Four Thousand and 20 Blackbirds

One of Nature's surest weather-forecasting devices is a flock of black birds. The feathered barometers crowd together and take cover, according to bird followers, prior to a snowfall. The birds above landed in a large tree this week, and it has snowed for the last three days.

More flakes have been forecasted for today and tonight, with accumulations of one to three inches possible. [Brand photo by Speedy

Hustlers Stress Joining CofC

Managing Editor Bill Johnson, Hereford Hustlers chairman, said his organization will stress increasing the membership of the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce during the monthly chamber board of directors meeting today. "Last year, we had 64 members drop, 24 by request, and we're going to find out why they dropped and see if we can get them to generate new enthusiasm for the chamber." Johnson told the board.

WASHINGTON (AP) - About one million farmers have been certified under federal rules as qualified users of potentially hazardous pesticides that will come under strict sales control of the Environmental Protection Agency later

The EPA's new rules, in the works for five years, were announced Wednesday by the agency. Some 23 basic chemical ingredients used in about 2,000 commercial pesticide products are involved in the crackdown.

According to EPA, the one million farmers now certified have undergone qualification studies to handle the restricted pesticides. About 233,000 commercial applicators also have been

Chili Supper Slated Tonight

"Rain or shine, snow or sleet, we'll still be serving steaming hot chill tonight." said Gene Brock, high school advisor for the Key Club.

The Annual Key Club Chili Supper will be today in the Hereford High School Cafeteria from 5 to 8 p.m. The event, sponsored by the Key Club and co-sponsored by the Noon Kiwanis Club and Whiteface Kiwanis Club, is the main fund-raiser for the Key Club. Funds from the supper will be used to send the Key Clubbers to their district convention in Dallas in April.

On the menu for the evening is chili and all the fixings. "Especially good in this kind of weather," Noon Kiwanis president R.L. Blakely reports. Tickets are available at the door or from any Klwanian or Key Clubber.

The agency said that the one million producers represent an estimated two thirds of those who were expected to seek certification. The 233,000 certified commercial applicators account for about 80 percent of the total.

Douglas M. Costle, EPA administrator said the 23 ingredients are "potentially hazardous" to humans and the environment when handled improperly.

"Competent growers and applicators will continue to have the chemical tools they need to raise crops and control pests." he said. "The public will be protected from possible illnesses or environmental contamination resulting from unskilled use of those compounds."

Also, Costle said, the agency is considering limiting the use of 16 other ingredients to certified users. He said more pesticides will be studies for possible future action.

However, he said that "the vast majority of pesticides used by backyard gardeners and homeowners will continue to be available under the same conditions that apply now

In all, about 35,000 pesticide products made from more than 1.400 ingredients are sold in the United States.

The new rule require makers of the 2.000 products to submit the EPA within 60 days new labels which include the phrase "Restricted Use Pesticide" and other cautionary wording.

Manufacturers will have 120 days to attach the approved labels or supplemental labeling to new products leaving their plants. Pesticide dealers will be given 270 days to relabel existing inventories.

Charles Bell was recognized at this morning's meeting as Hustler of the Month (for January). Johnson said Bell sold more than 30 tickets to last month's annual chamber banquet.

The banquet, according to chamber president Speedy Nieman, was a success, with approximately 570 persons attend-

Nieman, presiding over his first board meeting since he was installed in January, also gave the sports committee report in the absence of committee chairman Iom Simons. The chamber will sponsor the District 3-A basketball tournament this weekend.

Publicity committee chairman Dan Welty told the board his group has planned numerous projects for this year, including slide presentations on Hereford

Welty added his committee also should complete a brochure on Hereford this year and plans to repaint "Welcome to Hereford" signs located outside the city limits. Population figures will be updated on other signs.

"Another big project will be to work with the business committee on a 'shop in Hereford' promotion." Welty said the promotion is "sorely needed."

HOUSTON (AP) - A probate court jury needed only 30 minutes and one vote to decide that the late Howard Hughes was a legal resident of Texas and that the so-called Mormon will was a fake.

After 10 weeks of testimony and the introduction of more than 1,000 documents, the three-woman, three-man panel met for about 90 minutes, including the time needed to get administrative matters out of the way, to check briefly the evidence, and to announce its verdict.

Jurors said the vote was unanimous on the first ballot, and another legal step was taken to solve the puzzle of where the millions of dollars in the vast estate should go.

Texas Atty. Gen. John Hill said he doubted if the case would go through the federal courts because "all our evidence indicated that Hughes, if asked where his legal residence was, would have said, 'Houston.' That's where he was raised, that's where he made his fortune, that's where he paid his federal taxes, that's where he registered for the draft, that's where he was headed when he died and that's where he is buried.'

Frank Davis, chief attorney for the temporary administrators of the estate, was not in the courtroom when the verdict was read.

Contacted later at his Houston law office. Davis said, "I was not present when the jury reported, but I am disappointed because I feel the evidence shows strongly that Mr. Hughes was not a legal resident of Texas."

The verdict by the jury, which included two persons who were not native Texans. could mean millions in inheritance taxes for the state.

Texas Comptroller Bob Bullock said he was pleased with the outcome and "there is no doubt that it will mean many millions of dollars.

He said the Hughes estate is now being audited by a private appraisal firm hired by the Internal Revenue Service.

Obviously, this matter is going to be litigated some more. But there is no question now that Texas stands at the head of the line.

OHill said the inheritances taxes would be between $25 million and $150 million. The co-administrators of the estate, William Lummis, 38, a cousin of Hughes; and Annette Gano Lummis, 89, an aunt, wanted Nevada ruled as the legal residence of the late eccentric recluse. There is no inheritance tax in that western state

Frank Dallas, a member of the jury and a native Texan, told newsmen, "There just wasn't any evidence to prove that Mr. Hughes was not a Texan. There was too much testimony from the top people in Summan Corp., and all had something

"I would say that Howard Hughes was a man without a country, but the evidence showed us he was one of us Texans," he

Another member of the jury, Barbara Weil, a native of Chicago and now a Houston real estate salesperson, said, 'We listened to all the evidence and we were convinced that Mr. Hughes was a legal resident of Texas. There was nothing to prove it otherwise."

The attorney general said during the early days of the trial, the "State of California talked pretty tough. California said to watch out for the two-by-four it may pull out. Well, I can say to California, pay attention to our Sherman tanks after this verdict."

California officials went to the U.S. Supreme Court in an effort to halt the Texas trial, but were turned down.

Hill was asked if the verdict would help his gubernatorial campaign this year (See HUGHES, Page 2)

Another Storm Due

By The Associated Press

Dense fog, drizzle and freezing drizzle spread across a vast area of West Texas early today, prompting the National Weather Service to issue travelers advisories.

Dense fog reduced visibility to less than a mile over much of West Texas from the Pecos Valley eastward into the Concho Valley and northward through the Panhandle. Some fog also developed in the Lower Rio Grande Valley, but it was not as dense as the fog in western portions of the state.

Another Winter storm struck at the state's western edge early today and threatened to spread eastward, bringing more freezing precipitation and cold temperatures.

Forecasters said the latest Winter storm should start spreading rain. freezing rain, sleet and snow over portions of West Texas this morning with the precipitation expected to move eastward across the state during the day. probably ending sometime Saturday in far northeast sections of the state.

Skies were mostly cloudy today although some clear parchers were reported in portions of Southeast Texas and in West Texas west of the Davis and Gradalupe Mountains.

Early morning temperature extremes range from 19 at Marfa in Southwest Texas to 48 at Brownsville in the Lower Rio Grande Valley. Temperatures generally were in the 30s and 40s with readings below freezing mostly reported in the northern one-third of the state with a few scattered below-freezing readings noted in the mountains of Southwest Texas in the Piney Woods area of East

Some early morning readings included 26 at Amarillo, 30 at Wichita Falls, 37 at Texarkana, 34 at Dallas-Fort Worth, 42 at Austin, 29 at Lufkin, 33 at Houston, 44 at Corpus Christi, 46 at McAllen, 43 at Del Rio, 40 at San Angelo, 39 at El Paso and 27 at Lubbock. Freezing drizzle was reported in Amarillo, Canyon and Hereford, and snow was reported at Lubbock. Fog was reported at Abilene. Amarillo, Dalhart, Lubbock and Wink.

Highs today were expected to range from the middle 20s in the Panhandle to the 60s along the coast and in the lowlands of the Big Bend country.

NEA, Brock Say Carter May Create Department of Education in Cabinet

Brand Staff Writer

The board of directors of the National Education Association (NEA) have been encouraged of late by the indications that President Carter is seriously considering creating a Cabinet office for the area of education according to Gene Brock of Hereford, a member of that group.

Brock, vocational adjustment co-ordinator within the Hereford Independent School System, said "The thing we (the board) are excited about is that the President has reassured us of his intention of bringing about a Cabinet post for education." Brock made the statement to the Brand Wednesday shortly after his return from Washington. D.C. to one of four yearly meetings of the NEA board in the nation's capital Feb.

The NEA board was greeted at a reception in the state dining room by the President, who delivered a short address to the group. The group was served coffee, tea and pastries, and was treated to music by an orchestra prior to the chief executive's arrival.

"It was the first time I'd met him (the president)." Brock said. "I felt like he is a very personable individual who really tries to put you at ease."

Brock said the NEA group was encouraged when the President said "...I would guess at least 20 or 25 percent of my time was spent in dealing with issues directly related to public education at the elementary, secondary, preschool, or college level. This is a subject that rarely arises at a cabinet meeting of your government in Washington.

Carter also indicated that Atty. General Griffin Bell was more apt to bring up problems with education than HEW Secretary Joseph Califano. "The only time the subject of education does arise is when there is a legal question involving civil rights or the allocation of funds," he

"And I would say the attorney general really has more of a problem to bring to the Cabinet meeting that does the secretary of HEW. Joe Califano is a superb man. He is dedicated to a finer education in our country. But the point is that as long as the educational function is buried within a large department with welfare and health, I don't think that education will ever get the visability that it deserves."

The reception for the NEA was one in a continuing series of White House social gatherings according to an Associated Press story. The story said that "although Carter held a few similar receptions last year, the pace of entertaining has been stepped up since advisers recently began urging the president to widen the circle of those with believe that we need and I believe that we will get a separate Department of Education

"This is something that he promised education leaders during his campaign for the presidency," Brock said. "We agree that a separate department is needed because HEW can't give priority to education because it covers so wide an

Carter did not miss the chance to push for support of one of his pet projects while meeting with the education leaders. "He asked for our support of the Panama Canal treaty." Brock said. "I think his suggestion was accepted by the group. but I feel that it was based on the emotion of the moment, and not on an intellectual view."

As to a possible candidate to fill the new cabinet post for education Brock said that the NEA board would favor having the board's current president, John Ryor of Michigan, to fill the seat. "Or at least someone who has been very close education or not very far removed," Brock said. "Someone who would know the real problems in education today."

In supporting his suggestion of a separate education department Carter said, "Since I have been in the White House, I have had the need for this separate department impressed even more vividly on my mind. When I was Governor of Georgia for four years. I whom he rubs shoulders--and to whom he delivers brief speeches intended to win new friends for the administration."

Following the reception and meeting with the president the NEA representatives were allowed to visit other areas of the executive mansion Brock said.

Carter Not Ready To Act on Coal Strike

WASHINGTON (AP) . President Carter has broad emergency powers to case the coal strike's impact, ranging from having the military dig coal to giving Americans free firewood

But government sources say Carter is not yet ready for any such drainatic role. opting instead to let the states set power curtailments while encouraging negotiators to break their deadlock.

Energy officials, who asked not to be named, said Carter probably will take no major action as long as he believes the negotiations that resumed Wednesday night at the White House might settle the coal strike which began Dec. 6.

The officials also said the federal government would not impose emergency measures until the states have a chance to do all they can

Carter was meeting with the governors of 12 states today. The officials said it was possible he would urge them to curtail all non-essential electric consumption, a move that could stretch coal supplies substantially

Author Happy With Outcome of Suit Trial

TYLER, Tex. (AP) . "Blood and Money" author Thomas Thompson says he's "as happy as I can be" with a jury's decision Wednesday to reject a $1.5 million libel suit against him.

"I always felt it would happen this way. I always felt I was in the right," said Thompson.

Longview policeman John Raymer had claimed a chapter in the best-selling nonfiction book subjected him to ridicule. He said he was portrayed as forcing people out of town without due process.

The jury unanimously decided after almost 30 minutes of deliberations that Raymer was not defamed.

U.S. District Judge William Wayne Justice had asked the jury to decide if the passage in question was defamatory. then if it was the truth and if it was written with malice

Since the jury did not find in Raymer's favor on the first point, the suit was thrown out without proceeding to the other points

Police Report

Two adults and a 13-year-old juvenile were arrested Wednesday by Hereford Police Det. Roger Scott for the Feb. 8 theft of two black poodle puppies from the Pet Stop in Sugarland Mall.

One of the dogs, a male, died of exposure, starvation and wearing a toxic flea collar, according to the police report. Ernest Madrigal, 21, of 503 Grand, and Julian Garcia Jr., 20, of 315 Ave. E, were charged with felony theft over $200' in connection with the incident. The juvenile, a male, was released to juvenile probation authorities.

Police Wednesday also arrested a juvenile for possession of alcohol and a 37-year-old man for being drunk in control of a motor vehicle.

Wayne Elmquist, 707 Ave. H, reported Wednesday that somebody had stolen a wheel from the back of his pickup.

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) - School leachers can't be sued for on-the-job negligence except in cases involving the use of motor vehicles and punishment of students, the Supreme Court ruled Wednesday.

The court also said school distrists remain immune to personal injury suits, except in motor vehicle cases, even if they have bought general liability insurance.

Dear Editor Living in Hereford it seems to me everyone should be interested in our agricultural

It amazes me to learn national agricultural policy. there are people right here whose very livelihood depends on agriculture who still have not been to an American Agriculture meeting to see what its all about. They still think the farmer wants a handout from Uncle Sam and with it government controls. Farmers and farmers' wives, who had never before worked inside an office, cooperated together and set up a very well coordinated office which usually operated 12 to 16 hours per day. Many people who came to Washington never visited a congressman or saw inside the Lincoln Memorial, but remained inside that office and kept things running smoothly. There is no way we can ever repay them for their determination because I know that some would be omitted. I can only say that Washington, D.C. will never be the same because of these fine individuals who have come, lobbied, worked and conducted themselves in such a dedicated Christian attitude. They have written history, whether we win

am a 13-year-old girl and would be quite decent looking if my teeth didn't stick out in front like a chipmunk. I went to a dentist who straightens teeth and he said I have a very bad protrusion and should have braces for three years at least. But my dad refuses to pay for the work so the dentist won't do it. I think it is gross that he has enough money to buy his second wife a nice fur coat but can't afford to have his own daughter's teeth straightened. My mom works but she can't afford the dentist bill and has no money to hire a lawyer to make my dad live up to his agreement. Please give me some advice. -Wishing For Those Railroad Tracks

DEAR WISHING: Chasing divorced fathers to make them pay for things is usually a losing battle, especially if there's no money for lawyers.

Ask your mom to take you to a university dental school. They often do very good work and the prices are much lower than those of practicing dentists. Good luck, dear, I hope you get those "railroad tracks."

DEAR ANN: Here's better advice for "San Berdoo," whose guest neglected to pay for long-distance phone calls. The hostess should suggest in the future that the delinquent boor instruct the operator to charge her calls to her home phone. It's very easy to do and would eliminate the problem completely. - Mr. Know How

DEAR MR.: It's easier to eliminate the guest. A person who would try to stiff a hostess with long-distance calls is not about to follow any instructions. DEAR ANN LANDES: I am not speaking for myself only, but for about half the teenagers in the world. I am sick of your advice, "See your guidance counselor." In our school anyone who wants to see the guidance counselor has to go through a third degree just to get an appointment. The person who arranges appointments ask questions like, "Why do you want to see the guidance counselor?" What do they expect you to say - "I'm nuts," or "I'm pregnant," or "I think I have VD?" When a person is worried and scared he doesn't want to tell anybody the details except the person he is asking for help. The screening is a real turn-off. After a couple of sessions with a go-between you just decide to sweat it out by yourself and go quietly insane.

I know you won't print this letter because you don't like criticism. Also, it's not a big deal, like how to hang toilet-paper. - Newsday Reader Going Nuts In N.Y.

DEAR READER: The situation you describe does not exist in many schools - only in the large ones. In my opinion, it shouldn't exist in ANY school no matter how large. A student who wants to see a guidance counselor should be able to make an appointment without answering any questions relating to the nature of this problem. It's nobody's business. And you can quote me.

He delicately pulls off the roof and points to the car's toilet. "Look at this," he says. "The toilet actually lifts up. Can you imagine that?"

Furnish owns a model train collection that boggles the imagination. But it's not so much the thousandsof cars and accessories that call attention to him as it is the perspective from which he views his avocation. For Bill Furnish, a 62-year-old professor of anatomy at the University of Louisville, a train collection is a hybrid of history book and Disneyesque fantasy

Illusion and reality are blended in the basement of Furnish's roomy Louisville home, which is occupied by colorful tin-plate models - the kind you buy your kids for Christmas, only fancier. On the one hand, as three or four trains begin to woosh, hiss and chug. Furnish gently chides a visitor for suggesting that the noise lends reality to the scene.

"Remember," the whitehaired Furnish admonishes, "there is no attempt to make this realistic in any way. "A dealer friend of mine once came by and said to me, 'You know, your derricks are too large.' I said. 'You flunk.' He flunked because he was asking for everything to fit together and that defies the whole idea of tovs."

On the other hand, Furnish researches his trains and their surroundings for every historical nuance.

Furnish hopes to perpetuate his collection by passing it on to his six children and their children. "I look on it as a kind of art form, a whole culture."

Seaton Guilty

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) - The Texas Court of Criminal Appeals affirmed Wednesday the conviction and 50-year prison sentence assessed James Seaton in the 1975 shotgun slaying of a Fort Worth church treasurer who was making a night deposit of the church's offering.

The court said Seaton, was lying down in the back seat of a car when another passenger got out and grabbed the offering and shot Thurman McCauley, treasurer of Worth Baptist Church, as he was trying to deposit the money at the State Bank of East Fort Worth.

Seaton subsequently received $10, the court said.

It denied 16 points of alleged error, including that the trial judge had prohibited Seaton from introducing evidence that Seaton had fallen asleep prior to the shooting and had consumed a large amount of intoxicating beverages on the day in question.

"In both instances," the appeals court said, "the appellant Seaton did not object to the limitation on the introduction of evidence.'

It also noted that "voluntary intoxication from liquor . . . is not a defense, but evidence of temporary insanity resulting from such intoxication may be considered by the jury in mitigation of punishment.

Whatley has asked that any local netters interested in attending any of the three sessions of the West Texas Tennis Camp to be held at West Texas State University this summer to contact her so that enrollment can be assured.

Enrollment is limited and the sessions fill up very fast, so I urge all interested players to contact me immediately," Whatley said.

The tennis camp, under the direction of WTSU tennis coach David Kent and Dr. Ronnie Smith, net coach at Campellsville College, will hold three sessions this summer. The initial session will last from June 4-10, with the second installment to run June 18-24, and the final session to run July 30 - August 5.

Each session will begin at 4 p.m. on Sunday and end Saturday after a banquet around 6 p.m. The camp caters to the home at 364-7166.

The Hereford Whiteface varsity and junior varsity girls' basketball teams wind up the current season tonight at home against Palo Duro. The Herd varsity, 10-13 on the year and 7-8 in the district, just missed out on claiming a spot in the playoffs Monday when they dropped a 34-31 decision to Caprock.

That loss, coupled with a Borger win over loop leader Plainview, eliminated the Faces from the four-team post-season playoff for the district championship. The HHS JV, meanwhile, is at 7-18 for the year and 6-9 in the loop, and was already out of the playoff picture.

Plainview, Amarillo High, Caprock, and Borger will enter the playoffs. The Bulldogs fems, led by Gay Hemphill, own a 13-2 loop record for the top spot.

Amarillo High owns a 10-4 mark, while Caprock is at 11-4 and Borger stands at 9-7.

The Hereford and vicinity YMCA is in the second week of registration for its upcoming outh basketball program, and program director Weldon Knabe reports that the response has been long "fair" with a very low turnout experienced in girls signing up.

'We have had only fair response so far," Knabe said. This may be due to the bad weather and the fact that some parents do not know that the Little Dribblers' program will not be held this year."

The YMCA will offer the only basketball program for youngsters in grades 3-6 this year. "The program will not resemble the Little Dribblers program at all," Knabe said. "Our program will be a values type learning situation for all participants."

They will try to win, but if a team does not win it's not the end of the world. No coach is going to jump on a player if he misses a basket or flubs a pass. He'll teach him how to do it better next time."

"We've had only seven girls sign up so far," Knabe said. "Unless we get more we will run a co-ed program. Other Y's around the country have had this type of program with great success."

The Y league which will be run along the format of the YMCA's national Youth Basketball Association (YBA) program will consist of teams composed of nine players. "Remember this is not a league for the super star," Knabe said. "All players get to play in every game, and no player gets to play night - he was stripped of the crown in 1967 for failure to accept military draft - was on a decision as a challenger to Joe Frazier March 8, 1971.

It would be an incredible feat to win it again, especially when he would probably be 37 before he gets another chance. But the incredible has often been made routine in the past by Ali. As he was relaxing in his suite two hours after the fight, he said, 'He's the champ now. I'm gonna let him have it for a couple of months and enjoy it.'

SWC Schools Have Signing Success

By The Associated Press Ohio, Colorado, New York, Kansas, Alabama, and Oklahoma proved fertile recruiting grounds Wednesday for Southwest Conference teams particularly the University of Texas - on national letter-of-intent signing day. The only bluechipper that remained unsigned in the state of Texas was massive 280-pound lineman Maceo Fifer of Kerrville, who failed to sign with West Texas State as expected, putting the Longhorns and Southern Methodist back into the picture.

Texas Coach Fred Akers, seeking to replace Heisman Trophy winner Earl Campbell at tailback, flew to Youngstown, Ohio to sign Anthony J. Jones, who rushed for 1,200 yards and was named to four different high school All-America teams.

Jones was in Austin last weekend where he met Campbell.

Southwest Conference champion Texas overcame pressure from Gov. David Boren and Oklahoma Coach Barry Switzer to sign speedy running back Rodney Tate of Beggs, Okla.

Switzer went on a statewide radio show Monday night to encourage Sooner fans to send Tate telegrams. He got 40 to 50 mailgrams.

"He (Boren) called me last night and asked me how I was and encouraged to play at QU," said Tate.

Texas outlasted Southern California for Jones.

Texas Tech signed Randy Page, a 58 percent passer from Oklahoma City Southeast. Tech Coach Rex Dockery was on hand personally to do the honors.

Arkansas went to Littleton High School in Colorado to sack Chip Beard, a wide receiver. and lineman Steve Korte. Alfred Muhammed, a 240-pound linemen from Youngstown, Ohio also signed with the Razorbacks. Coach Lou Holtz outbattled Bear Bryant for the services of highly regarded running back Thomas Brown of Montgomery, Ala.

Willie Wright, a 185-pound running back who had signed an SWC letter with Texas Tech. was signed by the Sooners. Wright, who also had been recruited by Texas, rushed for 1,490 yards last year for El Paso Burgess and averaged 22 yards on punt returns.

Wright, who was voted the most valuable high school player in El Paso, brought to five the number of Texans on the Sooner roster.

Others signing were linemen Elbert Graham of Greenville. Texas, 6-foot-4 and 255 pounds; Herman Williams of Dallas Lake Highland, 6-foot-3 and 230 pounds; Jerry Sanders of Garland, Texas, 6-foot-3 and 210 pounds, and end Steve Holems of Yukon, 6-foot-5 and 230 pounds.

End Robert Dewberry of Tyler, Texas, 6-foot-3, 220 pounds, also signed early with the Sooners.

Southern Methodist landed an Ohio quarterback, Bill Price of Centerville.

North Texas signed another highly regarded running back, Carl Mitchell of Pasadena, who had considered Texas A&M but never signed a letter of intent with the Aggies. Coach Emroy Bellard of the Aggies bounced back by signing John DiGirolamo, a 240-pound lineman from Elmont, N.Y. and lineman Lynn Maughmer of Houston Milby. Tech invaded Kansas to sign 260-pound offensive guard George Smitherman of Independence Community College and swift defensive back Ted Watts, who has been timed at 4.4 in the 40. Texas Christian's only new signee was Kevin Haney, a running back from Decatur.

Texas kept everyone of the bluechippers it had signed a week ago on SWC letter of intent day, including quarterback Donnie Little of Dickinson, the No. 1 quarterback in the

The biggest announcement to come out of Houston, which kept its signings secret, was the return of linebacker David Hodge to the team. He left a year ago to go into business.

Playoff

The playoff games between the 8th and 9th grade basketball teams from La Plata and teams from Pampa scheduled for this afternoon were postponed until Friday afternoon HISD assistant superintendent Larry Wartes reported today.

Wartes cited snow and danger of icy conditions on the highways as the reason for the delay. The 8th grade game has been reset for 4 p.m. tomorrow at the Pampa High School gym with the freshman battle set for 5:30 p.m.

Jayhawks Enter Big-8 Throneroom

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON

AP Sports Writer Having won the Big Eight. the Jayhawks now have their sights set on the big one.

We have three more goals to go and we're going to get them," freshman guard Darnell Valentipe said after the sixth ranked Jayhawks knocked off Iowa State 80-70 Wednesday night and nailed down the Big Eight crown when runnerup Nebraska obliged by losing to Oklahoma 74-68.

Valentine identified Kansas' next goal as the Big Eight Conference post-season tournament next month. "Then we win the NCAA Regionals and the NCAA finals." he said.

However, the Jayhawks will have plenty of competition for NCAA honors, including thirdranked Kentucky, No. 11 North Carolina, No. 15 Illinois State. No. 16 Syracuse, No. 19 Detroit and No. 20 Duke, all winners Wednesday night.

The only members of The Associated Press Top Twenty to taste defeat were 12th-ranked Texas, a 79-77 loser to Baylor, and No. 17 Virginia, which fell to Clemson 63-55.

The trio whistled 45 fouls but both coaches - A&M's Shelby Metcalf and TCU's Tim Somerville - said they liked the experiment.

-Al Beal's 18 points led Oklahoma past Nebraska and Oklahoma State reeled off 14 consecutive points early in the second half and defeated defending Big Eight champ Kansas State 67-65.

Baylor Upsets UT

By GREG THOMPSON AP Sports Writer

There is no need to fret anymore about having to use a coin flip to determine whether Arkansas or Texas gets the bye to the finals of the Southwest Conference post-season tournament, says Texas' Abe

The Baylor Bears took care of that Wednesday night by stunning 12th-ranked Texas 79-77 in Waco and giving top-ranked Arkansas sole possession of the SWC lead for the first time this season.

"It solves a lot of problems for Arkansas," said Lemons. "It had to end sometime. It's too bad the Baptists don't drink in public. It'd be a nice night for them to celebrate."

But the Razorbacks, who have a 12-1 SWC mark compared to Texas' 12-2 slate, aren't home free. They must travel to Dallas tonight to play Southern Methodist, journey to Houston Saturday to take on the hot Cougars and host third-place Texas Tech next week.

The Hogs and the Longhorns had traded losses to each other and appeared to be headed for identical 15-1 SWC ledgers this season. SWC officials voted to use a coin flip as the method to decide which team got a free

COLLEGE STATION, Texas (AP) - The proposed three-man team of basketball referees got a trial run Wednesday night at the Texas Christian-Texas A&M Southwest Conference game, and the experiment drew applause from officials and coaches alike.

Although the Aggies drew 27 of the game's total 45 fouls en route to a 88-72 victory, A&M Coach Shelby Metcalf said having an extra official was an improvement.

'It gets all areas covered, and the officials don't get caught out of position," he said.

TCU Coach Tim Somerville had some reservations, but he said a three-official policy would be "good for the league."

"They were trying to prevent a fight or an outbreak, and they overdid it at first," said Somerville. "They just need to learn how to rotate and work together.'

and a intimidation factor.

Straface said the extra set of eyes on the court was particularly useful during transitions when the ball moves back and forth quickly.

Alan Winters had worked with three officials on the court before. "Some coaches feel more fouls would be called, but that's not true," he said.

"The coverage off the ball is 90 percent better. The spare can watch blocking and control behavior on the bench better.I think it's tremendous," he said.

Baylor took a 74-69 lead with 5:20 remaining in the see-saw game and held a 75-73 margin when Texas' Ron Baxter tipped in what appeared to be the tying basket. Baxter, however, was called for interference.

The Bears held a shakey 77-75 margin with eight seconds remaining when Vaszauskas went to the line for a situation, sinking both shots to put the game out of reach.

"I have never had a feeling like this before. This is the greatest thing to happen," gushed Baylor Coach Jim Haller, whose Bears are battling SMU for fifth place and the home-court advantage in the tournament's first round.

"I didn't have them ready to

Also Wednesday night, Cedric Fears and Cecil Rose combined for 37 points, including the final five points of the game, to propel Houston over Texas Tech 81-77 in Lubbock.

Willie Foreman, Vernon pressure-packed one-and-one Smith and Rynn Wright combined for 54 points and Texas A&M's pressing defense forced Texas Christian into 36 turnovers as the Aggies whipped TCU 88-72.

In an experimental move, the SWC used three referees instead of the usual two to work the TCU-Texas A&M game. A total of 45 fouls were whistled and both coaches said afterward play," said Lemons. "I don't they preferred three officials.

76ers Nip Detroit Without Erving

By ALEX SACHARE AP Sports Writer

The Doctor is ailing but the Philadelphia 76ers remain in fine condition, thanks to the medicine provided by Doug Collins.

Julius Erving, hospitalized last week because of phlebitis in his left leg, missed his fourth game Wednesday night. But the 76ers posted their third victory in Dr. J's absence, beating the Detroit Pistons 116-113 behind a season-high 36 points by Collins.

"The big difference this year is the guys are looking for the hot man on this team," said Collins, who has averaged 32.3 points in the four games Erving has been sidelined. "Last year there was a tendency for everyone to go his own way to fatten his average.

"That hasn't been the case this year and that's one of the reasons I think we've been doing so well and can withstand the absence of a great player like Julius Erving.'

Detroit led 62-58 at halftime, but Collins sank nine baskets in the third period and two more early in the fourth to help the Sixers to a 104-96 lead.

Detroit bounced back to regain the lead at 111-110 with 3:52 to go on three baskets by Eric Money and two each by John Shumate and Leon Douglas. But Money fouled out shortly after and Bibby hit two quick baskets and Steve Mix sank a pair of free throws to give the Sixers their seventh victory in the last nine games.

Philadelphia extended its lead over idle New York in the National Basketball Association's Atlantic Division to 101/2 games.

N WASHINGTON Martha Angle and Robert Walters

WASHINGTON—(NEA)—It was an evening to remember. There was Rep. Barbara Jordan, D-Tex., one of the nation's best known black politicians, leading a roomful of people — most of them middle-aged white males — through a rousing rendition of "Dixie." There was House Speaker Thomas P. (Tip) O'Neill, D-Mass., joking that "this room hasn't seen anything as lavish since the days of Tong Sun Park." Finally, there was the audience in the ballroom of Washington's posh Madison Hotel: Scores of the capital's most influential lawyers, lobbyists and politicians rubbing shoulders with an equal number of wealthy Texans, many of them oil industry executives.

Each guest has paid an outlandish $1,000 for the honor of attending a cocktail party and dinner hosted by Rep. James C. Wright Jr., D-Tex., the House majority leader.

In one sense, the event was no different from the hundreds of other "Washington fund-raisers" organized each year by members of the House and Senate anxious to pick up quick campaign contributions from corporate, union and trade association lobbyists.

The going rate for such parties these days is $100. For that

The going rate for such parties these days is $100. For that price, the guests receive standard cocktail party fare and — far more important — the opportunity to maintain "access" to legislators whose "good will" they need in the course of their

What made Wright's party different was the cost of admission. "Since the need is so great, the price tag has to be substantial, as I am sure you understand," the Democratic leader said in his letter of invitation.

Common Cause didn't understand, and on the afternoon of the party it distributed a press release labelling the event "the Super Bowl of Washington fund-raisers by members of Common Cause's Fred Wertheimer charged that the affair was "a lobbyist's delight" because "it gave every special interest in Washington the opportunity to be helpful financially to the second most powerful man in the House of Representa-

The important government officials present included Robert S. Strauss, the former Democratic party chairman who now is one of President Carter's closest advisors, and Frank B. Moore, in charge of congressional liaison for the White House.

Vice President Walter F. Mondale stopped by for a glowing tribute to Wright and a series of one-line jokes that included: "If I speak well tonight, I understand I get half the money."

Just about everyone mentioned the money — an estimated $250,000 to $350,000 destined for the "Jim Wright Majority Congress Committee."

Congress Committee."

That organization will not support the reelection campaign of its namesake, but will enable him to make donations to fellow Democrats running for House seats and to pay his expenses while travelling to fund-raising events in their congressional districts.

The problem is the sources of Wright's funds. As Common Cause has noted, special interest groups channeled $17.3 million into campaigns for House and Senate seats in 1976, and the total undoubtedly will be considerably higher this year.

That money corrupts the supposedly democratic legislative process by subtly — and sometimes crudely — forcing members of Congress to devote an inordinate amount of their limited resources to causes espoused by the people who can

Conkwright Gets Honorary Post At Texas Hereford Assn. Meet

FORT WORTH - Colby Clark Conkwright of Hereford was presented with an honorary membership during the annual meeting of the Texas Hereford Association here recently.

The special presentation was made during the association's annual banquet, in recognition of exceptional efforts in promoting Texas Herefords.

Conkwright established the C Bar Ranch at Hereford in 1934 and has developed it into one of the state's well known farming and ranching operations. He married Dorothy Flanery of Sherman, Texas, that same year and they have one son, Jim, who, with his wife Janice and daughters Robin and Leslie live on the ranch.

The rancher-farmer has been active in Hereford breed organizations serving as a vice-president of the Texas Hereford Association and on the boards of the Panhandle Hereford Breeders Association and Herefords of Hereford, Inc. Rockdale; Randall Jackson, In 1972 Conkwright was presented a 25-year membership plaque from the Panhandle Hereford Breeders Association.

He served as first president of what is now Performance Registry International and served as president of the Pantez Bull Test in its early years. He was one of the founders of Hereford's "4-County Calf Show" and has been active in the encouragement of youth in agriculture, especially Junior Hereford Breeders.

He has long believed in improved performance not only of cattle but of field crops as well as has worked with Extension and college personnel to achieve these ends.

Elected to serve as directors for three year terms were: Tom Crump, Seguin; Fred Case. Eldorado; Eltos Dudley, Comanche; Weldon Davis, Coleman; Jim Luther, Burnet; Rusty Tinning, Amarillo; Leon Noack,

He commented, "I've said in hundreds of speeches throughout the state. I believe that one of the most significant solutions to the current farm situation is expanded markets and improved marketing techniques for agricultural products. "Even though we had 10,000 more colonies of bees last year than in 1976, yield per colony declined to account for the drop in production," Brown said. He pointed out that drought damage to vegetation reduced the amount of nectar available to the bees.

"Over 90 per cent of the honey produced in 1977 was sold by mid-December," Brown stated. "This indicates the large consume demand for this nutrition

Time and again, lawmakers try to work their will through a single federal judge after they fail to convince a majority of their colleagues in their own. equally powerful branch of government.

Some recent examples:

-After President Carter announced he planned to return Hungary's Crown of St. Stephen, opponents failed to get a congressional resolution against it.

Sen. Carl Curtis of Nebraska and 16 congressional colleagues filed suit in Washington claiming only Congress can dispose of U.S. property. Sen. Bob Dole went to Kansas City, Kan., and filed a similar suit. They lost and the crown was returned.

-Rep. Mickey Edwards of Oklahoma and 59 House colleagues asked a federal judge to declare that the House, like the Senate, be allowed to vote on the Panama Canal treaties. Their case, also based on the property-disposal argument, awaits a ruling. A similar suit by several anti-treaty senators was refused a hearing by the Supreme Court.

Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona, who complained as a presidential candidate that the Supreme Court lacked "restraint with respect to acts of Congress," and Sen. Howard Metzenbaum of Ohio argued in court that they were being deprived of their vote in a Navy purchase of airplanes. A hearing is scheduled for Thursday.

The irony is that ever since there's been a Congress. members have griped about courts "making" law. When judges set racial balance quotas for schools or order busing, congressmen are the first to accuse the courts of stepping across that fuzzy constituti frontier called separation of

The reason for so thinking isn't only the huge increases in deductions to support benefits. Critics point out that it might also result in a relatively smaller contributions to retirement income. Yes, smaller.

earnings of just $14,000.

That, of course, would mean a drop in his accrual benefit from $274 to $197, a decline of $77 or 28 percent.

So-called "stepped up" plans also would be hurt. In these, an employe receives benefits of perhaps 1 percent up to the SS wage base, and maybe 2 percent on each year's earnings over the

"Every plan that coordinates its benefits or contributions with Social Security must be reviewed now," said the accounting firm. And, it notes, thousands of the 600,000 existing plans are so tied.

The firm of Kwasha Lipton, an international actuarial and employee benefits consultant, is now circulating a detailed special bulletin' in which it cautions that the new law means lower benefits for some.

Those likely to be hurt, it states, are employees born after 1916 whose benefits began after 1978. "Social Security benefits will follow a dramatically different course than under prior law," it observes.

Under both laws, it calculates, a person age 65 who retires in 1978 at a salary average of $20,000 over the final five years on the job will receive as a Social Security benefit 31.9 percent of that amount.

But in future years, this consultant estimates that retirees will receive a much lower percentage of final pay under the new law than under the old. For those retiring in the year 2018, it estimates, the width of the gap could be on the order of 51.2 percent under the old law, 34 percent under the new. The principal impact of the December law, it concludes, is to reduce lower benefits for employee born in 1917 or later and an increase in taxes.

Private consultants aren't the only ones having doubts.

Treasury Secretary W. Michael Blumenthal, just a few weeks after passage of the bill. told the Joint Economic Committee that the entire business of Social Security. including financing, might be reconsidered.

But the biggest criticism of all is likely to come from employees and employers, both of whom are by law required to pay huge increases in annual maximum taxes beginning in 1979.

lenge it in court. Roloff Homes Lauded

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) - A social worker in the Pima County Public Defender's Office says he will continue recommending that some young adult criminals be sent to evangelist Lester Roloff's homes in South Texas for rehabilitation.

Lawrence Levine, who operates the Public Defender's program to find alternatives to prisons for those criminals who qualify, said he visited Roloff's adult homes last month and found nothing to change his mind about their effectiveness.

Levine said he has seen major changes in young adults sent by Pima County judges to one of three homes Roloff operates in South Texas. Most of those sent were involved in crimes related to drugs or alcohol, officials

Roloff homes for juveniles have been under criticism in connection with allegations of physical abuse in the form of harsh corporal punishment and because parents forcibly sent their unruly teen-agers to the homes, often against the teens'

Levine said that in light of the recent publicity over the Roloff juvenile homes, he spent three days visiting touring the young adult homes last month.

He said he was convinced that ersons he had recom for the homes were getting help. religion seemed to be a substitute for the drug. Levine

"I have to admit that, to a degree, there's a bit of brainwashing that goes on in the whole process," he said. "But they're cleaning out what was there and filling it with something more acceptable socially.'

Residents of the homes undergo a program that instills structure and discipline in their lives and provides them with a guilt system, Levine said. Roloff has said his adult homes are basically the same as the juvenile homes, using corporal punishment and the Bible to turn residents toward Jesus Christ.

Levine said he was concerned that the controversy over Roloff's youth homes will cause judges to be reluctant about recommendations that some young adult offenders be sent to Roloff homes.

A poll taken by the Air Transport Association shows that 67 percent of all adult men have flown in airplanes, while 59 percent of women have trav-eled by air.
