In Cullen Davis Trial

Prosecution Calls 6th Witness

AMARILLO (AP) - With blood oozing from a bullet wound, Priscilla Davis lay on a stretcher in the early morning hours of Aug. 3, 1976, and told an ambulance driver: "My husband's in a black wig. He's killing my kids and everyone else. He's gone crazy. Please, let's get out of here. He's going to get me."

Such was the testimony Wednesday of Thomas Southall, 24, as he recounted the chilling aftermath of a shooting spree last summer at the $6 million Fort Worth mansion of industrialist Cullen Davis. Southall first told his story with jurors out of earshot, but later provided the panel a less dramatic account as Davis' capital murder trial moved deeper into its third week. Southall returned today as the state's sixth witness in the prosecution of his stepdaughter Andrea Wilborn, 12, one of two killed in the savage attack.

The shootings stunned Fort Worth's loftiest social and financial elite and left Mrs. Davis critically wounded and her lover, Stan Farr, dead. A chance visitor, Gus Gavrell, 22, was also severely wounded. Southall, now a Fort Worth beer route salesman, told Wednesday of arriving at 12:56 a.m. at the residence where Mrs. Davis fled that night, and how she approached him and said, "I've been shot."

He said he asked her who did it, and she replied, "My husband, Cullen Davis." Southall said she was frightened, excited and bleeding and that when a car passed his parked ambulance, she said, "Please, let's get out of here. He's going to get me." He said he sped to a hospital, stopping only briefly to tell a police officer at a driveway entrance to the mansion what had occurred minutes before. The young ambulance driver figured indirectly in a bizarre incident later Wednesday involving Mrs. Davis and a photograph of her slain daughter. Southall, who helped remove Andrea's body from the mansion basement, identified the photo of the child lying on a bloody floor, her eyes open, her skirt up over her thighs and the fatal chest wound clearly visible.

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) - A jury was deliberating charges today against Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. in a $29 million damage suit filed against it by a fired executive and the family of another former Bell official who committed suicide. The suit by James Ashley and the family of T.O. Gravitt went to the 10-man, two-women panel in state district court Wednesday afternoon following four weeks of testimony and four hours of final arguments by lawyers on both sides. Deliberation of the case began at 9 a.m. today. Gravitt was the top Bell official in Texas when he killed himself at his Dallas home Oct. 17, 1974. Ashley was a $55,000-a-year Bell executive in San Antonio when he was fired two weeks later, ending a 23-year career with the telephone company. The suit, filed in November 1974, alleged that an improper internal company investigation by Southwestern Bell hounded Gravitt to his death and led to Ashley's wrongful dismissal. The telephone company said it began its probe in late summer 1974 after rumors of sexual misconduct among San Antonio-area Bell employees reached corporate officials in the St. Louis headquarters. Pat Maloney, the plaintiffs' lawyer, urged the jury to find Bell guilty of the allegations in the suit and "join a mighty crusade asking for social reform" of the giant utility. He said the investigation was designed to drive Ashley and Gravitt out of the Bell power structure because they became critical of certain company policies they considered unfair to consumers. He said these included unfair rate-making tactics, operation of a political "slush fund" and extravagant wastes of company money. But Bell lawyer Hubert Green said Ashley and Gravitt "did themselves in" by the actions which led the company to investigate rumors of misconduct. He said there were two Gravitts, one who was a chamber of commerce president and the other who was sexually promiscuous with female subordinate Bell employees. Green reviewed the testimony of various women Bell employees who said they felt compelled to have sex with Ashley to get promotions. "What we have are two people who were caught. That's what's so tragic," Green said. He said neither Ashley or Gravitt ever complained of company policies "until they felt the heat" of the investigation in 1974. And, Green said every time the plaintiffs talked about some alleged wrongdoing by the telephone company, "they were at the bottom of it."

Judge Peter Michael Curry gave the jury final instructions and a list of 35 questions they had to answer before returning with their verdict. Most of the questions dealt with whether Southwestern Bell or its corporate parents, American Telephone & Telegraph, slandered Ashley and Gravitt and whether the investigation was malicious. Jurors also had to decide the amount of damages, if any, to be awarded. Gravitt left behind a suicide note in which he said, "Watergate is a gnat compared to the Bell system." Generally, Maloney did not discuss And Maloney told the jury: "The truth is Watergate really is a gnat compared to Bell system." Generally, Maloney did not discuss much evidence in the case, and instead directed the jury to consider what "magnificent people" the plaintiffs were. "They have lost the personal dignity it took them all their lives to build up," he said referring to alleged damages caused by the Bell investigation. And, Maloney blasted the telephone company as a corporate monster which believed it could control anyone with its money. "They got the wrong guy. He wouldn't run. He stood and told the truth about them. It's a story that had to be told, a hill that had to be climbed," he said. Maloney also said Bell had never fired any other employees who were supposedly involved in sexual activities with other employees. And, he said Ashley was the only executive at his level ever fired by Bell. Jack Hebdon, another Bell lawyer, said Ashley and Gravitt were held in high esteem by their superiors in the telephone company until the investigation. "They were in trouble with their superiors. Little people will take it and put up with it just so long. Finally, they were heard from. Finally, the little people had enough" of the abuses by Ashley and Gravitt, Hebdon said. "And they began to talk." "What are superior officers supposed to do when they hear one of their top

New Teachers To Be Welcomed

Hereford's new teachers will be honored guests tonight at the annual Chamber of Commerce New Teacher Appreciation Banquet. The banquet will start at 7:30 p.m. in the Lamar Garden Room of King's Manor Methodist Home. Local attorney Earnest Langley will emcee at the banquet and members of the Chamber Singers will provide musical entertainment. "We've planned a primarily fun and pleasant evening for all in attendance," said The Rev. Dewitt Seago, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce CARE Committee. Bob Duckworth, chamber executive vice-president, said he expects around 255 people, including close to 60 new teachers, to attend the affair. Duckworth said there will be no featured speaker at the banquet. "There will not be a featured speaker due to the length of the program. We want to keep it to about an hour and 45 minutes at the maximum." "We want it to be an enjoyable evening, entertaining."

Dr. Harrell Holder, Hereford Independent School District superintendent, praised this year's group of teaching recruits. "I feel we have recruited a very competent staff for the 1977-78 school year. The qualifications of these new personnel were truly outstanding," Holder said. Holder will be among those in attendance tonight. Local merchants and individuals will sponsor teachers and spouses or guests.

'Old Sparky' Put to Rest As State To Use Injections

HUNTSVILLE, Tex. (AP) - With Texas' first scheduled execution by injection only a week off, state officials have decided to completely retire the state's electric chair and use a general anesthetic for the lethal dose. The Department of Corrections earlier had said it planned to use "Old Sparky" as a place to restrain persons to be given the fatal injections. But TDC spokesman Ron Taylor said Wednesday that TDC Director Estelle had chosen instead to use a hospital gurney. A gurney is a stretcher on wheels with straps to hold the passenger. After reviewing TDC lethal drug research that indicated three options, Estelle decided on sodium thiopental, a general anesthetic. Loss of consciousness comes almost immediately after the drug is injected, Taylor said, and death would occur

"within minutes." The two other drugs under consideration were succinylcholine chloride and sodium cyanide. The former is a muscle relaxant while the latter is a "contact poison," Taylor said. The drug research was aided by unnamed consultants, whose identity TDC "intends to protect," Taylor added. Unless a stay of execution is granted, the new execution form will be used Sept. 16 on convicted Fort Worth mass murderer and rapist Kenneth Granviel. The U.S. Supreme Court turned down Granviel's appeal earlier this year and let stand a decision by the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals that Granviel was properly convicted in the fatal stabbing of 2-year-old Natasha McClendon. Granviel admitted killing five members of the McClendon family on Oct. 7, 1974, in a night of terror, and killing two women of Feb. 8, 1975. He said the killings "occurred in a frenzy" brought on by his sexual urges. Texas' execution-by-injection law went into effect Aug. 29. While the death seat has changed from the polished oak of "Old Sparky" to the white linen of a gurney, executions will still be performed in the death chamber behind the ivy walls of the Huntsville Unit of the TDC, Taylor said. The new law gives Estelle the option of designating an executioner or giving the lethal injection personally. In June, the Rev. Clyde Johnston, Protestant chaplain at the TDC and a witness to 14 electric chair executions, (See ELECTRIC CHAIR, Page 2)

Public Still Not Backing Treaty

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Carter administration has Latin American backing for the new Panama Canal treaty, but the support of the American people and Congress is still in doubt. After the colorful treaty signing ceremony, attended by 27 visiting leaders, the spotlight is focusing on opponents of the pact. Two long-time foes of relinquishing control of the waterway planned to argue their case today before the Senate Judiciary subcommittee on separation of powers, former California Gov. Ronald Reagan and Rep. Daniel Flood, D-Pa. With public opinion polls showing only minority support for the treaty, Carter faces an uphill fight in his bid to convince two-thirds of the Senate that the accord is in the national interest. American officials say the President is expected to use three main arguments in his campaign for the treaty. He is expected to stress the international support the treaty enjoys, a point amply demonstrated Wednesday night. The 27 foreign leaders at the Organization of American States headquarters to watch Carter and Panamanian head of government Omar Torrijos mark the formal end of 13 years of negotiation with the signing. The officials said Carter will also seek support by campaigning against the present treaty, which dates from the turn of the century. He told the OAS gathering, "That treaty, drafted in a world so different from ours, has become an obstacle to better relations with Latin America." At a White House dinner for the visiting hemispheric dignitaries after the OAS ceremony, Carter noted that no Panamanian had read the 1903 treaty before it was signed. The third point Carter will use in the coming weeks focuses on the provision in the treaty guaranteeing the United States the right to ensure canal neutrality even after Panama assumes control of the waterway at the end of this century. Carter said the treaty marks "the commitment of the United States to the belief that fairness, not force, should lie at the heart of dealings with the nations of the world."

Weather Modification Terminated by Board

AUSTIN--State Rep. Bill Clayton Wednesday told the Brand he has been informed by the Texas Department of Water Resources of the immediate termination of permits for weather modification operations in target areas of Atmospherics, Inc., and Plains Weather Improvement Association. The cancellation of permits is the result of elections held in the permit areas. The election ballots were tabulated by the Department of Water Resources and the results finalized Wednesday. Clayton said the election results are the finalization of the controversy which has been associated with the weather modification operations. "The elections, provided for by legislation passed last spring, have given

Torrijos said that while the old treaty was a "technical conquest," it also was a "colonial conquest." "To be strong carries with it an obligation to be just," he said. At the end of the 30-minute ceremony, Carter and Torrijos embraced warmly. There were some dissenting voices to the signing. In Panama, demonstrators advocating an immediate takeover of the canal hurled stones and shouted slogans at the Foreign Ministry. In Washington, some 2,000 demonstrators marched near the White House. Their target, however, was not the treaty but the presence of 11 military leaders the opportunity to the people of our area to finally settle the long-standing dispute over state regulations of hail suppression, Clayton said. "The people have made their wishes known and the Department of Water Resources is into informing the companies involved of the decision by letter." The counties affected by the order in Clayton's legislative 7th District include Bailey, Castro, Cochran, Deaf Smith, Lamb, Oldham and Parmer. Other High Plains counties in which permits were canceled include Briscoe, Crosby, Floyd, Hale, Hockley, Lubbock, Randall and Swisher. For the first time in seven years there will be no hail suppression program in the High Plains area.

JAN BRADFORD
...With Recent Oil Painting

Let's Cook Domestic Involvement Pleases Mrs. Bradford

Jan Bradford, a longtime resident of Hereford is a busy homemaker, hobbyist and baker for her family.

A mother of two, Mrs. Mike Bradford rarely has time to sit and relax. But when she does she enjoys reading a book, oil painting, playing with the family pets, which there are many of, tole and ceramic painting or listening to music.

Her oldest and only daughter, Pam, who recently married Gerry Robbins, was a spring graduate of Hereford High School.

When Pam attended dances, worked on the homecoming projects or took part in any type of extra curricular activities Mrs. Bradford was always willing to volunteer her help, fix meals or be a chaperone. She said "I just enjoy being around young people."

Greg, the youngest and only son of the Bradford's is a sophomore this fall at HHS. His mother takes time out to be with him also. She has gone motorcycle riding with her son many times. The outdoor activity is one which the entire family enjoys.

An animal lover is an expression which fits the active mother well. She has three cats, one which recently had a litter of five kittens, and three dogs. At one time she had a ground squirrel that had been wounded and brought home by her son-in-law. He jokingly told her "You make such a good mom that you need to raise some ground squirrels."

"And that is just what happened," she laughed. The wounded animal had a litter of 13 babies during the night.

Born and raised in Petersburg, Tex. Mrs. Bradford came to Hereford when she was 17 years old and has resided here since.

Asked why she chose to oil paint Mrs. Bradford commented, "I used to sketch and draw in grade school and kept it up. I tried charcoal sketching and decided I might like oils so I took lessons from Jean Lyles and discovered I really loved it."

Her husband Mike, is the owner of Bradford trucking and also enjoys cooking. When in the mood to cook, the two try out different recipes or make up their own. Their "Favorite" dishes to cook are those which have been handed down through the family.

At one time Mrs. Bradford cooked for 29 hearty men on a harvest crew, including her own family.

Waking up at 3 o'clock in the morning, she would prepare a big breakfast and wake the men up at 4 a.m. She took them packed lunches during the afternoon and cold drinks or coffee at 5:00 in the evening. She started supper at 8 and had it ready by 10:00, then spent until 12:00 midnight cleaning up and finally making it to bed.

Today cooking is one of her most favorite pastimes and she "loves" to see her family enjoy the food which she prepares.

Mrs. Bradford is also a member of CowBelles.

During the Brand interview, the homemaker prepared the dish "Baked Corn and Peppers" which is one of the two recipes she shares.

Community Concert Deadline Approaches

Only seven weekdays remain for local residents to buy season memberships in Hereford Community Concert Association.

The current campaign will end Friday, Sept. 16. Interested citizens are urged to purchase their CCA membership immediately by Association officials, who emphasize that this will be their last opportunity to do so for the 1977-78 concert season. Membership may be obtained at CCA Headquarters in the Chamber of Commerce office, 701 N. Main St., telephone No. 364-3333. The office is open from 9:30 a.m.-5 p.m.

Membership entitles an individual to attend ten CCA performances—three in Hereford, four in Lubbock and three in Clovis, N.M. Each CCA-sponsored act is performed exclusively for Community Concert members; no other persons are admitted. Membership for the coming season costs $12 per adult; $6 for a student and a special rate of $30 for a family (which includes all individuals living within the household.) CCA attractions vary from year to year, but maintain a standard of professional, family-oriented entertainment. The CCA-sponsored performers who are scheduled to appear in Hereford during the coming season include The New Christy Minstrels, the Hungarian Folk Ballet of Budapest and Gypsy Orchestra and Rostel and Schaefer, duo-pianists from Britain. All local concerts will be given in the auditorium of Hereford High School.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Walden and Virginia Holmes are directing the current CCA membership drive, with assistance from CCA president Mr. and Mrs. Ted Panciera. They will encourage the sale efforts of volunteer workers during a Kick-Off dinner Monday evening at the Community Center. Chairmen of the dinner are Mr. and Mrs. Jack Wilcox.

Other CCA officials who are playing active roles in the membership campaign are Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Fisher, Association vice president; Mr. and Mrs. Fred Alston, secretary; Mr. and Mrs. Bill Allen, treasurer; and Judge and Mrs. Wesley Gulley, publicity chairman.

When foam insulation board is tightly installed on the exterior of a wall, moisture vapor may be trapped, resulting in condensation, points out Dr. Bill Stewart. Cold weather causes water vapor within a home to try to move through the exterior walls from the warm indoor temperatures to the cooler outdoor temperatures. "The problem arises when too much water vapor passes through the inside wall finish, becomes trapped, and condenses on the cold exterior materials such as the foam board. The result is wet insulation and framing and musty odors. Over a prolonged period, wood rot develops," says Stewart.

Condensation problems become severe when outdoor temperatures drop to 35 degrees F. or lower for extended periods. Moisture vapor movement into the wall cavity can be restricted by proper installation of a vapor barrier near the inside surface of all exterior walls. Polyethylene film is an excellent vapor barrier when installed with no openings through it. This requires all lapped joints to be made over framing and openings for electrical outlets to be sealed. Foil-backed gypsum board is also a good vapor barrier if the joints are all made over framing. Experience with vapor barriers indicates that it is impossible to completely prevent moisture vapor from entering the wall cavity, points out Stewart. To eliminate possible condensation problems, vent the wall cavity to the outside. This can be accomplished by allowing small cracks between adjacent sheets of foam board or by drilling one-inch holes through the boards at the top and bottom of each stud space.

Ann Landers Look Before Leaping

DEAR ANN LANDERS: In a recent column someone complained about the state troopers in Connecticut and Massachusetts not being on the job. The person who wrote said he was traveling from Boston to Hartford, Conn., at 55 miles an hour and unpeteen cars passed him. I can't answer for Connecticut, but I can tell you where the Massachusetts state troopers are. Since they have not received a raise in salary since 1969, they are probably out working an extra detail to pay for a home or their kid's education. So, blow that out your barracks bag, Annabelle...Also Disgruntled

DEAR GRUNT: Sorry, Buster. I checked with Boston's able mayor, Kevin White, and double-checked with that great governor of Connecticut, Ella Grasso. Their responses knocked your "facts" crank-sided. Mayor White reported that in December of 1973, the Massachusetts state troopers' base pay was increased to $10,327 with a maximum of $12,745 after six years of service. At this moment arbitration is going on relevant to a future contract which will include another increase. Hopefully by the time this letter appears in print, they will have received it.

Ella Grasso reported that in 1969, the Connecticut state troopers earned $7,760 and they now earn $13,166. This means they have had seven raises in an eight-year period. Next time, before you tell anyone to blow it out their barracks bag, make sure you know what you're talking about.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Please print this problem, and suggest a solution. I am planning a celebration and want to invite the whole family—both sides. My niece has been disowned by her father and he doesn't want her to even know where she lives. His sister shares his resentment. I love this girl who has done nothing to me. I also love her dad. I want her at this affair. I want her dad, too. If I do not invite her, I will feel like a hypocrite. Thank you for any help you can give me. I read your column every day...Torn And Tormented

DEAR T. AND T.: Landers' Law Pertaining to Relatives at War is as follows: Invite whoever you want. Anyone who says, "I won't come if you ask So-and-So," should be told, "Sorry...we'll miss you."

DEAR ANN: I love flowers and plants and have cultivated a breathtakingly beautiful fern. It is very large and frilly. Why do some people feel they must run their hands through a plant? It injures and breaks the fronds. A fern (or any other specimen of flora for that matter) does not like to be handled. May I add my own 11th commandment? "Thou shalt not fondle thy neighbor's fern, nor her cat nor her dog, nor her husband, nor anything else that belongs to her..." -Irked In Illinois

DEAR IRKED: Here's your letter. Clip it and tack it up near your fern. And lots of luck, honey.

Vapor Barrier Needed

COLLEGE STATION—The energy efficient foam insulation board that is currently being installed in new homes presents a potentially serious problem, says an agricultural engineer with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

"When foam insulation board is tightly installed on the exterior of a wall, moisture vapor may be trapped, resulting in condensation," points out Dr. Bill Stewart. Cold weather causes water vapor within a home to try to move through the exterior walls from the warm indoor temperatures to the cooler outdoor temperatures. "The problem arises when too much water vapor passes through the inside wall finish, becomes trapped, and condenses on the cold exterior materials such as the foam board. The result is wet insulation and framing and musty odors. Over a prolonged period, wood rot develops," says Stewart.

Condensation problems become severe when outdoor temperatures drop to 35 degrees F. or lower for extended periods. Moisture vapor movement into the wall cavity can be restricted by proper installation of a vapor barrier near the inside surface of all exterior walls. Polyethylene film is an excellent vapor barrier when installed with no openings through it. This requires all lapped joints to be made over framing and openings for electrical outlets to be sealed. Foil-backed gypsum board is also a good vapor barrier if the joints are all made over framing. Experience with vapor barriers indicates that it is impossible to completely prevent moisture vapor from entering the wall cavity, points out Stewart. To eliminate possible condensation problems, vent the wall cavity to the outside. This can be accomplished by allowing small cracks between adjacent sheets of foam board or by drilling one-inch holes through the boards at the top and bottom of each stud space.

Select Certain Plants For Autumn Landscape

COLLEGE STATION—Have you noticed the fall wardrobe of many of the woody trees and shrubs? As you drive through the countryside, observe the many attractive colors and consider some of these plants for your own landscape for fall and winter effects, suggests a landscape horticulturist.

"Some plant species have colorful foliage while others are noted for their attractive fruit, interesting seed pods, or unusual bark characteristics," points out Everett Janne with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Some of the most brilliant foliage colors are provided by such species as sweet gum, Chinese tallow, black gum, dogwood, crapemyrtle, maple, Shumard oak, Texas oak, Gallery pear and Chinese pistachio.

Shrubs having attractive fall color include winged euonymus, cotoneaster, mahonia, nandina, some viburnums and sumacs, which have the most brilliant foliage of all.

Plants noted for their colorful berries or fruit include yucca, deciduous holly or possum haw, American beauty berry, pyracantha, hollies of all types, coralberry and cotoneaster. Dual purpose trees that have interesting fruit that is also edible include Japanese persimmon and crabapple.

"Some plants such as the goldenrain tree, screwbean mesquite and redbud have interesting seedpods," notes the Extension Service specialist. Janne also suggests selecting a few plants with colorful or interesting bark to boost the winter landscape. These include crapemyrtle, red twig dogwood, birch, beech, winged euonymus and Chinese elm.

"Start now to add some of these colorful and interesting plants to your landscape," says Janne. "Many can be obtained at nurseries and planted immediately. Others must be collected from their native habitat."

If you are going to collect plants, tag them now so you can find them after the leaves and fruit have fallen. Then obtain

'Queens' Revamped For Younger Market

COLLEGE STATION—Queen size and half size figures, take note: some ready-to-wear manufacturers and pattern companies are realizing that half size and large size consumers of all ages follow fashion trends and want updated styling in sizes that fit.

For half size and queen size teenagers and young women, junior styling is now more available, says Beverly Rhoades, clothing specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Bigger bones, longer waisted, larger busted and broader shouldered figures can now find clothes proportioned to fit, in more appealing and fashionable styles, but prices may be a bit higher.

For larger figures in the younger set, popular designs are appearing in T-shirts, jeans, permission from the landowner before digging. Prune back at least one-half to two-thirds of the top growth of collected plants to insure any degree of success in moving them, advises the horticulturist.

"The most important thing to remember about adding any type of plants to your home landscape is to make sure they are adapted to your area," emphasizes Janne. "There is little beauty or pleasure in a plant that is not suited to your climatic conditions."

sundresses, jumpers and jogging suits, the specialist says.

Favorites in queen size separates include short sleeve or sleeveless tops, zipped or buttoned fronts, open necklines, gored skirts and pull-on pants. For the fall, ready-to-wear promises party pants, sweater knits, peasant necklines, suedes and jumpers, says Miss Rhoades.

Stockings and pantyhose are available in queen sizes, but lingerie selection is limited.

For the half size figure, style lines and proportions must be shorter-waisted and fuller than for the missy figure. Bust and shoulder shaping is important. Princess lines compliment this figure, says the specialist.

Locate shops which carry designs for your size and body build. Learn brand names and manufacturer's size terminology—such as stout or queen size. Homesewers may select fashionable patterns from women's and half sizes. Look for styles designed to slenderize, advises the specialist.

Drinking Mothers Risk Birth of Abnormal Baby

BOSTON (AP) - Women who drink heavily are twice as likely to bear sickly, deformed babies as mothers who use liquor moderately or not at all, a new study shows.

"There is definitely increased risk to offspring of women who drink heavily during pregnancy," said the study in today's New England Journal of Medicine.

The study said the health of the babies of moderate drinkers - women who drink more than once a month but do not fit into the category of heavy drinkers - and teetotalers was virtually the same. The findings are based on a review by Boston University doctors of the drinking habits of 633 pregnant women at Boston City Hospital.

Earlier studies have warned of the dangers of drinking to the unborn, but this is the first report that measures the odds of this damage occurring.

Dr. Eileen M. Oullett, who directed the study, said she recommends that women give up drinking completely while pregnant.

"It's unknown whether there is a safe amount that can be ingested," she said in an interview. "Alcohol crosses the placenta and goes directly into the baby."

Some of the women cut down on their drinking during pregnancy, but the doctors said only two of the 27 women who drank heavily throughout pregnancy had normal infants.

The study defined heavy drinkers as those who consume five or more drinks daily, or an average of more than 1½ ounces of pure alcohol a day. However, the heavy drinkers in the test consumed an average of more than 6 ounces of pure alcohol a day.

The doctors discovered a variety of abnormalities among the babies of the heavy drinkers.

Seventeen per cent of the heavy drinkers' children had serious birth defects, they said, compared with 3 per cent of the babies of nondrinkers, defined as women who drink less than once a month.

The babies of the heavy drinkers were also far more likely to be jittery, unable to suck well and have small heads and brains and poor muscle tone.

Overall, 71 per cent of the heavy drinkers' children had some kind of abnormality, compared with 36 per cent of the nondrinkers' babies, they said.

Prospects Bleak For Home-Buyers

COLLEGE STATION—The average cost of a new single-family home has increased more than 100 per cent in 10 years, and this trend is likely to continue, says Kenneth E. Graeber, economist in real estate with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. His information is based on recent U.S. Department of Commerce reports.

Given population and inflation trends, Graeber projects an average home appreciation rate of 8 per cent annually. "If the trend continues, homes selling for $35,000 today might sell for $63,000 in 10 years," contends the Texas A&M University System specialist.

"Many families have postponed purchasing a home in hopes of saving up to buy or build their 'dream' home. However, inflation may prevent these individuals from ever owning their own home," notes Graeber.

Studies indicate that buyers of similar income levels who previously owned homes pay 20 to 30 per cent more for homes than buyers who previously rented. "This, in part, due to an accumulation of equity in the first home which can be reinvested in the next," points out the economist.

"Other individuals have postponed purchase until interest rates decline. Any benefits gained by waiting for lower interest rates could be offset if homes cost increased.

"A properly selected and cared-for home will remain one of the better investments for most families," contends Graeber. "The motto of 'Wait 'Til Next Year' might best be reserved for football."

Cornmeal Adds Variety To Nutritional Menu

COLLEGE STATION—Cornmeal brings variety—and historical distinction—to modern menus.

The corn family dates back to the beginning of our country—and cornmeal has kept pace with changing food trends ever since, says Gwendolyn Clyatt, consumer marketing information specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Friendly Indians taught New World settlers to grow corn, and later to grind it into meal. The settlers learned to parch corn, and mix it with boiling water to bake into thin cakes. Hunters and traders depended on these cakes during their long journeys over Indian trails—hence the name "Journey Cake," latter called "Johnny Cake," she explains.

Hoe Cake and Corn Pone were the first simple forms of cornbread in the South. Spoon bread evolved when an old-time Virginia cook put a dish of cornmeal mush in the oven in the home of James Monroe, then president.

Today, there are about as many types of cornbread as there are regions in the country.

Cornmeal is ground by two general methods. It is "water-ground" or "rock-ground" between two large rocks or mill stones. This method was used in early days when "meal" was new.

"Meal ground between steel cylinders or rollers is called 'roller-ground.' This types usually feels like fine crystals because it is finely cut rather than mashed.

Bolted meal is whole grain with some or all of the coarse layers of bran blown, or sifted, out. This makes it lighter in color.

Self-rising cornmeal contains baking powder and salt—already added and blended in the correct proportions.

Lance's Loans Not Questioned

WASHINGTON (AP) - The comptroller of the currency said Wednesday he found no reason to prosecute Budget Director Bert Lance or anyone else for several of Lance's private loans and overdrafts but questioned some of the banking practices involved.

The new report was on two of the lesser issues in the controversy over Lance's banking transactions. The comptroller is still preparing a report on Lance's use of bank aircraft and on the comptroller office's original investigation of Lance.

In his new report, Comptroller John Heimann traced a pattern of loans to Mr. and Mrs. Lance from the Fulton National Bank of Atlanta while Lance was president of the Calhoun, Ga., First National Bank.

As in some of Lance's other loans, the Calhoun bank had a "correspondent relationship" with the Fulton bank. This means the Calhoun bank deposited money without interest at the Fulton bank in exchange for services, a common banking practice. In each case, the comptroller's office has been trying to decide if Lance's bank kept extra money on deposit at the larger bank so Lance could get his loan.

The report said the Fulton bank "looked in some measure to the maintenance of satisfactory correspondent balances in determining whether to make the loans and in calculating the profitability of loans after they were made."

"In addition, there is some evidence tending to support the view that, but for the correspondent accounts, the loans would not have been made."

But Heimann said "we do not believe that the prosecution of any individuals warranted."

Heimann said that the business from Lance's bank may have been to the detriment of two other banks. He suggested that the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation, which has jurisdiction over the other banks may want to investigate further. The other banks were the Northwest Georgia Bank in involved in, or permit myself to be injected into, any other statewide race. I am honored and pleased that I can already count among my supporters and organizers both conservatives and liberals, supporters of both Governor Briscoe and General Hill.

Daniel said he made the disclaimer because "everywhere I go there are questions about if I will support Hill and how I feel about Briscoe."

Daniel is the first candidate to announce but is expected to face Democratic opposition from Secretary of State Mark White. Houston attorney Jim Baker is considered a probably Republican candidate.

Daniel, son of former Gov. Price Daniel who is now an associate justice of the Texas Supreme Court, was elected speaker in 1973 following the Sharpstown scandals which resulted in the conviction for former Speaker Gus Mutscher for bribery. After a single term as speaker he served as president of the unsuccessful Texas Constitutional Convention in 1974. Daniel served a total of six years in the House. Prior to that he was a justice of peace in Liberty County.

County Extension Agent Joyce Shipp, seated, and her assistant Claudette Mitchell are swamped with final preparations for two big events coming up in the ensuing week. The Deaf Smith County Fair will be held in the Bull Barn on Saturday for youth and adults, with activities beginning at 9 a.m. On Tuesday, the County will stage its first Health Fair, offering a multitude of health agencies and services. Daniel Says He'll Campaign

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) - Former Texas House speaker Price Daniel Jr. announced Wednesday for the attorney general's race, stressing he will take no part in the expected 1978 battle between Gov. Dolph Briscoe and Atty. Gen. John Hill.

Daniel, 36-year-old Democrat, told of his campaign plans in news conferences in Austin, Dallas and Houston but saves the "formal" announcement for a hometown fund-raising barbecue Wednesday night in Liberty.

"My first priority as attorney general will be making certain that the basic duties and responsibilities of the office under the constitution and laws of this state are properly and efficiently attended to," Daniel said. "I believe the people of Texas are somewhat tired of hearing politicians promise new programs after new programs to provide services and solve problems when we already have more government bureaucracy than we can handle. What I promise is to first make sure that those nuts and bolts functions are being fulfilled."

Daniel said he wanted to make clear "that I will not under any foreseeable circumstances be Riggold and the Cohutta Banking Co. of Chatsworth, Ga.

After his unsuccessful 1974 gubernatorial campaign, Lance became president of the National Bank of Georgia in Atlanta but his family maintained accounts in the Calhoun bank. On Dec. 2, 1975, the comptroller's office ordered the Calhoun bank not to permit Lance's family to overdraw their checking accounts on grounds that the overdrafts were excessive.

Afterward, Lance set up an arrangement in which an employee in the Calhoun bank would write a check against his National Bank of Georgia account if his Calhoun account became overdrawn.

Lance's account had seven overdrafts this year but they were rarely for more than one day, the comptroller's office has said.

The report concluded that the Calhoun bank had given other customers the same privilege of avoiding overdrafts.

However, he said, the procedures "were not subject to sufficient controls to insure that overdrafts would not occur at Calhoun."

Carter Wants Pipeline

WASHINGTON (AP) - President Carter is ready to recommend to Congress a pipeline route across Canada for transporting Alaska natural gas to the lower 48 states, rejecting a proposal for an "all-American route," congressional and industry sources said Wednesday.

The President will announce his decision on Thursday after meeting with Canadian Prime Minister Pierre Elliott Trudeau, the sources said.

The $10 billion pipeline would bring natural gas from Prudhoe Bay in Alaska to Fairbanks, then cut across Canada roughly along the route of the Alcan Highway. One branch would bring the gas to the Pacific Northwest, another to the upper Midwest.

Woman To Sell Elvis for $5,000

DALLAS (AP) - Of all the Elvis memorabilia on the market today, Mrs. Thelma Walker's offering surely ranks near the top of the charts.

For $5,000, Mrs. Walker is willing to part with her copy of the first record the "king" ever made. She said the 45 "That's All Right" and "Blue Moon Over Kentucky" was cut 24 years ago when Presley was better known in truck driving circles than for his swivel hips.

"I didn't even know I had it until all this business of selling souvenirs started," she said. "I'm not sure when I bought it, but I know I did. I bought every record in my collection."

Mrs. Walker, who admits to being "past 50," said she was upset when other Elvis fans criticized those who were willing to part with their treasures for a profit.

"Yes, it made me feel rather bad, but you know I didn't start this," she said. "It's been going on for centuries - people selling things after the artists are dead."

Mrs. Walker, who describes herself as a "good" Elvis fan, advertised in a local newspaper this week. She said the results, even though she hasn't sold the record, have been "delightful."

"People have been calling - you wouldn't believe. This one man called and told me to hold out for my price. He said he just sold his record for $7,500."

Procedure Allows Cities To Buy Bonds

NEW YORK (AP) - Though municipal bonds in general still carry some stigma because of New York City's attempt to renege on repayment terms, many municipal entities still can obtain a Triple-A rating almost automatically.

San Diego County's South Bay Irrigation District won that rating a couple of weeks ago for $22.5 million of water revenue bonds. A relatively low rate of 5.6778 per cent was obtained, resulting in substantial savings.

The simple procedure involves the purchase of insurance that guarantees purchasers they will receive principal and interest payments for the life of the issue. More than $2 billion of such bonds have been sold since 1974.

Almost all the insurance so far has been issued by two organizations, the Municipal Bond Insurance Association, a consortium of four insurers, and the smaller American Municipal Bond Assurance Corp.

Since the concept is now deemed successful by John Butler, president of the Municipal Issuers Service Corp., which represents the insurers, it is possible more concerns might enter the field, and even conceivable - though industry sources don't say so - that corporate issues might be covered.

The first such bonds insured through Butler's organization, an issue of revenue bonds by the Carbondale Ill. Water and Sewer District, were brought out in 1974, a high interest period, at 8.655 per cent.

Said Butler: "Without the insurance, they might have cost the issuer 1/2 of 1 per cent more in interests costs." That is, they probably would have carried a Single-A or a BBB rating. The San Diego irrigation district bonds represent the biggest issue protected through the service corporation, and perhaps also the biggest saving to the issuer. Butler estimates the district will save more than $500,000.

While each issue is evaluated separately by MISC, it claims the savings to the issuers or underwriters, whichever they pay the fee, amount to 1/2 or 1/4 or a full percentage point. Cost of the insurance is about 1/2 or 1 per cent on an annualized basis, paid in full at the time the insurance is purchased. It results, says Butler, in savings of $5 to $7 for every dollar put up.

The benefits, he claims, are spread all around.

The service corporation and the insurers - the Aetna Casualty and Surety Co., St. Paul Fire and Marine Insurance, Aetna Insurance sometimes called "little Aetna", and U.S.

Fire Insurance - find the insurance profitable.

The issuer, of course, obtains the lower interest rate, which might seem deceptively small until it is multiplied by the millions of dollars and the 15- to 30-year time period involved.

The investors benefit from the security of knowing there can never be a default, unless the big insurers backing the issue themselves fall upon bad times. Butler claims also that the return to investors is higher than for some related investments.

Rude Guests in Our House

When the United States elected to host the United Nations it was assumed that these foreign "guests" would always be on their best behavior. In the years since, however, the world's backward nations have come to dominate the General Assembly—and many brought with them their backward ways. Last year three cars registered to Idi Amin's Ugandan Mission in the United States collected 1,761 traffic tickets in eleven months—and ignored them. A foreign diplomat can come and go—into and out of our country—carrying cash, drugs or state secrets in his luggage—and there is not a thing we can do about it. A foreign diplomat living in the United States can ignore his bills, let his dog bite the neighbors. He can injure and even kill people with his automobile—and there's not a thing we can do about it. And not only are diplomats beyond the reach of our laws but their wives and children are also—and even the housemaids in their embassies! No other nation in the world treats international emissaries as leniently as do we. Indeed, hard pressed as New York City is to pay its bills, the city still must spend more than two million dollars a year to protect these visitors—while they ignore some two hundred thousand traffic tickets each year. A generation ago it was the "Ugly American" who sometimes made himself unpopular and unwelcome overseas. But nowhere did we expect to flaunt the laws of a host nation. Newsweek magazine remembers when a cultural attache at the Panamanian Embassy ran a red light in 1974—crashed into the car of Dr. Halla Brown—a 62-year-old clinical professor of medicine at George Washington University. The impact damaged Dr. Brown's spine, turned her into a permanent quadriplegic. Her medical bills have totaled a quarter million dollars and so far she still requires round-the-clock nursing. Panama's Ambassador offered his condolences; nothing else. Diplomatic immunity was intended to protect diplomats from intimidation by the host government. This is important. In "undemocratic" countries our own diplomats might be subjected to harassment under local laws of kangaroo courts. But this experience of Dr. Brown... And the death of a young boy last year who was run over by the chauffeur of the Senegalese Embassy... These incidents have finally motivated our Congress to modify the Act of 1790. If that bill passes the Senate this Fall our guests are going to be taught some manners. Top diplomats will retain criminal and civil immunity—but not lesser embassy employees and not their servants. And the bill will require every member of the diplomatic community to carry liability insurance. This will not clip their wings but, as United States protocol chief Erin Dobbelle says, "It will require that they answer for what they do."

Herd Shows Punch

By BOB NIGH
Brand Sports Editor

The Hereford Whitefaces picked up where they left off in 1976 by quickly establishing themselves on top of the District 4-4A offensive heap in 1977. The Herd finished 1976 in the number one spot offensively with an average of 247.8 yards per contest.

The newest edition kept the trend going with a 380-yard performance against Pampa in a 31-20 victory last week. Runner-up Monterey is far back with 264 yards picked up in a 7-0 squeaker win over the Canyon Eagles.

Monterey picked up seven more yards on the ground than Hereford did in the first week, 236-229, but the 'Faces outdistanced the rest of the loop with 151 markers off the arm of sterling quarterback Kelly Kitchens, who connected on nine of 12 attempts against the Harvesters.

Lubbock High with 74 yards ran a sloppy second to the Herd in passing offense, while the rest of the league was under the 30-yard mark with Monterey and Plainview amassing 28 yards and Coronado 16 via the airway.

Hereford leads the district scoring race also with its 31 points. Plainview with 15 and Lubbock with 14 are second and third. Monterey has scored seven points, while Coronado has yet to put a point up on the board.

Defensively Plainview leads the loop after having allowed Estacado only 95 yards total offense. Monterey is second with 125 markers given up to the game Eagles, and Coronado is third with 253 yards given up.

Hereford ranks fourth in the category after allowing Pampa 340 yards, while Lubbock is last with 380 yards allowed Borger in a 42-14 embarrassment.

Kitchens and Herd running sensation Paul Bell rank three, two in rushing among district rushers after one week. Bell's 153 yards put him only eight yards behind Monterey quarterback Ron Reeves. Kitchens is third on the list after picking up 47 markers against Pampa.

Hereford tight end Greg Brockman swept to the number one spot among pass catchers with five receptions against the Harvesters good for 82 yards, and temmate Chris Hill is not far behind with 58 yards on three snags in the Herd's opening win. Sophomore Balen Ramirez finds himself in the number eight position in receiving with 11 yards on one catch last Friday.

Kitchens ranks second in passing percentage only because the top slinger in the loop had a one-for-one night. Jamie Hernandez of Lubbock hit the one pass he tried for 32 yards against Borger. Kitchens has a .750 percentage on nine of 12 attempts, and leads Lubbock's Ernest Day in passing yardage by a big margin, 151-42.

Reeves, the MVP in the loop last year after guiding the Plainsmen to the state playoffs, started the season with a 2-7 performance, good for 28 yards. Jamie McAlister of Plainview got the only touchdown pass in the first week, while teammate Bruce Wesley registered the sole interception.

Kitchens and Bell rank first and third in total offense thus far, with Reeves squeezed in between. Kitchens has accounted for 198 yards passing and rushing to lead Reeves by nine yards. Bell is third with his 153 rushing yards.

In the individual scoring race Bell is 10 points to the good with 18 points on three TDs against Pampa. Lubbock's Day is second on the list with 8 points on one TD and a pair of conversions.

Kitchens with six points is tied for third in scoring with four other players including Reeves; Hereford kick specialist Charles Reyna is just behind with five points on a field goal and two PATs; and Brockman is on the list with two points on a pass from Kitchens following a Herd TD last week.

Volleyball Team Opens Home Slate

Hereford High School's varsity volleyball team opens the home season tonight with a 6:30 p.m. match against Amarillo Palo Duro. Coach Helen Reed's girls are 0-2 on the season after dropping an opening match to Tascosa and Tuesday losing to Pampa 15-6, 15-4 in Pampa.

Lightning Kills Football Player

TERRELL, Texas (AP) - Lightning struck and killed Terrell High School quarterback Bernard Derrick during a practice session here Wednesday.

Head coach Mike Bailey said Derrick, 17, was struck by lightning while fielding punts during a practice session. He was pronounced dead upon arrival at a Terrell hospital.

"There had been some lightning, but from a distance," Bailey said. "It wasn't the type thing that would have made people doing things outside go indoors."

"I felt a jolt, but I wasn't knocked down," Bailey said. "It came out of nowhere and struck. I didn't know what had hit when it first happened," said assistant coach Jack Herrington, one of several persons knocked to the ground by the jolt.

Derrick, a senior, did not play football last year, choosing to concentrate on basketball. He had won the job as starting quarterback this season.

Staubach To Take It Easy Tonight

By DENNE H. FREEMAN
AP Sports Writer

DALLAS (AP) - Don't look for Roger the Dodger to be doing his thing tonight.

Roger Staubach, the 35-year-old Cowboy quarterback with a penchant for wild scrambles, says he will stay where National Football League quarterbacks his age should stay - in the pocket.

The Cowboys host the Pittsburgh Steelers in nationally televised National Football League preseason game with some 50,000 fans expected in Texas Stadium.

Staubach has been bothered by a pulled hamstring muscle and missed two preseason games.

"I've played before when I didn't run," says Staubach. "I don't want to jeopardize my chances against Minnesota in the season opener Sept. 15. If I get in trouble I'll just lay the ball off."

The Cowboy brass is worried that any sudden dash by Staubach might reinjure the hamstring.

"He's in good shape but he has to be careful he doesn't spring," said Dallas Coach Tom Landry.

There will be one person on the field tonight who doesn't have to worry about going high speed and that's Steeler

Irish, Bruins, Baylor Picked to Win

NEW YORK (AP) - As we were saying when we were rudely interrupted by the end of the 1976 college football season...

Return with us now to those glory days of yesteryear - well, actually Jan. 1 of this year - when Pitt whopped Georgia 27-3 in the Sugar Bowl to nail down the national championship.

This corner picked it 28-17 to cap a perfect 11-0 record in bowl game prognostications. For the season, the score was 549 right, 222 wrong, 13 ties, for a percentage of .712.

The highlight of the new season's first big weekend is a rematch of last year's opener - Notre Dame vs. Pitt. The Panthers' 31-10 triumph in South Bend got them off and winging toward the national title. This one's in Pittsburgh, with Notre Dame ranked No. 3 and Pitt No. 7.

Both coaches have been playing a little psychology this week.

"This is not a must game for us," says Pitt's Jackie Sherrill, who took over when Johnny Majors loped back to Tennessee.

Over to you, Dan Devine: "Pittsburgh could be the No. 1 team in the nation and they could have three first-team All-Americans...opponents had better be prepared for a real dogfight."

So had the forecasters...Notre Dame 27-17.

UCLA at Houston: Notre Dame - Pitt is ABC-TV's first Monday night encounter is the second one. It's also the week's only other meeting between ranked teams - UCLA is No. 11, Houston No. 14. The Bruins had a great recruiting year - keep your eye on Billy Don Jackson, a defensive boss from Sherman, Tex. - so quicker than you can say Manu Tuaiasopo...UCLA 28-14.

Southern California at Missouri: Another rematch of a 1976 opener. You'll recall Missouri upset USC 46-25, the Trojans' only setback and one which ultimately cost them the national championship. And the year before that the Tigers upset Alabama and all that did was cost the Crimson Tide the national championship. Ol' Mizou's string of upsets has got to end some time...Southern Cal 38-14.

Vanderbilt at Oklahoma: Sooners are No. 1 in the preseason poll but they'd better not be reading their press clippings against underrated Vandy...Oklahoma 27-7.

Michigan at Illinois: Gary Moeller, Illinois' new coach, was an assistant at Michigan last year, so Bo Schenckel will go over when Johnny Bo? Welcome to the violent world of head coaching, Gary...Michigan 42-6.

Miami, Fla., at Ohio State: And welcome back to the college football ranks, Lou Saban, and the violent world of opposing Woody Hayes...Ohio State 42-6.

Washington State at Nebraska: Warren Powers, Nebraska's new coach, was an assistant at Nebraska last year so Tom Osborne will go easy on him. Right, Tom? Right! If only Jack Thompson, the Throwin' Samoan, played for the Cornhus-

Mississippi at Alabama: The Crimson Tide stumbled against Ole Miss a year ago and they just might be looking ahead to next week's trip into the violent world of the Big Eight, namely, Nebraska. Bear Bryant won't let that happen again...Alabama 28-10.

Texas Tech at Baylor: On paper, this seems like a mismatch with Rodney Allison, Tech's clutch quarterback, leading the Red Raiders while injury-plagued Baylor goes with third-stringer Scott Smith for openers and keeps its fingers crossed that heralded sophomore Sammy Bickham may see action thanks to a special pad to protect his injured shoulder. However, things aren't always what they seem on paper, so for the first Upset Special of the season...Baylor 19-12.

Kansas at Texas A&M: When Wishbone meets Wishbone, someone's gonna come away with broken bones...Texas A&M 35-14.

North Carolina at Kentucky: Seems like only yesterday that these teams wound up the 1976 season in the Peach Bowl, with Kentucky winning 21-0. This time...Kentucky 21-0.

California at Tennessee: Johnny Majors has told Vollbackers not to expect any Pitt-type miracles right away, but the first five games are at home and none of the opponents is a world-beater...Tennessee 24-21.

Top Teams Prevail; Lower Ranks Shift

By The Associated Press
 Sherman, Mount Pleasant, Yoakum, Poth and Wheeler, the top-ranked teams in The Associated Press preseason boys' football poll, held on their top billings after the first week of the season but there were some shakeups below them.
 Sherman kept its Class 4A ranking with a 50-26 rout of Belton.
 San Angelo Central, unranked before the season started, created the biggest waves by knocking off highly touted Bryan 38-7 to knock the Vikings from their No. 2 preseason ranking out of the top 10.
 San Angelo's performance earned the Bobcats the No. 8 spot in this week's poll.
 Mount Pleasant polled 10 first place votes and easily held its top billing in 3A but two other teams stumbled. Andrews, ranked No. 3 last week, fought off 4A Big Spring to a 14-14 tie and dropped to ninth this week. Dickinson, ranked sixth last week, disappeared after a 36-35 loss to Huntsville.
 Brownwood, which defeated 4A Abilene Cooper 15-6 and Gainesville, have moved into a share for the lead in 3A.
 Rockdale, No. 7, and North

Lamar, No. 8, were Class 2A losers and both dropped out of this week's list. Their replacements as the Nos. 9 and 10 teams are Caldwell and Columbus.
 Yoakum continued to rule the 2A ranks with a 28-12 victory over Edna.
 Poth blanked Yorktown 30-0 to protect its Class A billing but Mart, tied for third last week, and Dilley, No. 9, suffered first week setbacks. Mart fell to 10th this week after losing to 2A McGregor 20-13 and Dilley disappeared after a 26-3 loss to Laredo United.
 Grapeland moved in as the No. 10 team in A.
 The biggest shakeup came in Class B where only three of the top 10 teams escaped unbeaten. Top-ranked Wheeler shutout Shamrock 27-0 to keep the No. 1 ranking. No. 3 Italy beat Wortham 22-14 and moved up to second this week.
 D'Hanis, No. 9 last week, was the only other winner in B and advanced to fourth this week. Five new teams moved in this week. They are Groom, Motley County, Ropesville, Roby and Astell, ranked No. 6 through 10.

CINCINNATI (AP) - Angel Torres, a 24-year-old left-handed pitcher, was promoted by the Cincinnati Reds Wednesday from their farm team in Three Rivers of the Eastern League.
 Torres is the fourth minor league player called up by the Reds in the past week.
 He was obtained by the Reds last May from the Montreal Expos in a deal that gave Cincinnati two young pitchers in exchange for Santo Alcala.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) - The World Hockey Association's Birmingham Bulls planned to announce the name of their new coach at a news conference this morning.
 Officials declined Wednesday to divulge the coach's name in advance of the formal announcement.
 Coach Pat Kelly recently was hired as coach of the Colorado Rockies of the National Hockey League when his contract with the Bulls expired.
SEATTLE (AP) - The Seattle Seahawks have cut veteran tackle Dave Simonson to reduce their National Football League roster to the required 48 players, a team spokesman said Wednesday.

Roberts' Blast Lifts Padres

HOUSTON (AP) - San Diego catcher Dave Roberts said he "couldn't have asked for a better pitch."
 Roberts slammed a three-run ninth inning homer and drove in another run with a second inning double as the Padres thumped the Houston Astros, 9-5, Wednesday night.
 "He (Houston reliever Bo McLaughlin) threw me a fast ball on the inside of the plate for the homer," said Roberts. "It's nice to hit home runs but it's especially nice when it helps the team."
 Roberts' blast, his first of the season, followed a single by Jerry Turner and an intentional walk to Dave Winfield as San Diego took its seventh victory in its last nine contests.
 Houston scored a pair of first inning runs off winning pitcher Dave Freisleben, 7-7, on a walk to Terry Puhl, a single by Enos Cabell, a double steal and Cesar Cedeno's two-run single.
 The Padres fought back with a four-run second inning against losing pitcher J.R. Richard.

14-11. George Hendrick homered to open the inning, preceding back to back doubles by Winfield and Roberts, Mike Champion's triple and a single by Tucker Ashford.
 A fourth inning RBI single by Winfield and Mike Ivie's fifth inning double accounted for the other two San Diego runs.
 Cedeno's third inning steal of home, Jose Cruz' fifth inning sacrifice fly and eighth inning RBI triple by Art Howe rounded out the Astros scoring.
 Rollie Fingers hurled the final inning for the Padres to pick up his 32nd save of the season, leaving him just five saves away from tying the National League mark of 37 set by Clay Carroll in 1971.

 "I'm shooting for the record, but it's not a sure thing," said Fingers. "After all sometimes I only get two saves a month."
 The loss snapped Houston's nine game home winning streak as the Astros lost for only the second time in their last 13 contests.

Baseball Rallies Ahead of Football

By WILL GRIMSLEY AP Special Correspondent
 Hotdogs, peanuts, cold drinks and baseball.
 The nation can relax. Kids are playing stickball again on the teeming streets of Harlem. One-eyed-cat is booming on the corner lots in Paducah, Ky. They're choosing up sides in Bangor, Maine. Baseball has regained its once threatened position as America's favorite pastime.
 That's what we're being told by the national pollsters.
 A national sports survey, tapping a cross section of the population, came up with a finding that baseball has edged past football as the most popular sport among fans.
 It isn't all that decisive and is reminiscent of those TV election projections on TV with one per cent of the precincts heard from, but it's an interesting development. Some of the bloom has faded from football's boom of the 1960s, the survey reports, and baseball is showing gains on virtually every front.

 The National Football League refused to panic. Its preseason attendance is up over last year, the NFL said, and, besides, wasn't this particular poll taken in July when baseball fever was at its hottest and nobody was thinking of blitzes and pom pom girls?
 The survey reported that when asked which sport they prefer, 61 per cent of those polled said baseball, an increase of five per cent over 1974. Football was down from 63 per cent to 60 per cent.

In fan interest, baseball has jumped 10 per cent in the heavily populated East, up to 65 per cent, while football has fallen from 56 to 53. Baseball's greatest popularity is centered in big cities while football - on a declining scale, according to the survey - continues to hold a slight edge in the suburbs, among the young 18 to 29 years old and the college-educated. But baseball is eating away at even these bases.
 What is behind this trend?
 Opinions vary from the discrepancy in tickets prices to over-exposure of football on TV and the big free agent fests in baseball which created a slew of new very rich and magnetic personalities, such as the Yankees' Reggie Jackson.
 One point which long has been stressed by Commissioners Bowie Kuhn is that baseball remains the cheapest and most accessible commodity in big time professional sports.

 There's considerable truth in that. The average price of a baseball ticket is around $3.75, ranging from 50 cents for children general admission at Houston and Atlanta to $6.50 for box seats. The Los Angeles Dodgers have a top of $4.50. Grandstand seats generally run as low as $1.50.
 In contrast to baseball, pro football tickets average around $9.50 with tops running as high as $20 at Washington and $17.50 at other places. Prices not only are prohibitive for the average worker but tickets in most successful cities are almost impossible to come by. They are sold in season ticket lots largely to big companies, who can afford them.

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP) - Jim Mayer, a right wing who played in 21 games for the Calgary Cowboys last season, has signed a contract with the New England Whalers of the World Hockey Association.
 Mayer, 24, signed Wednesday to bring the number of players under contract to the Whalers to the league maximum 25, the club said.

Horton Beats Shift; Rangers Stop Slump

BLOOMINGTON, Minn. (AP) - Texas designated hitter Willie Horton penetrated the Minnesota Twins' defensive shift Wednesday night, and in the process helped the Rangers defeat the Twins and salvage the final game of a three-game series.
 Horton drove in Toby Harrah from first with an opposite-field double in the sixth inning to lift the Rangers to a 4-3 win.
 Harrah had walked to lead off the inning with the score tied 3-3. With one out, the Twins shifted second baseman Bobby Shandled to the left side of second base in an effort to retire the pull-hitting Horton.
 But Horton, who had given the Rangers a 1-0 lead in the second inning with his 13th home run into the right-center-field bullpen, drilled a slicing liner to right and Harrah, who was running with the pitch, scored from first.
 Rightfielder Rich Chiles had also been moved toward center field and was unable to field the ball quickly enough to prevent Harrah from scoring.
 "I've been watching him for two nights now and everytime it looks like he's trying to swing that way," said Chiles. "His home run came right at dusk and I had trouble seeing it."
 The win halted a four-game losing streak by the Rangers and gave them a glimmer of hope in catching division-leading Kansas City. Texas Manager Billy Hunter, who admitted after losing the first two games of the series to the Twins that things were getting desperate, refused to concede the Western Division title to the Royals.
 "All I can hope for is that Kansas City goes into a losing streak like the one we've been in," he said. "We really needed this win; it picked us up. Now we have to put four or five wins together in a row to get us back into the spirit of things."

 Texas is through playing both the Royals and second-place Chicago for the season, while the Twins, who begin a three-game series with the Royals Friday, have five games to play with Kansas City and six left with Chicago.

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (AP) - Chris Evert beat the past and Betty Stove beat the future to advance to their semifinal matchup at the U.S. Open tennis championships.
 The top-seeded Miss Evert provided a barometer for Billie Jean King's continuing singles comeback Wednesday night with a 6-2, 6-0 victor over the former queen of women's tennis.
 About 4 1/2 hours earlier, Tracy Austin, the 14-year-old future queen of tennis, drove her Cinderella carriage to center court. But Miss Stove turned the clock to midnight with a powerful 6-2, 6-2 triumph.
 In the other women's quarter-finals matches today, No. 2 seed Martina Navratilova, the Czech expatriate now playing out of Dallas, faced No. 10 Mima Jasicusvec of Yugoslavia and third-seeded Wendy Turnbull, the No. 12 seed from Australia.
 With all the hoopla attached to Miss Austin, the most famous school girl this side of Amy Carter, a pair of men sneaked less dramatically into the semifinals.
 Guillermo Vilas, the No. 5 seed from Argentina could do no wrong in his 6-1, 6-1, 6-0 rout of unseeded Ray Moore of South Africa. Vilas has a Saturday semifinal date with Harold Solomon, the No. 12 seed from Silver Spring, Md., who wore down No. 10 Dick Stockton of Carrollton, Tex., 6-4, 6-4, 6-2.

Tracy Stove Up

The other semifinal pairing will be determined today. Brian Gottfried, the No. 3 seed from Lauderhill, Fla., plays surprising Corrado Barazzutti of Italy and second-seeded Jimmy Connors, Belleville, Ill., meets fifth-rated Manuel Orantes of Spain.
 While school bells were beginning to ring round the country, Miss Austin - set to enter the ninth grade in Rolling Hills, Calif. a week from today - was given a professional tennis lesson by Miss Stove, the 32-year-old native of The Netherlands.

"She just overpowered me," said Tracy, standing tall on the court at 5 feet and 90 pounds. "I was lucky to get in a rally. Most of the time she just put the ball away off her serve, and hit winners off mine. She was too strong for me."
 Miss Stove gave Tracy a professional beating because she was able to see her pig-tailed opponent as the enemy, not just some cute little kid.
 "Five or six years ago, I would have been sentimental, too," said the 6-foot, 160-pound Miss Stove. "And I would have lost to her."
 "I never saw Tracy at all. I only saw the ball."
 "I considered her a competitor, a very good competitor. She has a real good future."

EPA Planning to Restrict Use of 23 Pesticides

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Environmental Protection Agency plans to restrict the use of 23 chemical pesticides to farmers, ranchers and others who have been trained and certified in their use.

Agency officials said they want to gather further technical information on an additional 38 pesticides being considered for restriction.

"Restricted pesticides, if mishandled, could be actually toxic to the user or could pose a long-term threat to his or other people's health or to environmental quality," EPA administrator Douglas M. Costle said in a statement.

The formal proposal regarding the 23 pesticide chemicals is open for public comment until Oct. 17. Those can be sent to the Federal Register Section, Technical Services Division (WHS569) Office of Pesticide Programs, EPA, 401 M Street, S.W., Washington, D.C. 20460.

The crackdown by EPA has been in the making for some time. A 1972 federal pesticides law requires that after Oct. 21 of this year the potentially most hazardous pesticides must be used only by farmers, ranchers and others who are certified as capable of handling them.

"By limiting these products to well-trained applicators, as

TFU Wants Grazing

In a letter to the Secretary of Agriculture, Texas Farmers Union President Jay Naman urged that wheat farmers be permitted to graze set-aside acres and that diversion payments be made to compensate wheat farmers for their set-aside.

"Wheat farmers who are also cattle producers need the opportunity to graze set-aside acres to supplement low income from wheat production. It will encourage their participation in the wheat program," Naman said.

Texas Farmers Union has criticized the level of set-aside as being inadequate, but feels that set-aside provisions can be administered in such a way as to get maximum participation. Permitting grazing on set-aside acres would encourage wheat farmers to comply and to participate in the farm program, according to the Farmers Union.

Naman urged Secretary Bergland to announce a diversion payment in connection with the set-aside. According to Naman, the Secretary of Agriculture should authorize the payment of an amount sufficient to compensate farmers for abandoning set-aside acres.

Naman said, "The grain glut that farmers find themselves in was not their responsibility. They were encouraged and ever coerced to expand acreage by the previous administration. It is the responsibility of the government and the general public to see to it that wheat farmers are extricated from their serious economic predicament."

The question of grazing set-aside acres is expected to be decided in a matter of days if the farm program is passed and signed by President Carter. Texas wheat producers are in general support of the liberal grazing regulations.

the law requires, they may remain on the market while environmental and public health protection should be significantly enhanced," Costle said.

Training and certification of applicators usually is handled by state or agricultural extension employees through classroom instruction or home study courses. Some 600,000 farmers and ranchers, and 160,000 commercial applicators have been trained so far, the agency said.

Until now, the EPA has issued tentative or informal lists of chemicals which agency officials have said would probably end up on the restricted listing.

The current proposal was the first official stamp of restriction to be announced by the EPA and Costle said the goal is to have a final decision on the 23 chemicals by the Oct. 21 deadline.

After a chemical has been put on the restricted list, manufacturers will have 45 days to submit label changes for their products to reflect the new restrictions on their use. After this is accepted by EPA, retailers will have 180 days to relabel their stocks.

"It will be illegal for a retailer to sell a restricted pesticide to an uncertified user and for an uncertified user to apply it," the EPA said. "Penalties for these violations may range from a simple warning to a fine of several thousand dollars."

The 23 chemicals proposed to be restricted by EPA - either partly or altogether according to their use - include:

Acrolein, acrylonitrile, aldicarb, allyl alcohol, aluminum phosphide, azinphos, methyl, calcium cyanide, demeton, endrin, ethylparathion, flouracetamide-1081, hydrocyanic acid, methomyl, methyl bromide, methyl parathion, mevinphos, paraquat, ticloram, sodium cyanide, sodium fluoroacetate, strychnine, sulfotep and tepp.

State No. 1 In Sorghum

AUSTIN-Texas farmers helped make the state No. 1 in the nation in sorghum production last year, with a total of 292,900,000 bushels being harvested, Agriculture Commissioner Reagan V. Brown has announced.

Brown noted, however, that of the 7,300,000 acres planted in sorghum in Texas, only 5,800,000 were harvested. Harvesting of an excellent crop was underway in southern Texas when heavy rains caused much of the grain to turn black.

Meat Importation Finally Slowing

WASHINGTON (AP) - Imports of beef to make hamburger and other manufactured products continue to lag behind a year ago, according to new government figures. The Agriculture Department said that U.S. Customs inspections through July showed that 685.6 million pounds of the meat had entered the market, down 10.3 per cent from 763.9 million pounds in the first seven months of 1976. The imports involved fresh, chilled and frozen beef, veal, mutton and goat meat covered by a 1964 import quota law. Fifteen countries are eligible to ship the meat, mostly beef, to the United States.

Under "voluntary restraint" agreements, the major suppliers have agreed to limit shipments in 1977 to a total of 1,272 million pounds in order to avoid strict U.S. quotas. The level at which quotas would be triggered is 1,282 million pounds.

Australia, the leading supplier, shipped 320.2 million pounds through July, down 17.5 per cent from 387.8 million in the first seven months of last year. New Zealand's share was 154.3 million pounds, down 5.3 per cent from 161.8 million a year ago.

Canada, the third-ranked supplier so far this year, has boosted its shipments to 58.3 million pounds from 51.5 million in January-July of last year, up 13.2 per cent, the figures showed.

Formula Liberalized On FmhHa Water Loans

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Agriculture Department says it is putting into effect "a more liberal formula" for determining the amounts of grants and loans for the improvement of rural community water systems affected by drought.

Administered by the Farmers Home Administration of USDA, the drought aid programs currently are available to qualified applicants in more than 2,200 counties and other jurisdictions of 37 states, Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands.

Under the revisions, the FHA said it will use a formula on grants similar to that used by other federal agencies which also help finance drought emergency water system projects.

Also, in the case of loans, the new formula lets the agency take into account an applicant's total existing indebtedness. Earlier, FHA considered indebtedness only for water facilities in considering the amounts of the loans.

Officials said the changes are expected to increase the grant portion of FHA financing of many projects.

While only 420,000 individuals work directly on Texas farms and ranches, roughly 25 per cent or four out of every ten persons in the state owe their jobs either directly or indirectly to agriculture and agribusiness, according to Agriculture Commissioner Reagan V. Brown.

'Cuckoo's Nest' Moves to TV

LOS ANGELES (AP) - If you saw "One Flew Over the Cuckoo's Nest" and wondered if the movie accurately depicted life in a mental hospital, you'll definitely want to see public TV's "Inside the Cuckoo's Nest."

You might be relieved after seeing this 90-minute documentary, produced by KQED in San Francisco for airing tonight over public TV's national hookup some stations may televise it later.

But I'd call it a valuable effort to help lay viewers understand the actual treatment of mental illness, at least in his hospital, and in the process show how it differs from the make-believe of the movie.

The program starts slowly, McCoy or merely good drama.

Aiding the study and explanation is Dr. Dean Brooks, who played the head of the movie's mental hospital and in real life is superintendent of the Oregon State Hospital in Salem.

I suspect some in his field will view his participation in tonight's show as belated efforts to counter whatever bad image of mental hospitals Nicholson's powerful movie caused.

But I'd call it a valuable effort to help lay viewers understand the actual treatment of mental illness, at least in his hospital, and in the process show how it differs from the make-believe of the movie.

With a week to go before registration closes Sept. 15, the fall enrollment stood at 938, a new all-time record. The old record, 933, was set last year.

with various comments by several supporting actors in the movie about their experiences making the film. Miss Felcher, who won an Oscar for her portrayal of stern, authoritarian Nurse Ratched, also discusses her role briefly.

Bear with all this, because the show immediately improves as it juxtaposes key scenes from "Cuckoo's Nest" with what KQED's film crew shot at the hospital.

Example: The movie showed patients docilely lined up for their daily medication. They weren't told what it was, but it clearly was dispensed to control them, not help them.

The "Inside" view: Patients know what they're getting, why and discuss it with a hospital "treatment team" of experts.

One of the strongest, most terrifying scenes of "Cuckoo's Nest" showed Nicholson receiving electro-shock treatments.

Strong drama, but technically wrong, Dr. Brooks says. The patients don't get the treatment cold, as in the movie, but are first anesthetized and given drugs to reduce convulsions.

An ensuing scene of such a treatment is an extremely disturbing sight, but infinitely more humane than what folks saw in "Cuckoo's Nest."

You may worry that "Inside" grossly invades the privacy of the patients it shows. But KQED says no filming was done until the patients, their doctors and the patients' families all gave permission.

And, says executive producer Zev Putterman, all the patients had the right, after seeing the completed show, to delete the scenes in which they appeared. None did, he added.
