Betting bill sent to House

AUSTIN (AP) — The question of whether Texans will be able to make their first legalized bets on horse or dog races since 1937 has shifted to the House.

"We'll debate it on Thursday," Rep. Hugo Berlanga, D-Corpus Christi, said Tuesday after the Senate voted 17-12 to give final approval to the pari-mutuel wagering measure and send it to the House.

But getting the bill passed there with enough votes to get it on the general election ballot Nov. 4 will be a problem, said Berlanga, who sponsored similar legislation in the House.

A last-minute amendment in the Senate that would have allowed a statewide vote on betting in 1987 if it isn't on the ballot this year was defeated by two votes.

That means the House will have to pass its bill by two-thirds vote, or 100, to make the November ballot. Then the Senate will have to accept the House version by a two-thirds vote — all before the end of the session Sept. 4.

The Senate tentatively approved the bill 19-10 on Monday.

Pari-mutuel wagering's supporters have said throughout that the measure was not an instant cure to Texas' financial woes, but said it would be a substantial revenue producer in the future.

Opponents claimed it would be an open invitation to organized crime and would lead low-income people to spend money at the tracks that was needed elsewhere.

"I hope the people of Texas realize this is not an alternative to raising

Deputy, fireman use CPR to rescue courthouse visitor

Ninety-eight-year-old Jose Medina is thankful for his life today.

When he suffered a cardiac arrest on the first floor of the Deaf Smith County Courthouse Tuesday morning, there just happened to be two people in the courthouse with the skills to give him another chance on life.

Scott Holbert, a volunteer fireman, and Terry Denning, an emergency medical technician, were in the courthouse when Medina collapsed.

"I was in the tax office getting a registration on a car when somebody said a guy was sick in the hallway, I went out there and began to look for a pulse and I found a very faint pulse," said Holbert. "We did not want to move him. I continued to check him until his pulse and breathing stopped. We moved him to the floor, that is when Terry came along."

Denning, a dispatcher in the Sheriff's Office, said one of the jailers told her that a man was lying in the floor of the hallway. "I ran over there and Scott was already there working on him. I asked Scott if he knew CPR and he said yes, so we started in on him."

Both Denning and Holbert said it seemed like it took forever for the ambulance to get there, but the actual response time for the ambulance was less than two minutes.

Medina was taken to Deaf Smith General Hospital where he is in critical condition.

Deaf Smith County Director of Emergency Medicine Gerry Hollinger said that the basic CPR that Holbert and Denning gave Medina greatly enhanced his chance for survival. "Without that initial help, the man could have died right there."

U.S. says some contras trafficked drugs to help finance rebel cause

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Reagan administration concedes that some Nicaraguan rebels trafficked in drugs, but denies that the principal U.S.-backed Contra group is implicated.

"The available evidence points to involvement with drug traffickers by a limited number of persons having various kinds of affiliations with or political sympathies for resistance groups," according to a new report sent to Congress by the State Department.

Specifically, the report cites U.S. intelligence information as saying "a senior member of Eden Pastora's Sandino Revolutionary Front" in late 1984 agreed to help a Colombian narcotics trafficker ship drugs to the United States in exchange for an airplane, two helicopters and money.

It also notes other drug trafficking by people associated with the Contras, but said rebel leaders and the main U.S.-backed rebel group, the United Nicaraguan Opposition, UNO, apparently were not involved.

Last December, The Associated Press, quoting U.S. investigators and American volunteers who worked with the rebels, reported that Nicaraguan rebels operating in northern Costa Rica engaged in cocaine trafficking to help finance their war against Nicaragua's leftist Sandinista government.

The AP said the smuggling operations included refueling planes at clandestine rebel airstrips and helping transport cocaine to other Costa Rican points for shipment to the United States. The AP also cited a U.S. intelligence report that said a Pastora commander used cocaine profits to buy military equipment.

At the time, however, State Department deputy spokesman Charles Redman said, "We are not aware of any evidence to support those charges."

Although the new administration report accepts the validity of some accusations, it is accompanied by a cover letter signed by State Department lobbyist J. Edward Fox, stating, "The administration believes these (Contra drug) allegations are false."

Fox's office said Tuesday he was on vacation and unavailable to comment on the apparent discrepancy between his letter and the new report, obtained by the AP this week. Asked for comment, Redman said the report was "totally consistent with everything we have said all along."

Fox's letter is dated July 24, and congressional sources said the report was distributed on Capitol Hill to quiet concerns about alleged Contra drug trafficking that were undermining President Reagan's request for $100 million in new aid for the rebels.

Reagan's aid package won Senate approval on Aug. 13 after clearing the House earlier. The military aid and other assistance is expected to begin flowing to the Contras next month.

Asked about the new report, Sen. John Kerry, D-Mass., a Contra aid opponent, said, "Blanket statements by the administration that the allegations are false do little to help Congress determine whether the Contras are smuggling cocaine and heroin into the United States."

American carrier to patrol near Libya

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States, adding muscle to a recent warning to Libya's Col. Moammar Gadhafi, is canceling a port call for the aircraft carrier Forrester and ordering it to patrol the Mediterranean north of Libya, administration sources say.

The carrier will bypass a port call in Haifa, Israel, that had been scheduled to start today after the ship finished a series of exercises with Egypt, the sources said Tuesday.

The decision by the Pentagon came after President Reagan's chief spokesman, Larry Speakes, and other administration officials warned Gadhafi on Monday against launching new terrorist attacks against Americans.

"We have reason to believe that the Libyan state headed by Colonel Gadhafi has not forsaken the desire to create terrorist activities worldwide, and the capability is still there to do so," Speakes said in California, where he is with the vacationing president.

"The United States is prepared to take whatever action is necessary to prevent terrorist activity and could continue to do so," Speakes said.

Last April 15, U.S. warplanes flying from carriers in the Mediterranean and American bases in Great Britain bombed suspected terrorist facilities inside Libya.

Walcott adopts budget

A budget of $356,874 was adopted unanimously by the Walcott School board of trustees Tuesday, according to superintendent Bill McLaughlin. The board also set the tax rate at 75 cents per $100 valuation.

Among items cut from a previously proposed budget were $30,000 in instructional costs, $10,000 in instructional related items, $10 in transportation, $15,000 in plant services, $5,000 in administrative costs and $5,000 in food services.

Deputies arrest three

The Deaf Smith County Sheriff's office arrested two individuals for public intoxication Tuesday and also arrested an individual for having no driver's license and no proof of insurance.

A burglary of a habitation was reported by Donita Rule, southeast of Widorado. Reported stolen was a microwave, guns, a coffee maker, and various other household items.

Police arrest one adult

The Hereford City Police arrested one individual Tuesday on charges of public intoxication in the 300 block of George St.

Police also heard reports of harassment in the 400 block of Ave. C, criminal mischief in the 400 block of East Third, a civil dispute over a car title in the 300 block of Ave. A, a prowler reported in the 200 block of Star, a civil dispute over injury to a dog in the 200 block of Ave. B, assault by threat in the 400 block of Irving, and disorderly conduct and a report of order caused by animals in the 300 block of Bowie.

Compromise talks to begin today

AUSTIN (AP) — Ten legislators begin compromise talks today in hopes of settling budget differences between the House and Senate before the special legislative session runs out.

Gov. Mark White has indicated he will call a second 30-day session if a solution to the state's financial crisis can't be hammered out by next Thursday, Sept. 4.

In appointing their representatives to the compromise talks, several senators urged that no further cuts be made in higher education funds.

"I'm not saying we will have further cuts or more cuts, but what I'm saying is we need to give the conferees as much flexibility as they possibly can," Speaker Gib Lewis said.

There was little debate when the Senate approved its appropriation bill 28-0, but several challenged the House to pass a tax bill to go with spending cuts.

Any tax bill must originate in the House.

The Senate bill made a total of $417 million cuts in appropriations made by the 1985 Legislature. The House originally proposed to cut 1987 spending by $739 million.

"Some of it I like and some I don't," Lewis said. "The part about passing a tax bill I don't."

Lewis said there would be no tax bill in this special session "by any indicators I have seen."

"The House is trying to sell us on a Band-Aid that will get us past the voters in November," Sen. Carl Parker, D-Port Arthur, said shortly before the Senate bill passed 28-0. "The House knows its bill won't balance the budget and we know this bill won't balance the budget."

Sen. John Montford, D-Lubbock, said, "If we procrastinate until January, then we might have a tax bill by May. That will be too late."

Sen. John Traeger, D-Seguin, added, "If we don't deal with this crisis now, the treasurer tells me that state checks, and that includes our checks, could start bouncing by December."

Sen. Carlos Truan, D-Corpus Christi, pointed out the House bill ends the jobs of about 5,000 state employees, while the Senate version would cut only about 1,400 jobs.

The House-passed appropriations bill has $668.9 million in budget cuts, and proposes another $70 million savings by not giving state employees a 3 percent pay raise scheduled for next year.

The Senate bill also contains the Interstate banking wins again

AUSTIN (AP) — Legislation that would allow out-of-state banks to buy Texas banks for the first time in the state's history has won preliminary approval from the Texas House.

Rejecting arguments that the bill could leave decisions on Texas' future in the hands of outsiders, lawmakers voted 116-24 in favor of the bill Tuesday.

The measure, similar to a bill which already passed the Senate, faces a final House vote before being returned to senators for action on House changes.

Rep. Bruce Gibson, D-Cleburne, the bill's sponsor, said the legislation is needed to bring in outside money that could help lift Texas out of its economic doldrums.

"I think it's one of the best things we could do to get this economy out of a recession," said Gibson, chairman of the House Committee on Financial Institutions.

Gibson said allowing out-of-state banks to purchase Texas bank-holding companies and institutions would provide a needed shot of new capital.

"That means more loans. That means more jobs," he said.

Pickens launches lobby group

WASHINGTON (AP) — T. Boone Pickens Jr. says his new nationwide shareholder-rights organization is not a self-dealing vehicle to support takeover battles he might pursue in the future.

Pickens, the Texas oilman who gained fame by trying to acquire such oil giants as Phillips Petroleum Co. and Gulf Oil Corp. in the early 1980s, said his new group, the United Shareholders Association, will work to protect shareholders' rights largely by fighting the barrage of takeover defenses being adopted by corporate America.

But he dismissed suggestions that the group, in trying to remove takeover barriers, was simply a way to foster more takeover targets for Pickens.

"It is not an organization to further my efforts," Pickens said in unveiling the organization at a news conference Tuesday. "I'm not angling toward more corporate mergers. I see no conflict between the United Shareholders Association and what Boone Pickens does in his business life."

Pickens said he decided to form the group because "executives and managers are no longer accountable," and because the 47 million Americans who own stock are the "most under-represented group in Washington."

"Owners, and that means shareholders, are unorganized, intimidated and treated like second-class citizens," he said.

Specifically, he asserted that companies are adopting takeover defenses and taking other steps that primarily serve to entrench management, thus stripping stockholders of a voice in corporate affairs that their ownership in the company should represent.

"Stockholders have had their rights taken away in wholesale amounts recently," he said.

United Shareholders' goal, he said, will lobby before companies, Congress, the Securities and Exchange Commission and others to insist that "stockholders own companies and managers are employees."

Pickens said he would pay all of the $1.3 million needed to launch United Shareholders if needed, but that he expected much of the cost to be paid by new members to the group.

Baptist editor agrees to reviews

ATLANTA (AP) — The directors of The Christian Index, the official paper of the Southern Baptists in Georgia, agreed to keep Jack Harwell as editor but set up a separate board to review his writings to make sure they conform to Baptist guidelines.

Harwell, who has been editor of the paper for 20 years, had come under criticism from some of the fundamentalists within the denomination, who charged he was biased in favor of more moderate church members.

The Southern Baptist Convention has been in political turmoil for several years as fundamentalists and moderates battled for control. The paper's directors met behind closed doors for 4½ hours Tuesday to debate Harwell's work.

"This is a true review board, this is not a censor board," said the Rev. George Barnett, chairman of the Index's directors, of the newly established board.

Barnett said Harwell will have "total editorial freedom." The decision was "a sensible and workable and realistic solution to a very difficult problem," said Harwell.

He said he will not change his editorial opinions, because he said the directors had not asked him to do so. He said he would be "as sensitive as I can" to the feelings of all Georgia Baptists.

Barnett said the directors hope the action will end debate over The Index. The five-member review board will read Harwell's editorials after they are published, and will meet with Harwell every three months to discuss his work.

"I see this as being a strong plea for Christian consideration of those who may be different from me," Harwell said.

The review board initially will consist of Barnett, the Rev. Charles Carter of Jonesboro, the Rev. Billy Nimmons of Dalton, the Rev. Gene Tyre of Newnan, and a fifth member who has not yet been selected.

Worst violence occurs since June 12

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — Police killed 11 blacks in overnight gunbattles and rioting in Soweto that also left at least 66 people injured, the government said today.

It was the worst violence reported since a nationwide emergency was declared June 12.

Gunfire continued this morning, and the casualty toll was expected to rise. There were unconfirmed reports of 20 deaths and more than 80 injuries.

The major clashes, in which police fired on large crowds of angry blacks, took place in White City, one of the poorest neighborhoods in the township of 1.5 million blacks outside Johannesburg.

Witnesses said youths set up barricades of horse carts and trash cans, hurled stones at police and went house to house asking other residents to join the conflict.

Local reporters who were in contact with Soweto by telephone said violence was continuing at midmorning and spreading to other parts of the sprawling township.

They said schools had been closed, and that pupils who showed up were told to come back in September.

There were conflicting reports as to exactly what ignited the violence on Tuesday night, but residents said it was linked to the start of the eviction campaign by town council police against tenants involved in the rent boycott.

The government's Bureau for Information said seven deaths and 61 injuries occurred when police returned fire after the grenade was hurled from a crowd of about 300 people who had gathered at a barricade set up outside a liquor store about Tuesday evening.

Broiler production increasing

WASHINGTON (AP) — Production of broiler chickens, the kind most familiar to consumers, is rising again this year and will continue moving up in 1987, according to Agriculture Department economists. Last year, a record 4.5 billion broilers were produced, a 5 percent increase from 1984. The department's Economic Research Service says production this summer is up about 4 percent from a year ago. In the fourth quarter, output might be up 6 percent from the year-earlier level.

The broiler surge, despite this summer's drought and heat wave in the Southeast where much of the industry is located, is expected to continue 7 percent above year-earlier production levels at least through the first quarter of 1987.

Production has been goaded upward by some of the best prospects the broiler industry has seen in years, according to USDA economist Allen Baker. Feed costs are lower and will edge down further as reduced federal price supports take hold with the advent of this fall's crop production.

"The midyear report that pork producers were not expanding production, and the heat and resulting slower weight gains, helped boost prices early in the third quarter (July-September)," Baker said.

So, with less red meat to buy, consumers have turned to less-expensive poultry. And for most shoppers, particularly in the summer months, that means broilers, although roasting chickens and turkeys also have benefited from the demand. A rise in chicken popularity at fast-food outlets has been a factor.

Although there is still September to go, Baker's analysis shows wholesale broiler prices in the third quarter might average 69 cents to 73 cents per pound, up from 51 cents at major city markets a year ago.

Broiler prices are expected to decline this fall as pork supplies increase seasonally, but at 55 cents to 59 cents a pound broilers still would be higher than the fourth quarter average of 50 cents a pound last fall.

"Declines in red meat production and higher prices in early 1987 than in early 1986, especially in cheaper cuts and hamburger, will likely strengthen broiler prices," Baker said. "However, the expected 7 percent rise in output will likely moderate some of the price gains, and prices may average 51 to 55 cents per pound, up from 50 in (first quarter) 1986."

Non-immigrant visas being issued

MEXICO CITY (AP) — The U.S. Embassy resumed issuing non-immigrant visas this week after improved security measures were put into effect during a four-month shutdown, a spokesman said Tuesday.

Vincent Hovanec, the embassy's press attache, said about 600 visas were processed Monday, the first time the office was open since April.

The shutdown was ordered after numerous bomb threats were received at the embassy following the April 15 attack on two Libyan cities by U.S. military aircraft. Days later, a homemade bomb was deactivated in a car parked next to the embassy.

"The bomb threats were a threat not only to the embassy itself and all the U.S. and Mexican citizens who work there, but also to the 1,000 or so Mexicans who were literally circling the building every day," Hovanec said.

He said the office had been closed until adequate security measures could be put into effect.

Among the measures are a new building constructed in what had been a parking lot behind the embassy to take care of visa requests and other high-traffic matters.

"We are the third largest visa-issuing post in the U.S. foreign service, so we handle a tremendous volume of people, between 1,000 to 1,250 per day," Hovanec said.

The embassy remained open to renew expired visas but did not issue any new visas in the past four months, Hovanec said.

Visa applicants now enter the area from Rio Lerma, the street behind the embassy, instead of using the front entrance on the major Reforma Boulevard.

The sidestreet where the car bomb was found also remains closed to traffic.

Mexicans not wanting to wait for the visa office to reopen here for tourist or business trips to the United States had to go to one of the U.S. consular offices in nine provincial cities.

At the consulate in the northern industrial city of Monterrey, just a three-hour drive from the U.S. border at Laredo, Texas, the number of non-immigrant visa applicants rose from an average of 600 to 800 per day to up to 1000 per day during the time the Mexico City office was closed.

"About 100 a day were from Mexico City," said consulate spokesman Robert Brown. He attributed the rest of the increase to a normal summer rise in travel.

Brown said one officer was brought in temporarily from the embassy in Mexico City to help process the applications.

Long lines of anxious visa applicants began forming in the early morning hours in front of the consulate.

But Brown said many Mexico City residents came to Monterrey without sufficient documentation of income, job security and other information required to receive a visa.

"They'd complain, but they'd get here without the proper documentation and then they'd have to go back for it," he said.

To avoid forcing people to wait in the lines for nothing, Brown said the consulate published a leaflet detailing the sort of information required.

"The criteria is to establish that they live in Mexico and have evidence of economic and social ties which would tend to compel the applicant to return to Mexico," Brown said.

The leaflet was passed out by policemen guarding the consulate so even if people arrived at 3 a.m. they would know immediately if they lacked the necessary data.

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Archbishop of Canterbury Robert Runcie says he can't get over America's fascination with the wedding of Prince Andrew and Sarah Ferguson.

Runcie, who is in Milwaukee for the Lutheran Church in America's meeting, told a news conference Tuesday that while he was at Independence Hall in Philadelphia, a fellow tourist asked him about the July 23 wedding.

"You speak like an Englishman," the man said.

"I am," said Runcie.

Pari-mutuel wagering has been prohibited in Texas since 1937. The Senate approved a betting bill in 1983 but it died in House debate. In 1985, a House failed again in House debate.

If pari-mutuel wagering passes the Legislature and is approved by voters voters approve, then local-option elections could be held in 251 counties on horse race betting and in three counties for greyhound wagering.

The proposed legislation calls for a Texas Racing Commission to supervise horse races and wagering in about four large tracks in metropolitan areas, about 17 regional tracks with mostly weekend race programs and any number of temporary race meets at county fairs and other celebrations.

Ticket prices range from $95 to $315, and Davico said the money will help finance programs for 11 million refugees around the world.

One of the biggest differences in House and Senate cuts is in higher education. The House bill makes a 14.4 percent cut for state colleges and universities, while the Senate cut is about 7 percent.

The Senate bill also creates a $20 million contingency fund to help colleges whose revenues in 1986 did not reach estimated levels, mostly because of increased tuition rates.

Senators also refused to make deep cuts to social service agencies that were approved by the House. The upper chamber cut about $9 million from the Department of Health, compared to House cuts of $14.1 million.

The Senate made no cuts to the Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation, but made some shifts in agency funds. The House voted cuts of $38.7 million in the MHMR budget.

Stringer honored at shower

A post-nuptial bridal shower was held for Mrs. Hank Stringer, the former Katherine Rison, Saturday morning in the home of Merle Clark, 241 Ranger.

Special guests included the bride's mother, Mrs. Richard L. Rison of Ardmore, Okla.; the bride's grandmother, Mrs. Ruth Patterson, also of Ardmore; and the groom's mother, Marie Stringer of Hereford.

Other honored guests include Mrs. Bobby Anderson of Denver, Colo., the bride's aunt; Mrs. Howard Wilson of Amarillo, the bride's cousin; Mrs. Bob Conley of Amarillo; Mrs. Merle Mills of Plainview, the groom's aunt; Mrs. Bob Hardin of Sayre, Okla., the groom's aunt; and Jan Bohannan of Sayre, the groom's cousin.

Refreshments were served from a

Hostesses included Ruth Black, Ann Combs, Ms. Clark, Sara Cook, Frances Crume, Helen Eades, Lajean Henry, Mary Herring, Mary Sue Hull, Sydney Kerr, Helen Lee, Lois Lemmons, Lois Matchett, June Owens, Dortha Prowell, Susan Robins, and Marline Watson.

Dear Ann Landers: I have waited too long to write this letter and I am ashamed of myself. It's a thank-you for recommending Joel Wells's book, "Coping in the '80s: Eliminating Needless Stress and Guilt."

I am a Catholic woman who for 15 years felt guilty about marrying a Protestant.

When our first baby died I was sure God was punishing me. Two years later we had a son who was retarded. Again the guilt was overwhelming. I just knew God was sending me another message.

We had a beautiful baby girl three years after that. When Lauren died mysteriously in her sleep (it was Sudden Infant Death Syndrome) I almost lost my mind. I went for counseling and it helped a little but for I was depressed.

Then my husband had a bad car accident and I had to go back to work. My mother-in-law moved in and took care of Chuck and our retarded son. The woman who hit Chuck had no insurance.

I began to have anxiety attacks, cold sweats, feeling like I was going to faint. My heart pounded and my head swam. My hands shook so bad I couldn't put on lipstick. If I slept three hours a night it was a lot. I was down 20 pounds from my normal weight.

I went to a doctor who prescribed tranquilizers, but I was afraid to take more than one a day because my sister had become addicted Valium and ended up totally dependent. She had to be hospitalized to get off the drug.

And then I read about that book in your column and decided, "What do I have to lose?"

I sent for it and within a week I read it three times and felt 100 percent better. The chapter on stress was a revelation. I never realized that stress could make a person physically sick. I also learned that stress could make people susceptible to colds, flu and even backaches. I saw myself in so many pages it was if the author had written the book just for me.

I now know that God does not punish people by visiting misfortune on them. I also know everybody has trouble sooner or later and there's no point in placing the blame or carrying a grudge. I know, too, that self-hate and anger can be poison.

This book has changed my life and I just had to let you know. Sign me—Peggy W. (Holyoke, Mass.)

Dear Peggy: I've received many letters in praise of "Coping in the '80s" and am grateful to all who wrote. To those who haven't ordered as yet, the address is: Thomas More Press, 223 West Erie, Chicago, IL 60610. Send $8, which includes handling and postage. This could be the best $8 investment you've ever made.

Dear Ann Landers: My 19-year-old son has just learned his girlfriend is three months pregnant. She is only 16 and says she is too young to be married. (I was married at 16 and it worked out fine.) My husband and I want her to have the baby. So does our son. We will raise. Her folks want her to have an abortion. Do we have any legal rights in this matter? After all, the baby is half our son's. Upset in Omaha, Neb.

Dear Omaha: According to law the decision is solely up to the woman. No one can deny her the right an abortion if this is what she wants.

Get those wedding bell blues over cost... guest list... what to wear... and other details? Ann Landers' "New Bride's Guide" will help. For a copy, send $2 plus a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope (39 cents postage) to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 11995, Chicago, Illinois 60611.

DR. GOTT Contact lenses and electricity

By Peter H. Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT — Is it true that electrical workers who wear contact lenses are at risk for eye damage?
DEAR READER — Two recent incidents have called attention to a new and particularly serious safety hazard for contact-lens wearers who work as welders or in occupations connected to the electrical industry.
 In the first case, an electrical worker threw a switch that produced a spark. When he returned home, he removed his contact lenses. The corneas of his eyes came off with the lenses.
 In the second case, a welder flipped open the colored shield of his welding hood in order to position a rod. He inadvertently touched the metal to be welded, and this produced an arc. When the worker removed his contact lenses, his corneas came off with the lenses.

DEAR READER — Adrenal cortex injections consist of cortisone, a naturally occurring substance that reduces the body's ability to react to inflammation. Cortisone and its analogues, such as prednisone, are extremely effective antidotes for a variety of diseases, including lupus, rheumatoid arthritis and some severe allergic reactions.

Because cortisone produces many unwanted side effects — including diabetes, cataracts, bone softening and disruption of the immune system — most doctors use it sparingly, for short periods and under close medical supervision. In my opinion, doctors and patients who regularly use cortisone for allergies are taking a big risk. Reputable allergists use as little cortisone as possible and only as a last resort. Adrenal cortex injections are to be avoided for the use you describe.

Both men are now blind. Experts believe that at the time of the electrical discharge or arc, microwaves were generated that instantly evaporated the fluid between the contact lenses and the corneas, causing a fusion of the lenses to the corneas. The bonding of contact lenses to the eye was painless, but disastrous.
 Although this type of injury is so new — and unusual — that federal and state regulations have not been formulated, investigators strongly urge that workers not wear contact lenses when doing jobs that might expose them to electrical sparks.
DEAR DR. GOTT — I liked your column about quarantining smokers to a room. I asked my husband to smoke in either the bathroom or the garage. He said that it's his house, he works all day and he has a right to smoke wherever he feels like it. He suggested that if I don't like his smoke, I go into the bathroom. Obviously, he is bullheaded about more than smoking. Do you have any advice?

DEAR DR. GOTT — Four years ago, my daughter, then 21, was diagnosed as having endometriosis. The gynecologist told her there were worse things in life than not being able to have kids. What exactly is endometriosis, and how does it affect fertility?
DEAR READER — Endometriosis is a disorder that has been estimated to affect 15 percent of women. It consists of an area of uterine lining that grows outside the uterus. These endometrial "islands" can be found on the uterine surface and elsewhere in the reproductive tract, as well as in scars, the bowel wall, the lung and even the brain. No one knows what causes this abnormality.

The symptoms depend on which organ is involved, because endometrial tissue outside the uterus follows the same bleeding cycle as endometrium within the uterine cavity: monthly pain, abdominal soreness, intestinal blockage and infertility often occur. As the misplaced endometrium bleeds month after month, it causes cysts that may have to be surgically removed.
 With time, women may outgrow endometriosis. Pregnancy seems to correct the problem in some women; in others, the use of birth-control pills may alleviate the symptoms. In its mildest form, it can cause excessive menstrual cramps and heavy monthly periods.

In 1540, King Henry VIII married Catherine Howard, his fifth wife.

DEAR READER — Under the circumstances, I'm afraid I don't. If your husband won't listen to you, he is unlikely to listen to me. You may have to isolate yourself when he is smoking — or open all the windows in the house when he lights up. From the sound of your letter, I'd say that smoking is only part of the problem. Good luck.
DEAR DR. GOTT — I recently read of a person who was cured of allergies forever by receiving adrenal cortex injections once a week for nine months, then once every two weeks for three months. If this method worked for him, why haven't more doctors tried it?

Wedding vows spoken Saturday afternoon

Wedding vows were exchanged Saturday afternoon in the Knights of Columbus Hall by Lucy Medina and Anthony Flores. Officiating for the couple was Judge Johnnie Turrentine.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ramon Medina of 826 Irving St. and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Flores of 311 Adelito.

The K.C. Hall was decorated by crepe paper streamers and balloons and individual tables were covered with white paper and white and lavender trim.

The bride's sister, Mary Lou Zambrano, served as matron of honor and the bride's brother-in-law, Robert Zambrano, was best man.

Bridesmaids included the bride's daughters, Patsy and Naomi Martinez, and the bride's nieces, Laurie Lou Zambrano and Estee Medina. Groomsmen were the bride's sons, Ruben, Joey, Benny, and Jaime Martinez. Ring bearer was Joey Martinez.

Given in marriage by her parents, the bride wore a floor-length polyester and chiffon orchid cape. She was also attired in a white hat trimmed by orchid ribbons and carnations.

She carried a fan ornamented with a veil, carnations and orchid ribbons. Her jewelry consisted of a gold and diamond wedding band.

Bridal attendants were attired in floor-length gowns in pink, white, and orchid trimmed by ribbon. The gowns complimented the bride's ensemble.

Olga Zambrano, the bride's sister, invited guests to register at the reception held in the hall.

The fountain designed cake was decorated with orchid roses and trimmed by 14 candles layered on the sides. It was made by Mrs. Elida Balderaz and served by the bride's sisters. Other members of the houseparty included the bride's family.

The couple are making their home at 113 Ave. E.

The bride attended Hereford High School and received training in word processing from Texas State Technical Institute in Amarillo. She was formerly employed by Jack and Jill.

The bridegroom was educated in Mexico and is currently employed at Barrett-Crofoot, Inc.

Out-of-town wedding guests represented El Paso, Garden City, Kan., and Boys Ranch.

POLLY'S POINTERS

Ice-cream drips can be stopped

By Polly Fisher

DEAR POLLY — I fixed an "emergency kit" inside my husband's tackle box. I put his fishing license in there (you'd be surprised at how many people forget it), some change for an emergency, some identification in case it gets left on the dock, a small flashlight for after-dark excursions, some bandages and antiseptic for imbedded fishhooks, and some hand lotion for all those times he's getting his hands wet. These items sure come in handy. — CLAIRE

DEAR POLLY — If all the other fishing enthusiasts out there don't have a thoughtful wife or husband like you to pack their emergency kits for them, I hope they take your Pointer to heart and do it themselves! It could really come in handy. Your helpful Pointer earns you the Pointer of the Week award, a copy of my book "Polly's Pointers: 1081 Helpful Hints for Making Everything Last Longer." Others who would like this book can order it for $6.50. Make check payable to POLLY'S POINTERS and send to POLLY'S POINTERS, Box 1216, Dept. 55, Cincinnati, OH 45201. — POLLY

DEAR POLLY — If you buy margarine in half-pound containers, save the containers, slit the bottom and slip the sticks of ice-cream bars or ice-pop treats through the slits before giving them to your children. Any mess will slide into the container, not onto clothes or your just-washed floors or carpets. — BOBBIE

DEAR POLLY — Baskets of all sizes seem to be the rage now. Select a size that will fit on a shelf in your bathroom and fill it with all your cosmetics, brushes, lipsticks, etc. It's so easy to use what you need out of the basket, and it makes a pretty addition to your bathroom decor. — OPAL R.

DEAR POLLY — The small metal boxes that throat lozenges come in are great for storing postage stamps and address labels. Not only do they protect stamps and labels from dampness, but you can also transfer them from desk to purse without spilling the contents. — B.M.C.

Polly will send you a Polly Dollar ($1) if she uses your favorite Pointer, Peeve or Problem in her column. Write POLLY'S POINTERS in care of this newspaper.

More Texas women dying of lung cancer study shows

Until recently, breast cancer was the most common cause of cancer death among women in Texas and the U.S. However, in 1979 the lung cancer death rate among white Texas women surpassed that of breast cancer. For black women this occurred in 1982.

According to an article in the August issue of Texas Medicine, lung cancer deaths in Texas women continue to increase. Only in black women over age 65 have lung cancer deaths remained relatively stable, according to Drs. Margaret R. Spitz, David T. Carr, Guy R. Newell, and attorney H. Keith Lynch, division of medicine, The University of Texas M.D. Anderson Hospital and Tumor Institute, Texas Medical Center, Houston.

Writing in the official journal of the Texas Medical Association, they state "There is an inverse relationship between socioeconomic status and smoking prevalence." They add it is likely that the peak of black women smokers occurred after it did for white women. Therefore, the lung cancer death rate for older black women in the future might increase.

The report also reveals that lung cancer deaths are decreasing for young men in Texas. The authors conclude that lung cancer deaths in women are projected to continue to increase and exceed the rate of men by the year 2000. This is because women have stopped smoking at a slower rate than men. They add that "these data emphasize the urgent need for continuing efforts aimed against smoking and directed particularly to young women."

Sorority chapter members meet recently for brunch

Members of Alpha Iota Mu Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi Sorority met recently in the home of Mary Herring for a Beginning Day Brunch as their first meeting of the club year.

The group was served quiche, cheese grits, cinnamon rolls, muffins, fruit salad, juice and coffee.

Following the brunch, a brief business meeting was conducted by President Ruby Lee. The chapter heard from committees concerning activities planned for the year.

It was announced that the chapter has adopted a grandmother for the coming year, Lucille Carter, a resident of Westgate Nursing Home.

The next meeting will be held Sept. 4 with Carol Kelly serving as hostess and Marge Bell, co-hostess.

Those present included Bell, Jackie Fangman, Beckie Fry, Cindy Garth, Nancy George, Dona Hendrickson, Elizabeth Jesko, Jan Ramaekers, Lisa Rollins, Ruby Sanders, Lee and Connie Matthews, advisor.

Orientation scheduled Thursday

Sophomore orientation at Hereford High School will begin at 1 p.m. Thursday in the HHS auditorium.

Parents are welcome to attend. Following orientation, there will be a tour of the campus and checking of schedules.

DANCE DIRECTOR

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sali Ann Kriegsman was recently named director of the dance program of the National Endowment for the Arts.

In this position, she will oversee operations of the dance program which has a 1986 budget of $9 million allocated to provide support for professional choreographers, dance companies and organizations that present and serve dance.

Kriegsman has worked as a writer and critic and has served as an independent consultant and advisor on a wide variety of professional programs and projects in the dance field over the past decade.

That long stick with a soft leather or padded head used by painters, and especially sign painters, to support the hand that holds the brush is called a mahstick.

Senior Citizens Opportunities

Activities scheduled Thursday and Friday at the Hereford Senior Citizens Center include the following:

EVERY WEEKDAY - Quilting 8 a.m. to 5 p.m.

THURSDAY - Stretch and flexibility 10-10:45 a.m., choir 1 p.m., birthday social 6:30 p.m.

FRIDAY - Line dance 1 p.m.

LUNCH MENUS

THURSDAY - Pork chops with potatoes, vegetables, cranberry salad, Boston creme pie.

FRIDAY - Shrimp and fish plate, French fries, peas and carrots, colerlaw, cherry cobbler.

CALM YOUR CHILD'S FEARS

NEW YORK (AP) — All children go through states of real or imagined fear, says pediatrician T. Berry Brazelton. Brazelton, a contributing editor to Family Circle magazine, says fear of falling and fear of strangers is common to infants and toddlers. By the second year, the two common fears are fear of new experiences and fear of other children.

Brazelton points out some ways a parent can ease a child's fears. Respect what your child tells you about his fears, and explain it is natural at his age to be worried about certain things.

Support him as he struggles with his fears, and reassure him that all children have fears. Tell him about your own fears at his age.

Telethon to begin Sunday

Members of the Hereford Elks Lodge have appointed Robert and Janice Holmes and Jerry Johnson to man to local end of the annual Jerry Lewis Labor Day Telethon to be held Sunday through Monday. The event will benefit the Muscular Dystrophy Association.

Janice Holmes is serving as coordinator of the pledge center located at 436 N. Schley which will be open from 8 p.m. Sunday throughout the Labor Day weekend.

Hereford residents may place their pledge by phone at 364-1273. Telephone pledges made through the Hereford Pledge Center will be credited to the citizens on the television telethon to be aired on KFDD-TV 10.

Anyone wanting to volunteer to answer phones or make a pledge should contact Holmes at 364-7140.

Funds raised through the telethon by Hereford residents will be spent in this area to assist patients with neuromuscular disease and to advance MDA's worldwide research program.

BUYING A BLOCK

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — Anyone who wants to buy a "block" in downtown Richmond now can do so.

A.J. Christopher Wood, executive director of the city's Metropolitan Economic Development Council, says the "blocks" are paving bricks. They are engraved with the buyer's name and placed in one of three downtown locations along the city's new Canal Walk.

The bricks, part of a fund-raising project for a new riverfront park, are priced at $25 each.

FOOTBALL FORECAST

By Maj. Amos B Hoople
Fearless Prognosticator

Egad, friends! It is a pleasure to be back for another big college football season. Your Fearless Forecaster is the dean of America's football experts. The Hoople System has been picking the top games since 1941.

This year selecting the pre-season Top 20 was even more difficult than usual. But the Hoople choice for No. 1 is Alabama — with the Oklahoma Sooners a very, very close second.

Under head coach Ray Perkins, the Crimson Tide, a 24-3 victor over Southern Cal in the '85 Aloha Bowl, returns an awesome quartet of linebackers, led by All-American Cornelius Bennett.

But it's on the offense where the Tide will excel. Willy senior QB Mike Shula (of the football Shulas) will be lofting his left-handed tosses to gifted receiver Al Bell. That is, when he's not handing off to speedy RBs Gene Jelks and Bobby Humphrey or freshman Pierre Goode.

Alabama will need to be at the top of its game on Opening Day. It tangles with the rugged Ohio State Buckeyes in the nationally televised Kickoff Classic at the Meadowlands in East Rutherford, N.J., on Wednesday, Aug. 27.

The Bucks, No. 9 in the Hoople rankings, closed out last season with a 10-7 triumph over BYU in the Citrus Bowl, giving them a 9-3 record for the sixth straight year.

Now coach Earle Bruce has a veteran Ohio State team with eight regulars returning on both the offense and the defense. The offense will be particularly tough with passer de luxe Jim Karsatos and running backs John Woolridge and Vince Workman hale and hearty.

In a very close game, the Hoople System looks for Alabama to beat Ohio State, 24-21, in the Kickoff Classic.

Here's the complete pre-season Major Hoople Top 20 for 1986:

- No. 1, Alabama; No. 2, Oklahoma; No. 3, UCLA; No. 4, Miami (Fla.); No. 5, Michigan; No. 6, Texas A&M; No. 7, Penn State; No. 8, Clemson; No. 9, Ohio State; No. 10, Nebraska; No. 11, Baylor; No. 12, Tennessee; No. 13, Florida State; No. 14, Washington; No. 15, Notre Dame; No. 16, Louisiana State; No. 17, Brigham Young; No. 18, Michigan State; No. 19, Georgia; No. 20, Maryland.

Golf tournament set in Clovis

A golf event known as the second annual Mental Health Resources Invitational Golf Tournament is scheduled on Sept. 6-7 in Portales, N.M.

The tournament, from which all proceeds go to Mental Health Resources programs, will be played at Portales Country Club. Those programs include Eastwind Alcohol and Chemical Dependency Services, Casa Nueva, and other counseling services.

The tournament will be a 36-hole event, with a two-person scramble. Entry fees are $140 per team. Prizes will be awarded in the tournament, including a new automobile.

Golfers who enter the tournament will receive free tickets to the Sept. 6 football game between Eastern New Mexico University and Western New Mexico, scheduled for 7:30 p.m.

Entry deadline for the tournament is Saturday, Aug. 30. Entries should be mailed to Golf Tournament, Mental Health Resources, 300 East First St., Portales, NM, 88130.

The State Farmway

The No. 2 Sooners are blessed with QB par-excellence Janelle Holieway, who can beat you with his arm or his dazzling feet. Giving Holieway plenty of opportunity will be probably the best defensive team in the country — led by linebackers Brian Bosworth and Dante Jones. If Barry Switzer's club can get by their first three games — UCLA, Minnesota and Miami — look out!

Checking in at No. 3 are the UCLA Bruins, rightly called the "Champions of New Year's Day." They've won the '83, '84 and '86 Rose Bowls and the '85 Fiesta Bowl. Terry Donahue's Bruins will be tough to handle with the return of talented tailbacks Gaston Green and Eric Ball. Demolishing a good Iowa team in the Rose Bowl, Ball scampered for 227 yards and 4 TDs.

The No. 4 Miami Hurricanes missed the national crown in '85 by suffering a shocking 35-7 blow-out at the hands of Tennessee in the Sugar Bowl. This is a new season. And Miami will be tormenting all foes with its Heisman candidate, QB Vinny Testaverde, leading the attack.

The Michigan's Wolverines are No. 5. They surprised a lot of people last year, but they won't catch anyone napping this fall. Bo Schembechler (196-55-7 in 23 seasons) has gifted Jim Harbaugh back at the controls. The Wolves have lost only two games the senior QB has started. Michigan's running attack will be strong, as usual, with the potent trio of Jamie Morris (1,030 yds in '85), Gerald White and Tom Welcher.

Our No. 6, Jackie Sherill's Texas A&M squad, was another surprise team last year, winning the SWC title and the Cotton Bowl. In '86, the Aggie offense — sparked by QB Kevin Murray and RB Keith Woodside — will give everybody fits.

Penn State, No. 7, will be one of Joe Paterno's (187-44-2, .807 win pct.) best teams. The Nittany Lions return 53 lettermen and play seven home games. A healthy D.J. Dozier running wild could make the Lions 100th intercollegiate football season more than memorable.

Clemson, the favorite for the ACC title, may well finish the year rated higher than No. 8. Coach Danny Ford also has 53 letter-winners back, including seven starters on offense and eight on the defense.

Rounding out the Top 10 (following Ohio State) are the Nebraska Cornhuskers, who boast a well-seasoned aggregation. Tom Osborne's Huskers — with Heisman hopeful RB Doug DuBose operating at top speed — will give Oklahoma a tussle for the Big Eight crown.

Looking ahead to the Heisman Trophy race, we see it as an eight-man affair: running backs DuBose, Dozier, Thurman Thomas (Oklahoma State) and Lorenzo White (Michigan State), plus quarterbacks Testaverde, Holieway, Harbaugh and our darkhorse, Shula.

EAST RUTHERFORD, N.J. (AP) — Although fifth-ranked Alabama and No. 9 Ohio State have been described as having many similarities, the concerns of the coaches were different as they prepared for tonight's Chase Kickoff Classic.

Ohio State's Earle Bruce was worried about his offense. Alabama's Ray Perkins had defense on his mind.

"When you look at starting early and trying to get ready for a game, if you're trying to build an offensive line, that's a tremendous challenge in itself because if there's any one thing that's built the tradition at Ohio State it's been the really great offensive lines," Bruce said.

"When you try to build one in two weeks, that's not enough time, I'm afraid. It's very tough to get an offense ready to play that quickly."

The preseason has been something of a nightmare for Alabama, especially since defensive tackle Willie Ryles, projected as a starter at a position hit hard by graduation, died last Saturday of an acute subdural hematoma, five days after he collapsed on the practice field.

"The mood at first was very sad because Willie was the second player we lost within the last six months (George Scruggs, a reserve running back, was killed in an April automobile crash that sidelined cornerback Vernon Wilkinson for the season)," strong safety Ricky Thomas said. "We just have to have faith in God because things happen for a reason."

In addition, Cornelius Bennett, considered one of the nation's top linebackers, is out with a pulled hamstring while backup strong safeties Rory Turner and Shon Lee suffered injuries one day apart. Just so the defense wouldn't get all the sympathy, offensive tackle Gary Otten, out all last year, reinjured a knee.

"My primary concern is our defensive football team," Perkins said, "primarily because we're going to be without Cornelius, although I think the young man who'll be filling for him (sophomore Derrick Thomas) will prove to be an All-American player before he leaves our place."

"We're going to be playing with some untested down people (tackles Derrick Slaughter and Anthony Smith)."

With one team concerned about its offense and the other its defense, the kicking game could be the difference. Alabama is a 4½-point favorite and Bruce said that "if there is an edge in this game I think it would be to Alabama because they have both their kicker (Van Tiffin) and punter (Chris Mohr) back."

Ohio State returns punter Tom Tupa, but the placekicking duties will be handled by freshman Pat O'Morrow, who had arthroscopic knee surgery three weeks ago.

Tonight's Kickoff Classic marks the second meeting between Alabama and Ohio State. On Jan. 2, 1978, Alabama thrashed Ohio State 35-6 in the Sugar Bowl in a classic coaching matchup between Bear Bryant and Woody Hayes.

Courtesy of Scott Hunter, who passed for more yards than any Alabama quarterback and is now a sportscaster in Mobile, here's a Bear Bryant story:

"We were playing Southern Mississippi in 1968, the second game of the season and my first start at Alabama. He comes over to me before the game starts. I'm sitting on the bench, nervous, and he gives me the program which was rolled back to the officials.

"He says, 'Look at this thing, boy, and memorize the numbers of these officials. Any edge we can get that way might help.' I took them back and sat in the john, the only quiet, private place in the locker room, and got them all memorized by numbers. It was about the first time the officials were wearing numbers.

"Sure enough, middle of the first quarter Southern Miss is offside and I called out the guy's name, Mr. ... I'll call him Smith; I don't remember who it was, but then I did for sure.

"He looked around and he was impressed. He said, 'Scott, I've got Southern Miss offside. You want the penalty or you want the play?'"

"Right before the half we get a questionable pass interference penalty. And as the guy who called it goes by the bench, Coach Bryant yells out, 'You no-good Georgia Tech-Atlanta bleep bleep bleep.'"

"I was standing beside him and I said, 'I guess my memory course isn't worth a darn now.'"

It was heavyweight champion John L. Sullivan who supposedly said, "I can lick any man in the house."

Meet John Sullivan and his twin brother, Mike, who play football for Ohio State. John will start at outside linebacker tonight against Alabama in the Kickoff Classic and Mike will see plenty of action at nose guard. Coach Earle Bruce's eyes light up when he talks about the battling brothers from Timberlake, Ohio.

"They like to play football," Bruce said. "They're the kind that'll fight you off the field as well as on the field. They've gotten into some little scraps, not provoked by them, but normally they hold their own."

Mike won the Ohio Class AAA heavyweight wrestling championship in 1985 and John finished third in 1983.

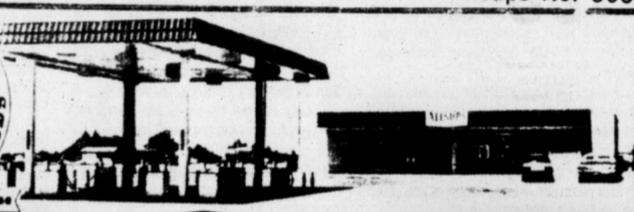

"We had their brother, Mark, who played middle guard for us, and he was that kind of a ballplayer, all over the field, a wrestler-type guy," Bruce said. "Wrestlers are different. They really compete. They live differently. They think they can lick the world."

11-year-old with unemployed dad wins wheelbarrow full of bucks

ARLINGTON, Texas (AP) — An 11-year-old Longview girl almost didn't make it to the Six Flags Over Texas amusement park because her father had just lost his job after the family had moved into a new house. There was little money to spare, but Verna Purdum said that since her daughter Mendie had been looking forward to the trip all summer, she gave her $25 and told her to have fun. When Mendie was handed a Six Flags 25th Anniversary Giveaway card Monday, she also had good luck. Of 700,000 cards distributed, hers revealed the $25,000 grand prize that she collected Tuesday. "I couldn't believe it," Mendie said Tuesday. "It was kind of weird." Mendie, her parents and two brothers were at the Arlington amusement park Tuesday for the presentation, where Bugs Bunny gave them a cart loaded with 25,000 $1r bills. A less unwieldy check was substituted later. "We'll put some in the bank for her," said her father, Ray Purdum. "She said she wants a new car when she is old enough. And she's talking about going to school (college)." "But I was laid off from Cabell's Dairy on Aug. 14, and we can use the money to take care of a few bills," he added. "This takes a lot of pressure off us," said his wife. Mendie said she has some immediate plans for some of the money. "My parents are giving me $200 and I'm going on a shopping spree with some friends," she said. "I just want some new clothes and a new watch — a Swatch." Her brothers said they, too, have plans. "She's going to buy me a big birthday present," said Che, who will be 10 today. Said brother Shane, 15: "I'm going to be real nice to her. I'm sure she'll buy me something."

CLASSIFIED ADS
Classified advertising rates are based on a minimum of 20 words. One day is 13 cents per word or $2.60 minimum. Rates below are for consecutive issues, no copy change, and apply to solid ad lines only.

TIMES	RATES	MIN.
1 day per word	13	2.60
2 days per word	22	4.40
3 days per word	31	6.20
4 days per word	40	8.00
5th day FREE

Add 9 cents per word for additional days: 10 days (2 free) is 15.20 minimum; 15 days (3 free) is 22.40; month 78.00.

Classified display rates apply for special captions, paragraphing, bold type or larger type, and ads not set with full lines. $2.00 per column inch, $2 a column inch for additional insertions, or $1.75 a column inch per month.

LEGALIS
Advertising rates for legal notices are $3.50 per column inch for the first insertion and $3 per column inch for consecutive issues.
Deadlines for classified ads are 3 p.m. daily for the next day's edition; 3 p.m. Friday for Sunday's edition.
Cash is required on advertisements under $10.

ERRORS
Every effort is made to avoid errors in Classified Ads and legal notices. We will not be responsible for more than one incorrect insertion. Advertisers should call attention to any errors immediately after the first insertion. In case of errors not the fault of the advertiser, an additional insertion will be given.

Government needs to improve methods

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government needs to improve methods for detecting hazardous weather near airports and relating that information more promptly to pilots, the National Transportation Safety Board says.

The NTSB findings were included Tuesday in its final 164-page report on the weather-related crash a year ago of a Delta Air Lines Lockheed L-1011 as it approached the Dallas-Forth Worth airport.

The Delta accident killed 137 people, including a motorist traveling along a road near the airport. There were 27 survivors.

The crash was caused by wind shear, a violent downdraft of air, but the NTSB concluded last month that the flight crew's decision to proceed with the landing despite indications of a thunderstorm was largely to blame.

Among the board's recommendations outlined in the final report, however, were many that raised questions about the way weather information is relayed to pilots.

The board urged the Federal Aviation Administration to improve its weather communications methods, saying the agency should:

—Station a full-time meteorologist at major airport control towers to analyze potentially hazardous weather conditions and promptly make the information available to air traffic controllers.

—Require that recorded weather advisories for pilots be kept more current and be updated whenever thunderstorms or serious wind shears are observed.

—Require controllers to promptly forward hazardous weather information to pilots whenever such reports are received from pilots or other sources.

FAA procedures stipulate that controllers should relay adverse weather conditions to pilots only as time permits because the controllers' primary duty should be the control of air traffic.

The final report makes no change in the probable cause for the Aug. 2, 1985, accident, saying that the flight crew should not have proceeded with the landing attempt after lightning was seen along the approach path.

Wind shear often is associated with lightning and pilots are taught repeatedly in training to stay clear of thunderstorms.

In Atlanta, Delta spokesman Bill Berry said the airline agreed with the board's recommendation that improved weather communications is needed. But he said the airline still believes the board "flawed greatly in their finding" that the flight crew was at fault.

"What they say here, that weather information should be relayed, is exactly what should have been given our pilots, that there was severe weather in their path. They had cleared to come into that weather," Berry said in a telephone interview.

The safety board in its final report noted, as it did last month, that the pilot of the ill-fated jet, who had 29,300 hours of flight experience, had virtually no warning that the multiple microburst — a violent downdraft of air — was in his path.

Many of the NTSB's recommendations involved the development of improved wind shear training by airlines or urged the FAA to hasten the development and deployment of improved wind shear detection equipment.

The safety board noted that the FAA last April circulated proposals aimed at reducing the danger of wind shear, and said the FAA plan addresses nearly all of the concerns that the board had raised about wind shear during the past dozen years.

But the safety board said it is concerned that shortcomings in the communication of hazardous weather information, which is available from ground sensors and normal weather radar, often is not being relayed quickly enough, if at all, to flight crews.

In 1964, Sidney Poitier became the first black to win an academy award as best actor. He was cited for his work in the film "Lilies of the Field."
