Landmark being moved

A house located on the west side of the First United Methodist Church in Hereford is being moved from Miles Avenue to Coronado Acres. The house was built in 1928 by Lura West, sister of Mrs. John (Ruby) Stevenson of Hereford, who also lived in the house. It was later sold to a banker (Hedrick), then the church later purchased the property. It was used for church staff members for many years. The photo shows the house, moved temporarily across the street, and the lot and basement area being cleaned up. "I feel sad, seeing it go," said Mrs. Stevenson. "It represented a lot of fond memories."

Lena may resign, but opponent now defending his own integrity

DALLAS (AP) - Barry Williamson, who as the GOP nominee for the Texas Railroad Commission has attacked the credibility of Democratic incumbent Lena Guerrero and urged her resignation, was defending his own integrity today.

In a front page story, The Dallas Morning News today disputed Williamson's account of a well-known investigation at a federal agency he headed.

In another front page story today, The Morning News reported that Ms. Guerrero, 34, had decided to resign because of the furor over exaggeration of her academic credentials from the University of Texas.

In public debates last week, Williamson took credit for an investigation into the hiring of nude and topless dancers for after-hours parties by staffers of the Minerals Management Service, an agency of the U.S. Department of the Interior.

However, federal documents show the inquiry was about a month old before he found out about it, the Morning News reported.

Instead of commending the whistleblower whose call to the FBI resulted in the investigation into misconduct, Williamson's department threatened the tipster with disciplinary actions "solely" because he had reported the problem, according to an administrative judge's ruling on the case.

"What I did, after very few weeks (in office), no one else found this out ... I called - we called - in the FBI and the inspector general, and we said we want it stopped, and it stopped," Williamson said during a San Antonio debate.

"I called the FBI. We don't allow that kind of activity at MMS," Williamson said.

But the Morning News said records from the inspector general, an independent division of the Interior Department, and interviews with officials involved show that Williamson did not call either the FBI or the inspector general.

Instead, a whistleblower in the mineral agency's Dallas regional office in March of 1989 contacted the FBI, which referred the case to the inspector general's office, the newspaper reported.

statements, saying he took credit for the investigation because it was "my ultimate responsibility." He said he may have been unclear about the chain of events.

Disciplinary action was attempted against the whistleblower because Williamson had information the tipster might have been involved with some of the misconduct he reported, the GOP candidate told the Morning News.

"We felt like he should be treated similarly for some activities. The legal advice and the facts warranted, in our opinion, pursuing the matter with him. And he won," Williamson said.

The questionable activity occurred before Williamson's tenure as agency director, which was from April 1989 to June 1991, the Morning News said.

Concerning Guerrero's possible resignation, the newspaper quoted an associate of the chairwoman as saying she will remain in the race for a full 6-year term, however, in hopes that voters in November will forgive her inflated resume and return her to office.

Chuck McDonald, a spokesman for the Guerrero campaign, would say only that Ms. Guerrero was considering her options and would make a public statement, possibly today.

She has been under fire for the past two weeks following disclosures that she wasn't an honors graduate of UT as she had claimed for 12 years.

The new revelations concerning Williamson gave the Guerrero campaign ammunition for an attack of their own.

Williamson's explanation of his role in the MMS inquiry shows he has no right to question Ms. Guerrero's integrity, McDonald said.

"In San Antonio, he tried to take credit for an investigation that he did not start. And that is significant because of the things that Barry Williamson said are so crucial about Lena Guerrero - trust and integrity," McDonald said.

Banner year for allergy sufferers

By JAY JORDEN
Associated Press Writer

It might be a good time to buy more stock in tissue companies as it looks to be a banner year for allergens in Texas.

A mild winter and heavier-than-usual summer rains have resulted in towering ragweed plants across the state, prompting an early onset of an allergy season that normally starts in mid-September and peaks in October.

Allergists say their offices have been inundated with patients seeking relief.

In the Houston area, a mild winter combined with heavy rain and some early cold fronts have kicked off the ragweed season about a month earlier than usual, said Dr. Glenn Kline, a partner with Allergy Associates of Houston.

He said the season, which began in mid-August, has brought many patients to his office with symptoms of itchy noses and eyes, plus asthma and wheezing in severe cases.

"Right now, the noses have just looked totally blocked off. They're so swollen on the inside people just can't breathe," said Kline.

The ragweed season lasts until the first frost, which usually comes in mid-November in the Houston area, he said.

Kline estimated that up to 10 percent of southeast Texas residents suffer from ragweed allergies. He said his office has been busy all year with mold allergies. "The ragweed's just been on top of that," Kline said.

In Central Texas, ragweed growth is expected to be followed by cedar pollen production.

"The mountain cedar is a major problem," said Dr. David Hines, an Austin allergist. "There is so much of the cedar pollen that it causes allergies. It usually starts about Christmas."

But in the past three days, Hines said he has treated 100 patients for ragweed allergies.

Brownsville allergist Dr. Robert Lekach said an increasing number of South Texas residents have suffered from allergies this year, with the trend likely to continue.

"It has been visible throughout the summer, at least in my practice," Lekach said. "I sort of attribute it to

Clinton raps Bush for favoring rich

VALDOSTA, Ga. (AP) - Bill Clinton's rhetoric is taking a personal turn, focusing on President Bush's privileged upbringing as he expands his theme that Republican policies favor the wealthy at the expense of middle America.

Campaigning before a roaring crowd of 6,000 Wednesday night in the final stop of a one-day bus tour through Georgia, Clinton noted that Bush - in refusing to debate - called Clinton an "Oxford man" skilled at debating.

"One day I'm a redneck from a little Southern state, the next day I'm an Oxford man," Clinton said. "He went to a country day school and prep school in Connecticut and Yale, where does he get off looking up to me as an Oxford man?"

"He got $300,000 from his daddy to start the family business. He ought to stand up and fight for his record rather than dumping on me," Clinton said.

Each camp focused on the others' change in tunes, both in personal and policy matters.

Vice President Dan Quayle offered a "Top Ten List of Bill Clinton flip flops" from his stewardship of Arkansas, while the Clinton camp fired back with its own list of 45 alleged about-faces by George Bush.

Today, Clinton was heading to New Jersey to give a speech on health care - an issue his aides say he hasn't fully tapped into yet during the presidential race.

Clinton supports a plan to force employers to provide coverage for their workers or pay into a government pool that would cover the some 40 million Americans who are uninsured. It would implement a system of cost controls, too.

Republicans say it would be a bureaucratic and tax-hike nightmare; Clinton argues that nothing could be worse than the current mess and that out-of-whack health care costs are one of the chief reasons the economy is sagging.

Clinton's health-care plan got a boost on Wednesday from the American Medical Association. Dr. James Todd, the AMA's executive vice president, said Clinton is more serious about reforming the health care system than is Bush.

Students protest WT name change

CANYON, Texas (AP) - West Texas State University by any other name would not be as sweet for some students and faculty members.

Texas A&M University System regents are expected Friday to consider a proposal by regent Billy Clayton to change West Texas State University to West Texas A&M University.

West Texas State joined the A&M system in September 1990.

"Calling West Texas State University 'West Texas A&M' would be nothing less than false advertising," said Kevin Casey, a student who led a rally Monday to oppose the name change.

"West Texas State is not an agricultural and mechanical institution. There's no degree in engineering. There's no college of agriculture. It's a small department."

West Texas State president Barry Thompson, who supports the name change, disagreed with Casey.

"If you ask half the people in Texas what 'A&M' stands for, they can't tell you," Thompson said. "A&M is a world-class university. A&M is far better known than West Texas State University by itself. What we've tried to do is preserve the tradition of having West Texas in the name as well as A&M."

John Reeves, an assistant professor of English who has taught at West Texas State for more than 20 years, defended the school's history and identity.

"I'm proud of the name WTSU," Reeves said. "I'm proud of my association with it. I'm proud of what that name conjures up to me. For one thing, it bespeaks a long tradition of distinguished graduates who've gone on to distinguished careers from this institution."

Texas A&M University System Chancellor Herbert Richardson says he has not yet taken a position on the name change.

"It is a controversial subject," Richardson said. "I think the feeling of the board is to leave the decisions pretty much to the institutions."

Casey has organized a group called Save WTSU Foundation, which is circulating petitions around campus opposing the name change. Casey said he expects to turn in about 2,500 signatures to the regents Friday.

West Texas State has about 6,000 students.

Perot leaves door open

DALLAS (AP) - Ross Perot's TV and radio commercials discuss political issues rather than laud his upbringing and potential qualifications for the White House, his producer says.

"All of the issues that face the country today, they're covered," said Murphy Martin, a media consultant and longtime Perot friend he tapped in July for the job after firing well-known political admaker Hal Riney.

The commercials, ranging from 30 seconds to 30 minutes in length, are just one sign of Perot's readiness to re-enter the political arena.

During the past week, the Dallas billionaire has broadly hinted in several interviews that he may declare an independent candidacy for the White House because he says the major parties have not dealt with economic issues.

Preparations were being made to re-expand the volunteer-staffed phone bank at his Dallas headquarters.

And the leader of his volunteer organization, Orson Swindle, began canvassing supporters Wednesday, ordering state coordinators to answer two questions:

"Do you feel that President Bush or Bill Clinton and their parties will be seriously and courageously speaking out about the issues that are before the American people? Do you want Ross Perot to run for president of the United States and get on with it right now?"

"I'd say 99 percent of calls we're getting in, the answer is no to the first, and yes to the second," said Julia Foltz, a Perot activist in North Carolina.

But two former leaders of Perot's Illinois organization, David Charlson and Theodore Pincus, urged him to stay out and remove his name from Election Day ballots.

"By doing so, you will be taking the final vital step in removing the dangerous risk of ambiguity, confusion and needlessly wasted votes created by a ghost lever at the ballot box," Charlson and Pincus wrote in a cable to Perot.

Swindle said coordinators will meet with Perot early next week and expect a decision from him then.

Martin said the commercials are aimed at doing that despite a "wealth of material" about Perot's life.

Immigration officials arrest 307 Montford employees as illegal aliens

GRAND ISLAND, Neb. (AP) - Immigration officials arrested 307 employees they believed were illegal aliens at the Montford Inc. meatpacking plant in the agency's largest raid this year, an official said.

Michael Went, deputy district director of the Immigration and Naturalization Service, said today the 55 women and 252 men arrested were being held at the National Guard Armory while INS officials interviewed them.

Jim Cole, an Immigration and Naturalization Service officer, said that officers from as far away as Anchorage, Alaska, and San Juan, Puerto Rico, were used "to conduct a very thorough raid" Tuesday night.

Officials of Montford, a division of ConAgra Inc. based in Greeley, Colo., criticized the agency's show of force and said it was unnecessary.

The meatpacking plant opened this morning, said K. T. Miller, assistant director of public relations.

"We had to make some adjustments to production, but we opened," she said.

Miller said the company had no immediate monetary estimate on how much the shutdown cost.

During the raid that began about 6:30 p.m. CDT Tuesday, more than 100 INS officers shut down the plant and presented federal warrants. The warrants said the INS had probable cause to believe 296 workers were in the country illegally and used counterfeit documents, such as forged immigration cards and forged Social Security cards, to obtain employment, Went said from Omaha.

The U.S. Border Patrol, U.S. Marshal, Nebraska State Patrol, and local authorities assisted the officers.

They blocked off the entrance and questioned employees in the plant cafeteria while family members of the workers waited outside the fence of the Grand Island plant.

Went said today that people found to be illegal aliens had several options, including a deportation hearing or voluntarily returning to their country. He said those who choose to return would leave in the next several days.

Deportation hearings will be held at a detention center in Denver or El Paso, Texas, Went said.

Cole said the INS was forced to take custody of the plant because of an "adversarial relationship" with the plant.

Cole said Montford and the INS became adversaries after Montford refused to cooperate at the beginning of a yearlong investigation into the meat packing giant's hiring practices.

Montford spokesman Gene Meakins said Tuesday night that the company doesn't knowingly hire illegal immigrants.

Meakins, vice president for public relations in Montford, likened the INS move to the Gulf War.

"Are we the Saddam Husseins?" Meakins said.

Meakins said he couldn't believe the reports of the operation. "I'm amazed that they felt they needed to bring an army in there," he said. "What did they expect to find ... employees with armed submachine guns on the roof?" he said.

"I think we've always cooperative with them," Meakins said. "We have nothing whatsoever to hide."

Montford officials cooperated with the INS on Aug. 13 when the agency seized personnel records from the Grand Island plant, Meakins said.

Meakins said halting production at the plant during the raid "will be very costly to Montford."

"If there's anything at fault, it's the law because it puts the burden on the employer to record the documents," Meakins said.

Raids on any meatpacking plant in the United States would probably produce aliens who were working illegally without the country's knowledge, Meakins said.

The INS gave the company a list of day-shift workers who should not be allowed to work, Meakins said.

"They could have at least given us a list for the night shift too, but apparently they found it more to their purposes to stage this raid," Meakins said.

Cole said he believed that Montford employed between 250 and 500 illegal immigrants on its first and second shifts. Tuesday's operation targeted the second shift, which runs from 3 p.m. to 11 p.m.

Montford, Grand Island's largest employer, has about 1,900 workers in its slaughter and beef processing operations.

An Omaha INS official estimated in July that about 2,500 illegal immigrants lived in the Grand Island area, attracted by packing plant and restaurant jobs.

A prominent Grand Island Hispanic woman called the raid on the Montford plant "immigrant bashing."

Yolanda Nuncio said many children of illegal workers were born in the United States and are American citizens.

"They need someone to support them. Who is going to handle that?" Nuncio said. "The kids shouldn't have to suffer."

Grand Island Mayor Ernie Dobesh said the arrests of a large number of Montford employees will undoubtedly have an impact on the community.

"But no different than a hailstorm. Its effects will be temporary," Dobesh said.

"The business people perhaps will be frightened, at least temporarily," he said.

Oil-tank explosion kills 1, hurts 3

DALLAS (AP) - The Texas Railroad Commission says an unlocked hatch on property where an oil tank exploded and killed one teen-ager was within regulations.

"Nothing in our rules dictate requirements for a six-foot fence around oil leases or anything like that," commission spokesman Brian Schaible said Wednesday in Austin. "There is no requirement that you have to have a gate or lock."

Three people remained hospitalized Wednesday, with one in critical condition, following the blast early Tuesday at the Chevron U.S.A. Inc. tank battery near Sherman.

The explosion occurred when one teen opened a tank hatch and lit a cigarette lighter during a beer party, authorities said.

A Grayson County sheriff's officer said Jeff Henson, 18, of Pottsboro died instantly in the blast that wakened residents and rattled windows miles away.

Jared Lee Miller, 19, of Sherman remained in critical condition Wednesday night in Wilson N. Jones Memorial Hospital's intensive care unit with multiple trauma and burns, said hospital spokeswoman Judy Gharis.

She said Jeff Thompson of Pottsboro and Matt Penton of Sherman, both 19, were in stable condition at the hospital. Ms. Gharis said they both should be released this weekend.

Another victim, 18-year-old Che Henderson of Pottsboro, was treated and released Tuesday.

Tank batteries, which hold crude oil from nearby wells, are a familiar sight in rural Texas. But energy companies, which periodically pump out oil from the tanks for refining, are not required to fence or lock them up, the railroad commission said.

Schaible said a commission's field inspector made a routine visit to Chevron's L. Jeanes Tank Battery after the explosion, but found no violations.

The commission regulates the Texas petroleum industry, including the thousands of tank batteries located at producing leases.

"After talking with an assistant fire chief from Sherman and other authorities, the inspector was told about the activities of the juveniles, one of whom lit a lighter over the opened hatch in the tank," Schaible said.

"It was not any kind of activity by the company that was a problem. Fire consumed all the oil in the tank, so there was no pollution problem from the oil."

Bill Rinehart, a spokesman for Chevron in Tulsa, Okla., said the company had no plans to file charges against the teens, even though the battery's two tanks were fenced with barbed wire and posted against trespassing.

"That gauge hatch was not locked, where we customarily gauge the depth in the tank and take samples," said Rinehart. "Our tank batteries are installed in accordance with industry regulations and standards."

"You can't make everything foolproof in every respect," he said. "It's like putting gas in your car. Most gas caps are not locked on cars."

He said the gate to the lease, which also contains a well, was not locked either.

"It was just a very unfortunate incident," Rinehart said of the blast near Sherman, about 60 miles north of Dallas. "We are sympathetic to the victims and their families."

Wichita Falls pastor will head Southern Baptists

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) - The conservative wing of the Southern Baptist Convention tightened its grip on the organization with the installation of Rev. Morris Chapman as the SBC's new president.

Chapman, 51, assumed the presidency Tuesday evening, leaving conservatives firmly in charge after a decade of battle with moderates for control of the 15 million-member Convention.

Chapman succeeds Harold Bennett, who retires Oct. 1 after 12 years.

"I think Southern Baptists are ready to burst into the future the way the sun bursts on the horizon in the morning," Chapman told The Tennessean, Nashville's morning newspaper.

"America needs spiritual awakening, and I believe God will use Southern Baptists in that awakening," Chapman said.

Chapman, a Kosciusko, Miss., native, leaves a 7,700-member church in Wichita Falls, Texas, to take his new administrative post in Nashville.

One of chief challenges facing Chapman, a preaching minister since the age of 18, is the emerging moderate faction's rival organization, the Cooperative Baptist Fellowship.

Not a new denomination in an official sense, the Fellowship has begun sponsoring their own missionaries and seminary, prompting conservative SBC leaders to accuse it of derailing the SBC's traditional missions and agencies.

"It does appear the Fellowship is demanding they have their own way," Chapman said. "It's a mentality of, 'Either I lead or I take my ball and go home.'"

The moderates held power within the SBC for many decades before conservatives convinced grassroots Baptists that moderates had grown too liberal in their interpretations of the Bible.

Chapman said he hopes to slip a pastoral dimension into his presidency by being available to pastors who flirt with burnout and as a mediator to congregations paralyzed by inner feuding.

"Pastors give so much and take so little time to receive," Chapman said. "I want to encourage them not to feel guilty if they ask their church for a few weeks off to rejuvenate themselves."

Hay fever calendar poster available

Doctors call it allergic rhinitis. Most of us know it as hay fever and if you've got it, as 22 million Americans do, you're likely to be plagued by such annoying symptoms as sneezing, runny nose, itchy nose and throat and red, watery, itchy eyes.

If hay fever is your foe, you might try following these tips for allergy sufferers:

- Keep windows closed in your home and car.
- Use an air conditioner and change filters frequently.
- Avoid outdoor work and exercise during the early morning hours when pollination is at its peak.
- Shower and wash hair frequently to remove pollen.
- Wash pillow cases often. Dry clothes indoors.
- Keep pets that have been outdoors out of the bedroom.
- If symptoms are severe, see your doctor.

"Ragweed is the most common cause of seasonal hay fever in the U.S.," says Mary E. Worstell, MPH, executive director of the Asthma and Allergy Foundation of America (AAFA). It pollinates in the late summer and fall and a single plant is estimated to produce one billion grains of pollen a day." The small, light, dry pollens are spread by wind currents.

Knowing when trees, weeds and grasses begin pollinating can give those who suspect they may suffer from allergies a clue to the cause and an incentive to seek medical help. For those who already know they suffer from hay fever, learning the approximate date when pollens begin appearing will help them prepare for these conditions.

To assist people who suffer from seasonal allergies, AAFA has produced a four-color pollen calendar poster which illustrates, on a color-coded map of the United States the months when pollens from trees, weeds and grasses are most prevalent in each geographic region. The poster, which measures 16 x 24 inches, is available for $3 from AAFA, 1125 15th St. NW, Suite 502, Dept. A., Washington, D.C., 20005.

AAFA also provides free information about allergies and asthma. Call 1-800-7-ASTHMA or write the above address.

Lean meat still essential

The daily amount of meat recommended is small compared to other foods listed on the new Food Guide for Pyramid chart, but that doesn't mean the value of meat is less, according to a registered dietitian.

The new guidelines recently released by the U.S. Department of Agriculture recommend 6 to 11 daily servings of breads and other grain products, 3 to 5 servings of vegetables, 2 to 4 servings of dairy products and 2 to 3 servings of meats and other protein sources.

"While the pyramid recommends fewer servings of one type of food, no one food is more important than another," said Dr. Mary Kinney Bielamowicz, nutrition specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. "Variety is the main concern since the body needs more than 40 different nutrients for good health and no single food can supply all these."

Meat, poultry and fish provide protein, B vitamins and iron and zinc, Bielamowicz said. In terms of what it does for the body, nutrients from meat help form antibodies to fight infection, help maintain muscle tone, help the body use carbohydrates for energy and assist in the maintenance of nerve tissue and normal blood formation.

Research also indicates that the body's ability to use iron and zinc may be increased when lean beef is part of the diet, she said. These minerals are important to guard against anemia and help wounds heal.

Data from USDA indicate that most Americans don't have to reduce the amount of meat they eat to comply with the new Food Guide Pyramid, Bielamowicz said. On average, daily meat consumption is about 6 ounces, fitting into the daily recommendation of 5 to 7 ounces.

"The most important thing to remember when preparing meat is to trim any excess fat to cut calories and reduce fat intake," she said. "Fat retention is greatly increased when external fat is not trimmed from such meats as steaks or roasts."

Chinese stack supper held for Alpha Alpha Preceptor

Secret sisters were revealed and gifts exchanged when members of Alpha Alpha Preceptor Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi Sorority met recently in the home of Phyllis Neil for a Chinese stack supper. Karen Ruland served as co-hostess.

Also, during the meeting, secret sisters for the new club year were drawn.

Members reviewed the two previous chapter meetings when yearbooks were distributed and transferee, Marcia Mardis, was welcomed as a member. Members also selected Beverly Redelsperger as the chapter sweetheart.

Those present in addition to the hostesses were Brenda Thomas, Gerry Taylor, Lillie Shipman, Nan Gauthreaux, Beverly Redelsperger, Lynda Brown, Virginia Jackson, Marcia Mardis, Barbara Burkhalter, Vida Grady, Alene Tindal, Muriel Streun and guest, Jimmie Middleton.

Software has been developed to help managers work more effectively with people. The result is better performance as employees see how their contributions impact company goals.

Chocolate topic of program

Marrie Leverett gave a short program on "Sweet Extravagance--Chocolate" when members of Alpha Iota Mu Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi Sorority met recently at Dr. Stan Fry's office.

Following the program, Leverett distributed candies in the form of the word "kiss" for each member to enjoy. The hand-molded candies were either white chocolate with red eyes or milk chocolate with red eyes and were wrapped in gold and silver foil.

Those attending included Jaime Brorman, Glenna Calaway, Patty Frerich, Carmen Gonzales, Wanda Husemah, Leverett, MaryBeth Messer, Jill Savoini, Pattie Urbanczyk and Mary Bob Ward. Also, in attendance were the chapter's advisor, Ruby Sanders, and a guest, Judy Schumacher.

Herd patches defense for high-powered Tigers

Big play artist

Hereford's Jason Tatarevich gets tackled after a 21-yard pass reception. Tatarevich and three others--Richard Wilbanks, Chris Brummett and Quincy Curtis--were named offensive players of the week for the Herd. Shawn Fogo got defensive honors.

By JAY PEDEN
Sports Editor

Hereford's battered defense will try to pull itself together in time to control Frenship's productive offense. The Herd (1-2) and the Tigers (2-1) meet at 7:30 p.m. Friday in Whiteface Stadium.

Because of injuries, Hereford will be missing both starting rovers, Nathan Henderson and Joel Gaytan, starting cornerback Michael Ramirez and backup linebacker Gabriel Medrano.

The Herd will welcome back lineman Ramiro Garza this week. He broke his arm in the opener against Tascosa and is coming back just in time.

Frenship has gained 385 yards per game so far. Tailback Duane Young (6-3, 205) has run for 161 yards per game and quarterback Shane Stewart has thrown for 100 yards per game. Fullback Jamar Whitfield (200) rounds out the backfield.

Herd fans may remember a receiver, Chris Matthews, who totaled 145 yards receiving yards in last year's meeting, a 15-14 win for the Herd. Matthews has graduated, but in his place is another receiver capable of making the big plays: Kendrick Hollie, who played quarterback last year.

"They've scored lots of points," Herd coach Danny Haney said. "They've moved the ball on everybody they've played, including Tascosa. They scrimmaged Tascosa.

"The focus of their offense is the running game with the two big backs," Haney said. "They'll throw little play-actions for possession, and they'll big-play you with passes to No. 6 (Hollie)."

All of which makes a big test for the Herd defense's depth. Replacing Henderson and Gaytan will be Kirk Self and Brad Lemons. Behind them are Joey Garcia and junior Chad Carlile, moved from cornerback.

Haney said he's confident in his defensive replacements.

"We've got people we can put in there that can do the job, that can do what we're asking them to do," he said.

Frenship's defense has been friendlier than its offense, allowing 274 yards per game. The Tigers have given up points in two of its games: a 28-27 win over Brownfield and a 34-26 loss to Randall (they also beat Lubbock High 47-5). However, it won't be easy for the Herd.

"They're monsters," Haney said. "They're about 240 (pounds on average) across the front. They do a good job of getting to the football. They're going to get after us pretty good."

Defensive players to watch, said Haney, are linebackers Coty Ivey (3) and Chris Hernandez (57), plus Hollie, who doubles as the safety.

There is a whole herd of players of the week on varsity. On defense, it's safety Shawn Fogo who recorded 15 tackles. On offense, four players share honors: Quincy Curtis, Chris Brummett, Richard Wilbanks and Jason Tatarevich. Curtis, the fullback, ran for a 65-yard touchdown, while the other three were part of the receiving corps which produced 142 yards through the air.

The junior varsity player of the week is Todd Alexander. Johnny Garza got it for the sophomore team, and Marquise Brown of the ninth grade White and Armando Zambrano of the ninth grade Maroon were also honored.

Whitefaces favored by 6 points

For the first time this season, the Hereford Whitefaces will be favored by the Harris Rating System. Harris has the Herd as a six-point favorite over Frenship.

Hereford (1-2) and Frenship (2-1) meet at 7:30 p.m. Friday in Whiteface Stadium.

With the Herd's 35-24 victory over Monterey last week, Hereford moved up four places in the Harris rankings to 70th. Frenship is 97th in the 4A rankings.

Three other members of District 1-4A are favored this week. Borger (0-3) is a 14-point favorite over destitute Lubbock High (0-3) in Borger. Randall (3-0) is picked by six at Lamesa. Caprock (2-1) will be a six-point favorite when the Longhorns host Canyon.

Pampa will be a 23-point underdog when the 0-3 Harvesters host Class 3A power Vernon. Harris ranks Vernon as the No. 2 team in 3A.

Also, Dumas' perfect record will be tested at Amarillo High. Harris picks the Sandies by 14.

Here are Harris' picks for other area games. Home teams are in all CAPS.

Alou's grand slam delays Pirates' celebration

By JOHN KREISER
AP Sports Writer

Just because catching the Pittsburgh Pirates for the NL East title is going to be difficult doesn't mean the Montreal Expos are giving up.

The Expos breathed some new life into their flickering hopes Wednesday night when Moises Alou hit a 14th-inning grand slam to give Montreal a 5-1 victory over the Pirates.

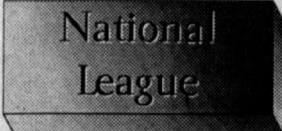

"I can't give up, and I don't think anyone else is on this team," Alou said after the Expos cut the margin to six games with 10 to play, leaving the Pirates' magic number at five.

"It's possible, but mighty unlikely," Montreal's Delino DeShields said of his team's chances. "I don't see them falling apart. They haven't done it all year, so why would they give in now?"

But the Expos aren't giving in, either.

DeShields, hided in five previous at-bats, lined a pitch by reliever

Roger Mason (5-7) for a triple to open the bottom of the 14th. Spike Owen drew a walk and DeShields held third as Marquis Grissom bounced out to second. Larry Walker was then intentionally walked, bringing up Alou.

The rookie outfielder hit Mason's first pitch just inside the left field foul pole for the first grand slam by an Expo this season.

After nine scoreless innings, the Pirates took the lead in the 10th on Don Slaught's bloop RBI single. But Alou started the bottom of the 10th with a double and scored on John Van Der Wal's two-out double.

Jeff Fassero (8-6) pitched a scoreless inning for the win after John Wetteland struck out seven Pirates in three innings. Despite the loss, the Pirates know they're in command.

"They beat us the first game in Pittsburgh last week and we battled back to win the second," said Barry Bonds, who scored Pittsburgh's only run. "Their backs are against the wall, not ours."

Reds 3, Dodgers 0

Bip Roberts led off the game with a single to tie a National League record with his 10th consecutive hit and scored the game's first run, then ended his streak with a bouncer back to the mound as Cincinnati won in Los Angeles.

Roberts drew a walk from Pedro Astacio (4-4) in the third inning before his streak ended in the fifth.

Roberts became the ninth player in NL history to get 10 consecutive hits; the last was the Reds' Woody Williams in 1943. The major league record is 12 by Boston's Pinky Higgins in 1938 and Detroit's Walt Droppo in 1952.

Tim Pugh (4-1) held the Dodgers to four hits in eight innings.

Astros 7, Padres 6

Jim Riggleman lost his debut as San Diego's manager when Eric Anthony singled in Ken Caminiti with two outs in the ninth to lift Houston over the Padres.

Riggleman managed San Diego's Triple-A affiliate in Las Vegas before being promoted when Greg Riddoch was fired earlier in the day.

Caminiti singled to start the ninth off Jeremy Hernandez (1-3), took second when third baseman Gary Sheffield lost Jeff Bagwell's single in the lights and scored on Anthony's single off Rich Rodriguez.

Doug Jones (11-8) got the final four outs for the victory, Houston's first in eight games at Jack Murphy Stadium this season.

Braves 7, Giants 0

Charlie Leibrandt pitched a six-hitter for Atlanta's franchise-record 22nd shutout as Atlanta won in San Francisco.

Leibrandt (13-7) walked two and struck out five.

Jeff Blauser had an RBI double in a three-run third inning off Bud Black (10-11) and added a solo homer in the seventh.

Mets 3, Cardinals 2

Lee Smith's bases-loaded wild pitch in the ninth inning allowed the go-ahead run to score as New York and Dwight Gooden won at Busch Stadium.

Gooden (9-13) pitched a six-hitter. Smith (4-8) loaded the bases on a single and two walks before throwing his second wild pitch of the season to break a 1-1 tie. Jeff McKnight added an RBI single.

Phillies 9, Cubs 3

Rookie Tom Marsh hit his first grand slam and drove in a career-high five runs as Philadelphia beat visiting Chicago.

Bob Ayrault (1-2), who relieved starter Terry Mulholland in the fifth inning, gained his first major league victory. Mulholland left with an inflamed right knee.

The Phillies led 4-1 before Cubs starter Jim Bullinger (2-6) walked the first three batters in the fourth and Marsh homered off reliever Jeff Hartsock.

Devereaux's hit keeps O's alive

By JOHN NICHOLSON
Associated Press Writer

Mike Devereaux reclaimed his reputation with the bases loaded just in time to keep the Baltimore Orioles on the outskirts of the AL East race.

Devereaux, who popped out with the bases loaded to end a 4-3 loss to the Toronto Blue Jays in Tuesday night's series opener, hit a three-run double in the third inning Wednesday night to lead the Orioles to a 4-1 victory.

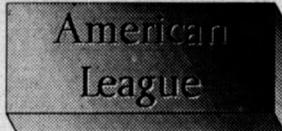

"Getting a win tonight definitely takes some of the sting out of last night's loss," said Devereaux, 13 for 24 with 38 of his team-leading 105 RBIs with the bases loaded.

"It would have been great to sweep the Blue Jays, but the next best thing is winning two out of three, and we can do that."

Baltimore prevented Jack Morris from winning his 20th game and closed within five games of the Blue Jays, whose magic number remained at seven. Second-place Milwaukee closed within 3 1/2 games by beating California 3-0.

Arthur Rhodes (6-5) allowed four hits in 8 1/3 innings as the Orioles won for the sixth time in 16 games. He walked five and struck out seven in his first victory since Aug. 29.

Gregg Olson finished for his 34th save in 41 chances.

Morris (19-6) gave up seven hits and three walks in his sixth complete game, losing for the first time since Aug. 11.

Devereaux gave the Orioles a 3-0 lead in the third when he doubled off the left field wall on Morris' 0-2 pitch.

Baltimore added a run in the fourth on Leo Gomez's two-out double and Toronto scored in the fifth on Alfredo Griffin's RBI single.

Brewers 3, Angels 0

In Milwaukee, rookie Cal Eldred (10-1) won his ninth consecutive game as the Brewers closed within 3 games of Toronto with 10 games left.

Eldred (10-1) pitched a four-hitter.

Milwaukee scored in the first off Jim Abbott (7-15) on Robin Yount's RBI double. Darryl Hamilton added an RBI single in the fourth and Kevin Seitzer singled in a run in the eighth.

Rangers 5, Twins 3

In Arlington, Texas, Kevin Brown joined Chicago's Jack McDowell as the AL's only 20-game winners and Rafael Palmeiro hit a two-run homer for Texas.

Brown (20-10) pitched his 11th complete game, allowing three runs - just one earned - and 10 hits. He struck out nine and walked one.

Mike Trombley (2-2) gave up four runs and eight hits in five innings.

White Sox 17, Athletics 6

In Chicago, Frank Thomas drove in three runs with a pair of doubles and Ron Karkovice had three hits, including a two-run triple.

Kirk McCaskill (11-12) won for the second time in seven starts, allowing four runs and six hits in seven innings. Mike Moore (15-12) allowed six runs and seven hits in 2 2/3 innings.

Indians 7, Red Sox 3

In Boston, Albert Belle hit his 32nd homer and Glenallen Hill added his 18th in a five-run fourth inning and Charles Nagy won his third consecutive start.

Scott Taylor (0-1) held Cleveland hitless through three innings in his first start in the majors, but was knocked out when Belle hit a two-run drive and Hill added a three-run shot.

Mariners 6, Royals 1

In Kansas City, Lance Parrish had three hits and Brian Fisher allowed five hits in eight innings.

George Brett was 2 for 4 and needs nine hits in Kansas City's 11 remaining games to reach 3,000. Seattle, shut out in the first two games of the series, had 14 hits in its second victory in 19 games.

Tigers 10, Yankees 8

In New York, Mickey Tettleton and Rob Deer each hit their 30th homers for Detroit.

Ryan may be back to pitch next year

ARLINGTON, Texas (AP) - Will Nolan Ryan come back for his 26th major league baseball season or won't he?

Ryan dropped hints Tuesday night he may return but he still left the door ajar for turning down the $4 million salary he would earn.

Ryan, who will pitch again Sunday, said he felt good after missing two starts with a pulled leg muscle. He went six scoreless innings against Minnesota, giving up just four hits in a 1-0 loss in 13 innings.

physically he feels he could return next year.

"You always want to throw well and I did tonight," Ryan said. "I guess if I was struggling physically and not pitching well it would affect my decision but that's not the case. I'm pleased."

Lopez dies in car wreck

MEXICO CITY (AP) - Aurelio Lopez, whose relief pitching helped the Detroit Tigers and Houston Astros win championships, was fatally injured in a car accident.

Police said Lopez's car overturned Tuesday on a highway 300 miles north of Mexico City. He was thrown from the car and crushed by the vehicle.

Lopez's wife Celia and another passenger were injured in the accident.

After leaving baseball, Lopez, 44, returned to his hometown of Tecamachalco in the state of Puebla, about 90 miles east of Mexico City. He was elected municipal president, equivalent to being mayor of the city and the county around it, in 1990.

Lopez had his best years with the Tigers. He was 10-1 with 14 saves in 1984 when they won the American League pennant. He won games in the playoffs and the World Series, allowing one hit in three innings of two World Series games as the Tigers beat the San Diego Padres in five games.

Lopez was let go by the Tigers the following year, and was given a spring training tryout by the Houston Astros in 1986, but was cut before the season began.

After returning to Mexico and spending much of his time fishing, Lopez got a call in June from the Astros and, at 37, his relief pitching was a key factor in Houston winning the National League West title.

"I waited four months to be in a Houston Astros uniform," he said. "I was a free agent, but I wanted to show them I could still pitch."

Lopez finished his career with the Astros in 1987, ending with a lifetime mark of 62-36, 93 saves and a 3.56 earned run average.

Town secretary Antonio Martinez Aburto said by telephone that a delegation from the Tecamachalco was accompanying Lopez's body home. He said funeral arrangements had not yet been made.

Survivors include Lopez's widow, a son and a daughter.

Public Notice

Southwestern Bell Telephone Company has asked the Public Utility Commission of Texas (PUC) for approval to offer new optional call management services called Caller Identification Service (Caller ID) and Anonymous Call Rejection (ACR).

Caller ID is a new optional phone service which allows subscribers to see the phone number and/or name of most local calls before they answer the phone. Caller ID also allows the recording of the date, time, name and/or phone number of calls. Currently, Caller ID would work only on most local calls, not long distance calls. It would also require that a separate display unit be connected to the telephone. These units that attach to the telephone will be available from various retail vendors, including Southwestern Bell, at a cost starting at approximately $50.

Southwestern Bell is also proposing that all customers be able to "block," or stop their name/number from being transmitted and displayed on a Caller ID device, free of charge. You would have this option of "blocking" your name/number on each call free of charge. There would be no need to subscribe to this service. All customers would have this capability when Caller ID is introduced in their area.

If you want to block your name or number, you need only press *67 on your touch-tone pad (or dial 1167 from a rotary phone) before dialing the telephone number. The person you're calling would see displayed a message such as "private" or "anonymous" on their Caller ID display unit.

Southwestern Bell also proposes that qualified domestic violence and law enforcement groups have the option of free per-line blocking, or free per-call blocking.

Anonymous Call Rejection (ACR or "block the blocker") allows subscribers to automatically reject all calls that have been marked anonymous, or "blocked" by the person calling. It is not necessary to subscribe to Caller ID Name/Number to subscribe to ACR. With ACR, your telephone will not ring if the person calling you has "blocked" his/her name or number. The person calling whose identification is blocked will receive a message to hang up and call back with caller identification unblocked. Following are the proposed monthly rates for Caller ID and ACR.

Proposed Rates (monthly)*	Residence	Business
Calling Number only	$6.50	$ 8.50
Calling Name only	$6.50	$ 8.50
Calling Name & Number	$8.00	$12.00
Anonymous Call Rejection	$3/$1	$3/$1

* These rates are in addition to the initial installation charges and monthly basic service rate. For residence customers, installation charges are $2.70 per feature, with a maximum charge of $5.40. For business customers, the charges are $5.40 per feature, with a maximum charge of $10.75.

 Anonymous Call Rejection is $3 per month if purchased without Caller ID and is $1 per month when purchased with Caller ID Name or Number.

This proceeding has been designated Docket No. 11362, and a hearing on the merits has been scheduled for November 16, 1992. The PUC has jurisdiction to consider this matter pursuant to Sections 16, 18, 37 and 38 of the Public Utility Regulatory Act (PURA). This application was filed pursuant to the provisions of the PUC's Substantive Rule 23.24. Among the issues that will be addressed in this proceeding is the legality of the Caller ID device and service under Texas wiretap laws.

Persons who wish to intervene or otherwise participate in these proceedings should notify the PUC as soon as possible. The deadline to intervene is October 26, 1992. A request to intervene, participate, or for further information should be mailed to the Public Utility Commission of Texas, 7800 Shoal Creek Boulevard, Suite 400N, Austin, Texas 78757. Conference to examine ministers' personal growth

The 47th annual Town and Country Church Conference will center on the personal growth of ministers Oct. 5-6, at Texas A&M University.

"The 1992 conference theme, 'Wholeness In Ministry—Ministers Need Care Too,' examines the spiritual, mental and physical well-being of the minister as important factors in the quality of the ministry," said Dr. Greg Taylor, program leader for community development in the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. "We will look at how the ministers develop themselves for personal growth and the ability to help others."

Registration for the conference starts at 8:30 a.m. Monday, Oct. 5, in Rudder Tower. The conference opens at 10 a.m. with a talk from Eleanor Cherryholmes, Austin Presbyterian Theological Seminary, on "The Three Calls of Ministry." A discussion will follow among panelists Joseph Polasek, Snook Brethren Church; Carl Elder, a church ministries consultant, Baptist General Convention, Dallas; Rev. Leo Griffin, East Orange AME Church; and Austin Frederick Jr.,

Victoria district superintendent for the United Methodist Church.

Afternoon workshop topics and speakers will include: "Strategies for Managing Your Life," Alvin Larke, associate professor at Texas A&M; "Conflict Management and Resolution," Tom Neal, First Christian Church, Kingsville; "Personal Integrity and Professional Survival," Charlie Cook, associate professor, Episcopal Seminary of the Southwest; "Counseling and Referral," John Marek, associate executive director for clinical operations, Minirth-Meier Tunnell and Wilson, Austin; "Avoiding the Messiah Trap By Understanding One's Self Outside the Profession," William Gould Jr., director-counselor, S.W. Career Development Center, Arlington; and "Reading for Personal Renewal," Stew Coffman, associate executive presbyter, Grace Presbytery, Dallas.

Facilitator training for the Rural Social Science by Extension (RSSE) course will be conducted at 1:15 p.m. each day by Dr. David Ruesink, RSSE program director.

The announcement of Texas' top rural minister of the year at a 6:30 p.m. banquet on Oct. 5 will be one of the highlights of the conference, according to Taylor.

"Each year a minister is selected for this honor from nominations made by lay leaders and congregation members," he said. "Choosing a minister of the year is a way to recognize the many contributions made by that person to the congregation and community."

On Tuesday, Oct. 6, Dr. Ivan Danhoff, M.D., will conduct a session on "Stress and How to Respond to It." A panel of ministers will wrap-up the conference by sharing success stories.

Ann Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: In your response to "Burned Out in Philadelphia," you asked what is being done about the problem of violence in our schools. I can tell you. Absolutely nothing.

My husband is a high school teacher. Our house has been splattered with raw eggs, and his tires have been slashed. He fears his students when he walks into the classroom, even though he is 6 feet 3 inches tall and weighs 230 pounds. Some of the boys are bigger than he is.

Here in Buffalo, we have the worst teenage pregnancy rate in New York state. It's higher than New York City's. Buffalo has around-the-clock violence, drive-by shootings, a horrendous drug problem and failing schools. Many "children" do not come to school to learn. They have no desire to get an education because they have no intention of working for a living. Why should they work at a job? They can make a heck of a lot more money dealing drugs than driving a truck or doing construction.

This country will go down the drain if we don't do something to eradicate drugs. Most of the crime you read about in the papers is drug related. Arresting dealers obviously does not work. We have proven that already. We cannot afford the prisons, the police or the loss of life. The only workable alternative is to learn from Prohibition and legalize drugs.

Unfortunately, I don't see any chance that this will happen. Our politicians will not face any of the problems in our country. No one is looking at the big picture; no one is taking responsibility. We seem to have lost our drive to be the best country in the world, and that is a sure predictor of decline.—C. in Buffalo, N.Y.

DEAR BUFF: We've discussed the legalization of drugs in this space before and I'm against it. And I don't share your pessimism about the future of this country.

We need to invest a great deal more money in our schools, get Head Start funded again and reward our teachers. A nation's children are its greatest natural resource, and we must not forget it.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: You recently printed an amusing column about a fake story that had to do with the cost of a chocolate-chip oatmeal cookie recipe. The recipe was supposed to have originated with Neiman-Marcus. That story sounded a lot like an oldie I've been telling for at least 40 years.

It's about a husband and wife who, when visiting New York, were served chocolate cake for dessert in the dining room of one of the better-known hotels. The cake was so delicious the woman asked the waiter if she could have the recipe. He told her, "Of course," and provided her with a copy.

A short time after she and her husband returned home, the woman received a bill for $100 for the chocolate cake recipe. She was so upset that she called her attorney to find out if she was obligated by law to pay the bill. The attorney assured her that indeed she was, since she had asked for the recipe and the waiter had provided it. The following day, the woman received a bill for $50 for legal services.—J.C.B., High Point, N.C.

DEAR J.C.B.: I hope my response to your good letter won't create a Low Point in High Point, but if you've been telling this story for 40 years, you aren't the only one. At least 50 people have sent it to me.

When planning a wedding, who pays for what? Who stands where. "The Ann Landers Guide for Brides" has all the answers. Sprout your way to a garden

Although the days of summer gardening are past, you can encourage your school-age kids to nurture a whimsical garden indoors on your windowsill as they bring potato heads to life, so to speak.

Here's what you'll need:
Large baking potato (raw)
Alfalfa seeds (available at health food stores and food co-ops)
Cotton balls
Buttons, fabric scraps and odds and ends

Straight pins
Fabric paints in squeeze bottles for added details

Saucer form a flower pot or a plate
Misting bottle filled with water
Once the materials are assembled, an adult may cut off an even slice at one end of the potato. Place the trimmed potato, flat end down, on a plate or draining tray. At the other end of the potato, cut off approximately 3/4-inch of the potato and scoop out some of the potato center to make a cavity. Place several damp cotton balls in the cavity.

Create the potato head/body with the buttons and fabric pieces, using straight pins to attach them to the potato. For fun, make a self-portrait. If you have several potatoes, make a family.

Sprinkle the seeds on the cotton balls. Mist the seeds regularly and watch for sprouting seeds within several days. Keep the potato head in a cool place.

Your young gardeners can give the potato head a "haircut" when the sprouts are ready for a trim. Enjoy eating the nutritious sprouts on sandwiches, salads or on a bowl of soup.

To help manage post-surgical pain, an easy-to-administer nasal spray dosage of a proven analgesic was recently introduced. The only prescription analgesic available as a nasal spray, butorphanol tartrate, has been shown effective for treating post surgical pain and migraine headache pain.

Newspaper is usually the first place people go when considering a purchase. It's their primary source of advertising information.

Newspaper helps spark the local economy by putting dollars into circulation. And that's good for everyone, not just the retailer.

Because a strong local economy means lower property taxes, more jobs, tax support for community services and a better place to live.

Newspaper is more than just a smart place to advertise.

It's an integral part of our lives.

Newspaper. It delivers.

SPENDING TOO MUCH?

Dear Readers: In this day and age, we all want to get the most out of a dollar. Here are some suggestions to help you set up a realistic budget.

• For one month, keep a list of every bit of money spent. This way you can set up a budget that includes all necessary items, like utilities, payments, etc., and excludes wasteful purchases.

• When shopping for necessities, take advantage of sales and discount coupons.

• Extravagant spending should be avoided. If you don't need it, don't buy it! Wait one day to decide if you really need it.

• It's also very important to keep track of credit-card purchases. A favorite Heloise hint is to keep an extra checkbook register to log credit-card purchases. No surprises when the bill comes in! Also, start a savings plan. Each payday pay yourself first—set aside a certain amount to be placed directly into savings. If you don't see it, you won't miss it. Here's to developing better money-managing skills. — Heloise

NEW RECIPE IDEAS

Dear Readers: Are you anxious to try out some new recipes? I have some great ones in my pamphlet, Heloise's All-Time Favorite Recipes. Order it for $2 and a stamped (52 cents), self-addressed, legal-sized envelope from Heloise/Recipes, PO Box 795001, San Antonio TX 78279-5001. — Heloise

Send a money- or time-saving hint to Heloise, PO Box 795000, San Antonio TX 78279-5000 or fax it to 512-HELOISE. I can't answer your letter personally but will use the best hints received in my column.

Southlake Carroll succeeds without big stars

SOUTHLAKE, Texas (AP)—The only stars on the Southlake Carroll Dragons are stickers pasted alongside the green stripe bisecting the players' helmets.

No individuals shine—coach Bob Ledbetter won't allow it. If one member of the offense has a great game, it's because 10 other people did their jobs, he says, so either everyone or no one is rewarded.

His method obviously has worked. The Dragons, ranked No. 1 in Class 3A, have not lost a regular-season game since 1986, setting a state record with 54 straight victories.

"How many in a row have we won?" Ledbetter wondered aloud after practice Wednesday.

He's not asking because he likes hearing the answer. He just doesn't know. He doesn't really care, either.

Ledbetter credits players from the last six years for building the streak. He's maintained that since early this month when a reporter first pointed out that his squad was headed toward the record.

He says he may look back on the streak after this season, maybe even send a letter to those players or have some kind of banquet. But not now. Especially not this week.

The district season kicks off Friday at Dragon Stadium against arch-rival Springtown (2-1), the last team to beat Carroll in the regular season.

Die-hard Dragons fans still vividly remember that game, a 14-13 victory in the ninth week of the 1986 season, their first year moving up from 2A to 3A.

Carroll could have won had the quarterback pitched the ball on fourth down late in the game, fans say. Instead, he kept it and was tackled short of a first down for their only regular-season loss of the year.

This season, the Porcupines probably pose the toughest remaining obstacle between Carroll and a 61-game streak heading into 1993.

A 10-0 mark for 1992 would be Southlake's fifth-consecutive undefeated regular season, two shy of the national record held by five teams, according to the National Federation of State High School Associations. The last such streak ended in 1972, about two years before Southlake's seniors were born.

"It's because of the coaches—they're great," quarterback Will Mantooth said of Ledbetter and the four-man staff he's retained the last year.

"The coaches never give us a break at all," Mantooth said, adding that the players thrive on Ledbetter's high standards. "They're always on our case, really pushing us hard."

Ledbetter, who also coached a successful track team until stepping down last year, didn't ease up Wednesday. He prowled the middle of the field during every snap, constantly pointing out imperfections.

He'd occasionally pull out a card kept tucked inside the front of his shorts and bark out a few instructions. Sometimes he'd ruffle through a stack of plays kept rolled up in a back pocket.

The few times he saw something he didn't like, he'd spin around his baseball cap and let everyone hear his displeasure.

The only time the coaches give in is at the conclusions of their Monday meeting during which they scout their upcoming opponent. That's when the staff gives out the stars.

The round stickers are earned by the unit or units (offense, defense, special teams) which, during the previous Friday's game, reached the goals the coaches had set for them.

"We give out very little recognition. You can't have individual stars if you're trying to develop a team concept," said Ledbetter, who's 84-5-1 including 1988's 16-0 state championship season since implementing the system in 1979, his first year at Carroll after a stint as Mineral Wells' defensive coordinator.

The list of goals, which has about 10 items, is pretty typical—things like number of rushing yards, penetrations, yards allowed.

The categories vary depending on the caliber of the opponent and what aspect of the game is being stressed that week. If 60 percent of the goals are reached, Carroll should win, Ledbetter says.

Coaches compile the list on Saturday then post it in the locker room before Monday's meeting. The timing means that players see this week's objective before being rewarded for last week.

"I think it makes us play better," said Mantooth, arguably the team's driving force despite a relatively bare helmet.

"I only go one way, so I don't get as many (stars) as some of the other guys," he jokes.

Mantooth is a third-generation Dragon. His older brothers John and Lance were running backs.

Besides following them onto the football field, Mantooth also has joined them on the rodeo circuit. John and Lance are both professionals and Will estimates he's one competition away from becoming a professional.

He's already earned his permit card (given after a would-be cowboy wins $2,500 in prize money) and needs about $800 more to make it official. He was the 1991 high school calf roping champion for North Texas and he also gets a thrill out of bull riding.

But he's happy to put on pads instead of chaps every Friday to be a big part in the success of Southlake, centered 25 miles north of Fort Worth and 25 miles west of Dallas.

Their saga has generated plenty of interest in the Metroplex.

The record-tying game two weeks ago, supposedly Carroll's most difficult of the year, turned into a 46-6 pasting of then-No. 4 Gainesville. It was broadcast on radio and Dallas Cowboys stars Emmitt Smith and Michael Irvin were on hand.

The record-breaking game, a 49-0 thrashing of Class 4A's Azle, earned a front-page story in the Fort Worth-Star-Telegram.

Riggs predicts blowout in Battle of the Sexes

By TIM DAHLBERG

AP Sports Writer

LAS VEGAS (AP)—When Bobby Riggs faced Billie Jean King 19 years ago, his handicap was age.

Friday night, Jimmy Connors will give up half the doubles' lane and be limited to one serve to even up his match with Martina Navratilova in Battle of the Sexes III.

Riggs doesn't think it's nearly enough.

"I predict a blowout," Riggs said Wednesday. "He's a great, great match player, a great money player. She hasn't got a clue about how tough this guy is."

Caesars Palace oddsmakers agree, making Connors a 4-1 favorite to win the latest mixed-gender battle in a match he believes will even the score for Riggs' loss to King two decades ago.

"I've been waiting 20 years to get even," Connors said. "It's been playing on my mind for 20 years. I want to set it straight."

Connors and Navratilova will be playing for $500,000 in the best-of-3-sets match, which will be televised nationally to those willing to fork over $24.95 for the pay-per-view telecast.

Both players reportedly are also receiving another $500,000 each in appearance money.

"The money will be a nice bonus, but that's not what we're playing for," Navratilova said. "I'd rather give up the $500,000 and win."

Unlike the Riggs-King match 19 years ago, where Riggs played the role of a male chauvinistic pig, both Navratilova and Connors have been low-key in promoting their encounter.

The event carries none of the hype of the Riggs-King match, although both did their part Wednesday to try to build it up.

"It's an entertainment event," said Navratilova, winner of 160 singles titles. "It's not as much an emotional battle of the sexes. If we'd played it 20 years ago, it would be more like that because of the times."

The only real discord between the two players has been over the negotiations, which ended with Connors agreeing to give up half the doubles' lane and a serve.

"She's made a controversy over everything," Connors complained. "She's talking about how the lines are painted, what kind of balls should be used. Let's just play the thing and get it over with."

Connors said losing a serve wouldn't put him at much of a disadvantage since he tends to land a lot of his first serves anyway. He's more concerned about having to cover additional territory.

"People don't realize it's 78 square feet on each side she gets," he said. "The mental challenge I have is to go through and go and hit the ball that far out."

Connors said he expects Navratilova to play more aggressively than she would against a woman opponent with whom she might be content to trade groundstrokes.

"She's going to play like a man. I'm going to play like I always have," Connors said.

Spurs to begin negotiating with Robinson

SAN ANTONIO (AP)—How much money will San Antonio Spurs center David Robinson earn this year?

It depends on how you read the fine print in the All-Star's contract.

Spurs President Gary Woods said face-to-face talks with Robinson's agent, Lee Fentress, will begin next week, following a week of telephone conversations.

Robinson's contract is so unique and complex that negotiations could be more difficult and last longer than either side would like.

"It's not something we're looking forward to," Woods said Tuesday. "It's something we want to make sure is done right. This is an annual re-opening of David's contract. That's what's so onerous about it."

Robinson was scheduled to make

$3.15 million this season.

At issue is a clause in his contract stipulating that he receive the average of the top two NBA salaries each of the next five seasons.

But no one seems sure how to interpret that.

Are the top two NBA salaries determined on a per-year basis, or an average basis? Do balloon payments count, such as the $18.2 million Patrick Ewing will receive in 1995-96?

"Obviously, their interpretation is much different than ours," Woods said. "But they are very good agents. I don't have any doubt we can reach some agreement."

When negotiations begin, the Spurs likely will have a legal representative there and request that an NBA legal expert study the contract, Woods said. That way, if the issue must be determined by an arbitrator, the Spurs have the league on their side.

Robinson said there are several ways to interpret the contract.

"None of them are bad for me," he said.

"Personally, I don't really care how much money I make or whatever. That's not the important issue. I think the important issue is that I'm living up to my contract and living up to what this team expects me to do. As long as I do that, I think they should be more than happy to compensate me for it," Robinson said.

Until recently it was believed Robinson would be due the average of Ewing's and Shaquille O'Neal's average-per-year salaries, which is about $3.5 million. But now that Cleveland's Brad Daugherty has a new contract averaging $5.4 million, Robinson's raise could be higher.

"He's going to get a substantial increase either way," Woods said.

Although Robinson worked out Tuesday with Spurs assistant coach Rex Hughes, and he said he expects to be in training camp Oct. 9, Robinson said contract issues sometimes get sticky.

"I don't see it as a problem, but you never know," he said. "In any kind of negotiations, things come up. So I'm just going to try to keep working out, getting ready for this training camp and be ready to play."

Oilers' Harris thought he had touchdown

By MICHAEL A. LUTZ

AP Sports Writer

HOUSTON (AP)—Houston rookie Corey Harris danced in the end zone after scoring what he thought was his first NFL touchdown on a 98-yard kickoff return to open last weekend's game against Kansas City.

Then he found out it didn't count.

"I've never felt anything more exciting than that," Harris said. "I was standing there in the end zone doing whatever I felt like. And then I turned around and realized what had happened."

The run was called back by a penalty, but Harris finished the day with three returns for 83 yards and the Oilers beat the Chiefs 23-20 in overtime. Now Harris would like to do more in Sunday's game against the San Diego Chargers in the Astrodome.

"At least that kickoff showed what we're capable of doing," Harris said.

"It was called back, but I think to break it like that you can say it's been done. Now it's just a matter of getting a few things corrected."

Harris' 98-yard return also did wonders for his own confidence, which was dented by poor punt returns against the Indianapolis Colts two games ago.

Harris, a gifted third-round draft choice from Vanderbilt, stumbled in his first big chance to return punts for the Oilers against Indianapolis and he explained later he couldn't see because he was wearing old contact lenses.

Harris was an all-purpose runner, receiver and returner at Vanderbilt, and the Oilers hope he eventually will be able to return punt return duty. Until that time, Pat Coleman gets the assignment.

"I really think that the opportunity to return punts will come, but right now I'm returning kickoffs," Harris said. "Coleman is doing a good job of that and although he didn't have any long returns, he did a good job of protecting the ball. You've got to protect it first."

"Pat has experience at it and I haven't done it in awhile. I was only average in preseason. I hope that it will become a situation where they can call on Corey or Pat either one to do punt returns."

Harris said he had depth perception problems on punts that don't bother him with kickoffs.

"It's easier to catch kickoffs because you know where the ball is going," Harris said. "It goes up from one spot and so you can track it better. Punts are different. You have to make a lot more adjustments on the punts."

Public Notice

Southwestern Bell Telephone Company, in accordance with the rules of the Public Utility Commission of Texas (PUC), hereby gives notice of the Company's intent to implement a new schedule of telephone rates in Texas for optional Custom Calling Services and Touch-tone service, effective March 15, 1993, unless otherwise determined by the PUC.

These proposed rates will not increase or decrease the Company's overall revenues; the net effect will be neutral to the Company's annual revenues.

The Company proposes to decrease the rates for Touch-tone service for residential customers from $1.00 to 68 cents, and also to reduce the Touch-tone rates for business customers from $1.75 to $1.70. In addition, the Touch-tone rates for business PBX trunks will be reduced from $3.15 to $2.18.

This proposal to decrease the rates for Touch-tone service does not change the commitment that the Company made in the Docket No. 8585 Stipulation to reduce the rates for Touch-tone service in 1993.

The Custom Calling Services affected by the Company's application are optional telephone service arrangements that provide the following features: Call Waiting, Call Forwarding, Three Way Calling, Speed Calling-8 and Speed Calling-30. Following are the feature combinations and their current and proposed rates.

	Residence		Business
	Current Rate	Proposed Rate	Current Rate	Proposed Rate
One Feature per line
Call Waiting	$2.10	$2.85	$2.65	$3.25
Call Forwarding	2.10	2.10	2.65	3.50
3-Way Calling	2.10	2.10	2.65	2.50
Speed Call-8	2.10	2.10	2.65	2.50
Two Features per line
Call Waiting, Call Forwarding	3.75	4.25	4.75	6.00
Call Waiting, 3-Way Calling	3.70	4.25	4.75	4.75
Call Waiting, Speed Calling-8	3.70	4.25	4.75	4.75
Call Forwarding, 3-Way Calling	3.70	3.50	4.80	5.00
Call Forwarding, Speed Calling-8	3.70	3.50	4.75	5.00
3-Way Calling, Speed Calling-8	3.70	3.50	4.75	4.00
Three Features per line
Call Waiting, Call Forwarding and 3-Way Calling	5.30	5.65	6.90	7.50
Call Waiting, Call Forwarding and Speed Calling-8	5.30	5.65	6.90	7.50
Call Waiting, 3-Way Calling and Speed Calling-8	5.30	5.65	6.90	6.25
Call Forwarding, 3-Way Calling and Speed Calling-8	5.30	4.90	6.90	6.50
Four Features per line
Call Waiting, Call Forwarding, 3-Way Calling, Speed Calling-8	6.90	7.05	9.00	9.00
Speed Calling - 30 code capacity	3.20	3.20	4.25	3.20

Most of the Company's residence and business customers who subscribe to Custom Calling Features and Touch-tone service will be affected by the proposed rate restructuring.

It is expected that the restructuring of Custom Calling Features will result in a rate increase for approximately 2.9 million residence customers and 280,000 business customers. The reduction in rates for certain Custom Calling Services and Touch-tone Service will affect approximately 4.3 million residence customers and 1.7 million business customers.

This rate restructuring is expected to have a "revenue-neutral" effect on the Company's annual revenues. The proposed rate restructuring of Custom Calling Services will increase the Company's annual revenues by $19.8 million; while the reduction in Touch-tone rates will decrease the Company's annual revenues by $19.8 million.

This proceeding has been designated Docket No. 11382. Persons who wish to intervene or otherwise participate in this proceeding should notify the PUC as soon as possible. The deadline to intervene is October 30, 1992. A request to intervene, participate or for further information should be mailed to the Public Utility Commission of Texas, 7800 Shoal Creek Boulevard, Suite 400N, Austin, Texas 78757. Further information may also be obtained by calling the PUC Public Information Office at (512) 458-0256 or (512) 458-0221, teletypewriter for the deaf.

HWI Fire Safety Tip

Is one smoke detector enough?

Installing and maintaining smoke detectors can significantly increase your chances of surviving a fire. However, installing one smoke detector in your home is not enough.

Many state and local codes are changing to include installing smoke detectors in all bedrooms, outside each bedroom area, and on every living level of the home. This means that in a three-bedroom, two story home with a finished basement, there should be a minimum of six smoke detectors: one in each bedroom (in this case three), one outside each separate sleeping area (in this case one sleeping area), one on each remaining level, and one in the finished basement.

How many should you install in your home?
