The Hereford Independent School District has responded to a letter from the Department of Health, Education and Welfare regarding bilingual education deficiencies by adopting a testing plan for students.

The Office of Civil Rights of HEW sent a letter, dated Jan. 4, to Superintendent Dr. Harrell Holder stating that the HISD is deficient in that it does not place students on a scale showing language dominance.

The letter was the afterbirth of a visit to Hereford by a team from the Office of Civil Rights in Dallas.

The on-site review of the HISD was to determine the district's compliance status under Title VI of the Civil Rights Act of 1964. The review concerned efforts taken by the district to provide language services to students with limited English-speaking ability.

The letter stated that the district must test students to determine their position on a scale showing language dominance.

Besides not specifically identifying individual students deficient in English language skills, Hereford is deficient, according to the letter, in that it does not assess and classify the specific language proficiency of students deficient in English, and does not adequately provide instructional services to students identified as limited English speakers.

All three deficiencies concerned grades 4-12 since Hereford elementary schools identify deficient students and have classes and programs for those needing to overcome Spanish barriers in grades K-3.

Fourteen other school districts in the state, including Amarillo, Lubbock and Plainview, also were notified by letters that they too are deficient in their bilingual programs.

A committee comprised of a cross-section of school employees - principals, other administrators, bilingual teachers and mono-lingual teachers - met Jan. 18-19 to set up a plan to identify and categorize all Hereford students.

The meetings resulted in the development of a plan which requires parents of every student in the HISD to complete a community language survey form.

The forms will be sent home Monday with students to be completed and returned to their respective schools by Wednesday, Feb. 8. The classroom teacher then will complete an eligibility form showing which students have returned the forms in proper fashion.

The form includes three questions: the first language this child learned was (English, Spanish or other), the language most often spoken by this child is, and the language most often spoken in your home is.

Principals will receive the forms by Feb. 10 and will turn them over to the Parental Involvement office by the HISD by Feb. 13. That office will follow up on all forms not signed or completed in the proper fashion.

Forms of students which answer "English" to all three questions will mean no further language services are necessary.

If "Spanish" is indicated in any of the three blanks, the students will be given a language assessment scale test to determine if he is underachieving or achieving at grade level (or better). If the latter is determined, the students will

Unemployment Drops Notch

WASHINGTON (AP) - The nation's unemployment rate dropped another notch in January to 6.3 percent, its lowest point in more than three years, the government said today.

Even more important than the slight improvement in the jobless picture last month was the report's confirmation that the big and surprising drop in unemployment in December, to 6.4 percent from 6.9 percent the month before, was not the fluke that some economists had feared.

The Labor Department said an additional 270,000 persons found jobs in January, raising total employment to 92.9 million. The number of unemployed persons remained at 6.2 million, about the same as in December.

The 0.1 percent drop in unemployment last month meant the Carter administration already is near the upper end of its goal to reduce the nation's jobless rate to between 6 and 6.25 percent in 1978.

However, the job picture for blacks and other minorities remained bleak in January, as the overall jobless rate for this group of workers remained at 12.7 percent and for black males and black youths, jobs became even more scarce.

The Labor Department said the jobless rate for black adult men rose to 9.8 percent in January, up from 9.1 percent in December, while the rate for black youths rose to 38.7 percent, up from 38 percent in December. There was an improvement for black adult women, whose jobless rate declined to 10.8 percent from December's 11.5 percent.

The Labor Department gave this additional breakdown on unemployment for various categories in January:

Adult men, 4.7 percent, down from 4.6.

Adult women, 6.1 percent, down from 6.6.

Teenagers, 16 percent, up from 15.6.

Whites, 5.5 percent, unchanged.

Full-time workers, 5.8 percent, down from 5.9.

White collar workers, 3.6 percent, down from 4.

Blue collar workers, 7.1 percent, down from 7.2.

The Labor Department said most of the employment gains during January were in manufacturing, up 105,000, and in wholesale and retail trade, up 95,000.

It said overall employment totals were affected by the strike in the coal mining industry, which has removed 160,000 workers from payrolls, although these persons are not counted as unemployed.

The agency said the median duration of unemployment declined to 6.6 weeks in January from 7.1 weeks in December, meaning that half of the unemployed workers had been jobless for less than 6.6 weeks and half for a longer period.

The unemployment rate in January was 1.1 percentage points lower than a year earlier and the lowest since October 1974, when it was 5.9 percent.

The Labor Department made several adjustments in its employment and unemployment statistics in January, including an expansion of its employment survey from 47,000 to a total of 56,000 households. All of the figures in the report are adjusted for seasonal variations.

Despite the surprising drop in the December jobless rate, President Carter has said the realization of his 1978 employment targets depends on whether Congress enacts the $25 billion in tax reductions he has proposed. He said the

Carter Seeks UMW Postponement

WASHINGTON (AP) - The White House stepped into the 60-day-old United Mine Workers strike today as President Carter asked UMW President Arnold Miller to postpone a scheduled meeting of his union's bargaining council.

Miller had called the council into session to brief it on the status of negotiations aimed at ending the walkout. But he said he was putting off the session until Saturday after receiving a call from the White House.

"President Carter asked me to postpone for one day the meeting of the council," he told reporters.

Asked why the president made the request, Miller said, "It's obvious we're trying to get a contract."

Negotiators for the union and the Bituminous Coal Operators Association, the industry's bargaining arm, were reported at one point "very close" to a settlement before recessing their talks early today.

Federal mediators had no immediate word when talks would resume.

Chief federal mediator Wayne L. Horvitz announced shortly after midnight that 14 hours of talks on Thursday had failed to produce an accord. Although he had been hopeful early in the day, he said, "We don't have an agreement tonight."

Carter has been under increasing pressure to intervene in the strike, whose effect on utilities and other coal customers is mounting as stockpiles become depleted.

But the president emphasized at a news conference earlier this week that he did not intend to invoke the strike-halting provision of the Taft Hartley Act, which provides for an 80-day cooling-off period.

Fry Announces For Commission

Hereford city commission Stan Fry late Thursday afternoon filed for a position on the Deaf Smith County commission.

Fry will run for Precinct 4 spot, currently held by James Voyles.

Fry, who cannot seek re-election to the city commission though his term is expiring, is in the sheet metal and insulation business.

Hamilton Files for JP Position

Paul Hamilton, 25, announced this week he is seeking the Democratic nomination to the Deaf Smith County Justice of the Peace office.

Hamilton, associated with Brown Drilling Co., has been a member of the Hereford Volunteer Fire Department for the last four years.

He was raised in Hereford, graduating from high school in 1970. He joined the U.S. Marine Corps in 1971, served two years and received an honorable discharge.

After returning from the service, Hamilton worked for West Texas Rural Telephone Co-op.

He attended the fireman's training school at Texas A&M University for three years, received his emergency medical technician certificate through Amarillo College and became an instructor for the American Heart Association in cardiopulmonary resuscitation.

"I have lived in Deaf Smith County nearly all my life. I am familiar with the law enforcement agencies and their procedures," Hamilton said in a prepared statement.

"I will strive to be fair and impartial toward each individual."

"Having graduated from the law enforcement academy at Amarillo College where I received instruction in criminal and civil law, I feel I am well qualified for the job of Justice of the Peace of Deaf Smith County."

Hamilton, and his wife Debbie and son Gary reside at 437 Ave. H.

The Bureaucracy, Part IV

Government Blue-Collar Workers Earn More

EDITOR'S NOTE - Public opinion polls show most Americans believe federal government workers are overpaid. The facts of the matter are examined in the fourth of a five-part series on federal bureaucracy.

By BROOKS JACKSON
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) - The federal government reckons that it pays its blue-collar workers and most of its white-collar clerical workers more than they would earn in similar private jobs.

Federal blue-collar workers earn an average of 8 percent more than the officially determined average pay for their local counterparts. A 1974 Civil Service Commission study said 60 percent of secretaries, stenographers, keypunch operators, and other clerical and technical workers earn more than their local counterparts in private jobs. Average hourly wages for postal workers are one-third higher than the average for four selected service industries - banks, insurance companies, telephone companies and electric utilities.

Periodic merit pay raises are virtually automatic for white-collar workers. Bonus pay for superior performance is rare, and the average payment is $227. High-level federal executives, who earn up to $47,500 a year, are nevertheless often paid less than they could earn in similar jobs in business.

"Currently, we do have a pay policy to reward high performance and penalize low performance," says Civil Service Commission Chairman Alan Campbell. "But that system is not working properly."

Federal union officials argue that the methods for comparing government and private pay are faulty, and anyway that the government should pay better than average wages to attract better than average employees.

"Average is mediocre; do you want a mediocre government?" asks pay specialist George A. Hobt of the American Federation of Government Employees.

What seems to concern Carter administration officials most is not the level of pay but the idea that people in similar jobs are paid the same regardless of effort, talent or achievement.

Theoretically, the federal government pays its truck drivers, mechanics, janitors, carpenters and other blue-collar workers the going rate in their own community. But in 1972 Congress installed two new pay steps that boosted average federal blue-collar pay several percentage points higher than the officially determined going rate.

Blue-collar workers now are paid on a five-step scale, with the second step from the bottom equal to the locally prevailing wage. Since the average federal blue-collar worker is on the fourth step, not the second, he gets about 8 percent more than the going rate, by official reckoning.

In some areas the federal pay system is causing blue-collar workers to receive higher pay than their white-collar bosses. The management task force found that in Sacramento, Calif., a typical white-collar supervisor could earn a maximum of $19,617 per year while blue-collar subordinates could earn up to $20,301.

White collar-pay in the federal government is set according to a single nationwide scale, regardless of locally prevailing pay or local price levels.

For low-wage employees in secretarial, clerical and technical work the government's pay scale is generally higher than local pay rates in private industry, according to Civil Service Commission studies in 1970, 1972 and 1974.

The 1974 study was the broadest, covering 21 types of jobs in 86 cities. "In the area studied, 59 percent of the federal employees are paid on the average higher than their private sector counterparts in those areas," the commission said.

More than one-fourth of those federal employees were in Washington, D.C., where the government is the largest employer and therefore sets the going rate for private enterprise, rather than vice versa. Outside the capital, the commission found that 81 percent of the federal workers studied were paid on the average higher than the going rate in private enterprise.

In the heavily unionized Postal Service, where pay has been subject to collective bargaining since 1971, wages have tended to go up faster than for the rest of the economy for some time.

Comparing pay only, and ignoring fringe benefits, Ohio University economist Douglas K. Adie recently concluded that postal workers are

Sadat, Carter Slate Reception Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter is extending a low-keyed reception to Anwar Sadat as the Egyptian leader begins a new drive here for U.S. support in his negotiations with Israel.

Administration officials, in advance of the 5 1/2-day visit, said no dramatic breakthroughs in the peace talks are anticipated. Carter, meanwhile, planned a relaxed and isolated weekend for his guest at Camp David, Md., the presidential retreat.

By the time Sadat leaves next Wednesday night, he is certain to have put his case across to the American public. His position, as he has often said, is that the United States holds "90 percent of the cards" where Israel is concerned and should use its influence with the Jewish state toward a settlement.

The outstanding obstacles to continue progress are the Palestinian issue and the question of Jewish settlements in Sinai and other former Arab territories.

While Israel has offered civil autonomy for the 1 1/2 million Palestinians who live on the West Bank of the Jordan River in Gaza, the Egyptian leader wants them guaranteed "self-determination." This, in most Israeli and Arab minds, could lead to eventual statehood for the Palestinians.

Krueger To Back
Proposed Tax Cut

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Bob Krueger wants to help President Carter keep his campaign promises.

The Texas Democrat announced Thursday that he plans to back Carter's tax-cut proposals if the budget is amended to tie increases in government spending to the rate of inflation.

Krueger pointed to statistics for Northeastern cities and Sunbelt states showing increases in government employment at the expense of employment in the private sector. He warned that Sunbelt states "may, in time, fall prey to the same Northeastern reliance on government, rather than private, employment."

"The figures for six Texas cities Dallas, San Antonio, Fort Worth, Austin, El Paso and Beaumont are even more striking," he said. "From 1966 to 1969, private employment increased 17.8 percent, government by 3.8 percent. But by 1972 to 1975, the figures were almost identical - 8.2 percent private and 7.8 percent government."

"Were this trend to continue," he warned, "Texas cities would soon suffer some of the same problems as those of the Northeast."

Aging Committee Head Blasts Tax Increases

WASHINGTON (AP) — The chairman of the Senate Aging Committee says Congress must reverse itself and overturn the Social Security tax increases that were approved barely a month ago.

Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, said in a speech prepared for delivery to a conference on aging in Minneapolis that the tax increases will fall most heavily on those least able to afford them.

"Of course, the system must be kept solvent," he said. "It must enjoy the confidence of young and old alike. But this can be done without saddling workers and their employers with unduly large payroll tax increases between now and 1985."

Congress approved a bill last December that raises taxes on employers and employees, starting in 1979, in order to keep Social Security financially solvent. Payroll taxes went up last month because of increases approved earlier.

President Carter has proposed that income taxes be reduced this year to at least partially offset some of the higher payroll taxes. But Church said that is no solution at all.

Hearst To Appeal Robbery Conviction

WASHINGTON (AP) — On the eve of the fourth anniversary of her kidnapping by the terrorist Symbionese Liberation Army, Patricia Hearst is appealing her bank robbery conviction to the Supreme Court.

The newspaper heiress, who was kidnapped from her Berkeley, Calif., apartment on Feb. 4, 1974, and later said she had joined her abductors, is currently free on $1 million bond and living with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Randolph A. Hearst, in a San Francisco suburb.

Now 23, Miss Hearst was sentenced to seven years in prison in 1976.

In a brief filed with the high court on Thursday, her lawyer, F. Lee Bailey, said Miss Hearst's conviction for taking part in a 1974 bank robbery with SLA members was based partly on "non admissible" evidence that she participated in a subsequent holdup at a Los Angeles sporting goods store.

Bailey said the facts of the later crime should not have been admitted during the trial because there was no logical connection between the bank robbery charges and the other alleged crime.

Because that evidence was admitted, he claimed, a federal court jury was led to believe in his client's guilt in part because of a crime allegedly committed a month or more after the bank robbery.

Thomas Receives Certified Status

A hereford lawyer has joined the limited ranks of board-certified attorneys in Texas, State Board of Legal Specialization chairman Phil Burleson of Dallas has announced.

The new certified lawyer is Wayne E. Thomas in Estate Planning and Probate Law.

Thomas was among more than 180 other attorneys receiving certificates of special competence at ceremonies last month in Austin.

The additional specialists expand to more than 600 the list of lawyers who have met the requirements necessary to qualify as board-certified attorneys under the three-year-old program designed to help the public locate those attorneys with special competence in particular fields of law.

Qualifications include a six-hour comprehensive exam, positive ratings from other lawyers and judges, substantial involvement and a specified level of experience in the chosen legal field and satisfactory continuing legal education.

Applications from more than 700 lawyers seeking board-certified status in the six fields of Criminal, Family, Estate Planning and Probate, Labor, Civil Trial and Personal Injury Law are now being processed to take examinations in the spring. Authorized by the Texas Supreme Court in 1974, the State Bar's certification program is one of only nine in the nation. Lawyers achieving board-certified recognition may identify themselves as such in their yellow pages listing, on the business cards, letterhead, in legal directories and in notices to clients, former clients and other lawyers.

"The objective of this program is to identify for the public the lawyers who have special competence in a specific area of law," Burleson said. "National attention has been focused in recent years on problems involved in delivery of legal services. One of these problems involved has been the public's difficulty in locating a lawyer best equipped to handle a particular type of legal matter as contrasted with the ease in locating a physician qualified within his particular field."

The State Bar program has resulted from a seven-year study by a committee chaired by William Derrick of El Paso and is administered by the nine-member Texas Board of Legal Specialization. Texas will be the first state to test for competency in Civil Trial and Personal Injury Trial Law.

States' Plans Blasted

WASHINGTON (AP) — HEW Secretary Joseph A. Califano Jr. declared Thursday that Georgia and Virginia have failed to present adequate plans to eliminate racial segregation in their state colleges and universities.

At the same time, he said that only part of North Carolina's desegregation plan for higher education was acceptable. But he found plans by the states of Arkansas, Oklahoma and Florida fully acceptable.

A federal judge in Washington last April 1 ordered the six states to draw up desegregation plans by Feb. 3 to eliminate "the vestiges of their de jure by law racially segregated college and university systems." Califano noted in a news conference Thursday.

He said discussions would continue with the three states with plans he found inadequate. But he said the Department of Health, Education and Welfare would conduct a hearing within 45 days that could lead to a cutoff of federal funds to the states' educational institutions.

The actual process of cutting off funds would be lengthy. However, if no settlement is reached after 45 days, Califano said, he will act immediately to hold up approval of any new applications for federal funds from these schools, "but only if those new funds would contribute to continuing segregation in those systems of higher education."

North Carolina was told that its plan for desegregation 57 community colleges was acceptable, but not its plan for other institutions.

Califano said he personally notified the governors of all six states by telephone Wednesday. He said he told the governors of Georgia, North Carolina and Virginia "that the action we are taking should in no way inhibit our continuing discussions."

"In these three states I have every hope and expectation that we can reach an agreement. Each of the governors expressed a desire to reach an agreement," he said. HEW will publish desegregation criteria in the Federal Register. Califano said he plans to hold other states to those standards.

He said states where segregation in higher education once was the law will be reviewed over the next two years by HEW's Office for Civil Rights.

Lighter Side

LEWISTON, Idaho (AP) — Fred Christlieb didn't want to be late for his business appointment, so he decided not to wait for the mechanic but to change a flat tire himself — on a DC9.

Larry Litchfield, public information director for Hughes Air West, said in San Francisco Tuesday that Christlieb, 35, was among the passengers on a flight from Spokane, Wash., to Boise, Idaho, Monday when the plane's tire went flat upon landing at Lewiston.

Litchfield said airline officials announced that a mechanic would have to drive from Spokane to change the tire. But Christlieb, a computer service representative from Nine Mile Falls, Wash., said "I can change it" and produced a Federal Aviation Administration license that showed him to be a qualified DC9 mechanic.

The airline verified the license with the FAA and told Christlieb to go ahead.

"He lasted at least four hours," Litchfield said. "We bought him lunch and plan to buy him dinner soon."

DETROIT (AP) — According to its motto, the Coast Guard is "Always Prepared." Even to rescue a pregnant dog from an ice floe in Lake Erie.

The dog, who is mostly Dalmatian, was spotted shivering on the ice, about two miles off Cleveland's lake shore, by the crew of the cutter Ojibway in the midst of last week's blizzard.

Refusing to ignore a lady in distress, the crewmen swung the Ojibway around and approached the small cake of ice.

"The dog was not too enthused about jumping aboard," said Coast Guard Ensign Wayne Patrick, operations officer for Detroit headquarters.

GREENVILLE, Pa. (AP) — The snows of '78 came too late to threaten Cynthia Staynoff's perfect attendance record.

Greenville High School president Carl Scott said Tuesday that in recent rough weather, 200 to 400 students per day had been absent from the 11,500-student Greenville District.

But Miss Staynoff, who weathered every other storm in 12 years of schooling, graduated early this year. Not that the weather could have kept her home.

Through eight years of St. Michael's Grade School and four years at Greenville High, she never missed a day.

"I just didn't, and that's all," she said by phone from her parents' bakery in this northwestern Pennsylvania community.

Once in second grade, she said, her mother spotted a measles on her chin and "told me I wasn't allowed to go."

"But I got up early, put a bandage on my chin and went to school without telling her," she said.

"These states include Texas, South Carolina, Alabama, Ohio, Missouri, Kentucky, Delaware and West Virginia," he said.

Federal financial aid to students would not be affected if new federal funds are cut off to schools in the three states after 45 days, Califano said.

banning slacks in the chapel, classrooms and cafeteria be modified on extremely cold days.

So far the school administration is not budging.

In a recent editorial in the student newspaper, reporter Shelly Lamoreaux wrote: A standoff seemingly as unresolvable as that of Egypt and Israel over their common ground is brewing in the hearts of ORU women. During the recent freezing weather, those of us required to brave the elements with bare legs were cold. Cold."

Miss Lamoreaux, a 21-year-old senior, said most women students support the dress code during warmer weather.

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Gov. Hugh Carey says he'll do his best to see that New York state grape juice is available for sale in the cafeterias of the state office complex.

The governor is acting after Assemblyman Roland Kidder, who represents a grape-growing district, complained that he has even "had to settle for Florida orange juice" in state cafeterias.

"Since New York State doesn't raise oranges or pineapples, but does raise grapes I thought it would be appropriate for the state of New York to offer grape juice in the cafeterias," wrote Kidder.

World headquarters of the Welch grape juice company is in his district.

In his reply, Carey said thirsty souls should take some consolation in the fact that "stronger New York State grape juice" is available in one cafeteria.

He referred to a new policy, criticized by some legislators, which makes wine and beer available in one state cafeteria.

Andrada Found Not Guilty

Loretta Andrada, 19, was found not guilty of a marijuana possession charge Thursday in 222nd District Court.

The eight-woman, five-man jury reached its verdict after recessing late Wednesday night.

Mrs. Andrada had been charged with felony possession of marijuana after police found approximately 6.6 ounces of the drug in her automobile last July 2.

Hobo Makes Buck a Head

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) — Ol' Freight Train does a lot of odd jobs, but these one he does the most is picking up chips off the old block.

His real name is Bill Gautney and he's a full-fledged, genuine hobo who rides the rails to and from fat stock shows and rodeos following herds of cows and picking up after them.

He gets paid a dollar a head, so in Fort Worth, he's picking up about $150 a night at the Southwestern Exposition and Fat Stock Show.

They call him "Freight Train" because he lives on them, and because he can sound just like one.

All it takes is a "RRoo, RRROOO" and Freight Train transforms from a manure picker-upper to a pied piper in an instant, and children come running.

This is his 20th year at the Fort Worth show and he has become as much of a fixture as the 10-gallon hats and fancy boots that adorn both the cowpokes and dudes alike who travel here.

Freight Train's attire is not quite so western chic. It's difficult to tell the color of his work boots because they're pretty covered, his jacket is torn and his black hat has been through a few heavy storms.

"I was dropped on a doorstep C.O.D. in Enid, Oklahoma," he says. "It was a priest's house. I was about six months old when Bert Gautney, miner and a wrestler, came to the orphanage. He said, 'I think you'll do.'"

His stepfather died when Freight Train was 11, and he's been riding the rails ever since.

He says the brakemen are pretty good about telling him what cars he can call home for a trip. He can't say the same for engineers and railroad detectives, however. "They don't have much to do with you," he said.

But like any respectable hobo, he's learned how to get back aboard once he's been kicked off.

"I wait 'til the train's passing and catch it on the fly. I sleep on the train all wrapped up in my paper to keep warm," he said.

committee members suggested Carter might want to delay his proposed tax cut. The Statement by Hollings, who in the past has been prominent in fights for tax revisions, was the most pessimistic yet about Carter's tax package. House Speaker Thomas P. O'Neill has said Carter might get about 60 percent of what he wanted.

The president has said the proposed tax revisions must accompany the tax reduction if his economic plans are to work.

higher today.

Federal white-collar workers receive yearly pay raises based on inflation, and in addition get virtually automatic raises of 3.3 percent every year or two. They were originally designed as merit increases to be granted to those who demonstrated an "acceptable level of competence," but 99.32 percent get them as soon as they are eligible, according to Civil Service Commission figures.

The reason is that employees can appeal to the commission if their bosses try to deny them a raise, putting the boss through literally months of paperwork and hearings. Very few bosses risk such aggravation.

Bosses can grant their best workers a 3.3 percent pay raise ahead of schedule, but the paperwork required to do so is considerable and only 3.5 percent of all white-collar workers receive such increases. Bosses also have authority to grant one-time cash bonuses, but they average $227 apiece and 4.7 percent get them.

"The only inference that can be drawn from these data is that top performers do not receive significantly greater pay than mediocre, average or better than average employees," said the President's Personnel Management Task Force.

the General Accounting Office.

While pay for lower-wage federal workers is often higher than for comparable work in business, pay for top-level federal executives tends to be much lower.

A 1975 study found that the top lawyer in a corporation with sales over $250 million a year could expect to earn $89,000 a year in salary and bonus. By contrast, the chief counsel of the Internal Revenue Service, whose legal rulings affected literally tens of billions of U.S. tax dollars, earned $37,800.

The Congressional Budget Office said in a report a year ago that the average pay for top federal executives would have to be raised by 40 percent to bring it to a level comparable with salaries and bonuses paid to top business executives.

The top salary paid to federal civil service executives is $47,500 a year. The 1975 study showed that large corporations then typically paid $104,000 a year to their financial vice presidents, $65,000 a year to their treasurers and controllers, $93,000 a year to their administrative vice presidents, $69,000 a year to their vice presidents for industrial relations, and $59,000 a year to their engineering vice presidents. Those rates would be developed by committees of administrators and teachers.

Manchee said there are "six or seven other committees" besides the one which met in January to draw up a testing plan that have scheduled future meetings to determine various stages of implementation of an overall program.

tax cuts would help create one million jobs by the end of the year.

While the administration was encouraged by the downward trend in unemployment at the close of 1977, it remained concerned about the high rate of joblessness among blacks and minorities.

Unemployment for those job seekers in December was 12.5 percent. For black youth it was 37.3 percent. The jobless rate for whites was 5.6 percent, and for white youth it was 12.6 percent.

To try to deal with the problem of black paid one-third higher than necessary. He based this on a comparison with pay levels in banking, insurance, telephone communications and electric utilities.

Those industries paid an average of $5.39 per hour in 1976, while the Postal Service paid an average of $7.20, he said.

The Commission on Postal Service last year concluded that post pay has merely been raised "to levels comparable with wages of employees in major industrial private employment."

However, this comparison did not include a major hidden cost — pensions.

The commission, two of whose seven members were postal union officials, based their conclusion on a study of employees in steelmaking, auto manufacturing, transportation and communications, industries whose pay scales are higher than the service industries studied by Adie. The commission found postal pay and fringe benefits cost an average of $8.05 per hour while private pay in those industries averaged $8.04. This ignores the unfunded cost of federal pensions for government workers, which could easily add another $1.60 to $2.40 per hour to the true long-term cost of postal employment, based on recent studies by the Civil Service Commission and

Antique Sale Underway, Tours of House Begin

L'Allegra Study Club's fifth annual Antique Show and Sale, which is underway now at the Community Center, is a ticket to see the E. B. Black house, 508 W. 3rd St.

By purchasing admission to the antique show for $1.50 an individual will have the opportunity to visit the Black home, which has been added to the properties of the County Historical Museum. This is the first time that the residence has been opened to the public since it was restored by the Historical Society.

Tours of the old home will be the same as those of the antique sale: from 1-9 p.m. today and Saturday, and from 1-6 p.m. Sunday.

Following its formal dedication at Eastertime, the Black residence will be available as a community meeting place, ideal for social clubs. The home was built in 1908 and was designed with entertaining in mind.

Meanwhile at the Community Center, more than 15 antique dealers from three states are offering a large variety of authentic antiques. The merchandise will include desks, ice boxes, inkwells, stained glass, silver, copper, brass, jewelry, rugs, furniture, primitive glass and more.

Antique dealers who are participating in the current show come from Appleton, Mo., Fort Worth, Lubbock, Ruidosa, N.M., Odessa, Plainview, Pampa, Alamogordo, N.M., Amarillo and Shallowater.

Door prizes are to be presented to lucky ticket-holders by Flowers West, The Yellow Daisy, Melrose Nursery, The Funny Farm and Park Ave. Florist.

Proceeds of this year's ticket sales are to be given to the Historical Society, which plans to replace the exterior pillars at the Black house with Grecian Ionic columns, a part of the structure's original appearance. Each year, L'Allegra Study Club has donated the proceeds of its antique sale to a project benefitting the entire community.

Jody Skiles is chairman of the ongoing show and Janet Caviness is club president.

Admiring Antique Items

Members of L'Allegra Study Club were at the Community Center yesterday, assisting antique dealers in preparation for the annual Antique Show and Sale, which began today at 1 p.m. In the photo at left, antique dealer Mrs. C.E. Catholic School Week Being Celebrated Here

Catholic Schools Week is being observed now at parochial schools throughout the nation, including St. Anthony's School in Hereford.

Staffed by six Franciscan sisters of Mary Immaculate with provincial headquarters in Amarillo, St. Anthony's School was founded by Sisters of the Atonement in the early 1920's. In 1942, the present Order of Franciscan Sisters assumed charge of the school in a building which is now housed at the Deaf Smith County Historical Museum. The present school building was erected in 1954 with a library section added in 1968.

There are only four parochial schools in this region, including ones at Clovis, N.M., Amarillo, Lubbock and Levelland. The local school offers classes from the kindergarten through sixth grade levels.

Sister Wendelina, principal of St. Anthony's, said, "Besides giving thorough training in the three R's the fourth R is made the nucleus of the whole educational process. The fourth R, Religion, is not only taught to the students, but intended to be caught by them as well."

She explained, "A religious, God-centered atmosphere permeates the whole school and every subject taught. Children are aware of the presence of Christ in the midst of them."

"A God-centered curriculum, religious value formation, quality education alternatives, specialized student-need programs and outstanding sportsmanship are the major concerns of the administrators and staff. Generous parishioners help to keep the school open for the benefit of our young people whose parents appreciate a religious training and value formation system," she said.

In conclusion, Sister Wendelina thanked "all those who have ever contributed something toward the success of our Catholic parochial school, of which we are very proud."

Aggie Mothers Elect Officers

Aggie Mothers Club members faced a full agenda earlier this week at their annual business meeting, with the election of officers and the revision of the organization's by-laws.

The revision included an increase in the number of officers to be elected to serve the needs of the growing organization. Since its inception in 1972, the club has grown from nine to 36 members.

Officers will serve for two years instead of the previous one year terms, with part of these officers elected during even-numbered years and the remainder during odd-numbered years.

Re-elected to serve for the remainder of this year were: Mrs. Walter Hardin, president; Mrs. Hilrey Aven, recording secretary; and Mrs. Austin Rose, Jr., historian. New officers also elected to serve this one year term were: Mrs. Beryl Fish, vice president for membership and telephone; Mrs. Hollis Klett, vice president for projects; and Mrs. David Beavers, corresponding secretary.

Selected to serve for a two-year term were Mrs. Bob Hicks, treasurer; and Mrs. Werner Koelzer, reporter.

Mrs. Austin Rose, Jr., will be presented as the club's nominee to be honored as an outstanding woman of the Panhandle at the West Texas State University Womens award luncheon on April 22. Each year WTSU honors a number of women who, besides filling the time honored rolls of mothers and homemakers, have distinguished themselves by outstanding business, professional or volunteer service.

Attending the Aggie Mothers luncheon meeting were Mes. Beavers, J.J. Durham, Rose, Bud Eades, Alton Hollingsworth, Hardin, Aven, Klett, Lynn Pittard, Fred Alston, Eugene Hendon, Frank Ford and Koelzer.

Ann Landers Note of Experience

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Please warn parents everywhere about the sick, perverted people who take advantage of young children. I write from experience.

Just last week our little boy was abducted off the street by a man who told him he needed help in looking for his dog. This happened a half block from our home.

We have cautioned our children many times about going off with strangers but still this creepy, sick man was able to talk our son into getting into his car.

We are thankful to God our child wasn't killed. The police found him several hours later in the next town. He had been dropped off, his hands were tied behind him with wire, and there was evidence that he had been sexually molested. The boy had a dollar in his hand and said the man told him to "walk home."

I beg every parent who reads this letter to be aware that it could happen to their child. It's terrible to think about this but the world is full of sick people who prey on little children. The damage they can do to a young mind is beyond calculation.

Thank you, Ann, for getting this message across to millions. It is a genuine service to mankind. — A Mother Who is Counting Her Blessings

DEAR MOTHER: Here's your letter which says it better than I could. And now may I add a word of my own?

You don't say how old you son is. If he is under five years of age he should not have been wandering around unsupervised. You can say you have warned your children against getting into cars with strangers, but apparently your warnings were not sufficiently effective. This is why children under five should not be permitted to play outside alone. Either an older brother or sister or some adult should be within view.

Young children cannot comprehend the dangers of getting into cars, accepting candy or money from strangers and going off with them. So along with your letter I want to add this additional word of caution to parents: Make sure your message to your youngsters is understood and that you give them the message often enough and strongly enough so that it makes a firm impression.

DEAR ANN: Please publish this for young people who think pot is so great:

Philosophy of a Pot-Head — Or Nothing Matters
My pockets are empty — so WHAT?

I owe everybody — LET 'EM WAIT,
I have no job — LET OTHERS WORK.

My car broke down — DAD'LL GET IT FIXED.
I dropped out of school — WHO NEEDS IT?
My life is a mess — ISN'T EVERYBODY'S?

But I have good friends — COP-OUTS LIKE ME.
And I'm happy — AM I? Yes, but give me a few minutes to get high first.

DEAR FRIEND: I'm sure a lot of marijuana users will laugh their heads off and call the poem ridiculous, but now it seems pot is turning out to be riskier than ever. Lately I've been hearing from teenagers who are getting Angel-Dust mixed in with their pot. (Street dealers can be pretty scummy.) The kids are ending up in emergency rooms of hospitals, freaked out like you wouldn't believe. So — watch it, out there.

BE A FRIEND, HAVE A FRIEND
JOAN DWYER DIRECTOR

"OUCH"

There are several types of cruelty. The hardest to handle is verbal and every bit as damaging as physical.

Dr. Rolland Parker employs the "Ouch Principle" in reaction to verbal attacks. If someone steps on your toe, you're likely to say "ouch." Do the same when they step on your feelings to let them know you've been hurt.

After you've said "ouch", watch their reaction. Some people may try to explain their offense. Perhaps it was a misunderstanding.

Through an exchange of honest feelings, the problem can be worked out between you.

There may be, however, others who will deny their attack on you or will state that you are being "oversensitive." (Have you heard that one?) They will maintain they have a right to their opinion. If they find your "Achilles" heel, they may strike again!

I have begun to heed the advise of a good friend of mine. She has eliminated from her life people who are hurtful or indifferent to her feelings.

Caution! Be honest with yourself before you start the elimination. Make sure you have not done something to precipitate the attack.

Verbal cruelty can be a two-way street. Watch your own use of language. Once words are out of your mouth, you can't recall them!

You wouldn't want someone saying "ouch" to you.

Laughing gas was first used during a tooth extraction in 1844.

Bridge Club Announces Winners

The Community Duplicate Bridge Club has announced those winners during the month of January:

On Jan. 6, winners of the Swiss team match were Wayne and Mary Thomas, Ed Wilson and J.P. Jones.

On Jan. 13, Ed Wilson and Troyce Carmichael took first place honors in open pairs. Winning second place were Alma Pittenger and J.P. Jones.

During the Jan. 20 membership game, Alma Pittenger and Seletta Gholson won first while Joannis Roberts and Nancy Green, both of Dimmitt, took second.

In open pairs competition Jan. 27, first place was won by Steve and Genevieve Clements and second was won by J.T. Gilbreath and Alma Pittenger. That same evening, in novice pairs, Esther Springer and Ursalee Jacobsen won first and Lilah Grubb and Lucille Guinn won second.

For God So Loved The World

IT'S ABOUT TIME — FOR FAITH TO MAKE YOUR LIFE COUNT

How soon the days and years will pass
We know beyond a doubt;
Like sand within the hourglass,
The time is running out.
Of course we can't reduce its speed,
But to a great extent,
By doing any kindly deed
It can be wisely spent.
In Church, your faith will show you how
To make each moment last
Enough to do some good right now,
Before it joins the past.
You'll learn you have so much to give,
As time alone will tell;
And so, it's not how LONG you live;
What matters is, how WELL!

'Surviving Dating Game' To Be Speaker's Topic

CANYON — Many assaults on women occur in the dating environment. Over half of the assaults are made by someone that woman knows.

Frederic Storaska will speak on "Sex and Surviving the Dating Game" at 7:30 p.m. on Feb. 9 in the Ballroom of the Activities Center at West Texas State University.

Admission will cost 50 cents at the door. Storaska discusses human sexuality in the context of the interaction and response of a man and woman to each other.

Factors he includes in his speech include the biological, sociological and psychological expectations, potentialities, limitations and responsibilities of a man and woman to each other as discussed in his lecture.

Storaska takes a non-sensational approach to the program.

Storaska became interested in preventing rape when as a young man he witnessed a young girl being raped and assaulted by a gang of teenage boys.

He fought off the assailants but the girl had already been seriously injured.

Following this event, Storaska traveled to several universities in search of information on assaults.

He found that very little research had been done on the subject. He concentrated his energy and resources of solving the problems of assaults on men, women and children.

In the past 12 years, Storaska has presented his rape-prevention students at over 600 colleges and universities across the country.

In 1974 Storaska established the National Organization for the Prevention of Rape and

NAACP Now on Target

Northern cities.

That, of course, is what the Rev. Jesse Jackson is doing.

And the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP) in its most recent efforts is right on target.

The NAACP is dedicated to defending the economic social and political interests of black Americans.

Now it finds all three of those interests in jeopardy because President Carter's energy policy is preoccupied with using instead of producing more.

The NAACP's National Energy Conference concluded with a unanimous recommendation that we should deregulate oil and gas prices and put more emphasis on nuclear power.

This conference report reveals an awareness that we cannot dig deeper without spending more.

And that nuclear energy, now producing more than 10 percent of our nation's electricity, could produce 100 percent.

The NAACP, heretofore concerned mostly with legal barriers to the upward movement of blacks, now recognizes that the barriers to further advancement are mostly economic.

A growing number of black intellectuals and professionals are aware that a vigorously advancing economy carries everybody with it.

That is why economic consultant Andrew Brimmer

What's in a Name? Plenty Says Ledbetter

AUSTIN (AP) — Harry Ledbetter said Thursday that a famous name is not a free ticket into public office.

"There's never been a president named Harry Ledbetter, and I hope there's never been an outlaw named Harry Ledbetter, but it sure sounds good for the next treasurer of the state of Texas," he told reporters after officially filing as a Democratic candidate for treasurer.

His chief primary opponent is Warren G. Harding, former Dallas County treasurer who was appointed to the job after long-time Treasurer Jesse James died several months ago.

Ledbetter, former executive in the comptroller's department, said the financing of his campaign was well under way. "I have banked over $120,000 toward a goal of $3,000 because that's the kind of capital required for a successful statewide race," he said.

Ledbetter said he expects to raise another $100,000 the next 30 days, much of it during a three-day fund-raising telethon in Houston Feb. 13-15.

Improvement Needed

Second Half Begins

By BOB NIGH
Sports Editor

The Hereford Whitefaces, their backs to the wall along with the rest of District 4-4A excluding the first-half winners Monterey Plainsmen, begin what they hope is a successful drive to the district playoffs tonight when the Coronado Mustangs invade the La Plata gymnasium for a 7:30 p.m. battle.

The Whitefaces must win the second half outright in order to force a playoff for the loop crown with the Plainsmen, who copped the first half title with a perfect 4-0 mark, or hope that Monterey is not involved in a tie for the second half.

The Plainsmen are already 1-0 in the loop this half after a convincing 50-36 win over the Plainview Bulldogs Tuesday night. The Herd, meanwhile, was dropping an exciting 89-84 decision to the Clovis Wildcats.

While Kelly Kitchens and David Schumacher have enjoyed some success in district play thus far with 20.3 and 13.7 scoring averages respectively, coach Bobby Decker has to get more support from the rest of his team. Robert Lee Graves, an 11.1 scorer through the non-district schedule (excluding Tuesday's game), has fallen off to a 5.0 production in loop action.

Graves showed promise of breaking out of his slump against the Wildcats Tuesday with 19 points, 17 of which came in the first half.

But, while Graves' improvement will be a big asset coach Bobby Decker sees his role as just part of the problem. "We need to see improvement in our other four starters," Robert Lee included. "Everyone's starting to defense Kelly now, and the others need to take up some of the slack."

Decker feels the team needs to get the ball to Schumacher more since the 6-3 senior is shooting well. "David has been hot from the field and we need to concentrate on getting the ball to him more," he said. In the same vein, the Whitefaces must get more points from David Arney, their other inside man.

The need for improvement doesn't stop there, however. Decker is looking to more point-production from guards Jackie Mercer, the fifth starter, and from sixth-man Brent Allen. "We need to have Jackie and Brent shoot more the second half," he said. "They have been hesitant to shoot, and we need to drive on the basket more with them to take some of the pressure off of us outside."

Mercer ranks third on the team in scoring during loop play with an 8.3 standard. Arney has hit 7.0 points per contest, while Allen has contributed 5.3.

Schumacher tops the team in shooting percentage from both the field and free throw line in district play. He has hit 51 percent from the field (21-41), while being nearly perfect from the stripe with 13-15 performance (87 percent). Kitchens has shooting 50 percent (34-68) against district foes, and is hitting 72 percent of his free throws (13-18).

Mercer sports a 46 percent effort from the field (13-28), and has been true on 11 of 15 free throws (73 percent), the same as Allen. Allen has a 45 percent mark from the field with five of 11 shots going in the hoop.

Arney is shooting 41 percent (11-27) from the field and 83 percent from the line (5-6), while Graves has hit 29 percent of his field goals (6-21) and 67 percent of his free throws (8-12).

The Herd has shown improvement in another key area according to the coach. Hereford has collected 82 rebounds in the last two games (they averaged 35 per game through the first four loop tilts), and are showing more aggression on the offensive end of the court.

Schumacher leads the team in rebounds with a 9.0 average in district action. Graves has helped out with 27 caroms (6.8 per game), while Arney has 23 (5.8), and Mercer has 21 (5.3).

"Our ability to keep control on the boards will be the key in the stretch," Decker said. Hopefully the Herd will have re-charged their "Die-Hards" for the second half. The "Faces" fell behind quickly in both their losses to Coronado and Monterey in the first half. The Mustangs roared out to a 25-8 advantage before the Herd finally got going, and the Plainsmen led by six points early and improved the gap to eight points throughout the second period before finally winning the game by 10.

La Plata 8th Single Winner

The La Plata Maverick 8th graders were the only local junior high girls' basketball team to register a victory Thursday afternoon as La Plata hosted teams from Plainview, and Stanton was at home against Canyon foes.

Amy Schumacher and Debra Rogers tallied 10 points each in leading the 8th grade Mavs to a 36-20 win over Plainview at the La Plata gym. Brenda Strauss added six points to the winning total.

In other games concerning La Plata the 7th graders fell by a 32-11 count to Plainview and the Mav frosh dropped a 33-25 decision. Keile Robinson led the Mav frosh in the loss with 12 points, while Deannette Vigil scored six.

At Stanton Canyon took all three games over the Dogies. Stanton lost the 7th grade battle 23-14, dropped the 8th grade match 39-17, and lost the freshman tilt 31-26.

Violeta Valdez led the Dogie 7th grade in its loss with 8 points, while Angela Brown added four and Rosie Garza two. Lori Albracht's 12 points topped the 8th grade in its loss, while Teresa Brown scored three points, and Carrie Jones and Lori Warren added one each.

The freshman game at At Stanton Canyon took all three games over the Dogies. Stanton lost the 7th grade battle 23-14, dropped the 8th grade match 39-17, and lost the freshman tilt 31-26.

In a doubleheader at Madison Square Garden in New York, Phil Ness scored 28 points to lead Lafayette over Fordham 79-76 and St. John's beat Cincinnati 75-66 as George Johnson and Reggie Carter each scored 20 points.

Stanton was close all the way with the Dogies trailing the entire game. Stanton pulled to within one point at 27-26 as the game ended, but four quick points by the visitors ended the rally in a 31-26 decision.

Corina Suarez led Stanton in the game with 11 points, while Louise Mays scored nine. Closing out the effort were Connie Huffaker, Barbie Koelzer, and Sheryl Roddy with two points each.

The junior high girls close out the season next Thursday with La Plata at home against Canyon, and Stanton on the road against another Canyon team.

MSU Defense Shines; Offense Another Story

By KEN RAPPOPORT
AP Sports Writer

On defense, Michigan State's players take their instructions by cue cards from the sidelines in one of the most unique systems in college basketball. On offense, they're on their own.

Actually, that was the problem Thursday night.

The seventh-ranked Spartans did okay defensively, holding

Four other Top Twenty teams lost in a night of multiple upsets. South Alabama defeated No. 15 Florida State 58-56; St. Bonaventure shocked No. 16 Providence 72-64; Wake Forest beat No. 17 Duke 79-60 and Portland turned back No. 20 San Francisco 101-87.

Elsewhere, third-ranked Marquette whipped Penn State 73-60; No. 5 UCLA downed Stanford 101-64 and No. 10 New Mexico edged Wyoming 94-91. Lozier, a sophomore guard who has seen little action this season, let the winning shot go against Michigan State from beyond the key after the Wolverines had called timeout with three seconds left. The Spartans had trailed by 14 point-semidry through the half before coming back to make a game of it behind Earvin Johnson.

Lonnie Leggett hit a 35-foot shot at the buzzer to lead South Alabama over Florida State. The Seminoles missed a close shot before South Alabama's Thomas Ledford got the rebound. He fed Leggett, who took one step over the midcourt line and threw the ball in cleanly.

Nick Urzetta scored 18 points and Greg Sanders and Tim Waterman had 16 each to lead St. Bonaventure past Providence. The Bonnies shot 58 percent from the floor in winning their sixth straight game. The loss was the third straight for the skidding Frairs.

Rod Griffin and Leroy McDonald combined for 40 points to lead Wake Forest over Duke. The Deacons led by 42-24 at intermission and the Blue Devils, playing without center Mike Gminski, could come no closer than 12 points in the second half.

Darwin Cook scored 41 points, one short of the Portland high-powered Michigan to 65 points. But they only got 63 themselves - and the reason was a highly visible offensive goof. "You've got to make those shots," said Michigan State Coach Jud Heathcote, talking about a missed layup by Bob Chapman that cost State the important Big Ten game.

The teams were tied at 63 in the last minute when Michigan State intercepted an inbound pass by the Wolverines. Chapman drove in for what appeared to be a cinch layup, but missed.

Heathcote moaned. "He had a 10-foot lead, slows down and blows it," Heathcote said. "Bobby didn't have a good night."

From the view of Michigan Coach Johnny Orr, it looked as if his reserve guard, Mark Lozier, had blocked the shot. That was debatable. But Lozier's basket a few seconds later wasn't.

He sank a 30-footer at the buzzer to sink Michigan State. "It was a great effort by Lozier on the block," said Orr, "and then on his basket that gave us the win."

Overpowering

Plainview's Gay Hemphill [25] puts up a shot despite the defensive efforts of Hereford's Marie Schilling [hidden] as Bulldog Kim Laird [11] looks on. Hemphill scored 27 points in the first half in leading Plainview to a 57-45 win over the Herd here Thursday night. The Bulldog star could manage but two more points the rest of the night, however, and finally fouled out of the game with five minutes remaining. (Photo by Jim Banner).

Hemphill Leads 'Dogs Past 'Faces, 57-45

By BOB NIGH
Sports Editor

Gay Hemphill's 27 first-half points propelled the Plainview Bulldog girls to a 57-45 victory over the Hereford Whitefaces here Thursday night as the 'Dogs upped their district mark to 11-1 in handing the Herd its sixth loop loss against the same number of wins.

Hemphill's first half heroics were enough to pave the way for Plainview despite her near ineffectiveness in the second half. Hemphill finished the night with 29 points before fouling out of the game with 5:00 left in the contest.

The Whitefaces were experiencing some foul difficulty of their own along the way, however. Coach Roy Shipp lost starters Tammy Heard and Marie Schilling in the third and final stanza respectively.

Hereford was consistent through the first three periods, scoring 11 points in each of the eight-minute stanzas. Plainview took a 17-11 advantage after one period, however, and Hemphill led the visitors to a 21-11 advantage in the second quarter to gain a 38-22 margin at the half.

The lead was stretched to 47-30 late in the third quarter. Heard left the game with :57 left in the stanza with her fifth foul, and the 'Faces got a solo point from Penny Whiteside and a bucket from Sheri Whitaker to narrow the gap some as the period ended.

Paige Lloyd gave Plainview a 49-33 lead as the final stanza began, but the Whitefaces scrapped back with seven points in a row to put the pressure on. Whiteside hit a bucket with 5:10 remaining before Hemphill fouled out 10 seconds later. Whiteside hit both ends of a one-and-one situation, and then tacked on a free throw as a result of a technical against Hemphill to make it a 49-38 ballgame.

Schilling's basket with 4:47 left closed the gap to nine points, but that was as close as the Herd could get the rest of the way.

Schilling led the Herd charge in the game with 12 points and eight rebounds. Whitaker finished with nine points and two caroms, while Whiteside tallied eight points and collected three rebounds.

Closing out the Hereford scoring were Denise Albracht with six, Heard, five, Jean Ann Bartels, three, and Lisa Duggan, two. Albracht also hauled down six rebounds in the contest.

Hemphill's 29 led the winners, while Lloyd added eight points, and Della Riggins contributed six.

Plainview outshot the hosts from both the field and free throw line. The Bulldogs hit 19 of 47 shots from the field (40 percent), and 19 of 29 free tosses (65 percent). Hereford was below both those figures with a 28 percent effort from the field (15-53) and 46 percent from the line (15-32).

The Hereford junior varsity kept the night from being a total waste for Hereford with a convincing 46-30 win over the Bulldog JV. Beverly Nixon tallied 17 points in the win, while Darlene Sanders pitched in 14 more. Melissa Tatum and Jennifer Griffin added four points each to the total, while Kerry Hacker scored three, and Rhonda Foard and Felinda Trolinder tallied two each.

Wrestling Returns To Bull Barn

Wrestling action returns to the Bull Barn Saturday night at 8 p.m., sponsored by the Hereford Lions Club. The main event will see tag action with four top contestants. Roger Kirby, former junior Heavyweight champion of the world, teams up with manager-wrestler J.J. Dillon against the Super Destroyer and Larry Lane. Kirby had trouble making the 230-pound weight limit of the junior heavyweight championship. At ten pounds over, he recently broke a world record by doing a 2800 pound leg press.

His partner, five pounds lighter at 235, is an athletic wizard who has relied more on trickery than his natural ability to conquer the wrestling world.

Dillon formerly managed Abdullah the butcher, and now guides Brute Bernard and Angel Morrell.

The Super Destroyer and Lane are both former international champions. The bear-like Destroyer, a squat 250-pounder from Los Angeles, has not been unmasked in eight years. Lane, ex-collegiate great, medalled in the World Games in both Greco-Roman and Freestyle competition.

In semi-main action, Angel Morrell, who alternately claims many places as his birthplace, takes on Ervin Smith. Morrell

The win upped the JV's district mark to 5-7.

Hereford will travel to Borger Monday and will then host the Amarillo High Sandies next Thursday.

outweighs the 238-pound Smith by nearly twenty pounds. The Angel is said to have often wrestled under a mask. His appearance would justify it. Smith hails from Tampa, Florida.

He was national A.A.U. wrestling champion, and trained as a pro under former national amateur champion Jack Brisco, who later held the professional world title with distinction. Jerry Brisco, another former collegiate star, helped in Smith's professional education.

Opening mat action will see 240-pound Don Kernodle take on the powerful 228-pound Don Fargo. Kernodle made his professional debut by coming out of the audience to challenge former olympian and national greco-roman champion Bob Roop. Kernodle lasted eight minutes. About six more than any other challenger had stayed with Roop.

Fargo is an ex-biker who rode with a notorious gang, and a member of the American Nazi Party. Never popular, he has nonetheless drawn large crowd throughout the country with his superb condition and bruising tactics.

Winston's Wife Didn't Like Painting, So . . .

By HUGH A. MULLIGAN
AP Special Correspondent
LONDON (AP) - So Baroness Spencer-Churchill chucked Graham Sutherland's portrait of Sir Winston into the fireplace at Chartwell. Or perhaps slashed it with the sword left in the closet from his days as First Lord of the Admiralty.

Lady Clementine Spencer-Churchill, who died last month, destroyed the painting while Winnie was still alive, according to the announcement of the three executors, who included Lady Soames, Churchill's daughter. The fate of the portrait, valued at $150,000, had been a matter of cocktail circuit speculation for 23 years.

Portrait artist Sutherland said the demise of his masterpiece was "without question an act of vandalism," but it should have come as no surprise. The British always have been tough on their painters.

Private Eye, the satirical press magazine, regularly ran Sutherland's portrait of the jowly, rather stout Lord Goodman as a mock pharmaceutical ad under the headline "Conspicuous?"

Art in England never has been revered and encouraged as in the warmer Mediterranean countries. Some blame it on the beastly British weather, the lack of decent light that accounts for the murkiness of Turner and Whistler and others of the fog-bound palette school. Others blame Henry VIII's dissolution of the monasteries, the ransacking of idolatrous images by the Puritan Parliament and the general lack of church patronage.

Shelley thought the genius of Michelangelo was "highly overrated. He has no temperance, no modesty, no feeling for the just boundaries of art . . . no sense of beauty." Bryon, who dressed like every romantic's idea of an artist, confessed he "did not think much of Murillo and Velasquez" and "was never so disgusted in my life as with Rubens and his eternal wives and infernal glare of colors."

Critic James Agate told of the reaction of the Mayor of Lancashire town upon being presented with a pair of unclad statues: "Art is art, and nothing can be done about it, but there is the Mayor's decency to be considered." The unveiling of Jacob Epstein's statue "Rima" in Hyde Park proved blunders and horror. "I confess it makes me physically a little sick," said Novelist John Galsworthy. "The wretched woman has two sets of breasts."

Balanced Growth Committee Declares Interdependence

WASHINGTON (AP) - The White House Conference on Balanced Growth presented President Carter Thursday with a "declaration of interdependence" and recommended that Washington take over the total cost of welfare and Medicaid from state and local governments.

"We need a national growth and economic development policy, and we need it now." The delegates called for a joint congressional committee to undertake the task and said states also should perform growth planning.

A workshop summary told Carter of "a pervading recognition of finite material resources." It added: "Despite the disparate prospects and circumstances of the diverse communities from which we had come, none of our discussions were infected by a philosophy of 'I've got mine now you get yours.'" The summary said the nation must seek greater coordination between federal, state and local governments.

WASHINGTON (AP) - HEW Secretary Joseph A. Califano Jr. said Thursday he and President Carter agree that a proposal by an influential congressman to let the health care industry voluntarily control hospital costs can't work.

The secretary of health, education and welfare was asked at a news conference for his reaction to a proposal by Rep. Dan Rostenkowski, D-Ill., to shelve the administration's bill to put a 9 percent cap on hospital fee increases.

Rostenkowski, chairman of the House Ways and Means health subcommittee which now has the administration measure before it, told the American Medical Association Wednesday he plans to introduce legislation that would give the industry two years to slow rising hospital charges.

Senate last year but stalled in the House Ways and Means and Senate Finance Committees, has been termed by proponents as the administration's first step toward national health insurance.

Remarks at a closing ceremony of the four-day meeting, Carter noted the call "for shifting the financial burden to Washington and the responsibility away from Washington," and said he favors decentralized government. But he made no commitment toward assuming the huge costs of social services.

The administration's legislation which got through two committees in the House and Califano told reporters the hospitals came to the government in 1974 asking for relief from national wage and price controls and promising to voluntarily hold down costs.

Califano told reporters the hospitals came to the government in 1974 asking for relief from national wage and price controls and promising to voluntarily hold down costs.

Churchill himself, a talented landscape painter, knew what he liked and didn't like in art. Picasso, he didn't like, as Sir Alfred Munnings, president of the conservative Royal Academy revealed at the dinner installing him as an honorary member.

HUD Sued by Cities

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Department of Housing and Urban Development is being sued by a nationwide group of small towns and cities in a challenge to pending community aid regulations.

Robert Elliott, HUD counsel during the Ford administration, filed the class action lawsuit on behalf of all communities with populations of 50,000 or less, challenging the legality of the proposed HUD regulations.

The National Association of Smaller Communities, the Mississippi Conference of Black Mayors and 10 other communities allege in the suit that HUD would work "severe hardships" by prohibiting their participation in certain Community Development Block Grant programs.

But he was so unsophisticated about the business then he says he didn't even bring a demonstration record, mandatory now for any young singer or writer hoping to get a foot in the door.

"I think people like Joseph Cates and Pierre Cossette have done a lot to broaden the appeal and acceptance of our kind of music."

"It's the vision of these people - who know what the networks require for a national audience - that has done a lot for people like myself in Nashville."

"If I was starting cold right now, more than ever I would do it exactly as I did it then, just with the Tennessee Two," he said, meaning the bare-bones musical backing of his first hit.

Tarrant DA To Deny Bond

FORT WORTH (AP) - Tarrant County District Attorney Tim Curry said Thursday he will use a new state law to hold without bond some of those persons arrested in a fencing operation run by police.

Curry said the law, which went into effect late last year, allows a person indicted on a felony charge and out on bail to be held without bail for any subsequent offense.

At least 76 persons were in custody Thursday following a sweep by local and federal law enforcement officers. Sealed indictments naming 102 persons were opened Tuesday night and the roundup began.

Recovered was about $1.5 million in stolen goods. The project is funded by the Law Enforcement Assistance Administration.

Police Chief A.J. Brown said his men recovered 138 pieces of "rolling stock" such as automobiles, boats and construction equipment. Citizens band radios, stereos, televisions, motorcycles and home appliances were recovered.

Police spent about $117,000 in about 450 buys to recover more than 2,000 pieces of stolen property during the six months of intensive undercover work.

About 85 percent of the stolen merchandise already has been identified, Officer Sam Cobb said, while all stolen automobiles have been identified by the owners.

Smith's 32 Carry Cavs Past Slumping Bullets

Not the flu, a headache nor tired eyes could keep Elmore Smith from his appointed mission: to play well against the Washington Bullets.

Cleveland's 7-foot center, in his best performance of the National Basketball Association season, scored 32 points and hauled in 24 rebounds Thursday night, leading the Cavaliers to a 110-93 victory over the slumping Bullets, who suffered their 11th road loss in 13 games.

"He came in and played sick," pointed out Cleveland Coach Bill Fitch, after the Cavaliers had ended a three-game losing streak. "He and Campy Russell, who did not play both came up with the flu today. It was a tremendous performance."

Smith played 47 minutes, and Fitch said, "It would have taken an act of Congress to get him out of there. Each timeout in the first half, I kept telling he'd come out when he missed. He just didn't miss."

"With the height advantage (over 6-8 Wes Unseld), I felt I could get my shot," said Smith. "I made a few shot early, and I just kept at it."

"I'm tired," he added. "I have a bad headache, and my eyes bother me. But I felt okay out there."

In other NBA games, the San Antonio Spurs beat the New York Knicks 123-113 for their eighth straight victory, the Kansas City Kings downed the Detroit Pistons 113-101, the Atlanta Hawks edged the Indiana Pacers 107-105, and the Golden State Warriors topped the Milwaukee Bucks 105-102.

Smith scored 19 points and grabbed a club-record 16 rebounds in the first half when Cleveland took a commanding 51-38 lead.

Spurs 123, Knicks 113

All-Star starting forward Larry Kenon amassed 42 points and All-Star starting guard George Gervin collected 24 as San Antonio tied a franchise record for consecutive victories set in 1970 when the club was in Dallas in the American Basketball Association.

Bob McAdoo paced the Knicks with 20 points.

Kings 113, Pistons 101

Ron Boone's 29 points, including 12 in the decisive third period, helped Kansas City end a five-game losing streak and snap Detroit's winning string at five.

John Shumate and Eric Money each scored 20 points for the Pistons, but All-Star Bob Lanier had only 15 points, 10 below his average.

Hawks 107, Pacers 105

Steve Hawes scored a career-high 27 points and John Drew also netted 27, as Atlanta handed Indiana its fourth straight setback. Charlie Criss, at 5-8 the smallest player in the NBA, put the Hawks ahead for good 101-100 with 2:12 left. Earl Tatum led the Pacers with 23 points.

Warriors 105, Bucks 102

Clifford Ray scored three points and grabbed an important rebound in the final 15 seconds, climaxing a late Golden State rally that helped the Warriors overtake Milwaukee. Milwaukee had led 100-94 with 2:42 left, before the Warriors started their comeback.

Ongais Wins Dayton Pole; Rutherford Shines In Rain

By JERRY GARRETT
AP Motorsports Writer
DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (AP) - Danny Ongais won the pole position, but it was a two-time Indianapolis 500 winner Johnny Rutherford's effort that was the surprise of qualifying for Saturday's start of the 24 Hours of Daytona endurance race.

Rutherford, who has made his fame and fortune in Indianapolis-style racing where they compete neither in rain nor darkness, came up with the day's eighth best speed Thursday - in a downpour.

"I didn't know you could drive in the rain," marveled one competitor.

"No one's ever asked me," replied Rutherford, who is increasing his participation in road racing this year after 15 years of driving primarily on oval tracks.

"It's not so bad," Rutherford said. "The rain tires Goodyear has come up with hold the car very well, and I've had a lot of experience here on the banking, and that helps."

Daytona International Speedway's 3.84-mile road course snakes in and out of the track's infield for about a mile and a half, but the remainder of the course utilizes most of the 18-degree banked track used for stock car racing.

"The banking is something that takes getting used to for a road racer," Rutherford said. "These guys are mostly used to flat turns."

One of Rutherford's co-drivers, California car dealer

Dick Barbour, for instance, is very close to Rutherford's lap speeds on a regular road course like Watkins Glen's 3.377-mile layout. But here, Barbour is about 10 seconds slower.

As for his other teammate, Rutherford isn't sure what to expect. Manfred Schurti of Germany replaced score-armed Jacky Ickx on the team so late that he wasn't even at the track Thursday.

Before with the Rutherford-Barbour-Ickx combination, the team had been one of the favorites. Observers aren't so sure now, although Schurti is an accomplished endurance racer.

PORTLAND, Maine (AP) - The Philadelphia Flyers of the National Hockey League have called up Maine Mariners goalie Rick St. Croix to replace injured netminder Wayne Stephenson.

The Mariners - American Hockey League farm club of the Flyers - said Thursday that Stephenson will be out of the Philadelphia lineup for at least the next three games because of a pulled groin muscle.

BERLIN (AP) - Twenty-year-old boxer Joerg Eipel, hospitalized in Paris since being knocked into a 25-day coma and disabled in a Dec. 17 fight, has been taken to a hospital in a home in West Berlin.

Eipel, who for four months was the youngest fighter ever to hold the European welterweight title, was knocked out by Alain Marion at Creil, France, in his first defense of the title.

Meet KC of the Sunshine (Florida) Band

KC (standing) and partner, Rick Finch, at home.

KC's real name is Harry W. Casey. He plays the keyboards.

KC is 26 years old. He lives in Florida.

KC shares a house with his partner, Rick Finch.

Rick plays the bass guitar in the band.

Both Rick and KC are vegetarians.

They have several parrots as pets.

They enjoy water skiing and swimming. KC has just taken up go-carting.

Their press agent says they are very shy people.

"They don't go in for partying. They would rather spend their time working up new songs," she says.

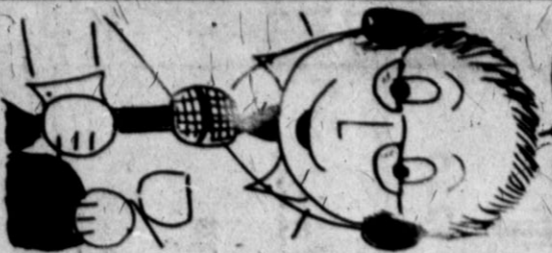

They have had several "gold" and even "platinum" hits.

For a single record to "go gold," 1,000,000 must be sold.

For a single to "go platinum," 2,000,000 must be sold.

It takes 500,000 sales to make a "gold" album. It takes 1,000,000 sales to make a "platinum" album.

The D.J. Must Play What You Want to Hear

HELLO, HOW ARE YOU TODAY?

"The job of a disc jockey is not as glamorous as some people think," one D.J. told The Mini Page.

"A lot of study goes into each record we play," he added.

"We read trade magazines. We find out what age group likes what record," he said.

"We also must know the time of day to play each record," he said.

"We would never play a Shaun Cassidy record when the kids are in school," he said.

Disc jockeys want to get a lot of listeners. A big audience means they can charge more for their commercials.

A disc jockey must know how to communicate.

"It's hard to talk to a mike," the D.J. said.

"You can't treat the audience like a whole bunch of people," he said.

"You must make each person feel that you are talking just to him," he said.

"We must read a lot so we will have something to talk about," he said.

Mini Page Record Poll

Kids' Top 10 Record Stars

The Mini Page asked kids from 6 to 12 to write and tell us the stars and records they liked the best. Here are the results from thousands of letters.

1. Shaun Cassidy, age 17, is the kids' favorite. He is from a show business family. His half-brother is rock star David Cassidy. His mother is actress Shirley Jones. Shaun's records were big hits first in Europe and Australia in 1976. His first U.S. hit single was in May of 1977. Shaun is the star of the Hardy Boys TV series. His record "Da Do Ron Ron" is the kids' top record choice.

2. Donnie and Marie Osmond are from a musical family. Their TV show is a big hit. Records: "Deep Purple," "I'm a Little Bit Country," "Puppy Love" and "Paper Roses."

3. K.C. and The Sunshine Band is a group from Florida. They play happy music. H.W. Casey is the leader. Record: "I'm Your Boogie Man."

4. Kiss—This group is more of a floor show than a musical group. They dress in costumes and wear makeup. Record: "Beth."

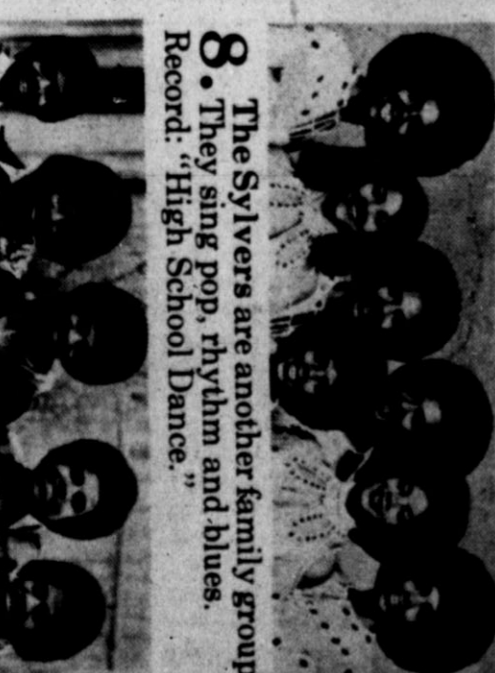

5. The Captain and Tennille were married on Valentine's Day in 1974. Records: "Love Will Keep Us Together" and "Muskrat Love."

6. The Bay City Rollers are from Scotland. Some say they sound like the early Beatles. Record: "You Made Me Believe in Magic."

7. Manilow Barry is a composer. He has also written some singing commercials. Record: "This One's for You."

8. The Sylvers are another family group. Records: "High School Dance."

9. The Jacksons are TV stars, too. Record: "Enjoy Yourself."

10. Peter Frampton is from England. He plays the guitar and sings. Record: "I'm In You."

TV: Meet Marie Osmond

Marie Osmond is 18 years old. (Brother Donnie is 20.) She began her career at the age of 7. She was on tour with her older brothers. Marie is the eighth of nine children. She is the only girl.

She was born in Ogden, Utah. Her family belongs to a religious group called the Mormons. Marie went to public schools until the fourth grade. She has been tutored since then. She is now working on the 11th and 12th grade level. Her hobbies are cooking, clothes designing and sewing.

Science Mystery

Mystery: What causes iron to rust?

Finding out:

- Use three iron nails.
- Paint one nail.
- Put grease or butter on another.
- Do nothing to the third nail.
- Put the nails out in damp weather for several days.
- Observe daily.

Does rust form on all the nails? Why?

Clue: Oxygen in the air reacts with iron to make rust. Some things keep the oxygen and iron from coming together better than others.

Super Sport: Beth Daniel

Beth Daniel is a golf amateur who plays like a pro. She has won two National Women's Amateur titles in the past 3 years. In 1976 she played on the Curtis Cup team and didn't lose a match. She is a senior at Furman University in Greenville, S.C. Beth enjoys playing basketball and softball. She will probably join the women's pro golf tour after graduation. (The Curtis Cup team is made up of players from all over the country. The members compete against players from England.)

Yummy Cinnamon Toast

This is a simple recipe kids love to make and to eat.

What you'll need:

- 3 tablespoons soft butter or margarine
- 1 teaspoon cinnamon
- 2 tablespoons sugar

What to do:

1. Mix butter, cinnamon and sugar.
2. Spread on six pieces of bread.
3. Pre-heat oven to 425° F.
4. Toast bread for about 3 minutes, until brown.

Another way: You can mix sugar and cinnamon together and put in an empty salt shaker. Spread bread with butter. Sprinkle on cinnamon and sugar mixture.

Ground Hog Day

by Gus Ground Hog (a down-to-earth reporter)

As you can imagine, I am quite flattered to have a day named for me. Here's how it works.

1. If February 2 is a cloudy day: I wake up from my winter sleep. I peep out of my hole. I do not see my shadow. I stay up and start moving about. Spring is on its way. Whee!
2. If February is on a sunny day: I wake up. I peep out of my hole. I see my shadow. This frightens me. We ground hogs like dark places. I go back to sleep for six more weeks. This means more winter weather. Boo!

Scientists do not agree with this way of forecasting the weather. But humans have fun watching me — on February 2, that is. The rest of the year, I am quite ignored!
