SIGHTS, FACES SEEN

A Hereford "Ham" operator, R. L. Etheridge, said he talked to a Missoula, Mont., station last Monday and told him that the temperature was 11 degrees above. "How are you standing the heat wave?" asked the Montana man, who said the mercury there was standing at 35 below!

Patrons of the Hereford Automatic Washateria were confronted with a problem Thursday. Due to the extreme cold Wednesday night, the owners were forced to put a "Closed—Water Frozen" sign on the door of the establishment.

Streu Hardware will celebrate its 27th anniversary on Monday. Coffee will be served from 9 a. m. until 4 p. m. A Sunbeam Coffee Master will be given away as a door prize. Hundreds of bargains will be available throughout the store.

Hereford Kiwanians got a sample of "justice in the rough" Thursday noon when their past president, H. V. Stanton, was "tried" in an extemporaneous mock court session for allowing a meeting to disband before the program—four Kiwanians blending their voices—was completed. Stanton was found guilty of course. The verdict—listening to three selections by that self-same quartet!

Firemen didn't have far to go Saturday morning when they got an alarm to put out a blaze. The fire, caused by a barrel of gasoline, was at the Giles Motor company—right across the street.

Pump Salesman Falls In Irrigation Well

WESTWAY (Special)—The irrigation pump salesman fell in the well.

A salesman for irrigation pumps and supplies, in trying to contact the foreman, Jack Casey, at the Alton Fraser farm last Tuesday afternoon, found that he had taken the wrong road to the foreman's house.

He backed up to turn around, and in doing so, backed into an abandoned irrigation well. The well, originally 8x8 feet in diameter, had never been completely filled, but had caved off until it is now more than the original size. As soon as the back end of the car went down, the man jumped out, and immediately the car sank almost completely into the hole.

The salesman enlisted the aid of Louis Brown, a worker on the Fraser farm, and with log chains, planks, and tractors, finally succeeded in pulling it up and out of the well.

The car, a new Ford, was undamaged, but the salesman said he thought he was going to lose it completely, or at least damage it badly in recovering it from the well.

The well, located just south of the Merlin Kaul house, has not been used in recent years.

March of Dimes Total $4069.58 In Deaf Smith

Incomplete returns from the March of Dimes Polio campaign which closed January 31 show a total of $4069.58 collected with an additional two or three hundred dollars promised, according to John Alkin, campaign chairman for the county.

Although this figure does not equal the $5000 raised last year in the drive, leaders of the campaign cooperation and contributions have been very good this year, especially in consideration of the light crop this year. Last year's total collected here per capita was surpassed by only a few counties in the state.

The largest sum from any one phase of the drive was from the radio campaign Sunday afternoon which totalled $1161.05 with enough additional money promised to reach at least $1250. Second in the amount collected was the "Mother's March on Polio" which totalled $994.12. Other contributions include coin collectors, $501.03; dances, $152. (Continued on Page 2)

Jackson Electric Loss $12,000; To Re-Open Business

The board of directors of the Jackson Electric Co. Inc., held a meeting Saturday in Amarillo and agreed to re-open the Hereford branch of the company when a suitable location is found.

The building owned by the company was destroyed by fire last Wednesday morning. Loss was estimated at $12,000, a minor part of which was covered by insurance.

Travis Jackson, president of the corporation, told The Brand Saturday that the firm's supplier, General Electric, has promised to bring its inventory as closely as possible back to its pre-fire level.

The Jackson Electric company has offices in Amarillo and in Hereford.

Sexton Posts Bond, Released on Grand Jury Check Charge

John Sexton of Hereford, who was indicted by the grand jury on January 29 for swindling by check, was arrested this week and released after he posted $150 bond.

Sexton also pled guilty in county court on Thursday morning to passing a worthless check. He was fined $1, costs, and made restitution on the bad check, for a total of $36.90.

The first count involved a check in excess of $50, which is a felony. The charge on which he pled in county court, issuing a worthless check under $50, is a misdemeanor.

Safety Council Will Hear Proposals for New Local Projects

Proposals for additional safety practices will be presented and discussed at the monthly meeting of the Hereford Safety Council Tuesday at 2 p. m. in the office of Mayor W. E. Dameron at City hall.

Other items on the agenda will include reports of projects completed and the adoption of council by-laws.

In addition to the board of directors, all ex-officio members will be present. These members are: the mayor, city commissioners, chief of police, fire chief, county sheriff, and county attorney.

THE RETIRING and the incoming managers of the local NFLA office are shown together as George L. Muse, right, announced his retirement after 33 years as secretary-treasurer. On the left is E. J. Grady, who will assume the position vacated by Muse.

NFLA Secretary Muse Retires

After having participated actively on the board of directors of the National Farm Loan Association since its organization thirty-three years ago, George L. Muse, who recently has served as secretary-treasurer of the association, is retiring. His successor is E. J. Grady.

Grady was manager of Consumers here 10 years and owner of the Hereford Truck line three years. He is engaged in farming and ranching 15 miles west of Hereford.

Muse came to Hereford before it was Hereford, arriving here on July 3, 1892, when he was "just a kid." He engaged in ranching until 1917 when he became president of the First National Bank, which position he held until October of 1937.

Cemetery Group Plans Meeting to Discuss Perpetual Care Operation

For the purpose of considering amendments which would convert the Hereford Cemetery association to a non-profit perpetual care cemetery, a special meeting of all members of the present Hereford association will be held in the county court room Tuesday, Feb. 6, at 7:30 o'clock, according to J. C. Ricketts, president.

When he took the office of secretary-treasurer of the National Farm Loan Association, on February 26, 1918, the local unit of the NFLA was organized and Muse served as a director for a number of years, including several terms as president of the association.

Through the years Muse has maintained his ranching interests to which he will devote much of his time now. He owns 4015 acres of ranch and irrigated farm land 23 miles northeast of Hereford.

Miss Vera Byrnes, who has been employed as assistant secretary-treasurer of the organization, will continue in that capacity. Other members of the Board of Directors are G. W. Brumley, president; Ira Scott, vice-president, and J. M. White and N. E. Gass, directors.

Newly remodelled offices of the association are located across the street from the post office.

CAP Commander From Amarillo Here February 9

Concrete steps towards the forming of a Hereford Civilian Air Patrol squadron will be discussed at a meeting to be held Friday, Feb. 9 at 7:30 p. m.

Guest speaker for the meeting will be Major Dick Flemington of Amarillo, commander of the CAP squadron there.

The site for the meeting has not been selected yet, according to Carl Knopf, who arranged for this meeting. Name of the place will be given in the February 8 issue of The Brand.

All persons above the age of 15 years are invited to attend. Interested persons from surrounding towns are also urged to be at the meeting, Knopf said.

Two Hereford Men Enlist in Army This Week; To Ft. Sill

Curtis L. Ponder, 19-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. William S. Ponder of Hereford and Guy Taylor Cornelius, 20-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Guy Taylor, Sr., of Hereford, enlisted in the regular Army unassigned this week, according to Sgt. H. M. Riddle, local Army and Air Force recruiter.

Ponder is hoping to be assigned to Army Ordnance when he finishes his basic training at Fort. Sill, Okla.

Cornelius enlisted for a three-year term. Like Ponder, he will leave Monday for Amarillo for processing, then to Ft. Sill for basic training.

Cornelius was employed by the Fraser Milling company and attended high school in Hereford. Ponder graduated from the Hereford high school in 1949. His father farms 5800 acres of land near Hereford.

Brand Will Conduct Column Listing Addresses of Area Men in Service

The Brand, with the cooperation of relatives of servicemen from its reading area, will institute a "servicemen's column" soon listing addresses of men from this area serving with their country's armed forces.

Listed in this column will also be changes of address, promotions, and all other pertinent information regarding Deaf Smith's servicemen.

It is the hope of The Brand that this feature will be a clearinghouse of information that would be unobtainable to the individual in any other place without a great deal of effort.

Perhaps even now, men from this area may be serving in the same military installation without being aware of each other's whereabouts. Due to the proposed increase in inductions, this situation may be all the more commonplace in the future.

January is Popular Month To Pay Tax

"Better late than never" seems to be the guiding light of many Deaf Smith county residents when it comes to paying their poll tax.

Out of the total 1894 payments made at the office of the tax deputy, 1433 of these were paid in the last month, January.

Here are the month-by-month sales of poll taxes: October, 232; November, 101; December, 128; and January, 1433. There were 16 exemptions reported, according to Worth Covington, deputy.

Two Unhurt in Rail Crossing Accident Friday

Two Hereford residents escaped serious injury shortly after noon Friday when the car in which they were riding were riding was struck by a special Santa Fe freight train on the Main street crossing south of the business district.

The two passengers in the auto—Mrs. Pearl Dickerson and her sister, Miss Annie Lou Caraway, both of Star route, Hereford—were not hospitalized although they received scratches and bruises.

The Dickerson auto was crossing the main line heading south when the rear end was hit by the oncoming train. The auto was turned around by the impact.

Mrs. Dickerson told investigating authorities that she was observing a train standing on the "team track" at the crossing and didn't see the westbound train as it approached.

Police Chief Reeves and Patrolman Leland Alderson investigated the accident. Alderson said the conductor backed the train up to the warning signal button to test the approach warning device, which was shown to be in operating condition at least 2500 feet before the crossing.

Entries from Deaf Smith, Oldham, Castro, and Farmer counties will be competing. Total approximately $350 being offered as cash prizes.

Clearman told The Brand Saturday he expects 300 chickens, 50 calves, 55 pigs, and about 23 lambs to be shown at this annual farm event.

All events will be larger than last year's except calves, which will be about five exhibits smaller.

Three highlights of the two day event will be the barbecue at 11:45 a. m. Saturday, Feb. 17, the parade at 1:30 p. m., and the sale of livestock following the parade.

Two Injured in Collision Here On Thursday

Mrs. Wayne Qualls, 22, and her six-year-old son, Wayne, Jr., were injured Thursday morning at 9:35 when the 1950 Studebaker in which they were riding was struck by a 1½-ton bread truck at the intersection of Union street and Avenue C.

Driver of the Freshe bread truck was W. D. Jones, 21, of Amarillo, who was charged by city police with failure to yield the right-of-way as a result of the crash.

Mrs. Qualls was not injured as seriously as her son, the family physician said Thursday afternoon. She suffered facial lacerations, a bruised left shoulder, and shock. Her condition was not serious.

The six-year-old boy received several large lacerations of the scalp, a compound skull fracture, and suffered a loss of a large amount of blood.

City Policeman Leland Alderson, who, with Hollis Rainey investigated the accident, gave this account of the mishap as supplied by witnesses and the parties involved:

Woods was driving south on Avenue C and Mrs. Qualls was driving east on Union. Mrs. Qualls was more than half-way through the intersection when the truck crashed into the left side of the Qualls auto.

Skidded 70 Feet

Woods told Alderson he was driving at about 20 mph just before the accident. He applied the brakes and skidded 40 feet on the packed snow before hitting the Qualls car. After the collision, Alderson said, the truck skidded an additional 30 feet, turning around and coming to a stop.

Mrs. Qualls and her son were thrown out the right side of the auto. The boy was thrown free of the wreck, but Mrs. Qualls was pinned underneath the right side of the auto as it tipped over.

First persons to arrive on the scene were Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence McGee, who live two doors south of the intersection on Avenue C.

Beneath The Auto

The McGees said Mrs. Qualls was lying underneath the auto among the hedges on the Wade lawn. She was in a sitting position with her body doubled over so her head was forced down between her legs.

Three other passersby helped McGee lift the auto so Mrs. McGee could roll the injured woman to safety.

Neighbors assisted in comforting the injured mother and son until the ambulance arrived to take them to the Deaf Smith county hospital.

February Enlistment Air Force Accepting Only Veterans for

Word has just been received in Hereford by Sgt. H. M. Riddle, Army and Air Force recruiter, that only applicants with previous service will be accepted for enlistment in the Air Force during the month of February.

Riddle said that enlistments are still being accepted in Army unassigned paratroopers, Far East Command, Officers' Candidate School, WAC, and the WAF.

The driver of the truck was uninjured in the accident.

Weather Below Zero Brings Varied Reactions

It was cold. Reports of the temperature Wednesday night, when it reached the low for the week, vary from 17 degrees below zero at the city hall to 24 degrees below zero several miles northwest of Hereford. Anyway, it was cold.

The stockmen were worried about their cows, but there were no losses reported, probably due to the fact there was scarcely any wind while the low temperature prevailed. The businessmen were worried about starting their autos to get to work, and many housewives were without water because of frozen pipes.

but the children of the town thoroughly enjoyed the four days of frozen pavement which made sleigh-riding the top item of recreation despite sub-zero temperatures.

In four days, the temperature as recorded at the City Hall varied 95 degrees, with the high 78 Saturday afternoon of last week and the low, 17 below, Wednesday night, when the coldest temperatures in the history of weather recording in the Panhandle were reported.

With everyone else taking part in winter sports, such as sleigh riding, two boy scout units had to be different Friday night. Troop 52 and Explorer Group 50, including about 25 boys and leaders, went to Canyon and went swimming at the college indoor pool.

Several local people attended the annual banquet of the Amarillo Chamber of Commerce held Friday night at the Hering hotel. Among those from here attending were: Mr. and Mrs. Tom McFarland, Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Thompson, C. D. Hardesty, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Schroeter, Harry Caylor, and others.

A representative of the Amarillo office of the Social Security administration will be in Hereford on Wednesday, Feb. 21 at the county courthouse at 9:30 a. m. He will assist with new cases arising from the amendments to the act passed in 1950. This includes survivor's insurance payments for widows, and dependent children of deceased veterans of World War II.

Roy Ford, minister of the First Christian church, caused quite a sensation in The Brand office Thursday afternoon when he brought in a huge platter with three different kinds of candy made by Mrs. Ford. After the generous sampling by all members of the staff, 18 minds returned but one verdict—DELICIOUS!! If Mrs. Ford cared to reveal the SECRET of such excellent candy-making, she would find a ready audience at The Brand office. Our thanks to the Fords for their welcome and tasty treats.

Here is a thought along the same line as today's question of the week: Taxation is the proper way to pay the bulk of the costs or rearmament; it may hurt but the pain is not as bad as that experienced by those who get shot.

sites at $100 each, $30 would go to the association, $25 for grave digging and $25 into the operating fund," Ricketts continued.

Between $40,000 and $50,000 will be required to establish the perpetual care cemetery, according to officers of the present association, who express a belief that the amount can be financed through the outlined plan. In addition to the sum raised through sale of lots will be a $10,000 bequest left through the will of the late J. E. Hill, who specified that it be used in connection with establishment of a plan of this type.

"A deal has already been started for the drilling of adequate water wells," Ricketts said. "We plan to install the new water system right away."

Generously proportioned, feature this house, designed with an awareness of current building costs. It is Plan No. 203 of Walter T. Anicka, architect, of 617 Forest Ave., Ann Arbor, Michigan. The combination living and dining room affords flexible living area with a view of the garden. Hardwood plywood paneling faced with richly-grained hardwood veneer is specified by the architect for stability and permanence and to create an atmosphere of warmth and comfort. A modern glazed partition, screening the entrance and storage wall, may include a built-in radio or television screen. Bedrooms and bath form a separate unit. All of the wardrobe-type closets have sliding doors of hardwood veneer—affording ease of maintenance which is a feature of all hardwood veneer surfaces. The kitchen contains ample storage space and provides direct access to the service entrance with its convenient clothes closet and stairway to the basement. A built-in breakfast nook also is provided. Total floor space, with an absolute minimum of hall area, is 990 square feet, a useful figure in arriving at local building costs. Protected by a low-pitched roof of colorful, fire-resistant asphalt shingles, this modest home will blend into the color pattern of its neighbors if situated on a city lot, or will look equally attractive when individually color-styled for an open country setting. The exterior is designed for either shingle or clapboard siding to contrast with the color of the asphalt roof, with an attached car port giving added distinction. (Detailed building plans for this house are available from Walter T. Anicka, 617 Forest Avenue, Ann Arbor, Mich. Refer to Plan No. 203.)

Building in Hereford for 1950 Nears Million Mark

Residential and commercial building and remodeling in Hereford during 1950 amounted to nearly a million dollars, according to estimates listed on building permits issued through the city clerk's office.

Estimate value for construction covered by the 119 building permits issued during the year was $979,616.

Residential building activity totaled an estimated $615,916 and commercial building and remodeling amounted to about $228,700. One church building permit for construction estimated at $135,000, was issued for St. Anthony's church.

Included in the year's issues were: 72 residence permits; five garage permits; five remodeling permits; 21 business building or remodeling permits; 11 moving permits for residences or other types of buildings; eight permits for residential additions; one church; one clinic; and one for an addition to a clinic.

One odd fact in the 1950 building permits is that the first and last permits issued during 1950 were taken out by the same man—B. E. Roberson. The first permit was issued for his $15,000 residence at 125 Avenue C and the last one of the year was issued to Roberson for a business structure south of the Hereford laundry on Schley street. When completed, the building will house Nell's Body Shop. At the present time just the foundation of concrete block structure has been completed.

This list of permits is a low figure for the amount of building activity in Hereford during the past year, according to City Clerk Mary Barnhart, because some remodeling has been done without securing a building permit.

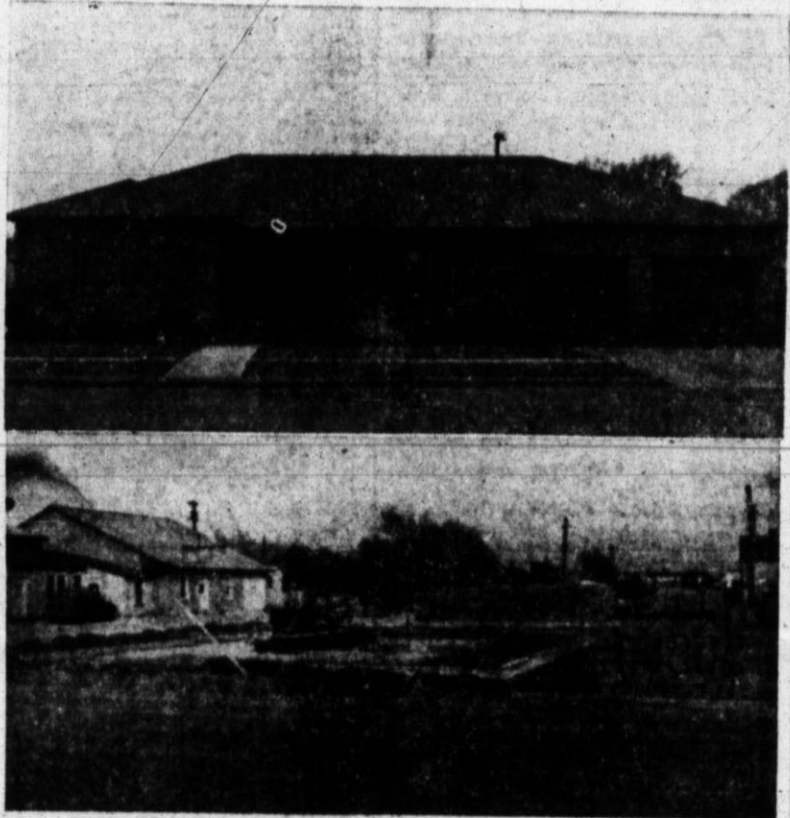

One Amarillo contractor also erected 12 houses without city permits for the work. The cost of these houses added onto the previously-recorded building activity will push the year's construction figure past the million mark.

Guard House Against Fire From Outside

The possibility of fire spreading to a house from an outside source is a frequently overlooked danger but one that can be minimized by taking a couple of fundamental safety precautions in construction work.
If two dwelling units are joined together, as in double houses, row houses or apartments, walls between units should be solid. Hollow walls should contain fire stops to block the passage of flames.
For an individual house, the greatest danger of fire from an outside source is from flying sparks and fire brands. However, virtually complete protection can be gained by the use of fire-resistant asphalt roof shingles. Approved by Underwriters Laboratories, asphalt shingles will not catch fire if sparks fall on them.

Pass-Through Saves Walking
A pass-through between the kitchen and dining room as illustrated above can save the busy housewife many a step. American Builder magazine points out. A principle advantage of the arrangement is that it provides counter space for dishes, making it unnecessary to travel several times from the kitchen to the dining room in placing food on the table. The same holds true when it comes to clearing the table after the meal. Another feature of the wall opening is that it permits easy communication between persons in the dining room and kitchen and improves illumination, particularly if the amount of outside window space is limited in either room.

MAKING COLD FRAME
A wooden box with a sheet of glass covering the top is the simplest type of cold frame. It is useful for covering plants that need winter protection.

Title I Loans Help Improve More Houses

This year promises to be the biggest on record for the Federal Housing Administration's program of helping home-owners by guaranteeing property improvement loans.

An analysis of Title I loans guaranteed for the first eight months of 1950 shows that the program is almost 25 percent above 1949, both in number of loans and in total amount of money.

Through August, 886,467 loans totaling $455,106,182 had been made. This compares to 713,930 loans and $348,944,301 for the same period last year.

If the Title I property improvement program continues at the same rate, the total for 1950 will be well above the previous high of $621,612,484 in 1948.

In June this year, loans amounting to $77,854,345 were insured by the government organization. This was higher than any month last year and more than 50 percent greater than June, 1949.

The FHA does not lend money directly to property owners under the Title I program. Instead, a loan is made by a private lending institution. The loan is insured by the FHA, thus protecting the lending institution against default by the borrower. This system makes borrowing easier.

Roofing is one of the major kinds of home improvement work for which loans are guaranteed. The homeowner who wants to put a new asphalt shingle roof on his dwelling can obtain assistance in arranging a loan from a building material dealer, contractor or roofing applicator. Loans are made to cover both the cost of new roofing and the cost of applying it properly.

FHA reports show that the average loan insured during the first eight months of 1950 amounted to about $490. Because of the relative economy of re-roofing, the average roofing loan was for a lesser amount of money.

Wall Panels Form Design

African Zebra wood veneer paneling on the wall enriches the appearance of this combination study-recreation room. The panels illustrate the way in which hard-wood veneer can be used to form symmetrical designs of wood grain. "A house full of ideas" is American Builder magazine's description of the dwelling of which the room is a part.

HOW TO DO IT

Drip Edge Blocks Water
The eaves of a roof can be given extra protection from the weather by application of a metal drip edge, which keeps water from backing up under the shingle tabs at the edge of the roof deck. As recommended for asphalt shingles, the most widely used roofing material for homes, the metal drip edge is made of corrosion-resistant 24 gauge sheet metal. Galvanized steel, painted on both sides, ordinarily is used. The drip edge should extend back 2 to 4 inches over the roof and should be bent down over the eaves far enough to cover the edges of the roof deck sheathing. Nails, placed as shown in the drawing, are spaced 8 to 10 inches apart. Metal drip edges of this kind also should be used to protect a roof at the rakes.

CLEANING FRAMES
To clean picture frames, wash them with a soft cloth wrung out of heavy suds. Rinse the frames and dry them thoroughly.

IRONING METAL CLOTH
Metallic fabrics should be pressed as little as possible. Do not let the iron become very hot.

Hardwood Veneer Cut Thin To Reveal Beauty of Grain

The attractive wood grain patterns found in hardwood veneer are made possible by the thinness of each veneer sheet. The effects achieved cannot be duplicated in thick, solid wood.

After sheets of veneer are sliced from a log, they are kept in order. Each piece of wood retains the same position it had in the living tree. A stack of veneer sheets is comparable to a loaf of sliced bread.

Because the standard thickness of face veneers is only 1/28 inch, successive sheets are virtually identical in grain figure. When the sheets later are placed side by side in the manufacture of hardwood plywood, the grain of one sheet matches the grain of adjacent sheets. Symmetrical patterns are created.

The U. S. Department of Commerce says:

"Owing to the wide diversity of figure types and to the fact that adjacent veneers from the same ditch (piece of log from which veneers are cut) can be matched to make symmetrical designs, there is hardly any limitation to the variety of patterns which can be produced."

"The art of matching veneers has been developed to such a high degree of perfection that the well-informed designer may obtain almost any desired effect and may realize the full value of every wood. Thus, the exquisite wood panels of modern homes, radio and television cabinets, or fine furniture, which we enjoy, are achieved.

"In the process of matching, the veneers may have to be squared, or clipped at an angle, or cut into a number of small segments, or treated in some other manner, depending upon the result desired. Since each sheet carries a pattern almost identical to that of the sheet next to it, they must all be cut in exactly the same place."

"Sometimes a third, a half, or in rare cases only a fourth of each sheet of veneer can be used, merely because only a small portion of its pattern would help form the perfect design needed for a beautifully matched table top or dresser front."

Despite the thinness of hardwood veneer, in its final form it is stronger than solid wood. The reason for this is that sheets of veneer are combined into hardwood plywood. Full resistance to splitting and warping is a characteristic of hardwood plywood's cross-grain construction.

Sgt. Neighbors Is Prisoner

News that Sgt. Gerald Neighbors is a prisoner of war and is still alive reached his wife, Mrs. Shirley Neighbors of Hereford, this week when a Chinese Red propaganda broadcast was reported by the Associated Press as listing Neighbors as one of a number of prisoners of war who have written home requesting that Congress "pull American troops out of Korea." Neighbors was listed as missing in action in Korea on December 2, the date of the last letter his wife has received from him.

Mrs. Neighbors and her three-month-old daughter, Cynthia Kay, are making their home here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Les Thompson. The family has not yet received a letter from Sgt. Neighbors as described in the propaganda report.

A telegram from the War Department to Mrs. Neighbors this week confirmed the propaganda report, but the Department had no means of confirming the fact he is a prisoner of war.

Sgt. Neighbors, son of Mrs. Maudie S. Neighbors, of Amarillo, was wounded in action in Korea in September and was in a hospital in Japan for about a month before returning to the front. The 21-year-old youth, a member of the Second Infantry Division, has been in service four years.

Highway Department Issuing Free Maps

The Texas Highway department has a new official highway map of the state on hand and will send one free to any person mailing a card requesting the map, according to Worth Covington, deputy tax collector. Covington says Deaf Smith county has 5000 of the request cards on hand and they may be obtained when the 1951 license plates are purchased in his office. He urged all motorists to be sure to pick up a card when buying new license tags.

Sale of 1951 Dog Tags Is Slow, Clerk Reports

The sale of dog tags, which has been underway since January 1, is very slow, reports clerks at the city office, despite the fact the ordinance that tags dogs within the city limits must be tagged is compulsory. The dog license is for only one year.

Chief Floyd H. Reeves urged everyone to spend the dollar for the tag as the city police are planning to start picking up untagged dogs. The ordinance requires also that each dog be vaccinated for rabies prior to purchase of the tags.

William S. Dameron New Hereford Group Director

41st Anniversary 1951
BOY SCOUTS OF AMERICA

Official poster marking the 41st birthday.

President Truman will greet 12 outstanding Boy Scouts in the White House on Feb. 6 opening the 41st anniversary of the Boy Scouts of America. Boy Scout Week will be observed Feb. 6 to 12 in every part of the nation by more than 2,750,000 boys and adult leaders. "Strengthen Liberty" is the birthday theme.

At "birthday parties" during Boy Scout Week throughout the nation each member will repledge himself to the Scout Oath or Promise. In each community representatives of the churches, schools, government and business will observe the anniversary with their Scouts. At Unit "open house" parties, parents, relatives and members of the chartering institutions will hear a review of the year's program features, service projects and membership gains.

During Boy Scout Week members of the organization will develop window displays and demonstrations on civil defense and conservation. Each member will inspect his home to make certain no hazards exist. Surprise mobilizations will test Scout efficiency should emergencies arise.

Since 1910 more than 17,500,000 boys and men have been identified with the Boy Scouts of America.

Letters Arrive from Overseas

Thank-you letters for the Junior Red Cross gift boxes sent to Germany, India, and Palestine by the Deaf Smith County students for Christmas of 1949 were received by Mrs. Cecil Lady, Junior Red Cross chairman.

The letters were addressed to teachers and students at Central School, Junior High School, Walcott school, and the Dawn school. Shirley elementary school had not been built at the time the packages were mailed overseas.

Several of the letters follow:

Dear Friends,

We thank you very much for your token gift box to our children and greatly appreciate your noble gesture.

My son TOROSS—9 years old—benefitted of your box and was filled with joy upon receipt.

READING LETTERS FROM OVERSEAS are Mrs. Cawthon Bryant seated, and her fourth grade students at Central School. Standing by Mrs. Bryant is Mrs. Cecil Lady, Junior Red Cross chairman, who distributed the thank-you letters to the various elementary schools in the county last week. In reply to gift boxes sent by the local students, answers were received from Germany, Jerusalem, and India in appreciation of the gifts received at Christmas, 1949. Mrs. Lady explained the delay was due to the fact the letters went through several channels to get here.

We enclose a snap of our three children. One girl and two boys.

Yours sincerely,

Dear Miss McCart,

Many thanks for the fine parcel you have sent me. I enjoy it very much. My elder brother translated this letter, for I can not speak English. I wish you a happy New Year.

Yours sincerely

Dear Joe Riley:

Today I was given a packet for my little brother, but I don't know the name of the boy who sent it, for in the box are two labels, one with your name, one with the name Travis McGaughy, Wildorado. If it isn't the packet you sent, which contains soap, pencils, a washing cloth, a tooth brush, and a box of marbles, please be so kind as to give this letter to the other boy. I thank you very much for the nice things; my little brother is very glad, especially at the marbles. If you know Richard Frye (I think he is in your grade please tell him that I notice my error; when I got a packet from him some days before Christmas I thought him a boy who is as old as I and goes to secondary school, but today I read in the labels that you are boys of the fifth grade. If I can give something in thank for your gift, you must write it. I send you very many compliments.

Dear Madam,

I by you to thank, on my behalf, my five unknown lucky friends whose names (Betty Bridger, Roy A. Grider, Gloria Shields, Travis Shields and David Walker) appear on this sheet. The gifts were more than enough to make me feel the utmost pleasure, which refugee children of my category are denied, by bad luck. In this respect my dear friends over there in the States are lucky. Let us pray that time will make us also live as free and happy as they do now.

Here is some information as to myself. My name is Jirair Partijulan from Jerusalem, Palestine. We were driven as Refugees from our home town and found refuge in Beirut, where I am studying in an elementary school now. I am 9 years old and am a male, this information I am putting because the parcel was meant for a girl as was indicated on it and as the gifts showed up; but again I thank my friends for them, since they are as useful for a boy as for a girl.

I would be very glad indeed, if any one or all of my dear gift-donors will establish more friendly relations with me in form of correspondence. I enclose my present address on the opposite page.
Hopng that my letter will find you and all my friends in good health,
I remain yours truly

NORTHWEST HEREFORD NEWS

Northwest Hereford Reports Low Of 23 and 24 Degrees Below Zero

By Mrs. R. C. Childers
Four inches of snow and below zero temperatures are the main topics of discussion in this vicinity. Temperatures in this vicinity were even colder than in Hereford. The low here Thursday morning, was 23 degrees below zero while farther west of the Jack Renfro place it was 24. Mr. Renfro said that the farther west you were, the lower the temperature would be. We of this vicinity were very sorry to hear of the death of Stuart Condron's father, Dr. S. H. Condron of West Texas College at Canyon. Mr. Condron lives at Dawn but has many business dealings in this community.
Jack Renfro and some of his men have been helping out over at Mr. Condron's dairy at Dawn during the serious illness and death of Dr. Condron. Wayne Johnson is doing some carpenter work for Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Block in their new home which the Blocks have just recently purchased in the new restricted district on Harrison. Mr. and Mrs. Earl Johnson of Pampa have been visiting in the R. C. Childers home this week. They left Friday for their home. Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Inman of Plainview were visitors in the Wayne Johnson and R-C Childers homes Wednesday.

Reports from Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Barclay who are out in Tucson, Arizona, for Mrs. Barclay's health, say that the climate is helping her. They seem to be enjoying themselves. Last week end they went to Old Mexico and reported a nice time.
Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Palmer were planning to move this week end. Jeannie Palmer was a faithful worker in the Workers 4-H Club, and Mrs. Palmer was a member of the Cultural Home Demonstration Club.

sympathy, love and fellow feelings, as shown in your Neisct of service and cooperation, places under a deep debt of gratitude.
Again thanking you we are yours.

Bicycle Safety Films Shown to About 400 Friday

About 400 students were shown two bicycle safety films in three different showings Friday by the Hereford Safety Council.

The films were shown by Patrolman Wells of the Texas State Department of Public Safety and Sheriff J. C. Reese.

Application blanks to join bicycle safety clubs were left with the three school principals for distribution among the students.

The next step in the organization of local bicycle safety clubs, according to Bob Wear, Hereford Safety Council president, is to wait for the completed blanks to be returned and work from there. Dates will be set later for bicycle inspections and for giving written examinations.

Hereford Implement Firm Will Show Two Movies February 5

Two color films—"Havens of Peace" and "The Soil is Good"—will be shown at the Texas theatre Monday, Feb. 5 at 2 p. m.

The films will be sponsored by Davis and McCracken, Hereford implement dealers.

"Havens of Peace" is a tour of nations of Europe that have not been troubled by war. "The Soil is Good" stresses the importance of the soil to the general welfare of a nation, what the soil has done for mankind, what is happening to it, and what must be done to conserve it.

No Rush on Licenses Reported Yet; Urge

Buying Plates Early

Deaf Smith county car owners were urged this week to buy their licenses now before the rush starts by Worth Covington, tax deputy.

To save time, owners are asked to bring their 1950 registration and title. This will save the clerks the trouble of going back through records in order to sell the owner a new license plate.

Covington reminded those buying new cars and those registering out-of-state cars that they must buy their 1950 license for the remainder of the 1950 registration year (until April) plus the cost of the new license for the entire 1950-51 year. It is necessary to buy for the remainder of the year rather than just take out the 1951-52 plate.

SOCIETY

Mary Estelle LeGrand And Virgil Young Wed

The First Baptist Church was the scene of nuptial rites performed Sunday morning January 28, at 8:30 o'clock, to unite Miss Mary Estelle LeGrand, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis L. LeGrand, and Raymond Virgil Young, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Young. Scores of friends and relatives were assembled to witness the double-ring ceremony which was performed by Rev. R. H. Cagle as the early morning sunlight streamed through the stained glass windows of the church.

Palm trees and fern were used to bank the nuptial space in which floral decorations were large. Arrangements of white gladioli in graceful urns and baskets. Upon a central pedestal a large arrangement of the flowers was backed by seven tall white tapers while seven shorter tapers were arranged in front of the flowers. White cathedral tapers burning in graduated candelabra provided soft illumination in the church.

Music for the wedding was furnished by Wayne Evans, organist, who played the traditional processional and recessional selections as well as Etude in E Sharp Major (Chopin) as a prelude. Clair de lune was played during the ceremony. Sam Allen of Plainview was soloist and sang "Thine Alone" and "Because" preceding "The Vows" and "The Lord's Prayer" by Melotte in benediction.

Candlelighters were Dixie and Mary Ann Young, sisters of the bridegroom. They wore green and yellow taffeta dresses made with net yokes and bustle bows at the back of the long full skirt. Ushers were Loyd Leasner, Danby McLallen and L. A. Ricketts of Fort Worth.

Attendants Mrs. Robert Barkley attended the bride as matron of honor. She wore a petal pink satin dress styled with low neckline cuffed with a scalloped bertha, with the scallop treatment repeated on the long fitted bodice. She wore gauntlet mitts to match her dress and carried a colonial nosegay of Dutch Iris tied with satin streamers. Bridesmaids were Miss Sue Scales of Hedley and Miss Mary Helen McGilvary. They wore gowns in heavenly blue satin made identical to that worn by the honor matron with matching mitts and carried nosegays of pink and blue flowers. All wore bandeaus of satin to match their dresses trimmed with tiny French rosebuds.

Flower girls were Cynthia Leasure, niece of the bridegroom, and Deborah Beebe, cousin of the bride. They wore pink and blue satin dresses matching the bridesmaid's in design, and scattered rose petals from rose-filled bridal baskets along the bridal aisle.

Carl Hutcheson was best man and groomsmen were C. E. Leasure, Jr., and Louis LeGrand.

The bride entered with her father who gave her in marriage. She wore a traditional bridal gown of white slipper satin fashioned with fitted bodice buttoned up the back with tiny satin buttons and featuring an overlaid fan-shaped yoke of Venice lace in front with seed pearl trim and satin collar. The long fitted sleeves came to points at the wrists and the full skirt which was attached to the bodice with a cord effect, fell into a chapel train in the back. Her fingertip veil of bridal illusion extended in circular tiers from a bandeau of orange blossoms. The bride completed her costume with a white Bible topped with an orchid showered with white satin streamers knotted with stephanotis. Her something old was a gold bracelet from Germany belonging to an aunt, and she wore a six-pence in her slipper for luck.

Both the bride and bridegroom's mothers wore navy blue dresses with white accessories and gardenia corsages.

Reception The bride's parents were hosts at a reception in their home following the ceremony. The bride's table was laid with a Normandy lace cloth made by an aunt, Mrs. W. A. Trotti of Fort Worth, and adorned with pink tea roses and candy tuft in a silver bowl. Duties of serving were shared by the bridegroom's sisters, Mrs. C. E. Leasure, Jr., Dixie and Mary Ann Young who poured, and Mrs. L. A. Ricketts of Fort Worth who served the tiered wedding confection.

When the couple left on a wedding trip to points in New Mexico, the bride was wearing a navy gaberdine suit with white blouse and winter white accessories. The orchid from the wedding bouquet was worn as a lapel corsage. Upon their return they will go to Fort Hood where he is stationed with the U. S. Army as a second lieutenant.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Young are graduates of Hereford High School. She was a senior at Hardin-Simmons University at the time of her marriage where she was majoring in religious education. She is the granddaughter of the late Dr. G. F. LeGrand, pioneer physician of Deaf Smith County.

Mr. Young graduated from Texas A & M College last June

Mrs. A. M. Jones Reviews Book at Bay View Club

Mrs. A. M. Jones presented the program for the Bay View Club Thursday afternoon at a meeting held in the home of Mrs. Ray Ford.

Mrs. Jones reviewed the book "On Being a Real Person" by Harry Emerson Fosdick, giving something of the author's private life remarking that most of his books have a religious background and citing his latest work "The Man of Nazareth." The author's desire to help people whom he saw being consumed by fear, guilt, humiliation, hate and prejudice, caused him to write the book, she said.

"On Being a Real Person" deals with the science and therapy of the mind and is based on the theory that the new alliance between psychiatry and religion offers methods for creating a buoyant attitude that makes for happiness and success. This alliance may provide prescriptions for dealing with chronic worry, sense of inferiority, frustration and other troubles that destroy confidence in facing problems," Mrs. Jones said.

Quoting, she continued: "The human being must finish himself from birth and sometimes it takes years to do. A real person achieves a high degree of unity in himself, for no external good luck can bring about a stable personality." She listed the following rules to follow in seeking to be a real person: 1—Take yourself in hand and shoulder your individual responsibility; 2—See yourself as others see you; 3—Accept yourself and start from there; 4—Use the science of psychiatry on yourself.

Mrs. Paul Mathers, president, conducted a short business session and refreshments were served during a tea hour.

A Valentine table was arranged with a snow man displaying his valentines flanked by tall red candles. Mrs. Paul Mathers poured.

Members attending the meeting were: Messadams D. H. Alexander, J. R. Allison, Phillip Barkley, H. L. Benefield, Howard Gault, E. W. Harrison, George Heard, Frances Houston, A. M. Jones, J. W. Kirby, Paul Mathers, John McLean, J. P. Slaton, J. W. Spradley, Miss Frances Turrentine, and the hostess.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank J. Axe Honored At 50th Wedding Anniversary Fete

Asking little of life, Mr. and Mrs. Frank J. Axe have received much for their four sons love the soil as they have done the many past years and operate the home farm and their own farms which adjoin the home place. The couple number their friends by the scores. Many friendships have continued through half a century.

Mr. and Mrs. Axe celebrated their golden wedding anniversary Sunday at an open house at their country home located at the halfway mark between Hereford and Dimmitt in Castro county.

She is the former Miss Pernia Pickett and they were married January 29, 1901, at the home of her sister in Itasca. She is a native Texas. He was born in New Orleans, La., but moved to Garland, Tex., at the age of five to make his home with his grandfather. They attended the old Duck Creek school and later participated in the good times enjoyed by the young people of the surrounding communities.

After they were married, they moved to a farm near Garland and a year later moved to a farm in Hill county. In 1903, they came to Hereford and leased the Castro county land. In 1906 they bought the land and in 1908 built the home place where they now live. He made that long ago trip to Hereford by wagon bringing the household goods. Mrs. Axe and the oldest son Bob made the trip by train. Six more children were born, four of whom are living. They attended Dimmitt schools and Hereford high school.

Mr. Axe has served as a director of the Dimmitt Wheat Growers association and was a member of the Triple-A farm committee for 13 years. Throughout the years he has been interested in community schools, serving on the board in Hill county and has served as a trustee on boards of Frio, Lakeview and Jumbo communities.

Both are 73 years old and are able to maintain their home. Her daughters-in-law say she is an excellent cook and seamstress, but if they could name her hobby it would be the art of pleasing Mr. Axe for that has seemed uppermost in her thoughts during the years.

Their four sons are: H. L. Fred, Wilburn, and Anderson. There are 13 grandchildren.

Open house held The couple was held Sunday afternoon with over 100 old and new friends calling to extend congratulations. Among them were three couples who have celebrated their 50th anniversary. They were Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Hunter, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Stagner and Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Sewler. Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Southworth of Friona who were their neighbors in Hill county 49 years ago were also present and Mrs. W. B. Green, their first neighbor in 1903, attended.

Hostess duties were taken over by the four daughters-in-law who live here and Mrs. Zelma Axe, another daughter-in-law of Wildorado.

The refreshment table was centered with a floral wedding ring featuring calla lilies, golden heather and gold colored satin ribbon. "50" in gold plastifoam letters stood upright within the ring. The three-tiered wedding cake was topped with a miniature bride and groom. Mrs. William Axe poured punch and a niece, Mrs. Joe Frank Krizek of Littlefield served cake squares topped with a tiny "50" done in gold colored icing.

W. M. U. Sweetheart Banquet Honors 1951 Hereford High School Seniors

Looked forward to each year by Hereford High School seniors, is the annual sweetheart banquet given by the W.M.U. of the First Baptist Church. 1951's complimentary event was held at the Baptist Church Thursday night with approximately 115 guests gathered in friendly fellowship around tables decorated to mark February's sentimental theme St. Valentine's Day.

Hearts, cupids and red ribbon rosebuds marked the tables and valentine programs honored superintendent of schools, George Graham, and Mrs. Graham with pictures of the couple in a heart-shaped frame. Backdrop for the stage was a huge white heart decorated with dozens of red ribbon rosebuds and featuring a basket of red roses at the center back.

George Graham gave the invocation and Rev. R. H. Cagle served as master of ceremonies. Mrs. Sam McLallen, president of the W.M.U. gave the sweetheart welcome and Bill Engman gave the response from the senior class.

Lake Plyant of Wayland College played trombone and sang sentimental melodies and Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Evans entertained with "Love Letter Excerpts". Mrs. Evans gave readings with musical background given by Mr. Evans.

Mrs. Lake Plyant of Wayland College was the main speaker using the subject "Christian Education". Mrs. Plyant, a very popular speaker in this area, used her knowledge of poetry to emphasize her theme and stressed the thought that education is a good thing but education without Christianity is destructive. She urged the group to seek the highest type of education as they go forward in their chosen fields of endeavor.

Rev. H. V. Fields gave the benediction.

MRS. JEFF ROBERSON February Is Ideal Month for Parties and Festive Affairs

February is the party-giving month. There are so many decorative themes to choose from and half the fun in giving parties is in the preparation. Lovely color combinations, make for attractive parties whether simple or elaborate, and hearts and other sentimental decorations, cherry trees and hatchets and even log cabin are apt to set the stage when the February hostess entertains.

Mrs. Jeff Roberson used today's recipe for cherry pudding, which makes a festive company dessert, at a club party given this week. She used heart-shaped molds and topped each serving with whipped cream and sugar-coated cherries. It makes a taste-tempting dessert for the family too.

Cherry Pudding
1 package cherry jello
1 cup boiling water
2 eggs
1 1/2 cups sugar
1 small bottle maraschino cherries (chopped)
24 graham crackers
1 cup nut meats

Dissolve the jello in the boiling water. Beat the egg yolks thoroughly and add the sugar, blending well. Combine this with the jello mixture and add the drained cherries (chopped fine), nuts and graham crackers which have been rolled fine. Beat egg whites stiff and fold into the mixture gradually. Pour in molds or rectangular pyrex dish and place in refrigerator to congeal. When ready to serve remove from molds or cut in squares and top with whipped cream and a cherry.

Nothing Better Than Good Food, Says Ohio Man

If a man isn't able to eat the foods he likes he's in a mighty sorry shape—imagine going through life without being able to enjoy a fine big platter of bacon and eggs. That is the way Joseph N. Damillot, 3414 E. 5th Street, Dayton, Ohio, used to be, but since he has been taking HADACOL, he says he feels just fine and is able to enjoy lots and lots of fine foods. Mr. Damillot found that taking HADACOL helped his system overcome a deficiency of Vitamins B₁, B₂, Nicotin and Iron. Here is Mr. Damillot's statement: "My first bottle of HADACOL convinced me that HADACOL was what I needed for the gas on my stomach at nights. I could not keep food on my stomach, but after the first bottle I was going great. Now I eat bacon and eggs, and other foods that never would stay with me. I also can sleep well at nights. Thanks to HADACOL, I wish never be without it, and can recommend it to all who suffer with the above ailments that I had. I know because I have suffered for quite some time."

Change Made in Draft Ruling

It is now possible for those college students already ordered for induction, as well as those who may be ordered during the balance of the college year, to select their service at the time their classifications are reopened in the final month of the academic year, provided the service is able to take them, according to Major General Lewis B. Hershey, director of Selective Service. This applies to students whose order to report for induction during the year was postponed under section 6 (1) (2) of the Selective Service Act of 1948, as amended, and who desire to volunteer by enlistment in a service of their choice. General Hershey stated that the act of reopening these classifications would require the cancellation of any order to report for induction which might have been issued and therefore automatically renew the right of these students to enlist in the service of their choice. To the extent of available openings, as in the past, each service would accept enlistments.

LOUISA

Dear Louisa—

A new girl has moved to our town and our set likes her all right if she just wouldn't brag so. The funny part about it is that she has very little to brag about.

I thought if she saw this in the paper, it might make her realize that people would like her better if she did not brag about what she has.

Schoolgirl—Ga.

Answer:

Your little friend is probably suffering from a feeling of inferiority. Very often people brag about what they have in an effort to impress people, because they feel that they have so little to be proud of. Do not be too harsh with her for, as she begins to feel more secure in her friendship with your little group, she will probably stop trying to impress you with what she has and what she would like to be.

Soil Practices In County Total $56,050 To Date

A total of $56,050 has been set aside as payment for farmers carrying out soil-building practices in Deaf Smith county so far this year, according to Faust Collier, county administrative officer of the Production and Marketing Administration.

Subsoiling is the most popular practice, Collier said, with 172 farms putting 36,897 acres under this practice. The amount issued for this practice alone was $55,345.45.

After last year's heavy run on subsoiling, the county committee put a ceiling of $1000 on each subsoiling project, according to Collier. Other practices and total payment set aside for them are: Diversion terraces on five farms, $2094.75 issued; leveling land for irrigation; four farms, $3715 issued; re-organization of irrigation system by constructing dikes, installing pipe, etc., 10 farms, $3226 issued; and construction of earthen dams and tanks, eight farms, $669.96 issued. The 1951 practices allocation is $177,500, Collier said.

Mr. and Mrs. O. L. Hunt left Friday to attend to business and visit during the week end and first of the week in Weatherford and Oklahoma City, Okla.

Mr. and Mrs. Wix Price of Lovington, N. M., were week end guests of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Landrum.

CEMETERY ASSOCIATION CONSIDERS THE Perpetual Care Program

One of the most important meetings in the history of Hereford has been scheduled for Tuesday evening, Feb. 6, at 7:30 o'clock in the county courtroom. Included in this gathering will be many pioneers of this area, along with the offspring of pioneers who have gone before—and their decision will rank in importance with any decision ever made regarding the cemetery.

We have reference to the meeting of the Hereford Cemetery Association at which time members will vote regarding conversion of the present association into a perpetual care cemetery association.

Hereford, like the remainder of the Panhandle, is a comparatively new town. Few towns are more than a scant half century old, while others bear less age. Many of these towns have a remarkable similarity, however, in the fact that their cemeteries are seldom well planned, less often cared for in the proper fashion, and seldom properly financed. Hereford, in fact, is far above the average town in the Panhandle and certainly the present cemetery is not an eye-sore similar to that of many areas.

The Legislature of Texas in 1945 officially noted this condition with such interest that the perpetual care plan was made possible by law. Under its terms a cemetery is established with a fund which is invested to give sufficient returns to keep the cemetery in outstanding condition.

Hereford's present Cemetery Association leaders have worked out an excellent plan which this community can qualify as a perpetual care memorial. The cost is not prohibitive; it is, in fact, considering future care, a rare bargain.

Hereford, as we said, is fortunate in having an unusually nice cemetery. It could, however, be improved and under the proposed perpetual care system would be forever guaranteed as outstanding. When you stop to think how many families leave the cemetery permanently, it appears the one certain means of insuring the memory of loved ones; the means, possibly, of caring for your own graveside in years to come.

To us, the acceptance of the perpetual care cemetery association is another step forward for Hereford; a step, equal in importance to the wisdom and judicious establishment of the present attractive cemetery in such a manner that it is today exceptional. It is carrying on the same fortitude shown by the many pioneer builders of the community who rest there today. It is, in a way, a matter of justice and recognition to their foresight.

Let The U.S. Walk Erect And Unafraid Infantry Needs New Weapons

As a nation we may wish to avoid war and, as a people, we may pray for peace but acceptance of Communism as the dominant factor in civilization, including our own land, is too high a price to pay.

The American people may love peace but if put to the test, they will not shrink from defending the rights of individuals and the civilization that makes possible their freedom. We see no permanent peace ahead for this country through a policy of surrender or appeasement. We can visualize peace ahead for a strong nation, resolute in its faith and determined in its defense. Either course includes the risk of war.

It is high time for Americans to stand erect among the nations of the earth, following the path of peace and justice, without seeking selfish rewards and, certainly, without fear of other nations.

Our military experts are trying to learn the lessons of the fighting in Korea. One of them is that the Chinese Communists, with no weapons larger than mortars, have been able to achieve significant victories over our soldiers.

A factor in this, according to the experts, is the heavy percentage of small automatic weapons carried by the Red infantry. They use the Russian-made "burp" gun, which is similar to the old sawed-off, semi-automatic machine-gun, employed by American gangsters years ago.

Some experts point out that there has been great improvement in the equipment of the Air Force and Navy but that the individual soldier is fighting with the same weapons used in World War II, with the exception of the big "bazooka." They admit that it is possible to increase the efficiency of a unit will multiply by two or three times.

We think that it is apparent, in the event of a worldwide war, that we will be fighting nations that possess enormous numbers of men, with a correspondingly low value on human life. Time and again, according to the press dispatches, the Chinese Reds have advanced despite heavy manpower losses, to break through our units, despite their artillery, tanks and air support.

We make no pretense of being a military expert, but it appears from the fighting in Korea, that the Chinese Reds are using the tactics of the Mongols of many centuries ago. To meet them, it is necessary to develop a similar mobility and to escape from the rigidity of a highly-mechanized outfit, tied to the highways and unable to maneuver in unfavorable terrain.

Vet Education Deadline

Veterans, discharged before July 25, 1947, must begin their educational training before July 21st, 1951, under the terms of the present law, which extended to veterans the right to go to school after their discharge.

Because most educational institutions begin their second semester in the next few weeks, the legal requirement means that veterans must soon get under the wire in order to be assured of their training benefits. There are some exceptions to the requirement but they do not apply to most of the veterans of World War II.

Practicing Patriotism

The question of national defense leads to some interesting results.

The industrial magnates talk volubly about the obligations of labor not to strike and the labor professors, not to be outdone, return the compliment by remarking about war-profiteering while labor sacrifices.

The attitude of labor and capital, in this instance, is equalled by that of other citizens who talk glibly about Americans making sacrifices for the national welfare without any idea that they should do likewise.

Frankly, no man knows where events will lead this nation or what fate is in store for the American people. The chances are, however, that we can avoid misfortune by practicing some of the patriotism we profess before it is too late.

Spiritual powers are worth having but somebody must apply them to our material world.

If you want to stand by your country you might begin to buy E-bonds on a regular schedule.

THE Washington Merry-Go-Round

GOP Appointments Urged

PRESIDENT TRUMAN isn't likely to move on it, but some of his genuine well-wishers have been dropping discreet hints that the most important thing he can do to bring about national unity is appoint two top Republicans to his cabinet—including possibly Governor Dewey as secretary of state.

Most unfortunate difficulty about the current bickering over foreign policy is the reaction abroad. All over Europe there has been indecision and dismay. The recent foreign-policy controversies came on top of the Korean disaster, also on top of the President's music-critic letter, both of which increased lack of confidence among our allies.

Most people don't realize it, but the music-critic letter was published all the way from Africa to Norway. To the man in the street it may have been humorous, but to the prime ministers and foreign ministers of Europe, it aroused fear that the head of the United States government might lose his temper, not merely over a music critic but over a potential enemy, and plunge the world into war.

For these and other reasons, some of the top Democrats in Washington ardently hope for more unity, even if it means surrounding the President with a few Republicans.

They recall how President Roosevelt increased unity before Pearl Harbor by bringing two leading Republicans—Henry L. Stimson and Frank Knox—into his cabinet as secretary of war and secretary of the navy. And while there is not that much personal enthusiasm about Governor Dewey in Democratic circles, he is recognized as a man of real ability and deep sincerity as far as his country is concerned.

Furthermore, it is believed that Secretary of State Acheson would be glad to bow out in favor of Dewey in the interest of national unity. Acheson and Dewey have been conferring privately for the last six months, and several times Dewey has come to Acheson's support. Finally Acheson had privately hoped to leave the state department, though he does not want to do so under fire.

Naval Comeback

It was just about a year ago the most harassed and criticized man in Washington was Secretary of the Navy Francis Matthews.

At that time, the admirals were up in arms over unification and one admiral had to be relieved. Captain Crommelin was campaigning for a super airplane carrier. A secret propaganda agency in the navy was shooting out malice against the air forces. And Matthews was branded as a freshwater executive from Omaha whose knowledge of shipping was confined to mud scows on the Missouri river.

However, the political pendulum has a habit of swinging into Washington, and today Matthews is riding the crest of the wave.

Secret of his comeback was keeping quiet, being a good sport and working closely with the efficient new executive whom he picked to be chief of naval operations—Adm. Forrest Sherman.

Today the navy has scored some real triumphs in the Korean War, especially the evacuation of Hungnam where not a single life was lost. And the much-debated super airplane carrier which the navy so much wanted is to be built after all.

Note—Admiral Sherman, who was Matthews's personal choice to be chief of naval operations, has been so fair with the army and air force that, if General Bradley should be promoted to become white house chief of staff, Sherman would probably succeed him as chairman of the joint chiefs of staff.

Morse Says No

During every recent election, Wayne Morse, the independent, pro-labor senator from Oregon, has waltzed out into the political arena to make speeches for his conservative anti-labor GOP colleagues. No matter how much Morse disagreed with those colleagues, he rallied to their support at election time—even making a speech against his close friend, Democratic Sen. Paul Douglas of Illinois, in favor of the Chicago Tribune's candidate, Curley Brooks.

Now, however, Morse says "no more." "They need not think they can get me to campaign all around the country for reactionary candidates," he told friends, "and then discipline me in the Republican conference by not putting me on the policy committee. I've supported my last reactionary Republican and they can lump it."

When the new policy committee was announced at a closed-door caucus, North Dakota's Sen. Bill Langer snorted: "I protest this kind of a committee with no progressives on it."

SOMETHING TO KEEP IN MIND

SUNDAY'S CURRENT QUESTION

Majority Favor Sales Tax to Put Defense on Pay-As-You-Go Basis

In order to put the defense effort on a pay-as-you-go basis, which taxes do you think should be increased? Individual income tax? Excess profits tax? Corporate tax? Excise tax? Others?

Tom Howard—General sales tax on everything except food, clothing, and shelter. Cut out the capital gain privileges. Cut out the depletion on oil and natural resources. And raise the personal exemption for income taxes.

Mrs. J. C. McCracken—I should think the excess profits tax and the excise tax should be increased. It seems to me the personal income tax is high enough.

Fred Baird—For a long-range proposition, I have always favored a sales tax. That is not popular, but it will bring in the money. It seems at this time, at least, that the individual income tax is just about as high as it can go.

Grady Rogers—Why don't they increase excise taxes? That is one that would hit everybody. Everyone should pay for it. Sales tax would be a better deal.

Mrs. Edd Cox—I think the excise tax would help. Usually the moneyed people use those items. They are more or less luxury items. I think at this time a sales tax would be good. That really may be better than the other.

Mrs. Dale Tinnin—I imagine the excess profits tax would be the best solution.

Floor furnaces and wall panels are all right for evenly distributed heat and clean wall paper and curtains but days like we had last week makes a feller homesick for a good old time hearin' stove with a pot of red beans boilin' away on top. Well it would if it wasn't for waggin' in coal and carryin' out ashes in sub-zero weather.

Wonder if there is any other town around that can match us for new business lately.

A formal openin' on Saturday has become as much a part of the calendar as the day itself in recent weeks.

This time its a change in location for the Lee Little's B. F. Goodrich store of Tradin' Post fame.

As we listened to the Jaycees special program last Sunday afternoon we were reminded that within the year they had lost two of their most liberal supporters of the 1950 March of Dimes with the loss of Homer Fox and O. E. Sherman. However, the special tribute to each only goes to show that their generosity and influence will be long remembered in our community.

We found ourselves sittin' right out on the edge of the seat several times as we watched Coach Mayes' seventh graders battle out a defeat for Canyon's team a few nights ago though we only knew one player on each team—Jan Cross who played with Canyon and Kieth Hodges, son of Velma Hodges, our County Treasurer.

Kieth, a real boy type of youngster with nice clean cut features, reddish hair and just enough freckles gave his opponent a pretty good reach for his goal.

Louisa's Letter

Dear Louisa— I have a husband who has never been faithful to me. At the present time, he is going with a girl who works in the office with him.

If she were the only one, I would try to wait and see if he would get over his infatuation for her but I know if he does, it will only be a matter of time before he is running around with someone else.

I love my husband but he keeps me so upset with his behavior that I am thinking of leaving him. I have a good job I don't have to worry about money. What would you do? Hearstick—Penn.

Quail Trapper

Game Warden Jess (Shorty) Feltz this weekend found four quail traps containing a total of about 40 quail on the Rita Blanca Lake project.

The minimum fine is such a case he said, is $50 per bird. Had the trapper been apprehended his least fine would have been above $2,000 and he would have been subject to certain other prosecution, Feltz said, because the trapping was on a state and federal game refuge.

"If the man wants his traps," Feltz said, "I've got them. He didn't show up for so long that I turned the quail loose."

Oil

An average of five oil leases per day continues to pour into the office of T. H. Lair, county clerk, for recording.

An oil scout stated this week that there was a vast difference of opinion among the members of the oil fraternity as to the possibilities of oil in this section. At first it was thought that oil would be discovered in the west part of the county. Then a group of geologists said that the pool would be located in Deaf Smith county; now the fever has moved into New Mexico around Clovis, where leases are much higher than in Texas.

"Oil is where you find it," proclaimed this scout.

Oil Witcher

There's oil north of Littlefield and south of Littlefield in Lamb county, but there's no oil under the townsite itself.

So says G. T. Mitchell of Brownfield, self-styled oil expert who has an invention he says is 95 per cent correct in locating oil wells.

The invention, a double length aluminum cake and fancy glass doorknobs, was demonstrated by Mitchell here last Friday. He took a Littlefield real estate man around town and out in the country and showed him where the oil was.

Mitchell's "oil-witcher" works on the same principal as the divining rod or the peach-tree branch used for a water-witch. It points to the ground whenever Mitchell gets in walking distance of an oil pool.

Bootlegging

Paducah dried up a little more as county officials under the leadership of Sheriff Elmer Clark continued uncovering and fining illegal liquor salesmen.

Liquor prices have made a nice climb on the black market in recent weeks. According to one report, whiskey was retailing as high as $6.00 a pint in some places and beer, which is rather bulky to handle, is almost impossible to get.

The BOOTLEG Philosopher

Editor's note: The Bootleg Philosopher on his farm near Bootleg has discovered the weather has been dry for the past four months, if we interpret his letter correctly.

Dear editor:

For the past four months all my neighbors out here have been worryin' about dry weather and if it hasn't rained by the time this reaches you they're still worryin'. Scannin' the sky, watchin' a cloud no bigger than your hand, observin' the direction the wind's blowin', seein' how the sun sets imaginin' they can hear it thunderin, mistakin' a headlight over the hill for lightning, complainin' about havin' to haul water, etc. It hasn't affected me that way.

Understand, I'm opposed to a drought as much as anybody, but I learned long ago to get along with the weather and my wife, there ain't nothin you can do about either one. There are some fundamental things in life a man ought to learn early, and that is that worryin' never brought a rain or stopped one and promise never lowered taxes or paved roads.

I'll admit it would be awful if it didn't rain and nobody out here got to plant anything this year, but I can imagine worse things than not gettin' to plow. I have seen about as many men go to the hospital for plowin' too much as plowin' too little, the latter mostly goin on relief, and of the two, hospital or relief, there ain't much choice.

A drought is a great equalizer. It gives the man on the lower rung mentally the same appearance as the man on the top, because in weather like we've had the past four months there wasn't any way to tell whether a man had sense enough to come in out of the rain or not.

Furthermore, practically any road commissioner is a good one in dry weather. Every road in the precinct is passable.

And also, there's a great peace of mind in havin one good excuse ready at hand you know will stand up when your wife suggests plowin, one you don't even have to think of. Too dry. Ain't no argument to it. I've always managed to think up excuses on my own, regardless of the weather, and any man who ain't villin to use his brain can always fall back on work.

I hope it rains, but I expect to carry on about the same, rain or shine.

Yours faithfully, J. A.

BOOKS ON PARADE

Story of 'The Country Wife' Is Full of Chuckles and Tenderness

By Corinne Jennings

Full of chuckles and tenderness is the story of "The Country Wife" by Dorothy Van Doren who tells of her experience of modern country living for four months of the year, the rest of the time in the city as a professor's wife.

It is also about the delights and concerns of matrimony and parenthood. Some amazing and generally unknown facts, she has observed or has experienced creep into the telling of weeks spent on a New England farm.

Amusingly she says blizzards have a tendency to shed a lot of snow; that gourds have an incredible fertility; that some horses on a farm are problems; that there is a danger in too excessive gardening; that husbands can be very determined and not always at the right time or about the right things. Her husband was one who started a job and saw it through to the bitter end, often without stopping to eat unless she carried it to him.

The author admits that she likes fun but that enough of anything is enough, and her fourth of July experience when her husband and two other professors turn little boys for a whole day, beginning early in the morning and lasting with a fire-works display late at night, is a fair example of this she says.

She laughs at the tendency of most amateur country folk (those who live there only a few short months each year) to become professional in their attitude. And the incident she tells of at this point includes the episode of the young poet who felt he had a mission, to place the Van Doren farm on a paying basis when all they wanted was a repaying basis. His plans, like so many big ones, involved all the rest of the people living there for the summer, doing all the work.

On every page there is some profound truth dealing in a wide range of subjects, such as the question of weekend guests. She says that everyone knows that they do not leave when they should. Then she proves how truth is truth. She has an indignant but wary eye about human behavior.

She knows that both men and women have their weaknesses and excesses but that hers is the imposition of potted plants on the Professor (her husband) during the annual trip to the farm.

"A plant is not like a book," she says in packing them in the car for the trip. "Plants stick up and stick out and be careful! You'll knock off that begonia flower and I have had hard time getting it to bloom. You put them in a carton. All right, you put them in two or three cartons. They have to sit on the bottom of the car. And one of them is a tall cactus." It is always the professor's pride to do all the packing—except the plants!

One is reminded of the delightful book "Stillmeadows Seasons" by Gladys Taber who tells of her life on a New England farm but it contrasts in that the last named spends the entire year at her place and is no amateur farmer as is the Professor's wife.

Both of these books can be obtained at the library and there is others in this vein, says Mrs. J. J. Boydston, librarian.

Mrs. Jack Brown and children and her mother, Mrs. W. S. Fluit were business visitors in Amarillo Saturday.

Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. O. T. Bailey were her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Gentry of Clovis.

Tickets for the children's theatre presentation of "Old King Cole" are on sale by members of the Business and Professional Women's club, sponsors of the play to be staged at the high school auditorium on Friday evening, February 16.

Miss Della Stagner, B&PW president, said a treat is in store for the children of Hereford when that jovial old monarch of nursery-rhyme-land, King Cole, and his entourage the Clare Tree Major Children's Theatre of New York come to town.

In the events dramatized by the Children's Theatre, King Cole's wanderings take him far away from his native Britain to a distant land in the Middle East. There on one of his tours through the city dressed as a beggar, he rescues two young children from the cruelty of a wicked inn-keeper, only to find that the father of the children had once been one of his own fiddlers. The wicked landlord punishes and King Cole takes the children back to Britain with him, where the little boy takes his father's place among

Prince Valiant

IN THE DAYS OF KING ARTHUR
BY HAROLD R. FOSTER

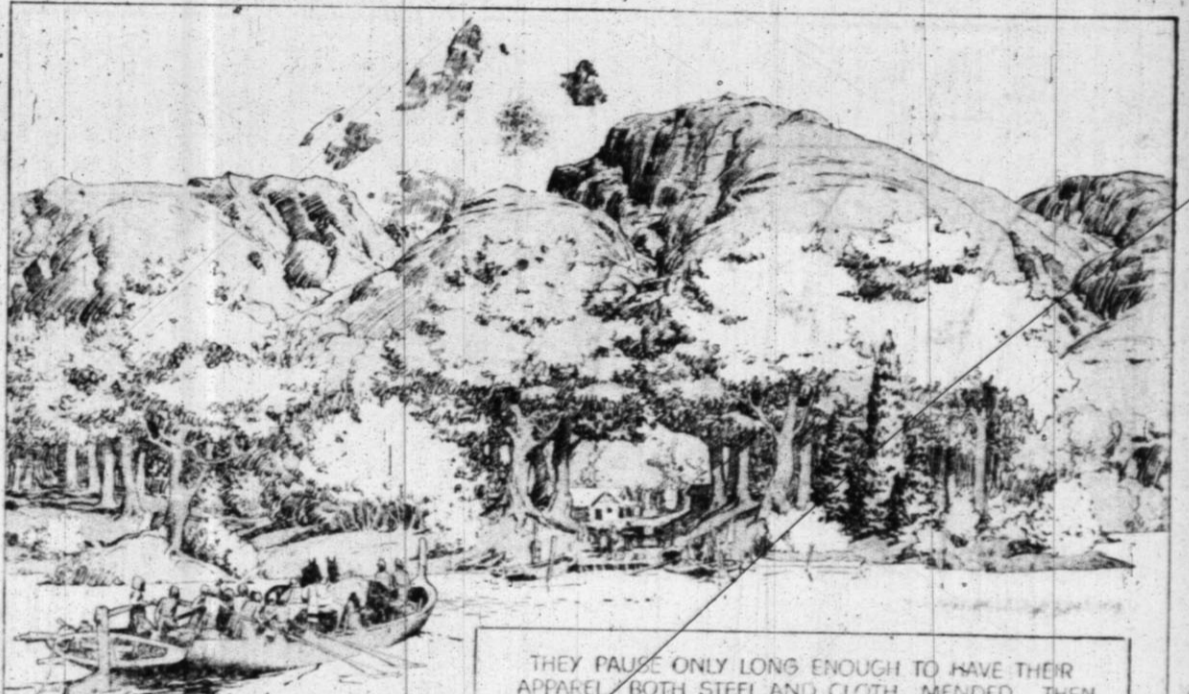

Synopsis: PRINCE VALIANT SPEAKS QUIETLY TO HIS FRIENDS AND PRESENTLY THEY MOUNT AND RIDE FROM THE BATTERED CASTLE INTO THE MISTY NIGHT. IT IS BETTER THUS; THEY ARE EAGER TO BE ON THEIR WAY AND, BESIDES, THEY HAVE STOPPED A WAR BEFORE THERE WAS ANY CHANCE OF PLUNDER AND ARE UNPOPULAR.

AFTER A FEW DAYS THEY COME TO THE WALLED CITY OF LYON, CROSSROAD OF EUROPE, A SOUGHT-FOR PRIZE BY THE BARBARIAN HORDES SWARMING ACROSS THE RHINE FROM FARAWAY BALTIC LANDS.

HERE THEY SEE ROMAN SOLDIERS, UNKEMPT MERCENARIES. FOR LYON IS NOW BUT AN OUTPOST OF THE DWINDLING EMPIRE AND THE NORTH MEN, SAXONS, GOTHS AND SLAVS ARE PRESSING CLOSE UPON THE ROMANS' HEELS.

THEY PAUSE ONLY LONG ENOUGH TO HAVE THEIR APPAREL BOTH STEEL AND CLOTH, MENDED. THEN THEY CROSS THE RIVER RHONE AND SEE IN THE DISTANCE THE SNOW-CAPPED ALPS RISING IN TERRIBLE MAJESTY.

NOW THEY TRAVEL ALONG ROMAN ROADS AND ADVANCE SWIFTLY, BUT EVERYWHERE SEE SIGNS OF THE DECAY OF LAW.

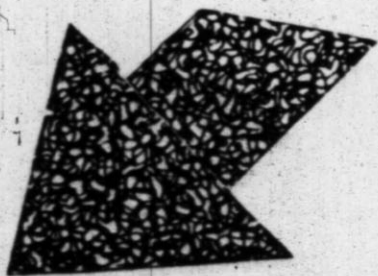

VAL AND HIS FRIENDS PASS THROUGH A BURNING VILLAGE, ARE SICKENED BY THE EVIDENCE OF SENSELESS BRUTALITY. THEN, TOPPING A HILL, SEE THE CAUSE BELOW THEM.

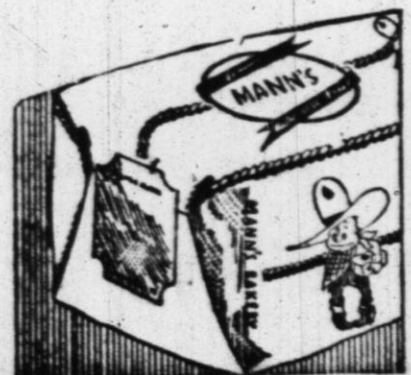

AN ARMY OF BARBARIANS IS SLOWLY WENDING ITS DESTRUCTIVE WAY ACROSS THE LAND AND THE REAR GUARD HAS DISCOVERED THEM!

NEXT WEEK - The Monastery.
