Ryan White puts a tilt in the cap of Patricia Grimsley as the two seniors, among 244 who will graduate Tuesday night, prepare for the most important event of their high school careers.

Baccalaureate services will begin at 8 p.m. Sunday at Whiteface Stadium, with graduation exercises scheduled for Tuesday at the same time and place. (Brand photo by Paul Sims)

That feller on Tierra Blanca Creek says give a woman an inch and right away the whole family is on a diet.

The Sunday School teacher was describing how Lot's wife looked back and was turned into a pillar of salt. Little Johnny, much interested, said, "My mother looked back once while she was driving and turned into a telephone pole!"

STATISTICS TELL US that a child born today can expect to live 72.8 years, an increase of 2.1 years over just eight years ago. Only two people out of each 1000 can expect to hit the century mark.

If you want to figure more closely on just how long YOU are going to live, a lady from Temple University named Dr. Diana S. Woodruff has devised a little fun test so you can decide your own life expectancy, provided you answer all the questions honestly.

To begin with, find your life expectancy according to the chart printed on page 2 of this issue. To the number opposite your age, add your present age. Using this as a starting figure, add or subtract years in response to the following factors:

1. If your mother or father has lived past 70, add one year for every five-year period per individual.

2. If a parent, grandparent, brother or sister died of a heart attack, angina or stroke before the age of 50, subtract four years; before 60, subtract two years.

3. If you or one of the parents or grandparents has had diabetes, thyroid disorders, breast cancer (if you're a woman), cancer of the digestive system, or a strong allergic tendency (asthma, chronic bronchitis, emphysema), subtract three years for each incidence.

4. Subtract one year for each 10 pounds you are overweight.

5. Add two years if you are a light to moderate drinker (no more than two drinks per day). Heavy drinkers, subtract eight years. Teetotalers, subtract one year.

6. If you smoke two or more packs of cigarettes per day, subtract eight years. One to two packs, subtract four years.

244 To Graduate

HHS Seniors Enter Final School Days

Hereford High School seniors, 244 of them, are entering the final few days of secondary education.

Baccalaureate services for the senior class are scheduled for 8 p.m. Monday in Whiteface Stadium, with graduation ceremonies to take place at 8 p.m. Tuesday on the football field. Rain or the threat of rain, which was the case last year, will cause the exercises to be moved into the La Plata Junior High gymnasium.

Seniors, those who were not exempt, began taking final examinations today, with tests to resume Monday. First, second and third period exams were on today's agenda.

Seniors have been asked to arrive at the stadium at 7:15 p.m. Sunday in order to line up for the 8 o'clock procession.

The Rev. William McReynolds of the First United Methodist Church will offer the invocation, to be followed by a short performance from the high school mixed choir.

The Rev. Mack McCarter of First Christian Church will provide the baccalaureate sermon.

Seniors will practice graduation exercises at 2:40 p.m. Monday at the stadium.

During actual graduation ceremonies, the high school symphonic and concert bands will open the actual graduation ceremonies Tuesday with the National Anthem, which will be followed by the procession.

Class president Patti Hendon will offer the invocation, then the HHS bands will play "God of Our Fathers."

The salutatory address will be given by Vivian Martin and the valedictory speech by Cindy Ford.

Dana Hutchins then will present the Senior Class gift, a sculpture by Andrew Wilks.

Misses Ford and Martin and an honor student to be selected by the HHS faculty will receive special awards, and all students having a 5.0 grade average or higher will be recognized.

Superintendent Harrell Holder will present the Senior Class to those in attendance. James Gentry, president of the Hereford Independent School District board of trustees, then will award diplomas to the graduates.

Last on the agenda are the singing of the class song, "My Way," by Brenda Robison, the school song and the recessional, respectively.

Wilma Braddy, senior counselor, called the graduates "a very good class. I think we've had better participation and attitudes than we've had in a long, long time."

Fluoride Proven To Not Cause Cancer

Hereford Water Not Dangerous

By PAUL SIMS
Managing Editor

With all the warnings about substances which cause cancer, City Manager Dudley Bayne says it's refreshing to hear that the fluoride in Hereford water is not dangerous.

A federal study, the results of which were published in Thursday's issue of the New England Journal of Medicine, concluded that people who drink water treated with fluoride are just as healthy as those who shun the cavity-fighting chemical.

"There is no evidence that fluoride does any harm," said Dr. J. David Erickson, who conducted the study at the Center for Disease Control in Atlanta.

The federal study was undertaken to investigate reports that link fluoridation with cancer.

Fluoride, which is added artificially to the drinking water of many cities and naturally to other water supplies, including Hereford's, has been shown to reduce tooth cavities in children by 65

Postal Governors Consider Increase

WASHINGTON (AP) - The cost of mailing a letter is expected to rise from 13 cents to 15 cents in several weeks, but it's possible the rate eventually could go back to 13 cents for individuals.

The Postal Service board of governors, meeting today, was expected to approve the 15-cent rate recommended last week by the Postal Rate Commission for first-class mail. The governors also were setting a date for the rate hike, expected to be about the end of the month.

But the board also was expected to protest the rate commission's action last week and ask it to reconsider the increase.

Such a reconsideration might take many months, but could result in a 13-cent rate for individuals and a 16-cent rate for businesses. That is the setup the Postal Service and President Carter requested last summer, but which the rate commission rejected.

A cut for individuals would be only the second rollback in first-class rates. The first was after World War I, when a wartime increase from 2 cents to 3 cents was repealed.

Three of the six postal governors said Thursday night they favored the 15-cent rate, but only under protest.

The rate commission, an independent agency, last week rejected the "citizens' rate" for individuals by a 3-1 vote. However, chairman Clyde DuPont said the panel might have approved it if there had been more time to study the proposal.

The rate commission's action left the governors little choice under the law but to approve the 15-cent fee for all mailers.

The governors legally could reject the commission's work, but that would leave rates where they are now, and the deficit-plagued Postal Service says it needs the added revenue.

The governors' third option is to approve the recommendation under protest. Board member Hayes Robertson said Thursday, "We have three alternatives, two of which we cannot accept."

Board chairman M.A. Wright said of the rate commission's dismissal of the 13-cent citizens' rate: "I'm pretty concerned about this. This is something we gave a good deal of thought to before we proposed it."

Wright, Robertson and board member Hung Wai Ching also oppose the rate commission's recommendation to raise parcel rates beyond those suggested by the Postal Service.

The rate commission recommended raising parcel rates by 37 percent. The three board members said this would cause the Postal Service to lose additional business to United Parcel Service, a private company that now does more package business than the Postal Service.

"If we adopt this the commission recommendation on parcel rates, we'll be faced with some real changes in the way we operate," Wright said.

Senior Assistant Postmaster General Francis X. Biglin agreed. "With these increases in parcel rates, it is obvious that parcel shippers will be considering other kinds of service than what we are providing," he said.

Fem Ag Students Gain in Numbers

FORT COLLINS, Colo. (AP) - Women have increased their numbers at the nation's agriculture schools by more than 3,600 percent over the last eight years.

The phenomenon follows a trend toward larger agriculture school enrollments, which school officials attribute to a swelling interest in "getting back to the land."

For women, specifically, job opportunities are better, in part because of federal equal-opportunity programs affecting large agri-businesses.

But career prospects are not the only reason women are turning to agriculture colleges. Many say they are there for the same reason that has always attracted men: an intangible feeling that success in farming provides the best life.

Diane Fraser, 34, is one of the new wave. With a master's degree in sociology, she needed only to write her dissertation when she abandoned her doctoral studies and enrolled at the College of Agriculture at the University of Minnesota.

She said she had wanted to be a farmer "ever since I was a kid."

The National Association of Land Grant Colleges, whose 72 members comprise the bulk of the nation's farming schools, reports its schools had only 854 female agriculture majors in 1970.

By 1975, the figure was 23,654. This year, 30,989 women are working for agriculture degrees at the 72 schools - a (See A.G., Page 2)

Homebuilders To Cooperate In Holding Down Housing Costs

NEW YORK (AP) - The nation's homebuilders have promised to cooperate with government efforts to hold down prices, but their brethren in the real estate business suggest that government itself is the problem.

Meeting in Washington, the National Association of Home Builders said it would seek to limit price increases to a 6 percent annual rate over the next six months, compared with recent 10 percent rises.

The National Association of Realtors, however, quotes "national experts" who claim that prices themselves - not just increase - could be cut as much as 20 percent by eliminating over-regulation.

The over-regulation, it is claimed, exists at local, state and federal levels, adding as much as $9,000 to the price of a new single-family house. Needless laws are on the books, it says, and more may be coming.

In a self-described "think piece" circulated at almost the same time as the homebuilders' promise, the Realtors quote Professor George Sternlieb of Rutgers University as the source for the $9,000 figure.

Sternlieb, they say, lists these regulations as sometimes exceeding minimum health, safety and welfare considerations:

- Restrictive zoning, in which communities set aside a certain amount of land for new housing and then specify minimum lot sizes.

- No growth, instituted by some communities to prevent what they term dense housing situations.

- Building codes that specify unreasonably high minimum standards for materials used in erecting houses.

- Minimum building-size requirements, in which a community sets a minimum in house size that exceeds the standard set by the Department of Housing and Urban Development.

- Subdivision requirements where, for example, a community might prohibit the burning of vegetation to clear land. This would mean bulldozing and hauling, far (See HOMES, Page 2)

Pioneer Woman Dies; Services To Be Monday

Lula Clegg Thomas who came to Deaf Smith County in a covered wagon in 1902, died yesterday afternoon at the age of 101.

Services will be at 2 p.m. Monday in Rose Chapel of Gilliland-Watson Funeral Home with the Rev. William McReynolds, pastor of First United Methodist Church, officiating. Assisting him will be Don Heddings of Faith Assembly of God.

Interment will be in West Park Cemetery.

Born Jan. 4, 1877 in Dexter, Lula Clegg married A.L. Thomas in 1899 at Dexter. With their two children, they left Cooke County in 1902 in covered wagons bound for the Panhandle.

The Thomases settled 20 miles north of Hereford, living in a half dugout for a number of years. A.L. "Uncle Andy" Thomas was a rancher and cattleman.

The Thomas family moved to House, N.M. in 1918 and returned to Hereford seven years later. Thomas, who was Justice of the Peace in Deaf Smith County for 14 years, died Sept. 14, 1963 in Lubbock.

Mrs. Thomas was a Methodist and was residing with her daughter Bertha Kemper in Bluewater Garden Apartments at the time of her death.

Survivors include three sons, Clyde of Dalhart, Paul of Phoenix, Ariz., and Marvin of Austin; two daughters, Bertha Kemper and Viola Griswold, both of Hereford; 30 grandchildren, 81 great-grandchildren and 40 great-great-grandchildren.

Committee Members Push Insurance Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) - Congress is not expected to begin a lengthy debate over national health insurance until next year, but four senior members of the Senate Finance Committee have advanced their proposal for helping Americans meet the costs of catastrophic illnesses.

The present state-federal Medicaid plan would be replaced under the legislation by a new system of benefits that would cover virtually all the medical expenses of families below the poverty line, regardless of whether they are receiving welfare payments.

For those above the poverty line, major medical expenses over $2,000 a year and hospital costs after the first 60 days would be paid by the government. Employers would be taxed a penny for every $2 they pay their workers to cover the program's expenses.

Employers would have the option of deciding whether the employees would be covered by the government's plan or a private insurance package.

Costs were not yet estimated for the measure introduced Thursday by the committee chairman, Sen. Russell Long, D-La., and Sens. Herman Talmadge, D-Ga.; Abraham Ribicoff, D-Conn.; and Bob Dole, R-Kan.

The expense and how to meet it are expected to be the major issues of the debate, which will begin after President Carter submit his proposals, expected to more closely reflect the ideas of Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., health subcommittee chairman on the Human Resources Committee.

Soviet Dissidents Sentenced to Labor

MOSCOW (AP) - Two more Soviet dissidents drew stiff sentences today, family sources said, one day after the sentencing of Yuri Orlov.

Zviad Gamsakhurdia and Merab Kostava were sentenced to three years in a labor camp followed by two years internal exile on a charge of "anti-soviet agitation and propaganda."

Orlov was sentenced on the same charge Thursday and received the maximum sentence of seven years in a labor camp plus five years' internal exile, or banishment from Moscow.

The Soviet news agency Tass said Gamsakhurdia and Kostava pleaded guilty to the charge, which Orlov did and that Gamsakhurdia said he repented.

Orlov helped set up a civil rights group in Moscow that expensed Soviet violations of the 1975 Helsinki accords. Gamsakhurdia and Kostava founded the Soviet Georgian branch of the group and were tried there.

Ordered Term Papers May Be Outlawed

WASHINGTON (AP) - The federal government wants to kill the mail-order term paper business that lets college students meet course requirements with their pocketbooks instead of their brains.

Ghost-written term papers have been around for years and many fraternity houses for decades have had file cabinets of old term papers.

But what is causing the government concern is the trend toward nationwide corporate operations selling research papers for profit. Postal authorities say at least six companies now are peddling term papers nationally through ads in campus newspapers and elsewhere.

The companies have research staffs compiling papers on hundreds of subjects and offer catalogs of papers available at about $3 per page. For a higher fee, the companies will write an original paper on a subject chosen by the student.

In what a government attorney said is a test case, postal authorities announced Thursday they have filed a complaint against the Academic Research Group, Inc., of Rutherford, N.J.

San Antonio Council Threatens Collectors

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) - The City Council has threatened legal action unless San Antonio's 300 striking garbage collectors return to their jobs.

The workers, many of them members of the quasi-union San Antonio Refuse Collectors Association, were to vote this morning on whether to man their pickup routes today.

The collectors are demanding higher pay, improved working conditions and increased manpower on expanded routes in growing areas of the city.

The Council, in a statement Thursday, said it will consider "the necessary legal action" to end the wildcat walkout if the workers didn't show up today.

Councilman Rudy Ortiz told reporters he understood the first step of legal action would be a temporary restraining order to force the garbage collectors back to work.

The Council statement called the walkout "an illegal organized work stoppage."

Eddie Leija, a leader of the San Antonio Refuse Collectors Association, said he would make recommendations to the workers and that he hoped for a "favorable result."

The wildcat walkout began Tuesday when garbage collectors walked out briefly at a service center on the city's northside. The strike went citywide on Wednesday, closing all three service centers.

He's 104 and Sacks Groceries

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN
Associated Press Writer

CHICAGO (AP) - All the customers at a North Side supermarket know 104-year-old "Papa George" Zervas.

He's the man who helps carry out their sacks of groceries, stacks loose shopping carts, sells flowers and keeps an eye out for shoplifters.

"Hi, Papa George. How are you today?" they say.

"Fine, thank you. If you need any help, just call me," he says.

"Papa George" celebrated his 104th birthday a couple of weeks ago.

"I had a date with my girl, Beulah," he said with a twinkle in his pale, blue eyes.

"But I didn't have time for a cake. Had to get to work."

Beulah is his wife, and Zervas said they've been married about 70 years. How old is she? "I'll say she's 75 - I don't dare make her any older than that," he said with a chuckle.

Zervas walks more than two miles to and from the store where he has become a fixture over the years.

"Seems like 'Papa George' has always been around. We consider him a valuable man a good worker," said William Allen, a vice president of the food chain.

"I've known him since 1955. He can come and go as he pleases. But he's always here in the morning until late afternoon."

Zervas, a small but ruggedly built man with a fine crop of silvery hair, is known throughout the Greek community. He visits his native country about once every two years.

For years he had a small hotdog and coffee stand near Lake Michigan. And one day the city cited him for a rescue.

"An old man was in the lake and yelling for help, and I went out and brought him to shore," said Zervas, who calls anyone in his 60s an "old man" or "old woman," except his wife, who remains "that girl."

Zervas says he never has had a sick day in his life and never has taken any medicine.

"I've never seen a doctor. Don't think much of them," he said. "I don't smoke or drink, and I eat everything. Ham and eggs are my favorites."

"I told them if they would give us information at how they arrived at their standard, I would tell them how we arrived at ours and how our water is actually beneficial. They never answered, and I'm not going to do anything until they can come back with some type of proof or an injunction."

Concerning Thursday's release of the federal study, Bayne said, "It's good to know someone else thinks we have good water."

Hereford dentist H.A. Cavness said that fluoride could cause mottling in some people's teeth "but the water here is good for the teeth—I am extremely happy my two kids were brought up here because they had each had fewer cavities than my wife and I. We were raised out of town."

Cavness said that local doctors who did a study on Hereford's fluoride several years ago found "it is also good for the bones—when you've got good teeth, you've got good bones."

An estimate of $500,000 was provided a year ago by an Odessa chemist on what it would cost to reduce the fluoride content of Hereford water.

"We would have to buy filtering equipment and chemicals and put units in each of our three water systems," Bayne said. "It's just too expensive."

more expensive than burning of brush.

Bernard Siegan of the University of San Diego Law School is quoted as saying that Houston, which has no zoning laws, demonstrates that market competition can work better than government regulation.

William Shenkel, professor of Real Estate at the University of Georgia, is said to believe the regulation posing the greatest threat is exclusionary, restrictive zoning.

Environmental considerations that demand a park for every block might be nice, but they ignore the greater considerations of employment and housing. Arthur Wright of Texas A&M is quoted as saying.

In short, the Realtors insist that government itself - not just the federal government, but state and municipal units, too - can make the biggest contribution of all to cutting costs.

Ag Women

3,628 percent increase.

These figures are reflected at two of the largest land grant schools of agriculture, at the University of Wisconsin and the University of Minnesota.

At Wisconsin's College of Agriculture and Life Sciences in Madison, the number of women has quadrupled since 1972, said Richard Daluge, assistant dean and placement director.

At Minnesota's St. Paul campus, the number of women in agriculture majors went from 128 to 1971, 11 percent of total enrollment, to 612 this year, 33 percent of total enrollment.

Here at Colorado State University, the figure jumped from 94 in 1970 to 546 by 1975 - an increase of about 750 percent. Today, more than half of the first-year agriculture students are women.

At Colorado State's College of Agriculture, two courses have been added to the curriculum because of the enrollment shift toward women, both "designed to give women the chance to catch up with a male counterpart who may have come from a farm background and just know a backlog of things from osmosis," said Dr. Jack Law, an associated professor of agriculture who helped develop the courses.

One teaches basic skills in construction, electricity, power mechanics and welding.

The second is a sort of image-and confidence-building workshop, where students meet women who have succeeded in agriculture. Several Colorado State women said they transferred into agriculture from other majors after taking that course.

"When we were finished, we all felt 'Well, no, I don't have to be a secretary; I can go out and plant trees if I want to,'" said Jana McMahon, a 21-year-old Ridgewood, N.J., horticulture major who once studied journalism.

Myra Hottinger, 22, a senior from Colorado Springs, transferred into landscape design after starting out as a botany major. "I wanted a more practical aspect of botany," she said.

With the number of women growing, Colorado State developed a course for its faculty on what Law described as "the subtle discrimination that goes on against women all the time."

Wisconsin's Daluge said career prospects are best in areas such as agricultural economics and agricultural engineering - fields that still do not attract many women.

These jobs involve making crop projections and planning the most effective use of technology in agriculture and may put women in air-conditioned offices as well as on farms.

Many of the job are under federally required affirmative-action plans, Daluge said. As Law put it, "It certainly doesn't hurt to have the government saying, 'You must hire women.'"

Policeman's Funeral Scheduled Today

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) - Police Chief Frank Dyson says he would like to know why the man charged with killing Patrolman Ralph Ablanedo was heavily armed with an AK-47 submachine gun, a hand grenade and a .45-caliber pistol.

Services for Ablanedo, 27, a policeman since 1972, were tentatively scheduled for today.

The slain officer is survived by his wife and sons Steve, 5, and David, 17 months.

David Lee Powell, 27, was charged with capital murder in the slaying.

Police said Ablanedo was cut down with the AK-47, manufactured in Communist bloc countries, after stopping a 1966 Mustang shortly early Thursday. The weapon was commonly used by Communist troops in the Vietnam War. Dyson told a news conference Powell heaved a hand grenade and fired another blast from the AK-47 at an officer who drove up to the suspect's car.

Libraries Increasing Services for Women

CHICAGO (AP) - A significant development in modern library services is the trend toward programming for women, says Margaret Myers, director of the Office for Library Personnel Resources of the American Library Association.

"For women busy raising a young family, or busy with a career, the library can be a valuable aid," she says. "Women today have all sorts of interests in and out of the homes that libraries must cater to."

These interests - from feminism to family - are the focus of many special collections, information and referral services, and innovative programs springing up in public and college libraries all over the country, she points out.

For instance, Denver women can leaf through "Women Awakening," an extensive bibliography of feminist classics, lifestyles and women's rights published by the public library. Assertiveness training is a popular women's workshop at the Oklahoma City library. And the Pierce County library in Tacoma, Wash., offers telephone information on abortion and birth control.

"The popularity of such library activities underscores the fact that, historically, information on women's issues has been hard to come by," Ms. Myers says. "But heightened interest today has encouraged the growth of national networks of women's information and referral services."

"Many news stories and articles today continue to report the man's point of view - and that's understandable, because male writers seldom have access to the women's perspective," the ALA spokeswoman adds. "But libraries are beginning to collect materials for, and especially by women."

One unusual service belongs to the Center for Women Policy Studies in Washington, D.C. Librarians here track down conference notes as well as unpublished government and social agency documents on a variety of women's issues and concerns - including domestic abuse, for instance, and female crime - for interested researchers.

For female jobseekers, the road to employment can be made easier by the Catalyst National Network of Local Resource Centers, which includes more than 150 libraries, re-

The Abundant Life

NOTHING FREE

BY BOB WEAR

NOTHING IS FREE. For everything that is described as being free, a price of some kind has been paid sometime, some place. It is tragic that so many present-day people seem to think that so many things are free. This extremely false viewpoint is producing problems of increasing perplexity.

THE THINGS WE NEED are not supposed to be free. Nothing is worse for us than not to earn what we get. For example: It has been divinely decreed that we earn our daily bread; not that it be given to us. If it is given to us, somebody has had to pay for it; it is not free. Someone has very well said, "There are no free lunches."

THE MOST CERTAIN WAY to demoralize a person, and make him unfit for living is to give to him what he should be earning. After a while, such a person is so gravely handicapped that he becomes helpless and hopeless. We are not helping people by giving and giving to them the things they need. In order to fulfill our purpose for being, we must work for what we need.

MAN MUST WORK. That is certain as the sun. But he may work grudgingly or he may work gratefully; he may work as a man, or he may work as a machine. There is no work so rude, that he may not exalt it; no work so impulsive, that he may not breathe a soul into it; no work so dull that he may not enliven it." -Giles.

THE WORLD OWES US NOTHING. It is regrettable that so many people have been led to believe that the world is indebted to them. This conclusion throws everything out of balance. Everybody suffers loss to whatever extent this unjustified viewpoint is accepted. Nowadays it seems that, one way or another, the free-loaders are going to take what they want from those who, by work and good management, have acquired the things they need. This is a great evil, whether done by lawlessness or by faulty governmental programs.

IT IS ONE THING to share what we have with someone in need, because we want to help; but to be forced to give to the shirkers is something else.

EVERYTHING WE HAVE been produced by labor, good management and wise planning. A great price has been paid to bring all of it into being. It is not free, and must not be disposed of as if it were free to be given away indiscriminately. When it is, both the recipient and the producer lose.

THE BURDEN INCREASES. All of the efforts to make food, goods, schooling, medical care, etc. free have become a monstrous burden for the people who are still working.

WHAT HAPPENS when the workers grow weary and no longer have the will to work?

DOES IT HURT?

You may pattern and control a child's actions, and to a great extent, his feelings and thoughts. But a child does need some choice in what he does and the opportunity to build his self-confidence.

Even if a kid is not the best and will not come in first, he should still be allowed to participate. And he needs your encouragement.

Johnny has been running for months, getting ready for the track meet. But what if Johnny's mom says, "Johnny may not run Saturday. I would be humiliated-he's just not an athlete."?

If Johnny wants to run, he should be allowed to do so. He should be encouraged to do his best and taught that "perfection" is not the goal in life. He should never be told, "Tom runs much faster than you-you'll never be the athlete he is."

Perhaps you, as an adult, think what we say and do to a kid doesn't penetrate, but, believe me, it does. It's the everyday remarks you make and the attitude you display that contribute to the self-image a child is building.

And, you know, "it shouldn't hurt to be a child!

YOU NEVER GRADUATE FROM THE SCHOOL OF FAITH

The completion of your education, whether high school or college, brings you literally to the threshold of life. You have now been given all the skills you will need to go out into the "real" world and face whatever problems and challenges will be thrown in your way. In the same manner, your religious education will prepare you to come to grips with life; only there is no "graduation" from this school. Faith must be continually studied, renewed and practiced, and your education never stops; but the rewards are the confidence and peace of mind which enable you to face any situation that may arise. This knowledge is available to you at the Church of your choice every Sunday.

"A wise man will hear, and will increase learning; and a man of understanding shall attain unto wise counsels."
—Proverbs 1:5

Knowledge is proud that he has learn'd so much; Wisdom is humble that he knows no more.

Rivers Responds; Texas Rips A's

By KEN RAPPOPORT
AP Sports Writer

Mickey Rivers went from the doghouse to the penthouse in one quick jump.

Rivers, whose feud with New York Yankee Manager Billy Martin made headlines last weekend and resulted in his consignment to the bench, made a more positive kind of headline Thursday night.

Thrust unexpectedly into the lineup when Roy White pulled up lame against the Cleveland Indians, Rivers responded with a tie-breaking triple and two runs scored.

His contribution resulted in a 5-3 victory for the Yankees and no doubt ingratiated him with Martin.

It was Rivers' first appearance in the lineup since last Sunday's 10-9 loss to the Kansas City Royals, a game which stirred up the controversy between Martin and Rivers. Martin was upset over what he considered Rivers' lack of hustle, although the outfielder claimed he was bothered by an injury.

In other American League action, the Texas Rangers beat the Oakland A's 6-4; the Minnesota Twins defeated the Kansas City Royals 8-6; the Milwaukee Brewers turned back the Detroit Tigers 8-7; the Baltimore Orioles outscored the Toronto Blue Jays 5-3 and the California Angels trimmed the Chicago White Sox 9-5.

Undefeated Ron Guidry won his fifth straight game with ninth-inning relief help from Rich Gossage, who posted his fifth save of the year. Guidry gave up six hits, including Andre Thornton's two-run homer in the fourth inning. It was the first homer off Guidry in 122 1-3 innings.

Rangers 6, A's 4
Juan Beniquez drove in four runs and had four hits as Texas beat Oakland. Texas catcher Jim Sandberg ran his consecutive game hitting streak to 17 with a fifth-inning single. The streak, longest in the American League this season, tied a club record.

Twins 8, Royals 6
Mike Cabbage, Butch Wynegar and Jose Morales knocked in two runs apiece to lead Minnesota over Kansas City. The Twins scored five runs in the third inning on a two-out rally keyed by a two-run single by Cabbage and Morales' two-run pinch double.

Brewers 8, Tigers 7
Sal Bando's eighth-inning sacrifice fly scored Paul Molitor as Milwaukee, after squandering a five-run lead, struck back and snapped Detroit's four-game winning streak.

Molitor led off the eighth with a bunt single and reached second on the play on a wild throw by third baseman Aurelio Rodriguez. After Cecil Cooper sacrificed Molitor to third, Bando lofted his fly to right, breaking a 7-7 tie.

Orioles 5, Blue Jays 3
Doug DeCinces drove in three runs with two homers and Pat Kelly smashed a two-run double to pace Baltimore over Toronto.

DeCinces, who has driven in all eight of his runs this season on homers, connected in the fourth following a walk to Eddie Murray to tie the score at 2-2. His solo blast in the eighth, hit fifth home run of the season, provided the Orioles with their final run.

Angels 9, White Sox 5
Don Baylor smashed a grand slam home run and right-hander Chris Knapp won his fifth game as California defeated Chicago.

Culpepper Moves Up On List

AMARILLO - Hereford's Jim Culpepper took over third place in the late-model standings by posting a victory and a pair of runner-up finishes in last Saturday's auto-racing action at Southwest Speedway.

Culpepper, runner-up in the 1977 season standings, won the trophy dash and finished second in the main event and second heat to move from fourth to third in the late-model standings with 280 points.

The Hereford driver trails pace-setting Neal DeBord of Amarillo by only 45 points and second-place John Foster and Wayne McCullar.

The Hereford drive trails pace-setting Neal DeBord of Amarillo by only 45 points and second-place John Foster of Odessa by 20 points.

Two other Hereford drivers, James Davis and Wayne McCullar, reside in eighth and ninth place, respectively, with 125 and 110 points. Davis finished sixth in the main event while McCullar placed third in the first heat.

Amarillo's Cameron Moore stretched his modified-stock lead to 70 points (262-192) over his nearest pursuer, Jimmy Bristow of Amarillo, while Borger's Mike Held claimed the street-stock lead with a 75-69 point edge over second-place James Dennis, also of Borger.

Auto-racing action at the asphalt track at N.E. 24th and Folsom Road will resume at 8 p.m. Saturday. Admission is $3 with children 11 and under admitted free when accompanied by an adult.

Golf Coach Sets Qualifying Rounds

Hereford High School golf coach Terry Russell has requested that all players who plan to try out for next year's junior high or high school teams meet him at the golf course at 4 p.m. Monday and again Tuesday.

"This is for everyone who wants to play golf next year," Russell said. "If someone can't make it they need to call me at 364-1969 and let me know."

The coach plans to hold a two-day tournament for all players who show up for the meetings. Players will be divided into junior high and high school divisions. "This will act as a qualifying round for next year if we have enough show up," Russell said. "Our numbers are limited each year, and we can't accept everybody so anyone who wants to play should show up for the tournament."

Players will have to pay $4 to play the two rounds the coach indicated. Trophies for the first three places in each division will be awarded.

Sox Rip Indians; Twins Slap Tigers

The Red Sox rolled past the Indians 10-0 and the Twins squeezed the Tigers 3-0 as boys' Pony League baseball action continued here Thursday night. The Sox upped their season mark to 2-0 with their big win as Alex Valdez limited the Indians to one hit before reliever Matt Collier wrapped up the game with a no-hit effort through the last three frames.

Don Delozier went 2-5 with three RBIs to lead the Sox batters in the game. The winners tallied one run in the first, two more in the second, another in the third and put it away with four tallies in the fourth.

Raymond Martinez's triple in each collected a pair of hits in the game for the winners, who scored once in the first frame and added two insurance runs in the sixth.

Sandies Attempt Comeback

LUBBOCK - The Amarillo High Sandies, who shocked the Monterey Plainsmen in the bi-district round last year, will have to do that twice over today if they hope to advance to the regional tournament. The Sandies dropped the first game of a best two-of-three bi-district series 16-11 to the Plainsmen in Amarillo last Tuesday.

Lowery Field will be the site of the attempted AHS comeback with the two teams squaring off for the first encounter at 2:30 p.m. The third game of the series, if necessary, will immediately follow.

Monterey is riding an 18-game win streak, and virtually decimated AHS Tuesday in the early going as they amassed a 13-0 lead after two innings. The Sandies managed to close the gap in the late going after MHS starter Ron Reeves left the contest.

MHS coach Bobby Moegle planned to start Derek Hatfield on the mound today, while AHS boss Gus Hrcinc was to counter with Charlie Guyer. Guyer forged a 3-1 record this season, while Hatfield went 11-3.

the third inning ruined Valdez's no-hit bid, but the Indians catcher failed to score as the second and third outs in the inning followed via a strikeout and an infield grounder.

In the other league game the Twins came off a loss to the Red Sox Tuesday to trim the Tigers, who had beaten the Indians Tuesday. Ken Cosper gained the win on the mound in a two-hit shutout effort through four innings. Frankie Garcia came in to preserve the win.

Fresh Touch Seen For Preakness

By ED SCHUYLER JR.
AP Sports Writer

BALTIMORE (AP) - "Working under my father was like going to Harvard," says Albert Barrera, a college dropout turned horse trainer who will take on dad Laz and favored Affirmed in Saturday's Preakness with an outsider named Track Reward.

The Preakness is considered to be another "shootout" between Affirmed and Alydar. But it has a fresh touch in that it will be the first stakes meeting between the two Barreras.

"I will invite my father into the winner's circle with me," said 24-year-old Albert with a broad smile before entering Track Reward Thursday for the 1 3-1 6-mile, $150,000-added Preakness at Pimlico.

But the Barrera most likely to do the inviting is 53-year-old Laz, a two-time trainer of the year who will be shooting for his 20th stakes victory of 1978 in the Preakness.

Affirmed, who has beaten Alydar in five of seven meetings including a 1 1/2-length victory in the Kentucky Derby, was made this early even-money favorite, with Alydar second at 7-5. The third choice, at 8-1, was Believe It, who was third in the Derby and is the only other Derby starter in the field.

Track Reward is in the longshot group, with Noon Time Spender, Indigo Star and Dax S. Albert Barrera started going with his father to the track when he was three and worked for him summers while in high school and during three years at the University of Miami, Fla.

He was majoring in languages with a minor in psychology at Miami, but the race track was thick in his blood.

"What I'm doing now I love," added Albert, who has been training on his own and has a stable of about 20 horses. "I wouldn't change it for anything. The foundation I have he (his father) gave me. That was the best college I could have had."

Track Reward, owned by Aisquith Stable and ridden by Bernie Gonzalez, did not race

last year and has won three of eight starts in 1978. Last Sunday, he finished fifth in the one-mile Withers at Aqueduct on a sloppy track which Albert said the colt didn't like.

Of course, none of the other Preakness contenders can touch Affirmed's credentials. The Harbor View Farm chestnut, ridden by Steve Cauthen, won seven of nine starts in 1977, finished second twice to Alydar, when he was voted the 2-year-old champion. This year, he is 5-for-5 and has won more money, $887,027, at this stage of his 3-year-old season than any thoroughbred in history. A victory Saturday would make him a millionaire.

If all seven go to the post under 126 pounds each at 5:40 p.m. EDT, the 103rd Preakness would be worth $188,700, with $136,200 to the winner. ABC will televise from 5 p.m. to 6 p.m.

Alydar's defeat in the Derby was his first in five starts this year. As a 2-year-old, the colt, owned by Calumet Farm and ridden by Jorge Velasquez, won five of 10 starts with four seconds.

Hickory Tree Stable's Believe It, ridden by Eddie Maple, has two victories, two seconds and a third this year. In 1977, he won four of nine starts, including a triumph over Alydar in the Remsen.

"They (the Bullets) came through a lot of adversity, too," said Silas. "It should be a good series. They have as much, or more rebounding strength. We possibly have a little more quickness."

Seattle Coach Lenny Wilkens, who took over last Nov. 30 when the Sonics were mired in the Pacific Division cellar, has downplayed the homecourt advantage in recent weeks. But he admits that having the edge against the Bullets "is super. The home fans are great. They get your adrenalin going."

"They give you the lift at the right time. You made a great play and the fans yell and it lifts a player up. I think pressure is what you bring upon yourself. We've won games on the road. We've proved that in the playoffs," added Wilkens.

Marvin Webster, the Sonics' 7-foot-1 center, who along with Silas came to Seattle from Denver in an offseason on trade, said: "I think it'll be a very physical ball game Sunday. But I think we can handle 'em."

No one wins an ice-skating race by a nose. The winner is the first contestant to get both skates across the finish line.

Silas Hungry For Third Ring

SEATTLE (AP) - Paul Silas, a 14-year National Basketball Association veteran, already has two championship rings in his collection.

But the Seattle SuperSonics' reserve forward says that beating the Washington Bullets for this season's title would be the highlight of his career.

"If we win the next series," said Silas, "it's going to be the biggest win of my career. We came this far. I don't see why we can't go all the way."

"I'm looking to win the championship ... because we can."

The Sonics, dismissed as even a playoff possibility after a 5-17 start this season, capped their long climb to the Western Conference championship with a rousing 123-108 victory Wednesday night over the Denver Nuggets.

The victory gave Seattle a 4-2 edge in the best-of-seven series with the Nuggets and propelled them into the NBA final against the Bullets, champions of the Eastern Conference.

Game 1 of the best-of-seven championship series will be played Sunday at the Coliseum, where the Sonics have won 20 straight games, including eight in the playoffs.

Johnstone Shines In Phillies Win

By JOHN NELSON
AP Sports Writer

Jay Johnstone sits on the Philadelphia bench most of the time and waits for something to happen.

Something did happen Thursday night: Johnstone started in left field against the Houston Astros in place of the slumping Greg Luzinski. Hitting only .154 going into the contest, Johnstone got four hits in four trips to the plate, drove in a run and scored twice.

Oddly enough, however, when the Phils finally beat Houston 8-5 in the ninth inning, there he was on the bench again.

With the game tied 5-5, Manager Danny Ozark lifted Johnstone for pinch hitter Jose Cardenal. Cardenal singled and wound up scoring in front of pinch hitter Jerry Martin's ninth-inning, three-run homer.

Luzinski has complained of problems with his contact lenses and did not have a hit in 10 trips as the Phils lost the first three games of the four-game set at Houston. Still, Ozark insists the Bull is not in his doghouse.

The Phils scored four runs in the first inning. Mike Schmidt doubled two runs home, Johnstone singled home Schmidt and Bob Boone singled home Johnstone. In the third, the Phils scored when Johnstone doubled and came home on Boone's single.

The Astros struck for three runs in the third, and Bob Watson singled home runs in the sixth and eighth innings to tie the game.

"You have to look at it this way," said Johnstone. "There's so much talent on this team, and so much experience, that my role is to play when I'm called on. We have a history of having some injuries, so I just have to wait my turn."

The eight runs that Philadelphia scored in the Astrodome Thursday quadrupled their production in the previous 27 innings against Houston. Reliever Gene Garber, 2-0, got the win in relief of Larry Christenson, and Astros reliever Joe Sambito, 2-1, was the loser.

In the only other NL games Thursday, Cincinnati nipped Montreal 3-2 and the New York Mets defeated Atlanta 8-7 in 10 innings.

Reds 3, Expos 2
George Foster singled home the winning run in the eighth inning after Ken Griffey had tied it with a two-run double. Fred Norman, 5-0, and Pedro Borbon, who tossed the last two innings, held Montreal to three hits.

Expos pitcher Steve Rogers, 4-4, had a four-hit shutout going into the eighth and wound up allowing seven hits. Ellie Valentine homered for Montreal in the second.

Mets 8, Braves 7

Steve Henderson, who had four hits, drove home Lenny Randle, who scored five times, with the winning run for the Mets in the 10th inning. Willie Montanez, who had four RBI, tied the game with an opposite-field double in the seventh.

Skip Lockwood, 2-3, got the victory in relief of Pat Zachry. The victory was the first this year for the Mets in extra innings at home.

LAWRENCE, Kan. (AP) - Oklahoma State's Lindy Miller scored a first place 5-under par 103 Thursday and two of his teammates placed second and third to lead OSU to a 26-stroke first-round lead in the Big Eight Golf Tournament at Lawrence.

Miller carded 35-37-31 for 27 holes and his teammates, Britt Harrison and Arfael Alarcon scored 105 and 108 respectively to give the Cowpokes their impressive lead.

Going into today's final round, Oklahoma State's nearest challenger is Colorado with 454. Nebraska with 462, and Oklahoma with 464 fill out the top four.

COLUMBIA, S.C. (AP) - Jack Cook, who guided Marshall University to the league championship, has been unanimously selected the 1978 Southern Conference baseball coach of the year.

Cook won the honor in voting by the league's head coaches sponsored by the Southern Conference Sports Media Association.

Marshall posted a 25-11 overall record this spring and will represent the Southern Conference in the NCAA Atlantic regional tournament this weekend in Miami, Fla. He guided the Thundering Herd to 11 consecutive league victories after an opening loss.

WEST LAFAYETTE, Ind. (AP) - Michigan's No. 3 singles player, Brad Holland was upset Thursday by seeded Greg Hodgman of Iowa 6-3, 6-4 in the first day's competition of the Big Ten conference tennis championships at Purdue.

All of Michigan's other singles and doubles players won their matches, as did Wisconsin's. In the first round of the three-day meet, the Badgers led with 31 points followed by Michigan with 27, Iowa 21, Minnesota and Ohio State tied with 14, Michigan State 7, Northwestern 7, Indiana 4, Illinois 1 and host Purdue 0.

ABILENE, Texas (AP) - Hammer throw and 10,000-meter runner championships were decided Thursday in the 27th NATA Track and Field Championships.

Garry Henry of Pembroke State, N.C., ran away from the field in the 10,000-meter run, winning in 30:22.82.

Canadian Harold Willers tossed the hammer 181 feet, 11 inches, a career best mark for the Simon Fraser freshman from Vancouver.

Western New Mexico Jack Willey set a long jump record and led the decathlon after five events. Willey piled up 3,798 points with the aid of a 24-13 leap, a 10.8 victory in the 100-yard dash and a 6-6 high jump that was also a winner. He also competed in the shot put and the 400-meter dash.

Most preliminaries and seven finals are set for today, with nearly 900 athletes from 138 schools in 34 states and Canada competing.

HARD-ROCK HOWE
HARTFORD, Conn. (AP) - Gordie Howe, at 50, was still scoring goals in 1978 for the New England Whalers of the World Hockey Association. A lot of people wondered how he did it. One of Howe's long-time opponents on the ice had an explanation.

"His toughness had as much to do with his lasting that long as anything," the player said. "He's strong and aggressive and he has the younger players in the league scared to death. Nobody messes with Gordie."

Larcenous Broncos Challenge La. Tech

By DENNE H. FREEMAN
AP Sports Writer

ARLINGTON, Tex. (AP) - Center-fielder Bobby Rutledge is the larceny leader on a Pan American baseball team whose members would rather heist your billfold than beat you to death with their bats.

Consider this statistic: Rutledge, left-fielder Leonard Tyrone and right-fielder Bert Carter have stolen 134 bases this year. Rutledge is the prince of pilfering with 75 successful steals in 84 trips.

Rutledge needs just one more steal to tie the NCAA record set by Stetson's Mike Wolfe in 1975.

Pan American's Broncos turned road runners were scheduled to play Southland Conference champion Louisiana Tech in a 5 p.m. game today while Baylor and Mississippi State were on the agenda for an 8 p.m. game in this NCAA South Regional double-elimination baseball tournament.

The losers in the first-round games meet at 1 p.m. Saturday and the winners at 8 p.m. Sunday's games; if necessary, are at 1 p.m. and 7:30 p.m. Baylor swept through the regional last year and into the College Baseball World Series in Omaha, Neb., and pitcher Burl Coker was responsible for the Bears' success.

But Coker was hit on the arm by a throw while attempting to beat out a bunt last week in the Southwest Conference tournament.

"Burl will be out of the tournament and we just hope he'll be back for a designated hitter role if we survive the regionals," said Baylor Coach Mickey Sullivan.

Coker has a 9-2 record with a 1.64 earned run average. He also is a .300 hitter.

Baylor is 29-17-2 while Mississippi State is 37-15. Pan American at 51-15 has the top record in the regional while Louisiana Tech is an impressive 46-19.

Pan American is 16th ranked, according to Collegiate Baseball Weekly, while Louisiana Tech is 25th. Baylor and Mississippi State are unranked.

Mississippi State's Dale Bender has the biggest bat with 17 home runs for the year. Baylor won this tournament last year, then lost two straight extra inning games in the NCAA World Series.

Mississippi State was last in the NCAA playoffs in 1971 when it lost two games in the College World Series.

Louisiana Tech appeared here in 1975, losing to Texas. Pan American, which finished third in 1971 in the College World Series, was last in the regionals in 1976.

Nicklaus, Player Tied At Memorial Tourney

By GEORGE STRODE
AP Sports Writer

DUBLIN, Ohio (AP) - The approaches of Jack Nicklaus and Gary Player to the Memorial Golf Tournament are vastly different.

Their results - at least temporarily - are identical. Nicklaus is performing in only his eighth tour tournament of 1978. Player, meanwhile, has elected to play 10 consecutive weeks.

The sport's two superstars solved the water-logged Muirfield Village layout - the $8 million course Nicklaus designed and built - for five-under-par 67s and a tie for the lead after Thursday's opening round.

Five straight rainy days forced officials to let the select international field of 105 use preferred fairway lies, the third time this year.

It may have been the reason for a tournament record of 27 sub-par scores for a round. Nicklaus and Player were at odds over that.

"When the fellas get their hands on the golf ball and tee it up," said Nicklaus, "you're going to have good scores."

Player scoffed at the notion. "I don't think it made any difference. The players are just getting better, my friend," he said.

Non-winner Rex Caldwell, last with 315 here in 1977, fashioned a 68 this time, one shot off the pace, and tied with Tom Kite and Jim Simons.

Thirteen players were bunched three strokes apart. Ed

Sneed, Lon Hinkle and Curtis Strange had 69s. Bobby Wedkins, Mike Morley, Mark Hayes, Andy North and Alan Tapis were at 70 going into today's second round.

Roger Maltbie, the inaugural winner here in 1976, was in a 14-player logjam at 71. So was U.S. Open champion Habert Green, the Memorial runner-up last year.

Some of the game's glamour names failed to whip par.

Tom Weiskopf matched it, but Tom Watson struggled to a fat 40 on the back side, including two straight double bogeys, for 73. Hale Irwin also took a 73. Arnold Palmer had a 77.

LA's Mayor Hopes To Offset Costs

By MIKE GOODKIND
Associated Press Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) - Mayor Tom Bradley believes he has a solution that will enable Los Angeles to host the 1984 Summer Olympics at no financial risk to the city.

Bradley is scheduled to return from Athens, Greece on Saturday and face a renewed confrontation with several City Council members who fear that hosting the Games could produce a billion-dollar debt like Montreal incurred in 1976.

Bradley telephoned members of the media in Los Angeles Thursday and staunchly defended his proposal that somewhere an insurance policy could be secured to protect the taxpayers.

"We do not anticipate any cost overruns, we do not anticipate any deficit," Bradley said. Noting that unlike Montreal, Los Angeles already has most of the facilities to house the Games, the mayor said: "We are an entirely different city with an entirely different situation."

The IOC awarded the Games to Los Angeles, provided the city signs an IOC contract by July 31 and agrees to abide by all IOC rules, including complete financial responsibility. However, the city's delegation said the City Council must approve the IOC contract and the approval was contingent on the city's ability to secure an apparently unprecedented insurance policy to cover any unexpected financial losses.

While Bradley was optimistic about working out arrangements, Councilwoman Peggy Stevenson, a member of the city's delegation in Athens, was not pleased with the IOC's conditional award.

Babe Ruth and Smokey Joe Wood both pitched and played the outfield in World Series competition.

Mann Remembers Lean Years on LPGA Circuit

JAMESBURGH, N.J. (AP) - Carol Mann, a veteran of 18 years on the LPGA tour, laughs when recalling her rookie season back in 1961.

"My father figured out that I earned 15 cents an hour based on my winnings that year," said Mann, who earned $2,165.50 that year. "It's unbelievable - the total prize money for 1961 was $186,000, this year it's $3.5 million."

Mann will be competing in the first round of a $100,000 LPGA tournament at Forsgate Country Club beginning today.

She says she has never regretted being a golfer, despite the traveling, and the nomadic life.

"It's unfortunate because of the work I'm in I have to travel," said the 6-foot-3 blonde. "But that's secondary. The traveling is a means to an end."

Mann said if not for golf, she would have been a doctor. "If I had been strong enough, financially and mentally, to get through medical school, I would have wanted to be a doctor," said the 37-year-old. "But golf is my first love."

"If I had been a doctor I would have married, had kids and probably been divorced. I'm happier this way," said Mann.

Mann has her work cut out for her this weekend. Nancy Lopez, the tour's top money-winner and the winner of last week's Greater Baltimore Classic, is playing the best golf of her career and is the early tournament favorite.

Others entered include tournaments winners Jan Stephenson, Jane Blalock and Hollis Stacy.

The famed relief pitcher, Hoyt Wilhelm, hit a home run in his first at bat in the major leagues and a triple the second time up. He never hit either one again.

Thank You!

Bitsy and I sincerely thank you for your support in our victory May 6.

Church Organizes Members

SAN DIEGO (AP) - American Presbyterians, northern and southern varieties, have been trying to get together for 113 years. And they're still at it.
 A new draft for such a union was outlined Thursday at the governing General Assembly of the United Presbyterian Church in the United States of America.
 But just when there will be definitive action remained uncertain. Some estimates put it in the 3-to-5-year range.
 "It's a growth process and takes a while," said the Rev. Randolph Taylor of Charlotte, N.C., co-chairman of a commission on reunion in the Presbyterian Church in the United States, the southern body.
 The situation was termed a "creative holding pattern" by the Rev. Robert C. Lamar of Albany, N.Y., the co-chairman from the mostly northern United Presbyterians.
 This is the 13th attempt at reuniting the two denominations, split by the Civil War. The first effort came immediately after that conflict, and the latest was begun in 1969.
 The current assembly was to refer the new plan to regional units for study and reaction, including suggestions on when it should be offered for ratification.
 A previous plan in 1954 was ratified by the United Presbyterian Church of 2.6 million members, but rejected by the southern body of about 900,000 members.
 A "sense of fear and pride" are the main delaying obstacles, Taylor said - pride in "our own style, often in small things that mean a lot" and "fear of being swallowed up" by the larger northern church.
 - Meanwhile, a moderating approach seemed in the works on a hotly controversial proposal for United Presbyterians to sanction ordination of declared, practicing homosexuals.
 "Our position should be somewhere between the extremes of either side," said the Rev. William Lytle of San Antonio, Texas, the newly elected-presiding officer of the assembly.
 He suggested a compromise on the recommendation of a task force majority to allow ordination of avowed, practicing homosexuals.

HEALTH
Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB - I'm a woman, 71 years old, very nervous and get so depressed. My doctor says I have "chronic depression and chronic anxiety." He is giving me Triavil which he says is a tranquilizer and an anti-depressant. Can you tell me anything about this medicine and what after-effects I will have from taking it a long time? There are so many relaxing pills that they say will give you cancer. Is this one of them? Will they affect or damage the brain? I do relax and sleep much better. I know for sure I don't want brain damage or cancer but I do need something.
DEAR READER - Your doctor expressed it very well in saying that Triavil is both a tranquilizer and an anti-depressant. It is used to combat anxiety, agitation and depression. Anxiety and depression often go together. Triavil is a combination medicine that also contains Elavil.
 Triavil works very well as you have found out. Such medicines can really make a big difference in a person's life when they are needed. We are learning more every day about how depression and mental disorders are often related to changes in chemical functions in the body. These are often chemicals that are important in transmitting nerve impulses and promoting proper nerve cell function.
 To give you general information about depression I am sending you The Health Letter number 10-10, Depression: The Ups and Downs of Life.
 You and anyone else using such medicines should be under the careful supervision of a doctor, but since they are prescription items that would be expected to be the case. They can cause some disturbances in some of the neurological (nervous system) functions in large doses or in susceptible individuals but these can be easily corrected.

Medicines aid depression

 Triavil and related medicines do act adversely with a long list of other medicines but your doctor should know that and should not prescribe such medicines at the same time. Which reminds me to tell everybody that you must be sure that your doctor knows all the medicines you are taking. A patient may get one medicine from a family doctor and another from the gynecologist with neither doctor knowing what the other has prescribed. That can be a real problem.
 Many good pharmacists keep records of their regular customers and may spot such a problem but you can help by always giving all the doctors you see a list of all the medicines you are taking - including those you buy without a prescription. No, Triavil does not cause cancer nor does it adversely affect your mind.
DEAR DR. LAMB - We are great lovers of popcorn

Youth, 13, Arrested After Teacher Killed

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) - The 13-year-old son of former White House press secretary George Christian walked into his junior high English classroom Thursday and fatally shot the teacher, police said.

Lt. Fred Maxwell, chief of public affairs, identified the boy as John Christian, who was taken into custody and brought to the police station for questioning.

George Christian, who recently handled public relations for Gov. Dolph Briscoe's losing Democratic primary campaign, arrived at the police station at 10:45 a.m., visibly shaken.

The slain teacher was identified as Wilbur Rod Grayson, 29.

About 30 children from the class were brought to police headquarters to give information about what they saw.

Maxwell said Grayson was shot three times - beneath the right arm, in the right arm and in the right side of the head with a semi-automatic .22-caliber rifle.

Maxwell, after leaving the homicide division offices, said he understood the boy arrived after the first-period English class had begun. Parents described the class as a special one for gifted and talented youngsters who had been tested not only for academic achievement but for creativity.

"The teacher was sitting on a stool, conducting class. He (the boy) just walked in the door and pointed the rifle at him. The teacher didn't take it real seriously. He said something, and the boy just shot him."

Maxwell said, he understood the youth, an honor roll student, was upset over an incident the previous day when a substitute teacher was present.

"The boy was leading a discussion and didn't get a very good response," Maxwell said.

Jean Olson, mother of a pupil in the class, described Grayson as "fabulous. He has done tremendous things."

"These kids are energetic, far out creative minds," she said. Grayson taught seventh and eighth grades at the northwest Austin school and had been teaching only a year, said Charles Sansom, director of administrative services for the Austin Independent School District.

"He had been employed in other capacities as a school driver and as a school monitor," Sansom said.

Sansom said this was the first fatal classroom attack on an Austin teacher.

Grayson's wife teaches at nearby Lyndon B. Johnson High School.

Christian said the boy, an eighth grader, is his third son and the child of his second marriage. He said the boy is one of six children and added, "a large and happy family."

He said John was generally an A-student.

Christian retained Roy Minton, a prominent criminal defense lawyer, to represent his son.

Under Texas law, a juvenile cannot be tried for murder unless the juvenile court certifies him for trial as an adult.

When Municipal Judge Alberto Garcia warned young Christian of his rights, the judge told him he could be tried as an adult only if he were 15 years of age or older.

Minton said later, "I don't know any way they could" try the boy as an adult. Minton said the youth, taken to the county juvenile detention center after receiving the warning of his legal rights, could be judged a juvenile delinquent and held in a state reform school until age 18.

"There's not any question he shot the teacher," Minton said.

Today In History

Today is Friday, May 19, the 139th day of 1978. There are 226 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1588, the 130 ships of the Spanish Armada sailed from Lisbon, Portugal, to attack England.

On this date: In 1536, the second queen of England's King Henry VIII, Anne Boleyn, was beheaded in London.

In 1876, an exposition marking the American Centennial opened in Philadelphia.

In 1943, British Prime Minister Winston Churchill, addressing the U.S. Congress, pledged full British support in the war against Japan.

In 1945, more than 400 U.S. B-29 Superfortress bombers attacked Tokyo.

In 1964, the U.S. State Department disclosed that 40 secret microphones had been found hidden in the U.S. Embassy in Moscow.

In 1974, Finance Minister Valery Giscard d'Estaing was elected president of France.

Ten years ago France was all but paralyzed by the worst strikes and political upheaval in a decade.

Ann Landers Manners Count

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I'll bet you are fed up on letters about teenagers who won't give up their seats on the bus. Well, I hope you can stand just one more. And please print it. We need to have our side represented.

I am one of those "rotten kids" who just sits while the elderly stand, and I will tell you why. I didn't used to be this way but after being polite a few dozen times and not getting so much as a smile or a "thank you" I decided the heck with it.

I live in New York and have been riding public transportation to school for four years. The elderly are so rude in this town it doesn't pay to be mannerly. I'm going to stay glued to my seat and make no apologies. When the elderly shape up -- so will I. -- No Patsy in Manhattan

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Of course there are rude people in the world but that's no reason for you to behave like a clod. Decide the kind of person you want to be and stick with it. In other words, ACT -- don't RE-ACT.

You will be judged on the basis of your conduct. Don't let some knucklehead turn you into an insensitive punk. If you want to imitate someone, pick a person you admire.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: A reader sent you a badly botched version of a poem entitled "Your Name." He said the author was "unknown."

The author is very well known, especially by those of us who had a high school education. His name is Edgar A. Guest. Will you please do the honorable thing and print the poem as he wrote it and give him proper credit? -- One Who Loves the Honey Stuff

DEAR ONE: Thank you for setting me straight. I'm ashamed I didn't know better. Here's the poem as it was written.

YOUR NAME
By Edgar A. Guest
You got it from your father.
'Twas the best he had to give.

And right gladly he bestowed it. It's yours, the while you live. You may lose the watch he gave you -- and another you may claim.

But remember, when you're tempted, to be careful of his name.

It was fair the day you got it, and a worthy name to bear.

When he took it from his father, there was no dishonor there;

Through the years he proudly wore it, to his father he was true.

And that name was clean and spotless when he passed it on to you.

On, there's much that he has given that he values not at all.

He has watched you break your playthings in the days when you were small.

You have lost the knife he gave you and you've scattered many a game.

But you'll never hurt your father if you're careful with his name.

It is yours to wear forever, yours to wear the while you live.

Yours, perhaps, some distant morning, to another boy to give.

And you'll smile as did your father -- with a smile that all can share --

If a clean name and a good name you are giving him to wear.

He Recycles Old Bicycles

EVERETT, Wash. (AP) - Chester Whalen is a cycle recycler.

Patiently, methodically and affectionately, Whalen, 61, fixes every hopeless wreck of a bicycle he can get his hands on.

Sprocket by spoke, bearing by bolt.

"The only way you can fix a bike is if it's been wrecked good by a car. You just need to put a little work into it and take your time," he says.

"I try pretty much to get pure junk that nobody would steal. It's a challenge."

People give them up to Whalen as beyond help. Often it's just an old chain or kick stand, with the bike missing.

But he twists, greases, taps and paints them into bicycles.

"I can't see 'em being wasted and thrown away," he says.

"I get 'em all in parts. You could say they're practically junk but I can put everything back to good use for somebody."

That means kids, mostly Neighborhood youngsters get repairs free on the spot when they wheel their bike up his driveway.

"I think if everybody helped kids more, they'd be a lot less mean kids," he says.

Bike thieves would laugh at his rusty raw material. His garage in this town north of Seattle is loaded with bent, pretzeled, woebegone bike parts.

The patio looks like the place old bicycles go to die. Bikes without wheels. Wheels without bikes.

Over the winter, he pieced about 60 bikes together and now sells them at a weekly flea market near Everett for $15-$20 each. He doesn't make much...but he likes the work.

Shortly after he and his wife, Marcella, arrived, Everett two years ago, he suffered a slight stroke.

In the hospital, doctors discovered cancer and removed a kidney and a rib. He has undergone extensive radiation for a tumor in his lung. He also suffered two heart attacks, the last in 1963, which kept him in bed six months.

"Everything looks okay now. Other people are in worse shape than I am. I don't believe a person should complain," he says.

Before Everett, the Whalens lived in Jacinto City, Texas, a Houston suburb, where Mrs. Whalen was a nurse and volunteer firefighter. He is a laborer by trade but he and his wife operated two pool halls and restaurants in Jacinto City.

Now she works at a hospital and is studying to become a registered nurse. Her nursing and his bike-building - which includes an occasional foray into tricycles and wagons - are their only incomes.

"Our roles just kind of got reversed," says Mrs. Whalen, who was about to take off for nursing classes, before going to work.

"When he's not at his bikes, he does the dishes, washing, mopping and cleaning."

Whalen says bike building teaches him to relax: "When I'm going to get aggravated that something doesn't work, I go away and come back later. I eventually figure it out."

Housing Rate Rises During March, April

NEW YORK (AP) - To the surprise of many, the market for housing continues to boom in defiance, they say, not only of the laws of finance but of gravity and logic too.

The annual rate of housing starts rose 3 1/2 percent in March and another 6 percent in April to a rate of 2.19 million units.

Purchases of existing homes in March was at an annual rate of 3.77 million units.

It's often said that houses are priced beyond the means of the typical family. But families find the money somehow - by the wife going to work, or by borrowing from parents or by doing without in other ways.

In search of motives for this fate-defying skill, some housing analysts seem to overlook the desperation factor, the other side of which is the investment incentive.

Young families, that is, know that despite their financial problems, they cannot indefinitely postpone buying a house.

The coming of children and the presence of inflation force them into the recognition.

They become convinced, more strongly than any real estate agent could convince them, when they also see a house as a way out of penury.

And the numbers support them. It is conceivable, in fact, that by postponing for just two years the purchase of a typical single-family home, already existing and advertised in the resale market, they could lose close to $28,000.

To illustrate: In March 1977 the median sales price of existing single-family homes was $41,000. A 20-year mortgage for 80 percent of the purchase price might have been obtained at 8.5 percent.

Under such terms, the purchaser would have had to pay $8,200 down and finance $32,800 at a cost per month of $285, or $3,420 per year, for a 20-year total of $68,400.

In March 1978 the median price had risen to $46,500, and some lenders charged around 9 percent interest. After a 20 percent downpayment, the buyer had a $37,200 mortgage, requiring payments of $335 per month or $4,020 per year, for a total of $80,400.

Costs could be higher next year. If trends persist, median prices would be about $52,000, and it is possible that interest rates might rise to 10 percent. Such rates already exist in a few areas.

It also might be more difficult to obtain a loan. If available, the down payment would be $10,400, the monthly payments $401, the yearly charges $4,812, and the total $96,240.

The difference between 1977 and 1979: $27,840.

Lighter Side

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) - In 1836, the New York Legislature, reacting to chicanery in the whaling industry, enacted a law requiring the state to furnish each county clerk with an oleometer.

It seems that some whalers had a habit of selling common whale oil to unsuspecting consumers who thought they were getting pure sperm oil - akin to selling Saturday Night Sonata in a Channel No. 5 bottle.

With the oleometers, clerks were supposed to be able to distinguish between pure sperm oil and common whale oil.

Since 1836, the whaling industry's importance to the state has diminished and it is now almost totally extinct.

So the state Senate, keeping right up with the times, passed a bill Wednesday to repeal the 1836 law. The bill now goes to the Assembly.

SPOKANE (AP) - James Allen admits he did more pruning than was prudent. But he puts the blame on the grape.

Allen, who pleaded guilty Tuesday to a charge of first-degree malicious mischief, admitted chopping down seven mature apple trees at a local nursing home to fuel his fish smoker.

Spokane County Superior Court Judge John J. Lally dealt Allen a 30-day term in the county jail and ordered him to pay for the damage - worth $3,850.

Deputy County Prosecutor Clark Colwell said Allen, 41, was given permission to trim the trees in question on April 8.

But Allen told Lally that he got drunk before he started work and got a bit carried away, trimming the trees just above ground level.

SHOW LOW, Ariz. (AP) - Joy Harding and Brent Wilcock will have a showdown at high noon Tuesday to settle a municipal election in the best tradition of this cowboy town.

Town Clerk Bill Puzd ordered the showdown when Mrs. Harding, 42, and Wilcock, who will be 33 on Tuesday, drew 188 votes apiece in last Tuesday's town council election.

Wilcock explained that, beginning with a full deck, he and Mrs. Harding would take turns picking a card until someone picks the two of clubs. That candidate wins.

The draw will be held in an old stone jailhouse with Puzd, the police chief, mayor and city manager as witnesses.

If Mrs. Harding's luck holds, she'll become the first woman council member in this town of $3,400.

Chaplin's Body Returns to Grave

LAUSANNE, Switzerland (AP) - Charlie Chaplin's body will be returned in the same spot where it was dug up by grave robbers 2 1/2 months ago, but a protective vault will be built around it to prevent a recurrence of the bizarre theft, authorities said Thursday.

The 300-pound oak coffin holding the remains of the famed film comedian was found Wednesday buried in a cornfield 10 miles from the village cemetery of Corsier-sur-Vecy where Chaplin was buried Dec. 27. Police said the body had not been touched.

Two alleged thieves were arrested. Examining Magistrate Jean-Daniel Tentorey, the man in charge of the investigation, told reporters the pair said they got the idea from news reports about grave robbers in Italy who collected ransom for the body of a prominent Italian.

Tentorey said the Chaplin family lawyer informed him the widow, Cona, had commissioned a mason to build a "strong, solid protection" over the empty grave. He said this would take several days and the body would not be reburied until it was completed.

"We have to make sure that there is no chance of the body being snatched a second time," he said.

A butler who answered the telephone at the Chaplin mansion in Corsier-sur-Vecy told a reporter there would be no ceremony at the reinterment.

The coffin was stolen about 2 a.m. on March 2. Tentorey told a news conference two East European refugees, a Pole and a Bulgarian, who had been working as automobile mechanics in Lausanne were arrested Tuesday after the police traced a telephone call they made to the Chaplin family's lawyer demanding ransom for the remains.

Investigators are convinced the two men had no other accomplices, the magistrate said.

He said they confessed, but their identities were not announced because of a Swiss law protecting the identity of first offenders.

Meet Ashley Whippet, the K-9 Catch and Fetch Champ

"I often put on shows with another K-9 super sport, Hyper Hank," said Ashley. The K-9 World Frisbee Catch and Fetch contests are sponsored by Kal Kan dog foods, Wham-O, and Parks and Recreation Departments.

The Mini Page interviewed the famous dog, Ashley Whippet, through his press agent.

This is how Ashley might tell his own story.

"I know that a lot of people think. 'That little squirt, what can he do?'"

"Then I go out and show them," said Ashley.

And show them he does. Ashley is the national K-9 Catch and Fetch champ.

No other dog can run as far (over 100 yards) or jump as high (10 feet) to catch a Frisbee.

"I am a whippet, a special breed of dog. I am not a baby greyhound. (Ashley wanted to get that straight.)"

"I am not a cute kind of dog. If I weren't out catching Frisbees, I wouldn't get a second glance.

"I love being famous. When a lot of people come out to watch me, that turns me on.

"The bigger the audience, the higher I leap.

"I grew up in Cleveland, Ohio.

"My owner, Alex Stein, started training me when I was three months old.

"Alex and I travel thousands of miles each year to put on shows.

"We now live in California.

"I am married and I became a father not long ago. My wife, Sophie, stays at home.

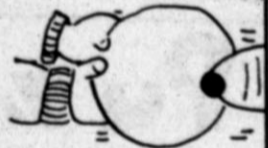

Maybe it won't be long before Ashley Whippet puppies will be leaping into the air . . . following in Dad's pawprints.

How to train Frisbee Dogs

1. Show your dog the disk. Let him eat and drink out of it.

2. Use the disk as a pulltoy. He'll get the idea that it is HIS.

3. Roll the disk so he can get used to seeing it move.

4. Stand still and let your dog leap to catch it.

5. Throw the disk to a friend who stands a short distance away. Let the dog try to get it.

6. Start tossing it. Watch out for traffic. Be patient. This takes time. Do not tire your dog. Do not let him get overheated.

Science Mystery?

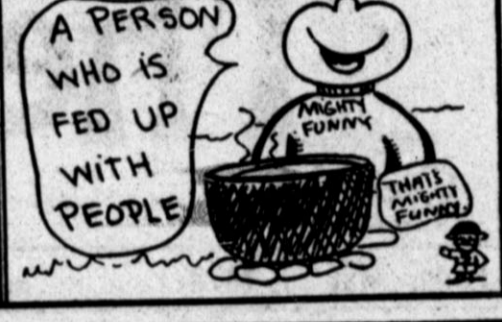

Mystery: How to make a coin appear?

Finding out: Put a small coin near one side of a cup. Peep over the edge of the cup so as to just see the far edge of the coin. Now slowly pour water into the cup. Do not let the water move the coin. How do you explain the appearing coin?

Clue: When light rays pass through the water they are bent. (As shown by the dotted line.) The coin only seems to appear.

Fling your Frisbee . . . Loop the hoop!

It's Time to Toss and Twirl

Carl Cooke, 14, of Los Angeles, California, twirls 16 hula hoops in the freestyle competition. He was one of the the two finalists for the National Hula Hoop contest.

Carl later competed with Marie Perry of Louisville, Kentucky, the other finalist, on the Dinah Shore TV show. He won the title. The Frisbee and hula hoop Champs each got a $1,000-scholarship savings bond from Wham-O, the toy company.

Boys and girls will soon be tossing and twirling their way through the Frisbee and hula hoop contest in Canada and the USA.

Last summer, over 850 cities and towns put on these contests. They are usually sponsored by local recreation departments and a toy company.

This summer, thousands of kids will try to work their way from local to regional and then to national championships.

These will be held in the fall at Six Flags over Georgia, an amusement park near Atlanta.

Frisbees started 20 years ago.

The first Frisbees were pie tins from the Frisbie Bakery at Bridgeport, Connecticut.

College students started throwing them. They would yell "Frisbie" if their tin was about to hit someone.

Then a man came up with the idea of making tins out of plastic. The Frisbee toy was born.

Hula hoops have been going around for 30 years.

They were a big hit for six months when they first came out, but today they are not as popular as the Frisbee.

The first hula hoops were made of bamboo. They were really exercise rings used by the Australians.

Because we changed a bamboo ring and a pie tin into plastic toys, we now have fun pastimes . . . and two national contests.

Dan Hartzell, 15, of Troy, Michigan, makes a behind-the-back catch. He is the Junior Frisbee champ. He also had to toss a Frisbee through a hoop, throw curved flights, catch it between his legs and throw for distance.
