence."

Sept. 16 - diez y seis de septiembre — is regarded as Independence Day in Mexico, much like July 4th in the United States.

Although Texans have celebrated this year the state's 150-year independence from Mexico, many Mexican-Americans continue to celebrate Mexican Independence

"I've always argued that Mexican-Americans are bicultural people. They have allegiance to two countries," said Dr. Arnoldo De Leon, a history professor at Angelo State University. "Their patriotic allegiance is to the United States and their cultural allegiance is to Mexico.'

In Laredo, a parade on Saturday will wind down the streets of the border city into Nuevo Laredo, Mexico, which is hosting its annual nineblock fair and exposition. A softball tournament, 10 kilometer run, a fashion show and dances also are on the agenda in Laredo.

Mike Herrera III, chairman of the Laredo festivities, said the border celebration is unique.

"It's more of an authentic flavor because the ambience is so strong here because of the interaction of the two cultures," Herrera said. "That's what it really is: friendship and camaraderie."

In San Angelo, thousands are expected to gather on the grounds of Fort Concho for a four-day celebraship pageant, a parade, food booths, Mexican rodeo, and historical pageant incorporating the Texas Sesquicentennial theme are among the attractions.

"We're going full blast," said event co-chairman Alma Perez. "I think we can celebrate diez y seis and the Sesquicentennial because we had Mexicans fighting at the Alamo."

De Leon, a Texas historian, has written a five-act historical play beginning with the conquest of the Aztecs by the Spaniards and the arrival of Mexicans in San Angelo in the 1800s and their evolution in that West Texas city.

He has added a sixth act portraying the roles of Mexican Texans during their fight with Mexico in the mid-1830s. Many Mexicans died while defending the Alamo in March 1836 after Texas, then a Mexican state, declared its independence from Mexico.

Celebrations also are planned in small towns and in the metropolitan areas of Austin, Houston, Dallas and San Antonio.

In the border town of Hidaglo, dignitaries from the city and Reynosa, Mexico, will place a wreath on statue of priest.

In Dallas, a parade is scheduled for Sunday and thousands are expected at Pike Park, west of downtown, to celebrate the event with food, songs, dances and speeches.

In Austin on Tuesday, State Sen. Gonzalo Barrientos, D-Austin, will sponsor for the 11th year a noon celebration in the Capitol Rotunda.

In San Antonio, a queen's coronation, parade, charro ball and a Mexican rodeo are on tap for a four-day celebration. At the downtown market, food booths, singers and dancers will highlight a weekend of festivities. "There always have been non-tion, beginning Saturday. A scholar- this thing," said Henry Guerra, president of the San Antonio Mexican-American Friendship Committee which is sponsoring the celebrations.

Mexican businessmen that support

"It's a growing thing. The people who are now taking part in a lot of these things are not only Mexican-Americans."

Senate approves presidential primary bill

AUSTIN (AP) - The Senate has approved a bill to establish a March presidential primary in Texas so the state can jump in the front seat of national politics.

Texas would join 11 other Southern states in holding a primary on the second Tuesday in March in presidential years, starting in 1988.

The Senate bill was sent to the House on voice vote Thursday, after a test vote of 21-2 showed virtually no opposition.

"I couldn't resist a feeling of wry amusement watching that bill float through here when I remember 1979 and the Killer Bees and all that furor," said Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby.

Hobby also presided over the Senate in 1979 when 12 senators hid for 41/2 days, leaving that body without a quorum and blocking a bill that would have set up a presidential primary separate from the regular primary for state and local races.

It was Hobby who named the absent senators "the Killer Bees."

The new proposal would move all primary elections from the first Saturday in May to the second Tuesday in March in even-numbered years.

"I would much prefer to have a split primary - have a general state primary in August or September or something like that," Hobby told reporters. "But this does improve the position of the state in the presidential election process. The state now virtually has no voice in the presidential selection process."

Bill co-sponsor Chet Edwards, D-Duncanville, said, "I think it's time that Texas takes its rightful place in the driver's seat in presidential politics.

"I think it's time that Texas, the third most populous state in this country, played a key role in setting the national agenda, the agenda on issues such as energy, agriculture, national defense, issues that are going to be absolutely crucial to the future of our republic.

"Let Texas be the big fish in the big pond. Let Texas voices be heard day.

in the selection of the most important position in this country," Edwards said.

Gov. Mark White said he did not "have any plans at this time" to open the special legislative session to the presidential primary proposal. Edwards said he and co-sponsor John Traeger, D-Seguin, had met with White and the "governor has not said he would not put this on the call."

"The 1988 presidential campaign is now going forward," Edwards said, and "we need to get these candidates to Texas early before they get committed to the Northeast and other states.

"Why should votes in New Hampshire and Iowa count more than votes of our Texas citizens? It simply does not make sense."

So far, 11 Southern states have voted to hold their presidential primaries on the second Tuesday in March, with two other states scheduling primaries for the following Saturday.

In other action Thursday, the Senate:

Blocked a bill that would authorize the governor and 10-member Legislative Budget Board to make changes in the state appropriations bill between legislative sessions if the governor felt there was an emergency. A shift of one vote in the 14-8 roll call would have allowed the Senate to debate the proposal, which would implement a constitutional amendment approved by the voters in November

Approved a bill that would authorize a one-time transfer of a total of $5,427,105 from three highway funds to general revenue.

Approved a bill allowing the use of "Benefit Funds" at state mental hospitals for patients' "personal needs," such as haircuts.

Approved a resolution that directs the Finance Commission of Texas to study the feasibility of state regulation of mortgage companies.

Man confessed to crime on roadside

ARLINGTON, Texas (AP) - Two at Arlington Memorial Hospital hours after a woman dying of multiple stab wounds told police her boyfriend attacked her, the boyfriend drove up to an officer on Interstate 20 and admitted the crime, officials said.

Arlington police were traveling to Fort Worth to find John Betliskey Jr., 22, suspected in the death of his 26-year-old Arlington girlfriend, when they received a teletype that he had been arrested in Ranger, about 90 miles farther west, said Arlington police spokesman Dee Anderson. The suspect had pulled up behind a patrolman issuing a speeding ticket to another motorist on I-20 in Ranger and said he killed his girlfriend in Arlington, Ranger police said. Betliskey was charged with murder in the death of Jean Rochelle Gasner and was being held Thursday night in Arlington City Jail in lieu of

Governor optimism not matched by some

AUSTIN (AP) - Gov. Mark as some legislative leaders had White's optimism for progress made predicted. in the second special session has not been matched by some lawmakers. After a visit to the House Thursday, White said he thought legislators were well on the way to solving the state budget crisis and they will find that the solution has to include a tax hike. "I'm pleased by the progress he's making and I think we're going to see a resolution of our problem," the governor said after a chat with Speaker Gib Lewis.

Later, the Texas Conservative Coalition, which claims support from a majority of House members, reiterated support for Lewis' position against taxes in the special session.

"A tax bill this session would not balance the budget or stop hot checks from being written in November," said the coalition statement. There is nothing to be gained by ishing through a 'temporary' tax ill this session."

The 10-member conference com-mittee trying to settle differences between the Senate and House on 1967 spending cuts met Thursday but was unable to reach a final decision,

The conference committee is scheduled to meet again Sunday The House met today but the Senate is in adjournment until Mon-White said that Lewis is "working to the bottom line." The bottom line in balancing the budget must involve spending cuts and a tax hike, the governor said. "My numbers indicate it won't quite cover with cuts," he told

White has proposed a temporary increase in the sales tax, raising it to 5¼ percent from the current 4% percent through August 1987.

Lewis has been the prime oppo-nent, saying he would not consider a tax bill until spending cuts are ap-

PUBLIC NOTICE: NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN THAT BY AUTHORI-TY OF THE TEXAS ELEC-TION CODE, CHAPTER 42, THE DEAF SMITH COUNTY COMMISSIONERS' COURT IS PROPOSING TO CHANGE PROCEDURES BY WHICH DEAF SMITH

COUNTY RESIDENTS VOTE IN TWO WAYS: 1. The Commissioners Court proposes to change from the present "paper ballot" system to an "automated tabulating system." (A.T.S.) With the A.T.S., the voter will still be able to "mark" their own ballot. 2. By converting to an automated system, the Commissioners' Court will be permitted to consolidate County voting precincts from the present number, 12 down to 7 (or 8) so long as no one precinct has more than 5,000 registered voters. (Commissioners' Precincts will not be changed.) The new system will be more cost-effective, reliable, and give faster results on election day. PUBLIC COMMENTS OR QUESTIONS ARE INVITED

DID YOU EVER TRY ARGUING WITH GOD?

The next day, as the men were nearing the city. Peter went up on the flat roof of his house to pray. it was noon and he was hungry, but while lunch was being prepared, he fell into a trance. He saw the sky open, and a great canvas sheet; suspended by its four corners, settle to the ground. In the sheet were all sorts of animals, snakes and birds (forbidden to the lews for food). Then a voice said to him. "Go kill and eat any of them you wish." "Never. Lord." Peter declared. "I have never in all my life eaten such creatures for they are forbidden by our lewish laws." The voice spoke again, "Don't contradict God! If He says something is kosher, then it is!" The same vision was repeated three times! Then the sheet was pulled up again to heaven! Peter was very perplexed. What could the vision mean? What was he supposed to do? Just then the men sent by Cornelius had found the house and were standing outside at the gate, inquiring whether this was the place where Simon Peter

Meanwhile, as Peter was puzzling over the vision. the Holy Spirit said to him, "Three men have come to see you. Go down and meet them and go with them. All is well, I have sent them." So Peter went down. "I'm the man you're looking for," he said. "Now what is it you want?" Then they told him about Cornelius the Roman officer, a good and godly man, well thought of by the Jews, and how an angel had instructed him to send for Peter to come and tell him what God wanted him to do. So Peter invited them in and lodged them overnight.

Some have trouble getting insurance

Some Texas drivers with drunken driving convictions in even the distant past are finding it difficult to obtain automobile insurance because of a recent change in state law. The change, effective Sept. 1, was designed to simplify the tees charged by the Texas Department of Public Safety for copies of driver's license records, said George Griffin, DPS chief of driver and vehicle records.

Before September, Griffin said, companies seeking a driver's record could request one of several types. For only the current license status and address, companies paid 25 cents. A record of the previous three year's infractions, the one ordered by most companies, cost $.75; a five-year record cost $1. To the last three years of a driving record as part of a staggered price system, the common practice before, in surance companies now pay a flat fee and receive five years. They also receive information on all drunken driving convictions. regardless of when they occurred.

According to insurance agents throughout the state. some companies are using the additional information to raise rates or deny coverage to drivers previously considered acceptable risks.

No one will be pushed out of the insurance market entirely. Affected customers could be served in the state's assigned risk pool, albeit at higher premiums.
