

BRITAIN MOVES TO HALT GERMAN SEA TRAFFIC

Cold Wave Brings A Low Of 29 Here

Rising Temperatures May Save Vegetation; Other Sections Suffer

Big Spring and West Texas took another hit at spring today after chilling winds fresh off the Rockies ran temperatures to 50 year April lows in some sections.

The U. S. weather bureau at the airport reported a minimum of 29 degrees Friday morning, but fears for fruit and vegetation abated as temperatures rose rapidly during the day. The low reading was not unusual for April, merely running the string of consecutive sub-freezing April to five years.

However, the thermometer fluctuated between freezing and sub-freezing readings for eight hours running, enough to nip tender growths on trees.

In the Panhandle, the cold snap struck with greater severity. Amarillo had 13 degrees, coldest April in 50 years, and it was feared wheat, under an inch blanket of snow, may have been damaged to an extent while fruit was considered lost or seriously hurt. Vegetation turned black.

Borger reported 13 degrees with light snow. Budded trees and fruit were killed at Childress despite half an inch of snow. Plainview had 29 degrees and a damaged fruit crop. Pampa had 15 degrees and half an inch of snow. Lubbock reported 24 degrees and some freeze damage. Abilene's 23 degrees was the coldest on record for the date.

Callahan county, West Texas' largest fruit producing county, reported an almost total loss of crop and frost was feared again tonight to threaten surviving apples and pecans. San Angelo had 20 degrees with little damage and Brownwood escaped with 33 degrees.

In northeast and central Texas, Paris had 29-degree weather with possible heavy damage to tomato plants. Denton had the same temperature and Corsicana and Waco had 32 degrees. Dallas reported 31 but no damage due to winds preventing frost. Other points reporting were: Wichita Falls 30, McKinney 29, Austin 26, Fort Arthur 45, Tyler 33.

As the freeze cases in the Panhandle tonight, fears of frost were due to mount in central and south Texas. However, storm warnings along the coast from Brownsville to Florida were lowered as winds abated.

Survivors include his widow, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Spence, Brownwood; and two sisters, Mrs. Ada Holt, Brownwood, and Mrs. Homer Long, San Antonio.

Mishap Fatal To Oil Assn. Executive

H. R. Spence, 34, of Midland, executive secretary of the Permian Basin association, was fatally injured early Friday when his car went out of control in downtown Odessa.

He succumbed at 2:55 a. m. in an Odessa hospital of a fractured skull, two hours after the mishap. Funeral services were set for 10 a. m. Saturday at Midland with the Rev. Cliff M. Epps, Colorado City Methodist pastor, and the Rev. W. C. Hinds, Midland Methodist minister, in charge.

Spence, well known in this section of West Texas, was formerly manager of the Colorado City chamber of commerce. He resigned that post last year to direct activities of the newly formed Permian Basin oil and gas unit. He had spent the major portion of last week in Big Spring directing an associational membership drive here.

According to friends, he had been to McCamey Thursday and met with El Paso trade trip delegates in Odessa. As he entered the business district at Odessa, his car swerved one driven by A. W. Branson, oil supply house manager, bounded into the air, rammed a parked pickup truck. Impact of the blow flung Spence from the car, striking his head on a board walk.

Survivors include his widow, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Spence, Brownwood; and two sisters, Mrs. Ada Holt, Brownwood, and Mrs. Homer Long, San Antonio.

Dallas Attorney Also Turns Down Court Appointment

DALLAS, April 12 (AP)—Two men already have been appointed by Gov. W. Lee O'Daniel to the chief justiceship of the state supreme court and both have declined. The office was vacated through death of Justice C. M. Curtis.

Yesterday Attorney General Gerald C. Mann said he would not take the place.

Early today Eugene P. Locke, Dallas lawyer, issued a statement saying he had "come reluctantly to the conclusion that it will be impossible for me to accept." The attorney told the governor he was "deeply sensible of the great honor which you have offered to me."

Declares Annexation Of Austria Complete

BERLIN, April 12 (AP)—Adolf Hitler wrote this today a chapter of contemporary history by declaring the reunion of Austria and Germany complete.

The complete absorption came when the commissioner for Austria, Josef Buerckel, reported that the articulation of Austrian administrative machinery into the German system—a process which began with the annexation of March 12, 1938—was finished.

Buerckel consequently was relieved of his duties as commissioner but remained reichstatthalter (governor) of the Vienna district.

Austria has been divided into six districts, each headed by a governor.

Rail Bombing Brings Threat Of Reprisals

Berlin Announces Station Attacked By British Planes

BERLIN, April 12 (AP)—DNE, German official news agency, reported today that British warplanes had bombed a German railway station in Schleswig-Holstein and intimated that reprisals might be expected if such bombings were repeated.

The agency said the raid had given "a new aspect to the war."

Out of Combat Area

The identity of the town was not disclosed, but DNE said the tracks had been broken in one place and the station was slightly damaged.

The news agency called the raid the first allied attempt since the beginning of the war to damage transportation outside the active combat area.

(Schleswig-Holstein is located in the northern part of Germany near the Danish border, across which German troops marched earlier in the week.)

"If a repetition of this act should show it is part of a systematic new policy on the part of the British," DNE said, "the German air force will face the new situation."

Announcement of the British raid was made as naval military commanders boasted of new successes against allied naval and air forces attempting to shake loose Germany's tightening grip on Norway.

Negotiations with King Haakon for formation of a new Norwegian government were continued even as German troops pressed farther into his country.

A German communiqué asserted that German warplanes had severely damaged a British aircraft carrier and a cruiser 125 miles northwest of the Norwegian port of Trondheim, now in Nazi hands, and said that light units of the British navy had been repulsed while attempting to enter Trondheim fjord.

British air raids on Trondheim and Stavanger likewise were beaten off and one Vickers Wellington bomber was shot down, the communiqué asserted.

The German-occupied area at Narvik was "expanded" inland to Elvenes without resistance, the high command reported, and DNE added that a number of Norwegian troops had been disarmed in the advance.

German troops also were reported to have reached Drammen, about 25 miles east of Oslo, and Eidsvoll, about 40 miles northeast of Oslo.

"From hour to hour the German positions in Norway and Denmark are becoming stronger," authorized sources said.

Occasional clashes with Norwegian troops were acknowledged, but they were described as of no military significance, and authorities in Oslo were said to be cooperating with German military officials.

To Remove Rate Differentials On Interstate Freight

EL PASO, April 12 (AP)—Shippers hailed as a long-sought victory today an agreement by several southwestern railroads to eliminate differential freight rates on interstate traffic to El Paso and Texas points.

The agreement came after two days of stormy sessions by shippers and representatives of the railroads entering El Paso—the Santa Fe, Southern Pacific and Texas and Pacific.

In a memorandum, railroad executives agreed that "the railroads represented here shall promptly initiate proposals and diligently follow up such proposals so as to bring about as early as possible the elimination of differential rates from, to, between and through all points in Texas on interstate traffic."

"The spirit of this paragraph is to abolish from all interstate rate differentials as such."

POLICEMAN LINKED IN PROBE OF HOUSTON BURGLARY RING

HOUSTON, April 12 (AP)—Police Sergeant J. C. Nicholson was charged with burglary today as the city widened its investigation of an alleged burglary ring which included members of the police department.

Criminal complaints also were lodged against two men in connection with one of the burglaries involved. A patrolman was known to be under investigation, but no charge had been filed.

SCENE OF SEA BATTLE—The biggest sea battle since Jutland in 1916 was reported from Stockholm in which portions of the British fleet drove through the Skagerrak and attacked ten big German troopships escorted by units of the navy. The arrow indicates the approximate path of the British ships. The engagement was off Marstrand.

Bank Robbery Suspect Slain

BEAUMONT, April 12 (AP)—Texas officers wiped the slate clean today for F. J. (Red) Goleman, alleged bank robber, slayer and kidnaper who fell mortally wounded in a blast of gunfire when he attempted to resist arrest near Kountze, northwest of here.

Deputy Sheriff J. Howard Allen of Jefferson county identified the man, cornered in a corn crib at a farm house, as the red-headed bomb-jumper with the $12,000 hold-up of the Hull State bank.

The shooting occurred late last night when Hardin and Jefferson county officers trailed Goleman through the big thicket area to the farm home where he was sighted in the yard.

Goleman took refuge in the corn crib and when ordered to come out opened fire.

Sheriff Miles D. Jordan of Hardin county and Sheriff W. W. Richardson and Deputies Homer French, Edgar Poole and Allen of Jefferson county participated in the gunbattle with Goleman.

He was indicted as Corpus Christi on a charge of murder of "Four Eyes" Brown early last year. Brown's body was found floating in the Nueces river, Goleman skipped bond of $5,000 in that case.

Goleman was identified as one of two men who last summer walked into the Hull bank, locked two women employees in a vault and escaped with $12,000.

Arrested a few days later, Goleman led officers to a portion of the loot but refused to name his companion.

Francis Elva Smith is now on trial in Liberty on a charge of being Goleman's accomplice.

Goleman, placed under $5,000 bond and released, jumped the bond. He allegedly kidnaped and robbed Chester Lockley, Beaumont taxi driver, taking his car after shooting and beating Lockley. The automobile was later found.

Trade Act Is Signed By FD

WASHINGTON, April 12 (AP)—President Roosevelt signed the reciprocal trade extension act today, providing for three more years of executive authority to bargain for foreign trade.

The chief executive brought his pens into use for his signature on the Secretary of State, who has made the trade agreement a keystone of foreign policy, and one each for Senator Harrison (D-Miss) and Representative Dougherty (D-N.C.), the men who shepherded the controversial proposal through congress.

Souvenirs of one of the hardest battles of this session of congress, the pens served as reminders of the hard campaigning in which administration forces beat off all attempts to tack on restrictions or require congressional sanction before agreements could become effective.

Had not the extension been approved—final congressional action came April 5 on a 43-37 vote in the senate—the authority for President Roosevelt and Secretary of State to make the reciprocal agreements would have expired June 12. As it is, the power was extended to June 12, 1943.

MAN IS RETURNED HERE FOR TRIAL

Douglas Lavers, under indictment here on two felony counts, was returned from San Angelo Thursday to face trial in the 70th district court in the term beginning Monday.

Lavers was brought back by Carl Mercer, constable, after he had been acquitted on a theft from person charge at San Angelo. Deputy A. J. Merrick said he was charged here with car theft and with forgery.

Garner Dinner To Be Tonight

A final appeal for 150 Big Spring business and professional men went out from the chamber of commerce Friday afternoon in advance of the Garner good will dinner set for 7:30 p. m. in the school gymnasium of that community.

Matt Harrington, assistant C-O manager, urged all who have reservations to call at the chamber office between 6:30 p. m. and 7 p. m. in order to assure everyone of a way to Garner.

Shine Phillips, who served as master of ceremonies at a similar function a year ago, was to preside again at that capacity. Ted Groehl, chamber president, will preside. L. H. Thomas will extend the welcome address and Grover Dunham, Big Spring mayor, will respond.

A varied musical program had been arranged for the occasion with talent being furnished from Big Spring and Garner. The dinner is due to draw approximately 400, and is out of a series promoted by the chamber good will committee.

Nazi Vessels Said Bottled Up At Oslo

Trondheim Development Kept Cloaked In Secrecy

STOCKHOLM, April 12 (AP)—Seven German warships were reported in Norwegian waters today to be bottled up in Oslo's harbor and Norwegians, trying to seal their conquered capital within an iron ring, expected important action at any moment.

Warships Hidden

The Norwegian government announced by radio that the Germans elsewhere were masters of Kristiansand, on the south coast, Stavanger, on the southeast coast, Bergen, on the west coast, and Narvik, on the northern coast.

The situation at Trondheim remained hidden under military secrecy.

Five German warships, including a pocket battleship, were reported today off the port where British were said to have attacked by air and sea.

The Norwegians believed the warships hid in the narrow, deep bays of Trondheim fjord yesterday, for a Norwegian expedition sent to locate them reported no vessels were visible.

To the north British naval activity continued as Namsos, north of Trondheim, reported that two British destroyers this morning steamed along the coast outside the harbor of Folda fjord.

All highways to the east and northeast of Oslo were blocked by Norwegian defense forces, according to advices reaching here, and an effort was being made to weld a solid ring around the fallen capital.

A semi-circle already has been established running from Moss, 35 miles south of Oslo, to the east and thence north through Halden, Kongsvinger, Elverum and Gjøvik, the latter 60 miles north of Oslo.

To the northwest, strong formations were reported concentrated in valleys.

Elverum was destroyed by German air bombs last night, but the number of killed was relatively small as the civilian population had been ordered earlier to withdraw.

Home gused forces meanwhile were being organized and women were called to labor duty.

Advices reaching Stockholm—the only Scandinavian capital free of German control—said the Germans occupying Trondheim had mined all bridges, apparently to forestall any assault by a British landing force.

The Germans were believed to have about 1,300 men in all at Trondheim.

(Although official British sources issued no word of landings in Norway to challenge the German occupation, reports persisted that British troops were preparing to fight for several strategic coastal points.)

RUSSIA TO CLOSE CONSULATE IN TIENTSIN

PEIPING, April 12 (AP)—Soviet Russia will close her Tientsin consulate next Friday, informed soviet sources said today, adding that this action probably represented Moscow's determination to have no diplomatic representation in areas controlled by the Japanese sponsored government of occupied areas in China.

Consulates at Shanghai and Kalgan already have been closed.

Non-Russian observers believed the consular withdrawals might be connected with a stronger soviet policy toward Japan.

DIES IN CHAIR

TUCKER PRISON FARM, Ark., April 12 (AP)—Otis Manning, 27-year-old negro, died in the electric chair here at 5:45 a. m. today for the holdup slaying of Jimmy Warren, Smackover Oil company employe, at Smackover in December, 1938.

REPORTS GIVEN OF LANDING OF BRITISHERS UNDER FIRE

LONDON, April 12 (AP)—Britain today received the story of what is believed to have been the only landing yet made by any British fighting men on the Norwegian coast.

Returning survivors of Wednesday's blazing battle at Narvik said that about 50 men of the British destroyer Hardy, which was wrecked and run aground in that battle, made a landing under fire of the German shore batteries, apparently determined to continue the fight.

MINES PLANTED IN VITAL WATERS; AIR ATTACKS EXTENDED

LONDON, April 12 (AP)—Amid reports of a raging war at sea along the far-flung Scandinavian front, and with new warplane successes, Britain today bolstered her air and navy drive against Nazi conquest of Norway with vast mine fields in waters vital to Germany's campaign.

British fliers ranging over the sea lanes from Germany's Baltic coast to Norway's Oslo fjord during the night were announced officially to have blown up a large ship, described as apparently an ammunition ship of about 3,000 tons, in the great belt of Denmark while further north they were believed to have damaged a 5,000-ton supply ship.

The admiralty gave notice of the mining of four areas in the North sea, the Skagerrak and the Kattegat, interpreted as a move to block German traffic between the North sea and the Baltic except through the Kiel Canal.

The mines were seen as a two-edged weapon against Germany—aimed at damming the sea-borne flow of men and munitions to aid the invasion of Norway and at preventing the German fleet now in Norwegian waters from returning to Germany.

The mined area touches Norwegian, Danish and German coasts and also territorial waters of Sweden and Netherlands, it was announced, but no mines are to be laid in channels extending to miles on both sides of certain points.

Naval sources explained that the fields covered the entire entrance to the Skagerrak and Kattegat and extended as far as the middle of the latter, the sea way between Sweden and Denmark.

Besides the attacks on German ammunition and supply vessels during the night, British fliers also were announced to have bombed a German seaplane base on the Baltic coast.

The ammunition ship was one of a line of eight ice-ten vessels and the official announcement said it "was blown up with such force that the attacking aircraft were rocked by the force of the explosion."

Darkness, it was said, kept the fliers from learning the true effect of the attack on the supply ship intercepted farther north.

The Norwegian port of Trondheim in whose deep fjord a naval battle was reported in progress, was picked by neutral experts as the most likely base for allied and Norwegian operations to drive the Germans from Norway.

An authoritative British source said there had been no major naval engagements in the Kattegat today.

Reports of heavy detonations heard in those waters, a naval official said, may have been due to depth charge explosions since there is no doubt that the Germans have made vigorous search for British submarines there.

It was understood that British submarines had been very active on the German supply ship routes between Germany and Norway.

Official sources today repeated yesterday's statement of the first lord of the admiralty, Winston Churchill, that British forces have made no landings along the Norwegian coast.

As British military bases, four other ports besides Trondheim were seen as possibilities, because they are on railroads.

They are Namsos, north of Trondheim; Andalsnes, on Romdalen fjord to the south; Narvik, in the Arctic; and Bergen, in the southwest.

Trondheim, however, was described as the best jump-off point as military strategists and British war office "brains" pored over maps to visualize a land campaign which must follow the present wide-open sea warfare between the British and German fleets.

SENTENCED FOR OPERATING A POLICY GAME

SAN ANTONIO, April 12 (AP)—Hersel Gray, charged by indictment with keeping and exhibiting a policy game, was convicted by a district court jury today and sentenced to two years in the penitentiary.

Gray testified he knew he was breaking the law, but believed it was only a misdemeanor. He also testified that he had paid substantial sums to city employes in expectation of preventing court prosecution.

NO BIDS OFFERED ON P. O. PROJECT

Bids for alteration and change on the Big Spring postoffice basement were not opened in Washington Friday morning as per schedule.

Reason: There were no bids. The public relations administration announced that the contract would be re-tendered and re-called later. Technical plans called for provision of appropriate additional offices in the post office basement at a cost of about $12,000.

Informed of the registrations, McEwen expressed pleasure and suggested that the city council further by selling a large number of registrations in advance of the convention start.

Meanwhile, Bentley established offices with the chamber of commerce. Clara Lively, WTCC chairman, was due here Friday afternoon to assist him in preparations for the convention.

The Blockade War

A final judgment cannot be pronounced. In view of the conflicting reports coming from various capitals of Europe, but there are strong indications that the power of the British fleet has been proved once again, and that what at first seemed like a daring stroke on the part of Adolf Hitler is turning into a boomerang for the nazis.

If the British naval victory in the North sea is as complete as London would have you believe, it would seem likely that the blockade of Germany will eventually be tighter than ever. Hitler probably made his move against Denmark and Norway in order to keep open his supply lines from the north, but if Britain cripples his fleet and takes charge of waters that once were considered neutral—those of Norway—those supply lines are due to be severed completely. The occupation of Norwegian towns thus becomes a hazardous undertaking, with defeat of German forces a probability.

Of course, in Denmark, Hitler has taken over some food stuffs that will be important. And the trend indicates that Adolf will have to turn next to Sweden if he holds his own in the northern theatre. If he manages to absorb those two countries—and Sweden is in position to receive less aid by the allies—he will have garnered needed items for the German cupboard.

If Sweden serves his purpose, rest assured Hitler will march there. No longer does he put up excuses of "oppressed German minorities," but he acts to serve his military aims.

The spread of war, then, has come about, and it may not stop. Belgium and the Netherlands very likely will be affected before the conflict in the North sea is terminated; and if that action is concluded with the allies holding the upper hand, you can turn your attention to the Balkans.

Hollywood Sights And Sounds

HOLLYWOOD—It was a crowded set, full of extras and workers, for "The New Moon." A big ship scene was readying when Jeanette MacDonald arrived, her billowy hoopskirt protected from the floor's dust by supporting attendants.

"I wanted to tell Buster Keaton the ham story," said Jeanette to Marie Blake, her sister, who was visiting, "but I couldn't—too many people—they would talk."

Ham story? "Oh, it's silly," said Jeanette. "Not really a story at all. Just a gag—the end is you slap the face of the person hearing it. And if I slapped Buster's face, before all these people, the story would get around that I was fighting him and being temperamental."

Jeanette was in her dressing room on the set, Jeanette and pink hoopskirt covering a long settee.

It's the people around who aren't "in" on the gag, that start the bad talk, said Jeanette. "Once on a Lubitsch set," she said, "Lili Damita and I framed a quarrel. We were tearing into each other—for Lubitsch's benefit, and he joined in, because he dearly loves a gag. The set was full of extras. By lunch-time it was all over the lot: Damita and MacDonald were fighting, carrying on frantically. So I don't have jokes any more."

And there was the time she kicked the chair. Somebody saw that, but the end of the story—the really amusing part—was missed.

"I was recording songs for a (W. S.) Van Dyke picture. Now I don't get mad at other people but I do get furious with myself when I think I've been stupid. That day, recording, I sang the wrong words and I got furious with myself. I kicked the chair in front of me, and it fell down. I said, 'I'm sorry, but I'm an idiot!' That was all of the story that got around—about MacDonald's temperament."

"The rest of it was really funny, and nobody heard it. I was starting to sing again, but Van Dyke said, 'Wait a minute!' He went out for an iron chair, had it nailed down to the floor, and then said, 'Now sing!' We all had hysterics, and I couldn't sing the rest of the day."

And could that be how the MacDonald-Eddy feud started, Miss M.?
 "We used to kid a lot, but now we don't dare kid any more—people got so they thought we meant it," said Jeanette, slyly. (Some still think they mean it.) Private opinion: Two singing stars, a popular team, are going to protect themselves in the clinches. If that's feuding, there'll never be an end to it.)
 "But you aren't temperamental, Miss M.?
 "I have my moments," she flashed back, going into a new scene. "Seriously, I don't think it's temperamental to 'stand up' for your rights, and I do that with the best of them. I call it 'temperamental' to take advantage of people who haven't any comeback. And I don't do that. Never!"

"Fetched pans show the Japanese war strains," says a late Tokyo advice. Kicking themselves for getting into it would cause this.—Senator Soper, R., N. H.

By Jean Randall

Chapter One
THE SHORTEST STREET
 Brenda, dismissing her taxicab, gazed about her incredulously. This the shortest street, that enchanted scene of Aunt Anne's girlhood! It could not be!

And yet it was, of course. There it stretched, only one block long, closed on the south by a small park, on the north by a rusty iron fence behind which moldered an old brick mansion, long deserted. Here were the three houses facing west, the seven smaller ones opposite which caught the morning sun. Ten homes... and Brenda knew by hearsay who lived in them all.

"But Dr. Wilson's has a conservatory, and the Van Ness's a fountain, and there's an enormous block of pure marble with Burnham carved on it in front of our place—"

Her dimmed thoughts jolted to a sudden stop. Here was a block with Burnham on it indeed; but it was neither large nor of marble. It was a dingy thing of chipped cement, slanted rakishly sideways perhaps by some skidding truck.

The girl's blue eyes traveled upward to the house where she expected to live for at least a year. Bewildered they identified this landmark and that, each specifically as Aunt Anne had mentioned, yet all so unbelievably small and shabby. The paint was peeling from the four porch pillars. The "great" bow windows upstairs were entirely unimpressive. The "formal planting of shrubbery" edging the walk from street to house was merely an unpruned mass of dusty green.

For a moment Brenda's heart faltered. She could not, she need not, climb the steps and ring the bell! No one had met her train in spite of the many letters Aunt Anne and Mrs. Rostetter had exchanged, or the telegram which heralded her actual arrival.

What neither aunt nor niece had realized was that more than twenty-five years had elapsed since the older woman had lived on the shortest street.

"I'll find a drugstore and telephone for a taxi," Brenda planned feverishly. "I'll go to a hotel until I discover the right sort of boarding house. Nothing will induce me to live in a neighborhood like this!"

But practical difficulties at once presented themselves. For instance, there was no drugstore in sight. The shortest street was a tiny island set in a sea of smart residences. And her trunk would arrive any minute. Besides...

The place sort of grew on you, the longer you looked at it, she admitted reluctantly. The windowpanes all shone in the late afternoon sun. There was a friendliness about the way the yards—one could not call them lawns—ran into one another. And there was the Van Ness's fountain, even if bone-dry; and the glassed-in clove next door might turn out to be the glamorous "conservatory" of legendary fame.

Her hesitant ring at the bell brought no answer. She pressed the button again and with emphasis. The front door stood open and through the screen she saw the square hall where Aunt Anne had "received" at her debut. Silence now seemed to emanate from the doorway.

plaid small doubled fists to the frame of the screen. Patience was not a Burnham virtue.

A chair creaked protestingly somewhere above. Footsteps sounded, an annoyed masculine voice spoke from the landing.

"We're taking all the magazines we can possibly read. And we don't want the Magie Dishcloth, any sort of broom or mop, or books on the care of children."

"That is fortunate," replied the new arrival coolly, "since I have none of those things to offer. Will you come down, please, and let me in? Or shall I admit myself? I am Miss Burnham."

A Welcome Of Sorts
 There was a short silence, then an appalled voice ejaculated softly: "Merciful cats!"

Footsteps clattered down the rest of the steps and a coatless young man stood before her, his soft shirt open at the throat, his thick hair standing wildly on end.

"Come in, come in!" he urged, holding wide the door. "My most abject apologies! But why didn't you let us know you were coming today?"

Brenda exploded. She was hot, tired, and hungry. This was, or had been before it was sold, her ancestral home. She had a right to expect a welcome of sorts.

"Us! Who is 'us'?" Mrs. Rostetter was notified by letter and by wire. What more does she expect?

"When?" Her listener took an involuntary backward step. This was a small young fury; but a pretty fury! Even in anger a pair of dimples played about the corners of her mouth, and the glint of her blue eyes almost but not quite distracted him from the dark brows knitted above. He inquired soothingly:

"Can I get you a glass of cold water, or something? And won't you sit down?"

going to faint, are you? You look mighty pale all of a sudden. I—I wouldn't know what to do if you did, you know," he babbled.

"Couldn't you tell me? Don't you upend the patient, or roll him over a barrel, or something?"

She began to laugh helplessly, found to her horror that the laughter was turning into sobs, and felt herself caught up in a pair of strong arms and borne rapidly up the stairs to be deposited on a bed.

"Water next, I suppose," muttered a distracted voice. "But do I force it between the lips, or splash it in her face?"

"You dare!" She jerked herself upright and put her hands to her disordered hair. Her hat had fallen off and revealed babyish chestnut curls curving her small head.

"It's because I had typhoid fever," she said, and wondered why she troubled to explain. "Is this my room?"

"I expect so. It's the only vacant one in the house so it ought to be, don't you think? But must you sit up? I could—inspiration visited him swiftly—"I could get you a cup of hot tea in practically no time at all!"

"Feed," she urged. "Make it iced. What is the matter?"

"Nothing. That is, it's only your—dimples. They sort of twinkle when you talk, don't they?"

Two Fights Already
 She sighed, having heard a good deal of comment on those dimples in the course of twenty years. Also they were continually defeating an earnestness of character. No editor would take her seriously when she said she wanted to be a real reporter and be assigned to prize fights and murders. She had sold one story to a magazine but when in response to a summons she had presented herself at the office the interview was a failure.

When the iced tea arrived, she sipped it forgivingly. This odd young man, she supposed, was trying to be kind. If only he'd go away now and let her rest! But he straddled one of the straight-backed chairs and began to talk.

Washington Daybook

WASHINGTON—The presidential primaries this year are generating political somph because for the first time in years they are big news.

To you and me and the men who put the news in the newspapers, these decisions are news and nothing more.

But to candidates they look like something else. To candidates they are precious advertising—free advertising that can't be bought with money.

It's this way:
 The presidential primary has been law in some states for a little over 30 years. In that time we have held eight presidential elections. In five of those elections the primaries had no more to do with picking the presidential candidates than the village half-wit.

ROOSEVELT I
 The first was 1908, when everybody knew Teddy Roosevelt was going to pick the republican candidate and his man would win. That's the way it turned out. The primaries had nothing at all to do with it. It was a convention job.

Came 1912. The primaries had a chance for the first time to register a clear-cut decision. And they did. Teddy Roosevelt whipped his former protege, Taft, in the primaries, and Wilson had the edge on the democratic side of the fence.

But the republican convention ignored the primary decision, picked Taft. Roosevelt, encouraged by the showing and the advertising he got in the primaries, ran as an independent. That won for Wilson. In short, the primaries played hob.

In 1916 Wilson was a cinch. The republican candidates, Hughes and Hiram Johnson, refused to enter a primary contest anywhere. Primaries, therefore, meant nothing, and Wilson was elected.

In 1920, all was confusion, and the primaries advertised no one candidate as a standout. In 1924 the standard was already already on hand—Coolidge. Both in 1920, and in '24 the primaries were as useless as an appendix.

HOOVER USED PRIMARIES
 But in 1928, Hoover made the primaries count for the first time after 1912. He ran in the primaries, and the headlines heralded him as a winner. And he was. Franklin D. Roosevelt worked it the same way in 1932. He entered the primaries after a carefully organized campaign in the primary states, and emerged a winner—a man advertised as a strong vote-getter a long way from his home state of New York.

In 1936 the primaries might well have been dispensed with in favor of a community taffy pull. It was Roosevelt, and all the primaries could do was confirm it.

On the democratic side, it's possible to make an issue on the third-term question. Garner did it in Wisconsin by coming out against a third term. Roosevelt backers accepted the challenge, and ran their man.

On the republican side, it's possible to test the vote-getting powers of rival candidates.

The net result is advertising for the voters. The early primaries give top billing to Crusader Thomas E. Dewey, the New York vote-getter, and to Franklin Roosevelt.

Man About Manhattan

NEW YORK—Greenwich Village is a little like a popular song of another day that has been over-arranged and is perennially brought out and aimed at the Hit Parade program, with negligible results. So much long-haired stuff has been written about it that now one gets the impression of people who forgot to bathe regularly when it is mentioned.

But for me, in it is one of the most pleasant places in all New York, in the very heart of the Village—El Chico's—of which I am inordinately fond. It was there that the now raving song hit—El Rancho Grande—was played nightly for months by a band of honest-to-God Spaniards, who sang it and danced it—and who helped in their way to keep it alive until one day—who knows what to call it—some whim or fancy, caught it up and tossed it into the air, and it became what it is today.

But despite its bad publicity and its crust of phonies, Greenwich Village has a magnificent history. It was there that a struggling young actress was told, with some finality one day, that she wasn't an actress, that she never would be any good, and that she had better give up the idea of fame and go home. This was Norma Shearer.

It was Greenwich Village that a young Englishman went to work—not as a bar-keeper, as legend erroneously has it—but as a waiter in a bar... He would bring your beer to your table and place it before you and then go away again... And then he would come back in a little while, if you wanted him to, and replace your empty glass with a fresh one... He was a genius and a poet. And he went back to England to become Poet Laureate, and to win fame as John Masefield.

Not so very many years ago a slight, thin-lipped, weak-eyed Jew who gazed at the world through steel-rimmed glasses, used to haunt the cafes of the Village and assert, "Some day soon now we are going to throw out the Caars."... He was Leon Trotsky, one of the leading lights of the Russian Revolution—but now a bitter enemy of Stalin, and an exile in Mexico.

The man who wrote "The Raven" and "To Helen" knew the Village well. For Poe lived in three sections of New York when he was here. There is even a little blob of mud that rises a few feet out of the oily waters of East River, off 42nd street, known as Poe's Island. Poe used to go there every day, and strip, and swim.

It was here too that a young girl used to beg for a chance to sing in the cafes, in hopes that someone from that brighter, more glamorous outer world of the stage would hear her, and give her a chance. Her name was Grace Moore.

One could go on like this indefinitely, naming great names and identifying them with some unfortunate corner that will forever be Greenwich Village. It is a strange, awkward cross-cross of narrow, sometimes picturesque but more often than not ugly little streets.

The conflict within the Nazi party will be more violent than the phony war on the Western Front.—South Bend Tribune.

Pupils Release Pigeons To Tell Of Sale Arrival

SALT LAKE CITY, (UP) — So their mother won't worry about safety, three Salt Lake City children have devised a means of notifying their parents of their safe arrival each day.

The children—Paul Scheid, 12; his brother, Neal, 11, and sister, Ruth, 7—take a pair of pigeons with them each morning as they head for the St. John's Lutheran school. Upon arrival at school, the children release the homing pigeons, which automatically proclaim the trio's safety when they get back to the home of the parents, Mr. and Mrs. Carl O. Scheid.

New Plan For Govt. Agencies Is Submitted

WASHINGTON, April 12 (AP)—A broad government reorganization plan, designed to save $300,000 annually and produce "more effective service" was submitted to congress today by President Roosevelt.

Affecting most of the executive departments and several independent agencies, the fourth reorganization plan recommended by Mr. Roosevelt projected these major revisions in the governmental set up:

1. Putting the Civil Aeronautics Authority, now an independent agency, into the structure of the commerce department.

2. Transferring the weather bureau from the agriculture department to the commerce department.

3. Shifting the food and drug administration from the agriculture department to the Federal Security Administration, except for two activities considered closely related to agriculture—lavoring insecticides and naval stores.

4. Transferring to the interior department from agriculture those activities of the soil conservation service relating to soil and moisture conservation on lands already under the jurisdiction of the interior department.

The transfer ordered today will become effective within 60 days unless both branches of congress, each by a two-thirds vote, disapprove.

Opposes Return Of Relief To States

HOUSTON, April 12 (AP)—Agitation for the return of relief to the states, with the aid of federal grants, was opposed here today by Col. F. C. Harrington, WPA commissioner, who said it would represent the substitution of the dole for the work ethic.

The program cannot be better administered under local control, he said, nor can the cost be reduced thereby.

"x x x it is not fair," the commissioner told the convention of the National Association of County Officials, "to count the outlay from federal and local treasuries as the actual cost of a work program without giving a compensation credit for the wealth that is produced."

Col. Harrington said he did not believe war orders would have sufficient effect upon United States trade to bring about any considerable reduction of unemployment.

Changes Mapped In Farm Credit Bill

WASHINGTON, April 12 (AP)—Chairman Jones (D-Texas) said today the house agriculture committee had agreed tentatively on three changes in the bill to revamp the government's farm credit machinery.

The measure would reduce farmer interest rates from 5 per cent to 3 per cent, call for refunding of all federal land bank and commissioner bonds, and give farmers greater opportunity to repay their loans.

Jones said the committee believed the new rate ought to be 3 1/2 per cent, to create a slightly larger reserve fund, and that outstanding bonds should be refunded on a dollar for dollar basis. The bill provided that a bond called at 100 could be exchanged for one bearing the same interest rate but sell at 11.

Jones said the committee also had proposed to eliminate a section to authorize immediate retirement of all stocks of the land banks.

FAMILY QUARREL RESULTS IN THE DEATHS OF FOUR

MONTE VISTA, Colo., April 11 (AP)—A family quarrel provoked a gun fight in which three men and a woman were killed and her son critically injured on a southern Colorado ranch last night.

Police Chief Max Richardson said Pat Maes, 50, operator of a sheep ranch, admitted killing Raymond Martinez, 38, Conejos county deputy sheriff; Manuel Ortega, 40, Maes' brother-in-law, and Edward Dominguez, 34.

Maes confession said he shot the three with a rifle after Martinez had shot Mrs. Maes, 44, and her son, Frank, 22.

Mrs. Maes, mother of 10 children, died today.

Monarchs Who Kept Clear Of Last War Face Turmoil Of Conflict Now

By the Associated Press

Three aged Scandinavian monarchs, who kept their nations neutral during the vicissitudes of the World War, now are face to face with the grim realities of war despite constant efforts to avoid being drawn into the maelstrom.

King Gustav V of Sweden, the oldest of the trio, now nearly 82 years old, has been on the throne nearly 33 years; King Christian X of Denmark, nearly 70 years old, has ruled for 28 years and King Haakon VII of Norway, 68, has reigned 34 years.

Christian and Haakon are brothers, sons of King Frederick VIII of Denmark.

King Gustav became one of the most democratic monarchs of Europe during and after the World War. When he was crowned king of Sweden he refused to endure any of the pomp with which the ascension is usually attended.

He once did a day's work as a stevedore during a strike at Stockholm.

When Gustav assumed the throne in December, 1907, the union of Norway and Sweden had been dissolved. He was well-trained to meet the crisis for, as crown prince of both Sweden and Norway, he had grown up in both countries.

Gustav is of the Bernadotte line—so-called from one of Napoleon's generals—the ruling house of Sweden which was established in 1818. In 1881 Gustav married Princess Victoria of Baden, a great granddaughter of one of the last Vasa kings, and a cousin of the former kaiser, Wilhelm. She died in 1930.

King Christian of Denmark, as World War sovereign, established the policy which kept his little country neutral. He mixes freely with his subjects, without retinue or bodyguard.

His family name is Sonderborg Beck. When he ascended the throne, following Danish tradition, he chose the name of Christian, for all Danish kings alternately bear the name of Christian and Frederick.

He is admired by his subjects as the first Danish prince to qualify fully in the country's schools and colleges. Politically, he gave women electoral rights and became the nation's foremost good-will envoy abroad. He was married, April 26, 1896, to Princess Alexandrine of Mecklenburg.

King Haakon is the first independent monarch of Norway in more than 450 years. Before he became king his realm had been ruled by joint kings, with Denmark from 1450 to 1814 and with Sweden from 1814 to 1905.

In taking the name Haakon he revived a royal name that had been dormant for more than 500 years. He married, July 22, 1896, Princess Maud, third daughter of the late King Edward VII of Great Britain. She died Nov. 20, 1938.

His reign has been marked by placidity, internally.

Reapportionment Measure Is Put Before House

WASHINGTON, April 12 (AP)—The house gingerly took up today a decennial bogaboo—a bill providing for reapportionment of its members on the basis of the new census.

The measure, by Rep. Warren (D-NC), would be a political death sentence for some representatives from states which lose in population and which therefore would be allotted fewer members.

Those seats would go to states which gain in population, so that the house membership would continue at 435.

One argument of proponents for bringing up the legislation now is that it will be easier to pass before the census returns show which states will lose.

The senate was considering a bill to reimburse cotton cooperative associations for losses incurred when the Hoover farm board attempted to support the cotton market in 1929-30.

Most congressmen regarded the legislative program as well on its way toward completion, although there appeared to be doubt whether controversial amendments to the Wagner act could be debated in time for an early June adjournment.

INJURIES FATAL

WACO, April 11 (AP)—Herman West, 61, of Bosqueville, died today of injuries suffered when he was struck by a car at an intersection last night.

GENE AT THE RITZ—Gene Autry, the singing cowboy whose rating at the boxoffice is such that his pictures make the "A" houses nowadays, headlines the program at the Ritz theatre for today and Saturday, starting in a western melodrama, "Rancho Grande." The film puts to use the popular song, just as did a previous picture, "South Of The Border." An added attraction on the Ritz program is the reel of the famed Jack Dempsey-Jess Willard fight, a scrap that reaches the top for ring action.

TEXAN IS NAMED

MAGNOLIA, Ark., April 12 (AP)—The board of directors of Magnolia A. & M. college yesterday elected

Arvil Green, coach at LaGratis, Tex., high school, as football coach. Magnolia Aggies will resume football competition next fall after a three-year lapse.

TANKER SUNK

LONDON, April 12 (AP)—Sinking of the 9,076-ton Swedish tanker Sveaborg off the Scottish coast was announced today by the London representatives of her owners, who said they understood the vessel had been torpedoed. The entire crew of the Sveaborg, homeward bound from the United States with a cargo of gasoline for Sweden, was believed saved.

WORK STARTED ON CITY'S NEW BUDGET

Work has begun on drafting the 1940-41 budget for the City of Big Spring.

City Manager E. V. Spence said that comparative figures were being drawn up by departments by H. W. Whitney, city secretary, as a basis for budgetary estimates.

However, there appeared little likelihood that the tentative budget would be submitted for commission approval before the May 14 meeting.

STORM WARNINGS

NEW ORLEANS, April 11 (AP)—Northwest storm warnings were ordered today by the United States weather bureau here for the Texas coast.

The advisory, issued at 9 a. m. (CST), said a disturbance over South Texas followed by an area of high barometer from the Rocky Mountain states would cause strong northerly winds this afternoon, increasing to moderate gale force tonight.

said with bitterness, and closed the door smartly behind him.

The heiress to all the Burnhams (there were just Aunt Anne and herself) now had a short but effective session with her own conscience. The result was a wee-begone little figure (Brenda could look more wee-begone than anyone in the whole world), wandering about the upper hall in search of the person she had offended. Since she discovered only closed doors, she adopted the simple expedient of standing still and saying in a raised plaintive voice:

"I'm sorry! I'm truly very sorry! I was abominably rude, and I do beg your pardon!"

"Skip it!" came a pacified growl from somewhere.

"But please come out. And—I'm asking most politely now!—please tell me your name. I can't—can I?—just go on calling you 'you'."

"Call me Mac." He emerged and grinned at her sheepishly.

"But I'd like to know your whole name!" Brenda said.

"It's Dion Dale MacKelvey, but I was christened too young for me to do anything about it. Everybody calls me Mac."

She did penance far beyond her fault by letting the dimples have their way, and saying: "And I'm Brenda!"

"Brenda Burnham! A peach of a writing name!"

"Oh! How did you know?"

"You mean you are a writer? I didn't." He studied her closely. "I don't believe it. Or if you are, it's verse for children. About the kind moo cow that gives us sweet milk, the dear little kitty whose fur is silk. I hope your sales are satisfactory?" he inquired with solicitude.

"You—you are impossible! I came out here to apologize to you, and you've insulted me. I haven't been in this house an hour and we've had two fights already. I wish I'd never come here! I wish I'd n-never l-left New York!"

The screen door slammed downstairs. A girl's voice trilled sweetly:

"Mac! Mac darlin'! Come down and help me get supper. I brought home a steak and some lettuce and—"

The words trailed away toward the rear of the house.

Mr. MacKelvey said with formal courtesy: "I will call you when dinner is ready, Miss Burnham."

Miss Burnham replied with sweet distinctness: "That will be most kind of you, Mr. MacKelvey!"

Dizzy Dean To Confer With Phil Wrigley

CHICAGO, April 12 (AP)—Dizzy Dean was ready today to test the "open door" policy of his big boss, P. K. Wrigley, owner of the Chicago Cubs.

The stormy one, relatively subdued after wifely admonitions and a night auto trip from St. Louis, said upon his arrival:

"There's been a lot of misquoting. I don't know where it is. I don't know where it started, but there's been a lot of misquoting."

"Yes, I'm going to see Wrigley, on orders from Hartnett, (Manager Gabby Hartnett whom Dean earlier was quoted as calling "Fleekopus.")

Asked if he would dress for today's Cub-White Sox game, Dean replied:

"I won't know until I find out what I'm supposed to do."

Dean's arrival climaxed almost 48 hours of fast talk and faster denials following a $100 fine assessed by Hartnett Wednesday for staying out late and a threat that he would "go to the mat" with Owner Wrigley regarding alleged persecution by the manager.

Wrigley, in commenting on Dean's showdown threat, inferred the door was open.

"I am an easy man to see," he averred.

Dean's verbal change of pace since the fine incident at Topeka, Kas., was reported in order something like this:

Dean fined, threatens to jump club; Dean denies he'll quit; Dean says Hartnett doesn't know how to run a club; Dean says "I'll do what Hartnett wants me to"; Dean says he missed curfew because he visited uncle; uncle says Dix didn't show up; Dean retorts: "Aw I said my nephew all the time."

Dean, ticketed to leave Kansas City Wednesday night for Chicago, took a plane instead to St. Louis where he met his wife and advisor, Patricia.

"Pat" then took charge with the assertion "Dizzy realizes he made a mistake. He just got mad because Gabby fined him in front of all the players and baseball writers...Hartnett was absolutely right and Dix is going to take that fine and take it gracefully. Dix' threat to quit the club and go on an exhibition tour was a lot of hokey."

Stated to hold a parley with Tate, too, is Bill Brown, another ex-Big Spring who toiled for Midland last summer.

Bill worked out with the Barons Thursday.

Gene Brownell, giant mound hopeful who hails from Chicago, played basketball with Bill Steinecke's House of David team two or three years ago.

A center, Brownell made the swing through West Texas with the Bearded Beauties, putting in one appearance at Fortna.

The 26-year-old right hander may stick around. Manager Rego is dedicating plenty of time to showing him the fundamentals of toeing the rubber.

Al Welland, the former Amarillo backstop who has been drilling with the Dallas Rebels, winds up with Longview of the East Texas league.

Bob Mosel, the bespectacled first sacker who was a mainstay at Lubbock both in 1938 and '39, will wind up at Lake Charles, La., of the Evangeline circuit.

Another WT-NM league product, Bob Mort, who spent a stretch at Midland early last season, has been transferred back to Dallas by the

INDIANAPOLIS, April 12 (AP)—Billy Devore is going to drive in the Indianapolis 500-mile speedway race again this year because his father, the late Earl Devore, told him 15 years ago that he wanted Billy to "drive here and keep trying until you win."

Billy's father drowned in the sinking of the steamship Vestris in 1928.

It was after the 1927 race, when Earl finished second to George Souders, that the father said: "Billy, I wanted to win more than anything else in the world today. If I never have this chance again—and it's the best I've ever had in the 500—I want you to drive here and keep trying until you win. I know you can."

Billy got his first chance to drive in the Memorial Day race in 1937 and finished seventh. Wilbur Shaw of Indianapolis won.

In 1938 Billy finished eighth and last year he was tenth.

JOHNNY ALLEN TO FACE NEW YORK GIANTS

BLUEFIELD, W. Va., April 12 (AP)—Johnny Allen has raised the Cleveland Indians' hopes that he will return to his 1936-'37 form. So far the once-great righthander has gone no further than five innings but he will get his real test at Cleveland Sunday when he attempts to go the route in the wind-up of the Giants-Indians barnstorming series. Allen has insisted from the outset of training that his arm is 100 per cent stronger than at any time last year.

THE TEXAS SCREW WORLD

Missouri U. had to order size 13 1/2 shoes for Raymond Phelps, 230-pound tackle from Montana. Bob Feller's closest pal on the Indians is that bad boy, Rolly Hemmley. Law Tender, the old lightweight, seldom goes to a fight, but never misses a ball game. Which is something since it is the A's and Phils he has to look at. Out in Minnesota a boxer apologized to another boxer for calling him a bum. A rookie reported to the San Antonio club equipped with his own uniform, shoes, glove—and ball. And Lee Grissom has gone one up on Lefty Gomez for screw ball honors by picking the Dodgers to win the bunting.

The Release Of Pat Patterson Surprises The Local Railbirds

Surprising Thursday was Tony Rego's announcement that he had released Lloyd "Pat" Patterson, 23-year old right hander who hurled three ball games for the Big Spring club in the waning days of the 1939 season.

Pat, a Santa Rosa, California, boy who came here as a New York Yankee farm hand by way of El Paso, was being counted upon by some of the rail birds as the No. 1 slabman on the local pitching staff.

Pat had taken up residence here during the winter and was looking forward to a great season.

Rego offered an explanation for his action toward Patterson, saying he had to make way for three or four rookie hurlers who are on their way here.

At the present time it appears doubtful that any of the members of last year's club will be able to stick here. Only Willard Ramsdell and Clarence Trantham, hurlers, are possibilities at the present time, and claims he will give it a sincere try.

Patterson has communicated with other clubs of the circuit and may wind up with Jodie Tate's Lamesa Lobes. He's to confer with Tate this weekend.

Gene Brownell, Rookie Hurler, A Former Basketball Star

Stated to hold a parley with Tate, too, is Bill Brown, another ex-Big Spring who toiled for Midland last summer.

Bill worked out with the Barons Thursday.

Gene Brownell, giant mound hopeful who hails from Chicago, played basketball with Bill Steinecke's House of David team two or three years ago.

A center, Brownell made the swing through West Texas with the Bearded Beauties, putting in one appearance at Fortna.

The 26-year-old right hander may stick around. Manager Rego is dedicating plenty of time to showing him the fundamentals of toeing the rubber.

Al Welland, the former Amarillo backstop who has been drilling with the Dallas Rebels, winds up with Longview of the East Texas league.

Bob Mosel, the bespectacled first sacker who was a mainstay at Lubbock both in 1938 and '39, will wind up at Lake Charles, La., of the Evangeline circuit.

Another WT-NM league product, Bob Mort, who spent a stretch at Midland early last season, has been transferred back to Dallas by the

HERD SMOTHERS RICE OWLS, 26-7

By the Associated Press

The Texas Longhorns drew with- in a game of the Flying Texas Aggies in the Southwest conference baseball race today.

Texas yesterday smothered Rice 26-7 to remove all hopes of the Owls in the title race.

A. & M. has won four games and Texas three, neither having a loss.

All other conference teams have been beaten although Baylor shows but a single defeat, that at the hands of Texas.

The Aggies were scheduled to play Southern Methodist at Dallas but the game was postponed because of rain. The teams meet in a doubleheader today.

Texas again plays Rice at Austin.

R&R Bowlers Break Record In Loop Duel

The R&R Theatre bowling squad set a new league record in two events Tuesday night and Red Meyers of the Theatre group broke the Division "A" three game series standard to trip the strong Douglas Hotel team in three straight matches. The Hotelmen were also over the record but in this case were good enough only for a close second. The Club Cafe boys took advantage of the break and humbled Lee Hanson's five by the same count to give them the undisturbed lead in the Classic league. In the last of the matches, White Swan Laundry turned in a fine 1,008 first game and went on to take two more from the fourth place Big Spring Motor Co.

Interesting to note are two of the top bowlers and their rise to prominence, meaning Clyde West of the hotel team, and Rat Ramsey of the Club Cafe team. Clyde has raised his average every week since the tournament has started, and Rat has an average of 187 and has not once fired a game over 204 which shows real consistency.

This week marks the half-way mark on the present league and these are some of the records to shoot for in the last half.

For high average, Jake Douglas and Clyde West of the Douglas hotel are one-two in "A" with 195 and 194. Woods of the Big Spring Motor Co., and Pierson of R&R Theatre are leading their divisions with 961 and 659 respectively for the three. Theatres has a 1,033 single game with Lee Hanson's in second place at 1,025. Douglas of Douglas hotel has 269 for the high individual single game in class "A" and Miss Woods of Big Spring Motor Co. is second with 267. Jim Eason of the White Swan Laundry is in first place for total pin having brought in 5,740. He is also high average man in "B" with 192 and is second in high game with 254. Elnally, the Club Cafe has a three-game lead over Douglas hotel for the first place standing in the tournament.

MINERAL WELLS, April 12

The annual Mineral Wells Invitational Golf Tournament will open with qualifying rounds Thursday, April 25, with match play through Friday and Saturday and the 36-hole finals on Sunday, April 28.

Thursday night there will be a calcutta pool and banquet at the clubhouse—and Friday night a dance. Special entertainment is being arranged for ladies coming at that time.

Handsome prizes will be given for low medal qualifying score, and in all flights and consolations, also a long driving contest.

Workers have been grooming the popular eighteen hole grass green course for more than a month already and by the time the tournament opens it will be in the finest shape in the history of the Country club.

Billy Bob Coffey, Fort Worth, is defending champion. Winners for the past several years include Gordon Young, Dallas, (1933-34); Houston Cole, Ranger (1936); Tommie Murphy, Mineral Wells (1937); Obie Brilow, Big Spring (1938) and Coffey last year, 1939. This is the eighteenth annual tournament, in 1935, when the grass greens were being constructed, there was no tournament.

Logan Creager is president of the club, and Colbert Pope, chairman of the sports committee and the invitation tournament. Mrs. Creager is heading the committee to welcome the women visitors.

Top flight golfers from all parts of Texas are expected to come to the resort city for the tournament.

SENATORS WIN EIGHTH IN ROW

WASHINGTON, April 12 (AP)—For a club that has been billed as short on power, the Nats have been doing nicely of late. Selling away their eighth straight victory yesterday at the expense of the Boston Bees, they again demonstrated that they had the punch when it counted. Fans are beginning to take Manager Bucky Harris seriously when he says this is the best Washington team since the 1925 pennant winners.

First Of Four Exhibitions Booked

back home at San Antonio after a one year turn with Hollywood in the Pacific Coast league. Muncie won 11, lost 11 last year. George Savino, a Dallas newcomer, probably will catch while Bus Payton has been named to handle Muncie's curves.

Young Howard Pollet, a lad who won 14 and lost five with New Iberia, La., last season was scheduled to pitch against the invading Tulsa Oilers in the Houston opener tonight. Manager Roy Johnson of Tulsa insisted his starting pitcher could be "any one of five or six in mind." Catcher Sam Narvon was due to work for Houston. Tulsa catchers also were in Johnson's grabbing.

Beaumont's bunch of boys start in a day game at home against Oklahoma City, depending upon either Clayton Smith or Leo Mueller, both righthanders, with Gordon Hinkle, Detroit bullpen catcher last year, behind the plate. Dependable Bill Prince, who won 16 and lost 11 for Oklahoma City in '39, will pitch to Tony Renna.

The exhibition will be the first of four Rego has booked for consecutive days. The Big Springers return here Sunday with the Oilers for a 3:30 bout, then square off with Jodie Tate's Lamesa Lobes here Monday and in Lamesa Tuesday.

The dozen or so hurlers in the local camp can expect to see plenty of action. None are very far along, not equipped to go more than three innings.

The skipper seems fairly well set on his infield with Charles Correll at first, Joe Laurel at second, Leo Jones at short and Ran Bernat at third but his garden problems are many.

Only Elston Carroll has definitely won a spot in the outer works. Correll "is"

Rego sent the infield through a snappy workout Thursday afternoon after the cold had abated. Correll has won his spurs as the first sacker. Rego announced Thursday morning that he had sent Leo Riorden, who was also trying for the first base job, to Jodie Tate at Lamesa. Correll looks better every day. He parked three balls over the right field barrier in batting drill and otherwise stood out.

Laurel has shifted from third to second, leaving Berndt as the only third sacker in camp.

Jones and Jackie Jordan are fighting it out for the shortstop berth. Jordan appears to be the more rugged hitter and was beat-ed only by Correll in swinging the timber Thursday.

Catching duties for the exhibition will fall to Chet Sprain, a stocky San Francisco boy who has exhibited a powerful throwing arm.

Paul Oberly, shortstop, and Donald Oats, pitcher, both of Kenyon, Ohio, arrived Thursday and reported for the drills.

A couple of hurlers, an infielder and a pair of outfielders are en route from the west coast, Rego announced.

The Hamlin crew should prove a tough nut to crack. Recent victors over the Lamesa Lobes, the Oilers have been working out for the past month and are in better condition than are the locals.

Either Courtney or Ford will toe the slab for the Hamlins in the Saturday bout.

The Sunday debate here is expected to attract a large throng of local supporters who will be given their first chance to see what Rego has brought in to succeed the Staseys, the Capps and the Mareks.

Tariff for the engagement has been established at 40 and 25 cents.

NATIONAL LEAGUE RACE IS A TOSSUP, SAY THE EXPERTS

Cincinnati And Cardinals Are Rated Even

NEW YORK, April 12 (AP)—Baseball "experts" are generally agreed that the 1940 National league race will be a two-team affair. There are general agreement stops. They are split almost 50-50 on whether the St. Louis Cardinals or the Cincinnati Reds will come home in front, with a slight edge going to the St. Louis entry.

Of the 76 writers taking part in the Associated Press poll all but three named either the Cards or Reds in the No. 1 spot, the Cards drawing 39 first-place votes to 34 for the defending champions. One long-shot added picked the Pirates, and two strung along with the Cubs.

Second-place ballots also were pretty well cornered by the 1-2 teams, although nine voters picked the Cubs for the runner-up spot, six named the Giants, four the Dodgers and two the Pirates.

There the common agreement ceased, however, and it was every man for himself the rest of the way in, or at least down to the Bees and Phillies. The Phillies escaped being a unanimous last-place choice by three seven-place votes, and the Bees escaped a similar seventh-place designation by drawing one fourth, one fifth, two sixth and three eight-place votes.

So varied is the opinion on all except the first two and last two teams that two of them were nominated for six different positions, and the Pirates were picked for every place but eighth. In fact, even the Cardinals were named for every spot down to and including the fifth, and the Reds were evening.

Danes Adjust Themselves To German Rule

COPENHAGEN, April 12. (AP)—Denmark today buried with military honors her men who died in scattered resistance to Germany's occupation and set her face stolidly to make the adjustments forced by the pinch of war. With reserve stocks depleted, rationing and other new restrictions were regarded as inevitable in the suddenly altered economic life of the nation. Negotiations over details of the German occupation continued while the defense ministry, in a lengthy announcement, recounted how the Germans were met with scattered resistance at the outset of their entry into Denmark. Shortly orders were given for resistance to cease, he added. The announcement said that "the sons of Danish troops in this fighting has been placed at 12 killed and 29 wounded." General Leonhard Kaupisch, commander of the German army of occupation, last night said Danish casualties were only 10 killed and several wounded while one German soldier was killed and 10 were wounded. The Copenhagen press commented editorially on Denmark's future economically under the new situation with certain imports now impossible.

Would Hold Up On Construction Of New Battleships

WASHINGTON, April 11. (AP)—Senator Adams (D-Colo.) recommended today a curtailment of American battleship building until the European war establishes whether superdreadnaughts now under construction can withstand the intensive aerial bombing of modern warfare. Although the spread of the conflict abroad has prompted some of his colleagues to oppose any reduction in the fleet program, Adams said he would ask the senate to strike from the $98,797,478 naval bill funds for one of the two 45,000-ton battleships which the measure authorizes the navy to start during the year beginning July 1. The bill carries $1,500,000 for this purpose. Adams argued that the battleship-versus-bomber question was in the process of being settled by such naval engagements as the current one in Scandinavian waters, and said that the United States should wait for "all the answers."

New Boy Scout Troop Organized

After more than five years of effort exerted in that direction, a Boy Scout troop for the western part of town was formally organized Thursday evening. The new unit will be troop No. 6 and will be sponsored by the American Business club. E. J. Cline is scoutmaster. Troop committee members for the troop are Hugh Duncan, chairman; W. B. Younger, Ted Phillips and R. E. Reeder, members of the sponsoring organization. Senior patrol leader is Noel Hull and Columbus McDaniel and Ben Kirkland are patrol leaders. Sorbie is James Cass and other members are Keith Bailey, Pat Duncan, Robert Hobbs, James Kilgore, Billie and Horton Redwine. Meetings will be held each Thursday evening. Organization was under the direction of Nat Snick, chairman of the activity in this district.

Holly Taylor New Used Car Manager At B'Spring Motor

New manager of Big Spring Motor company's used car department is Holly Taylor, who recently moved to Big Spring from Sherman. According to C. R. Johnson, general sales manager, Taylor will be in complete charge of the firm's used car stock. "As a sort of 'get acquainted' gesture I'm going to offer $100 for any used car that can make its way to our lot on its own power on the purchase of any 1938 unit in stock," Taylor said. "And to make the buying easier, all of our '36 models—trucks, passenger cars and pickups—have been grouped under one price, $325."

COAHOMA CHURCH GROUP ORGANIZED

COAHOMA, April 12.—Organization of a Brotherhood for the First Baptist church was effected here last night. Named as president of the new unit was D. L. Townsend. Other officers include Jim Ringers and James Stroppe, vice presidents; and Jimmie Irwin, secretary and treasurer. Next meeting will be held in the church basement on May 2. Talks were made by Townsend, Ralph White and Tom Farris, explaining the phases of the brotherhood program.

70 ENROLLED FOR REFUGEE KNITTING

Knitting is becoming an increasingly popular practice among Big Spring women as the Red Cross refugee knitting class gains momentum. Mrs. Gilbert Bewell, instructor, reported that by now there are 70 women who are knitting garments to be used for refugee relief. The class meets in the Settles hotel on Tuesday and Friday mornings.

Sunday Services In The Churches

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERVICES Room 1, Settles Hotel "Are Sin, Disease, and Death Real?" is the subject of the lesson-lesson which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, April 14. The Golden Text is: "The Lord is our judge, the Lord is our law-giver, the Lord is our king; He will save us" (Isaiah 33:22). Among the citations which comprise the lesson-sermon is the following from the Bible: "And they went forth, and preached every where, the Lord working with them, and confirming the word with signs following" (Mark 16:20). The lesson-sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "As time moves on, the healing element of pure Christianity will be fairly dealt with; they will be sought and taught, and will glow in all the grandeur of universal goodness" (page 329).

Texas Traffic Toll Mounting

AUSTIN, April 12. (AP)—W. H. Richardson, chairman of the state police commission, asserted today that Texas is facing its second most disastrous year in traffic death tolls and injuries. He warned that unless all individuals and agencies coordinated resources in a campaign against reckless driving "the 1940 death toll will reach the staggering total of 1,900 persons, 816 more than last year." Richardson urged Texans to take part in the Texas safety conference here, April 16 and 17. The conference, with nationally known traffic experts listed among the conferees, is being sponsored by the Texas Safety association. "The public safety department is charged with traffic enforcement and education," he declared. "We need help badly—unselfish, intelligent help—if lives are to be saved. Fifty highway patrol units can't effectively patrol 23,000 miles of highways." Recounting that when the state police force of traffic officers was augmented in 1938 by the addition of 85 men, Richardson said the death toll was slashed from 2,043 in 1937—Texas' worst traffic year—to 1,610 the following year. He declared that personnel decreases in 1939 account largely for the increase in traffic deaths now being recorded. The safety head reported that 416 persons were killed in the first three months of 1940 to bring the total to 61 more than were killed in that period last year.

MARKETS Wall Street

NEW YORK, April 12. (AP)—Cloudiness of the European war picture served as an excuse for many traders to stand aside in today's stock market and permit stock leaders to backtrack moderately. While an assortment of specialties, including a few air transports, managed to post fair-sized advances, declines of fractions to around a point predominated at the close. The fact offerings were exceptionally light throughout were provided a little encouragement for those who recalled volume recently has been largest when trends were upward. The ticker tape frequently came to a halt and transfers of approximately 800,000 shares were among the low turnovers for any full session this month.

Livestock

TALKS FOR GARNER

Local Garner-for-President supporters Friday reminded radio listeners that Myron G. Block, Texas democratic leader, would be heard in an address in support of Texas native son—John N. Garner—over the Texas State Network and KBST as outlet at 7:45 p. m. to 8 p. m. today.

CHARLES REESE DIES

WILMINGTON, Del. April 12. (AP)—Friends here learned today of the death of Dr. Charles L. Reese, Sr., 78, member of the board of directors of the E. I. du Pont de Nemours company, in Ponte Verde, Fla., where he had gone recently because of ill health.

Cotton Use Is Approved By H. D. Group

County home demonstration delegates from 16 counties in a district No. 6 parley at Midland Thursday sanctioned two recommendations by the state association board and refused to adopt another. Approval was accorded the suggestion that club women each try to use 50 pounds of cotton in 1940, and that all be informed and spread information on the AAA garden provisions. District delegates refused to withdraw membership from the Associated Country Women of the World. Various subjects were discussed before the women. Fosca Hain, extension service parent education and child development specialist, outlined methods for child participation in a democratic family circle; Miss M. E. Kidd, Fisher county, and Mrs. Velma Hibbert, El Paso county, discussed 4-H clubs and sponsors; Mrs. Jim Johnson, Nolan county, reviewed West Texas cotton production and products while Mrs. J. T. Baker, Fort Stockton, advocated use of wool and mohair. Sale of standardized 4-H products was explained by Mrs. Otto Ellis of Menard county; more beef consumption was urged because of its dietary advantages by Mrs. Elizabeth Green of Tom Green county; gardens were talked by Mrs. Nolan Von Roeder of Knappe in Borden county.

Cafeteria At Crawford Open

Big Spring folk Friday were introduced informally to one of West Texas' most distinctive dining places, the new Crawford cafeteria which served its first meals at noon. Completed after extensive remodeling of the hotel building and with new equipment, design and decorations throughout, the cafeteria is the first place of its type ever to be opened in this section of the state. Luncheon guests were on hand Friday to serve themselves at a long counter graced with a variety of foods. They had another novel experience in entering and leaving the cafeteria through the "magic eye" door, first installation of the type here. The cafeteria is much more spacious than the old Crawford coffee shop, the former kitchen space having been included in the dining room. The new kitchen is housed in an addition to the building, and it, too, has new equipment throughout, including massive ranges, grills, deep frying pots, baking and pastry facilities, two storage vaults, dishwashing machine and huge electric mixer. Modernistic in design, the cafeteria is finished in browns and cream, with chromium accenting the trim. Fluorescent lighting—in both kitchen and dining space—adds to the appearance. Callers Friday were highly complimentary of the entire arrangement. Hotel Manager Calvin Boykin said a formal opening would be arranged for next week. The cafeteria is under the management of Miss Merl McCollum, who came here from Dallas. She has a staff of 18.

ERNEST THOMPSON MAY MAKE RACE FOR CONGRESS

AMARILLO, April 12. (AP)—Texas Railroad Commissioner Ernest O. Thompson, potential candidate for governor, said today he was seriously considering proposals that he seek the congressional post in the 15th Texas district. Representative Marvin Jones, who now holds the place, has been appointed to the U. S. court of claims after 24 years in congress. Thompson, former mayor of Amarillo, came here today to attend the Panhandle Press association convention. "I am thinking seriously about the congressional race," he said. "I'm looking around to see what the people think."

FIREMEN TO ATTEND MEETING AT ALPINE

E. C. Gaylor and H. V. Crocker of the Big Spring fire department will attend the quarterly meeting of the Permian Basin Fireman's association at Alpine Saturday. They said they would extend an invitation for the next meeting of the group. Big Spring was unsuccessful in its last bid for the national title. No team will be taken to Alpine to compete in the hose stringing drills.

Montana Seeks To Save Dwindling Wild Sheep

HELENA, Mont. (UP)—Declination of Montana's mountain sheep population by disease and inbreeding has prompted the state fish and game commission to consider entering a conservation program with the U. S. Forest Service.

I. V. Anderson, Missoula, game management expert of the forest service, estimated the present mountain sheep population of Montana at 1,900. However, the number is constantly declining.

The Forest Service has suggested segregating a National Forest herd of about 125 for conservation purposes on a 15,000-acre reservation.

Missionaries Speak Here Tonight

Talks on China, from the viewpoint of missionaries who have spent many years in the field will be given at the East Fourth Street Baptist church this evening at 8 o'clock, and the public is invited to hear them.

The speakers will be Rev. C. A. Hunting and Rev. Ford L. Canfield.

Rev. Hunting went to China in connection with the work of the China Inland Mission in 1899. He put in thirty-five years of active service in that land, before retirement became necessary, owing to Mrs. Hunting's ill health. He speaks out of a wide and varied evangelistic ministry. He can tell of many interesting and remarkable conversations among the Chinese of Kinang province. The missionary passed through some thrilling and dangerous experiences at the time that province was occupied by Chinese communists some years ago.

Rev. Canfield served for six years in China. For the last fourteen years he has represented this mission as district secretary for the Pacific Southwest, with Los Angeles as the mission center for that district. Mr. Canfield's message will deal with the present conflict between Japan and China and its effects upon missionary work. His talk will be illustrated with a very fine set of colored stereoscopic slides.

The China Inland Mission is an interdenominational and international organization, laboring only to China. It numbers more than 1300 foreign missionaries on its active list. This work was begun by the late Dr. J. Hudson Taylor. In spite of the difficulties incident to these nearly three years of war in China, this mission has a very encouraging report to give of work being done. The means of these missionaries will deal with the fruit of Missions in China today.

Wheeler Favored For President On Anti-War Basis

WASHINGTON, April 12 (AP)—Senator Clark (D-Idaho) put forward Senator Wheeler (D-Mont) today as the only presidential candidate who he said had promised unreserved opposition to American involvement in the European war.

Replying to the argument of third tier advocates that events abroad make it mandatory for President Roosevelt to run again, Clark asserted in a statement:

"Today the critical war situation abroad clearly points to the absolute and unqualified necessity of keeping the United States out of this world conflict.

"Senator Burton K. Wheeler is the only outstanding candidate for the presidency who has stated unconditionally that the world never permit this country to become involved in a European war."

Both Wheeler and Clark voted against last year's neutrality bill lifting the arms embargo.

Eight of Arizona's 14 counties are named for Indian tribes.

Red Cross Asked To Study Needs Of Greenland

WASHINGTON, April 12 (AP)—President Roosevelt said today he had asked the Red Cross to look into the needs of the 17,000 persons on Danish-owned Greenland with a view to furnishing necessities of life in event the annual supply ships from Denmark are cut off.

The chief executive, discussing the question at a press conference, refused to discuss Greenland political questions raised as a result of Germany's invasion of Denmark. He termed questions on this subject hypothetical and premature.

(There has been speculation as to whether the Monroe Doctrine might be applied to the Danish colony to prevent Germany from laying claim to it. Geographically the island lies within the western hemisphere.)

MARTHA RAYE WEDS

LOS ANGELES, April 12 (AP)—Martha Raye, hi-de-ho singing and dancing film actress, and David Rose, screen and radio musical arranger whom she married in Ensenada, Mexico, October 5, 1938, have decided to call it quits.

The actress has filed suit for divorce, charging the musician has treated her with extreme cruelty.

Gerald Mann's Sensational Rise Enables Him To Turn Down An Appointment To High Court

DALLAS, April 12 (AP)—Success story: the comparatively brief but eventful life of Gerald C. Mann, football star, minister, lawyer, politician.

At 33 Mann can afford to decline an appointment to the chief justiceship of the Texas supreme court.

In doing so the youthful attorney general said he was convinced he was better equipped for his present position, therefore could be of more service.

Despite his high attainments, Mann is too inexperienced—in the eyes of the law—to become chief justice until September. To hold this office one must have been a lawyer seven years.

But Gov. W. Lee O'Daniel was willing to wait for him—to hold the place open until Mann could qualify.

An attorney general Mann gets $10,000 a year; as chief justice he would get $20,000 a year.

The rise of the black-haired, pin-striped Mann has been nothing short of meteoric.
