Grain Blasts Could Happen In Hereford Say Managers

Managing Editor

An explosion similar to the two blasts which killed at least 43 persons in grain elevators during the last week could happen in Hereford, according to four local elevator managers.

The reason is grain dust, a substance which - when combined in certain proportions with oxygen and low humidity - explodes when hit by a

"It's a nightmare for every elevator in the country." David C. Mangum of the Agriculture Department's Federal Grain Inspection Service told the Associated Press Wednesday.

"Most elevators are, in fact, time bombs, particularly under adverse conditions when there is continual loading of grain and not much time to clean up properly.

Elevators in Hereford are kept clean. according to their managers. But an October blast at Hereford Grain Handling sent one man to the hospital and damaged grain tunnels and an Dust may not have caused that blast, said manager Wister Clevenger.

All I know is we were lucky. Our explosion could have been disastrous if we'd have had a dirty elevator. If it had been real dirty, it would have blown us

"I have no idea what caused it. I personally think it might have been butane. When we blew up, the part that blew up first had just been cleaned and was spotless.

Grain dust, however, carried the explosion through the tunnels.

Dust is generated or jarred loose from grain kernels being loaded, unloaded, or stored in a grain elevator. As it accumulates in the air and on the inside of enclosures, it becomes a potentially lethal explosive.

If you put the dust in a package, it's highly flammable." Magnum said in the AP interview. "And, of course, when you have it floating in the atmosphere it is condusive to any kind of ignition.

There are "No Smoking" signs at Grain Handling Corporation.

"If a man smoked in the elevator, he'd be a danged fool," Clevenger said. Clevenger, who has managed the elevator since 1973 and has been through only the one explosion, believe it will be the last.

"I believe it will. We're taking every precaution we can take.

Joe Artho, Hereford Grain Corporation manager, said that, despite precautions, accidents happen.

We never know it won't happen to us. We have no idea when this can

Construction of two Thermonetics Inc. methane plants in Hereford may begin in less than a month, the company's marketing director in Oklahoma City told The Brand Wednesday.

Thermonetics president Jim Samis had announced earlier Wednesday that one or two methane and cattle feed producing plants would be built in Hereford if negotiations are satisfactorily completed.

Thermonetics, Samis said, has been contracting with area feed yards and negotiating for sites for the plants.

Ron James, Thermonetics marketing director, said negotiations with feed yards are almost completed and construction of the plants - to approximately be $5.5 million and $3.5 million facilities.

"We're still negotiating with Prochemco for a plant on the east side," James

The Brand verified that Barrett-Crowfoot East, Pre Feeders, Cattle Town and Pitman Feed Yards have contracted with Thermonetics to sell the manure to proposed west plant for conversion into methane gas and cattle feed.

Champion Feeders and Southwest Feed Yards have been contracted to sell manure to the east plant.

"It's a little loose-ended," Charles Hoover, Southwest manager, said. "They signed it with the stipulation of getting X-number of yards and getting

Six contracted yard managers - Dave Hopper at Champion, Hoover and Ken McClain at Southwest, Jim Lowder (assistant manager) at Barrett-Crowfoot, Bill Stone at Pre Feeders, Lloyd Olson at Cattletown - said the plans should be an excellent way to dispose of manure.

"It's a good deal," Olson said. "It gives us a market for our manure. We haven't had a good market with farmers, since anhydrous ammonia got cheap

Thermonetics has one methane plant in operations - at Guymon, Okla., a $3 million facility. James said that when that plant, which recently began operations, 'achieves base-line performance.'

construction would begin in Hereford. He said that the west Hereford plant would be a $5 million or $6 million operation and the east plant would be approximately a $3.5 million facility.

A third Texas Panhandle Thermonetics plant also will be constructed in Dumas.

'Hereford is probably the best location for a plant of this type that we know of. Obviously, the cattle concentrations are so tremendous," James said.

"There's no other location we know of in the United States or the world, for that matter, that would be more suitable."

Thermonetics is a partnership between Samis and Dallas Cowboys football team owner Clint Murchison. Murshisan is majority owner of the corporation, which has a subsidiary called Calorifics Recovery Anaerobic Process Inc. (CRAP). The methane and cattle feed ends of the operation are equally important to Thermonetics. The company is working on a process to convert agricultural waste to methane in almost the same fashion as it does manure.

When the process is developed, Thermonetics' four plants (Guymon, Dumas and two in Hereford) probably will be expanded.

"It'll be sometime in the future when that happens. No one knows right now how the process is going to develop," James said.

"We're the first commercial entity to pursue the process.'

The Guymon plant also is the first commercial plant which produces methane from manure in the world, James said. Hereford would have the second and the largest.

Yards providing manure to Thermonetics "will have first crack at the feed,"

"We're not for certain if it will be sold to the public. We may buy it. We raise cattle, too '

The manure recycling process is confidential, the marketing director said, but it involves extraction portions of the excrement, concentrating them, and purifying the extractions.

Death Toll at Least 15

More Bodies Found In Elevator Explosion

GALVESTON, Tex. (AP) · Flood lights combined with a cold, misting rain early today to cast shadows into gaping holes in a huge grain storage tower as men below dug through the rubble for more bodies.

Rescue workers say at least 15 persons died in the blast at the Farmer's Export Co. grain elevator Tuesday night. The explosion, heard by some persons 70 miles away, injured at least 22 others.

Capt. E.E. Burke of the Galveston County sheriff's office said late Wednesday at least three persons were believed to be still missing. Rescue operations were hampered by a fire that kept reappearing atop the burned-out tower. It was still smoldering late Wednesday but firemen said the rain and high humidity all but nullified the threat of a second explosion in the elevator or the 40 grain silos nearby.

Burke said searchers believe the missing persons have been located beneath a demolished freight car that was parked on a railroad siding. The car was directly in the path of the blast and was still buried beneath tons of rubble late Wednesday night.

By late Wednesday, the county morgue had reached capacity and some of the bodies were moved to John Sealy Hospital.

Galveston Fire Marshal A.D. Carroll said he hopes to determine today what caused the explosion

"It was definitely accidental," said Carrol, adding that two possible causes are being considered. He said a spark from a nearby switch engine may have ignited the highly volatile grain dust, or a switch in the top of the stricken elevator might have short-circuited.

A crew of 32 and eight federal grain inspectors were believed to be working at the elevator when the blast occurred. Company officials refused to estimate damage costs at the $26 million facility.

The area surrounding the elevator resembled a bombedout battlefield. Sheets of ripped metal were strewn for hundreds of yards. A diesel engine leaking fuel lay in a huge hole.

The Yugoslavian ship, Sutjeska, which was loading wheat when the elevator blew up, and another vessel at an adjacent pier were moved away from the wharves after debris rained down on their decks. The Sutjeska sustained minor damage when it was moved before a loading hose could be disconnected. Forty-five feet of railing were ripped from the deck.

Farmer's Export Co. brought in construction crews, bulldozers and cranes that were utilized throughout the day in cleanup operations, which are expected to last for several days.

Weary searchers, many of whom had been at their grim task for 26 hours by Wednesday afternoon, kept one eye out for falling debris from the 13-story structure as they dug under and around twisted steel beams and car-sized chunks of concrete.

The north end of this island resort town remained off limits to everyone except construction crews and authorities. Most of those not working huddled together post two blocks from the elevator.

Dazed survivors told of a huge "ball of fire," a "flash from a gas stove" when the grain tower erupted "like a volcano." Most were glad to be alive.

Alfred Brown, 45, of Galveston, was unloading grain at the time. Moments after the blast, he said, "We could hear three people in the control tower of the elevator yelling for help but we couldn't

Daniel Love, 22, of Galveston, said, 'Everything went off. I didn't know what to do. I heard a man yelling for help but was unable to do anything for him. "I just thank God I got out." Audrey James' husband, Waldren, was not so lucky. He died in the blast.

PLO, Jordan Reject Israeli Peace Plan

By The Associated Press Yasir Arafat's Palestine Liberation

Organization and Jordan today rejected the peace plan offered by Israel and backed by President Carter. Iraq was reported ready to join hardline

Arab opposition to Israeli-Egyptian peace talks, already stained by tough stands taken in Cairo and Jerusalem. Israel Radio said a bomb killed two men and wounded two near a market in Netanya, north of Tel Aviv, in an apparent Arab guerrilla campaign to wreck the Egyptian-Israeli peace talks. Palestinian guerrillas of the Marxist Popular Democratic Front in Beirut claimed responsibility for the blast, and claimed 10 Israelis were killed or wounded in the explosion. "No peace can be established in the Middle East without a PLO-governed independent Palestinian state," PLO spokesman Mahmoud Labady said in the Lebanese capital.

He was commenting on Carter's statement in a television interview Wednesday that it was not in the interest of permanent peace for a "radical" state to be created in the Middle East.

Carter reaffirmed his support for a Palestinian "homeland or entity," but said it must be tied to surrounding, countries. He firmly rejected the idea of Palestinian statehood.

In Amman, the Jordanian government rejected the plain Begin detailed Wednesday before the Israeli parliament.

Jordan "completely rejects ... such a settlement calling for the surrender of Arab territories to Israel, thus rewarding aggression and putting an end to Palestinian and Arab rights," the government said in a statement issued after the cabinet studied the Begin

The Beirut newspaper As Safir said Iraq has offered to join the PLO, Syria and other hardline Arab opponents of the Egyptian President Anwar Sadat's peace initiative in a military confrontation pact against Israel.

The latest developments came after Begin and Sadat detailed tough bargaining positions, indicating difficult Mideast negotiations ahead.

During an 111/2-hour debate Wednesday in the Israeli Knesset or parliament. Begin spelled out publicly for the first time the peace plan he presented to Sadat last weekend at their Christmas summit

Describing the unfinished business of an energy policy as "that cloud" which will determine "the leadership qualities of our nation," Carter said he hoped his trip somehow would help spur Congress and the American people to action.

Carter cited energy as a thread running through his itinerary when an interviewer suggested his travels to Poland, Iran, Indian, Saudi Arabia, France and Belgium lack a theme.

Rejecting this notion, Carter described the trip, postponed once because of the energy debate and subsequently scaled down in scope, as carefully planned. "Every stop will be productive for/us." the president predicted.

Talking specifically about Poland. Carter said that although it has a Communist government and close ties with the Soviet Union, it also maintains friendly relations with the United States and engages in considerable trade with the West.

Health Department To Stop Vaccine

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) - The State Health Department says it will go out of the smallpox vaccine business Jan. 1 after distributing 7.9 million doses since it began production in 1938

Health commissioner Dr. Fratis L. Duff said smallpox has been confined to infrequent outbreaks in parts of Ethiopia and Somalia

He added that worldwide efforts to eradicate the disease make "very small" the threat of an imported epidemic.

Smallpox vaccination is no longer mandatory in most nations. Texas eliminated it six years ago from the list of required immunizations for school children

Duff said that with smallpox almost eradicated, the immunization itself is riskier than the disease.

He said the last major outbreak in Texas consisted of 10 cases in 1949. The last reported case was in Cherokee

If Your Daughter Wants an Apartment...

If your teen-ager daughter wants to move out--if she wants an apartment of her own--it may be your fault.

But chances are it's not.

The senior demographer of the Census Bureau, Paul Glick, says "young adults tend to live away from home as soon as they become self-maintaining. The age at which this happens is younger and younger.'

President Concedes Budget Won't Balance

WASHINGTON (AP) - President Carter, trying to balance a pair of promises, concedes that he can't guarantee a balanced federal budget by 1981 without jeopardizing his planned $25

"If there was an absolutely rigid fixation on a balanced budget, then there would be no chance for tax cuts." Carter said Wednesday night in a year-end interview with television correspondents.

into consideration that we have a $25 billion tax reduction for the people next year with about $6 billion tax reductions this year, that is $31 billion, and that is a major benefit to the people.

"I just can't give a firm commitment on how we will balance tax cuts versus a balanced budget by 1981," the president said

His statements seemed to hedge his campaign promise to balance the budget during his first term. As recently as last week, during his Christmas vacation at home in Plains, Ga., he was asked whether the balanced budget was still a goal and not just a dream. "Absolutely," Carter declar-

In the television interview. the president was asked whether he still thought that balancing the budget by 1981 was a realistic goal, given claim on the budget such as his promise of a tax cut. This time, Carter replied, "Obviously, I can not guarantee that. We have obviously known that to balance the budget would be difficult.

"It depends upon how fast business invests, how many people are at work, which cuts down obviously on expenditure for unemployment compensation, welfare payments - and there has to be some tradeoff," Carter said. He is employed by Holly Sugar.

Mrs. Davies, who has taught children for eight years, said that she "learned alot from them."

"Children teach you to be patient. I sometimes have to make myself slow down and not rush them into learning specific things. And if I have a favorite student I keep it to myself. It's hard.'

The 30-year-old versatile teacher commented that "aides are good" for a teacher.

"If there is a certain child that gets on my aides' nerves, he/she won't get on mine and can be handled easily. "My aide, Mary Chavarrio, is very good with children."

Mrs. Davis, the former Beverly Barrett, attended West Texas State University where she received a bachelor degree in, Elémentary Education and her bachelor of arts degree. She took 12 extra hours in order to qualify to teach kindergarten and she specialized in art. Her civic interests lie within the Beta Sigma Phi Sordriv Chapter in which she is involved.

"I enjoy the service project which we do in Xi Epsilon Alpha.'

She is a member of a women's bridge club in addition to the elderly who live alone and to COLLEGE STATION -Make 1978 the healthiest year of your life - with simple New Year's Resolutions that focus on health, advises Carla Shearer, a health education specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

*Get physical check-ups regularly.

Most people take special care with car check-ups, but their bodies are their most important investment. Regular checks will determine if the body is "running smoothly."

*Take good care of teeth. Regular brushing and flossing

- and dental check-ups - help insure the continued good condition of teeth. Being overweight can contribute to health problems, such as high blood pressure, hardening of the arteries and various forms of heart disease. Improved eating habits and a regular exercise program will avoid an overweight condition. *Stop smoking. Evidence that links smoking to lung cancer and heart disease is still mounting. For those who are still smoking, now is the time to stop.

White Loyal Party Man

WASHINGTON (AP) - John White, the man President Carter tapped Wednesday to head the Democratic National Committee, has a reputation as an impeccably loyal party man. That is not easy to do in a state like White's native Texas, where Democratic leaders have frequently supported Republican presidential candidates when they found the Democratic nominees too liberal.

In 1952, when former Gov. Allen Shivers led the pro-Eisenhower forces in Texas. White stuck with Adlai Stevenson. Twenty years later, when no one else would do it, White agreed tó be co-chairman of the statewide George McGovern campaign forces.

All the while, the genial, red-headed White maintained cordial ties with conservatives. So when Carter looked for a replacement for Kenneth Curtis at the DFC, he found party conservatives like Robert Strauss recommending White, and party liberals like Rep. Bob Eckhardt, D-Tex., saying he would be "an ideal choice." "He's got a generally progressive posture, but he's representative of an amalgam of the forces which support the Democratic party. I can work enthusiastically behind him. So can business types." said Eckhardt.

White, 53, describes himself as a "sensible moderate." He was born the son of a tenant farmer in Newport, Tex. He got his degree in agriculture from Texas Tech and taught the subject for several years before becoming Texas' commissioner of agriculture in 1950 by defeating the incumbent in an election. He was reelected 13 times until Carter named him deputy secretary of agriculture in March.

His official duties left him ample time to be active in politics. He briefly considered running for governor in 1954, and has been a delegate to several national conventions.

White's ties to Carter did not begin until after last year's Texas primary. Prior to that, he was committed to the aborted candidacy of a fellow Texan, Sen, Lloyd Bentsen.

But, he said Wednesday, he is now a firm Carter man. "I'll personally support him if he wishes to ask for another term." he said, although he promised fairness to any Democrat who challenges the president for the nomination in 1980.

White smiled when a reporter cited the statement attirubted to Strauss that a party chairman serving under an incumbent president amounts to little more than an errand boy. "If that's true, then I'll be a high-class errand boy," he said.

White said he hoped to emulate Strauss, who was able to bind together the disparate factions of the party well enough to give Carter a winning vehicle in 1976. He predicted that the party would soon erase its $2.5 million debt, much of which is left over from 1968.

White cut his last ties to agriculture when he came to Washington, getting rid of the ranch he leased in the country north of Austin. He has been a jogger for many years, and is often seen running on the mail outside the Department of

1:15 NEWS

WASHINGTON (AP) - Senate D-S.D., and Richard Stone, aides say a hearing into the overnment's world crop estinating procedures and the grain buying practices of the oviet Union still is in the vorks, but may be delayed for at east another month.

The hearing was requested of the Senate Agriculture committee by Sen. Robert Dole, R-Kans., following discloure in Moscow almost two months ago that the 1977 Soviet grain harvest was much smaller han had been estimated by the CIA and the Agriculture Department.

D-Fla., also sought a hearing to explore the latest surge of grain purchases by the Soviet Union and how those bear upon U.S. grain prices.

Meanwhile, Agriculture Sec-'we would welcome a hearing into this matter" of estimating Soviet grain production and how the purchases are conducted.

The CIA and the department, despite some opinions to the contrary, were estimating Soviet grain output at 215 million metric tons until Nov. 2, when Soviet president Leonid I. Sens. Géorge McGovern, Breshnev announced the hárvest tentatively at 194 million

The harvest was revised upward slightly by Moscow two weeks ago to 195.5 million tons.

A metric ton is 2,205 pounds. Bergland told reporters last retary Bob Bergland says that : Friday that, "I am not sure that we were over optimistic" in estimating Soviet grain production although he was in favor of a Senate hearing on the subject. He said there were difficulties in translating the effects of weather on the Soviet crops.

Bergland was asked about estimates in the private grain trade and in the department itself which indicated prior to Nov. 2 that the Soviet harvest might be closer to 200 million tons than the 215 million tons officially forecast.

"Well, it is a matter of whether or not the advice we get from the rumors we pick up are credible or not," Bergland replied. "When we publish a report it is official. I can't deal in

Bergland was then asked what might have happened to the farm prices of U.S. grain if his department had "expressed some public doubt" about the official estimate of 215 million

"No effect whatsoever." Bergland said. "The trade had already taken into account what had taken place.

In other words, he said, when Moscow announced its grain estimate on Nov. 2, "the market already knew that the Russian crop was - had been - hurt, and they didn't have any significant market impact then or since."

The Soviet Union is committed to buy a minimum of 6 million tons of wheat and corn annually beginning with deliveries each Oct. 1 for five years. In the first year which just ended, the Soviets bought about the minimum quantity.

But because of this year's smaller harvest, the Soviet Union already has bought about 6.4 million tons of grain including about 4.1 million of corn-and 2.3 million of wheat and has been given permission by the United States to buy a total of up to 15 million tons without further consulation.

Department experts say that they believe the Soviet Union will order the full 15 million tons for 1977-78 delivery, the second year of the agreement.

But some persons, including Sen. McGovern, believe the Soviets made secret arrangements months ago with private companies or their foreign affiliates for the full amount when they knew that the 1977 harvest would be smaller than last year's record crop.

When McGovern announced last month that he also wanted a hearing, he said the recent sales to Russia, "were strongly reminiscent of 1972 when the Russians took advantage of then current grain prices at the expense of U.S. producers and consumers."

Five years ago, the Soviets secretly bought huge qunantities of U.S. grain, including about 12 million tons of wheat, about one-fourth of the U.S. harvest that year - at prices well below those that developed after the sales became known.

WASHINGTON (AP) - A decision by the Carter administration four months ago to cut back on wheat production next year appears to be having an effect, according to new government figures. Farmers planted 48.1 million acres of winter wheat this fall for next summer's harvest, a decline of 14 percent from 56 million planted a year ago for the big 1977 harvest, the Agriculture Department said.

The so-called "set-aside program requires farmers to reduce 1978 harvest acres from this year and to take the equivalent of 20 percent of what they do harvest from production of any crop in order to qualify for full price support guaran-

In its first forecast of 1978 winter wheat production, the department said the harvest could total about 1.32 billion bushels, down 13 percent from this year's 1.53 billion bushels.

Howard W. Hjort, the department's director of economics, said the 14 percent acreage cut was "very close" to the administration's projected reduction when the decision was made to reduce wheat acreage for the first time since 1973. But Hjort added that the production forecast being down 13 percent "was a little more than we had thought." However, he said that final decisions by farmers on acreage set-aside participation are still not settled and that the eventual figures could be somewhat different.

Another factor is the extent to which farmers, angry over sagging grain prices, might participate in the strike called Dec. 14 by American agriculture by tearing up fields already planted or refusing to harvest grain next summer.

Wheat inventories on hand are the largest since 1963, the result of wide open record output the past three years. This has caused farm grain

Nearly all winter wheat states showed cutbacks in planted acreage from last year. One exception was Georgia, where the report showed that farmers increased winter wheat plant-

Meat Packing Up

WASHINGTON (AP) -Meat production by the nation's packing companies was up substantially last week, compared with a year ago, according to the Agriculture Department.

The department's Agriculture Marketing Service said beef production was an estimated 128.5 million pounds, up 20 percent from 355.7 million turned out by plants in the week before Christmas last year.

Sleep In Deadline Today

Today is the final day to register for the YMCA "Sleep In", which will be held at the mark of the third period as Central School gym beginning

The sleep in will last through The New Mexicans went on to the night with participants to enjoy a variety of activities, including basketball and floor hockey. The event is open to boys only in grades 3-6.

"So far our turnout has been oor," Y program director Weldon Knabe has reported. 'We'll have a lot of fun, and wish more boys would sign up."

Knabe reported that activities Friday night would end about 11 p.m. with lights out. "The boys will go to bed at that time in their own sleeping bags, and we will arise about 8 a.m. Saturday to enjoy a breakfast of rolls and hot chocolate."

Deadline for signing up for the sleep in is 5 p.m. today.

A bad showing at the free throw line was probably the biggest cause for the HHS defeat. The Herd hit only 15 of 31 charity tosses (48 percent) while Sandia connected on 13 of 19 (68 percent).

Fouls were aplenty in the game with the Matadors whistled down 26 times and the Whitefaces 18 times, and by the reaction of the fans at times a host more fouls could have been called.

Cinderella Broncos Needed 'Stability'

AP Sports Writer

OAKLAND (AP) - If the Denver Broncos are a Cinderella team, the Oakland Raiders must be the ugliest step-sisters in the National Football League.

The Raiders have been to the NFL's fancy postseason ball, the lucrative playoffs, almost every year while the Broncos were home. This year, under new Coach

Red Miller, the Broncos crashed. the party by going 12-2 in the regular season, and they face the Raiders in Sunday's AFC title game at Denver. But Oakland Coach John Madden isn't so sure the Cinderella description fits.

"I'm surprised how some people let the Broncos sneak up on them. They've been awfully close to making it for several years," he notes. "Four years ago, we had to beat them in our 14th game to win the division and get into the playoffs." That 1974 Denver team, under John Ralston, finished 7-6-1 to Oakland's 9-4-1 in the AFC West. The Broncos dropped to 6-8 the next season after quarterback Charley Johnson missed most of the year because of an injury.

"When Johnson was at quarterback, they had stability at the position and the team was pretty good," says Madden. "Then they weren't sure about the position for a while, but when they got Craig Morton and' decided on him as their quarterback, they got that stability back.

"They were probably just a player or two away from being a playoff team, and one of those players was a quarterback."

Madden sees similarities between the building of the Broncos' current team and the way the Raiders' organization run by Al Davis built the team that is the reigning Super Bowl

The Broncos have 'done well in the draft, he notes, with high picks such as Otis Armstrong. Riley Odoms, Tom Glassic. Randy Gradishar, and Louis Wright coming through, along with lower draft picks such as Rubin Carter, Lyle Alzado and Steve Foley.

And, just as the Raiders have struck it rich by landing free agents like Willie-Hall and John Matuszak, the Broncos have free agent "finds" in Jack Dolbin, Rob Swenson, and others
