

Crude-Oil Tax Pushed by Panel

Everybody Loves a Clown

Clowns and kids mingled during the annual Oasis Shrine Club children's clinic Saturday at Hereford Medical and Surgical Clinic. Ninety-nine children registered for the clinic to be examined by physicians from throughout the state and specializing in a wide range of fields. In drawings, which helped sponsor the clinic, Bobby Foster of Farwell and Millard Deck of Eunice, N.M., won beef, Joe Artho of Hereford claimed a television set and James Bullard of Hereford earned a painting by Deaf Smith County Sheriff Travis McPherson. (Brand photo by Paul Sims)

WASHINGTON (AP) - The House's top tax writer said Monday a new effort will be made to revive President Carter's embattled crude oil tax now that a compromise on natural gas pricing seems near.

Rep. Al Ullman, D-Ore., chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, canceled his panel's scheduled week of work on the president's tax-cut bill so more time could be devoted to the proposed energy tax.

"We have got to have a crude oil tax. We won't have an energy program without it," Ullman told reporters. However, he is expected to face an uphill fight in trying to rescue the tax, which faces heavy opposition among Senate energy negotiators.

The administration has warned it would impose an import fee on crude oil possibly of $6 a barrel - if Congress fails to pass the crude oil tax.

Both the tax and an import fee would add about seven cents a gallon to the price of gasoline and other petroleum products. But the fee would fall most heavily in those parts of the nation which are the most dependent on imports, such as New England.

"There are only two alternatives, a crude oil tax or an import fee, which would be disastrous," Ullman said.

Meanwhile, conference leaders began trying to sell to their colleagues the tentative natural-gas pricing accord reached last Friday after five months of closed-door negotiations.

Although the plan apparently has already won the backing of a majority of Senate conferees, leaders expect a harder time in selling it to House conferees many of whom have expressed resentment from being excluded from the private talks.

"There's still a chance that the whole thing could fall apart," said a congressional aide close to the House leadership who requested anonymity. "Nothing is certain at this point."

House energy negotiators still claimed the compromise could win - although they acknowledged it will be a tough chore to sell it.

Although the House Ways and Means Committee canceled its work on the president's tax-cut plan, both it and the administration's anti-inflation proposals face tests in the Senate as senators begin writing a federal budget for 1979.

Staff members planned to circulate completed drafts of the natural gas proposal, which Energy Secretary James R. Schlesinger helped frame, to all members of the energy conference committee sometime today.

Completed by key negotiators last Friday, the plan would gradually lift federal controls from newly found gas by Jan. 1, 1985, and permit regulated prices to increase by about 10 percent a year until then under a formula that adjusts for inflation.

Circulation of the draft will give most of the 42 energy conferees their first chance to see full details of the plan, since only about a dozen actually participated in the private negotiating sessions held at both the Capitol and the White House.

Although a close vote is almost assured, conference leaders are predicting approval when the panel takes up the measure, probably on Wednesday.

The committee, named last fall to reconcile House and Senate differences on the energy legislation, has held only one public session this year, lasting several hours on March 28.

The Senate, meanwhile, goes to work this week on next year's fiscal budget. It must decide whether to accommodate in the budget a rollback of Social Security taxes and whether to scale down the president's proposed $24 billion income tax cut.

Credit Measure Okayed by House

WASHINGTON (AP) - The extent and variety of credit programs available to farmers and their rural neighbors would be vastly expanded under legislation approved by the House and expected to be considered soon by the Senate.

The thrust of the Senate's credit measure are the same as that passed Monday by the House 347-23. It would update the familiar programs to reflect today's land costs and the size of present farming operations and provide a refinancing program through next year for the most heavily indebted farmers.

The Carter administration has endorsed most of the major provisions and had asked for many of them last year or early this year.

But the details of the Senate's product are likely to be somewhat different from the House, so the final version would be ironed out by a House-Senate conference after the senators act.

A farmer could refinance between now and the end of next year a collection of existing land and operating debts up to $400,000 if the grower is a citizen with "experience and resources necessary to assure reasonable prospects for successful operations" afterwards.

These loans could be repaid over a 30-year period at prevailing interest rates. "Family farms" would have preference in the $4 billion program of guaranteed and insured loans, but that term isn't defined.

The ceiling on Farmers Home Administration direct and insured ownership loans would be $200,000 instead of $100,000. It would be $300,000

By BOB NIGH
Sports Editor

Kelly Kitchens, winner of 10 letters in four sports in his three-year career at Hereford High School, was the man of the hour Monday night at the Bull Barn at the 11th Annual Whiteface Booster Club All-Sports Banquet. Kitchens was named the Outstanding Athlete at HHS by the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce, and was also the recipient of two media awards.

The media awards, a joint project of The Hereford Brand and KPAN, were awarded to top athletes in all sports at HHS. KPAN sports director Tom Simons, master of ceremonies for the evening, and Brand sports editor Bob Nigh presented the awards.

Kitchens won awards in both basketball and golf. The 5-10 senior was a three-year letterman in both sports, was a three-time all-district selection in basketball, and topped the District 4-4A all-district golf team this year after emerging as the loop medalist. Kitchens also won three letters in football in high school, and earned one monogram in track.

Commissioners Buy Tractor, Table Alarms for Black House

By PAUL SIMS
Managing Editor

Deaf Smith County commissioners Monday whisked through a nine-item agenda, buying a $15,700 tractor, giving the go-ahead for repainting of the Bull Barn and tabling a request from the Deaf Smith County Historical Society for the purchase of a fire and burglar alarm system at the E. B. Black House.

The commission accepted a bid of nearly $15,700, which included a trade-in, from Case Power and Equipment, to purchase a tractor with backhoe and loader for Precinct 3.

Bull Barn custodian Dallas Phillips was told to go ahead with painting on the outside of the Bull Barn. Phillips told the commission he needed approximately 35 gallons of paint to complete the project.

Johnnie Turrentine and Helen Rose, members of the Deaf Smith County Historical Society, asked commissioners to consider the purchase of alarms at the Black House, an adjunct on E. 3rd to the Deaf Smith County Historical Museum.

Mrs. Rose said the society had contacted two alarm companies--Amarillo Burglar Control and Diebold of Lubbock to get estimates on the cost of smoke detectors and motion detectors.

The commission took no action, tabling the proposal until the historical society's 1978-79 is established. The historical society does not have enough funds in its

Hill Claims Lead In Gubernatorial Race

By The Associated Press

Texas Attorney General John Hill says he is winning the race for the Democratic Party's gubernatorial nomination because "many Texans want a governor who will stand up and fight for property tax relief."

Speaking at San Antonio Monday, Hill said Gov. Dolph Briscoe did not fight for property tax relief and has "stood by and watched property taxes go up by $1 billion in the last five years."

Briscoe, appearing at a rally at Amarillo, said Hill has "failed to generate significant support from either business or labor because he puts big government ahead of economic expansion and new jobs."

While both of the two major candidates for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination stayed on the campaign trail, Briscoe continues to lead Hill in daily newspaper endorsements. But several of the state's major daily newspapers, including the Houston Post, San Antonio Express-News and the Austin American-Statesman, have not made endorsements.

Some newspapers have made endorsements in both the Democratic and Republican primaries.

Briscoe has nine daily newspaper endorsements while Hill has only six. In the GOP race, Bill Clements has endorsements from five daily news-

Dallas attorney and former state legislator Ray Hutchison, campaigning for the Republican gubernatorial nomination, will be in Hereford Wednesday afternoon as part of a swing through West Texas.

Hutchison will meet with the public at 1:45 p.m. Wednesday in the Hereford State Bank coffee room.

Hutchison, a U.S. Navy veteran and Southern Methodist University graduate, served in the state House of Representatives for two terms. He ran Gerald Ford's state campaign in 1976 when he was Republican Party chairman in Texas.

He specializes in dealing with state and county laws and regulations in his law practice.

The Branding Iron Hereford—Retirement Haven for Shriner

By PAUL SIMS
Managing Editor

Hereford, as folks who live here know, is more than a stone's throw from a sizeable fishing hole, doesn't have much to offer in the way of resort living and, when the wind blows sideways, has a cattle-y tinge in its atmosphere.

Not the idea place to retire, one might think.

But Marvin Swanson doesn't think that way. He moved from the windy city of Chicago to the windy city of Hereford to spend the remainder of his life. And he could care less if the retirement circles in Illinois consider him as some kind of oddball.

"I never want to go back," said Swanson, who operated a retail store in Chicago which specialized in greeting cards and books. "I prefer Hereford to Chicago any day. I'm sold on Hereford."

Retirement, says Swanson, isn't a time to slow down. That's why he is active in the Oasis Shrine Club and a Noon Kiwanian and believes so strongly in attending civic events.

"We moved down here seven years ago to be near my wife's mother. She's in Hollis, Okla. My wife's sister, Elsie Boardman, left us a home here. A few days after we moved down here, we didn't know anyone so we attended the Chamber of Commerce banquet."

"It was outstanding. I've attended banquets in Chicago where they had 240 or 300 people. The Chamber of Commerce banquet had 850 that year. It made us feel absolutely at home. The people were, and still are, very friendly.

"I like to get involved in civic things because I enjoy meeting people and being with people. Soon after we came to Hereford, a friend asked me to join the Noon Kiwanis Club. I'll tell you one thing—the people are more friendly in Hereford than they are in Chicago."

Swanson's primary interest is in the Oasis Shrine Club—helping burned, crippled and indigent children. He coordinates the transporting of Hereford youngsters to the Khiva Shrine Circus each year in Amarillo, is editor of the Oasis Shrine Club directory and helps in organizing the annual Shrine children's clinic, which was Saturday and attracted 99 indigent children.

"That clinic is the highlight of my year. We had an excellent clinic this year.

FTC Finding May Drop Cola Prices

WASHINGTON (AP) - Soft drink prices may come down as a result of a Federal Trade Commission finding that long-standing practices of the Coca-Cola Co. and PepsiCo Inc. violate federal antitrust law.

The commission, in a 2-1 decision Monday, said the two giant soft drink companies violate antitrust law by restricting their bottlers to certain territories.

Since 1900, Coca-Cola has forbidden its bottlers from selling their soft drinks outside specified territories. PepsiCo has had similar restrictions since the 1930s.

However, both companies promised appeals through the federal courts, which would delay the effect of the decision.

Coca-Cola said, "Our bottler contracts for over 77 years have been on the basis of an economically efficient and socially desirable business system."

PepsiCo called the decision "another example of the government attempting to impose theoretical economic concepts and alter a structure which has been proven in the marketplace."

Both companies sell the syrup and concentrates used to make their soft drinks to independent bottlers. The companies have enforced contracts keeping the bottlers from competing with each other by giving each a specified territory.

Oklahoma Group Protests Hospital

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) - A group calling itself Oklahoma's Deeply Concerned Citizens used a half-page advertisement in today's editions of the Daily Oklahoman to list a number of points in opposition to the construction of evangelistic Oral Roberts' proposed City of Faith hospital in Tulsa.

Labeled an open letter to the three-member Oklahoma Health Planning Commission, the political campaign style advertisement's message begins with a bold print statement.

"It is not a question of what a promoter has done, or has not done but, whether Oklahoma should increase its already over-built hospital beds-our laws should be adhered to," the statement says.

Under the heading "Does Oklahoma need a new hospital?" the ad lists three "facts" the text claims are from an OHPC report.

The three passages deal with hospital occupancy rates and the cost effect of excess hospital beds.

The last section of the message to OHPC members carries the boldface heading "You can't ignore:" and lists "1. Your own staff report. 2. U.S. Health, Education and Welfare Secretary Califano's statements about the subject. 3. The laws controlling the construction of excess hospital beds."

The advertisement lists R.C. Pattison and Oklahoma's Deeply Concerned Citizens as its sponsors.

Tulsa hospital officials and a spokesman for Oral Roberts University differed Monday on the impact of the OHPC staff report suggesting ORU incorrectly estimated the effect of its proposed new hospital.

Christian Democrats Nix Terrorists' Demands

ROME (AP) - The Christian Democrats have rejected the Red Brigades' demand for the freeing of 13 imprisoned terrorists in exchange for Aldo Moro despite another threat to execute the kidnapped political leader and another pleading letter from him.

The ruling party's deputy secretary, Gianni Galloni, said the kidnappers' second ultimatum, received Monday "was expected and already rejected."

Premier Giulio Andreotti took the same line after a meeting with key cabinet ministers, declaring: "All requests for an exchange with detained persons were and are unacceptable because they are directed against the freedom of all, against the respect which is due to the victims of subversion and against the laws of the Republic."

Il Popolo, the Christian Democrats' newspaper, said a handwritten letter found by the newspaper Vita Monday night had been authenticated as Moro's.

In it the 61-year-old party president of the Christian Democratic Party and five-time premier who was kidnapped March 16 begged the other leaders of his party to agree to an "exchange of war prisoners or guerrilla war, as you prefer, as is done where the war is on, as is done in highly civilized countries...."

Eagle Trial Witness Dies In Shooting

LEAKEY, Texas (AP) - Some five months after he testified as a prosecution witness at the trial of three Real County men who were convicted of killing golden eagles, ranch foreman Alfred Zimmerman is dead.

A Department of Public Safety spokesman said the case is "being investigated as a possible homicide."

Uvalde Texas Ranger Joaquin Jackson said Zimmerman, described as about 46-47, was found dead early Monday by his son, Cecil, in the foreman's quarters at the Eagle Ranch in rural Southwest Texas. Authorities said he had been hit by a shotgun blast.

After a preliminary investigation, Jackson said he doubts Zimmerman's testimony was a factor in his death.

"That was the first thing that went through my mind," he said, "but I don't think so." He added that police do have a "suspect in mind" but refused further comment. Police said there was no sign of a struggle at the death scene.

Shortly after the shooting was reported, Real County Sheriff John Elliott asked for assistance from Jackson, Texas Ranger Cap. John Wood of San Antonio and a DPS crime lab team.

In the GOP primary the Fort Worth Star-Telegram, Dallas Times Herald, Midland Reporter-Telegram, Dallas Morning News and the Corpus Christi Caller-Times have endorsed Clements.

The El Paso Times and the Beaumont Enterprise-Journal have endorsed Hutchison.

Krueger, speaking in Eastland Monday, issued a policy statement on health care and older Americans. He said he favors returning control of health programs for the elderly to local and regional levels. He said that the fact that only three percent of the federal money spent on health care goes to preventive medicine perpetuates expansion and cost increases in medical care rather than curtailing health costs.

Christie said he will support the gradual deregulation of natural gas agreed upon Friday by the U.S. House and Senate negotiators. "This probably is as good a bill as we're going to get. It is fair both to producers and to consumers," he said.

-For operating loans, the maximum would be doubled to $100,000 for insured and $200,000 for guaranteed.

-Subsidized interest rates would no longer be available on those traditional programs, saving the taxpayer some $124 million over the next five years. The total indebtedness would be limited to the value of the farm and other security, instead of the present $225,000.

-A farmer could not have loans of more than $400,000 outstanding under both the special refinancing and regular ownership or operating credit programs.

-Low-income farmers, those with less than $20,000 a year in gross sales and those just starting out, could obtain low-interest direct or insured credit if they don't meet normal Farmers Home standards for ownership loans.

-Farming partnerships and corporations that meet the same "primary occupation" standards as individual farmers would be given access to the credit programs.

Ann Landers Marriage Rules

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am a 20-year-old single female. Over the past few years, I have read many books and articles on how to have a successful marriage. I want very much to have a good life and marriage will be an extremely important part of it.

Several years ago, I clipped from your column the "Twelve Rules for a Happy Married Life." I misplaced the clipping and wonder if it might be possible for you to hunt up that column and run it again. I would appreciate it so very much. -- Faithful Reader In Pilot Mountain, North Dakota

DEAR PILOT: I found the column and herewith repeat with pleasure:

TWELVE RULES FOR A HAPPY MARRIED LIFE

(1) Never both be angry at once.

(2) Never yell at each other unless the house is on fire.

(3) Yield to the wishes of the other as an exercise in self-discipline if you can't think of a better reason.

(4) If you have a choice between making yourself or your mate look good -- choose your mate.

(5) If you feel you must criticize, do so lovingly.

(6) Never bring up a mistake of the past.

(7) Neglect the whole world rather than each other.

(8) Never let the day end without saying at least one complimentary thing to your life's partner.

(9) Never meet without an affectionate welcome.

(10) Never go to bed mad.

(11) When you've made a mistake, talk it out and ask for forgiveness.

(12) Remember, it takes two to make an argument. The one who is wrong is the one who will be doing most of the talking.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Recently someone suggested that children be trained not to gawk or ask personal questions of handicapped people. I don't agree.

It is normal for children to ask questions. As a handicapped person (an amputee) I am not the least bit upset when a child asks, "What happened to your leg?" I simply tell the youngster I had an accident because I was careless on a bike. His curiosity is quieted and he learns something. Please expand on this vital subject. -- Experience Talking

DEAR EX: I asked Dr. Henry Betts, Chief of the Chicago Rehabilitation Institute, to express his opinion on this subject and this is what Dr. Betts said: "The main goal of the disabled is that they be accepted as individuals -- not symbols. As with all people, this means understanding and accepting their dissimilarities, strengths and weaknesses, positive and negative traits. To pretend that these features are being overlooked in the disabled (they certainly are not overlooked in others) is to separate the disabled and keep them out of the mainstream where they belong."

"A natural curiosity exists in all people about all others. There is no reason children or adults should avoid asking sincere questions of a disabled person. Manners and tact should be guidelines, however, for all people at all times."

"Being a member of the Odd Fellows or Rebekahs is more than just belonging to something. Why? Because Odd Fellowship is more than just a lodge or a dedication to a wholesome, cheerful, unselfish comradery that binds us more closely than any other organization in all the world."

"Hail, Angel of the Helping Hand, go forth upon thy mission grand, roll stones from darkened tombs away, drive out the night, let in the day. Change hate to love with touch divine, thy lengths around all nations twine, transform each ancient, soulless creed into living, loving deed. Til brother men from sea ro to sea more brotherly in love shall be. Hail, Angel, hail! And still we claim Odd Fellowship in thy sweet name."

Newlyweds Should Remember To Eat Four Food Groups

COLLEGE STATION - Shopping and cooking for two can create tasty, thrifty, and nutritious meals when newlyweds use imagination and planning, says Gwendolyn Clyatt. In planning, keep menus simple. Focus on quality and nutritional balance.

For example, don't leave out roasts, fresh fruits or vegetables because of leftover problems. Make plans for everything, and nothing will go to waste, says the consumer marketing information specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

RECIPE CUTTING KEEPS PLAN VERSATILE

Most recipes can be cut in half or thirds, so almost all are available to planners of menus for two, and that keeps any plan versatile.

If ingredients don't divide easily, use your best judgment to decide the correct amount—and don't worry. Few recipes are ruined by a little more or less of most ingredients.

FRUIT-VEGETABLE BUYING In buying canned fruits and vegetables, avoid small cans. Large ones are far more economical—with a plan.

For example, buy a large can of green beans. Butter and serve them as a hot vegetable on Monday. Marinate the rest in a bottled Italian-style dressing. Refrigerate them, and serve them as a salad on Wednesday. Buy a large can of fruit. Serve part of it with cookies for dessert one night. Later in the week, serve the rest sprinkled with cinnamon and cloves as a meat accompaniment.

Also, fruit-flavored gelatin can turn leftover fruits or vegetables into a special menu item.

For example, fold fruit into half the mixture and create a dessert. Use odds and ends of fresh leftover vegetables in the other half to make a salad.

For added economy, read labels to learn quality, size and weight. Fancy grades are not necessary for stews, soups, fruit puddings or pies, for instance. Lower grades offer the same nutrition and often just-as-good flavor for less money.

In buying fresh produce, buy seasonal items when they are most plentiful. They usually cost less, and their quality is usually better at that time.

FREEZER KEEPS MEAT PLAN FLEXIBLE Divide uncooked ground beef into meal-size portions and freeze. Cook a roast and freeze the leftover portion for a curried dish, casserole or sandwiches.

Almost, most meat casseroles freeze successfully, so make the full recipes of favorites, and freeze the leftover portions. Do the same with spaghetti sauce and stew.

TODAY'S SPECIAL PACKAGING, PROCESSING ADDS CONVENIENCE TO PLAN Nonfat dried milk keeps indefinitely on the pantry shelf.

and it offers a constant supply of milk in just the amounts needed. Other dried food products, such as soup mixes, hamburger mixes and potato flakes, do the same.

Variety packages of cereal allow a large selection without sacrificing freshness, but these generally cost more than other cereal products.

Also, canned hams of two pounds or less have a long shelf life, but once they are opened, plan to use any leftovers within a few days.

At Wits End

BY ERMA BOMBECK

How I envy my best friend. She's married to an impulsive Instamatic-in-the-shirt-pocket photographer who optimistically shoots the Grand Canyon through the car window going 35 mph.

I married a self-destructive Nikkormat with zoom lens who insisted I delay the birth of our first child until he could get a decent light reading.

There is no ledge too precarious...no mountain too inaccessible...no area too obscure. When there is a dog with one ear up, time stands still.

The dog-with-one-ear-up shot is only one of several favorites of my husband. We have two traysfuls of slides of dogs with one ear up that has been known to sedate hyperactive children in which doctors had given up hope.

Another "trick" shot that is a perennial is the state line shot, in which the subject is shown pointing to the sign that says, "WELCOME TO INDIANA" (ILLINOIS, COLORADO, NEW YORK, FLORIDA, TEXAS, and 44 more).

For humor, there is nothing that rivals my husband's restroom shots. These are little "candid" of the family coming out of the restroom, frowning, pulling down apparel, checking zippers—and there is one wonderful one of me with toilet tissue dragging on my shoe that I would kill for the negative.

The shots at the zoo are always fun. Especially if you're a rump man. My husband feels that it's an artistic side of the animal that points out his muscular mobility.

I contend it's an opinion.

The zoom lens has done for our marriage what Farrah Fawcett has done for hairnets. I feel that zoom lenses should be registered only to professionals and never left in the hands of Sunday afternoon photographers. I don't want to labor the point, but I will only state publicly that I have burned the green plain slacks that from the rear look for a slipcover for a Buick.

Yesterday, I saw a man take an indoor picture with no flash of six people in front of an aquarium...just after he had dropped his camera.

Now there's a man I could spend the rest of my life with.

To me 4-H is a special club that gives you opportunities and challenges of every kind. In 4-H you meet people from your community and establish new friendships. You also have the opportunity to meet and compete against people from other communities.

During the summer some 4H'ers wish to participate in the Six-County Horse Shows. This is one of the opportunities in which you meet and compete against people your age from other places. Two of the classes which are in the shows are Western Pleasure and Horsemanship.

In Horsemanship the rider preforms the horse to the best of his or her ability using patterns and techniques. While the rider is performing their is a judge present judging the riders abilities to handle the horse. In Western Pleasure it is basically the same but the judge is watching the horse's abilities instead and you do not use a specific pattern.

Monday night, the 17th of May, the Deaf Smith County 4-H Horse Club is having an Ice Cream Party and invites everyone who is interested in 4-H to attend. For more information contact Steve Kennedy at the County Extension Office.

Auto Club Officials Try To 'Patch' Staff

By JERRY GARRETT
AP Motorsports Writer

Even before the initial shock and disbelief had worn off, U.S. Auto Club officials were pondering how they could put together a patchwork staff to take over the duties of seven of their leaders who were killed late Sunday in a plane crash.

"The immediate concern was over the sprint and midjet races this weekend. They will go off as scheduled," said USAC spokesman Donald Davidson late Monday in a telephone interview from the club's Indianapolis headquarters. Beyond that, we have to start thinking quickly about the Indianapolis 500."

Behind the scenes preparations were to begin this week for the May 6 opening of Indianapolis Motor Speedway for practice leading up to the May 28 500-mile classic.

Four of those killed, Frank DelRoy, Stan Worley, Shim Malone and Ray Marquette, had vital roles in speedway activities.

DelRoy, the crusty technical director, was in charge of inspecting the entries - some 92 this year for the Indy 500 alone - for each USAC national championship race to determine their proper adherence to rules and safety requirements. He was considered without peer in his field.

"Jack Beckley, the assistant tech man, is expected to move into that spot," Davidson said. "He has been working closely with Frankie for several years and is very knowledgeable in the field. He lacks the experience that Frankie had accumulated over many years, of course, but we have great confidence in his abilities."

"Shim was our midjet division supervisor and the starter at all the championship races except Indianapolis, where he served as assistant to the chief steward. It will be up to Tom Binford, the track's steward, to designate a replacement," Davidson said. "Fortunately we are blessed with a lot of good help.

"Actually the toughest one of the lot to replace quickly will probably be Stan. His job as chief registrar was tough and thankless."

"He worked alone mostly, processing the hundreds of USAC licenses, issuing credentials to drivers, crews and officials. He knew most everybody on a first name basis. It's hard to describe the immense responsibilities of his position."

There will probably be no replacement for the jovial, wise-cracking Marquette whose job as director of public affairs was much more than that. He was generally recognized as No. 2 man in the organization to President Dick King.

Marquette, the immediate past president of the American Auto Racing Writers and Broadcasters Association who left his job as sports writer for the Indianapolis Star last year to take the USAC post, meshed perfectly with King to give USAC its strongest leadership since its inception in 1956.

"The positions can be filled, but the people who are gone can never be adequately replaced," Davidson said.

Among the other nine victims in the crash near Arlington, Ind., were Don Peabody, the highly respected new director of the spring division; Ross Teeguarden, an assistant to DelRoy; and staff member Judy Phillips.

Who is left to run the show? Besides King and Beckley, there is only steward Art Meyers, stock division, supervisor Billie Saxon, and the office staff.

"We'll manage. Everyone will pitch in and help," Davidson said. "But don't expect to see any of us smiling anytime too soon."

Oilers Secure Right To Draft Campbell

HOUSTON (AP) - The Houston Oilers have taken the drama out of next week's National Football League draft - it will be Heisman Trophy winner Earl Campbell donning the Oilers blue as the No. 1 pick.

The Oilers made it official Monday when they dealt tight end Jimmy Giles, along with their first and second round picks this year, to Tampa Bay in exchange for the Bucs' No. 1 pick next Tuesday. They also gave up their third and fifth selections next season.

There was little doubt in Oiler Coach J.A. "Bud" Phillips' mind about how long it will take Campbell to fit into the Oiler lineup.

Asked how soon Campbell could contribute, Phillips said, "Oh, about as soon as we can hand him the ball."

Campbell, who established career rushing records at the University of Texas, also was pleased with his selection.

"My first reaction was, it's great simply because all the speculation about where I was going to play is over," Campbell, a Tyler, Texas native, said. "A lot of people don't get the chance to play close to home their entire career. I feel real fortunate to do so."

Oiler owner K.S. "Bud" Adams Jr. announced the acquisition Monday and said the signing of Campbell would be an expensive proposition, but it signaled a commitment to excellence by the Oilers.

Adams was right about it being an expensive proposition based on comments by Campbell's agent, Mike Trope.

Trope said he'll ask for roughly the same contract he negotiated for top draft choices Ricky Bell and Tony Dorsett last spring, which means Campbell's services will cost the Oilers about $1.2 million over a five-year period. Trope said this figure would be, for the most part, non-negotiable.

"It stands to reason, and this is what I told Pat Peppler Oiler assistant general manager, that Earl is worth just as much as they were. If Houston wants to make a deal based on last year's figures, without haggling over minor details, this thing will be easy," Trope said.

Campbell said he would leave all contract negotiations to his agent but added if it were up to him, "I would play for $50."

If Campbell signs with Houston he would become the second Heisman winner to play for the Oilers. The Oilers drafted All-America running back Billy Cannon from Louisiana State University in 1960.

Adams recalled that moment Monday and then added, "We are upgrading that bright spot a bit right now."

Tampa Bay Coach McKay said the Bucs were pleased with the deal, "because we're not only getting an established player in Jimmy Giles but we are also able to add two more high draft choices this season and two next year."

"We're at the stage of our development where we need both quality and quantity and this trade qualifies under both criteria."

Trope said he had theorized Campbell would get offers that would come from Los Angeles and Houston.

"The Rams, I thought, had more artillery to offer, but Bum wanted Earl pretty bad, too. I didn't know which way it would go, or when it would happen," Trope said.

Elementary Track Meet Set Thursday

Some 350-400 local elementary school students are expected to be on hand for the Annual Kiwanis Club Elementary Track Meet which will be held at Whiteface Field Thursday meet director Carroll Tucker has announced. Competition in field events will begin the day at 12:30 p.m. with running events slated to start at 1:30.

Ribbons will be awarded to the top six finishers in each of 10 events Tucker said. "We've got three kids each from all seven schools in each event," he said. "That includes fourth, fifth, and sixth grade divisions."

Team trophies will also go to the schools piling up the most points in each division.

Field events will include the shot put, girls softball throw, boys high jump, and the long jump. Running events include the 50, 75, and 100-yard dashes as well as the 440 and the 440 relay and 880 relay.

Hereford High School assistant principal Dempsey Alexander will be the official starter for the meet.

Kiwanis Club members will serve as timers and catchers for the meet and will handle announcing and concession stand chores as well as running off the field events.

Lerch Leads Philly Rout

By KEN RAPPOPORT
AP Sports Writer

After their inefficient performance in Montreal over the weekend, the Philadelphia Phillies figured to break out in big way.

They did - but they rediscovered their power from the most unlikely source.

Randy Lerch, who gets paid mostly to pitch, did some of the heavy hitting for the Phillies Monday night and led a 12-2 rout of the Chicago Cubs.

"After the way we hit the last three games, I guess I expected something," said manager Danny Ozark after watching his Phillies pound out 12 hits against the Cubs, including a two-run homer and an RBI double by Lerch.

The hitting display gave the Phillies "a more positive outlook," according to Ozark. They had scored only eight runs while dropping a three-game series to the Expos.

Lerch, incidentally, pitched as well as he hit, allowing the Cubs only six hits.

In other National League games, the Montreal Expos tripped the St. Louis Cardinals 5-3; the Houston Astros beat the San Diego Padres 4-3 in 10 innings and the Pittsburgh Pirates defeated the New York Mets 4-2.

Expos 5, Cardinals 3
Dave Cash and Andrew Dawson stroked run-scoring singles off reliever Mark Littell in the seventh inning and triggered Montreal past St. Louis. The victory for the hot Expos was their fifth in a two and ninth in 11 games.

Left-hander Rudy May, an off-season acquisition from the Baltimore Orioles, got his first National League victory with relief help from Stan Bahnsen.

Astros 4, Padres 3
Dennis Walling's pinch single scored pinch-runner Julio Gonzalez from third base with two out in the 10th inning to give Houston its victory over San Diego. Art Howe singled in the Houston 10th and pinch-runner Gonzalez was sacrificed to second by Ed Herrmann.

Spurs In Trouble

By The Associated Press

The San Antonio Spurs are second-best in a two-team playoff series, but they may be trying harder.

The Spurs are one loss away from elimination by the Washington Bullets, who lead the best-of-seven quarter-final set 3-1 with Game 5 scheduled tonight at San Antonio.

"I know a lot of people have written us off," said San Antonio Coach Doug Moe, whose Spurs have lost their last three games. "While I'd much rather be up 3-1, there is an advantage in that you work harder."

They'll have to work hard to stay alive as the National Basketball Association playoff continue, and that includes getting balanced scoring from the rest of the Spurs shooters. George Gervin has been carrying the team offensively.

Hanna Sentenced to Prison Term

WASHINGTON (AP) - Former Rep. Richard T. Hanna, the first congressional figure charged in the Korean influence-buying scandal, today was sentenced to serve six months to 30 months in a federal prison. Hanna, who was a Democrat from California, appeared stunned as Chief District Judge William Bryant tersely handed down the sentence after lengthy appeals from both the congressman and his attorney for mercy. In a quivering voice, Hanna had told Bryant: "I apologized to the court. I apologized to the people who elected me to public office. I hope in the years that I have left I can do something to atone for what I have done." The white-haired Hanna who served in Congress from 1963 to 1974, entered a bargained guilty plea last March 17 to one count of conspiracy to defraud the government, a charge that bears a maximum penalty of five years in prison and a $10,000 fine. Hanna's plea agreement averted a trial on a 40-count indictment returned by a grand jury last October. Government attorney Jeffrey White dropped the remaining charges after today's sentencing. The government said in the bargaining plea with the former congressman that Hanna had "received in excess of $200,000 in cash and checks between 1969 and the end of 1975" for using the power of his office to further the interests of Korean businessman Tongsun Park. Hanna's attorney, Charles McNelis, argued in a long and emotional presentation to Bryant that while his client "did commit a serious mistake of judgment in his relationship with Tongsun Park," Hanna has since tried to redeem himself by cooperating fully with government investigators. "What conceivable and earthly good would be accomplished by the incarceration of this man?" McNelis asked. The lawyer said that while Hanna did receive money from Park, "that is not to say that he corrupted his political office." Noting that Hanna had been through extensive interrogations with government attorneys and congressional panels and a lie-detector test, McNelis declared that Hanna "did everything humanly possible to correct the grievous error which he knows and admits he committed." "He leads from the heart rather than the head," said the attorney. "It is inconceivable that he would do harm to his country." McNelis insisted that while Hanna has taken substantial amounts of cash from Park, "he is not a bag man" and not one penny was delivered to any other politicians through him. "He does not need the iron gates of incarceration, he needs a helping hand," McNelis concluded. At this point, Bryant invited Hanna to speak for himself. The former congressman stood silently as if to gather his composure, and when he finally spoke his voice shook and he seemed to be fighting tears. Hanna told the court that "I hope that what you have to do will help atone for what I've done." Bryant, in serious, clipped tones, then ordered Hanna to surrender himself to the attorney general's office for a decision on which prison he will go to. Hanna will remain free until that assignment, then will have 30 days to report to the institution under Bryant's order. McNelis had asked Bryant before the sentence was handed down, "What reasonable man would suggest that 64-year-old Dick Hanna, a first-term violator, really deserves incarceration?" The attorney noted that Hanna's wife of 33 years and several adopted children depend on his for support. As outlined by the prosecution, Hanna helped Park become the seller's agent for California rice exports to South Korea, thereby enabling Park to earn substantial commissions.

Writer Has 'Shock' of Life Riding New Six Flags Coaster

EDITOR'S NOTE - Associated Press writer Greg Thompson, an admitted practicing coward, was among the first Saturday to ride "The Shock Wave," a new double-loop roller coaster billed as the world's tallest, fastest and longest. He lived to tell about it. By GREG THOMPSON Associated Press Writer ARLINGTON, Texas (AP) - "The Shock Wave" snakes along at 60 miles per hour on a spindly tubular steel track that you'll swear you can see swaying in the brisk spring wind. There's a 36-degree, 116-foot plunge into two complete loops that literally turn the passengers upside down. That forces them to place their lives in the hands of Mother Nature's laws of physics lest they be smeared across Mother Nature's earth 70 feet below. It's that 116-foot drop and the loops that separate this roller coaster from all the rest, proudly proclaims the management of "Six Flags Over Texas," which opened the ride Saturday. Dozens of teenagers stood in line nearly four hours Saturday to get on the $2 million roller coaster and subject their bodies to two minutes of plunges, turns, curves, loops and 60-degree banks. "Sure it's safe," said Hubert Reithnaier, who represents the Swiss firm that designed what's supposed to be the world's longest, tallest and fastest double-loop roller coaster. "We wouldn't have any people in there if it wasn't safe." "It's very smooth," promised Reithnaier. "Before you know what's going on, you're back in the station." At the risk of calling Reithnaier a liar, here's what happens: A chain-driven lift carries 15,000 pounds of train and passengers to a point 116 feet above the ground while your stomach is doing cartwheels. The train then banks more than 50 degrees and roars around a curve before plummeting down a steep incline at 60 miles per hour. Your stomach feels like it's up around your ears as you head into the loops. There, your body is hit by 5.9 G's of force, turning your arms and legs to lead and peeling your face back like a rubber mask. That's six times the force of gravity - roughly akin, officials say, to the force felt by the pilot of a supersonic F-15 fighter when he goes into a evasive roll at 25,000 feet to avoid a heat-seeking missile. From there, it's your usual series of curves, banks and plunges. "The Shock Wave" boasts sophisticated, computer-controlled safety systems based in a "logic system," said Bobby Grubbs, manager of the ride. The system keeps the three trains from running too close together and includes an antirollback device on the 116-foot, chain-driven climb. Should the computer break

Primary Races Costly for Candidates

By GARTH JONES
Associated Press Writer
Texas has been known for many years for its rough and tumble, name-calling, free-swinging battles for governor. The May 6 primaries are no exception. Candidates in both the Texas Democratic and Republican parties show every sign of trying to set new records in the political history books.

One thing is certain, this will be the most expensive selection of a Texas governor yet. Gov. Dolph Briscoe and Attorney General John Hill are toe-to-toe in the Democratic main event with a June 3 run-off possible because of the quiet but determined campaigning of former Gov. Preston Smith. On the Republican side of the double feature, tough-talking Bill Clements, former deputy Secretary of Defense, is trying to break into Texas politics by defeating former state GOP chairman Ray Hutchison. Both races have already cost more than $4 million just in the primaries, with Briscoe, Hill and Clements spending more than $1 million each. The heat of the governor's races has overshadowed a hot Democratic race for the U.S. Senate nomination between two-term Congressman Bob Krueger, a favorite of the oil and gas industry, and Joe Christie, former El Paso state senator who helped bring mixed drinks to Texas. However, the Senate race may surge to the front in the November general election campaigning when the Democratic winner tackles Sen. John Tower, highest elected Republican official from Texas in many years.

Other hot statewide races in the Democratic primary include those for state attorney general, state treasurer, agriculture commissioner, railroad commissioner, and seats on the Texas Supreme Court and court of Criminal Appeals. In various sections of the state there are spirited contests for six congressional seats being vacated by Reps. Olin Teague, W.R. Poage, Omar Burleson, Barbara Jordan, George Mahon, and Krueger. Republicans have found hopes of adding at least one GOP member of the one seat they now hold among Texas' 24 congressmen. Then just to keep up the voters' spirits there will be several non-binding referendums or opinions surveys on the Democratic and Republican ballots. Both ballots will ask voters if they favor a local option form or horse race betting. No matter what the outcome, it will be up to the 1979 Legislature to decide if it wants to act the subject. Democrats also will say if they think the 1972 Legislature should raise interest rates on loans up to $5,000. Republicans will ballot on holding presidential primary elections, such as the one-shot poll in 1976. They also will say if they want a state constitution change to limit the amount of taxes levied by state and local governments. Latest estimates say there are about 5.5 million registered voters in the state, out of the more than 8 million of voting age. The Democrats expect a turnout of close to 2 million voters, compared to the 1.5 million primary voters in 1974 and 2 million in 1976. Republicans hope for a turnout of 150,000 to 175,000, compared to the 69,000 primary vote in 1974 and 356,000 in 1976. The Democratic gubernatorial contest has been a classic campaign example of the ambitious challenger up against a veteran incumbent. Briscoe, 54, millionaire South Texas banker-rancher before he ever ran for governor; wants another 4-year term to give him the unprecedented honor of serving as Texas governor for 10 years and longer than any other man. He campaigns on his record, saying he has shown you can have effective, efficient state government without new taxes. He promises there will be no law levies while he is governor. Briscoe says the "will spending spree promised by John Hill would lead Texas on a straight path to a personal income tax." Hill, 54, was a wealthy Houston claims attorney before he lost a governor's race in 1968 then got elected attorney general in 1972. He challenges Briscoe on a long list of issues, accuses him of weak leadership and calls him "an absentee governor who doesn't mind the store." Hill says he also is committed to no new taxes but says Texas booming economy will furnish plenty of revenue for expanded spending. Smith, 65, served two 2-year terms as governor then was defeated in 1972 in the aftermath of the Sharpstown scandals. He claims he has driven his 1977 Chevy about 18,700 miles visiting 300 communities. He also hits at what he calls Briscoe's lack of leadership. Hutchison, 45, a bond and finance law expert in Dallas before being elected to the Texas House says he has the political and governmental know-how, even if weak on financing. He claims Clements is another one of the big rich who want to start at the top. In the Senate race, Krueger, 42, who has been campaigning actively since July 4, 1977, is a Shakespeare scholar and scion of a wealthy New Braunfels family. During his two terms in Congress he was recognized as a champion of the oil and gas industry, particularly for deregulation. Christie, 44, also a former State Insurance Board chairman, says Krueger is an absentee legislator backed by the major oil companies. Christie, who supported the Panama Canal treaties, is endorsed by Texas labor and liberal groups. Tower, 52, has had little to say, resting on his 17-year record in Washington while his Democratic opponents fought it out. He has denied any wrongdoings in his connections with South Korea influence peddler Tongsun Park, which could be part of the November campaign. An unheard-of independent candidate, since making his original announcement, is former state senator Henry Grover, 50, of Houston. He lost a governor's race by only 100,000 votes in 1972 as a Republican. However, in order to get on the November ballot against Tower and the Democratic nominee, he will have to rake up a petition with thousands of names of eligible voters who did not vote Democratic or Republican on May 6.

Berkowitz Ruled To Be Competent

NEW YORK (AP) — A judge ruled Monday that David R. Berkowitz is mentally competent to stand trial for the murder of Stacy Moskowitz, the last of six homicide victims of the Son of Sam. The judge ordered the trial to begin May 8. The ruling might not lead to a trial, however, since Berkowitz has said he wants to plead guilty. His lawyers still want to plead him innocent by reason of insanity, but since he has been ruled competent, Berkowitz is free to make his own choice, providing the judge finds the plea legally acceptable. "The court finds that the people have established by a fair preponderance of the evidence that the defendant does not, as a result of mental disease or defect, lack capacity to understand the proceedings against him or to assist in his defense," Brooklyn Supreme Court Justice Joseph R. Corso said in a six-page memorandum of law. Corso, who earlier this month held four days of closed hearings on the competency of the 24-year-old postal clerk from Yonkers, set May 8 for either the start of preliminary trial hearings or jury selection should the defense waive the hearings. Berkowitz is accused of killing six persons and wounding seven others during a 12-month series of shootings in Brooklyn, the Bronx and Queens. The proceedings here addressed only the Brooklyn case. Marlon Brando made his New York stage debut Oct. 19, 1944, playing Nels in the Broadway hit "I Remember Mama."
