Managing Editor The agenda called for "board reorganization.

Reorganization it wasn't--all three officers on the Hereford Independent School board were re-elected during the special meeting Wednesday night at the school administration building.

James Gentry was re-elected as president, Clark Andrews as vice president and Sallie Strain as secretary during the short meeting in which the school district board members also canvassed election returns, issued certificates of election and discussed the next step in their two-year long battle with the U.S. Department of Justice.

There were no changes in vote totals from Saturday's board election, with Gentry receiving 1,002 voted in Place 1, Jim Arney 1,002 votes in Place 2. Andrews 908 votes in Place 3, Rumaldo Garcia 257 votes in Place 3, and Paul Rameriz 913 votes in Place 7

Farm Bill Hope Fades

By JIM STEIERT Brand Farm Editor

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS Hope appeared to be fading fast today for an emergency farm bill which won approval of a House-Senate conference committee earlier this week. President Carter stressed to congresssional leaders again Wednesday that he intends to veto the emergency aid which the legislation would grant to cotton and grain farmers if it passes Congress. And while the President continued to lobby against the bill, House Agriculture Committee Chairman Thomas S. Foley. D-Wash., an opponent of the measure, told conferees, "We are running into some very serious problems in the House.

Foley pointed out that the measure violates the Budget Act by altering farm income supplement rates, thereby affecting the next fiscal year's budget before the spending targets are set by Congress for that year.

Under those circumstances, the emergency farm measure could be killed on the House floor on a parliamentary point, unless both the Rules Committee and the House agreed to waive the Budget Act before taking up the bill, or unless it is brought to a vote under procedures suspending the rules but requiring two thirds approval for

Carter's strongest objections are aimed at a "flexible parity" provision in the bill which would allow farmers to set their own price for commodities based on the amount of land they set-aside. Farmers would receive a near-parity price if they set aside one acre of land for Attorneys of the Texas Civil Liberties Union Wednesday mailed a federal suit alleging the civil rights of some 210 farmers who were routed from the international bridge at Hidalgo March 1 by police using tear gas and night sticks were violated.

The suit is being filed against law enforcement officers and officials of the City of McAllen, City of Hidalgo, Hidalgo County Sheriff's Department, and the Texas Department of Public Safety.

The suit asks $70,000 each in damages. According to sources in Brownsville, the suit was being filed on behalf of the American Agriculture Movement, the Texas Farmers Union and as a class action on behalf of the farmers participating in the demonstration at the bridge.

Some of the farmers involved in the incident lived as far away as Georgia.

Among the farmers on whose behalf the suit is being filed are Dale Artho, Jerome Friemel and Johnny Jesko of Hereford, Ron Autry, Bruce Parr and Jerry Fancher of Friona, and Bob Dulaney of Dimmitt.

Numerous other farmers from the Dimmitt and Friona areas are also being represented in the suit, according to a spokesman for the local American Agriculture office

The farmer suit stems from an incident at the international bridge at Hidalgo in which farmers went to the bridge to protest the importation of Mexican produce.

Demonstrating farmers contended that Mexican produce is treated with pesticides and other chemicals which American farmers are not allowed to utilize in their production practices, thus giving the Mexican produce an "unfair advantage.

The farmers, who were at the bridge as part of a nationwide farm strike effort. also alleged that the imported Mexican produce depresses the price of American (See SUIT, Page 2)

Dallas Cowboys linebacker Randy White will be on hand from 3-5 p.m. Friday at the YMCA office at Sugarland Mal! for an "autograph party" at which he will pass out autographed photos of himself to the first 500 visitors.

Boating Safety Activity Set by Chamber, USCG

More people died in water-related mishaps in 1977 than in 1976, according to the water safety section of the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department.

There were 640 drownings in 1977, 496 in 1976, and a whopping 650-water deaths in 1975-many associated with pleasure boating

In an effort to prevent Hereford-area boaters from becoming part of these unhappy statistics, the Deaf Smith Chamber of Commerce Health and Safety committee, the U.S. Coast Guard Auxiliary of Amarillo, and Jack's Marine of Hereford are sponsoring a free boat safety inspection clinic Saturday at Jack's Marine on East Highway 60.

The clinic is slated for 10 a.m. to 2 p.m., and during the clinic, local boaters will have an opportunity to be made aware of any safety violations observed in their pleasure craft.

No reports on violations will be made to any law enforcement body during Saturday's inspection, but boaters will be informed of any safety oversight which

Water Plan of Sweeping Magnitude a Necessity

EDITOR'S NOTE - In updating the state's farflung water plan experts added this cryptic note: "To fail to plan well, and to fail to develop water resources according to schedule ..., has social and economic costs of practically inestimable magnitudes." This special report, one in a series, explores "The Plan" and the problems.

By MIKE COCHRAN

Associated Press Writer AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) - On an otherwise humdrum day in 1968, the Texas Water Development Board unveiled a broad bold scheme to meet the state's long range water needs. It was called, simply, the Texas Water Plan. "There is not a water resource plan of this magnitude or complexity in the world today," the board said in releasing the 50-year water document a decade ago. "Yet Texas' water needs for the future can be met with nothing less sweeping." Seldom, it was noted at the time, had such a document, so vital in nature, so painstakingly conceived, been understood by so few.

"A lesson in frustration." snorted one water planner.

Responding to the challenge. Texas voters rushed right out and rejected a $3.6 billion bond issue needed to help finance the plan. Many voters thought they shot down the plan itself. They were wrong. The plan lives. It is still the blueprint for meeting the state's projected needs.

But it is not easily recognizable.

In a remarkable document released last year, the water development board spelled out a number of proposals designed to revise and update the plan.

There are two compelling reasons to maintain a current statewide comprehensive water resources development plan," the board said in a prelude to

And then James Rose, the former executive director, quietly disclosed those two reasons: "First, the quantity of water necessary to meet

Texas' large and growing needs is not available from most ground water aquifers and undeveloped flowing streams.

and deliver additional quantities of suitable quality

"Secondly, the time required to find, develop water exceeds the length of time that any areas of the state can survive a severe drought.

"The state's population, currently about 12 million, is expected to be more than 18 million in the year 2000, 25.5 million by 2020 and 30.5 million

Although Rose laid out the situation quite clearly, one might paraphrase his analysis this

"Texas does not have enough water, a drought would be disastrous and the population explosion is compounding the problem.

Rose said Texas, to meet its economic and environmental needs, which includes water for agriculture and the bays and estuaries, must have 33 million acre-feet of water in 2000, 41 million acre-feet by 2020 and 48 million acre-feet by 2030.

Those estimates, water experts admit, are impractical if not impossible, and the requirements have been revised downward. But for the purpose of comparison, the 33 million figure is roughly twice as much water as the state will use this year. An acre foot of water is 325,850 gallons and represents the amount of water it takes to cover an acre of land a foot deep.

In its revised and updated report, the water development board disclosed these facts.

The major areas dependent on ground water are the High Plains, Trans Pecos, El Paso and Winter Garden areas.

Without imported water, irrigated acreage on the High Plains is expected to decrease to about 58 percent of the current 6.4 million acre level by 2000. The figure would be 41 percent by 2020. Other regions of the state will be limited in terms of growth potential, including jobs, unless water supplies are available.

The major areas where long range water shortages are projected include the Dallas-Fort Worth Region and all regions west including the Wichita Falls, Abilene, San Angelo, High Plains, Trans Pecos, El Paso, Lower Rio Grande Valley, Middle Rio Grande, Corpus Christi and San Antonio regions.

The areas capable of meeting their longrange needs-if reservoir sites are developed on a tir schedule-are the Middle Gulf Coast, Houston,

Beaumont, East Texas, Northeast Texas and part of the Dallas-Fort Worth and Central Texas

-A number of out-of-state sources of potential water supplies are now being studied for the import to water-deficit Texas areas, primarily the High Plains. The No. 1 target is Arkansas.

Water experts, on the brighter side, believe Texas can through proper development of all its available sources meet its need for municipal and industrial water.

And with importation, the rich agricultural potential could be reaped for years to come. The questions that must be answered involve monumental political and economic hurdles jeopardizing importation schemes.

"The failure to plan and implement timely water resources programs, with today's large population and elevated economic level," the development board warned, "is to invite economic and social crises that have a high probability of resulting inster for Texans.

And that is why the experts are breathing new life into the Texas Water Plan.

Parcel Post Rates May See Big Rive

WASHINGTON (AP) - Parcel post rates would rise at least 56 percent with cural Americans hit hardest if a sweeping postal bill gausses in its present form, the Postal Service says.

The mail agency says the increase would cause many arbun customers to use its chief lower-priced competitor. United Parcel Service. And with UPS concentrated in populated areas, rural citizens would have the choice of higher rates or a langedrive to a UP5 office.

Postal offices are protesting passage of an amendment Wednesday that would knock out proposed higher subsidies for purcel post - the package mailing service. The parent bill would increase subsidies for other Postal Service operations from the current 9820 million to $1.72 billion starting Oct. E.

Sponsored by Rep. Paul Simon, D.III. and approved 292, 112, the amendment is designed to retain current parcel post

The one to suffer because of this amendment will be the little person the grandma and grandpa who wants to send a package," said Rep. Ed Derwinski,

The parent bill, to be debuted and possibly voted on today, also would give Congress and the White House control over the Pintal Service.

Farm Bill

Boating .

The flexible parity provision would be in effect for only one year, and farmers had hoped the measure would buy Congress the time to hammer out more workable farm legislation than the 1977 form bill, which most farmers view as little better than a disaster.

Subsequent emergency farm proposals by the administration have generally been viewed by farmers as inadequate with the latest proposals announced last week labeled as "too little too late, -insufficient to even buy seed." Rumors are now circulating that the conference committee which originally approved the emergency farm bill may bucktrack and rescind its approval, and messages that the President would veto the measure have been relayed daily for a week by administration officials including Vice President Walter Mondale and Ag Secretary Bob Bergland.

In the event that the President vetoes the measure, a two-thirds majority vote of both houses would be required to override the seto. Farmers realize scant hone would be left by that time. - In recent years, no farm measure vetoed by the President has been overridden.

Mexican In-Bond Program Leaves Unions Bitter

CIUDAD JUAREZ, Mexico (AP) - An international program is putting frijoles onto Mexican tables and cash into the tills of American firms. It's also putting a bitter taste into the mouths of labor union

It's called in-bond industry and it allows non-Mexican companies to assemble their products in Mexico, using cheaper Mexican labor, and then return the finished product to its home country. The sale of the finished product in Mexico is prohibited.

William L. Mitchell, director of marketing for the Antonio J. Bermudez Industrial Park located here, says American labor unions are blind if they think the in-bond program is taking away jobs that might be done in the United

"Just one facility in our park is operated by RCA. It makes XL100 picture tubes. We have factual information that shows there are 28,000 persons in the United States working for companies that are supplying parts that are used in making these tubes," he said.

"Because RCA can assemble the tubes in Mexico, using cheaper labor, the company is able to compete worldwide with the Japanese electronics firms who can market their products at lower prices," he added.

Mitchell said the program is benefiting business. "If labor ever is successful in killing the program I'm certain they'll

'It will mean that these companies will be moving their operations to Taiwan or Singapore rather having only one assembly plant in Mexico." he said.

The program has created industrial complexes that employ more than 60,000 Mexicans, mostly women between the ages of 18 and 21, in more than 400 plants located in border cities from the Gulf of Mexico to Mexico's west coast.

A total of 28,000 persons work in two industrial parks here, and that figure is expected to more than double within the

Another social aspect is the fact that in many homes the father is out of work while his daughters are supporting the family by working in one of the industrial parks.

"One thing the industry has done is keep young women single for a longer period of time. thus keeping the birthrate down," said Mitchell.

'Married Mexican women still generally follow the custom of staying at home and minding the house, although that custom is slowly changing.

'Many of these young women working here will work until the day they get married, but they probably will postpone their wedding until they can have a nice 'nest egg' to start off their married life,"

Ciudad Juarez Mayor Manuel Quevado Reyes isn't that worried about the social problems the industries have caused.

"We will wrestle that problem when we have to, but what we have to combat now is unemployment. We would have a much worse social problem if the 28,000 persons working at the parks now Mitchell, a retired U.S. Army colonel, said he had become impressed with the output of the Mexican worker. "These people have the same work ethic that my father and grandfather had. I don't know when this ethic deteriorated in the United States, but I know it isn't the same as it was when I was a boy.

"I think this has had as much to do with American firms coming here to get jobs done as the lower wages. They know the job will be done capably here." he

SS Tax Rollback Faces Senate Fight

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Social Security tax cut that members of the House are warming up to may find a cooler reception in the Senate, where two key committee chairmen oppose the concept of financing the reduction with income taxes.

So far, Rep. Robert N. Giaimo, D-Conn., chairman of the budget committee, has written a proposal calling for a $7.5 billion reduction in Social Security payroll taxes as part of an overall $20 billion tax reduction next year.

He suggests that $5 billion of the cut come from income tax collections with the rest to be made up from other but unnamed funds.

The cut, which would save American workers in upper income brackets nearly $300 each next year, was examined by the House Democratic Caucus on Tuesday. The caucus voted 150-57 in favor of the concept of financing the Social Security payroll tax reduction with general revenues but did not specifically endorse Giaimo's figures. The caucus vote is not binding on House Democrats.

The motion says the probated sentence on the felony conspiracy count is illegal because the law excluded probation as a penalty for offenses punishable by death or life imprisonment.

U.S. District Judge Ross Sterling could have sentenced Terry Wayne Denson, Stephen Orlando and Joseph James Janish to life imprisonment for conspiring to violate the civil rights of the 23-year-old Mexican-American whose body was found in a bayou running through downtown Houston following his arrest by the former officers. Instead he imposed probation and assessed them one year in prison on the misdemeanor beating convic-

"The United States has grave concern that the imposition of probation in this case will cause citizens of all races and backgrounds to believe that the sentence was a result of the continuing inequality of treatment according to minorities." the motion said.

In handing down sentence Sterling said punishing the men, who would never again be police officers in a position to abuse their power, would serve little purpose. He said the problem lies instead with the police department.

The motion argued that because the probation did not stipulate that the men be prohibited from serving as police officers in the future, they could conceivably join a police department somewhere else.

Denson's attorney Bob Bennett said he interpreted federal law to preclude probation where death or life imprisonment were the only possible sentences - not where a term of years in prison was also a possibility.

No more forests?

The good green earth may be considerably less so very shortly if a trend in the developing world continues unchecked.

unchecked.

The World Bank warns that there could be no forests left in less than a century if deforestation continues at the present rate in countries seeking to make the great leap forward into industrialization.

A bank report places the present forested area in developing countries at some 2.5 billion acres, half what it was at the turn of the century.

The bank, putting primary blame on population pressures, is allocating a half-billion dollars over the next five years to projects designed to halt deforestation and renew forests.

Actually, what is happening is an acceleration of a process that has been underway for millenia. Through much of man's civilized history, progress toward ever higher levels of culture has been accompanied by a denuding of his original natural environment. China, in much of which today trees are notable for their scarcity, was once heavily forested. Likewise Italy and Western

Changes in climate have also been involved, but human activities — overuse without heed to replacement or wanton wasting — have been a major force in the degreening of the planet.

Fortunately, deforestation need not be an irreversible process. Once much of the original farming population had moved on to the more promising Middle West, large tracts of the Northeastern United States were returned to forest. Modern Germany's prized woodlands are carefully culti-

TFU Terms Administration's Farm Proposals 'Inadequate'

WACO -- The Texas Farmers roposals for farm relief inadequate to meet the dramatic needs of agriculture" and calling upon Texas House members and Senators to push forward with emergency legislation, mustering support to override a Presidential veto if TFU President Jay Naman states that the provisions of the combined Talmadge-McGovern-Dole bills now before a Senate-House conference committe offer some much-needed relief for farmers caught in the continuing cycle of depression. The state farm leader, however, says the administration's plan avoid meaningful aid and its strategy offers "minimal net effect which is itself months down the road."

'Famers would never have taken to the streets if they had not needed immediate, substantial improvements which would affect the current crop year," said Naman. "For many thousands of families 1978 will be their final chance to make it or bust. Certain senators and congressmen have realized this, but President Carter continues to promote a 'hang in there' approach which covers his target and loan rates now the diversion or wheat reserve entrenched policy to protect the budget regardless of the fate of the family farm. His programs are unacceptable."

Farmers Union has supported the Senate legislation as it contains possibilities for immediate improvement in 1978 farm income and has particularly heralded the adjustment in loan rates for major crops as "a step in the right direction of the very minimum in necessary protections."

The administration announcement on March 29 for small payments to retire limited crop acres is expected to dull efforts of legislation which directs greater expense on larger acreage and also includes improvement in price supports. The threat of a Presidential veto over any action greater than the administration plan will have a definite effect on the work of the conference committee as well as the final floor votes, especially in the House of Representa-

"There is no question that the House-Senate conferees can work out an acceptable and meaningful compromise," Naman said. "The crucial thing is to retain the highest of the

Emergency Farm Loans A vailable Through FmHA

Emergency loans for farmers, ranchers, or aquaculture operators are available through county offices of the Farmers Home Administration (FmHA). Melvin L. Hoover, FmHA county supervisor, said

Hoover asked that those who need farm credit as a result of drought, high winds, and/or hailstorms make their needs known at the Farmers Home Administration office at 313 West Third, Hereford, or call 364-0530. Applications for assistance in the disaster stricken counties will be accepted by Farmers Home Administration until September 12, 1978 for physical losses and March 16, 1979 for production losses for Oldham County and until September 28, 1978 for physical losses and April 3, 1979 for production losses for Deaf Smith County.

FmHA loans covering actual physical and production losses may be used to replace installations, equipment, or buildings, (including homes) lost through this disaster. Funds may be used to buy feed, seed, fertilizer, livestock, or to meet interest and depreciation payments on current real estate and chattel debts. Price of Beef Finally Returns to Higher Level

WASHINGTON (AP) - Retail beef prices as a whole are the highest in almost two and a half years, according to records kept by the Agriculture Department.

However, although retail beef prices have climbed recently, cattle feeders both locally and across the nation are only now beginning to realize profits again, after a period of crushing losses for both the cow-calf operator and the feeder.

The losses date back to 1973. when a consumer backlash, a price freeze on beef, a transportation strike and overproduction all combined to nearly destroy many segments of the nation's cattle production industry. A shortage of fat cattle has prompted the upturn in the market in recent weeks, and most feedyards are remaining relatively current on their cattle inventories.

The department says that in February the average price of beef sold in retail stores was an all-out average of more than $1.51 a pound, up from about $1.48 in January.

According to USDA records, the February average was the highest since beef averaged almost $1.59 a pound in October 1975. A year ago beef was $1.35

Pork prices also are going up, averaging more than $1.38 a pound in February against less than $1.34 in January. That was the most since pork was $1.42 a pound in July, 1976, according to USDA. A year ago it was $1.21 a pound.

The meat price increase was reported earlier by the Labor Department as one of the reasons why USDA has revised its 1978 estimate on food prices, now saying that those will go up 6 to 8 percent instead of the 4 to 6 percent rate predicted earlier. Most of the reason for the meat price climb is due to a three-year cutback in cattle herds by producers who sold off inventories because of depressed prices. Further, hog farmers are not turning out as much pork as had been indicated a few months ago. The meat price figures were included in a monthly report on price spreads for food originating on U.S. farms. In February, it said, the farm value of beef was 89.8 cents a ______ steer to make one pound of store beef. It is, however, the farmers's share of what consumers pay for beef.

The middleman's share last month was 61.4 cents a pound, down slightly from 61.6 cents in January, the report said. Pork producers got an

"The current record is $2.5 million put up by the Phillipine government for the Ali-Joe Frazier 'Thrilla in Manilla,'" Arum said. "This exceeds that amount. We will talk about the numbers when heavyweight champion Spinks and former champion Ali are in New Orleans for our official press conference."

Bob Arum, president of Top Rank Inc., said Wednesday. The Arum said he expects the preliminary fights to consist of two more championship bouts in lighter weight classes, a bout featuring at least one leading contender in an unspecified weight class and one or two bouts for local favorites.

Putting up the guarantee was a 2-week-old group called Louisiana Sports Inc. - a union of area businessmen, quasi-public figures and city officials.

Lewis said that after reaching agreement-in-principal Wednesday, Top Rank cancelled plans to take bids from other cities wanting to land the fight. Arum mentioned Tuesday that he planned to visit St. Louis. Montreal and Mexico City during the week. Also Tuesday, Spinks' attorney said in New York that Las Vegas and Detroit were being considered as possible sites.

The Minnesota Twins' leadoff hitter took the first two balls. both up around his ear, then bounced weakly to second base to get things rolling.

Abbott continued to get the bridge, moved in with sticks. and herded the farmers into a fenced holding area near a U.S. League with a 3-2 victory Wednesday night.

"I wanted to go just six innings," said Abbott, which is just about what he did in the first Opening Day assignment of his life in the major leagues. "I'm really glad about this.

Usually, I'm a slow starter." Actually, Abbott started fast before running out of gas after 61-3 innings. Then Manager Darrell Johnson took him o the game. Abbott had thrown 100

Craig Reynolds hit the first home run of the season, a two-run blast off Dave Goltz that provided Abbott with an early 3-0 cushion and the Mariners with their eventual winning run.

"For a Punch-and-Judy hitter like me, that's really something," said Reynolds, who hit just four homers last year. "It was a hit-and-run play. I was just trying to meet the ball. The pitch was something up and, for me. I hit it good."

Field To Challenge Prepared Nicklaus

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) - By his own calculations, Jack Nicklaus figures to have a 50-50 chance of winning the 42nd Masters golf tournament.

But young Jerry Pate, still thankful that he ignored a doctor who wanted to extract a rib and outdueled a hypnotist over a steak last year, was among 77 challengers anxious to test Nicklaus' prediction as the tournament opened today at the Augusta National Golf Club.

Nicklaus is not one to make rash statements, even though he has won this event a record five times and is the favorite virtually every time he plays in one of the four major tournaments

On the eve of this event, though, he offered this careful assessment: "In the last 15 Masters, excluding my first one as a pro and my three as an amateur, I've felt probably 10 times that I've come in here playing as well as I can. I won half of those times.

"Now my game is beter than it ever was and I'm as well prepared as can be."

There's more. He is off to his best start ever, having won twice and finished second twice in his last four starts. He is rested yet tuned, having by-passed the last two tour events and played several practice rounds at Augusta. He is driving the ball 10-15 yards farther, having returned this year to a driver with a smaller angle on the club face.

last of his 14 "Big Four" event. Watson is back to defend his title, although he has missed the cut in two of his last three starts. Hubert Green, the U.S. Open champion, seems to be at the top of his game. So does Severiano Ballesteros, the 20-year-old Spaniard who has dominated European tournaments for the past two years and won his first U.S. title last week at Greensboro, N.C.

Also on hand are Arnold Palmer, a four-time winner here; Johnny Miller, still in a deep slump, and Lee Trevino, who has won ever Big Four event except the Masters.

A player who also figures to be in the chase is Pate, the 24-year-old Floridan who shot to the top of the pack by winning the 1976 U.S. Open, then was plagued by arm injuries last year. He is healthy again, and wants another major title.

"I like to always feel like I'm due," said Pate, who won the Southern Open late last year and has been playing well this

"It hasn't been a sudden thing. I told Dr. Leslie (assistant perintendent) before I took the Coronado basketball job that wanted to be considered for an administrative position." Full-erton was quoted as saying.

"It's a decision I've wrestled with for a long time. I almost decided to get out of coaching a few times. My goal for the last five years has been administraon. I knew I didn't want to

The 32-year-old Fullerton graduated from Lubbock High in 1963 and played three seasons for Texas Tech. He was co-captain and a starter his senior year (66-67).

Mrs. Edwin Geiger of 2012 Plains, a newcomer to Hereford. has become active in numerous clubs here since her arrival in

She holds memberships in St. Anthony's Women's Organization. Chamber of Commerce Women's Division, Newcomers Club, Tierra Blanca Home Demonstration Club, Hospital Auxiliary, and the Bud to Blossom Garden Club.

Asked why she decided to join the groups, she commented, "I have a lot of time on my hands since all of my daughters are in school. I get lonely at home and it's hard to actually make friends when you move to a new community.'

A native of Chicago, Ill., Mrs. Geiger resided in Oak Forrest, a suburb of the Windy City.

"I had a lot of friends and when we weren't busy with anything we spent our time neighboring. I loved it," she said in her Illinois accent.

The natural "homesick feeling" was in the atmosphere while Mrs. Geiger talked about her parents and home.

Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. Tom Pacholski of Orland Park.

"The pace here is a lot slower than that in Chicago. I found it very interesting to go to the grocery store and see people standing around talking. Back home, when you go to the grocery store you get in there and buy your groceries and get out as soon as possible," she chortled.

The talented homemaker received her bachelor of education degree from Chicago Teacher's College. She taught school before the birth of her first daughter and continued substitute teaching. She also, substitute teaches in Hereford.

"When I was at one of the junior high schools, some of the students asked me if I was from a different country because I have such a strong accent." she

Her oldest daughter Kathy is 14-years-old and is an eighth grade student at La Plata Junior High School. The two youngest daughters attend St. Anthony's Parochial School. Michelle is in the sixth grade. She is 11. Eight-year old Marcia is in the second grade.

When she's not volunteering or at a club meeting, Mrs. Geiger likes to paint plaster figures. A great number of decorative wall hangings and figurines are placed throughout the Geiger home.

"Not too long ago there were some cattle grazing nearly in our back yard. The girls got a bang out of that," she said. Mrs. Geiger's husband. Edwin, is the manager of research at Amstar in Dimmitt. He holds his bachelor and master's degrees, doctorate of philosophy and a master of business degree.

The family of five enjoys camping. They were next door to a forest preserve where they often hiked.

Mr. and Mrs. Geiger are both opera buffs and have attended numerous performances.

Property Insurance Update Necessary

Most people have some form of insurance on their property, but few understand what their licies do and do not cover, policies do and do not cover, Linda McCormack with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. The Texas A&M University System, explains.

Since a family's largest and most important investment is usually the home, they need to insure it against the most mon risks.

The amount of property insurance depends on the value of the home and household goods. Some policies require that the dwelling be insured for at least 80 percent of the home's replacement value.

To determine the home's replacement cost, contact an insurance company and ask for a dwelling evaluation worksheet. In most instances, the homeowner can make the analysis and have a satisfactory estimate, she suggests.

However, if the home was constructed before 1930, a professional apprasial may be

If the insurance does not cover the replacement cost, the policy limits may need to be raised, or else, the homeowner must pay some of the replacement cost in event of partial loss.

To keep pace with inflation, ask about the Inflation Guard Endorsement, which increases policy limits by a fixed percent-usually one or two percent quarterly--to assist in keeping coverage current with construction costs, the specialist

Ann Landers Tough Breaks

DEAR ANN: You are like a second mother to me. I know you won't let me down. I'm a junior at Lawrence College in Appleton, Wisconsin. I've decided to write a term paper on Changing Patterns in Marriage over the Last 40 Years.

Will you kindly jot down about 1,000 words on the most common marital problems of our time--the cause and solution? Then, compare them with the problems that were most common 40 years ago. Please rush this to me and save my life, Mother .-- Life-Long Admir-

DEAR LIFE: First, I'm not your mother. Second, if I understand you correctly, all you want is about 1,000 words on the most common marital problems of our time -- the causes and solutions. Then you would like me to compare today's marital problems with those that existed 40 years ago.

Every year about this time I receive at least a dozen similar requests from college students who would just love to let me do their work. Sorry, Buster, I've got all I can handle doing my own. Go to the library and start digging.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: You would do your readers a great service if you called to their attention the new Social Security law which says widows, widowers and divorced spouses over the age of 60 will no longer lose Social Security benefits if they remarry.

One of the questions talk shows hosts frequently ask is, "Do your children show signs of an acute sense of humor?"

I will share with you what I got for my birthday this year and you can be the judge. My daughter bought me an electric can opener (I've already worn out three), one son wired me a bouquet of spring flowers (I've always loved him best), and the other son bought me a bicycle.

The bicycle has two wheels, three gears, and is guaranteed to shorten my life by ten years. Ihave never been what you would call athletically inclined. I had to repeat showers. According to my son, "You need this, Mom. After all, you. don't jog, swim, ski, and you play tennis like you just had a spinal.

"Get serious," I laughed. "You know I haven't had a chance to buy a bicycle wardrobe."

"What wardrobe? Why don't you just take off in what you're wearing?" "Do you actually think I'd be caught on the road in public with a waistband that gaps and shows half of my underwear, when I bend over the handlebars?

A few more days passed by before he said, "Why don't you take the bike out of the bedroom and onto the street?"

"I'm trying to find a time when there is room for me out there. Between 6:00 and 7:00, the joggers are out. Then it's time for the workers' traffic of cars until 9:00 a.m. Then the streets are full of dogs until 10:30 and by this time the kids are coming home from school for lunch. When they're back at

This morning, he dropped by and found me straddling the bicycle in the driveway. "It was terrible," I whimpered. "My backside has grown around the seat, my legs are cramped, my foot has a kink in it, a dog tore my slacks, the wind from a truck nearly threw me to the ground, my handbag slid from my shoulder and caught in the spokes and I just remembered something important....I'm old." "Great!" he said. "Maybe tomorrow you can take it out of the driveway."

THE DEVIL ON HORSEBACK By VICTORIA HOLT

Minnella Maddox grew up on a great English estate. But as the schoolmistress' daughter, her place was not, and never could be, at beautiful Derringham Manor.

And that is where the trouble started, for Derringham's young heir thought he saw in Minella just the kind of wife he wanted. But a dark and cruelly handsome French count, who always got what he wanted, thought she was just the kind of mistress he had to have. Not for nothing was he called the Devil on Horseback.

Yet Minella's humble heritage was to prove more precious than titles and riches, for it freed her to follow her heart, leading her into adventures and dangers she had never dreamed of. It put her directly in the path of another woman's hatred. swept her up in the deadly terrors of the French Revolution and, finally, carried her into the arms of the great and powerful man she loved.

CHESAPEAKE, Va. (AP) - A outh man who has been unable to cough up or otherwise produce a stolen diamond ring he swallowed last week has been charged with grand

A detective who had assumed that a "bedpan watch" would produce the ring in a few days grew weary of waiting for the evidence and served the warrant Wednesday on David Abbott,

The ring was taken from a Churchland area apartment

early last week.
Detective Jim Widdifield said that when he approached Abbott to question him last Wednesday, Abbott swallowed the $1,500 ring.

X-rays taken at Chesapeake General Hospital disclosed the ring had lodged in Abbott's intestinal tract, Widdifield said. Abbott has agreed to have additional X-rays made of his abdomen, and even undergo surgery, if necessary, to remove the ring, Widdifield said.

MARBLE, Colo. (AP) - Voter apathy? That's hardly the case in Marble.

Thirty-seven of this mountain town's 38 eligible voters turned out at the polls this week for the municipal election. Twelve of them were running for office.

Marble, whose quarries supplied the marble for the Lincoln Memorial in Washington, has 47 residents.

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP) - Jay Percy Zachary says his daily breakfast fare is a shot of whiskey with bacon and eggs on the side. It seems to agree with Zachary, who celebrated his 106th birthday last month.

Zachary says he tasted his first liquor when he was 9, but has never been more than a moderate drinker.

"I take just one shot a day." he said recently with a chuckle. 'Just one shot, some bacon and eggs and I'm set for the day. Whisky is medicine. It's not made to get drunk on."

Zachary admitted, however, that the "one shot," taken about 6 a.m. before he eats,

Radial Tire Survey

Said Waste of Cash

NEW YORK (AP) - The bumpy route of the steel-belted radial tire case continues to produce one blowout after another, partly because of what is now alleged to be a defective government survey.

The survey, said Lester Frankel, former presient of the American Statistical Associa-tion, was a "waste of money." In general, he said, "it was a bad job, something nobody can be proud of."

a tire company has sued, a judge has ordered the results withheld, a consumer group violated the order, and a cabinet officer has been threatened with

The survey, by the Department of Transportaion, sought to determine the quality of tires installed on new automobiles by mailing questionnaires to owners, asking them if they had

Possible complaints were listed on a postage-free, pre-addressed electronic computer card, along with the owner's name. The owner was asked to punch a hole beside a complaint that applied to him.

Of the 87,153 cards mailed,

41,441, or 47.54 percent, were sent to owners of cars on which Firestone tires had been installed. The rest went to cars equipped with tires of the other

Some 5,414 valid responses were received, 1,971 of which indicated problems. The num-ber of valid responses then was divided by the number indicating problems, resulting in the following percentages:
Firestone, 46.4, Goodrich 33.04, Goodyear 32.3, Uniroyal 32.23, General 25.6, and Michelin 1.7.

Claiming the survey was biased. Firestone obtained a temporary restraining order, but The Center for Auto Safety, a consumer group, obtained the results and distributed them.

Thereupon, Judge John M.
Manos ordered Transportation Secretary Brock Adams to appear in U.S. District Court at Cleveland to show why he should not be held in contempt because the survey results

feeling the government was interested mainly in hearing about problems, rather than in learning of the recipient's experience, good or bad.

And, he said, since the person's name and address was affixed to the card, a dissatisfied owner might assume that finally he was going to get some remedial action from the

In contrast, he continued, the satisfied owner had no such or her, it might appear to be just a nuisance from which no real benefits would result.

Moreover, professional surveys almost always avoid using a person's name on the response card, said Frankel, the purpose being to permit expression of an uninhibited opinion.

Mayor Rather Have Tourists Than Convicts

EDINBURG, Texas (AP) - The mayor of this small South Texas city says he would rather have tourists than convicts in his

Ronald Case, who originally supported the proposed con-struction of a state prison near here, said Wednesday that he is gainst the beleaguered project

"Personally. I just hate to see it. I just don't think we need to come known as a prison town. The connotations are not too good." Case said. He added that the large prison in the vicinity could diminish the annual migration of "winter Texans" to this area.

"If we have a prison of that magnitude, it may deter some of our tourists. At first I favored it from an economic point, but the more I thought about it...." the Case asked city commissioners to approve a resolution telling Gov. Dolph Briscoe that the prison is unwanted here. The commissioners all favored the resolution, but the matter was not acted on Tuesday night because it was not on the agenda.

The commission will seek public input on the topic at its next session. Case said. The state had tentatively agreed to purchase an 8,000-acre tract near here for $8 on. However, the okay by a was postgoned.

The proposed purchase was further clouded by reports that he land was once owned by a onvicted felon with Mafia

Rates $38 Million Too Low Last Year, Claims Bell Telephone

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) - A lawyer for Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. told the Texas Supreme Court Wednesday that Utility Commission in December 1976 were $38 million too low by the end of that year.

Justices of the court repeatedly asked the attorney. Thomas Phillips of Houston, what point he was trying to make.

Phillips said the court, if it chose, had the right to temporarily give Southwestern Bell the higher rate it sought. But he stopped short of directly asking the court to do this. Bell

Under the state Utility Act, rates established by the Public the Supreme Court could stay the commission's rate orde until all appeals were exhausted and temporarily substitute the higher rate Bell requested.

A stay would at least temporarily wipe out a rate structure designed to increase a Bell revenues by $58 million a year and substitute those requested by Bell, amounting to $298 million a year.

The Supreme Court's review addresses two issues. First. Bell's challenge of the PUC's finding that its proper rate base was the original cost of its equipment, less depreciation. Second, whether a trial court's review of Bell's claim that the rates confiscate its money should be based on a totally new trial or on the commission

Attorney General John Hill defended the commission's rate base rule.

"The end result was sufficient to cover the cost of debt and allow the holders of Bell common equity a return of 12.75 percent....Bell is attempting to gain a victory here that they lost in legislative halls," Hill said.

Embattled School Seeks Tax Hike

CLEVELAND (AP) - With nowhere else to turn for financial relief. Cleveland's embattled public school system asks voters today to increase property taxes by $30 million a year to keep schools open.

Passage of the measure which would boost school taxes on a $25,000 house by more than 25 percent, adding $87 to the present tax of $310 to $320 would enable the district to use the anticipated tax revenue as collateral for loans.

Efforts over past weeks to borrow from banks failed. As a result the 113,000-pupil school system could not meet last Friday's 15 million payroll for 11,000 full-time employees, including 5,400 teachers.

In addition, the district has outstanding debts of almost $7 million, some dating back to late

Bell recently filed a new rate

case with the commission, seeking a 216 million annual increase in its revenue.

Only limited funds will be available from the state between now and the end of May, not even enough to meet the bi-weekly payrolls.

"We have used up every avenue up to this point short of a levy. Now all doors are closed,' said Arnold Pinkney, president of the school board.

School officials have said schools would have to close this year if the 9.9-mill, five-year emergency tax measure fails. They have already scheduled another election in June in case of defeat today.

Paul Harvey News Libraries Are in Trouble

Libraries are in trouble. Public libraries are bedeviled by all the usual problems relating to inflation, personnel and maintenance. But worse--library shelves are being emptied by thieves!

Libraries are in trouble. The costs of books have doubled since 1970. Magazine prices soared nine percent last year

While library workers seek more pay, municipal governments are diverting their tax monies instead to what they consider more urgent community services.

Libraries get only about five percent of their funding from the federal government; most of the rest comes from state and local taxes.

With taxpayers resisting and administrators diverting, libraries are turning more and more to "outside fund-raising" efforts to keep going.

The San Jose (Calif.) Public

Library, facing severe budget cuts six months ago, sought citizen donations and survived.

In Bloomingdale, a Chicago suburb, a citizens' group initiated and passed a library referendum. Localites were willing to tax themselves more--something less than $25 each-to purchase a portable library, to hire a full-time librarian. Now the same group is seeking to raise a million dollars to construct a permanent library.

These do-it-yourself efforts notwithstanding, the chronic problem of thievery persists.

Reference sections of the Chicago Public Library bookshelves are denuded-with vast. yawning, empty shelves attesting to this attrition.

Libraries have resorted to all manner of forgiveness for overdue books, rewards for returned books, stop-thief metallic inserts in books which alert the front desk librarian electronically-when books are being taken out without being checked out.

The 3-M Co. has developed an elaborate magnetic scanner system which is designed to search you before you leave the library. Not all books are magnetically taped, but the potential thief is never sure which are.

What Will You Do?

Perhaps no chamber of commerce project has the potential to do more for the appearance of our community than the Beautification Time, April 8-22, being sponsored by the Women's Division of the Chamber of Commerce.

While parts of the business district and many of the residences in Hereford look great, one has only to take a casual glance to see that a positive effort is needed to rid ourselves of many eyesores-blowing trash, weeds on unkept lots, junk cars, dirty alleys, dilapidated buildings and fire and safety hazards.

Who's at fault? We are....individually and collectively! We've waited too long for the "other guy" to do his part. We've waited too long for things to just happen, and it's not going to get better by itself.

It really boils down to PRIDE. If things are going to get better, each of us must bear our share of the responsibility to see that our community is "cleaned-up, painted-up and fixed-up." That's the important issue-not finding someone or something to blame.

You can help. Start at home; clean the area up. Pick up the litter and trash, don't wait for the wind to blow it away. Get the weeds before they take over. It won't hurt to clea your home. Clean up the alley-if you've got a "white monster," keep the lid closed. When using it, sharpen your aim. It may be garbege to you, but it's a banquet for animals and insects of all kinds.

If you own business property, apply the clean-up, paint-up, fix-up alogan to that area. This makes a lasting impression on how visitors view our city, especially the businesses along the major highester.

What we're stying is simply that we've falls thind on isosping our community tidy. Now let have a real effort to catch up and stay with it!

Paint Up, Clean Up, Fix Up Time Nears

Y KERRIE STEIERT Women's Editor

In a concentrated community effort incorporating several sectors of the City. Hereford is preparing to wage war against litter and unsightly areas in the annual Clean-up. Paint-Up. Fix-Up campaign, which begins April 8 and continues through the 22nd.

The drive is again being sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce Women's Division and the entire community is urged to participate on an adividual and group basis.

The beautification drive. being spearheaded by Lavon Nieman, envelopes every facet of improving the city's appearance, including both residential and business sectors. Residents are asked to remove public eyesores, such as junked cars, dead trees, condemned buildings, accumulated trash

The City of Hereford is making a dump truck available to assist in the collection of trash. Groups requiring this service may make inquiries with Mrs. Nieman.

In addition to cleaning up overgrown and trashy areas, it is hoped by the Chamber women that residents will make that extra effort by painting buildings and fences. landscaping their properties and grading rough grounds.

"Civic pride is the key to our drive," explained Mrs. Nieman in encouraging local residents to participate in the beautification program. "It is up to each individual to restore Hereford's appearance so that we can truly take pride in our City."

The Chamber Women will be relying heavily on Hereford young people to make this year's drive a success. Among the youth organizations who plan to participate are the Camp Fire Girls, Hereford High Club, Key Club, Boy Scouts, County 4-H'ers, Big Brothers-Big Sisters and the youth of First Baptist Church.

These youth groups will be assigned to designated areas in the community, where they will conduct massive, general cleanup sessions. Other area groups who would be interested in volunteering to assist with the beautification efforts are requested to contact Mrs. Nieman at 364-2030 or 364-6957.

Another aspect of the campaign will be the collection of newspapers and aluminum cans for recycling. Proceeds of this project will be used by the Camp Fire Girls to purchase shrubbery for the CFG Lodge and Veterans Park.

Individuals having newspapers or cans to donate for this cause are asked to telephone 364-0395, 364-1280, Susie Wall at 364-4209, or Dee Dee Drake

School Student Council, Leo at 364-3213. Also, cotton trailers will be stationed at One-Hour Martinizing and the CFG Lodge from April 6-May 1 as receptacles for residents to place their papers and cans.

> In conjunction with the clean-up campaign, Women's Division president Margaret Formby announced that the residential and non-residential "Beauty Spots of the Month" will be recognized starting in mid-April and continuing until the first frost. Lynne Carlile is Beauty Spot chairman.

> Also, Hereford Kiwanis Club will be holding their annual mop and broom sale April 21-22 here under the direction of Bill Bankston.

Pride is not regulated by an ordinance in Hereford, according to City Manager Dudley Bayne, who hopes that the lack of law doesn't quench participation in the Chamber of Among Hereford's biggest problems are weeds. Bayne said, adding that it is not the city's responsibility to mow them unless they are on city property or a vacant lot.

A property owner will not be asked to mow his weeds unless they become an obvious health or fire hazard.

"It's got to be a real hazard before we'll do anything. You can't make people go out and mow weeds unless they've become deleterious growth."

A. - Wide overhangs help to drop the water from the roof a bit away from the foundation, but there is more to good drainage than that. Some of the factors controlling the flow of water away from the house and the prevention of water inside the house are land that slopes away from the foundation, the water table in your area, the installation of drainage tiles at the bottom of the foundation where required and the type of foundation. Have you tried asking some of your future neigh-bors whether they think their houses need the gutters and downspouts and — very impor-tant — whether they had to have them installed after they moved in?

Q. - The brass doorknobs on the doors of our house are get-ting a little tarnished. The tarnish seems to come off readily enough when the knobs are pol-ished, but isn't there some way to refinish the knobs so that constant polishing isn't neces-

A. — The standard finishing material for brass doorknobs is lacquer. Rub the knobs vigorously with a cloth dampened with lacquer thinner, being sure there is plenty of ventilation as you work. Then coat the knobs with a mixture of cent clear lacquer and 50 percent lacquer thinner. Put on three coats. However, it's still a good idea to take a dry cloth and wipe the knobs every few months.

on the apparent size and shape of a house. Can you do the same thing for me on resilient floor tiles, which I expect to in-stall on two floors of our house in the near future? I haven't quite made up my mind which type of tiles to get, but what I am interested in is getting the right colors. One of the rooms to be tiled is a kitchen, one a bedroom. A. - No matter what you read here or anywhere else, your own individual taste should play a part in the selec-tion of colors. It is true that tests have shown that the colors of floor materials can have a bearing on the moods of people, but even in these tests, there have been exceptions to the general findings. Having given you that preliminary information, here is what is generally believed about floor colors: Dark colors absorb light, making things look smaller and heavier, but they can be depressing when used extensively.
Light colors reflect more light and so make things seem larg-er than they are. They also make things appear farther away. The so-called warm col-ors are reds, pinks, oranges, corals, golds, yellows and yel-low-greens. The cold colors are blues, blue-greens, blue-grays choice, remember that the color you select will seem strong-er when applied to a large sur-face. In a kitchen, try to use a tile that will make the room cheerful. In a bedroom, choose something that will enhance and blend with the decor of the room. Avoid garishness, but don't avoid it so much that you wind up with drabness.

Q. — We are moving into a new house shortly. It has wide overhangs, but no gutters and downspouts. I notice that many of the other custom-built houses in the same neighborhood have gutters and downspouts. Our

Check Home For Fire Hazards

It's nearly Beautification Time in Hereford, and Hereford fire marshal Jay Spain says it might be a good time to check your house for fire hazards.

And if you don't know what to look for, Spain will help.

'Anyone can call me and set an appointment on private home inspections," Spain said. "I'll handle as many as I can, and if there's too many, the volunteer firemen will help me."

Spain will check the following areas:

-- Garage. "I inspect trash accumulation and make sure there are no flammable liquids in glass containers. It's unlawful to purchase, possess or sell gas in a plastic container-it's got to be a metal container in the state of Texas. If it's in a plastic container and there's a fire; well, you know how plastic melts."

-- Heater closet. "I make sure there's no flammables in there. A lot of people use their heater closets for storage space."

Fuse box--"It shouldn't be overloaded."

--Wiring. "It depends on how old the house is whether I'll check the wiring. If somebody asks me to check their wiring, I'll do it."

Spain also inspects businesses, which are strictly regulated by laws dealing with fire hazards.

Spain added that another chore associated with spring cleaning is disposing of trash and other unwanted items.

"We've had a long winter, and it's time where everybody will be cleaning. There is a city ordinance against trash burning.

"Besides, it's dangerous because it's pretty dry, and it's getting dryer every day."

And there were last year's over-buys, all those gourmet acquisitions that were thought to give the kitchen personality - only now there are so many on the counter-tops there is little room to prepare food or even to cook.

Microwave ovens and those blenders, food processors, meat grinders, deep fry cookers and the like that overlap in their usefulness have taken the place of art in some "Show-and-Tell"

And remember all the water that was bought because the well was sending up that rusty-looking liquid? One man fig-ured that he paid $7 a week for seven gallons of water, which he used for drinking water and coffee, soups and in the preparation of other foods.

After he stopped to think one day about the price of the ordinary water available - fancy table water was even more costly - he decided to consider other solutions such as a water filter that attaches to a kitchen faucet. This provides clear, clean water with a filter that requires replacement about every three months. Two hundred gallons of pure water from his own tap makes for a considerable saving.

'Used Cow Dealer' Supporting Clean-Up

By DIANNE BANNER Brand Staff Writer

The regimen of "cleanliness is next to godliness" was a major part of the upbringing of Garth Merrick in Illinois and he has continued that lifestyle at Hereford Bi-Products which he Merrick's moderenization and landscaping of the local processing plant southeast of Hereford is especially appropriate now during the annual Clean Up, Paint Up, Fix Up campaign sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce Women's Division.

The young businessman and his wife, Susie, have for the last five years purchased trees to plant around their home, which

"Last year we bought 100 trees. I grew up in Illinois and have lived in Colorado and was used to seeing a lot of trees. This fall I bought 500 pines. We are going to try and start a nursery by next year."

Assisted by his wife, Merrick will own the retail nursery to be managed by Rick Nunley. They will carry a variety of pine trees such as ponderosas, austrians and pinions.

Surrounding the home and Roof Color business of the versatile "Used Cow Dealer" are irrigated grass pastures, planted with a special type of grass which greens early in the spring and stays verdant until late in the fall.

"We are constantly cleaning up and fixing up around here. That's how we keep the place looking good."

The idea of Hereford Bi-Products originated in 1967 after Merrick read an article in Life magazine about "a small cowtown in Texas called Hereford."

He and his father started the business which processes cattle carcasses for major dog food companies. Alpo, Purina, Kal-Kan and Carnation are among the canning companies for which the plant provides stock.

People in Hereford don't have any idea how big we are. Last year our business payroll is a lot of money that goes back into the local economy,"

Merrick and his wife are expecting their first child.

"We like Hereford, but of course we live out in the country," he commented.

Asked if a dead stock removal business was difficult to run, he said, "It is a tough busin ther Nature is our best friend but she can be our worst enemy ng the summer. The he deteriorate, and we have to pick them up no matter what shape they are in. It isn't the processing itself that smells, but the deterioration of the stock. That is why it is good for us to be notified of dead stock as soon as possible."

Paint Brushes Necessary For Jobs Rollers Can't Do

By The Associated Press

The amount of attention given to paint rollers and flat pad applicators might make a vis-itor from another planet sup-pose that paint brushes had gone out of style.

Far from it. They are still es-sential for many paint jobs, ei-ther on their own or used in conjunction with other types of applicators. And one thing has remained as it was before rollers, pads and other paint spreaders were born: Thousands of brushes are thrown out every year because they became hard when their users neglected to clean them or cleaned them improperly.

Brushes used in oil paint or varnish should be cleaned in turpentine, mineral spirits or any kind of paint thinner speci-fied on the label of the paint or red on the label of the paint or varnish. One way is to work the brush back and forth on old newspapers, then do the same in a shallow pan containing the solvent. When the solvent has absorbed a lot of the paint, throw it out and repeat the process. A brush used with shellac should be cleaned with denatured alcohol. Lacquer thinner does the job on a brush used for lacquer. The best way to handle painting chores is to use a different brush for each type of finishing material and to keep it for that liquid alone. This is especially important when a brush has been used for shellac or lacquer.

Stop Window Waste

COLLEGE STATION - Window treatments block energy-wasting heat movement if their designer follows one "heat-flow rule" in the save-home-energy game plan, says Pat Seaman, a housing and home furnishings specialist.

Heated air always flows toward cooler air, so to prevent home heat loss in the winter or heat gain in the summer, create window decor that blocks energy-wasting heat passage through windows, the specialist says.

Mrs. Seaman is with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

SUMMER DECOR PLAN

To prevent home heat gain in the summer, install exterior shading devices, the specialist says.

Canvas awnings, louveredtype shutters, commercial "solar screens," and trees can be effective, she adds.

Roof overhang or trellises also provide protection. Use draperies, blinds and shades inside a window to reduce heat gain in a room.

WINTOR DECOR PLAN

To block heat-air escapes during winter months, use shades and separately lined drapes or curtains for window treatments, she suggests.

Draperies or curtains should fit snugly at the sides, center, top and bottom of the glass area.

A closed top cornice also prevents the flow of air around the window treatment, she adds.

Fir Treatment Simple

By The Associated Press

The state tree of Oregon, the Douglas fir, named after a Scottish botanist, is an evergreen with flat needles and cones roughly shaped like eggs. It's also the source of more lumber than any other single tree in North America.

No wonder, then, that when you walk into a lumber yard and ask for a piece of plywood, with no other specification, you're likely to get Douglas fir. The least expensive of the plywoods, it is very strong and thus suitable for most projects. But it is not easy to get a fine finish on it in the conventional

There are two kinds of sealers made for use with such woods. One is white, the other clear. If you intend to paint the plywood, give it a coat of the white sealer according to the instructions on the container. If the plywood is to be coated with varnish or any other transparent finishing material, use the clear sealer. Ask your dealer to give you the sealer made especially for use on fir. Then, to be sure, make certain that the label says exactly that.

Once the sealer is on and has thoroughly dried, finish the ply-wood the same as with any other wood. Incidentally, although plywood usually comes thoroughly sanded, it's not a bad idea to go over it once before putting on any finish. Use a fine grade of sandpaper and then wipe the surface with a cloth moistened in turpentine.

Plywood gets its name because it is made of thin sheets of wood - of plies-glued face to face, with the grains running in alternate directions for extra strength against warpage. One type of plywood has a solid center with veneers glued to both

It is the face of the plywood that gives it the designation of fir, pine, spruce, birch, walnut or whatever. Those with hardwood facings are used for fine furniture and are more expensive.

Plywood comes in various grades. It isn't necessary to memorize all of them, but if you intend to use the wood for any special purpose, ask the dealer for his advice. You can get a plywood free of defects,

Prepare for outdoor relaxation, before you decide to stretch out and enjoy the growing warmth of springtime sun, by making sure your lawn and patio furniture is ready for another season of sunshine

This is a good time of year to think about acquiring a piece of furniture or two: Thrift shops and tag sales are not so crowded, prices are likely to be lower than in the demand days of spring and summer, and the slower pace of the season provides more incentive for refinishing a piece of furniture.

Some folks enjoy the refinishing work; others resent the inevitable mess that goes with such a project. Ideally, the job should be done partially out-doors. But there is no reason why it can't be done indoors if one works carefully and neatly.

Thinking of it as a temporary thing and putting emphasis on the rewards that may be reaped from diligent appli-cation of elbow grease will change the outlook.

In fact, paint experts suggest

In fact, paint experts suggest setting up a temporary workshop indoors. Find a little hideaway spot. The corner of a garage? A recreation room? As long as you keep it well-ventilated there should be no danger. If it isn't too cold, a window may be left partially open so that you do not inhale harmful vapors. A fan should be ful vapors. A ran snould be used to circulate the air.

Clear several feet of floor space and cover the spot with a large piece of heavy plastic. Put newspaper over the place where you will put the furniture piece to be refinished. The papers will halp to make a speedper will help to make a speed-ier clean-up, something to be thankful for after a hard session of removing paint or other

The paint people suggest having at hand a plastic garbage can with a plastic liner into which all the peelings and paper can be thrown.

Many stripping compounds are on the market, but the choice should be a safe, non-flammable paint and varnish remover. Popular now with the do-it-yourselfer are the nonflammable, waxfree, semi-paste-type removers which do not leave a wax residue. These newer products make an afterrinse or neutralizer unnecessary. No matter, some pre-cautions should be observed. Gloves to protect the hands, for example; and any work done with a paint-varnish remover should be in a well-ventilated room.

Spring's Time To Restore Lawn

Spring is the season of re-birth, but sometimes Mother Nature needs a bit of help.

Some homeowners fail to consider depreciation when they decide to offer their homes for rent. An owner must keep a good sum available for home repairs and emergency prob-lems — big things like water pumps, boilers and water tanks. A hurricane also can do a lot of damage to roofs. But often it is little things that add up to a big cash outlay.

One family had been renting their former residence for a decade as they lived in another area of the country.

cancy coincided with their own vacation period, they decided to move back for a few months and refurbish the house.

It became an expensive fixup, clean-up, paint-up, even though they did a lot of the work. Through the years they kept up with appliance problems, but they assumed that tenants were keeping the place maintained. In reality many inconveniences were being toler-ated, and maintenance had fallen behind. Some tenants fear a area of the country. When a va- rent increase if they ask for service or new equipment.

To begin with, there was a $5,500 paint job for the 5-bed-room house, indoors and outdoors. Because no tenant had put up the storm windows which had been in a closet through the years, the windows had taken "quite a beating" and a lot of puttying and trim work had to be done, an expensive, time-consuming job. 'And why in the world wouldn't tenants use storm windows in these days of high-cost ener-gy?" asked the owner. It may not have been laziness, it may well have been ignorance.

The kitchen needed a major scrubbing, especially the ceil-ing which was heavily coated ing which was heavily coated with grease, and three coats of paint were needed to cover the dark green walls, even after several washdowns. A bath wall needed a tile job because tiles had fallen off during the years and had not been replaced. Dogs may have had free reign in the house and several floors needed to be scraped and refinished. Weeds had come up around bricks on the large patio and a big job was required in that area using weed killer and realigning bricks.

As this owner pointed out, "You can't do a half-way job if you own a house. You must either do repairs regularly and keep everything in condition or you must be prepared to spend larger sums when you getaround to general deterioration." That family opts for a regular checkup when a lease regular checkup is renewed.
