Mahon Won't Seek Another Term

BY PAUL SIMS
Managing Editor

In 1978, there will be a new Dean of the United States Congress.

George Mahon of Lubbock, the only U.S. congressman District 19 has ever known, announced today that he will not run for a 45th year in the U.S. House of Representatives in 1978.

"At the end of my present term I will have served 44 years in Congress and a total of 52 years in public office," Mahon said in a prepared statement.

"I promised myself long ago that I would not seek to serve in Congress after reaching age 80, a milestone I would pass prior to the conclusion of another two-year term," added the chairman of the powerful House Appropriations Committee.

Mahon was a young district attorney at Colorado City when the 19th Congressional District was created in 1934. He was elected to serve in Congress from the district, comprised of 25 counties in West Texas including Deaf Smith, in 1934.

Mahon was appointed to the House Appropriations Committee in 1939 and became chairman of its subcommittee on defense in 1939. He has served as chairman of the 55-member appropriations committee since 1964, longer continuously than any House member in history.

Only six members in history have served longer than Mahon in the House of Representatives. During his congressional tenure, Mahon has served with eight presidents, beginning with Franklin Roosevelt.

Mahon, who is 77, was one of a few government leaders permitted to participate in the Manhattan Project for the development of the atomic bomb in World War. He has been an advocate of a strong national defense program and has served as a congressional leader in the development of the nuclear fleet.

Mahon did not disclose specific plans for the future in his official statement.

"I am an apostle of the strenuous life. I look forward to participating in many exciting and challenging endeavors that my responsibilities in congress have not allowed me to pursue.

"But I have no time now to think of future plans. For the next 18 months, I shall continue to give my full energy and devotion to the people of the 19th District and the nation."

Mahon, considered by some observers one of the five most powerful men in government, reflected on the highlights of his term while announcing his decision to retire.

"Having an opportunity to participate in some of the most momentous decisions of our time has been a great privilege. I have dealt with the high and the mighty

ANOTHER REMINDER: The musical salute to the history of country music in Texas has been rescheduled for Monday at 8:45 p.m. in Whiteface Stadium. The concert by South Plains College students, "Texas Cradle of Giants," had originally been set for tonight but was postponed this week due to the death of a relative of one of the performers.

The musical production is being brought here by Hereford merchants and was scheduled as a free performance during "Customer Appreciation Week." Make your plans now to attend the musical concert Monday night!

SPEAKING OF concerts, the Hereford Chamber Singers drew an enthusiastic and appreciative audience Tuesday night when they presented the concert they will stage in Romania this month. It was an impressive concert by non-professionals and included ensemble and quartet numbers. We believe Hereford will reap even more benefits from this group, and that people of Romania will be highly receptive to their presentation.

The only thing that might be difficult for Romanians to comprehend is that the group is really made up of non-professional musicians from different walks of life in a small Texas community.

WE RAN ACROSS a tongue in cheek "letter to the editor" which was published in a community weekly. It contains some points that we'd like some of our readers to consider.

Dear Editor:
I'm going to give you 15 cents for a copy of your rag. Divide it up any way you wish.

Now for the 15 cents I am giving you, I want you to deliver this week to my house a newspaper that will contain more

San Jose To Clean Its Alleys

San Jose community residents will unite for another volunteer cleanup drive in the area of their homes Saturday, according to Robert Gallegos of the San Jose Steering Committee.

WORKERS WILL converge at 8 a.m. to begin the process of clearing debris from alleys in the community.

This Saturday's cleanup effort was called after a cleanup originally scheduled for late June was canceled due to heavy rain.

We extend an invitation to all community residents to take part in Saturday's work and would appreciate the loan of any available trucks," said Gallegos.

Saturday's cleanup is part of a continuing effort on the part of San Jose residents to alleviate health hazards in their community prior to applying for a loan to finance a sewer and water system for the unincorporated village.

Corn Drive Continues

By JIM STEIERT
Brand Farm Editor

The Texas Corn Growers Association, in affiliation with the National Corn Growers Association, is continuing a membership drive in an 18-county area of the Texas Panhandle and South Plains region in preparation for a referendum election on July 29.

CARL KING, of Dimmitt, president of the TCGA, reports that response to the membership drive has been excellent, and added that membership dues are currently coming in at a rate of $500 to $700 per week.

Corn growers in the 18-county area involved with vote July 29 on a self-assessment program.

Under the program, the assessment would not exceed one-half cent per bushel. The amount would be collected on all corn sold, to be collected at the first point of sale.

Assessment funds would be used for research in disease and insect control in addition to promotion and education designed to encourage production, marketing and use of Texas corn.

A SIX MEMBER commodity producers board would also be elected to administer the proceeds of such an assessment.

The region involved in the referendum has been split into three areas.

Area I includes Deaf Smith, Parmer, Castrol, Bailey and Lamb counties.

Randall, Swisher, Briscoe, Hale and Floyd counties comprise Area II.

Included in Area III are Dallam, Sherman, Hansford, Ochiltree, Hartley, Moore, Hutchinson and Carson counties.

BALLOTING IN THE referendum election will be done at each county courthouse in the referendum area.

Polls will be open from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m. July 29.

Absentee ballots for the election should be in the hands of county agents by July 15, and producers who will be away from their voting location on election day may obtain an absentee ballot from their county agent or the Texas Corn Growers Association.

Absentee ballots must be mailed in the self-addressed envelope provided, to the central balloting location at 105 East Bedford in Dimmitt by midnight, July 26.

ELIGIBLE VOTERS in the election include any person within the referendum area engaged in the business of

Postmaster General Backs Citizen Rate

WASHINGTON (AP) The nation's top postal official says an estimated one letter in five would qualify for a proposed new "citizen rate" on stamps, but admits he doesn't know how many people would "go to the trouble" of meeting the requirements.

Postmaster General Benjamin F. Bailar recommended the new rate on Wednesday at a meeting with the Postal Service board of governors. His proposal would retain the present 13-cent stamp for personal letters while raising the cost of a first-class business stamp three cents.

The board of governors meets Monday to vote on the plan. If it approves, the new rates would go to the Postal Rate Commission, which would have 10 months to act.

Under the law, if the commission fails to act within that time, the rates would take effect automatically.

At the board meeting on Wednesday, Bailar also said he hopes to begin ending Saturday mail deliveries and possibly close more small post offices within the next several months.

Strong congressional opposition exists to both moves, but Bailar said, "I think the public will support responsible cost cutting."

He noted a recent poll showing 79 per cent of the public support five-day delivery if it would keep postage rates from climbing.

Before he decides whether to recommend a five-day delivery schedule, Bailar said, opposition of the postal employees' union leadership must be overcome. Complaints also have surfaced from publishers of weekly newspapers with advertising geared to Saturday delivery.

Postal officials said they expect business groups to challenge the dual-rate plan if it is approved by the two boards.

The U.S. Chamber of Commerce said the new rate would delay the eventual cost of higher postage to all users. The plan, the organization said, would amount to "robbing Peter to pay Paul."

But the National Association of Greeting Card Publishers lauded Bailar's proposal. The group said the mails "are the only feasible method of carrying personal correspondence" for many individuals.

The postmaster general listed these requirements for users of the proposed 13-cent rate: either the return or delivery address must be handwritten, both must include zip codes, both places must be in the United States and the envelope must meet size, shape and weight limits of mail handling machines.

Bailar estimated that the discounted rate would affect about 20 per cent of first-class mail.

He said he hoped holding personal letters to the 13-cent-a-ounce rate in effect for the last 18 months would lead to "public acceptance of our cost-cutting measures."

But he acknowledged that inflation could eat up all the savings and that if the books still don't balance, the 13-cent citizen rate could go up.

Murder The Charge In Children's Deaths

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) Two counts of second degree murder were expected to be filed today against a 19-year-old man in the fire slayings Wednesday of two children. Dist. Atty. Andrew Coats said.

The charges were due to be filed against Michael Creston Moore of Newcastle, Okla., Coats said.

The deaths occurred early Wednesday morning as Melford Isaac made his rounds, with his children asleep in the back of the car, delivering the Oklahoma Journal, an Oklahoma City newspaper.

Isaac, 25, left the motor running as he delivered the papers to an apartment complex about 4 a.m. He told police he saw a man jump in the car and drive off. Isaac said he tried to give chase, but gave up and called police.

Officers found the car about eight blocks away where its interior apparently was doused with a flammable liquid and set afire. A passerby saw the blaze and a man running from the car and called the fire department.

Firemen found the bodies after extinguishing the blaze, which was fed by the stack of newspapers in the hatchback compartment of the compact car.

About 10:45 a.m. Moore surrendered to Oklahoma City police, accompanied by an attorney.

Moore's sister Ronni, 18, also of Newcastle, was arrested and jailed on complaints of aiding and abetting a fugitive. A friend of the Moores, Marilyn Jean Helms, 18, Newcastle, was jailed as a material witness and on a complaint of interfering with official process.

The victims were identified as Melissa Isaac, 6, and her brother Martin, 3.

Isaac and his wife had recently separated and the husband was keeping the children. Rather than leave them alone, he had been taking them along as he delivered the papers - letting them sleep in the hatchback section of the car behind the stack of papers.

Coats said the second degree murder charges would be filed rather than first degree because of the apparent lack of premeditation.

It Should Be Lucky Day So They Decided To Marry

Individuals who put store in numbers, and share the belief that seven is a lucky one, might think that today holds fortune because the date is 7-7-77.

Lynn Arnold, owner of the local Dairy Queen, and Mary Dee Coleman, an employee of the extension service here, put so much stock in the luck of sevens that they decided to get married on this once-in-a-century date. The local couple are carrying the seven superstition a step further. Their marriage will be solemnized at seven seconds and seven minutes after 7 o'clock tonight. That marriage involves seven sevens.

An astrological expert, Robert Ball of Coral Gables, Fla., has announced that a child born today "would be unusually sharp of mind, genius quality." Ball also revealed that the stock market has risen every July 7th. If that claim is true, some investors will be in seventh heaven today.

She Produces TV Series

BY JAY SHARBUTT
AP Television Writer
LOS ANGELES (AP)—In 1966, a former ballroom dancer and ex-secretary named Renee Valente became one of television's few female producers, running a short-lived Burt Reynolds series called "Hawk." Last month, she began her second year as Columbia Pictures' vice president for TV movies and miniseries, overseeing 14 projects ranging from Carroll O'Connor's remake of "The Last Hurrah" to Frank Sinatra's made-for-TV "Contract on Cherry Street."

And while times are changing and more women are getting a shot at making shows for television, she says, the thought of it still can jar the egos of those who think of producing as for men only.

"A producer I worked with recently said, 'Renee, I love you, I've known you 100 years, but please don't take a credit on this show because it will diminish me,'" she said.

"It took me a back because I never thought of anything in that light and I guess it's because I started in the business of producing long before anybody told me I shouldn't be doing it."

Miss Valente's career as a producer began in the early 1960s, in her native New York, when she went from answering telephones to making dramas at Talent Associates, the production company of David Suskind.

A short, pleasant and frank woman, she joined Columbia's TV division as a producer in 1964, and moved here in 1968 as its head of casting.

Miss V., married to a producer and mother of a teen-ager, says she found no male resistance to her as producer of "Hawk" way back when because the show was made in New York, not Hollywood.

And New York, she says, is where in TV's early days women had the most opportunity to produce live and taped dramas simply because most of the menfolk had moved here to do TV films and series.

"But when tape and live TV went out, then those of us left in TV had no place to turn," she said.

Miss Valente, who thinks TV producing here has been a man's game because men have dominated the business here from the start, nonetheless thinks the domination is slowly diminishing.

"More and more men are beginning to find that women do have ability, that we aren't as weak and emotional as we have the image of being," she said. She was asked the big why of the change. "Well, I've not been a Gloria Steinem fan, ever," she said, referring to a leader in the women's rights movement. "But I find now I have to be terribly grateful to her for bringing to the fore and making an awareness which was not there before."

The Dodecanese are a group of 13 islands in the Southeastern Aegean Sea of which the capital and largest is Rhodes.

New York was the nation's most populous state from 1890 until overtaken by California in 1964.

The highest point on Antarctica is the Vinson Massif, 16,000 feet, while the lowest point has not yet been determined.

American Home After Ordeal

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP)—"I never thought America was so free," says a young Californian who spent the Fourth of July as a captive in Havana after Cuban forces seized the ketch he was sailing to Panama.

Robert Skafte, his four companions and their 46-foot ketch Musica were released Tuesday.

The U.S. Coast Guard said today two other American sailboats—the Sea Dragon from Miami and an unidentified boat from Orlando, Fla.—also were seized Sunday and were still being held in Cuba.

A Coast Guard spokesman said the Musica was seized in international waters after an unidentified American vessel fired on a Cuban fishing boat.

"The Americans on one of the sailboats were approached by another vessel that they thought was trying to conduct an act of piracy," said Coast Guard Lt. David Nicholson. "So the Americans opened fire on the other ship, and it turned out to be a Cuban vessel."

Word got back to Cuba that one of their ships had been fired on so the Cubans apparently took out every boat they had and seized every ship within a 50-mile radius of the incident. Nicholson said it was not known which American boat had fired at the Cuban ship, whether the other two boats also were seized in international waters or when they might be released. He said the other two boats were believed to be carrying two crewmen each.

Columbus, Ohio, was founded as the state capital in 1812.

Reds Clip Braves, 15-13

BY KEN RAPPOPORT
AP Sports Writer

The climate at Atlanta Stadium was humid, but it was hotter for the pitchers than it was for the hitters. And that's nothing new.

"It's pitiful," said Cincinnati Manager Sparky Anderson, talking about one of the best hitting parks in the major leagues. "It's strictly a launching pad and nothing else. It's tough on the pitching, tough on the manager and tough on everybody."

Line drives ricocheted around Atlanta Stadium with their accustomed ferocity Wednesday night. And after it stopped raining baseballs, the Reds had a football-sized 15-13 decision over the Atlanta Braves.

In other National League games, the Pittsburgh Pirates outscored the St. Louis Cardinals 11-8; the Philadelphia Phillies turned back the New York Mets 5-3; the Chicago Cubs defeated the Montreal Expos 8-6; the Houston Astros nipped the Los Angeles Dodgers 2-1 in 14 innings and the San Diego Padres beat the San Francisco Giants 7-5 in 12.

George Foster broke a tie with a two-run single in the eight inning and Dave Concepcion followed with a grand slam home run to secure Cincinnati's victory.

Pete Rose had four hits, including a homer, and drove in four runs as the Reds assaulted six Atlanta pitchers for 15 hits. Johnny Bench and Ken Griffey also homered, giving the Reds 10 home runs in the three-game series.

Nets Opting To Relocate

CARLE PLACE, N.Y. (AP)—The New York Nets, who began operations 10 years ago as the New Jersey Americans, apparently now are trying to become the New Jersey Nets.

Roy Boe, president of the PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Herman Harris, a second-round draft choice from the University of Arizona, signed a multi-year contract Wednesday with the Philadelphia 76ers of the National Basketball Association.

Harris, 23, a 6-foot-5 forward and guard from nearby Chester, Pa., is the first rookie the NBA team has signed this year.

He was the leading scorer for Arizona in the past year with 543 points for a 20.0 average.

Harris will join the 76ers at rookie camp in September.

ATLANTA (AP)—The Atlanta Hawks have signed their third draft pick, Auburn University's Ed Johnson, officials of the National Basketball Association club said Wednesday.

Details of the contract were not disclosed.

A 6-foot-2, 190-pound guard, Johnson was a third-round draft pick of the Hawks. He was a three-time all-South-eastern Conference player at Auburn Nets, said Wednesday he had entered into a letter of intent with the New Jersey Sports and Exposition Authority to move the National Basketball Association team to a 20,000-seat arena proposed for the Meadowlands Sports Complex in East Rutherford, N.J.

"It is hoped that we will be able to play at least one-half of the 1978-79 season in the new arena," Boe said. "In the interim, we plan to play our games at the new Rutgers University arena in New Brunswick."

Meanwhile, the Nets filed suit Wednesday at U.S. District Court in Newark, N.J., in an attempt to stop the New York Knicks from blocking their proposed shift. Judge Vincent Biunno issued a temporary order preventing the Knicks from filing suit in any other court to block the Nets' move.

The Knicks claim that territorial rights agreed upon when the Nets came into the NBA from the American Basketball Association last year require their permission before the Nets can make a move. But Boe said, "We have received assurances from our counsel that we are legally entitled to move to New Jersey and that protestations by the New York Knicks to the contrary are wholly without merit."

Negotiations broke down Wednesday between the Nets and officials of suburban Nassau County, N.Y., for a renewal of the team's lease on the Nassau Coliseum in Uniondale. The lease expires in September.

The Nets, ABA champions in 1974 and 1976, ranked next-to-last in NBA attendance last season with an average of 6,935 per game after selling star Julius Erving to Philadelphia.

Pirates 11, Cardinals 8
Fernando Gonzales' three-run homer off Al Hrabosky in the seventh led Pittsburgh over St. Louis. Gonzales' homer came after the Cardinals had taken an 8-6 lead with seven runs in their half of the inning. The St. Louis burst was capped by Ted Simmons' three-run homer off Pittsburgh relief star Rich Gossage.

Phillies 5, Mets 3
Jerry Martin's bases-loaded single and a sacrifice fly by pinch-hitter Tim McCarver produced three sixth-inning runs, enabling Philadelphia to beat New York.

Philadelphia trailed 3-1 New York's Jon Matlack, 3-10, starting the sixth. Then they rallied to beat Matlack for the ninth straight time since he last defeated them June 27, 1975.

Cubs 8, Expos 6
Greg Gross socked his first major league homer, a three-run shot in the sixth inning, to left Chicago over Montreal. The homer came off Don Stanhouse, 5-8, whose grand-slam homer in the second had given the Expos a 5-1 lead.

Astros 7, Dodgers 1
Jose Cruz' seventh home run of the season, in the 14th inning, led Houston over Los Angeles. Cruz connected off Dodger reliever Mike Garman, 4-1, breaking up the pitching duel that featured 24 strikeouts. Den of the Dodgers and J.R. Richard of the Astros pitched 10 strong innings. Bo McLaughlin, 2-3, worked the final two innings for Houston, and got the victory.

Padres 7, Giants 5
San Diego turned three San Francisco errors into three unearned runs in the 12th inning, capping the game-winning rally with Dave Kingman's run-scoring single.

Dan Spillner, 4-0, was the winner in relief as the Giants equaled their longest losing streak in San Francisco history, eight in a row.

Robinson Second In Tourney

Amarillo's Mark Gilmore and Brent Jacobs and Levelland's Cliff Baggett each claimed victories in the West Texas P.G.A. Junior Golf Tournament held at the Pitman Municipal Golf Course here Wednesday.

Gilmore, Jacobs, and Baggett won the 12-13, 16-18, and 14-15 age group titles respectively in the tourney, one stop of many across the Texas Panhandle for young golfers. A total of 23 golfers entered the tournament in the three age groups.

The three winners now advance to the West Texas Tournament of Champions, which will be held in Big Spring August 2.

Greg Robinson topped Hereford entrants at the meet with a second place in the 12-13 division. Other runners-up included Mike Young of Midland in the 14-15 group and Ricky Guy of Memphis in the 16-18 group.

Junior Results

12-13 Age Group—Mark Gilmore, 87; Greg Robinson, 93; Scot Skinner, 94; Bob Templeton, 95; Ken Cosper, 96; Bob Foster, 97; David Dudding, 97; Cary Beard, 98; Charles McDowell, 105; Scott Simmons, 116.

14-15 Age Group—Cliff Baggett, 74; Mike Young, 86; Brent Kerns, 89; Scott Tow, 92; John Foster, 93; Michael Craig, 98; Curt Beard, 99; Lisa Hughes, 108.

16-18 Age Group—Brent Jacobs, 76; Ricky Guy, 79; Victor Black, 85; Penny Hughes, 87; Robert Young, 106.

3-Ball Scramble Coming July 16

The Hereford Men's and Women's Golf Associations will conduct a 3-ball Florida Scramble Saturday, July 16. The time for the Shotgun Start at the event is 1 p.m. A dinner-dance will follow at 7:30 p.m. at the Hereford Country Club.

Entry fee to the scramble is $11, which includes the dinner-dance. Non-golfers may attend the social functions at a cost of $14.

Sherri Sargent of the HWGA has also announced that Rosemary Thompson of Amarillo, one of Texas' top women golfers, will be in Hereford Thursday, August 4 to conduct a shot clinic.

Mrs. Thompson will play 18 holes on that date, offering shot tips to an accompanying gallery along the way. She will also attend the HWGA luncheon following the round of golf. Any interested persons may attend the clinic, which is set to begin at 8 a.m.

Culpepper Second In Race Standings

AMARILLO—Sundown's J.D. Hughes captured the lead in the late-model standings by a narrow margin over Hereford's Jim Culpepper in Saturday's opening races of the second half of the season at Southwest Speedway.

Hughes sped to victory in the semi and main event to take the top spot in the second-half standings by a 180-160 point margin over Culpepper, who took runner-up honors in the main event.

Amarillo's Ron Glover resides in third with 135 points, five points ahead of fourth-place Wally Moulder of Amarillo and 15 points in front of Borger's Danny Masten.

Barry Weaver of Amarillo owns the second-half lead in the modified-stock standings by a 115-100 point margin over Borger's Jerry Elrod, the mid-season champion.

Sunray's Mike Thomas is setting the pace in the street-stock standings, possessing a 32-24 edge over defending champions Paul Malacara, Jr., of Amarillo.

Auto-racing action will resume at 8 p.m. Saturday on the asphalt track at NE 24th and Falsom Road. Admission will be $3 with children 11 and under admitted free.

Dorsett Facing Assault Charges

DALLAS (AP)—A bartender and barmaid at a Dallas disco have whistled Heisman Trophy winner Tony Dorsett, the Dallas Cowboys' heralded first-round draft choice, for alleged unnecessary roughness.

Dorsett faces two charges of simple assault stemming from an altercation early last Thursday at the night spot. He could be fined up to $200 on each count if convicted of the Class C misdemeanor.

But the former University of Pittsburgh star says the matter would have been dropped if he wasn't Tony Dorsett.

The complaints, filed in municipal court, allege Dorsett punched a bartender and threw a whiskey glass that cut a barmaid. He was not arrested, a Dallas police spokesman said, but will have to answer a summons.

Dorsett, who signed a Cowboy contract worth a reported $1.2 million, said the altercation resulted from a misunderstanding over whether he had paid for his drinks.

He said a bartender asked if he had paid, "and he asked in a way I didn't appreciate," said Dorsett.

The bartender insisted he move from the bar, Dorsett said, but Dorsett refused to move until he had finished his drink.

"He started coming at me, I was just protecting myself," said Dorsett. "I know this—if I hadn't been Tony Dorsett nothing would have been made of it. I don't know if the bartender knew at the time when he started it who I was, but he found out later."

Brett Recovers, Gives KC Victory

After lying in a hospital bed for four days, George Brett proved he could still hit snowballs on Christmas Day.

Wednesday morning, Brett checked out of a hospital after a four-day stay for treatment of an infected left elbow. Wednesday night, he pinch-hit a single in the bottom of the ninth to drive in Frank White with the winning run in the Royals 8-7 victory over the Milwaukee Brewers.

"I was pretty weak, but when you've been on your back for four days I guess you are," said last year's American League batting champion.

Frank White led off the Royals ninth with a single and stole second. Then Brett delivered his game-winning hit off Bill Castro, 7-5.

Perhaps the least surprised person was Royals Manager Whitey Herzog.

"I can't say I felt calm about things," he said. "But I knew, too, that George Brett could hit snowballs on Christmas Day."

In other American League action, Chicago edged Seattle 4-2, Boston whipped Toronto 9-5, Texas nipped Oakland 4-3, Minnesota beat California 4-3, Baltimore blanked Detroit 2-0, and the Cleveland-New York game was postponed by inclement weather.

Schroeder Tops Open

BY GEOFFREY MILLER
AP Sports Writer

TURNBERRY, Scotland (AP)—It's a good thing they made the pin placements so difficult," said Johnny Miller. "Otherwise someone would have shot in the 50s out there."

It was a strange start to the British Open Golf Championship no wind on Turnberry's Ailsa links, easy driving conditions but cunningly placed holes on the slopes of glassy greens.

"Those are the hardest pin placements I have ever seen in one round," Miller said.

Thursday's second round began with a surprising leader in John Schroeder, the son of former Wimbledon tennis champion Ted Schroeder, who birdied the last two holes late Wednesday to post a four-under-par 66 on the 6,875-yard layout beside the Fifth of Clyde.

Martin Foster, a relatively unknown Briton, was in second place with a 67.

Three American stars—Jack Nicklaus, Tom Watson and Lee Trevino—were at 68. Miller was at 69, along with Severiano Ballesteros of Spain and Indian-born Gaylord Burrows, who lives in the United States.

The winds which can make Ailsa such a place of terror never came. And the rough beside the narrow fairways was so short it caused few worries. Trevino kept hitting into the rough on his left.

"Honey," he told his wife Claudia who walked beside him, "it's the way to do it. You get a better lie in the rough than on the fairways."

"I hope it blows like hell for the rest of the tournament," Trevino said.

But it won't according to the weather experts. They predicted the same freakish calm through Saturday.

It is not what the locals are used to and not what the British Professional Golfers Association expected when they assigned the Open to Turnberry for the first time in the 117-year history of the tournament.

Schroeder's late charge came out of the blue, when most of the 17,600 spectators had gone home, and even some of the course marshals too.

Schroeder has won $53,000 this year and is 36th in the U.S. tour rankings.

He came to the 17th hole two under par and one stroke behind Foster. His second shot on the 17th landed in a bunker, but he blasted out to four feet from the pin and sank the putt.

CINCINNATI (AP)—The Cincinnati Bengals will end a two-year dispute by paying the city of Cincinnati $27,779 plus interest in taxes collected in 1975 and 1976 on Riverfront Stadium seats that were sold but never occupied.

Bengals General Manager Mike Brown said, "The city has agreed not to charge the Bengals a surcharge on the press admission and the other free admissions we have to the games."

The National Football League team maintained that the funds belonged to the customers since the seats weren't used. But because it was impossible to tell who the customers were, the team said, the money might belong to the club or the state instead of the city.

The city maintained that the tax was on tickets sold, not seats occupied. The Bengals put the money in escrow, where it has collected interest.

More TV Football Due In 1978

NEW YORK (AP) — ABC wants a piece of the Super Bowl. CBS and NBC are interested in Thursday night football. A West Coast promoter would like to show the playoffs and Super Bowl on closed-circuit television. There is even talk of televising some games on Sunday night.

These are some of the items on the agenda as the National Football League, the only major league that airs its games on all three networks, gears up for contract talks next week.

The current NFL contract with the three networks runs out after the upcoming season. It's time to begin hard bargaining and one thing is certain. There will be more pro football on the tube starting with the 1978 campaign than ever before.

The NFL schedule expands to 16 regular-season games in 1978 and the playoff format will include two extra games involving wild-card teams. The three networks combined currently pay about $60 million a season for rights to the NFL games and they'll pay more in the future.

All three have the right of first refusal for renewing their current packages. CBS has the Sunday National Conference games, a couple of NFC Saturday dates, a Thanksgiving Day game and the NFC playoffs. NBC gets the same package but with AFC games. And ABC has the Monday night package. CBS pays more for its NFC package than NBC does for the AFC games because the NFC includes a better selection of TV markets and, consequently, gets higher ratings.

Assuming all three networks agree, basically, to carry the same packages they have carried before, the main wrangling should come in discussion of new time periods and, of course, the Super Bowl.

The first Super Bowl was in January, 1967, and both CBS and NBC carried it. Since then, the game has alternated between those two networks with CBS getting Super Bowl XII next January.

Now ABC want to join the rotation. It has been suggested that ABC could get the game once every five years with the other two networks splitting the other four years. But ABC probably won't be satisfied with that arrangement and it appears likely the three networks will wind up rotating Super Bowl coverage. Thursday night football? While the prospect of another night of pro football may be appalling to some, CBS and NBC apparently feel there are enough football nuts in the land to justify it, at least occasionally.

The NFL, wary of overexposure but also eager for new sources of revenue, may come up with a separate package which could include two or three Thursday night games and as many Sunday night games.

Meanwhile, the NFL has also heard from California-based promoter Bill Sargent who reportedly offered the league in the neighborhood of $400 million for rights to the Super Bowl and championship playoffs for five years. He planned to show the games on closed-circuit TV.

The NFL, however, has made it plain it is not interested. The networks would not like the idea, the fans would hate it and, last but not least, Congress would not be amused.

Sports Shorts

The correct name of Gene Tenace, the San Diego Padre catcher-first baseman, is Fury Gene Tenace.

On Sept. 28, 1975, the Oakland A's used four pitchers to post a no-hitter against California. The hurlers were Vida Blue, Glenn Abbott, Paul Lindblad and Rollie Fingers.

For 10 consecutive seasons, from 1967 through 1976, first baseman Tony Perez, now with Montreal but then with Cincinnati, drove in 90 runs or more.

Only one man ever hit three home runs in a world series and he did it twice. It was Babe Ruth of the Yankees in 1926 and 1928.

Ann Landers Ungrateful Son

DEAR ANN: We have only one son. He was an outstanding student—won a scholarship to an Ivy League school and while studying there, he married.

His wife's family is wealthy but took the position that it's a husband's responsibility to support his wife. We supported them both generously until he passed his bar examination. Today he is a prominent lawyer.

His wife never cared for us, was always unfriendly, antagonistic and sarcastic. They have two children. We continue to be generous.

We never missed an occasion to present them with a lovely gift—for example, a new car for a birthday—and we air-conditioned their home for their anniversary. They are always happy to accept anything we give them.

We have expected very little in return except love and thoughtfulness. Yesterday was my birthday and they plumb forgot it.

We are considering changing our wills, leaving a substantial amount to charity or medical research, and would like to know what you think about this. Should we tell them how we feel, especially since nothing can be done about it anyway? Should we announce that we intend to divert some of the inheritance (which they undoubtedly expect to get)? It may ruin our relationship and hurt us more than them. Or should we just shut up and carry on as before?—Forgotten But Not Gone Yet

DEAR FORGOTTEN: I see no reason to make any announcements. Parents don't owe their children gifts of inheritances.

The next time one of their birthdays or anniversaries rolls around, just skip it. And keep skipping it. If any questions are asked simply say, "We decided to cut out the gift-giving since it was a one-way street."

If they don't shape up, I see nothing wrong in leaving the money to charity or medical research (bravo!). The kids can have the heirlooms—the house, the car and the family Bible.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My wife and I have been married less than a year. D. is gorgeous physically and brilliant mentally.

Some so-called friends have spread vicious rumors linking her sexually with my golf buddies and business associates. D. is furious. What's more, she knows who the gossip-spreaders are. She wants to have a dinner party at our home and invite the big-mouths and the people she's been linked with so she can tell them off. I'm not sure it's a good idea. She has agreed to go by what you say.—Hot Under The Collar wife might be "gorgeous physically," but she isn't brilliant mentally if she thinks a "denial party" will clear her name.

DEAR HOT COLLAR: Your

The best way to deal with vicious gossip is to ignore it.

DEAR ANN: What counsels advice can you give a woman who has had more than her share of family problems because of "proximity" and habit? (Doing more than she should.) I am 39 and want to handle my remaining years better than I've handled the ones so far.—Anastasia

DEAR A: You have two choices. Either you alter the "proximity" and break the habit—or you change yourself so you can cope with the situation.

MR. AND MRS. ELMER PATTERSON
...to receive farewell tribute

Pattersons To Be Honored

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Patterson, longtime residents who are moving to Tulsa, Okla., will be honored during an open house from 3-4:30 p.m. Sunday in the Fellowship Room of Central Church of Christ, Sunset and Plains.

Church members are hosting the reception and extend an invitation for all interested persons to attend this farewell tribute.

The eldest of three sons of Mr. and Mrs. H.R. Patterson, Elmer came to Hereford with his parents in 1916 from Sherman. As a junior student at Hereford High School, he began working for the post office, where he eventually became assistant postmaster. He retired in 1962.

Patterson was valedictorian of the HHS graduating class of 1924. An amateur photographer, he provided snapshots and moving pictures for the Chamber of Commerce through the years. He has also photographed weddings and family reunions, as well as doing photographs for the HHS yearbook.

Patterson was instrumental in the organization of the Magic Triangle Chapter of the National Association of Retired Federal Employees. He has served as president of that group.

The couple was active in Hereford Camp Fire Council while their daughters were members of Camp Fire groups. He was president of the council and, with his wife's assistance, helped with annual camping programs. Mrs. Patterson was leader of a Camp Fire group and held various offices in the leader's association as well as the council.

Nee Bessie Chambers, Mrs. Patterson came to Hereford in 1920 with her parents, the late Mr. and Mrs. W.H. Chambers, from the Silverton area. The family moved to Canyon in 1923 and she graduated from Canyon High School in 1927. She went on to receive a bachelor of arts degree from West Texas State University in 1930 and a master of arts degree in 1955.

She taught speech, typing and journalism at the local high school from 1954-58, while her two older daughters attended college. She is past president of Deaf Smith Federation of Women's Clubs, Panhandle Pen Women, and La Plata Study Club. Mrs. Patterson is an honorary life member of the Chamber of Commerce.

Her work as correspondent for the Amarillo News-Globe and The Hereford Brand led to her authorship of "A History of Deaf Smith County" in 1964.

The Pattersons are members of Central Church of Christ, where he has served as an elder since 1950. Becoming a member in 1922, Patterson has taught secondary and adult classes at the church since that time.

For several years, Mrs. Patterson was supervisor of the church's junior department. More recently, she has been teaching Sunday School classes for teenage girls and women. Her series of lessons for women has been published under the title of "Wisely Train The Younger Women" by Quality Publishers of Abilene. Her second Bible study book for women is in the process of being printed. Entitled "A Wise Woman Builds Her House," the book is planned as the first edition of a "Wise Woman" series.

The Pattersons have worked with Churches of Christ in special efforts in Vermont, California, Hawaii, Jamaica, Arkansas and Texas.

The Pattersons' daughters are Gerry Bennett of Orange, Cal., Nancy Ward of Oxford, Ohio and Sheryl Coldwell of Tulsa.

Pageant Competition Preliminaries Reported

FORT WORTH (AP)—Lori Smith, Miss Haltom-Richland Area, won preliminary talent competition in the Miss Texas pageant Wednesday for the second year with the same song, "Moanin' Low."

"Stick with a winner," she said, adding she felt honored by the judges' choice. She was Miss Dallas last year.

Debbie Wilson, Miss White Settlement, won preliminary swimsuit competition. This is also her second year in the pageant.

"Chuck paid off," she said, attributing her success to her manager, Chuck Weisbeck, who also was her trainer.

Miss Smith went on to become second runnerup last year. She chose the song because "I feel that's what I sing best-blues."

Although she has been singing professionally in the Dallas-Fort Worth area, she didn't sing "Moanin' Low" during the past year so she wouldn't get tired of it.

She wore a green sequin gown, bending far back with her hand-held mike to put feeling in her voice as the spot scattered shards of light from her dress.

Judging from applause, she had quite a few supporters in the crowd of 1,976 at Tarrant County Convention Center theater.

Miss Wilson, a fifth grade teacher in Arlington public schools, trained extensively with weights under Weisbeck's direction. She attributes success in her red swimsuit to training and protein-rich diet.

Miss Wilson also received quite a few cheers.

Others popular with the crowd were Peggy Oliver, Miss Laporte-Bayshore, who performed the "Don Quixote" classical ballet; Judy Wee, Miss Houston, who sang a medley called "Top of the World and Let me be there," Persis Forster, Miss Arlington, who sang "It's a Good Day" and tap danced, and Mary Ella Meek, Miss Hurst-Eules-Bedford, a preliminary talent winner last year as Miss West Texas, who sang "My Man."

Tonight the girls, who are divided into three groups for the preliminaries, will again compete in swimsuit, talent and evening gown categories.

Results of the evening gown competition are not announced. Pageant officials say this is because they don't like the girls imitating the winners.

A fourth category of competition, closed to the public, is a five-minute judges' interview, which sources say can make or break a contestant.

The 10 girls with the highest point total after three nights of preliminary competition will again Saturday night win the chance to go the September Miss America pageant in Atlantic City.

Constant talkers are not communicating; they are being rude, says Dorothy Taylor, life education specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Thaw pre-cooked meat and tomato sauce to add to a Spanish rice or chili for a quick hurry-up meal, suggests Mary K. Sweeten, foods and nutrition specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

High unemployment has hit the entire labor force, the Conference Board notes, but the college graduates have been hurt far less than others.

Diana Stindt Earns Degree

Diana Jean Stindt, daughter of Hereford residents Mr. and Mrs. Fred Stindt of Greenwood street, was awarded the master of science degree in Dental Public Health recently by the Boston University School of Graduate Dentistry.

A 1975 graduate of Amarillo College School of Dental Hygiene, Miss Stindt previously received a degree in psychology in 1971 from North Texas State University. She is a 1968 graduate of Hereford High School.

The School of Graduate Dentistry, established in 1963, was the first dental school to emphasize the training of postdoctoral students in the dental specialties. It offers the Master of Science in Dentistry and the Doctor of Science degrees, and the Certificate of Advance Study. Since 1972, the School has offered a predoctoral course leading to the D.M.D. degree.

A Master of Public Health in Dental Hygiene degree, and training programs in dental technology and dental assisting are also offered by the School.

The School is a part of Boston University Medical Center, which also includes Boston University School of Medicine and University Hospital.

Cake Decorating Class Offered for Advanced

A cake decorating class for advanced students will be held at Hereford Community Center Monday, July 18.

Interested persons must pre-register for the three-hour class before Wednesday, July 13 by contacting Barbara Pittard, 364-1357. A fee of $5 will be charged and each student will need to provide their individual equipment.

Mrs. Pittard stressed that no beginners will be accepted and that it is mandatory that students preregister for the course before the deadline.

The decorating class is being sponsored by Sweet 'n' Fancy Decorating Club.

'Whole Life' Insurance Good Savings Program

COLLEGE STATION— A "whole life" insurance policy lifelong protection to its owner and the beneficiaries, as long as the premiums are paid—and it builds savings called "cash value," says Lynn White, a family resource management specialist.

"For those reasons, it costs more at first than 'term life' insurance, which has only a limited protection time—however, the cost on whole life insurance does not increase, as long as premiums are paid on time, she explained.

Mrs. White, said the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System, is author of a publication, "Life Insurance" (MP-1262), available through County Extension Offices statewide. It includes a chart to help families "size up" their insurance needs, she said, as well as a description of the various types of life insurance.

Three types of "whole life" insurance policies are available, she noted.

LIMITED-PAYMENT LIFE protects the policy owner throughout life—but the premiums (payments) are all paid by the time the insured reaches a certain age, such as 60 or 65, or at the end of a set number of years, such as 20 or 30 years, she said.

"These premiums are higher than straight whole life premiums, but the policyholder gets them out of the way before retirement."

While this type of policy builds cash value more rapidly, its protection element tends to be more expensive than straight whole life policies," Mrs. White added.

FAMILY PROTECTION POL- ICES cover more than one life in a contract.

"A set unit of protection is selected for each person included."

"For example, this policy may provide $10,000 whole life on the husband, $5,000 of term to age 65 on the wife, and $1,000 of term to age 25 on each child."

"While this policy is convenient at first, it can be very complex as the family might change due to deaths or divorce," the specialist cautioned.

SPLIT LIFE is a new type of insurance that uses separate contracts each for the "protection" and "savings" elements of the policy.

"For this type of life insurance, the protection element is a one-year renewable term contract that can be renewed until age 65, if every payment on the savings contract has been paid."

"The savings element is an annual premium retirement annuity contract—which means it is paid back to the policy holder as 'retirement income payments' beginning at age 65."

"While the one-year renewable term premiums are less expensive than regular renewable term insurance, the savings portion earns small returns," Mrs. White pointed out.

"Compared to whole life policies, however, the split life policy does provide more protection for each dollar spent on it—but it has a smaller savings element," the specialist added.

Alaska is the least densely populated state with 0.5 inhabitants per square mile.

LCC Slates Courses

Registration for the third summer session at Lubbock Christian College will be held in the lobby of the Administration Building Monday, July 11 with the classes starting the same day.

Courses ranging from art to sociology are being offered. The session ends August 5.

Persons also may sign up for one of two mini-courses on July 11. Both are three-semester hour courses which meet on an accelerated schedule.

The first mini-course, "Teaching the Child from the Broken Home," will meet from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. July 11-15. General Psychology II is the second offering. It will meet from 1 to 5 p.m. July 11-22.

Persons seeking further information or a complete list of classes can write or call Lubbock Christian College, 5601 W. 19th Lubbock, Texas 79407—(806) 792-3221.

Wash swimsuits regularly to give them longer, brighter life, advises Marlene Odle-Kemp, clothing specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Fresh Vegetable Supplies Increase

COLLEGE STATION— Fresh vegetable supplies will increase and prices on many will drop in the next few weeks, according to Gwendolyn Clyatt, consumer marketing information specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Her food buying summary for the week includes several budget items.

FRESH VEGETABLES— Most economical items include yellow, zucchini and white squash, corn, purple hull peas, okra, cucumbers and snap beans. Also, cabbage, green onions, carrots and potatoes— as well as head lettuce and mustard greens.

FRESH FRUITS— Budget buys include oranges, bananas, peaches, plus, cantaloupe and watermelon. Other soft fruits— including nectarines, grapes, apricots and Bing cherries— are available in varying amounts and price ranges, so choose according to the food budget.

PORK— Pork prices are trending upward as usual at this time of year, although slab bacon has economy prices. Frankfurters are good choices in spite of higher prices.

POULTRY— Whole turkeys have reasonable prices, and turkey parts offer some bargains.

POULTRY— Whole turkeys have reasonable prices, and turkey parts offer some bargains.

Egg prices are up slightly. The egg market is unsettled, being somewhat affected by high temperature.

BEEF— Check food ads for specials on rib and sirloin steaks, chuck cuts, corned beef, stew beef, ground beef and liver.

Developing Talents

Tania Willson (left of Hereford) was a student along with Becky Bilberry of Ft. Sumner, N.M. at the recent Rodeo Queen Clinic held by Heritage West of Clovis, N.M. Miss Willson is the Hereford Riders Club Queen.

Local Coed Attends Rodeo Queen Clinic

Tania Willson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Percy Willson of Hereford, attended a Rodeo Queen Clinic conducted by Heritage West, Inc. at Clovis, N.M. this past week. Wilma Fulgham, director of Heritage West, is becoming known throughout the United States for "her ability to turn out Rodeo Queen winners."

Tania found preparing to be a Rodeo Queen at Heritage West "was more than just riding a horse."

In involved a study of horsemanship, rodeo knowledge, appearance and personality. The clinic teaches "a total personality development which will be beneficial to a young lady throughout her life, whether or not she enters into competition, or simply applies these principles and knowledge to her everyday living."

Tania has been riding for about four years and at present is the Hereford Riders Club Queen. She has participated in jr. high and high school rodeos and is a sophomore at Hereford High School.

Two recent graduates of Heritage West, Trish Walker of Spearfish, S.D. and Teri Drake of Gillette, Wyo. recently won their State High School Rodeo Queen contest and will be in competition at Billings, Mont. in August for the National High School Rodeo Queen title. Miss Walker was also named queen of the Little Britches Rodeo of South Dakota.

Renee Keilt Carter, Miss Rodeo New Mexico 1976 and second-runner-up to Miss Rodeo America 1976, is a graduate of Heritage West. Mrs. Carter now helps clinic participants with their horsemanship while Jewell Maffett, a former instructor at Glen Dore Finishing School gives instructions in make-up, posture, appearance and personality development.

Becky Bilberry of Ft. Sumner, N.M., Miss Rodeo New Mexico 1978, was one of the recent clinic students along with Miss Willson. Othalee Bain of Tucuman, N.M., Quay County Horseshow Queen; Dorina Lee, Curry County Fair Queen-elect and Lisa Moore, a jr. high student of Clovis.

Learning the Basics

Before launching into the waters of the City Pool on a solo expedition, a local youngster rehearses the breast stroke with the help of a Red Cross volunteer instructor. Swimming classes for all age groups are sponsored each year through a non-profit program conducted by the Red Cross. Further information, concerning these sessions may be obtained from Katy Miller or the Red Cross office.

Installation Slated

Here By Rebekah Lodge

New officers will be installed during the next meeting of Hereford Rebekah Lodge #228 on July 12 in IOOF Hall. It was announced Tuesday during a regular meeting.

Ola Hacker, noble grand-elect, requested formal attire for the upcoming installation ceremony, which will commence at 8 o'clock that night. Members are also asked to bring food for a salad supper, which will follow the meeting.

In further business, a report was heard concerning sick members and the installing team officers practiced. Led by Ursalee Jacobsen, district deputy president, the team will travel to Friona Monday to install officers of that community's Rebekah Lodge #308.

Lydia Hopson was hostess for the fellowship hour. Members present were Ola Hacker, Verna Sowell, Helen Sowell, Blanche Williamson, Ursalee Jacobsen, Ada Hollabaugh, Martha Bridges, Frances Parker, Nellie Beauford, Bessie Saulcy, Edna Mathes, Sadie Shaw, Susie Curtisinger and Merl Bridges.

Charcoal Cooking Adds Zest to Meat

[NOTE TO EDITOR: This is the second of a three-part series on outdoor cooking— which deal with meat. The last part will detail vegetable cooking.]

COLLEGE STATION— Charcoal grilling meats are unbeatable— especially when outdoor chef knows the basic "how-to's."

Cooking is ready to begin once the fire is a bed of rosy coals covered with grey ash, says Marilyn Haggard, a foods and nutrition specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

GRILLING GUIDELINES
Place meats on the hot grill, allow them to sear on one side, baste with sauce or butter, cook half of total cooking time—and then turn them over once.

Turning meat only once retains more moisture.

In turning meats, always use tongs—as forks leave holes that allow tasty juices to escape, the specialist says.

If fire flames up as fat drips on the coals, sprinkle flames lightly with water or a little baking soda.

To slow down cooking, remove a few coals—or raise the rack. To speed cooking, add coals along the fire edge and transfer to the center once grey ash covers them.

HAMBURGER GRILLING
Pack ground beef patties very firmly so they will hold together during cooking. Cook hamburgers one-half to three-fourths inch thick for five to ten minutes on each side about three inches from the fire.

BEEF STEAKS
Grill steaks five to six inches from the fire. For a one-inch-thick steak— medium rare—allow 20 minutes total cooking time. For a two-inch steak, allow 35-40 minutes.

PORK CHOPS
Cook pork chops fairly well done about four to six inches from the fire. Allow 35-40 minutes for one-inch-thick chops.

CHICKEN
Cook the inside first, the skin side last. Allow 25-30 minutes for chicken parts, and cook the meat about four to six inches from the fire.

Cook split halves six to eight inches from the fire for about 45 minutes.

Botulism Poisoning Can Be Prevented

COLLEGE STATION— The recent outbreak of botulism poisoning from home-canned peppers in Michigan underscores the necessity of using scientifically developed processes for safe home canning, emphasizes Al Wagner, food technologist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Referring to a scientific summary just released by the Institute of Food Technologists, Wagner points out, "Home canning looks simple, but attention to every detail is essential to the retention of nutrients and to safety."

Since more than 30 years ago when a firm scientific basis for safe canning of low-acid foods was established, only five botulism deaths have been attributed to the more than 800 billion containers of commercially canned foods, compared to almost that many deaths every year from home canning. The reason for this, according to Wagner, is that "the role and importance of the various factors which combine to insure commercial sterility in canning have not been communicated effectively to the general public, nor have they been put into practice in home canning."

"The natural acidity of a food is one factor affecting canning," explains the food technologist. "Some foods are naturally more acid than others, and this higher acidity makes the bacteria which produce poisons in canned food easier to kill. For example, tomatoes (a high-acid food) can be successfully heat processed in a boiling water bath (212 degrees F.) while string beans (a low-acid food) must be processed in a pressure canner at 240 degrees F. These natural acids have the ability to inhibit or prevent the growth of many microorganisms which produce spoilage and disease."

Recent publicity about "low-acid tomatoes" has led some home canners to question whether they can safely be processed in a boiling water bath, notes Wagner. Recent research by the U.S. Department of Agriculture shows that the varieties Garden State, and to a lesser extent, Ace, Ace 55VF and Cal Ace, were found to be undesirably low in acidity and are not suitable for home canning. (These varieties are not normally grown in Texas.) However, a further study by the University of Minnesota showed that none of the supposedly low-acid tomatoes were truly low enough in acid to permit the production of poison from botulinum bacteria. Such tomatoes can thus be safely canned in a boiling water bath.

The scientists did find that the acidity of tomatoes drops as they pass ripeness, and that canning of over-ripe tomatoes could lead to serious problems," Wagner points out.

The food technologist also emphasizes the necessity of killing temperatures reaching all of the food in a container, including the very center. Factors that affect the rate at which heat penetrates the container include the size and shape of the container, the ratio of solids to liquid, the type and size of the pieces, and the amount of fat.

"Since only a fraction of the original microorganisms die during each minute of processing time, the number remaining alive at the end of the process will depend partly on the number present at the beginning," cautions Wagner. "Thus, cleanliness at all stages and the use of sound, undamaged produce will help insure a safe processed product."

Our Minority Government

Abner McCall is an academic Georgie Patton, uncompromisingly intolerant of inefficiency. He is president of Baylor University, militantly Baptist. He voted for Jimmy Carter; he's sorry.

Our loquacious U.N. Ambassador Andrew Young pulled the cork. He said, "the government of South Africa is an illegitimate government."

Presumably, Ambassador Young meant that the government of South Africa did not represent the majority of that country's people.

Suddenly, Abner McCall was reminded that our government does not represent the majority of our people.

Recent public opinion polls show that our Congress has only about a 25 per cent approval rating, and it's likely the federal bureaucracy and the federal courts rank even lower.

This means that millions of Americans no longer feel that the federal government represents us—that it does not respond to our wishes; that, in fact, it responds to whatever minority is noisiest.

Sociologist Robert Michels once observed that power "issuing from the people ends by raising itself above the people."

McCall believes that our regulatory, regimented, restrictive, dictatorial bureaucracy has now raised itself so far above the people as to become what Ambassador Young calls "illegitimate."

We want to love our country, but we cannot identify with it.

Campaigning for President Jimmy Carter had made much of the fact that he was not "Washington establishment." He promised to restore the federal government to the people, to reduce the bureaucracy, to eliminate stifling federal regulations and some of the bureaus, agencies, commissions, regulations pour forth.

He even promised to balance the budget.

In half a year in office, almost everything President Carter has proposed contradicts those promises.

He now sees no prospect of balancing the budget.

His energy plan and his consumer protection department involve a host of new regulations and new regulators, and his support for repeal of the Hatch Act would, in fact, strengthen and entrench the federal bureaucracy.

Our nation's treasured Declaration of Independence from foreign dominations includes this complaint against George Third: "He had erected a multitude of New Offices and sent hither swarms of officers to harass our people and eat out their substance."

Tom Jefferson, where are you when we need you today!

I have sought to paraphrase Abner McCall; I hope fairly.

His premise must haunt us all.

In our much vaunted determination to promote majority rule for others, are we losing it ourselves?

In our much vaunted determination to promote majority rule for others, are we losing it ourselves?

In our much vaunted determination to promote majority rule for others, are we losing it ourselves?

Opinion surveys show Americans 87 per cent opposed to city school busing, yet their government demands it.

Accident

Nets Man

$450,000

AUSTIN (AP)—A railway accident that cost Charles McCartney of Silsbee most of a foot was worth $450,000 to him, the Texas Supreme Court ruled Wednesday.

A judge on the Beaumont Court of Civil Appeals had stated that $90,000 per toe was too much.

The Beaumont court also affirmed the judgment, however, and Justice Quentin Keith's comments were merely a dissent to the majority opinion.

McCartney, a brakeman, was hurt July 16, 1974, when an Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe Railway Co. car loaded with rocks rolled free, crushing his foot.

His small toe was severed, and surgery was later required to remove the remaining four toes and part of the ball of his foot.

McCartney, 21, said the injury caused this foot to turn blue-black, and it hurt so much that he could not stand the pain of putting a sock on it.

The majority of the Beaumont court said McCartney, a $1,500-a-month employee, had a life expectancy of 49.4 more years and a work expectancy of 40.6 more years.

Keith said the $450,000 judgment was "so excessive as to shock" his conscience.

Controversial Archbishop To Visit Texas Sunday

DICKINSON, Tex. (AP)—French Archbishop Marcel Lefevre, who last week defied Pope Paul's order not to ordain 14 priests of his traditionalist religious organization, will visit this Southeast Texas city Sunday to consecrate a chapel and administer confirmation.

Archbishop Lefevre's conflict with Pope Paul centers on his celebration of mass in Latin following the Tridentine rite as opposed to the new liturgy which calls for the mass to be celebrated in the language of the parishioners.

In Galveston the Rt. Rev. John Morkovski, bishop of the Galveston-Houston Diocese, said he was "saddened" by the controversy involving the French archbishop and the Pope.

The French archbishop is the founder of the Society of St. Pious X, a religious order which follows the more traditional teachings of the church as opposed to those that emerged from the Second Vatican Council.

Last week, after the archbishop defied the Pope's order and ordained 14 priests at a seminary in Ebone, Switzerland, Vatican Radio said his actions had placed him outside the church. Pope Paul had barred the archbishop from performing priestly functions because of his militant campaign against the modernization of the church. The ban, however, does not invalidate the functions.

The Pope has not criticized the archbishop openly, apparently trying to avoid an open break.

Archbishop Lefevre will be consecrating the Queen of Angels Chapel, a church that belongs to his religious order and reportedly has a congregation of 800. He will celebrate a pontifical mass in the morning and later administer the sacrament of confirmation.

Father Hector Boldue said Archbishop Lefevre and his followers maintain communion with the Roman Catholic Church. Father Boldue is one of eight priests of the Society in the United States.

Henley Appeal Taken Under Consideration

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—Elmer Wayne Henley's lawyer said Wednesday that the evidence that Henley killed six teen-age boys was "overwhelming," but he did not get a fair trial in San Antonio.

Will Gray, appointed by the court to represent Henley in what police called a homosexual torture-murder rampage resulting in 27 deaths, appealed Henley's 1974 conviction to the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals.

Henley, then 18, was convicted of six slayings and sentenced to 99 years for each slaying.

Gray said the "evidence of the young man's guilt is overwhelming. That is undisputed. But that does not deny him the right to a fair trial. I submit that he was denied that right."

He said the trial took place in

"some sort of circus atmosphere."

Henley's trial was moved from Houston, where most of the bodies were recovered, to San Antonio after heavy publicity.

Gray said Judge Preston Dial of San Antonio denied a defense motion to transfer the trial from San Antonio without hearing testimony, as the law requires. "The court has to consider some evidence in making a determination," Gray said.

Gray said Dial began the questioning of prospective jurors in secret until a "press furor" developed, and Dial refused to lock up jurors between court sessions. Reporters even tried to interview members of the jurors' families during the trial, Gray said.

Gray said.

State, Local Finances Gain In Strength Across Nation

WASHINGTON (AP)—The nation's economic recovery is waking state and local governments from the budget nightmares that have haunted them in recent years. A nationwide look at state-local operating budgets for 1976 reveals a rare surplus after years of red ink.

Cities with continued high unemployment or above-average costs—such as New York and Boston—continue to walk a fiscal tightrope with high taxes and reduced services. But the Department of Commerce says that, taken as a whole, state and local finances are strong.

The strengthening economy is sending increasing revenues into state and local treasuries. People returning to work are paying taxes on their income instead of drawing unemployment or welfare checks.

At the same time, cost-cutting efficiencies forced by recession-imposed revenue reductions are providing governments with income bonuses. Commerce officials say state-local income during the first three months of 1977 was up 9.4 per cent from the year previous—a surprisingly strong recovery from the 1974 recession.

"These governments have faced formidable problems in the middle 1970s," says an analysis by the economic group of the Chase Manhattan Bank.

Recession dampened revenue and boosted welfare outlays, while inflation bloated costs. Services were cut in many jurisdictions, but large deficits still accumulated. In some places, bankruptcy threatened.

"In reaction, the government ran tight fiscal operations last year and their collective position took a marked turn for the better."

In fact, Chase Manhattan reported the 1976 cumulative state-local budget surplus was the first in three decades, except for 1972 and 1973 when federal revenue sharing overfilled budget coffers.

Last year, total receipts by state and local governments rose by 11 per cent, "not especially strong relative to the trend from the mid-1960s, but well ahead of the mere 8.5 per cent spending increase in 1976," said Chase. "The result was a tiny surplus in the operating budget of state-local governments taken all together."

The budget bubble, even cumulatively, is a delicate one always threatening to burst.

"If inflation seriously worsens, government will once again have to cut activities as the prices they pay outrun receipts," said Chase.

2nd-Half Economy May Be Even Better

NEW YORK (AP) - This is the midyear, which we all know is when most people go on vacation, leaving economists and government officials to worry about the state of the nation.

Worry is the proper approach in such occupations, because so much can go bad so quickly. But here is an economic view, presented without comment, that departs pleasantly from what you're used to hearing.

It's a fresh, crisp as a salad report from Albert H. Cox, Jr.,

president of Merrill Lynch Economics, an arm of the nation's largest securities firm and an important economic force in its own right.

"The economy's performance in the second half is likely to be, by and large, a pleasant contrast to what has transpired thus far this year."

"There won't be the impact of a harsh winter to exaggerate and to worry about. Consumer price inflation, which reached double-digit portions from last December through April, should settle down to around 6.5 per cent or thereabouts, as food price inflation subsides.

"Interest rates should hold steady, or possibly even drive a bit lower in the next few months, now that the Fed has successfully concluded its spring offensive against a spurt in monetary growth."

"Consumer spending will probably be a lot stronger than many fear, though the mix is changing, with more emphasis on household durables and flattening of auto demand."

"And capital spending should continue to show added zip, despite the rather widespread skepticism that has greeted our own strong capital spending survey results and similar soundings by the Commerce Department."

We return now to cares and tribulations. Julius Shiskin, the respected leader of the Bureau of Labor Statistics, is worried that the monthly economic numbers are being leaked to Wall Street traders a few minutes early, giving them a trading advantage in the stock market. The stock market often seeks excuses to move, and the monthly numbers almost always provide that excuse. It's a game that investors and speculators play.

From now on, states Shiskin, the Labor Department's monthly reports on unemployment, wholesale prices and consumer prices are to be made available for public distribution at 9 a.m. instead of 10 a.m.

American Troops To Be Airlifted To Europe

WASHINGTON (AP) - More than 12,000 American combat soldiers will fly to Europe next month for the 10th annual Reforger field training exercises, the Pentagon said Wednesday.

The troops will be airlifted to Germany, the Netherlands, Belgium, and Luxembourg and then moved to various locations in West Germany to use equipment already there for the operation.

In addition, 48 Air Force F4

Phantom fighter bombers will fly nonstop to Germany from New Mexico to participate in a parallel air exercise called Crested Cap. The first squadron will arrive in Germany on Aug. 22.

The forces will remain in Europe after the exercises until mid-October to also participate in the Autumn Forge series of training exercises of NATO troops.

Traveling to Europe for the operations will be major elements of the 1st Infantry Division from Ft. Riley, Kan.; two squadrons from the 49th Tactical Fighter Wing at Holloman Air Force Base, N.M.; and personnel of the 4th Mechanized Infantry Division Ft. Carson, Colo.; the 3rd Armored Cavalry Regiment, Ft. Bliss, Tex.; a Ranger battalion from Ft. Lewis, Wash. and elements of the Army National Guard and Reserve.

Expanded Cotton Production Foreseen For Next Decade

RALEIGH, N.C.—An analysis of the world cotton market in the 1980s indicates that U.S. cotton producers have the potential for an expanding cotton market in the coming years.

Looking beyond the current market to 1980 and 1985, economists at Cotton Incorporated, the fiber company of American cotton producers, say several factors point to this conclusion.

These factors, they said, include:

--Further increases in standards of living in many areas of the world.

--The likely inability of foreign cotton producers to increase production at a rate equal to increase in foreign consumption.

--Rising prices for synthetic fibers, forced by higher energy and other production costs, placing cotton in a better competitive position.

David Jordening, Cotton

Incorporated associated director, economic research and development, says American cotton producers will be able to put as much land into cotton as is needed to meet the demand in 1980 or 1985.

"Cries of a shortage of agricultural and, often raised by the producers of synthetic fibers, have no basis in fact, and are being proved false," says Jordening.

"Then land is available in the United States, with few limitations," he adds. "Given the incentive, American cotton producers can and will be able to supply increasing amounts of fiber to satisfy world needs."

The future trend of U.S. cotton production, Jordening says, will depend on factors such as the prospective world demand for cotton.

"Statistics from the United Nations," he adds, "indicates that the world's population will continue to grow, although the rate of expansion may decrease. By 1980, world population is projected at 4.4 billion, an increase of 400 million from 1975 levels. By 1985, it is expected to reach 4.8 billion, another 400 million increase."

Much of this increase, the Cotton Incorporated economist points out, will occur in areas of the world—such as Asia, Africa and Latin America—that are heavily dependent on cotton.

"In these areas," he adds, "life styles and living standards favor cotton and will tend to slow the market penetration of synthetic fibers."

While economic expansion in most parts of the world in the late 1970s and early 1980s is not expected to match the rapid rate of expansion experienced in the mid-1960s, the impact is likely to restrict growth in use of synthetic fibers more than cotton, says Jordening.

He says these considerations, and the fact that cotton producers have turned back the thrust of synthetic fiber producers in the United States through the Cotton Incorporated program, point to a troubled outlook for world synthetic fiber producers.

He explains that as people's incomes and standards of living improve, they first fill their basic needs, such as clothing. At high income levels, more and more fiber is directed into such non-cotton, non-apparel end uses as tire cords and carpets.

The Cotton Incorporated economists say there are indications today that increases in synthetic fiber production costs are on the way which will reverse the situation that has placed cotton prices at a premium over the last few years.

"It has been estimated," Jordening points out, "that synthetic fiber production is five to six times more energy intensive than cotton production, and energy costs can be expected to go only one way—up. Increased energy costs will have five to six times the impact on synthetic fiber production costs as on cotton production costs."

Synthetic fiber prices, he adds, not only will climb upward from today's prices, but will rise at an increasingly faster rate in the future and go to a premium over cotton.

"With synthetic fiber prices pulling cotton prices upward rather than holding them down, more cotton acreage will result," Jordening says.

Prince Bernhard Back In The Swing

THE HAGUE, The Netherlands (AP) - Ten months after his official disgrace in the Lockheed scandal, Prince Bernhard of The Netherlands has re-emerged with surprising self-assurance into the mainstream of Dutch life.

His "business skills" won him the 1977 Man-of-the-Year award of Dutch exporters. His appearance at a recent film opening, cigar in hand, turned into a flashbulb and TV-camera event.

Every indication, from polls to private conversations, is that the Dutch are warmly greeting the 66-year-old prince's increasing activities, now more as a cutter of inaugural ribbons than as an expeditor of international affairs.

The country appears to have forgotten the details of Bernhard's involvement in the Lockheed affair, which a government report said compromised The Netherlands' reputation. According to the disclosures last year, the prince solicited $4 million to $6 million in sales commissions from the Lockheed Corp. of the United States.

"He is not a Nixon or an Agnew for us, but somebody we have known for 35 years, a war hero, a good father, a man who has done immense good for his country," said Teunis Middlekoop, assistant director of The Netherlands Export Association, whose 440 member firms voted unanimously in June to present Bernhard its award for export promotion. The group is considered politically conservative.

"Foreigners may laugh or see some irony in our giving the award to the prince," Middlekoop said. "But we haven't received a negative phone call or letter. You must see the prince's transactions in a certain context. If the prince made a mistake, that's painful, but everything was for Holland."

When the Socialist premier, Joop den Uyl, ruled out a criminal investigation of the prince's activities last year, saying he already suffered drastic consequences, only two of the 143 members of Parliament challenged the action.

The generally held explanation for the favorable attitude toward Bernhard is that it seems to fit in with the Dutch traditions of compromise and tolerance.

According to the findings of a special Dutch investigation committee, the German-born husband of Queen Juliana solicited sales commissions from Lockheed for the use of his influence on the prospective sales of anti-submarine planes to The Netherlands. Lockheed balked at the amount referred to by the prince in a letter and the deal fell through because the plane was not bought.

On another occasion, however, Lockheed's vice chairman, A. Carl Kotchian, said that $1.1 million was paid to Bernhard to promote sales to the Dutch armed forces. The prince acknowledged receiving $100,000 of Lockheed money and claimed he distributed it as "Christmas presents." Bernhard asserted he never got the $1 million, although the committee reported that Lockheed assumed he did.

After the government report last August, Bernhard's connection with the armed forces through his post as inspector general was ended and he was nudged into resigning from his seats on the boards of KLM, the national airline, Fokker Aircraft and the Hoogovens steel industry.

But what looked like a clear expression of willingness by the public to forgive and forget following the prince's expression of regret about errors in judgment may have changed his mind. A television poll taken two days after his censure showed that 71 per cent of those canvassed retained their previous favorable opinion of him.

When he began to appear publicly again, Bernhard found that his relationship with the government had changed. In the old days, much of his business-making came during what his schedule referred to as "private visits," times when the Cabinet or premier had little actual control over what he was saying or whom he was seeing.

Now the prince submits all his proposed activities, except those of an obvious family nature, to the premier's office for approval. Gijs van der Wiel, the spokesman for the Cabinet and the royal house, was asked during an interview if he expected Bernhard to enlarge his activities soon, perhaps touching directly on business or military affairs, he replied:

"The prince is a very energetic man. I think he'll find new fields within the boundaries in which he can operate. I think he'll be inventive enough to make many new contacts."

Today In History

By The Associated Press

Today is Thursday, July 7, the 188th day of 1977. There are 177 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1846, the American flag was raised at Monterey, California after surrender of the Mexican garrison, and the U.S. annexation of California was proclaimed.

On this date: In 1801, the black general, Toussaint l'Ouverture, proclaimed Haiti's independence from France.

In 1865, four people were hanged after being named as accomplices of John Wilkes Booth in the assassination of President Abraham Lincoln.

In 1898, the U.S.-annexed Hawaii.

In 1941, during World War Two, U.S. forces landed in Iceland to forestall any Nazi invasion.

In 1958, President Dwight Eisenhower signed the Alaska statehood bill.

In 1973, 23 people were executed in Iraq on charges they had plotted to overthrow the government.

Ten years ago: U.S. Vietnam commander William Westmoreland urged the Pentagon to provide up to 100,000 more troops for the Vietnam War and said the Allies were winning slowly but surely.

Five years ago: Heavy rain in many parts of Japan triggered floods and mudslides that caused a death toll of more than 400.

One year ago: The Indonesian government said 9,000 people died in an earthquake in New Guinea.

Today's birthdays: French fashion designer Pierre Cardin is 55 years old. Ringo Starr, formerly of the Beatles is 37.

Will Trial To Start In August

LAS VEGAS (AP) - It will become more apparent Thursday to how the latest snag in the legal wrangle to determine the validity of the so-called "Mormon will" attributed by some to the late Howard Hughes will affect the scheduled start of a validity trial on Aug. 15.

The newest wrinkle in the highly-publicized fight over the three-page, handwritten document centers on the religion of Clark Court District Judge Keith Hayes, who has been presiding over the preprobate proceedings for more than a year.

Hayes is a devout Mormon, and Los Angeles attorney Paul Freese, representing three Hughes relatives, is seeking to have Hayes disqualified from the case because the purported will leaves one-sixteenth of the estate to the Mormon Church. The relatives contend that the purported will is a forgery.

Howard Babcock, the chief judge for the 8th District, said he will decide Thursday on a judge to hear Freese's challenge.

Hayes, saying his religion in no way prejudices the case, refused a request to step down voluntarily, forcing a hearing before a second judge.

Depending on how Babcock rules whether he chooses a judge from the 8th District or from another district in the state, could affect the current trial date because it will cause attorneys to shift their sights from one highly-complicated subject to another.

Additionally, Babcock's decision and the resultant timing of the hearing could throw the whole "Mormon will" case into a state of chaos, because litigation is pending in California and a Texas judge has set Sept. 12 as the date for a trial to determine Hughes' residency at the time of his death. Most of the lawyers involved in the case here are also involved in the California and Texas cases.

Texas authorities, eyeing a giant piece of the estate in the form of the inheritance taxes, claim that Hughes was a resident of Texas, while many of Hughes' business ventures were in California, another state with an estate tax.

Nevada does not have an estate tax.

Globe-trotting Los Angeles attorney Harold Rhoden, who has sunk more than $200,000 into his effort to have the will declared valid, called Freese's challenge a stall tactic.

Texas Wheat Producers Prexy To Attend Washington Sessions

The President of the Texas Wheat Producers Association, Winston Wilson of Quanah, will be in Washington D.C. the week of July 11-15 when the House of Representatives debates farm legislation applicable to wheat growers during the next four years. According to Wilson, this will be his fifth week-long sojourn to the Nations' Capital this Congressional session since January as farm issues have been heard by various Senate and House sub-committees, committees, and the full Senate prior to this final action by the House. While in Washington, Wilson will be working closely with the Texas delegation and their staffs, especially Congressman Jack Hightower, a key member of the House Agriculture Committee whose district encompasses over seventy-five per cent of the commercial wheat production area of the State.

Wilson said that on behalf of the Association he would be working to get the Senate version of target prices and loan rates ($3.10 and $2.47 adopted by the House replacing their Ag committees recommendation of $3.00 and $2.35 respectively). Also the association will be attempting to get the House to adopt the Senate version of payment limitations of $50,000 (though not favoring any) instead of the House Ag Committee adopted level of $35,000—which is expected to be under strong attack by some groups to be reduced to the current level of $20,000 which would make any loan, target price, storage programs ineffective for most Texas producers.

Wilson said that he will also be working toward holding current interest in up-dating the allotment provision to include current "planted acres" instead of only "historic allotment" in order to bring new growers into any future set-aside program which may be called for as already being discussed by Secretary of Agriculture, Bob Bergland.

Texas and other wheat-state leaders will be attempting to get the House to restore and expand market development funds which were reduced by the sub-committee from the Foreign Agriculture Service budget. Wilson said that the more producers and FAS are successful in their joint export promotion programs, the less acreage and other adjustments will have to be made. Over sixty per cent of the National wheat crop is produced for export—over ninety per cent in Texas.

Legislative activities of the Texas Wheat Producers Association are voluntarily supported by individual producer memberships, of $40.00 annually. The proceeds of the Producers Board on half cent per bushel self-assessment are not used for legislative liaison but are reserved for research, market development and producer service programs, Wilson said.

Other association officers are Otis Harman, Vice President, of Tulsa, and C.L. Edwards, Secretary-Treasurer, Panhandle.

GSPA Sides With Senate On Target Price Figures

LUBBOCK—Even with the threat of a Presidential veto, GSPA directors will ask Congress to pass a farm bill with price support levels equal to a minimum of the Senate version. Grain sorghum farmers feel that unless a farm program is passed, which would give them some real price protection as they cut back on production, only a few farmers will be able to survive. With the high cost of production and a farm program geared to "fence to fence" planting, farmers throughout the U.S. are actually facing bankruptcy because of over production and low prices.

In a series of June meetings held in Abilene, Waco, Corpus Christi, and the High Plains of Texas, almost all GSPA directors agreed that the Senate's price support levels were the minimum in order to give grain sorghum producers any real relief. GSPA directors instructed their staff to continue working for the Senate's price support levels or better. They felt the target prices, as proposed by the House Agricultural Committee, were far below the cost of production and would give grain farmers very little help from low prices.

GSPA directors object to the Administration's logic behind its limitations on the commodity price supports to farmers while supporting the expensive food stamp program, which is included in the same farm bill.

A $2 billion limit has been set for the commodity price support programs and 16 billion for the food stamp program. If the farmers' protection portion exceeds $2 billion, a Presidential veto is threatened.

The Senate bill, which already has passed, has a target price for corn of $2.28 per bushel ($4.07 cwt), and the House bill proposes $2.10 per bushel ($3.75 cwt). Grain sorghum will be set at 95-100 per cent of corn.

The House of Representatives is scheduled to vote on the farm bill this month. At that time, GSPA representatives will be in Washington to get the House version of target prices increased with an effective set aside program.

Awareness of Provisions Urged In Referendum

MASON—The Texas Research and Information Committee On The Beef Referendum Chairman David Kothmann this week urged the 275,000 registered voters in the Beef Referendum to be aware of all the provision within the Act and Beef Order before they cast their votes from July 5th thru 15th. He stated that only a reported 11 per cent of cattle producers had registered to vote throughout the nation, and their vote will determine whether the other 89 per cent of the cattlemen will be subject to the mandatory check-off assessment and the enforcement thereof, or not.

Kothmann said that the full extent of the enforcement provisions of the original Beef Act have been omitted in the publicity given to the Beef Referendum, and therefore the cattle and beef producers are unaware of the Federal government's role in the issuance of rules, regulations, orders, and penalties involving violators or suspected violators. According to Sec. 18 of the Beef Act, all producers or slaughterers are subject to investigation by the Secretary of Agriculture if he determines whether any of them have engaged or are about to engage in any acts or practice which constitute or will constitute a violation of any provision of the Act, or of any order, rule or regulation issued under the Act.

The purpose of the Texas Research and Information Committee On The Beef Referendum is to expose the enforcement provisions to the cattle and beef producers to provide them with a full knowledge of what is being voted on in the Beef Referendum. It is said that the voters will be voting only on the Beef Order, but with their vote on the Order, cattlemen will either accept or reject the Federal enforcement provisions in the original Act passed by Congress, and any future rules and regulations put forth by the Secretary of Agriculture that he feels is necessary to carry out the provisions of the original Act.

Kothmann said the promotion of the Beef Referendum without the full explanation of the Federal enforcement and investigatory powers above it has been extremely unfair to the cattle and beef producers. The Committee has found through discussions with producers across the country, that since the Beef Order does not explain the enforcement and investigatory powers above it has been extremely unfair to the cattle and beef producers. The Committee has found through discussions with producers across the country, that since the Beef Order does not explain the enforcement and investigatory authority of the Secretary of Agriculture and the Justice Department through the Federal courts, that very few cattlemen are aware that it exists. Some have been promoting it with the idea that "it is not a government program" because they did not know the facts.

"The Texas Research and Information Committee on the Beef Referendum," says Kothmann, "is dedicated to telling all cattlemen what the law says, and does not pretend to opinionate. The facts are in the law." He further stated, "The Committee is not against the promotion, research and market development of cattle and beef, but it should be a free, voluntary program, not controlled, regulated or enforced by the Federal government and the Secretary of Agriculture."

Chilean Trade Delegation Visits

A five-man wheat milling and purchasing team of experts from Chile was in Texas July 4-5 looking at types and qualities in view of continuing increased purchases, according to Dwight Hamilton, Olney, Chairman of the Texas Wheat Producers Board, host of the group while in the State.

Chile depends on imports for over 60 per cent of its wheat needs which are increasing at the rate of 2.4 per cent a year. This year 56 per cent of her requirements, or 25 million bushels, was imported from the United States, an amount equal to 25 per cent of the total Texas wheat crop, according to Hamilton.

While in Texas the foreign group studied export facilities at the Port of Houston under leadership of the Texas Department of Agriculture and spoke with production and marketing wheat leaders on current and future marketing problems and opportunities.

Wheat producers in Texas and other wheat producing states jointly through their Boards and Commissions maintain full-time market development and trade liaison offices in Latin America through Great Plains Wheat, Inc., U.S. sponsor of the trade mission. After leaving Texas the group will visit harvest areas in Kansas, Nebraska and North Dakota as well as Minneapolis and Chicago Boards of Trade, government officials in Washington, D.C., and trading company leaders in New York City.

Members of the visiting group included: Teofilo Grob, Managing Director, Sociedad Industrial (Milling Associates); Juan Zavala, Vice President, Corporacion de Molinos de Chile (Milling Associates); Manuel Gomez, Manager, Wheat Department, Molinos Mont Blanc; Hernan Undurraga, Empresada Corporacion Agricola (ECA—Government Purchasing Agency); and Alvaro de La Fuente, Regional Grain Marketing Specialist, GPW/Carracas.

Dairy Operations Get Bigger

COLLEGE STATION—Texas dairy operations are getting bigger and total cash receipts from dairying are increasing, says a dairy specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Dr. Michael Tomaszewski provides a few facts and figures about the Texas dairy business to highlight the designation of June as Dairy Month by the nation's dairymen.

Total cash receipts from milk and cream in Texas reached the $347.4 million level in 1976 compared to $299.5 million the previous year. From 1970 through 1974, total receipts showed a steady increase.

Texas currently boasts some 320,000 dairy cows and 3,181 dairymen, notes Tomaszewski. Based on figures about the Texas dairy business to highlight the designation of June as Dairy Month by the nation's dairymen.

Total cash receipts from milk and cream in Texas reached the $347.4 million level in 1976 compared to $299.5 million the previous year. From 1970 through 1974, total receipts showed a steady increase.

Texas currently boasts some 320,000 dairy cows and 3,181 dairymen, notes Tomaszewski. Based on figures from the April Texas Milk Market Report, these dairymen daily delivered an average of 3,184 pounds of milk. A year ago 3,315 dairymen were making average daily deliveries of 3,054 pounds of milk. The per cent of milk entering the Class I (fresh fluid milk) market has remained about the same—69.6 per cent last April to 69.2 per cent this April.

Texas milk production totaled 273,182,814 pounds this April, points out the dairy specialist. The top 10 dairying counties, led by Hopkins with 47,350,131 pounds of milk, accounted for just over half the total of April production in Texas. Other leading counties, in order of production, were Erath, Wise, Johnson, Comanche, Grimes, Cooke, Wood, Upshur and Parker.

Total Texas milk production in 1976 was just over 3.3 billion pounds, or about 2.7 per cent of the U.S. total, notes Tomaszewski. The 320,000 cows averaged 10,341 pounds of milk at 3.55 per cent of butterfat and 367 pounds of fat. The average uniform price per 100 pounds of milk in 19876 was $10.28.

Dairy cows numbered 333,000 in 1975 and averaged only 9,634 pounds of milk each, which sold for an average uniform price of $9.59 per 100 pounds.

Allied troops invaded Italy from Sicily on Sept. 3, 1943. Italy surrendered that same day, and on October 13 it declared war on its former ally, Germany.

Hubenak Says Cattlemen In Critical Position

FORT WORTH—One of Texas' foremost champions of the farmer has urged President Carter to do for the beef industry what he has done for the domestic television, sugar and shoe industries: help it.

State Rep. Joe Hubenak, chairman of the powerful House Committee on Agriculture and Livestock, told the U.S. Trade Commission studying the impact of beef imports, that the position of independent cattlemen is critical.

"The independent cattlemen were the first to meet the challenge of full production," Hubenak said. "And what has been their reward? Decreased prices resulting from fewer markets and increased imports of foreign beef."

Hubenak pointed out that last year "our state lost over 2,000 farms and ranches" because of the critical state of agribusiness.

He said recent attempts by the legislature to help the beef producing industry were held unconstitutional. These included restricting state agencies to buying domestic-produced beef, and labeling processed food containing imported meat.

"This Commission has been successful in the past in alleviating the unfairness of imports on such items as television, sugar or shoes," Hubenak said. "I am confident you will understand the crisis that faces our cattle producers and that your recommendation to the President will help stabilize our market and allow our farmers and ranchers to make a fair return on their investment."

Hubenak stressed to the Commission that he favored a quota system, rather than tariffs to restrict beef imports.

Krueger Supports Industry; Wants Reductions In Welfare

WASHINGTON (AP) - Rep. Bob Krueger, who is barnstorming Texas this week to promote his newly minted Senate candidacy, has a voting record that should appeal to Texans who would rather cut federal welfare programs than the defense budget and who think jobs should come before the environment.

Krueger is best known in Congress for his strong support of Texas' oil and gas industry, particularly as a leader of the current fight to deregulate natural gas prices.

His overall record has been less publicized. It reveals a congressman who usually votes with the majority of his Texas colleagues. He gets higher marks from the Americans for Democratic Action. But he does not fit either group's image of an ideal congressman.

The ADA's rating system said Krueger voted the "correct" way on 32 per cent of the key votes in 1975 and 20 per cent in 1976. The ACU scored him at 44 per cent in 1975 and 57 per cent in 1976.

Since coming to Congress in 1975, the New Braunfels Democrat has consistently supported the B1 bomber, which President Carter recently decided not to build. He voted against motions to cut the defense budget by $2 billion in 1975 and $2.9 billion in 1976. Krueger also voted against banning U.S. arms sales and aid to Chile and South Korea when liberals accused those countries of blatant human rights violations.

He has changed his mind on one foreign policy question, the embargo on Rhodesian chrome imports. In 1975, he voted against the embargo. This year, he voted for it.

Krueger's support of business has not been confined to the oil and gas industry. He voted against allowing a single labor union to shut down an entire construction site this year. He voted for a provision that required the Occupational Safety and Health Administration to issue warnings instead of citations to small businessmen for their first offenses against federal safety regulations. He voted against the creation of a federal consumer protection agency.

In conflicts between businessmen and environmentalists, Krueger has generally voted against the environmentalists. He has supported major efforts to relax or delay enforcement of air pollution standards for industries and automobiles.

He voted for Rep. Jim Wright's effort to revise the definition of "navigable waters" to give the federal government less control of inland development. He voted against a 1976 effort to ban landings by supersonic passenger jets.

One exception to the pattern occurred in 1975, when Krueger voted to override President Ford's veto of a strip-mining control bill that was opposed by the coal industry.

Krueger has generally supported efforts to reduce the size and scope of federal welfare programs. In 1975, he voted to restrict food stamps to families with incomes below the federal poverty line. They were available, in limited amounts, to the "working poor." In 1976, he voted to cut $800 million from the food stamp budget.

In 1976, he voted to delete a provision in the revenue-sharing bill that would have earmarked more funds for aid to the cities and the poor. He voted to sustain President Ford's veto of the 1976 appropriation.

Krueger opposed a 1975 effort to secure more federal aid for financially troubled New York City.

He has voted twice against amendments to ban federal spending for abortions. He also voted against a proposal to allow the federal government to force sexual integration in school extracurricular activities.

He voted against efforts to water down the Voting Rights Act, particularly as it applies to Spanish-speaking citizens. He also voted against a bill to allow postcard voter registration.

Krueger did not take a clear stand on the question of a $12,900 Congressional pay raise until last week. Earlier this year, he voted in favor of adjourning the House for a scheduled holiday recess, which had the effect of letting the raise take effect without a vote.

He said then that he was not completely certain how he felt about the raise, but he noted that he favored higher pay if it was necessary to prevent good congressmen from leaving public life.

But last week, with his Senate announcement imminent, Krueger voted to roll back the raise, both for congressmen and for 20,000 high-level federal bureaucrats.

Preliminary Work On Special Session Getting Underway

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) - Preliminaries of Monday's special legislative session got underway today with House Committee on Public Education hearings on the latest compromise plan for public school financing.

Gov. Dolph Briscoe is due back in his office from an European vacation and will issue an official proclamation saying exactly what he wants the 181 legislators to discuss in the special session.

Lawmakers got welcome news Wednesday from Comptroller Bob Bullock who said they will have $959.8 million available if they want to spend it on public schools and other matters approved by Briscoe.

The new estimate by Bullock is $64 million more than his estimates on May 30 when the regular session ended without agreement on a proposed $900 million public school financing bill.

Bullock sees the state collecting $16.465 billion from all income sources the next two years, but $15.5 billion has been spent already by the regular session.

Prime business of the House committee today and Friday will be discussion of a $900 million public school financing bill.

Bullock sees the state collecting $16.465 billion from all income sources the next two years, but $15.5 billion has been spent already by the regular session.

Prime business of the House committee today and Friday will be discussion of a $900 million school bill that Speaker Bill Clayton hopes will end the rural-urban fight that caused the May 30 adjournment in failure.

The committee's recommendations will go to the full House after it convenes July 11.

The main feature of the plan would let each of the state's 1,100 school districts choose between two methods of setting its local fund assignment (LFA), the cost of the school program paid by local tax payers. The choice would be between assessing property taxes on full market value or on "agriculture use values," which evaluates undeveloped land according to its production.

Clayton's proposal also would provide $120 million in added state funds to "equalize" rich and poor districts, about $15 million more than was in previous bills.

The bill would reduce local fund assignments from $318 million to $319 million.

Clayton's bill also contains about $312 million for teachers pay raises, about the same as previous proposals.

Under the state constitution's "pay-as-you-go" provisions, the legislature cannot spend more than the comptroller projects will be coming into the treasury, except by a four-fifths vote of the lawmakers.

Bullock noted that his latest estimate included information he obtained directly from state business and industry leaders, something that has not been done in the past.

Sheer Interfacings Give Fabric Body

COLLEGE STATION—Sheer nonwoven interfacings need a "clear understanding"—in selection and use—from those who sew today's delicate fashions, Beverly Rhoades, a clothing specialist, says.

"These interfacings give strength and body to very lightweight woven or knit fabrics—without changing the hand or dramatically altering fabric appearance."

"Areas often requiring them include collars, buttoned front or back openings, cuffs and waistbands."

"Available in either white or beige, these sheer interfacings may be sewn or fused in, depending on homemaker preference—but not all fabrics will take fusible interfacings, so it is a good idea to check product instructions," she cautioned.

SELECTING SHEER INTERFACINGS

Select interfacing carefully to avoid changing fabric appearance by placing it under a swatch of fabric to test, if suitability, Miss Rhoades suggested.

"A beige or buff color often shows less than white under sheer fabrics—or, if necessary, try a lightweight underlining (in a similar color to the fashion fabric) between the fashion fabric and interfacing to give a uniform outward appearance."

USING SHEER INTERFACINGS

For collars, generally interface the top collar—to prevent the seam allowance from showing, the specialist said.

"If a fusible interfacing is used, test a sample to make sure the fusing product does not show on the right side—and if it does show, fuse it to the under collar and use an underlining on the upper collar, or use a sewn-in interfacing instead."

The prevent the under collar in soft knit fabrics from separate or falling from the upper collar at the roll line, try fusing the under collar to the upper collar with a strip of fusible web, she advised.

"Before applying a fusible interfacing, trim away one-half inch of its seam allowance edges (on regular 5/8" seams), so that in sewing, bulk is eliminated in the seam allowances—yet stitching will catch it to stabilize the seam."

For cuffs and waistbands, follow similar guidelines—except where bands are folded, consider interfacing the entire section, the specialist said.

For front and back openings where fusible interfacings are used, fuse to the facing section, she said.

Allow the interfacing to extend to the edge of the facing—on the side opposite the seam allowance or fold. This automatically controls raveling on the fashion fabric, and it eliminates the need for an edge finish.

To reinforce buttonhole openings fuse a rectangular piece of interfacing on the facing at each buttonhole location. When cut with pinking sheers, the edge of the interfacing is less apparent.

FUSIBLE INTERFACING

"NO, NO's!"
Fusible interfacing cannot be used on all lightweight fabrics, Miss Rhoades said.

"They are inappropriate or ineffective on triacetates, pure silks, lightweight cotton blend wovens, fabrics with soil, stain, or water repellent finishes, and fabrics that cannot be seam pressed."

"Also, do not fuse that section of the interfacing with printed instructions on it to sheer fabrics—the printing will show through, and it does not wash out."

FEARS that civil war and increasing Communist block influence in neighboring Ethiopia pose an increasing threat to his own country has moved the regime of Maj. Gen. Jaafar Numeiry, president of Sudan, closer to the United States. Sudan, once one of the more militantly anti-western Arab states on the Palestine issue, is receiving U.S. technical help and has indicated interest in arms assistance.

Looking For Some Action: Try Citizen's Band Radio

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Bored? Looking for some action? Flip on your CB radio, chances are there's a party just around the corner.

That's exactly what many teen-agers are doing these days, and police in some places fear the problem will get worse with the warm weather and more parties—and more party crashers.

In the San Fernando Valley, for instance, police say it's not uncommon for a party host who invited 50 to his bash to find 400-500 revelers at the front door, thanks to the Citizens Band.

Last year, officers say, one hapless host was overwhelmed by 1,600 uninvited guests, many of whom had heard about the party over the CB airwaves.

"We've had calls for help from people who couldn't get out of their houses because of the larger number of party crashers," said Capt. Glenn Levant of the Los Angeles Police Department's Devonshire Division in the upper middle-class north Valley.

"These party crashers, most of whom are in the age group of junior high to about 25, bring their own booze or marijuana, and often devastate the neighborhood," Levant said.

Levant stressed most of the party crashers are not members of organized Citizens Band radio clubs, but more typically are affluent teen-agers who like to use the CB radios in their cars merely to gossip with their friends.

These teen-age talkers, prevented by their parents from lengthy conversations on the family phone, carry on long-winded discussions from the front seat of their automobiles, police say, clogging the airwaves with chitchat.

Often when the rowdy guests are asked to leave, the host is answered with a shower of beer cans and bottles of various beverages.

While admitting there are limits to what a party host may do to prevent such occurrences, Levant suggests several ways to lessen the chance of having a party crashed.

He recommends having a guest list, sending out invitations, and admitting only those persons who are invited.

If uninvited guests arrive, Levant suggests the host refuse to admit them in the hopes they will put the word out over the airwaves that the party is closed to all but those bearing invitations.

Pre-planned activities are a good idea for controlling a party, Levant said, as is making sure there is adult supervision if the parents plan to be away during the party.

If none of these suggestions works, hosts are advised to call the police quickly before any trouble erupts so that the crowd can be dispersed.

In the meantime, hosts can just keep their fingers crossed that word of their party doesn't hit the CB channels—at least until the morning after.

Cotton Reserve Expected To Rebound From Low

WASHINGTON (AP) - With a substantial boost in cotton acreage this year, Agriculture Department experts say that the U.S. reserve of cotton probably will rebound from its current 26-year low.

The department will not issue its first 1977 cotton production estimate until Aug. 11 and is prohibited by law from making projections on the crop until then. But officials are cautiously raising the possibility that this year's harvest will be significantly larger.

"Relatively favorable weather throughout the Cotton Belt during recent months suggests that yields may exceed 1976's national average of 465 pounds per harvested acre," the department's outlook board said Tuesday. "If yields, for instance, should average 480-500 pounds, production would total 12.5- to 13-million bales, up from 10.6 million in 1976."

The cotton carryover on Aug. 1, the beginning of the 1977-78 marketing year, is expected to be about 2.7 million bales, the smallest reserve since about that much was on hand in 1951 and 1952. A year ago, the cotton carryover was 3.7 million bales; two years ago, it was 5.7 million.

But reduced crops and strong demand from overseas markets have depleted the stockpile and have meant much higher prices for farmers. Exports this marketing year are estimated at 5.1 million bales against 3.3 million in 1975-76.

Officials said that exports in the coming year may decline to 4 million to 5 million bales. Despite some improvement in domestic cotton use, the situation points to a rebuilding of cotton stocks to perhaps 45 million bales by Aug. 1, 1978. Although the cotton supply remains "extremely tight" now, prices recently have dropped in anticipation of the larger 19877 crops, the report said. Prices for most grades of cotton are 10 to 20 cents below a year ago.

Based on July 1 indications farmers planted 13.4 million acres of cotton this year, up from 11.7 million in 1976.

"Most of the increase from last year is originating in Texas, where weak sorghum prices encourage a 29 per cent expansion in cotton planting, the report said.

Ag Dept. Purchases Roasts

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Agriculture Department has bought its first consignment of high-quality beef roasts for distribution to school cafeterias this fall in a program aimed at giving at least a psychological lift to the depressed cattle market.

Officials said the first purchases included 342,000 pounds of frozen boneless beef roasts at a cost of $380.00, at prices ranging from about $1.09 a pound to almost $1.13 a pound.

Bids will be considered on a weekly basis until further notice, a spokesman said. The plan to buy beef roasts was announced by Assistant Secretary Carol Tucker Foreman on June 14.

The decision to buy premium roasts - they must come from cattle graded Choice or Prime - is a departure from the usual practice of buying mostly ground beef for donation to schools and other USDA-subsidized programs. Officials have not ruled out purchases of hamburger later on, however.

According to figures supplied by the Bureau of Labor Statistics, the beef roasts bought by USDA on a wholesale basis in lots of 38,000 pounds cost substantially more than hamburger and some roasts sold in retail stores.

For example, BLS said that hamburger sold nationally at an average of 86.5 cents a pound in May, while chuck roasts were 91.6 cents a pound. Rump and rib roasts, however, cost consumers an average of $1.69 and $1.79 a pound, respectively, in May.

Last school year, USDA bought about 198.7 million pounds of beef - mostly hamburger - for around $145 million at an average cost of about 73 cents a pound.

The specification that the roasts come from Choice or Prime beef carcasses means that the purchases are designed to help the "fed" cattle market. Hamburger can come from leaner grass-fed cattle or from cows and bulls sent to slaughter when farmers and ranchers reduce their herds.

Prices of feedlot cattle have not recuperated greatly, although for a time in recent months they were up considerably from the low levels of last winter.

Prices of feedlot cattle have not recuperated greatly, although for a time in recent months they were up considerably from the low levels of last winter.

The department's monthly price report put the June 15 average of all cattle sold as beef at $34.10 per 100 pounds, down $2 from mid-May. Steers and heifers averaged $36.80 against $39 on May 15.

Department experts say that the cattle market is still expected to recover at least partly this year because of producers cutting back on inventories sharply, but so far this has not materialized to the extent farmers and feedlot operators desire.

Three New VP's Elected By Holly

COLORADO SPRINGS - Directors of Holly Sugar Corporation have elected three new vice presidents.

Joseph E. Fabeck, president and chief executive officer of both Holly World Foods, Inc., and Ashley's Inc., subsidiaries of Holly Sugar, was made a vice president of the parent company.

M. Arthur May, who had been treasurer, was named vice president and treasurer while Clard F. Morgan, who had been secretary and general counsel, was elected vice president, secretary and general counsel.

Fabeck joined Holly Sugar in January 1969 as director, operations planning, following seven years with Western Electric Co., Inc. in data processing and planning. On Jan. 14, 1972 he was promoted to director, vice president and general manager of Holly World Foods, Inc., Holly's wholly owned food subsidiary. He was named president of Holly World Foods and a new acquisition, Ashley's Inc. on Aug. 25, 1975.

He is a graduate of the University of Connecticut with a major industrial administration and did graduate work at New York University Graduate School of Business and at The New School.

He is a director of Jack Lenore Larsen, Inc., a New based international design firm.

May joined Holly in December 1968 as assistant to the vice president and treasurer following seven years with Haskins & Sells, certified public accountants. Two years later he was promoted to assistant treasurer and in February 1972 was elected treasurer.

He holds a bachelor of science degree in business from the University of Colorado. He is a Certified Public Accountant and is a member of the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants, Colorado Society of CPAs and National Association of Accountants.

Morgan came to Holly as associate legal counsel in 1968 following graduation from the University of Colorado School of Law. His undergraduate study was at the University of Denver where he earned a bachelor of science degree in business administration, cum laude, in 1958.

On Jan. 28, 1972, he was promoted to secretary and corporate counsel of Holly Sugar. While in service, he was a command aircraft pilot. He served as a member of the board of editors, University of Colorado Law Review.

Popcorn Acreage Reduced This Year

WASHINGTON (AP) - Farmers will have almost as much corn to harvest this year as they did in 1976, with one exception. Popcorn growers have cut back sharply on their 1977 acreage.

The Agriculture Department says producers will have 151,400 acres of popcorn for harvest, down 27 per cent from 1976. The acreage of all corn for harvest this year, by comparison, is 70.8 million acres.

All of the major producing states recorded declines in acreage," the department's Crop Reporting Board said.

Nebraska will have 42,000 acres to harvest, compared with 51,000 last year, while Indiana's acreage dropped to 40,000 from 45,000 in 1976, the board said.

lowa showed one of the biggest cutbacks, reducing popcorn from 28,000 acres last year to 15,000 for harvest in 1977.

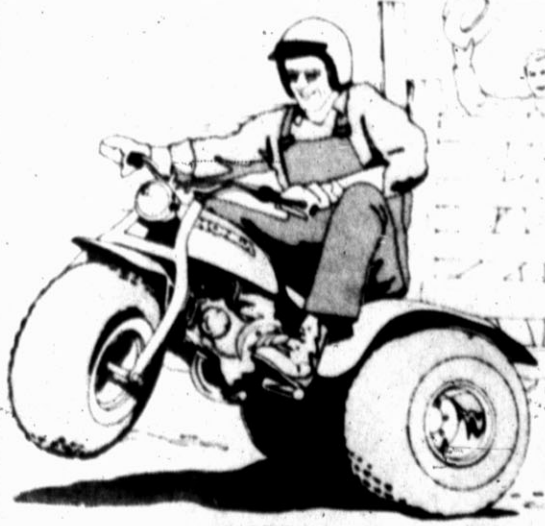

Popcorn production last year was more than 607.8 million pounds, worth about $53.7 million to growers, compared with $42.7 million pounds, valued at $50.2 million in 1975, officials said.

WASHINGTON (AP) - Charles B. Jennings, former president of the Kansas City Stockyards Co., has been officially named head of the government's Packers and Stockyards Administration.

Jennings, 59, was picked almost two months ago to head the Agriculture Department agency.
