Wins DeKalb Award

WASHINGTON (AP) — Portions of the administration-backed illegal alien bill drew fire from a Texas congressman, conservationists, farmers and farmworkers Tuesday during testimony before a Senate subcommittee.

Rep. Richard C. White, a Democrat from El Paso whose district shares a 352-mile border with Mexico, voiced "total opposition to the so-called amnesty provisions" of the bill. The administration bill, sponsored in the Senate by James Eastland, D-Miss., Lloyd Bentsen, D-Texas, Dennis DeConcini, D-Ariz. and Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., calls for amnesty to illegals in this country since 1970 and up to Jan. 1, 1977.

"How is it logically going to be possible to sort out from the millions of illegal entries we all agree are among us those who have been here since 1970, and those who have been here since before January of 1977?" asked White. "There is a basic unfairness and poor principle to reward the law-breaker while flaunting the law abider. The promise of amnesty has brought a flood of would-be entrants to the border, overburdening the border facilities."

White said he agreed with the bill's provision to penalize employers that hire illegal aliens but added, "I think, however, that a tough administrative fining procedure would be preferable to civil penalties."

Recalling the situation that developed last summer in Presidio, Texas, when the president intervened to allow Texas farmers to hire laborers from across the border, White stressed that a "Bracero-like program" should be included in any illegal alien legislation. The Bracero program allowed Mexican laborers to work in this country legally and return to Mexico after their job was finished.

"We are already going through the same traumatic experience again this year in Presidio," continued White. "Domestic labor is not available...and President Carter clearly indicated last year that he would not intervene again, so we are frantically trying to devise another miracle solution."

School District To Lease Land

The Hereford Independent School District board of trustees Tuesday night voted to work out an agreement with the City of Hereford to utilize the vacant lot northwest of the former Central School for park and recreation purposes.

The board met for 45 minutes behind closed doors to discuss whether to sell the property or lease it to the city for a park. Following the executive session, the board authorized Superintendent Harrell Holder to work with the city and city attorney in devising a means to use the lot.

Board members David Hutchins, Clark Andrews, Jim Arney, Paul Rameriz and Mack Tubb voted to lease the property. James Gentry and Sallie Strain cast dissenting votes.

Holder told the board during discussion of the 1978-79 budget that local maintenance expenditures would total $5,401,000, as compared to $5,332,100 for 1977-78.

"But we feel we can still operate on the same tax base," Holder said.

He told the board that the school district's bonded indebtedness will be $450,760 in 1978-79, as compared to nearly $460,000 during the current fiscal year. The school district is six years away from paying off its entire indebtedness.

The board agreed to allow the Hereford Senior Citizens Association to use the kitchen and stage area at the former Central School gymnasium as cooking and dining facilities. The dishwashing area will be converted into restrooms.

Resignations were accepted Tuesday from La Plata principal Pat Hughes, who has resigned to accept a similar position at Round Rock High School; Sherry Dollar, Stanton Junior High speech teacher; Jan Eads, Tierra Blanca special education teacher; Jana Giles, Stanton teacher; Sharon Johnson, Northwest special education teacher; Vikki Labrier, Stanton girls' coach; and Sawana Shipley, Tierra Blanca teacher.

The board hired Nancy Priest, Northwest special education; and Patricia Sims, Northwest music.

The board approved changing the district's mandatory retirement age from 65 to 70 in the first of two readings of the new policy. The second reading and official approval are scheduled for next month's meeting, as stipulated by school district policy on changing policies.

The board, in other business, considered the following reports:

Enrollment—The total school population is 5,232, as compared to 5,258 last month and 5,284 a year ago.

Cafeteria—Participation in the trial school-breakfast program has been less than expected at Stanton and Hereford (See BOARD, Page 2)

AAM Sets Thursday Meeting

The American Agriculture Movement will hold a meeting at the Bull Barn tomorrow night at 8:30 for an update on activities and for an explanation of legislation on the long-range goals of the group.

Gerald McCathern of Hereford recently returned from a meeting with the legislative branch of the AAM, and reports that a long-range bill for achieving AAM goals will probably be introduced in the House this week.

According to McCathern, the bill will be introduced by Rep. Richard Nolan of Minnesota.

The bill includes a provision for 100 percent parity, a quota system for producers, import tariffs and a provision for a board of agriculture producers to serve within the USDA.

"The purpose of tomorrow night's meeting is to explain the legislation and see if it contains what the people of our area really want," McCathern explained.

"We're requesting that all agribusmen, farmers, cattlemen and their wives attend," he added.

According to McCathern, a district meeting will be held in Panhandle May 16 for the same purpose.

McCathern reported that an explanation of the Texas meeting will also be given tomorrow night.

A delegate body made up of AAM representatives from the various states will also meet in Washington May 18 to determine of the bill's proposals outline the "exact program we want to support."

McCathern emphasized, "We'll be contacting all of the congressmen to let them know that we intend to keep working for better legislation to replace the 1977 farm bill. We have a couple of bills in the hopper now that address themselves to imports on livestock, and one of those, the Bentsen Bill, is in conference committee now. It is attached to the Ag Finance Bill which the President has said he will sign," McCathern related.

Robinson Claims Top Award At FFA Parent-Member Fete

Ira Robinson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jess Robinson of Hereford was honored as the winner of the coveted DeKalb Award during the 42nd annual Hereford FFA Parent-Member Banquet last night before a crowd of some 200 members and guests at the Hereford High School cafeteria.

The DeKalb Award recognizes outstanding achievement by a senior agriculture student in scholarship, leadership and supervised production programs.

Robinson is ranked 13th out of over 200 students in his class and has served as district FFA officer. He is currently serving as vice president of the local FFA chapter.

His supervised production program includes crops, steers, barrows and breeding hogs.

Robinson, who has posted a 5.2 grade point average, was also named as the recipient of the local chapter's Scholarship Award.

While Robinson received the top student award during last night's banquet, J.L. "Jigger" Rowland was named as an Honorary Chapter Farmer.

Rowland's contributions in helping to transport FFA livestock to various shows and in aiding in the selection of show lambs was cited by FFA secretary LeAnne Hughes as she announced him as this year's recipient of the honorary degree.

A brother act captured both of the top chapter member honors last night.

Gary Vogel was named as the Star Chapter Farmer as his accomplishments in the expansion of his livestock production enterprises were noted. He was the recipient of the Star Greenhand title last year.

He was also named as the winner of the local chapter's Diversified Livestock

Production award last night, in addition to receiving the Ag Mechanics Award for construction of a complex of barns for housing his livestock.

Randy Vogel made it a sweep for the brother team as he was named as this year's Star Greenhand.

He was also honored as the top salesman for the 1977 FFA Citrus Sales project.

Randy Fellers was singled out as the winner of the Star Agribusman Award.

District FFA Public Speaking contest winner LeAnne Hughes, who will compete in the area contest, was named as the winner of the local chapter's Public Speaking Award, while chapter president David Walterscheid was honored as the winner of the Leadership Award.

Production awards went to Cory Walden in Crops, Wade Boren in Swine, Allyn Rowland in Sheep, and Cory (See FFA, Page 2)

Carter Remarks Ire Attorneys

BY PAUL SIMS

Three Hereford attorneys, ired by President Carter's comments last week about the high cost of legal services, agree that Carter is attacking their profession to divert some of the criticism directed towards him in recent months.

Carter took shots at attorneys and physicians while touring western states last week, remarking that both groups discriminate against the poor.

"Free and open competition is the best way to bring legal services within the reach of average citizens," Carter said in a speech to the Los Angeles Bar Association.

The president pledged to expand such innovative approaches as storefront legal clinics, prepaid group plans and other low-cost alternatives to traditional legal services.

Carter said the legal profession is over-protecting the interests of the privileged few at the expense of other Americans. "Ninety percent of our lawyers serve 10 percent of our people. We are over-lawyered and under-represented," he said.

"I also ask that lawyers join the effort to stop inflation by following the example we have asked of every group in our society by decelerating the rise in fees."

Hereford lawyer R.C. Hoelscher, upon learning of Carter's remarks, said, "I never thought we charged too much—our charges are fair and reasonable and certainly a matter of discussion with our client prior to employment in most circumstances."

Hoelscher agreed with the president that "there has been an increase of individuals attending law schools, and the number of lawyers is on the increase. But a lawyer makes his living by selling his time, services and advice, and I certainly do not think we overcharge."

Carter, Hoelscher said, "has not lived up to what he's promised individuals. I think he's trying to throw some of the heat away from him to somebody else."

Attorney Tom Burdett said the president was frustrated.

CETA Program Job Applications Now Available

Applications for the Deaf Smith County Summer Youth Employment Program may be obtained through May 31 at the Hereford Community Action Agency and at Hereford High School, according to Loretta Kindsfather, county Comprehensive Employment and Training Act coordinator.

The program will begin June 1 for low and middle income youths between the ages of 14 and 22. Guidelines for participation in the program were established by the Comprehensive Employment and Training Act of 1973.

The purpose of the program, said Mrs. Kindsfather, is to develop job skills in young people and to give in-school youth the opportunity to earn money for school expenses.

The average length of employment will be eight weeks.

The June 3 runoff election should draw another good turnout, what with the county judge and justice of peace races to be decided here and the 19th Congressional District representative nominees for both Democrats and Republicans to be determined.

Horse Racing Votes Change in Canvases

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) - Some of Texas' election judges may have stumbled in reporting Saturday's results on the pari-mutuel referendum on the Democratic and Republican ballots.

County canvasses held Tuesday showed some discrepancies, including some in favor of the horse race betting issue.

"In some cases the results were telephoned from precinct judges to county chairmen and reported only as Proposition One or Proposition Two," said Douglas McCary, president of the Texas Horseracing Association. "But in some cases, the pari-mutuel referendum was first on the ballot and the interest rate referendum was second while the order was reversed in other counties."

McCary said in Robertson County the unofficial results reported to the Texas Election Bureau showed 32 percent favoring legalized pari-mutuels on a local option basis. However, the official canvass Tuesday showed 48 percent favoring it, a different of 539 votes.

"We believe these were honest mistakes, and we are confident that the election judges will want to correct them in the interest of maintaining the integrity of primary elections," he said.

Unofficial returns from 239 of 254 counties, before the county canvasses, showed 739,560 voted against the referendum in the Democratic primary, while 676,126 voted for it.

Republicans approved the question 56,893 to 53,883, unofficially.

Scherchenko Wife Commits Suicide

MOSCOW (AP) - Leongina Scherchenko, the wife of the Soviet U.N. diplomat who refused to return home from the United States, committed suicide, her son said today.

Gennady Scherchenko told Western reporters by telephone from the family's Moscow apartment he could give no details about his mother's death Monday "but I confirm that she committed suicide."

Earlier the son, like his father a diplomat in the Soviet Foreign Service, told reporters who telephoned him his mother had died of a heart attack.

"I just did not want to say immediately that she had committed suicide," he said in a subsequent call.

Soviet sources with good official contacts made the first disclosure of the suicide, saying Mrs. Scherchenko died from an overdose of sleeping pills and that her body was found in a closet of the family apartment where she had been living with her 16-year-old daughter since her return from New York in April.

Arkady Shevchenko, the top-ranking Soviet citizen on the staff of the United Nations, left his post as undersecretary-general for political and Security Council affairs on April 5 because of "differences with his government," a U.N. spokesman said.

Moror Family Upset At Political Associates

ROME (AP) - Aldo Moro's family, embittered because his political associates would not capitulate to the Red Brigades to save his life, says it wants no state funeral or memorials, only silence.

"The family locks itself up in silence and demands silence," said a terse statement from the Moro household issued a few hours after the body of the 61-year-old former premier was found Tuesday in the back of a parked car in the center of Rome.

"History will pass judgement on the life and death of Aldo Moro," said the statement.

Eleanora Moro, the white-haired, 62-year-old widow, led her three children, Maria Fida, 32, Agnese, 26, and Giovanni, 20, to the morgue of the University of Rome, leaving behind Anna, her pregnant daughter.

"Someone pulled the sheet over his body," a source present at the family's farewell reported. "Mrs. Moro knelt and prayed. She was silent and calm. Only her hands were shaking a bit."

For 55 days, the family had secluded itself in Moro's three-bedroom penthouse on the tree-lined Via del Forte Trionfale, in a hilly residential area of Rome.

Giovanni kept close to the telephone in hopes of word from the kidnapers. Maria Fida took leave from a reporting job for a newspaper in Bari, Moro's hometown, and kept close to her mother along with Angese and Anna.

Dead Man Elected Justice of the Peace

ROCKPORT, Texas (AP) - It's always disheartening to lose an election, but Pepe Zambrano thinks his case is so unique somebody ought to make a movie out of it.

Aransas County voters re-elected the late incumbent Lawrence Miller by an almost 3-1 margin over Zambrano in a race for a justice of the peace seat in Saturday's Democratic primary.

The elderly Miller died several weeks ago but his name was left on the ballot as required by state law, since he died after the 45-day deadline to remove a candidate's name from the slate.

"Somebody ought to come down here and make a movie out of this," Zambrano said. "They could call it 'Pepe and the Dead Man.' You can't imagine how hard it is to campaign against an opponent with that kind of popular sympathy. There isn't a lot you can say campaigning."

Zambrano said he thinks he probably would've beaten Miller had the incumbent lived.

"After he died, a group of people who called themselves 'concerned citizens' ran an advertising campaign in the papers to elect Miller," Zambrano said. "What they wanted was for him to win, meaning no one had won, so the Democratic committee could pick their own candidate. And now that's just what's going to happen."

"I have, as a matter of fact," Story writes, "noticed that over the years as our national debt has increased, the cancer rate among adult taxpayers has been steadily climbing. There seems to be an almost exact correlation between the increase in taxes and the increase in cancer."

"This is probably a scientific breakthrough of the first magnitude. True, the tests up to now are inconclusive, but the implication seems clear either that taxes cause cancer or cancer causes taxes. It's probably the first of these, because anyone knows the constant irritation of a tissue causes cancer, and if there is anything more constantly irritating than taxes, I don't know what it is.

"I also maintain that taxes not only cause cancer, but probably contribute more to heart failure than other known thing... especially around April 15.

"Plenty of people have used tobacco, sweeteners, pesticides, liquid diets and hair dye for years without ever getting cancer... but you have ever heard of a cancer patient who didn't pay taxes?"

"One of the healthiest men I have ever known," he concludes, "was an overweight, chain-smoking diabetic who used hair dye and sprayed crops for a living. He has never turned in an IRS 1040 form.

Lawyers

lately. All of the offices in Hereford are open to all of the people, and as far as the Hereford Bar Association goes, the lawyers here will gladly discuss their fees with any client."

Burdett pointed to the fact that in criminal cases, attorneys are appointed by the court to work with indigents.

"All of us are on the roster for appointments to represent indigents. All of the law firms in Hereford participate in this. I just don't think anybody's legal needs have been unfulfilled because of lack of funds."

Attorney Earnest Langley agrees. "I think the poor are generally pretty well represented in criminal matters because they can always get an appointed attorney. Most of the attorneys in this town certainly participate in the appointed system, and while there is some payment to the attorney from the county, it is usually on a small percentage of what the usual fees would be."

Langley said that Carter's insinuations that middle-income people have a difficult time affording attorneys "are emotionalized and not accurately stated—the wealthy can pay for whatever they feel they need, so there's no problem there. The middle income people have to pay for what they get and it can be expensive, but most middle income people are not plagued by a problem of hiring somebody to represent them in criminal cases. That is because most crimes are committed by economically-deprived people."

Langley admitted that a civil matter could be a problem for someone seeking to hire an attorney.

"There are some civil matters where the cost is pretty bad, but most of the time, the problems are of a kind where the ability to pay comes along with the problem. You get hurt and you hire a lawyer to represent you on a percentage of the recovery."

Carter said last week that lawyers resist innovations, compounding the problem. Langley said that is probably true, but not as serious a problem as Carter implies.

"I think some lawyers probably do resist innovation, but I don't think it's as vicious a thing as President Carter seems to think. The fact is, he's doing such a bad job at his job and receiving so much criticism, he's lashing out at anybody."

Other reaction to Carter's speech included a comment from American Bar Association president William Spann of Atlanta, who said:

"We are surprised he accuses us of resisting innovation... This is particularly astonishing since we are due to meet next week (this week) at the White House on establishing the Carter for Defense Services to help the poor accused of crime."

Also honored for citrus sales achievements were Don Lawson and Mac Hagar.

Joey Mazurek, a freshman FFA student at La Plata Junior High, was named as the winner of a special Vocational Agriculture Achievement Award by Jim Steiert, Brand farm editor.

"Joey's a hard worker in the classroom and an enthusiastic observer of stock shows and helper to other members of his family. And above all, he sets an example of courage for his fellow students to follow in that he overcomes an inconvenience to complete his projects," Steiert commented in presenting the award.

An FFA "Comeback" Award was also presented by Steiert to Rodney Miller, a sophomore agriculture student who overcame the loss of his project animals to dogs two years ago to post a recovery and eventually expand his enterprise.

Various team award recipients were also named during last night's banquet.

Wade Boren, LeAnne Hughes, Bob Meyer and Mac Hagar were honored for their work on the livestock judging team, while Allyn Rowland, Chuck Berryman and David Walterscheid were recognized as members of the dairy cattle team.

Honored as meats team members were Ira Robinson, Gary Vogel, Marcel Fishbacker and Kirk Jones.

Dairy products team members included Lisa Phillips, Christi Welty, John Meyer and Brent Walterscheid, and honored as land judging team members were DeLynn Mason, Tania Willson and Scott Mazurek.

Cited as members of the Greenhand chapter conducting team were Kirk Jones, Lisa Phillips, Rita Sims, Travis Rogers, Dana Barber, Christi Welty, Mac Hagar and Brent Walterscheid.

Chapter Farmer chapter conducting team members included David Walterscheid, Ira Robinson, LeAnne Hughes, Bob Meyer, Gary Vogel, Randy Harris and Allyn Rowland.

The farm radio team included Chuck Berryman, Geni Welty and Cindy Heard, while the Greenhand quiz team included Mark Brown, Brett Cunningham, James Hund and Janet Hamby.

Ag mechanics team members Cory Walden, Bob Meyer, Ira Robinson and David Walterscheid were also honored.

U.S. farmworkers" by Thomas Jones, a spokesman for the National Association of Farmworker Organization.

"Last year in Presidio, over 800 foreign workers were imported to pick onions while domestic workers who had already been recruited and given contracts were refused the right to work in these jobs," added Jones.

As to instituting another Bracero-like program, Jones said such laborers "offer the same advantage of being easily exploited as do undocumented workers, but they are hired with federal approval."

Farmers employ illegals, however, because "they are willing to work and have the motivation to improve themselves and their families and because farmers need workers as nature dictates - not when some bureaucrat in Washington decides that workers are not available to do the work," countered C.H. Fields, a spokesman for the American Farm Bureau Federation.

Fields said his group favored the amnesty proposal but added: "It seems to us that it should be the responsibility of the Social Security Administration to make sure that social security cards are valid. We realize that it will be expensive to initiate a new and responsible procedure for the issuance of social security cards, but if HEW could manage to reduce the $7 billion in fraudulent benefits now paid out under various public assistance programs, perhaps some of the savings could be devoted to carrying out the law with regard to the proper issuance of social security cards."

Fields also said the bill's provision calling for civil penalties against employers who hire illegals should be clarified. But Anthony Wayne Smith, president of the National Parks and Conservation Association, said that portion of the bill should be strengthened to include penalties calling for imprisonment, not "merely fines."

Carter Asked To Lend Support

BY WALTER R. MEARS
AP Special Correspondent
WASHINGTON (AP) - Despite his slumping average in the polls, Jimmy Carter is not going to warm the political bench during the campaign season. Not unless he wants it that way.

There are and will be more requests for Carter's campaign assistance than the White House can fill. The president's political scorekeepers are checking some averages of their own, so as to be most responsive to congressional candidates who have been most helpful to the administration.

That kind of loyalty check may irk some people on Capitol Hill, but it is the way the game is played. It is not customary to advertise this, or to commit it to charts and memos which can, as one did in this case, wind up in print.

But the fact is that presidents always have done, and probably always will do, more at campaign time for those candidates who do the most for them between elections.

That leaves the broader question of Carter's value as a campaign ally in 1978. That almost answers itself. There is nothing like the aura of the White House to draw a crowd, help raise campaign money and stir up the precinct workers to do the political work.

Short of war, Watergate or economic catastrophe, campaigning politicians almost always are in the market for an assist from the president.

And for all his troubles in the public opinion polls, President Carter is not likely to be an exception to that rule. Whatever the voters may think of the job he is doing, they agree overwhelmingly that he is honest and hard working. He is and will remain a drawing card, and in a congressional campaign, that helps.

Sometimes it takes a bit of footwork to be helpful. The other night in Spokane, Wash., Carter praised Rep. Thomas S. Foley, then adroitly reminded his constituents that the chairman of the House Agriculture Committee didn't always agree with the administration on farm policy. That's putting it mildly.

The national political leader who really wants to help will be for or against the candidate, whichever does the most good.

There probably will be a few Democrats who find it advantageous to issue dramatic declarations of independence, and to announce that they don't want Carter in their territory this fall.

Carter said in Portland, Ore., that no members of Congress had been around to tell him he was a liability and should stay away from their districts.

He said he didn't think he was a political handicap for Democrats. "If any of them think so, then their proximity to me is a voluntary matter," he said.

Ann Landers For the Media

DEAR ANN: Your column is a public forum in which many have had a chance to speak to others. May I now use it to address the media?

DEAR MEDIA: Please let up on those of us who have "put" our parents in nursing homes. When I was growing up (in the '30s and '40s) I read novels about people who led blighted lives caring for aged, ailing and usually domineering parents. I also saw it first-hand. My mother, a wonderful school teacher, quit her work and spent 18 years caring for her mother-in-law, who despised her.

Today's newspaper, magazine and TV writers don't recognize that our homes are not as large as the homes of yesterday. Nor do they realize that some old people need round-the-clock care. Many "rotten kids" live in small towns where help cannot be hired at any price. The writers also ignore the fact that some middle-aged people are raising grandchildren who are victims of broken homes.

Thanks for listening, Media. Ann, do you see something here that I've missed? -- Censured In Denver

DEAR DEN: If you missed something, so what? You hit plenty. Thanks for writing. I'm in your corner.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Please help me with a response to those insensitive and crass people who compare the size of children.

My son is small for his age. I'm tired of biting my tongue when acquaintances (I'd hardly call them friends) make remarks such as, "Is he the shortest child in his class?" Or, "I can't believe he's seven. Look at how much taller my son is!" People have even had the gall to ask me who my son takes after. ("Is your family short or is it your husband's?")

I would appreciate some guidance on how to respond to these morons. -- Sioux Falls

DEAR SIOUX: The best way to deal with clods is to consider the source and don't let them get to you. If you feel you must respond, answer the question WITH a question. Sample: "Why do you attach so much importance to size? Such peculiar reasoning has always baffled me."

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I disagree with your advice to "Fear for the Future." Why do you always tell relatives, neighbors and close friends to "inform the youngster's teacher"? We are not psychiatrists, medical doctors or moral specialists. Please get off our backs!

Goods, Services Down Despite Better Figures

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) - In the statistical entails of the economic numbers examined each month by the federal government are some revealing oddities, perhaps omen of things to come.

Like the employment figures for the first quarter of the year, which improved while the total output of goods and services declined, an unexpected, probably inexplicable, and maybe unlikely occurrence.

Does it mean that the nation's unemployment rate, which declined to 6 percent, the lowest in 3 1/2 years, was a statistical fluke? Or that employment really didn't rise by 535,000, as the Labor Department said?

Or does it mean perhaps that industry decided to gear up for a big surge in this, the second quarter, partly in an effort to make up for earlier, weather-induced downtime?

It's a puzzle okay, and some economists are no more confident of what it means than a witch doctor trying to extract meaning from a pile of chicken bones.

But two things at least must be considered probabilities: A second-quarter jobs rate rise; or a rise in Gross National Product, One or the other. As it is, the two are out of balance.

So, some say, was the latest Producer Index for Finished Goods, which rose a 1.3 percent in April, a sharp worsening over prices reported for March. Or if not the index, then the popular interpretation of it.

The popular use of the index, as a quick fix on retail prices to come, admittedly is a source of frustration to the professionals, who are much more cautious in their usage. But it does happen. Consumers, for example, concentrated on the sharp rise in the price of foods at the finished stage of processing. But professionals put just as much emphasis on jewelry prices.

Jewelry prices? Yes. They soared. They alone accounted for about 30 percent of the increase in the Finished Goods Price Index, Robert Stein of the Bureau of Labor Statistics told Congress.

It means the overall increase would have been kept below 1 percent, bad as that is, if jewelry, hardly as essential as food to the well-being of consumers, had been removed temporarily from the calculations.

Through all this, consumers seem to be putting up more than just a brave front. They're also putting up their money - borrowed though it is - or they were in March, when the latest statistics were compiled.

In that month more installment credit was granted than in any other month in history, some $4.07 billion, a good deal of it for automobiles and for those mysterious purposes categorized as personal loans.

Some credit analysts are now concerned that consumers have reached their limit and that, much as they might be willing to buy, they'll just have to face the reality of not being able to do so.

Clerks, Secretaries Have Better Chance

WASHINGTON (AP) - High school graduates trained as clerks, secretaries or typists and willing to take starting annual salaries of $5,500 a year stand the best chance of finding permanent work this summer, a government survey shows.

For the better educated, the most abundant openings are for accountants, computer programmers, electrical engineers, guidance counselors, nurses and social workers, the survey indicates.

Compiled by the Labor Department and released Monday, the survey shows low-paying office jobs topping the list of 80 occupations with the most openings for young job-seekers.

Fifty-seven of the positions require a high school education, while the others require additional education - college and nursing or trade schools.

The department said the survey is based on reports of job openings listed by state or federal job placement offices during the first three months of the year. Those agencies place an estimated four million people into jobs each year.

The occupations with the most openings has been distilled from more than 2,500 job classifications listed by the department.

Many of the openings do not require experience, making them suitable for young job seekers who will begin looking for their first permanent work when the school year is over, the department said.

The three positions most available were general office clerks, secretaries and clerk-typists, with each job showing more than 10,000 openings a month. Salaries ranged from about $5,900 a year to $10,000 for secretaries and $5,500 to $8,700 for clerks and typists.

Other jobs with the most openings for high-school graduates, according to the survey, were administrative secretaries, accounting clerks, bookkeepers, receptionists and insurance sales people, with each position showing more than 3,000 openings a month. Salaries for these jobs ranged from a low of $5,500 to nearly $12,000 maximum for an insurance salesperson.

Positions requiring only a high school education that had between 2,000 and 2,000 openings a month included keypunch operators, stock clerks, survey workers, manager trainees and casework supervisors.

Jobs requiring more than a high school diploma that showed 1,000 or more openings a month included: accountants, computer programmers, electrical engineers, electronics technicians, employment interviewers, guidance counselors, industrial engineers, mechanical engineers, nurses and social workers.

Of that group, salaries for licensed nurses were the lowest, ranging from $5,968 to $11,218 a year, while electrical engineers received the highest salaries, with annual pay ranging from $11,600 to $23,600.

Green Berets Still Active

EDITOR'S NOTE - Their official name is U.S. Army Special Forces, but they've been known as the Green Berets since President Kennedy authorized their distinctive headgear. Public recognition has faded since their exploits in Vietnam, but the Green Berets are still active.

By MONTE PLOTT
Associated Press Writer

FORT BRAGG, N.C. (AP) - They are men of simple pleasures, these Green Berets. A sunny day, a helicopter, a rope to hang them at treetop level, and they are happy.

In pairs, men of the Army's 7th Special Forces Group dangle from 50-foot ropes beneath helicopters buzzing over the thick pine woods and unyielding ground of Fort Bragg. It's here that all Special Forces troops are trained and most are based.

A group of Marines camped in the woods point up at the suspended figures and slowly shake their heads.

"If a man doesn't love his work, he isn't much good to you, is he?" asks Maj. John C. Johnson, a company commander in the 7th Group, as two of his men swing overhead like puppets.

"So we love our work. We just love stuff like this," he said.

The mere mention of the Green Berets conjures up images of men who loved the danger and excitement of war in Southeast Asia; of the 1966 song which hailed Special Forces troops as "fighting soldiers from the sky, fearless men who jump and die."

There were many cliches for Green Berets during the war years - elite jungle killers, snake-eaters. And they were immortalized when John Wayne donned a green beret and made a movie about them.

Special Forces units are still active, green berets are still worn. But public recognition faded with memories of a dismal war.

"Shoot, I've been in airports and people see the beret and ask me what country's army I'm from," says Sgt. Clinton Metzger.

There have been changes in the elite Special Forces ranks since President John Kennedy authorized the headgear in 1961. Fewer green berets are being worn now than during the 1960s, younger men are wearing them, and there is no war to fight. These specially trained soldiers do their share of truck washing and trash picking.

But they also study foreign languages and train for high-risk missions behind enemy lines.

The image from Vietnam, the legend of the green berets as super-soldiers, may have survived the war, but the troops say it was not true then or now.

Lt. Col. Galen W. Radke, head of Special Forces training at the John F. Kennedy training center here, sees the groups' primary function as organizing civilian units to fight and survive on their own. Sometimes their job takes them behind enemy lines and other times it's where a government needs help.

"What we're trying to do is be school teachers in cases like that," says Radke, a Vietnam veteran whose jungle fatigues and sinewy physique are reminiscent of recruiting posters.

"We're not paid killers per se - that's John Wayne stuff," he says. "But I'm not knocking John Wayne. He's a personal hero of mine."

Ten years ago, about 15,000 soldiers wore green berets. Today, because of cutbacks in the volunteer Army, that number is down to just more than 3,600 active duty troops.

Most of them are at Fort Bragg. There are smaller contingents based in Panama, West Germany and at Fort Devens, Mass. Special Forces officers refuse to talk about recent news accounts that their units are involved in secret anti-terrorist training at Fort Bragg. Enlisted men won't talk about the reporters' either, but one pointed out: "Look at our name - Special Forces."

Unconventional warfare in foreign lands is their specialty - anything from rescuing downed pilots to blowing up bridges, and it's often at the enemy's backside. Parachuting or swimming into the enemy's backyard, they would be left on their own.

"It's something you don't talk about, the risk factor involved," said Spec. 4 Kevin Carl, a demolitions specialist. "There's no need to talk about it because it's there and you know it. It's part of the job."

They work in self-contained teams of 12 - two officers and 10 enlisted men. Each is trained in a specialty, like communications, medicine or weaponry.

Special Forces training breeds an attitude of elitism; of being the best in the Army at what they do. But it also produces one of the most relaxed relationships between officers and enlisted men.

Officers and enlisted men within a team are on a first-name basis. It comes, the troops say, because a sergeant and a captain would be equally dependent on each other for survival behind enemy lines, and that rules out some military formality.

But outside their job, Special Forces troops often have little in common. Some are married career men. Others sign up searching for adventure and plan to get out when their hitch is up.

Green berets, Johnson says, are "triple volunteers." "First they volunteered for the Army. Then they volunteered for airborne training, which we require. Finally, they volunteered for us," said Johnson, who joined the Army after "not enough action" during three years in the Marine Corps.

Critics sometimes question the need of such a force in an age of nuclear overkill and of concern over military morality.

"There are limited wars like Vietnam," says Col. Timothy G. Gannon, commander of the 7th Special Forces Group. "and then you've got to realize that no country is going to 'nuke' every target it wants destroyed and it's not going to drop bombs on itself. That's where we come in."

Some people have believed that courage is a sign of a large liver.

"I think your little Israeli friend just locked your keys in the trunk."

QUOTE/UNQUOTE What people are saying...

Jimmy Carter

"For 30 years we have stood at the side of the proud and independent nation of Israel. I can say without reservation as the President of the United States of America that we will continue to do so not just for another 30 years, but forever."

— President Jimmy Carter, speaking at a White House celebration of Israel's founding in 1948.

"What the hell do you expect from a northpaw world?"

— Boston Red Sox southpaw pitcher Bill Lee, speculating about why left-handers are often called flaky — and paranoid.

"The nation's concept of work, education, leisure and retirement must be revised. It must be presumed that an individual will engage in gainful employment suitable to his physical and mental condition until an age well beyond 60 or 65 and possibly until the end of his life."

— A. Haeworth Robertson, a leading Social Security expert, recommending gradual changes in the government's old age policy.

"By spraying the Mexican marijuana crop with poisonous chemicals, President Carter is demonstrating a brand of statesmanship we haven't seen since Adolph Hitler."

— Author Gore Vidal, a one-time congressional candidate known for his sharp political opinions (Direct News).

"It's absolute foolishness. The superhawks on the committee have called the cruise missile inadequate, and now they're doing everything to self-fulfill their prophecy."

— Rep. Bob Carr (D-Mich.), reacting to the House Armed Services Committee's rejection of funds for a plane to carry the weapon.

"I said, 'Henry, I think you will have to do it... I am confident that a man who can come and go undetected in Paris can get in and out of Peking before anyone finds out."

— Former President Richard Nixon, describing in his memoirs how he had ordered aide Henry Kissinger to make a secret trip to the People's Republic of China to seek better relations.

Lubbock Sweeps 'Faces

By BOB NIGH
Sports Editor

The Lubbock High Westerners took 6-0 and 4-0 leads in the first inning of a pair of District 4-4A baseball games against the Hereford Whitefaces here Tuesday afternoon, and rolled to 20-6 and 8-2 decisions as both teams closed out the 1978 season.

A lack of control by the HHS pitching staff in the opener paved the way for the lopsided win as the Westerners waited it out for 16 bases on balls. A barrage of 12 hits added to the Herd misery, including a grand slam by pinch hitter Jamie Greene in the fourth when LHS tallied seven times.

Junior Kevin Bunch began

the opener on the mound for HHS, but just didn't have the stuff in walking four Westerners and giving up a pair of hits. Lubbock took a 6-0 advantage before senior Chris Hill finally relieved Bunch to stop the onslaught.

Hill, who also came in to relieve starter Ernie Suarez in the nightcap, gave up three runs in the second and then was shelled for seven runs in the third as the Westerners picked up four hits, including Greene's roundtripper.

The Whitefaces finally got on the scoreboard in the fourth when Hill singled, moved around on Ricky Matchett's safety and a walk to Donald Weemes, and scored on a sacrifice fly by Kent Ellis.

Hereford added five runs in the bottom of the seventh to narrow the big gap. John Wagner, Suarez, Hill, and Henry Torres, making his first varsity start at third base, each rapped out a single to lead the charge.

LHS pitcher George Rush finally got Weemes to pop to first, struck out Ellis, and then got pinch hitter Randy Ellis to ground to first to end the game.

In the second game Suarez was greeted rudely by the Westerners, who scored four times in the initial frame behind five hits, including a triple. Hill came in in relief in the third as LHS got runners on second and third with no outs.

Hill struck out Frankie Ibarra for the first out, and then the Whitefaces pulled off a double play to end the frame with no runs allowed. A ground ball to Torres at third caught the LHS runner off base. A rundown resulted in the second out as Herd catcher Mike Culp made the tag at home. Culp continued the play as the LHS runner on second was then caught between second and third.

HHS first baseman Richard Waters finally made the tag for the third out after a short rundown as the Whitefaces had nearly the entire team, including outfielders, in on the play.

Lubbock scored once in the fourth to take a 5-0 lead before the Herd pushed across a run in the bottom of the inning. Bunch, playing left field in the nightcap, singled and moved to second on a LHS error. A single by Hill scored Bunch before the inning ended with a pair of strikeouts. The Westerners added a solo tally in the fifth and two more runs in the sixth to go ahead 8-1. Shortstop Suarez kept a LHS rally down in the fifth by cutting two runners down at the plate when the bags were loaded, and getting the final out at third on a force play.

The Whitefaces scored their final run of the year in the bottom of the seventh when Culp walked and crossed the plate on a triple by Wagner. The twin losses dropped the 'Faces to 1-15 in district play and 7-20 overall. Lubbock closed out with a 7-9 loop record 18-13 overall.

Braves Owner Visits Dallas

DALLAS (AP) - Can a National Basketball Association team with an image of something less than a winner find happiness in this football crazy home of the National Football League champion Dallas Cowboys?

That question is apparently foremost in the mind of the owner of the Buffalo Braves today after he made a whirlwind tour of Dallas in his search for a new home for the Buffalo franchise.

"The only question I have is whether civic leadership feels it's important to have a pro basketball team," said John Brown after a day of looking over the city and what it would offer in the way of facilities.

Noting the success of the Cowboys, Brown said "Dallas is one of the dynamic cities in the country. It's a winner. I like that image of a city."

"Any team coming in here realizes the Dallas Cowboys are king, along with college football. The thing to find about is whether there's a large enough base of fans to get behind a pro basketball team."

Norm Sonju, club president, was also in Dallas Tuesday.

The eight-year-old franchise would cancel its lease for the city of Buffalo for Memorial Auditorium, Sonju had announced Monday. He said Birmingham, Louisville and possibly Toronto are possible new sites for the franchise-if it moves from Buffalo.

"Our announcement was a very traumatic thing," Sonju said. "Buffalo is a very fine place. I moved there with the idea of living there a long time. I just built a $20,000 addition on my house. The sad thing now is there's not a person in Buffalo who doesn't think we are going to go." Dallas Mayor Robert Folsom said Brown told him at an earlier meeting that he wanted to be assured at least 8,000 season tickets would be sold, saying Birmingham had promised that many. Buffalo sold 2,200-plus last season.

Saying he can make no guarantees about season ticket sales, Folsom said Tuesday that the Dallas-Fort Worth area has 2.5 million residents and is projected to have 4.7 million residents by the year 2,000. Folsom said projects for Birmingham are a growth of only 100,000 - to a total of 930,000 population.

Dallas ranks last among the contenders for the team in facilities. If Buffalo can be coaxed into moving to Dallas immediately, the games would be played in Moody Coliseum, where Southern Methodist University plays, until 1980 when a downtown special events center is expected to be completed.

Speaking of Moody Coliseum, Brown said "It looks like a nice facility. I liked the facts the seats are close to the floor. It's large enough for two years. We could get by with 9,500 seats."

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) - Forward Walter Davis of the Phoenix Suns says when the past season started his goal was "to make the team and contribute."

And that he certainly did, capped Tuesday by his selection as Rookie of the Year in the National Basketball Association. Davis, the only rookie selected for the NBA All-Star game in February, scored in double figures in all 81 regular-season games.

Shift Doesn't Rattle Rice

By ALEX SACHARE
AP Sports Writer

It takes more than an inside fastball or a four-outfielder defense to rattle Jim Rice.

The Boston Red Sox slugger, hit on the arm by Kansas City's Jim Colburn in the fifth inning Tuesday night, came right back to belt a Colburn fastball for a two-run homer in the seventh inning, giving the Red Sox a 4-3 victory over the Royals.

The Royals used their four-outfielder alignment, unveiled the previous night by Manager Whitey Herzog, on two of Rice's five trips to the plate. He singled once and was retired on a long fly ball the other time. Against a normal alignment, he grounded out, was hit by a pitch and hit his game-winning homer.

The keys, says Rice, is concentration.

So far this season, he's done just about everything. He leads the American League in six offensive categories: batting average, .376; runs scored, 29; runs batted in, 34; hits, 47; triples, 4, and homers, 10.

In other American League games Tuesday night, the New York Yankees beat the Minnesota Twins 3-1, the Cleveland Indians edged the Seattle Mariners 5-4, the California Angels defeated the Detroit Tigers 7-5, the Toronto Blue Jays blanked the Oakland A's 4-0 and the Texas Rangers topped the Milwaukee Brewers 7-1. Chicago at Baltimore was postponed because of wet grounds.

Yankees 3, Twins 1
Cattfish Hunter allowed just one hit in six innings - a leadoff single by Willie Norwood - before giving way to Sparky Lyle, who finished the three-hitter. It was Hunter's best outing in almost three years, since he pitched a one-hitter against the

Blue Jays 4, A's 0
Oakland suffered its third consecutive shutout, this time at the hands of Tom Underwood, who tossed a five-hitter, striking

Texas Rangers on May 31, 1975, and it came 10 years and one day after he hurled the major league's last perfect game - also against the Twins.

Indians 5, Mariners 4
Two errors by Seattle shortstop Craig Reynolds helped Cleveland erase a 4-1 deficit with three runs in the seventh inning, then a two-out single by Mike Vail drove in Larvell Blanks with the winning run in the ninth.

Rangers 7, Brewers 1
Al Oliver belted a three-run homer and a run-scoring single to back the seven-hit pitching of Ferguson Jenkins as Texas beat Milwaukee. Sixto Lezcano homered for the Brewers' only run.

Blue Jays 4, A's 0
Oakland suffered its third consecutive shutout, this time at the hands of Tom Underwood, who tossed a five-hitter, striking out nine. Rick Bosetti drove in one run and scored twice.

Angels 7, Tigers 5

Ron Fairly led California past Detroit with three run-scoring singles. The last one came in the eighth inning and snapped a 5-5 tie. Don Baylor and Tony Solaita of California and John Wocken-fuss of Detroit all hit home runs.

Congrats Charlie!

Hereford's Charlie Owens finally got his perfect game Monday night when he rolled 12 strikes in-a-row in the Sunset Center Bowling Classic in Amarillo. Owens had seven sanctioned 209s before he finally went all the way Monday.

Owens had a recent 833 series in Amarillo, including his seventh 209 game. He added games of 155 and 221 to his perfect game for a 676 series Monday. The 59-year-old Owens also bowls in several leagues in Hereford, and is president of the early mens' league which bowl on Wednesdays.

Richards Awakens Astros In 5-1 Win

By KEN RAPPOPORT
AP Sports Writer

The Houston Astros have been playing baseball recently like they've been walking in their sleep.

But J.R. Richards sure woke them up Tuesday night with his buzzing fastball.

"For consistency, this was one of my best games this year," said Richards after his four-hitter led the Astros to a 5-1 decision over the Philadelphia Phillies. "This was one of my better games stuff-wise.

That overpowering performance helped the Houston right-hander record 11 strikeouts, boosting his National League-leading strikeout total to 57.

The Astros had lost four games in a row and six of seven before Richard's effective performance.

Elsewhere in the National League, the Los Angeles Dodgers defeated the St. Louis Cardinals 3-1; the Cincinnati Reds edged the New York Mets 3-2 in 10 innings; the San Francisco Giants turned back the Pittsburgh Pirates 3-2; the Chicago Cubs defeated the San Diego Padres 8-5 and the Atlanta Braves defeated the Montreal Expos 3-2 in the first game of a doubleheader before losing the nightcap 7-6.

Dodgers 3, Cardinals 1
Reggie Smith hit his sixth home run and unbeaten Doug Rau won his fifth straight game as Los Angeles defeated St. Louis. Rau eneded eighth-inning relief help from Terry Forster, who preserved the victory with his fourth save.

Reds 3, Mets 2
Dan Driessen smashed a 10th-inning home run off New York reliever Skip Lockwood to pace Cincinnati over the Mets. Driessen hit a 1-0 pitch off the Mets' relief ace one inning after George Foster had hit a game-tying homer in the home half of the ninth.

Giants 3, Pirates 2
Larry Herndon singled home Jack Clark from third base with the winning run in the ninth inning as San Francisco beat Pittsburgh. Clark got a bunt single down the third base line with one out, stole second and kept on going to third as catcher Ed Ott threw the ball into center field.

Dr. J Wants Sixers To Stick With Best

By RALPH BERNSTEIN
AP Sports Writer

PHILADELPHIA (AP) - Julius Erving thinks it's time the Philadelphia 76ers quit coddling his teammates. The Sixers should stick with their best, win or lose, and Dr. J feels he figures prominently.

The 76ers trail the Washington Bullets 3-1 in their best-of-seven National Basketball Association Eastern playoff final. To survive, Philadelphia has to win three straight, including one on Washington's home court.

But this doesn't appear to perturb Erving. Not even the chance that the team's playoff hopes could be crushed tonight in bitter disappointment when they face the Bullets in Game 5. "I think it's time to forget trying to pacify everybody and do what's best for the team," said Erving. "We have to go with our key players, win or lose it that way."

Thus far, the Bullets have played inspired basketball, led by Elvin "Big E" Hayes, who is averaging 26.3 points, 16 rebounds and 3.3 blocked shots a game.

Hayes is being aided by Bob

Dandridge who is scoring 24.3 points per game with 5.5 assists. He's shooting 52.4 percent from the field. The Bullets are averaging 117 points.

Philadelphia's key players are Erving, George McGinnis, Doug Collins, Henry Bibby and Caldwell Jones.

Erving, who has been taking about 16 shots a game, indicated he plans to take at least 25 tonight and in future games if there are any. He'll shoot more if necessary.

Nuggets-SuperSonics
The Seattle SuperSonics, says Dennis Johnson, are right where they want to be.

At home in Seattle - and tied with the Denver Nuggets - after the first two games of their National Basketball Association semifinal series.

"We went up there trying to get one game, and we did it," said Johnson, the Sonics' rugged second-year guard.

"I don't want to say we have the advantage, but we're tough at home," Johnson said. "The fans get behind us. I believe in our home-court advantage."

The Sonics rode the fourth period shooting of Fred Brown and the defensive tactics of Johnson and 7-foot-1 Marvin Webster enroute to a 121-111 victory over the Nuggets in Denver Sunday that squared the best-of-seven Western Conference championship series at 1-1.

Game 3 is set for tonight before a Coliseum sellout crowd of 14,098. Game 4 is scheduled for Friday in Seattle.

Up to the end of the 1977 season, a total of 48 players had rushed for 3,000 career yards in major college football.

Penn State's home field, Beaver Stadium, will seat 76,017 fans for the 1978 football season, an increase of 15,000 over 1977.

POLLY'S POINTERS Polly Cramer

Pillowcases come clean

By Polly Cramer

POLLY'S PROBLEM DEAR POLLY - My husband perspires so much at night that one of each pair of my pillowcases is so stained that I am ashamed for anyone at the laundromat to see them. I have used all kinds of soap powders, bleach, etc. but they will not come clean. Please, someone give me a solution. - MRS. L.J.M. DEAR MRS. L.J.M. - Try dampening these stains with bar soap and then pre-soak in an enzyme detergent. Launder in hot water with a chlorine bleach if safe for the fabric. To restore color apply white vinegar to stains and rinse. - POLLY

DEAR POLLY - My Pet Peeve is with the manufacturers of women's slacks who make so many of them with front openings. Have they forgotten us chubby middle-aged women who do not need to accentuate the front anymore than it already is? - MRS. L.J. DEAR POLLY - I cut the tops off of men's worn-out colored socks and use them as colorful flower pot covers for worn clay pots. Small to medium size pots can be covered and the tops stretched to fit. When soiled wash them and put back on again. - C.R. DEAR POLLY - A teapot makes an ideal gravy server. It is easy to pour and the gravy stays hot longer than in an open gravy boat. If you do not have a cake cooler rack use the grate from a gas stove burner. If you use a pastry brush a lot splurge on a good quality man's shaving brush. It remains soft and pliable. One-half teaspoon of whole peppers in the pepper shaker not only keeps the pepper pouring but makes everything smell peppery. Recycle those large glass jars with screw-on lids. They can be used as see-through canisters for cereals, instant potatoes, rice, etc. and foods will stay fresh longer than when left in the opened boxes they came in. If you do not have a turkey platter that is large enough improvise with a folding TV table. Put newspapers on the tray to protect it from cuts and then cover them with aluminum foil. - VIVIAN DEAR POLLY - While I was waiting for a public telephone the person who was using it coughed and smoked so much that I became concerned about all the germs that went into the mouthpiece. So now I carry a small bottle of alcohol and some tissues and wipe it off before using the phone. - KATHLEEN

HEALTH Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

A few facts on fasts

DEAR DR. LAMB - Periodically I fast to lose weight - for instance from supper time to the same time the next night and sometimes a bit longer but never more than two days. Recently I watched a weekly story about a Hollywood actor who weighed over 240 pounds. He fasted to the extent that he died young. Something about heart strain. Am I doing a good thing or shall I check my insurance policy? I am 5-feet-10 and weigh 240 - down from 260 - and feel fine except for occasional center chest ache and a pain in the left side which my doctor isn't concerned about. DEAR READER - I prefer for people to learn to eat right and the overweight problem will take care of itself on a permanent basis. I am sending you The Health Letter number 4-7, Weight Losing Diet, to help you. If you follow that plan you can lose weight and learn what you should eat to stay slim. A single day's fast is not likely to harm healthy people. You will lose water and salt but it will be replenished the next day. If you fast very long though you could lose potassium with the water and salt. That is one problem that has surfaced with the high protein diets that have been implicated in a number of recent heart deaths. The day you fast you lost both protein and fat. You want to lose just fat. There is no record of anyone who was healthy to begin with ever dying from fasting one day. And I might add that fasting routines have worked rather well under medical supervision but it is definitely not a do-it-yourself project. You have a long way to go at your weight and you will need to exercise a lot of will power, learn to eat right and increase your daily exercise within your level of tolerance. Don't try to lose more than two pounds a week; one pound a week is better and safer. DEAR DR. LAMB - If a woman has had a complete hysterectomy with removal of uterus and ovaries and everything is O.K. is it necessary that she have a Pap test each year? I've been told that there's no need by other women who've had the same but my doctor continues to do one each year - and they are all negative. DEAR READER - The Pap test is commonly used to detect abnormal cells - mostly from the cervix of the uterus - and identify cancer of the cervix early enough to treat it. The chances of finding cancer of the lining of the body of the uterus (endometrium) are not so good, unless by Pap test you mean to wash calls out of the uterus as part of the test. Without either a uterus or a cervix-uterus the main

Corporate Execs Asked To Restrain

NEW YORK (AP) - The White House "voluntary" wage and price restraint program, aimed at controlling inflation by persuading business and labor to do their part, has come up with some interesting ideas lately on who should be taking the wage bite. Barry Bosworth, who as director of the Council on Wage and Price Stability is the president's chief anti-inflation jawboner, has suggested, for instance, that top corporate officers should be asked to make sacrifices along with unions. If they followed the suggested guideline of holding to a 5 percent increase in compensation this year, that would mean that Henry Ford II, chairman of Ford Motor Co., would have to toe the line at just $1,041,600 in 1978. Steven J. Ross, the chairman of Warner Communications, would be limited to $1,039,500 if his salary and bonus increases were limited to just 5 percent of this year's compensation. And Harold S. Geneen, chairman of International Telephone & Telegraph Corp. would have to squeeze by on $1,035,300. While Bosworth promised to seek wage restraint from corporate executives and such professionals as doctors and dentists, where fees have been going up about 9 percent a year, he made it clear that the real success or failure of the administration's voluntary anti-inflation plan would depend on labor unions that represent millions of workers. Among the most crucial, he said, would be the "high visibility" unions representing truckers, steel and auto workers and railroad employees. They would have to cut back on the 9 percent to 10 percent annual increases that have been in some contracts in recent years, he said. In other business developments this past week: -The unemployment rate dropped to 6 percent in April for the first time in 3 1/2 years, the government reported. The number of people who had jobs rose by 535,000, bringing the workforce to 93.8 million. But the government said about one quarter of the increase represented striking coal miners returning to work. -Food prices continued to climb at a sharp pace at the wholesale level, and that is likely to mean increases at the grocery store within a fairly short time. ENDS THURSDAY

Secret Ballots Illegal

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) - The use of a secret ballot at a public meeting is against the law, Attorney General John Hill said Tuesday. The question was raised by Sen. Chet Brooks, D-Pasadena. Hill said Brooks had indicated that school trustees had met recently in an open session and elected one of its officers by secret ballot. Hill did not say who the trustees were. He said at least four states have "reached the conclusion that a secret ballot violated a statute requiring open meetings of governmental bodies." "The Texas Open Meetings Act is designed to insure that decisions of public bodies are reached openly and that the public can observe the actions of their representatives," Hill said in an official opinion. "The secret ballot, when used to protect citizens when choosing their representatives, is a hallmark of the democratic system of government; but, when it is used to conceal a public official's vote, it violates the fundamental tenet of an elected or appointed official's ultimate accountability to the electorate," Hill said. "We believe, he added, "it is the antithesis of the requirements of the Texas Open Meetings Act. Thus, it is our opinion that Open Meetings Act prohibits the use of secret ballots in meetings of governmental bodies."

Today In History

By The Associated Press Today is Wednesday, May 10, the 130th day of 1978. There are 235 days left in the year. Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1871, the Treaty of Frankfurt ended the Franco-Prussian War, and Alsace-Lorraine was ceded to Germany. On this date: In 1469, Italian navigator Amerigo Vespucci sailed on his first voyage to the New World. In 1775, the Second Continental Congress met in Philadelphia. In 1865, during the Civil War, Union forces captured Confederate President Jefferson Davis at Irwinville, Ga. In 1869, a gold spike was driven at Ogden, Utah, marking the completion of the first transcontinental railroad. In 1940, during World War II, German forces invaded Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg. In 1941, Nazi official Rudolf Hess landed by parachute in Scotland in a private effort to make peace in World War II. Ten years ago: U.S. and North Vietnamese negotiators met in Paris to set procedures for peace negotiations and agreed to begin the talks three days later. Five years ago: Former Attorney General John Mitchell and former Commerce Secretary Maurice Stans were indicted in New York on federal charges growing out of a secret $200,000 contribution to President Richard Nixon's 1972 campaign. One year ago: President Carter, addressing America's North Atlantic Alliance partners in London, urged them to respond forcefully to a large Soviet military buildup in Europe.

Sugar Ray Proclaimed Top Boxer By Writers

By JOHN NELSON
AP Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) - Sugar Ray Robinson, now 58 years old, remembers the moment that a possible third world championship slipped through his gloves. Or, perhaps better stated, he remembers what he does not remember.

It was June 25, 1952, a sweltering New York summer evening, and Robinson, with welterweight and middleweight titles already to his credit, had battered light heavyweight champion Joey Maxim through 13 rounds at Yankee Stadium.

It was 110 degrees under the lights. The first casualty was referee Ruby Goldstein, who left the ring with heat prostration in the 10th round.

"I felt I was ahead in the fight, I felt I was leading on the judges' cards," said Robinson. Most observers would bear him out.

"But I started feeling heat prostration in the ninth round and at end of the 10th," said Robinson. "because I don't even remember when they carried Ruby Goldstein out of the ring."

When Robinson was unable to continue in the 14th round, Maxim, bedraggled and exhausted himself, held onto his title. Robinson had failed in his bid for that mythical triple, but in the minds of many, he was still the best boxer, pound for pound, that had ever lived.

On Tuesday, that old title was reaffirmed when the Boxing Writers of America announced that their membership had voted Robinson the greatest fighter of all time.

The vote, held in conjunction with Home Box Office network's "Boxing's Greatest Champions" series, had Robinson a 4-1 winner over Muhammad Ali. Louis was third. The exact tabulation was not revealed.

"I was blessed by God above with the talent that has allowed me to be considered for this honor," Robinson said in a telephone hookup from his Los Angeles home to the New York offices of HBO, where a special screening of the final episode of the six-part series was held for newsmen.

It is one of the greatest boosts from you fellas," said Robinson, who now works with school children through the LA parks and recreation department.

Borg's Power Too Much For Stockton

By GREG THOMPSON
AP Sports Writer

DALLAS (AP) - If Dick Stockton had been forced to face any more of Bjorn Borg's blistering shots Tuesday night, he says he might have walked on the court with a baseball catcher's mask and mitt instead of a tennis racket.

Borg, seeking his second World Champion of Tennis title, diffused Stockton's powerful serve-and-volley game with an array of rumbly winners from the baseline Tuesday night for an easy 4-6, 6-2, 6-1, 6-0 quarter-final victory.

"I felt like he (Borg) was hitting harder and harder as the match went on. If it had gone four of seven sets, I might have had to get my catcher's gear," quipped Stockton. "I was being pushed back to the fence."

"There's no way to prepare for a guy like this. What do you tell your practice partner? Play like Bjorn?" he added.

The 21-year-old Swede dropped the first set, but totally dominated Stockton the remainder of the match. He broke eight of Stockton's last nine serves and reeled off 12 consecutive victories to end the match.

"He got tired and I got stronger and stronger," said Borg. "I hit the ball deeper and with more confidence. I think the turning point of the match came when I broke Dickie early in the second set. From there on, my concentration was very good."

Borg won the WCT crown in 1976 after two straight years as runner-up. He didn't return last year to defend his championship, becoming embroiled in a bitter contract dispute with the WCT after choosing to play Grand Prix events.

WCT retaliated by filing an $11.4 million lawsuit, saying Borg's agents had verbally committed him to the WCT tour. The matter was quietly resolved out of court a few months later as the WCT and the Grand Prix reached a compromise agreement.

The hometown favorite Stockton, who lives in nearby Carrollton, overpowered Borg in the first set Tuesday night.

Balloting also was held in individual weight classes. The winners in their divisions were:

- Heavyweight - Joe Louis, Muhammad Ali, Rocky Marciano.
- Light heavyweight - Archie Moore, Billy Conn, Bob Fitzsimmons.

Middleweight - Robinson, Carlos Monzon, Mickey Walker.

Welterweight - Robinson, Henry Armstrong, Barney Ross.

Lightweight - Roberto Duran, Benny Leonard, Henry Armstrong.

winning 20 of the 24 points he served and breaking Borg in the 10th game.

But Borg jumped on the mistaken-ridden Stockton in the second set, breaking his serve in the fifth game after Stockton hit one shot long and fluttered a volley into the net.

With Borg leading 4-2, Stockton committed three consecutive errors. At 15-40, Borg hit a flaming forehand winner to break Stockton's serve for the second straight time. Borg then easily won the final game to take the set 6-2.

From there, the floundering Stockton managed to capture only the first game of the third set.

"No matter how well I hit, he was always there to pass. I never knew where the ball was going. I guessed 'right maybe once or twice," said Stockton, who finished ninth in the WCT point standings, but slipped into the elite eight-man field when defending champion Jimmy Connors refused to return.

Borg advances to Friday night's semifinals against the winner of tonight's match between Raul Ramirez of Mexico and Vitas Gerulaitis of the United States.

He is trying to become only the second player ever to win two WCT titles. Ken Rosewall won the WCT's first two championships in 1971 and 1972.

"I think he (Borg) has a big advantage to play the first night," Stockton said. "He has 72 hours rest. Then he plays Friday and if he wins, he's got until Sunday. Scheduling is important here."

Trevino Early Colonial Choice

By BOB GREEN
AP Golf Writer

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) - A variety of factors combine to make Lee Trevino a strong candidate for the title this week in the $200,000 Colonial National Invitation Golf Tournament.

"I played good enough to win in Dallas. Maybe this week," said Trevino, whose pounding, last-round challenge to Tom Watson fell short by a single stroke last weekend in the Byron Nelson Classic.

That performance made obvious the fact that Trevino is playing "extremely well." He led at one point in the Masters, was second in the Tournament of Champions, led one round at New Orleans, then had another runner-up finish.

"And we're getting into the part of the schedule I like," said Trevino, whose only Texas triumph came in this tournament two years ago. "We're playing a lot of good, hard courses where you don't have to shoot 700 under par to win."

"We're getting into the hot weather, too. And that helps. I'm a hot-weather player. It can't get too hot for me. I just can't handle that cold."

That, at least, should not be a problem on the 7,190-yard, par-70 Colonial Country Club course. This event, which draws an invitational field of only 102, often is subjected to some of the hottest weather on the tour.

And the course is to Trevino's liking, too. It's one of the most difficult the touring pros encounter all year. Over-par figures have been good enough to win. And it's even tougher this year.

The green on the par-3 13th has been redesigned and now is on two levels. "If you get the ball on the wrong level," said tournament chairman Bill Speer, "it's going to be almost impossible to two-putt."

Only two men who have won 1978 tour titles - Jack Nicklaus and Miller Barber - are missing from the field that begins the 72-hole chase Thursday.

The leading contenders for $40,000 first prize are South African Gary Player, who reeled off a string of three consecutive victories; U.S. Open champ Hubert Green, winner of two titles this year, and 1977 Player of the Year Tom Watson, who collected his third victory of the year last week, became a golfing millionaire and moved into this year's leading money-winning spot.

Other 1978 winners include Jay Haas, Lon Hinkle, Barry Jaeckel, Mac McLendon, Gil Morgan, Tom Weiskopf and Bill Rogers. Also on hand are defending title-holder Ben Crenshaw, Ray Floyd, Jerry Pate and Mark Hayes.
