Blackout Cripples New York

That feller on Tierra Blanca Creek says the modern home is where a switch regulates everything but the children.

There must be something to reincarnation," the man said to his wife. "I can't believe I could have gotten this far behind in only one life."

The rains came Wednesday night around the state line west of Hereford. Our correspondent, Mrs. C.L. Hutchins, reported this morning that there was "a terrific thunderstorm" in the area with about 1 inch of rain recorded along the New Mexico line and about 3 inches in the Broadview area. The weather forecast calls for a chance of showers today in this vicinity.

THE HEREFORD Opportunity Plan, Inc. board is making plans for a dinner here July 21 to outline the needs for additional funds. Buff Morris, executive director of OPI with offices on the WTSU campus, will be the featured speaker. Anyone interested in attending the "dutch" dinner should contact Carolyn Baxter and make reservations (304-4546).

Due to the increased number of persons applying for loans to attend college or a trade school, the local OPI budget is lacking funds. The OPI office in Canyon seeks all other avenues of grants and aids before approving a loan for students. The OPI loans are paid back, at no interest, by the students—many of whom become contributors to the program later.

Letters have been sent to various local civic groups outlining the need for contributions. The Hereford Kiwanis Club this week announced a gift of $250 to the Opportunity Plan.

REPORTS FROM around our nation tell of concern among local governments that they may be forced to raise their taxes because federal revenue sharing funds will not stretch as far as expected. This is one of the pitfalls associated with routing local funds through Washington.

Bell Names Borger's Terry As Manager

Gary Terry, business office supervisor of Southwestern Bell in Borger, has been named manager of Hereford's Bell office, replacing Mike Patrick who has entered private business.

The announcement was made public today by John W. Clemmons of Amarillo, Bell district manager.

Terry will handle business office operations for both Hereford and Canyon and will be responsible for the company's community relations program in both locations.

Terry, 29, joined Bell in December, 1975, as business office supervisor in Amarillo. He had the same position at Borger prior to his Hereford promotion.

The new Bell manager served in the U.S. Army in 1969-70, spending most of his duty in Vietnam. He was graduated from New Mexico State University with a bachelor's degree in marketing in 1975.

Before joining Bell, Terry was assistant supervisor of the computer unit at White Sands Missile Base.

Referendum Voting Slow; Deadline Friday

Slow voter turnout marked the first week of the Beef Referendum which is being conducted by the Hereford CowBelles organization for Deaf Smith County.

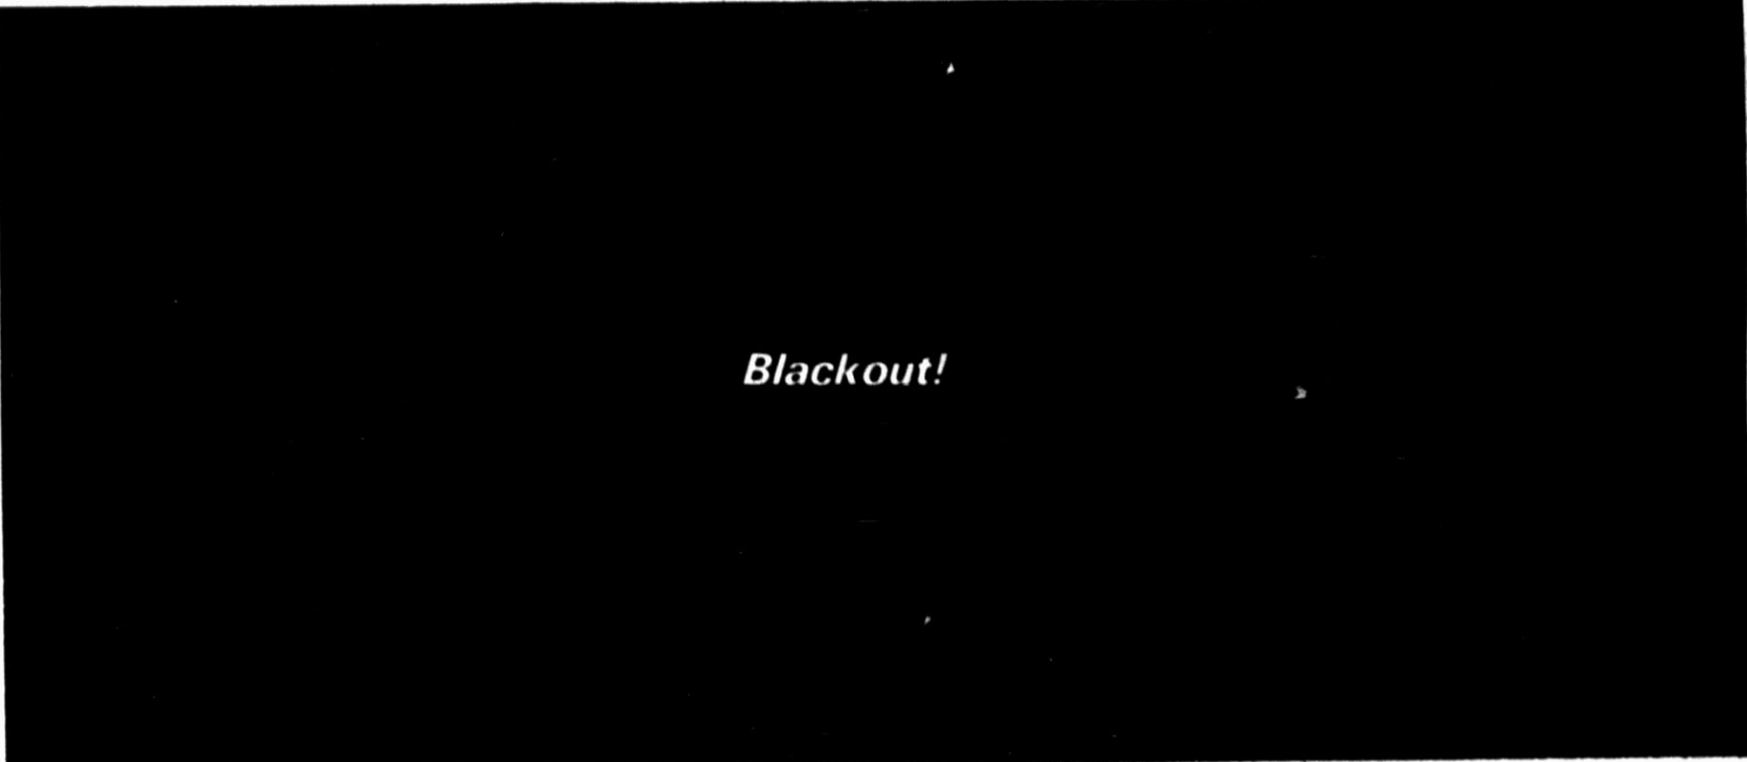

Although tabulations of "Yes" and "No" votes will not be made until July 20, spot checks across the nation reveal that cattle producers are evidently waiting until the final week of the July 5-15 voting period to cast their ballots.

County ASCA offices polled in Texas report that from 6 per cent to 35 per cent of the registered cattlemen have already returned and voted. County Beef Development Taskforce (BDT) chairmen are calling registered producers on the phone in their area, urging them to return the vote before Friday's deadline, says

J.D. Sartwell, Texas BDT chairman.

In order for the referendum to be valid, 50 per cent of the producers who registered June 6-17 must return and vote before July 15. Of those voting 2-3 must vote "Yes" to pass the Beef Research and Information program.

CowBelles who are making phone calls and reminding registered producers in Hereford to vote are: Ruth Newsom, Virginia Garner, Sue Sums, Virginia Yandell, Daleine Springer, Nancy Jones, Roberta Caviness, Kay Hall, Nance Perrin, Millie Barrett, Mary Roark, Louise Estes, Thelma Marsh, Della Hutchins, Sarah Lawson, Ruby Carmichael, Freda Cordray, Marn Tyler, Mary Dee Hoelscher, Mary Duggan, Peaches Reinauer, and Sunny Lemons.

Blackout!

The mayor said only people in jobs essential to health and safety should report to work.

The blackout was triggered when devices designed to protect the area's power system failed during a raging electrical storm that swept through the New York area Wednesday night, stringing power lines and generating stations with lightning bolts. Power station after power station failed as demand for electricity continued high.

By 9:34 p.m. the blackout had cascaded across the city's five boroughs and into its northern and eastern suburbs and parts of New Jersey.

All of a sudden, New York disappeared," said a diner atop the quarter-mile-high World Trade Center. "All you could see was New Jersey."

Thousands were trapped, at least temporarily, in subways and elevators, and in skyscrapers' floors above the stalled elevators.

The looting that spread throughout the five boroughs, continued in the remarkable harmony during a similar blackout over the Northeast on Nov. 9, 1965.

The first success at restoring power came just before 2 a.m., when power returned to 150,000 customers in the Jamaica area of Queens. In the next hour, 117,000 homes in Westchester County were re-lit.

Both the Long Island Railroad and Conrail commuter trains that normally carry 370,000 commuters were unable to move.

The tunnels into the city from Brooklyn and Queens were closed because of a lack of ventilation.

Kennedy and La Guardia airports, stripped of all but emergency power, shut down, forcing airliners to Newark, Boston and other airfields.

Airtrak's trains into the city could not function.

A Shea Stadium, thousands of fans watching a professional baseball game between the New York Mets and Chicago Cubs, were plunged into darkness.

Mayor Abe Beame declared a state of emergency and called all off-duty police and firemen back to work Wednesday night.

Gov. Hugh L. Carey put the National Guard on alert and ordered state police to assist in maintaining order.

"It's going to be a hell of a mess. It will be worse than if we had a transit workers strike," said a Beame aide.

In Times Square, youths roamed the streets, smashing windows, stealing radios, setting fires and opening fire hydrants.

Looting was reported in downtown Brooklyn and on Manhattan's upper west side, an ethnically mixed residential neighborhood.

In Harlem and the Bronx, store windows were shattered and merchandise stolen.

Also in the Bronx, a police man directing traffic was shot in the leg. He was reported in good condition.

But there were many stories of cooperations during the blackout.

At the Hamilton House for Senior Citizens, candles and a transistor radio were provided by a friendly neighbor.

Civil Defense wardens, mostly idle since World War II, appeared at intersections to help guide traffic, while at other darkened crossroads virtually any citizen with a flashlight became an unofficial policeman.

Citizens led by those with flashlights or candles threaded their way up skyscrapers' stairways to lead residents to their apartments.

Emergency generators failed at Bellevue, the city's largest public hospital, but aides used hand pumps to keep patients on respirators alive until new generators could be brought in.

But officials said the combination of high demand due to the heat and the high humidity coupled with the failures during the electrical storm strained the system beyond the breaking point.

Americans Perish In Helicopter Crash

WASHINGTON (AP)—A U.S. Army helicopter has been shot down over North Korean territory, and the communist government said three crew members were killed and a fourth captured.

The incident had the potential of reviving tensions on the troubled Korean Peninsula. The United States, through the United Nations command, requested an immediate meeting at the Panmunjom truce village but North Korea tried to delay the session until Saturday.

According to U.S. military commanders, the Chinook helicopter, carrying construction material, inexplicably missed its intended landing site on the south side of the demilitarized zone and mistakenly headed north, above the demarcation line.

The United States command in Seoul said the intrusion into North Korean air space was unintentional. It requested immediate return of the crew and craft.

While the official North Korean news agency announced the deaths of three of the men aboard, White House spokesman Jody Powell said the fate of all four men was uncertain.

Other U.S. sources said a beeper signal was heard, indicating at least one crewman had survived.

President Carter was advised of the incident as he listened to musical selections from "Carousel" with visiting West German Chancellor Helmut Schmidt at a post-dinner entertainment at the White House.

The President coolly followed through with a planned private session with Schmidt, then went to the Situation Room to keep up with developments.

There he conferred with Secretary of State Cyrus R. Vance, Secretary of Defense Harold Brown and Zbigniew Brzezinski, his national security adviser.

Retiring at 12:30 a.m. to the family quarters, Carter said "We've done all we can do tonight."

There was some confusion over exactly where the helicopter was brought down.

Powell said the incident occurred on or near the northern portion of the 2.5-mile wide demilitarized zone, which separates North and South Korea. He acknowledged that in any event the helicopter was north of the DMZ's demarcation line and therefore over North Korean territory.

However, Powell told reporters, "Any penetration of North Korean air space was accidental and regrettable."

The spokesman said the North Koreans had been asked to give "every consideration" to any surviving crewmen.

A North Korean broadcast, monitored in Tokyo, said the CH-47 "deeply intruded into our area."

The helicopter, described by the North Koreans as armed, was brought down by the gunfire of the Korean People's Army," the broadcast said.

But according to the U.N. command the helicopter was carrying construction material, evidently cement, and was not armed.

The United States requested an immediate, urgent meeting with North Korea at Panmunjom, the truce village inside the demilitarized zone.

There, last August, two American officers were battered to death by North Korean military guards in a dispute over the pruning of a poplar tree by a U.S. led command party.

That was the last major incident on the peninsula until the downing of the helicopter. Over the years, however, nearly 50 American soldiers and more than 450 South Koreans have died in more than 2,000 shooting incidents along the DMZ.

The helicopter downing is certain to increase controversy over Carter's plan to recall all 33,000 remaining U.S. ground forces from South Korea over the next four or five years.

Only hours earlier Congress heard testimony that the Joint Chiefs of Staff recommended a smaller and slower withdrawal.

Supporters of a strong U.S. military presence take the view that the troops serve as a deterrent to an invasion from North Korea.

Advocates of withdrawal contend that almost a quarter-century since the end of the Korean war, it is time to have the government of President Park Chung-hee in Seoul take principal responsibility for its own defense.

Besides, Carter intends to retain U.S. air and naval strength in the region and to provide South Korean forces with advanced antitank and communications equipment.

The helicopter downing was the first by North Korea since 1969. It was also the second incident involving U.S. helicopters in Korea within 24 hours.

A Marine helicopter crashed Tuesday night during training operations in the south and two hours later, an Army helicopter assisting in rescue operations also crashed.

Bomb Development Gets Okay

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congress is giving President Carter authority to go ahead with development of controversial neutron warheads, but is retaining the power to veto any effort to place the weapons into production.

After nine hours of frequently emotional debate, the Senate Wednesday night rejected 58 to 38 a move headed by Sen. Mark Hatfield, R-Ore., to cut out funds for the weapon contained in a Public Work Appropriations Bill.

The bill now goes to a House-Senate conference committee which must decide whether to leave in a limitation allowing Congress to reverse a presidential decision to produce the warheads designed for use by NATO forces in western Europe.

Carter has said he will decide next month whether to order production of the warheads, which kill more by highly concentrated radiation than the explosive power of more traditional nuclear weapons.

In his unsuccessful fight to kill the neutron appropriation, Hatfield had significant Democratic support, including Sens. Edward Kennedy of Massachusetts, Gary Hart of Colorado and Majority Whip Alan Cranston of California.

A closer vote has been expected. Hatfield lost a similar attempt by a 43 to 42 vote July 1.

One reflection of the importance placed on the issue by Carter was the presence of Vice President Walter Mondale, who was dressed in a tuxedo and would have been called upon to break any tie votes.

Hatfield and other opponents of providing funding said there is a danger a president might be tempted to use the weapons in the false belief that they would not set off a general nuclear conflict.

Beyond that, Hatfield said there is some scientific evidence that the warheads might create a radioactive hazard to civilian populations, despite the arguments of the Carter administration.

Monthly Building Permits Hit Peak

Monthly building permits for the year hit a peak during June as new construction in the city totalled $786,360. This pushed the six-month total past the $3 million mark.

The building pace is still behind last year's record figures, but with a total of $3,463,280 for the first half of 1977, the city is already assured of its second-best building year in the past seven.

New construction in Hereford set an all-time record during the Bicentennial year with a whopping total of $7,473,850. The previous record was a $5.3 million figure in 1965. The city registered another $5 million-plus year in 1970. From '71 through '75, the totals ranged from $2.2 to $4.4 million.

Leading the way on new construction permits the past month was a new warehouse for Arrowhead Mills, valued at $161,000. There were 13 new house starts among the 31 permits issued. There were six permits for commercial buildings.

Permits issued for June: Otis M. Hill, residence, $80,000; Juan Salivar, residence, $19,700; Alfred Casarez, storage, $350; William Lyles, addition, $2,500; Rueben Ramirez, add-on, $2,000; Aviel Buentello, cellar, $300; R.J. Herr Const., residence, $100,000; Ted Royal, enclose garage, $200; John R. Craig, two residences, $20,250 and $22,400; Tommy Saul, cellar, $2,000; Marie Griffin, four residences, ($24,160) ($21,400) ($22,300) and $22,300.

Also: Richard Burch, residence, $37,400; Arrowhead Mills, warehouse, $161,000; Pablo Guitan, move-in residence, $5,000; Mrs. Willie Shreve, add-on, $2,000; N.E. Homemaker Enjoys CowBelle Work

By DIANNE BANNER
Brand Staff Writer

With no previous driving experience, Mrs. Reese Lawson started her new married life with a patient husband, cattle, hay, livestock and a clutch pickup.

Working with her husband Reese, who was then, and is now self employed, Mrs. Lawson was taught to drive for the first time in her life when she moved to a farm in Hereford and immediately began the life of a farm wife. She did everything from branding and feeding cattle to hauling livestock.

The sunshine-filled woman laughed as she recalled her past.

"Hereford was a completely different experience when I came here in 1955 from Austin, where I was born and raised and lived a routine life. I married Reese and everything changed."

In spite of her unusual beginning as a wife, Mrs. Lawson said that she "really enjoyed" her past life and though she doesn't use as much physical dexterity now she still keeps herself as busy working in the yard and participating in CowBelle work.

"The only organization I belong to, is CowBelles. But I believe that a lot of clubs aren't necessary, because in order to do a good job at something you really have to work at it and stay busy at it."

Mrs. Lawson's favorite hobby is gardening. She "loves" the outdoors and says that her object is to "always keep something blooming, no matter what time of year it is."

Another hobby of Mrs. Lawson's is collecting antiques. Her husband joins in with her interest and keeps a good supply of antiques coming and going throughout the house.

"Reese trades anything from diamonds to gold to antiques. You name it and he'll trade it," the antique enthusiast said.

Her husband sells the antiques from their home then goes and buys others. Asked if she feels sad to have to give up one of her antiques Sarah laughed and replied, "Oh no, you see this way I get to have different pieces of furniture and get to have a change around my home."

The only piece I will never sell is a Victrola Stereo which my father gave to me. I'm very sentimental."

Mrs. Lawson isn't employed. She said that she has had only one job for which she actually received a paycheck during her years as a homemaker—she was employed by Hereford Communications as a radio operator.

The Lawsons have two teenage children, Willa Bess is a member of the Campfire Girls and belongs to Acteens at First Baptist Church, where the Lawsons are members. Mrs. Lawson said that her soon-to-be freshman daughter at La Plata is "quite a busy body."

Her son Don Lynn is to be a junior this coming fall at Hereford High School and is employed by Hereford Bi-Products. He is interested in rodeoing.

The Lawsons enjoy attending horse races. They also own a number of racing horses.

About the house there were numerous kinds of animal mounts such as a bear and tiger skin rug, a leopard, antelope, deer and elk heads and a number of mounted birds.

Asked if it bothered her to have all of the different kinds of animal mounts the humor-filled homemaker replied, "No, but I don't ever want one to end up in my bedroom."

Here are some recipes which the Lawson family enjoys:

POPCORN CAKE

1 can popcorn (10 oz)
1 pkg. large marshmallows (10 oz)

1 stick margarine (¼ lb.)
1 teaspoon vanilla

Pop the corn and salt. Melt marshmallows, margarine, and vanilla. Pour over popcorn and mix till all the corn is coated. Grease tube pan with butter. Grease hands and crush popcorn into a tube pan. Let set in pan 1 hour. Remove and serve in very thin slices.

BEEF SPREAD

Use any cut of chilled roasted or broiled beef. Trim off all fat and grind using a medium cut.

Add finely chopped celery and finely chopped sweet cucumber pickles for texture and flavor. Use enough salad dressing to make spreadable.

Serve on crackers, use as a dip, a sandwich spread or great for stuffing celery.

At Wits End

BY ERMA BOMBECK

I didn't mean to eavesdrop, but the conversation was just too good to pass up. A group of kids were talking around our kitchen table and one of them said, "Every time my Mom says, 'I'm doing this because I love you,' I know it's going to be something rotten."

"Yeah, doesn't love ever feel good?" asked another boy.

"Are you kidding? Love at our house is never being able to sit down for a week."

"How do you get them to stop loving you so you can do what you want to do?"

"The one that always gets me is, 'This is going to hurt me worse than it hurts you.' They're lying. Did you ever see a parent depressed when you're cutting the grass?"

"Hey, I got one," said another kid. "How about, 'When you grow up, you'll thank me for being so strict.'"

"That's a good one," said his friend. "Can't you see your Mom looking at her calendar and saying, 'Hey, today is Tuesday, I've got to go over and thank Grandma for giving me a rap when I spoiled my dinner by eating two cookies back in 1946.'"

"Parents sure are funny," said another boy. "I love it when my Dad says, 'Son, I may not always understand you, but I am always willing to listen.' He says that just before he says, 'I don't want to hear anymore. Go to your room!'"

"You know the phrase that really turns 'em out is when you tell 'em everyone else's mother says yes and you get... (the whole table in unison) 'I'M NOT EVERYONE ELSE'S MOTHER!'"

"Where do they get these phrases?"

"Maybe there's a book of them that the hospital passes out on the day you take a baby home from the hospital... Wise Sayings for Parents."

"Do you suppose mothers really have that extra power they say they do? The one about, 'No matter where you are or what you're doing... I'll know.'"

They thought about that one for awhile, then one said, "Probably not, but who wants to take a chance on it?"

The conversation turned to Saturday night and one of them said, "Let's crash Kathy Krupp's party."

"If our parents knew they'd kill us."

"We won't tell 'em."

"That's sneaky and that's dishonest."

"No, that's sparing them... and that's love."

Onion Harvest Underway

The county's 1977 onion harvest is in full swing this week with yields "better than expected", according to Bud Snyder of E.C. Reinauer Sons Co. Harvest of early onion crop may be complete next week, and hybrid onions may be coming in the following week. The potato harvest was also "running heavy" this week. Prices are reported good on both crops. The price on onions was not as good as expected, said Snyder, "but they're well above last year." Workers are shown in the photo clipping onion tops and placing them in bags.

Bergland Eyes '78 Controls

Huge Corn Crop Seen

WASHINGTON (AP) - If the weather cooperates, farmers are on their way to another huge corn crop this fall which could help cool food prices through most of 1978.

The Agriculture Department announced Tuesday that, based on July 1 surveys, the 1977 corn harvest may be a record 6.33 billion bushels, 2 per cent above last fall's crop of 6.22 billion bushels, the existing record.

Wheat production was estimated at more than 2.04 billion bushels, down 5 per cent from the 1976 record of about 2.15 billion bushels, but still far more than is needed in the coming year. Agriculture Secretary Bob Bergland told reporters that the corn estimate, the first of the session by USDA, was "not all that much different than the market has been predicting."

Bergland, as he has before, said that the huge wheat crop means the government will have to decide soon on production controls for 1978. The wheat reserve on June 1 was more than 1.1 billion bushels, the most in 14 years.

The next USDA corn report will be on August 11 and will include updated estimates for corn and wheat. Bergland said, "We're going to attach a lot of importance to next month's report before deciding on what to do about 1978 wheat curbs."

But he added that, "I see no chance of avoiding a wheat setaside" program for taking cropland out of production for next year. One problem is that farmers will plant winter wheat this fall and Bergland wants to announce the acreage program by late August.

One problem Bergland faces is that Congress has not yet completed action on a general farm bill. The legislation includes the authority Bergland says he needs to make wheat program decisions. The Senate has passed its farm bill, but the House has yet to act.

The department's Crop Reporting Board said that the July corn estimate of 6.33 billion bushels includes a yield estimate of 89.4 bushels-a harvested acre, compared with 87.4 bushels in 1976.

As livestock feed, corn is the most important U.S. grain for producing meat, poultry and milk. Along with wheat and other commodities, corn also is a major export item.

The report did not include 1977 production estimates for soybeans, cotton and some other important crops. Those will be announced next month.

Meanwhile, based on July 1 indications, the estimates included:

- Oats, 707.1 million bushels, up 26 per cent from last year.
- Barley, 396 million bushels, up 5 per cent.
- Flue-cured tobacco, 1.152 million pounds, down 12 per cent.

Summer potatoes, 22.3 million hundredweight, down 2 per cent. Most potatoes come from the fall harvest, however, and it will not be estimated until later.

Apples, 6.8 million pounds, up 7 per cent from the freeze-damaged 1976 harvest.

Peaches, 3 billion pounds, down fractionally from last year.

Officials commenting on the 1977 corn estimate pointed out that drought last year depleted soil moisture reserves in many areas, including parts of the Midwestern corn belt.

They said timely rains will be needed in July, August, and September to assure a bumper crop. Also, parts of the Southeast, including Georgia and Virginia, have been hit hard by dry weather, along with the far West.

Those areas, however, are not as vital to corn production as the Corn Belt. The five states of Illinois, Iowa, Indiana, Nebraska and Ohio, for example, accounted for nearly two-thirds of last year's record corn harvest.

Farm News

Farmer Gets Smaller Share

Compared to a couple of years ago, shoppers got a real break in food price increases last year.

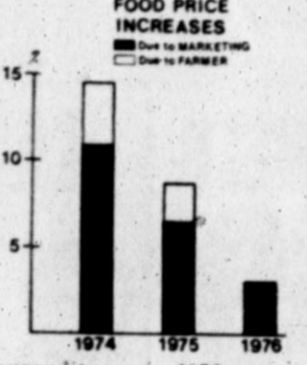

And it came entirely at the expense of the farmer. Look at what happened to food prices the past three years and how much was due to the farmer.

1974 - Prices jumped 14 1/2 percent. The farmer got only about one-fourth of the increase.

1975 - Up another 8 1/2 percent. Again, the farmer got about one-fourth of the hike.

1976 - The price rise slowed considerably, up only about three percent. And the farmer got none of it. All of the hike went to those who handle and process the food.

In fact, what the farmer got out of consumer food expenditures in 1976 actually decreased.

While the farmer was getting about four percent less out of consumer food expenditures last year, the handlers and processors of food received five percent more.

So, it was at the farmers' expense that price increases between field and family were held to just 3 percent.

Oats will thrive in poorer soil and in colder climates than other grains.

Sagging Prices, Drought Cut Cattle Production

WASHINGTON (AP) - Cattle production has been cut back on a worldwide basis because of sagging beef prices and drought.

down 4 per cent in each country during 1976, unfavorable feed-cattle price ratios have been an important factor in a two-year drop in numbers.

collective and state-owned farms as of April 1 were up 3 per cent from the same date last year.

The Agriculture Department, in an annual review, says most of the decline has occurred in the big beef producing countries. In the United States, for example, the cattle inventory on Jan. 1 was 199.9 million head, down 4 per cent from Jan. 1, 1976.

In all, cattle inventories in 52 selected countries on Jan. 1 totaled about 715.5 million head, down 1 per cent. It was the second consecutive year of decline for the 52-country cattle herd, the department's Foreign Agricultural Service said.

The report said that over-all Soviet livestock inventories were up on April 1 from a year earlier, including more hogs, poultry, sheep and goats.

"Drought was an important factor in the herd reduction in almost all of the countries showing declines," the agency said.

The report said that the Soviet Union's cattle herd dropped for the first time since 1969, totaling 110.3 million head on Jan. 1 compared with 111.03 million a year earlier.

"Good increases in livestock inventories can be expected during 1977 if current favorable conditions continue," the report said.

"In the United States and Canada, where numbers were However, another report by the Foreign Agricultural Service suggests that the Soviet Union's cattle herd may be making a comeback in 1977.

The Soviet livestock situation is watched closely by U.S. grain experts, also. Moscow has pushed for a larger livestock sector to provide more meat and other products for consumers, and this means a larger grain requirement.

Although the report provided no total figures, it said that cattle numbers on Soviet

With a record grain harvest last year and another one indicated for 1977, it appears to USDA experts that Soviet livestock production will continue to grow. That, in turn, may mean more opportunity for selling U.S. grain to Russia.

Farmers Union Urges Tax Relief Measure

WACO, Tx. - In the midst of the special legislative session dealing with school finance, Texas Farmers Union President Jay Naman is calling on Governor Briscoe to open the agenda to a bill which would partially relieve tax-burdened farmers and ranchers through a change in land tax assessment.

should also be granted the tax break.

aware of it; and it will be a tragedy if farmers and ranchers are forsaken again, even after the second chance has presented itself."

The tax relief bill would assess rural, open-space land according to its average agricultural production rather than by its speculative market value. The difference between the two would mean quite a bit to farmers and ranchers since land values are skyrocketing under inflationary pressures while returns on agricultural production are at their lowest relative point since the Depression.

Naman stated that the farmers and ranchers are, at this point, not so much concerned about whether or not corporations are included as they are about their own survival. "Taxes are eating us up," repeated the state farm official. "The lawmakers know it; the Governor is certainly

The 9,000 member farm organization has officially written to the Governor urging consideration of the ag-value tax, but has received no reply at this time.

So, it was at the farmers' expense that price increases between field and family were held to just 3 percent.

Ag Deptment Hikes Lamb, Wool Budget

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Agriculture Department has approved an 18 per cent boost for promotion of wool and lamb this year.

raised through deductions from federal payments to wool producers.

In addition, a similar budget for promotion of mohair was set at $300,000 this year, the same as in 1976-77. About $220,000 of that will come from reserve funds because there have been no mohair payments in recent years.

The funds are handled by the American Sheep Producers Council, Inc., Denver, which carries out lamb and wool marketing programs.

John C. Pierce, director of the livestock division for USDA's Agricultural Marketing Service, said Wednesday that the 1977-78 year which began July 1 will be about $2.25 billion. That is up from $1.9 billion authorized last year.

The payments are made when market prices of wool and mohair are below an "incentive" price. If market prices are above that level, no payments are made.

Naman continued by pointing to the fact that more and more of the wealth of the state is being kept by individuals in the form of intangibles which are untaxed. "The man struggling to make a living in agriculture has for too long been called upon to foot a disproportionate bill for his local schools. He wants to pay his share, but the unfair system long ago passed any equitable level. It's time something is done to try to alleviate that unfair burden, and this bill is a good place to start."

Authorized by the National Wool Act of 1954, the money is

Officials said the remaining $80,000 for mohair will be made up by the Texas Mohair Producers Board.

During the regular session of the legislature, the productivity value tax was sponsored by Sen. Tom Creighton in the Senate and Rep. Bill Sullivan in the House. The measure finally fell when time expired after the House and Senate volleyed it back and forth trying to determine whether or not corporate agricultural entities

Oklahoma Harvests Record Wheat Crop

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) - A record Oklahoma wheat crop of 169 million bushels has been harvested and dumped on an already overloaded market, the Oklahoma Crop and Livestock Reporting Service said Tuesday.

be the best alternative for wheat farmers, Mennem said.

In light of the massive harvest, Oklahoma farmers are beginning to favor placing limits on the acreage devoted to wheat.

The harvest easily topped a 1975 record of 160.8 million bushels.

However, the farmers say they will have to be compensated for being forced to take land out of production.

"If farmers have no compensation, they'll have no profits and, you can put that in capital letters," said Tonkawa farmer Bob Vincent.

Wheat prices will remain sluggish for the near future," said Gary N. Mennem, Oklahoma State University extension economist.

Farmland Values Rise Three Times More Than Ag Profits

WASHINGTON (AP)—New government figures for 1976 show that farmers, on paper at least, boosted their assets by three times as much from higher property values as they did from profits for selling crops and livestock.

As of Feb. 1, the Agriculture Department said Monday, the total value of U.S. farm real estate was a record $495.5 billion, a 16 per cent gain and $67.9 billion more than a year earlier.

"The value of farmland is expected to continue upward by another 8 to 10 per cent during the coming year, but the actual amount depends largely on domestic and foreign demand for our farm commodities," the department's outlook board said in a preliminary report.

Last year's net farm income was $23.3 billion. Thus, the jump in real estate value was almost triple the amount of farm profits in 1976.

The average value of a single farm nationally was $180,300 as of Feb. 1, the report said. That was up about $26,000 from the average price a year earlier.

Average values of farmland per acre, which had been disclosed earlier this year, rose to $456 as of Feb. 1 from $390 an acre on Feb. 1, 1976.

According to real estate reports used by USDA to gather the statistics, a "scarcity of listings" will continue to be a major factor in pushing up land prices in the coming year.

Nationally, some 108,000 farm units were sold during the year, an increase of eight-tenths of 1 per cent from 1975, officials said.

"Farm enlargements accounted for a record high 63 per cent of all purchases," the report said. "Sellers, aware of the farm enlargement process, are selling their land accordingly."

By farm enlargement, the report referred to the practice of a farmer buying nearby land to add to his own holdings.

Price Tag On Bananas Rises, Too

WASHINGTON (AP)—Coffee, cocoa, tea and sugar in recent years have received attention as major imports which have helped drive up consumer food prices.

But bananas also are important in computing over-all food costs, according to the Agriculture Department.

The national average wholesale price of bananas in 1976 was $4.67 per 40-pound carton, up about four per cent from 1975.

But for the 12 months ending last May, the wholesale price of bananas rose 13.8 per cent, going from $5.08 a carton to $5.78. That translates to about 14.5 cents a pound, compared with 12.7 cents a year earlier.

Last year's imports totaled 2.1 million metric tons, up 10 per cent from 1975. A metric ton is 2,205 pounds. Imports in the first four months of this year, at 676,300 tons, were down slightly from the same period a year earlier.

"With smaller imports, prices for bananas during the summer are expected to remain relatively high," the department said in a new fruit situation report. "However, adequate supplies of summer fruits could moderate any further price increases for bananas."

Fruit Consumption Increases in 1976

WASHINGTON (AP)—Americans consumed nearly 5 per cent more fruit last year than they did in 1975, according to the Agriculture Department.

Officials said Monday that per capita fruit consumption in 1976 averaged 221.9 pounds of fresh fruit equivalent, the most since 1946, and 10.1 pounds more than in 1975.

Promotes Beef Referendum Vote

The Hereford CowBelles are assisting in the final week of voting on the Beef Referendum. Shown with Jim Konkright, Beef Development Taskforce chairman, are CowBelles Kay Hall and Sunny Lemons. The CowBelles sent out postcards to cattlemen who registered and are also conducting a telephone campaign urging people to vote by Friday.

Beef Referendum Voting Slow; Deadline Friday

Friday is the final day for cattlemen to cast their ballots in the Beef Referendum Election which is being conducted nationwide.

Balloting in the referendum began at ASCS offices across the country July 5, and will end at 5 p.m. tomorrow.

Cattlemen who registered for the referendum in June are voting on the implementation of a Beef Research and Information assessment which would raise an estimated $30-$40 million annually for beef research, education, promotion and foreign market development.

The funds would be raised through an assessment of three tenths of one per cent (30 cents per $100 value) for each animal sold by a cattleman. The money would be passed through at the point of each sale, but would be remitted only at the time of slaughter.

The assessment program must be approved by two thirds of the cattlemen voting, and at least half of those who registered must vote for the referendum to be considered valid.

Nationwide, some 295,000 cattle producers registered for the referendum. That figure represents only 11 per cent of the nation's cattlemen.

In Texas, 42,000 cattlemen registered, 18 per cent of the state's cattle producers.

A total of 290 cattlemen registered for the election in Deaf Smith County.

County ASCS Executive Director John Fuston reports that local cattlemen have been casting their ballots here "in a slow but steady stream."

Referendum votes are expected to be tallied July 20, and results of the election should be released sometime during the afternoon of that date.

Many 'Hidden' Costs In Farm Accidents

COLLEGE STATION—A staggering total of some 2,000 farm workers are killed on the job every year in this country. But in addition to these human losses, accidents cost much, much more!

"Generally, people do not recognize the true size of accident losses. The word 'accident' is often used incorrectly as a synonym for 'injury,'" says Dr. Gary S. Nelson, a safety engineer with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. "More correctly, an 'accident' is any unplanned, uncontrolled interruption of a planned activity which results or has the potential to result in a variety of losses."

Sometimes accidents cause personal injury, but often they cause a combination of economic losses which may not at first be obvious, notes the Texas A&M University System specialist.

"Individuals not only lose full earning power during injury recovery but may suffer decreased lifetime earning power as well as decreased educational and vocational opportunities due to permanent physical injury," explains Nelson.

"Besides the obvious direct costs of medical care and equipment damage, accidents cause businesses to lose the valued talent and skill of their workers, cause increase insurance costs, and may trigger public liability and litigation costs. Production may also be lost due to unavailability of processing equipment due to damage."

When an accident occurs, businesses lose the productivity of the injured worker as well as that of other workers who are disrupted while attending to the accident victim's needs. Businesses owned and operated by one individual suffer the greatest losses of productivity and profits, emphasizes the safety engineer.

Other losses involve the cost of hiring replacement workers, the supervisor's time in training new worker, and the wage cost due to lower output of replacement workers during the break-in period.

"Further costs are incurred," explains Nelson, "when products spoil because the injured worker is detained or unavailable to process them. Also, products may be damaged or spoiled by a worker because he is less efficient due to his injury or by a replacement worker due to inexperience."

Ann Landers Privacy Needed

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I love my husband very much, but we have one BIG problem. I'm a person who needs to be alone at times and John wants to be with me every minute. I've told him repeatedly that I value my privacy and have pleaded with him to respect my wishes. Either he's not listening or I'm not expressing myself properly. Would you believe I have to lock myself in the bathroom just to get a few minutes by myself? This has affected my sexual feelings toward him. John forces his presence on me to such a degree that I don't care to be close anymore. Am I unreasonable? Am I selfish? Please level with me, Ann. I've reached the point where I want out of this marriage so I can call my soul my own. Smothered In Bakersfield

DEAR BAKER: The first six words of your letter do not square with your last sentence. Sounds to me as if you've written a Dear John letter to Ann Landers. If he wants to save your marriage he should get counseling. He needs to develop some inner resources so he won't have to be on your neck every minute. He also needs to understand YOUR need to be left alone. A mature relationship can tolerate silence and periods of "apartness." Too thick won't stick.

DEAR ANN: Recently I gave birth to a stillborn baby. When I was in the hospital very few people phoned to say anything. I felt so bad and heartsick, yet I am not blaming anyone for staying away and remaining silent because I'm not sure I would know what to do under the circumstances. Can you tell me the right thing to do in this situation?-- Not Over It Yet.

DEAR FRIEND: When a woman gives birth to a stillborn she should receive even more attention than if she had had a living child. Flowers and notes are certainly in order-- and phone calls from friends saying "I'm sorry" can do a great deal to lift the spirits of a bereaved woman. You are generous to understand that your friends were not so much inconsiderate as unknowing.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am calling on you to assert your corrective procedures in a friendly family discussion. While I was visiting family and other kinsin' cousins last summer back in Iowa (near Sioux City, as a matter of fact), I brought up the subject of how they all needed to reverse their paper towels and toilet tissue on the spools since they were placed incorrectly. The paper rolls should be coming from the wall, up toward the top, over and out. They all disagreed. Please settle this for all of us.

The Hereford Brand, Hereford, Texas, Thursday, July 14, 1977
Women: a puzzle
Women continue to puzzle the population experts. Most forecasters predicted an upturn in the birthrate by the mid-1970s, due to the sheer numbers of women reaching childbearing age. When the babies didn't arrive on schedule, later marriages and longer intervals between the wedding and the first child were blamed. But now the proportion of women with a first or second child is down among women in the 25-34 age group, as well as those between 20 and 24. Last year, only 3.2 million babies were born. If the current trend continues, births will total 3.7 million in 1980 and 3.9 million in 1985. The Conference Board notes.
In the meantime, they are calling me-- Paper Crazy.
DEAR P.C.: There is no right or wrong way to dispense paper towels or toilet tissue. It's strictly a matter of personal preference. My preference happens to be the same as your cousins'. Maybe it's because I'm from Iowa, too, and that's the way my mother used to do it.

Jackie's Home To Be Auctioned

BY STANLEY JOHNSON
Associated Press Writer
NEWPORT, R.I. (AP)— Jacqueline Kennedy Onassis' childhood home, where her romance with John F. Kennedy bloomed and where the two were married, has been put on the auction block because the former first lady's mother needs the money. "I don't want you to sell it," Janet Auchincloss quoted her famous daughter as saying when she broke the news that the 58-acre Hammersmith Farm was for sale for $989,000. "All my children hate it, and I hate it, but it is absolutely necessary," Mrs. Auchincloss said.

She explained that her late husband, Hugh D. Auchincloss, had devoted his personal fortune to try saving his Washington brokerage firm, Auchincloss, Redfern and Parker, before his death in December 1976.

"I was very proud of him for doing it," she said, "even though I knew it wouldn't work."

Hammersmith, the last working farm in Newport, is alive with memories. It was there that Mrs. Onassis taught a younger half-sister how to get around the strict Auchincloss and where a 14-year-old Jackie set fire to the library sofa while sneaking a cigarette.

Here lived a nursemaid in a little 18th century cottage on the estate, where she invited the Auchincloss children to "come into my castle and I'll give you some cookies and milk."

The children called the cottage The Castle and the name has stuck to this day. Mrs. Auchincloss now lives in The Castle.

The portrait of Ulysses S. Grant is on the front of the U.S. $50 bill and an illustration of the U.S. Capitol on the reverse.

'Birds Up Streak

By BOB NIGH
Brand Sports Editor

"We're playing pretty sound baseball; hitting our cutoff man and not making too many mistakes...we're not beating ourselves like we were at the first of the year."

Joe Don Cummings, coach of the local American Legion Redbirds, has worked hard to be able to say that, and his team has suddenly blossomed, winning their last three contests, in-a-row. The latest victory came Wednesday night in a 13-4 smashing of Borger.

"We're hitting the ball a lot better now also," Cummings said in a bit of understatement. The Redbirds have lashed out 36 hits in the last three outings (pushing across 35 runs) in raising the team batting average to .337.

Three players collected three hits apiece Wednesday against Borger, with another getting a pair. Chris Hill, Mike Foster, and Richard Waters all got three hits, while Dennis Artho added two.

Waters went 3 for 4 with three RBIs in the contest, while Hill had three hits in four tries including two doubles. Ron Plummer also added a double for Hereford.

Hill also picked up the win in the game, his third against four defeats, in a seven-hit, five strikeout performance.

The next game for the 'Birds will test their win streak. Amarillo High comes to town Thursday, July 21. They (Amarillo) have a solid ballclub, and have three pitchers who are all very good," Cummings said.

Amarillo currently stands 5-1 in the legion loop. Canyon at 9-0 leads the league. Tascosa is third at 5-5, while Hereford is fourth with their 4-5 record.

Bosox Combine Power, Speed To Down Indians

BY KEN RAPPOPORT
AP Sports Writer

The Boston Red Sox either club you into submission or rob you blind.

They did both to the Cleveland Indians Wednesday and the result was a 9-7 victory in 10 innings.

Baseball's best long-ball hitters turned on the power as usual with three home runs, but eventually resorted to a hit-robbing fielding play by third baseman Butch Hobson and a stolen base by George Scott to win the game.

Hobson's 16th homer of the season, a three-run shot in the 10th inning, drove home the winning runs. But it was the infielder's fielding gem an inning earlier that pulled Boston out of trouble.

The Indians had scored twice in the ninth to tie the game at 6-6 and had the bases loaded when Hobson turned a hard shot off the bat of Charlie Spike into a forceout, sending the game into extra innings.

"Hobson made a great play on that shot by Spikes," said Boston Manager Don Zimmer.

"That could easily have been the game right then. Hobson has just been tremendous for us."

After that play, Scott's key steal of second set up Hobson's game-winning homer. After he stole the base, Rick Miller followed with an infield single and Hobson blasted his homer.

"If Scott didn't steal second, Rick Miller's ball to short would have been a forceout and the Indians would have been out of the inning," said Zimmer. "A stolen base won this game for us."

In other American League action, the Chicago White Sox beat the Toronto Blue Jays 6-3 in the opener of a doubleheader before dropping the nightcap 5-3 in 11 innings; the Seattle Mariners turned back the Oakland A's 3-1; the Kansas City Royals outscored the Detroit Tigers 6-4; the Baltimore Orioles nipped the Texas Rangers 4-3; the Milwaukee Brewers edged the New York Yankees 10-8 and the Minnesota Twins defeated the California Angels 6-3.

Oscar Gamble hit a pair of solo home runs to lead Chicago's victory over Toronto in the first game of their doubleheader. Doug Rader hit a two-run shot in the 11th inning as Toronto won the nightcap.

Glenn Abbott pitched a four-hitter and Dan Meyer hit a two-run homer to lead Seattle over Oakland.

Frank White had four hits and keyed a four-run rally in the sixth inning with a single to power Kansas City past Detroit. Doug Bird won the game in relief, improving his record to 5-1.

Jim Palmer won his 11th game, with late relief help as Baltimore defeated Texas, the Orioles' 10th victory in the last 12 games. The Orioles won the game despite a 12-strikeout performance by the Rangers' Dock Ellis.

Don Money hit a two-run homer and Sixto Lezcano and Cecil Cooper had solo shots off Catfish Hunter as Milwaukee defeated New York. The Yankees scored five times in the eighth inning, three on a homer by centerfielder Mickey Rivers.

Larry Hise's three-run homer in the eighth inning broke a 3-3 tie, leading Minnesota over California. Dave Goltz, 10-6 pitched a six-hitter as the Twins salvaged the final of a three-game series.

Townes, Oilers Agree On Pact

HOUSTON (AP)—Missouri offensive tackle Morris Townes, who could help solve part of the Houston Oilers' offensive line problems, has signed a series of one-year contracts with the National Football League club.

"I'm very pleased with the contract," Townes said after Wednesday's signing. "It's about what I expected after talking with some of the other players that were drafted."

Townes, 6-4, 275, was the 11th player selected in the May college draft and will get a shot at a starting berth with the Oilers beginning Sunday when rookies report to the Oilers new training facilities at Stephen F. Austin University in Nacogdoches.

"Starting is something you would like to see happen," the soft-spoken Townes said. "But it takes a lot of work. The only feelings I have right now is that I can contribute to this team whether it be as a starter or backup."

Townes became the sixth Oiler draftee to sign a contract. Nine others, including second-round pick George Reinhart, a guard from Penn State, remain unsigned.

Others still unsigned are three third round picks, running back Tim Wilson of Maryland, tight end Jimmy Giles of Alcorn State and Rob Carpenter, a running back from Miami, Ohio; linebacker Al Romano of Pittsburgh, a finalist in the 1977 Lombardi Award balloting, and kicker Ove Johnsson of Abilene Christian also were unsigned.

Baseball Umpire's Job Tough, Lonely Existence

BY DAVE KAYE
AP Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) - They're called bums and accused of being blind as bats, but baseball's umpires are a group of trained professionals who lead a lonely existence.

While baseball players spend half the season on the road and half at home, umpires spend all 162 games on the road and see their families an average of only six days a season.

"People look at our life as being glamorous," eight-year American League veteran Dave Phillips said before a recent game at Yankee Stadium. "But I look at it as being a 24-hour job because I'm never home. I'm in each city to work and it's not a vacation."

Umpires arrive at the ballpark about an 1 1/2 hours before a game and go right to work.

The umpire working behind the plate has to rub up six dozen baseballs with mud taken from the bottom of the Delaware River. The man who worked behind the plate the previous night must sit in the stands to make sure players from opposing teams do not fraternize with each other in accordance with baseball's rules.

In addition to officiating the game, umpires have to make all their own reservations for hotels, restaurants and airlines. They also have to arrange for transfer of their own equipment.

Most major league umpires have attended umpiring schools where they have been taught things like positioning on the field and how not to anticipate a play. Umpires then go through an apprenticeship in the minor leagues.

Umpires start at $16,000 annually and get a $1,000 raise each year. They receive $54 each day to cover hotels, meals and miscellaneous expenses.

The average umpire travels 100,000 miles a year from city to city and it takes its toll.

"It's hard on your family because you're away so much," said Tom Gorman, who umpired in the National League for 25 years before retiring last year. "A lot of guys never get home. But you have to have a great wife who is willing to raise your family."

Being away from home, umpires are often helpless when family problems arise.

One night Bill Kunkel was talking to his wife on the phone when she told him the lawn needed mowing.

"I can't reach it from here," he told her. "There's no lawn mower in the world that will reach from Milwaukee to New Jersey."

In addition to the tough life away from home, umpires are maligned by fans, players and managers. When they make an unpopular call, the fans boo, the players argue and the managers kick dirt on their pants.

"A lot of people look down on umpires," bemoans Gorman. "They think we're morons. There aren't many umpires, however, who are morons."

Ron Luciano, an American League umpire, holds a bachelors degree in mathematics and masters degree in education administration from Syracuse University. He is an amateur bird-watcher and the American League guide lists him as a "Shakespearean Scholar."

Nick Bremigan is a hockey official and a substitute teacher in the off-season and Kunkel captains a sportsfishing boat after the baseball season.

Although some ballplayers get a reputation for hanging out in bars and being playboys, umpires contend those practices are at a minimum with them.

"Most of the guys are married," said Phillips, "and most of those are happily married."

"A lot of guys have a drink or two after a game but that's it. I go to bars to see people who I haven't seen for a while since we're on the road so much."

"With a face and a body like mine, I'm not going to chase broads," says Luciano who stands 6-foot-4 and weighs almost 300 pounds.

Luciano, however, indicated that drinking was once a problem for him.

"One year, I drank a lot and let my diet go," Luciano recalled. "That plus the tremendous pressure gave me ulcers. They had to carry me off the field at Yankee Stadium one day."

Phillips said that most players and managers realize that umpires have a tough job to do and give them a fair break, but Luciano sees it another way.

"I played 13 years of football and I never once looked crossed-eyed at an official," Luciano says. "So I can't understand how a player can look at me and say, 'You're taking the bat out of my hands.' Well, I don't care. Why would I want your bat? I don't even like bats. I don't like wood."

Umpires, by the nature of their job, find themselves in a "can't win" situation. No matter how they call a play, someone is going to disagree with them.

"You can't be a good guy and be an umpire," Gorman says. "There's no way you can be a politician."

Bronco Boys Open Play At El Paso

The Hereford Kids, Inc. Boys Bronco Major League All-Stars open their postseason play at 8 p.m. Thursday night against El Paso Ysleta in El Paso. Jimmy Collier and Bill Simon, coaches of the league-winning Giants, are directing the team.

The majors are the ninth local All-Star team to enter postseason action this season with just the Boys' Pony League stars left to enter the extra action.

IYC Hopefuls Short Of Goal

Hereford's three entrants in the National Insurance Youth Classic qualifying round held in Austin July 11-12 were at least 20 shots short of qualifying for the national tourney. Local qualifying round winner Tommy Weaver finished 23 shots behind winner Mike York of San Antonio after posting an 86-85-171 in the two-day 36-hole event.

The other two local entrants, James Lyles and Andy Yocum, finished father back in the pack with 96-88-184 and 90-96-186 totals respectively. York won the event with a 148 total.

The young golfers were shooting at a nationals berth on the Morris Williams Golf Course

Hoover Tourney Favorite

Hereford's Steve Hoover was listed as a favorite to win the Boys 18 singles title at the T-Bar-M Tennis Tournament which got underway at 9 a.m. today in Amarillo. Hoover, fresh off a victory in the Abilene Hwy 80 tourney, won the Amarillo Open Boys 18 singles earlier this year, and is the defending Boys 16 titleist at the T-Bar-M meet.

All junior events are to be played today and Friday with adult division play set to begin late Friday. Adult finals are set for Sunday afternoon.

Other pre-tourney favorites include Tascosa's Sue Sutherland, winner of the Girls 16 singles at Abilene, in the girls 16 singles bracket, and Plainview's Sharon and Teresa LaHdry, who will be entered in the girls 18 and 16 events.

YMCA Offering New Programs

The Hereford area YMCA has a variety of activities available for local youth and adults beginning July 19, director Claude Huard has announced. Included in the offering are tennis for beginners, karate, a swim trip for adults, a YMCA game room Olympics for youth, and a soccer league for men over 18.

"The tennis class is a repeat from an earlier one," Huard revealed. Basic fundamentals of the game will be covered in the class, including the proper grip, serving, stroking the ball, offensive and defensive positions and scoring.

The tennis classes begin July 19, and will be held on Tuesdays and Thursdays for three weeks. Classes for youth will be at 9:10-10:30 a.m. and 10:30 - Noon with adult classes set for 6:30-7:30 p.m., and 7:30 - 8:30 p.m.

The Y will offer "Tang-Soo-Do" Karate beginning July 19, lasting eight weeks. The basic fundamentals of the Oriental art will be covered by Steve Shepherd, instructor, who is a first-degree black belt.

Three classes for youth will be held on Saturdays beginning at 9:30 a.m. with three adult classes set for Tuesday evenings beginning at 6:30 p.m.

Local adults will get a chance to swim at the West Texas State University Activity Center pool July 30. At least 20 persons are needed to make the trip, which will last from 6:30-8 p.m.

Huard will conduct a game room Olympics for youth who are members of the Y. "We felt this gives the youth members something for their membership," Huard commented.

The Olympics will be a week-long event running August 1-6. Registration is due by July 25 with an entry fee of 50 cents due no matter how many events entered. A total of 23 events will be held.

Attempts are being made to form a local soccer league, with approximately 50 men having already expressed interest according to Huard. A team consists of 11 players who run virtually throughout two 45-minute halves, which are split by a 15-minute halftime.

Persons wishing more information on these, or any of the local YMCA-sponsored programs, may contact Huard at the Y office in Sugarland Mall

Blackout Suspends Cubs-Mets Contest

NEW YORK (AP) - "I always said the Cubs play better without lights," equipped Lenny Randle of the New York Mets.

The Chicago Cubs, of course, play their home games in Wrigley Field, the only ballpark in the major leagues without lights...until Wednesday night.

Add Shea Stadium, home of the Mets.

The lights went out for the last-place Mets some time ago and Wednesday night then went out for real when the Stadium was hit by the blackout that darkened New York City just after 9:30 p.m.

The first-place Cubs, with Steve Ontiveros hitting a two-run homer in the second inning and Ray Burris on the mound, led the Mets and Jerry Koonsman 2-1 with one out in the bottom of the sixth. The game was suspended and scheduled to be resumed just prior to today's regularly scheduled afternoon contest-conditions permitting.

There was no power shortage in Philadelphia, where Greg Luzinski drove in all the Phillies' runs with a pair of homers in a 5-2 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals. Elsewhere in the National League, the Houston Astros edged the Los Angeles Dodgers 3-2 in 13 innings, the Atlanta Braves nipped the Cincinnati Reds 4-3, the Pittsburgh Pirates downed the Montreal Expos 6-1 and the San Francisco Giants shaded the San Diego Padres 5-4.

The Mets managed only two hits off Burris, an infield squib by Steve Henderson with two out in the fourth inning after the Chicago right-hander retired the first 14 New York batters, and a home run by Mike Vail in the fifth.

Koonsman grounded out to start the Mets' sixth and Randle was about to step in when everything went black.

"I thought to myself, 'This is my last at-bat. God is coming to get me,'" Randle said.

After a few minutes, Shea's emergency power system flickered some small lights on throughout the ballpark, although the arc lights remained dark.

Mets Craig Swan and Joel Youngblood, along with a stadium employe, drove their cars into the outfield and turned on the headlights. The provided enough light for Jerry Grote and Bob Apodaca to entertain the crowd of around 12,000 with a phantom infield drill.

Meanwhile, organist Jane Jarvis provided a musical interlude for more than an hour until plate umpire Harry Wendelstedt terminated the proceedings.

In the Cubs' bullpen, Pete Broberg had just unleashed a warmup pitch when the lights went out. Fortunately, it was on target and thudded into catcher Steve Swisher's mitt a split second later.

In the candle-lit Cubs' clubhouse, George Mitterwald disclosed that "Coach Peanut" Lowrey told me of two times this happened. One time the pitcher had just thrown the ball. The batter bailed out, the catcher dove to the ground and the ball hit the umpire in the chest protector."

It was a night when even M. Donald Grant, the Mets' beleaguered chairman of the board, was a target for the fans' wrath. Grant came on the public address system-it worked on auxiliary power - and thanked the fans for their cooperation and understanding. He also informed them of the blackout situation as provided by the Consolidated Edison Utility.

The fans ignored Grant. They booed Con Edison.

Richards Wants Out

DALLAS (AP) - Dallas Cowboy Golden Richards says he wants to be traded if the National Football League team doesn't come up with more money but team executives say they won't let go of the split end.

Richards, a starter since 1974, said he has been insulted by the Cowboys' contract offers.

"It doesn't help your ego too much when in contract talks you find out you're worth no more than an average receiver or less," Richards said, adding that he "loves" the Cowboys and Dallas.

But team vice president Gil Brandt said Cowboys are not traded without authorization from Coach Tom Landry. And that word has not come from the coach.

"I've told Golden that any decision to trade is up to coach Landry. So far, he hasn't given me firm instructions to do that."

The case for advertising

The lawyers have a favorite saying that 'justice delayed is justice denied.'

But we would guess that far more justice is being denied because many people are not obtaining legal help in the first place...

For this reason, the U.S. Supreme Court's ruling that lawyers may advertise their services is welcome.

It is significant that the case on which the court based its narrow 5-4 decision involved a legal clinic in Phoenix, Ariz...

The American Bar Association and its state, county and city counterparts will still exercise considerable say-so over professional ethics, however, and this is good.

The high court's ruling is specifically limited to simple newspaper advertisements. False, deceptive or misleading advertising remains subject to restraint...

There will always be plenty of scope for the reward of legal brilliance. The prestige law firm and the specialist attorney will still command high fees and never stoop to advertise.

But for the kind of legal services most people need at some time or other in their lives, anything that places the system within closer reach and which fosters competition is a worthwhile development.

Uncle Santa

To begin with, Winter Park, Fla., a fashionable community of 23,000 near Orlando, is not your typical economically depressed area.

Still, the folks there are Uncle Santa's — er, Sam's — cousins just like everybody else and have a right to share in the goodies their taxes and everybody else's taxes make it possible for Uncle to dispense.

No, said the government, in the form of the Economic Development Administration, we won't give you $883,500. Would you take $2.65 million?

It seems that the EDA arrived at the latter figure on the basis of unemployment statistics for that part of Florida. But there's a catch: Winter Park won't get the money unless it comes up by July 13 with a list of projects to spend it on.

Dazzled city officials have declared a 'state of emergency' and are scrambling to get estimates on about 20 assorted projects before the deadline — although one of them hesitantly suggested that the city refuse the money as a patriotic gesture.

That kind of attitude is not merely philosophical, it's downright un-American these days. And thereby hangs a sorry commentary.

Can Learning Be 'Force-Fed'?

What did you think about that Chicago school superintendent who flunked more than half of the eighth graders in one school-- refused to let them graduate this year-- because they can't yet read at sixth grade levels?

Then on the heels of that came this: Parents in Fort Lauderdale, Fla., suing the school board to prevent the graduation of their daughter.

The George Garretts are trying to prevent their daughter from graduating because they say she, 19, can barely read and write.

In our determination to educate everybody have we considered the possibility that education has to be force-fed?

This Chicago area school superintendent, Albert Briggs, does not sound like a hard-nose. He sounds like an educator who is conscientiously concerned for the long-term best interests of the students in his charge.

It was more than a year ago that he served notice on the schools in his district that eight eighth graders would have to improve reading skills or he'd not let them go on to high school.

He'd found in one of his high schools only 16 per cent of the freshman class was able to read at sixth grade level; some could hardly read at all.

So he announced then that eighth graders who were obviously not ready for high school would thereafter be kept behind another year.

His remonstrance helped. That same school where only 18 per cent could read at a 6.5 level a year ago-- this next fall 95 per cent will be reading 6.5 or better. So his year-ago warning did help.

But this one all-black school did not improve reading skills adequately, so he decreed that some seven hundred of this year's eighth graders would be kept behind.

If this example serves its purpose, it will result in improved reading and writing in the sixth, seventh and eighth grades, even at the expense of some less essential studies.

Supt. Briggs says, "I did not just spring that as a surprise. I have been talking to the parents of these children all year."

His forthrightness has given some other fed-up educators courage.

Another inner-city school superintendent, Alice Blair of Southside District 13, has also set a minimum reading score for admission to high school. Even though she set a lower minimum standard, 15 per cent of the thousand eighth graders in her district failed to qualify.

She says, "A student who can't read at least sixth-grade level just wouldn't be able to make it in high school. It would be a disservice to put him in a situation where he would be bound to fail."

Briggs, meanwhile, says that he will raise his standard for eighth grade graduation even higher for the class of '78.

Arkansas Lawyer Approves Of Ads

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP) - A young lawyer here is beginning to believe what businessmen have suspected for decades: it pays to advertise.

After the U.S. Supreme Court ruled recently that lawyers could advertise, Eddie Spitzer, who has been practicing law here since 1973, placed an ad in a local newspaper asking readers, "Do You Need a Lawyer?"

There can be no accusation of "discrimination," but rather of a determination by a school administration to support what teachers have been trying to explain for the past twenty years:

In the name of tolerance we've been tolerating and perpetuating ignorance. That is self-defeating.

The ad gives potential clients Spitzer's prices for handling uncontested divorces and legal separations, uncontested adoptions, simple wills and deeds or mortgage work.

"I've had some results from it," Spitzer said. He is believed to be the first lawyer in the state to advertise his services since the Supreme Court ruling.

Spitzer said the reaction from fellow lawyers has not been critical. Some colleagues have told him they are thinking about advertising, too.

Spitzer said he was pleasantly surprised that on a recent visit to his dentist, everyone in the office knew him from the ad.

"Hopefully, that will help me in the future," he said.

Fishing Report

A Papal Bull is the most solemn form of Papal document. Its name derives from the leaden seal used on the document.

(As compiled last week by the Canyon Fisheries Lab, Texas Park & Wildlife Department)

Lake Greenbelt - Water temperature is now 76 degrees and the lake is down 8 inches from the last reporting period. Fishing is very good for channel catfish along the rip rap of the dam. Fishing is best at night. Catfish to 10 pounds have been caught. Largemouth bass fishing is fair for fish up to 6 pounds. Lots of bullheads and sunfish are being caught, however, fishing for crappie and walleye is slow.

Lake Meredith - Walleye fishing is still good of the rocky points. Fish to 7 1/2 pounds are being caught. Nightcrawlers are the best bait. Fishing for channel catfish are flathead catfish is good. Numerous fish in the 3 to 10 pound class have been caught. Fishing for all other species is slow. The water temperature 72 degrees at 5 feet and the lake level is now 84 feet.

Lake Baylor - Fishing is good overall at the lake. Good numbers of channel catfish are being caught at night. Bass fishing is a little slower than earlier in the year but numerous bass in the 3 1/2-4 pound size have been caught and several "lunkers" to 6 pounds plus two bass which weighed 8 1/2 pounds. A few sunfish and crappie are being caught.

Lake McClellan - Channel catfishing is good near the dam during the day using nightcrawlers. Most are in the 3 1/2 to 4 pound class though fish to 8 1/2 pounds have been caught. Fishing for bullheads is excellent. A few grappie are being caught and bass fishing is poor. The water temperature is 76 degrees and the lake is still full and fairly turbid.

Lake Marvin - Fishing has been pretty good for channel catfish to 6 pounds with several smaller fish being caught. Sunfishing is good but the fish have moved to deeper water the the fishing is somewhat harder. A few bass in the 1 1/2-2 pound sizes are being caught.

Copper Breaks State Park Lake - Very little fishing pressure has occurred at the lake recently. Fishing for channel catfish and bullheads is fair at the baited area near the bridge. Some bass from 1 1/2 pounds have been caught. Bankfishing for sunfish is fair.

Lake Rita Blanca - The lake is up 2 additional feet and fishing has remained very good for bass and channel catfish. Some of the catches include: Steve Ross of Amarillo - 3 1/2 pound channel catfish, Jerry Curtis of Amarillo - 27 bullheads, Richard Lindsey of Dalhart - 20 bullheads, Mitchell Vinson of Dalhart - a 5 pound catfish, Sid Wallace of Dalhart - a 3 1/2 pound catfish, Jackie Gray of Dalhart - a 6 pound channel catfish, and Travis Horne of Dalhart - a 6 pound channel cat and a 3 1/2 and 4 pounder plus a 3 1/2 pound bass. Most of the bass have been 9 pounds or better.

Lake Mackenzie - Fishing for channel catfish is good for fishing the 2 1/2 to 4 pound range. One flathead catfish was caught which weighed 6 pounds. Fishing for bass, crappie, and walleye is slow. The lake is 85 feet deep and still fairly turbid.

Catholics Split On Rebel Issue

BY ROB WOOD Associated Press Writer

DICKINSON, Tex. (AP)—A split in the Roman Catholic Church exists today between traditionalists and the Vatican, says a spokesman for a group of Mexican Catholics who support rebel Archbishop Marcel Lefebvre.

The spokesman, in the small Texas city of Dickinson not far from the Gulf of Mexico, told The Associated Press, "on one side are those who have followed the rites of the church for 20 centuries. On the other side are those who changed our church within the past 15 years."

A small delegation of Mexicans met with the archbishop Monday night at the Queen of Angels church, consecrated one day earlier by the prelate as "the center of the true Catholic faith all over America."

Archbishop Lefebvre had planned a visit to four cities in Mexico but canceled the trip when he reportedly was advised that a visa would not be granted for his party.

He left earlier this week for Bogota, Colombia, to visit his sister and for a rest of a week or so.

The Mexican delegation came to Texas to meet with the archbishop, who has been in conflict with Pope Paul VI over the issue of celebrating mass in the Tridentine rite—in Latin—or the new liturgy approved by the Second Vatican Council where-by mass may be celebrated in the languages of the parishioners.

The Vatican has hinted that the archbishop may be excommunicated.

The spokesman for the Mexican group said the followers of Archbishop Lefebvre would consider excommunication "an illegal act. We would

Liddy's Family Prepares

BY ANN BLACKMAN Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP)—When G. Gordon Liddy goes home on Sept. 7 after 52 months in prison, he will find a clean house and five children grown to adolescence in his absence.

"The first thing I'm going to do is clean this place up," Liddy's wife, Frances, said this week after the U.S. Parole Commission set the date for her husband's release.

She looked around her home and apologized for the clutter, bikes propped against the dining room table, sheets over one chair, a front window in want of repair.

"I was a little disappointed that it would be as long as September," Mrs. Liddy said in an interview one hour after she heard on her car radio that her husband would be paroled. She was driving near the Watergate complex when she heard the news.

Liddy, whose planning and direction of the Watergate burglary set in motion the events that forced Richard Nixon's resignation, is in the federal minimum security prison at Allenwood, Pa.

He has received several job offers, Mrs. Liddy said, including "two that are interesting." She added that she had her husband want to remain in the Washington area because their children, two girls and three boys, ages 13 to 18, participate in school activities. They are on the swim team and in student government.

Mrs. Liddy, who said she gets up at 4:30 a.m. every day to drive one stop to swim practice, was bringing him home when she heard the news.

Her easy smile faded when asked how she has managed during the more than four years that her husband has been in prison.

"I don't know how I managed," she said. "It's hard to be the only parent. But Gordon has been a big help. He kept in constant contact with the children through letters. And they would go to visit him regularly."

Tom, Liddy's 16-year-old son, recently received a full-scholarship to Washington's religious, private St. Alban's School. He said the children visited their father two or three times a month, taking their school essays for him to read.

"He always wants to know what the neighborhood looks like, if the flowers are blooming, if the trees are in leaf, if the Japanese beetle are out," Tom said.

The Liddys live in a two-story brick house in a middle-income housing development in suburban Oxon Hill, Md. Numerous kittens played in the pink penans and blue ageratum in the flower box on the front stoop. A sad-eyed mutt called Hound Dog patrolled the neatly groomed front yard.

Mrs. Liddy said that since President Carter intervened last April and commuted Liddy's sentence to a maximum of eight years, she and her husband have talked by telephone every day. Last month, their phone bill was $230, she said.

Liddy's term began on Jan. 30, 1973, when a jury convicted him and James W. McCord Jr. of conspiracy, burglary and wiretapping. He was sentenced later by U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica to serve a term of six years, eight months to 20 years. By commuting Liddy's sentence, President Carter made him eligible for release anytime after July 9.

Hartman Creator Downplays Humor

LOS ANGELES (AP)—It's a safe bet there's little that hasn't been anguish fodder for network soap operas—rape, drug use, adultery, out-of-wedlock birthings and other grimly treated ruins.

So we asked Ann Marcus if humor may be the last barrier there.

"I don't know," said the lady, a cocreator of Norman Lear's nonnetwork "Mary Hartman" and "All That Glitters," and recently named head writer of NBC's "Days of Our Lives."

"It might be too difficult to do a regular daytime show, trying to hold that large an audience—which is mostly made up of women—with humor," she added, noting that such is very hard to sustain.

Oddly enough, Mrs. Marcus, one of TV's busiest wordsmiths, broke into tube work in 1961 with humor, writing first for a situation comedy called "The Hathaways," then for other sitcoms.

She labored in the mid-1960s on the evening version of "Peyton Place," but didn't join soap operadom's daytime derby until 1969, when she became head writer on CBS' "Love Is a Many-Splendored Thing," she says.

Then came 1½ years on CBS' "Search for Tomorrow," which she says she left after Lear, with no network hot for his spaced-out "Hartman" series, decided to syndicate it to stations.

She stayed with it one season, then moved to his "Glitters," a satirical daily series that reverses the usual male-female roles and may end Friday unless Lear renews it by then.

Mrs. M. says she wrote the first two "Glitters" but left after she and Lear bitterly argued about the way the series should go.

She said she thought the Lear approach was too heavy-handed, dwelt too much on boudoir browsing and reflected stereotypes, albeit reversed, of the 1950s, not the '70s.

She spoke favorably however, of what she calls "the first glorious year" of "Hartman" and its deadpan, often black humor in a soap opera setting.

Democratic National Convention of 1924 required 103 ballots to select the party's presidential nominee.
