

Carter To Discuss Oil with Arabians

RIYADH, Saudi Arabia (AP) - President Carter flew into Saudi Arabia today to talk about oil and Middle East politics on the fourth stop of his seven-nation tour.

The president flew to Riyadh after walking the alleys of an Indian village named for him and joining his Indian host, Prime Minister Morarji Desai, in a declaration of shared lofty principles.

At the airport in Riyadh both King Khalid and the president said the purpose of the visit to Saudi Arabia was peace. The visit is Carter's first to an Arab country.

The king and Crown Prince Fahd, wearing cloaks and white kaffiyeh headgear, stepped forward and shook hands with the president as he and Mrs. Carter left the presidential jet that brought them from India.

After a 21-gun salute and review of an honor guard, Carter shook hands with robed members of the Saudi royal family and ranking dignitaries, armed forces commanders and the diplomatic corps.

No Saudi women attended the airport welcome, since strict Islamic tradition bars them from public appearances.

The king escorted Carter to the Nassiriyah guest palace and then left for Moslem sunset prayers at a nearby mosque.

After the prayers, the king and Carter met for their first round of talks.

Carter's talks in Saudi Arabia, preceding a stopover in Egypt for talks Wednesday with President Anwar Sadat, were expected to deal importantly with a Middle East peace settlement.

Carter will urge the Saudis to support Sadat's peace drive with Israel. But his hosts probably will continue to insist on a comprehensive settlement between Israel and all its Arab foes and will urge Carter to ease his opposition to an independent Palestinian state.

Sources in Riyadh said the president was expected to try to secure an oil pact to ensure a steady supply of Saudi oil to the United States at stable prices. But the sources said the king and the crown prince, the strongman of the Saudi government, would refuse.

The Saudis also are expected to voice displeasure with an agreement Carter reached with Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlavi last weekend to sell U.S. nuclear reactors to Iran, Saudi Arabia's rival for control of the Persian Gulf. The Saudis are expected to ask Carter to sell them more arms to offset Iran's growing military strength.

Carter began the final day of his Indian visit with a 22-mile drive into the countryside with his wife to visit the village of Daulatpur-Nasirabad, a cluster of brick, mud, tile and thatch huts where the farmers on marks pressed onto their foreheads and walked hand in hand through dirt streets. They visited a cobbler shop and a one-room farmhouse. Carter got a gift of crimson cloth shoes and gave the village a slide projector for its school.

Desai accompanied them, and he and Carter spent some time discussing a local method of fermenting cow dung and water into methane gas for energy.

The visit lasted an hour, the village was renamed Carter Puri, or Carter Place, and then Carter and Desai returned to the presidential palace in the capital to sign the Delhi Declaration.

1978's First Baby

Antonio Ismael Ramirez is 2 today - 2-days-old, that is. He was born weighing 7 pounds, 8½ ounces, at 1 a.m. Monday, making him the only New Year's baby in Hereford. Antonio is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ismael Ramirez. According to Mrs. Ramirez, Antonio's New Year's birth came as a surprise - he was supposed to have been born Jan. 15. Babies born Tuesday were to Mr. and Mrs. Antonio Zapeda, a girl weighing 6 pounds, 2 ounces, at 1:15 p.m.; and to Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Martinez, a girl weighing 7 pounds, 9½ ounces, at 4:07 p.m.

Coplen Files For Judge

City commissioner Ed Coplen announced today he is running for the Deaf Smith County Judge position to be vacated by Sam Morgan.

Morgan announced in the fall he will not seek another term during the May 6 county and state election.

Coplen becomes the first person to announce his candidacy for judge in Deaf Smith County.

"Nobody asked me to do it," Coplen said. "I just feel like I can make a good county judge and I can work with the commission and the auditor."

"I'm running because I've always been interested in law."

Coplen, 37, majored in political science at West Texas State.

He is owner of Western Auto in Hereford, having lived here for 6½ years. Coplen, moved to Hereford from Roswell, N.M.

He was elected to the city commission last year.

Coplen is married and has three children. He resides at 105 Nueces.

Filing deadline for state and county offices is 6 p.m. Monday, Feb. 6.

Snowfall Dry, Not Beneficial

It was pretty to look at, but that's about all it was good for.

That's the assessment of the first snow of 1978, which began falling Sunday morning and blanketed the Hereford area with slightly over two inches of white powder.

The snow fell a week too late to bestow a white Christmas on the Texas Panhandle and South Plains, and the final months of 1977 slipped away without any accumulation of the white stuff either.

No moisture was registered from the snowfall here, which was just a portion of the blanket which fell across widespread portions of the area.

Snow fell as far south as Slaton, and temperatures across the Panhandle dropped into the low 20's and teens during old man winter's entry into the new year.

Hazardous driving conditions accompanied the snowfall, with ice reported on bridges and roadways in many localities.

While the country's dryland wheat crop is in need of moisture, Sunday's snowfall failed to supply any of that needed item.

"I hate to say it, but this old dry snow may have done more harm than good," reported John Fuston, ASCS executive director for Deaf Smith County.

"This dry snow will powder the soil and could get us in a position to blow. I hope it doesn't but it's sure a possibility. The dryland wheat is under moisture stress now, but could still make a comeback. We need some good moisture pretty soon to make that possible, though," Fuston added.

Homeland To Be Topic Of Discussion

ASWAN, Egypt (AP) - The hastily scheduled talks between Anwar Sadat and Jimmy Carter in this southern Egyptian town Wednesday promise to be a no-frills affair going straight to the core question of the Mideast deadlock - what kind of homeland should the Palestinians have?

"They will achieve more in one hour than they would have in three days because they know they have no time to spare and therefore will not deal with superficialities," an Egyptian official close to Sadat said Monday.

The Egyptian president is expected to seek Carter's assurance that the United States will not oppose creation of a Palestinian state free of Israeli troops. Sadat is also expected to ask that the United States play a greater role in current peace moves.

The Egyptian leader sought the meeting, which was arranged only last Saturday, to clarify the U.S. position following remarks made by Carter in a television interview last week.

Carter at that time spoke favorably of Israel's position to an independent Palestinian state and of its insistence on keeping troops stationed on the West Bank of the Jordan River.

U.S. officials rejected an Egyptian request that the American leader stay in Egypt for at least several hours and be given a full-dress reception with a motorcade through town. Instead, the two men will meet in a small private airport lounge for about two hours, a brief

McCathern Texas Delegate

American Agriculture Slates Bergland Meeting Thursday

By JIM STEIERT
Brand Farm Editor

American Agriculture movement delegates from over 30 states are preparing for a meeting with Agriculture Secretary Bob Bergland in Omaha, Neb. Thursday to negotiate demands in connection with the current farm strike being conducted by supporters of the movement.

Gerald McCathern of Hereford, Texas delegate to the Omaha meeting, departed this morning for the Nebraska session. A group of 10 representatives will accompany McCathern to the conference. Among Panhandle residents included in the group are Bob Dulaney of Dimmit, Bobby Hicks of Gruver, Fred Vandenburg of Pampa and James Long of Paducah.

Up to 42 states could be represented during the luncheon and two hour meeting with Bergland which is scheduled to get underway at 2 p.m. Thursday.

Although Ag Secretary Bergland invited representatives from several farm organizations which do not support the strike movement to attend the Thursday meeting, American Ag movement spokesmen insist they will not negotiate with the agriculture secretary if representatives of other farm organizations are asked to join the meeting.

A spokesman for the Hereford strike office, which serves as state headquarters, reported this morning that other farm organization representatives, "apparently will not attend Thursday's meeting."

American Ag representatives will present five points to Bergland during Thursday's meeting.

The American Ag points to be presented during the conference reject the current farm program and demand:

1. 100 percent parity for all domestic and foreign used and/or consumed agricultural products.

2. All agricultural products produced for national or international food reserves shall be contracted at 100 percent of parity.

3. Creation of an entity or structure composed of agricultural producers to devise and approve policies which affect agriculture.

4. Imports of all agricultural products which are domestically produced must be stopped until 100 percent of parity is reached. Thereafter, imports must be limited to the amount which cannot be supplied by American producers.

5. All announcements pertaining to an agriculture producing cycle shall be made far enough in advance to allow the producer adequate time to make needed adjustments in his operation.

The five demands to be presented to Bergland were decided on during a Dec. 11 meeting in Denver which set the stage for the launching of the farm strike on Dec. 14.

While strike movement supporters will be elaborating on their ambitious demands during Thursday's meeting, activities closer to home got underway again today as farmers began "Phase III" of their picketing efforts.

A tractorcade was to be staged on Loop 289 at Lubbock today as South Plains farmers attempted a show of strength

Hill To Be In Hereford

State Attorney General John Hill will campaign for governor Wednesday in Hereford, beginning with a noon meeting with the Noon Lions Club.

Hill also is scheduled to conduct a press conference at The Brand following the Lions Club meeting, then meet with some Deaf Smith County farmers.

Hill, Gov. Dolph Briscoe and former governor Preston Smith are Democratic candidates for governor.

He will be in Dimmitt and Plainview following his Hereford meetings.

December Hikes Get 1978 Off to Expensive Start

By EILEEN ALT POWELL
Associated Press Writer

Consumers faced higher grocery bills at the start of 1978, in part because of December price increases in staples such as sugar, eggs and frozen orange juice.

The Associated Press marketbasket survey indicated that the prices of 14 commonly purchased food and non-food items rose an average of 2.3 percent in December.

That brought the year's average increase to 11.7 percent. The average overall increase a year earlier was 3.5 percent.

The figures are based on an AP survey that began March 1, 1973. The news service drew up a random list of 15 items and checked the price at one supermarket in each of 13 cities. The list has been rechecked on or about the start of each succeeding month. One item - chocolate chip cookies - had to be dropped from the list at the end of November because the manufacturer discontinued the package size used in the survey.

Between Jan. 1, 1977, the start of 1978, the marketbasket bill went up at the checklist stores in all 13 cities. When coffee - which soared in price after the crop-killing freeze in Brazil in 1975 - was removed from the list, the bills in all stores still showed increases. But the year's average increase, without coffee, was 6.7 percent - 5 percentage points lower than the average including the beverage.

The annual total was boosted by a relatively steep rise in prices in December, some of them seasonal. The AP survey showed that the marketbasket bill increased last month in 11 cities and decreased in only two. The average increase was 3 percent, the average decrease about 2 percent. The overall average increase of 2.3 percent compared with a modest 0.4 percent increase a month earlier.

Coffee was not among the items contributing to the December upswing. Only one city - New York - reported an increase in the price of a pound of coffee.

The cost to consumers has leveled off or dropped since the wholesale price of a pound of roasted coffee peaked in June at $4 and began to decline. Still, on Jan. 1, coffee sold for $3.60 a pound in one store, 72 percent higher than the $2.09 pricetag a year earlier.

Rising prices for sugar, eggs and frozen orange juice did contribute to the December rise. Price increases also were reported in five cities for chopped chuck and center-cut pork chops and in six for all-beef franks.

Sugar prices are reflecting government price supports instituted for processors early in November, a spokesman for the U.S. Department of Agriculture explained. The consumers' cost for sugar increased in December in 10 checklist stores, held steady in two and dropped in only one. The average price for a 5-pound bag of granulated sugar at the beginning of January was $1.12, compared with $1.05 a month earlier.

Grade A medium eggs, which normally rise in price in winter months, were up in 11 cities and down in one. In the 13th checklist store, only extra-large eggs were available. The average Jan. 1 price was 76 cents a dozen, considerably below the 92.5 cents reported a year earlier but up from the Dec. 1 figure of 68.5 cents per dozen.

Florida growers blamed increased demand and lower supply because of a freeze last January for the rise in the wholesale and, consequently, retail

Rosalynn Says Lib Not Ruining Families

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — Rosalynn Carter told Indian women reporters Monday that women's lib is not breaking up the American family and predicted that it is only a matter of time before the United States has a woman president.

Later, at a city-run community hall that provides job training and daycare for unskilled women, she said she will follow that example and go into America's inner cities to seek solutions to social and health problems there.

And over a lunch of carrot soup and Afghan-style rice pilaf, she listened to reports from Indian women leaders on the improved social status of women in India.

"Of course, we're working on that pretty hard at home, too," she told them.

The meetings were among several personal encounters with Indians the first lady had on her second day in India.

306 Die in Accidents Over 3-Day Weekend

By The Associated Press

Traffic accidents over the three-day New Year's weekend claimed 306 lives. The National Safety Council had estimated that between 300 and 400 persons might die.

The toll for the weekend, measured between 6 p.m. Friday and midnight Monday, surpassed the 1977 New Year's highway death count of 305. That holiday also was a three-day observance.

Traffic accidents on a non-holiday weekend of the same length at this time of year could be expected to claim 330 lives, the council said.

The worst New Year's highway toll was in 1965, also a three-day period, when 564 died.

Snow and ice plagued travelers in various sections of the country almost from the time the weekend began Friday evening. Even southern sections were not spared. Snow and freezing rain chilled Texas on Monday and travel warnings were out in parts of Louisiana, Mississippi and Alabama.

No Survivors Aboard Indian Jumbo Jet

BOMBAY, India (AP) — Rescue workers recovered seven bodies Monday and officials said there was no chance of survivors among the 213 persons aboard an Indian jumbo jet that exploded and fell into the Arabian Sea.

All but 11 of the 190 passengers and crew of 23 of the Air India 747 were Indians.

Foreigners included two Americans identified as Askhan Azim Mohammad Abdul, 53, and Khan Anna Loreigns, 50. Both lived in Saudi Arabia but carried American passports issued in San Francisco.

No cause has been listed for the Sunday crash that occurred just after takeoff from Bombay.

The navy sent eight ships to comb a 50-square-mile patch of sea for survivors. Parts of wreckage, life jackets and clothing were recovered.

Earlier reports that 35 bodies had been spotted were denied by the navy.

If all aboard died, it would be India's worst air disaster and the third worst in the history of civil aviation.

In 1966 an Air India Boeing 707 crashed into Mount Blanc in the European Alps killing all 117 aboard.

Richard Pryor Free Following Shooting

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Comedian Richard Pryor is free on bail after an alleged shooting incident at his home here.

The 37-year-old Pryor surrendered to police several hours after a warrant was issued for his arrest Monday for investigation of assault with a deadly weapon. Police had said they would have searched for the comedian if he hadn't given himself up by today.

Two friends of Pryor's wife, Deborah McGuire, fled a complaint against the comedian. They were identified as Beverly Clayborn, 25, of Los Angeles, and Edna Solomon, 27, of Washington State.

The police report claimed Pryor got into an argument New Year's morning with his wife and her two friends and shot at them. Then, the report claimed, as the two friends tried to flee in a car, he rammed into their vehicle with his Mercedes Benz five or six times.

Police Report

Police attributed four minor traffic accidents in Hereford to Sunday's snowfall, with the worst being a car hitting a utility pole.

The collision knocked out a meter box, causing the traffic light at 600 Park and Ave. F to malfunction. Southwestern Public Service repaired the light Sunday evening.

Police Sunday also investigated minor traffic accidents at 7:36 p.m. at 13th and 25 Mile Ave., at 7:40 p.m. at 13th and 25 Mile Ave. (unrelated accidents) and at 5:40 p.m. at 100 Mimosa and W. Park.

Another accident Sunday was at 9:47 a.m. in the 400 block of N. Ave. K and 13th.

Mrs. Mary Castillo, of Hereford, reported to police Sunday that while she was at Deaf Smith General Hospital, somebody took $131 from two purses in her car.

Mrs. Nellie Wauson, Plains, Tex., reported that she had lost her purse at McDonald's Restaurant, returned inside to get it, and found it gone.

Taken with the purse was a billfold containing $27.50.

Mrs. O.G. Hill, 801 N. Main, reported that sometime Saturday, somebody tore her Christmas lights, broke 18 bulbs and stole 36 lights valued at $20.

John Fink reported Saturday that sometime Friday after 4 p.m. Friday, somebody entered his residence at 118-A S. Centre and stole a $75 watch, a 45 automatic pistol and a Niko over-and-under 12 gauge shotgun.

Weather

West Texas — The forecast calls for skies to be partly cloudy and warmer through Wednesday. Lows tonight will range from the 20s in the mountains and the north to the mid 30s in the south. Highs Wednesday should extend from the lower 60s in the north to upper 60s in the Big Bend.

Jack Frost Visits City

Howard Gore, car salesman for Stagner-Orsborn Buick-Pontiac-GMC, had to scrape the windshield this morning of a new automobile, readying it for a prospective buyer. Cars throughout Hereford were covered with ice this morning after temperatures dipped to 21 degrees. All of the snow which fell Sunday is expected to be melted today by highs in the 50's as warmer weather returns to Hereford and the Texas Panhandle. [Brand photo].

Religious World Faced Sex Issues

NEW YORK (AP) — Controversies over sex riddled the religious world in 1977 and the turmoil was continuing. The issues range from church studies re-examining traditional rules and revolt against Episcopal women clergy to protests at television portrayals of sex and conflict over abortion and homosexuality.

The drive of avowed homosexuals for their explicit acceptance in church and social roles was headed for more confrontations in the months ahead, and some scholars see in it implications for the country's moral directions.

America, advocating more flexible approaches to sex standards.

Catholic bishops called the conclusions dangerous and contrary to church teachings.

Obituaries

G.C. DAVIS

Graveside services for a Panhandle pioneer, G.C. Davis, 93, are being conducted at 1 p.m. today in Masonic Cemetery at Pilot Point with Dr. Wayne Reynolds of Georgetown officiating.

Mr. Davis, the grandfather of Frank Ford Jr., died early Sunday at West Gate Nursing Home here.

Local arrangements are under the direction of Gilliland-Watson Funeral Home.

During his lifetime, Mr. Davis bought land in the western part of Deaf Smith County and handled some of the large land sales in the first half of this century in the Panhandle. In addition to being a realtor, he was a farmer.

He is survived by a daughter, Lucile Davis Ford; four grandchildren, Frank Ford Jr., Dr. Davis Ford, Dr. Susan Ford Wiltshire and John Edward Ford; and nine great-grandchildren, Davis Ford, Cindy Ford, Dan Edward Ford and Susan Ford, all of Hereford, Kelly, Kristy and Katy Ford and Matthew and Carrie Wiltshire.

Grocery

prices of frozen orange juice concentrate.

The wholesale price of one dozen, 6-ounce cans of concentrate - currently a record $3.30 - was reflected in juice price rises in eight checklist stores. The price did not change in four cities and dropped in only one. On Jan. 1, the average price for a single, 6-ounce can was just over 48 cents - up about 1.5 cents from a month earlier and some 15 cents higher than a year ago.

A look at all the items in the AP survey showed more increases - and fewer decreases - in price in December than in November. Here are the percentages of items showing increases and decreases:

	Nov. Dec.
Up	26.9 38.5
Down	15.4 14.3
Unchanged	55.0 44.0

Unavailable 2.7 3.2

No attempt was made to weight the AP survey results according to population density or in terms of what percent of a family's actual grocery outlay each item represents.

The day of the week on which the check was made varied depending on the month. Standard brands and sizes were used when available. If the requested size and brand was not available on March 1, 1973, a comparable substitute was selected. Items temporarily out of stock on one of the survey dates being compared were not included in the overall total.

The AP did not attempt to compare actual prices from city to city - say, for example, that eggs cost more in one area than another. The only comparisons were made in terms of percentages of increase or decrease - saying a particular item went up 10 percent in one city and 6 percent in another.

The USDA marketbasket issued each month is based on a complex set of statistics. It includes 65 retail items of U.S. farm-produced foods in amounts that theoretically could supply a household of 3.2 persons for one year.

The government predicted a 6 percent rise in food prices in 1977.

The items on the AP checklist are: chopped chuck, center cut pork chops, frozen orange juice concentrate, coffee, paper towels, butter, Grade A medium white eggs, creamy peanut butter, laundry detergent, fabric softener, tomato sauce, milk, frankfurters and granulated sugar.

stopover on Carter's flight from Saudi Arabia to France.

In other Mideast-related developments:

-Israeli newspapers reported that Jordan's King Hussein may hold secret talks with Israeli leaders to discuss the future of the West Bank. Israeli's current proposals call for self-rule, with a continued Israeli military presence, for the Palestinians of the West Bank and Gaza Strip.

-Damascus Radio said Foreign Minister Aly Abdelsalam Tureiki arrived unexpectedly in Damascus to coordinate efforts with Syrian leaders to oppose what the broadcast called the "new alliance" between Egypt and Israel. Syria and Libya have staunchly opposed Sadat's peace moves.

-Israeli radio reported that Agriculture Minister Ariel Sharon, a controversial champion of Jewish settlements in occupied Arab lands, would take part in cabinet-level negotiations between Egypt and Israel that begin in mid-January.

-Abu Hisham, the representative in Saudi Arabia of Yasir Arafat's Fatah Palestinian guerrilla group, said on Saudi radio that the oil-rich kingdom had donated $42 million to Fatah in 1977.

-Saudi officials prepared for Carter's arrival there Tuesday. It is expected that King Khalid and Crown Prince Fahd will press Carter to soften his stand against a fully independent Palestinian state.

-A security official at the Egyptian Embassy in Bonn, West Germany, found and defused a four-pound time bomb just two minutes before it was set to explode outside the embassy. Egyptian facilities abroad recently have become the targets of attempted bombings or other attacks arrantly made by disgruntled hardline Arabs.

prior to the opening of the Omaha negotiations.

Strike supporters were hoping to have a "bumper to bumper" tractorcade on 289, although there were apparently no plans to shut down or blockade any businesses.

Some 50-60 crop dusting planes were also expected to circle Lubbock in a show of support for the farm strike movement.

There were also reports of a plan by farmers in the northern end of the state to place parading tractors in a band stretching along Interstate 40 from Amarillo to Oklahoma City.

Farmers from Arkansas were also expected to travel northeast on Highway 65 to meet farmers from Dumas.

Carter

Carter said the document, which replaced the joint communique usually issued at the end of such visits, moved the United States and India "down the path toward mutual friendship and commitment."

The two leaders sat at long wooden table, under crossed Indian and U.S. flags, and signed four copies of the declaration, two in English and two in Hindi.

After the signing, Desai started to shake hands with Carter, but the president put his hands together in a praying position and bowed to his host, the traditional Indian greeting.

The two men smiled and then shook hands.

Carter flies Wednesday from Saudi Arabia to Paris, stopping en route in Aswan, southern Egypt, for an hour with Egyptian President Sadat. Sadat asked for the meeting after Carter last week seconded Israel's opposition to an independent Palestinian state.

Ford Still Looks Back At What Might Have Been

WASHINGTON (AP) — Jerry Ford was reflecting on retirement the other night, and saying he likes it a lot.

Sometimes.

The skiing at Vail is super, 72 inches of snow beckoning Ford and his family for the holidays.

And President Carter will be spending his New Year's at work, on an overseas mission, all business. There's not much snow in Riyadh; mostly sand.

Sometimes, Ford said, he wonders who really won.

Carter did.

And off the platform, Ford sounds a bit more wistful about it. Vail may be more fun than Tehran or New Delhi, but Ford, at 64, is not ready to call it a career.

Not that he's necessarily going to run again; the odds would appear to be heavily against it. But he doesn't say no, just maybe. And whatever happens, he obviously intends to have a lot to say about who does run for the Republican Party in 1980.

"I want a good candidate, and at this stage, I am not going to pass judgment on who is and who isn't." But Ford certainly sounds as though he figures he'd be in the right category if he decided to have another go.

Whatever the glories of retirement, on a presidential, congressional and military pension and other benefits that add up to at least $102,000 a year, Ford still looks back at what might have been.

He looks at the breaks that could have made him President by election instead of former president-by-appointment.

"If the election had been a week later...." he said. "We got some good economic statistics within a week or 10 days after the election."

Then there was his pardon of Richard M. Nixon, his gaffe over Soviet forces in Poland, the damage done by charges of financial impropriety, proven wrong but not until they had loomed over the campaign for two difficult weeks.

And in the end it was so close, so close that it's hard to tell which of a dozen things might have turned the outcome the other way.

Actually, the post-election economic reports weren't all that good. Unemployment was up one-tenth of a point, to 7.9 percent. The wholesale price index went up .6 percent. Consumer prices rose .3 percent, the smallest increase in seven months.

There is an echo of Hubert H. Humphrey, who tried so often and lost so narrowly in 1968, in Ford's look back at the final days of the 1976 campaign.

It is not the analysis of an elder statesman content to retire for good.

Ford said he has logged 200,000 miles, to 23 states, since he left the White House. He ticks off his Republican fundraising missions, says there will be more. "I intend to keep it up, helping candidates particularly in any way I can, without being a candidate myself."

Without being a candidate in 1978, that is. The real campaign comes two years later, when Carter will be up for re-election.

"I'm certainly not going to make any decision until 1979," said Ford.

Ford is trim, tanned, relaxed and apparently ready to take on Carter economics, energy and other policies in the off-year campaign.

He's at odds with his party's conservatives on the Panama Canal treaty, and as far as he is concerned, if a would-be candidate wants to build a 1980 platform on opposition to that pact, it will be futile.

"If the Republican Party is a one-issue party, such as on the Panama Canal, then the Republican nomination won't be worth anything in 1980," he said.

So he'll be a campaigner if not a candidate, and a speaker, if never a spellbinder. Proposing a $70 billion tax cut over the next four years, he managed to give a speech that made his best friends drowsy. It was like a Ford administration reunion Tuesday night, but there were nodding heads around the hotel ballroom by the time his lecture was done.

"I must tell you that being a former president is a most enjoyable experience," Ford said. "As a matter of fact, I can honestly say that I recommend it to President Carter at the earliest possible date."

By 1980, it may be time for sports more political than skiing. "I'll be too old to ski then," said Ford. "But not too old to be president."

26 Die In Traffic

By The Associated Press

Some last minute sunshine in the face of freezing temperatures could be praised for helping keep the New Year's traffic death toll from busting the projected 30 mark.

At midnight Monday when the official four-day count ended, at least 26 people were reported killed on Texas roadways.

By Saturday, Department of Public Safety officials were worried that their projection would fall far short. Ten people had already died and there was two days to go.

Sunday's snow and ice were responsible for several accidents. However, when the morning dawned Monday, skies were clearing and the sun set about melting what little ice had formed on bridges and overpasses.

Multiple crashes plagued the state this New Year's weekend. Three persons died in Waco and four others died in separate crashes in West Texas.

Among the victims reported: John Lyons, 70, of Longview, was struck and killed Sunday night while crossing a Longview street.

Elena Carter 29, of Tyler, died Monday night in a two-car crash east of Tyler.

No Place For Beginners

GARLAND, Texas (AP) — Mrs. Bessie Halcomb may do well to think about taking her driver's test someplace far from this Dallas suburb like Bangor, Maine.

It seems she was out in the family buggy practicing her driving Monday when her husband told her to apply the brake and pull in under a nearby canopy.

The Mesquite woman, who has a beginner's permit, tried to oblige but apparently got her pedals confused and hit the accelerator instead of the brake.

The car jumped the curb and crashed through two large windows landing in an empty office.

Fortunately, the drivers' license testing center was closed for the day.

I have never known anyone personally who has a clean cookie sheet.

There was one woman in the old neighborhood who was rumored to have one, but she was quite weird and when I saw her coming, I always looked the other way.

Cookie sheets are like underwear, dish towels, and toothbrushes. They're never on display to the public, so who cares what they look like.

Men do not understand cookie sheets. My husband watched me put biscuits on mine the other day and said, "That reminds me, I have to have the oil changed in the car this week."

When I didn't respond, he asked, "Just for curiosity's sake, how much does a new cookie sheet cost?"

"The last time I bought one it was around $2.98."

"The last time you bought one, they were using beads and trinkets for money."

"Why should my cookie sheet bother you?"

"Because it looks like a health hazard. What's that baked on it?"

"Which layer?"

"That's not funny, you know. Look at it! It's even rusting in the corners."

"That's because some idiot put water on it."

"Heaven forbid I'd tell you how to run your kitchen, but why don't you pick up a new one?"

"For the same reason you hold your glasses together with a paper clip and have three knots in your shoestring."

"That's different."

Americans need one last bastion from which to defend their cheapness. Maybe it's a favorite lipstick that you use a bobby pin to dig it out with...a pin in your shorts...a cord that's down to two inches on your power mower starter...a broom handle stuck in the sliding glass doors of your $65,000 house...a comb with 15 teeth missing...a $6,000 car with one set of car keys.

All I know is yesterday my husband bought me a new cookie sheet and when I went outside, my neighbor saw me coming and looked the other way.

Langleys Host Recent Open House

The Langley-Wall-Dorff Open House was held Thursday evening the Earnest Langley home, 502 Star St. in celebration of the Langleys' four daughters being home for the holidays.

Receiving guests with their parents were Barbara Dorff and Miss Camille Langley, both of Dallas, Suzanne Wall of Sherman and Miss Carolyn Langley of Hereford. Assisting with host duties were the Langley's sons-in-law, Jim Dorff of Dallas and Dan Wall, Sherman.

The Lighter Side

LONGMOUNT, Colo. (AP) - Donald Weaver and his wife were enjoying a quiet New Year's Day at home when two tires bounced into their house.

One fire made a 3-foot hole in the porch roof; the other a 4-foot hole in the wall of a bedroom on the second floor. Nobody was hurt.

"It sounded like a bomb," said Weaver. "A real boomer."

Sheriff's deputies at first thought the tires may have fallen from a passing airliner, but later determined they were from a passing truck.

Deputies reported that two tires from the left wheels of a semi-trailer truck broke free, hit a highway curb and bounced high into the air. The driver, Bob Hicks, continued on his way, not knowing the tires were missing, the Sheriff's Department said.

REDMOND, Ore. (AP) - You can get a room at the Bell Air Motel for $12 a night. And you can get one for your horse for $4. Stallions, which tend to be rambunctious, get bedded down for $6.

When Howard and Catherine Miller bought the modest seven-unit motel in central Oregon a year ago, they found a rarely used four-stall stable out back. For a laugh, they issued business cards that said, "Let your horse rest while you sleep."

Before long the Millers discovered there was indeed a market for a motel with equestrian accommodations. Rodeo ropers, horse owners changing homes and vacationers soon were filling the stable three nights a week.

The Smashers

The experience was a real downer, coming as it did just before Christmas.

It was midday, three days before Christmas, as I was leaving the lobby of the Michigan Avenue building in Chicago where I work. I saw a lean young man in his 20s - not five feet in front of me - smash the curved glass panel adjacent the revolving door with his booted foot.

Then he proceeded through the door and strode down the street. With a dozen quick steps I caught up with him.

"Why did you do that?" I demanded.

No reply.

I followed after him, repeating the question. No reply.

Half a block away I confronted the surly youth.

"Why?" I demanded.

"Because I felt like it," he said casually - and proceeded on down the street.

My first impulse was to respond as we would have in the Oklahoma I grew up in. The cop on the corner said, "Thank God you didn't. Paul; he'd surely have sued you!"

But had I stayed with him, had him arrested, appeared to testify against him - what would have happened?

"Willful destruction of property?" the policeman said, after he thought it over.

"There's not a judge in this town who wouldn't let him go."

Now I'm trembling angry.

"How in the world," I asked, "do you cops keep from getting bitterly cynical?"

I proceeded down Michigan Avenue to a jewelry store to pick up a bauble of Angel's I'd had repaired.

Before I could mention my

Ann Landers Unhelpful Helper

DEAR ANN: I know you've heard of all kinds of mother-in-law problems but mine is about to drive me up the wall.

What can I do about a very sweet mother-in-law who insists on "helping"? When she is a dinner guest in our home, Mother G. takes it upon herself to collect all the plates, and stacks them in front of herself after wiping each one with a piece of bread. The leftovers go on a platter! It's a most unappetizing sight - looks like a collection of garbage. Mother G. also carries my crystal goblets to the kitchen, four at a time, as if they were jelly glasses.

What is there left to say after I have told her repeatedly, "Please, dear, I'd prefer that you didn't help"? I'm signing this -- Ready To Blow A Gasket DEAR RED: You can stop "telling her" (obviously she ignores verbal instructions) and let her know in a physical way that you will not permit her to do K.P. duty in your home.

When Mother G. begins to collect the plates, go after her immediately and lead her back to her chair - and don't let her get out of it. You may have to "seat" her two or three times, but she WILL get the message eventually and the problem will be solved.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am one of millions of women who have facial hair. I've already spent over $400 on electrolysis. The ads were misleading. I thought after one treatment the hair would be gone forever. No such thing. Some hairs are destroyed but others crop up nearby. Meanwhile, the spending goes on and on.

My question: Are the Do-It-Yourself home kits any good? Do they remove hair permanently? They sound wonderful in the advertisements. What do you say: Sick of Tweezing

DEAR TWEEZ: Sorry, I can't give you the brand name because I stay away from endorsements, but one Do-It-Yourself hair-removal kit is really worth the money.

IF -- and note the big IF -- you have patience, are somewhat skilled at handling equipment and if you follow the directions, the kit could be well worth the investment.

P.S. To One And All: Please don't write for the name. I won't give it. Ask a dermatologist. If he's knowledgeable, he'll know.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My mother died several months ago. She was not only a wonderful mother and wife but a great person who had a world of friends.

My father, who is 65, has started to take out a 35-year-old girl. What is it that makes people forget so soon? My mother gave 40 years of her life to my father. She did everything under the sun to please that man. I never once heard her utter a word of complaint although at times he was impossible.

I know he isn't seeing this young chick because he needs someone to take care of him. My father can cook, clean and cha-cha better than I can. He's self-sufficient and in excellent health. I resent my father for desecrating my mother's memory. What's more, I don't know what I'd do if I ever met that tramp face to face. Any suggestions? -- Distaught Daughter

DEAR D.D.: Are you sure the woman is a tramp? Although the age difference is great she may be a mature, decent woman. Moreover, your dad sounds like a young 65.

I do not believe a widower who sets out to make a new life for himself is "desecrating his wife's memory." Life is for the living, dear.

Suspect Caught Moving Body

ONEONTA, N.Y. (AP) - A man charged with the murder of an Oneonta State College student was arrested as he allegedly tried to move the woman's frozen body to a new hiding place along a lovers' lane.

Police said on Monday that the arrested man, Ricky Allen Knapp, 26, had been a prime suspect during the four-week search for Linda Velzy, 18, the daughter of a Long Island Methodist minister.

Knapp, who worked seasonally as a tree surgeon, has served a prison sentence for rape and was under indictment on other sex charges. Miss Velzy's fully-clothed body was found in Knapp's car when he was arrested, police said.

Knapp was charged with murder late Sunday, state police said. An autopsy was begun on Miss Velzy's body Monday by Michael Baden, a deputy New York City medical examiner and forensic pathologist, to determine the cause of death.

Incomplete results of the autopsy showed that she had not been sexually abused and had a fractured skull and contusions of the brain, officials said.

Miss Velzy, a freshman, disappeared on Dec. 9 while hitch-hiking from Oneonta, where she had looked at an apartment for rent, back to her campus, about one mile away. She was reported missing when she failed to keep a date with a boyfriend. Police said they believed she was killed the same day.

State police Capt. Joseph Strajnowski said Knapp gave Miss Velzy a ride. "There was no evidence that she was held hostage," he said. Miss Velzy and Knapp had not known one another, according to Strajnowski.

Police said Knapp was apprehended as he tried to move the body from the densely wooded Case Hill Road area in the nearby Delaware County town of Franklin to the Winney Hill Road area near Oneonta, a lovers' lane already searched by bloodhounds.

Knapp lives in West Oneonta, a hamlet five miles northwest of here.

Police said Knapp served three years in Attica state prison for raping a female hitchhiker he picked up.

On Nov. 4, Knapp was indicted on charges of sodomy and unlawful imprisonment involving another Oneonta State College student, Onsego County sheriff's deputies said. He was released on $5,000 bail 10 days later.

YOUNG VIOLINIST WINS AWARD

NEW YORK (AP) - A 17-year-old violin student at the Juilliard School here recently won first prize in the First Annual Queen Sofia International Competition in Madrid.

Chou-Liang Lin, a native of Taiwan, began his violin studies at age 5 and was 7 when he gave his first public performance. He was a soloist at President Carter's Inauguration Day concert and has also appeared as a soloist with the St. Louis Symphony.

The prize for the Queen Sofia Competition includes a cash award of $6,000. The youngster also will return for a concert tour of Spain and the Canary Islands.

Cambodia Won't Talk Until Troops Withdrawal

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) - Cambodia said today it won't negotiate an end to its border war with Vietnam until all Vietnamese troops withdraw from its territory.

Radio Phnom Penh said the Cambodian government rejected a Vietnamese offer of peaceful negotiations. The government broadcast repeated accusations against Vietnam made last Sunday, when Cambodia severed diplomatic relations with its eastern neighbor.

Cambodia claims several divisions of Vietnamese troops, backed by hundreds of tanks and planes, have invaded Cambodian territory and are trying to overthrow the Communist regime.

Hanoi replied that Vietnam was forced to defend itself when Cambodian troops invaded Vietnam, killed or wounded thousands and destroyed thousands of homes and other structures.

"Vietnam never has had any ambitions to occupy an inch of land of a foreign country, but we are ready to suppress and drive away those who infiltrated into our territory and brought disaster to our people and the nation," said the Vietnamese army newspaper Quan Doi Nhan Dan.

The exchange of charges over the weekend was the first official acknowledgment of border warfare which both governments now admit began in April 1975, shortly after the Communist victories in Saigon and Phnom Penh.

The Cambodians and Vietnamese are ancient, traditional enemies, and it is apparent that communism has not improved relations between them.

Western sources in Bangkok say they believed Vietnamese troops are still inside Cambodian territory but doubt news reports that six Vietnamese divisions are poised to strike against Phnom Penh.

The Soviet Union, a strong backer of the Communist regime in Vietnam, indicated its support for the Vietnamese offer to negotiate but avoided public endorsement of either government's claims. China, the Cambodian Communists' chief backer, also refrained from comment.

Striking Idea

Striking is believed to have gotten its name from merchant seamen who refused to go to sea because of some grievance and would halt all movements on shipboard and tie up the vessel by "striking." This is a nautical term for lowering the sails. When the sailors "lowered the yards," all activities on the ship were halted.

Hogs Blitz Sooners

By HERSCHEL NISSONSON
AP Sports Writer

MIAMI (AP) - Lou Holtz, football coach and noted amateur magician, has performed his best trick yet - he made the entire Oklahoma football team disappear.

Some 60,987 disbelievers and a nationwide television audience estimated at 56 million were treated to a glimpse of Holtz' coaching magic Monday night when his sixth-ranked Arkansas Razorbacks destroyed No. 2-rated Oklahoma 31-6 in the Orange Bowl.

But Holtz, who went from rags to riches in just one year - a 3-11 record with the professional New York Jets in 1976 to 11-1 and a shot at college football's national championship with Arkansas - insisted there was no trickery involved in the way the Razorbacks trounced the 18-point-favored Sooners and handed them their worst licking since a 41-9 rout at the hands of Texas in 1970.

"I do magic for entertainment," he said. "Winning comes from blocking and tackling."

Even without All-American guard Leotis Harris, out with a knee injury, Arkansas' offensive line did most of the blocking. On the other hand, Oklahoma didn't do much tackling, especially when the Sooners were trying to pin down sophomore Roland Sales, who set an Orange Bowl record by rushing for 205 yards.

Sales, a 192-pounder from Fort Worth, Tex., carried 23 times, scored twice and caught four passes for 52 yards to lead the Razorbacks in that department, too.

If Holtz was Blackstone the Magician, Sales was Houdini the way he escaped from one Oklahoma would-be tackler after another. The Razorbacks never even missed leading ground-gainer Ben Cowins, one of three players suspended from the Orange Bowl for a dormitory incident involving a woman.

"What can you say about Roland Sales?" Holtz wondered. "He was outstanding. I'm truly shocked by the consistency of his performance. He ran north and south. He did everything we asked him to do."

Apparently Sales did everything but sell tickets. Only 60,987 passed through the turnstiles of the 76,000-seat Orange Bowl, whose grass field was made slick by a heavy downpour less than two hours before game time.

The convincing triumph thrust Arkansas squarely into the national championship picture - top-rated Texas, No. 3 Alabama, No. 5 Notre Dame, the Razorbacks, No. 7 Kentucky and No. 8 Penn State all have one loss - and Holtz was finally ready to make a pitch for his gallant club, which survived his recent suspensions of three offensive stars plus the absence of Harris and the loss of All-Southwest Conference safety Howard Sampson, who suffered a broken arm on the game's third play.

"We made a lot of mistakes, but I guess that's way it goes," said Heisman Trophy winner Earl Campbell. He was largely neutralized by the Irish defense even though he gained 116 yards in 29 carries.

Notre Dame quarterback Joe Montana said the Irish - with guard Ernie Hughes working on Texas' Outland Trophy-winning defensive tackle Brad Shearer - controlled the game at the line of scrimmage.

"I felt we controlled the line of scrimmage from the beginning," said Montana. "I only remember getting knocked down once or twice."

"I think they underestimated our whole line," said defensive end Ross Browner. "I think they thought we were just some slacks or something."

"We thought that if we could control the line we could control the game," added tight end Ken MacAfee. "Of course, we feel we're No. 1. We beat the No. 1 team decisively, by 28 points."

Akers Disappointed

By GREG THOMPSON
AP Sports Writer

DALLAS (AP) - Texas Coach Fred Akers says the Longhorns still have a claim to the national championship. But he means the team that went 11-0 this season, not the one that was butchered 38-10 Monday by Notre Dame in the Cotton Bowl. "This is not like us," said Akers, who guided the Longhorns to the No. 1 ranking late in October. "I am most disappointed in not showing them our best football team. We're much better than we showed today."

Meanwhile, Notre Dame Coach Dan Devine said he will be "very disappointed" if the Irish don't win the national title when the final Associated Press poll is released Wednesday morning.

"I'll probably be more disappointed than I've been in my whole life," said Devine, who counted the Cotton Bowl victory by the fifth-ranked Irish as the high point of his coaching career.

"We beat No. 1. What does that make us?" he added.

Asked if he thought Texas should be No. 1, Akers replied testily: "I still don't know of any team that has a better record than we do. What are you going to use to make that decision?"

Does defending that No. 1 ranking week-after-week have anything to do with it? I think it counts for something."

Monday's bowl results left the Irish, Texas, Penn State, Arkansas and Alabama with 11-1 records and possible claims to the No. 1 ranking.

"At least the team that beat us was a good one. Not everyone can say that," added Akers, possibly referring to Notre Dame's lone loss to a relatively weak Ole Miss team.

Devine, who had earlier said he would evaluate his coaching future after the Cotton Bowl, said he decided in the third quarter - when the Irish were in the process of soundly thumping Texas - to remain at Notre Dame.

"I decided I didn't want to do anything else but coach...and as long as I coached I want it to be at Notre Dame," said Devine, a target for early-season criticism. Later, Devine said he had not intended the remark to mean he planned to resign.

A brutal Irish defense forced Texas into three costly fumbles and three interceptions, and the Notre-Dame offense cashed in five times for four touchdowns and a field goal.

"I don't know what happened," said Texas quarterback Randy McEachern, who fumbled the ball twice and threw the three interceptions. "We just didn't play our best at all. Our fumbles and interceptions just killed us."

"We made a lot of mistakes, but I guess that's way it goes," said Heisman Trophy winner Earl Campbell. He was largely neutralized by the Irish defense even though he gained 116 yards in 29 carries.

Notre Dame quarterback Joe Montana said the Irish - with guard Ernie Hughes working on Texas' Outland Trophy-winning defensive tackle Brad Shearer - controlled the game at the line of scrimmage.

"I felt we controlled the line of scrimmage from the beginning," said Montana. "I only remember getting knocked down once or twice."

"I think they underestimated our whole line," said defensive end Ross Browner. "I think they thought we were just some slacks or something."

"We thought that if we could control the line we could control the game," added tight end Ken MacAfee. "Of course, we feel we're No. 1. We beat the No. 1 team decisively, by 28 points."

Woody Says Tide Best in Nation

By AUSTIN WILSON
AP Sports Writer

NEW ORLEANS (AP) - Ohio State Coach Woody Hayes hedged in the wake of a 35-6 defeat by Alabama in the Sugar Bowl, then conceded, "On the basis of what I saw today, they would be No. 1."

Alabama went into Monday's game ranked third. Ohio State was eighth. Fifth-ranked Notre Dame upset top-ranked Texas 38-10 in the Cotton Bowl and second-ranked Oklahoma went down 31-6 to sixth-ranked Arkansas in the Orange Bowl. Michigan, ranked one notch ahead of Notre Dame in the final poll of the regular season, bowed 27-20 to the 13th-ranked Washington in the Rose Bowl.

That left Alabama the highest-ranked survivors, but Coach Bear Bryant refused to say his team should inherit the No. 1 spot, ducking the question in post-game comments and declining to grant an interview this morning.

Hayes, at first reluctant to fuel what was obviously going to be a controversy, said after the game. "I don't know who should be No. 1. I haven't seen those other teams. Alabama played a fine game, although I don't know how well we played. They just outplayed us in every department."

When the question was put to him again, he was more direct. "I don't vote, but on the basis of what I saw today, they would be No. 1. You couldn't ask a team to do more to us than they did," he said.

Alabama quarterback Jeff Rutledge, voted the game's outstanding player, said he held lingering hopes for a national championship.

"I think we have a shot at it," he said. "We'll be disappointed if we don't get it."

After a scoreless first quarter, Alabama took a 21-0 lead on a 1-yard run by Tony Nathan and touchdown passes of 27 yards and three yards by Rutledge. The first scoring pass was to reserve wide receiver Bruce Bolton, the second to tight end Rick Neal. Rutledge also hit Nathan with a pass for a two-point conversion that made up for a missed extra point kick.

Ohio State scored at the beginning of the fourth quarter on a 38-yard pass from Rod Gerald to flanker Jim Harrell. Alabama then put the game away with a 1-yard touchdown run by Major Ogilvie and a 5-yard scoring burst by Tony Davis.

Before the game, attention centered on the first meeting of Bryant and Hayes, the two winningest major college coaches still active. Bryant has won 273 games in 33 seasons; Hayes has won 231 in 32 years.

After his victory Monday, Bryant again said two much had been made of the Hayes-Bryant confrontation.

"This game had nothing to do with how good a coach I am or how bad a coach I am he said.

"It had nothing to do with how good a coach Woody is or how bad Woody is.

"Woody is a great coach - and I ain't bad."

Wildcats No. 1

By The Associated Press
The No. 1 spot in college football may be in question, but there's no doubt about who's on top in college basketball.

The University of Kentucky, 8-0 after Saturday's 73-68 victory over highly-regarded Notre Dame, received all 32 first-place votes and a total of 640 points to retain first place in the weekly basketball balloting announced Monday.

North Carolina, which raised its record to 10-1 with three victories last week, retained second place with 549 points in the weekly poll of a nationwide panel of sports writers and broadcasters.

Arkansas, 10-0, winner of both its games last week, held third place with 491 points.

Defending national champion Marquette, which also won twice last week to boost its record to 7-1, climbed one notch to fourth place with 421 points while Notre Dame, 7-2 after its loss to Kentucky, slipped from fourth to fifth with 356 points.

Indiana State, 8-0, remained in sixth with 321 points and UCLA, 9-1, moved up from eighth to seventh with 308 points. Each won its only game last week.

Syracuse, Nevada-Las Vegas and Louisville completed the Top Ten. Syracuse, 10-1 after a pair of victories last week, rose from 10th place to eighth with 205 points; Nevada-Las Vegas, 13-0 after also winning two games last week, remained in ninth with 198 points, and Louisville, 7-2 after splitting its two games, dropped three places to 10th with 147 points.

All records are through games of Sunday, Jan. 1.

team and can play with anyone in the nation," Holtz said. "In my mind we are No. 1, there's no doubt about it. Even the Knights of Columbus sent me a telegram telling me we should be No. 1. Bring on the winner of the Dallas-Denver game."

The outcome was a vindication of sorts for Holtz in the wake of his controversial suspensions of Cowins, No. 1 receiver Donny Bobo and running back Michael Forrest. "It was a tough week, a long week," he said, obviously referring not only to the suspensions but also to a reported boycott by several other players which never materialized. "Many times I wished I hadn't had to do it but I've never thought about changing it. They didn't break any criminal rules, just my rules."

Arkansas' first two touchdowns came on 1-yard runs by Sales and quarterback Ron Calcagni in the opening period following Oklahoma fumbles. Steve Little booted a 32-yard field goal in the third period. Sales ran 4 yards for another score to make it 24-0 and Barnabas White scampered 20 yards to end the deluge with 1:05 remaining to play.

Meanwhile, Arkansas' defense held Oklahoma, the nation's No. 1 rushing team, to 230 yards on the ground, almost 100 below its average - the Razorbacks added insult to injury by gaining 317 themselves - and blanked the Sooners until backup quarterback Dean Blevins tossed an 8-yard pass to Victor Hicks on the first play of the final period.

After Arkansas scored its final touchdown, Holtz hugged several players and told them, "You know I love you all and I wouldn't do anything I didn't think was in your best interests."

Sales, who netted 77 yards in the first half - his best complete game during the regular season was 71 yards - broke the Orange Bowl rushing mark on his final carry, a 35-yard burst to the Oklahoma 29 that set up White's touchdown.

Moments earlier, Holtz asked an aide how many yards Sales needed for the record. Then he called Calcagni over and said, "Tell him to suck it up and get that record."

Sales followed orders. "I thought I probably had 100 yards, but I never thought of 200," he said. "The line blocked the best I've seen. They were just blowing the holes open for me."

"I knew how everybody thought of us before the game but we never thought of ourselves as underdogs."

Hereford Visits Caprock Tonight

The Hereford Whitefaces will open 1978 on the road tonight as the Herd travels to Amarillo to meet the Caprock Longhorns in a non-district basketball match-up.

Hereford is 11-8 on the year, and is coming off a disappointing seventh-place finish at the Clovis Holiday Tournament last week.

Caprock (4-12) has met the Herd twice this year, having been beaten both times. Hereford took a 77-70 decision in the opening round of the Amarillo Tournament, and then escaped with a 63-62 win over the Longhorns in Hereford December 16.

Kelly Kitchens and Robert Lee Graves led the way for the Herd in the tourney game with 28 and 23 points respectively. Caprock's All-District guard Bruce Nipp scored 19 points in the loss, while Sherman Stewart added 18.

In the two teams' second meeting this season David Schumacher hit 16 points in leading the 'Faces to the one-point victory. Graves added 14 points in the win, while David Arney hit for 12. Kitchens was held under the 10-point mark for the first time on the year, scoring nine points in the game.

The Whitefaces are just two weeks away from opening District 4-4A play, and have games with Levelland and Clovis left on the slate before traveling to Lubbock to meet Coronado January 17.

THE LONGEST GAME

CEDAR RAPIDS, Iowa (AP) - Call it a college football Tale of Two Cities. Coe and Wartburg squared away in September for a game that eventually lasted 12 hours and 50 minutes and was played in two places.

The original site was Kingston Stadium in Cedar Rapids. Coe had a 7-2 lead at halftime when a terrific electrical storm hit the area. After a long delay, coaches and officials agreed to resume the game the following day at the same place. But seven inches of rain made that impossible.

The game was transferred to Iowa City and Kinick Stadium. Wartburg outscored Coe there, 8-0, to claim the final victory, 10-7.

IN THE KISSER

PITTSBURGH (AP) - Hans Wagner, still rated the greatest shortstop of all time, could be tough when he had to, as Ty Cobb found out during the World Series of 1909 between Pittsburgh and Detroit.

Cobb was famous for sliding into a base with flashing spikes, causing many infielders to shy away from a tag. But on this occasion, Cobb driving into second base on an attempted steal encountered Wagner. Hans shoved the ball into Ty's face to make the tag for the out.

"He split my lip for me," the thoroughly-impressed Cobb said

Author of Country Music Book Compares Barbra, Dolly

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) - The author of a book about women country music singers compares Dolly Parton to Barbra Streisand.

Joan Dew, author of "Singers and Sweethearts," says both Miss Parton and Miss Streisand "have an uncanny sense of what is right for them." "Streisand came to Hollywood and practically directed her first movie," said Mrs. Dew, who has written several magazine articles about Hollywood stars. "She stepped on a lot of toes."

"When Dolly wanted to renegotiate her contract, she got on a plane and flew to New York and made the deal herself. She is like a horse with blinders on. Music is her life; her career is everything."

Both have achieved individuality through ways that might have been drawbacks, she said.

"Dolly has outrageous clothes and wigs," she said. "Anyone else who tried to do that would look like a fake." "Streisand would have had her nose fixed, but she's made it work for her."

Mrs. Dew's book, published by Doubleday-Dolphin and the Country Music Magazine Press, has chapters on Loretta Lynn, Tammy Wynette, June Carter Cash and Tanya Tucker besides Miss Parton.

Her observations about them: "Dolly is the most fascinating personality. She has a quality of mystery about her and is one of the most complex women I've interviewed. I spent 15 years in Hollywood and I've met 90 percent of the celebrities and Dolly is among the three or four most fascinating...."

"Dolly has this secret higher calling - that all this is leading to something bigger. Her career is planned out; I think she'll cross over into other things like Streisand."

"Loretta is the unhappiest and loneliest; she lives in the back of her bus because she's on the road 20 days a month; she doesn't have the confidence or wherewithal - the sense of herself - to go to her husband or manager and say she wants to change her and life. She has to be told what to do. She's never had to make a decision. I don't think she knows how to check into a hotel."

"Loretta basically doesn't have a lot of confidence. She feels self-conscious with strangers. She's sort of naive; she always believes the best about things."

"But she has an uncanny street knowledge about things and is enormously resourceful; if you turned her out in the woods, she'd survive. "June is a wife and mother first and a performer second. But she's as ambitious as the rest."

"Tammy, like Dolly, is a very good businesswoman. She has a talent for surrounding herself with good people. When she's home, she does things women like to do, like run around Nashville. She and June lead the most normal lives."

"You hear a lot about the poverty Dolly and Loretta had in their early lives, but Tammy grew up in poverty, too."

"Tanya, for her age, is very mature. She's as professional a performer as you'll ever run into. She's like to get more involved in her management and she'd be a very good businesswoman. And she's a damn hard worker."

Commission. National adherence to the lower speed limit has been waning since 1976.

"I think justice has been done. They didn't have to commit the kidnapping. They had to plan it, and they did that. So they really took that calculated risk. I don't feel sorry for the consequences." -Assistant Attorney General for Alameda County, Richard Haugner, in regard to the three young men found guilty after having admittedly kidnapped 26 children aboard a schoolbus in Chowchilla, Calif., last year.

"The comfortable and well-to-do are no longer comfortable - or even well-to-do. It is not a question of money any longer. It is a question of fear. In many ways, the richer and more powerful we are, the more limited and caught by life's realities we become. It is the ultimate irony and the ultimate perverted revenge of this new breed of intellectual killers."

-Italian newspaper, Il Messaggero, on the murder of Carlo Casalegno, editor of La Stampa.

"Make no mistake about it, this is a day of victory. It is here, on these densely populated plains, so often ravaged by flood, famine and war, that smallpox had its most tenacious roots... We have signed the death certificate of smallpox in Asia." -Dr. Halidun Mahler, head of the World Health Organization, claiming that the worst form of smallpox has been eradicated.

"It's a long time since torture has taken place in our country...Some people have been executed, naturally. But they were duly judged, and according to the court they merited that sentence...for murder and for terrorist activities...some of them for high treason." -The Shah of Iran, denying charges of political torture by Iranian secret police, that have been made by such groups as Amnesty International and the International Commission of Jurists.

The 5 Affecting Forces

WASHINGTON - I usually write about current developments, or at least the near-term future. But this time, I'm going to set aside my Paul Revere suit and don the robes of a Delphic Oracle to peer into the misty distance.

What influences are likely to shape our economy and society from five years ahead on out to the turn of the century? What are the really enduring trends, the things we can reasonably count on?

Excluding world war, collisions with heavenly bodies, or the arrival of an interplanetary trade mission, our economists foresee five significant economic trends:

1) Slower growth. In the past, our economy has expanded at about 4.5 percent a year. We probably won't be able to keep that up much longer. Growth may drop down to a rate as low as 2.5 percent.

There are three reasons for this prediction: First, "service industries" (such as government, health care, transportation, entertainment) are becoming dominant, and new technology does not provide the same dramatic increases in productivity in these industries that it has provided in the manufacturing and extractive industries. Second, government policy increasingly encourages consumption at the expense of savings; a lower level of savings results in less capital being available to invest for improved productivity. And third, the "baby bust" means a smaller workforce. Some of our past growth has come from growth in the workforce.

The implications of a slower rate of economic growth are more serious than the few percentage points difference in the figures indicates. When the pie gets larger each year, it is possible to give a bigger slice to previously deprived groups without having to give a smaller piece to anyone else. Thus, everyone is reasonably happy. But if the pie doesn't grow much, then giving more to group "A" means taking some from group "B." That is a formula for rising social tension and disruption.

2) An aging population. Because of the declining birth rate, the average age of the population is increasing. Five years ago it was 27. Now it is up to 29. It will go up to 37 in the decade ahead. Since older populations tend to be more conservative, this trend may offset some of the disruptive pressures of a lower growth rate.

Two other probable labor force developments are worthy of note.

Women will play a more important - and a more equal - role in the future, a fact that will compensate partly for the workforce effects of a lower birth rate. And, we will probably continue to take part of our productivity gains in leisure time rather than a higher monetary income. In other words, the length of the work week might get shorter.

3) International trade will become more important to us. The economies of the world are growing increasingly interdependent and nothing short of a major disaster is going to change that. While our levels of imports (and exports) will increase overall, this will not be equally true of all commodities and products. Imports of both fuel and automobiles will probably decline - in relative terms - somewhat by the turn of the century. On the other hand, imported capital - that is, foreign investment in the U.S. - will almost certainly increase.

4) Inflation will continue. Inflation is useful to a government. It permits the government to increase its revenues automatically. Thus, the politicians have more money to hand out (for which they get credit at the polls) without suffering the blame for raising taxes.

Thanks to the progressive nature of our income tax, an inflation rate of 6 percent a year (which is likely) increases government revenues by $10 billion a year as people are pushed into higher tax brackets. Conversely, anything less than a $10 billion tax cut every year means that the government is gaining on us.

5) The government will grow larger and more powerful. In 1933, the federal, state and local governments took about 13 percent of our output in taxes. By 1940 it was 17 percent. In 1950 it was 19 percent, then 21 percent in 1960, and 28 percent in 1970. Now, the figure is 35 percent. At the present rate of increase, the tax take alone will amount to over 50 percent of our total income by 1990, or perhaps even earlier.

But that's just taxes. The growth of government regulation has been even more rapid, and regulation imposes huge hidden "taxes" on the economy. Business must pay for whatever is necessary to comply with the rules, and these costs are inevitably passed along in prices.

I don't want this last prediction to come true. But it will, unless a majority of us realize that our need for protection from the government is becoming greater than our need for protection by the government.

What people are saying...

President Carter

"This is the first year of what you could call the post Watergate presidency. Expectations are very high...Jimmy Carter is almost exquisitely sensitive to public opinion... If you're asking whether we're alarmed, the answer is 'We are not.'"

-Mark Siegel, Deputy Assistant to the President, responding to recent assessments by the media that President Carter is losing his popularity.

"Now we are told that the situation is great, that not much needs to be done. Frankly, anybody who believes that, I think, believes in the tooth fairy."

-Sen. William Proxmire (D-Wis.) disagreeing with bank officials who said that the nation's banking system and its regulatory mechanisms were essentially sound.

"In the past, nuclear targeting has been done by military planners who have basically emphasized the efficient destruction of targets. But targeting should not be done in a political vacuum. Some targets are of greater psychological importance to Moscow than others, and we should begin thinking of how to use our strategic forces to play on these concerns."

-A White House official in reference to the White House's ordering the Defense Department to conduct a major review of contingency plans for waging nuclear war against the Soviet Union.

"Enforcing the (55 mile-an-hour speed limit) can be likened to enforcing prohibition."

-Walter M. Friel, director of the Washington Traffic

Carter Urges Letter To Indian Leaders

NEW DELHI, India (AP) - President Carter, unaware his voice was being taped by a radio technician, told Secretary of State Cyrus R. Vance on Monday that a "cold and very blunt" letter should be sent to Indian leaders as a result of a sharp disagreement over nuclear safeguards.

Indian officials later insisted the split was not serious. But the president's unguarded remarks, in which he said Indian Prime Minister Morarji Desai had been "pretty adamant" on the issue, nearly overshadowed the other events on the second day of Carter's visit to New Delhi.

Those included a major speech to a special session of the Indian Parliament and a ceremonial visit to a monument to the late independence leader Mohandas K. Gandhi.

The president flies to Saudi Arabia on Tuesday, followed by stops in Egypt, France and Belgium to complete his seven-nation, nine-day tour.

In the address to Parliament, Carter declared that India's successes since winning independence from Britain in 1947 prove that to achieve economic and social progress a developing country need not accept authoritarian or totalitarian rule.

"India has forged her vast mosaic of humanity into a single nation that has weathered many challenges to survival both as a nation and as a democracy," Carter said from the days of the tile-domed circular hall. "This is surely one of the greatest political achievements of this or any century."

The members of Parliament showed their approval of the 32-minute speech by interrupting it 13 times - applauding, pounding on their desks and stamping their feet.

The rift that developed during a private Carter-Desai meeting involved U.S. demands for safeguards against India's use of American-supplied nuclear fuel for weapons.

At a picture-taking session before a late meeting with Desai, an American radio technician placed a long "boom" microphone between the president and Vance. The 81-year-old Desai was sitting across a table from them. Neither Carter nor Vance was aware of the presence of the microphone.

"He's pretty adamant about the nuclear fuel thing," Carter whispered to Vance, reviewing the earlier Desai meeting. "I told him I would authorize transfer of fuel now... it didn't seem to make an impression on him."

"When we get back, I think we ought to write him another

'Too Tall' Too Much For Stunned Vikes

BY GREG THOMPSON
AP Sports Writer
DALLAS (AP) - Surely you remember Ed "Too Tall" Jones. He's a quiet, towering fellow who hasn't been heard from very much lately. It seems he's been playing in the shadow of colorful All-Pro Harvey Martin.

Jones, once highly-touted when he was the first player drafted in 1974, has chosen the playoffs to emerge as a force in a smothering defense that has helped propel the Dallas Cowboys into the Super Bowl. The hulking 6-9, 265-pound Jones forced one fumble, snuffed out a screen pass by dropping the receiver in his tracks, had a quarterback sack and led Dallas tacklers Sunday as the Cowboys crushed Minnesota 23-6 to gain a chance at the National Football League title. "Too Tall played as well as we've seen him play," said stony-faced Minnesota Coach

Bud Grant. "It was nice to watch. He was making some big plays for us," said equally stony Dallas Coach Tom Landry, who had watched Jones have one of his best games in Dallas' first round playoff victory over Chicago. In a more colorful vein, Dallas linebacker Thomas "Hollywood" Henderson said, "Too Tall was just crashin' and hittin'." At his size, he can cover half the field.

"Ed was the defensive catalyst out there," said Charlie Waters. "So much always has been expected of him. He came into the league and was such a physical specimen that everybody thought he'd work miracles. "He's played well for us but today (Sunday) he became somewhat of the dominant factor everybody thought he could be," added Waters. "If Ed plays like he has the last two games, he should be All-World."

Jones' performance Sunday, one of his best as a pro, came against the Vikings' perennial All-Pro tackle Ron Yary. "I knew I had to play one of my best games of the year against Yary or I'd look like an

Ed has just come alive," said Martin. "That takes away the pressure Randy White and I were getting at the end of the season. Other teams can't just worry about us when Ed's really flyin' in from the other side."

The flashy Martin, who came into his own this year with a team record 23 quarterback sacks, dominated the Cowboy defensive line along with powerful Randy White.

Line Protection Keyed Bronco Victory

By JOHN MOSSMAN
AP Sports Writer

DENVER (AP) - They said the steel goalposts at Mile High Stadium were too sturdy to be tore down by aroused fans. But, then, few had counted on the Oakland Raiders being toppled, either.

So, while enterprising fans in the parking lot were dissecting the goalposts and selling one-foot sections for $50 apiece, the Oakland Raiders took a lonely flight back to the West Coast - dethroned as National Football League champions. It is the upstart Denver Broncos, not the Raiders, who will travel to New Orleans for Super Bowl XII against the Dallas Cowboys on Jan. 15.

Denver's 20-17 victory over Oakland in the American Football Conference championship game here Sunday was but another electrifying moment in the Broncos' incredible season.

A team which had never even reached the playoffs in its 17 previous seasons now finds itself playing in the Super Bowl. Craig Morton, who has been there before, nonetheless called the Broncos' victory "probably the greatest thing that has ever happened to me." Morton, rescued from pro football's scrapheap when he was traded from the New York Giants to Denver last spring, has had a brilliant season, but barely made it into Sunday's game. Morton had a barely bruised left hip which didn't respond to treatment, and he spent most of the week prior to the game in the hospital rather than on the practice field. The Broncos kept the injury a secret, but there was no doubt about the severity of the injury when Morton hobbled onto the playing field.

Coach Red Miller said the decision that Morton would play was made during pregame warmups. "Craig told me, 'Hey, we've come this far, let's go,'" said Miller. But it was touch-and-go on the field. Denver's offensive linemen were told that one good shot from a Raider defender, and Morton would be through. "They knew I was hurting and they just did everything they could to protect me," said

Morton. He was sacked only once, and his two touchdown passes to Haven Moses highlighted the victory. Miller said the pass protection afforded by the offensive line was the key to the triumph. "The line played an outstanding game," he said. "If we hadn't had pass protection, we couldn't have beaten them."

Now Morton goes against his former team, Dallas, where he played for 9 1/2 seasons. The Broncos bowed to the Cowboys 14-6 in the regular-season finale, but Morton played only the first series of the game in which both sides appeared to be merely going through the motions.

Generally the slips are unsigned and the winners remain nameless, cashing the money through a bank. The second highest win in Totocalcio, $1 million, was recorded in 1975 in a small central Italian town and the winner remained anonymous.

DALLAS (AP) - Notre Dame swept the most valuable player awards for offense and defense in the 1978 Cotton Bowl Monday after its 38-10 rout of previously unbeaten and No. 1-ranked Texas.

Tailback Vegas Ferguson, who scored three touchdowns, was named the most valuable offensive player, while Irish middle linebacker Bob Golic, who made 17 tackles, was picked as the top defensive player.

Huskies Earn Respect

BY LARRY PALADINO
AP Sports Writer

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) - Coach Don James and his 13th-ranked Washington Huskies - like comedian Rodney Dangerfield - felt they hadn't been getting any respect. They've got it now. But so does fourth-ranked Michigan, even though the Wolverines were upset by Washington 27-20 Monday in the 64th Rose Bowl football game.

"We never quit. We came back like champions. I'm still proud," said Michigan quarterback Rick Leach, who nearly brought his Big Ten championship back from a 24-0 deficit with some slick passing and team leadership.

The Wolverines didn't get a halftime talk from Coach Bo Schembechler, but it looked like it after the fired up way they played the final two quarters. They went into the game a 14-point favorite.

"We don't need speeches," left-handed junior Leach said. "We know what it takes to win football games. We don't need think we belonged in the Rose Bowl. They thought we'd come down here and just lie down. We knew we were a good team and we never lost our faith in ourselves."

Wide receiver Spider Gaines, who grabbed four Moon passes for 122 yards and one touchdown, echoed his teammates.

"We thought we could beat 'em, but not many other people seemed to think so. We thought we had the players. Our coaches called a beautiful game, had a beautiful game plan. They let it all hang out."

James, once an assistant at Michigan under Coach Bump Elliott, said: "Whenever you're rated a severe underdog you're to go out and get respect."

They got it early, then hung on to it with two interceptions inside the Huskies' 10-yard line in the last two minutes.

"We knew in the second half we'd have to come out smoking," said Michigan's defensive back and co-captain Dwight Hicks. "We did. Unfortunately, time just ran out."

Some people didn't even was the biggest vote-getter of all, named on all but two of the ballots cast. Completing the first team are guard Joe DeLamielleure of Buffalo, defensive tackle Cleveland Elam of San Francisco, cornerback Roland Lawrence of Atlanta and kick returner Billy "White Shoes" Johnson of Houston.

VANCOUVER, British Columbia (AP) - More than 1,000 persons, including a 67-year-old blind grandmother, braved the 40-degree waters off English Bay in the annual Polar Bear swim.

Ivy Granston, of Vancouver, received a special badge marking her 50th appearance in the 58th annual swim, held Sunday. Rick Herd of Vancouver also received an award for swimming 100 meters.

The youngest person to enter the water in the 30-degree weather was a 5-year-old. The oldest was 81.

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) - Fourth-seeded Robert Van't Hof of Southern Cal captured the men's singles title as Californians dominated play in the USTA National 21 and Under Indoor Tennis Championships.

Van't Hof defeated No. 2 seed John Paley of UCLA 6-4, 3-6, 6-3, Monday at Verderbilt as the six-day tournament ended.

Dallas, Denver Have Four All-Pros Each

NEW YORK (AP) - The Dallas Cowboys and Denver Broncos, conference champions and the two winningest teams in the National Football League, and the Oakland Raiders, defending Super Bowl champions, placed four starters apiece on The Associated Press All-Pro team announced today.

In a reflection of the season, in which the American Conference dominated the National Conference, there are 16 AFC members and nine from the NFC on the All-Pro first team selected by a panel of 84 sports writers and broadcasters, three from each NFL city. That 16-9 ration holds up on the second team, too.

The Cowboys, the NFC's top team at 12-2 during the regular season, have wide receiver Drew Pearson, defensive end Harvey Martin, safety Cliff Harris and placekicker Efen Herrera on the squad. The Broncos, the AFC's best at 12-2, put defensive end Lyle Alzado, outside linebacker Tom Jackson, middle linebacker Randy Gradishar and safety Bill Thompson on the roster. Oakland's first-team players are tight end Dave Casper, Jackie Art Shell, guard Gene Upshaw and punter Ray Guy.

The Miami Dolphins, who weren't expected to be playoff contenders this season but who battled Baltimore and New England down to the wire, and the Pittsburgh Steelers, who squeezed into the playoffs on the final Sunday, each have three representatives.

Miami's are quarterback Bob Griese, wide receiver Nat Moore and center Jim Langer. Pittsburgh's are running back Franco Harris, defensive tackle Joe Greene and outsider linebacker Jack Ham.

The only other team with more than one representative is St. Louis, with offensive tackle Dan Dierdorf and cornerback Roger Wehrli.

Walter Payton is Chicago's only first-team player - but the Bears' sensational running back
